U. S. Seeks Dredging Decrease Near Refuge

The Department of the Interior has requested the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to modify or to withhold shell dredging permits on tracts in San Antonio Bay adjacent to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

This is the wintering grounds of the last remaining flock of whooping cranes.

The request is being made in response to a protest of State Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria against these and other permits issued to two dredging firms on April 17, 1967 and April 4, 1968. No public hearing was held on the permit applications.

Cory protested issuance of these permits to the Parks and

Parking Improvements Part of City Plan

Major new parking improvements are proposed in the tentative long-range plan for this city prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis.

These improvements, the report states, "will permit all of the various functioning areas (proposed for the future) to operate efficiently."

In the commercial center, approximately 800 parking spaces would be provided in on and off-street parking areas. Off-street parking areas are in flanking positions adjacent to all existing and proposed commercial structures. A total of 675 parking spaces in off-street lots is indicated on the plan.

In addition, 130 on-street parking spaces would be provided. In the resort area surrounding the marina, there would be an additional 400 parking spaces. There would be an overall average of one parking space for approximately 300 square feet of retail floor space.

The central location of the business district in relationship to the major street and highways will enable commercial activities in the downtown district to efficiently serve anticipated growth areas during the planning period.

Urbanizing areas surrounding the city will also need to have neighborhood-type commercial centers. By establishing a concentrated center of retail activities in the heart of the community, residents of the city and its surrounding area will benefit from the convenience and selection of merchandise which would be available.

Public Utilities

The availability and distribution of potable water has been a critical element in the growth and development of cities. Recent technological advances have enabled cities to benefit from expanded knowledge of the role of air and water pollution in the spread of disease.

This knowledge has accentuated the increasing importance of acquiring potable water and the sanitary disposal of wastes. Utilities and services of this nature are essential to the public health and welfare. They have long been accepted as a part of the day-to-day responsibilities of local government.

Policies of the community which control the distribution of water will have a significant effect on the growth pattern of the city. Inadequate planning and shortsighted policies may ultimately result in unnecessary expense and may encourage a disorderly growth pattern. The comprehensive plan seeks to avoid these problems.

Coordination of the city plan with countywide projects for the transportation of good quality water from the Nueces River is also necessary. A well-regulated carefully controlled water system is one of the most effective tools by which the city may influence future growth.

Existing Utilities System
The city secures its water supply from ground water sources at the present time. Waters from these wells are pumped into elevated storage facilities treated and distributed to areas largely within the city limits.

The sanitary sewer system covers a smaller area than the water supply system but serves the major built-up areas of the city. The sewage treatment plant is located on Copano Village Road just north of the present corporate limits. Outfall from the treatment plant is disposed of through a drainage ditch to the north, emptying ultimately into the waters of Little Bay at Canoe Lake.

Major water transmission lines in the systems are from eight to 10 inches in diameter. Water is currently supplied to all of the developed portions of the city and those lines have been extended to Key Allegro to provide water service to this area.

Local service from the water system is provided in a series of loops inside the city, primarily consisting of six-inch lines. Off of these lines the local distribution system includes smaller lines of three and four inches or less. Water is currently stored in two locations with elevated storage capacity of 550,000 gallons.

Major elements of the sanitary sewerage system include lines of 10 to 12 inches. These sewer mains are generally located in the more intensively developed portions of the city and the larger lines located to transport sewage directly into the treatment plant. New sewer mains have recently been established in the northeastern portion of the community in the Little Bay Shores area.

At the present time, new growth areas in and adjacent to the city have been developing. Adjacent to the city limits, subdivisions need sanitary services by the city, according to the Bartholomew plan.

"This should be done to eliminate growing health problems which may occur due to the concentration of septic tanks in the subdivision," the report continues. "Annexation of the areas into the city should take place before the utility systems are expanded to serve these areas."

The sewage treatment plant has recently been expanded to a capacity of 500,000 gallons per day. The capacity of this plant is rated as being able to serve 10,000 persons. The existing sewage treatment plant is well located in the northern portion of the city.

"However," the report states, "as development occurs, the outfall from this plant will ultimately have to be piped some distance out into Aransas Bay."

City To File Delinquent Tax Suits Sept. 15

With 94.78 per cent of 1967 city taxes collected, the city will begin filing tax suits Sept. 15 to collect from property owners who have not paid by that time.

At this week's City Council meeting, Herman C. Johnson, City Tax Assessor-Collector, was instructed to send the following notice to delinquent taxpayers:

"Dear Property Owner: To inform you of the City's delinquent tax plans, a letter from the City Attorney to the Mayor and City Council is enclosed.

"The City Council is in agreement with the plan as set forth by the City Attorney and has instructed him to proceed with the filing of delinquent tax suits on Sept. 15, 1968.

"To save you court cost and perhaps a judgment being taken against your property, please try to make some arrangement to pay your delinquent taxes.

"If you desire further information or have any questions, feel free to contact the City Hall at any time."

City Attorney Dick Hatch's letter reads as follows:

"Whenever any taxes on real estate have become delinquent, it is my duty under state law to file suit in the name of the City of Rockport in the District Court of Aransas County for the total amount of taxes, interest, penalty and costs that have remained unpaid for all years delinquent.

"The delinquent tax roll is now available to me and I propose to start filing delinquent tax suits for the city on or about Sept. 15.

"State law provides for the publication of the delinquent tax in the Rockport Pilot and if the roll is to be published I ask that it be published as soon as possible so that necessary corrections to the roll may be made before suits are filed."

The entire building, and the grounds outside (weather permitting) will be available to member artists on a first come first served basis for setting up their displays.

Hunting, Fishing Licenses Are Shipped Early

Austin—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department shipped 1.9 million licenses for the 1968-69 season Friday, Aug. 9, the earliest date in several years, according to C. L. Friou, assistant director of administrative service for the Department.

The licenses were mailed to more than 3,000 license deputies across the state and should go on sale Monday. However, the licenses will not become effective until Sept. 1.

Friou said the shipment was rushed so hunters planning to participate in the early deer hunts in Aransas National Wildlife Refuge could buy their license, fill out the free hunt application card and return it by the 5 p.m. deadline, Aug. 27, for the Sept. 3 drawing.

Officials said application cards for the free hunts would not be considered for the drawing unless they had the new hunting license number for each person on them, with limit of four persons per card.

IT'S BLACKMAIL

Several years ago an American citizen, arrested for attempting to smuggle out of Cambodia stone sculptures taken from the Angkor Temple, was released when it was agreed that the U.S. would furnish Cambodia with a bulldozer.

More recently Cambodia arrested two American soldiers who were aboard a Philippine tug which strayed from South Vietnam into Cambodia.

The country informed negotiators the two men would be released in exchange for two bulldozers.

This sort of thing could go on and on, just like a blackmailer sucking the blood out of a man or woman for years.

WHO WILL MAKE OUT HIS RETURN?

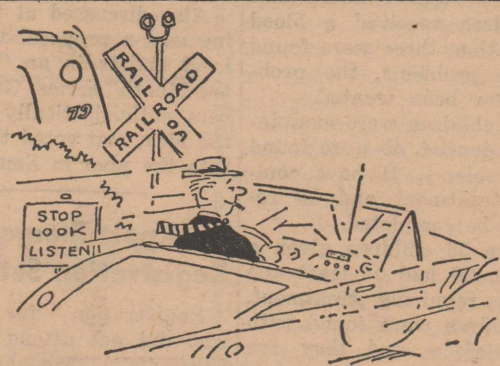

We are tax oriented alright. Even the kids are getting it now.

The Internal Revenue Service tells of a Virginia first grade teacher asking her pupils what each would do if he had 24 hours and all the money he needed.

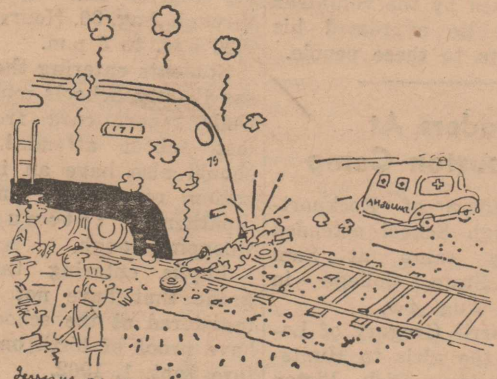

A seven-year-old youngster replied: "I'd take a trip around the world, buy two dogs and a parakeet, and I'd save some for my income tax."

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

BITTER HARVEST

First of all, the United States of America is NOT a violent nation. Hitler's Germany deliberately put to death more than six million Jews; Castro's Cuba systematically murdered scores of political figures; Stalin's Russia slew millions of human beings in purges as did Mao's China. Other nations in Asia, Europe and notably South America have condoned the destruction of millions of people.

This nation did not murder Robert Kennedy. One deranged individual killed him, and our nation must not be condemned for the act of a madman. What is to be condemned, however, is the atmosphere of lawlessness which encourages similar acts of violence in this country every day. We speak of the defiance of authority and the moral delinquency promoted, even now, by men among us who seek to lead our nation astray.

The blame for this atmosphere of lawlessness rests squarely on the shoulders of many persons, notably including the following: Undisciplined youngsters, such as the students at Columbia University, who went on such a rampage of destruction and then demanded the protection of their "freedom of speech"—Activist clergymen, who abandon their calling (the salvation of individual souls) to agitate for instant mass "justice" in the political and social arenas. Government leaders who neglect their duty of stringent enforcement of law and order.—A variety of agitators in special causes, such as the leaders of the "Resurrection City" in Washington. This so-called poor people's campaign is senseless and destructive.

If all students would sincerely pursue learning, if all clergymen would humbly strive for individual morality, if all government leaders would honor the rule of law, if all people would honestly seek to better their lot, and if all of us would appeal more to reason and less to emotion, our national problems could be solved overnight.

So let there be no more reckless and hateful talk about "white racism, no more encouragement for disobedience of the law, no more glorifying of permissiveness and not more deliberate distortions of America's involvement in human affairs, specifically in regard to this nation's entirely altruistic venture in Vietnam. America must now follow its traditional values, firmly rooted in the individual religion of responsible moral conduct. — Burlington (Vt.) Free Press.

THE CHINESE NEED A BIG, BIG CAR

Red China claims a start on production of a new six-seat motor car. With an estimated population of 730 millions—and virtually no motorized vehicles to haul them around—what the Chinese really need is an outpouring of cars as large as the first jeep into Paris on Liberation day, 1944—the one which, according to the U.S. Army news paper, "Stars and Stripes," carried 1,344 American soldiers.

Anyway, that many said they were riding the

GROGGY SAILORS

A rum situation has arisen in the Royal Navy. Sailors have been found unfit to drive after drowning their traditional daily ration of rum.

Nelson would have turned a blind eye had he found a seaman tottering on his feet after taking his tot. There were no cars then, and a shot of rum often helped a man weather the rigors of naval life. Under British law, police can now make a spot breathalyzer tests and, if a motorist's alcoholic intake is above a certain figure, he faces a stiff fine or a jail term.

A sailor who draws his rum ration can afford to be at sea only on board ship. If he drinks and drives, the law will sink him.—Medicine Hat (Alta.) News.

The three golden balls, symbol of the pawnbroker's shop, probably dates back to medieval money lenders of Italy.

The cool ones

An electric water heater is flameless and fully insulated, so the heat stays inside. Round or square, it's the cool way to have all the hot water you need... all day, every day. Put an electric water heater anywhere. No flue, vent or special closet is needed. Tuck a smart square model in your kitchen or laundry room and have extra counter-top space. Put a round-type electric water heater in an unused corner, maybe under the stairs or in the attic. Pick a cool one! We'll pay $20 in cool cash toward the original installation of an approved electric water heater. Ask your dealer or plumber.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.

But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts.

This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Mitchell Addresses Rotary Club

John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice president, Rockport Yacht and Supply Company, spoke at the Rotary Club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon and said RYSCO's 150 employees build approximately 40 steel hull vessels per year.

The company just delivered an 85-foot super shrimp boat which can be converted to a freezer type boat. This boat has central air conditioning and is valued at about $150,000 fully equipped.

Mitchell said consideration is being given initiation of a program to train young men to enter the fishing industry. He explained that this type of work has become technical and scientific "but with the modern equipment now being built there is a potential of making from $10,000 to $30,000 yearly, depending on the circumstances and the location fished."

He said much study is going on as to the location of deep water shrimp in all parts of the world. He also commented that most shrimping is done during the cool of the night and these boats stay out as long as 15 days and sometimes as long as 45 days.

Once is was believed that diamonds could be found only at night, while another superstition was that if they were planted in a garden they would grow an inch every 3 years.

Thirty-five players took part in Scotch foursome competition at Live Oak Country Club Sunday.

A team shooting 13 under par won first prize. Members were Kokie Couch, Dale Hagy, A. W. Wrinkle, Jean Tuer and Bob Haywood.

Finishing second with 12 under par was the team of Virgil Doggett, Bill Barr, Sonny Mathews, Flo Stellman and Dorrys Garrett. There will be another Scotch foursome Sunday.

The Gillespie Buick Riveira Classic at Live Country Club has been postponed until further notice.

Mrs. E. T. White who is in a hospital in Houston is improving and is enjoying cards and notes from her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Shaef-er of Winnie are vacationing here this week. Sunday they were in San Marcos and Johnson City.

Comprehensive Plan Background

This is a continuation of information on the background of the long range plan for our area as being prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates. In last week's background article the Pilot presented data contained in the preliminary report presented by Robert D. Grossman of the planning firm.

In this article, we begin with "Scope of the Planning Program." There are six major elements in the comprehensive planning program for Rockport. These elements include the land use plan based upon an evaluation of existing land use, economic base studies, and population forecasts; The thoroughfare plan based upon an evaluation of highways and major streets and future facilities required to serve the growing community;

The downtown business district plan based upon an analysis of land use and conditions of structures in the downtown area and estimated facilities required to stabilize the business district as the heart of the city;

The communities facilities plan upon an analysis of public buildings, public utilities and parks and recreation facilities; A capital improvement program identified from an analysis of existing financial resources and an identification of project properties;

And suggested regulations required to effectively administer the plan.

The planning area includes the City of Rockport and all lands within five miles of the present city limits. The period covered by the plan is between now and 1990.

Rockport is the county seat of Aransas County and is located on Aransas Bay about 30 miles north of Corpus Christi. The city is situated on Live Oak Peninsula between Aransas and Copano Bays. Aransas Bay is separated from the Gulf of Mexico by St. Joseph's Island which is about four miles off shore.

Victoria, the major urban area to the north, is about 60 miles on the way to Houston which is 180 miles away. The city is located on Texas Highway 35 which carries traffic between Corpus Christi, Victoria and Houston.

Many persons in the Rockport area commute to the Corpus Christi metropolitan area where work opportunities exist both in Corpus Christi and in the major industrial areas located in San Patricio County.

Rockport is located on the humid coastal plains of South Texas. Rainfall averages over 33 inches but is not uniform, reaching a maximum level in September. Prevailing southwest winds from the Gulf of Mexico for much of the year provide cool breezes in the summer and a temperate winter climate. Temperatures are predominately warm with a moderate mean minimum of 48 degrees and a mean maximum of 92 degrees. This provides a long growing season for the area of 312 days a year. The moderate coastal climate attracts numerous winter visitors and is a feature which has made the area a tourist resort destination.

The Rockport area is flat to rolling with alternating marsh and salt grass prairies and low live oak forests. Elevations reach a maximum of about 25 feet in the study area. Coastal areas are low with frequent marshes and tidal flats. Live oak trees which give the peninsula its name grow to a large size. Bent and twisted by the gulf winds, these trees provide a unique and attractive setting for the area surrounding the community.

Prevailing soil conditions are sandy, made up of the Galveston and Nueces types, which are prone to erosion. These loose sandy soils are composed largely of the disintegrated shell and sand. The barrier islands off shore, formed by wave and wind action, is also composed of sand and shell with a sparse covering of coastal grass and other salt tolerant vegetation. Soil composition in the area around Rockport has precluded major agricultural activity, and the flat topography creates major drainage problems.

Many types of wildlife have found Aransas County and the Coastal Tidal Areas an ideal habitat. Because of its location on the main North American Migratory Flyway, many species of birds winter along the bay and inlets. Deer, javelina, wild turkey, and a wide variety of birds and mammals are common to the area. The Aransas National Wildlife Refuge has been established to protect the nesting grounds of America's last surviving flock of Whooping Cranes. Consisting of over 60,000 acres of marsh, tidal flats, and coastal forests, the refuge on Black Jack Peninsula is ten miles north of Rockport. Many varieties of fish and shell fish are also found in the offshore waters. Wildlife found in the surrounding coastal forests and waters of the bays and estuaries makes the county a popular resort area, attracting numerous hunters, fishermen, and naturalists to the area.

Transportation

State Highway 35 is the most important transportation artery in the Rockport area, entering the county at Aransas Pass to the south and proceeding north along Live Oak Peninsula, where the highway passes through Rockport and Fulton (an unincorporated community to the north of the city.) The highway crosses Copano Bay on an elevated causeway and extends northward to Port Lavaca, Bay City and Houston. Farm-to-Market Road 881 connects Rockport with San Patricio County to the south and west.

Three miles north of the city, the Aransas County airport provides three 4,500 foot landing strips. Hangar facilities, a beacon, and services are available at the airport. There is no scheduled commercial air service into the airport at the present time. At some future time, this facility would be capable of handling small commercial aircraft without undertaking extensive improvements. Today the airport serves private planes, many owned by tourists and visitors who find it convenient to fly into the resort area.

Bus service in Rockport is provided by Continental Trailways Systems. It is possible to travel to both Corpus Christi and Houston by bus and onto destinations throughout the nation.

Live Oak Peninsula is located adjacent to the Intracoastal Canal which connects major port areas along the gulf coast. The Intracoastal Canal provides access to the sheltered coastal waters for drilling rigs, barges, and boats being operated along the coast. In addition to this, four commercial harbors are operated by the Aransas County Navigation District. These are located in Aransas Pass Cove Harbor and Rockport Harbor at Rockport and the Fulton Harbor north of the city. Access to Cove Harbor and Aransas Pass Harbor is provided on the Intracoastal Canal. Fishing fleets operate out of all harbors except Cove Harbor which is primarily utilized for the servicing and outfitting of offshore drilling equipment and service vessels.

The community enjoys major transportation facilities on land, water and by air. In addition to facilities located in the immediate area, the city is also conveniently located to the interstate highway system at Corpus Christi and the commercial air services found at Corpus Christi International Airport.

MRS. JOHNSON DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Ernest Johnson, 64, who died Aug. 7, were held Aug. 9 at Cage-Marshall Funeral Chapel with graveside services at Seadrift Cemetery. Born in Oklahoma, Mrs.

Johnson, housewife, moved to Rockport 13 years ago. Her given name was Velma Mary. She is survived by her husband.

Fourteen Proposed Amendments To Texas Constitution Up For Voter Decision Nov. 5

Fourteen proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution will be presented for voter decision in the state's general election on Nov. 5.

All of the amendments in their entirety are being published in this and subsequent issues of The Pilot. Some of the proposed amendments are far-reaching while others are routine.

Here in summary are the 14 amendments in the order in which they will appear on the November 5 ballot:

1. Revising provisions for management and administration of the state employee's retirement system and permitting investment in securities other than government bonds.

2. Raising ceiling from $60 million to $75 million.

3. Permitting investment of the Permanent University Fund by UT regents in certain types of securities, within the "prudent man rule."

4. Allowing Dallas County to issue road bonds on vote of property taxpayers.

5. Authorizing a raise in state legislators' salary from $4,800 to $8,400 a year and extending the per diem expense allowance of legislators ($12 a day) to 140 days of a regular lawmaking session. (Present limit is 120 days.)

6. Allowing the legislature to exempt from property taxes equipment installed by industrialists to control air or water pollution.

7. Phasing out the state property tax after Dec. 31, 1976, beginning next year, except that portion for higher education institutions.

8. Eliminating the requirement that the governor, secretary of state and comptroller approve contracts for printing and paper.

9. Providing for contributions to the teacher retirement system on the basis of full salaries. (Contributions now are limited to $504 a year.)

10. Allowing the legislature to provide for refund of state tax on cigars and tobacco products sold at retail in Texas.

11. Authorizing the legislature to permit consolidation of offices and governmental functions in El Paso and Tarrant Counties.

12. Giving the legislature power to authorize cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial development purposes and permit private concerns to operate plants thus financed.

13. Exempting from property tax temporarily stored in public warehouses.

14. Spelling out that legislators will not be ineligible for other offices because their terms extend a few days into January.

HUGLUND'S HAPPENINGS

August 15, 1769—Napoleon Bonaparte, French dictator and military genius, is born.

AUG. 3, 1492—Christopher Columbus sets sail from Palos, Spain, with a fleet of three tiny ships, the Santa Maria, the Pinta and the Nina and 88 men to prove the world is round.

Oil Regulation Rules Recommended For Estes Cove

Temporary rules and MERs for the Estes Cove (G-3) and (E-5) Fields, Aransas County, were recommended by Kelly Bell at a Railroad Commission hearing Aug. 2 at Austin.

The rules would provide for 660/1320-foot spacing; 80-acre proration units with maximum of 3250 feet between the farthestmost points and 40-acre tolerance for the last well on the lease; 100 per cent acreage allocation; and, surface casing in accordance with the Texas Water Development Board recommendations.

It was proposed that the MERs be set at the 1965 yardstick values when discovery rights expire.

Emory M. Spencer, Chester Johnson, and Petroleum Management, Inc., were opposed to 80-acre units, recommended 40s with maximum of 2100 feet between the farthestmost points.

Winston G. Saxton, geologist for the applicant, submitted the following data to examiner Bill Thomas:

E-5—the one well in this reservoir flowed on initial 24-hour potential 162.5 barrels of 41 gravity oil, 139.8 MCF gas, and no water; depth of pay is about 7800 feet in the Frio;

the water contact is somewhere above (-)7856 feet; average porosity 26.8 per cent; average permeability 403 millidarcys; average oil saturation 16.1 per cent; interstitial water saturation 54.5 per cent; average net effective oil pay thickness 14 feet; average gravity of the oil 40.5; no water production; original reservoir pressure 3438 psi at 7838 feet; average gas-oil ratio 860/1; reservoir appears to have an active water drive; recoverable oil calculated at 609 barrels per acre foot.

G-3—the one well in this reservoir flowed on initial 24-hour potential 196.15 barrels of 41.4 gravity oil, 151.0 MCF of gas, and no water; approximate depth 8150 feet in the Frio; no water has been encountered in this zone; average porosity 31.2 per cent; average permeability 307 millidarcys; average oil saturation 14.7 per cent; interstitial water saturation 54.7 per cent; average effective oil pay thickness nine feet; gravity of the oil 41.4; original reservoir pressure 3800 psi at 8157 feet; average weighted gas-oil ratio 770/1; reservoir probably has a water drive; recoverable oil calculated at 781 barrels per acre foot.

O. G. McClain, consulting geologist for Spencer, expressed the opinion that a well in this area would not drain as much as 80 acres. And, he contended, it would be economically feasible to drill on 40-acre units in this field.

John W. Stayton, Austin attorney for Spencer, gave the following as reasons for recommending 40-acre units for this field.

1. This, generally, is an area of small tracts.

2. Generally, other comparable fields in the area are developed on no larger than 40-acre units.

3. There is no dispute but that 40-acre spacing would be very profitable here.

4. The evidence shows, based on experience gained in other comparable fields in the area that more oil would be recovered on 40-acre drilling than on 80-acre development.

Wallas H. Scott, Jr., Austin attorney for Bell, contended that the Frio sands are very well known along the Gulf Coast, where there are a number of fields which have 80-acre proration units. He pointed out that a number of those developed on 40 acres and less were drilled prior to the time when the Commission began approving 80-acre oil proration units. He argued that the problem of faulting within the confines of this field has not been proved, that if there is a water drive in these reservoirs the lower rate of production from one well on 80 acres, compared to withdrawals from two on 80, would permit the drive to be more active. He contended that more data can be accumulated faster by drilling on 80 acres, that if later it be shown that this spacing is too large, closer drilling then could be done. He added that at this point his client thinks this is an excellent oil field with an effective water drive.

TORRES ENLISTS IN AIR FORCE

Jose Torres, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Torres, enlisted in the United States Air Force and is presently at Lackland AFB in San Antonio.

Jose achieved above average scores on the Airman qualifying examination and was enlisted as an electronics technician. After completion of six weeks basic training, he will be assigned to an Air Force Technical Training Center for specialized electronics training.

He is a May 1966 graduate of the Aransas County High School and has been attending Del Mar College since then.

Fishing Hints

By Danny Adams

WHY do fish act the way they do? This is a tricky question to answer because of the many habits that fish have. There are so many factors to take into consideration that we won't mention all of them but we will touch on the main points to look for.

First and mainly, all fish habits are governed by two things, tides and feeding conditions. Fish always bite best on a moving tide because a movement of water concentrates plankton, a microscopic organism on which the small bait fish feed. Therefore, if the bait fish are feeding and moving about, then the game fish will be doing so, feeding on the bait fish. Thus the plain fact is that the tide controls the feeding habits so fish will bite best on a good moving tide.

Second, why do fish bite the way they do? Why do trout strike hard sometimes and sometimes bite very softly? Trout always strike hard unless it is spawning time. During this time their mouth is very sore and soft. Generally one of the two predominate teeth in the front of the mouth is missing. Redfish always strike softly or slowly because they are bottom feeders as is the drum. Flounder generally always strike hard, exploding off the bottom towards the bait. Sheepshead nibble on the bait because they prefer crustaceans for food such as barnacles and small crabs.

Why do fish bite better on some days than nights and vica-versa. Mainly because of the moon. On a bright moonlight night, the fish generally bite best during the late morning and evening and not too well at night under the lights because they are feeding on the flats by moonlight. During the dark moon the fish bite best early morning and exceptionally well at night under the lights because the fish will concentrate under the light and feed on the minnows.

Some of those who found the fish acting the way they are supposed to this week were:

Nelson Williams of San Antonio landed 15 nice speckled trout using live shrimp. Henry Schabel of Rockport caught 13 gafftop weighing up to seven pounds using squid and eel. Mrs. Gireen Jones hoisted 20 trout over the rail, using yellow and white jigs. John McDonald caught 21 trout using live shrimp. McDonald is from San Antonio and is only 11 years old. These fish were caught under the lights on the Copano Causeway lighted pier. Also caught on the pier during the daytime was a 45 pound drum which was finally landed by Don Miller of Corpus Christi. The fish was caught on dead shrimp.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mackhans and family from Austin, down for a week's vacation, had to go back to work for some rest. Fishing out of the Sandollar Marina they brought in 82 specks Monday, 86 trout and 10 gafftop Thursday, 74 trout Friday and 51 trout Saturday. All the fish were caught on live shrimp.

Next week, WHEN to fish and what to fish for.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hall and children, Bruce, Joe, Marylynn and friend Donna Drum spent two weeks here, returning to Ft. Worth Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall fished most of the days and were well rewarded with hundreds of fish to take back.

The slowest day resulted in 60 nice trout with a maximum of 165 last Thursday; the other days ranged from 76-103. "It was one of the best years we've had," they stated.

the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife. Earlier this week, the State Department advised Cory the Department of the Interior is discussing the matter with officials of the Canadian Wildlife Service.

The April 17, 1967 and April 4, 1968 permits cover 31 state tracts of approximately 26 square miles in San Antonio Bay. Eleven of these tracts lie along the west shore of the bay for a stretch of 10 miles, seven miles abutting the Aransas Refuge and covering the feeding grounds of the whooping cranes.

Cory said no hearing has been requested or held on these permits by the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers. The corps on July 9 conducted a public hearing on permits covering 35 other state tracts in the bay.

Cory then protested those permits, alleging dredging will have a detrimental affect on the cranes, other wildlife and marine life in the bay.

Attorneys representing the dredging interests maintained the corps has no jurisdiction over permits other than their affect on navigation. These attorneys attempted to have testimony at the hearing restricted to the question of navigation.

The Port Lavaca hearing was conducted by Col. Franklin B. Moon, district engineer of Galveston. "In deciding on these applications, the Corps of Engineers must evaluate all relevant factors," Moon said, "including the effect of the proposed work on navigation, fish and wildlife, conservation, pollution, aesthetics, ecology and the general public interest."

At Cory's request, Moon extended the time to file protests against the applications to Aug. 8 to permit those agencies Cory notified to file their views with the Corps.

These applications will be referred to the office of the chief of engineers. Cory was further advised by the Department of the Interior that the under secretary would then have an opportunity to review all facets of the matter.

"This is comparable to a 1957 request of the Air Force to establish a flash-bombing range on Matagorda Island, adjacent to the Aransas Refuge," Cory said here yesterday. "I protested that application and notified the same agencies of the impending action as on the dredging."

"The Canadian government intervened and helped in defeating the application," he said.

In addition to permits adjacent to the shoreline, Cory has entered a like protest on eight other tracts covering Panther Reef south of the Intracoastal Canal. He describes this as the most important baffle reef in the bay, controlling the circulation of salt water and governing the salinity of bay waters.

Conservation groups are At one time there were at least 9,000 oil wells in the Pawhuska territory of Oklahoma.

more concerned over ill effects that may result from dredging south of the Intracoastal Canal in San Antonio and Espiritu Bays and on tracts adjacent to the refuge than on those tracts covered by the July 9 Port Lavaca hearing.

The lower portion of San Antonio and Espiritu Bay is the nursery and feeding grounds of marine life and was closed to net fishing by the State Legislature in 1963.

The bay floor of this section, Cory said, is covered by a black organic sediment that once stirred, remains in suspension much longer than ordinary silt.

State regulations, Cory said, requires dredgers to operate on the side of reefs opposite from tide action in order that silt will be carried away from reefs.

"This black sediment remains in suspension so long that it is carried back to the reef when the tide changes," Cory said. "It cuts out all sunlight and thus can kill all the microscopic marine life on which our shell fish and fish feed."

Cory said he was on San Antonio Bay Aug. 6 with a research team from the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia. The team was there on a periodic pollution check at the request of DuPont and Union Carbide.

"In the course of our survey, I saw nine oyster reefs and only one, Panther Reef, had live oysters," Cory said.

He believes, however, most of the dead oysters observed could be attributed to the abnormal amount of fresh water resulting from continued rains of the past few months.

"But we found many oysters covered by the black organic sediment to a depth of one-quarter to one-half of an inch that will in time, have its killing effect," Cory said.

Cory is opposing dredging in San Antonio and Espiritu Santo Bays as state representative of Victoria and Calhoun Counties, the Mid-Coastal Sportsmen's Club and the Point Comfort Boat Club.—Callers-Times.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—It is my understanding that graduate student deferments may be given to those studying medicine. I have been accepted for enrollment in medical school. How do I proceed to get the deferment?

A—Write a letter to your local board requesting deferment, give the facts in your case, sign it, and give your Selective Service number. After you have commenced your studies, have your school send a printed form called "Graduate or Professional Student Certificate (SSS Form No. 103)" to your local board. The school may also send a form of its own design. Assuming the school certifies that you are pursuing satisfactorily a full-time course of study, you will be qualified for classification in class II-S.

Q—Whit changes were made in the Selective Service law and regulations because of the National Security Council's recommendation and the Director of Selective Service's acceptance of that recommendation?

A—None. The effect was to keep the same policy with regard to the deferment of graduate students and deferment for occupation.

Q—We are very curious as to the classification given by the draft board to the son of one of our friends. Is this public knowledge?

A—Both the current classification and the classification history are matters of public knowledge. Current classification is posted on a bulletin board for public inspection. The past classifications are in a public record called "Classification Record (SSS Form No. 102)."

PINA GETS AIR MEDAL

Sp/4 Ruben R. Pina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Valdez, United States Army, has been awarded the Air Medal.

The citation accompanying the medal states the award was presented to Pina "who distinguished himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight in support of combat ground forces in the Republic of Vietnam."

"During the period 23 January to 13 March, he actively participated in more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory in support of counterinsurgency operations."

"During all of these flights, he displayed the highest order of air discipline and acted in accordance with the best traditions of the service. By his determination to accomplish his mission, in spite of the hazards inherent in repeated aerial flights over hostile territory, and by his outstanding degree of professionalism and devotion to duty, he has brought credit upon himself, his organization and the United States Army."

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meyers were in Portland Sunday to help their grandson, Rusty, celebrate his 10th birthday.

Drownings Take 379 Texans

Austin—Drownings have accounted for 379 deaths in Texas so far this year, 62 more than the 317 recorded for all of 1967, according to R. G. Mauermann, deputy director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Many of the more recent drownings occurred while the victims were swimming. "The information we receive on what occurs during these drownings indicates that most occur when the victims extend themselves more than their abilities warrant," said Mauermann.

"Poor swimmers are continually getting themselves into predicaments from which they are unable to extricate themselves. In some cases, they not only drown themselves, but someone else as well," he said.

"I question anyone's right to put himself in a situation which would endanger a would-be rescuer," Mauermann said.

According to Mauermann, boaters still defy the spirit of the law which requires them to have one coastguard approved life saving device on board for each person in the boat. "In many of the cases we get," he said, "there is an outright violation of the law. No life preserver. But in many others the life preserver is present, but it is not worn. Therefore, it serves no purpose except as mockery toward a law designed to save lives."

"In reviewing case histories of 379 drownings victims," said Mauermann, "one becomes aware of recurring situations. For instance, persons who wade in shallow water, therefore believing themselves perfectly safe, make up a surprising number of cases."

"They usually drown when they step into a deep hole."

"Another big cause of drownings is small children left unattended near water. One can only imagine the agony of the parents when they first miss the child, and the hours drag by until the child's lifeless body is brought to the surface of a nearby fish pond, swimming pool, or drainage ditch. There must always be that thought in the minds of the unfortunate parents: 'If only I had watched more closely.'"

Parks & Wildlife Commission Sets Hunting Season

Austin — The interest in hunting in Texas took a big step forward last week as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission adopted seasons and bag limits for the 1968 hunting seasons in those counties under the regulatory responsibility of the Commission. As discussed in public hearings, the Commission closed the alligator season in all counties where they had authority to do so.

The mourning dove season in the north zone will be held for 60 consecutive half days beginning on Sept. 1 through Oct. 30 in the north zone. South zone hunting will begin Sept. 21 and continue through Nov. 19 except in those counties having a white-wing dove season where it will be Sept. 1 and 2 and Sept. 7 and 8 and from Sept. 21 and Nov. 15.

Bag limits for mourning doves will be 12 per day and 24 in possession. Bag limits for white-winged doves is 10 per day and 20 in possession. However, a bag limit of mourning and white-winged doves may be taken during the concurrent season in those counties having a white-winged dove season.

Shooting hours for both species will be 12 noon, Central Standard time or 1 p.m. Central Daylight Saving Time, to sunset each day.

The Commission also closed an area that will prohibit the hunting of white-winged doves and mourning doves during the four-day concurrent season, south of U. S. Highway 83 beginning at the Starr-Zapata County Line to Mission, then following FM 1016 to its junction with FM Highway 1926 to the city limits of Hidalgo.

The woodcock season will be held beginning Nov. 23 through Jan. 26 with a daily bag limit of five and a possession limit of 10. The snipe season will begin Nov. 23 and continue through Jan. 11 with a daily bag limit of eight and a possession limit of 16.

The season for rails and gallinules will be between Sept. 1 and Nov. 9, both days inclusive. Bag and possession limits for king and clapper rails are 15 per day and 30 in possession limit; bag and possession limit for Virginia and Sora is 25 per day and 25 in possession; and gallinules will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The Commission also set the seasons and bag limits for deer, turkey, quail and other species in the regulatory districts. However, these hunting seasons will not become effective in 17 of these counties until these regulations have been approved by the county Commissioners Courts. These counties include: Bandera, Coke, Crockett, Edwards, Hays, Kerr, Kendall, Kimble, Kinney, Lampasas, Medina, Menard, Reagan, Real, Schleicher, Sutton and Val Verde.

In Aransas, Bee, Bexar, Cameron, Dimmit, Duval, Frio, Hidalgo, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kenney, Live Oak, Maverick, Medina, San Patricio, Starr, Uvalde, Webb, Willacy, Wilson and Zavala counties the deer season is Nov. 9 through Jan. 1 except in Frio County where the season is Nov. 16 through Jan. 7. Bag limit is three deer which may not include more than two buck deer. Antlerless deer by permit only. Bag limit in Duval County is two buck deer.

The javelina season in Bexar, Cameron, Hidalgo, San Patricio, Wilson and Zavala Counties is Nov. 9 through Jan. 1 with a bag limit of 2 per season. In other counties of the regulatory district there is no closed season and no bag limit.

There is no closed season and no bag limit on squirrels.

Turkey season is Nov. 9 through Jan. 7 which conforms to the deer season. Bag limits on turkey is 2—either gobblers or bearded hens except in Frio County where three turkeys may be taken. There is no open season in Cameron, Hidalgo, and Starr Counties.

Quail season is Nov. 1 thru Jan. 31, except in San Patricio County, with a bag limit of 12 per day and a possession limit of 36. The quail season in San Patricio is determined by statute.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS BY VERN SANFORD

About the only similarity between a tent of 20 years ago and one today is the name.

Remember when erecting a tent used to be an arduous, time-consuming task for several men? Well, nowadays one man can erect a large tent in mere minutes, with very little fuss and bother. (Any person praising the "good old days" isn't camping out in a tent.)

There are several reasons for this new look in tents. For one thing, the boom in family camping opened up a vast new market. It is stimulating new manufacturers and creating a health atmosphere of competition. Another important motivating factor is the myriad of new lightweight materials.

Back there "when," the tent market was primarily the military, Boy Scouts and a few outdoorsmen who really believed in "roughing it."

Today you are more likely to find men, women and children occupying tents. This market definitely has changed and the industry has had to change it. Not only are modern tents more practical and flexible, they are better shaped and better ventilated. Furthermore, with their bright colors they are much more pleasing to the eye. Answer here is that women campers have demanded more fashion and color in tents.

Old tents primarily were constructed of "army duck" canvas that weighed about 12.29 ounces a square yard. Ridge poles were formidable, wooden jobs, bulky and heavy. A typical four-man tent made from army duck weighed about 80 pounds.

A modern type of comparable size, however, weighs as little as nine pounds. It has an outside frame of durable, lightweight aluminum and it is made of silicone-treated nylon. This material is much lighter, more weatherproof and far more rot-resistant than canvas.

Today's tent also is much more comfortable. Even the inexpensive models have floors, windows, screen doors and storm-flaps. A typical floor is vinyl treated, tough, smooth for cleaning, and built tight to keep out all insects and other pests. Once the screened door and windows are zipped, no unwelcome intruder can get inside.

Another nice thing about the modern tent is that it folds into a neat, compact package for easy portage in the family automobile. Its safe, light, nylon material folds into a small pack, and its light aluminum framework is constructed of tubular, telescoping frames. These modern frames can be carried conveniently, erected easily, and assembled outside the tent with little effort.

Tents nowadays come in about every shape and size imaginable, from tiny two-man pup tents to huge shelters that will take a family of eight.

Old tents were mostly of a standard design, but today the choice includes such shapes as cottage, leanto, igloo, wing, umbrella and pyramid designs.

If you are thinking about purchasing a tent, don't be hasty. Look around and compare the various models. Most important consideration is your specific needs and budget. If possible, always get a tent the next size larger than the one you think you'll need. That extra room is a blessing and with today's materials, even a fairly large tent is compact to carry and easily erected.

Take care of your investment and it will last indefinitely. Tents of today are made to last.

September Draft Calls 683 Texans

Austin. — The September draft call for Texas is 683, the smallest monthly quota since June 1967, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Tuesday.

He pointed out, however, that the July 1968 call for the state was little higher than the September quota—a total of 695.

Because of budgetary limitations, there will be no pre-induction physical-mental examinations on August. It was announced earlier there would be none in September, but later a total of 5267 was 1967 monthly calls ranged from a low of 674 to a high of 1421.

The order of selection to fill current draft calls may be from among examined and acceptable men who are (1) delinquents 19 years old and older, (2) volunteers under age 26 in the sequence in which they have volunteered, and (3) non-volunteers 19 through 25 years old, single and married, oldest first, with those married after Aug. 26, 1965, being selected ahead of those married on or before that date.
