City Appoints Attorney

James Jeffrey Named To Post

Colorado City Council employed as new city attorney James E. (Jim) Jeffrey in a unanimous decision during their Monday night February meeting at City Hall.

Jeffrey succeeds John M. Worrell, Sr., city attorney who retired last December but who has continued to serve by special request of the council until a new city attorney could be chosen.

The new city attorney, who grew up at Greenville, is a graduate of Southern Methodist University and also received his law degree at SMU, Dallas.

He moved to Abilene shortly after after being admitted to the bar. In 1956-57 he served as assistant Taylor County attorney for a 15-month period. Jeffrey was then elected to the office of Taylor County attorney, a post he held for five years, 1963-68.

When the new Criminal Court combined the two old district courts, in Taylor - Callahan - Jones Counties, the office of Taylor County attorney was abolished in favor of employment of two district attorneys, effective Jan. 1, 1969.

Jeffrey moved his wife Dorothy, and their children Jimmy, 8, Ann, 6, and Tommy, 4, to Colorado City last Sept. 1, and entered private practice here in the office of Worrell who retired from private practice about that time.

City Attorney Jeffrey, appointed to a two-year term, is a member of the Texas State Bar Association, the Noon Lions Club, the Masonic Order, and the 22nd & Austin Church of Christ.

His was one of two applications for appointment as city attorney, part-time position paying $150 monthly. Also applying was J. Dell Barber, longtime practicing attorney here.

At their January session, City Council voted to postpone appointment until February.

Also postponed last month until the February meeting was final decision on proposed purchase of The Hooker-Pond American Legion Post building as a permanent home for Colorado City Historical Museum.

City Museum Board recommended that the building be bought. Local Legion's asking price for the building was $24,000.

Monday evening Colorado City Council voted unanimously to reject the Museum Board's recommendation and not to buy the building.

As an alternative members of the council voted to continue leasing the main floor of the Legion building to house museum exhibits and artifacts. Rental rate is now $70 per month.

The old opera house, just north of the post office and known recently as the Cassie Roney rooming house, was until recently under consideration as a permanent museum building.

Original plan called for gradual renovation of the building jointly owned by city, county, and school district because of delinquent taxes.

The opera house project had progressed as far as architect's plans for first floor and new roof, and the acceptance of bids for the first phase of remodeling. Council abandoned the old opera house project when the three bids submitted were deemed too expensive to be feasible.

Tandy Curlee, Porter Richardson and Don DeLaney, president of Playhouse, presented the Playhouse tentative plan to tear out interior walls of the building and rebuild it as a theater for home talent stage dramas and musicals.

Council voiced approval of permission to Colorado City Playhouse for making a Playhouse theater from the historic old opera house.

Council added the provision that Playhouse members also seek approval from county and school district officials.

Dan Steakley, with an orange sweater to match the Longhorn orange colored pin, puts his signature to a University of Texas letter of intent Tuesday before three interested spectators – his dad, Dr. H. Jene Steakley, Longhorn Assistant Coach Emory Bellard and Colorado High Coach Truman Nix.

Dan Signs It 'Texas'

Blue Chipper For Football

It was University of Texas style – orange all the way.

Emory Bellard, assistant coach for the Longhorns, sped into town in a rented Mercury sport coupe for the signature of Colorado City's Dan Steakley on an athletic letter of intent.

Then, without a hitch in signals, he stuffed the paper in his pocket and hurried to Abilene for a similar signing with Cooper High's star lineman, Bill Harrington.

Steakley, the all-state backfielder and state meet track competitor, was No. 4 on Bellard's quick roundup of athletes Tuesday on the Texas high and South Plains.

The handsome U. of Texas assistant boarded a plane for Lubbock Monday night, then was ready at 8 a. m. in Plainview for his first signing. He turned his rental car back to Lubbock for Coronado High star, Steve Williams, before turning to Big Spring for his third.

After leaving the happy Steakley clan in Colorado City, he stopped at Sweetwater and hit Abilene in time for his last assignment on the Southwest Conference's opening day for signing high school athletes.

Steakley, who gained more than 1,000 yards in each of his junior and senior years, was one of the top 20 targets of the Southwest Conference. The list of 20 was compiled by the coaches themselves listing their preferences of 1969 schoolboy seniors.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Jene Steakley looked over his shoulder as their son signed the letter of intent – with an orange pin furnished by Bellard – with the tentative athletic agreement printed in orange-red type.

"Blue chip prospect? You bet he is," spoke Bellard, former Breckenridge High coach, as Steakley put his signature on the paper.

"All the group I'm signing today are AAAA boys," he continued, "Dan is the only AAA.

"He is the only running back in this whole area we have offered a scholarship.

"Dan, as a running back, fits

Well Baby Clinic

Free Care Under CAP

Well Baby Clinic has been announced by Community Action Program board of directors to open at 7:30 p. m. next Monday evening at Rhode-Cowan Clinic, 505 Chestnut St.

The clinic is planned by CAP as a step of progress in public health and preventive medicine for Colorado City's youngest.

It is designed, said Mrs. John Chinn, board member of CAP, to help keep well the babies and young children of families unable to pay medical expenses for regular check-ups and immunization.

Well Baby Clinic, for babies from birth to school age children, will be held every Monday with doctors to give their time and service, in turn, without charge.

Complete examinations to detect possible defects which can be corrected in time, shots to prevent communicable diseases, and advice in infant care will be free.

Two major points are being stressed in the Well Baby Clinic announcement, said Mrs. Chinn.

First, the clinic is planned to provide medical help to families not financially able to pay for the care needed by their infants and young children.

Secondly, it is urged that babies and children who are well be brought to the clinic before they become ill. Chief object is to help keep the town's current crop of healthy babies well and safe from contagious illnesses.

Also to assist with Well Baby Clinic will be the two CAP aides, Misses Cecilia Valdez and Florence Green.

Contracts Of Nine Extended

Contracts of several administrative personnel, the director of athletics, and the assistant superintendent were extended by Colorado Independent School Board during their regular meeting Monday evening.

Extended until 1971 were contracts of Lloyd McKee, assistant superintendent, Truman Nix, director of athletics, and three school principals, Wallace Price, high school, Don Dulin, junior high, T. D. Wiman, Jr., Hutchinson Elementary, and Bob O'Day, primary school.

Contract of J. S. Craddock, Jr., business manager-tax assessor-collector, was extended one year, the period set by law. Also extended for one year were contracts of Luther Harrison, maintenance supervisor, Mrs. H. C. Blassingame, cafeteria supervisor, and Coy Adams, transportation supervisor.

On motion of W. J. Waldrip, the board voted a new short-term contract to be offered Frank Wilson, principal at Wallace Elementary School. The motion carried by a vote of four to one, with two board members absent.

Wilson, whose current contract expires June 14, 1969, is being tendered a new contract to be in effect beginning August 28 and to expire Nov. 11, 1969. His assignment will be made by the superintendent James G. McMath.

The Wallace Elementary School principal, Wilson, will celebrate his 60th birthday Nov. 10 and will at that time be eligible to draw the full amount of his teacher retirement. The short-term contract, if accepted, will complete the teaching time necessary for his retirement.

Resignation of Mrs. Corydon Elliot was accepted. Mrs. Elliot has moved to Dallas where her husband has been transferred. She is now employed in the Dallas Public Schools.

Election of Mrs. Billie Ruth Gill of Loraine to replace Mrs. Elliot, and of Stanley Moore to teach physical education in the elementary schools, was approved.

Reports heard included one from Coach Nix who recently attended the National Health, Physical Education and Recreation Conference in Washington, D. C., a report of library standards and expenditures which showed local school libraries above the standards in most requirements.

Policy for determining eligibility for free school lunches to children unable to pay was included on the board agenda.

Committee for determining whether a pubil is eligible or not is headed by Dulin, with O'Day, Wiman, Wilson, and Craddock as committee members.

Under the school free lunch policy no child is ever openly identified and recipients under the program use the same type tickets as are issued for paid lunches.

Climaxing the board session which was held in Hutchinson Elementary School as first in a series of four on-site studies of budget requests, Wiman, Hutchinson principal, presented the tentative requests from the two elementary schools.

Wiman presented eight Hutchinson pupils in a panel discussion, and used both opaque and overhead projectors to stress features of the tentative budget which included full details from salary expenditures to supplies in all categories.

School board members then toured the building and the playgrounds at Hutchinson.

Second in the budget study series will be held at Primary building March 10, when O'Day will present the budget needs of Primary School.

In April the board will meet at junior high building.

Outstanding In District

Maddox Top Conservationist

Jim Maddox, route 3, has been named "Outstanding Conservation Rancher" in the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District for 1968.

Maddox was chosen by a committee appointed by Travis Turner, chairman, and members of the district board of directors.

Serving on the committee were Rex. T. McKenney, outstanding conservationist in 1967, Bobby Lemons, county agent, Curtis Latimer, ASC county chairman, and Don Hodges, conservationist.

The outstanding rancher conservationist for 1968 began his ranching operations 42 years ago with his father, the late J. P. Maddox, on the Bomar Ranch.

Father-son ranch operations are still in progress since the Jim Maddox family's older son Joe entered partnership with his father, Jim, six years ago.

The younger Maddox and his family live on the old family ranch, seven miles south of Maryneal in Nolan County. Total operations for father-son cover 53 sections of ranch lands.

Jim Maddox, his wife June, and their younger son Jim Ty, senior at Colorado High School, live on the 27-section Mitchell County portion of the giant Bomar Ranch. Their home is 22 miles southeast of Colorado City.

Jim Maddox entered into a Great Plains Conservation contract late in 1959. Since that time he has brush control projects on a total of 16,296 acres; cross fences for 34,496 acres; two concrete water storage facilities, 16 stock ponds.

Maddox has instituted proper grazing use of 17,237 acres and deferred grazing plan for 17,237 acres.

At this time the Maddox rangelands have improved from "low-fair" to "high-good", as results of his long-range soil and water conservation work and planned goal.

Of his present successful sheep production he says that fewer ewes per section, smaller pastures, more grass is the answer. Under his present program lambs are heavier and fewer of the lamb crop are lost.

Maddox operations include cattle, sheep, and registered

Crow Hunting Sport For 400

New event on the Colorado City calendar, the crow shoot drew hunters from as far away as Dallas, Hale Center, and Tatum, N. M.

"In light of its reception by sportsmen of the whole area we plan to make the crow shoot an annual event," said Jim Kelley in reporting success of the start of the two-month shooting contest.

Fifty hunters were registered from Big Spring and 50 others were here from Lubbock.

At the end of the first two days, thousands of crows had been killed by registered shot gun bearers.

Relatively few of the crows with numbered leg bands entitling shooters to cash or merchandise prizes have been bagged, however. Prize crows were captured before the hunt, tagged, then set free early Saturday morning.

To date only $90 in prizes have been won. The white crow (sprayed) worth $100 is still flying around somewhere. Another crow has a leg band which will win the lucky hunter a wrist watch worth $109.

There are $25 prizes in cash or merchandise, $10 prizes, and a number of $5 prizes. Prizes total more than $1,000.

Hunt continues through April 8 with Joe Weaver, Kiwanian ex-president, as general chairman.

Kiwanis Club pointed out in announcing their project that its purpose was two-fold – to swell their child-help project fund and to help rid grain fields and farms of the crow population explosion.

Winners of the prize guns, opening day, were Lonnie Wyrosdick who won the shotgun, and Raymond Watlington, the 22 rifle.

Farmers in the county are to be notified by all registered hunters before they hunt for crows, Kelley said. Only registered hunters are eligible for prizes.

Value Showdown:

Match these features against what competition gives you for the same kind of money, and you'll have a better idea why more people are buying Chevrolets again this year.

Built-in "guard rails"

There's a strong steel beam built into every door of every 1969 Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate Wagon, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

We call it a side guard beam, and it looks like one of those guard rails you see along the freeway.

That's what it's there for: To guard you. To strengthen the door and put a more solid wall between you and the outside world.

Not a glamorous feature.

But you'll have to admit worthwhile.

Computer-selected springs

Maybe you'll order your new Chevy equipped to the hilt.

Or maybe you'll order it with hardly anything on it.

Either way, you're going to get your full measure of our renowned ride.

Because we go to the trouble of programming each car's equipment load into an electronic computer.

The computer then tells us exactly which springs to use, depending on the car's weight and the way it's distributed.

Chevrolet, the only car in its field with computer-selected springs.

Fenders inside fenders

We could have skipped this. (The other cars in our field do.)

But we're as anxious as you are to keep your beautiful new Chevy looking beautiful and new.

So:

Up inside the regular fenders we've placed a second set.

They do all the in-fighting. Catch all the splashed-up rain, slush and road salt. Stop the kicked-up stones.

While your "outers" just sit there looking pretty.

Astro Ventilation

The other two cars in our field give you air intakes down by the floor.

So do we.

We also give you two up on the instrument panel.

And all four of them are adjustable so you can regulate the flow of air just the way you like it.

Even with all the windows closed, you'll be comfortable inside. You get air without wind. Without noise.

The theft-thwarter

On the steering column there's a lock.

Only Chevrolet has it, in Chevrolet's field.

You turn the key and it locks three things:

Your ignition.

Your steering wheel.

Your shift lever.

When you own a car this tempting, you don't dare take chances.

Biggest standard V8 in our field

Ask any car enthusiast, he'll tell you:

Chevrolet builds great engines. Especially V8s.

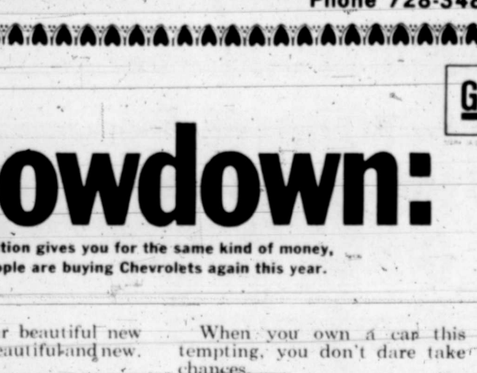

And this year there are six great V8s available for the big Chevrolet. Standard: Our 235-hp 327-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire.

Another thing: We've lowered the price of several of our bigger V8s along with our automatic transmissions and power disc brakes. Which makes it possible for you to buy a '69 Chevrolet for even less money than you could last year.

Show up for our Showdown. You can't lose.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Western Sweetheart Banquet Honors Westbrook Youth

BY MRS. W. A. BELL, Record Correspondent.

WESTBROOK – About 60 young people attended the annual sweetheart banquet Saturday evening in Westbrook's school cafetorium.

Westbrook Baptist Church sponsored the western affair.

Jimmy Grimes of Abilene, a student at Hardin-Simmons University, was principal speaker. Topic of his address was "Don't Give Up". He also directed group singing.

Master of ceremonies was Rev. Roy Shahan, interim pastor of the host church.

Gary Matlock said the invocation. Rev. Henry Parmenter, pastor of Methodist Church, spoke the benediction. Miss Sue Bell sang, "You Are My Sunshine". She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Ranne, pianist.

Serving the banquet dinner were Kathy Parsons, Pam Parsons, Gayle Rollins, Julie King, Pandora Moore and Marie Kelley.

Stage was set with a campfire scene featuring trumbleweeds, western fence and a sleeping cowboy.

Piano was decorated by a miniature covered wagon and horses. Another covered wagon, filled with an arrangement of red roses, complimented the speaker's table.

Dances in Sweetwater

They were Cheryl Hines and Terri Stricklin, both students of Dorothy Bryant's West Texas School of Theatrical Arts in Sweetwater.

GOOD THINGS FLOW

Let's see now. It started back there years ago with a few leaders wise enough to know water was the key to West Texas survival. Then came Texas Electric Service Company and Colorado City working together for Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion.

A fellow by the name of Glen Hemphill came to fish and loaf at the lake.

For him and other citizens who value flowing water, came a water system for Lake Colorado City. And, now, the lines have moved out into farm homes and ranch homes over a wide area of our country's western area.

You see. . .how one good thing leads to another. . .multiplying for the benefit of all of us.

Think everything costs more today?

Two exceptions are electric appliances and electric service

In spite of inflation, the dollars you spend for electric appliances and electric service buy more today than they did about 20 years ago.

Electric appliance manufacturers have done well in holding prices down. You get more appliance for your money now than in 1948.

In our own business, through sound business practices and technological advances, such as the use of larger, more efficient generating units, we have kept ahead of your electric energy needs and have been able to sell electricity at a lower average unit price.

Since 1948, the average selling price per kilowatt-hour of electric service to our residential customers has come down 32.7%.

True, most monthly electric bills are higher today, but that's because most folks are using more electricity to enjoy added electric comforts and conveniences.

Although continuing inflation makes the task increasingly difficult, you may rest assured we will continue to do our best to keep the price of electric service low – the biggest value in your household budget.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this time to express my appreciation to the sheriff of Mitchell County and his department; also, to the city police department for their fine work in recovering my mechanic tools which were taken in a burglary of Jay Adams Chevrolet Jan. 16.

Thanks to their efforts and a lot of work, my tools, which are my means of a livelihood were returned to me.

I will be ever grateful to these fine officers of Mitchell County and Colorado City.

Sometimes we do not appreciate our law officers like we should. But again I thank you.

Longer Staple Still Best Bet

A kind of dilemna is facing many cotton farmers on the Texas Plains, said Bobby Lemons, county agent, concerning the growing of longer staple varieties.

There has been a rapid movement to the production of longer fibered cottons over the last two years, but prices during the past season have been disappointing to the growers. At present, textile mills are more interested in shorter staple cottons because they are cheaper, said Lemons.

Lemons said a partial answer goes back to last year's market activity. Stocks of longer staple cotton have increased rapidly relative to short staple cottons. As a result, mills have a good supply of long staple cotton on hand. Futhermore last year's wide price spread between short and long staple cotton was an abnormal situation and could not be expected to hold.

In most cases, however, longer staple cotton is still bringing $15 to $25 more per bale than short staple cotton, Lemons pointed out.

"Another encouraging aspect is that cotton breeders are developing longer staple, stormproof varieties which have the yield ability of popular 15/16-inch cottons," he added.

In yield trials in Dawson County the past season, researchers from the Texas A&M University Agricultural Center at Lubbock found that new stormproof cottons with an inch plus staple averaged slightly more in yield than old 15/16-inch staple varieties. Yield was 646 pounds of lint per acre for the longer staple varieties compared to 605 pounds for the short staple varieties.

Longer staple varieties in the trials included Paymaster 111, Lockett 4789, Lockett 4789A, Lankart 3840, Lambright X-15-5, Stripper-Cala S and Tamcot 788.

Lemons encourages producers in Mitchell County to continue to strive to produce high quality cotton. This means cotton with a relatively long, strong fiber that is well matured. Mills with increasingly higher spinning speeds will continue to need and demand longer, stronger fiber in the future.

Senator's Viewpoint

Compensation For Victims Of Crime

By Ralph Yarborough
U. S. Senator

This week I want to discuss with you a matter that is of the utmost importance to all Americans, particularly with the great growth of crime in this country – the issue of government compensation to the innocent victims of violent crimes.

The question of compensation to victims is a critical issue, and it must receive careful consideration if we are to deal with all aspects of violent crime properly.

Every day in this country we witness a gross discrepancy in the way we attenpt to administer justice. A violent crime against a person occurs, perhpas an assault, a murder, a stabbing or a rape. The attacker is apprehended.

What takes place? The attacker may receive free legal counsel, free psychiatric examinations and treatment, hospitalization, food, clothing, and even vocational training or an education, all paid for by the state.

But the victim whose life may have been completely wrecked by the crime can collect reimbursement for medical bills, lost wages or his life only by suing the criminal, a process of doubtful value, because in most cases the criminal has no property to satisfy a judgment.

The victim suffers serious injury, entails great expense, pain and personal loss, but is in no position to obtain any type of adequate compensation from the government that throws every cloak of protection around the criminal.

In 1965, I introduced into the Congress a bill calling for the creation of a Federal Violent Crimes Compensation Commission that would consider the claims, examine the evidence, and provide up to but not in excess of $25,000 compensation by the government to individuals injuried by criminal violence. Since that date, New York and California have passed state laws to reimburse persons injuried by violent actions of criminals under the state code.

In January of 1967, I reintroduced this criminal injuries compensation act into the 90th Congress and that effort has created much interest and support.

January 15 I introduced S. 9, a bill to provide for the compensation of innocent victims of crime by creating a commission to deal with the claims of victims of violent crimes who live in the District of Columbia or other federally administered areas. Persons who have suffered personal pain and loss due to a criminal act or their dependents would be able to receive up to and not in excess of $25,000 as compensation, depending on the extend of the injury.

People who are unable to protect themselves with expensive insurance coverage or guns should be able to obtain some type of compensation for the personal injuries and economic difficulties which result from violent crime. I believe my bill S. 9 is an important step in dealing with this urgent matter.

Also extended was the contract of Jerry Church, title one coordinator.

C-City Draws Dunbar

District Playoff In Snyder

Colorado High matches shots with Lubbock Dunbar in the opening game of District 3-AAA basketball championship playoff.

The contest, matching the Wolves against the unbeaten leaders of North Zone, will be at 6:30 p. m. Friday night, Feb. 21, in Snyder's Scurry County Coliseum.

In the No. 2 match at 8:30 p. m. the South Zone's undefeated pace-setter, will go against Levelland High, No. 2 team in the North Zone. Winners of the opening round will play for the 3-AAA title the next night in the coliseum.

Playoff was decided Wednesday afternoon in Lubbock's Parkway Holiday Inn with representatives from all four playoff schools participating. Basketball Coach Caddo Matthews, Athletic Director Truman Nix and Supt. James McMath represented C-City.

A flip of the coin at 2:50 p. m. decided the playoff site. Before the flip, the group had narrowed the choice to Lubbock or Snyder.

Ticket prices will be $2 for adults and $1 for students at the Friday night doubleheader. For the single championship game Saturday night, Feb. 22, tickets will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Colorado High's trio hurried to Lubbock Wednesday morning to meet with Lubbock, Lamesa and Levelland representatives when the playoff berths were definitely decided Tuesday night with Colorado City's 66-60 triumph over Snyder.

A loss could have sent the Wolves into a sudden-death playoff with Snyder to decide the No. 2 berth for South Zone in the title series. But the Wolves overcame a deficit in the first half, frittered away a lead to slip into a tie in the fourth quarter, then moved out to clinch the vital win in the final seconds.

While the Wolves were scoring their second win over the Tigers, Lamesa was scoring win No. 9 in North Zone, 84-39, over Brownfield.

Dunbar was walloping Levelland, 76-44, for its seventh straight in North Zone. Levelland already had clinched a playoff berth with only one loss against 5 wins – far enough ahead of No. 3 Estacado not to worry about being knocked out of the playoff.

The Wolves, who have lost only to Lamesa in South Zone, now have a 7-2 zone mark and play their final regular season game Friday night against Brownfield.

RELAX .....ENJOY YOURSELF

Sure, relax. . .take it easy. . .enjoy yourself. You and your family deserve it.

Enjoy yourself all you can while you can. There's plenty of time for other things later.

Is there plenty of time? How about the little girl at your feet eating pop corn. Is that her whole diet. . .fun? Experts now say that much of a person's direction in life is shaped before a child is six years old.

And you and your wife? How much time really have you in these space age times when even the world can be blown up in a single, crazy moment?

Character, inner strength, faith for living all come from spiritual feeding. You've got to feed your soul, too. Life can't all be fun and relaxation.

A little more time invested in God's church will pay greater dividents for you and your family. You might even discover it to be the best time of all.

into anybody's offense. . .but most certainly at the University of Texas.

"We emphasize a running game, of course. And we use three running backs.

"However," Bellard added, "we think he has fine potential for defense, too."

The Longhorn coach, whose club won the Southwest Conference and Cotton Bowl during the last season, said Steakley has fine speed, competitive attitude and is aggressive – defensive attributes.

He is a couple of inches shorter than the great Longhorn star, Chris Gilbert, who is graduating as one of the all-time leading ground gainers of college football. Their weight is about the same, with Dan slightly more stocky.

"Dan is a shade faster, though," Bellard added. "He is about a 9.8 man while Chris was about 9.9 when he came to the university."

Steakley is not the only Colorado High star who is a target of Southwest Conference schools.

Randy Parker, the all-state performer in football who also is a standout in basketball and baseball, is being trailed by every school in the conference as well as by a host of other colleges. But he hasn't made his decision yet.
