

Community Center Dedication

Mrs. Hattie Wallace Branch clips a ribbon designating the opening of the newly-remodeled Community Center on the city's South Side. The ceremony and dedication came Sunday afternoon at the fine facility, old Wallace School. Holding ribbon for Mrs. Branch, principal donor for the project, are Ruby Taylor and L. C. Devorce. County Judge Elmer Martin, master of ceremonies, stands in upper center.

Teams Lose Cash

Thieves Raid Dressing Rooms

Both teams -- Colorado City and Estacado -- were thrown for a loss Friday night in their dressing rooms here.

Thieves entering the field house during the 3-AAA zone championship game and grabbed cash out of billfolds in street clothes of several players.

Colorado High players lost at least $36.95 in cash and Lubbock Estacado reported $18.80 missing.

In addition several pocket books were thrown away and two pair of glasses were crushed on the floor.

were scattered over the dressing rooms.

"It was a disgusting thing to happen," Coach Truman Nix said. "The scattering of personal items contained in billfolds and the crushing glasses emphasized a willful intent for needless destruction in addition to the thievery."

DWI Spree In County Court

Driving while intoxicated cases are saturating the docket this month in County Court.

Twelve cases in two weeks, if you are interested in a close count, in this county which is legally dry by local option.

Nine of the DWI cases were filed within the last week and all resulted from arrests by State Highway Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger and Jim Mauldin.

Pleading guilty and paying fines were six of the defendants who also received probation from jail sentences.

Appearing before County Judge Elmer Martin Monday to plead guilty and face a year's probation from jail terms were:

Clarence W. Shannon, Odessa, $75 fine, $35 court costs, 10 days jail; Harland B. O'Keefe, Eastland, $75 fine, $37 court costs, 10 days in jail; Jimmy Dale Newton, Midland, $75 fine, $37 court costs, 15 days in jail.

Pleading guilty earlier before Judge Martin to DWI charges See COURT Page 9

Sheriff Lewis Claxton said it was believed that the Estacado dressing room door was left open unintentionally and that the thieves first entered that area on the field house east side. They entered the Colorado High area through a connecting door, he said.

Coach Nix said Quarterback Club members voted to reimburse players their losses and expressed regret the thefts had taken place.

Another school theft was reported Tuesday by Kelley Elementary School Principal Esten Blackmon.

Copper tubing was removed from seven air-conditioners at the school. Longest section of tubing was about five feet, the principal told police.

7 Floats Join Santa, Candidates In Parade

--Here Thursday At 5 P.M.

One of the most eventful pre-holiday shopping seasons in Colorado City's recent history will open Thursday afternoon (today) with a downtown parade and Santa Claus.

Two bands seven-floats, candidates for Miss Merry Christmas and Little Merry Christmas will be among the parade highlights with St. Nick.

Parade time will be promptly at 5 p.m. and Santa, after the parade disbands, will move quickly to Civic House to greet children personally.

Coming up for shoppers on Colorado City's calendar in the weeks ahead are four drawings, each for a total of $200 in cash.

It is all under the sponsorship of Chamber of Commerce merchants committee chairmaned by John Billings.

Already started is penny-a-vote campaigns for the naming of Little Merry Christmas and Miss Merry Christmas. Candidates are being sponsored by classrooms in Colorado City's elementary schools and by individual grades in high grades.

Urgent Call For Tutors In Reading

Call for volunteer tutors to assist fourth and fifth grade students with reading has developed into an urgent S.O.S.

Lack of response by local citizens to assist the children has caused temporary postponement of Community Action Program tutoring which was scheduled to begin Friday.

"Now we are hoping to begin our program Dec. 2 for fourth graders and Dec. 4 for fifth graders," said Mrs. Frances Witten.

The S.O.S. is for 20 persons to assist the students in reading development Tuesday and Thursdays.

"Each volunteer will help one student one hour each week at See TUTORS Page 9

Colorado High's Black Knights of Precision marching band will lead the Santa parade today, according to Mrs. Dennis Wright, parade chairman. In the middle of the march will be Colorado Junior High band.

"We are requesting that all participants in the parade report at the starting point, on East Third at the First Baptist Church corner, by 4:30 p.m. so that we can actually start promptly at 5 p.m.," she said.

The parade will line-up on Third facing east and proceed to Hickory, turn south on Hickory, then west on E. Second. Moving through the downtown area, the parade will turn north on Oak and disband at the Courthouse.

Floats competing for $50 and $25 cash prizes will be by Jaycee-ettes, Business & Professional Women's Club, Lil' Merry Christmas candidate Kandace Nix, Root Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, KYMC Radio for Miss Merry Christmas candidate Margie Ballard, Colorado Junior High 8th Grade.

Candidates not riding floats will be in new automobiles from Colorado City's car dealers. Equipment displays in the parade will be by local implement dealers and other firms.

Here is the order of the parade march behind Colorado High Band, according to Mrs. Wright:

Jaycee-ette float, Costin Implement, Frank Motors Chrysler cars, B&PW float, Long Tractor, Colorado Junior High band, Maranatha Study Club float, Hutchins Ford cars, Kandace Nix float, Hospital Auxiliary float, Dockrey Motor Company cars, John Deere farm implements, Margie Ballard float, Walker farm implements, 8th Grade float, Texas Electric equipment and last, Santa riding a fire truck.

Verdict Is 'In The Jars'

Christmas Candidates Line 'Em Up

Those jars and containers lining up in Colorado City are signs of the times -- Lil' Merry Christmas and Miss Merry Christmas contests.

Each container -- most of 'em have photos and identifying name -- represents a candidate for one of the contests.

Each penny dropped into a container is a vote for that particular candidate.

If you are wondering why the line-up of jars is long, consider the fact there are 28 candidates for Lil' Merry Christmas and 6 for Miss Merry Christmas. Every elementary school home room in Colorado Independent School District has its nominee and a string of jars to accept votes for her.

Same ratio is true for the final six grades of the school system -- seventh through 12th.

Penny-a-vote campaigns will continue through the entire pre-Christmas shopping season. Coronation of the winners will be Dec. 20 the Saturday before Christmas, after all the penny votes are counted.

All the pennies will go to Ministerial Alliance for its special projects, including the community Christmas basket program for needy families.

Here is a complete list of Lil' Merry Christmas candidates, so you can decide your own "favorite" in the contest:

KELLEY ELEMENTARY -- Dee-Ann Hamer (Halbert), Lisa Everett (Wilson), Melinda Fuller (Ridgell), Kimberly Fuller (McShan), Anne Conrad (Dorn), Jana Bassinger (Davis).

Jaycees Sponsoring Mail-In

Colorado City Jaycees are sponsoring a local "United We Stand" mail campaign within this community.

The local effort is to gather up brief statements of support for President Richard Nixon in Vietnam war policies.

It is aligned with a campaign which has moved across the country in rebuttal to groups and individuals calling for an immediate withdrawal of U. S. forces in Vietnam.

"Jaycees want to provide Mitchell County citizens with a means to directly participate in this great issue of our country," said George Lee Jaycees president.

"We are offering a method to allow our community to have a choice in working toward a just and lasting peace in Vietnam and obtaining humane treatment and early release of our prisoners of war."

Brief statements of "united we stand support" with names and addresses of signing citizens have been mailed from various areas of Texas during recent weeks. "By uniting behind our president," Lee spoke for the Jaycee organization, "we are putting him in the strongest possible position to achieve lasting peace. It is our sincere belief that the majority of American people want to express themselves on these and many other issues of national significance."

Jaycees say the local statements -- signed and delivered to the United We Stand movement -- will voice opinion at grass roots level which has been silent during all the Vietnam debate. "Your support can most effectively be demonstrated by filling out your own coupon and mailing to local Jaycees," Lee stated.

Grid Twist:

Athletes Sideline As Gals Play In Powder Puff Game

What kind of a football game in Colorado City has athletes like Ricky Parks, David Garcia, Steve Vest and Carl Devorce on the sidelines.

It couldn't be anything else except Colorado High's annual powder puff game.

And it sends gals against gals in grid togs with the regular footballing Wolves on the sideline in such unfamiliar roles as cheer leaders, twirlers and coaches.

Kickoff comes at 6 p.m. today (Thursday) in Wolf Stadium with tickets selling 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

If the bill of fare isn't exotic enough, then the refreshment stand manned, well, girl by Colorado High's Senior Chapter, Future Homemakers of America, should provide tasty relief.

The powder puff game is sponsored by Junior Chapter, FHA, at Colorado High and the gals eager enough to tackle assignments on the football field are from two ranks -- sophomores and juniors opposing freshmen and seniors.

Probably those with the most guts, though, are the athletes who courageously will perform where males usually fear to tread.

These fearless faithfuls include a roster of twirlers like Gene Self, Ricky Parks, Gene Davis, and Bruce Hill, whose talents are more for swapping licks with football guards and split ends than backcombing a hairdo.

Mini-skirted cheer leader uniforms will reveal the muscles of guys like Joe Kirschbaum, Ricky Sorenson, David Matthews, Wayne Banks, Larry Strain, Larry Kinard, Wayne Findley and Mark Waldrip. They are more acquainted with 4-4-3 defenses than the rhythm of a spirited spectator yell.

Probably the best cast of all will be the coaches -- Garcia, Tommy Boyd, Larry Holder, Vest, Skip Maines, Stanley Bracy, Devorce and Taylor. They know something about football, for sure, and they are still counting bruises and pained knees to prove it.

The question is, of course, whether a bunch of girls can trade cake recipes for football formations and still come up with a winning menu.

Coaches have an attractive list from which to choose their line-ups, if they keep their minds on football instead of being charmed by feminine wiles.

For instance, the sophomore-junior squad has among its ranks Linda Gonzales, Virgie Nell Green, Carolyn Light, Elaine Mickle, Elgie Smith, Linda Hill, Rose Guerrero, Kay Rivera, Kay Burkes, Carol Brown, Darlene Forbes, Shelia Hildebrand, Kathy Henderson, Edilyn King, Ada Feaster, Susan White, Debbie Thomas, Helen Walthall, Clara Mae Taylor, Vicki Leonard, Mary Owens, Mamie Williams, Sue Henderson, Janet Brownfield, Rachael Jones, Rejeana Bagwell, Jacky Nance, Robin Allen, Margie Palmer, Barbara Bell, Barbara Boyd, Danna Brown, Patty Bodine, Karen Bell, Dorothy Walthall, Gloria Salazar and Eddy Garcia.

First United Methodists Plan Lay Witness Mission

First United Methodist Church this weekend will conduct a Lay Witness Mission beginning Friday evening with a family fellowship supper.

About 40 men, women and youths will be here from surrounding West Texas towns to lead the local congregation in the program.

In announcing the services Rev. Billy Wilkinson, church pastor, said the purpose of the Mission is "to share the Spirit of Christ by the witness of these visitors to their recent experiences and the joy they have received from renewed depth and dedication to their faith."

Preparation for the Mission will be made in an all-night

Prayer vigil Thursday in Memorial Chapel.

Friday's fellowship supper is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. After the meal and brief program, the congregation will divide into small groups where visiting lay people will make personal witness, Rev. Wilkinson said.

The entire youth department will meet together for a program by Bill Starks, Hardin-Simmons University basketball player and folk singer. After this the youth will also divide into small groups for personal witnessing by visiting youths.

Saturday's schedule includes neighborhood coffees for adults in which visiting men and women will lead informal devotions.

Youths will have a 10 a.m. breakfast.

At noon women of the church will have a salad luncheon at the church and men will have a Dutch luncheon at Villa Inn Restaurant.

A 2 p.m. recreational period is set Saturday for youths with another family fellowship meal for everyone at 6:30 p.m.

Visiting laymen will conduct Sunday morning church school classes and morning worship. A sandwich luncheon will follow morning services.

"Sunday evening service at 6:30 p.m. will be a time for sharing and evaluating the experiences of the weekend for local membership," Rev. Wilkinson said. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith of Clyde are coordinators of the Lay Witness Mission, the church pastor said, and the local program has been planned under direction of John Tom Merritt, chairman of membership and evangelism.

CONVERSATION CORNER

WHENEVER there is time to watch television more than a few minutes, I always take time, too, for breathing a sigh of relief that none of the people I know in real life act like people in TV commercials.

Ever consider how utterly dreadful it would be for all of us if real people did act like that?

How would you like for your dinner guests or the prospective buyer of your home to pick up your clean plates, finger them, and breathe on 'em while gurgling "I can see myself?"

Strikes this viewer as downright unsanitary and no fit way to try to sell dishwashing liquid.

WHAT kind of a neighborhood is it when two little women eye each other with catty expressions across the fence because one has a brighter wash than the other?

Pattern of behavior in most TV commercials sets a very bad example for friends, neighbors, old ladies, families, parents, and children, alike.

Would you believe that a woman with whom I am closely associated switched toothpaste brands after seeing that poor idiotic mother chasing her bad little boy all over the house with a toothbrush?

What she'd do in real life would be to pick up the hairbrush and teach that youngan better manners.

MAYBE there are people in the real world who sneak mouth wash to the boss, the wedding guests, or to the meter maid. If so, have never met those people.

There may be men and women who scream demands all over the supermarket aisles concerning laxatives. Hope I never meet them, either.

Beautiful young wife who bakes a cake, cooks dinner, then shampoos rugs the day of the party paints a very poor picture of household efficiency. What was she doing yesterday or the day before?

The little hostess who enchants her guests with pouring the new instant coffee into a paper plate for them to smell... the visiting woman who goes to the kitchen to taste the cake frosting... and the grandmother who swipes the bathroom tissue are enough to shake the faith in human nature if they really exist. Which is doubtful.

EQUALLY disconcerting are the skiing, swimming, horseback-riding mother-daughter look-alikes because they survive on dry breakfast cereal. That isn't logical or natural.

And any husband who can afford a dress suit and a box at the opera, then sits there sipping diet wafers at a pretty girl in the orchestra seat, right during the aria, needs to be put under treatment. He's sick.

COMMERCIALS are not only offenders when it comes to manners and morals, either.

Shudder to think what kind of world this would be if people acted like most characters in most soap operas do, too.

In one there's a young lad just back from Vietnam who's been caught trying to steal narcotics—supposedly because he hates his mother and his father and all his grandparents.

In another, the wife of the chief of police, who also happens to be his office secretary, drinks champagne and wine and stuff during her lunch hour, no less.

And somebody—on the brink of total insanity in any one you care to name.

Must be a moral here somewhere. Maybe TV commercials and daytime dramas seek to teach what could happen to the too impulsive—or something.

ON THE OTHER HAND, this TV viewer, who happens to be a newspaper woman in a rival field, takes issue with Vice President Spiro Agnew's castigation of TV news commentators.

Don't agree with everything any news commentator says any more than with what's written on every newspaper editorial page.

But no day is complete without hearing either Howard K. Smith or Eric Sevareid comment on news events.

Certainly, you've got to admit that the commentators were kinder and fairer to Mr. Agnew than he was to them! At least they presented both sides—which was more than Mr. Agnew did.

John Richard, grown tall and handsome, plays cornet in his high school band and is in the ROTC unit. Harvey plays trombone in his school band. DeAnn is intrigued with Girl Scouting, and the little two-and-a-half-year old boy named James is a blond charmer.

FAMILIAR FACES belonged to Zelma Owen and her husband Ed at the Colorado Drug lunch counter in the mood for chill one nippy day... J. L. Ellwood, recently back at the ranch after a summer in Wisconsin, settled for hamburger and milkshake while opining that his wife Marge is such a fine cook he's put on 15 pounds since he quit smoking.

Saw Randy Riley, son of the Dell Rileys... Isabel Robertson, Mozelle Callender... Lena Baumann and Annie Dixon together... Faye Marcom, wife of Buddy... Julian Reyes... Louise Paul, Chamber of Commerce office secretary.

Mrs. Wright Hock was with a handsome small boy named Cody Scott, son of the Hock daughter Susan and her husband David Scott... Joe Weaver, and John Russell were headed for Kiwanis Club... and Lillian Thomas, pretty wife of Glenn, was out gathering the new pecan crop in her yard.

Zetagathians Hear Discussion Of Population, Pollution

Discussions of population explosion and pollution of America last Thursday highlighted a meeting of Zetagathian Study Club in home of Mrs. Ann Davis.

"What Future for Youth?" was topic of study presented by Mrs. Warren Anderson and Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr.

Mrs. Anderson quoted Dr. Paul R. Ehrlich, professor of biology and director of graduate study for Department of Biological Sciences at Stanford University, in her report of population explosion.

"The battle to feed all of humanity is over," she began.

"In the 1970's the world will undergo famines - hundreds of millions of people are going to starve to death in spite of any crash programs embarked upon now."

"As the most powerful nation in the world today, and its largest consumer, the United States cannot stand isolated."

"We are today involved in the events leading to famine; tomorrow we may be destroyed by its consequences."

Mrs. Anderson emphasized that children and youth of today will inherit a totally different world - a world in which standard, politics and economics of the 1960's are dead.

She reported population is doubling in undeveloped countries every 20-35 years and in the US every 50 to 175 years.

"As population doubles so must every structure and road double. This would be difficult for the US," the group was told. "Think what it means to a country with few resources to begin with."

In reporting already crowded conditions in major urban centers she said that the next nine years will be critical ones.

After discussing famine already in other countries and current programs being sponsored and attempts to solve the world problems, Mrs. Anderson noted US position as the most powerful nation in the world today.

"We must take immediate action at home and promote effective action world-wide. We must use our political power to push other countries into agricultural development and population control."

"And while this is being done we must take action to reverse the deterioration of our environment before population pressure permanently ruins our planet."

"The birth rate must be brought into balance with the death rate or mankind will breed itself into oblivion," Mrs. Anderson concluded.

"When the English pioneers settled in Jamestown and Plymouth in the early 17th century," Mrs. Trulock began, "none of them imagined that in the 20th Century Americans would poison their environment."

"No one could then foresee a time when Americans would pollute the air, water and land as if our natural resources were inexhaustible and worthless."

She explained that the increase in population automatically puts increased pressure on our resources but "we use them as if they were waste products."

"Unless we change our whole concept of the environment and unless we conserve our natural resources and use them intelligently, we cannot pass our civilization on to future generations," the speaker advised.

Using a chart, Mrs. Trulock discussed various forms of pollution and their dangers.

She spoke of government actions in attempts in solving the problem and reviewed several individual pollution problems in homes - aerosol sprays, deodorants, disinfectants, cleansers and other household items.

"General pollution of the environment will continue until the public puts a stop to it."

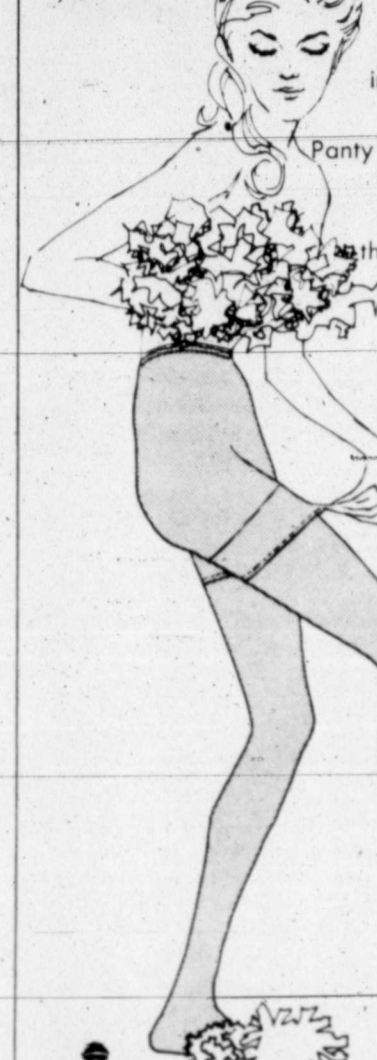

"Municipalities will economize on the treatment of sewage until the citizens assume the responsibility themselves. Industries will continue to dump their wastes into the air and the water until citizens make a public issue of it."

"As a nation we acquired a beautiful land three and a half centuries ago," she reminded club members, "now we have wasted and poisoned our shining green America."

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. J. S. Craddock Jr., Mrs. J. R. Fuller, Mrs. Larry Kinard, Mrs. Curtis Latimer, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Wallace Price, Mrs. Trulock and Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Walker, a former art teacher in Colorado High School, is immediate past president of Brush and Palette Club and is an active member of Texas Fine Arts Association, West Texas Art Association and Texas Art Educators Association.

She received the 1967 Outstanding Young Educators Award presented by Colorado City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

MAKING A POINT

Whenever we pause long enough to think, we can always come up with names of individuals who deserve special compliments.

Like right now, a young gent who is a brand new father of a son comes to mind. Not because he is a proud pop, but because he has served our community splendidly this year as chairman of our Chamber of Commerce merchants committee.

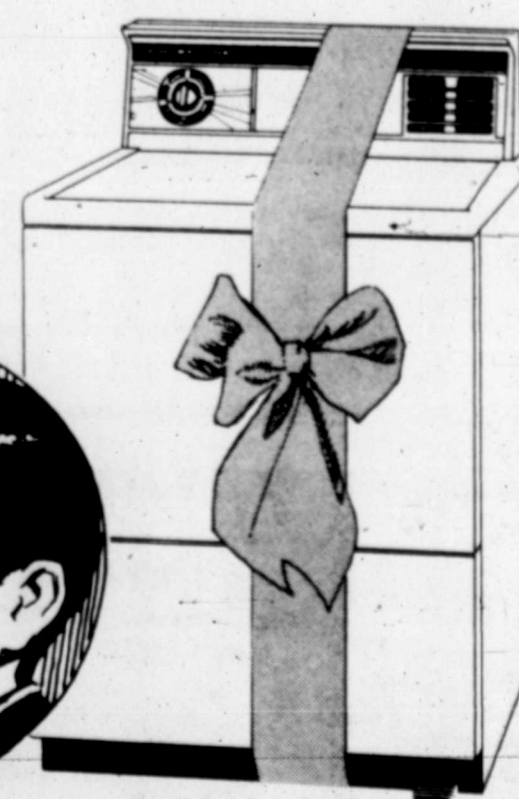

I'm speaking about John Billings, the Anthony's manager, whose ideas, initiative and work has helped all of us.

Among his latest achievement, of course, is being the spark for organizing our holiday shopping events which all of us will like.

Just like I said, if we just pause a moment... a deserving compliment quickly comes to mind.

NURSING HOMES

How to Pick a Good One

Make a personal visit and simply ask yourself, is this a happy place? If it is, you'll find some noise - patients moving around, calling to each other, laughing at jokes, discussing politics, vying for the attention of a favorite nurse or aide.

Look for safety devices like hand grips in the baths and hand railings in the halls. Observe for cleanliness, - and is it orderless?

Find out if the nursing supervisor is a registered nurse. Is each shift supervised by a licensed nurse and are there enough aides to adequately care for all the patients?

Ask what the arrangements are for physician's services and for transfer to a hospital.

Here at Root Valley Fair Lodge we believe we can answer the above affirmatively and to your satisfaction.

The Personnel At Root Valley Fair Lodge

Proud To Be Observing This Month Our 7th Anniversary Of Service To Colorado City and Community.

The Potters are expecting a very important phone call.

In the years ahead, you'll be able to preset your telephone to transfer calls to the number where you're visiting.

Electronic switching—using a sophisticated computer system—will make this and many other new services possible.

For example, your phone will have a memory. By dialing just two digits of a frequently called number, you'll activate that memory, then the phone will dial the remaining digits automatically. Electronic switching is fact, not fiction.

It's part of our program to plan today for tomorrow's communications needs.

We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

Wolves Final Action

Estacado Gains Momentum In C-City

If anybody derails that Estacado football express before state finals, then a few thousand Colorado City fans will be startled, indeed.

Sure, the defending Texas AAA champs meet Snyder at 7:30 p.m. in Lubbock for the 1969 3-AAA title.

Snyder is the same team which earlier some how, some way tied Estacado, 7-7, in a non-zone contest.

But look for a different outcome this week. It is championship time and the Estacado Express poured on the power here Friday to win North Zone championship over Colorado City, 38 to 7.

When it was over, the fact soaked in on Wolf Stadium's crowd that the Matadors were off and running with their best performance of the 1969 season.

building momentum toward state playoffs.

Coach Truman Nix's thin ranks of dependables, tried vainly for a win in a surprisingly fine season which would have startled all West Texas.

They even shocked the champs with a 7-0 lead in the opening moments -- a 28-yard touchdown pass to Standley Bracy at 7:22 in the first quarter and extra point kick by versatile David Garcia.

But they couldn't chin it the rest of the way.

Before it was over, Estacado power prevailed, keeping intact the Matadors' marvelous record of 24 consecutive games without a defeat.

Vest and company kept it exciting, trying vainly through the air after Soph Fullback Skip Maines went out early with a banged knee.

The passing attack hit 15 of 30 for 215 yards. But with Maines leaving the Wolves without keep-'em-honest power up the middle, C-City could manage only 35 net yards on the ground.

In the meantime, Estacado was traveling for 490 yards on the ground, 23 yards in the air.

Ten backs tried their wares on C-City defense before the game ended. But the big yardage was divided by the fearsome foursome of Kenneth Wallace, 65 yards on 11 carries from his quarterback post; Larry Miller, 138 yards on 19 tries; James Mosely, 92 yards with 14 carries, and Jesse Lethridge, 71 yards on 5 calls.

Wallace with a 5-yard run and Miller's kick tied it 7-7 for Estacado in the first.

Then, scoring went like this in the second period: Miller, 3 points on field goal; Wallace on 27 yard burst followed by a Miller; Mosely, 7 yard run with Miller kicking, and a 24-7 lead.

how can Lone Star Gas help you get rid of wrinkles?

We know all wrinkles are not due to aging. Some are due to drying. And dryers.

Some dryers affect clothes the way sun affects skin. They not only dry out moisture. They bake in wrinkles. Even in permanent press.

But gas dryers are more sensitive to your family's clothing. And more sympathetic to your work load.

Most new gas dryers have a special cool-down cycle that turns off the heat before your clothes become overheated.

That means your clothes have fewer wrinkles. And you have less ironing.

You also have less expensive utility bills. Because gas dries for about a penny a load.

See your gas appliance dealer or Lone Star Gas Company. Find out how to take it a little easier. And avoid wrinkles.

When you SHOP at HOME...

FREE PARKING is just one of the many extra conveniences that you enjoy, along with the pleasure of shopping in attractive familiar surroundings!

It's so nice to shop without worrying about finding a place to park! And it's nice to save on gas expenses, plus traveling time, too, when you shop here in local stores! That's why more and more people are getting the shop-at-home habit!

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burleson

Testimony before the Ways and Means Committee of the Congress, reveals some pitiful circumstances facing many people on social security, particularly the elderly on medicare.

Social Security was not designed to meet all needs in every instance but rather as a supplement to income. The facts, however, show that many people have no other source of income. With inflation and the high cost of medical care, those depending on medicare were overpromised by the Government in the first instance. Many simply do not have a decent standard of living, earned from a lifetime of work and contribution to the Program.

The administration is now proposing to raise medicare premiums and at the same time raise the rate of social security. Even if social security were increased, in many States those on old-age assistance will have a like amount deducted from their payments. This is true in our State of Texas and, therefore, unless some provision is made in State law, regardless of the increase, it would not mean anything to the recipient.

The department of Health, Education and Welfare seems unable to come up with definite answers to these very complex problems. To meet rising medical and hospital costs, the first thing thought of is to raise prices and leave the elderly to cope with the result as best they can.

For example, anyone entering a hospital next year expecting the bill to be met by medicare will have to pay $52 instead of the present $44 before coverage takes effect. In addition, if a patient has to stay more than two months it will cost $13 a day instead of the present $11. This means that at the very time when both health and finances are at their lowest the medicare patient is called on for more.

It would appear that the 10 per cent boost in social security, as proposed by the Administration, would offset these increases. The fact is, with the cost of living continuing to rise, it would become harder and harder on elderly people who pay insurance premiums with the idea that they are going to be taken care of.

Starting next July, the prospect is even gloomier. The monthly premium on insurance is to be increased "substantially," which probably means to more than $5 from the present $4.

Considering that only 80 per cent of a physician's bill is covered, it is hard to escape the conclusion that medical care would become a luxury which those "protected" may be unable to afford.

When the Medicare Law was written, it was wisely decided to provide coverage for doctor bills, hospitalization and for recuperative and nursing homes or what is defined as "extended care facilities." Many people can not be restored to health if released directly to their homes from the hospital but can be spared invalidism at less cost than to remain in a hospital.

Presently a patient who stays more than 20 days in a facility will have to pay $6.50 a day instead of $5.50. With living costs what they are and with only social security to live on, those dollars add up for the elderly.

There are no easy or ready answers to this situation but testimony before the Committee concerning these matters was that the administration of this massive Program is costing many times over what it should, at the expense of those it is supposed to benefit. There is simply too much slack in the handling of Federal money supporting this Program. In the first place, people were overpromised that this Program would be a panacea and now that prices are still being jacked up to meet increased costs, the disappointment to people in greatest need is indeed cruel.

There is no doubt that it will take a major effort to revamp the present health care system to adequately meet the needs but one thing is certain--increases in charges will not provide the total answer. Whatever is done it is perfectly clear that better administration from top to bottom is needed. On one end are the high paid theorists who seldom, if ever, see the end result. On the other is some person who arbitrarily decides who is entitled to what and how much, who, according to many witnesses, are totally unqualified to make the decision.

Since there is a program and since it is certain to continue, it has got to be made more workable and to give the benefit to those for which it was intended.

We are not a nation comparable to some of ancient times who took the aged and the ill to the tops of mountains, left them with a three-day supply of food and afterwards to die.

For Next Fall

Crime Course Being Prepared

Colorado Independent School District, already drafting policy and regulations concerning narcotics among students, also must develop a curricula on evils of crime and narcotics.

Texas Legislature, in its last session, has placed into the hands of public schools the assignment for teaching these courses.

House Bill No. 467 becomes effective next Sept. 1 as a state statute requiring Texas Education Agency to develop curricula and teaching materials for units of study on dangers of crime and narcotics.

This same statute specifies these units or courses will be required for all students each academic year beginning with fifth grade and continuing through twelfth grade.

Although Texas Education Agency must develop curricula and teaching materials for the course, House Bill No. 467 places responsibility on local school administration for implementing the courses next September and "developing on the local level" those materials.

School administrators are busy now outlining data for the next school board meeting so that trustees can acquaint themselves with the development of instruction here.

One of the problems, of course, will be to fit another required course into the already crowding class schedule of students without crowding out other important required or elective subjects.

The new legislation also has another first.

There is another angle to the new law. It creates the Crime & Narcotics Advisory Commission -- an advisory commission of nine members appointed from various walks of life by the governor, lieutenant governor and Speaker of the House.

This commission, according to the new law, will "advise and assist" Central Education Agency in developing curricula and teaching materials for the courses on dangers of crime and narcotics, the number hours for the courses, as well as coordinate with CEA required instruction for public school teachers who teach the new courses.
