Germany Admits Readiness To Act With Japan In Pacts

Developments Threatening Peace Status

Warning Is Issued By Russia Against Alliance Between Two Nations; British Plead For "Localized" Trouble

Counter-Offensive Lauched By Spanish Government In Move To Oust Insurgents From Capital City Area

(By The Associated Press)

GERMANY, continuing to deny knowledge of a German-Japanese pact aimed at Russia, admitted Saturday she was ready to act with Japan "in given situations."

Russia hit back at the reported anti-Soviet alliance with a warning to Tokyo that Japan would not get further important fishing concessions from the U. S. S. R. unless the pact was cancelled.

Britain Doesn't Explain

Those eastern developments came as British diplomats sought to convince other nations that the Spanish civil war, with its threats to world peace, should be kept localized. Britain did not explain what she would do if one of her ships was attacked on the seas.

Germany, said a spokesman for the Berlin government, has much in common with Japan, and "it is quite conceivable Germany and Japan—opposed as both are to Bolshevism—may in given situations decide to proceed jointly."

Would Prolong Privileges

Russia's threat to withhold further fishing rights from Japan came as Japanese diplomats prepared to sign a new fishing treaty at the Moscow foreign office. The agreement, which resulted from a year's work, would have prolonged Japan's important fishing privileges in Soviet waters off eastern Siberia for eight years.

Spain's government, meanwhile, gave its versions of the motives behind recognition of the Spanish fascist junta by Germany and Italy. It said that Italy wanted to get

Merchants Expect Banner Christmas

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Merchants prepared today for an expected nationwide Christmas shopping surge, partly supported by industry's year-end outpouring of extra dividends, wage increases and bonuses.

The National Retail Dry Goods association estimated nearly 600,000 additional workers would be needed to handle the prospective increased holiday trade, the largest extra force since pre-depression years.

The nation's stores, the association said, have made "lavish plans," laid in large stocks of merchandise and emphasized a "festive tone" more strongly than in any year since 1929.

Strength Fails To Develop In Loop Dressed Turkey Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP) — The Chicago wholesale dressed turkey market this week failed to develop strength despite the approach of Thanksgiving.

Dressed turkeys were easy today. Young hens were quoted at 23 cents a pound and toms at 22 1-2. Old hens sold for 19 1-2.

A year ago choice dressed turkeys were quoted around 28 cents a pound and they advanced to 30 to 31 cents a few days before Thanksgiving.

Trainman Turns Out To Be The Good Samaritan

TEMPLE, Nov. 21. (AP) — All legends of railroad service were outdone here today after V. D. Heath, superintendent of schools at Pendleton, had told his story.

Heath was sitting in his car on the Temple-Waco highway south of Troy, out of gas, waiting for a kind-hearted motorist, but the cars kept whizzing by.

Behind him on the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad track which parallels the highway he saw a freight train approaching. From the caboose a trainman was leaning, swinging a two-gallon can.

As the caboose neared, the trainman held up the can inquiringly. Heath nodded vigorously. The trainman dropped the can and yelled: "get it at the next switch."

Heath poured the gasoline into his car, and delivered the can and his thanks at the next switch where the train waited.

Employes Will Get Blanks On Security Act

Between 5,000 And 6,000 Will Receive Social Security Act Forms To Fill Out Tuesday; Must Be Back By Dec. 5

Between 5,000 and 6,000 Lubbock workers Tuesday will receive copies of form SS-5, from mail carriers and those receiving them are requested to fill the blanks out and return them to the postoffice.

"We would like every person who makes out the form, an application for an account number, to answer every question on it," said Amos Howard, postmaster. "It will save them, and us, a considerable amount of extra work. If the blanks are not properly filled out, they must be returned to the applicant for correction."

Must Be Back Dec. 5

The blanks must be back in the hands of the postmaster by December 5.

Postmaster Howard said Saturday he estimated there were between 5,000 and 6,000 employed persons in Lubbock, coming under the classifications of the federal Social Security act. There are about 1,100 employers.

The 5,000 to 6,000 include all persons except those engaged in self-employment, railroad employes, agricultural workers, domestic service in private homes, casual labor not in the course of the employer's regular business, sailors and officers of ships, government employes of the United States and of the state

American Aviators Are Said To Be Fighting Each Other In Bloody Spanish Civil War

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—American aviators were pictured by the New York Sun today as fighting on opposite sides in the Spanish civil war, without realizing they are gunning for each other.

Those fighting with the insurgents, the Sun says, are not aware that they are trading machine gun fire with brother Americans, in some cases their best friends, in the loyalist planes. And those with the government forces are equally in the dark about the identity of the pilots in the black Fascist pians.

The American pilots, recruited in New York by agents for the two warring factions, are fighting for glory and money. They are paid a salary of $1,500 a month, the Sun says, plus a bonus of $1,000 for every enemy plane brought down.

Honorary Degrees Are Awarded John Garners By Baylor University

Thousands Of Friends Attend Ceremonies For First Citizens Of State At Waco

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

WACO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Two homespun Texans who "have never lost the common touch," —Vice President and Mrs. John Garner—today became the first man and wife in American history to receive, simultaneously, honorary degrees from an educational institution.

The silvery-haired first citizen of Texas and his wife stood before thousands of friends as President Pat Neff of Baylor university, a former governor of Texas, conferred the honorary degrees of doctor of laws.

Scarcely had the academic hood been placed on his shoulders before

"Two home-spun Texans who haven't lost the common touch."

Garner, 67 years old tomorrow, loosed a bit of his typical wit in expressing appreciation. Stepping to the microphone, the vice-president injected humor into the solemn occasion with:

"I want to take one of two minutes—and that's more than they give me in the senate—to express deep appreciation for the honor bestowed upon us. Language will not express how gracious and how proud I am. I don't know of any honor that ever came to me in my life any greater than this old university bestowed upon me today."

State's Most Distinguished Son

Neff saluted Garner as the state's most distinguished son.

"With stately strides in an unbroken career you have climbed from poverty to power, from obscurity to eminence, from a rough, romantic log hut on the open Texas prairies to the second highest office beneath the dome of the nation's capitol," he said.

"Your rich, rare, unique life, making as you have, stepping stones of stumbling blocks, should be help, hope and inspiration to every struggling lad born beneath the American flag.

Never Lost Common Touch

"Though you have walked with the great, we are proud of you in Texas because you have never lost the common touch."

Applause rippled through the vast Waco hall auditorium as Neff told Mrs. Garner "from the hour of your girlhood when at the marriage altar you plighted your love, your all to young John Garner you have walked by his side in stately queenly grace, his pal, partner, counselor, confederate, help-mate and inspiration."

His Labor Yours

"No labor has been his that was not yours. No task has been committed to his hands that you did not with him share responsibility. You have shunned social honors and comradeships of those who throng

Research In Age Old Quest For Cause Of Cancer Leads To Composition Of Numerous Substances Causing Malady

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21. — An Ohio State university chemist disclosed tonight that research in the age old quest for the cause of cancer had led to composition of numerous chemical substances that produced the unconquered disease.

After two years of research in collaboration with an associate of Harvard medical school, Dr. Melvin Newman of Ohio said they had uncovered 20 different hydrocarbons—combinations of hydrogen and carbon—which caused cancer when applied to the skin of mice.

Some of the compounds, he said, are to be found in natural products; others were compounded synthetically in the laboratory for the purpose of study.

"One of the cancer forming hydrocarbons with which we are working in benzopyrene, found in common coal tar," said Dr. Newman. Benzopyrene—in the end of a test tube it looks like pulverized yellow blackboard chalk — is present to the amount of .003 of one per cent in coal tar.

Dr. Newman, who began his research as an associate of Dr. L. F. Fieser at Harvard university now shares his study with Dr. Murray Shear, a United States public health scientist at the Harvard medical schools.

Three Others Are Burned As Flames Destroy Residence

Miss Madeline Stiles Of Near Southland Is Victim Of Burns Received In Tragedy; Was Visiting In Home; Mrs. R. D. Spruiell And Two Children Treated For Injuries

"IF this thing was to explode, we'd all burn up."

There was prophesy in the remark of Mrs. R. D. Spruiell of two and one-half miles northwest of Tahoka.

Showered with flaming gasoline from a stove which excloded a few minutes later, Saturday morning at the Spruiell farm home, Madeline Stiles, 17, of near Southland, Garza county, suffered fatal burns and three other persons were rushed by ambulance to Lubbock sanitarium for treatment.

Others injured were:

Franklin D. Spruiell, about 9 months old, who suffered intermediate burns about the head and hands and who was admitted to the sanitarium.

Geneva Spruiell, 18, who suffered first degree burns about the upper and lower legs and who was admitted to the sanitarium.

Mrs. Spruiell, 41, mother of Franklin D. and Geneva Spruiell and who was released from the sanitarium after treatment of slight burns about the arms.

Miss Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stiles of seven miles south of Southland, was enveloped almost completely by flames.

Brought To Lubbock

A Harris-Applewhite ambulance from Tahoka sped here with Miss Stiles and the other three, arriving a few minutes after noon. The mishap, said drivers of the ambulance, was believed to have been between 10:30 and 11 o'clock, a few minutes after the gasoline heater in the front room had been lighted.

Miss Stiles, who has a brother, H. G. Stiles, jr., produce employe at Plainview, died at 8:16 o'clock Saturday night. Her injuries had been diagnosed as "first, second and third degree burns."

Her body was taken to Post late in the night, by Davis-Mason Funeral home.

Other victims apparently were resting "nicely" early today.

Flames destroyed the four-room frame house.

Miss Spruiell ran to a bed, smothered her flaming dress with blankets and then rolled a quilt about the body of Miss Stiles, whose clothing even to shoes was nearly consumed.

Liquor Raids Made And 50 Are Arrested

Authorities Continue Sweeps Begun Last Week In Domino Parlors; Court Of Inquiry Conducted All Night

Hard on the heels of raids conducted earlier in the week on three domino parlors and the nabbing of 52 persons for a court of inquiry, authorities of several departments early Saturday night swooped down on four places in 1400-block Avenue C, and took into custody 50 persons for facing of another inquiry.

Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer who with Chief Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter directed the domino parlors raids, was joined in the Saturday night raids by Deputy Sheriff Grandy Harrist and County Attorney Jess C. Levens.

State Officers Aid

The three planned details and asked assistance of state highway patrolmen, state liquor board members and Lubbock constabulary. Assisting were N. B. Hilyard and Pa Murphy, state liquor board investigators; Bill Alder and W. E. Renfrow, highway patrolmen; Deputy Sheriff Farum Posey; Ross Berry, deputy constable, and Bill Mabray, police patrolman.

Authorities appeared simultaneously at all four places, but arrests were made from only two. Included in those brought to the office of Levens, where the court of inquiry was held, were approximately 12 women.

Twenty-eight of the 50 arrested had been questioned at midnight. Four persons had been sent to jail for refusing to answer questions.

Science Takes Ice To Jungle

Mr. And Mrs. Martin Johnson, Famous Explorers, Equipped With Electrolux While In Wilds Of Borneo

How scientific refrigeration made it possible for Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson to stand the terrific heat of the Borneo jungles thus enabling them to make sound films depicting dangerous and thrilling adventures which included the capture of one of the biggest orang-outangs ever taken from its native habitat was told today by B. Sherrod of Sherrod Bros., Servel Electrolux dealer for this vicinity.

Information about the Johnson exposition was received here from F. E. Sellman, vice-president of Servel, Inc., who made available to the famous motion picture explorers two kerosene-operated refrigerators as part of the scientific equipment of the Borneo expedition.

"Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson have just returned from a year's sojourn in the jungles of Borneo where the climate is the hottest in the world," said Mr. Sherrod. "The comforts and conveniences derived from refrigerators are regarded as essential features in making the expedition a success, because without this refrigeration, the Johnsons say that they could not have withstood the terrific heat.

"Mr. Johnson was able to achieve one of his main objectives; namely, the capturing and photographing of the orang-outang, one of the great man-like apes which are native to Borneo. The orang-outang is difficult of approach and is rarely ever seen in captivity. Mr. Johnson not only captured, but brought with him to this country, three orang-outangs, two being adults and one a baby. One of these apes is perhaps the largest ever taken out of the Borneo jungles. The giant brute put up a big fight and the scene of its capture, with the natives shouting, and showing the white members of the party tense excitement, will form one of the most thrilling episodes of the expedition.

"The films brought back from Borneo show a series of scenes along the banks of the Kinabatangan, North Borneo's largest river, where crocodiles abound and where the trees along the banks are literally infested with monkeys. The explorers saw such strange creatures as a "flying snake" that flattens out its body and makes a dive from trees. These snakes grow as long as seven feet, and a picture of it in the act of "flying" or diving, is one of the best pictures taken by the explorers while in Borneo.

"At low tide, oysters can be picked from the tree trunks, but they are not very good to eat, according to the Johnosns.

"In addition to the three orang-outangs brought back by the explorers were ten gibbon apes, four small river monkeys, one with black rings around its eyes that gives it the name of "spectacle monkey." The Johnsons also brought back several brilliantly colored tropical birds that talk like parrots.

"Among the most interesting scenes photographed in the jungles are those in which the two kerosene-operated refrigerators appear. These pictures show natives eating ice cream made in the refrigerator that was installed in the grass dining hut. Other films show natives helping Mr. Johnson take development tanks from the second refrigerator installed on the rear veranda of the bamboo raft which formed part of the exposition's river fleet. This fleet moved up and down the Kinabantangan river and into the smaller tributaries from which the exploring parties penetrated into the jungles.

"Both refrigerators were used to provide cooling beverages for the party. This phase of refrigeration proved of inestimable benefit, according to both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

"The explorers announced upon their arrival that there was no question whatever as to the advantage of having the refrigerators. In fact, the refrigerators had proven to be absolutely indispensible, they stated. The success of the expedition was largely due to the fact that they had modern refrigeration for two very definite reasons: first, the refrigerators afforded a means of furnishing even, cool temperature for his developing chemicals without which he could not have carried on his photographic activities, and second, the cooling beverages, and provisions for food preservation were essential to combat the excessive heat of the jungles.

"Mr. Johnson upon his arrival said that he regarded himself as 'the most satisfied user of Servel Electrolux in the whole world.' He said that the luckiest thing that had ever happened to him was the advice to take the two refrigerators with him to Borneo."—Adv.

Reports Still To Be Given

Reports From Slaton Help To Swell Total; Drive Staged Downtown By Women Brings In $50 Collections

Contributions to the Lubbock Red Cross annual roll call soared over the $1,000 mark last night as reports came from Slaton, Joe S. McIhaney's "clean-up" squad and the downtown drive conducted by Lubbock women.

The total was approximately $1,957, Bert Pinson, chairman, said. McIhaney's group reported collections of $50, Slaton approximately $100 and women workers $38.10.

Pinson said there had been no reports from two downtwon districts, or from Texas Technological college, Lubbock public schools, and any of the rural districts.

Three additional companies were listed as 100 per cent members as a result of yesterday's drive, Borden's Ice Cream Co., Joe Baldridge's Bakery and Lubbock Fruit and Vegetables Co. brought the total 100 per cent memberships to 74.

An Ambassador In Chains

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 2:2-4

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For Nov. 22

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of Advance

PAUL'S pride in being a free-born Roman citizen was shaken considerably when he found that the justice he had assumed he could obtain by appealing unto Caesar was not forthcoming, or was at least long delayed.

The intrigues against him in Palestine, he realized, might bias the mind of a Roman governor anxious to conciliate the people, so Paul stood upon his rights as a citizen and appealed to Rome. The trip there was sufficiently exciting, for it was characterized by the shipwreck of which we have such a thrilling story. But Paul, eventually safe in Rome, was disappointed that his case did not come up quickly for trial. Though he had the privilege of living in his own house, he was guarded constantly and was literally an ambassador in chains.

The strange contrasts that play in Roman life and history are emphasized in this story of Paul's imprisonment there. It seems remarkable that the iron hand of Rome, characterized often by so much violence, should nevertheless rest easily enough on Paul, to allow him even more liberty than is allowed most prisoners today.

Paul's failure to get justice was traceable to conditions similar to those which fetter justice today. There were hidden and intense influences at work, and these influences, so strong in Palestine, might easily have followed him to Rome.

* * *

FOR two years, however, Paul lived in his own house, receiving all who came to see him. The man who had traveled near and far preaching the Gospel, now turned this different opportunity to new account, preaching as others came to him.

There is a tradition that there was a body of Roman soldiers known as the Thundering Legion, members of which had come in contact with Paul while they had been chained to him to guard him, and had, under such influence, developed a high strain of seriousness and courage.

Most of Paul's Epistles were written to Christians in various cities that he had visited during his missionary journeys and in the churches that he had established. The Epistle to the Romans, in contrast, was written relatively early in his ministry, and he had spoken with great urgency of his desire to visit the capital city of the empire.

In a famous passage he declared that he was not ashamed to preach the Gospel in Rome, strong in the assurance that it was the power of God unto salvation. In a sense, Paul was measuring his strength of the Gospel against the strength of Rome, and the imperialism of Christ Jesus against the imperialism of a city that had conquered and controlled the world.

One cannot get the full sweep of Paul's faith, courage, and outlook, without sensing this magnificence of his world vision, and the fact that the greatness of his Roman citizenship was caught up in the larger glory of being a citizen of the household of faith and of the kingdom of God.

How different was Paul's actual coming to Rome! Not the free entry of an earnest missionary, but the coming of a citizen in chains.

Yet Paul was undaunted. He was a preacher and ambassador of Christ, and, as we have suggested in comment on an earlier lesson, the sense of his dependence upon God's power and his appreciation of spiritual values increased as he sensed the weakness, the futility, and the wickedness that often prevail in high places of government.

Paul's disappointment in the Roman world threw him back, with a large measure of faith, on a world of spiritual realities.

Counties Are Being Helped

Twelve Counties Have Shared In More Than 285 Miles Of Roadwork Included Among WPA Projects In Area

Twelve counties including Lubbock have shared in the more than 285 miles of roadwork which have been included among projects operated to date by the Works Progress administration district 17, Director J. O. Jones said Saturday.

Based on recent statistics, WPA records reflect that workers have completed repairs and improvements on 313 miles of lateral roads and that work is progressing on an additional 71 miles.

Proves Beneficial

"In addition to providing work for needy unemployed, the road program has been one of the most beneficial types of public improvement undertaken by the WPA," Jones said.

"All-weather roads conducted by WPA workers replaced roads formerly impassable in rainy weather. Farm people living along such routes are no longer dependent upon the weather in getting to market. School buses and mail carriers are able to maintain schedules with less difficulty.

"City and rural dwellers alike will realize gratifying returns for years to come from the investment which WPA and the counties have made in roads."

Other counties included are Bailey, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Hale, Hall Hockley, Lamb, Motley, Parmer and Swisher.

Colleges Agree To Limit Work In Graduate Division

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—Ten state-supported colleges have agreed voluntarily to limit their graduate courses to work on master's degrees leaving higher graduate work to the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. college.

Presidents of the institutions yesterday submitted the agreement to the state board of education which recently favored the concentration of graduate activity at the University and A. & M. college.

The board next month will make definite recommendations to the legislature concerning the scope of graduate work at other colleges. The board's asserted purpose is to develop a graduate center "second to none" in the country.

Signatories to the agreement were all state teachers' colleges, Texas Technological College, Texas College of Arts and Industries and Texas College for Women.

Lines For Terracing And Contour Work Run On Farms

Lines for terracing and contour work were run on the farms of six men last week by Claude Thompson, assistant county agent, and J. Walter Grist, an employe in the office, C. C. Jobson, county agent, said Saturday. It was the first work of the winter season on running lines.

Mr. Jobson said he expected a large increase in terraced land in the county this year, based on the number of requests for the work. As soon as possible, a series of demonstrations will be run in communities.

Lines were run for: D. W. Huckabee, Woodrow; S. A. Johnson, Idalou; Conrad Melcher, Canyon; C. B. Jones, Slaton; J. B. McClure, Woodrow; A. A. Burrows, Becton.

Delegates To Farm Session In Fort Worth Are Chosen

Three delegates from Lubbock county will represent the county farm agricultural association at the annual state convention in Fort Worth December 2 and 3, according to C. C. Jobson, county agent.

Henry Mahoney, Shallowater; R. A. Powell, Becton and Mrs. F. M. Roberson, Northwest Ward, were the delegates chosen by the county group.

In mythology, the armor-bearer of Hercules was Abderus.

'Moses' Far From Family War

In a New Orleans hospital, miles from the furor that attended his arrival, "Moses," the baby boy whose mother said he was brought by a "big, black dog," gets the best medical care while his future is being decided. When the mother, Mrs. Louis Crawford, wife of a Pearl River, La., W P A worker, confessed she invented the "dog" story because, she said the child's father was not her husband, the Crawford clan, numerous in the pine scrub forests, met to decide punishment for Mrs. Crawford. They regard her as a "come here," or outsider. "Moses" is shown above with a nurse.

Diego Rivera Gets Into Trouble Again And This Time In His Own Homeland

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21.—Diego Rivera, defeated by the Rockefellers in one battle over his murals, fought another today on home grounds.

The fight corresponded to the one with Rockefeller family in 1933 which ended with an order that the communist painter's work be effaced from New York's Rockefeller center because he refused to remove a portrait of Nikolai Lenin.

Completed Hotel Frescoes

The painter recently completed four frescoes for the new Hotel Reforma here.

Yesterday, he accused the owners of retouching some of the figures—presumably to take the sting out of their satire—without consulting him. At the same time, representatives of Alberto J. Pani, former secretary of public works who built the hotel, filed "breaking and entering" charges against Rivera.

Had Parts Changed

It all started, Rivera said, when fellow members of the Masons' union told him Pani had had parts of the paintings changed.

Bent on investigating, Rivera, a lawyer, a union official and several Masons obtained Pani's permission, the artist said, and visited the hotel.

Declaring he had given permission only to the lawyer and union official, Pani—who incidentally, arranged Rivera's return to Mexico after his New York experience—had the others arrested. Later they were released.

San Antonio Woman Identifies Body As That Of Her Husband

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Cromer today had definitely identified the body of a man found on the Southern Pacific railroad tracks near Waelder earlier in the week as that of her husband, Sergeant Grady L. Cromer, 12th field artillery, Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. Cromer, accompanied by friends, went to Waelder Friday afternoon. The body, which had been buried, was disinterred, and Mrs. Cromer said she identified it from a tattoo on the left arm. The tattoo read "in memory of mother."

Fifteen Japanese Kidnaped By Chinese In Train Raid

SHANHAIKWAN, Hopeh Province, China, Nov. 21. (AP)—Fifteen Japanese—five army officers and ten civilians—were abducted today by Chinese troops which halted a train bound for Lanchow, the Domei (Japanese) news agency reported.

The Japanese were carried off between Tungchi and Kaiping on the Peiping-Mukden railway, the agency declared. The train's locomotive was destroyed.

Japanese troops were called out to aid in the search for the missing persons, Domei reported.

Resolutions Are Adopted

Number Of Proposals Passed By West Texas School Heads Group To Promote School Advancement In State

Resolutions adopted recently by the executive committee of the West Texas School Executives association anticipated a request by State Superintendent L. A. Woods along similar lines, President James M. Rankin pointed out in announcing the resolutions. These were adopted the day before Mr. Woods sent out a questionnaire which included several of the ideas of the West Texas group.

"What is your opinion concerning Texas' going to a twelve-grade system on a 6-3-3 basis or an 8-4 basis?" read Mr. Woods' letter.

Favor 12-Grade System

"We favor a 12 grade system of instruction," read the resolution adopted the day before. "When a junior high school is maintained the organization should be 6-3-3. We recommend that the printed course of study be clarified on this subject."

The second question of the state school head concerned courses and suggestions relating to changes in text books in those courses. Mr. Woods asked particularly about home economics and music, pointing out the law gives the department the right to "adopt any textbooks for high school work." Resolution 7 of the local group said: "We recommend that the state board of education adopt textbooks for the vocational courses in high school and that they be placed on the multiple list."

Urge Book Adoption

Adoption of music books for elementary grades was covered in the third question and resolution No. 5 covered it; "We commend the state board of education on the adoption of a music reader, and recommend that as soon as possible a series of music text books be adopted for all the grades of the school system, with a multiple list of high schools."

Other resolutions adopted included:

No. 1—Resolved, that increasing emphasis should be given to the factor of the A. D. A. in the apportionment of school funds.

No. 3—We favor more state support of education.

No. 4—We favor a salary of $8,000 annually for the state superintendent and a term of four years.

No. 6—We favor the apportionment of $14,000,000 for the equalization fund for the next biennium.

President Rankin, in commenting on the action, said the organization is "undoubtedly clairvoyant."

Next meeting of the local group is planned for December 11 in Lubbock. Mr. Woods is scheduled to speak here at that time.

Airmail Official Is Indicted For Non-Support Of First Wife

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21. (AP)—Indictment of Alva Sole, Fort Worth, superintendent of airmail service for this region, on charges of non-support brought by his first wife, Mrs. Lola V. Sole of Washington, D. C., was revealed here today when Sole and his first wife appeared at a removal hearing before United States Commissioner Newam.

A copy of the indictment, submitted to the commissioner at the opening of the hearing, shows it was returned on March 11, 1936, by the federal grand jury in the District of Columbia. Sole, arrested here later by the United States marshal, was released on bond after refusing to sign a waiver for removal to Washington on the grounds he was not a resident of the District of Columbia.

Dolling Up The Dolls' New Home

When it's moving time for the mothers and fathers of Lubbock, it's moving time for daughter's dolls, too. And with the big fall migration to new homes, you're apt to see young housekeepers like these making as arduous a job of cleaning up the doll house as mother does of getting the family's new home spic and span.

Young Blitz Will Play In Symphony Orchestra Concert

Edouard Blitz, 13-year-old son of Julian Paul Blitz, head professor of music at Tech, and Mrs. Blitz, will be featured as cello soloist with the Kyrl Symphony Orchestra on the college artist course appearing on the Lubbock High school stage December 1.

Edouard has declined an invitation extended by the leader, Buhumir Kryl to join the orchestra in Norman, Oklahoma.

His success with the Shreveport Symphony Orchestra when he was 10 years old and with the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra two years later placed him in the trop ranks of South Plains musicians.

Blitz said it was necessary for his son to refuse Kryl's invitation for the tour because of a previous engagement. Kryl has extended the courtesy of his baton to Blitz to conduct the orchestra for his son's number.

Blitz was soloist and band director for Kryl's band in 1917 when they made a tour of the eastern states.

Insurgent officers said Joseph was completing his military training in an engineers' battalion when the civil war started. The battalion was ordered to the front and he went along, the, declared.

Near Segovia, the engineers decided to desert the socialist cause and join the fascists, the high command related. Joseph was forced to go along, they said. Since then, he has been held prisoner.

Bits Of Gossip On Air Waves

RECORD BREAKING

What promises to sweep the South Plains with a landslide of phone calls is the new KFYO Record Breaking program.

When the program began, November 16, Wesley Youngblood, announced the idea of the new broadcast.

Music on the program consists of ancient recordings. . . . Listeners keep the telephone busy with votes to either break or save the discs. The majority rules, and many a morning a quartet of luckless records is broken.

The program is heard at 9:15 daily.

TO PLAY FAVORITE

"Roses of Picardy," song favorite in America for a generation, will be played by Rubinoff on his violin when the Russian maestro presents the "Musical Moment's" program from station KFYO, next Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Evelyn Case, beautiful guest soprano, will lend the charm of her voice to a new waltz melody, "Close to Me." Rubinoff will then conduct the orchestra in the currently popular, "Sing Sing Sing," and "Cross Patch."

NEW MYSTERY THRILLER

Tuesday evening, November 24, Station KFYO inaugurates a new mystery thriller, "Paper Moon."

The story involves Sidney Melvin, and Robert Carlton, financier, who film a motion picture in the Arcadia theater.

This theater, which has been dark for many years, has a reputation of being hoodooed. Ten years ago, a magician, by the name of Delano was stabbed on the stage during his act. The story goes merrily on, with one murder after another.

"Paper Moon" will be heard Tuesday night at 8:30, and each night thereafter.

Ah! It MUST Be Art!

The above illustration is an example of the Guatemalan Textile exhibit, being brought to Texas Tech and Lubbock by the college art museum Dec. 1 and Dec. 21, inclusive. The exhibit, say sponsors, is quite artistic. Your guess is as good as ours!

Questions On Act Answered

Various Details Regarding New Social Security Legislation Are Pointed Out In Replies To Questions

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Morning Avalanche answers below some more of the many questions pouring in from the public about the operation of the Social Security Act).

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — My boy is 14 and works at a soda fountain after school. Do he and the druggist have to report on that job for a federal pension account?

Yes, the wage and payroll taxes effective January 1 apply to minors.

Must the youngster report his wages?

No, the employer makes all wage reports and tax payments, deducting half of the taxes from the worker's pay check and putting up the balance himself.

I'm a printer. Can I force my boss to pay me in full next year instead of deducting a cent from each dollar for the government?

No.

I get $3,300 a year. Must my employer report the full amount to the government?

Only the first $3,000 need be reported, no matter if a man get $20,000 a year.

Will these reports be used to check up on other income tax returns?

They could be used for checking, but it has not been decided yet whether this will be done.

My wages will be taxed $30 next year. Can I deduct that $30 from my income in computing my regular income tax?

No.

In making out his income tax return, can the boss deduce the $30 excise tax he pays on my wages?

Yes.

Suppose my daughter qualifies for a pension and then marries, will she get it?

Yes.

How will she go about collecting it?

Between now and 1942, when the pensions begin, a system for making claims probably will be set up across the country by the security board.

If my wage account shows $2,000 when I reach 65, how much will my pension be?

The minimum, $10 a month.

Suppose it is less than $2,000?

You will get a lump sum payment of 3 1-2 per cent of the amount on the account.

Suppose it shows $150,000?

You get the maximum, $85 a month.

At the hospital her condition was reported critical. Attendants said she suffered a possible skull fracture, in addition to the mutilation.

Miss rasy said the man awakened her and holding a knife to her throat, threatened to kill her. He bound and gagged her, she told the police, then attacked her and demanded money. The Universal Car Broadens Its Field with New Economy and THE LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS

For more than thirty years Ford has been "The Universal Car." And the name takes on a new meaning for 1937, with the addition of a 60-horsepower V-8 engine to the Ford line.

The new "60" makes possible the lowest Ford price in years, and brings smooth, dependable V-8 performance within the reach of more people than ever before. It means also a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engine sizes. 85 horsepower for maximum performance. 60 horsepower for maximum economy. Both engines are built into the same big body size.

The "60" is a replica of its brilliant older brother, except in size, weight and power. It was first developed for England and France, where fuel costs are high. Two years in service there have proved that it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can own with pride and drive with pleasure—ask the nearest Ford dealer to show you the new car with the new engine.

Rice Fails To Stop Baugh In Aerial Attack

Slingin' Sam Punctures Owl Goal Line With Pass Early And Puts Frogs In Shape With 4th Quarter Heave

BY LEWIS T. NORDYKE

HOUSTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Sam A. Baugh twirled the Texas Christian Frogs to a 13 to 0 victory over the Rice Owls and himself into a choice spot for All-America rating today before 15,000 spectators.

Opening his aerial guns early in the first period, "Slinging Sam" tossed a touchdown forward to Walls and late in the final quarter his strong right arm put the ball in position for McCall to ram through for another counter.

Leadership Is Knotted

The victory threw the "winged" Frogs into a deadlock with the idle Arkansas Razorbacks for the Southwest conference leadership, and the loss eliminated the Owls from the race.

Baugh, leading contender in the Southwest for All-America rating, practically took complete charge of the Frog offensive.

He tossed 23 bullet forwards and 16 were completed for 153 yards. Two of them were intercepted.

In addition to throwing all of the Frogs' forwards, Baugh did a neat job of running with the ball and punting and played a terrific game on the defense.

Although the Owls completed seven of 16 forwards attempted for 77 yards and gained 66 yards rushing, they never made a serious threat, a drive from their 25 to the T. C. U. 29 late in the fourth being their most effective thrust.

Baugh had trouble finding receivers early in the first quarter but after two punt exchanges, he stood on the 28 and tossed to Walls for a touchdown. Roach failed to convert. The scoring pass was the first of Baugh's initial five forwards to be completed.

Baugh continued bombarding the Owls, and his forwards, coupled with he running of McCall, McClure, Harrell, and Hall, kept the Owls in their own territory most of the time. Baugh also excelled in punting, the Frogs gaining on most kick exchanges, which were numerous in the scoreless second and third periods.

Late in the final quarter, the Frogs struck again, Aldrich stopping an Owl drive by snaring Brandin's forward on the T. C. U. 30. Then Baugh took charge. He took a short lateral and ran to the Owl 47, bulleted to Hall on the 30 and shot another to Walls on the 15. A shovel pass lost a yard and then Baugh bulleted one to Roach on the five. On the next play McCall crashed through guard for a touchdown. Meyer converted from placement.

With only a few minutes left, the Owls opened a desperate passing attack. It clicked momentarily, Brandon driving to his 44 with forwards to Klindworth and Coffee, but came very near proving disastrous. Wilkerson intercepted one of Brandon's forwards in midfield and the Frogs drove to the five as the final gun prevented probably another touchdown.

Georgia Shatters Rams' Rosy Dream

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Fordham's new marching song of football, "Rose Hill to Rose Bowl," now is just a requiem.

On this November afternoon, there came out of the Southland an under-rated and much kicked-around Georgia team to shatter Fordham's rosiest dream in football history by holding the renowned Rams, their "seven blocks of granite" and all, to a 7 to 7 tie before an amazed throng of 35,000 spectators at the Polo grounds.

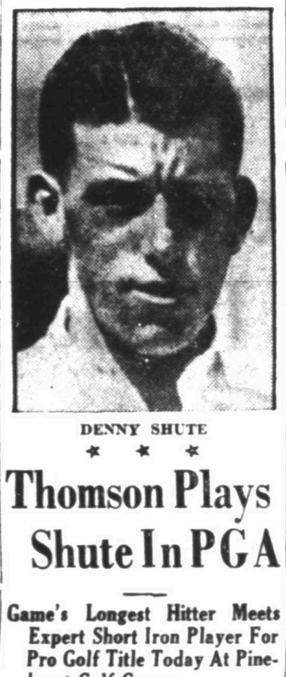

The result left the Rams high and dry with their Rose Bowl hopes in the junk heap and the chances of one of the South's great elevens, not Georgia, but either Louisiana State or Alabama, high in the running for the nomination to join in the post-season classic at Pasadena New Year's day. Probably the Washington Huskies will represent the west.

Coach Jimmy Crowley gave the Bull Dogs their chance to score when he started the third period with his reserves. The Georgians seized their chance, and within three minutes rushed over their touchdown.

Game's Longest Hitter Meets Expert Short Iron Player For Pro Golf Title Today At Pinehurst Golf Course

By BOB CAVAGNARO

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 21. (AP)—James Wilfred Stevenson Thomson, the Husky, blasting blond with the terracotta complexion, and Denshore Shute, who has a contrastingly ashen appearance, today shot their way into the finals of the Professional Golfers' association championship.

With styles as different as their appearance—Thomsen, the acknowledged longest hitter in the game, and Shute, on the short side off the tees but one of the deadliest players about the greens—staged remarkable Horatio Alger comebacks to have a chance at the crown relinquished earlier in the week by Johnny Revolta of Chicago.

Jimmy Beats Wood

Thomson, matched against his closest rival in the matter of long distance hitting, rallied from a three hole deficit through the 14th in the morning round to eliminate husky Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., 4 and 3, while Shute, having stretches of hot and cold golf, came from behind two down at the 31st to vanquish "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, the 38-year-old Louisville veteran, one up on the 36th green.

Minnesota Downs Wisconsin, 24-0

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 21. (AP)—Wrecking Wisconsin hopes for an upset victory with a crushing offensive in the first half, the University of Minnesota's powerful gridiron machine coasted to a 24 to 0 victory here today.

A crowd of 33,000; the largest of the season at a Badger home game, saw Wisconsin's lighter squad take a terrific pummeling in the first two quarters. But the Gophers' drive weakened in the final half while the Wisconsin players fought desperately to the end to score.

Although Minnesota had been conceded a big edge in a running game, and piled up 157 yards to Wisconsin's 133 from rushing, the Badgers made 11 first downs to Minnesota's eight. The Badgers' pass attack was effectively smothered, however, ten of Minnesota's points being directly attributable to pass interceptions.

Lamar Wins Southern Half Of Junior College Set-Up

BEAUMONT, Nov. 21. (AP)—Lamar won the junior college championship of the southern half of the state this afternoon by upsetting Schreiner's Mountaineers by the score of 7 to 6. All the counting was done in the second quarter.

The Cardinals were woefully weak on reserve material but in spirit and every department of the game they were unmistakably the better this afternoon. Jones and Herm, tackles, and Hall and McHenry, backs, played the entire 60 minutes and Gernand, end, went the route save for the final minute when he was knocked out.

Stokes Counts With Toe From 4-Yard Marker

Aggies Bump Into Big Trouble At Shreveport; Stone Tosses Long Pass Leading To Field Goal By Gent Center

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 21.—A field goal that traveled directly into the face of a strong wind gave the Centenary college Gentlemen a 3 to 0 victory over the Texas A. & M. Cadets here today.

Lee Stokes, Centenary's candidate for All-America rating, whose trusty toe only a few weeks ago saved his team from defeat by booting a field goal to tie the Tulsa university Hurricane, delivered this afternoon in the face of a light gale. His kick sent the ball squarely between the goal posts in the first few minutes of play in the second quarter, and carefully the Gentlemen nursed those three points through a desperate aerial assault from the enemy in the last half of battle.

Small Score, Big Victory

It was the smallest margin by which a Centenary team had ever turned back a Texas A. & M. squad, but it was the greatest victory ever scored over a gridiron representative from College Station. Picked to fall under at least a two-touchdown attack the victory for the Gents ranks with the major upsets of the year, and rescues the Shreveport moleskin wearers from a rather disastrous season.

A sensational forward pass, only one of five attempted by Centenary, paved the way for the field goal. Thrown for a seven yard loss on a shovel pass behind the line of scrimmage just as the first quarter ended, W. H. (Grandma) Stone opened the second period by completing a 33 yard pass to Howard Hopper on the Aggies' six yard mark.

Stone's Pass Paves Way

It was a great pass by Stone and a great catch by Hooper, who was tackled by two men just as he took the ball out of the air. Stone then ran two plays, gaining but a yard. On his next trial he moved over to the center of the field for no gain but put the ball in position for the field goal.

The triumph was the fifth in a row for Centenary over the Cadets, and their sixth in eight meetings with the Farmers of Texas since 1928. It marked the third time in a row that Centenary had won from its former coach, Homer H. Norton, who transferred from here to Aggieland after the close of the 1933 season. The defeat was a severe blow to Norton who came to Shreveport enjoying the most successful year he has had with the Cadets, and had high hopes of ending Centenary's string of victories over his club.

Aggie Runners Halted

The Aggies celebrated running attack, that carried them to victories in conference battles and intersectional competition proved a dud.

Nebraska, Kansas State Dominate In All-Big Six

Maurice (Red) Elder, above, of Kansas State, comes closer to matching Sam Francis, upper left, of Nebraska, than any other back in the Big Six. Lester McDonald, lower left, is the Cornhuskers' 6-foot 4-inch pass receiver who is fast enough to run like a back on a false reverse. Jack Frye, kicking, of Missouri, is a speedy and rugged triple threat.

McShain Signs With Haddock

Ill-Tempered Irishman Takes Guarantee Offer For Main Go Here Wednesday Night; Haddock Is "Ready"

"I accept your offer and will give that Haddock mug the licking of his life."

That was the content of a telegram received yesterday by Promoter Sled Allen, and it was signed "The Great Danny McShain."

Allen had wired McShain—for the second time, stretching the guarantee each time—regarding a main event go with Dale Haddock, the battling Detroiter, here. On previous occasions, Allen had been turned down, McShain insisting he had to leave pronto for the west coast, where bookings had been made for him.

Believing a McShain-Haddock bout would be just about the biggest attraction he could rig up just now, Allen offered McShain a good guarantee last Wednesday night. He repeated the wire by offer after Danny had turned it down. Danny turned it down again, so Allen raised the ante, and yesterday McShain accepted. It's one of the biggest guarantees Allen ever has offered a wrestler here. As a rule, the boys of the tin-ear circuit work for a percentage. But Danny wouldn't do it this time.

To support the McShain-Haddock main event, Promoter Allen has lined up four other grapplers of national repute.

Sailor Moran is coming back, the wild-eyed Arkansas villain having been signed to meet a newcomer, George Bennett by name. They'll fight on the preliminary. Bennett will be making his first appearance here. He is from Oklahoma City, and is supposed to be a fast, clean wrestler, willing to mix it with the tough boys.

Bob Cummings and Buck O'Neil have been booked for the semi-final.

St. Benedict's Hand Buffs Of Canyon First Grid Loss

ATCHISON, Kas., Nov. 21. (AP)—The St. Benedict's Ravens completed their football season undefeated and untied today by scoring three touchdowns in the final period to defeat the West Texas Teachers 19 to 0.

The hitherto undefeated Teachers held the Ravens in the check for the first three touchdowns, but in the final period Neff and Weiffenbach apparently were determined to end their college football careers with at least another touchdown.

Slaton Tigers To Invade Littlefield For Title Go

Wildcat Gridiron To Be Scene Of Class B Title Contest

The Slaton Tigers and the Littlefield Wildcats will clash next Thursday on Seely Field, at Littlefield, for the Class B championship of the South Plains.

After considerable arguing and bidding, looking at the records and verbal scrapping, officials of the schools agreed at a meeting at Hilton Hotel yesterday on the site and time of the game.

Slaton, defending champions of District 5, Class B, and winner this season in the southern half of the district, is to meet Littlefield, winner in the northern half of the district, at 2 o'clock, on Thanksgiving Day.

The announcement was made last night by Superintendent A. B. Sanders of Littlefield.

For a few hours yesterday, Slaton sat on needles and pins, fearing the possibility that a protest entered by Lamesa would be upheld by the district executive body.

Lamesa had entered a protest on the grounds that one or more players on the Slaton team had not been listed in the district eligibility sheets sent to member schools. On the Slaton list, all the players were named, but copies mailed to the other schools did not contain the names of the questioned player or players.

The executive committee, composed of superintendents of schools of the district, ruled against the protest and reprimanded Slaton for the mistake.

It's A Safe Bet You Never Heard Of This Before!

KINGSVILLE, Nov. 21. (AP)—There's nothing like football hulabuloo to disturb a peace-loving neighborhood.

The Texas A. & I. Javelinas found that out when they invaded San Antonio the other night to play the St. Mary's Rattlers.

Ace Carson, Javelina guard, kicked extra point after the first touchdown and the ball sailed over the end-zone fence into an objecting neighbor's yard. He promptly confiscated the ball, declaring he would keep it until all the "foolishness and racket" was stopped.

Another ball was put into play and the game proceeded but when another touchdown was made at the same end of the field, neither players nor officials hesitated.

As one man, they marched down to the other goal and, without risk of losing another ball, had their try for extra point.

Illinois AC Recognizes New Champ After Ali Baba Pinned

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Everett Marshall, in the books of the Illinois Athletic commission, is heavyweight wrestling champion of the world today.

The Lajunta, Colo., grappler pinned Ali Baba, mustached challenger, with a double nelson in 35:44 at the Chicago statium last night. The Illinois commission recognized the winner as champion.

Fightin' Irish Skin Wildcats

Layden's Buckos Bring 'Em Back Alive, Pouncing On Northwestern For 26 To 6 Victory At South Bend

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 21. (AP) The fighting Irish of Notre Dame brought 'em back alive today.

They tamed, beat and caged the mighty Wildcats of Northwestern by the astonishing score of 26 to 6, ending a college football prowl that had not been halted through rain and sunshine for seven straight games, a raid that found them even feasting on the national championship dream of mighty Minnesota.

Pop-Eyed Fans Incredulous

Notre Dame, playing brilliant mechanical as well as inspired football, astonished a capacity crowd of 56,000 spectators, by whipping the champions of the Western conference in one of the biggest upsets of the season. The pop-eyed spectators left the Notre Dame stadium wondering which was now the ranking No. 1 football team of the nation. They knew it was no longer Northwestern.

Notre Dame took advantage of every opportunity to outmaneuver the fagged out, hitherto unbeaten Wildcats. The size of the score just about indicates the difference between the two teams. Notre Dame practically was handed three touchdowns in glaring misplays and fumbles, but it was the vicious tackling of the fighting Irish, their terrific blocking and faultless execution of plays that won their most impressive victory of the year.

Four touchdowns were scored by Notre Dame, one in each period, before the badly whipped Wildcats found themselves long enough to stage a 77-yard march in the fourth to register their only score.

Duquesne Wallops Marquette, 13-0

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21. (AP)—The destroying Dukes of little Duquesne university crushed unbeaten Marquette into submission 13 to 0 in a thrill-filled gridiron spectacle staged before 27,000 fans today.

Hard running backs behind a rugged line that rushed Marquette's vaunted passing attack into oblivion wrote a sequel to Duquesne's earlier 7-0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Panthers.

Big Boyd Brumbaugh tossed a 32-yard pass to end Ernest Hefferle late in the first period today and plunged two yards across the goal line in the final chapter to account for the two touchdowns. He placekicked the extra point after the second tally to have a part in all the scoring.

California Beats Stanford 20-0; 82,000 Fans Look On

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 21. (AP)—In a glorious climax to a season which started with defeat and disappointment and ended in sensational victorious fashion, University of California's Bears defeated their oldest football rivals, Stanford's Indians, 20 to 0 today before a sell-out crowd of 82,000 fans.

Touchdown marches in each of the last three periods brought California its first victory over Stanford since 1931.

Lloyd Russell Shows The Way Over Mustangs

Bruin Star Cavorts Wildly To Climax Career And Protect Baylor's Home Record Over Prancing Mustangs

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

WACO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Two swirling touchdown sprints by Captain Lloyd Russell, Baylor's campus idol, dazed a Southern Methodist team that fought back but finally fell, 13-7, here today.

Ten thousand fans gathered to see Russell play the last home game of a brilliant three-year career, gave him a riotous cheer and carried him from the field. He had preserved, almost single-handed, a tradition that a Baylor team has never lost to the Mustangs on their home field.

Russell, a twisting, swirling, kicking quarterback who did everything but carry the water bucket, trapped the Methodists in the first two minutes of play and they never recovered.

Ponies Drop Low

Weak on pass defense and unable to pierce a Baylor line when scoring opportunities seemed just ahead, the Methodists absorbed their third successive defeat and dropped far into the second division of the Southwest conference race they won with an undefeated record last year.

Two plays after the opening kickoff, Russell took the snapback from center, lateraled to Billy Patterson, sophomore passing demon, and then tore out around his left end. Patterson, shielded by his great line, hesitated until Russell had stepped 15 yards across the scrimmage line and fired a pass.

Russell took it on the Methodist 35, sidestepped through the secondary and crossed the line standing up.

19 Yards To Score

Shortly after the second period opened Russell was at it again. The Methodists backed into trouble by a holding penalty and a 12-yard loss plastered on Stidger when he tried an end sweep, kicked to Russell. He started firing passes to Gernand, took one himself from Patterson, ran with the ball to the Methodist 19 and then slid off tackle on a dazzling broken field dash to score. Gernand added the point.

A pass interference ruling gave the Methodists their line marker in the third period. Stidger's long heave intended for Dewell ended in a scramble between Dewell and Braszell, Baylor fullback, on the Bruin seven. Officials ruled interference and Finley, Methodist fullback, burrowed through guard on the fourth try for a touchdown, Stidger kicked the point.

Mates Help Russell

Superb blocking by both backs and linemen made it easy for Russell, once they shook him into the clear he took care of himself with nimble footwork. Both teams wasted scoring chances. Baylor once drove to the Methodist 11 on a long sprint by Gernand but bogged down there. The Methodists using laterals and line thrusts by Finley and Stidger, went to the Baylor 13 in the third and fizzled on running attempts.

Finley was ejected from the game in the fading minutes of play for slugging.

Paschal Scottino, burley Methodist guard, played a bang up defensive game, along with G. Sanders, his running mate.

The Methodists bagged 12 first downs to Baylor's nine but the Bruins completed six of eight passes for 86 yards while the Mustangs got but 72 yards from eight of the 22 passes they heaved.

Purdue And Indiana Battle To 20-20 Tie In Hectic Tilt

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 21. (AP)—They rained forward passes all over Ross Ade stadium here today as Purdue and Indiana fought to a 20 to 20 tie in as spectacular a football battle as ever took place in the forty-year rivalry between the two state schools.

ILLINOIS DOWNS CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—A pair of young sophomores touched the spark to a smoldering Illini offense today, enabling Illinois to come from behind in a thrill-packed fourth period and defeat Chicago 18 to 7 before 20,000 roaring spectators.

Illinois quickly scored the deciding touchdown largely through the passing of Jay Wardley, and the brilliant receiving of Bob Castelo.

Westerners Meet Plainview Here, Raiders To New Orleans For Turkey Games

Lubbock Plays Season Finale On Thursday

Red Raiders Leave Tomorrow For New Orleans And Game With Loyola; Plainview Is Visiting Here Thursday

Lubbock bids farewell to another football season on Thursday when Plainview High school Bulldogs come to Texas Tech Field to engage Coach Weldon Chapman's Westerners in the Thanksgiving Day feature of the city's program.

Plainview dusted the Westerners off last year, and they'll be playing their best game of the season next week against the Westerners, whose fire was quinched on Nov. 11 by the Amarillo Sandies. The Westerners recovered sufficiently to take the Clovis Wildcats last Friday, 14 to 0, in a game played at Clovis.

In Good Shape

The Westerners came out of the Clovis game in good shape and should be ready to go next Thursday. Tickets for the game are on sale at the Hub Clothiers.

The Lubbock High coach was pleased with the "comeback" attitude of the Westerners Friday at Clovis, but he is not taking the Plainview game lightly. The Bulldogs, kicked around in the District 1 race so far, nevertheless always put out their best against Lubbock, and Chapman expects a tough game.

Lubbock's other big league football team, the Texas Tech Red Raiders, journey eastward for their holiday game, engaging the Loyola Wolves at New Orleans next Thursday.

The game will mark the first meeting of Tech and Loyola of the South, although the name Loyola is nothing new to the Red Raiders. For three years they have been the target practice of Loyola's Lions on the West Coast.

Raiders Leave Monday

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith will leave tomorrow afternoon at 4:40 o'clock with their Red Raiders, crippled and unjointed after three tough games, for the southern city. They'll travel by Santa Fe, going to Houston Monday night and working out at Rice Institute field Tuesday. They proceed to Baton Rouge Wednesday, and on into New Orleans Thursday.

Owing to injuries and illness, the coaches did not know last night the personnel of the traveling squad. The team, badly battered by the Oklahoma Aggies, losers to Loyola at Los Angeles and to DePaul here Friday, is in poor shape for its two games.

After the trip to New Orleans, the Red Raiders will be home for a few days before heading westward to Tucson and the annual Border conference game with University of Arizona.

Auburn Pounces On Loyola Of South, 44-0

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 21. (AP) — A devastating Auburn attack rolled up a 44 to 0 victory over Loyola of New Orleans here today in the Plainsmen's only home game of the year.

A homecoming day crowd of 5,000 witnessed the lop-sided victory, in which the Auburn reserves displayed power equal to the regulars. The reserves counted three touchdowns in the first half, and two more in the final quarter, the regulars accounting for two during the third period.

Alert play by the Auburn line completely bottled up Loyola's backs. Two scoring threats were turned back by the victors. One followed a short kick, and the other a fumble on Auburn's 13.

Michigan State In Close Go With Arizona

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 21. (AP)—A first-period break and a forward pass gave Michigan State college a 7 to 0 victory here today over the University of Arizona's hard-fighting border champion football Wildcats.

Steve Sebo, who took a pass on the Wildcats' 10, dashed across for the touchdown. The score followed an Arizona punt that was partly blocked on the Arizona 25 yard line.

The Red and Blue Western team fought stubbornly all the way. Sam Ketchman, Spartan center, knocked down two successive forward passes by Dave Wynne, Wildcat halfback, to help frustrate an Arizona last minute rally. Another of Wynne's passes fell incomplete as the final whistle blew.

McLarnin's Mauling Of Lou Ambers Assures New Chance

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—It appeared likely today Jimmy McLarnin is due to fight for the welterweight title once more.

Lou Ambers, current king of the 135-pounders, went the way of most of his class last night. Over-matched and conceding McLarnin eight pounds, he took as decisive a beating in the Madison Square garden ring as the former lightweight champion, Tony Canzoneri, did less than two months ago.

McLarnin looked so impressive in completing the 10-round verdict over the Herkimer, N. Y., boy that plans immediately were made for the veteran to fight the winner of the welterweight title scrap billed next week between Champion Barney Ross of Chicago and Izzy Jannazzo of New York.

A crowd of 10,229 cash customers paid $32,084 to see McLarnin's victory over Ambers. Despite the fact Jimmy carried off seven of the 10 rounds and won by a wide margin on points, it was a fast and interesting scrap.

SPORTOGRAMS by COLLIER PARRIS

POLO IS A GAME originally designed for horsemen and dedicated to horseflesh, according to the partisans of polo. By its particular historians, polo is claimed to be "the most ancient of games with ball and stick," thus disputing the claims of golfers, hurlers, cricketers and hockey players.

The polo element claims that all the other ball-and-stick games, and most of all, motorcycle polo, are offshoots or pure plagiarisms of real polo.

We mention all this by way of announcing that a polo game, featuring horses and men, is scheduled in Lubbock today.

A group of Lubbock sportsmen partial to polo are attempting to set the game up here as a regular attraction. A few games of polo have been played in Lubbock, but not many.

The Lubbock team is meeting the Running Water team at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Fair Park race track. The game is to be played in the infield of the track, which should make one of the best fields in the section if properly prepared.

There is a charge of 25 cents to the grandstand this afternoon, and the folks are all invited. Messrs. Claude B. Hurlbut, A. C. Woodward and Bob Chester are three of the men behind the polo guns here. It is to be hoped their efforts to make the sport go here will not be in vain, because polo, in any form, is a fine game, and on horses it is strictly polo.

We have been trying to get educated to motorcycle polo, which is something of a thrilling game. Lubbock is as well known for its motorcycle polo as it is unknown for its horse polo, being the home of the national champions, and undefeated champions at that.

But today the game is to be played on horseback, and it might be worth your time.

POLO, according to the most reliable historians, was originated in Persia. Some say it was born four thousand years ago. That it still flourishes in the hot spots of the world is proof enough that there is something to the game besides horses. But it is unlikely that the game is 4,000 years old, because there were no horses in Persia 4,000 years ago, and if there had been, they would have been most impractical for saddle purposes, being about the size of sheep dogs.

But Persia is accorded the distinction of being the cradle of polo, which is all right by us.

Not having been reared or experienced in hot polo circles, all we know about the game is what we read in history, and Frank G. Menke's little red book tells us plenty. To play polo well always has been to become stamped with the mark of greatness, for polo was, and is, supposed to test character, courage, physical strength and durability as well as one's disposition under fire.

Emperor Akbar of India, where polo flourished, chose his soldiers only from the polo ranks, awarding highest military titles to the better polo players.

Getting down to modern times, polo, formerly called "pulu", is played on horseback, 4 men to a team. The game is made up of eight (or six) periods, called chukkers, of 7 1-2 minutes each. The field is 300 yards long and 160 wide, but can be lessened by mutual consent. The players use mallets. A goal (1 point) is scored whenever the ball is driven between the uprights, which are 24 feet apart at each end of the field.

A good polo game, in which well trained horses and courageous riders take part, is something to see. It is an expensive game, and seldom breaks out in the smaller leagues. Polo horses are expensive critters, and to play polo one should own several horses. Texas is becoming one of the leading polo horse markets of the country, shipping out highly trained animals each year to polo's big leagues.

Best polo teams the South Plains has produced in recent years were those of Lamesa. The Barron brothers, a few years ago, gained national prominence for their riding, and another team led by Sheriff Gus White made extensive raids on Texas' better known clubs. This club won a tournament last summer at Plainview, and in the tournament the team which plays Lubbock today, Running Water, was something of a serious threat.

So today, we give you—polo.

Mississippi State Trounces Ole Miss, With Passes, 26-6

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 21. (AP)—Mississippi State broke a 10-year jinx here today with a crushing 26 to 6 victory over its fiercest gridiron rival, the University of Mississippi.

Taking advantage of Rebel fumbles in the final period, and utilizing its vaunted passing attack to good advantage, State turned an otherwise nip-and-tuck battle into a rout in the final minutes of play, scoring three touchdowns to add to its early lead.

Amarillo Batters Borger High, 30-7

AMARILLO, Nov. 21. (AP)—The Golden Sandstorm swirled over Borger today 30-7 to cinch a tie for the District one championship. The victory was Amarillo's ninth in a row and its third in conference competition.

Bob Clesson, all-state fullback, led the Sandies in ringing up 12 points in the initial quarter. Sandie reserves performed the remainder of the game.

Wildhorse Mayes, galloping gazelle of the Sandie backfield, was withheld from the game because of a leg injury.

The Sandies rolled up more than 500 yards on running and passing plays, 145 yards in penalties curtailing the scoring. Amarillo made 24 first downs.

Nebraska Huskers Explode To Blast Kansas State 40-0

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 21. (AP)—The Nebraska football volcano which sputtered and fumed harmlessly against Pittsburgh a week ago erupted with devastating fury today to smother the Big Six title dreams of Kansas State. The score was Nebraska 40, Kansas State 0, leaving the Huskers with a new conference scoring record of 134 points against none for opponents.

A victory today would have given Kansas State a title tie, but after the Huskers had slashed their way to a touchdown less than six minutes after the start, the 27,000 fans banking the field knew a repetition of the surprising 1934 Kansas State victory was not to be.

Princeton And Dartmouth In 13-13 Tie On Tigers' Field

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 21. (AP)—The badly tamed Princeton Tigers deserted the jungle for the air today, came from the rear and topped off a so-so football season by holding a highly favored Dartmouth team to a 13-13 tie.

Each team counted a touchdown in the second. Datmouth forged into the lead with another in the third and then the Tigers put on their spurt to tie things up soon after the fourth got under way.

The Tigers outrushed the big green eleven 129 yards to 77, but in the air the visitors from down east had a distinct advantage.

Ohio State Goes Through Air To Tumble Michigan, 21 To 0

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21. (AP)—Ohio State combined power and "razzle-dazzle" today to defeat Michigan's Wolverines, 21 to 0.

The victory was Ohio's fifth in eight starts this year, and the defeat was Michigan's seventh in eight attempts. Only a victory over Columbia kept the Wolverine season from being a total loss.

The invaders were unable to match power with the Ohioans, but it was the devastating Buckeye aerial attack which proved the deciding factor.

Louisiana State Rings Up 93 Points; Game Is Short

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 21. (AP) Louisiana State university buried Southwestern Louisiana institute's courageous "rest game" football team 93 to 0 today under an avalanche of touchdowns.

Yale Noses Out Harvard, 14-13

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21. (AP)—Yale rode the surging tide of football fortune to victory over Harvard today, 14 to 13, as the luck of Larry Kelley, amazing Eli captain, held good to the end of his gridiron career.

The game developed a battle that had a crowd of 58,000 in wild excitement, with the outcome determined by the thin margin of fullback Vernon Struck's failure to place-kick the extra point after Harvard's second touchdown.

The kicker, rushed by the furious Elis under Kelley's leadership, missed the uprights by a scant yard or two, ending a gallant rally that saw the Harvard's parade 80 yards to their first score.

Hardin-Simmons Pomps To 39 To 6 Win Over Wild Pigpies

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 21. (AP)—The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys today overpowered the Texas Arts and Industries Javelinas, 39 to 6.

The Cowboys ran up an early 33 to 6 lead, and added another touchdown in the last few minutes of play to swell the point total.

The Javelinas scored their only marker in the first period when Hightower broke through the line and eluded the entire Cowboy team for a 75-yard dash.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Clark announced today she would appeal a jury verdict which assessed her $30,000 for allegedly stealing the love of Michael Fitzpatrick, former ship's purser, from his wife, Christine.

"I'm stunned at such a verdict," declared Mrs. Clark, whose husband was a grandson of the late William Andrews Clark, Montana senator and copper magnate.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick alleged the wealthy widow, native of Big Spring, Texas, met Fitzpatrick while she was a passenger aboard his ship. He was promised "a surrounding of wealth and society," and enticed away from her, Mrs. Fitzpatrick asserted.

Texas Tech Freshmen Gridders Wind Up With Exciting 29-0 Victory Over Portales Squad

Anderson And Boswell Shine In Backfield As Picadors Bitter Down Junior College Team In Final Game

By COLLIER PARRIS

Texas Tech DID wind up its home football season with a victory, after all—a decisive, smashing, rocking, socking victory at that.

And blinking from under their brims along with the other delighted spectators were Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith of the varsity. Maybe they were lamenting the existence of a "freshman rule;" maybe they were thinking they could use, right now, a flock of those ramming, jamming, blocking, tackling Picadors who went to town in joyful manner to clout a fighting but sadly outclassed Eastern New Mexico Junior college, 29 to 0.

Featuring the rabbit-chasing running of Williard Anderson, halfback from Sapulpa, Okla., and the drop-kicking of Big Gene Boswell of Lamesa, the Picador backs followed husky blocking linemen and backfield interferers, or passed through the airlanes with such vim, vigor and viciousness that the scattered crowd of 600 was sorry when it was over.

Visitors Can "Take It"

Many teams would have given up before the charges of Berl Huffman's snappy outfit, but the boys from Portales took it, stayed in there and came out grinning.

Huffman shuffled his lineup constantly, leaving his best boys in for short intervals and using nearly every player on the bench. This kept up the chatter and a great spirit.

One other touchdown was scored that did not count, Anderson driving through the line and skipping down the sideline, 62 yards to score standing up and with room to spare. But Umpire Mule Davis called a clipping penalty and the play was nullified.

It was a fairly rough game, boys on each side showing a lot of spirit and enthusiasm and frequently including in tactics that are frowned upon in the most well-bred institutions. Two players from each side were removed for scrapping, but in both cases they shook hands before leaving the field and there were no hard feelings after the game.

The scraps were of the "wrestling" variety rather than exchanges of blows.

Varsity Needs Gene

The crowd got a thrill watching Gene Boswell make his educated toe do tricks. He was not in the game when Tech scored its first touchdown, and the try for point by White was missed. But he came in during the second quarter and calmly and perfectly drop-kicked a field goal from the New Mexico 30-yard line. The ball sailed through the uprights, 40 yards away, with room to spare. Boswell's boot would have been good from mid-field.

Later in the period, Boswell, one of the very few drop-kickers Tech has ever had and, indeed, one of the few in action anywhere today, converted extra point with a perfect drop-kick. He repeated in the third period after scoring a touchdown from the one-yard line.

A lot of good varsity talent was paraded on Tech Field yesterday. Linemen as well as backs performed with such fervor and ability as to reduce the pain of parting with current varsity seniors.

Four great tackles — 210-pound Jack Bostick from Brownwood, 255-pound Bill Davis from Grapevine; 200-pound enneth Madry from Levelland and 200-pound Ray Steitle from San Antonio, made themselves known and felt. Guards, outstanding among whom are Dixie White, leathery ex-Lubbock High are; Holt Waldrop, 180-pounder from Slaton, and Otis Quaries, 195-pound lad from Lovington, N. M., were much in evidence, and the ends, all of them, performed right nobly, Phil Gonzales of Sherman, O. L. Webb of Itasca, A. J. Gerron of Whitharral being prominent wingmen.

Rex Williams from Sherman and Laural Halle from Stratford did the centering nicely.

Calhoun Scores First

Backs were all over the field, and so many of them it was hard to keep up with the lineup. In addition to Boswell and Anderson, there were Jim White from Midland, Dexter Walthal from Lubbock, Sammy Ray from San Angelo, Dwight Lindsey from Hobbs and Charlie Calhoun of Lubbock who made hay when they got the ball and blocked when they didn't carry it.

The Picadors scored early in the game, driving 80 yards after receiving the kick-off without losing the ball. Calhoun plunged over for the counter.

With Boswell and Williams going to town, the Picadors blasted down the field to the 30, from where Boswell drop-kicked the field goal.

Another Drop-Kick

New Mexico received the kick-off and got it back out to the ten, fumbled on the first play and Tech recovered on the 3-yard line. Anderson tore around right end to score and Boswell drop-kicked the point.

Haile, Tech center, intercepted a pass in mid-field and returned 26 yards, after which Denny made a first down on the 15 yard as the half ended.

Charley Calhoun intercepted a pass midway of the third period, ran it a few yards and lateralled to Anderson who ran to the 18-yard line. Calhoun picked up six and

Business Of Declaring Texas' Favoritism For Roosevelt And Garner Will Advance Another Step In Action

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—The business of declaring Texas' favoritism for Roosevelt and Garner as president and vice president will advance another step Monday when the vote in the general election for those offices is canvassed officially.

The state canvassing board composed of Governor Allred, Attorney General William McCraw and Secretary of State B. O. Matocha will examine the returns and declare the 23 Democratic electors chosen.

Electors Meet Dec. 4

Then, after certificates of office have been sent the electors, as they are issued to other state officials, the electors will meet on Dec. 14 and cast their votes for president and vice president.

Under the law, they could vote for anyone, even for the Republican presidential candidate, Governor Alf Landon of Kansas, but none expected they would and electors in past elections always have voted according to party labels.

After they have cast Texas electoral votes for Roosevelt and Garner, the result will be sent by registered mail to the United States secretary of state, to the secretary of the United States senate and to the judge of a county court in Travis county.

On January 6, it will be counted, along with the electoral votes from other states, at a joint session of congress.

The official count was not expected to differ greatly from the unofficial, which, on returns from 228 out of 254 counties, including 95 complete, gave Landon 74,063, Lemke (Union) 1,796, Roosevelt 518,088 and Thomas (Socialist) 637.

Special Deputy Game Warden At Clayton Dies Of Wounds

CLAYTON, N. M., Nov. 21. (AP)—Morrison Rupp, 28, special deputy game warden who was shot last Sunday under mysterious circumstances, died in a hospital here today from bullet wounds in the stomach and left lung.

The only statement by Rupp that was made public by Chief of Police J. L. Pounds was he was fired upon by unidentified persons from the rim of a mesa as he drove past in his automobile.

Rupp drove up in a bullet marked automobile Sunday, suffering from loss of blood, to tell Pounds he had been shot. Then he fainted, slumped over the wheel of the machine. Three shots had hit the car.

Physicians said Rupp's shirt showed traces of powder burns and the man's revolver had two empty chambers. While the gun, Pounds said had been fired recently, no empty cartridges could be found.

During spells of delirium in the hospital, attendants said, Rupp muttered about an "Ed" whom, he said, "he didn't suppose would do him that way."

"He admitted he had been 'up the river' for highway robbery in Oklahoma," said Fort and Harrist, who said he will be investigated as a possible figure in a more serious charge.

Levens, Fort and Harrist said injunctions aimed at continued operation of the two places where arrests were made likely will be sought.

"We haven't decided how many charges may result from tonight's court of inquiry," said Levens, "but investigation will be continued."

No Liquor Found

Authorities said no liquor was found in the raids. Search warrants had been issued for the dual purpose of seeking liquor and possible undesirables who assertedly had been frequenting several Lubbock places.

For instance, one man nabbed in one of the domino parlor raids Tuesday is being held for Marlin authorities, expected to arrive here today to question him in connection with theft of an automobile.

Saturday night's raids were timed with nicety and only one person escaped, through a door officers did not know was in one of the places. When some guarded front and rear entrances others "shook down" the places and Deputy Posey and Patrolman Mabray drove prisoners to the court of inquiry "six at a time."

Lanham Praises Couple

Congressman Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth said "in public and private station two lives never were more completely one. Their hands and hearts have been joined in fulfillment of a beneficent mission. These ceremonies are a fitting tribute to an American family and home of the first order."

Lanham said the urge of education "is to conquests in the field and forum of uplifting achievement. It is in appropriate acknowledgement of this truth that Baylor honors itself, and honors us, in conferring today degress upon two distinguished Texans who have passed summa cum laude examination in the practical school of life's experience."

Gov. James V. Allred, Senator Tom Connally, congressmen, former Governors James E. Ferguson and Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, O. B. Colquitt, W. P. Hobby, Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul, twenty four college presidents and scores of other dignitaries sat on the platform with the Garners and watched the ceremony.

Garner And His Jacksonian Evebrows Are 67 Years Old

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—John Nance Garner and his Andrew Jackson eyebrows will be 67 tomorrow.

The eyebrows have not been hindered in their growth to a Jacksonian bushiness. Some in Washington who know of the vice president's hearty admiration for "Old Hickory" say that he sometimes fumbles with them to help give them a Jacksonian twirl.

He has read virtually everything the library of congress has in its stacks that deals with Andrew Jackson. He speaks with a Jacksonian bluntness, has a Jacksonian flair for looking facts in the face and dealing with them in outspoken fashion, might fight a duel if dueling was in fashion.

Is Dean Of Congress

Garner actually is the dean of congress. Senator Borah of Idaho is the dean of the senate, Representative Sabath of Illinois dean of the house. But they both came in in 1907. Garner came in 1903 and has been either a member of the house, its democratic leader, its speaker, or the vice president presiding over the senate ever since.

It wa back in those early days of his membership, when Theodore Roosevelt was president and William Howard Taft secretary of war that Garner began to get complaints that the cavalry was about to be moved from Brownsville, Tex.

Edged Out Politely

He visited the war department. Mr. Taft gave him a hearing and ushered him out. More complaints came. He called on Mr. Taft again, was edged out politely. More vigorous complaints came. He visited the war department. Mr. Taft was too busy to see him.

Garner went to the unguarded exit from the office of the secretary of war and waited until a visitor came out. He stuck his foot into the door and strode in.

The big, broad humored secretary of war looked up and inquired what was troubling him.

Problem In Economics

"It's a problem in economics, Mr. Secretary," replied Garner.

"How is that?"

"Well, Mr. Secretary, my district grows a lot of hay, makes a lot of liquor, has a lot of pretty girls. The cavalry horses eat the hay, the men drink the liquor and marry the girls."

Mr. Taft chuckled and sent Garner on his way. The cavalry stayed at Brownsville.

A few days later the president met Garner.

"What is this that you have been doing to my secretary of war?" he inquired.

"I've just been giving him a lesson in economics, Mr. President," Garner replied.

"Well, half of the army is trying to get transferred to Brownsville."

Anderson went to the one-foot line, from where Boswell went over. He drop-kicked another extra point, and the scoring was over.

The Picadors made 16 first downs.

Negro Is Stabbed In Hockley County

LEVELLAND, Nov. 21. (Special)—A 40-year-old negro whose first name was Jack was stabbed to death and a 19-year-old suspect was held in jail here early today, as results of an alleged altercation over a negro woman.

Deputies Sheriff F. A. Crockett and T. T. McDermett arrested the suspect 45 minutes after the slaying, which was at a negro cafe and dance place in the negro quarter here. Crockett said the slaying was at 10 o'clock.

Charges will be filed today, said Crockett, who said both negroes had "been drinking."

Crockett said District Attorney Daniel A. Blair of Lubbock had been informed of the slaying, and that Sheriff Clarence Davis was investigating "further."

Continental Oil Announces Bonuses For 5,000 Workers

PONCA CITY, Okla., Nov. 21. (AP)—Continental Oil company has announced its approximately 5,000 employes will be given a special bonus out of the company's 1936 earnings. Stockholders, it was announced earlier, will receive a 25-cent dividend.

The amount of the bonus to each employe will be measured by the length of his service prior to December 1, President Dan Moran said. "Permanent employes with one year's service or more," he said, will receive two weeks wages or a half month's salary, and "those with less than one year's service on that date will be given one week's wages, or a quarter month's salary."

Beaumont Community Chest Goal Of $137,753 Reached

BEAUMONT, Nov. 21. (AP)—The Beaumont Community Chest goal of $137,753 was oversubscribed by $376.71, it was announced at a victory dinner of campaign workers last night. The drive had been extended 24 hours when it was $16,000 short on the first announced deadline. Last year the quota was $108,000 and the amount raised was about $300 over.

Reduction In Relief Is Seen

Federal Relief Activities In Drouth Areas To Be Given Curtailment Wherever Action Is Found Possible

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A sharp curtailment of federal relief activities in drouth areas was underway today by the two agencies directing aid for more than a million individuals in the farm area.

Officials expressed hope of holding to 300,000 the number of families carried through the winter. This would be less than half the total aided heretofore by WPA and resettlement.

List Being Revived

J. W. Tapp, chairman of the special drouth committee of the agriculture department, which has designated 1,190 counties in 24 states as emergency areas, said the entire list was being reviewed with elimination of many counties as the goal.

Philip E. MacGuire, directing drouth aid in the Resettlement administraion, said his agency and the Works Progress administration were checking every farmer on their lists, with the intention of reducing the WPA farmer relief job rolls from a peak of 324,295 workers to about 60,000 by December 15.

Texas Society Of Engineers Chapters To Be Formed Soon

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—R. H. Knipping, president of the Austin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, said today new chapters will be organized at Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and other cities in the next few weeks.

The Texas chapter was organized by Austin and San Antonio engineers meeting here. Col. W. B. Tuttle of San Antonio was chosen president. Other officers were Dean T. U. Taylor of the University of Texas, and W. E. Simpson of San Antonio, vice presidents; Knipping, secretary, and R. S. Guinn of Austin, treasurer.

The directorate was composed of I. P. Exum, M. P. Von Homeyer and E. G. Franke of Austin, and H. P. Stubbs, E. F. Staph, J. Wallace Smith, H. R. P. Helland, and P. K. Lucas of San Antonio. J. W. Beretta of San Antonio was named national director.

Two More Victims Of Port Arthur Fire Die

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 21. (AP)—Two deaths today brought to four the death toll in yesterday's fire aboard the tugboat Chief.

T. D. Lambert, 34, Port Arthur, welding foreman, died this morning. Several hours later Percy Snyder, 50, chief engineer succumbed of burns.

Charred bodies identified tentatively as those of Robert Prosperrie of Beaumont, a fireman, and Paul Harris, negro cook, were recovered from the flame-swept craft.

Five other men were injured.

The tragedy occured when oil which escaped from a pipe line at a loading dock sprayed the boat's deck and caught fire.

Opinion May Be Requested

Ruling On Whether Recent Amendment Invalids Law On Transfer Of Pardon Boards To Huntsville

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—The attorney general's department may be asked soon for an opinion as to whether the constitutional amendment creating a new pardons board rendered ineffective a law transferring the seat of the board from Austin to Huntsville.

Since the law was enacted by the last regular session of the legislature, under the sponsorship of Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville, there has been much discussion and a court contest over the desirability of the transfer.

Obtained Injunction

A resident of Travis county obtained an injunction restraining the removal and while the court of civil appeals dissolved the injunction and sent the case back for trial the litigation was not terminated.

It has been noted that the resolution instructing the transfer referred to "the board of pardons and paroles created and existing by reason" of a law passed y the forty-first legislature.

The new board, which under a ruling by the attorney general's department will come into being next February, obviously was not created by an act of the forty-first legislature, but by the amendment adopted in the last general election.

Persons opposing the transfer say that although the point admittedly is technical it should be sufficient to prevent removal, and regardless of a ruling by the attorney general, probably would be the basis for a further court attack.

WHAT IS PUPIL DILATION AND HOW IS IT PRODUCED? Nature provided muscles to regulate the size of the pupil to control the amount of light entering the eye in proportion to the intensity of the light. Excessive light is very injurious. Reaction of the pupil is to contract, reducing the amount of light entering the eye. Light of less than normal intensity necessitates more light entering the eyes to maintain normal or near normal vision. These muscles act involuntarily.

Fixed abnormal pupil dilation is produced by a drug instilled into the eyes which paralizes the muscles hence Nature is interferred with, preventing the regulation of the size of the pupil as required by light stimulation. In this condition, eyes cannot be used for near work. Remember this no drug can refract light or the human eye. Our Modern Scientific Optometrical Eye Examinations Are Safe and Free From Pupil Dilation.

U. S. Tanks Are Said Inferior

German Weekly Newspaper Has Article On War Machines; Says Machines Not Up To Fighting Standards

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The fighting qualities of United States war tanks were disparaged today in an article in the Militar Wochenblatt, German weekly newspaper.

Heinz Bach, author of the article, declared American engineers seem "ambitious" to repeat the mistakes of European engineers while builders abroad borrow the good ideas of American armored-car construction.

"Faced with war, there is not the slightest doubt," Bach said, "that the United States could and would produce tanks and armored cars of the highest efficiency."

But, he added, extremely few existing types of heavy or light tanks and armored cars impress the European soldier as capable of standing the test of modern war requirements.

U. S. Officials Say Criticism Unwarranted

WASHINGTON, No. 21. (AP)—War department officials characterized as unwarranted today the published criticism of American war tanks in the German military publication Militar Wochenblatt.

The newspaper's article said most American tank equipment would not stand the test of war.

"The relative value of American tanks and those of European make is a matter of opinion," one high army officer said. "The light, high speed tank developed by our own ordnance department and now standard equipment for the army is eminently satisfactory to the general staff because these machines will do what they are intended to do."

This spokesman characterized the German article as full of inaccuracies.

CHANGES IN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—The state department announced today the following changes in the foreign service:

William E. Decourcy, Amarillo, Texas, consul at Capetown, Union of South Africa, assigned to Naples, Italy, as consul.

Arthur R. Williams, Golen, Colo., assigned as vice consul at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

Robert T. Cowan, El Paso, Texas, vice consul at Lille, France, assigned to Port Said, Egypt, as American vice consul.

Unusual Tangle Is Revealed In Case; Charges Are Filed

Embezzlement warrants were to be served at San Antonio Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Bedford P. Carpenter of Lubbock county to a Lynn county woman and a San Antonio Mexican, to mark another stage of an unusual tangle.

In charges sworn to by the father of the woman it was set out the woman, barely out of her girlhood, sold approximately $600 in cotton and turkeys, kept the money, left a note informing her father she was to be married, and, authorities said, married the Mexican—already married and father of three children.

Authorities said the girl did not give her right name to the clerk who issued the couple a marriage license.

The Mexican, they further explained, had been picking cotton in Lynn county and, when he and the Lynn county woman left, he deserted his wife and children.

Carpenter had gone to Gatesville to transfer four Lubbock county juveniles, all of whom must serve terms in a state house of correction for activities associated with juvenile theft here. With him was Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, who as recent county judge handled more juvenile cases than probably any other official in the greater part of West Texas.

Blakeslee Cites Newspapers Benefit For Scientific News

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 21. (AP)—The printed pages of newspapers offer common ground on which scientists and the public can meet to mutual advantages, Howard W. Blakeslee, science editor of the Associated Press, told the South's high school editors today.

"Science is written in newspapers today because it is news, both to the public and scientists," he said.

"It is written because the newspaper is the natural place for the first telling of any important event. If it is really important, the public will take a hand in finding out all the details through the newspapers. I think the public also will take a hand in helping scientists to decide which problems are the most important."

Whitharral Youths Work On Projects

Thirty-eight farm boys of the Whitharral community, in northern Hockley county mid-way between Levellard and Littlefield, have joined the Future Farmers of America chapter of the high school and are working on their projects. This was the report Saturday of Paul E. Wilkins, vocational agriculture teacher and teacher in a division of agriculture at Texas Technological college.

Ralph Gage is president; Joe Trannell, vice president; Glenn Gray, secretary; Vernon Edgar, treasurer; J. D. Daniel, historian; Laverne Taylor, reporter; Thurman Dodson, song leader.

Five boys have purebred Hampshire gilts, all bred, for their projects. Eleven other Duroc Jersey hogs will be bought early in December from the Tierra Blanca farms at Canyon. Boys have 195 acres in cotton projects, 115 acres of grain sorghuns, five Hereford calves on feed and will feed some Aberdeen Angus steers.

A program of work and objectives has been outlined for the year. The boys attended the Texas centennial, assisted in a community fair at Whitharral and have held one evening school on soil erosion and moisture conservation.

Beautification Of Highways Talked

George M. Garrett, division engineer, Wilson B. Holden, special planting foreman, and E. J. Wilson, general foreman, were special guests.

Each county chairman and section foreman made reports, outlining road beautification plans for fall, winter, and spring planting. Road parks, shrubs, trees, and general improvements for highways were discussed.

Damage Suit Is Filed As Result Of Boy's Injury At Gin Plant

Injury suffered by James W. Newton, 14, in the Campbell gin at Wellman, Terry county, Oct. 21, resulted Saturday in 72nd district court in a judgment of $1,750 for the lad.

Newton, through his father, J. T. Newton, had sued W. A. and P. L. Campbell, owners of the gin, for $3,000. The father asked additional damages of $1,000.

The agreed judgment was entered and was signed by Judge Homer L. Pharr. Previous payment of $390 to the Newtons by the Campbells was included in the $1,750 awarded to young Newton. No award was made to the father.

McWhorter & Howard were listed as attorneys for the plaintiffs.

"Jimmy is a darned good governor and a prince," Huxman said. Terming his vacation, during which he hunted with the Texas governor, the "best I ever had."

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Buying forces exhibitted a little more courage in today's stock market and recently depressed leaders were given an upward push for fractions to 2 points generally. There were a few much wider advances.

Brokers suggested the recovery may have been due partly to technical reasons connected with sharp declines of the previous two sessions. In addition, tension over European war dangers appeared to have lessened and more attention was paid to highly favorable domestic business factors.

The ability of utilities and rails to rally was a cheering influence. The come-back, however, was accomplished on relatively small volume. Transfers totalled 802,360 shares against 1,154,330 last Saturday when the trend was downward. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was up .5 of a point at 71.3.

The dividend flow tapered off for the week-end but was expected to start again Monday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21. (AP)—Cotton ended the week on the upgrade today. Prices moved forward from 35 to 50 cents a bale in active dealings.

The market closed at the best levels of the day with Dec. at 11.73, March at 11.69, July at 11.62 and Oct. at 11.35. Spot cotton followed the trend in futures, gaining 9 points. Middling at New Orleans was 12.26.

Behind the day's advance informed trade circles saw evidence of the inherent strength in the basis for actual cotton in interior points and the apparent scarcity of certain grades.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—A late wave of commission house buying lifted cotton prices sharply today following early irregularity.

March rallied from 11.62@11.78 but on a little profit-taking reacted to close at 11.71. Final prices generally were 4 to 19 points net higher.

Prices were fairly steady as trade and spot houses continued to absorb the liquidation.

Ginnings of 10,766,378 bales prior to November 14 as reported by the census bureau at the opening were in line with trade expectations.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 12.90 cents a pound.

Former "Miss America" Files Million-Dollar Damage Suit

DALLAS, Nov. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Virginia Cogswell, 28, who said she was one time known as the "Georgia Peach", won the "Miss America" title in 1924, and had been married seven times filed a $1,000,000 damage suit her today against a New York firm.

Mrs. Cogswell alleged the firm sent her here to manage a local store, agreed to compensate her with 2 per cent of net sales, and replaced her with another manager in breach of a contract which called for two weeks notice.

The winning young woman told reporters of seven marriages, but named only four of the husbands. She included in the list Asa Patterson, nephew of Asa Candler, soft drink manufacturer, and Lord Charles Seeger of London, Eng.

Mrs. Cogswell said she estimated the total wealth of her seven husbands to have been $10,000,000, but she had asked none for alimony.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Wheat, corn, oats and rye today outdid season top price records, but lively profit-taking then brought about averse action that practically cancelled gains.

To a large extent, the upward swing of values, around a cent a bushel each for wheat and corn, resulted from drouth damage reports and from dust storm advices indicative of widespread impaired prospects for United States 1937 breadstuff crops.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅜ cent lower to ¾ higher compared with yesterday's finish. Dec. 1.17⅜@1.17¾, May 1.15½@1.15⅝, July 1.04⅛@1.04⅜, corn ⅛ off to ¼ up, Dec 1.05⅝@1.05⅞, May new 99⅛@99½, July new 95⅝@96, oats unchanged to ⅛ advance, Dec. 45¼, and rye at ⅛ decline to an equal gain, Dec. 94⅞. Provisions results were unchanged to 5 cents down.

At some stages, corn today rose more sharply in price than wheat did, being influenced by strong commercial and feeding demand.

Oats traders made much of predictions of investment buying whenever cold weather stimulates demand. Rye showed fairly good resistance to selling based on declines of other grains.

Expected larger arrivals of hogs tended to ease the provisions market.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21. (AP)—Demand was excellent for feed grains with wheat showing some improvement.

Japs And Germany Not In Alliance

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Japan and Germany have "much in common" in their governmental ideas, a high governmental spokesman acknowledged today.

He denied, however, there is a "hard and fast alliance between the two."

"It is quite conceivable Germany and Japan—opposed as both are to bolshevism—may in given situations decide to proceed jointly," he added.

"It is also possibe if either should become involved in a war with Soviet Russia, the other would exercise at least a benevolent neutrality.

"It is also clear Japan and Germany have much in common in their authoritarian conception of government."

Official sources described themselves frankly puzzled and worried by persistent reports from Russia of a German-Japanese pact aimed against Russia.

Stoutly maintaining that "nothing is known here," one official, however, declined to be pinned down to an absolute denial.

Strike Fever Is Said Spreading

PARIS, Nov. 21. (AP)—Strike fever spread anew through provincial France today.

Twelve thousand strikers occupied a knitting mill at Toulouse. Eight thousand metal workers stood idle at Lille. A general strike call threatened to affect 17,000 other persons. Mobile guardsmen were on the alert.

Discharge of a lone worker brought the strike at Toulouse. The Lille strikers wanted collective bargaining contracts, a short work week and salary adjustments.

At Roubaix, striking coalyard workers blocked efforts of industrialists to get fuel for their factories. A dock strike at Bordeaux continued to tie up shipping. Incoming vessels were sent to other ports.

Murder Charges Are Filed In The Shooting Of Woman

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—Officers filed murder charges today against C. C. Lyle, 51, accusing him of shooting to death Mrs. Alice Carlisle in a south side drug store last night.

Jim Kelley, proprietor of the store in which Mrs. Carlisle worked, told police Lyle came into the establishment and motioned for the woman to accompany him behind a prescription partition.

The proprietor said Mrs. Carlisle accompanied Lyle apparently unwillingly, and in a moment, came running forth screaming. He said the man followed her shooting. A bullet cut the woman's jugular vein.

G. V. Roach, 60, a cripple, said he attacked Lyle after the shooting and Lyle fired at him, the bullet tearing his coat. Roach said he beat Lyle with his cane and, with the aid of other bystanders, disarmed him.

GAY THANKSGIVING

VIVID harvest colors are the things for the Thanksgiving centerpiece. Have you a large wooden bowl? Then use it. Fill it with bright vegetables, arranged in a small mountain of bounty. Use brilliant white cauliflower, red cabbage, bananas, golden squashes, blood-red beets and a few green notes thrown in with bunches of vivid broccoli or gleaming spinach leaves used as a bed for the vegetables.

Apples, polished to a fare-thee-well, dark brown bananas, dried figs leaning against spicy skins of perfect lemons—all these clustered together in mounting brilliance on a flat, gleaming brass tray will give dash and harvest feeling to the table.

Oak leaves and chrysanthemums, highly colored pottery figurines, red berries from the woods, or even a large, lustrous pumpkin resting on a bed of autumn leaves—that's certainly a seasonal decoration.

TRULY AN ARTIST

THE only disappointing feature in Rabinof's concert Friday night, as we view it, was that the young violinist played such massive numbers. Honestly, after those two Mozart and Wieniawski concertos many in the audience were too exhausted to take advantage of an intermission to stretch their legs or smoke. Oh they appreciated him, don't mistake us, else they wouldn't have clamored for the two encores that he so willingly played.

• • •

Those encores, a little staccato thing arranged by Heifetz and the world-loved "Ave Maria" by Schubert were examples of more popular pieces that are in the violinist's repertoire. Many in the auditorium Friday night had not heard such playing in their lives; the initial program sponsored by the Civic Music association could be called nothing less than a huge success.

A Lubbock music teacher was recalling Friday that she had seen Rabinof, when as a 15-year-old boy he came to Chicago with his teacher, Leopold Auer, to compete for a scholarship. He had practiced so much the day before that he had a callous on his neck and could not enter the contest, being unable to hold the fiddle under his chin.

NOVEL CHRISTMAS GIFT

SURPRISE, surprise — that's the one thing every man and woman loves. Well, how about a canned surprise — a treasure packed for Christmas? One of the most amusing things we've heard of for the Christmas tree—a can containing an oyster, packed in the pearl-bearing oyster beds of the Orient, and each little oyster is guaranteed to contain a pearl. That would be an excellent gift for Aunt Lizzie who is always complaining about the time she heated a pearl in soup and ruined it. (We never figured whether it was the pearl or the soup that had been spoiled.)

These cultured pearls have value of varying degree, of course, but each can does contain an oyster with a pearl in it.

President Is From Lubbock

Royal American Bird Still Holds Feature Place On Thanksgiving Menus Lubbock Women Maintain

While some Thanksgiving dinners and their settings have become as modern and varied as the new streamlined automobiles, America still votes for the old-fashioned family feast of the tradition-hallowed harvest table. In many Lubbock homes women will prepare feast day menus that have been handed down for generations, centering around a well-stuffed turkey with fixin's.

BY BETTY BIZZELL

For 315 years Mr. Gobbler has been hero of the Thanksgiving day stage with mince pie and plum pudding as leading ladies and with cranberries and dressing taking minor roles. Lubbock housewives, although they are more than 2000 miles from Plymouth Rock and are parted from the Pilgrims by 315 years, are planning the traditional meal with a few modern additions.

Although many women do not believe in cooking all day preparing for the old-fashioned heavy dinner and are planning to eat downtown, there are still those who enjoy planning for Thanksgiving. Mrs. Ethridge Eagan, 2310 Sixteenth street, has planned to have a 10-pound turkey with dressing and cranberries. Her salad is a modern one of apple, cabbage, and cocoanut. She will have creamed asparagus and baked potatoes for balance, and hot rolls, coffee, and tea. Devil's food cake will be the dessert for the Eagan family.

Mrs. Jack M. Lewis, 1310 Avenue N, has streamlined her menu with tomato juice cocktail and ambrosia for dessert. Turkey, dressing, candied yams, rice, lima beans, hot rolls, and cranberry salad are also on her menu. Cookies and coffee will be served with the ambrosia and salted nuts after the meal. Mrs. Lewis is planning to have Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Perry of Fort Stockton for dinner Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Knapp's Plans

Mrs. Bradford Knapp will have a family dinner at her home on the college campus. A bowl of chrysanthemums from her garden will be her centerpiece. She will serve the following menu: Fruit salad, a 14-pound turkey, dressing, cranberry jelly, sweet potatoes, celery, pickles, olives, hot rolls, coffee, mince meat and pumpkin pie. Although she says she has an excellent cook, she admits that she will probably have a "finger in preparing dinner."

Mrs. P. H. Laverty, young Lubbock matron who lives at 2016 Eighteenth street, varies her menu somewhat. She plans to have cranberry salad, Swiss steak, English peas, mashed potatoes, hot rolls, coffee and orange sherbet and potato cake for dessert. Her centerpiece will be half a pumpkin filled with fresh fruit.

Mrs. R. T. Campbell, 1621 Avenue Y, will go with her family to their ranch on Thanksgiving, where they will have dinner consisting of chicken, candied sweet potatoes, corn, cranberries, fruit salad, pumpkin pie and coffee.

Mrs. George R. Bean, 1614 Nineteenth street, will have molded vegetable salad, turkey and dressing, potatoes, cranberry jelly, hot rolls, celery, pickles and olives, mince pie with whipped cream and after-dinner coffee, stuffed dates and nuts.

Post-Holiday Meal

Mrs. W. D. Wilson will be out of town on Thanksgiving but she plans to have Thanksgiving dinner the Sunday after for the nine members of her family. She believes it is more economical to have a big turkey and hers will weigh 16 pounds. She will have oyster dressing, cranberry sauce, brussel sprouts, green beans, creamed potatoes, celery and olives, whole spiced peaches, pudding and hard sauce.

Mrs. W. R. Vivrett, 1020 Seventeenth has planned for her small family tomato juice cocktail, grapefruit and asparagus salad, baked ham, sweet potatoes and oranges, green beans, and a frozen banana dessert.

Mrs. O. J. Sexton has planned her menu as follows: oyster cocktail, cardinal salad, olives, and celery, a turkey and dressing, sweet peach pickles, cranberry sauce, scalloped potatoes, green beans with tomato sauce, hot rolls, and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

Reunion Is Planned

"My girls and boys love to come to mother's for Thanksgiving," said Mrs. W. D. Aycock, 1613 Eighteenth street. Mrs. Aycock is expecting 30 guests including children and wives and husbands of her children, and her grandchildren. She added that they always have a regular old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner and everybody brings a covered dish. She plans to have three turkeys, chestnut gravy, creamed potatoes, creamed peas and carrots, cranberry sauce, hot rolls and bread, pickles and gherkins, several different kinds of salads, pumpkin pie, applesauce cake, and several other kinds of cakes, and coffee.

Mrs. Charles Hvass, 2502 Twenty-second street, who moved here this year from New York, will prepare the following menu for Thanksgiving: Clam juice cocktail, stuffed celery with Roquefort dressing, ripe olives, turkey and dressing with cranberry sauce, candied yams with baked bananas, creamed onions, yellow turnips, plum pudding and coffee.

From Lou To Louella

Brief Bits Of News And Gossip About Folks' Comings, Goings And Doings

DEAR Louella: I hardly know where to begin, there's so much excitement in the air. Nearly everyone you meet is planning a little Thanksgiving trip to a football game, hunting, sightseeing or et cetera.

The college profs and their families and others of the school teaching ranks are going home to put their feet under mother's big dining table for a turkey feast.

I will work as usual Thanksgiving Day bu don't think I am planning to miss out on the turkey. I'm going to have a feast even if I have to invite myself home with some of my colleagues for dinner.

There's Plenty Of News

Lorene Childers is coming in from Sanderson Wednesday for the holidays. Gladys Franklin of Kermit (she's teaching there) will be here, I think. I can't begin to tell you all of that kind of news.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson and Billy will leave about Wednesday for Tulia where they will visit Doctor's brother, Dr. C. L. Jackson, and family and pick up his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Jackson of Nocona and drive them, home for Thanksgiving dinner. They will return about Sunday.

Mrs. Collier Parris is galavanting around down Dallas way seeing what is left of the Centennial celebration.

• • •

I DIDN'T know until the other day that Mrs. C. E. Hereford's sister, Mrs. M. D. Jones, has moved here from Waco. She sang at the Lubbock Woman's club the other day and Mrs. Hereford played her accompaniment.

I hate to see the C. G. Stinsons move away. They are going to Amarillo about January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boatner Ragland of Los Angeles are visiting in the home of his mother, Mrs. W. N. Woods, whose other son, Wilford Pick Woods, jr., has just returned to Fort Warren, Wyo., after a visit here. Young Woods is in the army. Mrs. Ragland is an accomplished pianist.

I'm So Curious

There was a group of interesting people staying at one of the hotels here last week. I never did find out who they were although I did learn that they were Easterners, registered from Houston and en route to Mexico. Glibly they ordered cocktails (the forbidden type) in a well known Lubbock restaurant and what's more they GOT them. I was fascinated by the English, swanky looking sports clothes they wore. I think there were three men and two women in the party.

• • •

SPEAKING of restaurants and things, there is a new one which is serving what I am told is excellent and the real thing in Mexican foods. It also caters to parties.

A p. w. g. told me the other day that she didn't like our fancy parking meters because her boss came to work early every morning in order to get one of the free spaces. It seems to me that those gadgets aren't bothering very many people. I heard a housewife say the other day that she had never failed to find one with enough time left from somebody else's nickel to satisfy her parking problems. I also observed, while walking in front of a department store Thursday that three meters out of five where cars were parked showed no green at all, proving so what?

Lots Of Parties

This is a good party season and a lot of people are taking advantage of it. Mrs. M. B. Hilburn had a series of pretty parties last week and then there has been a raft of parties for brides-elect and for college and high school social clubs. There's been no end to the dances and things like that to go to for the past several weeks. Two or three good dances, at least, are scheduled for this week.

I know of at least two weddings that are to take place Thanksgiving Day.

There's going to be an interesting program at the B. and P. W. meeting Wednesday night. The gals are going to debate the question, "Does Higher Education Pay A Business Woman?" Off hand, I'd argue YES. Perhaps not in money but in general enjoyment of life. The more knowledge one has, the greater his ability to make helpful decisions and to appreciate the work-a-day world. If it's money, they're talking about, I'd be inclined to argue NO.

I know numerous girls, right here in Lubbock, who never saw the inside of a college classroom who are employed at salaries two or three times greater than mine.

• • •

ONE of my cohorts tells me that when the Tech students were in California recently that a bunch of them visited a night club where Jan Garber was playing. Jan asked them to sing and, later, to give a Tech yell. They complied.

It is the height of one of my ambitions to get spotted in a far-from-Texas night club by a well-known orchestra leader, get introduced and asked to perform. In my case, however, the only performing I will be able to do will be a demonstration of the well-known Texas drawl through a mike.

My, but it is a lot of trouble to write you a letter every week. But, if you insist, it's worth it I guess.

Yours, Lou.

storage of foods at a cost of $40. Standard shelves (ten and one half inches apart) were included in the building. Mrs. Williams also showed newly papered and painted living room, bedroom and kitchen and a completely redecorated exterior of her house which had been accomplished at a cost of $75. Nine vegetable dishes were served. A one-dish meal in which corn was used as a basis was judged winner. It was prepared by Mrs. W. B. Copeland.

A pantry filled with canned goods, valued at $126.90 (extension standard) was displayed by Mrs. O. L. Malone of Shallowater club Wednesday night. The hostess displayed a cellar which had new shelving, painted white, made from old materials, and enough seeds from her fall garden to plant all her spring vegetables. Eleven vegetables were served and a cucumber salad prepared by Mrs. E. L. Corley was judged winner. The salad was made as follows:

"One package of jello, one and one half cups of boiling water, one fourth cup of cold water, three tablespoonful of vinegar, one half teaspoonful of salt, one cup of diced cucumbers, one fourth cup of pineapple juice, one cup of diced pineapple, one fourth cup of mayonnaise. Dissolve jello in boiling water; add one fourth cup of boiling water, pineapple juice, salt and vinegar. When slightly thickened, fold in pineapple, cucumbers and dressing. Grate cheese over top."

Hitch-Hiker Is Agreeable That It's Dangerous To Make Pick-Ups On The Road

CRESTON, Ia., Nov. 21 (AP)—William Conley of Des Moines picked up a young hitch hiker at Osceola late last night and talked with him from Osceola to Creston "mostly about the danger of picking up hitchers."

"But," Conley told police, "I'll have to admit he agreed with me it was dangerous to pick up hitch-hikers."

ROMANS USED CINNAMON

The Romans used cinnamon in ointments and balms, as well as in their cooking. It was also burned as incense and when a god was to be appeased or the shade of a departed spirit honored, cinnamon was added to the ceremonial fires. The biggest cinnamon fire ever recorded was built by Nero as part of the funeral rites for his wife, Poppaea. It is said he burned more than one entire year's importation on that occasion.

Three Killed In Oil Blaze

Two Charred Bodies Recovered From Boat And Third Man Is Claimed Saturday; Several Are Badly Hurt

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 21. (AP)—The death of a welding foreman today brought to three the death toll taken by an oil fire yesterday which turned the tugboat Chief into a blazing inferno. Six persons were injured, two critically.

Two charred bodies believed to be those of Robert Pronperrie, Beaumont, fireman, and Paul Harris, negro cook, Beaumont, were recovered from the charred boat. T. D. Lambert, 34, Port Arthur, the welding foreman, died today of burns.

Doused By Boat

Oil doused the boat from an open line and ignited as the craft was being maneuvered toward open water. Several crew members swam through water covered with the blazing oil to the shore's safety.

Atlantic Refining officials did not offer today an explanation of the accident.

The first two victims, trapped below decks, were burned beyond recognition. Identity was established only by a process of elimination.

Seriously burned were Johnny Matulla, 26, and Percy Snyder, 50, both of Beaumont. Dallas Dubose, 36, L. C. Johnson, 36, Ernest Washburn and Hassell Bragg, all of Beaumont, were burned less seriously.

Just A Lucky Guy

Capt. A. W. Laurents had planned to return to the vessel in the afternoon but was delayed and the fire started before he got back.

"I guess I am just a lucky guy," he remarked.

The tug was owned by the Magnolia Petroleum company. It was waiting for a tanker when the fire started.

Paul Ernest of Port Arthur, passenger of a passing ferry, said he saw a burst of fire, then men jumping into the water and swimming madly for shore through the flames.

Snyder, chief engineer, said he ordered the vessel into midstream when the danger of fire became imminent.

"About that time," he said, "something ignited the oil and the whole ship was enveloped in flames. I told members of the crew to jump, then leaped into the water."

The subject of intoxicating drinks has been investigated in scientific laboratories, but the exact limit for alcoholic content of intoxicating beverages cannot be set, due to the wide variance in the manner that different persons are affected by alcohol.

General Fund Shows Balance

Status Of The City's General Fund At End Of Last Month Shows It Out Of Red First Time Within Year

Status of the city's general fund at the end of last month showed it out of the red for the first time since the fiscal year began in April, a seven months statement completed by D. D. Martin, auditor, indicated Saturday.

The balance unexpended in that fund was $3,148.68, and with $4,600.75 spent applicable to other funds for capital outlay, the sum mounts to $7,749.43. Budget proposals were for $10,917.50 in the fund at the end of October.

Income available during the period totalled $212,069.79, compared with expenditures of $208,921.11. Increases in revenue of municipal utility operation and also in expenditures were noted in the statement.

A reduction of delinquent tax rolls to $107,264.18 from $111,568.66 on Sept. 30th, a total of $4,304.48, was reported.

Other funds of the city, in addition to the general fund, showed a total balance of $193,166.19.

TREASURY REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—The position of the treasury Nov. 19:

Receipts, $16,053,577.89; expenditures $31,197,558.10; balance $1,500,300,148.65; customs receipts for the month, $22,867,167.17.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1) $1,569,254,076.44; expenditures $2,723,000,729.07, including $1,089,038,132.55 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures $1,153,746,652.63; gross debt $33,812,644,554.66, a decrease of $1,064,599.50 under the previous day; gold assets $11,129,987,417.13.

Balanced Budget Is Near Reality

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Talk of a possible balanced budget in 1937-1938 was followed today by internal revenue reports that the government's income surged upward $170,000,000 in the first four months of the present fiscal year.

With business gaining rapidly, receipts of the treasury from July 1 to Oct. 31 were $1,209,242,000, compared with $1,037,669,000 in corresponding months last year.

Encouraged by these figures, treasury experts said new estimates "obviously" justified a prediction of Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee that the budget will be balanced in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

An increased flow of money into the government came through 53 of the 70 tax channels. Among them were individual income taxes (up $35,415,000), corporation income taxes (up $44,836,000) liquor taxes (up $37,130,000), and levies on tobacco, gasoline, automobiles, mechanical refrigerators and sporting goods.

Special Bonus To Be Paid To Oil Company Employes

PONCA CITY, Okla., Nov. 21. (AP)—A special bonus for employes of the Continental Oil company, announced by President Dan Morna, will be paid to about 5,000 persons out of 1936 earnings.

The bonus, the total amount of which had not been announced, will be paid Dec. 15 at the same time the firm's regular 25-cent dividend goes to stockholders.

An employe's period of service up to Dec. 1 will rule the amount of bonus he will receive.

Industrial Activity Climbs Back To The Level Of 1929

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Industrial activity has climbed back to the 1929 level, moving out of the 1930 range in the latest week.

The Associated Press index rose to 98.0, from 97.0 a week ago, and 83.4 in the same period last year.

Gains were general, only cotton manufacturing activities dipped from the previous rate. Freight carloadings advanced contra-seasonally, pushing the index to a new top for the year.

Production of 1937 model automobiles stepped ahead smartly.

Steel mill operations inched higher and electric power output nudged up to within a fraction of its recent historic peak.

Hope For Members Of Crew Of U-Boat Being Abandoned

LUEBECK, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP)—The fate of eight German sailors, carried to the bottom of Luebeck bay in the damaged U-boat No. 18, was sealed beneath the waters of a Baltic inlet today.

The submarine collided with an unidentified vessel during torpedo practice yesterday. Twelve of its crew escaped; eight others went down with the undersea craft.

Authorities abandoned hope for the eight although they did not order a halt to efforts to raise the U-boat.

Prosperity Week Observed At The Texas Centennial

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Texas Centennial exposition began today the observance of Prosperity week with officials predicting the attendance would reach 6,500,000 by the end of the remaining nine days of the fair.

Yesterday's 28,279 visitors increased the total to 6,024,451.

Four "Chummy" Holdup Men Sought

Men Courteously Demand Jewels And Woman, Very Cool With Danger At Hand, Produces Them; They All Shake Hands

SOUTHBORO, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP)—State police combed this section today for four "chummy" holdup men who robbed Mrs. William Kennedy, wife of a wealthy Boston merchant, of $135,000 in gems.

Wearing masks and armed, the four entered the palatial Kennedy home last evening.

Command Ignored

Ignoring the attractive Mrs. Kennedy's command "come on and get out of here and go home," the men courteously ordered her and her maid into the library and said they wanted her jewels.

"I tried to talk them out of it," Mrs. Kennedy said. "I offered them cigarettes and did all I could think of but they meant business."

Directed to a floor safe containing jewelry, the men dialed the combination at Mrs. Kennedy's direction. They disregarded a valuable necklace she was wearing.

They Shake Hands

After each man had shaken Mrs. Kennedy's hand and complimented her on her coolness, they bound her and Miss Emma Green, the maid, to chairs and left in a car.

"We got quite chummy," Mrs. Kennedy said afterward. "I told the men 'I'm sorry you boys have to do a thing like this.'"

They replied, she said, "so are we, but what can we do about it?"

Figuring the Cost of Your THANKSGIVING DINNER

BY PAUL WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock will truly have reason to give thanks on Thanksgiving day when they sit down at the table. Although business in general is reported to be better, the price of the Thanksgiving menu has decreased a few cents from that of last year.

With the foreign market closed and the local market remaining practically at a standstill, the traditional American bird, the turkey, can be served to the family 38 cents cheaper this year than last. An 8-pound gobbler, dressed and ready for the oven, cost $2.24 in 1935, whereas this Thanksgiving the same size bird will cost approximately $1.86.

Near Last Year's Level

Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock and the three little Lubbocks can sit down to their dinner closely kin to that served by the Roosevelts in the White House on Thanksgiving day and it will cost $5.60. The general prices of foods are practically on the level with those of last year. The low price of the turkey will offset any upward price trends this year; consequently, the 1936 budget for Thanksgiving will fall 8 cents from that of 1935.

The same dinner could have been served in 1932 for $4.21, in 1933 for $4.21, and in 1935 for $5.60. In 1932 an 8-pound dressed turkey would have cost $1.76, in 1933, $1.44 and in 1935, $2.24.

The price of the conventional "with its" remains unchanged or a little bit higher, according to several Lubbock grocers. Cranberries, nuts, butter, shortening, flour, and oysters are the main items on the menu to show a price increase.

Cranberries Higher

Cranberries sold for 10 cents per pound in 1933, 16 cents in 1935, and will retail for 23 cents this year. Two pumpkin or mince pies cost 40 cents in 1933, 50 cents in 1935, and about 55 cents this year.

A loaf of bread, one pound of butter and a quart of milk cost 49c in 1933, 57c last year and approximately 60c this year. Throughout the past five years lettuce and celery have retained the same price level. Oysters have increased approximately 5 cents a pint from 1935.

The price of canned goods with the exception of corn has remained practically unchanged from 1935. Peas, beans, carrots, pumpkin, greens and other canned foods which will grace the Thanksgiving table are in their second year without any negligible price change.

If the Lubbocks prefer baked hen instead of turkey, the Thanksgiving budget will increase approximately 20 cents. So the eating of turkey on the day of Thanksgiving, the top o' the Thanksgiving meal and an American tradition which has survived 315 years, will not make Thursday's dinner cost more but will offset the high price of other foods.

Education And Degree Mean Something To "Sweet Girl Graduate" Of Tech; She Gets Out In Business World And Goes Places; And She Usually Lands A Position

BY MAXINE FRY

Education and a degree mean something to the "sweet girl graduate" of Texas Technological college.

She no longer "picks up her ruffled skirt and settles down to a domestic livelihood," but dons her mannish suit and applies for a job.

She usually gets that job, too.

Positions secured by Tech graduates vary from the prediction of earthquakes to school teaching in Korea. Florence Robertson, who received her M. A. from Tech last year is now in the geo-physics department at St. Louis university. She is doing special work there in seismographic studies, the recording and prediction of earthquakes.

One Educates Orientals

Mrs. Jung W. Park, who was Miss Laura Larkune Song when she received her degree from Tech in 1935, taught home economics in Ewha college, the largest women's college in Korea, before her marriage last year.

Two girls, Ethel Brown and Elizabeth Montfort, have received degrees with majors in horticulture in the agriculture division of the college, according to Dean A. H. Leidigh.

Miss Montfort is now Mrs. Homer Brumley and is "helping her aggie husband in horticulture on their farm." Miss Brown is continuing her studies in horticulture.

Physical Education Helps

"My background has been very valuable to me, especially the physical education I received at Tech," wrote Effie Lou Kessler, '31 graduate, who is studying pre-medical work at the University of Texas now. She is an assistant in the university physical education department.

Mrs. Gertrude Harris Cook, who received her B. A. with a major in English several years ago, has chosen writing as her profession. "What Price Texas" and "Tale of Men who Know Not Fear" are books that she has written, besides numerous magazine articles and newspaper features. Doris Keith Mullins is also in the field of journalism in Taos, New Mexico, where she is working on a newspaper.

Business Girls Do Well

"Nearly all of our graduates have good positions," Mrs. Mamie Jackson, who is also a Tech graduate and an instructor in economics and business administration at the college, said. "Anne Snyder, secretary and collector of Temple Trust Co. here, was one of our business administration graduates. Ruth Douglas, who is working for the Federal Housing Administration at Washington, D. C., is another."

Mrs. Richard Heineman, graduate of several years ago, has been doing outstanding work on the stage; Frances Ford has been employed in Dallas by the Central Centennial exposition's history department, Gladys L. Touchstone, '35 graduate, is a teacher in the Texas School for Deaf at Austin.

Edna Houghton, only girl to graduate from the engineering department at Tech is now a member of the faculty in the architectural-engineering department.

Home-Ec Girls Busy

According to Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics, 185 girls out of the 189 home economics graduates since Tech started, have good positions or have married. Eighty-eight girls are teaching vocational home economics; 13 are dietitians; 10 are home demonstration agents; nine are teaching subjects other than home economics; three have other positions; and 59 have married.

Outstanding positions held by home economics graduates include Georgia Mae Smith, '36 graduate, who is dietitian apprentice at the International House at Chicago university; Christine Berrier, '34 graduate who is now dietitian of the men's dormitory and who was the first student from the South to be selected for student dietitian at the Lincoln General hospital at Lincoln, Nebraska after her graduation. She also did student work at the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago and was dietitian at West Texas hospital in Lubbock last year.

In St. Louis Hospital

Gertrude Samson of Post, '35 graduate, was the third Tech graduate to receive appointment as student dietitian at the Barnes hospital in St. Louis, Missouri.

Several graduates of Tech who are now employed at the college include Geraldine Clewell, home economics faculty, Mrs. J. O. Ellsworth, assistant secretary to President Bradford Knapp, Ruth Horn, M. A., instructor of English, Margaret Baskin, instructor in physical education, Jean Ayres, secretary to dean of women, Bess Boverie, credentials clerk in the registrar's office, Mary Leidigh, assistant to dietitian of dormitories, and Rose Heatly, secretary to the registrar.

Many of the "grads," however, have tossed aside their chances for professions and have chosen marriage and homemaking instead.

"And that," said Mrs. Aubrey Edwards, who was Pauline Yeager when she received her degree from Tech last year, "is the biggest job I've found yet!"

Exhibit Will Be Seen Here

Guatemalan Textile Exhibition Has Been Procured For City Dec. 1-21; To Be Seen In New Museum

First exhibition brought here this college year by the Texas Technological College Art Museum will be Ruth Reeves' Guatemalan Textile exhibition, which is now on tour of museum and educational institutions throughout the country and has been procured here for Dec. 1-21.

The exhibit is to be shown in the new museum being constructed on the campus by the West Texas Museum association, which is to be completed the first week in December.

Textiles And Costumes

The exhibition includes textiles and costumes, including modern adaptions, and is shown under auspices of the National Alliance of Art and Industry.

The Carnegie Institution of Washington, financed by the Carnegie Corporation of New York, sent Miss Reeves, textile designer, to Guatemala in 1934 to study historic and contemporary design characteristics of that country, and collect native arts as evidenced in textiles and weavings.

The exhibition consists of approximately 250 pieces of Guatemalan textiles, supplemented by a collection of costumes typical of various village communities of the highland people, loaned by Mrs. Edith B. Ricketson of the Institution staffs. A series of hand-printed and hand-woven fabrics based upon Guatemalan motifs will be included, as well as machine-produced adaptions. Three steps in production of modern textiles thus will be shown: the original Guatemalan source material, the hand-printed adaption, and the machine-made product.

School Children Kept Busy Putting Out Their Magazines

Eight year old children in Miss Lois Hale's room at Dupre school give their parents and friends an additional service when it comes to telling them how they spend their time at school. Each month the children put out a mimeographed magazine of news just in their room called "Monthly Review," in addition to the regular "Dupre Journal" which carries all the news of the school.

The Thanksgiving magazine is on orange paper and carries a picture of a turkey and pumpkins. One story tells interesting things the children in the room do besides go to school. It reveals that fourteen children in the room study music, one expression and fourteen dancing.

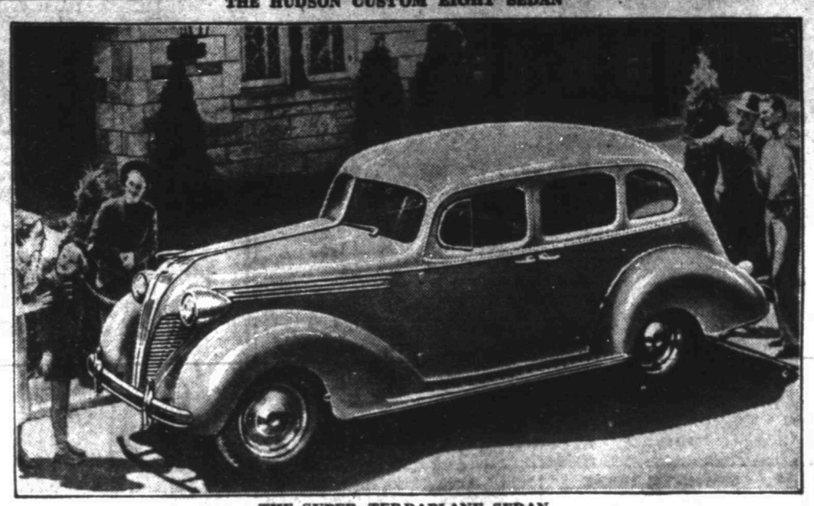

The staff for the magazine is as follows: editor, Patricia Ann Williamson; assistant editors, Barbara Jackson, Olive Pearle Matthews, Lareta Joyce Maner, Nell Anthony, Edgar Allen Smith; art staff, La Nell Richardson, Charles Ray Walden, Lois Wadsworth, Bertha Nell Adair, Earl Jones and Charles Bratcher.

The deepest salt mine in the world is said to be near Berlin. It is 4157 feet deep.

Joan Crawford Gets Thrill As She Is Admitted To Greta Garbo's Set

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21 — Joan Crawford now knows what a thrill visitors (fortunate enough to get inside the studio) enjoy while watching her enact a scene for a picture.

JOAN CRAWFORD

Ever since Garbo started work in "Camille," Joan has wanted to go on the set and watch the Swedish star work. But even she didn't have enough influence to "crash" that set, which is pos. ALL visitors.

However, Joan finally got a break a few days ago. Just as she was about to walk on her own set, on the stage, adjoining the closely guarded "Camille" stage, Garbo herself drove up and alighted from her car.

They exchanged greetings. Then Garbo invited Joan to take a look at her set. Joan stayed 15 minutes, long enough to watch her contemporary go through one scene. Then she dashed to her own set, literally screaming the fact that she had just been watching Garbo.

British Star Coming

LOOKS as if the impossible is about to happen and Hollywood will play hostess to Jessie Matthews, foremost British screen star. For the past year, various Hollywood studios have been making tempting offers to the dancing star. But she refused to be tempted. Now, however, she is on the verge of signing with Twentieth Century-Fox for the top spot in either "Sally, Irene and Mary" or "Twentieth Century Follies." We're betting she'll like Hollywood once she gets here, too.

• • •

"Hard Luck" Michael

LOOKS as if Gertrude Michael just isn't meant to make that picture in England. After working day and night to finish her current assignment at RKO, she dashed to the airport and boarded a plane just as it was about to take off. Ten minutes later, when high in the air, she discovered that she was on the wrong plane and was headed for San Diego instead of New York. So she had to fly clear to the southern city, return on the next ship and take a later plane to New York. According to the schedule, she was due to arrive in Manhattan just in time to catch the Normandie. Enroute across the country, however, she was stricken with toxic poisoning. So, as soon as she arrived in New York, she had to go immediately to a hotel where she will be confined to her bed for 10 days.

Birthday Marriage

ROMANTIC note: Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond have told their studios they want simultaneous vacations next June so they can be married and have a real honeymoon. They say they haven't set the date yet. But it's a good 3-to-1 bet the ceremony will take place on Jeanette's birthday, June 7.

• • •

Castle Undamaged

MADELEINE CARROLL is literally walking on air these days. Unable to visit her recently purchased Spanish castle during her European vacation because of the revolution, she has been trying ever sinceher return to Hollywood to find out what has happened to it. And just the other day she received a letter from her gardener telling her that even though there has been some heavy fighting in that district, the castle has so far been undamaged.

Busy Shirley

LITTLE Shirley Temple, Hollywood's number one star, is going to have a very busy time this winter. As soon as she finishes "Heidi", the Johanna Spyri novel just bought for her, She will go right into Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie."

Carole Now Carole

CAROLE LOMBARD is taking the necessary legal steps to change her name to just that. Born Jane Peters, the actress has attained world fame as Carole Lombard. Therefore, she wants to use that name at all times.

Apartment Dwellers

SYLVIA SIDNEY and Mae West are about the only top ranking stars in Hollywood who still live in apartments. And despite the big show places of other stars, neither of them can be pried loose from the apartments they have occupied since they first arrived here. Both Sylvia and Mae lived in apartments in New York for so long they don't feel at home in a house.

Revival Meeting Will Be Opened At Hall Here Today

A series of revival meetings will be opened in Grace Gospel hall, corner of Sixteenth street and Avenue N, at 11 o'clock this morning by Rev. Walter J. Feely. Rev. Mr. Feely was pastor of the church when it was known as the Gospel tabernacle and was situated at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue. Services will be conducted each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Song services will precede each meeting.

CUSHIONS OF RAG RUGS

Attractive, inexpensive chair pads and cushions for the recreation room or sun porch can be made of rag rugs. These rugs come in attractive colors and all sizes. Use them as you would any fabric, sewing with coarse thread. Such cushions and chair pads are extremely durable and, for as little as one dollar, pads and pillows for a large-sized chair can be made.

Speaks Wednesday

Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of the local Protestant Episcopal church, will bring the message at an inter-denominational Thanksgiving church service to be held Wednesday evening at the First Methodist church.

Boyd P. Milburn is to offer a special Thanksgiving message to a group of young people meeting at First Baptist church of Levelland this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

When Broadway Was Just a Path

AN EARLY LUBBOCK SCENE

Lubbock's progress since the days when Broadway was just a path has been rapid: There were no paved streets, industries or large business concerns. The business district consisted of a few stores, a small hotel and a livery stable.

Stage coaches, buggies and horse-back were the only means of transportation. Freight hauling was by mule and horse drawn wagon trains and schooners.

Wood was used for fuel; candle and oil lamps served as light. The cattle business was in its prime. Ranchers and cowboys comprised the bulk of the population. In 1910 the population was 1,938; the 1920 census shows 4,051 and a population according to the 1930 census of 20,520 is evidence of Lubbock's rapid growth. The present population has been estimated to be approximately 25,000.

Today, Lubbock is one of the most thriving cities of Texas. Every modern convenience is now available including dependable gas service.

There is nothing like good Natural Gas, free from hydrogen sulphide, for Cooking, Refrigeration, Water Heating and House Heating.

West Texas Slapped Again

A NUMBER of Lubbock and South Plains school teachers, by letter, telephone call or personal visit, recently have complained that not a single faculty member of Texas Technological college has been included as a speaker for the 48th annual convention of the Texas State Teachers association.

The three-day session, opening Thursday and to be held in Ft. Worth, has a lengthy program and a perusal of that program shows complaints to be based upon facts. It is true that there is not a single Tech faculty member on the program—but what is even more striking is the fact that not a single West Texas college, either state or denominational, is represented.

Many out-of-state schools and colleges are represented.

The University of Texas is represented several times. Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Rice, Texas College for Women, Texas Wesleyan and a number of the small state teachers colleges also are represented one or more times. But on the program there is no representative of West Texas Teachers college, of Canyon; Wayland, of Plainview; Texas Tech, of Lubbock; Abilene Christian college, McMurry college and Hardin-Simmons university, all of Abilene; Daniel Baker and Howard Payne, of Brownwood; Texas College of Mines, of El Paso; or Sul Ross State Teachers college, of Alpine.

That couldn't be a mere happenstance.

There is bound to have been a studied effort on the part of someone to shelve West Texas; to deny West Texas colleges any part in the convention of the Texas State Teachers association.

It is true that Lubbock County School Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs is down for a speech in a sectional program dealing with rural schools. But Mr. Griggs' record here has been so outstanding that the association couldn't have overlooked him if interested, at all, in hearing from educators who are doing things.

It is true that Miss Mabel Irwin's name appears on the listings as a member of a committee, but even Miss Irwin, a member of the home economics department at Tech, is not listed as having a connection with the institution.

Were it not so evident that someone in authority in the state teachers organization has seen to banning West Texas college people from the program, the situation would be ridiculous.

We wonder if West Texas teachers are going to take the slap "lying down."

We wonder if they are going to meekly attend the convention and say nothing—segregated, as it were, from the "annointed."

Or, we wonder if a South Plains group could not become the spearhead of a determined all-West Texas attack on discriminatory practices and say their say, in no uncertain terms, at Ft. Worth.

As we see it, West Texas teachers may just as well withdraw from the state association and make their present sectional organization bigger and better so they have no need of being affiliated with the state group.

If West Texas educators are going to be continually overlooked, certainly that indicates that the powers of the state association are not interested in West Texas and don't give a hoot whether West Texans are interested in the association.

At any rate, West Texas teachers at the Ft. Worth meeting have a reason for making themselves heard. If they do not take the opportunity they will only be paving the way for further discrimination against this great section.

MAKING GOOD

If anyone is to make good in this world, he must use most of his time to fit himself for success. Everyone is entitled to a proper amount of time for rest and recreation. But if a person fails to give his main thought to his work and the things he is trying to do in life, he is going to fall behind.

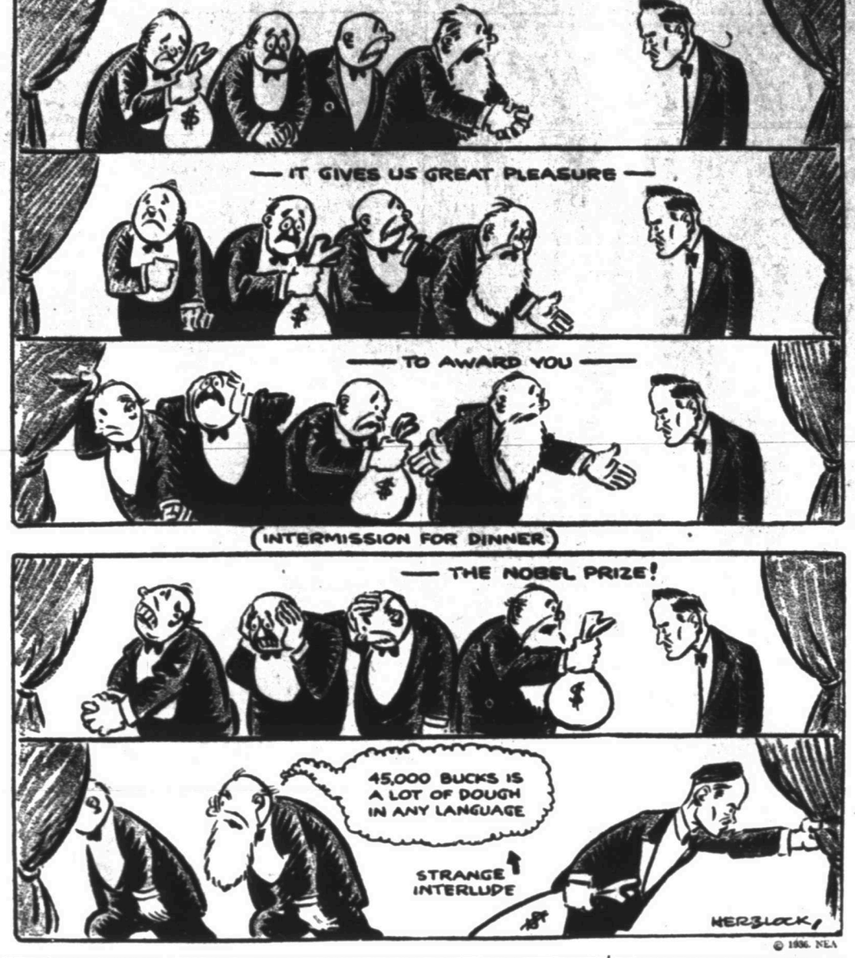

If he is in business for himself, every minute he can spare is needed to push his trade, to familiarize himself with markets and conditions in his business. If he works for somebody else, every minute can be made useful in acquiring the facts of business, so that his service becomes more valuable. It is a world of incessant effort, and those who are not willing to give that effort need not expect many rewards.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Ye offer polluted bread upon mine altar; and ye say, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is contemptible.

And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, is it no evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now onto thy governor; will he be pleased with thee, or accept thy person? saith the Lord of hosts. —Malachi: 1: 7-9.

Eugene O'Neill Gets Prize In Five Acts

THE NEW BOOKS

Warwick Deeping Gives A Glimpse At Drab, Ugly Side Of War In His Latest book, "No Hero—This; Zweig Tells Why Dictators Will Always Lose Out In "The Right To Heresy"

"NO HERO—THIS," by Warwick Deeping; (Alfred A. Knopf, New York)

WARWICK DEEPING, British producer of best sellers, lifts a well-bred and disillusioned voice against war in his latest novel, "No Hero—This." The result is a somewhat slow-paced book which has the merit of being considerably more readable than some of his earlier novels.

Mr. Deeping tells about a British doctor, a man of 35 or so, who is busy with his practice in a provincial town when August of 1914 rolls around. The horn-tooting and the flag-waving leave him rather cold. He has important work to do, and the war impresses him as a meaningless nuisance.

Social Pressure Applied

But the townspeople jar him out of that feeling. As months pass, the social pressure to enlist is applied steadily; in he end he joins the medical corps and is sent to Gallipoli.

There his disillusionment—which began in his training period in an English cantonment—comes to full flower. He discovers that the war is not a business of fine heroism and romance.

Talents Are Wasted

The talents of men like himself are wasted, the patriotism of the common soldiers is choked by mud and mismanagement, the whole business seems unutterably boring, uncomfortable, and stupid.

It is the same wherever he goes—Egypt, France, Flanders. Always, back home, there are the ardent super-patriots waving the flags and mouthing ferocious phrases; and always at the front lines there are tired and disgusted men who feel that they have been sold and betrayed.

It all makes a readable and persuasive novel. It moves slowly, Mr. Deeping might have trimmed it to advantage. But its net effect is excellent.

On Calvin Theocracy

"THE RIGHT TO HERESY", by Stefan Zweig; (Viking Press, N. Y.).

IN "The Right to Heresy" Stefan Zweig comments obliquely on the Hitler-Mussolini theory of government by going back 400 years and having a look at what happened in Geneva under that dour clergyman, John Calvin.

Calvin ran a tight theocracy and insisted that all men think as he thought. One Servetus differed on what today seems an obscure point of doctrine. Calvin had him burned at the stake.

Fought With Pen

Into the fray, at that point, came the hero of this book — Sebastian Castellio, a comparatively obscure professor at Basel. Castellio fought Calvin with his pen; and, fighting him, expressed perfectly the plea for freedom of the human spirit.

Burning a man at the stake, he thundered, does not prove an idea right or wrong; it merely kills a man. If the world is to be civilized there must be tolerance. No cause can thrive by killing off the doubters.

Difficult Task

If you cannot convince men's minds, you convict yourself of failure by trying to bludgeon them into conformity.

Calvin reacted to this as Hitler would react to a defiant German Communist. Castellio escaped the stake only by dying of natural causes just as he was about to go on trial. But what he had to say is still very much alive.

For in the long run, says Herr Zweig, the dictator can gain nothing. The scaffold is not the final answer.

There are things it cannot reach. Men can be burned, racked, beheaded, flung into concentration camps; in the end, everlastingly beaten, they carry off the victory.

New Novel Of War

"Arouse And Beware," by MacKinlay Kantor; (Coward-McCann).

IT IS to be hoped that the ecstatic jacket blurb will not frighten away possible readers of "Arouse and Beware," MacKinlay Kantor's new novel of the War Between the States. This is (for this reviewer, of course) by far the best thing Mr. Kantor has done, excepting "The Voice of Bugle Ann."

Chiefly the reason is that Mr. Kantor has at last managed to withdraw far enough from the actual mechanics of history to write a novel rather than a piece of fictionized history. This reader felt throughout "Long Remember" that he was being led over the Gettysburg field by a guide with a tendency to romance. In "Arouse and Beware" he was in the actual presence of actual people, dogged by actual danger through a tangible and fully realized scene.

The story is simple. Two men escape from a prison island near Richmond during the siege. They are lacerated by the horror of their confinement and emaciated to the point where they seem to each other scarcely human. One man is a sturdy westerner; the other a somewhat more effete man from New Jersey. And when they reach their first breathing space after the escape, they find a woman who gives them food but who also elects to go with them.

The situation is, of course, standard. But the story of the long flight of the three, of their constant and tautening danger, of the rivalry which inevitably arouses men so long separated from women and only just regaining their strength—this is often magnificent. The end also (if one must be analytical) is one of the standard endings for such a novel, but the least jarring and prepared so artfully that no other ending seems possible at the moment.

Mr. Kantor always has written solid prose. That is, he has a tendency toward meaty words which give the reader the feeling that he reads truth, not an intangible creation of the author's imagination. This, perhaps, is Mr. Kantor's biggest gift.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE nation's leading Progressives haven't made up their minds about President Roosevelt's sweeping reelection. They don't know whether to laugh or weep. It has upset all their calculations for a 1940 breakup of parties.

The Progressives plumped for Mr. Roosevelt more soulfully than they have for any presidential candidate since "Old Bob" La Follette. They sincerely favored the President over Alf Landon, but they also hoped to place the man in the White House under obligation to themselves. They expected to win their reward by having him on their side when they hatch a new party four years hence and advance their own nominee—possibly "Young Bob."

But Mr. Roosevelt's triumph was so convincing and comprehensive that it left them in the lurch. As practical politicians, they realize that he owes no callable debt to them. So they're afraid that in 1940 they may again be the liberal tail to the Democratic dog.

• • •

POWER: President Roosevelt hasn't tipped his hand on neutrality, but his aides confide that he will seek to strengthen the law at the next session. He wants to expand its provisions so as to permit him to forbid shipment of raw materials such as oil, wheat, meat etc.

The State department experts interpret the present act (which expires next May) as prohibiting only exports of actual war material. That is, American exporters can sell foodstuffs to foreign buyers, but they cannot ship guns and ammunition. Diplomatic infighting during the Spanish civil war has demonstrated that trade in bread may involve a nation in conflict as quickly as sales of bullets. Mr. Roosevelt's spokesmen, principally Chairman Sam McReynolds of the House Foreign Affairs committee, will seek to impress this lesson on Congress.

The next Congress, however, will muster a powerful bloc increasing presidential power in time of war. The legislators—Democratic and Republican—are averse to lodging such authority in one man, Mr. Borah, who will soon arrive in Washington to hold his one-man sessions of Congress, will never agree to such an arrangement.

• • •

OPPOSITION: Only insiders who appreciated the technicalities of Congressional procedure can grasp the extent—and significance—of the G. O. P.'s crack-up on November 3.

In neither Senate nor House have the Republicans sufficient strength to force a roll call on major measures. Numerically they have enough survivors in the lower chamber to demand a showdown, but actually they fall short. Almost twenty members—insurgents and Farmers-Laborites—will inevitably side with the Democrats, and block a count of noses. This means that the majority, whenever it pleases, can "railroad through" a law without putting the members on the spot for future reference and retaliation by the voters.

The G. O. P. can't block resort to suspension of the rules—that favorite trick of a ruling party in the last days of a session. Under such an abrogation of regular parliamentary procedure the majority can rush through bills without amendment or debate. In short, every vestige of opposition to the administration has vanished on Capitol Hill. There is no safeguard except plain, democratic horse sense.

• • •

U. S. C. OF C.: Most people missed the real meaning of Harper Sibley's announcement on the White House threshold that unemployed Americans amounted only to 4,000,000, as against the figure of 11,000,000 which Governor Alf Landon and anti-New Deal industrialists cited in the presidential campaign.

The president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce saw the President on the day that the United States Conference of Mayors was meeting only a few blocks away to consider relief problems and funds. Municipal executives, the President knew, were excited over reduction of relief rolls, and the financial burden which Uncle Sam's abdication would throw on their constituents and taxpayers. So Mr. Roosevelt was quite willing to permit Mr. Sibley to reveal that there was no longer any necessity for huge federal relief expenditures.

Mr. Sibley was the first "economic royalist" to confer with the President since election day. It confirms Whirligig's prediction that the U. S. Chamber of Commerce will be Mr. Roosevelt's agency in future negotiations with commercial and industrial tycoons.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE scheduled visit to this country of Mussolini's daughter Edda focuses attention on some interesting personal angles of Il Duce's statesmanship. Edda is the wife of Count Galeazzo Ciano, whom Papa Benito recently made foreign minister. That, at 33, is the reward for being not only a son-in-law but a good son-in-law.

A few years ago Mussolini's pet daughter gave her daddy plenty of headaches. The antics of the high-spirited young lady led to a heart-to-heart talk between the Italian dictator and his—then—crony, Count Ciano senior. The upshot was the marriage of the latter's handsome son to "crown princess" Edda Mussolini. As a wedding present the 26-year old bridegroom was made consul general—in Shanghai.

The post was far enough away from the gossiping tongues of Rome and everything went well. The marriage took. Mussolini in turn signified his paternal gratitude—and, incidentally, his dynastic instinct—by rapidly promoting the dashing young Fascist officer. In 1935 he also gave him plenty of opportunity for glory—and publicity—in the Ethiopian shindig.

It is worth noting from the announcement of Countess Ciano's forthcoming trip to the United States that she will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lionardo Vitetti. Commendatore Vitetti—for years regarded as one of the most ambitious dark horses in the Italian political picture—was formerly attached to Il Duce's Washington embassy. He married the immensely wealthy Natalie Coe of Long Island—many years his junior but equally ambitious. Vitetti was immediately promoted to First Secretary of the Italian embassy in London. There the Coe millions proved a great asset in putting the Commendatore in the limelight. And the American born Signora Vitetti proved a shrewd helpmate on the frequent visits to Rome.

In the recent shake-up in the Italian foreign office Vitetti moved up to the key position there. If anything happens to Il Duce it is more than probable that the Ciano-Vitetti team will run the Eternal City's empire. In fact, there are well-founded reports that detailed arrangements have been made to cover such a contingency.

However, there are more immediate aspects to consider. The announced sightseeing jaunt to the U. S. A. has a definite background. Mr. Vitetti will attempt to accomplish something at which Italy's new ambassador in Washington, Signor Fulvio Suvich, failed completely in a few weeks of frantic work. Mussolini needs cash pretty urgently. Suvich found the Johnson act an insurmountable barrier. But Commendatore Vitetti is understood to have the idea that perhaps the Coe influence in Wall Street may overcome that obstacle.

Fascism—And "The Lunatic Fringe"

Numerous U. S. Organizations Point To Dictatorship

BY GORDON REND
Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—On last election day James McMullin disclosed in The National Whirligig that hard-boiled bitter enders, recognizing that Roosevelt could not be beaten, were beginning to think seriously of creating an American fascist organization of the Croix de Feu type in France. A survey of the situation since November 3 reveals that such an idea is not so far-fetched as it might seem at first sight.

Since Dorothy Thompson's systematic analysis of the Lunatic Fringe last summer two powerful factors have ceased to be of any consequence. The Reverends Charles E. Coughlin and Gerald K. Smith with their cohorts are definitely out of the running. But there are others working towards a dictatorship in the United States—individuals as well as organizations, some of them never publicized, who even today are a real danger in spite of the country's overwhelming vote for "sanity."

The danger is real and not an alarmist's nightmare. For the first time in American history reputable men with organization talent and enormous cash resources are contemplating a merger of the hitherto heterogeneous groups. As long as they went their own—and usually pretty devious—ways these crackpot outfits merely contributed to the nation's gayety. At best their bombastic pronunciamentos served to scare a few jittery liberals into increasing their annual contributions to the Civil Liberties union or spur some wealthy Jews to raise the salaries—and expense accounts—of the secretaries of their organizations. But no one took them seriously.

• • •

NOW that there exists the possibility of the Lunatic Fringe becoming unified under central leadership within the next 12 months it would be a mistake to treat the subject as something inconsequential or of the past.

This writer has for many years been in closest touch with practically all political movements of every shade in the United States. The following evaluation of the organizations making up our Lunatic Fringe is given from first hand experience.

The Eastern Lineup

Starting out in the East, there is first of all the German-American League, formerly Friends of New Germany, and before that called Friends of the Hitler Movement. Up to 1933, this organization had been an open branch of the German-American League in spite of Congressional investigations has grown to a network of some 80-odd Locals throughout the United States. The entire organization follows in detail the structure of the mother party in Germany. Since the autumn of 1936, German uniformed storm troopers are holding regular military drills. In the New York area alone they meet at least twice a week in groups of 150 to 300, receiving theoretical instruction in racial politics and street fighting.

• • •

MORE or less intimate contacts are maintained with over 20 "American" organizations with fascist aims in the United States. They include such widely divergent groups as the Edmondson Economic service in New York which has been putting out violent anti-administration bulletins, and the A.B.C.—America's Best Citizens.

Closely allied with the German and American "reformers" is the League of Young Russia, which is a secret organization of White Russians committed to bring about fascism in the United States.

In addition to the numerous smaller groups, two fascist organizations of sizable proportions, both of the "100 per cent American" type, are flourishing in the Boston area.

Pennsylvania and Southern New Jersey can boast of three links in the chain with an estimated active membership of about 5,000, and a goodly nucleus of potential storm troopers.

Capital Has Its Quota

Even the nation's capital has its quota, though the groups there are careful to conceal their true aims under high-sounding, patriotic labels. Private investigators, however, have succeeded in finding definite evidence linking them with the men who aspire to become leaders of an American fascist movement.

The South, too, is liberally sprinkled with organizations of that type. Here we have: the American Fascisti Order of Black Shirts, in Atlanta; the Silver Shirts in Asheville, North Carolina; the Crusader White Shirts in Chattanooga, Tennessee; the White Knights in Charleston, West Virginia — just to mention the "shirt" outfits out of some 20 similar groups with an aggregate active membership approaching 15,000. Some of those mentioned are organized along military lines and maintain a surprisingly efficient intelligence service. Personnel and leadership clearly indicate that the nucleus is made up of hundreds of the most active former members of the Ku Klux Klan. In at least five fair-sized communities in the Southwestern area, actual revival of the old Klan—though in utmost secrecy—could be verified.

• • •

MOVING to the Middle West, about nine organizations of major importance have been found carrying on business at the old stand. They include the American Vigilantes Intelligence Federation in Chicago and an organization led by the Rev. Gerald Winrod in Kansas. In Lincoln, Nebraska the Hidden Empire is preparing its faithful for the arrival of the American "Fuehrer," and in St. Paul, Minnesota the Knights of the Grand Forest is actively engaged in the same mission.

The West Coast is likewise liberally sprinkled. Evidence is on hand on at least seven major groups numbering over 3,000 cohorts which would be amenable to one common leadership. Like their confreres most of them sport fancy names, such as the American White Guardsmen in Pasadena, California, or the Homesteaders in Fresno. Others flourish in Portland, Oregon; Seattle, Washington; San Diego, California, and Los Angeles.

High Spots Touched

This enumeration touches only on some of the high spots of the picture. But it indicates definitely the nucleus of a nationwide movement. The program for a totalitarian state is the common denominator for all of these groups. They also agree on their common platform which advocates abolition of the freedom

Chess And Checkers Players' Corner

Problems And News Concerning Those Old Favorites

WIDESPREAD interest in checkers and chess over the South Plains area has prompted this "corner" of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal's editorial page Several score persons are actively engaged in chess play and chess clubs; several hundred belong to checkers clubs and play that grand old favorite.

Here is the latest checkers and chess news, along with problems and comment.

The Checker Board

Another good session of the local players was held last Tuesday at the Hilton, at 7:30. B. J. (Dad) Greer finally came out 'tops,' although not without a struggle The play of Raymond Phillips, a new man here, continues to improve. Phillips is not a book player, but his game is pretty tough. W. W. Cowan, Ropesville, also attended.

Here's correct play on the end game "Amarillo Bridge" which was run in this column Nov 1. Since then we have received word from Wm. T. Smith, Amarillo, who first published the ending, that his terms of black to play and win had been upset by Marshall Deaton, Black, Tex. The ending arose in a correspondence game between Smith and Otho Clendenen, Lubbock, and has been given much publicity. Here's the setting, and correct play: Black on 1, 3, 5 king 14; White on 10, 20, 22, king 2; Black to play, white to draw by 6-9, 23-18, 9-13, 18-14, 11-8, 2-6, 13-17, 20-16, 17-13, 6-9, 22-25, 9-13, 26-30, 14-9, 30-26, 9-6, 8-12, 16-11, 13-16, 11-7, 16-11, 6-2, (key move) 26-22, 13-9, 1-5, 9-13, drawn.

The problem for last week was a tricky one, and only one worked fully the correct solution. The other answers received, however, showed originality and effort, and checker pamphlets were mailed to all solvers. Here's the problem: Black on 3, 22, king on 1; White on 9, 12, 24; Black to move and win.

First answer came to last weeks problem from another newcomer, Cecil Ford, Tahoka, who offered two lines of play as follows: (1) 22-27, 24-19, 27-31, 19-15, 3-7, 12-8, 31-27, 8-3, 1-5, 3-10, 5-14-7, Black wins.

(II) 22-27,24-20 27-2, 20-16, 31-27, 16-11, 27-32, 11-8, 22-18, 8-4, 18-14, 9-5, 14-18, 4-8, 18-15, 8-4, 15-11 Black wins.

Second answer came again from O. W. Privett Post, whose moves were identical with Ford's second line of play. Privett further stated that, expecting a hard problem, he worked two hours on it. His play is perfect except for one thing—White isn't forced to come down the side with the man on 24. Ford's first line of moves is correct down to the eighth move, where White goes 2-6 to lose, but may avoid that loss by first playing 9-5, followed by 27-23, then 8-3, 23-19, 3-10, 1-6, 10-1, 19-15, Black wins for a cute ending.

Winning solution was the third answer received, and came from Malcolm Cooper, Brownfield, whose moves continued to the correct ending.

This weeks problem is also a contest and is about as baffling as anything in checkers can be In addition to the first correct solution from local and out-of-town solvers, we will mail a special column to the newcomer who submits the best solution Only those who are sending in an answer for the first time are eligible for this beginner's prize. Mail to H. A. Cooper, Shallowater. Here's the puzzler: Black men on 2, 9, king on 8; White men on 5, 10, 11, Black to move and win.

The Chess Board

Five men will play in the final round robin tournament for the City of Lubbock chess championship now held by Dr. R. S. Underwood.

In addition to the title holder, the other players will be Dr. Alan L. Strout, former champion; Gordon Webb, John Spencer, and V. O. Jennings.

Games played by the five against the entire field of 18 players in the first tournament will count in the second tourney.

The second round games, however, will be scored in a different manner. Won games will count as two points, draws as one point each.

Thus the final contests will be of more importance than the first.

In the first reported game of the second round, Doctor Strout and Webb played to a draw.

The two Texas Technological college professors still have one game in the first round robin. The first game they played was won by Doctor Underwood, which gave him a 1½ point lead over Doctor Strout.

Play will be continued at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at a meeting at the home of Doctor Underwood, at 3522 Twenty-third street.

Two short games from the Munich Olympiad, won by the Hungarian team:

Mechanical Harvesting Of Cotton Facing Obstacles On South Plains Farms

Nature Plays Part In Work

Experiments Conducted At 3 State Stations Reveal How Quality Of Cotton Is Lost During Picking Season

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

MECHANICAL harvesting of cotton will not do away entirely with the cotton sack, the water-jug, the steelyard and the picker, white, brown or black, in spite of what some engineers believe. The mechanical picker is not yet fully on the road to perfection and it may not reach its objective for a good many years to come.

Old Mother Nature hasn't been consulted by the engineers and until and unless she changes some of her methods with cotton, it will be a long, long time before the hordes of pickers or "pullers" will be done away with.

Experiments Two Years

Experiments made by the state experiment service at three of its sub-stations, including the Lubbock station, have failed to accord to the engineers the goal they have set. These experiments, under the direction of Miss Mary Anna Grimes of the station office, have been under way for two years, showing that the weathering of cotton is more of a determining factor than many have heretofore believed. In fact, it is one big bar to complete mechanization.

For two seasons Miss Grimes has conducted these experiments. She had three stations, Lubbock, Temple and Chillicothe, tag 3,000 bolls each, when bolls begin to open. Thirty were picked and sent to College Station immediately; each week thereafter, 30 bolls were sent there, as long as any cotton remained in the field. At stations where cotton opened after a killing frost, 1,000 bolls were tagged. The second season the period was made two weeks instead of one.

Statement Of Results

Studies were made as the bolls were ginned, classed and picked. Records were kept. A statement on the results of the studies, says in part:

"The report shows that cotton exposed in the field lost one grade in less than four weeks at all points; in one case lost a grade in one week of exposure in the field. There was a maximum loss of 14 per cent in strength of staple for the season; that at Lubbock being higher than at Temple, due possibly to greater ultra violet in the sunlight at the higher altitude. All the cotton became less creamy and darker as the exposure increased and in all cases the creaminess and brightness decreased within three to five weeks after opening. The deterioration increased with the time of exposure and at 32 weeks a drop of five grades was noted, resulting in a reduction of from 150 to 200 points in the market price. The monetary loss due to exposure ran as high as $13 per 500 pound bale based on the market of 1932 and 1933.

Staple Is Shorter

"As the period of exposure in the field lengthened, the staple was classed as shorter, probably due because the ends of the fibers were weakened and more easily broken during ginning and classing. Decrease in the length of the cotton as classed during the exposure periods was from 1-16 to 3-16 inches. Greatest decrease incurred in the 1932-3 season.

"Two explanations of the somewhat greater rate and extent of the loss in the strength of the Lubbock cotton over that from Temple and Chillicothe are suggested. It may be that there were differences inherent in the cotton itself. It seems possible that the greater ultra-violet in the sunlight to be at Lubbock where the altitude is greater and the atmosphere more arid than at Temple and Chillicothe, may have increased the degradation of the cellulose with a corresponding decrease in the strength of the fibers. These findings suggest that early harvesting may be more imperative at Lubbock and similar regions than it is at lower altitudes. This data indicates that, to avoid the loss in strength, cotton should be harvested within the first four or five weeks after opening."

In connection with these tests, Miss Grimes conducted tests to determine effect of staring upon the strength of lint cotton. In these strength measurements were made before and after one and two years of storage. The cotton was stored in paper bags, in a vault free from light. All of the cotton lost strength after storage, although samples from Temple, Lubbock and Chillicothe did not lose it equally. There was a difference in the losses of the 1931 and 1932 samples at the several points, variations being similar to the differences found for the two seasons and at the three points, due to weathering.

There is little doubt but that machines can be developed which will gather cotton and do it more quickly and cheaper, with fewer laborers. But, the cotton must be pretty well open before it will pay to send these machines into the fields.

By the time this is done, the cotton will have deteriorated, whether there are rain and sand storms, or not.

At the Lubbock station for a number of years, Don L. Jones has conducted experiments on breeding a type of cotton to fit the machines, rather than machines to fit all kinds of cotton. These experiments are still going on.

Losses due to delays in harvesting, awaiting favorable weather conditions may be more than enough to offset gains from mechanical harvesting by a substantial reduction in costs.

At any rate, Lubbock and the South Plains will continue to need pickers and the merchants of the towns will continue to have thousands of extra hands spend their earnings, for several years to come.

Five Million More Birds For Thanksgiving Tables

Prices Paid Are Low Compared To Other Meats Of Farm.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—Thanksgivers "who missed out in 1934 and 1935 may be able to catch up on their appetite for turkey this year," federal looker-uppers report.

Estimating that 30,000,000 turkeys are being raised this year, 5,000,000 more than a year ago, a department of agriculture survey shows prices paid on the farm are low compared to those of other meats.

"In view of the general meat situation," the survey finds, "the big crop of turkeys will be a special cause for thanksgiving on the part of consumers at least."

More birds will be put in storage, too, the investigators predict, citing "the expected later shortage of pork" and the "increasing all-year-around demand for turkey."

Most of the increase in the season's crop is said to have been caused by larger flocks on specialized turkey farms in central states, but almost all areas reported production gains.

Because the drouth boosted feed prices, the average turkey this year may be younger and lighter weight, it is said. This would be in accord with the trend in recent years toward smaller birds, the right weight for the average family and the convenient size for roasters and ovens.

The farm price for turkey at the start of this year was nearly 20 cents a pound, but fell to 16 cents last month, the experts announce. "A rise in farm turkey prices cannot be expected," they add, because of the big crop.

Farm prices for meat animals this fall are reported almost double those three and four years ago while turkey prices "are only about half greater than then." Compared with the 10-year (1921-30) average October farm price, turkey this year was "down about 45 per cent" and feed "up about 25 per cent."

MELEAGRIDOID BIRD

The dictionary says a mouthful about this member of the pheasant family of North America.

(By The Associated Press)

Americans feast on more succulent turkey now than the pilgrims had. Theirs was wild turkey. The 1937 bird is a direct descendant, but vastly superior, thanks to domestication and scientific feeding.

To meet the demand increasing with the years, thousands of farmers in widely spread sections have converted their acres into turkey ranches.

Rio Grande Valley Oranges To Be Closed In Next Season

HARLINGEN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Several packers decided recently to adopt a process used several years in Florida and color Lower Rio Grande Valley oranges to compete with growers on the east and west coasts in the national market. Several carloads of the processed fruit, it is said, have gone to market.

Heretofore most of the Valley-grown oranges were distributed by truck to Texas and nearby markets, and practically all of them in natural color. Although the artificial coloring, which tints the fruit by means of a harmless vegetable dye, was not regarded favorably by Texas growers, they say the trade is demanding fruit so treated and, in many cases, is selling at a premium.

Transplanting Of Onions Will Be Undertaken In Valley Area

LAREDO, Nov. 21 (AP) — Onion growers in this area say transplanting of Bermudas from seedbeds to field will begin the latter part of this month, employing several hundred laborers. The young plants, seeded in September and early October, are said to be in the best condition for a number of years. Light rain before planting prepared the ground for quick germination, and further rain after the young shoots came through the ground speeded growth.

It is estimated the production this season will not exceed 1,000 carloads.

Large production in other parts of the country last year created a surplus and adversely affected the price of onions grown in this region.

Crosby Grange Unit Organized

Largest Organization So Far Formed On South Plains Is Perfected Thursday Night At Crosbyton

Sponsored by the Crosbyton Future Farmers of America chapter, the largest Grange chapter so far organized on the South Plains was perfected Thursday night at Crosbyton when 98 joined as charter members.

D. H. Cornelius was chosen as master; E. H. Flourney as secretary and G. S. West, vocational teacher, as lecturer.

Cornelius Presides

William Cornelius, president of the F. F. A. chapter, presided as chairman throughout the meeting. Superintendent D. A. Edwards of Crosbyton spoke on "Our Needs Today," in which he discussed the necessity of a strong farmer controlled organization. G. S. Dowell, superintendent at Lorenzo, also spoke encouragingly of an organization.

Music included a piano number by Mrs. West; a string band from the F. F. A. chapter, an accordion solo by Mr. Poudler.

Popular In Area

The Grange is fast becoming popular on the South Plains and a number of requests have been sent in for meetings. Eight communities now have groups.

W. C. Young, Slaton vocational agriculture teacher and secretary of the Lubbock County Vocational Teachers' association has had several requests lately. The Lubbock group was responsible for starting organization of granges in this county and also in Crosby.

Lubbock County May Now Have County Grange Set-Up

With formal approval of the charter of the Shallowater Grange, the third to be organized in Lubbock county, the county may now have a county set-up, Harold W. Caulrapp, state organizer, announced here Friday night.

The organizer will be here the week of December 7 for a two week's stay to assist in organizing granges in this section.

Southwest Ward was the first grange organized in Lubbock county and on the South Plains, Slaton was the second. Both of these have been approved.

Approval also was announced of the Crosbyton chapter, organized Thursday night.

FISH ROPED IN

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Officer Linous Kraus, who once lassoed steers and heifers on the range, roped a fish recently.

Fishing off a pier in the gulf, Kraus jerked in his line to untangle a knot. He found a fish entwined in several coils of the cord.

City-Laid Eggs

Eggs from some of her 15,000 "penthouse" chickens are gathered by Miss Lillian Swenson, 18, at a Long Island poultry place conducted on modern lines. Eggs laid in the individual coops slide down to a collecting tray. In front of each cage is a chart, and if Biddy isn't laying her quota of eggs, she goes to market. By use of individual cages, chickens are being raised in New York and Chicago skyscrapers, with approval of health authorities. Music is provided to make the hens lay better.

Farmer Near Temple Controls Erosion In Effective Method

TEMPLE, Nov. 21 (AP) — Charles Ocker, farmer near here, found an effective method of controlling erosion on his farm by a system of strategically placed permanent meadow strips and terraces.

In one year, and without losing a crop, Ocker says he established meadow strips of little blue stem grass. At the same time he is using a system of strip cropping with oats and clover which qualifies him for payments under the AAA soil conservation program.

Ocker declares he is partial to permanent meadow strips as a means of checking erosion, since they are cheaper than terraces and easier to maintain.

FOR SALE: BLACK MARIA

SALEM, O. (AP) — Reporting that the city's "Black Maria" had traveled but 700 miles since it was purchased in 1928, Safety Director C. E. Donahey asked city council for permission either to sell it or trade it in on a new police cruiser. However, he said the highest price bid for it was $75.

Diana Durbin, child coloratura soprano, is only 13 years old.

Limited Grain Ration Better

Feeding Experiment Reveals Yearling Steers Gain Thirty Pounds More In Tests Held; More Time Is Required

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 21—A feeding experiment at the Balmorhea station demonstrated that yearling steers gained 30 pounds more on a limited grain ration that was 17 per cent less expensive, than similar steers on a full grain ration, says a report from the Agricultural Experiment station here. The experiment was designed to find the best method of utilizing feed stuffs characteristic of the area.

The low grain lots were fed 42 days longer and used 16 per cent more feed, but due to high percentage of roughage and low percentage of grain, the report says, this considerable saving in feed cost resulted. The roughage, grown in the area, consisted of hegari fodder carrying 30 per cent of grain, and the grain was threshed milo obtained elsewhere. Alfalfa, cottonseed, and cottonseed meal were added as a balance both when the grain portion was limited and when the full feeds of grain were given.

Several experiments th past five years gave similar general results, the report says, showing that yearling steers "can be highly fattened in about 200 days by the use of large amounts of ground hegari fodder and limited amounts of added concentrates consisting of grain, alfalfa, cottonseed, and cottonseed meal."

The report says typical lots of steers consumed in the fattening process 3,425 pounds of ground hegari fodder containing 30 per cent grain and 496 pounds of ground threshed milo with small amount of alfalfa, cottonseed, and cottonseed meal to balance. The ration carried about 70 per cent net rougnage and 30 per cent total concentrates, assuming the grain in the ground rougnage is as effective as the ground threshed grain.

Use 42 More Days

Animals made 30 pounds more grain on this ration, but used 42 days more than those on full grain ration, which was 17 per cent more expensive.

The experiments showed that ground hegari fodder with 30 per cent grain in heads is a more useful feed for fattening than alfalfa, the report says. The limited grain ration, producing better gains at less total cost for feed, included 45 per cent more alfalfa hay and hegari fodder, both available in the region. In several instances whole cottonseed was included to the extent of some four pounds daily for each animal, and proved a desirable supplement to the cottonseed meal and the grain portion of the ration.

"In fact," the report says, "a study of the rations used in the numerous experiments at Balmorhea shows that about the best daily ration per animal found for yearling steers to be fed in dry lot for six months, is 2 1-2 pounds of cottonseed meal, four pounds whole cottonseed, eight pounds of ground threshed milo, and hegari rougnage containing heads. In general, with feeding periods ranging from 140 to 210 days, the feed required per 100 pounds of grain averages 425 pounds of concentrates and 825 pounds of roughages resulting in an average daily grain of 2.28 pounds."

The report says the experiments point to a practical means of disposing of the crops of the irrigated sections along the Rio Grande below El Paso, and in the areas that will be benefited by the Red Bluff dam on the Pecos. "These areas are going to produce a large increase in alfalfa and other feeds, as well as cotton."

Texas Tech Dairy Manufacturing Head Cites Cheese Varieties; Make Studies

Enough types of cheese exist to serve a different kind every day of the year and about 50 days over and enough are on sale in this country to serve for 18 days without duplication, according to K. M. Renner, head professor of dairy manufacturing at Texas Technological college.

The average housewife chooses only a few of the common kinds.

Students Study Varieties

Fourteen varieties of imported and American cheese were recently purchased by the college dairy manufacturing department as part of its observance of National Cheese week and are being used to familiarize students with the various types.

Kinds of American cheese being studied are: Brick, Liederkranz, American cheddar, Neufchatel, and cottage.

Caciocavalla, an Italian cheese, is smoked to give it a bacon-like flavor. Roquefort, which takes its name from the French village where it is ripened in caves, is made from sheep's milk, but Iowa State college, in cooperation with a commercial cheese corporation, has developed artificial conditions like those in the French caves, and Roquefort cheese is being made in America from cow's milk, Renner said. J. Bryan Stine, 1933 graduate of Tech, completed the development while he was a graduate student at the Iowa university.

TO MAKE MAP

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Prof. J. L. Clark, head of the history department at Sam Houston State Teachers college, announces that schools of the county, in co-operation with the science department of the college, will make a large, detailed "land utilization" map of Walker county. The map would show the timber land, arable land, pasturage, fallow acreage, and other classifications of soil usage in the county.

Miss Harriet Smith of the college will supervise the work of pupils in the various schools, contributing the information necessary in their districts. Prof. Clark believes this will be the first undertaking of its kind in Texas.

Unusual Theft

Windmill, Tower, Pipe Are Taken

PAMPA, Nov. 21 (AP)—A windmill—tower, pump and pipe—was stolen from the Mel Davis ranch south of Lefors, and Davis offers a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

Ropesville Community Cotton Picking More Than Half Over

ROPESVILLE, Nov. 21 (Special) —Harvesting of the crop of cotton on the Ropesville community project near here is well over half done. The staple is averaging from an inch to one and one-sixteenths inch. About 150 bales have been gathered and another 100 bales is expected. The cotton has sold for 13 cents a pound up to over 13 cents, with 12.5 cents an average.

More Than 200 Agricultural Leaders Expected At Session

TEMPLE, Nov. 21 (AP) — More than 200 agricultural leaders of Texas are expected here Jan. 8 and 9 to attend the Texas Agricultural Workers association convention.

The association is to present a plaque to the living Texan considered most to development of the state's agriculture.

Wheat Prospects In Swisher Said To Be Best In Years

TULIA, Nov. 21 (Special)—Wheat crop prospects in this part of Swisher county are said by old timers to be the best in many years. Some report conditions this fall are better than at any time in the past fourteen years. Wheat is about all sown and there is a large number of cattle and sheep on feed, with others expected.

GAULRAPP VISITS HERE

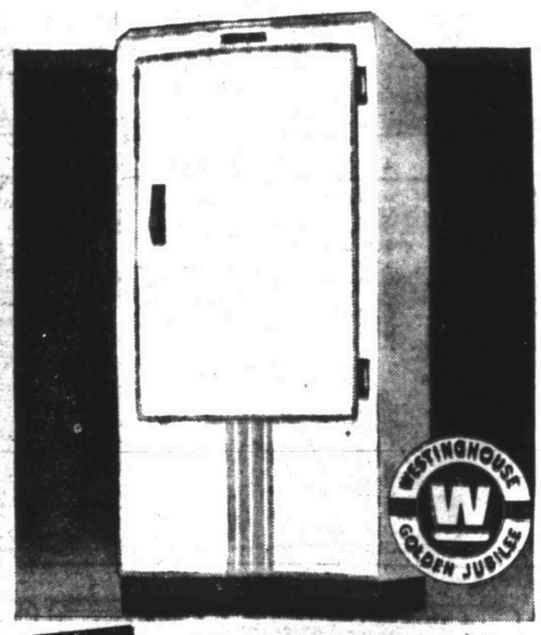

Here on a brief visit with vocational agriculture teachers, Harold W. Caulrapp, Texas organizer for the Grange, discussed the recent convention at Columbus, Ohio, of the National Grange, which he attended. He also was at the meeting of land grant colleges in Texas this week and stopped at College Station to meet Grange leaders.

Mr. Caulrapp talked with vocational teachers here on the future work. He commended their assistance.

PROSPECTS EXCELLENT

LORENZO, Nov. 21 (Special)—Between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of wheat have been sown in this part of Crosby county. Conditions of the crop are excellent, better than at any time in the past five years.

$1,000 FOR MEDICINES! NOTHING RELIEVED HIM UNTIL HE GOT VAN-TAGE

26 Awful Years Of Stomach Gas and Acid Relieved Quick by Great Van-Tage—Now Mr. O'Banion Urges All Suffering People to Get This Remarkable Compound and Take It!

Some of the Leading Druggists of Lubbock and throughout this section now frankly say that never before in local history has ANY medicine received so many voluntary endorsements from widely-known local men and women as has VAN-TAGE! This "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Finest Medicinal Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients" is now being introduced to crowds daily in this city by a Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from the Van-Tage Laboratories, at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1321 Broadway. Although it has been known here only a short time, this Great Compound has already helped THOUSANDS of suffering people all over this vicinity. These grateful people are now sending in Remarkable Statements, praising Van-Tage, telling what it did for them, and urging others who suffer as they did to get and take it.

For instance, just a few days ago, the following statement was received from Mr. A. B. O'Banion, of 612 N. Mesa Ave., El Paso, Texas. Mr. O'Banion is employed in the Engineering and Construction Department of Swift & Company. Read what he says about the surprising action of Van-Tage—how it brought him blessed relief from 26 long years of suffering after hundreds of other medicines HAD FAILED! His statement follows. Read every word of it! See for yourself what Van-Tage CAN DO!

Gas, Acid in Stomach for 26 Long Years!

"I doubt if anybody ever suffered any more with stomach disorders than I had during the past 26 years, said Mr. O'Banion. "Every time I ate anything it just seemed to turn into acid inside of my stomach, and the terrible gas would start forming and cause terrific pains all through my abdomen. I finally reached the point where I was almost AFRAID TO EAT, because I knew that I was letting myself in for a lot of misery every time I sat down to the table. I guess I must have spent over $1,000.00 on different medicines during all those years, but nothing gave me more than temporary relief, and then I would be as bad off as before. Then I started hearing about this new Van-Tage medicine, and it sounded like just what I needed, because I always did believe in the power of Natural Herbs, so I got some of this medicine and started taking it. I also took some of Mosky's Tablets to give my system a thorough cleansing, and when Van-Tage started to work inside of me I could almost FEEL it driving out the causes of my suffering. It made my food digest like it should, and now I can eat a hearty meal and none of that awful acid and gas afterward. I wish I had been able to get this medicine many years ago, because it would have saved me a whole lot of pain and misery. I want to recommend it to anyone who suffers with troubles like mine, and I hope my statement will help to spread the good word about Van-Tage so that others may hear about it and take it."

Anybody Can Afford To Take Great Van-Tage

SUFFERERS: Due to the enormous volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is so reasonable that ANYBODY can afford to take it. In fact, you can actually take this Great Compound, with its many healthy Herbs and other wonderful Ingredients, for less than TWENTY CENTS A DAY. Sufferers from sluggish irregular bowels, inactive liver, restless, gaseous stomach; weak kidneys; rheumatism and neuritic pains due to contaminated system, etc., are now taking Van-Tage as the greatest tonic of its kind that ever came here! They report such amazing relief from long-time suffering that they now feel like different people. So don't neglect your health. Do as thousands of other suffering people here in Lubbock are doing. Get Van-Tage—TODAY—and start taking it!

A Special Van-Tage Representative, direct from the Van-Tage Laboratories, is here at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1321 Broadway, Lubbock, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this Remarkable Compound.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 103

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In a last desperate drive Tarzan's small army fell upon the Leopard Men with demoniac fury. The battle line of the defenders cracked, and soon they were thrown into utter confusion. From that moment the fight was transformed into a slaughter of taloned monsters.

A few survivors fled in panic to the hidden tunnel which led to the river, hoping to escape to the secret temple of the Leopard God. Not far behind them raced Tarzan's warriors, determined to wreak terrible vengeance and erase the Leopard Clan from the earth.

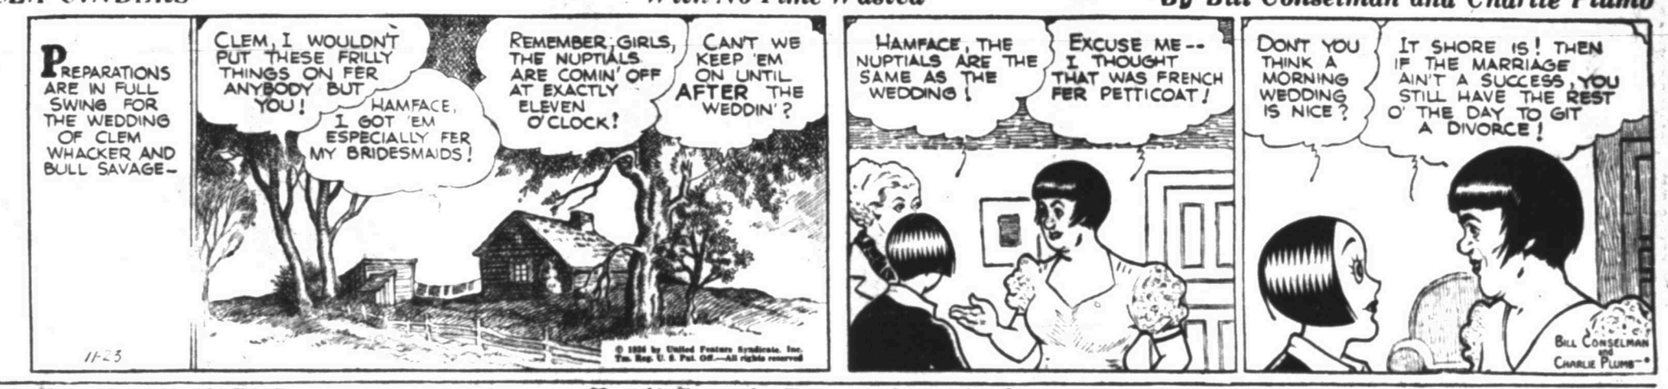

The quaking Nkima had been watching the battle from a safe vantage point in the trees. Now that victory had been achieved, he leaped to his master's shoulder. When he could trust his voice not to tremble, he said proudly: "Nkima and Tarzan mighty killers!"

Nkima boasted too soon, for when the pursuers were still in the tunnel the fugitives emerged at the other end and saw the fighting men who had come from the temple. A cheer arose from their ranks. Now they could trap the white giants and his men in the dark passage!

Meetings Set Here In 1937

Thousands Of Visitors Will Be Brought To Lubbock By Several Conventions; Fair Biggest Attraction

Already more than a score of conventions, assemblies and meetings will be held in Lubbock during 1937, according to the date book of the chamber of commerce. Seven or eight are in addition to regular events of the area here.

Biggest meeting is the annual Panhandle-South Plains fair, late in September or early October, date to be decided on later.

Four In One

One meeting, the Texas State Hospital association, April 23-24, really includes four meetings, that number of associations holding a meeting here.

First meeting of the year is the World Fellowship meeting of the Christian church, January 29 and 30, 1937.

County Judges and Commissioners association meets in March; likewise the semi-annual Westex-New Mex wholesale clothing market's spring meet is probably scheduled for that month.

Events In April

April events include: annual Lubbock Quality Meat show; annual Vocational Agriculture judging contest at Texas Technological college; county interscholastic meet; district Interscholastic meet; Texas association of Colleges; Texas Engineering show.

May: West Texas Dyers and Cleaners Institute; West Texas Band contest at Texas Tech; South Plains Music festival.

Summer events include: Annual 4-H encampment at Texas Tech; Texas Tech coaching school; Plains Ginners association; 4-H achievement day.

The Texas Chess association will meet in the fall, probably in October. The state experiment station field day comes in the fall; the fall clothing show.

November has two meetings, District No. 2 of Texas Christian church convention; Texas Dyers and Cleaners association.

Soil Conservation Projects To Be Established In Area

Soil conservation projects successfully operated by the National Youth administration in a number of Texas counties will be established in 12 of the 15 counties of the Lubbock district the first of December, A. V. Bullock, district supervisor, announced yesterday.

Counties in which the conservation work is to be undertaken are Lubbock, Briscoe, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Hale, Hall, Hockley, Lamb, Motley, and Swisher.

Prevention of soil erosion by surveys preliminary to terracing and control of erosion by constructing turnouts, side road approaches, and improving highway right-of-ways are included in the project. A condition of the program is that the work shall not result in the discharge of any regular highway department employe. Assisting in the project will be county agents.

INVENTOR GETS EVEN

AROMAS, Calif. (AP)—Eight years ago a piston flew out of an old automobile engine and struck Eldee Goodwin on the head. Now he has applied for a patent on a rotary gasoline engine that contains no pistons. He hopes it will supplant the present motors in automobiles.

England's 1934 birthrate was 14.4 per 1,000 of population, the lowest on record.

Leaders In Junior High Are Chosen; List Is Made Public

After a first and second primary, three girls were named heads of the first organized class in Junior High school. They are: Joyce Halsey, president, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Halsey, 2308 Seventeenth street; Mary Ann Stephenson, vice-president, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stephenson, 2210-B Seventeenth street; and Sara Beth Kimmel, secretary-treasurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Kimmel, 2405 Twentieth street.

William Allensworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, 1631 Eighteenth street, was the other nominee for the office of president. Nominations for the officers were made earlier in the week and Junior High students enjoyed their first school election campaign.

The first primary at 9 o'clock Friday morning left Joyce Halsey and Mary Ann Stephenson winners in the presidental election, so a second election was held at ' o'clock to straighten the matter out.

of the press, exclusion from civic life of negroes, Catholics, Jews and all foreign born, and some sort of compulsory military service. None of them has any illusion as to the possibility of enlisting popular support. But they feel certain that "some day in cooperation with the regular army and their own militia they will be strong enough to engineer a coup d'etat."

To the average reader such thoughts may sound fantastic. Sober officials, however, consider this churning Lunatic Fringe sufficiently serious to give it their closest—though unpublicized—attention.

• • •

ONLY during the last few days numerous secret conferences were held in New York—the most important ones at the Warwick hotel and at the Cornell club—between leaders of some of the organizations mentioned above and serious business men who prior to November 3 had contributed much to defeat Roosevelt. No definite agreement was reached, but various factional leaders, formally renounced individually their respective claims to the leadership of a unified organization.

This first step pleased the backers as it eliminates possible rivalry and narrows the field of potential "Fuehrers." Furthermore an agreement was reached regarding regional coordinators for the eastern United States, the South and the Northwest. The names of the men in question are known—two of them are of national prominence. They cannot be divulged at this juncture.

Other Agreements Sought

Present plans are to work out similar agreements for the Pacific Coast and the Middle West. When, as and if that is accomplished the five "leaders" under New York guidance will form the national combine, controlling followers from all corners of the United States.

The proper administrative authorities are fully cognizant of the situation. If Congress should decide at its next session to explore the conditions the full picture will be disclosed to the American public.

Knows Reason For Gly-Cas Praise

Mrs. Anglin Enjoying Good Health First Time In Eight Years; Kidneys And Stomach Regulated, Neuritis Pains Ended—Gly-Cas Again Unfailing

"Little did I realize any medicine could be as wonderful as this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. C. B. Anglin, R. R. No. 2, Little Rock, Ark. "For the past eight or ten years constipation has been a constant source of distress with me. My system was accumulating so much poison my kidneys were soon affected. My sleep was broken at night and I was always tired and worn-out. Soon neuritis settled in my arms and legs and the sharp stabbing pains were almost unbearable at times. To add to my already miserable condition my stomach refused to digest foods properly. Dizzy spells were frequent and it would not be exaggerating to say my health was a "Wreck" until I was finally persuaded to give this new Gly-Cas a trial—it proved to be the very medicine I should have had years before."

"Gly-Cas brought a remarkable change in my condition," she continued. "My stomach, kidneys and bowels are now functioning fine. I can eat the foods I wish and enjoy them without any ill effects afterwards, sleep good the entire night through and those awful sharp stabbing pains of neuritis have been relieved. In fact this new Gly-Cas went right to the source of my health troubles, rid my system of its poisons and I am now enjoying the best health I have had in many years. There is only one Gly-Cas and every sufferer should realize it and profit from it."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1217 Broadway and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—No C. O. D. Mail Orders—Adv.
