Boys End Edison's Stiff Quiz

Youngsters Wait News From Judges On 'Exams'

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 31. (UP)—Forty-nine boys—some weary, others definitely miserable, still others carefree in the release from tension—stepped from the examination room in the Edison laboratories today after furnishing proof of precocity that will insure for one of them a four-year technical education.

That sturdy youngster from Montana, the one with the gaudy blazer; that quiet Louisiana boy in immaculate whites; that breezy Vermont youth is saying, "Well, it was a good trip anyway"; that Iowa lad who mumbles that he doesn't seem to care for any luncheon—from every state and the District of Columbia they came to match wits with Thomas A. Edison and his committeemen who posed an elaborate series of questions to test "ambition, imagination, will-to-work and character."

It was a stiff quiz; everyone agreed on that. And the worst of it was, to quote the nervous Kansas boy who was first to finish, "It covered a lot of stuff you don't learn in school."

In what academic course, for instance, are you going to be taught the approximate value of a "Ford coupe which has run 5,000 miles"? In what text-book can you find the answers to questions concerning

CHINESE REDS MENACE CITIES

U. S. Gunboat Fired Upon By Communists

SHANGHAI, July 31. (AP)—Communistic activity in South Central China that reduced the rich city of Changsha to a shambles and resulted in an attack yesterday on the United States gunboat Palos, tonight was sweeping on unchecked in an apparent effort to clamp the Red grip on the Yangtse river valley with its many import cities.

Pillaging bands of Chinese Communists were reported within 25 miles of the important industrial cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, and authorities of the Japanese concession in Hankow were erecting barbed wire defenses. Kiukiang and the nearby summer resort of Kuling were reported being evacuated by foreigners. Communication was fragmentary and the exact situation was unknown.

An effort by the Palos to approach Changsha to determine the situation there, where looting and burning has been in progress several days, resulted in the clash in which five blue jackets were wounded and 50 Communists killed and others wounded. The vessel was raked with machine gun fire and the attackers silenced only after it opened up at close range with its three-inch rifles and machine guns.

The Palos, which has rescued foreigners from Changsha prior to the Communist raid, was in command of Lieut. Com. R. D. Tisdale of Baltimore. Following the attack the gunboat, undamaged, withdrew down the Siang river.

Indications the Communists were preparing to establish themselves throughout Hupeh and Hunan provinces were contained in dispatches from the affected area. They told also of plundering along the Peking-Hankow railway.

Even Shanghai's foreign settlements were under special guard.

Police patrols were doubled and authorities prepared to crush any disturbance.

With the bulk of its military forces massed north of the Yangtse to check the threatened incursion of northern rebel armies, the government was in weakened position in its efforts to cope with the Communists. It also was faced by defection within its ranks.

WOODCOCK AND DORAN TO SEEK BIGGER FORCES

Conferences With District Supervisors Reveal Urgent Need

MAY ALTER PLANS

Requests Must Wait For Readjustment, Prohi Chief Points Out

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—A demand for increased prohibition enforcement personnel arose today from the field directors of the war against illicit liquor and resulted in decisions to ask congress for reinforcements on two fronts.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, after conferring with the 12 regional administrators, announced he would recommend the present staff of approximately 2,000 agents be increased by 25 per cent.

At the same time, James M. Doran, chief of the bureau of industrial alcohol in the treasury department, said he would request 120 more workers, 90 of them to be alcohol inspectors. The present personnel of the bureau is about 1,700.

Supervisors Confer

Like Woodcock, Doran had conferred during the day with his lieutenants in the field, the 12 regional supervisors of alcohol permits who met here at his call to discuss the problems confronting them.

Nearly all the administrators, Woodcock said, believed their present force of workers inadequate and were of the opinion increased efficiency would follow an addition to their number.

He pointed out several months must elapse before a recommendation can be made to congress and developments in the meanwhile may cause a change in his plans as to the number of additional agents to be requested.

Definite Need

In a statement issued yesterday, he said while he thought more agents necessary he would await the results of experience before coming to a definite conclusion. Today, however, he asserted his conferences with the administrators had brought him to the definite opinion an addition should be made.

This decision, he said, was in no sense a "cry of despair" but the outgrowth of a belief increased personnel would result in stricter enforcement.

He reiterated his intention to concentrate the activities of the bureau primarily on the large scale violators and spoke again of his reliance on the staff of special investigators assigned to ferret out wholesale conspiracies.

Woodcock is planning to make the first of an extended series of tours of inspection early in September. This will take him into the enforcement district composed of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Later in the fall, he expects to visit New York and New England.

Giant British Dirigible Crosses Atlantic To Visit Canada

Newest and greatest of transatlantic air voyagers, the giant British dirigible R-100 is strikingly pictured above on a test flight which preceded its take-off from Cardington, England, on its maiden ocean journey to Montreal, Canada. Forty-four persons, including seven passengers, were aboard the craft—the largest airship in the world—as it soared westward across the ocean wastes to link two scattered parts of the British empire.

Unparalleled Drouth Increases Its Toll With Aid of Disease and Fires

Water Shortage Added to Parched Fields in Record Dry Spell; Light Rains Relieve Some Sections

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—The drought continued its unchallenged sway over vast agricultural sections today with no immediate prospect for the heavy rains necessary to rout it.

Reports of water shortages, disease and forest fires were added to the conquests of parched fields and damaged or ruined crops in areas where there have been no generous rains for weeks on end.

Light rains and thunderstorms offered temporary relief in some sections of the South and Southwest.

Northwest Suffers

From the Northwest, however, where the three successive heat waves that intensified the effects of the drought had their origin, came new reports of rising temperatures.

In sections hardest hit, wells and springs were drying up with farmers forced to sell their livestock at the present low market prices. In others, animals were suffering from lack of water, pastures were burned and stock was being fed on winter food.

The state board of health in Kentucky estimated that the water supply for one-third of its population was extremely limited. Water was being hauled to some communities. Four times the number of typhoid cases were reported for this July as for the month a year ago, with infant diarrhea greatly increased.

Forest Fires

Large forces of men patrolled forest fires in Pennsylvania to keep them under control and away from the crops they threatened. Community water supplies were depleted in some parts of the state. At Hanover the city council said if a serious fire broke out one day, citizens would go without water the next.

Forest fires raged in Western Montana and Northern Idaho.

Winds approaching tornado proportions and thunder storms broke the heat wave in parts of the South although the drought continued to stalk parts of Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky. A tornado in North Central Louisiana had damaged buildings in 10 towns and resulted in at least one death.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 31. (AP)—Fire discovered in a hold of the Dollar liner President Harrison three hours before she was to sail on a round-the-world cruise, was under control tonight. Great quantities of water were poured into the hatches, however, causing the ship's stern to stick in the mud of the Hudson river.

Officials of the line would not estimate the damage but believed the water could be pumped from the hatches to float the stern in time to put out for San Francisco, the first port of call, by noon tomorrow. The cause of the blaze which started in No. 7 hold and quickly spread to No. 8 was not determined.

$10,000,000 Involved In Railroad Suit

SPOKANE, Wash., July 31. (AP)—The federal government today filed against the Northern Pacific railroad a suit expected to involve at least $10,000,000.

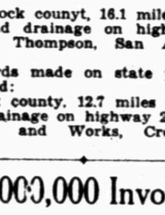

The suit is for removal of certain indemnity lands from the operation of the federal land grant act of 1864, as modified in 1870, to quiet title of those lands, to secure an accounting, and "for other purposes."

The suit was filed in federal court here. The amount involved is stated as in "excess of $100,000" but the value of lands concerned and taxes thereon, attorneys believe, may amount to as much as $50,000,000.

New Alliances Form as Candidates Count Noses in Governor's Race

'Ma' Speeds Campaign While Opponents Raise G. O. P. Specter; Small Vote at Sweetwater Switched to Sterling

DALLAS, July 31. (UP)—New charges and alignments were thrown into the crucible of Texas politics today as lines were drawn taut for a three weeks' campaign by "Ma" Ferguson and Ross S. Sterling for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Earle B. Mayfield, defeated in the elimination primary, reiterated his charge that Sterling had violated the election laws and said that Republicans would have no difficulty in preventing Sterling's name from being printed on the ballot.

"The amount of money spent in the campaign makes me dizzy," Mayfield said. "I cannot, by my ballot, endorse the old, brazen and defiant attempt to buy the governor's office as if it were a piece of meat lying on the butcher's block."

Adams Fears G. O. P.

Meanwhile Jed C. Adams, Democratic national committeeman, announced his support of Sterling to "prevent the re-election of Mrs. Ferguson and bring about a repetition of the situation in 1924, when Dr. George C. Butte, Republican, received a big vote against Mrs. Ferguson.

"The danger of a Republican victory would be even greater this year if Mrs. Ferguson were nominated," Adams said.

The Ferguson camp announced today that the opening of "Ma's" campaign would be advanced a week and would begin with a whirlwind rally at Cooper Aug. 7. It had been planned to defer the campaign until the election returns are canvassed, Aug. 11.

Sterling to Map Plans

Sterling's campaign will be mapped out at a meeting with his lieutenants at Dallas next Monday. The meeting will be in the nature of a statewide rally and leading supporters of the Houston publisher are expected to attend. Gov. Dan Moody likely will be present.

From Sweetwater today came the report that backers of Clint C. Small, defeated candidate in the elimination primary, had banded in a Sterling-for-Governor club. More than 100 persons joined the club in less than an hour.

Mike Hogg, of Houston, son of former Gov. Jim Hogg, and himself a political leader with a strong following, cast his lot with the Sterling forces today.

Last Returns

"Sterling is on the side of the people," he said, "and I believe him better qualified than Mrs. Ferguson for the office."

Returns tonight from all of the 253 counties in the state, with returns from 193 counties complete, gave the following totals for Saturday's elimination primary:

Governor: Ferguson 234,101, Sterling 166,535, Small 133,299, Love 83,925, Young 71,607, Mayfield 54,870, Miller 53,953, Moody 4,434, Putnam 2,599, Loven 2,535 and Walker 2,072.

DAMAGED FIN RETARDS SPEED OF HUGE SHIP

Dirigible Thrown Off Course While Crew Repairs Torn Fabric

LAND EARLY FRIDAY

Confusing Messages on Position of Liner Cause Anxiety

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., 31. (AP)—Flying field officals in an official statement issued tonight said the dirigible R-100 would not be moored here until tomorrow morning. The statement said the ship was expected over the airport around midnight, eastern standard time, but it would cruise about the field until morning.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, MONTreal, Quebec, July 31. (UP)—The British dirigible R-100, with emergency repairs effected on a rip in the fabric of a fin, was proceeding slowly tonight toward St. Hubert, its 3,400-mile flight from Cardington, England, nearly ended.

The good weather that had favored the giant ship over the Atlantic deserted it tonight, soon after the damage to the fin. It passed four miles south of Port Neuf, 31 miles this side of Quebec and roughly 110 miles from St. Hubert, at 7:50 p. m., E. S. T. Few minutes later the royal Canadian signal corps informed the United Press that a storm was brewing in the Port Beug neighborhood, with considerable rain and wind.

Uneventful Day

It was at the end of an uneventful day of cruising along the broad St. Lawrence river that disturbing reports flashed into the airport here, where thousands were waiting to acclaim the world's greatest airship.

First there came a message that the ship was within 12 miles of Quebec. The next report, at 4:05 p. m., E. S. T., put the R-100 over Crame Island, 31 miles below Quebec.

Confusion over the conflict in the report was cleared up soon, but caused added anxiety—the R-100 had suffered a rip in the fabric of one of its fins. For a time the motors were stopped completely and the ship was blown back on its course. Then came a reassuring message from Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, in command.

Repairs Made

"Have completed minor repairs to fin. Making good 20 knots. At 4:40 p. m., E. S. T., position was 18 miles northeast of Quebec. Stand by to land me as soon as arrive."

The great ship, pioneering a path for an England-Canada air route, was again on its way, with hope of arriving over the airfield in the early hours of the morning, if all went well.

At 6 p. m., E. S. T. it passed Quebec bridge, flying well at 1,000 feet elevation. Thirty-two minutes later, at 6:30, it passed St. Nicholas, 12 miles above Quebec on the south shore of the St. Lawrence. At 7:25 it was sighted at Port Neuf, 26 miles above Quebec. Thus it was making a little less at that time than 20 miles an hour. The distance between Quebec and Montreal is 140 miles.

King George Affixes Signature To Ratification of Disarmament Pact

LONDON, July 31. (AP)—King George has signed the instrument of ratification of the London naval treaty which already has been ratified and signed in the United States.

Announcement of the king's signature was made somewhat unexpectedly by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in the house of commons this afternoon. Mr. Snowden at the same time added the instrument would be deposited simultaneously with his majesty's ratifications in respect of the dominions and India and the ratifications of the United States and Japan when all three signatories to part three of the treaty are in position to bring the treaty into force. Part three concerns the agreements reached by the delegates of the United States, Great Britain and Japan with respect to their relative naval armaments.

Chancellor Snowden's announcement created certain confusion in London as it is known the king's royal assent has not yet been given to the London naval treaty bill.

Renewed Political Squabbles Put Juarez Under Martial Law

EL PASO, Texas, July 31. (AP)—Political differences which arose during the heated gubernatorial campaign in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, today were renewed after the mayor, city secretary and three aldermen of Juarez, across the Rio Grande from here, were arrested and the city placed under martial law.

Lieut. Col. Ignacio L. Campos, aide to General Francisco Del Arco, commander of the Juarez garrison, was acting chief of police and with two squads of soldiers was in charge of the municipality.

Those held were Mayor Gustavo Flores, Aldermen Jose Motta, Carlos Austin B. Gardea and Valention Fuentes and Alejandro Fallinger, city secretary. There was a warrant out for Patricinio Candelario, fourth alderman, but it was unserved. He was reported out of town.

Orders for the arrests were issued by Judge Francisco Figueroa of the Juarez penal court.

It was known that Governor Romulo Escobar of Chihuahua had been making an investigation of charges that partisans of Manuel Prieto, defeated candidate for governor, assisted by Juarez officials, interferred with free exercise of suffrage in Juarez. Escobar was the successful candidate against Prieto.

Audit Reveals Deficit in State Barber License Board Funds

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, July 31.—A shortage of between $1,900 and $2,000 has been detected in the funds of the State Barber License board, according to State Auditor Moore Lynn.

Claim for its recovery will be made, Mr. Lynn was informed, against bondsmen of a former employe of the board.

The investigation of barber board funds was made by Mr. Lynn's department at the request of the barber board. One employe has been dismissed, and records showed, it was said, that none of the present employes had anything to do with the losses.

Funds that were not accounted for were derived from fees paid in by barbers for their licenses.

Boys Complete Edison 'Exams'

how communistic propaganda should be dealt with and whether a brother who wanted to be an artist or a poet should be encouraged?

Then there was that other one—about the desert. All were talking about that one when they left their bid for fame behind them. It read as follows:

You are the head of an expedition which has come to grief in the desert. There is enough food and water left to enable three people to get to the nearest outpost of civilization. The rest must perish. Your companions are:

1. A brilliant scientist 60 years old.
2. Two half-breed guides ages 58 and 32.
3. The scientist's wife—interested mainly in society matters—age 39.
4. Her little son, age 6.
5. The girl you are engaged to marry.
6. Your best friend, a young man of your own age who has shown great promise in the field of science.
7. Yourself.

There was as much lack of unanimity in answering this one among the contestants as there was among the newspapermen who stood about outside the laboratories and lamented their inability to answer any of the technical questions, so distant were the days of "math" and "chemistry 32."

James H. Compton Jr., of Wichita, Kan., said that he had decided to save the lives of the younger guide, the fiancee and the best friend; Nathaniel Kurtzman of Whitefish, Mont., voted in favor of the friend, the girl and the six-year-old boy; John W. Alexander of Colorado Springs, Colo., would dispatch the scientist, the friend and the child to safety; Charles V. Larrick, the soft voiced Maryland winner, would buoy in the direction of old southern courtesy and save the two women and the child.

In general the answers given by Kurtzman and Alexander seemed most common. Only one of the boys, Robert H. Smith of Las Vegas, N. M., admitted he would yield to the instinct for self-preservation.

"I would take my fiancee and the little boy with me," he confessed. "Then we could adopt the boy."

The examination was divided into four parts, the first of which was confined to questions in mathematics, chemistry and physics.

formulation of new plans of strategy.

None of the defeated candidates, including three former governors in the senatorial race and one in the governor's contest, had pledged his support to successful opponents tonight, but claims to the unattached followings were made freely.

In 3,108 of the state's 3,338 precincts, Gore was leading Wrightsman tonight, 65,528 to 65,029. Henry S. Johnson, deposed governor, was third in the field of nine with 49,332 votes; Lee Cruce, another former governor, fourth with 36,840, and J. B. A. Robertson, a third former chief executive who campaigned for dry law repeal 12,141.

126,197 Votes Cast

Corrected figures from 3,162 precints gave Murray a total vote of 126,197, more than 60,000 greater than that accorded Buttram, who had 66,164. The lead of E. B. Howard, ex-congressman from the first Oklahoma district, over M. E. Trapp, former governor, for third place had swelled to more than 12,000 on the same compilation. Howard having 49.15 votes, Trapp 36,591. For some time they were closely matched. The total vote for the 3,162 precincts was 323,700, indicating a final total of close to 340,000.

The Democratic scramble among 14 candidates for the lieutenant governor's nominations still provided interest tonight. Robert Burns of Seminole had a fairly wide lead over his nearest opponent, W. B. McAlester of McAlester, with 32,174 votes to 29,335 in 2,275 precincts. James Berry of Stillwater, however, was close behnd McAlester with 28,932 and C. S. Storms, acting lieutenant governor, was fourth with 25,423.

SUBURBAN DAY DRAWS CROWD

Wichita Stores Report Heavy Sales Thursday

Development of "suburban day" as an established institution in the Wichita Falls community was evidenced Thursday by the shopping activities of unusually large crowds in the downtown district during the day.

Featuring bargain specials in which a large number of local merchants participate, "suburban day" o nthe last Thursday of each month apparently has become recognized as a period of opportunity for shoppers. At 8 o'clock Thursday morning, several stores which were offering bargain specials for the day reported crowds at their entrances, and members of their sales forces declared the day one of the busiest in many weeks.

Merchants estimated that several hundred out-of-town shoppers visited the city during the day.

North Texas Producers Express Confidence in Proration Order

Confidence that proration as recommended Wednesday by a statewide proration committee will be effected by the state railroad commission within the next few days was expressed here Thursday by officials of the North Texas Oil & Gas association.

Some slight delay in carrying out the recommendations of oil producers of the state, which the railroad commission took under advisement with apparent favor, will be caused by the necessity of holding hearings in some localities in order to obtain full compliance of producers in those areas, it was said.

Anticipating the cut of 50 per cent in local purchases announced by the Continental Oil company to take effect on Aug. 1, B. P. Flynn, president of the North Texas Oil & Gas association, conferred with D. J. Moran, president of the Continental company, Thursday by telephone relative to deferring application of that order until definite action of the railroad commission on proration may be taken. Mr. Moran declared that a thorough investigation would be made during the day, and that if it were found possible to do so, that the reduced-purchase order would be suspended Friday for as long as possible.

Seventeen Wichita Falls oil producers represented the local association in the conferences held in Austin on Tuesday and Wednesday, and were members of the group of 37 representatives of the entire state which presented a proration report Tuesday to the state proration committee. Wednesday's meeting, conducted by the Texas division of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association before members of the railroad commission, was attended by about 300 oil men from all parts of Texas.

The report on proration which was approved here Monday afternoon by the North Texas Oil & Gas commission, and which was adopted in Tuesday's meeting at Austin, was as follows:

We, the undersigned, members of the proration committee of the North Texas Oil and Gas association, beg to submit for your consideration the following report and recommendations:

The total production of the state of Texas on July 19, 1930, was estimated to be 821,100 barrels, of which amount there is considerable overproduction.

The total production of the North Texas district on July 19, 1930, was estimated to be 74,450 barrels, or 9.067 per cent of the total produced in the state. The production from this district is obtained from 13,435 wells, or a daily average per well of 5.54 barrels.

This district as defined by the American Petroleum institute, bureau of mines and other statistical agencies comprises the following named counties: Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Foard, Montague, Wichita and Wilbarger.

This district is now being prorated by one major purchasing company and notice has been received from another of its election to prorate, effective Aug. 1, 1930. Gross inequalities of output have and will result in the application of such drastic proration orders, and it is imperative that immediate action be taken to correct this condition, and, in so doing, to protect and preserve the small or marginal wells upon which this district so largely depends for its production. Taking into consideration the foregoing conditions in Texas, and other facts pertinent to the industry as a whole, the following recommendations are made:

That application be made to the railroad commission of Texas for the issuance of a proration order, effective Aug. 1, 1930, and continuing for a period of 90 days thereafter, applicable to the district commonly defined as the "North Texas district" per schedule below:

1. Ten per cent proration shall be applied to leases having a daily average of six barrels or more per well.
2. No proration shall be applied to leases having a daily average of less than six barrels per well.
3. Such proration order for the months of August, September and October, shall be based upon the daily average pipe line runs for the month of June, 1930.
4. There shall be excluded from this proration flush leases or fields now under proration in this district.
5. No permits shall be issued for pipe line connections to new wells, except in special cases necessitated by the drilling of offsets.
6. No application shall be granted for the drilling of new wells, except in special cases involving lease offsets, lease forfeitures and contracts made prior to the date of this order.

In arriving at the foregoing conclusions, your committee has conscientiously and impartially viewed all factors entering into the situation, and has solicited the advice of those both directly and indirectly interested in our problems. An emergency exists, and as a remedy therefor, the plan should be put in operation immediately. We believe it to be fair and equitable in every respect, and should meet with the sanction and approval of all operators in this district, who are inclined to lay aside individual or selfish motives and contribute part toward the success of a proration program during this period of readjustment.

We believe the practice of selling any oil below the posted price should be severely condemned upon the ground that it will lead only to the destruction of our present price structure. Respectfully submitted—M. W. Blair, chairman; E. H. Eddleman, C. P. McGaha, T. O. Shappell, L. H. Cullum.

CLUB STUDIES WATER NEEDS

Rotarians Suggest Changes In City System

Serious discussion of Wichita Falls' water problem replaced entertainment as program material for the Rotary club Thursday noon, numerous members speaking at length in support of various proposals for relief, and the entire membership voting to carry the discussion over to next week's meeting, when Julian Montgomery, civil engineer and city plan expert, will be asked to advise the club on the matter.

Rates Criticised

Stating that directors of the club had agreed that the membership should be asked to consider an educational campaign designed to stimulate community action toward improvement of the water supply, Herbert C. Voelcker, president, opened the discussion with a recommendation that provisions should be made soon for better facilities. Whether or not such improvements would involve a bond issue became the principal point of discussion which followed.

J. C. Hunt, stating that study of the water situation has become a "hobby" with him in recent years, declared for immediate improvements. Harry Gray urged that the Rotary club refrain from assuming any definite role in advocating a program of alteration or enlargement, declaring it his belief that such leadership should rightly be taken by the chamber of commerce. Should any desirable plan for improvement be worked out, according to Tom B. Smock, Rotary club secretary, that organization should help to "sell" the community on such a plan.

Criticism of current water rates featured a brief speech made by A. H. Britain. "Revenues from the water system are supporting the city, according to information given me," said Mr. Britain, "and I do not think such a condition should be permitted to exist."

John Boswell, general manager of the chamber of commerce, stated that the water committee of that organization is active now in its study of the situaion, and that several definite plans for improvement are being considered.

Economies Stressed

Walter Cline and Albert E. Myles both expressed willingness to cooperate in the application of any adequate, concrete plan which may be adopted, but insisted that no progress can be made toward obtaining community support for such a project until it is put in definite form. C. W. Beavers expressed confidence that the people of Wichita Falls are willing to pay for more and better water if shown that it can be provided. Much of the cost of a new or improved water system would be realized from funds new being spent for bottled drinking water, according to W. P. Killingsworth. Judge Britain expressed doubt that any plan involving increased taxes would meet with public approval.

Chicago Jury Finds Newspaper 'Racket' Charges Mostly 'Hearsay'

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—The charges of Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis newspaperman, that Chicago reporters have been engaged in racketeering were described by the county grand jury today as "founded on hearsay" and "containing nothing of an incriminating character."

The jurors counselled the cooperation of the citizenry with the state's attorney and with the special Lingle murder bureau headed by Charles F. Rathbun, Tribune attorney and special prosecutor. The investigators "are working solely on the Lingle murder" said the jurors, "which we have every reason to believe will soon be solved."

"Up to the present time," the jury reported, "the jury have been unable, after exhaustive questioning of all the witnesses called, to definitely substantiate the evidence disclosed by the testimony of Brundidge. A great deal of this testimony was hearsay, some of the statements made by Brundidge as to conversations with different newspaper men were admitted by them, but such admissions did not disclose anything of incriminating character. It is the opinion of the jury that Brundidge, in his capacity as a reporter, was acting in good faith and tried to run down to a definite conclusion the reports that he had gathered, many of which were predicated upon purely hearsay evidence."

Two Killed as Bandits Rob Polish Mail Train

LWOW, Poland, July 31. (AP)—One bandit and one policeman were killed in a battle when bandits held up and robbed a mail train near Bobrka.

The robbers obtained about $3,500, a part of which was found in the pockets of the slain man. Police said there were five in the band.

TAX COLLECTIONS DROP

City and school tax collections for the month of July showed a decrease from the collections for the same month in 1929, according to W. Ralph Hyer, tax collector. City collections totaled $5,382.28 for the current year while they reached $7,331.09 in 1929. School tax collections for the month in 1930 were $4,304.97 and $6,014.32 during the previous year.

Although the collections have decreased in the month of July, the records show an increase in each of the preceding months over the same period of time for last year, Mr. Hyer said.

ESTATE SUED FOR $6,000,000

Edward W. Scripps Fortune Assailed

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—A $6,000,000 suit against the estate of the late Edward W. Scripps, newspaper publisher, was filed today in the supreme court by the widow of James G. Scripps, the publisher's son.

It would have the court review decisions of lower federal courts refusing to entertain the claim. The suit was based on an agreement between the father and his two sons under which they managed the newspaper properties.

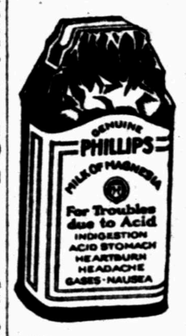

James G. Scripps managed them from 1908 until the summer of 1920, when he became ill, dying in January, 1921. His widow as his administratrix contended under the agreement she was entitled to receive one-half of the actual increase in the profits from the properties during her husband's management.

The circuit court of appeals held the agreement did not have the effect of a binding contract and the elder Scripps had reserved the right to change the compensation at his pleasure.

The work mainly includes street paving, main laying, building of new manufacturing plants, homes and apartment houses.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never feel with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey Gives Beautiful Summer Luncheon

A summer luncheon unusual in its beauty was an event of Wednesday when Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., honored Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, who is leaving to spend the remainder of the summer in California, with a musical luncheon in Mrs. Lowrey's attractive apartment.

Music passed a delightful morning for the group and at noon a delicious three-course luncheon was served. With covers of Italian cutwork and a gleaming crystal service, a Texas wild flower unknown to numerous Texans was used as a lovely center. Wild sea lilies, brought from the hot oil fields, were exquisite orchid blossoms in a sea green bowl used by the artistic hostess. As fragile looking as the columbine, the blossoms can be kept indefinitely with the proper care and Mrs. Lowrey gave her guests a new vision of a native Texas beauty in their use.

Following the luncheon and more music, Mrs. Lowrey took her guests to a delightful theater party at the Majestic theater.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, the honoree, Mrs. James Bowers of Tulsa, the house guest of Mrs. Lowrey and for Mesdames Paul Rutledge, C. Y. Tully, Walter Robbins, J. W. Akin Jr., James P. Bowen and the hostess.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Our cat—that is the cat that adopted the man of our house—had a wonderful romp Wednesday evening on the lawn; a leaf blown by the wind was his prey and he jumped on it, rolled with it and stood pawing it, assuming all the prerogatives of his royal relative, the tiger.

He behaved so entrancingly that a beautiful Angora living a secluded life across the street started to come over and make his acquaintance. He was across the sidewalk and Dick purring welcome to him when the Angora's mistress rescued him from contact with a common cat. The common cat went on romping with leaves, quite happy so long as he could rub his head against the legs of his friend man.

But the cats had evidently spoken to one another and it set us thinking of how mysteriously different creatures of the earth did communicate with one another.

And we thought at the same time of mother nature's prodigality and her stinginess. We were sitting Thursday morning at our breakfast table, and looking out the window we could see great sprays of elderberry, black in their ripeness; great sprays that were red yet and elderberry blossoms white with their first bloom, all on the same bush.

And as to stinginess, we thought of counting the little drops of rain on top of a car Wednesday evening.

But, though nature may be miserly or over lavish at times with sun or shower it seems that little was wasted in creation.

There's the sleek gray mole; he lives underground, so the Creator wasted no eyes upon him. But put him at one corner of a garden and his brother at the other and they know how to tunnel directly to one another. With some sort of radio service furnished, why have eyes?

We have been repeatedly told that fish caught in Mammoth cave waters, have no eyes. It may be a fish story, but it sounds like nature's provident use of material.

And then the African ant that travels in streams miles long; powerful as he is murdering and devouring a disabled foe, he is blind. He can bite through a man's heavy boot and pinch a piece out of an elephant's hide—but he cannot see. But he has antennae that serves as well.

But one thing puzzles us. We assure ourselves and are assured that nothing is created without its use. Yet there isn't a day that we do not hear of an appendix or a set of tonsils removed. Why were they wasted upon us?

Husbands Easy To Ensnare But Difficult to Hold

"While It Is Easy to Catch a Husband, It Is Hard to Hold One, and the Woman Who Does If Has to Be on Her Job All the Time," Declares One Who Has Succeeded —"It's No Cinch."

"When I was a girl," said an attractive woman the other day, "I used to look forward to marriage as a sort of Elysium in which I could give up all the work and worry and struggle and trials and tribulations of trying to make myself attractive to men, and just let myself slump the balance of my life.

" 'Ha!' I would say to myself of a night as I put my hair up in curlers and rubbed in the cold cream and the skin food, and did my daily dozen, 'no more of this torture for me after I am married. Then I am going to have the stringy hair and the asleratus biscuit complexion, and be just as homely as God made me.

" 'Hum-um,' I would say to myself at the table as I counted my calories with the hungry tears dimming my eyes, 'no more of this starvation business, in order to keep a boyish figure, for me after I am married. Then I am going to eat all the whipped cream and mayonnaise and chocolate creams and gooey desserts that I want, and if I get to be a perfect 46 it won't make a bit of difference, for I'll have my man.

" 'And oh, me, and oh, my, won't it be perfectly grand not to have to be always breaking your neck to please some man, and keep him interested and fascinated, and to have to be reading upon the subjects he is dotty over and that you don't care a rap about?' I would say to myself as I swallowed a yawn while attempting to hold a thrilled expression while some man monologued to me about the stock market, or the grocery trade, or whatever he was doing. 'How restful it will be to be married and have a husband that you don't have to jolly or keep amused and to be able to read the six best sellers because you like 'em, and not something to improve your mind.'

"But alas, and alack, I hadn't been married very long before I discovered that my artless and unsophisticated ideas about matrimony were all wet. I also discovered that while it is easy to catch a husband, it is hard to hold one, and the woman who does it has to be on her job all the time, and that there is no place between the altar and the grave in which she can sit down and take it easy and feel that she is safe.

"That settled my delusion that marriage was going to emancipate me from the permanent wave and the cosmetic jars. For, you see, one of the reasons that my husband had picked me out as a wife was because I was a good looker, and it sort of dawned on me that if I failed to deliver the goods he might regret his bargain.

"I couldn't see that getting married had afflicted him with any astigmatism that would prevent his taking note of the feminine pulchritude that was always about him, and I had the hunch that if I let myself get fat and flabby and dowdy, and went about looking as if I were in need of a shampoo and a manicure, he could but compare me invidiously with the snappy little flappers in his office and the lovely ladies he met out in society, and wonder what made him do it.

"So I am still cutting out all the rich food I like to eat and putting on my complexion and doiling myself up when I would like to be lounging around in a kimona, and I have taken up in a serious way woman's eternal problem of how to keep young and beautiful that I will spend the balance of my life trying to solve, because I realize that every wife has competition to meet nowadays, and if she can't do it, she is sunk.

"And I smile when I remember that I once thought that if a woman had put the come'ther over a man enough to make him assume her board bill and shopping ticket for life, her work was done and she would never have to make another effort to please him. I soon got wise to the fact that you can't fascinate a man once and let it go at that. It is something that you have to do over again every day, like getting breakfast. It is just as hungry today for appreciation and understanding, and to be told that he is the most wonderful thing in the world as if he hadn't been fed on it yesterday.

"Believe me, I don't loll back and call it a day and knock off the work of trying to keep myself attractive to my husband just because he is married to me and has got to stand me. I don't want any man to stay with me simply because he considers it his duty. I want him to stay because he wants to and because in his eyes all other women run a poor second to me.

"Therefore, I toil overtime at making myself pleasant and agreeable to Friend Husband. If he wants to talk, I am there to listen without interrupting him in the midst of his best story about how he put over a deal, to ask him if he is sure he put the cat out, or did he know that the baby had cut a tooth. If he wants to go out at night, am ready to grab my hat and go, no matter if I am tired and would far rather stay at home and rest.

"Nor do I consider it my duty as a wife to tell my husband of all his faults. I leave somebody else to break that bad news to him. Every man has to have some woman to flatter him and glad-hand him, and I am the one who does it in my precinct. And I make my homebrew jelly so strong and so much to his taste, since I have the advantage of knowing just what his little vanities are, that it makes the flatteries of other women seem weak and tasteless to him.

"And I give myself the merry ha-ha because I ever thought that as soon as I got married I could sit down by the wayside and pick daisies, and that when my husband wandered off in his profession he would always come back to me. A little observation showed me the fallacy of this belief. I saw that the ambitious men, the go-getters, do not return to the dull and lazy and purposeless wives they have left behind. They keep going on and they generally link up with some other woman who is traveling their road.

"So I saw that I would either have to keep up with the procession or else be permanently stranded, so I began really to read and study and to take courses in this and that, and to play the games my husband played and to keep myself mentally and physically alert and up-to-date. It has taken work and worry and effort, but it has saved me from being a neglected wife.

"Oh, marriage is a great career for a woman if she doesn't weaken," concluded the woman, "but it is no cinch."—DOROTHY DIX.

U. S. 'Bunked' by Naval Treaty, Says Johnson

WASHINGTON, July 31. (INS)—An echo of the long fight in the senate over ratification of the London naval treaty was heard today in a prediction by Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Republican, of California, that the American people will ultimately learn they were "bunked."

Johnson cited the prompt ratification of the treaty by the British parliament as proof the pact favored British naval needs over American naval needs. He declared the treaty all along had been endorsed by British naval authorities while condemned by America's general naval board.

Courthouse Workers Enjoy Melon Feast

An event which has been celebrated at the courthouse here each summer for several years past was again observed Thursday afternoon when all officers and employes at the courthouse were guests of Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk, at a watermelon feast on the north lawn of the courtyard.

The watermelons for the feast, three huge Texas melons which had been made ice cold for the occasion, were provided by the law firm of Grindstaff, Zellars & Hutcheson of Weatherford, in the heart of the Texas melon district. Each year this firm sends three of the best melons of the crop to the district clerk's office as a token of appreciation for the cooperation and assistance given by the clerk's department in matters of law brought here by the Weatherford firm. Mrs. Eichelberger had the melons iced and invited the entire working staff of the courthouse offices to partake in the feast. Business was suspended for about half an hour at 3 o'clock and all from district judges on down to office assistants gathered under the tree for the party. L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, and George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, officiated with the butcher knife in carving the melons.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

The Housewife's Duty

To her home, not to her grocer

The housewife was not put on earth to support grocers. She owes no grocer a living. She does owe herself and her family the greatest amount of the best food her money can buy. Her only duty when buying food is to her home.

The honest grocer asks no favors. He does not expect charity. He is willing to be judged by the amount of good food he gives for the consumer's dollar.

A & P is a grocer who has already been judged by many consumers. After seventy years in business, it enjoys the patronage of over 5,000,000 thrifty housewives.

So large a following of critical shoppers is the result of a single simple fact—that the public buys where it obtains the most for its money.

Average Maximum Temperature For July Exceeds 100 Degrees

Taken as a whole, the month of July just past was somewhat hotter than the same month last year, according to the monthly weather report issued Thursday by J. W. Lyle, head of the government weather bureau at the Texas Electric Service company.

The mean maximum temperature—it was a mean month—was 100.80 degrees, which means that the mercury stayed above the 100-degree mark so much of the time that even the lowest of the high temperatures couldn't go low enough to make the average drop below 100. Even the mean minimum was higher that of July last year, the figure last month being 75.55 compared to 73.52 last year. July, 1929, got hotter than July, 1930, only on one single day, and that was when the mercury went to 108, while the best it could do last month was 107. As for minimums, the two months were even, the low mark having been 69 in each case. July last year had 3.71 inches of rain while the past month had less than half an inch.

The complete weather table as issued Thursday follows:

	July, 1930	July, 1929

Rites Today for G. W. Featherston, Pioneer Cattleman and Oil Operator

Funeral services for G. W. (Bill) Featherston, 51, pioneer Clay county cattleman and oil operator and a resident of Wichita Falls for the past two years, who died in a local hospital late Wednesday night, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the home of his sister, Mrs. Mattie Carey, 1508 Tilden street.

Following the services here, the body will be taken overland to Henrietta for interment in Hope cemetery, at the scene of Mr. Featherston's earliest activities in this section. Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, will officiate jointly at the services here. Funeral arrangements will be under the direction of the Dalton-Powell Funeral home.

Mr. Featherston's death followed a sudden attack which necessitated an emergency operation in an effort to save his life.

He moved to Clay county when a boy and became a cowboy, later engaging in the cattle business. After many years of activity in this field, he became interested in the oil industry and had recently been a drilling contractor. His wide business activities also included connections with the George H. Hodgins Detective agency here and other experience in the law enforcement field.

Active pallbearers will be C. B. McConnell, George H. Hodgins, Claude Staton, Albert Paulson, Paul Bush and Jess Anderson.

Besides the widow and the sister here, Mr. Featherston is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frank Ditto of Fort Stockton, Texas; a stepson, John C. Clary of this city; his father, R. B. Featherston of Wichita Falls; two brothers, C. G. of Stringtown, Texas, and R. H. of Wichita Falls; and another sister, Mrs. H. E. Neel of Fort Worth.

Sterling Flays Earle Mayfield

tack made on his candidacy by the defeated gubernatorial aspirant.

Sterling, who will oppose Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the Democratic run-off primary for the governor's office, said:

"Although I invite the support of all good citizens who voted for Earle B. Mayfield in the recent primary, I have not invited Mayfield's support and do not want it.

"Mayfield belongs in the Jim Ferguson camp. In 1918 he and Ferguson entered into an unholy alliance under which the latter attempted to deliver his vest pocket vote over to the former. Evidently they have now entered another alliance of the same sort.

"I consider it fitting and proper that Mayfield and Ferguson, the one elected in 1922 on a klan ticket, and the other defeated on an anti-klan ticket, should be roosting in the same tree. They called each other harsh names all over Texas. But they are birds of a feather, and no doubt they admire each other.

"Mayfield's charges concerning alleged campaign expenditures on my part are merely dying squawks of a discredited politician. His vaporings about alleged violation of the primary election law are too silly to require comment."

YOUTH SHOT BY CANDIDATE

Political Feud Blamed for Wilburton Affray

WILBURTON, Okla., July 31. (AP)—The upshot of a bitter local political feud, County Judge J. W. Callahan of Latimer county today was held in the state penitentiary at McAlester because of high feeling following his shooting here yesterday of 18-year-old Frank Briggs, son of Claud Briggs, Democratic state senate candidate and former state representative. Young Briggs received a scalp wound. He was said to be not seriously wounded.

Witnesses said the shooting came after Callahan, political enemy of the elder Briggs, but not his opponent, came to blows with the youth over the judge's opposition to the senate candidate's successful cause in the Tuesday primary. After officers had spirited Callahan to the penitentiary, they filed charges of assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons against him.

The exact nature of the controversy between Judge Callahan and the youth remained in doubt, although it was understood the boy had voiced objections to personalities he believed Callahan had injected into the campaign. The affray occurred on the street, where Judge Callahan was seated in his parked motor car.

Briggs had been nominated over Bert Kidd, Poteau, in the primary while Callahan was defeated in the race for the judgeship nomination. Known as the "fighting Irishman," a Socialist lawyer, Callahan had for years led radical forces in the county, frequently conflicting with Carlton Weaver, Wilburton publisher and political leader, known as the boy member of the 1906 constitutional convention. Briggs, also an attorney, was a Weaver partisan.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers have not yet learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study discovered a real internal remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. He prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided Pile sufferers everywhere should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Allison Drug store today. They always guarantee it to give you quick and lasting relief or money back.—Adv.

Montana Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 4 Weeks

When stout women can lose fat and at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness.

Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewiston, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

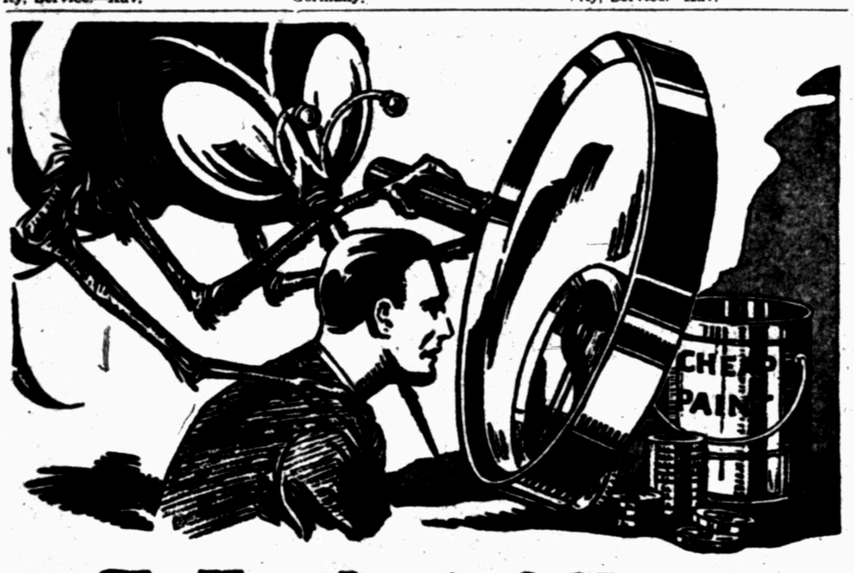

"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Allison Drug store or any drug store in America.—Adv.

Gangland and the Radio
A Gasp for Society
The Harkness Millions
Curtiss' Last Flight
A Girl's Ambition

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Gerald E. Buckley, announcer for radio station WMBC in Detroit has been assailing gangsters, declaring that when they ceased to kill each other and turned their guns on honest citizens, "something must be done." Something was done about it. Buckley was murdered in a hotel lobby by three gunmen. This was soon after he had delivered his evening talk on the radio against gangsters. Buckley will be forgotten because those in authority in Detroit are enmeshed in pistol politics. And this menace exists in every big city in the United States.

Society gasps again. This time it's the wedding of a butler to the great-granddaughter of the duke of Norfolk. The butler is an Italian, employed as major-domo for Baron Esme Howard. The girl is Miss Gytha Stourton, who traces her lineage back to William the Conqueror—and farther back, if necessary.

The man who works is the aristocrat of the 20th century. Society will have to learn to acknowledge this. Prestige is not to be inherited. It must be earned. And it's good for a girl like Miss Stourton to ignore foolish barriers. The example is a healthy one, even if society gasps.

The $10,000,000 Edward S. Harkness endowment that is to go to British education will not be begrudged by Americans. Our own educational institutions have been favored by the same Mr. Harkness to the extent of $50,000,000.

Educating the British youth is as important to the world as educating the American youth. It might be objected that the youths of backward counties are entirely neglected. That is a well-founded objection and should be brought to the attention of such benefactors as Mr. Harkness. A Zulu or Fijian who remains savage may do more harm than an educated American or Britisher can do good.

The death of Glenn H. Curtiss will be lamented by a world benefited through his great achievements in aeronautics. He served the cause of flying indefatigably from 1908, when he flew his first heavier-than-air machine. He designed more than 200 types of planes, all successful, achieving fame the world over. And he began as a newsboy.

Men like Curtiss may have successors, but they are never replaced. The loss of such a figure leaves a real gap. Curtiss was not an imitator. He was an originator, a real pioneer. And there is always only one original.

Leslie Mint, 14-year-old English girl announces she will fly the ocean as soon as she is 17, which is the age at which the authorities will permit her to undertake the trip. Now she is engaged repairing damaged airplanes. The "air" is in her blood. Some day there will be child airplanists and the world will no longer wonder.

A great earthquake in southern Italy leaves widespread devastation. Hundreds are dead and injured. The shocks are felt in Rome, and Naples reports the tremblor the worst in its history. All eyes now turn to Mussolini, who will use his well-known energy in relief work and forget for the time being his ambitions to war on France.

Cleveland has to abandon a new traffic light which turns green at the sound of an automobile horn. It works too well. A continual series of horns keep the light green. A piece of mechanism more intelligent than an automobile driver is a bit ahead of the times.

Accordin' to the newspapers the country must be alive with 'em, but in all the drivin' I do, here, there, an' ever'where I've never yit run onto a sheriff's posse," remarked Lile Kite, as he tossed aside his newspaper. Drought stories from Memphis, Tenn., report a baby three months old who has never seen a drop of rain. He probably wouldn't recognize it if he saw one, anyway.

A Chicago sword swallorer nearly choked on a dime. And the dime is considered such a small tip, too.

Those Mills Still Grind Slowly

NEITHER the furor of a primary election nor a sustained altitude flight of over-worked thermometers has proved sufficient to divert public attention entirely from the economic condition now prevalent in this country, and throughout the world generally.

Profundity and width which baffles the average mind does not deter the average citizen from tackling the problem of economic distribution. His thought and expressions on the subject are born more of desperation than of actual hope of contributing materially to a solution. But the gropings of his mind, stimulated by a well-founded conviction that things are not "all right with the world," are certain to sense vaguely some underlying currents which must be changed by mankind in general before any material and permanent change in economic conditions is effected.

Elements on the surface are easily detected and classified. For instance, few there are who would envy the wheat farmer who brings a 60-pound bushel of hard wheat to town and receives in exchange therefor the price of six loaves of bread—and bread, at that, from which some of the elements of wheat requisite to the best health of the human body has been removed. Despite many exceptions, it is obvious to a blind man that in every community today there are many heads of families sincerely desirous of working from sun to sun, if necessary, six days a week in order to provide fairly for their families, but who are denied by existing conditions the privilege of making any such exchange of utilities. Even the most confirmed provincial knows that production of raw materials of all kinds has been and is prolific—widespread efforts at curtailment bespeak the abundance of the earth's products. Yet thousands of persons in every state actually want for lack of food—not to mention clothing—and for adequate opportunity to obtain it.

There are many whose greatest interest in the political selection now under way in Texas lies in their hope that by some happy, mysterious stroke of fortune they may loosen the bands which seem to have gripped the economic machinery of this nation. Overhauling or alteration of any machine, however, requires a thorough knowledge of the formation of its parts, and the manner of their assembly. The phase of world history which has brought the human race to its present state is one of great magnitude. The spirit of conquest and exploitation, constantly vitalized by human competition, has sufficed to people the earth with civilized nations and to make man master of powerful elements in nature.

So long, praised as "the life of trade," competition has wrought the marvels of world-building of which a 10,000-years' history is constructed. It has been accompanied by gradual development of the economic structure under which we now live—all by creation of recurrent generations through their acknowledged leaders. Possession has been the keynote of individual and collective endeavor. Competition has served a laudable purpose—but perhaps it also has imposed a new and greater responsibility upon collective human intelligence.

Commerce, transportation, communication, science and art have revealed to the human mind the vast richness of which human life may consist. There remains to be evolved that new world philosophy which will devote the best thought and energy of modern peoples to the ask of making available to every normal citizen the fullest measure of life. Intensive cultivation of opportunities for the development of well-rounded, life-loving human beings is only in the beginning. When the enrichment of life for every individual, to the extent of his capacity, becomes the highest goal of human endeavor instead of superlative property rights, a new and more equitable scheme of economic distribution will result naturally, and will cease to be a paramount issue.

Well, They Did It

CIRCUMSTANCES which have combined to place the concert singer either before a microphone or on the lists of unemployed and to make ownership of an automobile by the American family merely a granted fact have opened a field for a new type of concerting. One which may offer an increasing boon to at least some of the music teachers whose summers are as fertile as the Sahara, and may in some measure establish their performances as of some intrinsic value.

A family of three from Breckenridge, all teachers of instrumental music, decided this spring that while the concert field is practically extinct for the ranking artists whose daily fees ranged from $500 to $2,500 each, there might be sufficient place for the "home-talent" artist to earn himself a good vacation. Particularly because concert tours have been so completely abandoned, and because residents of smaller cities might welcome a deviation from entertainment gleaned exclusively from the air.

This enterprising trio set out from Breckenridge during the first week in July, has now played its way to the Northwest, is giving concerts now in Washington state, and has concerts booked for its return during August to the home town. Glacier National and Yellowstone National park, besides less celebrated wonderlands of the Rockies, have become experiences rather than dreams. Such programs as they have given lacked the glamour and huge guarantees which were the willing audiences, and have provided at least this family of teachers with a far more pleasant summer than members of that profession usually have.

Admonition

Never you mind the vows I shattered,
I was only a careless lad;
Think of the nights when moonlight spattered
All of the glowing trysts we had;
Never you mind the glamour vanished,
Love is only a fleeting guest;
Think of the somber ghosts we banished
Long ago when you loved me best.

Why remember the night we parted?
Love goes over and love goes past;
Turn instead to the time we started
Drunk with beauty too keen to last;
Why go raking the ashy embers?
Little comfort in that, my dear,
Be like a lad who still remembers
Dreams that fled with the vanished year. —Don Wahn.

By Way of Report

Well, we fooled you again. We didn't go on any vacation at all. We heard that it was 107 on the Atlantic City sands, when it was only 99 here in Manhattan, and after wilting that day under dozens of 2,000 watt lamps at Warner Brothers' studio we decided to take our holiday at a later date. So sorreh to disappoint you all like that, but flat, it under your page of Dirty Tricks.

Speaking of the Warners' flicker, Madge Evans, the adorable leading lady, will be something to cheer you when that film is shown in October. Roy Mack's adroit direction made it a pleasure for the entire cast of '0 to labor in the excessive heat. Ed DuPar's camera crew of grand guys rate a salute and Wallace Sullivan's scenario is one that any critic should lustily applaud.

All the male members in the picture were good, except one.

Incidentally

It is J. S. McCulley who suggests that they be called "Mushin' Pictures."

Wisey

And it was Bugs Baer, the newspaper comedian, who once flipped, "The only difference in writing a column and being an actor is that when you are an actor you can tell right away when your stuff isn't funny.

Gag

Among other photoplay anecdotes is the one that involves Arthur Caesar, formerly of The Hardened Artery, but now Hollywood's best professional insulter. An independent movie producer was worried about his first film, so he summoned Caesar for counsel. In the projection room after the chin-ema had been run, he said: "Nu? Wot have you got to suggast?"

"You have a fortune in that movie," said Arthur without revealing any emotion.

"How do you mean?" asked the man.

"Cut it up," was the devastating retort "and sell it for mandolin picks."

In Other Words

Take it from a lad just back from the West Coast—most of those movie producers were born with silver knives in their mouths!

Drama

He is one of the powers in the underworld and he is respected by his crew because he fears nothing. He got rich via the racket route. Some time ago he was urged to invest a heavy sum in a "decent" business with which he was not familiar and the problems that confronted him made him gray and ill.

He was discussing the horror of it with some newspapermen the other day, who had called to interview him regarding a racket in that trade.

"Lissen!" he almost wept. "I know nothing about why there is a racket—they blame me for everything. If I am such a menace in that business then get someone to buy me out—give me back my original investment. I've never had such headaches and heartaches until I turned straight and entered a legitimate business!"

A Form of Criticism

The following stanza is but one of several submitted by one of those lads who waste a lotta time hating New York. His contribution is too long for publication here, but here it is in part:

As a columnist you entertain
In your superficial way,
But to me an orchid can't compete
With a darn good load of hay.
—Yokel.

Yokel Boy Makes Good in Big City!

The Pity of It

Not long ago she was adored by armies of film fans, but she lost her prestige and station Out There when it became known she was a drug hound. Friends and former admirers showered her with coin to help her Pull Herself Together.

But she is tottering again and last week gave the hotel where she dwells something to worry about. The management summoned a physician to quiet her and the hypodermic put her to sleep. The doctors ordered her locked in, but the following day found her still under the influence of heavy dope, and no one could figure out how she got her hands on the stuff which doesn't work if you sneeze.

It appears that when she was locked in one room, she moved into another of four suites which she pays for—each room containing a secret place for her "snow."

Scene

Al Howard, when he had it, was one of the few lads at the racetracks who lifted the fuzz on your arms with his daring wagers. He frequently wagered as high as $50,000 on a horse.

One day at the track after dropping such a sum on a steed that came in second, he laughed loud and long.

"You amaze me," said a pal. "How can you laugh that way after losing $50,000 on that nag?"

"I'm not laughing at myself," answered Al, "I'm laughing at those $100 bettors next to me who are crying."

Did Her Face Get Red???

Her name doesn't matter. Let it suffice to say that she is a London actress, very beautiful and talented—and adored by a duke. Their romance is the talk of London, which made it all the easier for Noel Coward to think up a flip crack for her.

Coward encountered her at a party. "Hullo, Isabel," swiftied Noel. "I hear you're now a duchess—in your own wrong!"

"STEP-CHILD"

BY ROB EDEN

Kay Smith can remember nothing about her past, not even her name and is trying to establish her true identity. She loves Dane Talbot, though he is engaged to another. Kay is subjected to a gruelling examination by detectives who believe she is Kitty Banning, a notorious confidence woman, but proves to them that they are mistaken.

CHAPTER XX.

Kay was amazed one morning, soon after, when Julie phoned and asked her to go to lunch.

It was the first overture Julie had made toward friendship. Her voice had seemed pleasant, more pleasant than usual. Of course Kay had agreed to go. There was nothing to do.

She was a little puzzled, though, when the noon hour came and she hurried down the street to the tea shop where Julie said she would be waiting. What had made Julie ask her? Something about Dane? Kay was sure that was it. She had seen Dane at the office only in the last few days. True, he had called her in yesterday for a talk but her visit there had been short.

Julie was not in sight when she went into the tea shop, so she sat down at one of the tables to wait, telling the waitress to reserve another place.

She knew Julie didn't like her, felt it, instinctively. There was what Gordon had said—that Julie was jealous. That was a little ridiculous, she thought, for Dane had not been attentive to her. She would have liked him to be, but he wasn't.

Would it be best to leave his office? Find a job some place else so she wouldn't be seeing him every day? It was getting rather hard, as Edith had said it would, feeling he was near, and knowing he loved another girl.

Julie came in presently, smiled coldly as she took the seat opposite Kay. As usual, she was beautifully dressed. She flung a squirrel coat over the back of her chair, as casually as if it had been some cheap, unwanted garment.

Kay could not help envying the dress she wore, deep rich wine colored, the hat to match, moulded so closely to her head, making her dark eyes glow, and spreading the faintest of flushes through her pale skin. Julie was beautiful, there was no doubting that. Beautiful in a tropical lush way. A sinuous grace about her long limbs.

She made no apologies for being late, and immediately ordered luncheon for two.

"I suppose you wonder why I asked you to lunch today," she began as soon as the waitress had left the table. Kay did, and admitted it. She knew from Julie's attitude that the girl wasn't planning to be especially friendly.

Julie's voice, a little sharp as she continued. Sharp and grating.

"It's about Gordon—"

Gordon? Kay was amazed. What was the matter with Gordon? Why should Julie ask her here to talk about Gordon?

"Gordon't the only brother I have, as you know, and as he's younger than I am, I must look out for him."

But why—

Kay was more than a little relieved that Julie was talking about Gordon instead of Dane. She didn't know why she had thought Julie would discuss Dane but she had.

"It does me no good to talk to Gordon. He's stubborn, and mulish, and I've tried. So I came to you, and will put everything up to you squarely. He's in love with you. I suppose you know. He said that he told you." Julie's voice took on more edge.

Kay had completely forgotten Gordon't avowal, but now she remembered, and blushed. There was nothing she could say.

"He has the very crazy idea in his head that he's going to marry you."

Kay was embarrassed. "I—saw the picture, and stopped to look at it," she murmured.

"I—" the girl exclaimed, but Julie interrupted her. "Please let me finish."

"A Good Marriage"

Kay sank again into silence.

"It's just what I don't want, of course, for Gordon must make a good marriage. You see that, don't you? I don't have to go into details. He's a fine boy, with a career ahead of him, if he has money, position behind him. He must have it."

The waitress stopped Julie for a few moments. Lunch had arrived. Kay started to eat. She was very hungry. She noticed that Julie ate very little, barely touched the food in front of her.

"You realize that if you married Gordon, he would get nowhere. His career would stop as soon as it started. You have nothing to offer him. No family—money—nothing. Gordon is a boy who needs these things. He isn't making enough money now to even support a wife. Practically nothing. You understand my interest in him. My brother, my hopes for him?"

Kay didn't know why she wasn't furiously angry. She went on calmly eating as if Julie were talking mere nothings. Of course she had no money, no family—not even a name. Dane had given her the one she used. She loved it because he had given it to her. She would always love it—even if she found her real one later.

No family. Julie had been scornful about that. No money.

"Gordon will get over his infatuation for you, if you give him no more encouragement. That's what I'm asking. It might be better, even, if you changed your position, went to another office, so he wouldn't see you every day. I've friends, many of them, who will give you another position, probably more money than you're getting now. As I said, Gordon is young, he doesn't know his own mind yet—too young to marry."

Poor Gordon. Kay felt very sorry for him. If he knew that his sister was talking to her, making arrangements, embarrassing him. He was so decent. Would Julie always be interfering with him? Managing him?

"What I'm suggesting is the best for him. He doesn't know it yet. He's—rather blind now about you, about everything. But he'll see I'm right later—"

Kay wondered how she would feel if she loved Gordon? To have Julie talk like this. Furious, she supposed. Now she was only sorry for the boy . . .

Bitter Thoughts

"Have you anything to say?" Julie asked coldly. She made further pretense of eating her lunch. Julie was not herself. Kay knew that. She was trying to be herself.

Q.—What is the best way to rescue a drowning person?—C. L.

A.—In Swimming Scientifically Taught by Frank E. Dalton, the author says: Of the many different ways of saving life, the safest and best method is to swim as near the person as possible, then dive under and come up behind him; otherwise he is liable to grab you around the neck with a death clutch, from which it is extremely difficult to escape. When swimming up behind the person, grab his biceps and force him on his back; the more he struggles, the more he helps himself to keep afloat.

Q.—How many trade schools is Henry Ford to build?—J. R.

A.—The April 1930 School Review says Henry Ford has announced that he will build schools in various parts of the country and while he did not know their exact number or location, he said the nucleus would be the Edison Institute of Technology, founded last year at Dearborn, Mich., during the celebration of the Golden Anniversary of the electric light. There is an apprentice school at Detroit, Mich., known as the Henry Ford Training School.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Desserts

The recipes given in this booklet have been collected from many famous hostesses, including women who are or have been prominent in the official circles of the nation's capital. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, for example, tells how she makes butter scotch pie, and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair gives her recipe for Missouri lemon pie. There are scores of equally interesting recipes for pies, puddings, cakes, cookies, doughnuts, assorted desserts, and salads, and the booklet is one that should be in every kitchen cabinet.

MEXICO URGES AMERICAN PACT

Retaliation Against U. S. Tariff Asked

MEXICO CITY, July 31. (AP)—Mexico's secretary of communications recommends that his country join the United States in the event of war but at the same time counsels retaliation against American tariffs.

The minister, General Juan Andreu Almazan, submitted the recommendation for a war time alignment to President Ortiz Rubio yesterday, saying he had become convinced of its necessity following a trip through the United States.

"In the event of any conflict whatsoever in which our gigantic neighbor may become involved," his report said, "Mexico should without vacillation . . . place itself on the side of the United States.

"This is the only way of lessening danger to our own nation and subsequently obtaining advantages ourselves."

His attitude toward the United States tariff, however was that Mexico should open up to European goods, lowering or entirely removing the duties upon them.

He also advocated free ports along the border, thus permitting merchants on the Mexican side to compete with those on the American

General Almazan recommended that Mexico should re-acquire lands in Lower California now owned by foreigners, changing the Americanized names of places back to the original Spanish and turning the property over for colonization by unemployed Mexicans.

In addition, the minister urged legislation to prevent foreigners from acquiring land in Mexico in the future. Referring to what he said was a movement in Arizona to gain control of a strip of Mexican territory which would connect that state with the gulf of Lower California, he advocated that Mexico build a harbor on the gulf and connect it with central Sonora by good roads.

He said American capitalists had pledged $25,000,000 toward the project and that his scheme would forestall it.

King Opposed To River Agreement

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Opposition to any agreement with Mexico involving recognition of that nation's claim to any waters of the Colorado river was expressed today by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, in a letter to Secretary Stimson.

Referring to newspaper reports that Ambassador Morrow was seeking an agreement whereby Mexico would be awarded half the waters from Boulder dam, and the United States would purchase water unused by Mexico, with the income thus derived going to pay claims of American citizens against the southern republic, the Utahan wrote:

"If the negotiations referred to are being conducted by Ambassador Morrow for the purpose of securing compensation on account of the losses sustained by American citizens, it is to be hoped that success will attend his efforts.

"But if the negotiations rest upon the assumption that Mexico has any interest in the waters of the Colorado river for which she must be paid by the United States, then the sooner such negotiations are terminated, the better it will be for the United States.

"The waters of the Colorado river are owned and controlled by citizens of the United States. Neither the republic of Mexico nor any of its citizens are entitled to the use of any of the waters of the Colorado river."

Officer's Shot Fatal To Youth in Emporia

EMPORIA, Kan., July 31. (AP)—Charles Dickey, the youth shot Tuesday by Tom Murphy, a policeman, died here late last night. A coroner's inquest into the wild ride through the city on which Dickey was shot when a police squad tried to halt him and another youth, was scheduled for today. Dickey's companions told officers they drank home brew and started driving rapidly up and down the main street and that he had cautioned Dickey against speeding.

Ford Plant Dismisses Entire Barcelona Crew

BARCELONA, Spain, July 31. (AP)—Six hundred men, representing the entire production staff of the Ford assembly plant here were dismissed today.

The management gave as its reasons general business depression and uncertainty as to how badly the new Spanish tariff would hurt industry.

Girl Dies With Mother and Aunt in Attempt to Save Lives in Blaze

WICHITA, Kan., July 31. (UP)—Rushing back into her burning home in an attempt to save mother, Grace Kasparek, 15, perished with her mother, Mrs. Mary Kasparek, and her aunt, Mrs. Anne Socha, in the blaze at McPherson, Kan., today.

Bodies of the three women were found in the ashes of the home after the blaze destroyed the building.

Mrs. Kasparek was awakened by the flames about 4 a. m. Her two sons, Ed and Lee, and Ed's wife, all on the second floor, climbed through a window and dropped to safety. While Ed sought to get help Lee plunged into the flaming building and dragged Anna Grace to safety.

Screaming, "mother is in there," the girl bolted back into the house. Others dared not enter as the house was falling.

The aunt, of Durant, Okla., apparently never escaped from her room. Her body was found in the basement of the house with the charred fragments of the bed which fell when the flooring gave way.

FARMERS HEAR TRADE OUTLOOK

Short Course Class Told of Foreign Threat

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 31. (AP)—The outlook for foreign competition looming larger and larger market conditions should have a bigger place in guiding both the quantity and quality of farmers' production, Lawrence Westbrook, organization manager of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association of Dallas, told the men's group at the farmers' short course here today.

"Premiums or penalties, as the case may be, should be credited by or assessed against the grower in order to provide the necessary incentive," he said.

Dr. E. O. Baker, of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture, discussed the land utilization aspects of the world's agricultural situation, and Jack Shelton, manager of the Luling Foundation farm, spoke on short cuts in cotton costs.

Dr. Baker said that due to America's declining birth rate it is not certain that more farm land will be needed to feed and clothe the country.

Officers of the Texas Agricultural Writers' conference were elected as follows: R. E. Zeiske, Bellville Times, president; Henry Ansley, El Paso Times, vice president; Mrs. M. R. Bentley, Bryan Eagle, secretary.

The first three high places in the terracing contest for boys were won by Larcus Pace of Montague county, Eldridge Summers of Montague county, and Bonnie Zachary of Taylor county. They received gold, silver and bronze medals.

Convicted Jurist Denies Tax Charges

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Former Kings county Judge W. Bernard Vause, under sentence of six years in federal prison for mail fraud, appeared before Federal Judge Shepherd today and pleaded not guilty to charges of falsifying his income tax return for 1926.

It is in connection with this return that the government hopes to force Vause to make revelations concerning his "services" in obtaining pier permits for the United American line, for which the government contends the line paid him $250,000.

Vause's bail was fixed at $2,500 and hearing set for Sept. 18.

Bootlegging Rivalry Blamed for Murders

CHICAGO, July 31. (UP)—Rivalry over liquor profits was the reason behind the two latest gangland murders in Chicago, detectives said today as they ran down meager clews.

August Pusateri Jr., 19, was slain last night, the second victim of the day. Pusateri was described by police as "small fry in the racketeering business."

Dominick Falduto, 30, was the first victim of gangland vengeance earlier in the day.

PILOT BATTLES SNAKE IN AIR

Rattler Causes Moments Of Unpleasantness

HAYS, Kan., July 31. (AP)—Pilot "Happy" Wiggins of Oakley, Kan., today was regaling friends with the story of a battle with a rattlesnake while flying his plane 4,500 feet above the badlands of southern Logan county yesterday.

Wiggins said the snake coiled in readiness to strike twice but each time it missed its mark when he maneuvered the plane to throw it off balance.

Finally the unwelcome passenger climbed upon the seat with him and as it looked over the rim of the cockpit he sent it hurtling out into space with his gasoline measuring stick, said Higgins. At one stage, he said, he would have jumped if he had had a parachute.

The pilot is a salesman for an Oakley produce house and covers his western Kansas territory in the plane.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. Many men had shut their minds to the possibility of change. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated in this operation. Finally the way was found and old methods gave place to new.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car. All of these things are done in the interest and the service of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

Passing Middle Age Safely

If you have not paid attention to your health before middle age you may then find it necessary to make a study of this important subject. The time spent in understanding and practicing the habits of health at this particular age not only prolongs the golden period of middle life, but acts to prevent a bedridden old age.

During middle age the poor habits of living which have been carried on for years begin to take their toll. Little mistakes in eating begin to cause indigestion. Slight over-fatigue begins to bring on headaches. The patient becomes aware that his bodily forces are not being renewed as in youth.

One of the worst features of middle age is the constipation which so often accompanies it. Due to years of wrong diet, without enough roughage, and to the flabby abdominal muscles, which are the result of indoor work of today, the colon, after forty is, in most people, not able to perform its full share of elimination.

High blood pressure and arterial hardening are also common hazards at this time. Patients with high blood pressure complain of pressure in the head, ringing in the ears, and inability to sleep. When the arteries become hardened and thickened, they do not carry the blood freely to the various organs, and in severe cases these blood vessels may even give way and cause hemorrhages. By keeping the blood pressure down and keeping the arteries flexible, many serious attacks of apoplexy could be avoided. Heart trouble, kidney trouble and rheumatism are other disorders which should be guarded against during middle age.

The gradual decline in physical strength after forty is due, to a large extent, to changes in the ductless glands. Suddenly taking on weight, or becoming thin and wrinkled, after forty, are signs of harmful changes taking place in some of these glands. One of the best methods for improving the condition of the glands is to take short fasts, as this tends to normalize their secretion. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the noted English physician, says, "An occasional fast is beneficial for the middle aged, and especially if there is a tendency to obesity."

Women have learned to fear this period of life. However, nearly all of their troubles might be avoided if the proper dietetic and hygienic rules were followed. Almost every one of this age has some degree of prolapsus of the stomach and other visceral organs which press down upon the large intestine, further hampering its action and elimination. The chemical result is that toxic material finds its way into the blood stream and the body thus poisons itself.

After forty you should cut down on the starches and meats and use more fresh vegetables, raw salads and fruits. More systematic exercise is needed after forty. The body rusts out more quickly than it wears out, and regular exercises and the right diet will keep it flexible and ward off the rusting process.

Mental exercise is just as important as physical exercise. A man or woman makes a great mistake who tries to retire from active mental work. Proper mental activities without undue strain promote happiness at this time of life. Your accumulation of knowledge and experience should enable you to enjoy the maturer years of your life if you will make the effort to preserve your health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Correct Blood Pressure

Question—R. J. asks:—"What, as a rule, is the correct blood pressure of a man 68 years old and in good health and spirits? Mine is 160 systolic and 100 diastolic. Many thanks for your information and advice."

Answer—The systolic blood pressure should range between 118 and 132 millimeters at any adult age, but perhaps 145 millimeters would not be too high if you have a tendency to high blood pressure. Your present blood pressure is certainly too high but can be easily reduced through living on a careful diet.

Packing Lunches

Question—O. J. asks:—"Will you kindly give me a few suggestions as to what would make a wholesome and nourishing lunch to be carried to work? Up to the present my lunch has consisted of bread and meat or jam sandwiches. I am quite aware how faulty that is considered, so would appreciate your help very much."

Answer—You can put up a good lunch with real wholewheat bread sandwiches, and also add some nonstarchy vegetables which can be kept warm in a thermos bottle. Be sure to get the real wholewheat bread. At luncheon the sandwiches may be freshly buttered, and peanut butter or lettuce added. Such cooked vegetables as the following may be used in the thermos bottle: spinach, asparagus, string beans, squash, celery. In addition, add to the lunch some fresh raw salad vegetables such as lettuce or celery, drapped in a damp cloth which will keep them crisp until noon. I will be glad to send you an article on the subject of packing lunches if you will send me a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Shouse Caustically Derides 'Handbook'

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Jouette Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, issued a statement today commenting caustically on the forthcoming Hoover handbook being compiled as a review of administration achievements.

That the administration was compiling such a record on White House orders was exclusively reported by the United Press this week.

"The forthcoming book doubtless will be formidable in bulk," Shouse said, "but will hardly be convincing to the farmer selling his wheat at 60 cents a bushel, to the manufacturer forced to run at half time or less because of the crippling of foreign markets, to the merchant as he contemplates his almost empty aisles or to the man out of a job."

Steamer Damaged in Collision Off Gibraltar

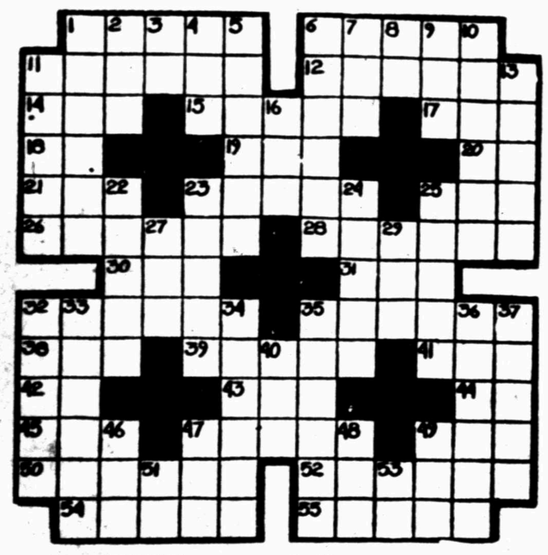

CADIZ, Spain, July 31. (INS)—The British Indian steamer Nerbudda, 7,911 tons, was seriously damaged today in a collision with the Spanish steamer Legazpi, 100 miles east of Gibraltar, according to reports received here.

The crew of Nerbudda, believed to be in a sinking condition, was transferred to the Legazpi.

The consideration was announced to be $185,000.

LOOP PREXY DENIES WICHITA VALLEY LEAGUE WILL DISBAND

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

What the Prize Is

With interest in the Spudder contest to pick the fastest runner between the plate and first becoming more evident every day, it has become necessary for us to announde the nature of the prize we will award the winner. We expected to keep this a secret for quite a few days yet, but a number of fans are wondering what they are going to get out of all their labor.

Well the prize is this: A brand new baseball autographed by the Spudder who is the fastest between the plate and first.

Now get to work and think out your answer and send it to the Rambler quickly, for the team will be home soon.

She Picks Crouch

More answers came in yesterday. Here they are:

"Dear Rambler:

"In your contest as to the fastest man from the plate to first, it is hard to decide, none of them are slow. But I think Jack Crouch is the fastest.

"Mrs. M. Stripling, 1610 Cole street."

He Picks Burns

"Dear Rambler:

"In answer to the question as to the fastest runner from home plate to first, I believe Jack Burns will win. There seems to be a magnet in his right front finger that just keeps him moving along.

"Boots Morris, 1600 Eleventh street."

Picks Himself and Storti

"Dear Rambler:

"After Mr. Parrott and Mr. Chamberlain as well as all of the other fans have tried to pick the fastest runner between home and first, I will now give you the correct answer to this question.

"I actually believe that I can out run any of the men already picked, so that leaves only one left, that is the fast and mighty Mr. Storti. Thanks to Mr. Storti for making it possible for me to win the prize.

"Joe Golden, Continental Oil Supply company."

Still Another Solution

Come to think of it, under certain conditions the old Rambler could win that prize himself. For instance, if pre-war beer and pretzels were announced as available in Burkburnett this hot afternoon, you could count on the Rambler making the distance in 8:33:27¼ exactly.

SCHEDULE TO BE COMPLETED

Longhorns Willing to Stay If Others Stick

The Wichita Valley league, though crippled by accidents and dissension, has not officially disbanded, and the schedule as formulated the first of the season will be followed to a conclusion even if only two teams remain in the loop, William B. Ward, league president, announced Thursday afternoon.

The announcement followed an erroneous report in the Daily Times of Thursday afternoon stating five clubs in the league had voted to disband, leaving the Archer City team, runner-up to the first place Panhandle Longhorns, as the undisputed winners of the second half. The announcement was credited to Charles Cook, secretary of the league. Cook denied he had announced the clubs had voted to disband.

Newtown Loses Players

The alleged "blowup" of the league came as a complete surprise to League President Ward, who immediately called on Cook for an explanation.

Cook explained there had been no official agreement to disband, but that the Iowa Park team was without a skipper, Newtown is minus seven players, who lost their oil field jobs and their baseball ambitions at the same time, and that the Byers team is nearing the "red" on account of out-of-town games. W. I. Pettit, Cook said, has resigned as manager of the Iowa Park team. Virgil Vincent, skipper of the Byers team said, according to Cook, that while the enclosed park at Byers drew good crowds, there was not a similar interest in the games in other towns where there was no such park, and that on nearly every trip the Byers team lost money.

President Ward stated none of these set-backs had been reported officially to him but that he would investigate and see if remedies could be found.

Willing to Stick

Cook, manager of the Panhandle Longhorns, denied the league had been disbanded on account of a ruling by the Texas Amateur Athletic federation raaking the Valley league champions ineligible to play in the state championship tournament. The Longhorns recently entered the Twilight City league, which they now lead, in order to be eligible for the state tourney. Cook, however, said Thursday his team would continue to play in the Wichita Valley league, if the loop remained intact, even if they had to play two games each time the schedule called for one.

The Archer City team has no ailments, and is rarin' to go at the drop of the hat.

Miniature Golf Isn't Golf, Court Holds

WASHINGTON, July 31. (INS)—That little game called "miniature golf" and sometimes referred to as Tom Thumb and even "moron golf," acording to the state of one's mind, is not golf, nor is it a "kindred game," according to a decision of Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in district supreme court here.

The decision was on a mandamus action brought by W. L. Koontz and others to compel Superintendent of Licenses Wade H. Combs, to issue a permit to operate one of the midget courses that are appearing all over the country.

Justice Wheat decided that the course could be operated on payment of the $100 fee charged annually for commercial enterprises, instead of the $5 a day fee Combs charges the full size regular golf courses.

Carnera Asks Extension Of Visitor's Permit

His permit has expired and the immigration service has ordered him to return to Italy. Carnera will appear before the board of review, probably late today or tomorrow and present reasons why he should be given an extension of time.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—A further decline which established new low records for the season in cotton here during the day's early trading was followed by rallies on some trade buying and covering prompted by less favorable weather reports than some recent sellers had expected and the firmer tone of the grain market.

The new December contract after selling off to 12.41, rallied to 12.55 and closed at 12.52 or net unchanged. The general market closed steady, net 3 points higher to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and the hope of further showers or rains in the Southwest.

Four private end July crop reports were issued during the day, two of which gave figures on the indicated yield, one of them placing it at 13,412,000 bales while the other made it 14,373,000 bales.

As today was the last of the present season the statistics were incomplete. According to preliminary figures exports for the day were 17,356 bales, making 6,841,516 so far for the season subject to revision. Port receipts were 13,412. U. S. port stocks were 1,535,056 according to the preliminary estimates.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 31. (AP)—Cotton showed slightly less activity today, and prices developed no very definite trend. There was an early decline of 14 to 15 points due to lower cables than due and to private reports of rains in the West coupled with a bearish feeling produced by the weak closing yesterday of stocks and wheat. Later the market recovered 12 to 14 points to within 2 points of the previous close on two bullish private condition estimates one making the condition average 64.3 and the other 67.3 both showing about the same deterioration for the month of 4.8 and 5 per cent. One of the authorities reported the indicated yield at only 13,412,000 bales.

The market ruled quiet all afternoon with very little price movement and closed steady, the general tone showing net declines for day of 2 to 4 points.

Liverpool came in 1 to 3 points worse than due and first trades here showed losses of 7 to 9 points. Prices continued to ease off after the start on selling by ring traders until October traded at 12.25 and December at 12.43 down 14 to 15 points from the previous close.

The market rallied later in the morning and prices recovered all the early loss. October trading up to 12.57 and December to 12.56 up 12 to 14 points from the lows. Prices showed few variations during the afternoon and October closed at 12.36 December 12.46 and May 12.93 or 2 to 4 points net lower for the day.

Port receipts 7,461; for week 31,765; for season 8,105,223; last season 9,557,256. Exports 17,456, for week 31,869, for season 6,658,894; last season 7,949,925. Stocks Stage Partial Recovery Under Strong Professional Buying

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 31 (US)—Stocks today recovered part of the loss suffered the previous day. Attempts to bring out additional large-scale liquidation failed after the initial trading period passed and overnight selling had been absorbed on further reaction. The bears had no support from the commodities, the majority of which also were firmer, and several endeavors to unsettle the stock list failed. Professional buying, chiefly covering of short commitments, together with some renewed buying attracted by the sharp break in prices, overcame the professional pressure and practically the entire list enjoyed a comeback from the morning lows.

The recovery was highly irregular, however, the leading industrials finishing the day about three points higher on the average, while the railroad shares were still under light pressure and the utilities, depressed by the unexpected Consolidated Gas of New York announcement it may cut electrical rates sharply, were in supply.

The market undoubtedly continued a highly professional affair, although the volume remained above two million shares. Attempt was made to explain the severe Wednesday break as chiefly due to liquidation for the account of a large "outside" investment house, but the market's action seemed to indicate adjustment of its own internal structure. The bull leaders, of the speculative phase of the market, maintain their bullishness, although their confidence was rudely shaken by the market's break.

The Consolidated Gas announcement, with its suggestion that electrical rates in New York may be lowered over 20 per cent, naturally unsettled the utility list, for fear it may extend throughout the country. Such a movement, it is argued, may necessitate revision of the valuations placed on utility stocks. It is important to realize, however, that the public utility stocks seem to have displaced the railroad shares as the "backbone investments" of the country. Stocks which enjoyed the largest rally today were those usually accepted as the market leaders. Steel closed up 1¼ points, American Can, selling ex-dividend, up 2¾, General Electric 1¾, Union Carbide 1¾, and General Motors ½. There was little spirit to the rally, but new activities are planned in various stocks. Lorillard was an outstanding strong spot, advancing 1¾ points on reports that a powerful new group had been formed in the stock. American Tobacco "B" gained over two points on investment buying attracted by its recession with the list. Selling of the rails continued, except in such instances where the short interest had become overcrowded, as in Southern Railway, which regained over two points. There has been considerable speculative buying of Southern on the theory that its peculiar preferred stock proviso, which may force discontinuance of dividends next year unless it is changed, has been overdone market-wise.

Gillette Safety Razor was the sensation of the day, running up over five points on announcement here that the Auto-Strop deal was practically consummated.

Oil stocks showed a somewhat firmer tendency, in response to more cheerful trade news. Studebaker held firm despite reduction of the dividend to $3 basis from the $4 rate which had been established at the last meeting, prior to which $5 annually had been paid. The copper shares generally were firm, as additional evidence came to light of sustained foreign demand for the metal, with the seeming suggestion that the present price of the metal represents bottom.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Print cloth markets have eased on reports of wage reductions in some southern mills. Fine cottons are inquired for more frequently. Sales of rayon fabrics to be made have been increasing. Flannel prices for fall are to be maintained according to an announcement by the largest producers. Silk merchandise was selling more freely. Spot calls for suitings and overcoatings were increasing a little. More retail buyers were in the markets.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 31. (AP)—Wheat and corn closed sharply higher on the Fort Worth cash grain market today, following the advance in the contract markets. Fair to good demand was reported for both grains while oats and sorghums were slow. Practically all prices are based on normal values, trade continuing light and few sales being posted. Heavy offerings of any grain would probably find hard selling.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 44 cars; corn, 41 oats, 2; sorghums, 7.

Wheat—Exporters were bidding 90½@91c for ordinary export grain delivered Texas gulf ports. Mills bid 91@91½c for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points:

Corn—No. 2 mixed $1.00½@1.01½; No. 2 white $1.05½@1.06½; No. 2 yellow $1.04½@1.05½.

Oats—No. 2 red, 44@47c.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 99c@$1.00; No. 2 white corn $1.04@1.05; No. 2 yellow corn $1.03@1.04. No. 3 white oats 44½@45c, to which add one cent for delivery Texas group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—Extraordinary shriveling up of the 1930 corn crop led fresh soaring of corn prices today, and helped to rally the wheat market as well.

Losses of corn now reach 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels every 24 hours that general drought continues, it was authoritatively estimated here today.

Export business in wheat from North America, said to total upward of 6,000,000 bushels for the last 48 hours, was an outstanding feature.

Increased profit taking sales brought about late reactions from the day's top figures, with corn and wheat both closing nervous, corn at ⅝@⅞c net gain over yesterday's finish. Wheat and oats both closed 1@1¼c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

Wheat trading was active, but less so than corn, and the advances in wheat quotations came largely from sympathy with corn strength. Oats touched new low price records for the season, but then ascended with other grain.

Notwithstanding declines in hog values, provisions advanced aided by grain price upturns.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Sept. 85¼@85¾c, 88¼@88¼c; Dec. 90¾@90¾c, 93¾@93¾c; March 93¾c, 98¾c. Corn, Sept. 85¾c, 89¼c; Sept. 79⅛@79¾c, 84¾c; March 83c, 88c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 31. (US)—The Iowa weather crop bulletin asserts that corn has suffered further damage in most of the southern and western counties, largely because corn has advanced further into the critical tassel and silk period, with reports showing many fields 75 per cent bobbed.

According to Bartlett Frazier company a letter from Hamburg, Germany dated July 25, points out that rye prospects are decidedly less favorable and that he decrease will range between 500,000 and 750,000 tons from last year.

According to Broomhall, threshing in France is in full swing but there is some delay as many fields are lodged. Threshings are unsatisfactory and first samples are of low natural weight due to excess moisture.

While cool weather over the corn belt has checked deterioration the crop will make little progress until it gets rain, and there is no indication of any general moisture as yet.

E. H. Miller of James E. Bennett & Co., estimates the final wheat crop at 808,000,000 bushels; corn 2,495,00,000; oats 1,278,000,00; and rye 27,701,000.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 31. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by moderate activity on killing classes in most centers at firm to slightly higher prices. Packers, however, continued to fight the advance and with any increase supplies would probably be out to break prices again. Heavy steers this week have moved to a relatively better advantage than the light weights. Chicago scored $11.15 on choice 1,246-pound steers and obtained $10.90 for 1,300-pound averages. A six-car string of strictly good 1,302-pound to 1,398-pound Texas cake fed steers in Kansas City realized $9.00. General rains are needed to stimulate a lagging demand for stocker and feeder steers. Receipts were estimated at 18,500.

Hogs were unevenly steady to 35c lower, butcher weights at some of the river markets holding about steady. The day's extreme top of $9.65 was paid in Chicago. Offerings were around 67,000.

Sheep supply approximated 31,000. Fat lambs found an active outlet at strong to unevenly higher prices, some centers showing gains of 25@50c. Range lambs in Chicago scored $9.25 while at Omaha and St. Jospeh best westerns cleared at $8.75.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 31. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade here today was featured by a firmer undertone to demand for most classes of beef material. The day's receipts were of rather light volume and prices paid for all classes of cattle held steady with occasional sales of shs stock denoting strength or small advances.

Best fed steers and others sold at $6.85 and less. Choice fat yearlings topped at $10.00; light weights $7.25 to $8.00. Good fat cows brought $5.00; butchers $3.75 to $4.25, a few around $4.35 to $4.50. Low cutters produced a series of sales from $2.25 to $3.00, "old sheils" selling at the former price. Good heavy stock steer calves moved at $7.00 and stock heifer calves, of a similar grade, were reported at $6.50.

Good heavy fat calves moved around $6.00 to $6.50 and the plainer grades of weighty averages ranged downward from $5.75.

Light weight vealers sold at $7.25.

Very smooth truck hogs sold to a shipper at the day's top price, $9.15, and best truck hogs to packers were reported at $9.10. Truck hogs sold from $8.90 to $9.10.

Rail hogs brought $8.90.

Aged fat wethers were listed around $3.00 and several decks of plain 2-year-olds remained unsold at a late hour. About 200 head of good fat rail lambs changed hands at $8.75 and some good truck lambs were reported at $8.00, opt not moving at $6.50. Some desirable

DISAGREEMENT IN BOMB CASE

Police Captain Believes Billings Guilty

COURTROOM, San Francisco, July 31. (INS)—Police Captain Charles Goff took the witness stand in the Warren K. Billings pardon hearing before the California supreme court, and revealed that he disagreed with the opinion of his former superior, Captain Duncan Matheson, that Billings should be pardoned along with Tom Mooney.

While Goff indicated that he was still in favor of executive clemency for Mooney, as he recommended six years ago, he said he believed Billings was implicated in the San Francisco Preparedness day bomb explosion of 1916.

Matheson, now San Francisco city treasurer, had told the supreme court that if he were sitting in judgment, he would pardon both Mooney and Billings because they were "unjustly convicted."

Goff repudiated the charges of John MacDonald, confessed perjurer, who accused him of being a party to "framing" Mooney and Billings.

MacDonald had charged that Goff guided his identification of the two prisoners by first pointing out their pictures in the police rogues gallery and later calling them by name from their cells in jail.

'Tippy' Knox Held On Hot Check Count

WASHINGTON, July 31. (INS)—Philander C. Knox, better known to his cronies as "Tippy", son of the late Philander C. Knox, one time secretary of state and senator from Pennsylvania, was free today on $500 bail after his arrest on a charge of passing an alleged worthless check for $279.

Knox, who is 40, and reputed to have shared in the millions left by his father, gave his address as Wild Rose Shares, Md., and his residence at this watering place was indirectly responsible for his predicament.

The complainant, who swore to a warrant, was P. N. Childs, who said Knox gave him the check in payment for a motorboat engine on July 15.

Knox was released after he had been held several hours.

In 1928 he was arrested here on a speeding charge, and walked out of court before his case was called. He forfeited his bond, but later was excused by the court after he had been confined in the district jail for a few hours.

"STEP-CHILD" By ROBBEN

but not succeeding. Was it all for Gordon that she was suggesting this? All? Or did Dane enter in a little? As yet Dane hadn't been mentioned. But Julie was expecting an answer . . .

No family, no name, she thought bitterly. Julie had brought her troubles closer than ever. It was cruel of her.

"You have no reason to worry, Miss Drew," she said after a while.

"You mean?"

"I mean just what I said."

"That you won't marry Gordon?"

"That I won't marry anyone until I know—who I am." Then because she felt she couldn't stay any longer, couldn't bear to see Julie look at her, she arose to leave, mumbling some excuse about having to get back to work. Some way, she stumbled through the tables, and found herself on the street.

Of course she couldn't marry anyone until she knew who she was. And anyway, she hadn't the slightest intention of marrying Gordon Drew. She didn't love him, never could. If Dane—but he didn't love her, and even if he did she couldn't marry him until he knew.

She was warm and uncomfortable as she hurried back to the office and flung herself back at her desk. She was still mulling over the things Julie had said. A job away from the office. Perhaps it would be best, if she didn't see Dane so much. Couldn't look for his smile when he came in every morning, out every noon. Hope that he would stop and say a few words to her at her desk.

He might be in his office now. She could resign . . .

His door was open, so she looked in, only to draw back disappointed. Out to lunch, she supposed. Something on his desk caught her eye, something that hadn't been there before.

She walked in the office, and stood before the desk. Julie's picture, a small miniature, set in a gold frame. Placed on his desk, where he could see it every time he looked up. She picked up the thing and looked at it. Julie smiling, a haunting slow smile. Smiling, always at Dane. All day from his desk.

It hadn't been there yesterday when she had come in. It was new. Probably Julie had just given it to him.

"Hello!" Dane had come in the office and was hanging up his overcoat.

Kay was embarrassed. She put down the miniature quickly. "I—saw the picture, and stopped to look at it," she murmured, edging toward the door.

"Stay while you're here. I want to talk with you—"

"I was going to tell you I wanted to resign," she interrupted quickly.

"Why?" Alarm in his voice.

"Because—" she couldn't tell him it was on account of him. Because it wasn't right seeing him all the time, loving him, yet knowing she couldn't have him.

"I'm not going to let you resign, Kay. And there's no reason why you should want to, is there?"

She couldn't answer. She should have manufactured some kind of an excuse.

"I want you to stay. You know I do. You're doing well in your work. You mustn't leave me, I can help you here. Look after you. Be a big brother to you—"

She wanted to cry that she didn't want him for that, but she dared not.

"You'll stay, won't you?" He took her hand, and drew it to him. His eyes were pleading with her.

"I'll think it over—"

"Thanks!"

Why was she so weak when he spoke to her? She wanted to stay in the office. She shouldn't. What was she going to do?

Tomorrow—Kay leaves.

LOANS INCREASE

NEW YORK, July 31. (INS)—Brokers' loans increased $2,000,000 to a total of $2,228,000,000 during the week ended July 30, according to the weekly report released by the federal reserve board this afternoon. This compares with $3,226,000,000 on July 23 and with $5,960,000,000 on July 31, 1929.

PARIS DABBLES IN NEW COLORS

Dressmakers Experiment With Tints

PARIS, July 31. (AP)—Paris dressmakers, with skirt lengths and silhouettes settled satisfactorily from their viewpoint, are having fun launching new colors and fabrics.

Winter styles, which are just seeing the light of day, introduce browns, greens, blues, purples and reds which heretofore have been seen only in the paintings of the old masters.

Lusterless wool fabrics for day time and rich fabrics for evening, including velvet and metal brocades, crepes and satins, have a color range such as Paris has not seen for many years.

The beauty of the colors is accentuated by the extensive use of black and white, both for day and evening.

The new browns have a mixture of plum and garnet red in their makeup. Wine reds and rich shades of heliotrope and prune are important, while dark greens for day wear and lighter for evening are apparently due for a tremendous v

WATER SALES SET RECORD

191 Million Gallons Pumped Here in July

Water consumption during the month of July broke all previous records when the total pumped by the city plant exceeded 191,000,000 gallons, according to George D. Fairtrace, city manager. Approximately 7,210,000 gallons were consumed Monday while Tuesday's total was 7,330,000. Wednesday's pumpage was still higher with 7,500,000 gallons.

No water has been bi-passed so far, and probably will not be this summer, due to the success of the new chlorinator, Mr. Fairtrace explained. The use of the chlorinator permits 18 per cent more water to run through the filter, Mr. Fairtrace pointed out.

STRAND: Norma Shearer and Marie Dressler in "Let Us Be Gay." Comedy, novelty acts and sound news. Return engagement of "Charming Sinners" with Ruth Chatterton after last show Friday.

MAJESTIC: "The Flirting Widow" with Dorothy Mackaill, Basil Rathbone, William Austin and Claude Gillingwater. Our Gang comedy and Paul Terrytoon sound novelty.

STATE: Ken Maynard in "Mountain Justice." Comedy and sound news.

Those who attend the Majestic theater about 9:45 Friday evening may see the two best comedy-dramas ever screened, enough alike to furnish an interesting comparison and yet sufficiently different to insure a delightful evening. Following the presentation of "The Flirting Widow," regular feature, there will be offered a return engagement of "Charming Sinners," with no additional charge.

It would be wise to verify the time for the opening of the show, since the Majestic is presenting one of the best balanced bills in several months. The fellow who doesn't sit on the edge of his seat, chew off his finger nails and let out a few wild whoops while little Farina says his prayers and the train rushes on must have frigid air in his lungs. This is one Our Gang comedy when there is no pie-throwing, no falls into mud puddles or no fighting, but the most excitement ever crowded into ten minutes.

It is safe to bet on a Paul Terry-toon sound novelty. The amusing twists given familiar melodies and the clever burlesques of serious pictures make them a delight to anyone. The bill at the Majestic this week should be something for theater managers to emulate, as contrasted with some miserable features inflicted on the public.

If there were as much ingenuity exercised in originating new plots for pictures as for the trailers used in advertising them, theater critics would be out of a job. Why does the advertising department in every business have to have all the brains as well as all the money?

"Let Us Be Gay," opening for a week's run at the Majestic Friday, is one of the few pictures ever included in Walter Winchell's "Recommended to Diversion Seekers." Norma Shearer and Marie Dressler should be an interesting pair.
