First UF Division Breaks Its Quota

The first division to break its quota was reported at United Fund Headquarters this morning — the Out-of-Town Division guided by Raymond Tollett, Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. president.

The division has reported a total of $7,821 for 104 per cent of its $7,500 goal. This quota-busting report put the campaign total at $95,838 or 88 per cent complete.

The Out-of-Town Division contacts major firms outside the area who have business interests here. Regularly, the division goes over its goal.

Although several other divisions had reports of increases today, no other has yet reached the 90 per cent mark. The Big Gifts Division and the Public Employees Division have both reached the 87 per cent peg. The former has $34,915, and the latter has $19,117.

Special Gifts Division has $8,100.

UF PROGRESS CHART

Disarmament Thant's Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant called today for greater progress in disarmament in 1965 and proposed talks among the nuclear powers, including Communist China, to check the nuclear arms race.

Thant's call was contained in his 10,000-word introduction to the annual report on the state of the world — as he sees it — to the U.N. General Assembly opening Dec. 1.

His statement dwelt briefly on the precarious U.N. financial situation and wound up with the hope there will be a solution before the assembly meets.

LISTS DEFICIT

Thant reported a $113.3-million deficit as of Sept. 30, arrears of $112.3 million on the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping accounts, and only $24.8 million cash in hand. He said cash resources would practically disappear in six months unless a payments solution is found.

The secretary-general made no reference to U.S. determination to challenge the General Assembly voting rights of the Soviet bloc and France unless they pay peacekeeping arrears.

Thant said disarmament questions continue to have high priority on the international agenda, despite the advances marked by the limited test ban treaty which he noted "remains neither universal nor comprehensive."

NOT SIGNED
Communist China and France have not signed it, and there has been no agreement to ban underground tests. The treaty bans testing in the air, sea and in space.

Thant called reduction and elimination of nuclear delivery vehicles the key issue of general and complete disarmament and noted some measure of agreement at the Geneva disarmament talks last summer.

Lubbock Boy Among Five Crash Dead

COMFORT, Tex. (AP)—Five persons died early today in the crash of a semi-trailer truck loaded with pipe and a passenger car.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said five persons were dead at the scene and that four bodies still were pinned in the wreckage at 6:15 a.m. about an hour after the collision.

Investigators said the head-on collision occurred on U. S. 87 about six miles north of this Hill Country community. Comfort is about 50 miles northwest of San Antonio.

The dead were identified as Pat Eylico, 23; Joe Eylico, 20; Mary Eylico, 17; and John Torres, 17, all of Albuquerque; and Arthur Garcia, 13, of Lubbock.

Season's First Frost Arrives

Car windshields had to be scraped and defrosters turned on this morning following the season's first frost. The temperature, registered at Big Spring Experiment Station, went to 30 degrees about midnight and remained there until 8 a.m. when it started climbing a little. Some ice showed in low spots where there was water this morning.

Grady Randel, keeper of the weather records at the Experiment Station, said the mercury went to 32 degrees at 10 p.m. Thursday and gradually went down until it reached 30 degrees at midnight.

The earliest recorded frost for Big Spring was Oct. 15, 1914. Last year's first frost came Nov. 29.

County Agent Herb Helbig said any tender vegetation was probably hurt, but that farmers waiting for frost to defoliate cotton would have to wait two or three days to tell whether this was a killing frost or not. No major damage was reported.

The forecast for tonight calls for even lower temperatures, with the mercury dipping to between 25 and 30 degrees. Winds are supposed to shift from the southwest this afternoon to northerly tonight and Saturday. Tonight's high should go up to from 60 to 65 degrees and Saturday's high should be in the mid-50s. High Thursday was 48 degrees.

Motorist Injured In 3-Car Wreck

F. E. Barryman, 80, Rt. 1, Winters, was hospitalized and his pickup truck badly damaged in three vehicle collision shortly after noon today at Tenth and Gregg.

Barryman, cut about the face when his head rammed into his windshield, was in Cowper Hospital where he was taken by Big Spring Ambulance Service.

Japanese Ease U.S. Missiles In

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Japan's defense forces secretly brought 24 Hawk anti-aircraft missiles last night to Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island and its closest to Soviet territory.

The missiles, supplied by the United States, will be deployed around the Chitose base 25 miles southeast of Sapporo.

The missiles are not equipped with nuclear warheads. They were brought into the Chitose base in secrecy to forestall demonstrations by leftists.

Crash Kills Five

An auto-truck collision killed five persons today near Comfort, Tex., on U.S. Highway 87. Dead in the collision were Pat Eylico, 23; Joe Eylico, 20; Mary Eylico, 17; and John Torres, 17, all of Albuquerque, N.M. Also killed in the crash was Arthur Garcia, 13, of Lubbock. Defense Not Hurt, McNamara Asserts WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is of the firm opinion that the closing of hundreds of military installations, great and small, will not diminish the fighting ability of the armed forces.

Over the past four years 574 U.S. military bases around the world—the great majority of them in this country—have been closed or their activities sharply cut back. Thursday, he tackled another 95 to the list.

These bases "have outlived their usefulness for military missions," are obsolete and unnecessary, the Pentagon chief says in explaining his program. By closing them, he says, "we can achieve economies and at the same time increase our combat effectiveness and our military power."

LATEST CUTBACK

In announcing the latest cutback, McNamara referred to three categories of bases directly related to operations of the armed forces—shipyards, bomber bases and missile launching sites—and told why he thought changing conditions and new tactics and technology had rendered them obsolete and surplus.

New and better missiles are replacing the first models, rushed into firing position in the initial frantic race to match and exceed Soviet missile strength. The liquid-fueled, surface-based Atlas and Titan I ICBMs are being shelved and their launching sites closed because of the "very sizable inventory" of improved Titan II and Minuteman missiles.

BUILD PROGRAM

The Air Force has about 650 Minuteman missiles in launching silos, eventually may build this to about 1,000.

The Defense Department has been cutting back the number of older B47 medium bombers for some years, with their missions taken over by the somewhat more recent B52 heavies, of which the Air Force has about 630. So the bases from which the B47s operated are no longer needed. And more B52s are being assigned to fewer bases.

The Pentagon strategic warfare experts claim that the nuclear firepower that can be delivered by the B52 fleet more than offsets the original combination of B47s and B52s.

SPECIAL BOARD

McNamara and the special board he created to make a study decided that the present operating fleet of about 800 Navy ships could be repaired and maintained and new ships built with fewer government-owned, high-cost yards. Therefore, they picked two big yards to be closed, two others to be merged.

These, combined with private yard facilities, are considered adequate for the Navy's operations and shipbuilding programs.

The cutback in shipyards reflects essentially McNamara's drive for efficiency and economy rather than a belief that the day of warships is waning.

Ford May Halt Output Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. may cease production of all its automobiles by tonight because of what it calls local plant strike tie-ups.

The last producing link in Ford's lines of cars, the Mustang, will be out of action after the anticipated closing tonight of a Milpitas, Calif., assembly plant, Ford said.

Normally, Ford makes 10,000 cars a day.

A Ford spokesman at company headquarters in Dearborn confirmed that the Mustang has been the only car produced since Tuesday.

With between 75,000 and 80,000 men laid off, Ford has been employing only about half its total work force this week.

The company has blamed nine United Auto Workers local-plant strikes that began Nov. 6 for the layoffs.

Royal Dutch, Santa Fe, Ward and Radio opened unchanged. U. S. Steel was up 1/4. Anaconda and Pennsylvania Railroad rose fractions.

Caldwell Has Low Bid For City Paving Plans

Bids were opened at city hall Thursday for a 54-block paving project expected to get under way early in 1965, with the apparent low bid of $166,713 by W. D. Caldwell, Inc., Big Spring.

Other bids were by Western Pavers, Lubbock, $174,048; Jones Brothers, Odessa, $190,557; and H. G. Counts, Odessa, $198,706. All bids except the Jones Bros. bid were based on either of two alternates, for a plant-prepared hot mix or for a penetration mixture. The bid from the Jones Bros. firm was for the hot mix application only.

The city commission is expected to consider the bids at its next regular session, Nov. 24. A public hearing will be scheduled prior to final action on the paving project, which is a part of the Master Plan bond program.

The low bids received Thursday are less than the cost estimates included in the preliminary reports on the project, which tabbed the construction cost at about $182,000.

Of the two alternates included in the bid specifications, the hot mix preparation manufactured at the plant is preferred, Public Works Director Ernest Lillard said.

The paving project is about half the size of the last previous project, completed in the summer of 1963, and will use up the remaining bond funds available for paving in the city.

If the project is given the go-ahead by city commissioners, a work order would probably be issued in January or early February, Lillard said, with completion expected in about six months.

'Hunt New Business' Is Slogan

By The Associated Press

Leaders in Texas cities hit by Defense Department cut-backs took the blow philosophically Thursday with most expressing determination to "find some new business."

Abilene, Waco and Amarillo suffered the most in Texas as Secretary Robert McNamara announced sweeping reductions of installations and many facilities and personnel transfers.

Members of the Texas delegation in Congress apparently were taken by surprise in the new move. Many reserved comment.

In Waco, Chamber of Commerce President Carl Barrett summed up most leaders' reaction. "If the Department of Defense can save $500 million a year and not weaken our military strength, you can't argue with the logic of doing it."

LOOK ELSEWHERE

And in Amarillo, Chamber President Cliff Milnar said, "We'll just have to work harder to bring in new industry to replace this loss."

But nobody failed to recognize the seriousness of the blow that means loss of a multi-million dollar military payroll in Texas.

Amarillo civic leaders said the closing of the Amarillo Air Force Base would be "an $80 million blow" to the economy of that area alone.

But Mayor H. V. Wallace of the Panhandle center said "Time and proper planning on the part of all of us will reduce the blow."

Mayor Roger Conger of Waco joined his Chamber of Commerce chief in expressing confidence that the Central Texas City would "recover." "It won't hurt as bad as it would have a decade ago," Conger said. "Our community has matured. We will recover."

Barrett pointed out that Waco would remain an Air Force city because the 12th Air Force will still be headquartered there.

HARDEST HIT

Although Waco and Amarillo were the hardest hit by the reductions, Abilene lost all its missiles but will gain another unit to almost break even in manpower.

San Antonio, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi are due to gain manpower under present plans. Here's how the Defense Department announcement will hit Texas:

Amarillo Air Force Base, with 15,000 employed, will be closed. Connally Air Force Base at Waco, with 7,000 civilian and military personnel, will be closed.

Dyess Air Force Base at Abilene will lose all its Atlas "F" missile squadrons by April next year. This involves 12 missiles, 950 military personnel and 12 civilians. This leaves roughly 6,000 military and civilian jobs at the base, plus 500 to 600 who are due to arrive in January from Biggs AFB at El Paso with an air refueling squadron.

Dyess retains a wing of B52s of the SAC and a troop carrier wing.

The big increase will be at San Antonio, which will gain 4,463 civilians and 710 military and an annual payroll of $30 million. Much of this gain will come from Waco's Connally AFB.

Fort Worth also gained. A B52F squadron will be assigned to Carswell AFB by mid-1968. This will add 1,200 military and civilians. The Eagle Mountain maintenance facilities near Fort Worth will be declared "excess" and moved to Corpus Christi. Employed there now are 7 military personnel and 228 civilians.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said in Washington that the reductions would mean net loss of about 4,269 jobs, civilian and military, in Texas.

Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., from Anson said shutting down the Atlas' operation at Dyess AFB "came sooner than anticipated." Burleson said he didn't believe there was "any great argument about it."

When North overcalled West's opening club bid with one spade, South was determined to reach at least a game contract. His cue bid of two clubs is unconducive forcing on partner and permits a more relaxed investigation subsequently. When South uncovered the fit in diamonds, he used Blackwood to investigate for a slam. If North had shown only one ace, there was always time to settle for the more modest project of a game in diamonds.

West chose to open the seven of diamonds against the slam bid. It may be observed that in the absence of this lead for a spade opening which would be most unusual in light of the bidding, declarer's chores are greatly simplified, for he has sufficient time to ruff out his heart losers as well as to establish a spade discard by leading toward dummy's king.

of clubs. With the diamond opening, however, South is unable to complete all his washing without letting West in to play another trump.

South won the first diamond in his hand and led a club. West put up the ace and returned another diamond. Declarer was in a bind and he cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart with North's remaining trump. The king of clubs was cashed on which declarer disposed of a spade, and then he ruffed himself in with a club.

South drew the last trump, cashed the king of hearts and then proceeded to run his remaining diamonds. This was the position as the last trump was led:

On the deuce of diamonds, West discarded the three of spades in order to preserve his protection in clubs. Dummy was now in position to part with the nine of clubs, and East was confronted with the hopeless task of guarding two suits. If he gave up a spade, North would take the last two tricks, for the ace would drop both the king and queen. East elected to discard the ten of hearts, however; this enabled South to score his 12th trick with the trey of hearts.

Louisiana Sales Tax Vote Nears

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana House got ready today for a vote on a one-cent sales tax raise to provide $37.5 million for a full teachers pay raise.

Rep. Gordon Causey's bill is on the calendar, first of top tax measures to reach a floor test.

Both his companion bill appropriating $22,083,383 for a full teachers pay boost the second half of the school year, and the governor's rival $12,050,485 bill for only a partial pay increase won house passage yesterday. Causey's bill got a 98-1 vote before it went to the Senate. The administration measure was second best in voting, with a vote of 80-16.

Beaumont Man Dies In Wreck

WINNIE, Tex. (AP) — Maurice Wallace, 37, of Beaumont was killed today when his car and a large truck collided in this Southwest Texas town.

Police said Wallace's car hurried into the left side of the truck at high speed at the intersection of Texas 124 and a Winnie street.

Little Fellows Or Pros Cause Stock Flurry?

NEW YORK (AP) — After several weeks of inertia the stock market is beginning to move again. And its wide swings raise the question of whether the public is coming back in.

Most small investors apparently stayed on the sidelines during the brisk upturn in late summer, so that only the professionals gleaned the profits.

And even this week's liveliness on the exchanges seems to observers more the work of pros and the institutions than of the little fellows. This is because the big volume of trading has been traceable to interest in a few individual stock issues, and usually in those where some specific news seemed to be affecting them.

Labor troubles on the one hand, and reports that they will soon be over on the other, have moved the market sharply down and up.

The election went as Wall Street expected but confirmed beliefs that economic growth will be the aim of the government, and that the measures taken will bolster profits, and thus stock prices should stay strong, and many should climb.

In spite of all this, the little fellow still hasn't made his presence known as he did in the bull market of 1961. And many think that the shellacking that a lot of people, especially novices, took in 1962 as a result of the binge of the year before is still keeping the public out.

Wall Street has no foolproof guide as to just how many small investors are buying or how much they are spending. Brokers watch the odd lot figures for one indication. Since odd lots are those bought or sold in less than 100 share quantities, it is assumed that such activity is by the little fellow. But this is still just an assumption.

The odd lot figures during the late summer upturn in the market showed more selling orders than buying. This has changed now and then of late, but not enough to be convincing.

Another thing that brokers watch is the interest in stocks of new companies, or little known ones, or those touted as having growth potentials.

There has been no such speculative rush in this field as in the bull market of 1961. Both government and private economists are glad there hasn't been. Too often that means another 1962-type market crash.

Oilmen Not Gloomy Over New Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil industry men in Washington are making no flat predictions about how the industry will fare in the new Congress, with its 97 new faces.

But they are not pessimistic. "I feel that we have lost some friends but I believe we have gained some," William Powell, assistant general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said. "Our issues are non-partisan."

"I don't know what the attitude of many of the new members of Congress will be on issues involving the oil industry but I am confident that the new Congress will see the merit in our case."

GOOD CASE
Powell said the IPAA has a good, meritorious case for "proper" mineral tax provisions, stricter oil import controls and exemption of independent natural gas producers from regulation by the federal power commission.

The House will present about 90 new faces in the new Congress convening Jan. 4. The Senate will have 7 new members. Many freshmen come from oil states. Both houses will have heavier Democratic majorities.

The new Congress will bring

some changes in committees, including at least four new members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

"We don't know who may be put on the committees which consider legislation in which we are interested," Powell said.

Frank Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said there is reason to believe the new Congress will be sensitive to the needs of business.

HAVE HOPE
"We can hope there will be ever increasing understanding between business and government," said Ikard, a former congressman from Texas.

Only time will tell, of course, about what the new Congress may or may not do on matters of prime concern to the oil and gas industry.

New attempts to reduce the industry's tax depletion allowance are likely, but all indications are that any such moves will be beaten back again.

Orientation On Brain Damage

Interested residents are invited to hear Guy Parish, director of the Institute for the Achievement of Human Potential, Saturday in a talk on "Help for the Brain Damaged Child." There is no charge for the orientation, which will be held at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. The institute is a San Antonio branch of Doman and Delacatos Institute in Philadelphia, Pa.

Base Civilians Awarded Cash

Five Webb AFB civilians shared $945 in cash awards recently for adopted suggestions in the Incentive Awards Program.

Receiving the lion's share of the money was Ellis G. Polite, aircraft jet engine mechanic foreman, propulsion branch. He received $800 for a suggestion which extended the deflection limits of J-85 engine flex drive shaft assemblies. Total first year net dollar benefits are calculated to be $29,250.

Denver L. Pettit, electrical lineman, received $55 for a suggestion for the use of improved connectors on the electrical lines in Webb Village. New connectors will eliminate power loss and "hot" lines. Estimated first year savings are $636.

Donald W. Karns, general machinist received a $25 award. His suggestion was not actually adopted, but there is a direct correlation between the suggestion and the final, approved tool which is currently in use.

Maurice Bradford, aircraft instrument mechanic, received $35 for a suggestion which eliminated the need for replacing the bonding strips on the Servo Amplifier Mount Bracket at each periodic inspection. Base self-sufficiency also improved. Tangible savings was $315.

Mattie J. Jones, a construction and maintenance programmer in the planning and programming section, civil engineering division, received $30 for a suggestion to improve methods of preparing single line drawings for project justifications. First year estimated savings of $232.

DEAR ABBY

Not For Warmth

DEAR ABBY: I am asking my landlady to write this for me because I am 89 years old and my hands shake. Please, Abby, put something in your column about the heartlessness of sending Great Grandma (at her own expense to a warmer place, under the guise that it is "better" for her. Better to be deprived of all the familiar faces and places? The surroundings that held so many dear memories? I have been much colder here in Arizona than I ever was in Illinois. Not in my hands and feet, but in my heart. Thank you. MISSING ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you sent your grandson a $25 check for his 14th birthday, and his mother returned it with the following note: "Dear Mother, Haven't you heard of inflation? What will $25 buy a 14-year-old boy today? Apparently you need this worse than John does. Love, Shirley"

Abby, this girl went to finishing school and is a college graduate. She and my son are considered socialites. They have a town house, a country home, a boat at Newport and go to Switzerland to ski! How would you handle this? AMAZED

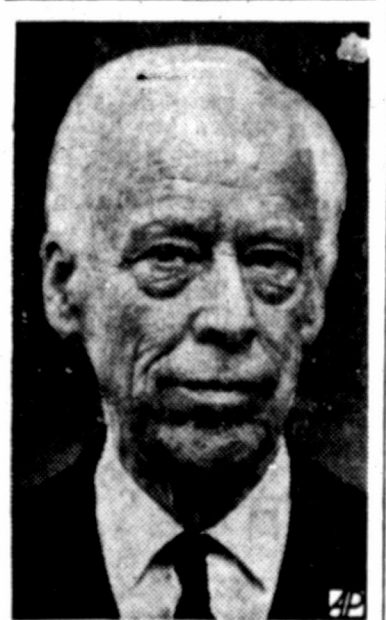

DEAR AMAZED: Even educated "socialites" fall victims to mental illness. No woman in her right mind could have written such a contemptible letter. I'd ask my son to watch her for other signs of emotional disturbance.

DEAR ABBY: My husband works in a large office. One of his co-workers (a married woman) picked him up one evening last week and they went to a "planning meeting" as he is on the committee for the annual office party. Yesterday a neighbor told me that another neighbor told her that she saw my husband sitting in a parked car two blocks from home, talking to a strange woman. She said the car lights were turned off, but she recognized my husband.

When I asked my husband about this, he said it was true, but that he and this woman were just talking. I asked why they turned off the lights and he said they thought it might "look bad." Do you think my husband is guilty of anything?

WORRIED WIFE

DEAR WORRIED: Yes. He's guilty of using poor judgment. But you have little to worry

NORMAN THOMAS

Socialist: 'Disappointed'

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Socialist Norman Thomas cocked his partly bald, partly silver-haired head, thought briefly and said, "My future is mostly in the past."

On his 80th birthday today, Thomas' eyes reflect the disappointment of dreams that didn't come true. It's not that he ran six times as the Socialist candidate for president and never came close to victory. ("I didn't expect to be elected.") But he had hoped to be the catalyst that would spark a mass Socialist movement in the United States.

Astronaut Takes Solo Flight In Jet Trainer

EL TORO, Calif. (AP)—Col. John H. Glenn Jr. climbed from the jet trainer and grinned happily. "Great," he said. "No trouble at all."

Newsman were waiting in front of the hangar as Glenn returned from his flight—a milestone in a 23-year career which included combat in two wars and three orbits of the earth in 1962.

It was just a two-hour jaunt in a jet trainer. But it was Glenn's first solo flight since last January, when he announced he was retiring from the Marine Corps to run for the Senate in Ohio.

about. If he had been guilty of anything more serious, he would not have been two blocks from home in a parked car.

DEAR ABBY: On my 18th birthday (last May) I accepted a diamond engagement ring from a boy I had been going with about three months. He is 24. We didn't set a date. Now I feel that I am not ready for marriage. I want to return the ring and date other boys and him, too, but he says if I return the ring he will go back to Texas where he came from. I still hold a deep feeling for him and don't want him to leave. He says either I have to be engaged to him or we break off completely, as he will not date me while I am dating others. I am so mixed up I don't know what to do. He keeps telling me he "loves" me and he knows I "love" him. I'm not sure I even know what "love" is. Rush your answer to me, Abby, as I told him I would give him my decision on Friday. MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: Return the ring and tell the young man that it's not fair to him to wear his ring while you still want to date others. And in the future, do not accept a ring unless you intend it to stop your circulation.

Paper Denies Suit Charge

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A Lima News spokesman has denied a federal charge that Freedom Newspapers, Inc., has engaged in activities violating antitrust laws.

A civil antitrust suit was filed Thursday in Toledo, Ohio, against Freedom Newspapers, Inc., E. Roy Smith and Raymond and Clarence Holles.

The suit filed by the Justice Department said the defendants engaged in deliberate and illegal effort to drive a competing newspaper out of business here.

OTHER PAPERS

The government suit said Freedom Newspapers, Inc., owns 78 per cent of the Lima News and either publishes or has a substantial interest in eight other newspapers including The Odessa, Tex., American; The Bucyrus, Ohio, Telegraph-Forum; The Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph; The Brownsville, Tex., Herald; The Marysville, Calif., Appeal-Democrat; The McAllen, Tex., Valley Monitor; The Harlingen, Tex., Valley Star and the Santa Ana, Calif., Register.

The Justice Department complaint asks the U.S. District Court to order the defendants to divest themselves of their interests in the Lima News, that existing agreements against competition be declared void and that the defendants be forbidden to engage in similar conduct in the future.

Clarence Holles, vice president of the California-based newspaper chain, released the following statement through Smith, Lima News publisher:

"Neither Freedom Newspapers nor any of the individuals has yet been served with a copy of the complaint in the government's action."

"For this reason, I cannot comment specifically on the charges."

VOICES DENIED

"However, I can say without reservation that none of the named defendants has engaged in any activity which directly or indirectly violated any of the antitrust laws."

"We will resist any such charges with all the strength we can muster and, of course, will have additional comment to make after we and our attorneys have had an opportunity to read the complaint."

The government charged that the defendants sold advertising and subscriptions below cost and at a loss to force the competing Lima Citizen to sell out to them.

Then, in February, he fell in his bathroom and injured the labyrinth of his left ear. He suffered dizzy spells which side-tracked both his flying and his political ambitions. He withdrew from the Senate race and wasn't pronounced fit to resume flying until a month ago. Glenn, 43, the United States' first astronaut, retires Jan. 1. He won't remain in the Reserves. Although only a few weeks remain before his retirement, he wanted to prove to himself, among others—that he was fully recovered.

Anniversary Of Assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today proclaimed Sunday, Nov. 22, the first anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, a day of national dedication to Kennedy's "ideals of human dignity."

"On that day, let the word go forth, to friend and foe alike, that the vision of John F. Kennedy still guides the nation which was the source and the object of his greatness," the presidential proclamation said.
"In churches and homes everywhere, on November twenty-second, let us rededicate ourselves to the pursuit of those ideals of human dignity in which he believed and whose course he so brilliantly illuminated."

Johnson read the proclamation at a ceremony in the Cabinet Room at the White House when he accepted a bronze bust of Kennedy.
The bust will be on display in the Cabinet Room until the Kennedy Memorial Library in Cambridge, Mass., is finished and it can be moved there.

A Devotional For The Day

"I am the vine, and you are the branches. He who dwells in me, as I dwell in him, bears much fruit; for apart from me you can do nothing." (John 15:5, NEB)

PRAYER: O Father, we pray that Christ may dwell in us this day. May we be fruitful and continually depend upon Thee for strength to live Christlike lives, bearing fruit of righteousness and peace. In our Redeemer's name. Amen.

Exit: No. 21 And No. 22

Texas & Pacific passenger trains No. 21 and 22 rolled through here Thursday and to oblivion.

Earlier in the week the Texas Railroad Commission had upheld the carrier's application to discontinue the service, which rail officials reported was operating at a substantial loss.

So, where once old timers boasted about riding the first train into town, some of our residents can now boast that they rode the last train out.

Actually, this wouldn't be accurate, for there remains two passenger schedules daily, and we hope that business will justify their continued operation. Based on the fate of trains 21 and 22, patronage will be the criteria by which this service will be justified.

Interests in this area, and particularly here, protested the suspension on various grounds, including a contention that much of the loss of operation resulted from inferior service. In this respect a strong case was made, but it was like arguing which was first—the hen or the egg.

In the end, the railroad commission ruled that if the trains are losing money, there is no alternative under a state supreme court ruling but to allow the suspension of service. If loss is not a reversible situation, then none would expect that a carrier continue indefinitely to carry such a burden. But it does seem pretty silly for the railroad commission to go through the formality of a series of public hearings if only a matter of bookkeeping is to decide the case.

In any event, we are grateful that Texas & Pacific has provided this service all these years. Perhaps we were a little spoiled.

Hoover Fires Back

Rankled by jibes at the Federal Bureau of Investigation, its director and founder, J. Edgar Hoover, let loose a scatter gun blast that visited his wrath upon several targets, none more conspicuous than Martin Luther King, the Negro civil rights leader.

To Dr. King's advice to Albany, Ga. Negroes not to report alleged civil rights violations to the FBI because the staff members were all Southerners, Mr. Hoover declared that Dr. King was the "most notorious liar in the country."

This, of course, drew a rebuttal from Dr. King, who claimed Mr. Hoover was irresponsible in calling him a liar. He went on to point to the feeling of frustration and futility on the part of Negroes in seeking protection or redress in the deep South.

Such is the background out of which King apparently made his first statement, and which seemingly was based more on feeling than on fact, for he refused to see the proof from Mr. Hoover that this was not so.

Mr. Hoover, also smarting under sections of the Warren report which were critical of the FBI, had some things to say to this point, contending the FBI could not bottle up every person with a record in order to protect the President.

Unfortunately, the tempest with Dr. King and the darts at the Warren commission will obscure many other things which Mr. Hoover said and which deserve attention—some things about crime, both adult and juvenile, about civil rights, corruption and other matters troubling this country.

Italians Face An Election

ROME—The Communist-dominated railway workers union has come up with a new kind of strike. The stop-and-start, or hiccup, strike has thrown the state-owned rail system into chaos with three out of four trains brought to a stop.

The hiccup strike works this way. Three times a day every day for a week the workers are pulled off the rails for a 90-minute period. While the previous general strike failed, with the workers outside the Communist-led general confederation refusing to come out, the stop-and-start system completely disrupted schedules. One train was stalled ahead of another so that time tables were meaningless.

THIS COMES just before the all-important nationwide municipal elections with the question of Communist versus Christian Democrat gains uppermost.

The Italians as they prepare to go through still another election, on November 22, feel a sense of neglect. They are loyal NATO partners ready to join in something like the proposed mixed-nuclear force if that is a way out of the tangled question of who shall control the nuclear arsenal. Yet as President de Gaulle sulks in his tent, defying his Atlantic partners, France gets the attention. Special emissaries go running to Paris to petition De Gaulle to moderate his defiance.

WITH THE election still another test of the resolution of the voters of the non-Communist left and center, the coalition government also faces a test of nerve. Last March the lira had a sinking spell. International speculators had put it under pressure as the specter of inflation threatened Italy's stable full-employment economy and the balance of payments turned sharply unfavorable. The International Monetary Fund came to the rescue as it has just done in Britain where imports this year will exceed exports by $2 billion.

The government in Rome had of necessity to tighten credit controls and damp down the smoldering inflation. This meant using the kind of fiscal and monetary checks that Western Europe has kept in reserve in the top-policy drawer to prevent recessions and maintain full employment with production rising at five to six per cent a year.

BUT THEN the question was whether the screws had been turned down too abruptly and too tightly. Unemployment began to rise. This was true especially in building as money became tighter.

Official statistics showed unemployment at 2½ per cent and this did not take in shortened hours. Some observers feel the real figure was close to four per cent.

BUT THEN the other day the government used the controls to move in the opposite direction. By means of long-term bonds a larger share of the nation's savings was routed into government and semi-governmental corporations. This will be a stimulus in many different directions. It is the kind of turn-around that the governments of Western Europe believe in using, within what is essentially a free enterprise system, to keep the economy on an even keel.

How well this will work is naturally speculation. But Italy will end the year with a favorable balance of payments and unemployment is still far under the 5½ per cent which is the United States figure for a long period.

THE LEFT-CENTER government of Premier Aldo Moro is not inspired nor is Moro inspiring. At 48, he is earnest, intensely hard-working, burdened with all the complex demands of government in a time of troubles and without any of the flair or color that Italians traditionally like in their politicians. If he survives, as most observers expect him to do, it will be by dint of performance under extraordinary stress and strain.

Billy Graham

I have been a church member for many years, but I never had the peace you talk about in your sermons. Should I join another church?

There is no church that can give you peace, otherwise more than 60 per cent of the people of the United States would have peace, because more than that many of them are affiliated with churches. It should be obvious then that church and religious affiliation can never guarantee peace. It may, however, act as a sedative and provide a temporary satisfaction. This would only deceive you. Peace with God comes through a personal relationship with Him. It is the kind of peace that was made possible by the sacrifice of Christ.

The Bible says: "For He is our peace, who made both one, and broke down the middle wall of partition; having abolished in His flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; that He might create in Himself of the two one new man, so making peace; and might reconcile them both in one body unto God through the cross, having slain the enmity thereby. And He came and preached peace to you that were far off, and peace to them that were near." (Ephesians 2:14-17). This is the kind of peace that you need, and you can only find it through that personal act of faith in Christ.

Vice-Presidential Mansion?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again there is talk of the government providing an official residence for the vice president, just as it provides the White House for the President.

This time the vice-presidential mansion talk may become more than just talk. Some interested people are about to come up with recommendations on a specific house.

The final decision will be up to Congress. But Congress, which has turned down some interesting proposals in this century, may be more receptive this time.

President Johnson, with his plans for upgrading the vice presidency, will have an important part in deciding what's to be done.

Johnson hasn't announced for establishment of a vice presidential residence, but those backing the idea think he is with them.

FOR ONE thing, Johnson is reported to want to pass along to his incoming vice president, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, some of the official entertainment duties required at the top in Washington.

Humphrey's own home here, a comparatively modest house in Chevy Chase, Md., would not begin to meet large entertainment needs.

The vice president-elect has said, moreover, that he doesn't want to leave his home, even though it has had to be "patched and fixed up" just to do for family living.

But he might take the stand Richard M. Nixon, vice president under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, took. Eisenhower said in his 1957 budget message to Congress that the government should provide the vice president with an official home.

NIXON SAID then he didn't want Congress to give him a home, but he would give unqualified support to providing an official residence for future vice presidents.

Right now, one of Washington's finest estates, which has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential residence, is vacant and may again be available.

This is Tregaron, which was the home of the late Ambassador Joseph E. Davies. One of his heirs said Davies had hoped to have the estate used for the vice presidency, but never offered it formally because friends in the Senate said the cost of maintenance would be too high.

When Calvin Coolidge was vice president, he was offered the use of "Henderson's Castle," a fancifully decorated mansion on 18th Street. He turned it down as too costly to run.

THERE HAS been some talk of the vice president taking over Blair House, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House and now used to put up official guests of the nation.

A nuclear factor arises here: It might not be wise to locate the president and vice president so close together.

Chasing The Unobtainable

NEW YORK (AP) — "People run after the unobtainable," said Miss Blackman, smiling.

"If you don't appear to need anybody, you are more attractive. Women who don't seem to need men attract pursuit — and vice versa.

"The advantage is that if you appear to be unobtainable and are pursued — and have actually only been faking — you can then unload whatever real needs you have on the poor unsuspecting creature you let catch you."

This kernel of romantic wisdom comes from one of Britain's best-known actresses, who is blonde, blue-eyed, an expert at judo and doesn't mind at all admitting that she is 37.

She soon will be well-known in America as the result of winning the coveted role of Miss Galore — sometimes called "Kitty" by her friends — the heroine in the latest James Bond spy thriller. Miss Galore is the leader of a band of criminal lady pilots whose jobs is to spray deadly gas on the defenders of the U.S. gold hoard at Ft. Knox.

Acting the tough tomboy is nothing new for her. For a couple of years she was the darling of English housewives as Cathy Gale, star of a television series.

Dressed in a black leather suit and big leather boots, Miss Blackman week after week threw one big male thug after another head over heels with her judo tricks. This was pretty heavy stuff for British womenfolk, who generally are subservient to masculine authority. They got a vicarious thrill out of seeing men get their comeuppance from a woman.

"It was really kind of sick," said Miss Blackman, smiling, "but I must confess I got a bang out of it myself."

Honor appeared in some 30 films before running into what she refers to as her seven years of bad luck. That period resulted from stays in Spain and Canada when she lost touch with the flicker industry.

"It has been a long hard climb back," she said. "I almost had a nervous breakdown. That was the bad time."

"I went to a psychiatrist, and he helped. It takes a hell of a time to unscrew oneself after having been screwed up. But, brother, it's worth it. Having been sorted out, it's fun to have positive feelings about life again."

Her parents were Cockneys, and she was London-born too. "My dad was a civil servant," she said. "Mother worked — she put bows on bottles of scintal."

Gifted with a friendly, amiable nature, despite her judo skills, Honor speaks with a cultured accent, but easily and freely mixes English and American slang.

What does she like? "Men, avocado pears, Shakespeare's sonnets, Spanish guitar music, children, Georgian houses, English squares and New York lights."

Her dislikes? "Intolerance, rudeness, untidiness and dirt, screechy people and organ music. I also can't bear people who are closed up for the night — who have shut minds. They're plain dim."

Miss Blackman isn't dim at all. She's as bright as a daffodil.

Tuberculosis Can Affect Many Parts Of Body

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is tuberculosis of the bone? How is it contracted?

I am 25. For more than five years a number of doctors said I had rheumatoid arthritis. After surgery, I learned I had tuberculosis of the bone. Is such an error in the first diagnosis made easily? If so, why?

Naturally I am thankful I haven't rheumatoid arthritis. My doctor says that with medication I can now be cured.—MRS. E. W.

Tuberculosis is caused by the tubercle bacillus.

This germ does, indeed, attack the lung more frequently than other areas. But it CAN attack any part of the body, skin, bones, glands, joints and other structures.

Without a history of your case, I can only guess at the reasons for the original belief that it was rheumatoid arthritis, but this could happen very easily indeed. The germ, in such cases, attacks the bone and can cause bone destruction. Depending on the exact location, this could readily create the same conditions of pain, stiffness, swelling and distortion as rheumatoid arthritis.

Since the precise cause of rheumatoid arthritis has not been determined, we remain handicapped. On occasion one can test for a specific organism as with the tuberculin test. Otherwise we must depend on identifying the pattern of things which occur, or usually occur, from the disease.

I might add that medical authorities recognize "tuberculous arthritis," which is another name for your trouble.

How does the tubercle bacillus spread? For the most part, the germ is passed from person to person with the invisibly small droplets of moisture that are exhaled.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like your opinion about an operation called glomectomy for emphysema.—B. L.

Glomectomy is the removal of a specialized bit of nervous tissue in the neck called the carotid body. The procedure is very new, and while I have read technical reports of it, I have had no personal experience with it.

Varying reports of its use have been made in regard to its employment in the most severe and stubborn cases of bronchial asthma, and more recently it has been used in some similar cases of emphysema, since the two ailments may occur together.

It is not a cure for emphysema. It is not attempted in bronchial asthma which responds to more conservative treatment. Like any new treatment, it requires a good deal of observation before we know what it will and won't do.

NOTE TO MRS. J. C.: Yes, an enlarged ovary may indicate some ailment that can interfere with becoming pregnant. But the other ovary may be perfectly normal so pregnancy can start from that side. At the age of 21 I think you are worrying too much too soon.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Common Denominator—Growing Pains

The misty, foggy weather that settled around Big Spring and a portion of West Texas this week might as well have been scooped off the waters of San Francisco Bay and blown en masse to Texas — the fog and the nippy cold air is reminiscent of the Golden Gate city's weather.

SAN FRANCISCO has many items of pride — the cable cars that bounce along the hillsides from Union Square, Chinatown with its quaint shops, the tall red spires of the Golden Gate bridge, Fisherman's Wharf — but possibly the weather — that cold, chilly fog, that creeps into the city and makes overcoats a necessity, is one of the best-known of San Francisco's many talking points.

It's an interesting, fascinating city to visit, and undoubtedly its citizens are as full of pride for their town as any city dweller anywhere. The city that was built on the hills ringing San Francisco Bay has developed into quite a metropolis, with many of the advantages and as well many of the problems which are found in other large urban centers.

GROWTH SEEMS to be a key to the problems cities face, whether Los Angeles, New York, Houston or San Francisco is being discussed. A headline in the Houston Post recently read, "Los Angeles Is Preview of Houston in the 1970's — And it's Frightening." The article calls attention to the tremendous growth that has been evident in Los Angeles, though pointing to a more steady growth for Houston.

YET MANY cities are being faced with problems caused by growth. San Francisco is now delving into the difficulty of providing a rapid transit system for the bay area, while just recently a builder announced plans for a private community of some 20,000 persons to be constructed in the hills between Sausalito and Fort Cronkhite, north of the bay. The development will cost $285 million and cover 2,100 acres, including apartment houses rising in tiers across hillsides overlooking the bay. And at the same time, a 28-member body is being organized in San Francisco to prepare a master plan to preserve the bay itself and make certain its future use will be in the long-term public interest.

THE CITY that has become known and loved the world over for its fascinating sights, from cable cars to street-corner flower stands around Union Square and its range of excellent restaurants, is ample evidence of how the same growth that brings ringing cash registers in businesses and the popular high-rise apartments in sprawling development projects also brings perplexing problems which must be faced, sometimes at high costs.

And urban planning is undoubtedly critical not only for cities such as San Francisco and Los Angeles, but as well for smaller cities. They too must look to the future with some careful planning if that future is to offer citizens an attractive, orderly place to live, neither overcrowded nor underdeveloped.

Let's Get Back To The Meatman

WASHINGTON — Wal, he said with a rustic cackle that was fair redolent of the barnyard, when we farmers take over the nation's grocery stores, things are a'going to be plumb different.

It'll happen any day now. The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation is fixing to buy a grocery chain, and before you can say eliminate the middle man I expect the Rockahominy County Farmers' Co-op, Haw Travis, president, to do likewise.

FARMERS IN Rockahominy County are no different from the farmer-members of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation — they're all paranoid. My Uncle Porter, res his bones, was very big in cotton, boll weevils and soybeans, and the day didn't pass that he didn't say at least once that every man's hand was turned against the farmer.

Anyway, the reason all us farmers feel persecuted is the fact that the middleman has got us by the scruff and keeps shaking until the last farthing has fallen from our toll-worn hands. The obvious solution, which has occurred to the Ohio group after having been conducting a small revolution, is to buy a processing and distributing organization and do away with the middleman — preferably by fire and sword.

AMERICANS spend $70 billion a year for food, but the farmer's incessant lament is that he gets far too small a share of this princely sum. Cattle producers have lately been conducting a small revolution in the Midwest, contending they are losing $25 to $75 a head on marketed cattle. Since 1947 farm prices have declined 12 per cent, while the cost of food to the consumer has risen 29 per cent; in the same period meat prices dropped 22 per cent at the farm, but rose 9 per cent at retail.

FOOD PROCESSORS and distributors cite statistics of their own to refute the notion that they are living high on the hog at the expense of the Republic's downtrodden agronomists. A decade and a half ago employs in food processing, wholesaling and retailing earned an average of $1.03 an hour. Last year their average was $2.17. Moreover, food processing itself has undergone revolutionary changes. Precooked frozen meals are a boon to shiftless housewives, but the cost of preparation shows up in her food budget, even though it is actually a domestic service she is buying.

STATISTICS are notoriously slippery and, in the hands of skillful manipulators, can prove anything. But as a long-time observer of the green grocer trade (I toted bundles in my monage and subsequently graduated to selling eggs door-to-door, at a commission of one cent per dozen), it is my feeling that nothing good has happened to the food business since butchers quit wearing straw hats. In point of fact, they weren't even called butchers, at least not in the trade, in those days. If a man sold meat he was called a meatman, not a butcher.

POT MEATMEN back in straw boots, let kids earn a few bob by hauling bundles in iron-wheeled express wagons, abolish the Department of Agriculture, and the food business will be back on an even keel. But let farmers start buying into chain stores and the first thing you know there will be a department of food markets in Washington, and then there will be hell and subsidies to pay.

The 'Law Of The Land' And Politics

WASHINGTON — Such phrases as the "law of the land" and "obedience to law and order" sometimes have a hollow sound nowadays. For the Department of Justice enforces whatever laws it pleases. This has been true in preceding administrations, and it doubtless will continue to be true as long as the department itself is headed by a member of the President's cabinet instead of being established as an independent agency with its functions specifically defined by law.

NOW THAT the political campaign is over, the country will witness again a flagrant acquiescence in, if not complete indifference to, violations of the law of the land as it relates to political contributions. Congress several years ago passed what is known as the "federal corrupt practices act." But many of its provisions are ignored both by the public and by whatever administration happens to be in power.

The federal corrupt practices act defines a political "contribution" as including an individual gift, subscription, loan, or "anything of value."

THE LAW, moreover, forbids contributions by any corporation or labor organization. But it is a fact that in the recent presidential campaign, as well as in previous campaigns, there were special committees set up by labor groups particularly to handle campaign contributions and other political activities. Just because these organizations claim that they operate separately from the regular labor-union organizations, a widespread assumption exists that they are not subject to the federal corrupt practices act. But many of these same political-action organizations of labor, as well as of business men, are directed by persons who receive their salaries regularly from a labor union or corporation.

CERTAINLY, when a corporate esclusive or a labor-union official gives a considerable part of his time to a political campaign and continues to receive his regular salary from the corporation or the labor union, something "of value" has been contributed to a political campaign by that corporation or labor union, as the case may be.

The statute not only provides a fine and imprisonment for the making of prohibited contributions by corporations or labor organizations, but it also says it is unlawful "for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this section." So far as this correspondent knows, no candidate "or other person" has ever been prosecuted for "accepting" such contributions.

PERHAPS the most striking provisions of the law are those which forbid the promise of employment or other benefits derived from governmental sources in return for political support. The statute forbids the promise of any benefit "provided for or made possible in whole or in part by any act of Congress, or for any person as consideration, favor, or reward for any political activity or for the support of or opposition to any candidate or any political party in any election."

Political campaigning nowadays, more than ever before, is related to the expenditure of governmental funds in particular states, areas or districts. The idea that the voter will get some material benefit if he votes a particular way and for a particular candidate is widely exploited during campaigns.

IF THESE provisions of law have been found unwise, then they ought to be repealed. But failure to enforce the statute gives rise to the impression that politicians inside the government have at times a selfish interest in avoiding enforcement of the "law of the land."

Swartz And Elmo Wasson Present High Style In 'Winter Wonderland'

The winter social season was opened elegantly last evening as "A Winter Wonderland" of fashion was presented in the ballroom of Big Spring Country Club by Swartz and Elmo Wasson.

In an era where "casual" and "easy" have become fashion bywords, an audience of several hundred showed its appreciation for more formal attire with enthusiastic bursts of applause for the 30 models who showed the newest apparel for the active days—and social ways of winter living.

The tone of the evening was set by the vocal stylings of Mrs. Don Newsom who was accompanied by Mrs. Champ Rainwater at the organ as she sang "The Way You Look Tonight" and "Lovely To Look At."

With a background of melodies by Mrs. Rainwater, Mrs. Juanita Caddell, commentator, began the showing of daytime clothes by introducing Mrs. Vernon C. Peterson in a dramatic costume suit—a chartreuse dress worn under a lime leather trench coat edged in chartreuse mohair. Her escort was R. H. Weaver, modeling a new brown-toned sports coat.

Mrs. Thomas Normile looked dashing in a black and brown-toned tweed coat over a sand cashmere sweater and skirt, worn with a big brown leather hat. Her companion was Wade Choate, resident in a shark-skin suit of gold iridescent plaid.

SLIM STYLING

What followed was a parade of understated elegance in both men and women's fashions. The slender, arrow-straight line was predominate in dresses, suits and costumes for women which featured the added flattery of fabrics loomed of fine wools and shining silks. Men's apparel was distinguished by lighter, cooler and more manageable fabrics and, occasionally, a surprising spark of dashing color.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. modeled a sports costume of blue stretch pants and colorful overblouse, accompanied by Monty Clendenin in a natty red wool blazer. Mrs. James Duncan's three piece blue knit suit had a turtle neck overblouse and jacket with a slim white edging. She was joined by Col. Jay L. Lauer who's grey slacks was topped with a bright red and grey Italian knit sweater. Mrs. Ike Robb set off a brief-sleeved white wool dress with a brimmed hat of black patent, straw and leather as her escort. Jerry Spence showed a suit of iridescent olive and gold. Mrs. Aurelia Edwards was striking in a three-piece red knit suit, leather-trimmed and worn with a black satin sailor hat. She was accompanied by Robert W. Whipple, distinguished in a trim suit of Caribbean blue.

LEATHER LOOK

showed a leather-edged, shawl-collared coat of beige silk tweed over a beige suit as she was escorted by R. J. Ream in a blue and gold sharkskin suit. Mrs. Charles H. Penn wore a royal blue, leather-trimmed suit with a white fedora hat as she took the arm of Dr. Fred Lutting who wore a luxurious cashmere sports coat of blue and olive plaid. Mrs. Lester Morton modeled a beige suit with the new longer jacket and an eye-catching metallic turban. Her escort was Dr. Carl Marcum in a brown-toned cashmere sports coat, beige shirt and ascot.

Mrs. E. L. Powell's white two-piece suit with long, black-belted jacket blended well with Walton Morrison's blue and gold iridescent suit. Mrs. Duncan showed a shorter jacket with her beige silk bowler as she walked with Bob Galbraith, wearing a blue and rust brown plaid sports coat.

There was applause for Mrs. Robert Johnson's textured wool tunic dress in camel and white. She was accompanied by Larry Seals, showing a blue continental blazer with silver buttons and striped tie. Mrs. Stripling appeared again in a red knit sheath trimmed in braided leather, and Grant Boardman joined her in a gold and olive knee-length all-weather coat over matching shirt and slacks. Mrs. Peterson followed in a three-piece wool suit of giant plaid with fishtail jacket which she wore with a matching wide-brimmed hat. R. H. Weaver accompanied her as he showed a three-toned brown suede and wool sweater.

Mrs. Morris Patterson gained approval in her ice blue knit dress with overblouse patterned in royal blue suede as she was escorted by Lester Morton in a blue and olive sharkskin suit. Mrs. Kimball Guthrie was a show-stopper in her dramatic gold-trimmed black knit dress with wide-brimmed black and gold fabric and straw hat. Escorting her was Don Newsom, handsome in a wool tweed waist-length jacket. Mrs. Newsom wore an attractive white silk shift with smart button trim and ring collar as she paraded with Col. A. F. Taute in a

JAZZ BREAK

The brief intermission brought a modern jazz routine by Mrs. James H. Simonton who danced in a pink satin tuxedo costume with black fringe, derby hat and cane.

The last half of the show was interrupted intermittently with bursts of applause for the elegant evening wear for here and everywhere. The feminine models were beautiful in breath-taking ball gowns, predominantly slim-skirted, that were fashioned mainly as molded sheaths that moved easily and gracefully with side or back slits giving the skirts a provocative flair. The men's evening fashions proved that nothing gives a man more dash than a dinner suit if it's after-dark distinction he's seeking.

Audience approval was expressed repeatedly for gowns such as the long white knits worn by Mrs. Stripling and Mrs. Newsom. Both were accented with marginal paving of gold beading at the necklines. Mrs. Robb's ice blue satin gown had a gleaming jewel bodice and a trumpet flare to the skirt, and Mrs. McAllister was the picture of femininity in a turquoise print satin embellished with beading and a train that fell from a bow at the back waistline.

BAUBLES AND BEADS

Mrs. Frank Powell was swathed in white satin touched with rhinestones and crystals. Mrs. Edwards was prettily pink in a dinner suit shimmering with beading. Mrs. Penn's short black ball gown was showered with jet. . . and Mrs. Morton was ready for the theater in a silk suit with bodice beaded and silvered.

Mrs. Thomas Normile was beautifully gowned in bronze satin, lavishly embroidered with beading and styled with scal-

The Philathea Class met in Fellowship Hall at the First Methodist Church Thursday evening for the annual Thanksgiving dinner. The invocation was given by Dr. Clyde H. Smith.

Ted James, minister of music, led the hymn service, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jackie Bishop.

She noted Thanksgiving day as a time to give thanks for freedom, health and prosperity, and a rededication for sacrificial giving.

The U-shaped dinner table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and silvered cornucopia filled with autumn fruits and nuts. Autumn leaves interspersed with small bunches of red peppers completed the display. On other tables were arrangements of chrysanthemums accented with red and orange pyracantha.

Military Might Grows In Africa

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Africa's fledgling armies are flexing their muscles, rapidly becoming a major force in the continent's nations.

African governments are becoming more aware of dependence on the military and the threat created by their growing power.

Today independent Africa with a per capita income of $122 yearly supports some 400,000 armed men grouped in 35 armies. South Africa, with its white government and army, is not included in the statistics. Total estimated military budget of the independent African nations, without South Africa, is close to $800 million.

There are an estimated 1,300 war planes in Africa, many manned by foreign pilots in the service of African governments.

PRESTIGE QUEST
The quest for prestige and fear of conflicts with neighbors are the main motives behind the creation of armies by the struggling African nations. But with the armies usually comes the threat of military coup.

Over the past four years, a dozen military putches shook the continent. Some were successful and some were quashed with the help of the former colonizers.

The most dramatic is the case of Togo, whose president, Sylvanus Olympio, was assassinated in 1963 by disgruntled soldiers demanding an increase of the tiny nation's token armed force.

In East Africa, British commandos and airborne troops quelled revolts by the fledgling armies of Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika. The governments were kept in power but the problem remained.

In the West African country of Gabon, a French paratroop task force reinstated in power President Leon Mba after a brief military revolt.

MILITARY JUNTA
In Dahomey, a military junta took over but subsequently turned the power over to civilians.

There were attempted assassinations and revolts by the military in Tunisia, Niger and Liberia.

Detroit Papers, Union Give OK To Settlement

DETROIT (AP) — Union and management in Detroit's 129-day-old newspaper strike agreed on settlement terms today with an assist from Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president.

Representatives of the struck Detroit News and Detroit Free Press and Freeman Frazee, president of striking Pressmen's Union Local 13 announced the agreement about 1 a.m. after meeting in secret for four hours at UAW headquarters.

Frazee said he will recommend ratification at a union membership meeting Saturday morning.

"We're immensely happy," Reuther said.

LONE ISSUE

Reuther said he and UAW assistants worked out the compromise on the lone issue that had been holding back an end to the strike. The walkout has cut Detroit off from its regular daily papers since July 13 when the pressmen and the affiliated Plate and Paperhandlers Local 10 walked out over new contract terms.

The lone obstacle to agreement on a new pressmen's contract was how many men should man new eight-unit presses at the News, an afternoon paper. This had been a major issue from the start of the strike and was the only issue during the last two weeks. The plate handlers ratified a contract agreement a week and a half ago.

The union insisted on a basic crew of 16 men to man the new presses while management held out for a crew of 15 men. Base wages were never a strike issue.

There was no official announcement on the compromise. But reliable sources said it was this: The pressmen will man the eight-unit presses with 16 men for a 12-month period, during which both sides would study the question. After nine months, the union will have the option of accepting the 15 men or submitting the issue to binding arbitration. Arbitration would be completed within the remaining three months.

WORKED OUT
Neither the publishers nor their representative in joint contract bargaining, the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, would say when the papers would begin printing again if the pressmen ratify the agreement.

More Troops To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sent another 1,200 military men into South Viet Nam this month, officials disclosed today. More American air transport units also have been thrown into the struggle.

The disclosures came less than 24 hours after it was announced that Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor will fly back to Washington to open a sweeping review of the South Vietnamese situation with President Johnson and his top military and diplomatic advisers on Nov. 27.

The additional manpower brings U.S. military strength in the troubled area to about 21,200 — up 5,000 since midsummer, sources said.

Some of the reinforcements have been assigned to the U.S. Special Forces, an elite unit specially trained for guerrilla warfare.

Other U.S. forces have been assigned to beef up the teams of American advisers who are working in the field with South Vietnamese troops.

The additional airpower includes a squadron of U.S. Air Force C123 transport planes and a group of Army CU2 cargo carriers.

Laotian War Revival Seen

TOKYO (AP) — With the dry season setting in and its roads firming up again, Laos' internal strife appears headed for more fighting.

Pathet Lao chieftain Prince Souphanouvong in a statement broadcast this week claimed "fierce fighting" already is raging and "a large-scale war is being expanded throughout Laos."

As usual, taking the role of the aggrieved party, the Communist leader charged that the Laotian army, with American support, had been attacking Pathet Lao-held areas.

And he said his half-brother, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, "who has capitulated to and connived with the above acts of the United States and its lackeys must bear no small part of the responsibility."

"The situation in Laos, which has already been rendered serious by U.S. imperialism and its henchmen, has now become more dangerous," he said. The Pathet Lao seemed to have been placed on the defensive since the Laotian army launched air bombings of Red positions last summer. This action saved the harassed neutralist army from destruction and at least temporarily turned the tide of the war.

The Pathet Lao radio frequently has broadcast protests against these air strikes and advances by the resurgent Laotian army.

Souphanouvong charged that 20 battalions of infantry, artillery and armored units totaling 10,000 men of the Laotian army and a large number of aircraft were "conducting a large-scale attack" into Pathet Lao-occupied areas.

Secrecy Veils Conference At Space Center

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Manned Spacecraft Center officials have refused to comment on a closed meeting at the center between center officials and representatives of aerospace industries.

Newsman were not permitted to attend the 40-minute meeting at the manned spacecraft center Thursday.

The Houston Post said one report was that the representatives of the firms were told the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's policy on entertaining and gifts to government employees.

The policy is based on a recent Department of Defense directive that none of its people, civilian or military, will take anything as a gift from persons representing organizations which do business with NASA.

U. S. Seeking To Avoid Showdown With Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Though time is running out, U.S. officials expressed hope today that some formula may yet be found to avoid a showdown with the Soviet Union in the U.N. General Assembly over Soviet refusal to help pay for certain U.N. peacekeeping operations.

A provision of the U.N. Charter provides that any member in arrears for two years shall have no vote and the United States is insisting that the charter be strictly enforced. Officials here said, nevertheless, that the United States would welcome any kind of a solution to the problem which would avoid a showdown.

President Johnson discussed the situation in detail Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, who handles U.N. policies in the State Department.

Rusk is scheduled to go to New York for the opening of the U.N. General Assembly, for consultation with foreign ministers who annually gather to attend the big U.N. meeting, and to direct U.S. strategy in the fight over nonpayment of peacekeeping assessments.

U.S. officials say they do not know whether Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will attend the session.

The struggle over the Soviet payments position has been developing for months. The United Nations has set up a committee to try to find a solution before the problem becomes acute and a potential source of new East-West tensions.

In essence the Soviet government has refused to pay for peacekeeping missions in the Congo and the Middle East on the ground the assessments were levied by the General Assembly rather than the Security Council. Moscow maintains that only the council, in which the major powers have a veto, can legally impose such assessments.

The U.S. argument is that the assembly had full authority to assess the charges and that the Soviet refusal to pay has raised a fundamental constitutional question which involves the future effectiveness of the U.N. Assembly.

Data Theft Jails Two

DALLAS (AP) — Sheriff Bill Decker has jailed two men as the Dallas County Grand Jury investigated the theft of secret computer processing data with a possible value of more than $1 million.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said the data disappeared from a Texas Instruments computer center here.

Grand jurors returned a theft indictment Thursday which accused Robert F. Hancock, a 31-year-old former technical writer for Texas Instruments, of stealing "geophysical charts" from the firm.

Another indictment accused William Bennett Smith III, 27, of concealing the stolen charts.

A Texas Instruments spokesman said that the stolen property consisted of "data processing procedures" — not charts showing possible locations of oil deposits.

Wade said Smith approached Texaco officials in Houston and offered to sell them the data for more than $1 million. Texaco officials became suspicious and, upon learning that the data was of a type used by Texas Instruments, called the firm here.

Prosecutors said they expect grand jurors to return new indictments giving detailed descriptions of the property taken from the computer center. Meanwhile, Smith arranged to go free on $10,000 bond.

Have We Priced Our Contact Lenses Too Low?

You might think so, if you consider the exclusive advantages our contact lenses have, and then compare our price of $65 for single vision lenses with the much greater amount others charge. We agree, it's difficult to conceive of contact lenses priced so low, especially when they are unsurpassed in quality. Here's how this is possible: It is Texas State Optical's policy to provide the very finest eye care and eyewear at the lowest cost possible. Therefore, every factor which reduces our cost also reduces yours. Because no outside sources produce our contact lenses, as they do for most other practitioners, you benefit from both quality control and lowered cost. We not only examine eyes, prescribe and fit lenses, but also, in our own laboratory, we process them according to individual patient prescription. So that we can provide each TSO patient with the very finest service and eyewear at low cost, we expect a reasonable, not exorbitant profit in each case. As a pioneer in the field of contact lenses, TSO has fitted over 40 thousand pairs . . . experience which assures the most precise fitting. Our laboratory has advanced the design and finishing techniques to such degree, we believe our contact lenses to be among the most comfortable-fitting available today. These outstanding improvements provide for minimum adaptation time and maximum possible wearing comfort. Our contact lens price of $65, complete with initial and progress examinations, is low. If it is too low, that's to your advantage, just as we want it to be. From a logical viewpoint, there is no good reason for paying more when you can't get better made, more precisely fitted contact lenses elsewhere at any price.

Bifocal Contact Lenses are also available at reasonable cost

Complaints Top Praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Unthinkable," "unjustified," "absolutely devastating," "courageous." And so it went, more protests than praise. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had swung the ax.

He issued the order Thursday to close, phase out or consolidate 95 military installations from shipyards to radar stations.

Worried about the possible loss of millions of dollars in business in some areas, Congress members joined town fathers in firing off demands for reviews, investigations and reconsiderations of the closings.

Some went digging for new evidence. Among them was New York's brand-new Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who got the word personally from McNamara that the historic New York Navy Yard at Brooklyn, with its 9,600 workers, would be shut down within 18 months.

ASKS REVIEW Kennedy called for a commission to review the shutdowns, saying: "The repercussions are so drastic we are entitled to know the reasons behind the decision, and the decision can not be accepted on the basis of the limited evidence now available."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., similarly called for establishment of a commission to study the local economic impact.

Some saw the dark hand of politics mixing in the situation. Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., spoke of "cynical, political timing" and declared: "The sublime indifference with which the Department of Defense has presented Thanksgiving greetings to the thousands of workers employed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and other military installations ... contrasts sharply and sourly with intense interest shown in postponing the announcement until after the elections."

Trying to stamp out any charges that some of the closings could have been inspired by political revenge was Democratic Sen. Russell B. Long, who represents Louisiana, one of the five Southern states Barry Goldwater carried in the presidential election.

ONE AFFECTED Only one installation in his state had been affected, said Long, and he found this to be proof that under President Johnson and McNamara "defense installations would be closed out on military and not political considerations."

But many of the towns which have enjoyed government payrolls for years were worrying about the economic impact. Topeka, Kan., for example, is losing one missile complex, affecting only 22 civilian employees. But the Chamber of Commerce's executive vice president, Wayne Dawson, estimated that "it will mean about a $3.8-million loss to the city's economy. It will be felt by the entire community."

Oldest Air Force Base funnels a $70-million annual payroll into the Harrisburg, Penn. area from 11,000 persons, most of them in the air materiel area, which is to be phased out.

SCRANTON PROTEST Republican Gov. William W. Scranton called the move "absolutely devastating to the economy of central Pennsylvania."

He argued it would add thousands to the ranks of the unemployed.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., claimed Pentagon officials had told him in October no decision would be made for 90 to 120 days on the Terre Haute defense facility, which was on the list.

He requested reconsideration. Many towns, however, saw little to worry about. Mayor Maurice Berlinsky of Joliet, Ill., believes local industry will be able to absorb the 763 persons affected by the closing of the nearby Elwood unit of the Joliet Arsenal.

Among the protests was applause. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., wired McNamara his congratulations: "This has been greatly needed for years. You are the first man to have the courage to do it."

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., also lauded McNamara's courage, expressed his pleasure that "we are doing more than talking about economy in government" and noted: "Naturally, I am pleased that none of Connecticut's military bases was affected."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., similarly called for establishment of a commission to study the local economic impact.

HCJC ORATORICAL WINNERS

Gary Kendricks Wins First Place In Oratory Contest

Gary Kendricks, a social science major at Howard County Junior College, won the first annual Kiwanis Club Oratorical Contest Thursday noon. The Hereford youth's oration on the American Free Enterprise System won the vote of the three judges and brought him a check for $100.

Kendricks competed against two fellow HCJC students — Mrs. Ralene Snow, who won second place and $50, and Don Boyd, third and $25.

Mrs. Snow, whose home is in Oakland, Calif., is studying interior decorating at the college. Boyd is a Big Spring freshman majoring in education.

Judges were Gil Jones, district attorney; Bob Travis, Kiwanis Club president-elect; and Mrs. Cornelia Gary, teacher.

The three finalists were selected last Saturday in elimination contests at the college. This is the first year the Kiwanis Club has sponsored the oratorical contest.

Dr. Martin Landers, head of the HCJC speech department, told the club Thursday noon "This is the finest thing that any organization has ever done for the college." He was assured the club would continue the competition next year.

The orations on the American Free Enterprise System had to be original, delivered without manuscript or notes and not longer than 10 minutes. The three competitors thanked the club for the opportunity to speak. Jim Thompson, chairman of the club youth committee, was program chairman for the day.

Announcement was made by Ward Jackson, club president, that the recent Kiwanis Radio Auction would produce about $650 for the fund the club has for youth work.

Kiwanis will meet Tuesday of next week with the Big Spring Rotary Club. The meeting is scheduled because the regular luncheon of the Kiwanians would fall on Thursday which is Thanksgiving Day.

McAllen (AP) — Seven hundred citizens of Mexico are enjoying the hospitality of this Texas border city.

The Mexicans, from 27 cities in seven states, arrived Thursday for a three-day stay as guests of McAllen.

The "Caravana de la Amistad" or friendship caravan idea started three years ago when a group of McAllen residents visited several Mexican towns and invited their hosts to return the visit.

DALLAS (AP) — Doctor's Hospital said today that Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of President Kennedy's assassin, "had a good night and is resting comfortably."

The slim, Russian-born blonde was admitted to the hospital Wednesday complaining of stomach pains.

Her physician said Mrs. Oswald was "not seriously ill" but probably would remain in the hospital several days.

The Texas Heart Association has announced appointment of two Big Spring residents, Charles Dunn and Mrs. Jean Hubbard, as chairmen of the Howard County Heart Association.

Dunn and Mrs. Hubbard have worked several years in the heart association program here. He is an employee of the First National Bank, and Mrs. Hubbard is a resident of 610 Holbert.

Persons who wish to make donations to the heart fund as a memorial may contact either Dunn or Mrs. Hubbard. The Texas Heart Association acknowledges the memorials with a written letter to a person indicated by the donor.

Heart disease exceeds twice the next six causes of death, according to the association, with 117 deaths in Howard County during the past year. Funds provided through the heart fund are used, in such areas as development of the heart-lung machine, research in surgery for correcting defects inside the heart and in prevention of rheumatic heart disease.

While a decrease has been noted in the cardiovascular death rate for men aged 45 to 64, an increase has been reported in the rate for men 35 to 45, according to association records.

A group of films has also been made available through the Howard County Heart Association, obtainable at the office of Jack Little, State National Bank building. The films include rheumatic heart disease, strokes, congenital heart defects, high blood pressure and other subjects.

Performances are only two weeks away, Dan Shockey, director, said this week, and the advance sales will give more people an opportunity to purchase tickets.

MILITARY SHUTDOWNS

McNamara Retort: 'It's Not Politics'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says his decision to shut down 95 obsolete and surplus military bases and plants is "absolutely, unequivocally, without qualification irrevocable."

This statement by the strong-willed defense chief in announcing the decision Thursday allowed small hope that any of the anguished cries from congressmen, governors and mayors would change his mind.

The only thing that might, McNamara told a news conference, would be some new evidence — "and the chances of that are damned small."

"We have made 574 decisions in this area in the last 3½ years, and we have not changed one yet," McNamara asserted.

HATCHET FALLS The latest stroke of McNamara's economy scalpel cut at two naval shipyards employing a total of 17,000 workers, six bomber bases, Army and Air Force training sites, arsenals, radar posts and other installations in 33 states and the District of Columbia.

In all, 80 bases in the United States and 15 overseas were put on the chopping block. The foreign bases, in Europe and the Western Hemisphere, were not named.

The actions will be completed for the most part by mid-1966, with the Portsmouth, N.H., Navy Yard getting 10 years to phase out.

CUT BUDGET When the job is done, McNamara said, the defense budget will be lighter by about $477 million a year and the payroll will be reduced by 63,401 "without, in any way reducing military effectiveness."

The defense secretary disclosed that 150 more of the early-generation intercontinental ballistic missile — liquid-fuel, relatively slow-reacting Atlas E and F models and Titan I hydrogen missiles — will be retired from 14 bases by mid-1965.

Although these ICBMs have never been fired, McNamara said they "have served their purpose" — giving the United States a stronger deterrent while the force of fast-firing, solid-fuel Minuteman missiles was growing.

NEXT SUMMER There now are 650 Minutemen in place, each mounting a hydrogen warhead and each able to strike at least 6,300 miles away. By next summer, there will be 800 of them, plus 54 Titan II missiles in underground blastproof holes.

California led the states with 13 bases ticketed for closing or consolidation, including merger of the Mare Island and San Francisco shipyards under a single commander.

New York will lose seven installations, including the Brooklyn Navy Yard and the Brooklyn Army Terminal. Texas and Washington State follow with four bases each.

As he has done in past base-closing announcements, McNamara said the government would offer new job opportunities to all career employees affected, would pay for moving them to a new job and would retrain them if necessary.

It was apparent McNamara was aware of the mounting criticism and he reacted with some heat to charges that his actions were politically motivated.

"Absolute baloney," he snapped to a claim that he could have announced the base-closing decisions months before the presidential election.

"Politics played absolutely no part in any of these decisions," the Pentagon chief said.

He cited the closing of the Brooklyn Navy Yard as an example of an action demonstrating a lack of political motivation.

The day after the election, Sen.-elect Robert F. Kennedy and other New York officials visited McNamara in his Pentagon office and urged that the Brooklyn Navy Yard be kept open.

morning," McNamara said. Kennedy wasn't ready to accept McNamara's ruling as final. He called for a commission to review the situation, saying "the decision cannot be accepted on the basis of the limited evidence now available."

New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said that unless the Brooklyn yard is closed gradually, "unemployment, suffering and hardship" will come to thousands employed there. McNamara said the Brooklyn yard would be phased out over six to 18 months.

Its impending shutdown obviously is a blow to Kennedy, a former Cabinet associate of McNamara.

Trouble Seen Ahead For Western European Boom

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe has run into a wall of economic difficulties in its long march toward unity. Its prolonged boom also seems heading for trouble.

Talk is even heard of a general slump in world trade from such men as Britain's new prime minister, Harold Wilson. Wilson will seek President Johnson's support when they meet next month for a radical new system of international credit that will allow a free flow of money and goods.

PRESENT DANGER
There is immediate peril that Western Europe's two chief trading groups — the six-nation Common Market and the seven-nation European Free Trade Association — will break up because of actions by key members.

A longer-term peril lurks in the possibility that the European boom will play itself out. To safeguard themselves the nations might then adopt protectionist policies. As trade contracts markets shrink and unemployment spread, the Europeans and their trading partners would slide into a slump.

Already there have been ominous pointers.
In most industrial countries of West Europe, excepting West Germany and Sweden, imports are outstripping exports, leaving a scary trail of trade deficits.

A survey by Common Market economists recently forecast a tapering off of the average European growth rate from 5.5 percent this year to 4 percent in 1965.

If this, as the experts say they expect, coincides with a slowdown of American expansion after nearly four years of high riding, a contest for world markets may develop with ever-growing intensity.

In the Common Market, French President Charles de Gaulle recently threatened to walk out if the Germans did not come to terms with France soon on a common grain price. France, with cheap wheat, wants to sell more to her partners. West Germany's Christian Democratic government, with subsidized wheat farming and a general election next fall, does not want cheap wheat dumped on its doorstep.

DRASTIC STEP
Britain's new Labor government took the drastic step of putting a surcharge on almost all manufactured imports while offering tax cuts to exporters. The aim was to bring earnings into line with spending and so head off bankruptcy.

Exiles Believe Castro Spies Infiltrating U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A creepy feeling of Fidel Castro spies infiltrating the United States is growing in the Cuban exile colony. U.S. authorities say the situation is under control.

The head of an anti-Castro organization with an intelligence department of its own estimates more than 1 per cent of the Cuban refugees in this country are Communist agents. About 200,000 Cubans have come since Castro's 1959 takeover.

SAID 5,000
Another exile leader, whose office claims wide access to exile and Cuban underground information, estimated the number of Castro agents at 5,000, including Cubans and Americans.

An official of the State Department's Cuban affairs office here described such claims as without substantiation.

Miami district immigration director Robert Woytych said his men screen out spies by "one of the most efficient techniques yet devised."

"Our record is so tremendous that no cases have been brought to light," he said.

The Cuban who issued the estimate of 5,000 agents said, "Many have lived in the United States since before Castro, and are American citizens. They can cross back and forth into Mexico freely. The Cuban Embassy in Mexico is the hub of the spy network."

ALLEGED AGENTS

It is clear that the specter of a slump haunts Wilson as it haunts the statesmen of EFTA nations meeting today in Geneva to discuss their future.

Wilson wants to apply to international transactions a sort of checking account and loan system like that used by domestic banks.

He hopes Johnson will back his idea for international talks leading to a world economic conference at summit level.

Chief Urges Locked Cars

A warning was issued today to residents by Police Chief Jay Banks concerning items left in unlocked, parked cars and subject to theft or car prowling.

"During the holiday season, we normally have a big increase in thefts from unlocked cars and in car prowling," Banks said. Persons leaving packages, suitcases or other items in their cars, especially in the downtown area, should either lock the car or leave the items in their car trunk.

Police will be placing some packages in cars which will be watched by officers, Banks said. The practice has been followed in past years and will be carried out again during the Christmas season this year to attempt to arrest persons taking packages or other items from cars.

Although the downtown area is a particular problem during the holiday season, Banks said other parking areas are also subject to thefts from unlocked cars.

Teachers Are Honored

COAHOMA (SC) — Coahoma teachers were feted at the annual Lions Club Teacher Appreciation Night banquet held in the Coahoma elementary school cafeteria at 7 p.m. Thursday. Lion president Bill Read presided and introduced the Rev. H. B. Graves, pastor of the Coahoma Baptist Church, who was program chairman.

School Supt. W. A. Wilson introduced the principals, who in turn introduced their faculties. Principals were Bill Easterling, elementary; Rob Ethridge, junior high, and W. A. Fishback, high school.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital, was introduced as the speaker by Rev. Graves. Dr. Harrison spoke on "How My Teacher Gave Me Faith, Hope and Love." He used several scriptures to illustrate his talk.

Around 85, including wives and husbands of faculty members, were present for the banquet.

Firemen Needing Toys To Repair

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker issued a call today for residents to turn in unused or damaged toys, especially bicycles or tricycles, to city fire stations for the annual toy campaign conducted by the fire department and the Salvation Army.

Crocker said firemen will accept all types of wheeled toys, including small wagons as well as larger bikes, which can be either repaired or used to obtain parts for use on better vehicles. Dolls which have been damaged or are no longer used are also needed for the annual campaign.

"We need these toys now rather than later so we can get started working on them," Fire Marshal A. D. Meador said.

Sunday Funeral For H. G. Russell

Services for Horace G. Russell, 88, Route 2, Big Spring, have been set for 2 p.m. Sunday at Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Wayne Sheffield, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. He died Thursday morning in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Russell was born April 16, 1876 in Alabama. He moved to Hill County in 1894, and to Howard County in 1930. He farmed until his retirement in 1958.

Survivors include a son, four daughters, a brother, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. M. Nichols Succumbs Today

Mrs. Marvin Nichols, Fort Worth, died today after a long illness. Services have been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church in Fort Worth. The family suggested that those considering memorials make them to the Van Zandt Cottage Fund, care of Southwest National Bank, Fort Worth.

Mrs. Nichols is the wife of the senior partner in Freese, Nichols and Endress, engineers, and one of her sons, James Nichols, is a former resident of Big Spring. She leaves her husband and two sons, James and Bob Nichols.

Teacher Of The Year
Mrs. Mary Arnold Hefley, (right), a teacher at Park Hill School, receives a plaque as the "teacher of the year" from Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd, president of the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association Thursday.

Mrs. Hefley Wins Teacher Honor

A first grade teacher at Park Hill Elementary School, Mrs. Mary Arnold Hefley, was named Big Spring's "teacher of the year" Thursday in a special program at Big Spring High School. Mrs. Hefley received a plaque, presented by Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd, president of Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association.

The selection was by a committee composed of a high school and elementary teacher, administrator, principal and a businessman. Mrs. Hefley will become a nominee to the state contest, with the winner of that competition to be judged in national competition.

"This is a means of recognizing good teaching everywhere," Mrs. Dodd said of the award. The choice was on a basis of a symbol of good teaching, she said, rather than attempting to choose a single best teacher.

Mrs. Hefley has been a teacher at the Park Hill school 12 years. She has served as president of the local teachers association, on the district and state boards of the group, and on the state committee for teacher education and professional standards of the Texas State Teachers Association.

She received a bouquet of red roses, sent by her daughter, Camille, now a teacher at Houston and also a previous Big Spring teacher, during the program Thursday.

Mrs. Hefley received bachelors and masters degrees from Hardin-Simmons University. Included in her nomination to the state competition were an autobiographical sketch and recommendations from townspeople and associates.

The state competition will be judged through the office of J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education, in Austin. The national competition includes selection of 10 outstanding teachers for the nation, with the winner receiving an award at the White House.

This is the first year a teacher of the year has been selected by the teaching organization here, Mrs. Dodd pointed out, with plans to make the award an annual presentation.

Thursday Marks End Of Daylight Train Service

A melancholy group of trainmen Thursday night took Train No. 21 of Texas & Pacific Railway Co. on its last long run from Fort Worth to El Paso.

Train No. 21 passed through Big Spring at 5:30 p.m. When it reached El Paso, its career ended and an era of what had been the boasted opportunity for luxury travel vanished from the West Texas scene.

Train No. 21, on its final run, was brought to Big Spring from Fort Worth by C. T. Clay, engineer. Clay is a Big Spring man. His place in the cab of the big diesel was taken over by J. H. Johnson, also of Big Spring, who pushed on west with the run.

J. E. Hendrick, Big Spring, was conductor on Train 21 on its arrival here. He was replaced by C. B. Scholz, Fort Worth, who finished the trip. Trains 21 and 22, two day-light passenger trains, were abolished from the T&P service effective Thursday afternoon. The Texas Railroad Commission Tuesday approved a plea by the railroad that the two trains be pulled out of service. The T&P said it had lost huge sums of money operating the trains.

Changes Mind On Appeal Case

Joe Viera, who had appealed a conviction in corporation court to Howard County Court, suddenly changed his mind after a jury had been empaneled Thursday and the case started. He decided to withdraw his appeal and enter a guilty plea. Judge Lee Porter accepted the plea and fined Viera $5 and costs.

The jury was excused from further duty. Friday morning none of the cases expected to be ready for trial was ready and the jury panel which had reported back for duty at 9 a.m. was excused.

Fires Reported

Firemen received two calls Thursday, to a small frame at Northeast Eighth and Goliad Streets about 7 p.m. and to a car fire at Northwest Fourth and Lancaster Streets about 7:20 p.m. Both fires were out shortly after trucks arrived, firemen reported, with the exterior of the frame structure receiving minor damages and the front seat of the car burned.

OIL REPORT

Texaco May Have Dual Producer

A Martin County possible dual completion, a Mitchell County explorer, and a Howard County pool outpost have been announced.

Texaco, Inc. is testing for a possible dual completion as an Ellenburger discovery and a Devonian producer in the Block 7 pool of Martin County at the No. 2-X State of Texas.

It was tested in the Ellenburger at 13,150-270 feet and recovered 15 feet of free 42-gravity oil and 360 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut drilling mud. Two strings of casing, a 2½-inch and 3½-inch, were set on total depth of 12,270 feet. No tests were made in the Devonian. That interval now is shut in and no depth for test perforations has been announced.

Anyone interested in local, church and family history is invited to attend the series of workshops to be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. George Everton, Logan, Utah, who are publishers of "The Genealogical Helper."

Local and family historians from the 25 genealogical societies in Texas will attend the meeting, and plans are to have each of the 254 counties of the state represented.

Returns Home

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall R. Box and son of 2401 Cindy Lane returned Thursday afternoon from Seymour where they attended the funeral of Mrs. S. A. Sullivan, mother of Mrs. Box. Mrs. Sullivan died Monday in an Electra nursing home where she had been since Oct. 5 after suffering a broken hip in a fall. Services were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist Church of Seymour with burial in the Seymour Cemetery. Both Mr. and Mrs. Box teach at Howard County Junior College.

Welcome

TO

BIG SPRING WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 66-D

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 66-D. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

Texans Take Respite From Capital Duties

GEORGE REEDY

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — With the election out of the way, some Texans in Washington headed for long-delayed vacations.

President Johnson led the way, remaining at his Texas ranch — where he received the word of his landslide victory — for rest and relaxation and considerable work.

Among Texans who took off for various climes were these members of the President's staff:

Bill D. Moyers, top presidential assistant, who with his wife and two children took off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, for a week.

Arthur Perry and his wife resumed a Mediterranean cruise that was interrupted Nov. 22 when they received word of President Kennedy's assassination.

TO ACAPULCO

George Reedy, chief press secretary who with his wife hied off to Acapulco, Mexico.

Another Texan is now on a round-the-world trip won by his wife in a drawing. He is Lloyd Wright, 32-year-old former Lubbock television announcer, who had a top campaign role with the Democratic National Committee.

About a year ago when he was a $17,000-a-year official in the Peace Corps, his wife entered his name in a contest staged by a department store where she had just bought a dress. Out of 80,000 names, hers was drawn. The prize: Two round-the-world plane tickets.

"We couldn't get away just then," Wright said before starting the trip. "Then in March I moved over from the Peace Corps to the Democratic National Committee, and of course it was out of the question until after the election."

TIME EXTENSION

The airline gave the couple an extension of time and they finally got away on Friday, Nov. 13. They left their two children, Sharon, 7, and Janet, 5, with their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Williamson, in Eastland.

A native of Knox City, Wright grew up in Hale Center and was graduated in journalism from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1953. There he met Dolores Williamson, who was the 1953 university beauty queen, and they were married shortly after her graduation in June of that year. He had finished in February and already was working as an announcer and newscaster in Lubbock.

In 1954 Wright joined the Marine Corps and spent two years at San Diego editing the base newspaper. Then he went to Austin and while taking graduate work in journalism and working part time for radio station KVET, he acquired a friend who was to influence his career — Bill Moyers. The latter then was a university student and part time announcer for KTBC, the radio station largely owned and controlled by the Lyndon Johnson family.

In 1958 Wright went to Dallas to work at the Texas Baptist Convention headquarters, first as associate director, then as director of public relations for enterprises associated with the church.

BAPTIST MINISTER

At about the same time Moyers, who later was to become an ordained Baptist minister, took a position with the Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. In his public relations work for the seminary, Moyers was in frequent touch with Wright.

Shortly after John F. Kennedy became president and the Peace Corps was established, Moyers left the staff of then House immediately after Johnson became president, asked Wright to go with the Democratic National Committee.

Since last March the West Texan has been busy as coordinator of all campaign efforts involving advertising and news media. He was responsible for such campaign films as "A Thousand Days," an accounting of Kennedy's days in the White House; "Road to Leadership," a biography of President Johnson, and "Quest for Peace."

What Wright is going to do after returning from the global trip, he doesn't yet know. The job he did for the Democratic Committee is completed. But being on the winning side, he isn't worried.

Ecumenical Vote Historic

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council today approved a historic declaration on the Jews and other non-Christians after Pope Paul VI rejected an American-led move for an immediate vote on the council's controversial religious liberty declaration.

The document on non-Christians, which says the Jews must never be considered cursed or specially blamed for the crucifixion of Christ, was approved with 1,657 prelates in favor, 242 in favor but with reservations and 99 opposed.

The declaration also makes overtures to the Hindus, Buddhists and Moslems and restates the Roman Catholic Church's opposition to discrimination or harassment on account of race, color or creed.

The declaration, one of the most controversial before the council, is not expected to be promulgated as a decree until the next council session.

During the recess that begins Saturday, it will be revised to take into account some of the reservations expressed by prelates today.

TISSERANT

Vatican Meet Spurs Move

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has rejected an American-led move in the Vatican Ecumenical Council to obtain an immediate vote on the assembly's controversial religious liberty declaration, Vatican sources said today.

The sources said the Pope's decision was announced by Eugene Cardinal Tisserant in the council this morning, final working day of the 1964 session of the Roman Catholic gathering.

It was Cardinal Tisserant who announced Thursday that the council presidency, a steering committee of 12 cardinals, had decided not to hold a vote on the declaration at this session.

American bishops, joined by Canadians and some Europeans, then sent the Pope a petition signed by 1,400 prelates.

Without a vote, the declaration lies over until 1966. In the interim conservative opponents hope to scuttle the declaration.

Troops In Congo March On Rebels

KINDU, the Congo (AP) — Congolese troops and their white mercenary leaders raced northward today toward rebel Stanleyville. There were no reports of rebel resistance.

Congolese army headquarters announced the advancing column, which left Kindu Thursday, had entered the Pania district 150 miles north of Kindu. They still had 180 road miles between them and Stanleyville.

En route they must cross the 300-yard-wide Lova River at Yumbi. Normally, there is a motor launch for a ferry, but it was not known if it was in working order.

MONITOR WARNING

Radio Stanleyville broadcast a warning from rebel leader Christophe Gbenye that "any attack provoked by the Americans may end the stay of execution of Paul Carlson." Carlson, an American medical missionary, was sentenced to death as a spy but his execution was postponed until Monday.

The Congolese army's commander in chief, Gen. Joseph Mobutu, predicted in Kindu that his forces would take Stanleyville by next week.

Maj. Michael Hoare, a South African mercenary, moved out of Kindu Thursday with his 5th commando group and headed for Pania. A single unpaved road through the tropical rain forest is the only route north from Kindu to Stanleyville.

STEP FOR UNITY

Premier Moise Tshombe's central government hopes the capture of Stanleyville will break the back of the rebel resistance and help unify the chaotic Congo.

Radio Stanleyville said Gbenye telegraphed his warning to Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, chairman of the organization of African Unity's special commission trying to bring peace to the Congo. Kenyatta had appealed for the release of Carlson and more than 1,000 Europeans and Americans held hostage in rebel territory.

The rebels accused Carlson of being a spy and a major in the U.S. Army.

Railway Merger Talks Launched

CHICAGO (AP) — Merger talk has been started between the Santa Fe and St. Louis-San Francisco (Frisco) Railroads, both of which operate in Texas.

Presidents of the two lines, E. S. Marsh of the Santa Fe and L. W. Menk of the Frisco, said in a statement Thursday they were undertaking a joint study looking toward the feasibility of combining their systems.

Program Announced For Thanksgiving Day Service

The annual union Thanksgiving service for Big Spring churches will be held at the First Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving Day.

The Rev. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon.

The service is held through the cooperative efforts of members of the Big Spring Pastors' Association.

Music for the service will be in charge of Ted James, director of music for the First Methodist Church. An ensemble from the First Baptist and First Methodist churches will take part, with Jack Hendrix as organist.

The Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Pastors' Association, will preside at the service.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Al Seddon, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church. The scripture will be read by Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, and the annual Thanksgiving proclamation from President Lyndon B. Johnson will be read by the Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple Church. The Thanksgiving prayer will be offered by the Rev. Don Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, and the benediction by Chaplain Bill Warren of Webb Air Force Base chapel.

The offering, taken annually, helps support the Bible course for Big Spring High School students, sponsored by the Pastors' Association. This offering aids in supplying materials and paying teacher salaries for the course each year.

Special music will be provided for the service along with congregational singing.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held in the Christian Science Society home at 11 a.m. with visitors welcome. One feature of the service will be a period when individual Christians stand up voluntarily to express their thanks to God in their own words.

The sermon on "Thanksgiving" — as in all Christian Science services — will consist of readings from the Bible, and also from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. There will also be hymns and a period of prayer.

The text for the day will be from Psalms 22: "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee."

A related passage to be read from "Science and Health" includes these lines: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one mind, one God and Father, one life, truth, and love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

UNIQUE CLASS

Simultaneous Bible Reading

"One Bible-reading amendment is possible immediately," says the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God.

"Any person can amend his neglect of the Bible by joining the world's largest Bible class and reading a selected passage each day. This unique Bible-reading class starts Thanksgiving Day and continues through Christmas."

Worldwide Bible reading is sponsored by the American Bible Society and a committee of laymen headed by President Lyndon B. Johnson. By reading the same pre-selected portion of the Bible each day, a spiritual bond is formed between Christians around the world, Rev. Jackson said.

A lonely Marine, stationed in the South Pacific during World War II, originated the idea when he asked his family to read the same passage with him each day. The society developed the idea, selected Bible readings for each day, and printed these selections on bookmarks.

Since 1943, more than 80 million of these bookmarks have been distributed free to people desiring to participate in the program. Bookmarks for this year's Bible reading are available free at the First Church of God, 2009 Main, and at many local stores, banks, hospitals, and libraries.

The theme of this year's program is "God's Word for a New Age." It will begin with the reading of the First Psalm: Thanksgiving Day and will be climaxed with the Christmas story according to St. Luke on Christmas.

A selection of daily readings for 1965 may also be obtained free from the American Bible Society, 450 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022; or from the First Church of God in Big Spring.

Bake Sales Condemned

"Socially, the Christian might better spend his time with those who are unchurched or who hold unChristian views," declares an ardent church worker in condemning bake sales, public dinners, rummage sales and similar types of church activity.

Scoffing at the "fellowship" claimed by advocates of the church as a social hall, restaurant, or gymnasium, Mrs. Robert Trout writes in the December issue of "Together" magazine that at best, social activity is a weak evangelistic tool.

In contrast, the Rev. Webb Garrison, a prominent Methodist author, sees much value in such programs.

While conceding that Mrs. Trout offers several pointed arguments, Rev. Garrison cautions against wholesale elimination of projects. Instead, he advises, we need a "scale of values" — to keep profits in proper perspective, to seek a "creative relationship with God" to the end that fellowship may be meaningful, to take new stock from time to time as to the merit of types of church work, and to budget time for activities which "quick-en you spiritually and intellectually."

Mrs. Trout, of Ankeny, Iowa, who is active in the Methodist South Iowa conference and in several national organizations outside the religious field, thinks that local churches ride a meaningless merry-go-round of activities. She urges that all purely social and commercial programs be discarded. Then, the churches can train and motivate members to witness for Christ by involving themselves in vital community, national, and world issues.

Matter Of Words

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — "White backlash" is an advertising man's euphemism for prejudice," the Rev. Dr. Robert W. Spike, director of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Religion and Race told delegates to the annual assembly of the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ).

2-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, Nov. 20, 1964

LESSON EXHORTS READERS TO 'KEEP THE FAITH'

Paul knew, at the time of his second letter to Timothy, that the time of his "departure" was at hand. Since he had been such an ardent persecutor of the Christian cause before his conversion, he now found that he had to bear the same sort of affliction that he had meted out to others.

"Keep the Faith," is the title of the International Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 22, and the text is found in 2 Timothy 2:10-13; 4:1-8, 17-18.

The writer told Timothy, the young protege, that he must "preach the word, be instant in season and out of season, and to exhort with long suffering and doctrine."

"For the time will come," he said, "when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they will turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables."

The lesson teaches that, though some say that they can do as they please with their lives, the Christian knows that every man's life is a plan of God, and that he must seek to do God's will for his life. Paul was the fighter for truth and his faith helped him turn the time of danger into an hour of privilege.

Nuns Put Samba Beat Into Music

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's latest popular music sensation is a group of young Roman Catholic nuns who give a message of faith to a samba beat.

These swinging sisters from the Brazilian order of Missionary Sisters of Jesus Crucified are presently sweeping the nation with lively songs composed by a member of their order and sung by a 14-voice chorus from the order's convent in Rio. The chorus is backed up by a six-piece combo.

The sisters were discovered a year ago by the Rev. Joao Bedochi, well-known in the Brazilian music world for his boys' choir, the "Little Singers of Guanabara."

Father Bedochi heard the sisters singing while he was visiting their convent. Impressed, he investigated further and learned that the music was composed by Sister Irene Gomes of the Campina Convent in Sao Paulo State.

Putting across a message of Christian charity and love to the popular rhythms of the day would be perfectly in accord with the order's goal to work "with one foot in the world and the other in the convent."

Father Bedochi won special permission from Church authorities for the nuns to sing "profane" music in public. Since then they have become one of the most popular guest groups on local television.

Sends More To Seminaries

WACO—Baylor University recently was recognized by the American Association of Theological Schools for contributing more graduates to theological seminaries than any other university in the nation.

The recognition came to the largest Baptist school in the world through a letter to Dr. James E. Wood Jr., professor of comparative religion and world Christianity in the Baylor religion department.

According to a survey conducted by the association during a fact-finding year, not a peak year, Baylor had more than 500 graduates enrolled in seminaries and divinity schools.

About 2,000 students are enrolled in religion classes at Baylor each semester. Currently of that number, 645 are preparing for definite church-related vocations, including the ministry, home and foreign missions, ministers of music and education, church recreation, religious drama and religious journalism.

Show Urges Youngsters To Join Catholic Orders

By JERRY EDGERTON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The man in flowing white robes showed the hippopotamus tooth and the carved African masks to the crowd of children.

He explained the work of the White Fathers of Africa and the satisfactions of the religious life.

His booth, with a background of photographs and statistics boasting of six million Roman Catholic converts in Africa, was one of the most popular at a recent exhibition explaining the diverse vocations of Catholic religious orders.

The purpose was to show young people some of the activities of priests, nuns and brothers and spur their interest in joining the orders.

The show was sponsored by the local chapter of the Serra Club, an international group of Catholic laymen. The club sponsors similar displays in other cities, shows films and provides speakers.

The atmosphere at the Louisville show was that of a trade fair, and no one was doing any hard-sell recruiting. Some 54 orders from 12 states were represented. Each booth had pamphlets and leaflets to give out.

The emphasis seemed to be on demonstrating that the religious life is far from all somber and serious. Color slides at many booths showed brothers and students playing sports or having informal get-togethers. A popular feature was a hootenanny staged by nuns, brothers and seminarians which included a hand-clapping, sing-along rendition of "When the Saints Go Marching In."

The Our Lady of Grace Sisters staged a show with marionettes dressed as nuns.

A majority of exhibits put emphasis on "the of serving God." Most of the men and women operating the booths have been assigned full time by their orders as "vocational officers."

One such official was the Rev. Richard Wise of the Society of the Precious Blood. He explained he corresponds with any young men who inquire about entering the order, sends them literature and if they express continuing interest, eventually pays them a visit.

Westside Baptist Youths Planning Weekend Revival

The Young People of Westside Baptist Church are sponsoring a weekend youth-led revival, Saturday and Sunday. Services will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The singing will be led by Bruce Wells. Donnie Anderson will speak Saturday night, and a fellowship will be held following the service.

Phillip Hall will preach Sunday morning, and Monty Cledin will fill the pulpit Sunday night. There will also be testimonials and special music by the young people.

Westside young people invite and urge, not only the youngsters, but adults to attend.

More Than Enough

We are the most prosperous people the world has ever seen! Even the poor among us live in princely comfort compared to some in other lands. Our country is famous for its beauty and fruitfulness, our cities are as modern as tomorrow, and our future glows with promise. God has indeed been good to us.

But with His bounty of wealth and power, God has given us responsibilities. Because we have so much, we are called upon to share what we can spare. And we are required to work and pray for the end of ignorance, poverty and suffering wherever they are found.

To be able to give is a blessed privilege. Let us fill our churches and join in heartfelt thanks to God that we have enough . . . and more than enough . . . to share.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Longhorns Invade Angelo At 8:00

Two of the three teams still involved in the scrap for the football championship in District 2-AAAA, square off at 8 o'clock in San Angelo this evening.

San Angelo's season ends tonight, regardless of the outcome of tonight's game. The Steers could enter the playoffs if all things break in their favor.

The Longhorns have their work cut out for them. The Cats are always salty and they are especially hard to contain at home. Too, they're smarting from a 20-6 defeat administered

GUIDES STEERS TONIGHT

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Among the stellar seniors who will be playing their final regular season football games tonight around District 2-AAAA are Benny Kirkland, Johnny Hughes, Steve McComb, Skipper Sabatto and Don White, all of Big Spring; Alan Moravick and Pat Brown, both of Permian; Midland's Ross Montgomery and Mark Lawrence; Skippy Spruill and Larry Priddy, both of Odessa; Jack Yarbrough, Dennis Holt and Gary Biggs, all of Abilene High; Kent Uim and John Scott, both of Cooper; and San Angelo's Drew Darby and Jim Rich.

Count in the group 30 members of the Midland Lee ball club, which fielded practically a senior ball club this season.

Some multi-talented boys will return for another season or play next year, however.

Big Spring will have the nucleus of a good line coming back and appear to be especially well fortified at ends, where Ronnie Dale Smith, Wayne Nail, Terry Fields and Harold Newton will vie for positions. If Joe Jaure can solve the team's problems at quarterback, and there is no reason to believe he can't, then the Steers could be very hard to handle.

One of the great players due to come back and haunt enemy lines next year is Julio Guerrero, the San Angelo fullback who will try to spook the Big Spring Steers tonight in the lair of the Bobcats.

Guerrero has been a fabulous athlete since he was in junior high school. He's not very big but he runs right at you, then fades away like a ghost. You think you have him and you wind up with nothing but a handful of air.

Gary Mullins, who alternates at quarterback with Pascual Piedfort at San Angelo, has not one but two years of eligibility remaining. He'll be great before he's through. It was Gary who blocked the punt that enabled San Angelo to tie the Abilene Cooper last week.

Among other fine talent returning in the district will be quarterback Larry Gatin, halfback Ray Goddard and end Bruce Bevers, all of Odessa High; center Marc Farris, guard Wayne Merrill, quarterback Bobby Cuthall and halfbacks Scooter Taylor and Robert Ellis, all of Midland High; end Mike Paddock, quarterback Larry Walsh, fullback Don Carr, fullback Tony Conley and end Dan Brince, all of Permian; quarterback Forest Lane and guard David Vanover, both of Abilene High; tailback George Cato, quarterback Gaylon Brown and fullback John Hassell, all of Abilene Cooper.

Of course, all is not lost at Lee, which showed early foot in the run for the pennant this year, after having been picked for the cellar.

Among Rebels back next fall will be end John Lindewood, center Rusty Stallings, quarterback Bob Nolen, halfbacks Dwayne Kinsey and Gary Howard and fullback Gary Nabors.

The job at both Midland and Lee is complicated, however, because the schools had relatively poor B teams.

Howard County Junior College is one of the colleges entered in the fourth annual Lubbock Indoor Track and Field meet, which takes place in the Municipal Coliseum there the evening of Jan. 30.

Other colleges already committed to field teams in the cinder carnival are ACC, Houston, Texas A&M, Rice, TCU, Baylor, SMU, Oklahoma, New Mexico, A&M, Lubbock Christian College, South Plains, Wayland, both the varsity and freshmen teams at Texas Tech.

Quite probably, the University of Texas will send a few boys to the meet.

The local YMCA wanting to enlarge upon its weight-lifting program, needs more equipment of that type.

Those who have an extra supply of such things as bar bells, dumb bells and allied equipment could do a service by telephoning the Y (AM 4-8821) and offering it to the people there.

Curt Mullins, general secretary, says the workers there would be happy to convey it to the facility.

Boston Coach Cloaks Plans In Secrecy

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Coach Mike Holovak, whose Patriots are two-touchdown favorites to beat Denver tonight, has cloaked his offensive plans in secrecy. Whatever they are, a familiar figure—Babe Parilli—will put them into action.

And it's no mystery Denver's Mac Speedie has vowed the Patriots won't repeat their lopsided 35-10 victory over the Broncos earlier this season.

Two facts lend support to this contention. One, Denver's defense has shown tremendous improvement the last few games. Two, Boston has eight walking wounded including flanker Art Graham and left halfback Ron Burton.

They were hurt in the 36-28 victory over previously unbeaten Buffalo last Sunday during which Parilli—operating from Holovak's new spread formation—hurled five touchdown passes.

"We'll start the same offensive and defensive units we used in Buffalo," Holovak said.

The Patriots must win all four remaining games to keep alive their hopes of catching Buffalo in the Eastern Division. Denver, 2-8, comes here fresh from a 20-16 conquest of New York and recalling the previous meeting with Boston which resulted in Speedie replacing Jack Faulkenberry as coach.

Denver will be trying to snap two jinxes. The Broncos haven't won in Boston since the first ever AFL game, Sept. 9, 1960. And they haven't won any road game in the last 14, their most recent success away from home being 23-20 at San Diego, Nov. 4, 1962.

Michigan Seeks Initial Bowl Trip In 14 Years

By The Associated Press

Now that Michigan's head cheerleader has warned up, the Wolverines will try Saturday for their first Rose Bowl appearance in 14 years.

Michigan, No. 6 in the nation, plays seventh-ranked Ohio State for the Big Ten championship and the trip to Pasadena, Calif. The game, considered a toss-up, is one of the highlights of college football's last big weekend which pairs many traditional rivals.

The weekend gets under way tonight when North Carolina State meets Wake Forest. A victory would give State the Atlantic Coast Conference title. Other major games pit Vanderbilt against Miami of Florida and New Mexico at Hawaii.

Michigan's rosters started getting their steam up Thursday night at a campus pep rally. University President Harlan Hatcher led some 4,000 students in cheers and noted that the students could travel to the Rose Bowl without worrying about their final examinations because the school's first trimester ends before Jan. 1.

The Wolverines, 5-1 in the conference and 7-1 over-all, last were in the Rose Bowl following the 1950 season. The situation then was similar to the present. Michigan went into its final game with Ohio State needing a victory to beat out the Buckeyes for the title. The Wolverines won 9-3 in a bitter snowstorm.

Ohio State is undefeated in five Big Ten encounters and is also 7-1 over-all. The Buckeyes' last Pasadena visit followed the 1957 season.

Whichever team wins, it may not know its Pacific Athletic Conference opponent right away. The PAC race is such that any one of several teams could win the crown. Saturday's schedule has the contenders playing among each other: Oregon State-Oregon; Southern California-UCLA and Washington-Washington State.

Several other bowl spots remain to be filled. Ninth-ranked

By TOMMY HART
ANDREWS — The Coahoma Bulldogs seek to use football's strongest veto, a thumping defeat on the football greensward, to eliminate the Seagraves Eagles from the Class A playoffs in a 7:30 o'clock game here tonight.

This is Coahoma's first venture into the playoff round in 11 years and its original adventure as a Class A team. For Seagraves, it is 'old hat.' The Eagles are in the playoffs for the fourth straight time, although their luck in such circumstances has been anything but good.

They're still looking for their first playoff victory. Coahoma is undefeated in ten games. Seagraves had experienced one defeat and that by a mere point at the hands of Wink, a conference foe. Seagraves held a 19-0 advantage at half time in that outing but couldn't stand prosperity.

Seagraves' most impressive victory, perhaps, came at the expense of Springlake, which recently beat Farwell, 33-26, for the District 3-A crown.

In District 5-A play, Seagraves beat Plains, 28-20; Stanton, 32-13; O'Donnell, 51-14; and Tohoka, 42-20.

Coahoma was given a rough time in district play only by Aspermont and rallied in the final quarter to win that one, 33-14.

The Bulldogs, coached by Spike Dykes, are led by the expert quarterbacking of Dwayne Allen and the breathless running of Eddie McHugh, a leading candidate for all-state honors.

Seagraves is led by Bo Faulkenberry, a rugged 130-pounder who has gained 1,246 yards and scored 110 points carrying the ball.

Danny Rosson, 180, is the Seagraves quarterback and he runs the Eagle club expertly. He has counted 76 points over the year. Fullback Ronnie Huffman of the Seagraves club has tallied 60 points.

The other Seagraves starter in the backfield is a junior named Skeeter Reed. He usually divides time with Tim Raper at the position.

Seagraves will outweigh Coahoma considerably in the line. Biggest men are tackles James Reasonover, 200, and the 195-pound Kenny Cullum.

Coahoma is not small up front, by any means. The Bulldogs can field a 205 pound tackle in Joe Anderson. At the other tackle, Eddie Wolski weighs in at 203 pounds.

This is Dykes' first year to serve as head coach. His assistants are Bernie Hagins and Don Fuqua.

Probable starters:

SEAGRAVES: E-Billy Cather 175 and Dwight Hamilton 150; T-James Reasonover 200 and Kenny Cullum 195; G-Von Lester 180 and Steve Markley 175; C-Charlie Adams 160; QB-Danny Rosson 180; HB-Bob Faulkenberry 130 and Skeeter Reed 150; FB-Ronnie Huffman 175.

COAHOMA: E-Bobby Pharris 143 and Dean Boisson 135; T-Mike Mosley 151; T-Eddie Wolski 203 and Joe Anderson 205; WR-Wright 178; G-Teddy Merrick 161 and Mike Hinesley 157; C-Lourence Leard 153; QB-Dwayne Allen 148; HB-Eddie McHugh 162 and Travis Reed 142; FB-Johnny Gibson 161; FB-Tony Butler 184.

ODESSA — Andrews smashed Odessa Ector, 48-21, in its final regular season football game here Thursday night.

The win was the tenth straight for Andrews while Ector finished with a 4-5-1 record.

Ector was held scoreless until the fourth period.

Two Local Boys Win Numerals

Charley West and Humberto Hernandez, both of Big Spring, are among the 28 boys who won 1964 football letters at San Angelo College.

The Rams recently completed their first season since 1960 with a 5-4 record. The school competed as a senior college for the first time in history.

West and Hernandez are freshmen at SAC.

DICK STUART

Dick Stuart Trade Bait

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's interleague trading period opens at midnight tonight with Dick Stuart, part of a major interleague deal two years ago, possibly on his way back to the National League.

Stuart's name is just one of many that have been suggested as principals in transactions that may take place between National and American League clubs in the next 25 days, or until midnight Dec. 15.

Trading is expected to reach its peak—if there is a peak during the major league meeting in Houston starting Nov. 3. Only four deals were completed between the two leagues last year compared with 14 in 1962.

Although there is no way of telling whether there will be few or many trades this year, various reports indicate some big names may be involved.

Stuart, Boston's controversial slugger, is said to be headed for Philadelphia where the frustrated Phillies need a long-ball hitter for another shot at the NL pennant. In return, the Phillies reportedly will give up a pitcher, either right-hander Art Mahaffey or left-hander Dennis Bennett.

Former Cardinals' star Stan Musial presented the award to Boyer at the 15th annual Elks sports celebrity night banquet.

HOUSTON (AP)—The teams which will play in the 1964 Bluebonnet Bowl Dec. 19 may be announced Sunday.

Lou Hassell, chairman of the selection committee, said Thursday eight teams still are under consideration for the game that will be played in the 70,000-seat Rice University Stadium.

The teams are Tulsa, Florida, Florida State, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Texas Tech, Kansas and Missouri.

Razorbacks To Bid For Tenth In Row

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last big shot of the Southwest Conference football campaign may be fired at Lubbock Saturday when Arkansas goes after its 10th straight victory and the undisputed championship in a battle with enthusiastic Texas Tech.

A loss for the Razorbacks could produce some more shooting next week when Texas tried to tie for the title with old enemy Texas A&M attempting to prevent it.

But indications are that the conference race will be over for all practical purposes when the sun sets on the South Plains Saturday. Arkansas throws the conference's tightest defense against the leading offense and it appears the former is more formidable than the latter.

Texas is idle this week and will be watching with great interest the shenanigans at Lubbock. The Longhorns' only loss was to Arkansas and Tech could bail them out of that if they could handle the confident young men from the Ozarks.

Two more games are scheduled but neither has much interest, at least nothing like the interest of the Arkansas-Tech melee that's due to pull a capacity 43,000 fans into the stadium.

Rice meets Texas Christian at Houston and Baylor tackles Southern Methodist at Dallas. Rice, Baylor and Texas Christian still are in position to win third or fourth place.

Texas Tech would nail down third if it beat Arkansas but could be passed by one or two of the other teams should it lose.

There'll be 30,000 out at Houston to watch a Rice team that's favored in the statistics to trim

Rosebloom Is Money Foundry For Poor Boys

By GEORGE A. BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Let me know what you need," said Carroll Rosebloom.

There are 50 boys in colleges this year partly because of that offer by the owner of the Baltimore Colts.

None is an athlete. Or if he is, it had nothing to do with being given the amount of money he lacked to go to the college of his choice. Neither did scholarship.

The program is for the "real poor."

"It was one cold day in 1958 when Carroll broached the idea," recalls A. Paul Menton, sports editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun. "We were standing on the field watching the Colts get ready for the National Football League championship against the Giants in New York."

"Carroll said he would like to set up a foundation to help Maryland boys who really need help to go to college."

It was done with the sports editors of the three Baltimore daily newspapers, the Colts' lawyer and Rosebloom as the trustees. But Rosebloom won't allow his name used on the stationery of the Baltimore Colts Foundation.

Rosebloom fixed no limits for the foundation, just wanted to know each year how much it distributed.

"He thought after it was established," Menton said, "that we would try to get donations from other people or industries. But 99.9 per cent of the income has been either directly from the Colts or through their advertising contracts."

As president and keeper of the records, Menton reported the foundation had given away $139,875 since 1959. Expenses totaled $261.

The money has gone to 95 boys at 15 colleges. Eight of the colleges don't even have a football team. Few of the boys study physical education, for that matter.

Their majors include nuclear engineering, economics, law, medicine, chemistry and sociology. One boy entered the ministry.

There have been 28 graduates aided by the Colt Foundation. Eight of them continued in graduate work and another is in medical college.

Although "Carroll would have gone for more," Menton said it was decided to spread about $30,000 a year to needy students.

"We felt it would be better to have a solid foundation," Menton said. "If we could fulfill Carroll's wishes and get substantial contributions elsewhere, we hope to do the same thing for girls."

"We just don't have the resources now. We are able to help only two out of the five boys recommended to us."

The recommendations are made by officials of colleges. The first screening by the trustees is based on extreme hardship. Those called in for interviews are required to provide a full accounting of their financial resources.

The trustees figure how much the boy needs and he gets all or none.

"We won't give him part because then he would be worried," explains Menton.

Skimming through the files and correspondence, Menton said there is a "real satisfaction knowing that many of these boys would not have been able to go to college without help of the foundation."

Baltimore Can Wrap Up Division Crown

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore should wrap up its first division title since 1959 by beating Los Angeles Sunday and Cleveland should inch closer to the Eastern title in the National Football League by upsetting Green Bay.

The two division races in the NFL could be over by nightfall Sunday if the St. Louis Cardinals stumble before Philadelphia and the Browns and Colts win.

Beware of mud. A wave of upsets last week dropped the old batting average to 67-36-6 (42-24-4 in the NFL, 25-12-2 in the AFL).

Here goes again with picks through Thanksgiving Day. (All games Sunday afternoon unless otherwise noted.)

NFL
Baltimore 28, Los Angeles 20 — Colts blasting for 10th straight and first title since 1959 aren't going to let Rams stop them although Raymond Berry doubtful. Johnny Unitas will pick on Ram deep defense with bombs but runners will find heavy going against L.A. front four. Colts won earlier 35-20.

Cleveland 23, Green Bay 21 — Browns are rolling with five in a row. Packers shaken up by 49ers with Bart Starr. Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor bruised.

Washington 21, Dallas 18 — Possible loss of Tony Liscio weakens Cowboys' offensive line. Dallas should be able to move on ground but may be vulnerable to the Sonny Jurgensen bomb. Dallas won first meeting 24-18 in Texas.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 20 — That Viking gang is tough. Ask the Colts. Lions beat them earlier in mud 24-20. Milt Plum has sore elbow and probable loss of J. D. Smith won't help pass blocking.

New York 21, Pittsburgh 14 — This is the club that almost ruined Y. A. Tittle in earlier 27-24 Steelers victory. Pittsburgh hurting without Jim Kelly.

Philadelphia 24, St. Louis 21 — Cards in trouble with Bob DeMarco, Jerry Stovall, Joe Childress and Bob Reynolds on doubtful list. Tim Brown and Ollie Matson sub-par for Eagles.

Chicago 28, San Francisco 21 — Two teams that live by the pass with no running attacks. Rudy Bukich was hot last week against the Rams. George Mira upset the Packers when he finally got a chance to start.

Detroit 24, Chicago 14 (Thanksgiving Day) — Lions' pass defense closes down Bears' air game. They may be up to here in mud or snow. Wayne Walker's field goals could be decisive. Detroit won first meeting 10-0.

AFL
Boston 31, Denver 14 (Friday night) — Patriots fresh from

District Crowns Go Up For Grabs

By The Associated Press

Eighteen district championships—nine each in Class AAAA and Class AAA—will be determined tonight in the upper echelons of Texas schoolboy football.

Also set for tonight and Saturday are the opening rounds of the state playoffs in Class AA and Class A with 16 bi-district clashes in each category.

Two district championships were decided Thursday night. Fort Worth Paschal whipped Fort Worth North Side 21-6 to take the District 5 title in AAAA and Wichita Falls Hirschi swamped Burk Burnett 30-0 for honors in District 4 in Class AAA.

Other Class AAAA schools already holding berths in playoff action are Amarillo Tascosa, Nederland, Galena Park, San Antonio Highlands, San Antonio Burbank and defending state champion Garland.

In Class AAA, these teams in addition to Hirschi have already won their districts: Dumas, Andrews, Sweetwater, Vidor, Cypress-Fairbanks and San Marcos.

Phillips and Iowa Park battle it out tonight in Borger in the feature contest of Class AA. The winner will have taken a big step toward the state championship.

Hull-Daisetta, a Class A power which scored 530 points in 10 winning games, is pitted against Weimar (8-2) in bi-district play.

Other key clashes include unscathed-upon Canton against Cooper (7-3); Petersburg vs. Springlake; and White Deer vs. Stratford.

Webb Man Wins First In Meet

1st Lt. John F. Guilmartin of the Webb Pistol Team shot 285 of a possible 300 to capture first place in the Expert Class, 22 caliber, of a match held in El Paso this week. Competition on the National Match Course was at 50 yards for slow fire and 25 yards for time and rapid fire.

The Webb team, S. Sgt. Don E. Robb and Airman 3.C. Charles M. Delozier, along with 1st Lt. Guilmartin, shot for a second place rating in the Expert Class, 22 caliber. Other teams in the meet included those from Ft. Bliss, Biggs AFB, and the Border Patrol team.

Wirtz Opens Youth Corps, Tells Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to train 150,000 boys and girls in the first year of the neighborhood Youth Corps program.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, in announcing start of the corps Thursday, said the program will concentrate on "not the easy cases but the hard ones" in training youths 16 to 21, many of whom have never held jobs.

Wirtz said $110 million to $150 million will be spent the first year. He said the youngsters will work in hospitals, libraries, city agencies, playground and school programs, nonprofit private projects and others that have value to the community.

Wirtz appointed Jack Howard, 40, a Labor Department official, to head the program.

Calls For Unity

Winner President Lyndon Johnson makes an appeal to the American people for unity. Here he is shown making a point in a post-victory gesture. (AP WIREPHOTO)

LBJ Visits Alma Mater

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, returning to his college of 34 years ago, defended his "great society" concept today as realistic and attainable. He said it is "not an idle dream or vague Utopia."

Johnson was making a sentimental journey to San Marcos, a city of 13,000 some 50 miles southeast of his ranch home near Johnson City.

It was at San Marcos State Teachers College in 1930 that Johnson received a bachelor of science degree. Now he was returning to that campus, renamed Southwest Texas State College to help inaugurate a new college president, James H. McCrocklin.

BROAD GOALS
In his text, Johnson set forth two broad goals for the "great society" program he hopes will become the central theme of his administration's efforts:

1. "We must strike down the barriers which limit the hopes and the achievements of some of our people." He mentioned racial discrimination, poverty and lack of educational opportunities.

2. "We must move to enlarge the horizons of all Americans." He said: "The ultimate test of any society is the quality of the men and women it produces and the quality of the life they are permitted to lead."

Johnson said the great society "is concrete goals and will require specific programs. Even as we meet, some of these programs are being prepared for my review."

Battle Cry Bares Foe

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Politically speaking, Mrs. Tom Gehr and Dr. Morton Tompkins are friendly enemies. She is an ardent Democrat; he, an equally ardent Republican. Both worked hard in the recent campaign. But Mrs. Gehr had the last word.

When Dr. Tompkins removed the sheet to operate on Mrs. Gehr Wednesday, he found neatly taped on her abdomen:

A map of the United States on which was written, "All the way with LBJ."

Shark Barrier Lures Them

WASHINGTON (AP) — The only trouble with most advertised shark repellants is that those which work at all are as likely to attract as to shoo off the dread killers of the sea.

This warning by the "shark research panel" of U.S. Navy and civilian scientists was coupled with a proposal that the government do something about it by creating a federal agency to crack down on claims that "border on the fraudulent."

The panel agreed Thursday on recommending only one type of repellent. It is a Navy developed dye (nigrocin) that produces in the water a kind of smoke screen that confuses sharks and conceals their potential victims.

Ex-Sheriff's Probation Hearing On

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Testimony continued today in the probation hearing of former Wichita County Sheriff Ham Vance.

Fifteen witnesses testified Thursday.

One witness, Mrs. Roberta Richardson, a motel operator, said Vance and Mrs. Marie Cavet, registered at her motel under assumed names last July 22, two days after Vance was given a 7-year probated sentence for robbery.

Mrs. Cavet, a convicted felon, admitted from the stand that she and Vance had met several times since his conviction. Under terms of Vance's probation, the ex-sheriff may not see a person under sentence for a felony.

Seven In Tax Stamping Case Indicted

AUSTIN (AP) — Houston tobacco merchant Mair J. Schepps and six other persons today were under indictment in Travis County on charges growing out of raids by state officers.

The officers in the raids at Houston on Oct. 30 recovered what they said was a stolen cigarette tax stamping machine.

Schepps, 53, was charged Oct. 30 along with the other six persons, following the raid. Operator of the House of Tobacco, Inc., which lost its distributor's permit, Schepps denied anything criminal.

DENIED REQUEST
On Nov. 12, he was denied a request for a court order restoring the revoked permit.

The state comptroller's office estimated that use of the tax stamping machine resulted in a tax loss to the state of up to $4.2 million.

Named in the indictments with Schepps were Warren J. Fusilier, Casimiro Reyes, Johnnie R. Vitello Jr., Oran Terry, W. J. Court and John M. Eyster.

The indictments against the men included: Charges of printing and making counterfeit cigarette tax stamps and placing the counterfeit stamps on cigarette packages—naming Fusilier, Reyes, Vitello and Terry.

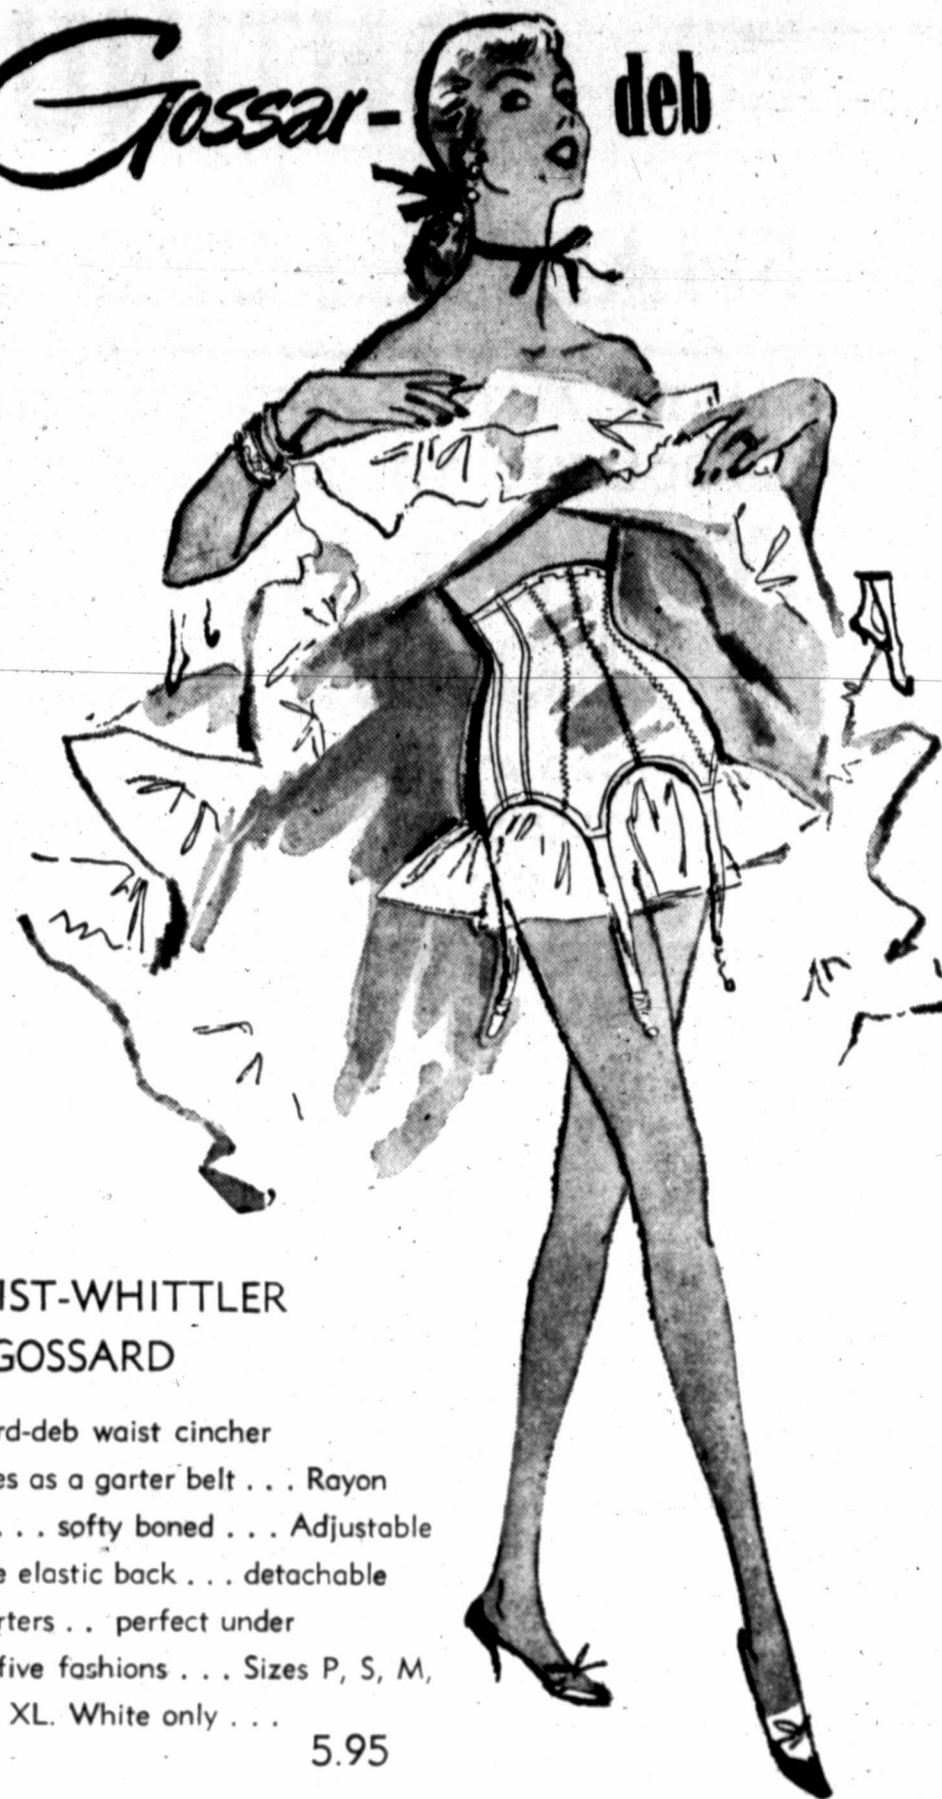

Possession, with intent to use, a counterfeit cigarette tax stamp, and unlawfully using a counterfeit cigarette tax stamp in connection with the sale of cigarettes—naming Court.

CIGARETTE SALES
Possession and unlawfully using a counterfeit cigarette tax stamp in connection with the sale of cigarettes—naming Eyster.

The President and Mrs. Johnson plan to attend a memorial service Sunday in Austin.

Texas 1976 Job Need Put At 800,000

DALLAS (AP)—Nearly 800,000 jobs must be provided for Texas' burgeoning population within 12 years, Gov. John Connally asserts.

To meet the challenge, Connally told the Texas Manufacturers Association Thursday, business leaders and educators must use teamwork.

Industry must furnish most of the jobs, the governor said, and educational institutions must provide the manpower industry needs for the space age.

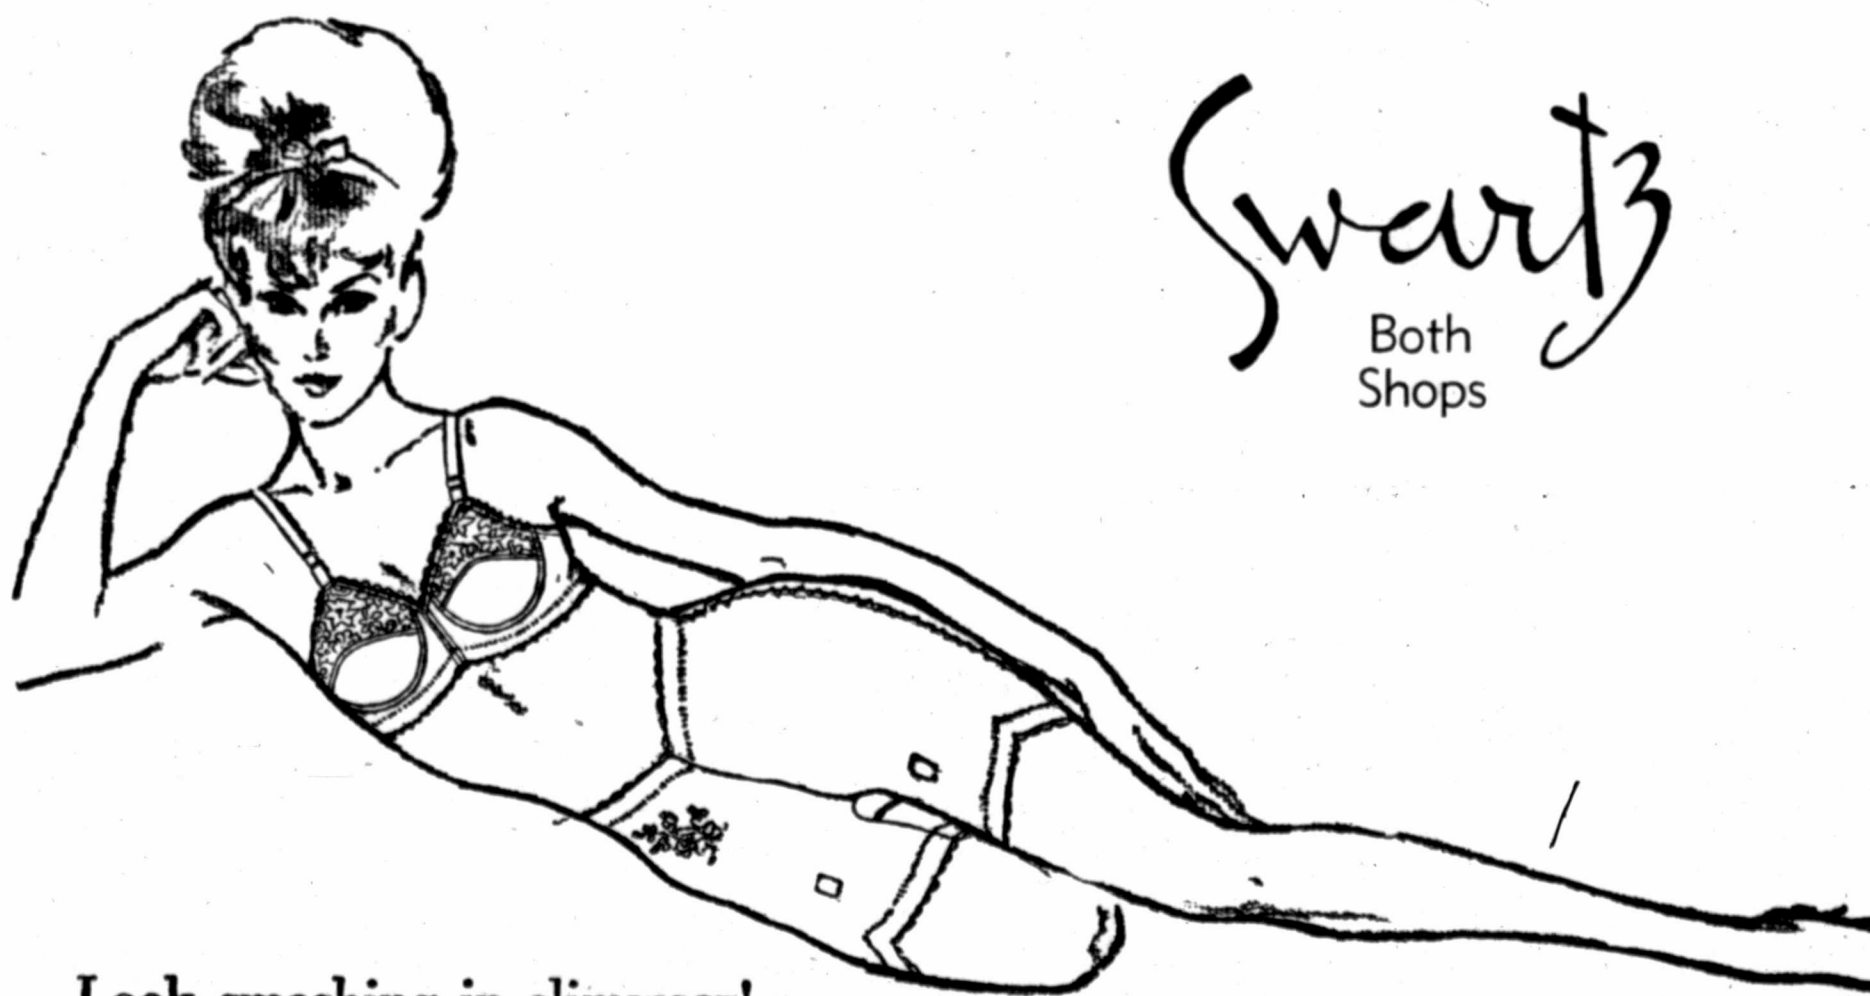

Texas must improve its educational system, the governor said.

"There is no use kidding ourselves," he said. "This will cost money. But it is the wisest investment we can make... It is obvious that our educational system has become more and more and more the key to sustained growth, just as it provides the key to all progress."

Gust Brings Hot Pursuit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A sudden gust of wind sent a bank customer at a drive-in window and would-be helpers in hot pursuit for a $2,000 check blown out of the customer's hand.

The valuable piece of paper — pushed by 40-mile-an-hour winds — was outdistancing its pursuers when E. E. Shaddix, a policeman, pounced on it.
