Outbreak Attributed To Mosquito

DALLAS (AP)—A city health department spokesman said today that a strange disease which has sent 19 persons to Dallas hospitals in less than a week may be carried by a mosquito.

Laboratory tests will be completed Friday but the spokesman said the disease appeared to be meningoencephalitis, an inflammation of the brain and its membranes.

Dr. Hal Dewlett, city health director, said specialists are "checking out the areas in which the patients live and are catching mosquitoes so they can be identified."

Five specialists from the U.S. Public Health Service Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta are in Dallas to help identify and combat the mysterious outbreak.

Health officials said there was no cause for alarm, and that the illness usually runs its course in a week or two.

One death was attributed to the disease Monday but it later was found that death was from another cause.

Beatles Leave For US Tour

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles took off for the United States today to face what could be the first real challenge to their popularity since becoming worldwide show business sensations.

As they winged toward Boston, a small section of the big crowd of hysterical girl teenage fans chanted:

"John not Jesus...John not Jesus...John not Jesus."

In Chicago Friday, the Beatles open their third tour of American cities. One, Memphis, has suggested through its City Council that the two scheduled performances in the Tennessee city be cancelled.

This followed a ban by a number of radio stations on the playing of quartet's records after Beatle John Lennon was quoted as saying that he and the other three mo-headed musicians, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr, are more popular than Jesus.

Peking Reports Appearance By Mao

TOKYO (AP)—Peking Radio said today Mao Tze-tung made a personal appearance in the Red Chinese capital Wednesday night and indicated that he was the principal author of the current nationwide purge.

Mao, 72, had been absent from Peking since last fall, amid much speculation about his health and present position as leader of the Chinese Communist party.

Leathernecks Repel Attacks By N. Viets

By GEORGE McARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines pursued an estimated 6,000 North Vietnamese troops in bloodied rice paddies near Da Nang today after some 750 Leathernecks fought off encirclement by twice their number through the night.

The Marines killed at least 121 Communists while their own casualties were moderate, a spokesman said.

Off South Viet Nam's northern coast, three American planes mistakenly attacked an 82-foot U.S. Coast Guard patrol boat, killing two Coast Guardmen and injuring five men, including a British correspondent.

The attack occurred less than 36 hours after two American jets bombed and strafed a friendly Mekong Delta village from which, the American command said, the Viet Cong were firing on a U.S. spotter plane. The attack killed 24 Vietnamese and wounded 82, most of them villagers.

While jets supported the Marine drive near Da Nang, Air Force B52s and other American planes pounded the Central Highland area west of Pleiku where outnumbered South Korean infantrymen helped by five U.S. tanks killed 170 North Vietnamese Wednesday in their bloodiest action of the war.

Scattered firefights were reported today in the plateau area where thousands of U.S., Korean and Vietnamese troops are in action to forestall a possible late monsoon season sweep by the North Vietnamese across the highlands to the sea.

Bad flying weather limited U.S. air operations over North Viet Nam to 98 missions Wednesday and kept the American fliers clear of the hotly defended Haiphong-Hanoi industrial belt.

Instead, the Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots worked over coastal targets in the southern panhandle, hitting fuel dumps, bridges, barges and a 30-car train, a U.S. spokesman said.

For the second day in a row, no American aircraft were reported lost after a total of 10 planes were downed on Sunday and Monday.

U.S. Air Force and Marine pilots flew 358 single-plane sorties in the south Wednesday and were out in force again today — hitting hard in support of the infantrymen in the Pleiku area and the Marines southwest of Da Nang.

The Marine battalion fought the Communists for seven hours Wednesday at such close quarters that the Americans were unable to use their artillery.

They apparently had run into the bulk of one of the two North Vietnamese regiments in the area, Marine officers said.

Texas Western Gets Money For Acreage

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—The government has paid $2.29 million to Texas Western College for 146 acres in the Chamizal Border treaty area.

The school was willed the property in 1937 as part of the Frank B. Cotton estate.

Cotton's will stipulated the estate income was to be used to further the education of women, and the money was used to establish a department of arts and sciences. Texas Western had been primarily a men's college.

Most of the 146 acres had been leased to cotton farmers.

American Boat Strafed In Error

By BOB POOS

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force planes strafed and fired rockets at an American Coast Guard patrol boat early today in the second case of mistaken identity in an aerial attack in less than two days.

Two Coast Guardmen were killed and five other men were wounded, including a young British correspondent.

The 82-foot steel-hulled cutter Point Welcome was attacked while on patrol before dawn at the mouth of the Cua Viet River, 35 miles north of Hue and only 10 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

A U.S. spokesman said a patrol plane mistook the vessel for a North Vietnamese trawler. He said enemy boats frequently slip men and supplies into the south and that the Point Welcome probably was looking for such vessels when she was attacked.

A flare ship lit up the area for at least 15 minutes while the planes fired rockets and 20mm cannon at the Point Welcome, the spokesman said.

The wounded newsman was Tim Page, 22, of Orpington, Kent, England, a freelance photographer and correspondent who has been wounded twice before in Viet Nam. Three Coast Guardmen and a Vietnamese sailor were also wounded. All were taken to a military hospital near Hue.

The cutter continued under its own power to Da Nang.

The spokesman said there are standard recognition signals between friendly planes and patrol boats but he was unable to explain what caused the error. An investigation was ordered.

The U.S. Command announced that 24 civilians had been killed and 82 wounded in the attack Tuesday night on the Mekong River delta village of Truong Thanh, eight miles from Vietnamese regional headquarters at Can Tho. Originally, 15 Vietnamese were reported killed and 182 wounded.

A spokesman called the incident an "unfortunate occurrence" which he blamed on the Viet Cong.

East Texas Swamped By Heavy Downpours

By The Associated Press

Rains estimated as great as 10 inches swamped far Southeast Texas today, causing widespread flooding and snarling traffic.

Residents of low-lying sections of Port Arthur were advised to evacuate their homes at midmorning as the rain continued.

Port Arthur's largest movie house, the Village Theater, was said to have been destroyed when struck by lightning. The Jefferson Amusement Co. estimated the loss at $500,000.

Guests and employes were evacuated from the Tidelands Motor Inn, a plush motel on the outskirts of Nederland on U.S. 69.

A neighbor said water was was deeper in the lower floors of the motel today than it was after a heavier rainfall two months ago.

J. W. Raybon, who runs a filling station adjacent to the motel, said his gasoline pumps were in two feet of water.

Various Jefferson County underpasses were flooded out and and scores of automobiles were stalled.

Unofficial reports of employe absenteeism ran high in the area. Many flooded underpasses lay between residential areas and industrial plants.

The rains began at 2 a.m., and Port Arthur reported 3 inches fell in 2 hours, with the rains continuing well into the rush-hour traffic hours as workers sought to reach their jobs at the many Jefferson County industrial complexes.

Groves reported 5.63 inches fell from 4 to 8 a.m. and the Jeffersn County airport, where the Weather Bureau is located, reported 5.35 inches beginning at 4 a.m.

Drainage systems in several areas were over-taxed, creating flood problems.

Underpasses in Beaumont, Nederland, Port Arthur and some other places were flooded for a time, but pumps, especially installed for that flat country, began trying to remove the weather.

Mrs. Tom Wells, on the southern outskirts of Nederland, reported 7 inches of water in her home.

Runoff water entered many homes and businesses in low levels of Port Arthur.

In several areas, the Lower Neches Valley Authority's fresh water canal that supplies municipal water to southern Jefferson County overflowed onto highways.

At Nederland, water was 8 inches deep in front of City Hall.

Lightning struck the Village Theater in Port Arthur, causing some damage, about 6 a.m.

Far to the northwest around Abilene, deluges fell at some points, View, 12 miles southwest of Abilene, record 3.20 inches of rain.

Area Teased By Showers Last Night

Thundershowers teased the Snyder area again last night, but most of the activity was limited to a brilliant electrical display.

Rainfall totalling 1.1 inches was reported at Dunn, by far the greatest amount logged in the immediate Snyder area.

The showers followed a spotted pattern once again as Snyder had an official measurement of .31, while Ira had half an inch.

Hermleigh had .2 of an inch and Camp Springs only .1.

At Lake J. B. Thomas, the gauge at the Snyder pump station at the dam logged .65 inch, but at the Big Spring-Odessa Station on the south side of the lake only .2 was logged.

The current series of showers has yet to get on the Lake Thomas watershed in full force. Bull Creek has flowed a modest stream into the lake intermittently the past week, but it has supplied no more than enough water to offset normal evaporation.

Search For More Bodies

OTTAWA (AP) — Workers hacked through twisted steel and concrete in an Ottawa park today searching for the bodies of two more construction workers believed killed when a bridge collapsed.

Seven bodies have already been recovered and the toll of injured stood at 53. Of these, 16 were reported in critical condition.

A steady downpour turned the park earth to slippery mud through which the 30 rescue workers slid. The rain and lack of heavy equipment had forced a 4½ hour interruption of the search.

The new Heron Road bridge under construction over the Rideau River gave way Wednesday afternoon.

Race Riot Toll Grows

By The Associated Press

A Negro man was shot, and fire bombs and other missiles were thrown at store windows and passing cars as violence broke out for the second straight night in a racially mixed neighborhood on the East Side of Detroit.

There also was violence in New York's Brooklyn and in Grenada, Miss.

The battle lines were being drawn in Washington over the new civil rights bill which has passed the House and now goes to the Senate.

Tyrone Powers, 26, a Negro, was wounded in the shoulder, he said, when he was shot from a passing car in Detroit. He said three white men were in the car.

Riot-trained police, helmeted and carrying shotguns and rifles with fixed bayonets, kept most of the troublemakers within a five-block area.

They arrested 32 Negroes and seven whites — five boys and two girls — who police said were found with homemade fire bombs in their car.

A white motorist was injured when a brick smashed through a window of his car. The plate glass fronts of several stores were smashed.

New York police said a shooting in a mostly white section of Brooklyn came after a crowd of about 40 whites chased three Negroes into an apartment house where one of them had recently moved. The crowd, most in their teens or early 20s, stood in front of the building, officers said, shouting, "Come out, nigger, or we'll burn you out!" until the three Negroes emerged.

One of the three was carrying a rifle which he fired into the crowd, police said, wounding Gerald Vabnik, 22, and Peter Guardino, 21. Both were in fair condition at a hospital.

Police reinforcements quickly dispersed the crowd after the shooting. They arrested Theodore Watson, 20, and charged him with felonious assault in the shooting.

Jones Rites Here Friday

Mrs. Lottie Jones, 38, 412 Thirty-fifth Street, died at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Jones was born Dec. 10, 1927 in Rotan, and was married to Willard Jones Jr. Dec. 7, 1946. She had been a resident of Snyder for 12 years, and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Funeral services are set for 2:30 p.m. Friday in the East Side Church of Christ with Don Browning officiating and Richard Williams assisting. The burial will be at the Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jones is survived by her husband; one daughter, Wenona Faye Jones; and one son, Jerry, all of the home; her parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Burk of Snyder; and one brother Earl Dee Burk of Lubbock.

Mansfield Eyes Rights Bill Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he will call for Senate action on the civil rights bill on Sept. 6, the day after Labor Day.

The House-passed measure faces even rougher going in the Senate than it had in the House, partly because of the opposition of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to its limited open housing provision.

Mansfield declined to commit himself on this or other parts of the legislation. I haven't even read the bill yet," he told newsmen.

He said he anticipates no opposition to placing the bill on the Senate's legislative calendar without sending it first to the Senate Judiciary Committee, long a deadend for civil rights measures. Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., is chairman of the committee.

Once the battle over the bill is joined after Labor Day, Southern opponents may launch a filibuster against its passage.

Mansfield said Dirksen had predicted that Congress would adjourn by Oct. 15. "I'd agree, but I would qualify that by saying with luck," he said.

SPEEDING TOWARD MOON

Orbiter To Scout For Campsite

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A camera-toting scout, Lunar Orbiter, sped through space today on its mission to photograph the moon and help locate a level spot where astronauts may camp later in the 1960s.

The mission of the 850-pound spacecraft, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 3:26 p.m. EDT Wednesday aboard an Atlas-Agena rocket combination, is to orbit the moon, photograph possible landing sites, measure radiation and detect micrometeorite density.

After liftoff scientists reported the craft in a trajectory that, without correction, would make it miss the moon by 5,800 miles at the end of its 90-hour, 235,466-mile trip.

But a midcourse maneuver was planned for sometime between 20 and 30 hours after liftoff, and after the craft's sensors had locked onto the sun and a guiding star, Canopus.

One of Orbiter's sensors locked onto the sun 49 minutes into the flight and, at 10:21 p.m. the craft was ordered to roll 360 degrees while another sensor searched for Canopus.

A National Aeronautics and Space Agency spokesman said two hours later that Orbiter had failed to find Canopus on its first roll. He added that this caused no immediate concern, since several rolls have been required to locate Canopus on other space flights.

After the first midcourse maneuver, and a second if its needed, Lunar Orbiter is to fire its retrorockets early Sunday, when it is 550 miles from the moon. The firing should slow it enough for it to be captured by the moon's gravity, putting it into lunar orbit.

Orbit around the moon, a goal not achieved by American scientists in seven earlier attempts, would set up Orbiter's photo mission, to send back 352 photographs giving details of the lunar surface.

The first pictures are to be taken Aug. 18 of the never-photographed limb, or right edge, of the moon. This is a zone of mystery because the moon always keeps the same side facing the earth.

The backside, though more remote, is less mysterious. Russia's Zond 3 spacecraft launched July 20, 1965, and Luna 3, on Oct. 4, 1959, took pictures of this area.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband says that I am "sick" and in need of a doctor because I commented on the following:

Before I am out of the car, my husband is already in the house. When we go anywhere, my husband is already in the car "waiting" for me before I am out of the house.

When we go to a restaurant, before I am off my chair, my husband is out of the room. Recently, at the funeral of a relative, all the other husbands and wives were standing together in "couples," while my husband stood 20 feet away from me.

D. IN PHILLY

DEAR D.: If it is 'sick' to expect common courtesy, then you are indeed "sick."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Our son enlisted in the marine corps. We didn't hear from him for several months, so I wrote to him. He wrote back saying he would be leaving soon so I shouldn't write to him. I got worried and wrote anyway. I didn't hear from him so I wrote again. This time my letter was returned to me marked UNDELIVERED.

Naturally I wanted to know why, so I called the recruiting office, and they told me that my son had been discharged four weeks ago. Aren't the marine corps people supposed to see to it that those kids get home once they're discharged? I would like to know where that crazy kid is.

NO NAME

DEAR NO: A discharged marine is given 6 cents a mile on which to get home, but he is not provided with an 'escort' to see that he gets there. If a marine doesn't go directly home, it's neither the business nor the responsibility of the marine corps.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter signed '75 and Dumpy" whose husband was an impulsive kisser, I could not shake the urge to write.

My husband was an impulsive kisser, too, which was just one of the many ways he had of saying 'I love you." Four years ago my husband died in Korea.

I wonder if "75 and Dumpy" has any idea how much impulsive kisses can be missed, and how lonely reading, cooking, counting stitches, and watching TV can be when that other chair is empty. Sign me. . . .

"44 AND LONELY"

DEAR "44": Altho the years with your man were too few, I'll bet that you two had more happiness together than many couples who have celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries.

Panel Studies Pollution At Albany

ALBANY, Tex. (AP) — Witnesses at a Texas Railroad Commission hearing here Wednesday that pollution problems in the Albany area could be overcome by corrective measures by oil producers and and maintained by "good Housekeeping methods."

The session involved salt-water pollution of Hubbard Creek Lake by means of waterflood operations by petroleum producers.

Roy D. Payne, director of field operations, and Fred Young legal counsel, said they would make recommendations to the commission in Austin.

They indicated it would be a month or six weeks before a decision would be reached.

The hearing was set to give area producers an opportunity to show cause why their waterflood operations should not be suspended.

Shackelford County Judge I. M. Chism, president of the Hubbard Creek Citizens Association, said his group wanted to cooperate on the problem with the West Central Texas Municipal Water District.

District spokesmen said it was the district's job to provide an adequate supply of high quality water for municipal use in Abilene, Albany, Anson and Breckenridge.

They indicated pollution of Hubbard Creek Lake tended to lower the quality of available water.

One Injured In Two-Car Mishap

Mary Breeden, 602 Twenty-eighth Street, received minor injuries to the left leg at 10:27 p.m. Wednesday following a two-car accident at Avenue O and Twenty-fifth Street.

She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell-Seale ambulance. She was released after receiving treatment. She was a passenger in a 1964 Model Chevrolet operated by James T. Beckham, Jr., 2512 Thirty-first Street. Damage to it was estimated at $200.

Driver of the other car, a 1966 Model Chevrolet, was Candyce Jane Bass, 2807 Forty-seventh Street. Damage to this vehicle was set at $150.

Solons Retackle Air Strike Mess

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress groped through the wreckage today after airlines strike negotiators exploded its "last" hope to duck back-to-work legislation.

Union and management chiefs blamed each other for the latest collapse of negotiations in the five-week strike of 35,000 mechanics against five airlines.

But the legislative mills continued creaking slowly on the issue. It is the year's hottest home-grown political potato confronting election minded congressmen.

"Do not pass legislation that you will regret the rest of your lives," warned AFL-CIO President George Meany in behalf of 17 million union members.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers of the House Commerce Committee, who raised faint hopes by briefly cajoling negotiators into trying arbitration, hinted no strike-stopping bill will reach the House floor until next week.

The West Virginia Democrat said his arbitration suggestion was "the last thing we could possibly do" short of legislation.

But the plan blew up a few hours later in a sharp exchange of statements between chief airlines negotiator William J. Curtin and P.L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

Siemiller predicted that any arbitration plan without prior agreement on major contract demands would suffer the same fate as the White House proposal the strikers overwhelmingly voted down July 31.

"Prejudging the vote by the international president clearly indicates that the union does not desire to end this dispute by voluntary arbitration," Curtin said in accusing Siemiller of undermining Staggers' plan.

"These airlines are more concerned with protecting their fabulous profits than they are with getting their planes back into service," Siemiller shot back.

"As usual, the carriers have misstated the facts," Siemiller said. "They know the mood of their employes just as well as I do. They know the hostility and suspicion that exists and they know the reason for it."

It was the bitterest exchange to date between the two heretofore unusually polite and cordial antagonists.

Stewart Moved To Key British Post

LONDON (AP) — Michael Stewart, Britain's foreign secretary for the last two years, today tackled the job of leading his country back into financial solvency as new head of the Economics Ministry.

Stewart, key figure in a Cabinet reshuffle announced Wednesday night by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, was named to replace Deputy Prime Minister George Brown as czar over a wide-ranging program of economic retrenchment.

Brown, a reluctant director of the austerity program into which the Labor government was forced, became foreign secretary.

Friends and foes of the embattled government gave the reshuffle a cool reception.

The pro-Labor Sun, in a front-page editorial entitled "Musical Chairs," commented: "It is difficult to feel impressed by Mr. Wilson's cabinet changes."

The liberal Guardian said the reshuffle was 'lacking in sense of value."

The conservative Daily Telegraph said: "Like almost everything else he has done in the past month, Mr. Wilson's new cabinet appointments bear all the hallmarks of haste and panic."

Just before the changes were announced, the House of Commons gave final approval to a major item in Wilson's austerity package — a six-month freeze on wages and prices and severe restraints for six months after that.

The 58-vote margin by which the bill passed, nearly 40 short of the Labor party's paper majority in the House, underlined the opposition of the government party's left wing to the freeze.

Wilson switched six members of his Cabinet altogether. No one was fired and all kept their salaries of $23,800 a year plus a parliamentary allowance of $3,500.

Brown's appointment as foreign secretary raised hopes in some quarters that Britain would take firm steps to join the European Common Market.

Regarded as the staunchest "European" in the Labor party leadership, Brown favors immediate action to establish formal links with the six-nation continental trade bloc and eventual full membership.

Wilson also selected a new man to deal with the vexing Rhodesian dispute which Arthur Bottomlye has been handling with no apparent success and much criticism since Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority government unilaterally declared independence from Britain last November.

Big Balloon Back Early

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University scientists say trouble which developed in the command system of the telescope aboard a 55-story high balloon caused the balloon to be brought down about two hours earlier than planned.

The balloon was launched at 12:49 a.m. Wednesday from Palestine and it landed shortly after 10 a.m. near Midland.

Scientists obtained nearly a full run with the instrument, however, as they had planned to bring it down about noon. The command system fault cropped up at 132,000 feet.

The difficulty prevented scientists from radioing pointing orders to the flying telescope.

The major objective of the five-foot-long gamma ray telescope was to view the emmissions of an exploded star known as the Crab Nebula, some 3,500 light years from earth.

Two Pilots From Texas Decorated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texans were among five pilots decorated Wednesday for heroism when they took part in air strikes against communist installations near Hanoi and Haiphong.

The Texas men were Navy Lt. Cmdr. Walter L. Chatham, 32, of San Antonio and Air Force Capt. Donald J. Mattasolio, 28, of Tyler.

The medals were presented by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in a ceremony in his office at the Pentagon.

Chatham was cited for leading a flight of Navy Skyhawks against the Nam Dinh railroad repair facility and storage area in North Viet Nam June 12.

The award said Chatham "courageously led his division in for an attack through an intense barrage of 37 mm, 57 mm and 85 mm anti-aircraft fire extending up to 9,000 feet."

Of Mattasolio, a citation said: "Despite encountering defense fire of intensity unparalleled in this conflict . . . he fearlessly pressed his attack, placing his ordinance precisely on his assigned target . . .

"The resulting fireball contributed to the ensuing fire storm that totally destroyed the complex, crippling Hanoi's petroleum fed industries and transportation system."

Mattasolio took part in the June 29 attack on Hanoi's oil storage facilities.

The Arts, Integration

BEYOND CIVIL RIGHTS. By John Selby.

Ever since 1915—long before the term racial integration came into use—there has been a remarkable example of quiet, practical, uncomplicated integration in the city of Cleveland. The key to its growth is participation in the arts, an area of human endeavor where laws, voting and social theories have no impact.

It is a center called Karamu House, where literally thousands of people have participated in theater (dramas, musicals and operas), dance, the visual arts, writing and community betterment—without the slightest regard for the color of anyone's skin.

The story of Karamu is mainly the story of its founders—and directors for 48 years, until their retirement in 1963—Russell and Rowena Jelliffe, who say "We believe the Cleveland community is aware that our aims go far beyond civil rights. We believe in the liberation of the spirit through the arts, and the capacity of human beings to act as brothers."

The Jelliffes were newly wed social workers when they arrived in Cleveland, choosing a slum area filled with a mixture of races and nationalities to establish what, in thos days, would have been called a settlement house. But almost from the start they caught on to the idea that "social work" alone was not enough. They saw that by using the arts as a focal point, they could create something far more effective. They had faith in the creative spirit. After half a century, their result was an organization that serves as a showcase for other cities.

Selby has told the history of this project clearly. He has been careful to detail not only the successes and accomplishments but also the setbacks and limitations, the financial struggles and the inevitable criticisms.

He puts the complete story in perspective. Through quotations from the Jelliffes, he develops the philosophy of a pilot enterprise in the developing histroy of racial integration.

Get House Ready For Vacation

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's no place like home sweet home but some vacationers return to it sooner than they anticipate.

Vacations are ruined when you begin to worry about your house. One person should take full responsibility for the final lock-up. But a half-day away from home and the questions have already begun, "Did you turn off the water?" "Did someone put the cat out?" "Did anyone lock the windows?"

A family had a miserable few days in Europe while they debated whether the father should return home. Neighbors had found their house door open wide, had called the police, and even though it looked as if nothing had been taken, they contacted the family.

Just before the father was to take off for home, the youngest member of the family recalled having left the door open. He assumed that his father had followed him out of the house; but, after turning off utilities in the cellar, dad had gone out through the garage door.

Another family got a call from neighbors that their cat was sitting in the window. Neighbors were to care for it, but it had run back into the house before the family left.

One person should be responsible for the final security check-up. Here is a check list that might help:

1. Remove any precious thing that will worry you, even though the house is fireproofed and burglarproofed. Silver, heirlooms, paintings, furs that are valuable, anything that is irreplaceable should be parked safely in vaults, storage houses or with friends.

2. Fireproof your house. Remove papers and cloths from too-crowded closets, particularly poorly ventilated ones. Throw away old newspapers and oily cloths, particularly if they are stored together. Gasoline cans should be stored in a safe place.

3. Anticipate winds, rains, excessive heat while you are gone. Remove light terrace furniture, lightweight outdoor furniture that could be blown through windows, unplug downspouts so so that rain water will not accumulate and cause damage to the house.

4. Secure anything that might be a dangerous attraction. Many people drain their swimming pools, refilling on their return. Besides dangers to wandering children, pools might attract rowdy characters bent on destruction.

5. If you haven't thought to plan your vegetable garden so it will produce after your return, make a deal with someone to take the produce in exchange for weeding. An overripe garden that needs weeding is a tipoff that people are away.

6. Burglarproof your house . . . doors can be locked down stairs but a few upstairs windows may be left open a couple of inches or so. Papers and milk deliveries should be interrupted; grass should get a crew cut. Many people have their phones disconnected or the number transferred to the vacation house, but some consider this plan an invitation to intruders.

7. Clean freezer and refrigerator before taking off and leave doors open to air. A closed door on a disconnected refrigerator can create a fantastic mess of mold. Some people prefer to leave the freezer on but the best plan is to use everything before you go. It is one way to make a fresh start on your return.

Some people give a key to a neighbor or caretaker so that plants can be watered. This is a good plan unless you are a worrier and will be concerned that the neighbor will forget to lock up.

If plants are the only worry, neighbors could enjoy them while you are away. Some plants can be sunk into the ground and watered outdoors.

Neighbors will care for birds. Dogs are happy in kennels. Cats like their own homes. The best solution is a cat sitter who will feed the cat in your garage or on your screened-in porch. If neither idea can be used, a cat my be boarded with a neighborhood child. It must be fed at that house for several days before you leave or it may go on a hunger strike.

NO ALCOHOL OR DRUGS

Sniper's Blood Test Negative

AUSTIN (AP) — Charles J. Whitman's blood contained no discernable alcohol, barbiturates, drugs or stimulants when police guns ended his deadly rifle fire, a laboratory report showed Wednesday.

The Texas Department of Public Safety (state police) released its analysis of blood taken from the University of Texas sniper's body after police gunfire stopped a murder rampage that took 16 lives Aug. 1 in downtown Austin street and

In other developments:

—A state psychiatrist disputed the statement of the pathologist who performed the autopsy on Whitman that a small tumor in his brain "could not have had any influence on the psychic behavior."

—An acquaintance of the sniper told of a January 1962 incident in which Whitman pointed a loaded pistol from a car window at a stranger on shouted insults at him.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana said the report on Whitman's blood completed his inquest into the 25-year-old architectural engineering student's death. He said his finding was "homicide"—ruled justifiable by the Travis County Grand Jury.

Dellana said six brown and clear capsules, 14 plain white tablets and 11 white tablets stamped "E" also were submitted for analysis.

"The six capsules were found to contain amphetamine (a "pep" drug also found in diet pills)," the report said. "The plain unmarked white tablets and the tablets stamped 'E' contained an aspirin preparation. No narcotics or dangerous drugs were contained in the tablets.

"No alcohol, barbiturates or amphetamine were detected in the specimen of blood."

Dellana said the analysts said it would have taken a great deal of amphetamine for traces to show in a small blood sample. He speculated that Whitman took the amphetamine to the tower to keep him awake if he held out for a long time.

The justice of the peace said the laboratory report would go to the grand jury, which already has received the original autopsy report by Dr. Coleman de Chenar, Austin State Hospital pathologist. He said the grand jury would have the final say as to whether the autopsy report would be duplicated and distributed to newsmen, who repeatedly have asked for copies of its full text.

Condition Improves Daily For Plastic-Heart Patient

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez of Mexico City neared her third complete day as an artificial heart pump patient today and doctors said her general condition continues to improve.

Mrs. Vasquez, 37, recovered the pump of left ventricular by-pass in a 3½ hour operation Monday.

A hospital advisory late Wednesday said physicians were able to reduce from 40 to 30 per cent the work of the heart being done by the pump.

Mrs. Vasquez was able to sit on the side of her bed for five minutes Wednesday and earlier she was able to talk and swallow liquids.

The hospital said tests show her blood remains normal without evidence of damage and x-rays show her lungs remain clear.

Mrs. Vasquez has been ill for many years, suffering from progressive heart failure resulting from rheumatic fever, the hospital said.

Her heart's aortic and mitral valves were replaced and the artificial heart pump attached during the surgery.

Two tubes attach the pump to the heart chamber and the aorta, the main artery that feeds trunkline arteries. This forms a bypass of the left ventricle which performs 90 per cent of the natural heart's work. It is designed to allow a human heart to rest and heal itself and then the device is detached.

Big 33 Game To Have Big Lines

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Texas squad arrived Wednesday for its rubber game with Pennsylvania in the Big 33 football series.

Coach Bobby Layne said he had another fine group although [illegible] speed of the 1965 outfit that beat Pennsylvania 26-10. Pennsylvania won the year before 6-3.

Told that Pennsylvania had a 242-pound line, Layne said "don't spoil the welcome."

But he smiled when he said it. The Texans came here from touring Washington, D. C., and Layne said he would hold two workouts a day until the game Saturday night.

The Pennsylvania squad has begun tapering off its practices and will work out only once a day.

Coach Bill Murray said his Pennsylvania team appeared to be in better shape now than it was a week ago. The workouts have slimmed some down and added weight to others.

"I don't think some of these boys were in as good shape as they thought they were," said Murray, former coach at Duke and now executive director of the American Football Coaches Association. "We're accomplishing a lot more now that we're in better shape."

Pennsylvania's interior line on defense is the one averaging about 252 pounds. The heaviest man is Mike McCoy, a 275-pound All-State tackle from Erie Cathedral.

Texas' line probably will average 10 pounds less, but the Texans are likely to wage a powerful running attack, plus a good aerial game. Quarterback Chuck Hixson of San Antonio Highlands completed 96 of 193 passes last season for 1,272 yards and 18 touchdowns.

Murray has been paying special attention to his quarterbacks — Charlie Burkhart of Montour, Jim Sniscak of Middletown and Joe Buchinski of Mount Carmel, who in one practice session completed 90 of 108 passes.

"Not bad, not bad," remarked Murray. "But you know what we should complete in practice, don't you? It should be 108 for 108."

Promoters of the game predict a standing room only crowd of 25,000 at Hershey stadium at kickoff time at 8 p.m. (EDT).

Sonics Best Bet For TL Playoff Berth

By The Associated Press

Amarillo clipped Albuquerque 7-2 Wednesday night to edge up on leading Arkansas in the Texas League race.

The Sonics gained a game when Dallas-Fort Worth cooperated by beating Arkansas 7-3.

Amarillo now is three games back of the leaders and 4½ ahead of third place Albuquerque, so it seems the Sonics are certain of a playoff berth whether they catch Arkansas or not.

Only two games were played Wednesday night but there will be four tonight when Amarillo is at El Paso for a double-header, Dallas-Fort Worth plays at Austin and Arkansas is at Albuquerque.

Dallas-Fort Worth got three unearned runs in the first four innings to twice take the lead and go on to its triumph. Joe Niekro lasted until the final out of the game to pick up the pitching decision. He is now 3-0.

Larry Stubing of Arkansas hit his 22nd home run of the season and retained his leadership in the league.

Amarillo scored four runs in the first inning and never was headed. Albuquerque stranded 14 runners to show why it failed to win.

The Dodgers got moving in the ninth but were too far back to make it. They scored three runs before Tom Arruda put out the fire.

Baseball Mourns Dresden's Death

DETROIT (AP) — Baseball today mourned the death of Detroit Tigers Manager Charlie Dressen, an always fiery competitor who was regarded as one of the most dedicated men in the game.

Dressen, who would have been 63 next month, died Wednesday of a cardiac arrest, just four days after he had been admitted to the hospital for the third time in 17 months.

Dressen suffered a heart attack in spring training in 1965 and was sidelined by the same ailment last May 16. His last confinement was for a kidney infection.

"I lost a great friend and associate," said Tigers Vice President and General Manager James A. Campbell, who hired Dressen in June of 1964 to replace Bob Scheffing.

Few remain in baseball who can match his deep knowledge and sincere enthusiasm for the game," said Tigers owner John E. Fetzer.

A requiem high Mass was to be sung at St. Aloysius Church in Detroit this morning after which Dressen's body was to be taken to Los Angeles.

Dressen's widow, Ruth, was expected to make final funeral arrangements later. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery in Glendale, Calif.

Tiger players are expected to attend a memorial mass next Tuesday.

The Tigers, who lost a 12-inning 6-3 decision at Washington Wednesday night, lined the top step of the dugout and joined the Senator players and fans in a silent tribute before the game. The Tigers will wear black armbands for the remainder of the season, starting with Monday night's game against the New York Yankees.

The peppery Dressen, who managed the Brooklyn Dodgers when they won National League pennants in 1952 and 1953, had moulded the Tigers into his finest team since the Dodgers.

Snyder's Polo Team Defeats Lamesa Crew

Benny Minor and George Ramage led the Snyder Polo Team to a 14-7 victory over Lamesa Tuesday at the Snyder Polo field.

Minor and Ramage scored all but two points in the free scoring affair that put Snyder back on their winning ways after dropping a 10-7 decision to Spur Saturday. Rudy Minor accounted for the other two points.

The Snyder team will enter the Palomino Polo Tournament in San Angelo Sept. 3-4 and 5. The Labor Day weekend affair will feature the top polo teams in the area.

Physicals Due For Snyder Footballers

All prospective members of the 1966 edition of the Snyder Tigers and the Snyder B Team are expected to report for physicals at the Field House at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Shoes were issued yesterday to some of the team members present, but all boys were not aware of the approaching workouts. Contact work will begin Monday Aug. 15 when the team will probably participate in two workouts a day.

Wharton Undefeated In Babe Ruth Play

MIAMI, Okla. (AP) — Wharton, Tex., the only undefeated team left in the Southwest Regional Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament for boys 13-15, meets defending champion New Orleans tonight.

Wharton beat West Memphis, Ark., 6-4 Wednesday night to retain its unbeaten status.

New Orleans took down San Antonio 7-4, the defeat eliminating San Antonio from the double-elimination tournament.

Bears Trade Leggett For Draft Choices

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran defensive tackle Earl Leggett was traded Wednesday to the Los Angeles Rams from the Chicago Bears in exchange for two draft choices next year, the Rams announced.

Minnesota Downs California Behind Jim 'Mudcat' Grant

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cesar Tovar, the handy man in Minnesota's infield and outfield, has picked up his first save as a relief pitcher.

The versatile Venezuelan rescued Jim (Mudcat) Grant twice Wednesday night with perfect strikes from left field as the Twins blanked California 2-0 and snapped a three-game losing string.

Rich Rollins and Harmon Killebrew homered for Minnesota and Tovar, making his first appearance in the outfield since May 31, protected the margin—and Grant's second straight shutout—by cutting down California runners at the plate in the first and seventh innings.

In the first [illegible] Cardenal he plays every day, he'll hit .300."

In the seventh, with runners on first and third and one out, Tovar grabbed Tom Satriano's short fly ball and fired another strike to Battey, doubling up Bob Rodgers and snuffing out the Angels' last threat.

Tovar started his second season with the Twins in center field but was benched after playing 20 games. In July he filled in at shortstop for the injured Zoilo Versalles and hit at a .300 clip. When Versalles returned to the lineup, Tovar moved over to second base and stayed there until Wednesday night.

"Tovar plays the game hard," says roommate Tony Oliva, "and he can play anywhere. If

In other games Wednesday, league-leading Baltimore pounded New York 9-4, Chicago whipped Kansas City 9-2, Boston blanked Cleveland 2-0 and Washington tripped Detroit 6-3 in 12 innings.

Pittsburgh shelled New York 10-4, Atlanta upended Los Angeles 3-1 and Philadelphia beat St. Louis 5-1 in National League play. The San Francisco-Cincinnati and Houston-Chicago games were rained out.

Grant, who has pitched three straight complete-game victories for a 9-12-season mark, checked the Angels on eight hits in a duel with left-hander Clyde Wright.

Wright yielded only five hits in eight innings but one of them was Rollins' seventh homer in the sixth. Killebrew drilled his 23rd homer off reliever Minnie Rojas in the ninth.

Curt Blefary, back in the Baltimore lineup after sitting out 11 games with a shoulder injury, walloped two homers and Boog Powell hit a three-run shot as the Orioles pounded the Yankees.

Dick Hall relieved starter Eddie Watt in the third inning, pitched the rest of the way for his fifth victory in seven decisions, and sent the Orioles ahead to stay in the fourth with a two-run single.

The White Sox won their sixth in a row behind lefthander Gary Peters, who shut out Kansas City until the ninth. Peters, 9-8, helped himself with a double and single while Pete Ward drilled a three-run double in the White Sox's 13-hit attack.

Don Lock's three-run homer in the 12th lifted the Senators past Detroit and dropped the second-place Tigers 11 games out of first place. Washington's Paul Casanova and Detroit's Don West each homered in the 11th after the Senators had tied it 2-2 on Ken McMullen's run-scoring single in the eighth.

Boston's Lee Stange scattered nine hits and stranded 11 base runners in shutting out the Indians. George Scott hit his 22nd homer and Tony Conigliaro singled across a run for the Red Sox.

Thomson Not Allergic To America Tour

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Peter Thomson of Australia is not allergic to greenbacks, he doesn't mind traveling and he says he has no fear of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus. Why, then, does he so studiously avoid the rich American pro golf tour?

"The answer is simple," said the quiet stylist from Melbourne, five times winner of the British Open, before one of his rare U.S. appearances in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic. "I am bound by other considerations.

"I like to make money. I don't mind playing the large American ball. I enjoy competing against the U.S. pros. But I have family and other commitments."

Thomson, 35, played the tour regularly in the early 1950s but his lone tournament triumph was at Dallas in 1956. Some said he quit the tour because he disliked the larger U.S. ball and dreaded to knock heads with the tough American pros.

"That isn't true," Thomson explained. "I like to spend six months of the year with my family—my wife and three small children. I spend two months in the Far East, two on the Australian circuit, a month in New Zealand and a month in England.

"It's true I have to make a financial sacrifice. I figure I could make twice as much playing in America.

"But I feel responsible for the Far Eastern tour. I helped start it and later I'll get satisfaction out of looking back and seeing that where once no golf was played at all there now is a prosperous tour.

"Besides, I am president and executive director of the Australian PGA. That requires time and responsibility. I don't say I don't like money but I am happier feeling that I am giving something back to the game."

Texas Team Complete For Oil Bowl Game

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —The Texas squad has been completed and the Oklahoma squad will be filled out tonight for the Oil Bowl football game scheduled here Aug. 19.

Ten members of the Texas squad already are working out here under the direction of trainer Elmer Brown of Texas Christian.

All 24 boys have been named for the Texas squad but only 13 for Oklahoma. The other 11 will be known tonight after the Oklahoma coaching school all-star game at Tulsa.

The Oklahoma squad will com here Saturday to start training.

The Texas squad will be intact here by Sunday. It awaits the arrival of Texans who play in the Big 33 game at Hershey, Pa., Saturday night.

Tournament Begins Tonight In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) —The Texas Little League baseball tournament opens this afternoon at 5:30 with Fort Worth East Side meeting Houston Westbury in the first game.

The second at 8 p.m. matches Abilene Eastern with San Antonio Harlandale.

The winners clash at 8 p.m. Friday for the championship.

Goldjackets To Test Ballinger

The Snyder Goldjackets will play the Ballinger Chicks at 8 p.m. Friday in Winston Park in their last scheduled game before the Women's Softball Tournament which the Goldjackets are sponsoring.

Alma Smallwood will acquire the pitching chores for the Snyder team with Johnnie Mae Goosby behind the plate.

The women's tournament will begin Friday Aug. 19, and will be a two day affair with six team competing in the double elimination tournament.

Big Spring, Big Lake, San Angelo, Ballinger, Hamby, Abilene and the host team Snyder will battle it out for the coveted championship. Trophies will be given to four of the six teams which include first, second, third and consolation prizes.

Giardello To Fight After Getting Bored

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former middleweight boxing champion Joey Giardello, saying he was getting bored with just sitting, disclosed Wednesday he is coming out of retirement to fight again.

Giardello, 36, who vowed last October he would retire forever, said he will fight Cash White in Reading, Pa., on Sept. 20.

"I just haven't been happy," said Giardello. "I didn't have anything I wanted to do in my life. I was eating too much and drinking too much and staying up too late."

Giardello lost his middleweight title to Dick Tiger at Madison Square Garden in his last fight.

The urge to quit a champ is one of the reasons he's coming back. "I always wanted to retire a champ and it's been bugging me all these months," he said.

Pittsburgh Widens NL Lead As Dodgers Lose To Braves

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chris Short admits he's not afraid any more, but he was scared stiff when he made a mistake against Lou Brock.

Short, Philadelphia's stylish left-hander, lost his perfect game on Brock's seventh inning single and finished with a three-hitter Thursday night as the Phillies downed St. Louis 5-1.

The first 19 batters he faced went down quietly and Short, who had pitched a pair of two-hitters earlier this season, was breezing when Brock came up with one out in the seventh.

"When the pitch to Brock got up toward the plate, I knew it was the wrong one," Short said. "It was a high slider, right in the wheelhouse."

Brock jumped on it for a single to center, quickly swiped second for his 47th steal of the season and rode home on Curt Flood's hit, spoiling not only the perfect game and no-hitter but shutout as well.

Short gave up one other single and earned his 13th victory of the season. He struck out six and walked none. And he didn't even use a green weenie.

That whammy weapon belongs to the Pittsburgh Pirates, who opened up a 1½ game lead in the National League race with a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets. Third place Los Angeles slipped 2½ games off the pace by dropping its third straight to Atlanta, 3-1.

In the American League, Baltimore battered New York 9-4, Boston shut out Cleveland 2-0, Minnesota blanked California 2-0, Chicago whipped Kansas City 9-2 and Washington downed Detroit 6-3 in 12 innings.

Short said he has conquered his fear of right-handed batters and that has made him a better pitcher this season.

"I used to be scared to throw the ball in toward a right-handed batter," he admitted, "but I'm not now."

Pittsburgh, meanwhile, remained unafraid of anybody with it screen weenie and power-packed lineup working in unison.

Announcer Bob Prince and trainer Danny Whelan are the Pirates' chief hex men. They brandish the oversized, colored hot dog at the enemy and presto, the Pirates win.

Jim Pagliaroni and Willie Stargell helped the mysticism along with a pair of two-run homers against the Mets as Vern Law won his eighth game.

The victory widened Pittsburgh's lead to 1½ games over the second place San Francisco Giants, who were rained out at Cincinnati. Houston's game at Chicago also was postponed by rain.

Billy Hitchcock isn't using a whammy but he's getting results from his hunches just the same. The new manager of the Braves elevated Felipe Alou to the leadoff spot and for the second straight night, Alou opened the first inning with a home run.

"I told him he was back in the leadoff position because he's done so well there all year," Hitchcock said. "Then I told him, 'After all, after you hit, the score may be 1-0.'"

It happened that way in each of Hitchcock's first two games and helped the Braves complete a three-game sweep of the Dodgers.

Alou also scored the tie-breaking run in the fifth after Jim Gilliam let his grounder get by for a two-base error. Alou moved to third on an infield out and scored on Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly. Joe Torre's single and Rico Carty's double produced Atlanta's other run.

Cong Threats Indicate Fear Of Viet Election Outcome

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A period of unusual political calm, only a month in advance of elections for a constitutional Assembly, is encouraging hopes in Saigon that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky means to launch the nation on a democratic path, which could profoundly change the whole course of the Viet Nam war.

There are many, however, who have doubts and reservations, as the time nears for voting to set up a 117-member assembly that will write a constitution for this war-weary country.

The campaign for the Sept. 11 elections begins officially Aug. 26. Candidates include such respected figures as the former chief of state, Phan Khac Suu, and the outspoken, independent doctor, Phan Quang Dan. Both were jailed during the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

There are also political unknowns in the lists, persons such as Vuong Son Thong, once personal photographer to Emperor Bao Dai. Thong, a Roman Catholic, is running in the mountain province of Quand Duc, where his knowledge of the local Montagnard language will be more help than his association with Viet Nam's last emperor.

The object of these elections is simply to set up an assembly which will produce a constitution. The elections are not designed to oust the military from government life. After the assembly writes the charter, it can be amended by the chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, although amendments can be overridden by a two-thirds vote of the assembly. Thieu must promulgate the constitution 30 days after it is completed.

Since formal campaigning is not yet permitted, the election has failed to stir much interest, but Vietnamese officials say they are confident the enthusiasm will come. They point to the angry denunciations now pouring from Communist radios as an indication of enemy fear that the elections will have strong popular appeal.

Communist propaganda and Viet Cong terror threats can hold down voter turnout. The Viet Cong hold virtual control in areas where about 25 per cent of the people live. The Viet Cong have called for a boycott of the election.

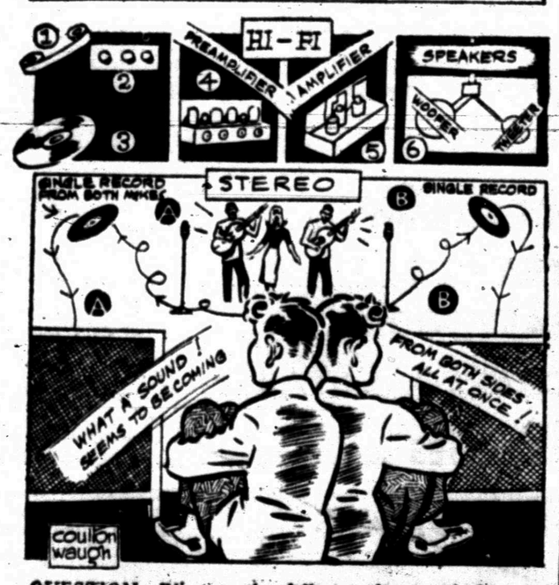

Another threatened boycott, however, is discounted on all sides. This threat came from radical Buddhists, who claim they have a following of about 1.5 million of the nation's 15 million people. They seem divided and disillusioned after being dispersed by Premier Ky's skillful politics and tough police action. Their nominal leader, Thich Tam Chau, is on a foreign tour which will keep him away until the voting is over. The fiery monk who was the real leader, Thich Tri Quang, has been fasting in protest, and largely ignored, in a Saigon hospital.

The titular chief of the radical Buddhists now is Thich Phap Tri. He is courting Father Hoang Quynh, the lone-wolf Catholic priest who has organized splinter elements into a small, frail opposition coalition whose members also say they will boycott the elections.

"The people will vote, whether Father Quynh or Tam Chau or Tri Quang like it or not," said a ranking Saigon intellectual. "The people will vote because they want to vote."

The constitution to be written by the prospective assembly almost certainly will outline a strong presidential-type government, which Premier Ky is known to favor. He has said he will not be a candidate for president. But it is unlikely, in this country at war, that any government can be free of strong military influence. Possibly a parliamentary system could emerge, though considerably modified from Western systems.

Junior Editors Quiz on STEREO

QUESTION: What is the difference between hi-fi and stereo recording?

• • •

ANSWER: Sounds coming from old fashioned records and phonographs seem flat compared with those from modern hi-fi and stereo recording systems. The hi-fi (high fidelity) system works equally with (1) tape recorders, (2) AM or FM radio tuners and (3) phonographs. Controlled and amplified as in (4) and (5) the sound comes to a special loudspeaker (6) where deep tones are created by the woofer and high ones by the tweeter. This results in great richness and variety of sound.

Stereo records combine the use of two microphones (A,B). A record is made from each mike, and the two are fused into a single final record, one set of sounds being recorded on one side of the record groove, and the other set on the other side. When played in a stereo phonograph, each set of sounds activates a separate loudspeaker (A,B). So, one hears both sides of the performing group at the same time. Hi-fi improves the sound; stereo gives the sense of where it comes from. A stereo record played through a high-fi system gives the best effect of all.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can hear the difference between stereo and other records. 8-11

Time To Bone Up On Double Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — School bells will peal next month for about a quarter of the American population.

So the wise student or teacher will start now boning up ahead of time on his double talk.

Whether one is entering kindergarten or conducting a post-graduate seminar, he will find nothing more useful than double talk. It is the indispensable tool of modern learning.

Campus gobbledygook has the same general purpose as the gobbledygook used in business or politics. It may employ different words, but it has the same basic goals: to gloss over profound ignorance with an air of profound wisdom, and to cover up what you're really thinking.

For the beginner, here are a few examples of campus double-talk followed by actual meanings:

"Perhaps you'll have to pay special attention to Jimmy, Miss Cortex. He comes from a culturally deprived area." Don't turn your back on the little monster. He probably carries a switchblade knife.

"Remember, class, what you are to be, you are now becoming." And from the looks of you, I'd suspect most of you will become flunkees.

"I assure you it isn't easy to become a high school principal." In my case, I had to marry the daughter of the president of the school board to get the job.

"Of course, I'd be glad for you to wear my fraternity pin, Elvira, but I must have lost it." I pawned it last semester to raise some dough to date a better-looking girl.

"We've decided to name the new dormitory after your wife, Mr. Bigchips." After all, you old tightwad, it was she who browbeat you into putting up the money for it.

"Our school system has no prejudice against hiring married women teachers, Mrs. Forlorn. The fact you have children of your own should make you even more valuable." And maybe you'll work for less than an unmarried teacher, won't you?

"This year, sir, I'm going to make every effort to be in the top half of my class." If I'm in the bottom half, the draft board will start breathing down my neck.

"This theory has the bankrupt charisma of an intellectual fraudulency whose obfuscating rhodomontade, I must say in conclusion, camouflages inadequately a postulate of pragmatic nonconformism which, in the ultimate analysis, presupposes an ambivalent—" Why doesn't that bell hurry up and ring? I'm more confused than the class.

There's nothing to double talk, once you get the hang of it.

Protest Indicates Social Problem, Bureau Declares

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau says the march of striking farm workers points up "a major social problem" which it said "is only incidentally a farm problem."

In a formal statement, the farm organization said widespread unemployment of persons who formerly depended on farm work is growing more acute as farmers replace hand labor by machine operations.

Persons displaced by the changes have not acquired skills to provide them jobs elsewhere, the bureau said.

A number of farm workers, union representatives and members of Roman Catholic and Protestant churches currently are marching from the Rio Grande Valley to the state Capitol in Austin to dramatize pleas for higher farm labor wages.

The farm workers say hourly wages vary from 20 cents to $1. They are asking a state minimum wage law calling for $1.25 an hour. The federal wage minimum does not apply to field workers.

The march leaders say they will ask Gov. John Connally to speak to them in Austin near the Labor Day weekend.

The strike movement began June 1 in Starr County in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, when four melon farms were struck.

In its 11-page statement, the Texas Farm Bureau said Texas farmers have hired 35 per cent fewer seasonal farm workers this year than in 1961.

The cotton harvest is almost completely mechanized now, and every other farm operation is being scrutinized for ways to lower costs by applying new technology, the bureau said.

"Every time the wage rises a few more cents per hour new incentives are provided for substituting investment in machinery for labor," the statement said.

"During the period 1948 to 1965, each one-per cent increase in farm wages was accompanied by a 2 per cent reduction in the employment of workers.

"We know of no reason to suppose that this relationship between wage rates and employment will change in the next few years."

The Farm Bureau said the long range picture of improved per-man productivity has good results but the short range picture results in reduced "amount and period of employment of a group of workers most needing employment."

The bureau said the crisis revolves around "a group of people whose skills and qualifications, in relation to the current demands of the labor market, are marginal and becoming more so."

The Farm Bureau said proposals to improve the skills and capacities of farm workers for permanent jobs in and out of agriculture will have constructive results, but said branding the problem as essentially a farmer - worker relationship "will do more harm than good to the people intended to be helped."

The bureau claimed that the effect of minimum wage legislation on the farm industry would price workers out of the market.

The statement said the currently used "piece rate" basis of pay "reduces the need for close supervision and permits the employment of workers of low productivity. It is preferred by workers because the hard working and capable worker can earn in proportion to his productivity, because it permits workers to set their own pace and time and because it reduces the monotony of repetitive hand labor operations."

The principle of collective bargaining was also criticized by the bureau, because of the farmer-employer's vulnerability to any work stoppage on his farm.

A strike when a perishable crop is ready to harvest would bankrupt many farmers, the Farm Bureau claimed, and thus the farmer, "come what may, must get his crops harvested."

This necessity, the Farm Bureau said, "would make farmers subservient to labor union leaders" in a collective bargaining situation.

Under pre-harvest contracting, the workers eventually hired by a farmer would have no voice in whether they wanted to be represented by a union or their terms of work, the Farm Bureau said.

Any benefits workers might gain under a union contract would be temporary, the Farm Bureau said, because "farmers would necessarily make investments in mechanization of farm operations to reduce or eliminate their vulnerability."

The Farm Bureau, which says it has more than 95,000 Texas members, said nearly 100,000 persons do migratory farm work and the home base of most is South Texas.

Scientific Control Of Genes May Eliminate All Diseases

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

"You say you're sick, friend?

"You say you've got cancer, your kidneys won't function and your heart beats only half the time?

"Tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going to let you have for a small fraction of a dollar—a box of these pills absolutely guaranteed to make you into a new man."

That spiel of the old-time medical quack is laughed at these days, but actually he may have been only 100 years or so ahead of his time.

Before this century ends, some reputable scientists believe, biological drugs may be available to counter virtually all the physical ills known to man. It may take longer, but the more optimistic are certain they are on the right track.

This confidence stems from recent gains in genetics, a comparatively new science that probes the molecular makeup of the living cell.

Geneticists are beginning to crack the great mysteries of how cells pass on information that insures children will resemble parents, and why it is that some cells turn into flesh and others into bone.

They also are learning that the processes of heredity and growth can be altered, either by natural accident or by human plan.

Accidental changes in the cell frequently result in deformation or disease. The goal of man-made mutations is to correct defects and cure disease.

Eventually this new skill may be used to grow better brains and stronger hearts, but first it will be employed in efforts to make the bodies we have function with less trouble.

Subject of this research is the gene, an intricately fashioned molecule in the heart of the cell which has two vital functions: to control the heredity of the species and to direct the growth of the individual.

Every human body cell has an estimated 150,000 genes, enough that any cell, properly activated, can grow into a complete individual. It all depends on which genes are activated and which are repressed.

Just how a cell knows which genes to activate and which to repress is not fully known, but apparently the instructions are chemically encoded in the genes. Geneticists are busy cracking this code and many believe that the ability to turn any gene on or off is not far distant.

Since genes are made up of chemicals, they can be altered by adding or removing chemicals or by changing the arrangement of chemicals in their structure. The instructions they carry can be changed. By learning the genetic code — the language of the genes — scientists hope to control their functions.

One of the Genes' tasks is to direct the manufacture of proteins, the stuff of which living tissue is made. Some cells are directed to make muscle, others to make bone, nerve or hair.

Some cells make proteins for use elsewhere in the body. Among the transported proteins are substances called antibodies. Antibodies react against invading bacteria and viruses and the poisons they produce.

Once formed, antibodies tend to persist in the body, providing an immunity against the disease caused by the invader.

This immune response, normally beneficial, makes the transplanting of organs and the grafting of new limbs difficult. Antibodies fight virtually all foreign material even though that material — a kidney from another person, for instance — would enable you to survive.

Transplanting now is limited to organs from people of similar genetic types — from close relatives. Antibodies recognize the similarity and do not attack.

But what if genes could be directed, simply by taking pills containing certain chemicals, to increase antibody production when you are sick from a virus infection and to reduce antibody production when you need a new kidney or heart?

With full knowledge of how genes work, it could be that you would never need a transplant. If a kidney started to fail, the genes in the kidney cells might be directed to repair the damage.

Even the most dreaded disease, cancer, could be whipped through control of genes.

Cancer is a wild, uncontrolled growth of cells. If the genes of cancer cells could be turned off chemically, the cancer cells would die and be carried away through normal body elimination processes. The cells adjacent to the cancerous area could then take over and repair any damage.

The answer may lie the another avenue of research. Many authorities believe that human cancer is caused by a virus that disrupts the genes' direction of cell growth. If such a virus is isolated, the genes of antibody-making cells might be directed to produce a specific antibody against that virus.

With disease whipped, would eternal life be within the realm of possibility?

Few if any reputable scientists are willing to get far out on that limb, but predictions of double or tripled lifespans are not uncommon.

A number of geneticists are coming to believe that control of the genes could remedy all human misery — even insanity and emotional disorders.

Identity Of Body Questioned

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A San Antonio funeral director said late Wednesday he is still waiting for authorization from the State Department to disinter a body whose identity is in question.

The State Department announced Wednesday that the bodies of two men who died in a hospital in Guadalajara, Mexico, may have been transported to wrong locations.

Leon Cude, director of the Alamo Funeral Home, said the body he buried at the Ft. Sam Houston National Cemetery here was identified by official Mexican papers as George A. Miller, 75. A State Department announcement said that Miller and a Coxsackie, N.Y. man, Herbert S. Maddlone, 36, died in the Mexican hospital about the same time and that their bodies were transported to Laredo together.

From Laredo, a casket identified as containing the body of Maddlone was transported to a Coxsackie Funeral home and a casket identified as that of Miller was sent to the funeral home here.

A sister of Maddlone later viewed the body in the casket in Coxsackie and said it was not her brother. A fingerprint check determined it was not Maddlone and the prints were sent to the FBI for identification.

Cude said he will fingerprint the body buried at Ft. Sam Houston for identification through the FBI files if he disinters it.

Miller was a World War II veteran and Maddlone a Korean War veteran.

Cude said the man identified to him as Miller was buried without being viewed by a family member and on the instructions of an exwife who was out of town. There were no family members at the funeral, he said.

Cude said a Mexican death certificate identifying the body as Miller was sent with the casket. A Coxsackie funeral director said he received a certificate identifying the body there as that of Maddlone.

The Coxsacke funeral director said Maddlone's body should be easy to identify. Maddlone had his name tattooed on his left arm, he said.

Cude said his employes remember no such mark on the man they buried here.

Texas Crop Estimate Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas will produce more wheat, grain sorghum, peanuts and rice this year, the Agriculture Department predicted Wednesday.

The grain sorghum estimate, the first of the year, was for 291,235,000 bushels, compared to the 1965 harvest of 285,740,000.

Peanut production was estimated at 313,500,000 pounds, compared to last year's harvest of 296,100,000 pounds.

The wheat crop was predicted to be 66,825,000 bushels while a month earlier it was said to be 65,340,000 bushels.

The rice production was estimated at 21,163,000 hundredweight by Aug. 1, the effective day of the report. A month ago production had been predicted to be 21,168,000 hundredweight.

Corn and Oats production figures were the same as a month earlier since these crops already are harvested.

College Athletes Set Sights Too High

MUNORDVILLE, Ky. (AP) —Two former college athletes set out from Louisville for the Tennessee line, 140 miles away, to stimulate interest in distance running.

They ran 65 miles before giving up. One injured his foot and the other sprained three ligaments.

Said Stan Cottrell, one of the runners: "We're heartsick, but we're going to try again next year."

Escapees Sentenced For Bank Robbery

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP)—Two of the three men who escaped the Marshall, Tex., jail July 8 have been convicted of bank burglary and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Jessie K. McKinney, 29, of South Pittsburg, Tenn., got the term last week and Wednesday Joe Charles Nix, 25, was sentenced in federal court.

Nix had been taken to Marshall from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., to testify in a McKinney trial.

The third escapee was Silas Chester Haddisx, 25, of Jackson, Ky.

The trio was arrested near Jasper, Tenn., July 13.

Indonesia Signs Malaysia Treaty

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia and Malaysia signed an agreement today to end their three-year undeclared war.

Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak, who flew into Jakarta for the ceremony, said the document was identical with one he and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik signed June 1 in Bangkok.

The pact provides that hostilities between the two Southeast Asian countries will cease at once and diplomatic relations will be re-established.

It also provides for general elections in the Malaysian Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak to reaffirm their desire to be a part of Malaysia.

Malik signed for Indonesia today, with the army strongman Gen. Suharto at his shoulder.

President Sukarno, who started Indonesia's guerrilla war in September 1963 when Malaysia was formed as a federation of former British territories, was not present.

Sukarno had objected to the peace moves and two weeks ago reiterated his charges that Malaysia was created by the British to preserve their influence in Southeast Asia and as a threat to Indonesia.

In brief statements at the signing, both Malik and Razak said the agreement was proof that Asians could settle Asian problems. Malik said it would open a new page of history for the Malay race, the dominant population group in both countries.

Razak said British troops, rushed to Malaysia's aid when the war began, would begin pulling out of Sabah and Sarawak this week.

Before signing the treaty, Razak called on Sukarno and presented him with a silver tea set from the king of Malaysia. The president shook hands and the two talked privately.

A newsman asked Sukarno how he felt upon seeing Razak.

"They told me I am the gayest person in the world," he replied, adding that they discussed only general matters.

Sukarno said he planned to include Malaysia in his Aug. 17 independence day speech.
