Floydada School Board Reviews Needs; Begins Teacher Selection

The Floydada school board interviewed the principals of the four Floydada schools at the regular monthly meeting Monday night and reviewed the needs of each school and began the task of hiring teachers.

LEROY PATTERSON

It was evident that the first five grades will be in need of five new teachers and the problem of where to put some 150 or 200 more students in September was discussed. Since a pending suit against the school board has held up the letting of bonds for a new grade school, the board discussed possibilities of building more wooden temporary classroom houses.

The Hesperian will publish a complete listing of all teachers selected next week as discussion of some of the teachers was not finaled in the early hours of the morning, when the board decided to adjourn.

The board tabled a suggestion by the principal of the Junior High that a watering system be installed and a lawn be planted.

It gave the new business manager-tax assessor David Eaton permission to buy office furniture for the school's new offices in the former Glad's Men's Store building and signed a rent contract with Glad Lee Norman.

School secretary Mrs. Lorin Leibfried reported that all of the school's patrons have not reported personal property for rendition, but that work was still progressing on the effort. She said that about 60% of the current taxes had been paid to the school and that April 1st was the deadline for payment of taxes before a penalty would be assessed. She said all of the school's patrons had received statements for current taxes

Eaton has begun work on tax assessments for the 1964 tax roll.

The board also voted to send Eaton and school superintendent A. E. Baker to business manager and tax assessors schools in Austin and Houseton this month.

Show Animals Sale Tops $30,000 Mark

The twentieth annual Floyd County Junior Fat Stock Show, dedicated in the memory of Johnny Lackey, late son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lackey of the Cedar Hill community, as well as the awards banquet Tuesday night, were two of the best of such events, in attendance, showmanship, and quality of animals that have ever been displayed at the County Show.

A number of times, each of the three judges would make the statement that any of the animals vying for Grand Champion could be a first place winner. It seemed to boil down to a matter of taste of the individual doing the judging. The judges said a number of times as well, "These animals would make a good showing at any show in the country and would place high."

The highlight of the event was Tuesday night when the trophies for the division winners were announced and the showmanship trophies were awarded.

Winners of the showmanship awards were: Max Yeary for his showing of his Hampshire barrow; Teresa Colston, for her showing of the Heavyweight Milkfed class winner; and Will Sinor for his showmanship in the sheep division.

SHOWS WINNERS AT HOUSTON — Ricky Kellison made quite a showing at the Floyd County Show by showing the Grand Champon steer, as well as the Champion Fine Wool and Fine Wool Cross lambs. Last week Ricky showed the Grand Champion and Reserve Champion lambs at the Houston Fat Stock Show. The Champion was a Southdown, and the Reserve was a Hampshire.

The one person who made a tremendous showing at the County Show, as well as at the recent Houston Exposition, is Ricky Kellison. Ricky won the Grand Champion Steer trophy with his Angus, and was followed in second place by the animal that placed second in the class, also an Angus shown by Neil Mitchell. B. F. Yates was the cattle judge at the show.

Bob Kropp, and Max Yeary topped the Swine division with their particular animals. Bob showed a Poland China fo the Grand Championship, followed closely by Max with his Hampshire. It was in the picking of the Grand Champion of the Swine division that Euel Liner, the Swine judge, said, "any of these six animals could be named the Grand Champion and it would not be a misplacement."

In the Sheep Division, judged by Kenneth Gregg. It was Ricky Kellison whose name again topped the list as he showed both the Fine Wool Champion and the Fine Wool Cross Champion. Sam Fortenberry, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Joe Fortenberry, showed the Champion Medium Wool lamb. Phil Dunavant, of Petersburg, was owner and showman for the winner in the Shropshire division. Tops in the Southdown and Southdown Cross division was Dave Mitchell.

275 Attend Banquet

At the Awards Banquet held Tuesday night in the high school cafeteria, more than 275 people were actually kept in tears of laughter by the guest speaker, Rev. W. F. Thorton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Lubbock, and watched as proud young 4-H members and FFA members went forward and received their awards.

The entire show and banquet were well organized and well planned, for the efficiency with which both were run, was outstanding.

Camping Season Is Drawing Near For Girl Scouts

The "Cactus Region" number nine of the Girl Scouts of the USA is about to launch into another camping season, to which Floydada and the Caprock Council belong. Region Nine consists of all Girl Scout troops in Texas, plus a portion of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The Regional office is in Dallas.

The Region has thirty-one "Established Camps". They are open for camping from June to August. Troops use them from September until May. Floydada Girl Scouts may attend any of the camps for a small charge simply by writing for a registration blank and camp folder.

Activities are keyed to the native environment. Camps beside lakes, rivers or oceans offer water sports such as skiing, canoeing, crabdigging, and sailing, also life saving, swimming and diving instructions, spin fishing, and overnight canoe trips.

Camps in the piney woods have a western theme and offer roping and horseback riding.

Housing facilities are as variable as the camps themselves. Although wall tents with wood floors are the most prevalent. Some campers sleep in Adirondak three-sided pine shelters, covered wagons, tree houses, pine cabins and even dormitories.

All scout camps, regardless of their specialty, emphasizes conservation of natural resources and wild life, camp craft, art, music, dramatics, home making, health and safety. A camper learns to live with others in a fair and democratic manner.

Scout Camps cost only one-third the price of a private camp because cookie sales help to expend the camp facilities while camp tuition merely pays for the overhead.

Eligible for camp this summer are girls 10 to 17 years old from the 4th to the 12th grades.

A pamphlet which lists all 31 camps, their locations, facilities and price is available at the Scout House in Floydada.

the true sudan hybrid from Northrup King

Trudan I grows surprisingly fast . . . reports of one and three inches a day are not uncommon. Its recovery after grazing is almost unbelievable; it sometimes grows at almost twice the rate of ordinary sudangrass. Trudan I is very palatable, produces well as a pasture crop, hay, silage, or green chop. Its yield potential is tremendous wherever ordinary sudangrass is grown.

Track Season Begins; First Meet Is Saturday At Idalou

Track season gets into full swing this coming Saturday when the Whirlwinds travel to Idalou for the first meet of the season. Twenty six of the local "Winds are entered in Saturday's competition.

Coaches Bill Cormack and Bill Curry report that 35 boys have reported for track this year, which is one of the largest forces for Floydada ever to field.

The annual Whirlwind Relays are slated for the following Saturday, March 14, in which 25 area AA, A and B teams are entered.

Coach Cormack stated, "We need to put a little more emphasis on track, for this is the backbone of our boy's athletic program. If a boy can't run, properly, he's not much use in any other sports."

"The merchants too, need to remember that during the Whirlwind Relays, a large number of people will be in Floydada from out of town. They can reap a benefit from the event as well as the school."

Clinton Fawver, Charles Overstreet, Zeke Robinson, James McNeil, Gary Lyles and David Bowen.

The coaches reported that six lettermen are returning this year, and that only one senior is listed on the team.

There are five track meets prior to the district meet. District competition will be run at Canyon April 11. Every Saturday prior to the meet will be taken by an invitational meet.

Old Fashioned Days Considered By Retail Group

At a retail sales meeting, held Thursday morning in the First National Bank, the item of most interest seemed to be the creation of Old Fashioned Bargain Days during and following Old Settlers Day.

No plans have been finalized for the event and probably won't be for several weeks, but the minds of those attending the meeting were quite busy. One suggestion followed another about the event. A committee consisting of Bobby Taylor, J. C. (Pop) Wooster, Ray Reed, Gene Atwine, and Dan Hagood was selected by the Chairman of the Retail Sales Group, Louis Anderson, to bring a few plans before the group at a later meeting.

The five National Holidays were considered by the group. It was noted that May 30, and July 4 fall on a Saturday, and Labor Day, September 7, is on a Dollar Day Monday, all of which create a sales problem if the retail stores close on those days. Approval of the holidays will come at a later meeting.

At the meeting a committee was selected to plan the Christmas Activities and Back-To-School days.

Another meeting of the group will be held at a later date to draw some conclusions about the events.

Coordination Of Charity Considered

A group of 16 people representing a number of local organizations, particularly those concerned with charity cases in the Floydada community, met in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church Friday morning. The purpose of the meeting was to get a few ideas and take some action toward coordinating the charity of the people.

It was noted that a number of people are habitual cases, that will get welfare from the county, then make a round of the churches and other organizations to get whatever they can in the way of food, clothing and money.

A number of ideas were discussed on how to handle the charity of the community. The final and possibly the most logical, conclusion was to establish one center where people who do need food or clothing can go and get such items. But the center, too, would keep accurate records as to the needs of the families, how frequently they returned, whether any member of the household was seeking employment, and a number of other records pertinent to the situation.

John Reue was selected as a committee of one to seek someone who could help the community get a few more ideas about the coordination.

It has been learned since the meeting that Dan Eddy, Executive State Director of the Salvation Army, will meet with the group at a later date to give some professional advice about the charity organization of the community.

Mr. Eddy plans to be in the Area March 30 and again on April 20. Possibly he could meet with the concerned group at a date near those mentioned.

Those present were Weldon Harris and John Reue from the Salvation Army, Ralph Mardis and Claude Estes of the County Red Cross, Olen Watson from the Auditor's office, Mrs. Wesley Carr, the school nurse, Clarence Guffee, County School Superintendent, Judge J. D. McBrien, Rev. Floyd Bradley, and Clem McDonald from the First Baptist Church, Roy Turner of the First Christian Church, Herman Alexander of the City Park Church of Christ, Gean Tollett of KFLD, Jedd Blessing of the Hesperian, Wendell Tooley, acting chairman of the Chamber of Commerce in the absence of Wayne Brown, and John Reue, manager of the Chamber of Commerce

The next meeting is set for March 13, at 9:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church to satisfy a number of other questions that are yet to be asked.

Election Of Hospital Board Set April 4

An election oddity will occur April 4 in the Floyd County Court House. That is the day that both the School Board Trustees and the Caprock Hospital Board members are elected. Seldom are two separate elections held in the same building on the same day and more seldom are they held on the same floor, a few feet from each other.

The hospital board election will be held in the county courtroom, the school board election in the north end of the courthouse hall. All voters in the hospital district will vote at the courthouse box.

Deadline for filing for a position on the Caprock Hospital board is Monday March 9.

Qualifications for the candidates include the requirements of being a resident of the district, an owner of land subject to taxation in the district and he or she must be 21 years of age.

Five board members will be selected. The three who receive the most votes will be elected for two years and the next two for one year. Thereafter all directors will serve two year terms

At press time Wednesday four of the present directors of the hospital district had filed for reelection to the board. They are: Polk Goen, M. S. Roberson, L. T. Wood and Hollis Bond.

In a statement to the Hesperian A. H. Kreis, the other board member, stated that "although he was for the hospital 100%, he would be unable to seek reelection due to his health and the fact that he was away from home so much . . . and that someone who had more time to devote to the work of the board could better serve the interests of the district and the hospital to be built."

SUIT ACTION

In the meantime the board has employed the services of Lubbock attorneys Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam to answer a suit entitled, "Rene Yeary et al vs Hollis Bond et al. The suit is expected to be heard here in district court in the immediate future.

Mrs. Purks will now enter the Mrs. America Contest to be held in St. Petersburg, Fla., April 9-12.

Prior to the event, Saturday night each contestant had written a 200 word essay about why she would like to be Mrs. Floydada and had modeled a dish that had been sampled by each of the judges.

Judging was on the basis of homemaking ability 30 per cent, personality 25 per cent; activity in church and community affairs, 25 per cent; appearance, 15 per cent; and talent, 10 per cent.

The judges were Mrs. Fred Howard and Jack Payne of Plainview and Ross Cain of KLBK TV, Lubbock.

good . . . . there are also a few bad spots along the way.

Shucks . . . . I can go fishing and hook a bigun and lose him . . . doesn't bear me up much . . . although it's sorta difficult for the family to live with me for a day or two!

NOW I'M NOT gonna insist that the men attend the 14th annual style show sponsored by the 1956 Study Club . . . . but think every woman should be there. Of course it may cost us all when they see the beautiful new spring creations the women will be modeling and by Saturday before Easter we may have to borrow a little more on the car or TV set to pay out.

Anyway, every community should have an annual style show and we believe the 1956 study club should be commended for the hours of hard work and effort that makes each year's presentation so very successful.

A WOMAN driver was arrested for making an "O" turn. She began to make a "U" turn, but changed her mind.

I VISITED A FELLOW in the grocery store this week who said it was time for me to start making weather predictions . . . and I told him I usually make predictions at one particular time of the year . . . always predict a lot of wind and some sand (especially in Lamb county) for the months of March and April. So far March has been pretty damp, but we'll still say you better go ahead and nail down those loose shingles on the house.

Having spent the dust bowl depression days on the plains, a good duster has gotta be dark enough that I can't see across the street, before I figure it's really worth mentioning.

SPEAKING of dirt, here's one for your funny bone:

A man selling vacuum cleaners knocked on the door of a farmhouse. When the farmer's wife opened it, the salesman said, "Madam, I want to show you something you'll never forget." Before she could answer, he threw a sackful of dirt across the clean floor. "Now," he went on, "I want to make a bargain with you. If this latest model doesn't pick up every last bit of dust, I'll eat it."

"Here's the spoon," the farmer's wife said. We don't have electricity.

THEY WERE driving down the road. She cuddled up to him and said, "Why don't you be an angel and let me drive." . . . he did . . . and now he is!

Plainview PCA To Mark 30th Anniversary With Annual Meet

PLAINVIEW — (Special) — Members and guests from across an eight-county area of the High Plains will attend the 30th annual stockholders' meeting of the Plainview Production Credit Association Saturday, March 7, in the Plainview High School auditorium.

A luncheon will be served to all members and guests beginning at 11 a.m. in the high school cafeteria, General Manager Noel Woodley announced, followed by the business meeting at 1 p.m. in the auditorium.

The annual meeting of the nation's largest Production Credit Association will highlight 30th anniversary activities of the home-owned and operated agricultural financing institution.

"We want to urge all our stockholders to make every effort to attend their annual meeting," Woodley stated. "An interesting and informative program has been planned, and this is the one time each year the stockholders have the opportunity to gather to conduct the business of their association."

A feature of the business meeting will be addresses by two nationally-recognized authorities on agricultural credit. They are W. H. Calkins, vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston and Paul Fankhauser, deputy director of short-term credit services of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C.

Stockholders will also elect three members of the association's board of directors. Nominated for three-year terms are Incumbent Henry Hayes of Plainview and Deon Awtrey of Friona for one position and Incumbent Don Garrison of Silverton and T. C Measles of Tulia for the second post. Hayes is currently serving as association vice president.

Nominated for the third directorship are T. C. Favor of Littlefield and Loyd Widener of Lockney, to fill one year of the unexpired term of L. R. Durham, who had earlier resigned. Watson Jones, who was appointed to fill out the remainder of this year of Durham's term, did not seek election to complete the term.

Holdover directors are President Grady Shepard of Hale Center and Billy Carthel of Dimmitt.

Other business meeting activities will include a report of director activities during the previous year by Vice President Hayes, a financial report by General Manager Woodley and a report from the nominating committee by Chairman J. T. Eubanks of Bailey County.

Special musical entertainment will be provided by the West Texas State University Collegians and pre-meeting piano music will be furnished by Mrs. Inez Farrell of Plainview. President Shepard will preside at the meeting.

The Plainview Production Credit Association, owned and operated in its entirety by more than 2,700 farmer and rancher stockholder-borrowers loaned nearly $46,000,000 in its eight county area during 1963, a new high for the association and largest loan volume in the nation among the 485 PCAs.

"We have but one business," Woodley explained, "and that is to provide a dependable source of agricultural credit at the lowest possible cost to our borrowers." He emphasized that loan funds are obtained through the sale of bonds to the nation's investing public through the services of Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 36 PCA groups in Texas.

The association was chartered in 1934 and since that time has loaned more than $206,000,0000 in its area. Since the association charter in 1934, farmers and ranchers in the eight-county area of the High Plains have received more than $206,000,000 in loans from the association. Offices are in Plainview, Friona, Dimmitt, Tulia, Silverton, Muleshoe, Littlefield, Olton and Floydada.

County Farmers Expected To Set New High In FCIC

Floyd County farmers probably will set a new high in 1964 in Federal Crop Insurance according to Joe Matthews district director for FCIC, an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture.

He said FCIC representatives are accepting applications now in this county for a limited time on cotton and grain sorghum and that information on the program is available at the FCIC district office in Lubbock, Texas.

As 1963 ended, he reported that approximately 375 farmers of this county were carrying more than $2-million total protection.

1963 was a busy crop insurance year in Texas according to State FCIC director, Ben A Jordan, Jr., with nearly 12,000 farmers protected for over $31-million on their cotton, wheat and grain sorghums.

Nationally, according to FCIC manager John N. Luft, a 25 year record of nearly $500-million in crop insurance was set in 1963—up 30 percent and 25-thousand additional farmers from the previous year. Luft said 13-million United States acres and twenty different crops are now insured against production cost loss from natural hazards and that in 1963 some 50,000 farmers received close to $25-million in crop payments, all of it previously paid in by farmer policyholders.

The district director urged that farmers of this county get Federal Crop Insurance for the unpredictable need that can be disastrous and keep it like other insurance for the constant protection and constant peace of mind.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Is it nothing to the people of this county that all that we love and hold dear to our hearts, is headed for destruction?

It would seem that patriotism, if nothing else, would lead us to examine ourselves; it would seem that love for home, county, town and country would cause us to stop and take check. But very few know what is wrong and care even less.

Many of our county are passing the time away at the modern feast of Belshazzar while God writes on the wall. Others run after this politician and that with their promises and panaceas; the blind trying to follow the blind to a land that flows with milk and honey.

Many of these dear souls I am sure will some day depart this life and immediately file a court suit against God, saying that God did not give them sufficient time to make all the plans that they wanted to make.

We are living in a sad and defeating day when the people of any area cannot go to the polls and vote and the majority rule.

Some have said to me, "don't get worked up over things you cannot help, you may bring on a nervous collapse."

I simple ask this question?

Why can't our town and county be normal like other places. Other Towns have good school buildings, and good hospitals and everyone seems to be happy.

In those communities the majority rules and that is the way it should be in these United States.

SAND HILL NEWS by Mrs. James Jeffress

Blizzard Conditions Puts Stop To Farming Operati

SANDHILL, February 24 — The almost blizzard conditions recently put a stop to the farming operations, all except the feeding of livestock. Everyone is so proud of the snow on the wheat. It seems this year is rushing along so fast. Just think only about 60 days until cotton planting time.

Mrs. Gene Bloys is home from the Plainview hospital after having minor surgery recently. Those visiting her in Plainview were Mrs. Glenn Kinard, Mrs. Ludie Sanderson and Mrs. James Jeffress.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Workman returned home from their honeymoon in Mexico last week. They were the supper guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jeffress.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Starkey are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Mary, to Norman Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rafe Ferguson of Floydada. The Ferguson are former residents of the community. Their wedding date is set for March 6th. Seems the wedding bug is catching in the community. We wish them all the happiness in the world.

Norma Hollums has been home the past few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hollums. She has been ill but was dismissed by her doctor Monday. She plans to return to school some time next week but will be able to only attend a half day for at least three months. We hope she will be good as new soon.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs James Jeffress were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bloys and family and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pierce and family of Floydada.

We are so happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gilbreath and family of Floydada to join our church family at the Sand Hill Baptist Church. Bill is our new music director, and we are so proud to have him and his good family as part of us, and we all offer a big welcome.

Our deepest sympathy to the R. L. Bullock family on the loss of her brother in Lubbock. May God be with them in their hour of sorrow.

The Sand Hill Elevator sponsored a weed control film at the Community Center last Monday night week. Some thirty five men were present to see the film. Mr. Darrell May is operator of the elevator. Several nice comments were made about the film. Seems like the communities should offer more of these useful services to the people.

The R. A.'s at the Sand Hill Baptist Church met last week at the church with their leader Tom Pierce in charge. The program was presented from their Ambassador book then games of ping pong were enjoyed. Those present were Jim and Tim Jeffress, David and Kenny Bloys, James and Johnny McGuire and Steve and Stan Pierce. The R.A 's plan to meet each Wednesday night during the Prayer Meeting hour. Also meeting will be the G.A.'s and Sunbeams.

rity Coordination . . . A Most Needed Concept much money did you give to charity and to le organizations last year? How much do you te giving this year? Was the money you gave r spent where it was most needed? Was too it spent on people who don't need, and don't what was given them? The same questions asked about the coming year.

are very few people who give to charitable tions that regret the money they spent. Very that the money is being wasted. There are a w people who give that feel the money, or or whatever else was donated, didn't help some ndividual or family, and was taken advantage me sly habitual charity case.

ever, each of us is aware of the number of hat "make the rounds" so to speak. They pick es from one church, go on to another, go by ation Army or other agency and actually make . Some of these items are even sold by those on welfare.

d County is one of the strongest financially in te of Texas, and well able to take care of its eds, but those in charge of charity are aware fact that people become less charitable when ow their money is being wasted.

ainly the personnel of any of the charity are not wasteful, nor does not intend to be l with anyone's money or clothing or other hat are given for charity purposes.

peone who are in charge of organizations that basic mainstays for the people receiving charsibly feel more keenly, that the items given rganizations out of the goodness, and Christian of people's hearts is often misused. These orions are basically the churches, the Salvation the County Welfare, and the schools (in their ch program).

resentatives of the above named groups met day morning in the Methodist Church to see if uld become somewhat better coordinated and re that charity in this community is going to le who need it, and will use it to the best of the ts' knowledge and ability.

umber of ideas were discussed at the meeting from why the number of charity cases are setting up a distribution center that would re of all the charity cases from one central uch a center all records would be kept about the family, concerning whether any member of the family was employed, whether any member was seeking employment, how many are in the family, the names of all members of the family, how often they return for needed clothing, or food, and a number of other pertinent questions that would make the center of the most efficient quality.

It was brought to mind at the meeting, too, that when we furnish a charity case with enough gasoline to take him to the next town, we have just shunned our Christian responsibility. Giving these people immediate relief is necessary but is, or should be, only the beginning of rehabilitation.

Therefore, this distribution center, we feel, should don't be as a place where people who need it may find work. Perhaps even to the point that work would be offered an one of working age that comes into the center for c ity. Of course the one in charge of the center would be the final authority on how much each case should receive, or needs. But we feel that if someone is offered work and refuses it, he should not receive as freely as someone who is willing to work, but hasn't been able to find a job.

There is also the problem, as was discussed, of the person who needs help, but is too timid, or proud as the case might be to receive it, let alone ask for it.

Another meeting is scheduled for March 13, at which time the group intends to bring a few more questions out into the open concerning charity coordination, and then a meeting will be set up with, possibly Dan Eddy State Executive Director of the Salvation Army, to see what ideas he has for a centralized distribution point..

Possibly, the center would be open only a few hours each day and run entirely by volunteer workers, or perhaps a full time person would be needed to manage the center. These are just a couple of the questions yet to be answered.

However, whatever the final outcome, we think these concerned peope are to be commended for trying to eliminate those charity cases who are "habitual" and be more helpful in rehabilitating those who are willing to help themselves, which is the true purpose of charity.

Burning To Death

The mother of five children left them alone recently, with a gas stove providing the heat. At about midnight neighbors noticed flames coming from the home and before the fire could be controlled the five children had burned to death.

This happened the other day, in an American city. The children were left alone, with an open gas heater burning briskly.

Of course, accidents sometimes happen but there is no reason to expect to avoid accidents when children are left alone, at night, under the circumstances described above.

We assume the mother has suffered enough, in this case, and so we write these lines for the benefit of others. Children who are not properly supervised get in more accidents, are more often hurt, and killed, and grow to adulthood with fewer advantages than those with adequate care and supervision.

We don't advocate over-mothering of any child, and there is quite a bit of this today, usually by unthinking mothers. But there is also a distressing lack of supervision of many children. And that is one major cause of our juvenile problems today.

Parents who stay home very little at night, or who seldom know where their children are, or who they are with, and do not take the time to shape their minds and morals, by both instruction and example, are the cause for most of today's delinquency. The shocking examples of neglect, such as that which caused the death of five children in one home recently, made the headlines.

But the common-place examples of neglect are reflected in the younger generation, and the rising rate of violations of the law.

Girl Scouting Reflects The American Way Of Life

"On my honor, I will try—to do my duty to God and my country" . . . is the beginning of a promise that has been reaffirmed by an ever-growing number of this nation's finest youngsters for the past fifty-two years. They are the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., who in their fifty-second year which begins this week, number more than two and a half million girls and three quarters of a million adult volunteers.

In a time when our nation has so many crucial moral issues at stake, it is reassuring to know that our daughters from seven through seventeen have the opportunity to be part of a movement that instills in them an ethical approach to their country, to mankind and to themselves.

Girl Scouting is a reflection of the best ideas in the American way of life. It is entirely voluntary; it is supported by the community; it recognizes that children want to learn and to be useful as well as to have fun. Girl Scouting maintains the right of any girl to belong regardless of color or creed; and it believes in the country where Democracy is a living concept.

The theme for Girl Scout Week, March 8-14, is "Girl Scouting — A Promise In Action." For more than 3½ million girl and adult Girl Scouts, this theme refers to the traditional Girl Scout Promise.

The observance of Girl Scout Week reminds each of us that this is a time to re-examine our own values — and the values we are passing on to our children. This is a time to re-affirm our own beliefs in "God and country," and to support organizations like the Girl Scouts.

Floyd Philosopher Favors The Tax Cut If The States Don't Rush In With Sponges

Editor's Note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm raises an unhappy thought about the tax cut in his letter this week.

Dear Editor:

I have never been caught standing in the way of progress — sitting, maybe, or lying down, but never standing — and therefore I don't want to be misunderstood when I say I have a question or two to ask about the big income tax cut Congress has just voted.

It's not that I'm not in favor of it, far from it. In fact, I'm in favor of another one every year from now on. It should be a spring custom.

But I have been thinking about the cut, which will mean an eleven and a half billion-dollar saving to us tax payers, and I'm afraid Congress has forgotton something.

What I mean is, how many state governments, how many town and city governments, are looking the situation over right now and rubbing their hands and saying, "Let's see now, if Federal taxes are cut by eleven and a half billion, that means so many hundred millions the people of Texas will have to spend and in view of the fact the state always needs more revenue, how's the quickest way to get hold of some of it?"

That's the flaw in the tax cut bill. What Congress needs to do immediately is call the bill back and put an amendment on it making it against the law for anybody to spend his Federal tax savings on increased state or local taxes. As the President himself said on television, the purpose of the tax cut is to increase the people's spending power, and that's what I aim to do with mine. On a matter like that, I can cooperate 100 per cent.

As I understand it, it was the clear intention of Congress that if your tax cut amounts to say $213.98, you're supposed to buy a washing machine with it, or make the downpayment on color T.V., or buy some new tires, or whatever, just so it stimulates the economy. But where would the economy be if Washington gives us eleven and a half billion to spend and the states jump in and sponge it up?

I'm in favor of giving this new notion a fair trial, and I hope the states will too. In fact, why don't states reduce their taxes too. Don't they want their economy stimulated?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Treasury Renews Tax Refund Option

Federal income taxpayers were reminded yesterday by Don L. Pemberton, Savings Bond Chairman for Floyd County, that the Treasury is again offering them the option of taking refunds in U. S. Savings Bonds. The savings option, first introduced last year, is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying them to the next year's tax.

"By electing to take his refund in Series E Bonds," Mr. Pemberton said, "the taxpayer holds onto his money conveniently, through a secure, risk-free investment which pays interest at a guaranteed rate. He avoids seeing his money absorbed by household expenses, vanishing completely in day-to-day spending. And he learns what millions of other Americans have already discovered—that U. S. Savings Bonds are one of the finest possible ways to save for a secure future.

"And, of course, every citizen should realize that every dollar he invests in U. S. Savings Bonds makes our economy stronger and our whole nation more secure."

Taxpayers taking their 1962 refunds in Savings Bonds swelled the 1963 Bonds sales by $19.2 million and raised the number of Bonds issued by 237,455. This year, Mr. Pemberton said, the Treasury hopes the plan will further increase the sale of Savings Bonds, and encourage more citizens to develop regular savings habits.

"Nothing could be more convenient than getting your Savings Bonds through the tax refund plan," Mr. Pemberton points out. "All it takes is a check mark in the Savings Bonds block on either tax form 1040 (long) or 1040A (short). The tax instructions give all the information you'll need. But the important thing is to make up your mind now that this year you wont let your tax refund slip through your fingers. If you put it in Savings Bonds you'll not only hold onto it, but you will see it grow."

SWPS To Sponsor Nuclear Fusion Research Program

Southwestern Public Service Company and nine other investor-owned electric utilities in Texas announced today in Austin sponsorship of a research program in nuclear fusion at the University of Texas and Texas A & M University.

A. R. Watson, President of Southwestern Public Service Company, said the research grants were made under the sponsorship of the Texas Atomic Research Foundation, which the electric companies formed in 1957.

Today's program calls for original grants for research of 325-thousand dollars, Watson said, with the probability that another 215-thousand dollars will be committed to research in Texas universities in the future.

The research seeks to control power of the hydrogen bomb — that's fusion — to provide the fuel to generate electric power. If this can be done, hydrogen that is found in sea water would be the fuel source used in power stations.

Present day atomic power plants, which operate on the fis- atom, are more expensive to operate than the conventional plants that Southwestern Public Service Company is now using Watson said.

Veteran's Ask

Q — As an amputee I have been receiving a pension for nonservice-connected disabilities. During my present hospitalization it was necessary to amputate my other leg. Can I receive a greater pension now?

A — You may now be eligible for an additional allowance for aid and attendance after discharge from the hospital. This is not a general benefit but one made based on individual circumstances. You will have to apply to the VA for it.

Q — As a non-veteran, may I buy a GI home when it has been repossessed and again offered for sale?

A — The Veterans Administration has for sale to anyone who can qualify as to credit standing a large number of homes which have been foreclosed following non-payment by the GI purchaser. See your real estate broker, since most brokers are cooperating with the VA, to find out if any of these foreclosed homes are in your area.

Q — Can I make a personal loan from the VA to meet a financial emergency?

A — No. The benefits granted to veterans by Congress do not include provision for personal loans.

MENTAL ARITHMETIC

Shopping for meat is no simple job. You have to remember that some meats have more bone, gristle and fat than others. Some yield more cooked meat. And some have less protein value.

Take round steak and pork roast as an example. At the meat counter, one is marked $1.11 a pound; the other 67 cents. Which is the better buy?

According to food economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, you can have your choice. You'll get about the same amount of cooked lean meat and protein for each dollar spent.

That's because the round steak, which sells for $1.11, has the bone cut out: it has little excess fat. The pork roast, on the other hand, has the bone in and considerable fat.

So don't let the price of a pound of meat mislead you. Check the amount of bone, gristle and fat you're buying — and give a thought to the protein value of the piece you're selecting.

Fruit punch for a party — a glaze for the Sunday-dinner ham — a tangy salad dressing —

Honey can add something to all of these. And since it is about one-fifth sugar — of a kind ready to be absorbed by the body — it is especially easy to digest. Eat honey "as is" as a spread, topping, or sweetener for beverages and cereals. Use it, measure for measure, in place of sugar in puddings, custards, and many other foods; use it to replace part of the sugar in cakes and cookies, but use recipes especially developed for honey.

Here is a recipe for —

HONEY FRUIT PUNCH:

2 quart boiling water
2½ teaspoons black tea
6 whole cloves
1 cup orange juice
1 quart lime juice
½ cup lemon juice
½ cup liquid honey
1 cup cold water.

Pour boiling water over tea and cloves. Cover, let steep for 5 minutes, then strain. Combine tea with other ingredients and pour over cracked ice to chill. Garnish with thin orange slices, red cherries, or mint leaves. Makes about twenty-four ½ cup servings.

PARTIES it seems, are an essential part of family life — whether they be fancy or simple, for a large crowd or just a few, for family or friends. Whatever the occasion, they often become a part of the family tradition. Parties give an opportunity to plan for the pleasure of loved ones and friends, and a successful party leaves fond recollections of the occasion. The secret for successful parties seems to be no secret if congenial people are invited and entertained graciously.

If you recall the parties you enjoyed most, you will find that they all possess basic similarities:

Everyone at the party was relaxed, including the host and hostess.

All activities took place with seemingly little effort.

The food served was appropriate to the occasion, attractive and delicious.

On leaving you said with all sincerity, "Thank you for inviting me to your lovely party."

To bring all of this about requires careful planning ahead of time:

What sort of party? A dinner? A brunch? A tea? Consider the time of year, your space and facilities for entertaining, your budget, and your personal preference. The sort of party will determine the decorations and the food, etc.

WHY? A holiday? A birthday? Newcomers you would like to meet, your friends? Or perhaps no special reason at all — just a nice way to break up a long winter.

WHO? People are the basic ingredient of parties, so plan the guest list carefully.

WHEN? Consider which day and time would be best for the guests you plan to invite.

WHERE? At your home — the play room or den is suited to informal entertaining or for children's parties. The living and dining room are ideal for sit-down dinners or buffet service for a larger group. When the weather is "right" the patio is a nice place to have parties. But do be sure space is adequate for the number of guests you plan to invite.

SIMPLICITY always pays — A few well cooked and seasoned foods, attractively served are much better than a table crowded with many hurriedly prepared foods.
