"Negro Minstrel" Benefit Here at Pastime Friday Night

LIONS OFFERING ALL LOCAL TALENT

LOCAL JOKES, SONGS AND DANCE SPECIALTIES OF REAL MERIT OFFERED

"Ladies and gent'men, be seated!"

With this ancient and time-honored salution of the interlocutor, spoken immediately after the conclusion of a truly tuneful opening chorus, parts of which are "drawn from the masters", the Lions Club Minstrel for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Fund will start its swift-moving barrage of jokes and wise-cracks that will keep certain Clarendonites dodging and squirming to the accompaniment of songs and choruses galore.

There will be a men's circle in black-face, backed up by a ladies' circle in colorful costume. Tom F. Connally, the interlocutor, will be the central figure in the men's circle. On his right, in the order named, will be seated G. L Boykin, R. E. Drennan, James Smith, S. A. Pierce, Ira Merchant, T. D. Nored and Carl Parsons. The last two are "end men"—and a hct pair of end men they make, take is from this news-hound!

On the interlocutor's left will be seated D. R. Davis, F. W. Rathjen, Henry Wilder, Sam M. Braswell, Clyde Hudson, and the other two "end men," W. T. Hayter and P. B. Gentry—another rare pair of end men. One of them will prove to you that it takes just two feet to make a yard, contrary to the popular belief. And the other supports his partner quite creditably in his contention.

In the ladies' circle, to the interlocutor's right will be seen, in the order named, Misses Lucille Andis, Pauline Slover, Peggy Taylor, Dorothy White and Carrol Holder. On his left, in the order named, Misses Elizabeth Kemp, Mary Travis Dyer, Delphia Bones, Marjorie White and Jean Bourland. Truly a galaxy of Clarendon's most beautiful stars!

Delightful, but withal amusing vocal solos, supported by full choruses, will be rendered (Lard) by the company's best artists. W. T. Hayter will croon, in his most coulful manner, about his wish to go "Down South;" P. B. Gentry, Clarendon's own Tibbett, will sing "Just a Little Street Where Old Friends Meet;" T. D. Nored, the lad with the husk in his voice that give it a powerful appeal to those tingling spinal sensations, sings, "If I Was What I Ain't Instead of What I Is."

"And next, ladeeez and gent'mun," you will hear Carrol Holder—not Kate Smith, but Kate's only real rival—warbling in the Dim, Dim Dawning," assisted in the chorus by the beauty chorus. Which does not mean the men's circle.

And next—it positively gets better and better and better the further you go!—comes Carl (Slim) Parsons. If that lad's black-face specialties don't please, ask for your money back at the window and see whether you get it or not. Bending and swaying to the charm of his own voice, as he sings "Steppin' Around," he'll set you to swaying with him—you just can't keep still—and when that mixed quartet (James Smith, Jean Bourland, Carrol Holder and G. L. Boykin) tunes in with him on the chorus, the clog dancers (Henry Wilder and S. A. Pierce) just can't stand it any longer and they join in too. That "Steppin' Around" number is plenty hot!

But wait a minute! We need more words, extravagant words, to describe adequately that fascinating tap dance number called "Flying Feet", as presented by Miss Peggy Taylor and Mary Travis Dyer. Perhaps the most finished specialty offered, "Flying

TAX PAYMENTS AT LOW FIGURE

SCHOOL TAX PAYMENTS SHOW SHARP FALLING OFF OVER 1932

Tax payments to city, school district and county tax collectors up to midnight, Jan. 31, show a sharp decrease over tax payments up to the same date in 1932, according to the collectors.

Mrs. Mae Shaver, city secretary, states that city tax payments are approximately 41 per cent of the total tax roll, about $11,500 having been collected against a total tax roll of $28,628. This compares with $18,865 collected in 1932 against a tax roll of $34,936, or about $6,365 less this year than was collected up to the same date in 1932.

County Tax Collector M. W. Mosley estimates that approximately 50 per cent of the county tax roll was collected, but states that the figure is only an estimate. He will not be able to arrive at the exact percentage until the monthly report is completed about Feb. 15.

He estimates that less than 1,000 poll taxes were paid, as against 2,008 in 1932. Automobile license taxes also show a sharp decline, less than 1,000 sets of license tags having been issued. It is believed, however, that the number will be considerably increased if the proposed extension of time is granted by the State Legislature.

The greatest falling off in tax collections showed up in the city school taxes, according to figures released by Cecil ("Pete") Alexander, secretary of the Clarendon School Board. A total of $14,047.20 was collected up to Feb. 1, which is 44.2 per cent of the total tax roll of $31,691.47. Up to Feb. 1, 1932, total collections amounted to $24,884.50, which was 65 per cent of the tax roll of $38,184.00. This indicates a decrease in collection of $10,837.30, against a tax roll which was about $6,500 less than that of a year ago.

The difficulties of the school board are argumented by the fact that its delinquent tax list now totals, including the 1932 roll, $10,300.80, and the small collections of this year will unquestionably result in hardships on the teachers, unless tax payments are continued steadily by those who are delinquent. The school board urges that all who can possibly do so arrange to pay their school taxes as quickly as possible and thus help in relieving a distressing ituation.

Mesdames H. W. Taylor, W. M. Patman and L. Swearingen visited Sunday in the home of Walter McLaren at Claude.

Local Men Attend Plains Road Meet

Answering call of Judge John P. Slaton, director for the 31st Senatorial District of the Texas Good Roads Association, for a regional meeting of the organization at Amarillo, Wednesday, February 1st, Judge Sam W. Lowe, Homer Mulkey, W. L. Clampitt and Sam M. Braswell attended from Donley County.

The organization discussed the threatened attempts to further divert funds from the gasoline tax for other than road building and maintainance purposes and passed a resolution condemning such attempts, calling upon our senator and representatives to oppose all such movements, and to co-operate in every effort to further the program for the highway department's construction plans in the Panhandle. Another resolution was adopted urging that the highway commission let immediately every available contract for highway construction in the Panhandle, where right-of-way had been secured and plans had been approved.

The resolutions committee was composed of T. E. Johnson of Amarillo; Judge DeFee, Channing; Judge Mathes of Claude and Sam M. Braswell of Clarendon.

Mrs. Eph A. Taylor Dies Here Tuesday

Mrs. Ephraim A. Taylor, aged 73 years, 11 months and 6 days, died at her home here Tuesday night, after an illness of about fifteen days, brought on by advancing years. Funeral services were held at the home Thursday morning at ten o'clock by Rev. Robert S. McKee, assisted by Rev. L. A. Reavis. Interment was made in the Citizens cemetery, the pallbearers being O. T. Smith, F. H. Lumpkin, F. O. Woods, Jerome Stocking, W. M. Patman and Floyd Little.

Sarah Caroline Davis was married to Ephriam Ashcraft Taylor on Sept. 20, 1876, at Hunnewell, Mo. In 1889 they came to Texas, living for two years at Goodnight, since which they lived continuously until Mr. Taylor's death here on Oct. 19, 1926. Mrs. Taylor was a member practically all her life of the Primitive Baptist church.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. John W. Lee, Portland, Ore.; Roy E. Taylor, Salem, Ore.; H. G. Taylor, Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Luther Nutt, Portales, N. M.; Chas. G. Taylor, Seattle, Wash.; A. M. (Dusty) Taylor and Homer Taylor, of this city.,

Mrs. J. E. Teer, who went to the Adair hospital Sunday for treatment, is much improved and was dismissed from the hospital Wednesday.

OFFICIALS ARE GUESTS OF LIONS

STAINER, OF DENVER, AND ENGINEERS OF HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ATTEND

The Ft. Worth and Denver Railway company, the State Highway Department, the Commissioners' Court, and the latter's Jury of View, were guests at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club Tuesday.

M. A. Stainer, engineer maintainance of way, represented the Ft. Worth and Denver Road. The State Highway Department was represened by W. J. Van London, division engineer, and his assistants, H. D. Trussell and M. A. Cornelius. Judge S. W. Lowe represented the Commissionrs' Court, while the Jury of View was represented by T. F. Conally, chairman, and M. M. Noble and W. T. Hayter.

No comment was made by the visitors on the progress of the work of securing right of way for the construction of Highway No. 5, except that negotiations were proceeding in a satisfactory manner. The belief that the early conclusion of the work will soon assure actual construction work was expressed by Judge Lowe.

Crippled Children's Benefit

Tickets for adults and child admissions to the Lions Club Minstrel Show, to be held tomorrow (Friday) night at the Pastime Theatre were distributed among the Lions from whom they may be obtained by all who wish to have a part in this Crippled Children's benefit show. The tickets are being sold at 35 cents and 15 cents. They may also be had at the Douglas & Goldston drug store.

Bartlett Grocery's Party Big Success

The "house-warming party" of Bartlett Cash and Carry Grocery, held last Saturday, was attended by the people of this section in such numbers that Mr. Bartlett expressed himself as gratified beyond his expectations.

"Our store was visited throughout the day by crowds which taxed our sales force to the limit at times," he said. He also complimented The News highly on the apparent effectiveness of his advertising coverage, stating that "much credit is due to the advertising which announced the occasion."

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allmond, of Childress, were Clarendon visitors Saturday, coming up to visit J. Roy Bartlett's store on its opening day.

Library Book Shower Is Set For Feb. 22nd

The official date for the "book shower", which it is hoped will add several hundred volumes to the City Library, has been set on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, according to the announcement of the library committee.

A gratifying number of books have already been delivered to the library, more than a score being reported in last week's issue of The News. Mrs. C. A. Burton, librarian, states that a number of the books were called for during the week by readers who had clipped the published list from The News.

During the past week still other selections have come in from citizens whi did not wait until the official date of the shower. This prompt response to the library's need for more books is greatly appreciated and the gift of more books, prior to Feb. 22, will be welcomed by the library committee. If it is not possible to deliver the books at the library, notify Mrs. Burton and some one will call for them.

The following books have been added this week by gift:

Given by Mrs. H. Gorman—

"Peacock Feathers," by Temple Bailey; "The Needle's Eye," by Arthur Train; "A Dark Lantern," by Elizabeth Robins; "Whose Millions?" by Joseph Montague.

Given by Mrs. F. C. Johnson and Everett Johnson—

"Square Deal Sanderson," by Seltzer; "The Celebrity," by Churchill; "The Camp Fire Girls on the March," by Stewart; "Boy Scout's Adventures on Watery Trails," by Douglas; "Capturing a Spy," by Sherman.

Given by Mrs. T. H. Peebles—

"Ethics of the Dust," by John Ruskin; "The Spy," by Jas. Fennimore Cooper.

Ag Class Terraces Ruel Nichols Farm

The first-year Vocational Agriculture class, with about 25 members, under the direction of their teacher, G. L. Boykin, completed this week the work of running terrace levels on the 140-acre farm of Ruel Nichols, on the highway 6 miles west of Clarendon.

The class has also surveyed and set grade stakes for dirt-fill on the grounds of Clarenddon Junior College, east and south of the building. The dirt-fill and leveling work will be done by workmen employed by the PFC Work Relief Committee. Workmen are also dragging down a portion of the hill north of the college building, and levelling up the ball park grounds.

Miss Helen Martin, of Pampa, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Shaver.

ROTARIANS ENDORSE RFC WORK

LOCAL ADMINISTRATION OF RELIEF FUNDS DRAWS APPRECIATION LETTER

The Clarendon Rotary Club ordered a letter written to Odos Caraway, local chairman of the RFC administration, expressing the appreciation of the organization for the splendid manner in which the work was being handled in Clarendon and Donley County. Many personal expressions of appreciation of the local work was heard from the membership.

Mrs. Daisy Huff, Clayton, New Mexico, presented a program of monologue-readings much to the delight of the Rotarians present.

By official action the directors of the Little Theatre from the Rotary Club was re-appointed for another year, viz., C. C. Powell, Oscar Jenkins and Densil Davis.

Clifford Davis, formerly employed in the bookkeeping department of the First National Bank, returned Saturday from Los Angeles, and other cities, in California. He reports a great deal more unemployment in that state than apparently exists in at least this part of Texas. The majority of the employment agencies are refusing to list more applicants for employment, stating that they already have more listed than they can possibly find places for.

JOE GOLDSTON IS VICE PRESIDENT

STANDING COMMITTEES WILL BE NAMED AT NEXT REGULAR BOARD MEETING

Bill Ray, popular and highly esteemed young business man of Clarendon, will serve his fellow-citizens during 1933 as the new president of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce. His unanimous selection by the board of directors occurred last Friday night when the new board met in its organization session.

Mr. Roy is a native son of Donley, being "born at the end of the Chamberlain lane, about six miles south of town," as he expressed it to a News reporter. Ten years ago he accepted employment with the grocery firm of Clifford & Wilkerson, becoming a partner in the firm of Clifford & Ray about five and one-half years ago. He is regarded as a conservative but progressive business man who will meet his new responsibility with credit to himself and the Chamber of Commerce.

At the same meeting the board was named as two committees of the whole, a committee to select the personnel of the various standisg committees and another to outline the year's program of work. The committees will report at the next regular meeting of the board.

President

BILL RAY

Newly elected President of Clarendon Chamber of Commerce for 1933.

Vice-President

JOE GOLDSTON

"Let's Swap" Movement Begun For Donley Citizens' Benefit

LET'S SWAP ADS TO BE RUN FREE

NEWS ANNOUNCES PLAN FOR EXCHANGE OF USEFUL ARTICLES

Beginning next week and continuing for a short time, The NEWS offers its Classified Advertising columns free of any charge for the use of the people of its territory in disposing of any surplus home or farm articles in exchange for other surplus articles. The advertisments will be limited to 25 words, and must offer articles in EXCHANGE only for other articles. Advertisements offering articles for SALE can not be accepted for free insertion.

The ads will be run under the special heading, "LET'S SWAP", and the intention of The News is to bring together for a possible "swap" those who have articles of any kind which they no longer need but would exchange for something useful.

The News is prompted to do this purely as a community service, to be discontinued at its own option by notice under the "LET'S SWAP" classification. There are many people who would be glad to exchange furniture, feed, cured meats, canned vegetables and fruits, farm implements, radios or phonographs, livestock and other articles. The News wants to bring these people together and enable them to make a trade without the necessity of expending cash in hunting trades. Trades made on this basis should be made without any cash passing hands.

Swaps will be made much easier if each advertiser states clearly what he wishes to trade his offerings for.

Advertisers are asked to observe the following rules: Copy must be brought or mailed to the office of The Clarendon News. Phone orders can not be accepted for obvious reasons. Copy MUST be in the office by Wednesday night of each week—earlier if at all possible. It will be much better to attend it NOW while you are thinking about it.

Arrangements are being worked out with the Chamber of Commerce for the assembly, on one or more Saturdays, of the "Let's Swap" offerings of all who will bring them in on the announced date or dates, thus establishing a "LET'S SWAP MARKET PLACE," so that swaps can be made with greater speed and greater satisfaction to all concerned. Both indoor and outdoor display space will be provided and every assistance will be extended by the sponsors of the "Let's Swap Market Place."

The News believes that in its Let's Swap advertising service it will be rendering a timely service to the people of the Clarendon trade territory. The ancient principle of "barter" was the first form of commerce. Under present-day conditions a return to that same first principle can be made to accomplish much good to all who participate in it. Look around the place and see what you have that is usable, but which you do not need and would be glad to exchange for necessities. This is a form of "self-help," but it requires initiative to the extent of letting News readers know what you have and what you want. "Vass you dere, Sharlie?"

B. & P. W. Club To Have Banquet For Clarendon Mothers and Daughters

Miss Rhoda Wiedman, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, announces that the club will sponsor and arrange for a Mothers' and Daughters' Basquet, to be held on Monday night, Feb. 13.

The banquet will be the first Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held in Clarendon and it is the hope of the B. & P. W. Club that the response of mothers and daughters will mean its establishment as an annual affair. In general, Mother and Daughter Banquet programs seek to direct thought along the same inspirational lines as do the now widely observed Father and Son banquets.

An interesting program will be offered, with Miss Mantie Graves acting as toastmistress. The club membership will make active efforts to bring out a large attendance. Any mother of a daughter, either married or single, and no age limit either way, is urged to be present. Any woman without a daughter is urged to find some girl whose mother, for any reason, will be unable to attend the banquet and invite her to it. There are many girls in Clarendon and Donley County who would like to attend, but whose mothers can not go with them.

The club's arrangement committee will appreciate very much early expression of interest and intention to attend, in order that plans may be made more intelligently.

The meeting place will be announced in next week's paper. Tickets will be sold at 50 cents per plate.

Officers of the club are: President, Miss Rhoda Wiedman; first vice-president, Miss Gwendolyn Couch; second vice-president, Miss Lela Laymon; recording secretary, Mrs. Ruth Teat; corresponding secretary, Miss Lotta Bourland; treasurer, Miss Carrie Davis.

PROFITS COMES AFTER SELLING

Under-consumption of the necessities of life rather than over-production is given as one of the reasons for present difficulties, according to the Trinidad Guardian, published in the British West Indies. Things which people could do without have replaced the staples of modern life to the injury of the producers of grain and wheat. The writer quoted says:

"The more I see of advertising the more I am convinced that we know nothing about it.

"We built up a world boom by advertising luxuries we could do without; then when the luxuries were doing all the business there was a slump in primary commodities. Naturally and logically. Everyone was buying luxuries and was learning to do without primary products.

"The girls smoked cigaretts instead of eating sugar candy and chocolate; they gave up bread for rusks; they began to use artificial silk instead of wool and cotton and flannel; we used electricity instead of coal; we learned to eat canned goods instead of village produce. Thousands of people acquired a taste for canned milk instead of fresh.

"What did primary products do? Instead of advertising their way to success too, they cried overproduction. Overproduction is only a child's way of saying 'no buyers.'

Look around and see who advertises least. It is the producer of primary products every time. They got the idea that they were indispensable and when they found they were not, they sat down, and wept instead of taking a course in salesmanship.

"Fortunes used to be made out of land and farming. The farmer was the one-man shop in the one-horse town. Everybody had to go to him or starve. Nowadays instead of going to the farmer it is easier to buy canned food; luxuries advertised by middlemen or importers. The farmer sits around and wonders where his customers have gone.

"We can do without bread, cocoa, sugar, potatoes and practically all of the fresh products there are. But the producers 'kid' themselves that we can't. They blame economics and overproduction for lack of sales. If they advertised and marketed like everybody else, they would not get left in the rush.

"When the primary producers learn to keep pace in their advertising with the producers of luxury goods, the world will get balanced again. So long as the primary producers don't get togther and advertise so long will they tell a hard luck tale. And so long will the world slump, because, though we all like luxuries, we can only buy them so long as enough of us earn the right to do it by selling the fruits of the sweat of our brow. AND THOSE WHO SWEAT MUST LEARN TO SELL!—Daily News, Orange, California.

HITCH-HIKERS' "RIGHTS"

Gradually the courts are working around to a common sense and just interpretation of the responsibility of an owner of a motor car who is generous enough to let a thumb-pointer ride with him and unlucky enough to have an accident in which his guest passenger gets hurt. For years the legal idea was that the motorist was liable in such cases, and the "unrightness' of such a situation caused some States, notably Texas, to enact a law specifically removing liability from the owner. Recent Court decisions, including several by the Supreme Court, indicate that the common sense interpretation of the law of responsibility is about to triumph over the technical interpretation without the aid of "fixer" laws.

In a recent decision in a case wherein a hitch-hiker sought damages from a motorist, Circuit Judge William B. Brown of Grand Rapids, Mich., said: "Guest passengers in private automobiles have no rights under the automobile damage laws of the State. They have to alternatives: one is to refrain from riding with others and the second is to go to Lansing and have the law changed."

The question, Judge Brown said, hinges upon the interpretation of the term "wilful and wanton negligence." According to the ruling of the court, negligence to be wanton and wilful almost must be international. Naturally the cases are rare in which the owner of a car internationally smashes it.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

—oOo—

Every governmental official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of domestic government.

—oOo—

A study was made by the Department of Commerce of 205 concerns which bettered their 1930 business in 1931. The report lists some forty reasons for that success. Most of them are "selling 80 cases, and sales effort in 45". What is advertising but sales effort?—Nations Business.

The more government we have the less we care for it.—Will Payne.

GOING AFTER BUSINESS IN EARNEST

Competition is keener than ever before due to present economic conditions and for that reason alone, if for no other, the man who goes out after business is the one who gets it.

There are several methods of "going out after it." You can stand on the street corner like any hawker and cry your wares. If 500 people pass by your store every day, perhaps one-tenth of them may enter at your request. But what about the hundreds and thousands of others who do NOT pass by on that particular day? They, too, are prospective buyers of your commodities. But you will wear out your lungs shouting from day to day. And imagine the uproar if every merchant started the same hullabaloo every morning!

The only adequate, inexpensive and effective substitute for your voice is newspaper advertising. Instead of attracting only the attention of a minority of your customers, it will sell them your product in their own homes where the decision to buy or not to buy is really made.

Follow the lead of those who have tried it. Consistent Advertising in your home town Newspaper will bring you returns far larger than those obtained by any other medium.—Santa Maria (Calif.) Daily Times.

THE CRIMINAL SENATORS

The distress of the $10-a-day Senators at Austin over the crime committed by the $8-a-day Senators in taking less than the full amount of pay authorized by the Constitution must move the citizens of Texas almost to tears. The $10-a-day gentlemen voted manfully—some of them did, anyhow, that the salary of the Legislature be $8 per day per member. Their grief at the action of the House in sticking to $10 was so great that they resolved to take $10 themselves. But in the meantime Senator Purl of Dallas and two others got through a simple resolution in the Senate fixing the pay of these three at $8 per day. On a day subsequent Senators Poage and DeBerry offered a second simple resolution fixing the same rate of pay for themselves.

The $10-a-day patriots were awake that time and raised points of order, demanding an opinion from the Attorney General and suffered agonies of doubt over the careless way in which Senators Poage and DeBerry ignored the constitutional provision that the Legislature might fix its own pay up to $10 a day. Poage and DeBerry were pretty nearly criminal, it appears. They were this and they were that. And thus it comes about that the $10-a-day boys get $10, Senator Purl and the two who joined with him get $8 each, while Senators Poage and DeBerry get nothing, pending the decision of the momentous question.

Collecting pay is a sacred matter. One Senator has read somewhere a decision that an official who does not collect his full pay is disqualified from office. Any tax-eater will tell you that he ought to be hanged. The matter is perfectly clear on that point.

AN APPRECIATION

The News wishes to make belated acknowledgement of a letter of appreciation from Mrs. J. W. Evans, the secretary of Les Beaux Arts Club, for the publicity given in its columns on the recent pottery exhibit sponsored by the club.

"We are gratified at the success of the exhibit. There were over three hundred guests during the three days," said Mrs. Evans.

THE GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

The Governor of Texas,
A dauntless one are they,
Though frenzied foes assail her,
He never shows dismay.

For erring folk in prison
Her tender spirit grieves,
But let them go to college,
Then see him roll his sleeves.

When rivalry malicious
Would hurl him on the shelf,
She bravely do her duty,
Regardless of themself.

The Klan may plot and bluster,
The Legislature blame,
But the Governor of Texas,
They gets there just the same.

—New York Times.

EXPRESSIVE RELIGION" Part II.

Text:—"For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20.

In our last week's "Chat" we had a lesson on "Expressive Religion" based on the text "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." (Psa. 107:2.) In this lesson we tried to show the importance of testifying and living right before our loved ones in the home, comrades in business and the world. Today we want to continue our study by giving a New Testament example.

The words of our text today are the words of Peter and John. Note the circumstances. They had wrought a miracle. The news had traveled and the Jews were afraid that Christianity would spread and they had put the apostles in prison. The next day they were brought forth and were amazed at their boldness of speech. They were charged not to speak in the name of Christ any more, but the apostles answered them in the words of our text. It was their duty to speak for Christ and they did so in the face of punishment that was threatening them. Their action furnishes us some lessons.

I. All of Christ's disciples can have much to say concerning Him. Much that they have "seen and heard." They can testify to:

1. The freeness of His grace. By this they have been saved. 2. The richness of His love. 3. The reasonableness of His claims. 4. The pleasure of His service.

II. Christ's disciples are constrained to speak of Him.

1. Christ demands it. He must be confessed. It is to be our test. 2. Gratitude and love enforces it. It would be base and wicked not to testify. 3. Christians alone can testify, the enemies of Christ will not. 4. Those around them need the testimony.

III. There are many advantages arising from testifying of Christ. 1. It will please Christ. Honor Him, honor His cause. 2. It will be followed with inward peace. Conscience will smile. God will give his favor and joy. 3. It will increase our zeal. Zeal will expire unless stirred up. 4. Tend to our usefulness. May do much good this day if put into practice.

Next Sunday morning our subject will be "Social Cannibalism" a sermon on the use of the tongue. Sunday night, "When God Runs the Church."—W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

HARRIETTE LAKE
In Sam. H. Harris's Musical Success "Of Thee I Sing"

"OF THEE I SING" TO BE STAGED ON FEBRUARY 13

MUSICAL COMEDY SATIRE WILL BE OFFERED IN AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Tex., Jan. 31.—The only musical comedy in history to win the pulitzer Prize as a stage attraction will be brought to Amarillo the night of Monday, February 13. It is "Of Thee I Sing," a brilliant satire on national politics.

It will be a red letter event for all the Panhandle. Already reservations are pouring into the office of Wilbur C. Hawk, who booked the attraction, and indications are that the audience will represent every section of this area.

Largest Company

Only one performance will be given—the one at night; and those wishing choice locations are urged to apply early.

"Of Thee I Sing' is the largest company on tour today. Although it is a musical comedy and not a revue, as was Earl Carroll's Vanities, there are more people in the company and more technicians are required to handle the show than was the case with the Vanities.

The cast is the same that played several successful weeks in Chicago, then went to Detroit, St. Louis and other large northern and middle-western cities. Oscar Shaw, a celebrated star of the dramatic and musical comedy stage, has the leading role, with Harriette Lake, Donald Meek and Cecil Lean having other prominent parts.

"Love in the White House"

"Of Thee I Sing" has a definite plot, albeit there are comedians and chorus girls aplenty. It concerns the nomination and campaign of a presidential candidate, whose slogan is "Put Love in the White House." It is screamingly funny, and every scene is a sizzling satire on some phase of national politics. It is in two acts and 11 scenes. George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind wrote the book; George Gershwin of "Rhapsody in Blue" fame, wrote the music and Ira Gershwin, his brother, the lyrics.

It was last season's greatest musical comedy smash on Broadway.

Advance reservations may be made by writing Wilbur C. Hawk at the News-Globe, or by calling Miss Lois Black, 6262.

The prices are $1.10, 1.65, $2.20, $2.75 and $3.30.

Out-of-town patrons are asked to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the remittance for the return of the tickets.

It's easy to say they're all alike—and easy to prove they are NOT.

Dissolve a genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet in water, pour it off, feel the fine powder that coats the glass.

Do this with some other tablet; see what coarse particles are left! They feel as sharp as sand, even to your finger. How must they affect those delicate membranes which line your throat—your stomach?

For immediate relief from Headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia or neuritis, lumbago, rheumatism, there's nothing like Bayer Aspirin.

It cannot depress the heart.

Pathfinder Club Has Pioneer Reception

The Pathfinder Club, having been federated over twenty years, has joined the ranks of the Pioneer Group of the Federated Clubs, and with this thought in mind, held its annual anniversary reception Friday afternoon from three to five o'clock, in the beautiful and hospitable home of Mrs. J. R. Porter on College Hill.

As the guests entered, they were received at the door by Mrs. U. J. Boston, president, and Mrs. J. R. Porter, president-elect.

During the first hour semi-classical music was played by Mrs. Simmons Powell, who was followed by Mrs. Allen Bryan, the second hour, Mrs. W. B. Sims gave a short history of the local organization, telling of its beginning in January, 1911, and being federated in April of the same year. When it was first incorporated, this club was in the First District, but when Texas was re-districted it was placed in the Seventh District.

Mrs. J. S. Morris, now of Ft. Worth, was the club's first president and active in securing the charter. Thirty-four members were enrolled the first year. The club has had many projects during its twenty-two years of existance. Through the efforts of this club Manual Training and Domestic Science departments were added to the Public School and in 1926 the nucleus of a public library was formed, which the city took over in 1929, making it a City and County Library.

Others appearing on the program included Rosalyn Bass, who gave two pianologues, "Out Where the West Begins" and "The Old-fashioned Woman", which was followed by Elizabeth Kemp's violin selection, "Turkey in the Straw". "In the Garden of Tomorrow," a vocal selection by Mrs. O. T. Smith was thoroughly enjoyed.

As the guests were ushered into the dining room a unique scene greeted their eye, for in the center of the table was a miniature covered wagon drawn by oxen over the sand-hills of the plains, with sage brush and cactus scattered about. This typified the entry of the pioneers into the Panhandle of Texas many years ago.

Mrs. Mollie E. Gray and Mrs. W. B. Sims presided at the coffee and tea silver services the first hour and Mrs. Sella Gentry and Mrs. James Trent the second hour. They were assisted by Mrs. C. A. Burton, Mrs. W. A. SoRelle, Mrs. B. L. Jenkins, Sr., and Mrs. Paul Shelton

Over one hundred guests called during the afternoon

Birthday Party

Little Marilyn Maher and Jean Stargel entertained a few of their little friends last Wednesday afternoon with a birthday party given them by their grandmother, Mrs. George Antrobus.

The small folks played games, sang songs, and said speeches. Then paper cops were donned and with balloons they marched into the dining room to see the birthday cakes and cookie dolls which were decorated in colonial costumes. The candles were served with fruit gelatin, the balloons busted and the children all said they had a good time.

Guests were: Jean Dale Porter, Laverne Darden, Catherine and Jean Mosely, Carl Marcellus Bennett, Carl Parsons, Jr., and George Watson. They were served by Dorothy Watson and Jean Teat.

Mrs. Martin Is Hostess

Mrs. W. H. Martin was charming hostess to her 1922 Bridge Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home.

The Valentine motif was carried out in the attractive tallies, and in the games Mrs. W. H. Cooke was awarded high score with Mrs. C. H. Bugbee being fortunate in the cut for consolation. Each received a lovely prize.

A delectable two-course afternoon luncheon was served at tables, which were centered with pretty bouquets of flowering japonica. To enjoy this were: Mesdames L. S. Bagby, C. H. Bugbee, John Sims, Sr., James Trent, L. L. Swan, Sella Gentry, T. H. Ellis, Odos Caraway, A. R. Letts, club members; and Mesdames Don Grady and W. H. Patrick, guests.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Kelly of Pampa were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Bowen.

Mrs. Ryan Hostess to Bluebonnet Club

One of the nicest and most enjoyable parties of the week was the Bridge-Luncheon given by Mrs. George Ryan on Thursday for members of the Bluebonnet Club and a few guests.

When the guests arrived at one o'clock they were served a sumptuous luncheon at an attractively decorated table. Afterwards games of bridge were enjoyed with Mrs. Homer Glascoe winning high score and receiving a lovely prize.

Enjoying this were: Mrs. James Trent, Mrs. W. J. Atteberry of Amarillo, and Mrs. Sella Gentry, guests; and Mrs. J. F. Blocker, Mrs. R. L. Bigger, Mrs. Odos Caraway, Mrs. Homer Glascoe, Mrs. C. T. McMurtry, Mrs. A. R. Letts, Mrs. C. B. McCanne, Mrs. J. L. McMurtry and Mrs. C. G. Stricklin, club members.

Dinner-Bridge Club

Honoring members of their Dinner-Bridge Club, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor were genial host and hostess on Saturday evening at their home.

A delicious dinner was enjoyed, with games of bridge being played later in which Mrs. Sam Dyer excelled.

Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merchant, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Selden Bagby, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Gentry.

Kill Kare Kneedle Klub

With Mrs. Joe Fowler as hostess, members of the Kill Kare Kneedle Club spent a delightful afternoon on Thursday as her guests.

Mrs. Homer Mulkey, Mrs. Ted Williams, and Miss Etta Harned were welcomed in as new members of the club.

A pleasant afternoon was spent in light conversation and fancy needle work with dainty refreshments being served to: Mesdames C. W. Taylor, A. W. Simpson, Cap Lane, Tom Kennedy, D. E. Morris, and Carl Cunningham of Amarillo, guests; and Mesdames W. A. Massie, W. C. Stewart, Joe Cluck, Van Kennedy, M. L. Stricklin, W. A. Land, Eva Draffen, Ben Hill, Harry Brumley, and Buel Sanford, club members.

Buffet Supper

Among the many delightful social events of the week was the informal buffet supper given Sunday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Gentry, at their attractive apartment on College Hill.

Mrs. Ira C. Merchant charmingly presided at the beautiful antique coffee service. Later in the evening different games were played, but the biggest interest was taken in the Jig-Saw puzzle, which was finally worked after much muttering and mumbling, to say nothing of the advice and pushing.

Participating were: Misses Mary Cooke, Lorraine Patrick, Messers John Hutton, Dick Ritchie, Kelly Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stocking and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stegall.

Stewart—Rhodes

A quiet wedding Wednesday evening united in marriage Miss Jewell Rhodes and Mr. Howard Stewart, both of the Goldston community. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. S. McKee of the First Presbyterian Church, at the parsonage, with Misses Mattie and Irene Rhodes, Miss Smallwood, and Mr. Glenn Churchman attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be at home to their friends on Mr. R. A. Chamberlain's farm, three miles south of Clarendon on the Brice road.

Missionary Society Meets

The Ladies Missionary Society of the First Christian Church, held their monthly meeting yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon at the parsonage. This meeting was very well attended, there being 21 present. Mrs. J. T. Warren, a former Missionary to China was present and gave a very interesting talk on the work in that country. Mrs. G. A. Anderson, was program leader and led the meeting in a very inspiring service. Mrs. J. R. Tucker was the devotional leader and rendered a fine part in the meeting. One new member was added to the Society. Mrs. Rayburn Stegall, and she gave a fine reading on China missionary work. Mrs. E. C. Herd, the president of the Society had charge of the meeting and Mrs. W. E. Ferrell, acting hostess, served the members with a wholesome refreshment after the business session was over.

Camp Fire Troop Have Tacky Party

The Nowetompatimin troop of the Camp Fire Girls are a lively bunch and always manage to have a grand time where ever they are and what ever they do. This past Saturday evening this group, and a few guests, had a gay time at a Tacky Party in the basement of the Presbyterian Church.

Games of every description were played. Later refreshments were served to: Katherine Oden, Olita Wood, Virginia Butler, Elizabeth Sanders, Jean McDonald Nell Cook, Imogene and Earline Pitts, Fannie Mae Sache, Rebecca Welch, Lucille Goldston.

Jack Latson, Drew Wilkerson, Wesley, Walter and Aubrey Brady, Gene Butler, Joe Montgomery, Red Estlack, Billie Cooke, Homer Tucker, and Charley Word.

Chaperones for the party included Miss Helen Goldston, guardian of the troop, and Mr. Gene Chamberlain.

MOTHERS CLUB TO MEET

The Mothers Club will meet Friday afternoon at he Club Rooms at 3:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Frank Heath as hostess. All members are urged to be present.

Judge J. R. Porter attended the annual banquet of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, making one of the addresses on the program.

FAMILIES ENJOY DINNER WITH T. M. PYLES SUNDAY

Three sisters, a brother and a niece of Mrs. T. M. Pyle, an uncle and first cousin of Mr. Pyle, with their children, enjoyed a bountiful dinner last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pyle.

The sisters, whose husbands and children were also present, are Mrs. Hugh Nelson, Mrs. Guy Kercheville and Mrs. James Burks, all of Newlin. Her brother, W. E. Watson, also of Newlin, was present with his wife and children. Mrs. Will Salms, her niece, and her husband and children, were present from Pampa. L. B. Kercheville, of Portland, Oregon, and Guy Kercheville, of Newlin, are the uncle and cousin of Mr. Pyle.

ATTENDANCE AT METHODIST CLASSES IS EXCELLENT

Excellent attendance has been accorded Rev. J. W. Watson's series of classes which have been in progress at First Methodist throughout the week. From 75 to 100 persons have been in regular attendance, many coming from out-of-town points.

The classes, in which instruction is given in increased service on the part of members of the church, are a part of the new plan for spreading the various duties of the church over a greater number of them. Mr. Watson is holding similar meetings all over the Northwest Texas Conference.

ATTENDS FELLOWSHIP SUPPER AT MEMPHIS

Rev. W. E. Ferrell and daughter Mamie, attended the monthly Fellowship Services at the First Christian Church in Memphis Wednesday night, and Rev. Ferrell delivered the Fellowship address, his subject was "What is a Christian?" This meeting was well attended and a fine spirit of fellowship was manifest, and everybody enjoyed the evening.

Ira Merchant made a business trip to Borger and Panhandle Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams visited over the week-end in the home of Judge and Mrs. A. T. Cole.

It is better to lose an eye than one's reputation.

"ROTARY DAY"

BY W. E. FERRELL

Dedicated to Clarendon Rotary Club

Once a week the boys assemble,
To greet each other with a smile.
Tis Rotary Day, the day of meeting,
When we put aside all form and style.
Every one knows every body,
And it's a pleasure to gather here,
To talk and plan, to render service,
To help man kind, his burdens bear.

Here the things of common interest,
Are discussed both pro and con.
Here each member gets acquainted,
With the work that should be done.
In this group of happy fellows,
Selfishness is crucified,
Self is placed into the background,
The art of service is applied.

Of all the arts among the living,
The art of serving heads the list,
Here you learn the mighty lesson,
"He profits most, who serves the best."
You would like these friendly fellows,
You too, will like our meeting day,
When we try to lift each burden,
And help to drive the gloom away.

If your name's not on the roster,
Make arangements, don't delay,
Get lined up with the Rotary program,
And meet with us next Rotary Day.
There's a host of real "good fellows"
That's awaiting your reply,
Get lined up with this group of workers,
You can make the grade, so why not try.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bell are visiting in the home of Mrs. Bell's parents, Judge and Mrs. A. T. Cole.

Miss Mary Stocking, who is teaching in the Whitenburg schools, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. J. D. Stocking.

OUTLAW'S GHOST IN NEW MEXICO PROGRAM

It is said that the ghostly voice of Billy the Kid, one of the most dreaded characters in the history of the old Southwest, will be heard next Wednesday night over 23 N. B. C. stations when Carveth Wells, Continental Oil Company radio entertainer, goes exploring into New Mexico's past and present.

Wells begins the broadcast with an interesting description of many of the state's scenic highlights. One apartment in Carlsbad Caverns would provide standing room for the entire population of Detroit, says this famous teller of tall but true tales. Then comes the scene in which Wells meets the shade of Billy the Kid in a moonlit graveyard at Ft. Summer, and hears how the bandit met his death at the hands of Sheriff Pat Garrett.

The Conoco program may be heard by local listerners who tune in on stations WFAA, KOA or WAOI Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

Now that the work on the four new tennis courts has been completed, work has begun on the campus of the Administration building. Also work will soon begin on the new track that is to be built for the big track meet that has been planned for sometime in the Sping.

Lately the agriculture boys have been surveying the Campus and using a terrace level. Since the plans are to level the Campus, stobs have been driven in the ground leaving a certain number of incres above the ground to indicate the amount of dirt that is to be placed there.

The dirt is to be dragged away from the north and west sides of inches above the ground to Plowing has already begun.

HOME ECONOMICS

The first year class of girls is beginning the study known as the foods and health unit. In this unit the students will learn the things that make a healthy girl; also they will study the foods to eat that make a healthy girl. They will later prepare and serve breakfasts.

Each of the second year girls is planning a tailored silk, linen or wool dress that will be constructed in class. This week the girls have been considering materials, designs, and lines suitable for various types and figures.

The third year girls are planning a house that they would like to build. They have worked on floor plans, plumbing, lighting and heating. The cost of this house is to be within a limited amount. This week they are selecting types of furniture that might be suitable for various houses.

In the boys' course the problem being suitable and inexpensively dressed for any needed occasion is being discussed.

THE SOUHOMORES PLAN PARTY

The Sophomores of Senior High School are planning to give a party as soon as they can get enough money.

The party was to have been given last Friday night, but due to the lack of money it was postponed until a future date.

If the class wishes to have a party it will be necessary for each member to bring a nickle or a dime. Only on this condition will the class be able to have the party.

ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY TO BE FEBRUARY 10th

The Senior class will present a comedy, "Closed Lips", on Friday, February 10th in the College Auditorium. The cast includes Wanda Mayfield, Hubert Reavis, Irene Rhodes, Jo Ella Stewart Vera Noland, Byrum Haile, Alex Cooke, Bonnie McCracken, Drew Wilkerson and Billy Green. The play is under the capable direction of Miss Headrick and is certain to be a success. The members of the cast are working industriously with the firm resolve to make this the best Senior play ever given in Clarendon. You will enjoy this comedy; so make your plans now to attend.

MR. STOCKING SPEAKS TO H. S. BIOLOGY CLASS

Mr. Jerome Stocking met with the Biology class, Tuesday morning, January 31. The purpose of this meeting was to make a study of the snake. He began by giving the students a short history of the snake kingdom, habits and modes of livlihood were discussed. Following this Mr. Stocking showed the students some specimens that he had with him. These consisted of a large Rattlesnake mounted, watching his prey, the skin of a large snake, and a small mounted snake of ordinary kind. He also had with him a few pictures. Following this the students were allowed to ask questions. The period was well spent for the students feel that they learned much about snakes.

TENNIS

Several afternoons of the past week a number of high school students who are interested in tennis have been instructed in the principles, strokes and positions of that sport by F. A. Stocking. Mr. Stocking states that the building of the new courts will double the number who will be able to participate in this year's work. Funds for the purchase of materials for the backstops were contributed by the forty-five students who have enrolled in this athletic event of Interscholastic League Work. A schedule, similar to the one used last year, will be alloting one period each day for the practice to each of the contestants.

It's easy to feel sorry for oneself.

Palo Duro Literary Society

Listen, Palo Durians, stop! Think! Then act accordingly! There's a real motto in the Palo Duro Literary Society room. They say it's the motto of the members of the society. P'raps they'd better think again. "Pep, Push, and Personality!" Could more be said in so few words?

The program committee are doing their "dead level best" to furnish us with worthwhile and yet entertaining programs, and without our whole-hearted cooperation, they are rather at a loss.

Last Wednesday night, Bill Word offered us two delightful vocal numbers, "Please", and "Steppin' Around," and did they make us want to wiggle our toes?

And say The newest addition is a gas heater, and for the first time in the "cold, bleak history of the society, we kept our toes and our noses warm.

So, come on, Palo Durians, let's show 'em that we're behind our motto, and mean what we say!

DEBATORS ARE AT WORK

Preparation is already under way for interscholastic debating, and the contestants expect to be fully prepared for the debate event at the county meet in March. The girls' team is composed of Edna Blair, who participated in debating last year, and Wanda Mayfield. The boys' team consists of Bob Goodson and James Headrick, both of whom are entering the event for the first time. All four debators are members of the Senior class, and all are working with the seriousness and industry to be expected of seniors.

The question for debate is Resolved, That at Least One-Half of all State and Local Revenues in Texas Should Be Derived From Sources Other than Taxes on Tangible Property. This subject of limiting taxes on tangible property is timely and interesting and difficult. There is, however, much available material upon the Subject, and the debators feel that they will gain useful instruction from their study of both the affirmative and negative sides of the question.

Mrs. Martha Pottle, aged 99, of Detroit, has just begun to wear her first glasses "for close work".

Alpha Delta Psi Literary Society

Miss Helen Lawler, the newly elected president of the Alpha Deltians, with the other new officers, was informally installed last Wednesday night. The new officers assumed their duties with an eager spirit to maintain a livelier society throughout the remainder of the school-year.

The president appointed a Program Planning Committee consisting of Lu McClellan, Claudine Ratcliff, and Emily Smith. Pauline Slover, Nova Cook, and Harold Phelps were made responsible for the coming social activities. We really believe these committees are going to function. A good Alpha Deltan said the other day that he thought he could manage to have some "certain young ladies" entertaining us some night. Thats fine—yes sir, we hope you make the arrangement successfully.

You folks who were absent last Wednesday night surely missed a treat, because as we were about to adjourn, here came three of those optimistic Palo Durans. We thought maybe they came over to get some suggestions on how to conduct a society, but no sir, they came over to entertain. Bill Word favored us with two vocal solos with Rhodin Chase accompanying at the piano. The plauditory action was so great that Henry Wilder was actuated to show us a sample of his pedodexterity as applied to tap dancing, and he really did it. We appreciate that Palo Durans. Come again some time and bring more of your talent. We like it.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS STUDY MODES

The Home Economics club met Monday, January 30 in the Home Economics department to discuss new spring clothes for both boys and girls. Ruby Armstrong gave a short talk on "New Colors Suitable for Spring," mentioning as the most popular, grays trimmed in blue with accessories to match. Miss Morgan had several silk dresses from Greene's Dry Goods Company which were discussed. One was a gray with blue and another was an unusual red and white combination. The clothes for boys were discussed also. The most interesting thing concerning boys clothes was that plaid shirts and suits and checked socks would be suitable.

The club decided to call off the weiner roast Friday because of the Negro Minstrel.

SPORTS

SPORT SPUTTERS

BY O. C. WATSON, JR.

Of interest to many people, especially people of the rural community, will be the Donley County Rural Invitation Basketball Tournament, which is to be held here in Clarendon Friday and Saturday, Feb. 3, and 4. The first game is to start Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, so all rural teams who have not yet entered must get in touch with Sloan Baker, County Superintendent, at once. The final game will be played Saturday night and after the final game, the coaches of all the rural schools will play the Clarendon Jr. College in an exhibition game. Also remember that the tournament is free and everybody is welcome. The officials of the tournament will be Roy Stargel of Memphis and Dick Nichols of Clarendon.

Word comes to the "Sputterer" that the Panhandle track meet is still problemetical. We will have one of the biggest meets in the Panhandle this year, or even the biggest, if the track can be put in first class condition and proper support can be gotten from the local merchants the meet will be pushed.

At the present moment not a great deal is being done the handican being inability to locate a supply of cinders. Since the advent of gas into Clarendon the residue of coal that has gone through the process of oxidization seems to be as scarce as a buggy whip salesman in Detroit.

If any one knows where any cinders are to be had the writer would appreciate your notifying him.

We hope to have more cheering and more definite information for you next week. In our opinion the entire city should try to make this meet a reality ad a success.

The "Sputterer" also wishes to call attention to the new clay tennis courts just east of the girls dormitory. Through the assistance of the R. F. C. we now have the best courts in the history of the town. Let's all help to keep them in good condition by wearing only tennis shoes, even you people who live in the west part of town move your path over to the sidewalk and do not wear a trail across the fine courts.

The Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs are showing much progress in Basketball. Wednesday night they motored over to Groom where they were beaten by a small score, but the table turned when Groom ventured over to Clarendon Monday and the Bulldogs handed them a 29-17 defeat in a very rough and tough game. The Bulldogs go to Amarillo next Thursday night and tangle with J. Levev's "Hurry In" 5. Good luck Bulldogs.

"What's In a Name?" There May Be $5,000

The News knows of no news item which would give it greater pleasure to publish than that one of its readers had won one of the $5,000 cash offers now being made by the Continental Oil Company. This company, marketing its products under the trade name of "Conoco," is offering $5,000 for the best name submitted for its new bronze gasoline, and another $5,000 for the best slogan submitted.

A. L. Chase, agent for Conoco products, is taking a keen interest in the campaign in which the big prizes are offered and says that he hopes that Clarendon and Donley county people will send in their suggestions in great numbers. Any of the Conoco dealers, whose names appear under a Conoco ad on the same page with the big Conoco ad, will gladly furnish entry blanks to any who request them.

One of Largest Feeding Programs In Southwest Progresses At Brownfield

Homer Rowe Details Work Underway On Hearst Cattle

BROWNFIELD, January 14.—Largest home grown feeding program of cattle in the State of Texas and among the largest in the entire southwest is the full feeding experiment being conducted here by Leon Goodman, Mayor of Midland, for William Randolph Herst, the publisher.

There are in the 27 pens north of town, approximately 5,750 head, all steers but one, shipped in under bond from the Babicora ranch of Hearst at Chihuahua, Old Mexico.

Feeding At El Paso

"The same outfit has 7,500 head on feed at El Paso, but that is an oil mill proposition," says H. W. Rowe, Midland, superintendent in charge of the operations here. "As fas as I know there is no other project in the state where there are as many cattle in one group of pens at one place with home grown feed being used."

Rowe came here November 22 on orders of Leon Goodman and started construction of the pens. "On December 1 we got our first cattle in", he added. "When I came there was not a stick of fence put up. In less than 10 days we got our first pens built and were feeding cattle."

Average Weight 468

Average weight of the cattle when they arrived here was 468 pounds. The animals were mostly yearling steers and coming two year olds, with a sprinkling of younger stuff.

There are 27 pens in the nearly 10 acres fenced. Goodman has leased 130-acres in a canyon just north of the Santa Fe railroad tracks. He has erected a feed mill with a 94 h. p. motor that has capacity of over 80,000 pounds a day. The mill is not kept running all the time as the demand is not up to capacity. A two-day supply is generally ground at a time.

Maize heads and corn are ground in the mill. This is fed direct to the cattle, an average morning's run being 50 wagon loads. As fast as a wagon is filled, it is driven into the pens and the contents dumped in the troughs. When this is done there is a general scampering of cattle, almost a stampede for the troughs, and every bit is eaten.

Bundles are chopped and fed, with bone meal, lime and cottonseed meal. This mixture also is fed in the morning. Salt also is mixed with the ensilage, providing a balanced ration.

In the afternoon bundles are fed to the animals, huge wagons piled high with bundles being driven to the pens and dumped into the troughs.

Stock Fast Gaining

An average now of 25 to 27 pounds a day is being fed. They are fast gaining on this ration and by the time the full 200 day schedule is completed, it is believed that the calves will increase weight 100 per cent.

When Mr. Goodman sent Rowe to Brownfield, he gave him two helpers, Ed Rountree, a cowboy and a man for engineer. He was told to use local labor for the rest.

Brownfield men were used to build the pens. The crews now are all composed of local men except the trio from Midland.

Payroll is Heavy

"Our payroll will average $1,500 a month now," Mr. Rowe explained. "It was larger than that at first, as we had to do a lot of construction work. But this month it will be around $1,500.

"This does not include the money we spent for feed. We are not buying as much now as we did. I expect we have in our feed lots 4000 to 5000 tons of feed. We are just now beginning to buy corn. There is a lot of maize, kafir, bundles and heads.

"Salt, black bone meal, cottonseed meal and minerals are bought by the carload and shipped in. We built a warehouse for the storing of these things."

Howell Buys Grain

K. W. Howell, local grain man, was employed to buy all the grain and bundles needed. For a time he was swamped with calls from farmers who were anxious to dispose of their surplus feed stocks.

Howell, a veteran buyer of grain in Terry county, inspects each load brought to him. He has a "curb" market near the courthouse and farmers take his order and present it at the yard afer unloading. Howell estimates his purchases are in excess of 5,000 tons. The feed yard had been enlarged three times since the original section was set aside by Mr. Rowe.

Grain is ricked up, each kind in separate piles. There are between 20 and 30 of these ricks, some larger than others.

Weight Being Added

When the calves were received here they were thin from the long journey from Chihuahua and also from a shrinking at the ranch before shipment. The first lot received here December 1, have made extraordinary gains in weight.

Mr. Rowe estimates from tests he has made of gains that the calves first placed on feed have averaged nearly five pounds per day. "That is not a fair average, as the animals were probably 100 pounds under what they should have weighed," he added. "I think that have shown a gain of probably two or three pounds a day over and above what they made to get back to their normal weight."

The feed ration has been increased on the earlier cattle until they are now receiving about 27 pounds each per day. "They never get enough to eat," Mr. Rowe commented. "They are always hungry. We can't seem to fill them up."

The Starting Ration

Starting ration is under 20 pounds. It includes ground feed, cottonseed meal, lime and phosphates and salt as well as bundles of roughness. The ration has been increased as the cattle became acclimated.

One of the pens has been set aside as a "hospital" pen for cattle injured in the long rail journey or who became sick. There are so far a very few of these. Several cattle were injured in shipping when a bunch of cattle were jammed during a small stampede.

The feeding pens are the center of attraction in this section for farmers and business men. Scores of people visit the pens daily to look over the animals.

Most of the cattle show plainly the Hereford strain. Hearst has used registered Hereford bulls with his herd and the calves show the white face strain. There is to be found an occasional spotted or roan marked animal.

The calves area still wild. "Nature in the raw is seldom mild," according to current advertisements and this is seen in the actions of the calves. They are afraid of people on foot, walking through the streets between the pens, but are not afraid of men on horseback. Even wagons do not disturb them much and feeders drive freely into the pens to unload the feed.

When the first shipment came across the international border at El Paso Uncle Sam set an import duty of about $14 a head. This was based on the weight of the animals. Since then other shipments have come in under bond, presumably for shipment to Canada.

A HUNDRED BILLIONS

Modern business figures have reached such large proportions that the human mind can not begin to grasp them. Who, for example, can form an intelligent idea of what 100 billion dollars really means? Yet, that is the amount of life insurance now in force in the United States.

The growth of life insurance in this country since the war has been one of the outstanding business phenomena of the period. When the government provided war risk insurance for its soldiers and sailors during the war, some believed that the private companies might be injured, but it appears that the reverse has been the case.

In any event, the figures speak for themselves. The amount of life insurance in force in 1916 was about 25 billion. The 100 billion now in force represents, therefore an increase of 300 percent in 16 years.

Even this staggering total represents only an average of about $800 for every person in the United States. Hundreds of thousands of families are still without insurance, and the neglect of this important matter is the cause of much suffering on the part of widows and orphans who are left unprotected. Every man owes it to his family to carry a responsible amount of life insurance.

RULES:

1 Names must be not more than 12 letters; slogans not more than 12 words. Submit either or both on single sheet; plain white paper; one side only; but preferably on official contest information-and-entry blank, free at Conoco dealers and stations. Elaborate presentations receive no extra credit.

2 Contest closes midnight February 23, 1933. Entries must be postmarked before that date and hour.

3 Continental employees, members of their families and others connected directly or indirectly cannot compete.

4 Should more than one person submit exactly the same name or slogan, each will receive full amount of any prize such entry may win. All entries become Continental Oil Co. property, and none will be returned.

5 The Company reserves prior rights to phrases and slogans of its own creation, already in prepared advertising. Also it reserves the names "Continental" or "Conoco" gasoline, "Conogas", and "101" gasoline. Whether or not the winning contest name is adopted, prize money will be paid; but the Company reserves the right to use a name of its own creation if decided more suitable and more protectable under trade-mark laws.

6 No purchase is required of contestants. Continental Oil Co. executives will be the judges and their decisions final. Winners will be announced over radio, and prize money paid as soon as possible after contest closes.

Address All Entries to "CONTEST OFFICIAL" Continental Oil Company Ponca City, Okla.

"Whoa, Engine! what's got into you?"

Here's gas to excite motors. It makes them quick on the trigger . . . fast on the move. Choking is hardly required for a quick, snappy start and a take-off like a quail on the wing.

Even old motors . . . wheezy, snorting, complaining motors . . . cut capers you just can't believe. If you doubt it, just try it. It's like rich, racing blood injected into old veins.

This gasoline is so new . . . so "different" . . . so quick, fast, powerful, and economical, it's hard to give it a name. Perhaps YOU can. When you FEEL your motor's response, it may come to you like a flash.

Ask at any Conoco station for the new bronze-colored, high-test gasoline—and an entry blank. Help name it and describe it. You may win a part of $10,000.00. You are SURE to win a grand, new thrill, and that is worth a heap. Make the test TODAY.

"A Pleasure To Serve You"

Lions Minstrel—

Feet" is just what the name implies. You won't want your money back when you have seen "Flying Feet".

By and large, folks, it's going to be an enjoyable evening for those who attend the Lions Club Benefit Show. It starts with a picture show by the courtesy of Homer Mulkey—not too long, but just right, and good pictures. Production of the minstrel show is under the able direction of G.L. Boykin.

Mystery Girl Prize

Twenty tickets, good at any picture to be shown by the Pastime Theatre, and transferable if desired, will be awarded during the minstrel show to the person who asks the right girl the right question about the Minstrel Show before the show opens Friday night. Who is the girl? Ask any of them, all of them, any question about the minstrel show that you can think of. Open to anybody—man, woman or child. Think of it, 20 tickets to the Pastime Theatre, good at any show and transferable! ASK All the girls all sorts of questions about the show and the 20 tickets may be handed to you as a gift.

Remember, this minstrel show is being given for the benefit of the Crippled Children of our community. You'll be helping them if you attend it. You'll be there? Good! Tickets, 15 and 35 cents. Ask any Lion or at Douglas-Goldston drug store.

'Dick' Walsh's Spring Rocker Now Restored

Noticing that Guy Kerbow, of H. C. Kerbow & Sons, was keenly interested in the restoration of a big leather armchair that was in the company's repair shop, the News man wanted to know all about it. Guy pointed out a metal plate attached to the back of the chair which were engraved the following names. William Cargill, H. M. Fickinger, A. S. Dingee, J. E. Hutt, F. T. Dolan, J. E. Drendel, Paul Waples and Martin Casey.

"Why the names?" asked the inquisitive News man. Guy told him that the chair was the gift of the men whose names appeared on it to Richard Walsh, at that time manager of the famous old JA Ranch. "But who knows the story about the chair?" asked the impatient newshound. "Go to W. H. Patrick. He brought the chair to us," said Guy. And the news man went and here's the story of the old-fashioned "spring rocker," heavily upholstered in genuine leather:

"The men whose names appear on the metal plate gave Dick the chair in about the year 1900," said Mr. Patrick. "He and they were members of the Ft. Worth Club and most of them had, at one or more times, been his hunting guests at the ranch. The expensive chair was the gift of appreciative friends to a highly appreciated friend. I'm sorry that the name plate which they attached to the chair did not carry the date also."

The chair, Mr. Patrick believes, was kept in Mr. Walsh's town house until he decided to establish a cattle ranch in South Africa. Mrs. Cornelia Adair wanted to purchase Mr. Walsh's home for a town house for the ranch, and did purchase it, together with much of the furniture.

It was then that the prized spring rocker came into Mr. Patrick's hands. Mr. Walsh came to him and said, "I won't sell my big leather rocker, because it was a gift to me, nor can I give it away as long as I live. But I would like for you to take it and keep it for me. If anything happens to me, the chair is to become yours."

And that is the story. "I would not sell the chair for any consideration," said Mr. Patrick. "Because it was put into my keeping by a man who was one of the best friends I have ever had and who received it from his own warm friends, as a token of their great friendship for him."

It is likely that the restored chair will be on exhibition in the furniture store of Kerbow & Sons for a few days, and it is worth seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Pyle, of the Rio Grande border country, near El Paso, arrived here Wednesday night. Mrs. Pyle will spend several days here on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Johnson. Mr. Pyle left Thursday morning to join his father, Theodore Pyle, at Amarillo, on a trip to Kansas City to look after some cattle in that state. Theodore Pyle and his sons, who left their former home in Clarendon in 1916, have very extensive ranch and cattle interests in the Rio Grande Border country.

PORTER TALKS AT MEMPHIS BANQUET

"PALLBEARERS FOR AMERICAN INDUSTRY, PRINCIPLES AN PRIDE"

Judge J. R. Porter attended, as one of the principal speakers, the annual banquet of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday night. Judge Porter is popular as a speaker before Memphis audiences, speaking there last Armistice Day.

Beginning his address with the statement that "There is more room now for original thought and action in several of our essential phases of life than ever was for our fathers and grandfathers during their life-times," Judge Porter said, "they attended the birth of, and we have acted as the pallbearers for more than one boasted American industry, principle and pride." He described as notable among "our deceased, or dying, systems (1) our plan of production and distribution; (2) our monetary and banking facilities and system; (3) our State and Federal governments; (4) our educational system."

"Do you doubt for one instant," he asked, "that our plan of production and distribution has broken completely down? Where has it met the test? With our feed-lots full of corn, kafir and maize—and no market; with hogs at $3.15 per hundred and no sale; with cattle correspondingly low, with no sale; with yonder wheat farmers' granaries full of wheat and no market; with the producer of feed and staples everywhere with abundance, and no market? Yet there are those not far distant who are actually hungry and without bread to eat, cold and without clothes to wear; without labor to perform, and without the necessities of life. Does that present a problem to you?"

Declaring that he had previously said in Memphis and would continue to say it until something is done about it, Judge Porter insisted that conditions since the State Constitutional Convention in 1876 had so changed that it will be impossible to conform the present Constitution to meet them by amendments, but that a complete "re-vamping" will be necessary. "There is too great a span of disparity between our means of transportation, communication and production, and our government affairs. It makes the one appear to be too far in advance and the other too far in the rear, and such a disparity is not conductive to good government, or good feelings toward the government," he declared.

He likewise indicated the ancient custom of long delays in bringing about changes of administration and enactment of new legislation. "The newly elected (national) officials are helpless until after March 4th, and in the interim we have had the cold winter months, with actual suffering abroad in the land, yet no one can do anything about the matter, simply because there is no way for the newly elected officials to do anything. And only recently, through the presistent efforts of one of the independent thinkers of the U. S. Senate has the farce of the short session of Congress been abolished," said Judge Porter.

He attacked long debates in legislative halls, filibusters and other political maneuvers as discrediting to both State and Federal governments.

He touched the faults of our educational system only briefly, charging overlapping in subjects, teachers, expense and personnel in both official and faculties, all of which overlapping "must be eliminated in some manner."

Pointing out the inability of the average person to keep his own thinking in step with modern change, whic he said accounts for the common instances of the rise and fall of personal fortunes in business life, he urged that the American people must stop looking back at a vanished era; stop talking of "recovery."

"Each of us has seen the words 'Established in 1879' or some other date over business doors. I am thinking that we ought to write across the ledger sheet and over the door of each business the words, "Re-established in 1933," and forget those things that are behind us," he said urging that cities, towns and villages all become mentally alert, with eyes only to the future, individual and community interest alike being centered on working parison of results with figures now definitely in the discard.

Judge J. S. Sullivan and Horace Dye, both of Claude, were in Clarendon Monday on business.

T. M. Shaver and George Garrison made a business trip to Amarillo Wednesday.

LITTLE THEATRE TO OFFER FREE PLAY

"LOVE IN A MIST" WILL COMPLIMENT GOODWILL OF ITS PUBLIC

The amusing, exasperating, but withal human experiences that befall one Diana Wynn and six other persons who were drawn into the web of her fabrications will be told in detail by a capable Little Theatre cast at the Junior College auditorium on the night of Tuesday, Feb. 7.

As announced in The News recently, the Little Theatre offers this excellent play as its gift to a theatre appreicative public. No admission will be charged, and it is expected that the play will be presented to a packed auditorium.

The title of the play to be presented is "Love in a Mist", which has been presented by a large number of Little Theatre organizations in this state. The play itself is a high-class comedy, requiring an excellent cast for its production. Mrs. Frank Stocking, director of "Love in a Mist" is enthusiastic over the cast selected for the play and promises her audience an evening of rare entertainment.

Miss Wylfa Lee Alexander will take the role of Diana Wynn, the girl who fibs and fibs and fibs; Clyde Price will be Gregory Farnham, her exasperated but sincere lover; Jack SoRelle will interpret the role of Count Scippi Vorelli, and Jack is likely to steal the show with his Italian voice, musical accent and touching sincerity; Miss Latrice Berson will be Sidney Rose Wynn, who loves the Italian count; Mrs. Paul Shelton is the aunt, Miss Ann Wynn. The other characters are Dorothy White, Kizzy; and Homer Parsons, Colin, the negro servant.

Briefly, the plot of the play is this: Diana is a girl who becomes engaged to several men, all of whom are unaware of her scattered affections. She became engagd to the count because he told his mother he would die if Diana did not return his love. Sidney Rose is in love with the count but does not want anyone to know it. Diana Wynn keeps seven people in hot water throughout the three acts and gets herself involved in astounding situations. Her fault is that she just can't keep from telling a brave youth that she will marry him when he swears he will kill himself if she doesn't. But the truth becomes "pizen" to her in due time. Admission: Your goodwill for the Little Theatre which invites you to hear this play, free of any charge.

Bagby's Record Is Signally Honored

Since the publication in The News last week of an article taken from a Texas insurance journal featuring George B. Bagby, of this city, as the leading producer of the United Fidelity Life Insurance Co., this office is in receipt of a beautiful four-page folder, published by his company, as a compliment to his excellent record.

The front page carries a sketch of a military organization in resplendent uniform, with its officer holding his sword aloft and the company standing at salute. The page carries the caption, "We salute Geo. B. Bagby, leading producer of 1932," with the exhortation at the bottom of the page, "Take a leaf from his notebook and make 1933 a better year!"

The inside pages carry much the same on comment on his work as published last week, over the signature of the Vice-President and General Manager of the company. The fourth page lists a few facts about the company, among which are noted that it has assets of $3,210,050.17, has paid its beneficiaries and policyholders $2,323,742.62 and has insurance in force totalling $30,355,928.00.

The many friends of Mr. Bagby again join us in saying, "Congratulations, George."

G. G. Kemp went to Amarillo Wednesday to attend a meeting of the Texas Good Roads Association, to which he was a district delegate.

Arthur SoRelle, of Claude, was in Clarendon Wednesday on business.

Jonh Bass, contractor, returned Monday from Abilene where he spent several days on business.
