Mrs. C. C. Terry Resident for 55 Years, Passes

Mrs. C. C. Terry, who with her husband chose Collingsworth County as their home 55 years ago, to help develop its resources, died Friday, July 31, in a hospital in Fort Smith, Arkansas. She had been visiting for some time in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ted C. Drake in Charleston, Arkansas. Although she had been in ill health, her death followed a critical illness of only 5 days, and came as a surprise to many friends of the family throughout the area.

Mrs. Terry was born Daisy A. Hassell, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Hasseli, in Grayson County June 18, 1877, and at the time of her death she was 76 years, one month and 13 days of age.

The family came west while Mrs. Terry was still a girl, and were among the pioneer families of Childress county. She was married there to Mr. Terry in 1895, and for nearly three years they continued to make their home there. In 1898, they came to Collingsworth county, and he filed on the section of land three miles north of town where they continued to make their home until his death February 5, 1952. After that, Mrs. Terry moved into town to make her home.

The family became one of the prominent farmer-stockman families of the area, and in 1906 Mr. Terry helped to establish the Wellington State Bank and was until his death a director of that institution.

Mrs. Terry's life was made up of the many strong virtues that characterized the women who settled early in this area. She was neighborly and kind, interested in providing well for her family and in giving help where it was needed among those around her. She preferred to live simply, devoting herself to those nearest her.

She had been a member of the Baptist Church since early in life and was a member of the church here.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Chester O'Brien pastor, officiating.

Paul bearers were grandsons, including Billy J. Wigham, Joe H. White, Herman Claude Terry, Bob White, Donald Joe Terry, Jimmy Terry, Sam White and Richard Sultemeier. Flower bearers, granddaughters, were Mrs. Sam White, Mrs. Joe H. White, Mrs. Richard Sultemeier, Mrs. Herman Claude Terry, Mrs. Bob White, Mrs. Jimmy Terry, Mrs. S. Morris, Mrs. Billy J. Wigham, Miss Nelda Terry, Miss Rugene Black and Miss Donna Black.

Burial was in the Wellington, cemetery, directed by the Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Terry is survived by a son and three daughters, Joe Terry of Wellington, Mrs. Bob White of Santa Rosa, N. M., Mrs. Ted Drake of Charleston, Ark., and Mrs. Jack Wigham of Panhandle. Other survivors are 16 grandchildren, 23 great grandchildren, and five brothers, Jeff Hassell of Dallas, George Hassell of Wagoner, Okla., Enoch Hassell, Lon Hassell and Horace Hassell of Childress.

Quails Come Here For two with Dukes

Wellington Baseball fans will have their last opportunity to see baseball at Marian Air Park this season. The Wellington Junior Dukes will host the Quail Quails in two ball games Sunday, August 9.

Both squads have met on about five different occasions before and every time the score was close.

Gametime for the first contest will be at 2:00 p .m. Everyone is asked to attend either to support the Dukes or the Quails.

Rainmakers Need Funds To Run

Cloud-seeding operations will conclude on August 15, unless more money is raised to finance the Collingsworth County Weather Improvemtns Association, C. A. Crawford, local representative stated Tuesday, August 4.

"Unless the funds needed for this operation are turned in we cannot continue to run the generators, he emphasized.

Money for the project can be left at any of the three banks in Wellington.

More Work By Citizens If Wellington Gets Armory

"It is a very definite possibility that Wellington could have a armory," Major Dale Watkins, commanding officer of the National Guard unit, told the Leader recently in an interview. "The money for twenty-three armories throughout the state has been appropriated and now it is up to the state board to spend the money when and where it is most useful. It will be up to the people of Wellington whether or not the armory will be constructed," the local Commanding Officer stated.

"It is of vital importance to the interested persons of Wellington that they write their state senator, representatives in the state capitol and in Washington, and to write to the state armory board. If the board thinks that there is enough interest among the townspeople then our chances for this building will be even better," he declared.

"The one story building would be built in the shape of a T and will be 250 feet long and 60 feet wide. The construction will be of brick venier and with hardwood floors throughout. The building will cost around $100,000 dollars and all of the work will be with a local contractor. This will mean a new source of revenue for Wellington business men and as well as providing protection for the people in case of a disaster," he said.

"If the proposed armory comes through the strength of the local guard unit will be around 156 enlisted men and 7 officers which will be local young men. The annual payroll will be in the neighborhood of about $75,000," Watkins revealed.

"However, this building will not be the guard's alone. It can be used by clubs, individuals, or some organizations to have their meetings, parties, and conventions in. In fact, the State board encourages the local people to do that," Major Watkins informed the Leader.

The Wellington JayCees have taken the forefront in trying to get the armory here. The Jaycees passed by unanimous vote to send a letter to the board asking them for the armory and expressing the local groups desire for," Charles Allen, local Jaycee, said Monday.

The site of the armory has already been selected. The City Council has deeded five acres of the Marian Air Park to National Guard for the building purposes. It is located near the Swimming Pool.

City Schools to Open September 7th Three Vacancies Exist

The Wellington schools will open Monday, September 7, Supt. C. T. Roberts announced this week. Booker T. Washington school will open Monday, August 17, and will be dismissed for the usual cotton picking vacation.

In a meeting of the school board Monday night, August 3, it was voted to discontinue the Loco school this year, due to the small number of pupils who would attend. All students who formerly attended there will attend at Wellington.

Mr. Roberts also reminded parents of children who will enroll in the first grade it will be necessary for them to present a birth certificate on the opening day, and if it is necessary to write to another town for a copy of the certificate, this should be done as soon as possible. These children should be six years old on or before September 1.

At the same time Mr. Roberts announced the resignation of two elementary school teachers. Remodeling Job Near Completion At Super Market

Complete remodeling of United Super Market is due to be completed this week and customers will find the store completely rearranged and much new equipment installed, Herman Crowley, manager, announced.

The entire ceiling of the 50 x 110 building has been lowered and a new ceiling put in. New all hardwood floors were laid and a new lighting system, composed of eight continuous strings of flourescent lights, has been installed.

The entire interior has been redecorated. One wall is finished in pastel turquoise green and the others in light peach.

Much new refrigerated equipment has been added. This includes all refrigeration in the market, a new semi-self-service case, a new self service dairy case and new frozen food unit.

The building is cooled by refrigerated air conditioning.

The market, formerly located in the northwest corner of the store, has been moved to the southwest corner, to be more conveniently located.

One of the new features of the store is a drinking fountain for customers, not generally found in business houses.

Between $10,000 and $15,000 has been spent on the store.

"We have completely re-aranged the store for our customers shopping convenience," Mr. Crowley said. "We feel that our store will be second to none in a town of this size and that you will be proud to use its facilities, just as we are proud to offer them to you."

Mr. Crowley came here a short time ago as manager of the business, after having been assistant manager of the store at Vernon. In charge of the meat department is Don Walker, and he is assisted by Don Grissom. Assistant in charge of produce is Charles Jones, while Mrs. Crowley is checker and Henry McClain and Bertha Bae Gamble are clerks.

Wheat Allotment for County 31,893 Acres

Collingsworth County's wheat acreage allotement for the 1953-54 crop year will be 31,893 acres, Millard Brown secretary of the county PMA, announced Monday, August 3.

Allotments on individual farms were mailed out Friday.

On the county basis, the 1953-54 acreage is a 14.3 per cent reduction from the wheat acreage of the past two seasons, 1952 and 1953.

In the former year, growers reported 36,890 acres planted to wheat, and this year 34,968 acres. The new allotment, however, was figured on an "adjusted acreage" of 36,352 acres.

On the state basis, the 1954 allotment for Texas, compared with the seeded wheat acreage for 1953 is a cust of 622,137 acres, from 5,423,000 to 4,800,863 acres.

Contests, Stunts to Highlight Water Show

Splash! That's a six-year old jumping into the water at the Second Annual Free Water Show that is scheduled for Friday night, August 7 at 7:30 at the Marian Airpark Pool.

Under the direction of pool manager, Don Briggs and life guard instructor, Betty Woods the show should be the best in diving, and racing. Both have been arranging their pupils for the gigantic water carnival.

Fancy diving, races for the older swimmers as well as the younger generation, and the flares during the last part of this water cavalcade will high-light this year's show, Don Briggs declared.

One of the outstanding parts of the show will come at the conclusion of the contest will be the use of the brillantly colored flares. With these flares the swimmers will display different designs, patterns, and perform stunts that will leave a lasting impression on your mind for some time to come.

Smith Operates Autobody Shop

W. L. "Smitty" Smith announced this week that he had resumed operation of the Autobody Shop located on 8th Street. He also announced that Mrs. Lucille Baird would be associated with the firm as bookkeeper and office manager and that Stanley Brown, who was with him from 1948 until 1951 had returned as head of the upholstery.

Mr. Smith leased the shop to Harold Drummond in 1951 to devote his time to the Autobody Supply company which he will continue to operate in the same location selling paint and other car supplies to repair shops over the Panhandle.

In addition to all other features ordinarily found in an autobody rebuilding shop, Mr. Smith's shop has one of the few infra-red baking ovens to be found in this part of Texas. This enables the firm to put a factory quality enamel or lacquer finish on a rebuilt car.

Mrs. Jack Gibson Dies Unexpectedly Sunday Evening

Mrs. Jack Gibson, beloved Wellington woman and member of a family which has played a vital part in the development of Wellington and the area, died unexpectedly at her home Sunday evening, August 2. Her death was attributed to a heart ailment, from which she had suffered since childhood. Nevertheless, it came as a shock to all those who knew her.

In recent years, Mrs. Gibson had been most active in her work with the city schools, in which her son was a student, and in the support she had given her husband in his many civic enterprises. Through the years, she had supported many other activities, religions and civic, which are necessary to a town's life.

Mrs. Gibson was born in Wellington February 5, 1903, and spent her entire life here. She was the former Eddie A. Wells, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wells, who came here early in the century.

She received her education in the Wellington schools. She was married to Mr. Gibson September 24, 1924, at Fort Worth. Their home for a number of years had been the family home at the northeast corner of town, where she and her brothers and sisters grew up.

Mrs. Gibson had been a member of the Methodist Church since girlhood.

Although she had limited somewhat her public activities, she in no way lessened the many gracious and helpful activities performed for her friends. Many of these were known only to herself and the recipient. Her devoted attention to a number of elderly friends has been a bright spot in their lives but those of all ages alike were includede in her circle.

When her son entered school, Mrs. Gibson became active in the Parent-Teacher Association and served as a treasurer of the East Ward PTA. She had also been a room mother for several years.

Services paying tribute to Mrs. Gibson were held at the First Methodist Church Tuesday morning, at 10:30 a. m. Officiating were the Rev. J. F. Michael, pas-

Wellington Meeting Tuesday

Water Association To Apply For Dam Across Salt Fork

Representatives of eight towns interested in the dam across Salt Fork River met in Wellington Tuesday night, August 4, and voted to make application to the Board of Water Engineers for construction of the dam. This step is necessary if the Upper Basin of Salt Fork of Red River Association, sponsors of the proposed dam, are to hold their water rights to the Salt Fork watershed. The application must be filed before September 19, when the present rights expire. The representatives voted to raise money necessary for the work.

Cap Morris of Clarendon, president of the Association, stressed that application to build the dam will hold the Association's rights to the watershed, but that this step must be taken at once, or the association will lose either part or all of its rights, since other groups farther along on Salt Fork are interested in developing.

Attending were representatives from Clarendon, Hedley, Quail, Memphis, Childress, Paducah, Quanah, and Wellington, the towns which could draw municipal water supplies from such a resvoir. All of these except Wellington has had trouble securing enough water for municipal use.

A. H. Woolverton, Austin engineer who has been hired to survey potential sites, discussed the preliminary report he had submitted earlier. The site of this dam would be just below Whitefish creek, a short distance over the county line in Donley County.

Officers of the association emphasized that many problems remain to be ironed out, including the financing, but the important thing now is to make application to build the dam to the Water Board before the rights of the association expire.

A more complete explanation of the factors envolved in the dam will be given next week.

Present for the meeting were Rayburn L. Smith, secretary of the association, Pete Henry, Grady Tyler, W. Carroll Knorpp, Johnny O. Allen and Mr. Morris of Clarendon.

Herbert Henry, Burnett Richards, W. S. Heatley Jr., C. L. Robertson, J. A. Carroll, of Paducah;

J. F. Coleman and B. F. Farmer of Quail.

J. C. Hill, and D. Ray E. Barr of Childress.

Allen C. Dunbar, E. A. Smith, E. M. Wilson, of Memphis.

Carl W. Morris, Clifford Johnson of Hedley.

J. S. Gilliland, Larry, Trample, of Quanah.

Clarence Hendricks of Fort Worth.

George L. Henry, S. B. Owen, James Sullivan, Henry Sullivan, Dr. E. W. Jones, R. L. Templeton, A. Y. Bell, Emil Kersten and Bura Handley of Wellington.

Wheat Growers to Vote On Quotas August 14

Collingsworth wheat growers, both landowners and tenants, will vote Friday, August 14, on wheat marking quotas, along with all other growers of the nation, Millard Brown, PMA county chairman, reminded this week.

Three voting boxes will be set up for the county. All growers living south of Salt Fork River will vote in Wellington, at the county court room.

Another box will be set up at the Samnorwood gymnasium, and all wheat growers living west of a line running about a mile east of highway 83 will vote at Samnorwood.

The third box will be at Lutie, and all growers living east of the point a mile east of Highway 83 will vote at Lutie.

Mr. Brown explained that the Lutie box is not located in the district which it will serve, but because of its more convenient location it was through best to have the voting there .

All farmers planting more than 15 acres af wheat and their wives will be eligible to vote. If the owner or tenant does not live on the farm, he may vote either in the district where he lives or in the district where the farm is located, although it is preferred that he vote on the district in which the farm is situated, Mr. Brown said.

Wheat growers will automatically be voting on whether they want marketing quotas and price supports at 90 per cent parity, or no quotas and support at only 50 per cent of parity. A two-third majority in favor of the measure will be required to proclaim marketing quotas. The grower referendum is the only means of authorizing Secretary of Agriculture Benson to proclaim quotas and required by law this year because the nation's wheat supply exceeds the "normal supply" by more than 20 per cent.

According to the Department of Agriculture, the "normal supply" as determined for this year is 1,156,000,000 bushels. Actually available for this marketing year, however, is 1,760,000,000 bushels, the largest supply in the nation's history.

If the refereudum on a national basis approves marketing quotas, the results will be:

1. Marketing quotas in effect for all farms with more than 15 acres planted to wheat.

2. Marketing penalties to apply on wheat produce from aces in excess of the farm's allotment.

3. Price supprots at 90 per cent of parity — about $2.21 per bushel for those who stay within their acreage allotments.

4. Generally regulated production with supply closer to the ket demand.

Should the referendum fail, the results will be:

1. No marketing quotas and no penalty controls.

2. Acreage allotments continuing in effect, the controlling legislation providing that wheat acreage allotments are to be established because of emergency situations.

3. Price supports at 50 per cent of parity, or about $1.20 per bushel for co-operations. Non-cooperators will be entitled to no price supports.

4. Production continued at high levels, possibly adding to be wheat surplus.

Orr, Hood Slated For Action in Bowl Clash, August 14

August 14 is the big night for the Annual Greenbelt Bowl Football classic. Wellington fans will feel that they have a part in this gigantic bowl clash as two of the Rocket's top performers will don the West jerseys—and renew there and open the football season for 1953.

Vesta Lee Orr, ace Rocket center and Floyd Hood, the Rocket Demon will take up the West cause for this 48 minutes of thrilling gridiron spectacle.

Orr will serve as the center for the West under the tutering of Sammy Baugh. Orr has been a four letter-man with the Wellington Skyrockets. Three of those years he was one of the starting line-up and during his Freshman year he came to the rescue of the Rockets time and time again. He has built himself quite a name among his fellow players and opponents as a hard-hitting, all-out ball player. For two seasons he has been named as an all-district player and this year he was named all-regional, while in 1952 he was an honorable mention, all-regional gridster.

Hood is something that is not new to fans in this area. If anyone saw him in action they would think of him as a cyclone. Many times through instinct he has broken up possible touchdown plays that the other team had planned to carry-out.

He was a two year letter-man with Coach Maxey McKnight's Red Rockets. During that time he was a top-notch guard and line-backer on defense.

This year Hood was named to the first team on the all-district, and all-regional squads, and was given honorable mention on the all-state, Southern, and high school All-American squads.

So when the opening kick-off has been made Wellington fans can rise and be proud of having two of Wellington's greatest athletes on the West team.

Those seeking theatre tickets as one of the first two to identify each farm must come to the office to make the identification. Others not trying to win tickets may do so by phone or calling at the office.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Most people did not know it: but Mrs. Jack Gibson had a heart condition when she was only a child. My mother tells me that old Dr. Worley diagnosed it as such when she was only ten years of age. In spite of this she lived about as merry and industrious a life as is ever accorded any human being. In this she was helped greatly by the kind understanding of a wise and generous husband and the adoration of her son. She was not a society woman or a joiner of clubs: but she was a great visitor and her friends ranged from the old to the young. Two of her favorite old friends were Mrs. D. D. McDowell and my mother, and she rarely let a week pass without visiting each of them and often times three or four times a week where they were indisposed . Her example of cheerful courage is an example that should sustain those she left behind.

The Katy is expected to resume service to Wellington the early part of next week. No trains have run over the Katy since July 19 when a bridge washed out near Altus.
(The printers had this spelled "bride" but I thought Silas Henry might object.)

Mrs. L. C. Hill who recently returned from a trip through Europe says that she would like to go back to France, Scotland and England: but the next time she wants to go on her own and not on a conducted tour. She says she got tired looking at buildings. She wanted more time to stay in one place and do more talking with the people. That is a viewpoint that is quite understandable and I hope she gets to make the trip.

* * *

Had a most enjoyable visit with Mrs. Matthew Arnold, of Corsicana who was Miss Clem Christmun when she was my fifth and sixth grade teacher. She hopes to come back for the ex-student reunion on August 22.

* * *

Next week the paper will be devoted to the reunion and will contain the names of the ex-students by classes as well as the present addresses of those who live in other places. Bessie Rainer has done a wonderful job in bringing these up to date.

Lefty Thomas says that cotton farmers should be diligent in inspecting their cotton fields for worms. He says that they have broken out in several parts of the county. He recommends an inspection of the entire field at least every other day. The crops are looking too good to permit unnecessary damage by worms which can be prevented by poisoning.

* * *

Alex Shields was another man in at The Leader office to comment on the superlative crop that is coming along in the Quail area. But the folks around Dodson won't take their hats off to anybody in the Wellington area. They claim that you have not seen anything until you have seen some of the fields north of Dodson on into Vinson—a bale to the acre no less.

* * *

One more rain at the right time and this area will be set for a wonderful crop after worst dry spell in recorded history. All of the above is window dressing for something that I want to write to the editor of a small paper in Fort Worth.

* * *

Mrs. T. E. Benge sent me a copy of the Southside Herald, which is a surburban paper published in Fort Worth. It has a column written by "The Rambling Reporter" in the issue of July 30 he says: At Wellington we were really in the drouth area. Cotton in the fields no taller than it should have been weeks age—no feed—no cattle 100 vacant houses in Wellington and more people moving out each week. Editors note: "wrong about vacant houses only 27—filling up fast.

* * *

The editor of the South Side Herald is Mr. Dearmore. It is evident that he visited Wellington before July 19 when the five and seven inch rains fell. He should come back now and see the tall cotton and the young feed. It is the most startling and heartening change that has ever come to pass since men started to plow up the soil. Mr. Dearmore shold come back and see it this September.

Next Friday is the time for the free show for the Children at the Ritz. It is is a pleasant Sight to see them swarm in every other week.

SALT FORK

By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

Our congregation was small Sunday — but we had a real good Sunday school. James Glasscock preached after Sunday school — we all surely enjoyed his good message. Next Fourth Sunday, August 23, will be his last service out here before he leaves for school. We hope you'll all be present at that time. Dean Maxwell of Quail was our visitor Sunday. He was visiting Darrell Morris.

Mrs. Dee Harris is visiting her son, Duard Harris and family of Amarillo. They came for her last Sunday and visited the Bill Sanders family and other relatives. The J. W. Gollihugh's and Mrs. Harris were visitors in the Sander's home also.

Mrs. Henry Wischkaemper recently made a trip to California with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Lancaster. Mrs. Wischkaemper says California is beautiful to look at, but she wouldn't want to live there.

Mrs. G. C. Wright and R. H. Isbell visited a little while one morning last week with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones in Wellington. Mr. Jones had gathered his onions and stored them under the house. (An old time custom with farmers). The big rain came and water came rolling through Wellington and washed his onions away. Their pretty flowers never got washed away though and we're glad. It's been a long, long time since the water got up and around town. About 35 years ago, we saw it plenty deep several times. Lots of people look back and talk about the good ole days of horse and buggy days, but we like the motor age.

The past week was really a busy time out this way. Everyone was rushing to get their cotton plowed over after the big rain. Feed planting had kept most farmers busy for several days after the wonderful rain the 19th of July.

There was a church and yard cleaning Wednesday afternoon at the Salt Fork Church. Then the road men came by and really finished the job Thursday for us on the yard. And we all want to say thank you so much gentlemen. Wish you'd been there in time to eat supper Wednesday night. We had a good prayer meeting and singing after supper.

Saturday night the Salt Fork and Fresno folks met at our parsonage in Wellington for prayer meeting and singing. A large crowd was present. Refreshments of cookies and cool aid were served at a late hour. It was Salt Forks time to bring a pounding good things to eat for the pastor and family. This is an old time custom with the Methodist folks. Fresno gave theirs several weeks ago. The revival began Sunday night here at Salt Fork. Bro Allen brought a wonderful message, and Miss Jean Ham gave special music. There was a conversion Sunday night and we feel there'll be several more. Everyone came. Bro. Charles Marshall singer will come next Friday night. There was a large crowd in attendance Sunday night.

Miss Edna Ellen Wright accompanied Mrs. Allen and Judy to Amarillo Saturday to meet Miss Jean Ham and bring her here for the revival. Mrs. Welch a next door neighbor kept Mrs. Allen's boys while she went to Amarillo.

C. Jackson; at Kansas Cit, Mo., her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bounds; and at Independence, Mo., another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jackson. On One Farm 51 Years

Joe Baumgardner Farm First In Series Featured in The Leader

First of the mystery farm pictures, published in The Wellington Leader July 30, showed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baumgardner, located three miles south of Wellington.

The place was easily identified probably one of the easiest of the entire series of pictures, and every person who phoned in an identification guessed correctly. Several persons, however, did not identify it by the house, which was built three years ago, but by the big barn, a farm landmark of the area.

First to name the farm was Miss Mary Trammel, county home demonstration agent, while Herman Claude Terry was second. Both had called in their answers by 9:00 a. m. Thursday.

Others guessing were Mrs. Alva Cristy, Mrs. Ellis Lahue, Mrs. Helen Hurst, Ocie Scott, Mrs. V. E. Warrick, Mrs. Albert Fulcher, Mrs. Donald Curry, Miss Vivian Scarberry, Jim Thompson, Mrs. Jess Motsenbocker, J. B. King, Paul Starr, Ada Carole Thomas, Denzil Peeples Mrs. Elbert Warren Mickey Breedlove, Mrs. J. E. Nunnelley, and Mrs. Marcus Parrigin.

The Baumgardner Farm, as it is generally known, is one of the few in the county to have been under ownership by one family for more than 50 years. It was bought by the late J. F. Baumgardner in 1892, who shortly afterward returned to his home in East Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baumgardner moved to the farm when they were married, 38 years ago on August 4. She is the former Eva Godfrey. Their first home on the farm was a dug out, but shortly afterward Mr. Baumgardner started a house. Through the years it was added onto, another house was moved up and joined on, and this was the Baumgardner home so many people have known.

A little more than three years ago Barbara Baumgardner's engagement to C. M. Gordon of Dallas was announced.Mr. Baumgardner recalled that she had always said she was going to be married at home and come down the stairs on the arm of her father. Right then, the Baumgardners set about building the big, two-story house that is pictured above. And the interior was finished in time for Barbara's small-girl day-dream to come true.

Probably the most outstanding thing about the Baumgardner farm is the family of children that has grown up there. There are eight children. Seven of them have graduated from Texas Tech and the youngest enrolls in that college next month as a freshman.

Capt. John Henry Baumgardner, a World War II pilot, was teaching in the ag department at Tech when he was recalled to active duty and assigned to ROTC instruction at Tech. Forrest Baugardner lives with his family at Tulsa.

Major Haynes Baumgardner, another World War II flyer, is now assigned to duty at the Pentagon in Washington, D. C. Robert farms at Brownfield.

Marion landed in New York Tuesday, August 4, after three years teaching agriculture in Allahabad Agriculture Institute, Allahabad, India. He will enroll this fall for advanced study in Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Barbara lives at Grapevine, and Mr. Gordon is a Dallas architect. David received his degree from Texas Tech this spring, like his brothers majoring in agriculture. He returned home to help his father carry on farming operations. Pricilla, who graduated from high school this spring ,is attending the American Youth Foundation Camp in Minnesota.

The Baumgardner family belongs to the Methodist Church in which each member has been active.

Traditional in this area is the Baumgardner hospitality. Not only has their home been a gathering place for Collingsworth County friends, but also for their children's college friends, and other friends from such distance places as China and India.

A modren farm program, based on rotation of crops and soil conservation, has been carried on by Mr. Baumgardner for a long period of years on his 640 acres places. Essentially, he is a farmer, and his only major venture in livestock has been sheep, and again he has been successful.

Mrs. A. V. Haynes of Shamrock is a surgical patient at St. Joseph's hospital.

One Countian Drafted in July

Collingsworth County has only one man listed for induction into the armed forces during the month of July. Haskell O. Talley of Dodson was the only countian to be inducted in the armed forces at Amarillo on July 21, a review of the records at the Draft Board in Childress showed.

Twelve others including Talley were taken to the forces. They are Nathanel Ivery, Memphis; Narold N. Saxon, Memphis; Trovace Rhudy, Memphis; Bobby Payne, Quitaque; Wilburn E. Murphy, Estelline; Jimmy C. Howard, Silverton; Texas G. Bradford, Paducah; Lynn E. Rhoderick, Quitaque; Billy V. Smith, Tell; Preston O. Werner, Kirkland; Robert B. Keesecker, Paducah; and Talley.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

The Drouth is Bad-But Not That Bad

Texans have been the target of a good deal of needing lately because they have been driven to ask for federal aid in overcoming the effects of prolonged drouth in the western half of the state. Some commentators especially those who bitterly opposed Texas' efforts to get back its tidelands, have taken seeming delight in twitting Texans over the alleged abandonment of their adhereence to the states' rights principle in the face of adversity.

Such needling, even if it causes some smarting, can be endured. What is harder for Texans to endue is the treatment the drouth situation is receiving at the hands of some who profess to be their friends—or at least to have no axes to to grind. Some of the reporting of drouth conditions—in newspapers of wide circulation—has been highly exaggerated and in some cases irresponsible.

In an effort to dramatize the plight of the drouth region, pictures of isolated conditions have been presented as typical. The impression thereby is left with those who have no way of knowing otherwise that the whole of West Texas from the northern Panhandle to the Rio Grande has been converted into one great sand waste. In fact, one television commentator pictured all West Texas as returning to the status of "the Great American Desert."

In some instances this coverage has descended to the level of mawisk spuriousness. A television news program on the visit of President Eisenhower to Amarillo opened with an obviously posed picture of a handful of West Texas youngsters lifting their arms in supplication toward the camera.

There is no reason to minimize the severity of the drouth and its cumulative effects. It is real, and the hardship it imposes is real. Help to tide over those who are hit by it is needed. But there is no reason to overdraw the picture. Specically, there is no justification for the conclusion that West Texas is due to revert to desert status. The same cry was raised during the "Dust Bowl" days of the thirties, and since that time West Texas has produced some record-breaking crops and has enjoyed the greatest agricultural prosperity it has ever known.

Though suffering, West Texas is not in exteremity. Come the rains, as they eventually will, and the area will rebound with that extraordinary capacity for recovery that always has characterezed it. Rain has worked miracles in West Texas in the past, and it will work miracles again. Where then, we wonder, will be thosewho now show such readiness to write it off as a vast and irreclaimable dessert?

—Fort Worth Star-Telegram

OTHER EDITORS SAY:—

The Horror of Famines

There is nothing new under the sun. History can be rightly called "a study of parrallels" and particularly in regard to the present record-breaking drouth.

Bad as the prolonged dry spell has been, we can take refuse in the fact that disasters, either local or national, bring out the humanitarian instincts of of the more fortunate. As a result, tragedy is averted through gifts, loans and other economic means.

But this was not always so. Recent studies show that man has sometimes had to cannibalism in order to live through the famines following great drouths.

In a story released by the Associated Press recently, Arthur Edon reports on a study of age-old drouths made by Julius Allen of the Library of Congress. Edon quotes Allen as saying famines also have been the cause of wars, migrations, revolutions and Communists.

"India and China, near starvation level even when things are at their best, have been hardest hit," Edson writes. "The University of Making figures that China has had 1,829 famines in the past 2,000 years.

"Famines have been no respector of geography. Some 650 famines have recorded in Europe. In 936 in Scotland, 'people began to devour one another'. During that time, the Irish sold their children for food."

There is this description of the Egyptian famine of 1064-1072, according to Edson.

"The wretched desorted to cannibalism, and organized bands kidnapped the unwary passenger in the desolate streets, principally by means of ropes furnished with hooks and let down from the latticed windows."

"Even the mere statistics are awesome: five million dead in the India famine of 1876-78, 91-2 million dead in North China in the same period, and 12 million dead of starvation during the Russian Revolution.

"The first written account of a drouth remains one of the best. Two thousand years before the time of Abraham, a drouth struck Egypt. The king, Tosorthrus, left his report on it, and any Texas or Okla. farmer will know how he felt.

"I am mourning on my high throne for the vast misfortune because the Nile flood has not come for seven years. Light is the grain; there is lack of crops and of all kinds of food.

" 'Each man has become a thief to his neighbor. They desire to hasten and cannot walk. The child cries, and the youth creeps along, and the old man; their souls are bowed down. . . .

Edison ends his story with Tosorthrus' note of almost complete desperation: " 'Torn open are the chests of provisions, but instead of contents there is air. Everything is exhausted'."

Battle Casualties

The official announcement of 1,563 additional U. S. battle casualities in Korea, the largest weekly increase since Nov. 7, 1951, is a somber reminder to the American people that Americans are being killed and wounded in a war to stem the tide of aggression.

Combat casualities of all types totaled 139,272 in the last tabulation announced. Battle deaths totaled 24,965, and there were 103,760 wounded. The others were missing, later to be listed as found, dead, or enemy captives. Even though a truce would not solve any basic problem in the Far East, the cesation of hostilities would adate the slaughter and maiming of those Americans whose lot it is to fight for the preservation of freedom today.

If an effort to clear all Korea of enemy soldiers were made, the casualties would skyrocket. Discussions as to policy in Korea should in all candor reckon the cost, including that by the fighting men on the front. Even in so-called limited warfare of the past, sheltered civilians at home should appreciate fully the meaning of the struggle for freedom in which some die others live to enjoy liberty.

STRICTLY FRESH

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek may be an expert on what he's talking about, but he probably has misinterpreted the government's plans, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

I was nappin out here yesterday afternoon on a couch on the front porch when a flutterin noise woke me up and I slapped at what I thought was a wasp found out it was a newspaper which a puff of wind had ropped over my face and the steady risin and fallin of the paper as I snored was what was makin the flappin noise, and since I was awake by then and the paper was at hand I lifted it off my face far enough away to get it in focus and still stay stretched out and read where Washington is now worried over what to do with an estimated 25 million idle acres next year if crop controls go into effect.

As I understand it, us farmers have produced so much stuff the Secretary of Agriculture will be required to reduce the number of acres can be planted to wheat, cotton and maybe other crops next year in order to make the price support program work, and Washington is scratchin it head and ponderin on the problem of what to do with the acres that'll be left idle.

Washington is sure strainin a point to find something to worry about. It just imagines idle acres will bother anybody. Maybe it's true at first the thought of some idle acres will bother some farmers too, but out of years of experience I can report if a man has the strength of character he can get used to seein idle acres all around him, and in time it ain't no more to worry about than fearin the sun won't come up in the mornin.

In fact, as an expert in handlin idle acres, I will be glad to take over the whole 25 million myself, if Washington can't think of anything else to do with em, and I will guarantee not an acre of it will be planted to wheat, cotton, corn, or any other crop the government wants to hold production down on. If holdin down production is what it takes to keep agriculture on an even keel, I'm the man they've been lookin for & I don't mind sayin I feel pretty good about the whole thing. I've been criticized from certain quarters for idle acres farmin for for years, and I'm proud that the government itself has come around to my way of thinkin.

As far as I'm concerned, idle acre farmin is the most satisfin occupation there is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Jesus Gave Apostles Thorough Training

Jesus was a great teacher, though He conducted no school in the ordinary sence of that word.

A famous adage described the ideal college as a log with Mark Hopkins, eminent college president, at one end and a student at the other. That conception stresses the necessary quality of all true education, that knowledge must became personalized.

The school of Jesus had that basic quality. It was mostly a school in the out-of-doors, a school of companionship and persnal contacts, a school in which the Teacher taught by constant example, and in which He encouraged every success in emulating that example. It was a school, too, in which the Teacher had infinite patience, as every true teacher must have.

The school of Jesus was like some of the schools of today in which knowledge & guidance are combined with experience & practice. Jesus sent the disciples in His school out into the villages, two by two, to practice what they had learned and to proclaim what they had heard.

When one considers how, even toward the end of His ministry, some of the Twelve were quarreling; one wonders just what the missionaries of the new-found Messiah taught the villagers. But they at least had some success, for they returned to Jesus with enthusiasm and wonderment at what they had been able to achieve.

A good school is pudged by its results and its product. What a school, then, was that of Jesus, in which humble men became Apostles and spiritual world consuerors!

I'd been planning to buy a higher-priced car until I found out all Chevrolet offered— and how much I could save!

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gear-shift models offer the advanced 108-h.p "Thrift-King" engine.

And it's the lowest-priced line

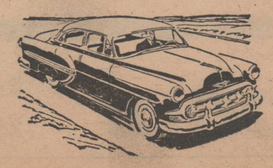
A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel*

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.



Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response —right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!
