Along The Waterfront

Vacation season is at hand. Many persons will be going fishing. A $2.15 license is required of all persons between 17 and 65, fishing outside their home counties, in salt or fresh waters.

One sure sign that school is out, at Good Luck Pier in Fulton, is the record number of families fishing. A bunch of youngsters are getting thrills from their first catches of perch and small trout. Mr. and Mrs. "Red" McDonald of Dallas left for home with a full ice box of trout and Mrs. McDonald was especially proud of several 3 and 3 1/2 pounds ones that she landed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Starkweather of Houston, spent an evening here and strung up 22 trout.

Dr. Cox is bringing in his usual number of trout, but landed a 4-pound one and was most unhappy that two other large ones got away.

Several reports of lines being broken by the big ones, have come to us, and has added inspiration to the sport.

E. C. Willis of San Antonio added a 2 and a 3 1/2 pound trout to his catch of smaller ones.

Jimmie B. Parker, confinee of the wheel chair, lost his tackle box while here. In loading the car, to take off for San Antonio, he failed to put his box in the car. Missing it later, he returned for it, but it had been taken, mistakenly, we hope, and if anyone knows of its whereabouts, and will return it to us, we will see that he receives Frazier Cantrell reports: Dr. Moshien and party of 4, San Antonio caught 281 trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Ogle, Dublin, Texas, 162 trout.

Guy Aldridge and party of four, San Antonio, 175 trout.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Boggs, Houston, 70 trout; same party 92 trout.

Taylor Oak Fishing news: Ted Giese and Joe Slocum, 10 nice reds up to 7 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Randle, 3 nice flounder.

Clifford Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers of Lubbock, 59 trout.

Russ Stansell, Lubbock, young grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stansell, 3 nice trout.

Mr. and Mrs. James V. George, Albuquerque, N. M., fishing at Port Aransas, landed two tarpon Monday. Mrs. George hooked one 6 foot, 6 inch and Mr. George hooked one 6 feet 4 inches.

Rattlesnake Point reports: Alvin and George Ramzuski of Stockdale, 10 reds, 12 drum, 20 trout.

Scots Roberson of Odem, 3 flounder, 19 trout, 5 weighing 5 pounds; 9 weighing from 2 to 5 1/2 pounds each.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heivshon of Odem caught 47 large trout.

George Eckert and party of San Antonio caught 7 reds and 20 trout.

Joe Danysch of San Antonio caught 78 drum, trout and gafftop.

Scots Roberson of Odem caught two 7 pound reds.

STATE LEASES BIG BOATS FOR GULF PATROL

Several large Gulf patrol boats have been chartered by the Game and Fish Commission for duty in Gulf waters during the 45-day closed shrimp season along the Texas coast.

The season closes June 1 for 45 days. All commercial shrimping within the 10 1/2 mile limit in the Gulf will end for that period.

In addition to the patrol boats, which will carry game wardens, observation work will be done from the air.

Mrs. J. C. Hodges of Silom Springs, Ark., is visiting her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eaton and family. Her grandson, Duke Eaton, will accompany her home Thursday.

YWA MEETING SCHEDULED EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT

During the summer months, the YWA will meet at 6:30 p.m. every Thursday. The next meeting is scheduled to be held at Mrs. Coaker's home on June 8.

"An African Indaba," meaning a meeting of African chiefs, was the title of the June 1 meeting. Gloria Weber, Margaret St. John, Barbara Holley, and Betty Tumlison, shared the different parts of the lesson, which included a European chairman, a trade unionist, a Catholic school teacher, a Jehovah's Witness, an African political leader, and an evangelical minister.

These people discussed an African Indaba in which the chiefs were quite disturbed about the way the people of their tribes had been discriminated against.

This meeting being so informative, all of us had a lengthy discussion about the lesson while the refreshments were served.

A coming event this month that all of us are looking forward to, is the YWA Camp held June 22 through June 23 at Camp Zephyr on Lake Mathis. All those who wish to go to the camp must bring a dollar to the next meeting on June 8 for registration fees.

All members of YWA's are asked to please be present at the next meeting, held June 8, at 6:30 p.m. in Mrs. Coaker's home.

All girls over 16 are invited to attend our meetings.

O'CONNOR'S GIVE REFUGIO LIBRARY

Bid for the construction of the new Refugio County Public Library to be located in Kings Park was awarded to Braselton Construction Company of Corpus Christi by the City Council as the lowest and best bid received.

The winning bid was made in the amount of $86,868 with a time basis of 180 days to begin five days after the signing of a contract with the Town of Refugio, and the construction company.

Dennis O'Connor, benefactor, authorized Mayor Archie Barber to announce that the Library is being donated to the people of Refugio County for their use.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glass, and Mrs. Rae Smith spent a few days in Leakey this week.

UP FOR GRABS — One of the first families to receive the oral polio vaccine during a one-day inoculation program in Harrisburg, Pa., was Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Grab and 15 of their 18 children. Shown administering the vaccine is Dr. Mary Ames, a pediatrician at the Polyclinic in Harrisburg. The three other Grab children live out of town and were unable to attend.

Delegation to Request New Copano Causeway

At a meeting between County Judge John D. Wendell, District Highway engineer, T. O. Foster, Chamber of Commerce president, Seth H. Steele and Paul H. Ward, head of the Chamber's industrial committee, possibility of another causeway across Copano Bay were discussed.

Poster told other members of the group that he feels such a causeway is probable, but suggested that a meeting be arranged with Chief Highway Engineer D. C. Greer in Austin.

Judge Wendell said today that he and an Aransas County delegation yet to be named would attend the highway meeting in Austin on June 29, at which time they would present a formal request that the present causeway, in use for over 30 years, be replaced with one adequate to handle today's traffic safely.

Local Officials Asked to Participate In Fourth Celebration

Mayor Herman Johnson and officials of Rockport are among representatives from 35 communities in Texas' Golden Crescent that have been invited to take part in the big, old-fashioned July Fourth being planned by Corpus Christi, to last July 1-4.

Plans are now under way for what may be the biggest Fourth of July since dad was a youngster, and everyone is invited.

It all started a few months ago when several groups in the area began worrying about the fact that communism has been planted just 90 miles from the United States. Even more worrisome was the fact that patriotism seemed to be going out of fashion.

So, a few weeks ago, Mayor Ben F. McDonald, of Corpus Christi, Rear Admiral Louis J. Kirm, chief of Naval Air Advanced Training, and Brigadier General Melvin D. Losey, commanding general of the Army's maintenance center in Corpus Christi, formed a committee to plan recognition of the freedoms Americans enjoy.

Some of the events are still in the planning stage, but enough have jelled to be sure that it will be a Fourth of July beside which all others in recent years will pale to insignificance.

There will be a big parade, with school and military bands, old time fire engines, all kinds of floats, and marching units in uniform from Reserve and National Guard units. And, if everything goes well, there will be between 8,000 and 100,000 youngsters participating, all waving flags.

There will be picnics in the parks, box lunches, band concerts, and even old fashioned politicians to lull the proletariat with their oratorical efforts to bring attention to the American Way of Life in short, and Pungent speeches.

Sunday, July 2, churches will emphasize what independence and freedom mean to Americans. Monday there will be a display of Army, Navy, Marine, National Guard and Reserve Unit equipment.

Tuesday, of course, there will be the parade and picnics, and the speeches. And the whole celebration climaxes with a big concert at the Coliseum, with a mammoth chorus singing patriotic songs, and Senator Ralph Yarborough taking the people into his confidence on the state of the nation.

REALTY BOARD TO MEET AT BIG TREE

The San Patricio County Board of Realtors will meet at the Big Tree Lodge on Wednesday, June 14 at 7:30 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended to any out-of-town realtors visiting here at this time to attend the meeting. Those wishing to do so should contact Lawrence Miller of Miller Realty.

C. of C. Merchants To Greet Newcomers

As a project of the Merchant's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, a newcomer's greeting is being extended to new families in the community.

All merchant members of the Chamber have been asked to participate if they so desire, in the greeting, which will be extended by a letter, inviting the new families to take part in the community, enclosing gift certificates.

So far, those merchants who will take part in the program are: Roe's Food Stores; The Shopper's Mart, Inc.; West's Super Market; Vandagriff Cleaners; Roaten's Drug Store; Bill's Sporting Goods; Fulton Red and White; Sea Shell Shopper; and Morrison's.

Newcomers to the community who will be among the first recipients of the letters are the Williams, Eichenroft, Cook, Ling and Hale families.

Volunteer Firemen Pictured In Color

Department and Its Ups and Downs Are In Sunday Story In Houston Chronicle Rotogravure Section

In the Houston Chronicle that will be on the newsstands in Rockport this coming Sunday, there will be a story in color on the Rockport and Fulton Fire Departments and their trials and tribulations, written and photographed by Jack Baughman.

The pictures illustrate some of the fun of a fireman's life at the annual quarterly meeting when the visitors are treated to fish or barbecue and then, after they are so full they can hardly go, compete in pumper races to see which crew is the fastest. Volunteer firemen are a great institution, without which many homes would have burned and many lives have been lost, and they deserve the thanks of every community in which there is a volunteer fire department.

They pay for the privilege of belonging to the organization, which never has enough money; they scrounge trucks, equipment and labor, and build their own fire engines.

They are always first at any disaster from a fire to a drowning; they perform an inestimable service to the community, often at the risk of life and limb.

In the past two or three years, when two disastrous fires hit Rockport, they labored with might and main, spending freely of their strength and know how to protect the rest of the city from danger, and had it not been for their efforts, the blazes at Bushart's and at Jackson Marine Service could have easily have spread to other portions of the town, and have burned most of the business district to the ground.

They go to school on their own time to learn how to combat fires; they replace the clothing that is ruined during the course of fighting conflagrations themselves; they charge themselves dues, and then, come Christmas time, use those dues to buy every kid in the area a bag of candy and some fruit, given to the children at a community Christmas tree.

And when tragedy strikes, they are the mainstay of Rockport and Fulton; when the disastrous deaths occurred here on Memorial Day several years ago, it was the members of the two fire departments that helped police the scene of the tragedy, and to care for the dead, which men of the organization helped retrieve from their watery grave.

The fire departments of the two communities are the best investment ever made; every dollar that goes to their support pays tremendous dividends in lowered insurance rates; saved lives; and protected property.

No other endeavor in the area is more worthy of your support and thanks.

Antietam Frequent Area Visitor

Take a busy airfield and drop it in the middle of the ocean where it must furnish its own light, power, fire protection, communications and quarters for more than 1,000 men; then add a string of airplanes taking off or landing every 20 or 30 seconds, and you have a fair approximation of the carrier Antietam, a regular caller off the Port of Corpus Christi which never enters the harbor.

Yet, despite all these things and an uncounted number of other complexities and hazards, the USS Antietam, in two and a half years of qualifying hundreds of student pilots, has experienced three accidents.

This record, one that any big company might be proud of, has been achieved by one thing—team work—with dozens of men carrying out dozens of jobs quickly and efficiently.

And this despite the fact that where a permanent airfield may have runways several thousand feet long, the one on the Antietam is only 856 feet, and moving all the time. On top of this, only about 500 feet are actually set aside for a landing strip.

A few more feet are allowed for the take-off, the plane may be catapulted into the air at a speed of 100 knots or more, depending on operating conditions.

Anywhere from 60 to 100 students from NAS at Corpus Christi, and the Naval Auxiliary Air Stations at Kingsville and Beville are ready to qualify for carrier landings each month when the Antietam leaves its home port of Pensacola, Fla., and takes up station in the Gulf of Mexico, about five miles offshore from Corpus Christi, which port it cannot enter because of lack of depth in the channels.

The carrier spends two or three days a month off the Texas coast, operating in an area roughly 50 miles or so north and south.

Students qualify in several types of planes, and in two and a half years there have been only two accidents in which pilots received minor injuries, and one (last August) when a pilot from Kingsville crashed with a F9F-8B Cougar jet while doing a catapult takeoff, and lost his life.

The Antietam was commissioned early in 1945 and was converted into the Navy's first angle-deck carrier in 1953. This allows simultaneous takeoffs and landings, increases safety by providing a clear deck ahead for landing aircraft, and handling of larger planes than the old straight-decked carriers.

Inquiries Set Record At CBTA

Inquiries to the Coastal Bend Tourist Association during the first five months of this year have set a record, Bob Conwell, CBT manager, said yesterday.

The number of letters and post-cards requesting the Coastal Bend is up 16 per cent from the previous high for the first five months of a year set in 1958, he said.

More than 1,900 inquiries have been received by the CBTA from January through May this year compared with about 1,650 in the same period three years ago, Conwell said.

More than 600 inquiries were received last month, "one of the best months we ever had," he said.

Most of the mail is from Texas with Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana ranking next in that order. Most persons want to know about Corpus Christi and places to stay here and then about Padre Island and either Port Aransas or Rockport.

Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Reese have moved to Brownsville where he has a position with the Union Carbide Co.

Any Presbyterian men that would like to work on the Manse—see or call Bob Little. He will put you to work.

WILD ANIMALS NOT PETS SAY WARDENS

Warnings that individuals who catch young wildlife for pets or harm protected birds will be prosecuted, have been issued by the law enforcement division of the Game and Fish Commission.

Complaints are made every day that persons have been picking up young of the wild, particularly fawns. Some of them when the mother deer is close by. Permits are required for raising wildlife in captivity and the permit must be held before the animal is captured.

At the same time, complaints also are being filed against persons catching protected birds or destroying nests.

Baby birds are used to bait trot lines. If the bird is a protected species complaints are filed and the guilty person usually is given a stiff fine.

Numerous arrests have resulted from pictures appearing in newspapers of persons displaying a baby animal. This strong evidence which stands up in court when cases are filed.

TWO SEA CAPTAINS JOHNSON AND SOME OF THEIR FRIENDS

By Hobart Husen

Mrs. Benet (Benoit) was an elderly widow. She was mother of Mrs. Jane P. O'Connor and Mrs. John Little.

Lyman and William Brighton were brothers who came to the coast from Goliad County. They lived at various points on Copano Bay, Lamar, St. Mary's and the packery flats at Mission Lake. William at one time lived on Egery's Island, which he traded to Joseph Smith of St. Mary's. At Lamar, William lived in town part of the time in the black-jacks, on the east margin of St. Charles Bay, part of the time. Jim Wigginton who was related to the Brightmans, also lived in the black-jacks. Mrs. William Brighton was an accomplished musician and taught piano at Lamar. She had one of the few pianos in the section. Both these brothers were Confederate veterans.

The Brundretts were an old St. Joseph's Island family, which moved to Lamar at the commencement of the Civil War. The founder of this family was Captain George A. Brundrett, Sr., who came to Texas from Detroit, Michigan, with his family about 1845 and located at Corpus Christi. He was one of the first aldermen of Corpus Christi. He operated a boat between Corpus Christi and Port Isabel, and was thrown overboard and drowned in crossing Aransas bay on a return trip from Port Isabel. His widow and children then moved to Bludworth Island and St. Joseph's Island, and eventually to Lamar, as I have stated. Mrs. Brundrett lived to a great age and died at Port Aransas.

Captain and Mrs. Brundrett had six children, all of whom were our close family friends. They were:

1. George A. Brundrett, Jr., who was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1836. He married Flavilla Madden in 1884. To this union were born six children, six of whom are still living, all at Rockport. These children are George Lee Brundrett, Frederick Brundrett, Oliver Brundrett, Horace Brundrett, Mrs. Gertrude Allemand and Mrs. Ethel Crawford. George A. Brundrett Jr.

Highlights and Sidights From Your State Capital

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Austin, Tex.—From now on until July 10 will be a period of testing how representative democracy works in Texas.

Legislature is to re-convene July 10 to make a fresh stab at writing a tax bill to raise some $350,000,000 for the next two years. Gov. Price Daniel has urged Texans to give the legislators and him their views on how the matter should be handled.

Governor Daniel is strongly opposed to the adoption of any sales tax plan designed to raise the major portion of this needed revenue. He used his influence in the regular session to block a move in this direction.

"But," said the governor, "if this is really what a majority of the people want, I don't see how I can go on fighting it."

He believes, however, that a very limited sales tax, which he terms "selective excise taxes," on only more expensive items, with the balance to be raised from gas pipeline taxes and increased interstate corporation franchise taxes, would be more fair and more acceptable to most Texans.

Only bill which came close to passing the Legislature was one in which the main money-raising feature was a retail sales tax on items costing 25 cents and more, died in Rockport in 1920. He was a Confederate veteran. His widow still lives there.

2. Sara Ann Brundrett, was born in Detroit, Michigan; She married Captain William R. Roberts, who was the first keeper of the lighthouse on Harbor island, (Port Aransas).

3. John W. Brundrett was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1839. He was married twice. His first wife was Hannah Wells, who he married at Lamar, March 16, 1865. She was a daughter of Captain James Wells. This couple lived on Black Jack Peninsula, until the death of Mrs. Brundrett, at Lamar, in 1881.

After her death, John M. Brundrett married for his second wife, Elizabeth Hastings, daughter of Professor E. D. Hastings, the music teacher at Lamar. John Brundrett was a Confederate veteran. He died in Rockport in July, 1932. By his first wife, John M. Brundrett had several children. Among them are John A. Brundrett, of Rockport, who was for many years sheriff and tax collector of Aransas County, Lydia who married Simon Paul and J. W. Brundrett, of Rockport, Mrs. Winnie Hynes, of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. Maggie Bunker, of Big Springs, Texas.

4. Mary Brundrett, who was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1842. She married B. L. Bludworth, a son of Captain L. Bludworth, of St. Joseph's Island. Mrs. Mary Bludworth is still living. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Lilly Bludworth Bond, in Galveston, Texas.

5. Jed Brundrett, who was born in Detroit, Michigan, in 1843. He married Lillian Benson, daughter of Captain Benson, who was captain of the Morgan Line steamers when they operated between New Orleans and Rockport. Jed Brundrett died in Rockport in 1920. His widow still lives there. They had several children. A son, Everett Brundrett, lives at Rockport; another son, Ansil, lives at Port Aransas.

Mrs. Bob Morrison came home from the hospital Tuesday and is recovering satisfactorily at home.

E. G. Brooks had an aunt and family from Houston as his guests last weekend.

with food, medicine and farm necessities exempted. It also levied increased gas and corporation franchise taxes. Speaker James Turman cast the crucial vote that prevented the bill's being sent to the governor.

Actually, the difference between the governor and those voting for the sales tax "package" is mostly one of degree. Governor Daniel grants the need for some sales (or excise) taxes, but feels that they should be stringently limited. A majority of the Legislature cast votes indicating they felt Texas has reached the point where only a broad-based "growth" tax, such as the sales tax, can raise enough money to meet the state's increasing needs.

Now it is the people's turn to say what they think. If enough speak up, the legislature will have little difficulty in deciding what to do when it reconvenes July 10.

At that late hour, getting broad agreement in the Legislature will be more important than passing a bill that suits the governor. Bills passed by only a simple majority cannot become effective until 90 days after the session ends, but bills passed by a two-thirds majority of both houses can take effect immediately. That late in the summer, the legislature will need to get a two-thirds vote for immediate effect so there will be money and authorization to keep the state going after the new fiscal year begins September 1.

And a two-thirds majority is also sufficient to override a governor's veto.

Oil on Troubled Waters — A number of lawmakers had their "backs up" before the governor made his statewide "report to the people" after the regular session closed. But the governor's message smoothed some feathers.

Many lawmakers expected Daniel to roast the Legislature for its failure to take care of money matters during the 140-day session. They had their hot replies all ready for press release.

Instead, Governor Daniel adroitly praised the lawmakers as one of the hardest working legislatures he had ever seen. He even singled out for kind words some leaders who had opposed his program.

It was those infernal lobbyists who were to blame, said the governor. He described hordes of lobbyists, choking the hallways and bothering members while they were in session.

Now it's the lobbyists who are riled.

Governor Daniel has announced that he will name a new citizen's committee to study the state's fiscal problems and make recommendations before the special session begins.

Grand Gesture—Before adjourning, the Senate gave approval to a $2,600,000,000 general appropriations bill for the two years beginning September 1.

But without passage of a money-raising bill to back it up, appropriations had no meaning.

Senate adopted the appropriations conference committee report—a plan that called for spending $385,500,000 from general revenue, compared to the present $320,000,000 general revenue appropriation. Welfare programs, the state hospital system, junior colleges and the state senior college and university system would be among the main beneficiaries.

Senate also passed an equally ineffective $810 a year raise for school teachers before adjourning.

All was for naught, however, when the tax bill failed to pass.

This Could Have Been Rockport

Until Monday, citizens of Freeport considered salt water something they drank only when a big wave socked them in the head or they were near drowning. Then they found they had been guzzling sea water from their faucets for six days.

No one complained about the quality of the water.

Unknown to the citizens, the town's authorities turned processed sea water into the city pipes May 31.

The water came from the nation's first salt water conversion plant, completed April 7 and under tests since.

It cost $1.5 million to build and is expected to turn out a million gallons a day at a cost of $1 for each 1,000 gallons.

Follow Simple Rules In Automobile Accident

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render aid: If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage: You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.
4. Call an Officer: Policeman, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.
5. Gather Information . . . write it down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.
6. Be Careful What You Say: Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately: The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly: Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

GOLIAD, TOWN OF HISTORY

On the San Antonio River, less than fifty miles from the bay of the same name, stands picturesque Goliad, a sleepy Texas town of the past century, complete with shaded square, ancient courthouse and "Hanging Oak."

But Goliad's significance is far greater than this: It is a shrine of the Texas Revolution and a monument to pioneers of the state, its old missions and presidio surviving after more than 200 years. Caught in a traffic backwater between U. S. Highways 59 and 183, life in Goliad still moves at a leisurely pace around the square and in the ancient hotel, but few places in Texas are of as much interest or will repay a visit so well.

In the western part of town is the old home built by Captain Barton Peck in 1842. The two-story dwelling, constructed of native stone and stucco, has tall columns supporting an entrance porch and its balconies and protecting the imposing doorways. The central halls for the lower and upper levels, lighted by decorative panels above the front doors, provide access to spacious rooms.

Among the interesting furnishings of the old home is a rosewood desk made from a square piano, once the property of Captain Peck. A secretary owned by a state senator, tall canopied beds, large wardrobes of the last century and the inevitable washstands make up the essentially Texas Colonial bedroom furnishings.

Not far away, Gerald Donoghue is raising some of the finest Arabian horses in the world, thousands of miles from the deserts that first produced the breed. Fields along the road sprout horses. There bays, chestnuts, grays and whites, brood mares with the high-arched crests, flowing tails and beautifully-sculptured heads that are the Arabian hallmark; leggy colts and yearlings, and proud stallions—dreams of horses, glistening and powerful, that whistle from their stalls.

At the eastern edge of the city is the Memorial Stadium and Auditorium, bearing names like Houston, Ben Milam and Stephen F. Austin, men great in history of the state.

Between town and river glows in restored magnificence Mission Nuestra Senora del Espiritu Santo de Zuniga, built when Texas was still under Mexican rule. Flanked by its neat museum, it is surrounded by huiscache-studded picnic grounds which, in spring, are far more fragrant than the orange groves of the fabulous Rio Grande Valley, 200 miles to the south ward.

In the museum, along with ancient firearms and documents, stands a bronze bust of the Angel of Goliad—Senora Francesca Alvarez, wife of an officer in Mexican General Urrea's army—who saved many a Texan from massacre.

Close by in the plot of ground in old La Bahia Townsite on which stood the home in which General Ignacio Zaragoza, the George Washington of Mexico, was born. Zaragoza was in command of the Mexican Forces that soundly trounced Maximilian's French troops at Puebla, Mexico, on May 5, 1862, liberating his country and establishing the famous Cinco de Mayo which every Mexican celebrates to this day, just as we do the Fourth of July.

Two miles upstream from Espiritu Santo and across the river, a few crumbling stones mark the site of Mission Nuestra Senora del Rosario de los Cujanes. Missionaries from the College at Zacatecas in Mexico founded it more than two centuries ago, to civilize the Coapiti, Cujane and cannibalistic Karankawa Indians. But their efforts met with little success, although they lasted for over one hundred years.

Downstream, below the restored mission, but on the same side as Los Cujanes, Presidio Nuestra Senora de Loreto de la Bahia frowns from a rocky height, built in 1749 to protect the friars as they went about their business of converting and civilizing the Indians.

The ancient chapel there is still used for worship.

It houses a lovely little statue of Our Lady of Loreto, thought to be as old as the church itself, and a beautiful fresco of the Annunciation by Antonio Garcia of Corpus Christi, one of the few men in the United States still practicing this difficult art.

The painting is made on a freshly-plastered wall before it dries. Coloring is applied with water, mixed with lime and sand which penetrate the plaster and are converted by exposure into a carbonate, which acts as a binding material with a tremendous lift.

High in the chapel tower is a bell that has seen much of the colorful history of the state, from Indian raids to the Texas Revolution and, later, automobiles and airplanes. Hung in the western arch, it is riven with a crack from rim to crown, and halfway up is a hole through the metal.

Tradition says that when Fannin and his men were held prisoner in the old presidio surrounding the tiny church, they tried to signal for help by ringing the bell, which was silenced by a cannon shot.

There is a Fannin monument in Goliad's city square. A few miles to the east, on Coletto Battleground, where Fannin and his men surrendered after an all-day fight, there is another, along with a pavilion and a tiny, one-roomed museum. Displays are cannon balls, bullets, rusty spurs and similar items uncovered from time to time on the ground where the battle was fought.

A few hundred yards south of La Bahia and its chapel is the mass grave of Fannin and 389 of his command that were massacred after their surrender by soldiers under Urrea, on orders from Santa Anna, then president of Mexico.

Lovely lavender cenizo—the purple sage of Zane Grey's novel—and the dark green of tamarisks embower the monolithic slabs of gray Texas granite on which their names are carved, and there those Texas heroes sleep, beneath this inscription:

"Their great sacrifice shall forever be etched in Texas history."

BALLOUS TO UVALDE

Mr. Tom Ballou and Mrs. Lillian Ballou, Annie Evans, and Darlene Evans, left Sunday for a week at Camp Evant, Uvalde, Texas. Mr. Ballou and Mrs. Evans will prepare the meals for the camp, which consist of children age 10 through 18 of all faiths.

Darlene will attend Bible study camp, and participate in all the recreation offered by the camp counselors. The Bible study camp is conducted each year by Bro. and Sister Bill Frick, with the help of many other Church of Christ members.

Mr. Ballou plans to spend the week with his daughter and family Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Peterson at Pleasanton.

Susie LeBlanc and Kathy Johnson returned Monday from a weeks visit with Kathy's grandmother, Mrs. King at Lyford.

It would take 53 years for an airplane, traveling 200 miles per hour, to go from the earth to the sun.
