Completes Psychiatric Tests

HOUSTON (AP) — Vickie Daniel, accused of murdering her estranged husband, completed a battery of psychiatric tests ordered in a courtroom fight to retain custody of her two sons, a defense attorney says.

Mrs. Daniel, widow of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., and her two sons, Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1, underwent examinations Tuesday with two Houston psychiatrists, said attorney Andrew Lannie of Baytown.

Lannie said he was uncertain when the results will be presented to the court.

Inmates Want 1 Per Cell

HOUSTON (AP) — A group of Texas prison inmates, plaintiffs in a lawsuit against the state Department of Corrections, wants a federal judge to limit the number of prisoners in each corrections unit to 800 and allow only one person per cell.

The court request, filed Tuesday, was in response to U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's ruling of Dec. 12 demanding major reforms in the prison system.

Texan Gets Medal Of Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, presenting a Texan his long-delayed award for wartime heroics, told the nation to give Vietnam veterans the gratitude that was denied them for too many years.

"I think we just let it slip our minds for a while," he said Tuesday as he gave the Medal of Honor, the highest award for wartime valor, to a retired Army master sergeant from Texas. "It's time to show our pride in them and to thank them."

Grammy Awards Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The Grammy Awards, statuettes shaped like old-fashioned gramophones that go to the top makers of modern recordings, are being presented tonight in a televised show from 9 p.m. to 11 on CBS.

The 23rd annual presentation of the Grammys is here for the first time since 1975, and for the first time ever at Radio City Music Hall. Winners are voted by members of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

Opposes Aid To El Salvador

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former U.S. ambassador to El Salvador said today he opposes giving extensive U.S. military aid to El Salvador because it's not needed and could lead to a coup by right-wing military forces.

"I believe the right is constantly trying to overthrow the government, as is the left, and it's a beleaguered government in the middle," the diplomat, Robert White, said in testimony before the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations.

Session Set To Discuss Housing

Various groups and individuals interested in rental housing development, especially methods of financing, have been invited to attend a meeting Thursday afternoon in the chamber of commerce conference room.

The meeting is set for 4 p.m.

The chamber's housing committee has scheduled the meeting to acquaint officials of local financial firms and potential developers with regulations and procedures for using revenue bonds to finance construction of rental units.

Lewis Bunch, with First Southwest Co. in Fort Worth, is scheduled to be here to present information on this and other methods of financing.

The chamber's housing committee, headed by Elizabeth Potts, has been assembling information for several weeks in an effort to stimulate interest in development of additional rental housing units here. The shortage of rental units has been declared one of the primary goals of the community this year, and the chamber is giving it top priority in its program of work for 1981.

Anyone interested is invited to attend the meeting Thursday afternoon, and officials of financial firms and developers are especially urged to attend, said Bill Warner, chamber manager.

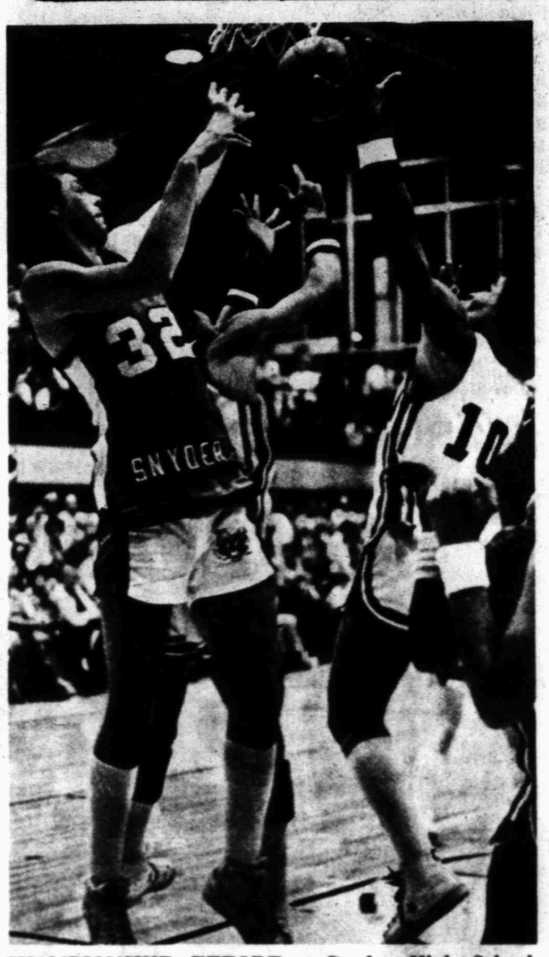

Little Symphony Coming Thursday

The Texas Little Symphony and Music Director John Giordano, who will be performing here Thursday night, have premiered several new works in recent years.

These have included compositions by such notable composers as Gian Carlo Menotti and Benjamin Lees. "Mobiles" by Lees was given its world premier by the Little Symphony in Carnegie Hall in April, 1980.

The Little Symphony concert will be held in the Snyder High School Auditorium, under sponsorship of the Western Texas College Fine Arts Association and will begin at 8 p. m. Tickets will be available at the door, with admission prices $4 for adults and $2 for students. Anyone wishing further information about the concert is invited to call the fine arts office at WTC, 573-8511, extension 234.

The Little Symphony presents tour concerts in many Texas cities each year. The program here is made possible with the support of the Texas Commission on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

CHAMPIONSHIP EFFORT – Snyder High School claimed its third straight district basketball title last night, edging favored Andrews in overtime, 45-43. The game was filled with clutch plays by all of the Tigers who got on the floor. Barry Blackmon, above, was one of the key figures as he pulled down several important rebounds and made some big assists. For Andrews above are Jerry Alaniz and Keith Brooks (far right). Fuel Still Soaring...

Drop In Food Prices Helps Ease Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declining food prices at grocery stores last month helped ease the nation's inflation rate, but consumers still faced sharply rising gasoline and home heating costs, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said consumer prices on the whole rose 0.7 percent in January, after four straight monthly increases of at least 1 percent. January's jump translates into a 9.1 percent annual inflation rate.

In detail, the government reported that in January:

—Grocery food prices fell 0.4 percent, the first monthly drop since early last year. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs together declined 2.4 percent, ending a steady upward trend evident over the previous six months.

Prices for cereal, dairy products and baked goods, however, continued to climb and eating at restaurants cost consumers 0.9 percent more last month.

—Gasoline prices jumped 3.8 percent, the largest monthly increase since the first quarter of 1980.

—Prices of fuel oil accelerated by 7.5 percent and charges for natural gas and electricity were up 1 percent.

Last year, consumer prices advanced 12.4 percent, marking the first time since World War I that inflation topped 10 percent for two full years.

While January's improved performance provided some relief to Americans, most economists expect prices to accelerate faster in the coming months due to increased pressures on energy and food prices.

Even with last month's price slowdown, an average workers's weekly paycheck decreased 0.1 percent after adjusting for inflation and deducting for federal taxes and Social Security withholding. Over the last 12 months, real spendable earnings are down 4 percent.

The Labor Department also reported that for last month housing costs advanced 0.8 percent, noticeably less than in recent months, due primarily to a decline in housing prices caused by slackened demand. Mortgage rates were up 1.9 percent and rents, 0.7 percent; but household maintenance and repair costs declined slightly.

2 More Black Youths Missing From Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Two more black children were reported missing today, but police said the cases had not been added to those of 20 missing and dead children being investigated by a special task force.

Officers identified the missing children as Dempster D. Williams, 10, of southwest Atlanta and Termal Heard, 14, of northwest Atlanta.

Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown said neither case had been turned over to the task force.

"Our missing persons unit will check them out first to make sure they're not just runaways," said police spokeswoman Marion Lee.

Police receive dozens of missing persons reports each week, but the disappearances of children are not turned over to the task force until it is determined they fit the profile of the missing and slain youngsters.

Meanwhile, authorities investigating the cases of the murdered or missing children say they have been monitoring the funerals of the victims and the weekly volunteer searches of neighborhoods in hopes of turning up a suspect.

Jury Upholds Hiring Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today upheld President Reagan's retroactive federal hiring freeze, ruling that thousands of people who were told between November and January that they had jobs waiting had not, in effect, been hired after all.

U.S. District Judge Charles R. Richey said Reagan's action, taken on inauguration day Jan. 20 but backdated to Nov. 5, was "neither unconstitutional nor contrary to law and is supported by explicit statutory authority."

Ask Us

Q.—Can anyone receive a tax refund from the U. S. Government if he is not an American citizen and not an American taxpayer.

A.—You do not have be an American citizen to pay income taxes. Therefore a person who is not a citizen would qualify for a refund it he overpaid. Certain working parents who earned less than $10,000 last year may be entitled to what IRS calls "Earned Income Credit." It is paid to those who qualify, even if it exceeds tax liability or the taxpayer owes no taxes. There are specified requirements to qualify for this, which may be obtained from IRS.

The SDN Column

Snyder's emergency warning sirens were scheduled to get their first workout this afternoon, and probably have by the time you read this.

These warning systems, which actually are just a bunch of sirens spread around so that most folks can hear them, have suddenly attracted renewed interest. Several years ago the fire department used stationary sirens to alert its volunteers when there was an alarm. More sophisticated electronic paging devices made the sirens obsolete, and the fire department abandoned them. It was better that the general public not hear all of their alarms because it often caused traffic problems when people tried to go to the fires.

Now, however, the siren system is back in vogue, mostly because of experiences some cities have had with tornadoes. There was a significant upsurge in attention following the tornadoes in Wichita Falls and Vernon.

And since the fire department no longer uses this method of alerting its personnel, you will know when these big sirens go into action that it is a general emergency rather than a routine grass fire.

Speaking of fires, safety precautions now are a threat to our July 4th fireworks display. Bill Warner, chamber of commerce manager, reports that the firm that has furnished the fireworks supplies and people to set them off for several years have advised that they will not fire them anymore unless there are no spectators, houses or cars within a radius of 500 feet. It would be impossible to comply with that requirement in Towle Memorial Park. So, we've got a problem.

In case you wonder why July 4th comes up in conversation at this time of year, we remind that it takes time to get everything planned for this event which usually puts 10,000 or more people in Towle Memorial Park every year. You can't wait till the last minute and expect everything to fall into place.

Like the man who came home from work one evening and told his wife that he had two tickets to the theatre.

"Oh, that's wonderful," said the wife. "I'll start dressing right now."

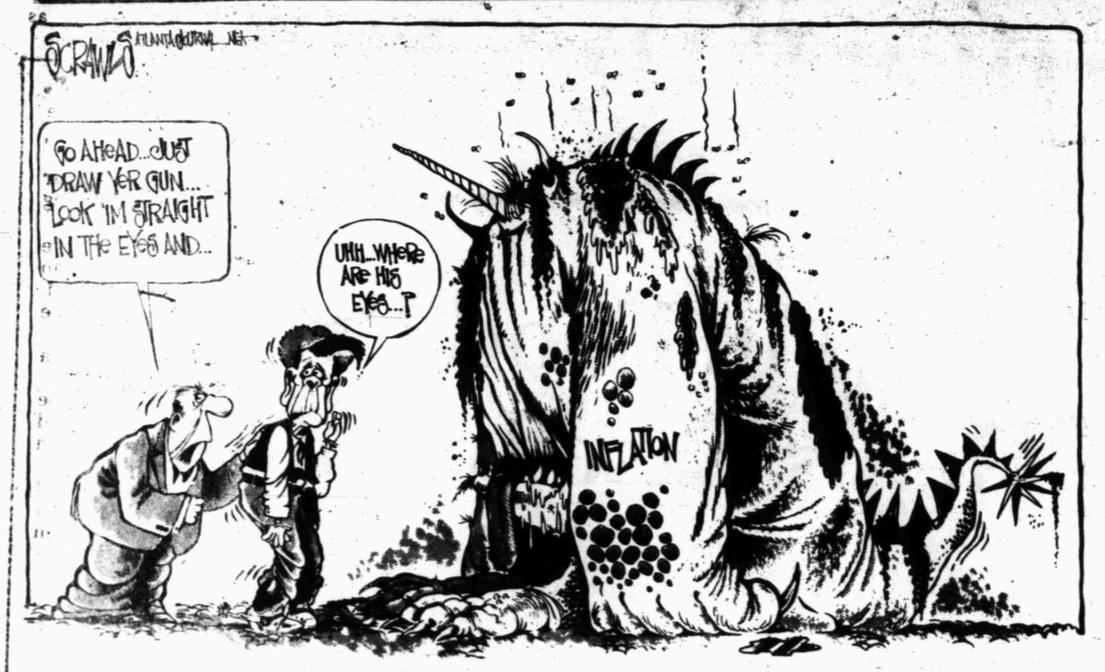

"That's a good idea," said the man. "The tickets are for tomorrow night.

the rush to regulate

One of the least appreciated legacies left for the Reagan administration by outgoing Carterites was a flurry of last-minute regulations hustled into final form by bureaucrats who felt (no doubt with some justification) that the new administration would be less likely to consider their proclamation urgent than did the outgoing custodians of the public trust.

A measure of the magnitude of the final push is the Federal Register, the book that daily prints new regulations, notices of hearings, proposals and other official business of the various agencies of the federal government. On a normal day when congress is in session the register generally runs about 1,500 manuscript pages, a daunting enough profusion for those who have some responsibility for deciphering the government's edicts. On Jan. 19, the day before the inauguration, the Federal Register was almost 4,600 manuscript pages. The Friday before, Jan. 16 it was almost 4,000 pages long.

Some of these new regulations were major in character, and most of them would probably have been opposed or dropped by the Reagan administration. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration, for example, published three major standards and three minor ones. The Environmental Protection Agency published detailed regulations on the burning of toxic wastes, on waste pretreatment, and waste dumping sites. The Federal Trade Commission issued eight new rulings on products, all of which would likely have been shelved by the new administration.

The new administration is aware of the eleventh-hour barrage. Ed Meese, the presidential counselor, has said that the incoming department heads have been told to check the regulations carefully, and "any that we do not agree with, we will do away with."

That won't be the simplest task ever undertaken. Before becoming official, most regulations go through a laborious process of proposals, public comments, hearings, revisions and re-publications. Repealing regulations can be just as tedious a procedure. It could take the Reagan administration a year or more just to get these brand-new regulations off the books.

In the meantime, of course, the new department heads could simply decline to enforce the new rules until they decide whether to repeal them or not. But such an action would undoubtedly provoke law from regulation proponents and "public interest" groups.

While the Carterite regulators have seriously complicated the task of incoming Reaganites, they may have done students of public affairs an unwitting service. They have demonstrated, by their efforts to foil the expressed will of the voters, their contempt for democracy and democratic processes. They have highlighted the attitude too common among Washingtonians — that government is the master, not the servant, and that government officials exist to rule and regulate the people whether the people want them to or not.

hyphenated-allegiance

The United States has benefited immeasurably by the cross-pollination of many cultures.

Historically, our "land of opportunity" reputation has attracted the world's most talented, most ambitious, best skilled and most energetic workers.

Our polyglot population -- each of us "most something else" -- merged under one flag, claimed one nationality -- "American!"

Until recently -- when some segments of our population have elected to hyphenate their allegiance.

The nationality "American" evolved as a contraction of the extraction concept.

You never heard any Russian come over here and proclaim himself to be a "Russian-American." He came over here purposely to stop being Russian.

Britons came over here, immediately to identify themselves -- not as British-Americans -- but as Americans. While they did not deny or apologize for their birthplace, they left that allegiance behind and proudly became unadulterated Americans.

Our American society is singular in the degree to which it demands that race, color and native nationality of its citizens not be considered for any reason.

We have gone to great lengths legally to insure that race, creed, and national origin not be either an advantage or a disadvantage. Equal rights and equal opportunities for everybody means everybody!

Yet there are some segments of our nation's population tending to resegregate themselves -- to hyphenate their allegiance -- by calling themselves "Latino-Americans," for example.

And not only has the hyphenated allegiance been romanticized -- in the way patriotism used to be -- but the designation is frequently a basis for special consideration -- in schools, in jobs, in politics.

Surely the immigrants from Mexico don't want what they left behind or they would not have left.

And this applies to other racial and ethnic groups which tend to hyphenate their allegiance.

While it might sound innocent enough to call oneself a Polish-American or an Afro-American or an Asian-American, in grammatical construction the "hyphen" which joins also separates.

The hyphen tends "to keep apart."

The only other nation in the world which tends to hyphenate allegiance is Canada, and the result there is chronic strife and threatened divorce.

It seems to me that when anybody from anywhere elects to come here -- to become an American -- if he insists on bringing along and perpetuating the mores, politics, and language of his original homeland -- that's like a divorced man keeping his first wife's picture in his second wife's bedroom.

It's not nice, and it is not conducive to compatibility.

More and more women are entering the work force — by choice or by necessity — and more and more people are accepting it — to a point.

Working women still have problems with being paid lower wages than their male counterparts — despite laws that prohibit it, with sexual harassment and with slower promotions.

More women than men are now studying business in college but female executives still have embarrassing moments when they take male clients out to dinner and the client is presented the check.

So Cindy's Specialties in Missouri has come up with a product they hope will solve the problem and also make themselves some money. The product is called a HOST card and is to be presented to the maitre d' on entering a restaurant.

It reads:

1. I am a female executive.
2. I am hosting this party.
3. Please instruct service personnel to address all questions and requests to me.
4. When the bill is presented, I am to receive the check.

Although women have been making major decisions on the home front for years, it's still hard for some to accept that women can make decisions anywhere else.

Men and women both have been known to go into a place of business, walk right past the male secretary and head for the nearest female.

One reporter at a large Boston newspaper was constantly being interrupted while trying to work on her stories. She finally put a sign on her desk that read "I am not a receptionist." It didn't deter many people though.

One lady walked up, ignoring the man at the next desk with his feet propped up, she read the sign then asked where she could find the receptionist.

One little girl has it all figured out. She came home from a hard day at school and complained "Boys think they're so smart." She conspiratorily added "They don't know that God took one of their ribs to make woman with.

Conservation Officials Meet

Several conservationists from this area attended South Plains Association of Soil and Water Conservation District directors meeting Tuesday in Lamesa.

Representing the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District were Burl Belew, Walter Stirl and Leon Sterling, directors, and Erwin A. Pavlik, district conservationist for the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service.

Reports on legislation and other items affecting soil and water conservation district activities were presented by Frank Gray, Lubbock, member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board; W. Q. Richards, Paducah, secretary, the Association of Texas Soil and Water conservation Districts; and Carl Spencer, executive director, State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Temple.

During the business session, L. G. Thuett of Post, secretary of the Garza SWCD, was elected president. Dean Elms of Littlefield, chairman of Lamb county SWCD, was elected vice president, and Sam Ellis of Southland, chairman of Garza SWCD, will continue to serve as secretary-treasurer.

Following the noon luncheon, the conservationists toured the new Lamesa Cotton Classing Office, which employs a new concept in cotton classing and is the only one of its kind operating in Texas.

The summer meeting of the association will be held Aug. 25 in Brownfield, with Terry SWCD as host.

texas leads in rabies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas leads the nation in rabies cases, and a university scientist suggested Monday that a surge in the disease among livestock and pets may be linked to the state's recent mild winters.

Rabies tends to be a warm-season disease in some species, and skunks — the prime carriers of rabies — move around more in warmer weather, said Dr. Leon Russell, a professor of veterinary public health.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I love your column in the Jacksonville Journal, but I'd love you even more if you would find out why the bathing-suit manufacturers don't make a suit for women over 25 years old. Nobody but a teen-ager could wear the things they put out now. I'm a 43-year-old married woman with a fairly good figure, but I need more help than I can get in a bathing suit these days. How about one with a built-in bra like they used to make? Or, some with elastic for those of us who need something to hold our stomachs in?

FAYE IN JACKSONVILLE

DEAR FAYE: Some manufacturers do make the kind of bathing suit you're looking for. Go to your favorite store and ask the swimsuit buyer to snap into it!

DEAR ABBY: Today I received an invitation to attend a 25th wedding anniversary party given by three children for their parents. When I opened the reply card to respond, I found a small piece of paper which stated, "$12.50 per person includes meal and gift." Needless to say, I was in a state of shock, and still am.

I wrote the enclosed letter and sent it with the response card. Should I have written it? Please give me your opinion.

ALICE

"Dear Rosemarie: We received the invitation to your parents' 25th wedding anniversary party, and were stunned by the request of $25 to cover cost of food and gift!

"Never have we seen anything like this before, and I hope we never do again. If you and your brother and sister can't give your parents a party without asking your guests to pay for it, you should skip the party. Your grandmother would turn over in her grave if she knew about this.

"We will send your parents a gift of our own choosing, but we will not attend the party. Have a good time without us. Sincerely, Alice."

DEAR ALICE: It's all right to have written it, but you should not have sent it. Even though it was questionable taste to ask the guests to pay for their own "meal and gift," the children undoubtedly meant well.

DEAR ABBY: Besides being a working mother, I am also a room mother of a kindergarten. For the second time this year, a child's mother has come to school and handed out invitations for a birthday party — excluding a few children. The hurt felt by those who were excluded was overwhelming.

The teacher told me that she was very upset over this and asked me what to do about it.

I've considered having a special party on the same day for those who weren't invited. I've also considered having a party on another day and inviting all the children except the one whose mother singled out a few to exclude at her child's party. (You can see how angry I am.)

I suppose the children who were excluded must learn how to deal with rejection sooner or later, but I hate to see children hurt.

Have you a solution?

ROOM MOTHER

DEAR ROOM MOTHER: The principal could send a notice to all parents stating that unless all the children in the class are invited, party invitations may not be delivered at school — but must be mailed instead.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." If at first you don't succeed, try again... and again... That's exactly what South had to do in today's hand.

The queen of clubs was covered and won by the ace, and South's first play was to get rid of his losing club.

The ace of diamonds was cashed and dummy entered with a heart in order to play a high diamond.

East ruffed the diamond, but South overruffed. Back to dummy with a heart to try another diamond. East ruffed again and South overrruffed.

South, getting a little frustrated at this point, led a low heart. West was forced to discard for if he ruffed with the ace of spades, dummy would simply discard its losing club. When West discarded, South ruffed and led the ten of diamonds.

East ruffed with his last trump and South overruffed. This was getting silly. At this point the only trump outstanding was the ace. A fourth round of hearts was ruffed establishing declarer's fifth heart.

A low diamond was ruffed back to the South hand and happiness at last! South led his fifth heart which was good and discarded dummy's club. All West could make was his ace of spades.

South had really worked hard to make his slam.

The eyes have it

To look sexy in eyeglasses, give extra special attention to your eye makeup. Use more than you would without glasses but keep it soft and well blended — your lenses will magnify any harsh colors or too-thick lines. For an unusually pretty look, try matching your eyeshadow to your frame color. For example, if frames are blue, use a few different tones of blue shadow, with the darkest nearest your lashes and a pastel as highlighter on the eyebone.

Theft, Burglary Probed By Police

A theft, a burglary, and several traffic accidents have been worked by city police.

Donna Parish reported that her billfold, containing $150 in cash and four credit cards, was stolen while she was at a local club the 18th of this month. Handling that case is Sgt. Jerry Parker.

A burglary was reported at a 400 17th St. residence owned by Dennis Clinkenbeard. Although nothing appeared to be stolen, a window, a dresser mirror, and a jar of jelly were broken. Working that case are Sgt. Clay Scogin and Robert Harbin.

A traffic accident was worked by Kerry Fritz about 7:45 a.m. today. The accident, a truck jackknifing, occurred about three-tenths of a mile west of Ave. E on Highway 84. Involved in it was a 1972 GMC truck and trailer operated by Alvin Nelson of Round Rock.

A minor traffic accident was worked by Don Whittenburg at 5:35 p.m. Tuesday at Brown & Gray Motors. Involved in it were a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Ginger Arlene Robertson and a 1981 Ford driven by Jay Ken Roemisch of Hermleigh.

Doing followup on a hit and run traffic accident in the Varsity Square Shopping Center that was reported Monday, officer Buddy Kinney said the accident involved a parked 1972 Chevrole owned by Neilda Word and a 1973 Buick driven by Eunice Wood.

For generations the towns around Ireland's Galway Bay have been known for their knitting. Through the years various stitchingpatterns became associated with individual families and at one point drowned fishermen could be identified only because of their sweaters.

Cause of swollen ankles

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My ankles began to swell yesterday, which scared me. They have never done that before. Is that caused by kidney problems? Would you please let me know? I have a little heart trouble.

I was sitting, working a picture puzzle, when I noticed the swelling that night. I put my feet in hot water with vinegar and the swelling went down some. Could poor circulation be the cause?

DEAR READER — Most swelling is caused by the local accumulation of fluid that is trapped outside the blood vessels and inside the tissues. With an injury such as a bad sprain, that may be from bleeding in the injured area from torn small blood vessels.

I can't be sure why you had swelling, as it is just a symptom. Swollen feet and legs can result when the right side of the heart fails. Swelling also results from varicose veins, liver disease and less often kidney disease — unless the kidney disease is particularly severe.

Pressure can be a factor. When you sit in a chair that compresses the veins in the back of the thighs for a long time the buildup in pressure in the veins may prevent the normal return of fluid from the tissues into your small capillaries.

Regardless of whether swelling is from varicose veins or even a sprain, a major factor is the position of the swollen part. Fluid pools in the tissues below the heart level. When you are sitting up or standing still the fluid pools in your feet. When you lie down and put your feet above the level of your heart the fluid drains back into your circulation.

This is one of the basic points about swelling discussed in The Health Letter number 11-6, Swelling: Causes and Management, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Remember that fluid runs downhill. This also applies to bleeding under the skin or from an open wound. As quickly as possible get the injured part up and above the heart level. If it is an ankle, lie down and get the ankle above the level of your head. Properly applied pressure is also important in preventing swelling.

Salt restriction and other medical measures may be necessary in chronic swelling problems.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 71 years old, 5 feet 2 and weigh 100 pounds. I have always been in good health most of my life. I live on a farm and run cattle. I'm active in farm life and church activities. I lost my husband four years ago so I still carry on. My problem is bad leg cramps, which I have had for a number of years. I live alone and have no one to help me loosen them.

It is not because I overexercise. I just have them. Is it what I eat or don't eat? If I eve move at night I am caught.

DIAR READER — There are many causes for leg cramps. Anyone who has persistent leg cramps should have a medical examination. From your comment, I assume yours occur at night; many of my readers swear by wearing warm socks to bed to help prevent the problem. I think the idea is to keep the muscles warm all night. Cold muscles tend to cramp.

Otherwise, some people get help from various medicines and some are helped with vitamin E. I'm not big on vitamin E for most things, but it apparently does help some people with leg cramps.

WTC Student To Be Summer Missionary

Chris Oliver, president of the Baptist Student Union at Western Texas College, has been selected to serve as a student summer missionary by the Texas Division of the Student work Missions Committee.

Oliver will be serving at the Houston Mission Center from the last week in May through the second week in August. He is one of 115 semester and summer student missionaries who will be serving in 13 states and 11 foreign countries.

The selection process began with an interview on campus, Oliver said, followed by an application to the Texas Division of Student work Missions. He also had a personal interview with the Texas Division in Dallas.

A graduate of Wink High School, Oliver was awarded a Texas Interscholastic League scholarship to WTC. He will be graduating from WTC in May with an associate in arts degree and plans to continue his educaion at a four-year university next year.

Oliver and four other WTC students, Steve Ortiz of Sweetwater, Rhonda Reynolds of Crosbyton, Kim Richards of Corinth, Miss., and Linda Wright of Sweetwater, attended the Baptist Student Union Leadership Training conference in Abilene recently.

Snyder Loop Champs Again!

By BILL MCCLELLAN

It is rumored when George Byerly first walked into the Snyder High School Gymnasium two years ago he didn't want to see prospective basketball players shoot, dribble or pass the ball. Instead, he ordered immediate blood tests. When the results came back that at least five athletes had ice water instead of blood running through their veins, he gave his answer. "I'll take the job," he supposedly said.

ANDREWS – Snyder High School guard John Wilson hit an 18-foot buzzer shot to deadlock the game and teammate James Caldwell canned two key freethrows in overtime as the Tigers edged 7th-ranked Andrews before an overflow crowd here last night, clinching the District 2-AAAA cage title, 45-43.

The championship is Snyder's third straight, and the second for Coach George Byerly. The win was the Tigers' 17th in a row, who, after suffering through a 3-12 start, are now 20-12.

Snyder will play a District 1-AAAA champion, apparently Borger or Canyon, in bi-district competition either March 8 or 9, unless coaches from the four districts agree on a regional tournament. Meanwhile, the Tigers have tentatively slated a warmup game with Coleman next Tuesday in Abilene. Details on that game were to be settled today.

The lead changed partners 10 times and was tied five through the first half before Andrews standout Keith Brooks led the Mustangs on a 10-point surge early in a turnover-plagued third period. Andrews, getting unanswered points from Brooks, Jamie Price and Jerry Alaniz, sped to a 33-25 advantage before Snyder's Barry Blackmon scored with 28 seconds left to make it 33-27 heading into the final period.

The senior ballplayer ripped the cords on a 22-footer to twist the totals to 33-29 at the quarter's outset, then Caldwell made it 33-31 on a five-foot jumper.

Both teams scored again before Caldwell tied the game on a pair of freethrows and again on a short jumper with 1:39 left, 37-37. Each team had an opportunity go to back in front, but it wasn't until the clock showed 17 seconds that Jerry Alaniz drove the lane - was fouled - and scored the go-ahead bucket for Andrews.

Alaniz could have put the hosts up by three points, but his bonus shot went in and leaped back out and Eric Arnold pulled down the rebound for the Tigers, who called time out with 11 seconds left in the game.

Wilson, taking over where "Cardiac" Kyle Short left off last season, took the ball near midcourt, drove straight ahead and ejected an 18-footer that arched high into the air before falling cleanly through the hoop to put the game into overtime.

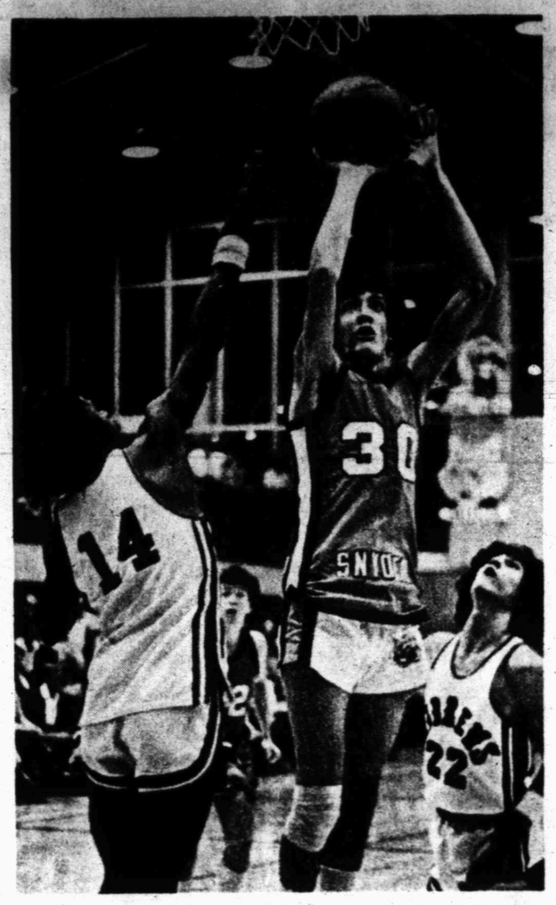

Snyder grabbed the early lead in the three-minute extra period, going up 41-39 on an Arnold layup. Brooks tied it at 41-41, but Curtis Gafford put the visitors back in front when he connected on a freethrow with 1:36 to go, 42-41.

Both teams turned the ball over again before Andrews got it back with 43 seconds left. Departing from the deliberate play they had used since gaining the eight-point lead in the third quarter, the Mustangs attempted to strike quickly. Brooks found his way underneath the bucket, but his inside shot bounded off the rim, and when Caldwell went up for the rebound he was fouled by Mike Murry. The sophomore, who had missed the past two ballgames with a nagging leg ailment, calmly canned both ends of the one-and-one bonus, giving Snyder a 44-41 lead with 25 seconds left.

A Brooks turn-around jumper narrowed it to a point, 44-43 with 12 ticks remaining but Snyder broke the Andrews press on the bring-down and appeared headed for a sure layup. Wilson crossed the midline and zipped a pass to a waiting Arnold underneath the hoop, but Jamie Gonzales slammed into the junior guard to draw the foul before Arnold could put it up.

In a textbook study of pressure, Wilson made the crucial first shot which put Snyder ahead by two, 45-

CLINCH TITLE – James Caldwell hit this short jump shot with 1:39 left in regulation to tie the totals at 37-37 and Snyder went on to edge 7th-ranked Andrews in overtime last night, 45-43. The victory earned the Tigers their third consecutive district title, the second for Coach George Byerly. On defense above are, left to right, Mike Murry and Jerry Alaniz. The contest was a mix-master of highlights. See the article at left for details. (SDN Staff Photo)

Western Hosts Midland In '81 Season Wrapup

Western Texas College's Westerners conclude their 1980-81 season here Thursday evening, taking on Western Junior College Athletic Conference champion Midland College at 8 in Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Midland, the preseason pick to win the WJCAC, is 25-2 for the season and 13-2 in conference play. The Chapparals, ranked No. 1 in the nation for several weeks, are rated No. 9 coming into Thursday's contest. Midland will receive the No. 1 WJCAC seeding in the March 4-7 Region V Tournament in Brownwood.

Western Texas, mathmatically eliminated from post season play by virtue of Monday's 74-64 loss to Frank Phillips College, is 15-13 on the term and 6-11 in conference outings.

WTC continues to lead the conference in field goal shooting with a .542 accuracy. Midland surpassed the Westerners from the line in recent calculations, however. The Chaps are hitting .699 from the stripe to lead the conference while WTC is next in line with a .697 figure. Midland averages .493 from the field.

The Chaps, which have defeated WTC twice this season, are led by Charles Johnson's 17.6 points and 9.9 rebounds a game. Puntus Wilson aids with 17.2 points and 6.3 rebounds. Kevin Willingham is another Chap standout.

Western Texas will again be without starter Keith Denis, who was averaging 15.1 points and 5.7 boards for the Westerners. Pacing the effort tomorrow will be Chuck North (18.3 points, 6.9 rebounds), Ceasar Scott (16.5 points, 6.9 rebounds), and Darren Lee (10.7 points).

TIGERS

43. His second shot bounded from the hoop, and Andrews grabbed the rebound. But a desperation play with four seconds left cratered as the Tigers came away with a "throw it up and hope" inbounds pass.

"Their pressure worried us a lot," admitted a relieved Coach Byerly after the game, speaking in particular of the second period, in which Snyder had eight turnovers but still managed to hang close. "We had two bad calls right there together and the kids kind of got their heads down. We were fortunate it was (near) halftime. You let Andrews get momentum and it can be all over with in a hurry."

But that ice-water, that poise, was the key in the end.

"These guys have been there a lot of times. ...they pulled together. a little tighter and stayed in there. They knew they had to do it or it's over. We just had a super effort the whole game," he added.

Caldwell came off the bench for Kris Seale with 1:49 left in the third period and was a major factor in the outcome. He snared eight points for the game, including four in overtime.

But the game was full of heros for the Tigers. Arnold, who led with 16 points, made a series of 22-footers which kept Snyder close throughout; Blackmon played his usual strong board game and - more importantly - came up with several key assists; and the crucial last-second bucket and key freethrow by Wilson were obvious.

Snyder also got steady play from Gafford and Seale, who had 1 point and 4 points respectively. Blackmon had 9 points and Wilson, 7.

Brooks led the Mustangs, 25-5, with 15 points, including all four Andrews overtime points. Alaniz added 12, and Jamie Price had 8.

Arkansas Clinches SWC Cage Title

by The Associated Press

It took more than a delay game to delay the Arkansas Razorbacks from taking the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

The Southern Methodist University Mustangs went into a delay game, but couldn't prevail as Arkansas took an easy 47-33 victory Tuesday night to clinch the title.

In other SWC roundball action, Texas A&M edged Texas Christian, 59-57; Texas beat Texas Tech, 65-54, and Houston defeated Rice, 63-55.

Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton said the SMU delay game surprised him, but Mustangs coach Dave Bliss said it was their only chance to win.

"SMU had not come out in a spread offense before, so I guess it did catch us a little off guard. But I think our team handled it well," Sutton said.

Bliss said he went to the delay game because, "We're too small and they're quicker than we are. That's a deadly combination."

Mike Young had 16 points, including eight of Arkansas' 17 second-half points as the Razorbacks took their third SWC title in the last four years. Scott Hastings and U.S. Reed scored 10 each for Arkansas.

Dave Piehler had 12 to lead SMU scoring.

Vernon Smith hit two free throws with just more than a minute remaining to boost Texas A&M to a 59-57 victory over TCU. Horned Frog Cuney Luke's 15-foot jumper rolled off the rim as time expired.

The victory moved the Aggies into sixth place in the conference, breaking the tie between A&M and TCU.
