90 Girls Poisoned In Oklahoma State Home At Tecumseh

25 CHILDREN IN INSTITUTION SERIOUSLY ILL

Delegation Reports Case to Governor After Whole Day

INQUIRY UNDER WAY

Murray Orders All Food at Home Analyzed For Drugs

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18 (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray announced late today that 90 inmates of the state industrial school for girls at Tecumseh had been poisoned.

He said that 25 of the girls were still ill but were expected to recover. The governor named Dr. G. N. Bilby, state health commissioner to investigate the case.

Murray was informed by investigators that it was rumored some one had dropped arsenic in food while it was being cooked.

Governor Murray said an analysis of every article of food used at the home in the evening meal Wednesday would be made.

A delegation from Tecumseh reported the poisoning to the governor today.

MURRAY SUSPECTS POLITICAL PLOT

TECUMSEH, Okla., Sept. 18. (AP)—The illness of 70 teachers and girls in the state home for delinquent minors here Wednesday night, ordered investigated by Governor Murray late today, remained unsolved tonight as 25 still were confined to their beds. They were believed past danger.

Governor Murray, in announcing a state investigation, said he suspected the 70 were poisoned as part of a plot to discredit Mrs. M. O. Bezanson, superintendent of the home, his appointee.

A delegation from Tecumseh reported the girls' illness to the governor at the capitol today. Murray said an immediate analysis of all remaining supplies of the food served at the Wednesday night meal would be made.

Although Governor Murray said suspicion was directed toward two persons, officials at the home, in which there are 220 girls, disclaimed any knowledge of a plot or the cause for the girls' illness.

Mrs. Bezanson, who said matrons at the home "had a terrible time" when the 70 were stricken soon after the evening meal, could give no information concerning the cause.

Many suffered acutely, she said.

Dr. J. M. Byrum, physician who attended the stricken girls, said tonight their illness was nothing more than dysentery.

State Cuts Output Of East Texas Wells To 185 Barrels Each

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—The railroad commission late today issued an order reducing the per well allowable in the East Texas oil field from 225 to 185 barrels daily. The order will become effective Monday morning.

Meanwhile representatives of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, meeting here, pledged their efforts to restrict oil production of the three states to certain definite figures.

The suggested maximum production was Texas, 902,000 barrels daily, Oklahoma 546,000 barrels, and Kansas, 110,000 barrels. The present Texas production is around 1,000,000 barrels.

Represent Governors

Those attending today's conference were representatives of the governors and oil regulatory bodies of their states.

The new East Texas order said the gas-oil ratio in that field should not exceed 500 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil. The present East Texas production is around 425,000 barrels daily. The new order should cut it to considerably less than 400,000 barrels pending bringing in of new wells.

The new order will last until early in November "or until the railroad commission shall have completed its investigation in said field or until the order may be amended or changed for good cause shown."

Program Approved

The group today approved the world oil stabilization program adopted at the oil stabilization conference at Oklahoma City last Friday "insofar as the laws of our respective states permit."

After the conference Governor Sterling issued a statement in which he said that he was "not unmindful that the eyes of the nation interested in the oil industry are turned toward Texas. Texas is said to be the key to the situation," the governor stated. "East Texas is the key to Texas."

"Realizing the responsibility resting on me as chief executive of this state I wish to give renewed assurance to the world that I shall exercise all the power that in me lies under the constitution and laws of Texas to safeguard the natural resources of Texas as a sacred heritage to the people of our day and those to come after us."

HEARING SEPT. 30. TO REGULATE STATE

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—The railroad commission will hold a meeting here Sept. 30 to consider setting a new allowable production figure for all oil fields other than East Texas and the Panhandle.

The Panhandle hearing will be held at Amarillo Oct. 3. The commission does not contemplate another hearing at the same time on the East Texas allowable.

Three Texas Sheriffs Indicted For Extortion in Central Texas Fee Quiz

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Travis county grand jury late today returned eight indictments charging extortion against Sheriffs Clint D. Lewis of Burleson county, John Bigham of Bell county, and Woody Townsend of Bastrop county.

Lewis was indicted on four counts, Bigham on two and Townsend on two. The officials were alleged to have collected on excessive expensive accounts.

The grand jury had been in session almost two weeks. Grady Sturgeon, assistant attorney general, and members of the senate committee making a state-wide investigation of alleged fee irregularities of county officials, had assisted in placing evidence before the grand jurors.

$1,000 Bonds Fixed

J. B. Price, district judge at Bastrop, was impeached by the house of representatives on charges of having negligently approved alleged excessive expense accounts of Lewis, Townsend and one other peace officer in his district.

W. F. Robertson, district judge here, fixed bond in the sum of $1,000 in each indictment.

The indictments charged that the three sheriffs claimed and received payment for services not performed or received excessive payment for services rendered. Bigham was alleged to have illegally collected $10 and $250 for serving subpoenas; to have collected $88.60 for transferring a prisoner from the Eastham state farm to Belton and $85 for taking a convict from the state prison at Huntsville to Belton.

Jury Recesses

Judge Robertson's court is a new one and these will be the first cases on his criminal docket. No date had yet been set for taking up the criminal docket.

COTTON BILLS IN CONFERENCE

Free Committee Named to Reach Agreement

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (UP)—Efforts of Texas lawmakers to cut this state's production of cotton in half focused tonight on a conference committee.

Two small figures stood in the way of final passage of a farm relief bill. The senate today adopted a bill restricting the planting of cotton for the next two years to 25 per cent of the tilled soil. Their bill was offered as an amendment to the house measure, restricting planting to 33 1-3 per cent of the cultivated land, and directed back for the approval of Texas' 150 representatives. The lower house refused to concur, voting 95 to 7.

Five senators were appointed to the conference committee: Walter C. Woodward, Oliver C. Cunningham, Clint Small, Miss Margie Neal and W. E. Thomason.

House conferees were Representatives J. J. Olsen, Henry A. Turner, E. T. Murphy and Lawrence Westbrook.

Down in his high-ceiling office on the first floor of the capitol building, Gov. Ross Sterling smiled. The legislature had closed with a bang the doors of the state house to Gov. Huey Long's "cotton baby." Texas, though stumbling through a thicket of economic thistles, was still ruled by Texans—and Gov. Ross Shaw Sterling.

CHARGE FROM SOTGUN HITS CITY OFFICER

Three of Marshal's Shots Strike Iowa Park Oil Worker

BOTH TO RECOVER

C. C. Morris and Will Detleff in Wichita Falls Hospital

City Marshal Will Detleff of Iowa Park and Calvin C. Morris of the same city are in the Wichita General hospital as a result of gunshot wounds received about 9 o'clock Friday night in Iowa Park when the officer answered a call to the Morris home to quell a reported disturbance.

Mr. Detleff was shot in the right leg, just below the knee, with a .410 guage shotgun, according to information given at the hospital and by officers. The wound was not considered serious.

Both to Recover

Morris received three bullets from the officer's pistol, one in the neck, one in the shoulder, and one on the jaw. Preliminary examination made Friday night at the hospital was followed by the statement that his wounds probably will not prove of a critical nature.

Reports obtained from Iowa Park and from local officers who investigated the shooting, indicated that the gun-play resulted from Mr. Detleff's appearance at the Morris home in response to a telephoned request that a disturbance at that place be quieted. The call for an officer, it was said, had resulted from calls for help by "Skeets" Morris, a brother of the wounded man. The brothers had been seated in an automobile before the home of "Skeets" Morris, it was reported.

Upon arriving at the scene, the officers said, Marshal Detleff inquired for "Skeets" Morris at his home, but could obtain no informa-

American and English Episcopal Church Divided on Birth Control

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 18. (US)—Possibility of an open controversy over birth control between the English Episcopal church and the Protestant Episcopal church in America loomed tonight.

A closed session of the house of bishops of the American branch of the church, now meeting here as a part of the 50th general assembly of the church, will be held tomorrow morning, and at that time a definite stand may be taken.

It is known that a majority of the American bishops, of which there are 135, are opposed to birth control, vigorously opposed. The English bishops have declared themselves as favoring the practice in certain instances.

The meeting of bishops was called upon the request of Bishop Irving P. Johnson of Colorado, editor of the church publication, The Witness. He has termed the action of the English bishops at the Lambeth conference last year embarrassing.

Lord Bishop Michael B. Furse of St. Albans, London, England, himself an opponent of birth control, will attend the meeting by permission of the American bishops.

Spencer Miller of South Orange, N. J., in an address before the general convention today declared that the present world crisis and business depression is a direct challenge to the church, which, he said, will be rendered impotent to guide the moral standards of any nation if the problem is not met successfully.

Stolen Pistol And Girl's Ring Found In Suspect's Room

Browning Places One Negro in Fort Worth Jail After Murder Charge Is Filed; Officers Grill Blacks

Statements from several negroes held in the Wichita county jail in connection with the slaying of Audrey N. Nodruft were taken Friday night by Assistant Attorney Mike Anglin. Mr. Anglin declined to say what information had been secured.

An Associated Press dispatch from Fort Worth said that Sheriff Perry Browning reached there shortly after 10 o'clock with Robert Pope charged with the murder of Nodurft. Officers here declined to reveal the location of the other negro suspect, or to confirm that Sheriff Browning was in Fort Worth.

Two negroes who are believed to have fatally shot Audrey N. Nodurft and assaulted his fiancee here Wednesday of last week were captured by officers here Friday afternoon.

One of the blacks was caught after a long pursuit and after he had dashed into and concealed himself in the building of the Goodner Wholesale grocery,

Officers captured the second negro after lying in wait for him at the home of a negro woman, which both negroes were known to frequent.

Both were spirited out of town a few minutes after being taken into custody. Before, however, one of the blacks, against whom the strongest case is to be had, was viewed by the girl.

'His Voice Is the Same,' Girl Says

She could not positively identify him as one of the two who murdered her sweetheart and attacked her, but said that he looked like one of them. She declared his voice to be exactly the same.

She instantly identified as her own an engagement ring given her by Nordurft and found by possemen who searched a negro home where the suspect was said to have lodged.

The negro viewed by the girl gave his name as Robert Pope. Charges of murder were filed against him late Friday afternoon. O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, filed the charge, after Ivey Gonzalez, city jailer and fingerprint expert, signed the complaint, which was taken by District Attorney Sam B. Spence.

Gonzalez and Spence were the officers who ran down Pope. The capture resulted from information given them by a negro who had assisted all day in the search.

A chase of several blocks occurred before the black was cornered in the grocery building. Several shots were fired by Gonzalez as the negro fled.

Spence, Gonzalez and the assisting negro proceeded to a point on Barwise street, where the hunted man was seen at a distance. On sight of the officers, he broke into a run. Gonzalez fired at the negro as he bobbed into sight, dodging from one concealment to another, as they pursued in an automobile. One shot barely missed its mark, but caused the negro, as he ran, to reach for his head with both hands as the missile from Gonzalez gun passed over.

The chase progressed, the negro running and with officers now on foot and now in the automobile, through the yards and part of the plant of the People's Ice company, from there onto the Wichita Valley railroad tracks, and thence across a section of almost open ground thinly settled with houses, to the Goodner grocery.

Black Shows No Fear of Gun

As Spence and Gonzalez hurried into the building, the negro had just been located in a second story storage room. Jack Oaks, a truck driver for the concern, secured a pistol and approached the room. Levelling the gun at the black, he commanded him to surrender. The prisoner, it was said, offered no resistance, but came with hands upraised. He showed no signs of fear or nervousness, it was declared.

From that point the black was taken to the county jail, where to avert an outbreak of violence, Mr. Spence said that the wanted negro had escaped. After a brief questioning at the jail, the negro was taken before the girl.

Members of the sheriff's department carried the negro in one automobile. Mr. Spence, in a second automobile, obtained Nodruft's fiancee and her mother. Still taking precaution against violence against the negro, the two cars met at a given point near the outskirts of the city.

At sight of the black, a shudder passed over the two women. They hesitated, apparently from a sense of horror, to let him approach close.

Viewing the negro, however, the girl admitted that "he certainly looks like one of the men." She asked to hear his voice. Her request granted, she declared "his voice is exactly the same."

The 23-year-old girl still showed visible signs of her harrowing experience of 10 days ago. She appeared to be under an intense nervous strain. Mr. Spence questioned her briefly in connection with the negro's identity as he drove her and the mother home.

Pope admitted to officers that he is an escaped convict from the Texas state penitentiary, Mr. Spence said, and an ex-convict from the Oklahoma state penitentiary. He said he had been in Wichita Falls about a month.

The second negro was captured earlier in the afternoon. At first officers held him only as a witness and did not connect him directly with the outrage against Nodurft and the young woman.

'Partner' Believed Second Man Wanted

Questioning of several negroes, however, revealed that the two blacks were partners. The girl did not view this negro. She was believed to be in no condition to be questioned again in the case, and the second suspect also was sent out of the city.

Authorities refused to reveal the place where the two were taken. Sheriff Perry Browning and Ernest Deaton, police traffic sergeant, left here with the two immediately after the one had been viewed by the young woman. Word was received here during the early hours of Friday evening that the two officers had arrived safely at their destination with their charges.

Members of the sheriff's department were visibly worried for a time that some mishap had occurred to the officers as they carried the negroes to another city for safekeeping. It was feared for a time that the negroes had overpowered the two officers and escaped. They were considerably overdue at their destination when it was finally telephoned here that the transfer had been made without accident.

Pope is the same negro who escaped from Sheriff Browning and Deputy Pat Allen on Holliday creek early Friday morning.

Browning and Allen were notified early Friday that a negro woman was seen carrying food to a negro man who was concealed on Holliday creek, in the vicinity of the old Petrolia road.

NEGROES HELD AS SLAYERS

the negro, Pope, armed with a shotgun. The woman was with him. Both fled as the officers approached. Despite the chase given by the officers, the man escaped. The woman however, was taken and held.

Deputy Allen continued the search for the man. Sheriff Browning returned to the police station with the woman.

Making his way through the underbrush, the deputy saw two boys who approached and told him that a negro with a shotgun had fired two shots at them. The officer pressed on after the negro, then several hundred yards away, but lost the trail near the Washington school.

Meanwhile the captured woman had been questioned. Her home, on Juarez street, was searched. Her purse contained a ring, the one given by Nodurft to his fiancee, and which had been stripped from her by her two assaulters after her sweetheart had been left with a bullet in his neck.

At the home, a .44 caliber pistol, the same size gun used in Nodurft's death, was found. It was identified as belonging to James Glenn, former night police chief here. It was stolen from Glenn's home about a month ago.

With the discovery of the ring, every available officer was pressed into service. A force of 100 men was gathered by calling on firemen, national guardsmen and private citizens.

The posses, hastily formed, were rushed to the vicinity of the negro's hideout. The man hunt continued with scores of searchers beating the brush and probing into every place where a man could conceal himself.

As the man hunt spread, several negro homes were searched. The search of a second negress' home, on Roosevelt street, resulted in the discovery of the shotgun, a felt hat and a leathern jacket that Pope had abandoned after throwing Allen off his trail.

The shotgun was concealed in the ceiling of the home. The house was thoroughly ransacked before officers came upon the evidence they sought.

It was at this home that the second suspect was captured, at the time held only as a witness for questioning, but later as the probable companion in the murder of Nodurft.

Knowledge of Pair Denied

Various searches resulted in two more men being taken for questioning. Most of the four taken are relatives of the first woman, captured at the time of Pope's flight from his concealment on the creek.

Very little information of value was obtained from the interrogation of the negroes, it was said. They consistently denied knowledge of the sought man. The Jaurez street negress is to placed under a bond Saturday as a material witness in the case, Mr. Spence said. Until Saturday she is held in jail.

She said that Pope had given her the ring last week.

Pope, at one point in his questioning by officers, declared that he had purchased the ring and pistol from an unknown negro the morning after the attack on the young couple as they sat in their automobile, parked near the intersection of Brook and Dayton streets.

The second negress, whose home is on Roosevelt street, said that Pope had called on her a number of times, and that he had roomed there for a while.

Negro Aids Officers

Many and varied clues were worked on by authorities in an effort to pick up Pope's trail again.

Officers returned Friday afternoon to the place where Pope and his woman companion were surprised during the morning by Browning and Allen. A number of pots, pans and other cooking utensils were found in a clearing. Appearance of the place indicated that one or more persons had been camping there for several days.

Early in the afternoon, Mr. Spence was questioning the negro who aided in the ultimate capture of Pope. Pope, it seems, had used both "Bob" and "Johnny" as first names. Asked by Mr. Spence if he knew of 'Johnny," the negro replied that he did, and that he had seen him at the Juarez street place.

The negro said that he might be able to locate Pope. Spence hurriedly obtained the only officer handy at the time, Gonzalez, and the negro took off for the negro section of the city.

They questioned several negro men. Pope was not known, or he had not been seen. The officers were about to drive away, when a negro woman stepped to the porch of her home and said that she saw 'Johnny" go "up the road" early that morning.

Again the officers started to drive away, believing the trace of the negro could be found.

Suddenly the negro in the automobile cried, "There he is, Mr. Sam. There goes Johnny."

Officer Fires at Black

A negro was seen running. The automobile started as the pursued man rounded a corner, going out of view. At top speed the car followed, coming into view of Pope as he entered the grounds of the People's Ice company. Gonzalez fired, but missed.

Leaving the automobile with the negro helper, Gonzalez and Spence continued the chase on foot. Following the fugitive through a part of the ice plant, they pressed so closely that the black continued his flight into the railroad tracks, then southward for a short distance, where he cut west toward Scott avenue. Again gaining a view of the man, Gonzalez fired, barely missing. The negro again went out of sight behind buildings as he continued to run.

When the two pursuers reached the wholesale house, they believed the negro had entered. Gonzalez went to the side entrance, where the loading rack was located. The negro apparently entered here. Mr Spence entered through the front.

At the sight of the district attorney, C. D. Whitley, manager of the grocery, said that he sensed something in connection with the attack. A shout from Gonzalez, outside, spurred Whitley to galvanize his force of workers into action. Hastily he ordered that every exit be barred.

Oaks secured the gun, and a moment later the negro was in the hands of the officers.

It was about two hours later when the second negro was connected in the case.

Mr. Spence followed Sheriff Browning to the city where the negroes are held. Leaving at 10 o'clock Friday night, Mr. Spence declared that Pope is the black upon which most evidence has been obtained. The district attorney said that he hoped to obtain much valuable information Saturday morning, when he planned to thoroughly grill the negro in an effort to secure more evidence.

He said that a bullet from the seized gun probably would be fired Saturday and sent to Oklahoma City for comparison by a ballistics expert who examined the bullet taken from Nodurft's body.

The negroes will be brought before the October grand jury, which meets Oct. 3. No effort will probably be made to secure a special grand jury, Mr. Spence said.

Wichita Woman Cans Enough Food For Family for One Year

Although summer is not yet over and there are still fruits to be put up and jellies to be made, Mrs. W. H. Kiel, pantry demonstrator for the City View Demonstration club, who lives on the Iowa Park road, has containers enough of meats, vegetables, sweets and pickles to feed her own family and entertain all the company she wishes.

Mrs. Kiel has a concrete basement in her home and the rows of shelves—full of jellies in gleaming colors with tins of meats and vegetables—is a perfect demonstration of a way to guard against need when winter comes.

She has on the shelves—put up this season—122 containers of corn; 108 containers of peas; 17 of beets; six of okra; six of carrots; 31 of tomatoes; 31 of pickles and relish; nine of beans; 13 of summer squash; 102 of beef, roast, steak, etc.; 34 of chicken; 109 of peaches; 83 of berries; 119 of jams, jellies, preserves and fruit butters; 112 of grape, berry and other fruit juices.

tion as to the man's whereabouts. Members of the household declared that he had disappeared as soon as the call for an officer had been made.

Officer Returns Fire

The marshal then approached the car in which C. C. Morris was seated, according to the report given. As he neared the car, he was met by shotgun fire, the charge striking his leg. He replied instantly with three pistol shots which brought down his alleged attacker.

Both men were given medical attention in Iowa Park before being transferred to the hospital here.

It was said that Morris has lived in Iowa Park for several years, and is an oil field worker. Detleff has been night marshal there for several years, according to the information obtained.

No trace of "Skeets" Morris could be found Friday night, it was said, but officers working on the case declared that efforts will be made to question the missing man within the next few hours. Assistant District Attorney George W. Anderson said that no charges would be filed in the case before Saturday morning.

Deputy Sheriffs Pat Allen, H. L. White, Ben Howle, and Assistant Jailer L. N. McKelvey rushed to Iowa Park Friday night in response to the call received at the sheriff's office immediately after the shooting.

this PACKAGE CONTAINS MORE SOAP

Don't buy soap by the size of the package. That White King carton may look smaller, but it is full of condensed soap. It will weigh more heavily in your hand, because it does not contain the air and moisture with which ordinary package soaps are "fluffed" to give greater volume.

White King is made from the purest of vegetable and nut oils. The result is that you use less of this fine granulated soap than ordinary soaps to produce a fine washing suds. The purity of these oils account for the quick washing and free rinsing qualities of White King.—And equally important, make it fully effective in the lukewarm water that modern fabrics require. No need to use hot water which is harmful alike to clothes as well as tender hands.

Ask your dealer for White King Granulated Soap today. Use it for every household use from dish pan to washing machine. You'll find it the most economical soap you have ever used.

OPTION BETTING TO BE TESTED

Waggoner Track Meeting To See Arrests

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18. (AP)—A test case of the legality of the option system of speculation on horse races will result from the one-day meet at Arlington downs Saturday, it was indicated here Friday when, after a statement by W. T. Waggoner, Tarrant county law enforcement officials announced they would make a few arrests.

"I do not know," said Sheriff Wright, "if the option system is a violation of the law or not but I will make one or more arrests Saturday for the purpose of creating a case which will settle the matter."

District Attorney Martin has not made an investigation to determine whether the system is a law violation. He said that if it is, he will treat it as any other law violation. The matter of making the arrest, however, is a function of the sheriff's department, Martin explained.

In connection with the races and barbecue, Waggoner, owner of the downs, issued the following statement Friday:

"I wish to make it clear that betting on races and gambling of all sorts at Arlington downs had always been prohibited, and the same policy will be pursued by Arlington downs on this occasion.

"There will be no betting, no bookmaking, nor any form of gambling at Arlington downs on the occasion of this race meet, and I am sure that those who attend this meet will gladly conform to our views on these matters."

Waggoner said that it was the universal experience that horse racing cannot be successfully conducted without some form or system of public participation in such races. The practice of selling options in claiming races is followed in other places, and that he had been advised that this was not in violation of any law of Texas.

Mangum Pioneer Enjoys Plane Ride on Birthday

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 18.—Of his 70 birthday celebrations, Davis McDuff, pioneer Mangum resident, says that Wednesday's was the most thrilling. He spent an hour 1,300 feet above the earth in his first airplane ride, with Ray Shifflett, manager of the Mangum Airport, as pilot.

Nearly deaf for a number of years, Mr. McDuff stated that while above the clouds his hearing was greatly improved. Upon reaching terra firma again the elderly passenger's remark was, "Well, I'll be dogged, if that wasn't fine scenery!"

Mr. McDuff has nine living children and 33 grandchildren.

Gypsies Jailed in Kidnaping of Girl

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18. (UP)—Nineteen Gypsies were placed in jail today as county officers sought a 16-year-old girl reported kidnaped near Collinsville Monday.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Loie Young, told officers that she trailed a Gypsy car to Oklahoma City.

She said she left her daughter and two sons in the family car near Collinsville Monday while she went to get a flat tire repaired.

When she returned, the daughter, Joan, was gone. The two boys told her a party of Gypsies stopped to talk to the girl and that two men had led her to a car and forced her to enter. She has not been seen since, the mother said.

The 19 Gypsies arrested today were charged with vagrancy. They denied knowledge of the kidnaping.

MURRAY DENIES SLAYER MERCY

Henry Lovett Must Die for Coach's Death

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18. (UP)—Gov. William H. Murray today denied clemency to Henry Lovett, Chickasha, sentenced to die in the electric chair a week from tomorrow.

Lovett was convicted in Canadian county district court on a charge of murder in the bank robbery slaying of Dee Foliart, El Reno High school wrestling coach.

Alone, Lovett was robbing the bank when the coach entered the door. When Foliart was slow in complying with his demands, Lovett fired at him. Foliart died shortly after the shooting in a hospital.

Lovett was seriously wounded when he ran into fire from a vigilante as he left the bank.

At his trial he pleaded insanity. His appeal to the criminal court of appeals has been denied.

The shooting occurred last November at the First National bank of El Reno.

Governor Murray said he had studied all the evidence in the case and had decided to let the sentence stand. The governor said he delayed his decision as long as possible to prevent a prolonged fight for Lovett's life.

Fleischmann Yeast Draws $3,000 Fine

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 18. (INS)—A fine of $3,000 was levied today on the Fleischmann Yeast company of Ohio by Judge Louis Fitzhenry in federal court here after counsel for the yeast company had filed pleas of "nolo contendere" neither denying nor admitting charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

The assessment of the penalty marked the close of the case which involved the Corn Products company of New York, the Hubinger company of Keokuk, Iowa, the Fleischmann company, Dominic Tarro, reputed liquor chief, and other individuals

Counsel for the company declared that the Fleischmann concern was dissolved and absorbed by Standard Brands, Inc., before the indictment was returned and therefore their client was never a party to the alleged conspiracy.

Rough, red hands! So unnecessary!

DISHES have to be washed, of course. But dish-water that is hard is cruel to hands. The hardness mixes with the soap, and forms a ring of grease and dirt. Then the grease and dirt go on your hands. Rough, red hands! So unnecessary!

Soft water won't treat your hands that way. You can soften water by adding Melo. It is a remarkable cleaner, with or without soap. Scum goes. The suds come. How clean they make the dishes! How kind the soft water is to your hands! Get a can of Melo today at your grocer's.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas' first election was held in 1836, 4,322 votes being cast in all. Sam Houston was elected president of the republic, his strength with the votting public being shown by the fact that out of the 4,322 total he received 3,585 and the remainder being divided among three other candidates.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Recogntion by outsiders of the industrial possibilities of Texas and by Texans of the benefits that would accrue to the state from its further industrialization is helping Texas to continue forward industrially, steadily if somewhat slowly. . . . A Los Angeles concern has acquired a graphite mill at Houston and will make it into a clay-grinding plant for manufacture of a petroleum filtering agent. . . . Dallas is working on a proposal from outside-the-state capital for a $1,000,000 steel mill. . . . A Wilmington, Del., company, owning the Darco plant at Marshall, will spend $75,000 in new equipment and increased facilities and is reported to have let contract for the reopening of its lignite mines from which it draws its raw materials. . . . Laredo, in a relatively new citrus fruit development, is building a citrus packing plant to be in operation by Oct. 1. San Carlos is to have a $75,000 fruit packing plant, Harlingen one to cost $80,000. . . . McKinney citizens are considering proposals for a wash dress manufacturing plant that would have a pay roll of $40,000 to $50,000 a year. . . . The recently completed refinery at Kilgore decides to increase its capacity from 2,000 barrels to 5,000 barrels daily, while Gilmer has been asked to furnish a site for a 2,000-barrel refinery. . . . The San Saba plant of a San Antonio fertilizer and chemical company is being increased to a capacity of 100 tons daily. . . . A Beaumont bakery is investing $35,000 in additional ovens to take care of increased demand. . . . A Dallas paint factory has adopted plans for increasing its capacity 50 per cent in 1932. . . . LaCoste has a new thrashing and curing plant. . . . The new Nacogdoches canning plant, built as a result of cooperation between business men and truck growers, starts operations with 100 employes. . . . The flour mill at Temple, closed down for several months, resumes operations. . . . The glass factory at Santa Anna, after a shutdown of a few months, has reopened on full time with the good demand for its products necessitating that schedule. . . . The cotton mill at Post, which for two years has been running on a part time basis, is resuming operations on a full 55-hour week schedule and bringing its pay roll back to $250,000 a year.

Chance Worth Taking

AN EXTREMELY interesting experiment in criminology is proceeding in Ohio these days.

A bond salesman was arrested at Akron last spring for forging a $15 check. He complained that his mental condition was not right. Nine years ago, he said, he had been hit on the head while playing football, and the injury had left him unable to distinguish between right and wrong.

The Ohio authorities decided to take him at his word. They sent him to the state hospital for observation, and psychiatrists agreed that he was indeed handicapped by a skull injury.

So, the other day, the prisoner was operated on. A bit of bone that had been pressing on his brain was removed, and after the operation it was announced that he would not be prosecuted on the forgery charge.

It is perfectly possible, of course, that the authorities were imposed on. It is noteworthy, for instance, that Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago football team—the team on which the man said he was playing when he got hurt—denies that the man ever played for Chicago. It may be that he has cleverly put one over on prosecutors and doctors.

But that isn't the point. The point is that the authorities were willing to experiment—willing to take a chance on being fooled in order to try to rehabilitate a criminal and make him a useful member of society again.

A chance of that kind is abundantly worth taking. Suppose that the man should turn out to be a faker, after all. One more crook, among the thousands that infest the land, is hardly worth worrying about. On the other hand, if it develops that he and the doctors were right, Ohio has developed an honest, law-abiding citizen in place of a convict—an exchange that is always worth making.

Society is none too willing to take chances of this kind. That is one reason why so many criminals are second and third offenders. We shall never meet the problem of the "crime wave" intelligently until we are more ready to risk something in dealing with men who have broken the law.

Praising Public Figures

IN A time such as this, when it seems to be the mode to criticize and denounce politicians and other public officials, the wave of resentment against those serving the people is likely to reach unexpected heights.

It would be well to remember that despite rumor and gossip there are many honest, capable men sincerely trying to do their best. They should be appreciated, even if some of their fellows stoop to the contemptible practices and downright dishonesty typical of the worst kind of politician.

Certainly it must be encouraging for a good public servant to find out that there is deserved praise for a job well done. It must be a source of strength when the temptation to make easy money from graft happens along. For if he knows that those he serves appreciate him he is less likely to say "Nobody cares, I might as well get what I can." We are all human that way.

And so, when handing out bouquets of thorns it might be well to bring along a few roses, too. Every community in America has one or more officials deserving praise. It is the duty of the public to see that they are appreciated. And it is not necessary to wait until election.

Worth the Expense

A PUBLISHING firm announces that the Wickersham report on prison conditions cost the government approximately 50 cents a word. Since the report contained a great many words, this naturally means that it was fairly expensive.

But it will probably become apparent, as time passes, that it was worth it. This survey of prisons was a thing that the country needed very badly. The job was competently done, and it will be of extreme value to sociologists, criminologists and legislators for years to come.

Fifty cents a word is a higher rate than any editor is willing to pay for manuscripts, even from the most famous writers. But Uncle Sam, proving himself the most generous editor in existence, got, nevertheless, full value for his money.

Forest Fires and Incendiarism

ONE of the strangest and most dismaying things about the terrible forest fires that have swept the West in the last few weeks is the fact that so many are of incendiary origin.

Time after time investigators have discovered unmistakable evidence that someone had voluntarily and maliciously started the destructive fires; and the whole business is exceedingly hard to understand.

Have all the firebugs in America congregated in the Far West? Have the hard times bred in the down-and-outer an insane desire to see other people's property destroyed? The alarming extent of incendiarism this summer is as puzzling as it is villainous.

Truism

Why worry, dear, in this delightful season
If I have proved untrue—why not be glad?
With your appeal there isn't any reason
Why you should ever want for any lad.

I never claimed to be a saintly creature,
My flesh is weak like any other male's,
And constancy has never been a feature
Of one who scurries off when glamour pales.

I wish you lovely females would discover
That jealousy will always wake a lad,
If you would find yourself another lover,
And quite forget the romance that we had—

I guarantee I'd spend my waking hours
In pelting you with verse and costly flowers!
—Lady Chatterley's Lover.

Haw!

Alderman Walter F. Hagan, who is running for re-election, made George Jessel tell him a joke last night.

Jessel responded with the one about the Jewish panhandler, who halted him on Broadway.

"My vife an' kits are starving," moaned the beggar. "Wot I'm gung to do?"

Jessel was so touched he gave him $2, and then followed him to see how he would spend the money.

The heeb walked into a delicatessen store and ordered $2 worth of smoked salmon (lox to you!), which he proceeded to eat there, up against the counter.

"I thought your wife and children were starving," bellowed Jessel, "and here you are eating salmon!"

"For Gotsakes!" shrieked the faker, as he stamped his foot and started to cry, "when I ain't got no moneh, I ken't hev salmon. And when I got moneh, I ken't hev salmon. When am I ever gung to hev salmon!"

Absolutely

Wife: "How do you like my new Eugenie hat?"

Husband: "Why don't you buy another so you can throw 'em both away?"

Titter

From Wallace Chittenden comes the bedtime tale of the 5-year-old son who awoke at 3 a. m. and said to his mother: "Mommy, tell me a story?"

"Hush, dear," replied mother, "papa will be home any hour now, and tell us both one."

Prosperity Item

A music teacher in Chicago, according to Chas. Nixon, had returned from a vacation. A friend halted him on the street.

"You're looking well," said the pal, "and now tell me. How's business?"

"Great! Great!" ejaculated the music teacher, "I've got my pupil back!"

As If You Didn't Know

From David Murray: On Broadway, if you marry two women, that's bigamy. If you marry one woman, that's alimony.

Novelette

Perry A. Hull, the attorney, has an actor client who has been out of work so long that he has already done a solid 48 weeks in front of the Palace.

He has been trying to sue every one from Jack Lait, whom he does not know at all, to Sam Katz, whom he knows only slightly. Hull discouraged his legal ambitions, so the actor said: "The Communists are right. Capital has us by the throat."

With his last dime in his pocket and wearing his only loud-check suit and last white collar, he attended a Communist rally.

The speaker was razzing the rich. Finally he looked down at the actor and shook a wicked finger:

"You're the kind of a man I mean," shouted the orator to the actor. "You! you bloated gobble-fish. You wear white collars and good clothes while I wear overalls. You have everything while I have nothing. Get out of here!"

So the actor went wearily back to his beat in front of the Palace.

It Really Happens

When the lovely Ruth Etting of Mr. Ziegfeld's "Follies" appeared in his "Whoopee" show, her specialty was a few songs. "Whoopee," incidentally, was her first show, and during the last rehearsal they decided to give her one line to speak.

Her husband, who manages her, watcher her first performance breathlessly. When she got through speaking her only line, Mr. Etting raced backstage to Eddie Cantor, the star:

"I always knew she could sing, Eddie," he screamed, "but, my God, I never realized that she was an actress!"

Add Similes

M. S. L.'s: "She is as accommodating as traffic lights when you're late."

Of All Things!

They are trying to start another race war with this one. It comes from George D. Lottman, who certainly isn't a Cuban!

A dialectician said that he had married a Gentile girl, and his friend asked him why he hadn't married one of his own kind.

"Becuss," explained the groom, "a Joosh girl has so much trouble. She gats seeck or she has to go to de danteest or have an operation or somting!"

"Well," asked the other, "doesn't the same thing happen to other girls?"

"Certainly!" was the reply, "but who cares?"

And They Suppress Desires!

Fred McIsaac, once a dramatic critic here, and now a Hollywood scenario writer, sends on the following verdict from a lady film agent, who also returned McIsaac's gangster novel.

Her report said in part: "The producers are not buying any more gangster stories and are changing over the gangsters and making them newspaper reporters."

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Nollie Day, pretty and ambitious, longs to escape the unhappy life she leads with her aunt and uncle in the small town of Yapahunk. She wins a $80 newspaper prize and goes to New York. After three days of fruitless search for a position, Nollie's funds become depleted. Exhausted she faints on the street and later finds herself in a tawdry house, where a woman called "Daffy," tells Nollie she could make "easy" money.

CHAPTER VI.

"But there' lots of other ways a good-looking girl like you can make a living—" Yellow Hair broke off.

"No. Although I'm trained as a secretary I don't see anybody falling over themselves to get my services."

"I didn't mean that kind of job." Yellow Hair's eyes narrowed as they appraised Nollie. "With your pretty face and figure and your youth, you haven't any real cause—not in this town—to worry . . ."

"But I don't understand what kind of work you mean?" said Nollie.

"Well, men aren't blind . . . not to a pretty face, that is . . . and kidding men along means pretty easy money. . ."

Nollie in the tiny theatrical apartment that was in a "walk up" just off Broadway—lent a doubtful ear to the woman's philosophy.

"A girl with your good looks . . . kidding men along means easy money . . ."

The tow-headed blonde in the soiled kimono winked at Nollie meaningly as they sat by the open window before a card table on which a modest supper from the delicatessen was spread out.

"Pretty green, aren't you, huh?" Nollie's rescuer and adviser was, with great gusto, tackling a turkey leg.

"I expect I am." Nollie felt all at sea . . . a query in her mind . . . and disconcerted. . . .

"You'll soon get over that. I used to be a fool, like you, before I knew the ropes. But none of the men can put anything across me now. I'm here to tell the world!" And the blonde lady sagely nodded her head.

"I guess I know the very man for you. Does not mind how he chucks away the dough! He makes it fast, you see. He's in a grand racket."

It seemed that this odd lady (odd to Nollie, that's to say) had a large assortment of men friends, and wanted Nollie to meet them to their mutual profit.

"Say, I've taken a shine to you, kid, and I'm particklar about my girl friends—have to be, y'know—from Park avenue to Broadway they're all alike today. You can't trust any of 'em further than you can see 'em! They're all double-crossers!"

She poured herself a stein of beer— "the real stuff" she said, that she had got from Joe, who was a "kind of a heart" of hers, and a smart bootlegger.

Nollie declined her offer of this beverage. She drank water.

"Say, don't you ever get liquored up at all? You won't get far, not even with your good looks, not if you aren't sporty."

Nollie indicated that she had no desire for sportiveness. All that she wanted was—a job—and quickly.

"Oh, there's time enough for that. You can stay right here with me," suggested Yellow Hair for the second time that evening, magnanimously.

"I wouldn't be a burden on you after your kindness and all," rejoined Nollie.

"Burden nothing! You'd be quite the opposite, I assure you. You and me 'ud be a profitable team in lots of ways. We'd hit it along fine."

Just then there was a double knock at the front door. The hostess rose, making a quick grab for her powder puff.

"I guess that's Snappy, a boy-friend of mine. He's the best looking thing—" She went off.

Then came a sound of kissing in the little hall and back she came with "Snappy," who was carrying a bottle.

"Say, I don't even know your name. Isn't that a scream?" she giggled to Nollie.

Nollie enlightened her, and the introduction was made.

Snappy addressed the woman as "Daffy." She brought in three glasses and a bowl of cracked ice, and the bottle was opened.

"Get away. Don't dare to touch me again," she panted.

"Gee, kid, you must drink some. More for me, Snappy—" Daffy tilted up her glass; said, over the brim explanatory-wise: "I take mine straight."

"I won't take anything at all, thanks. And—really I must be getting along now—you've been awfully good to me, but I must go—" Nollie rose. Her hostess vehemently protested.

"Say, have a heart. Just when I meet a girl I like, and feel I could pal with, she wants to run out on me!"

Snappy's chair was near the door and as Nollie tried to get by, he made a playful pass at her.

She had a queer feeling of being trapped, somehow.

But what was there to harm her here? It was silly to be frightened.

Presently another man arrived. With a bottle too. He was rather bald, and middle-aged, but his clothes were in good taste. He was much more refined-looking than Snappy.

"What kind of a house is this?" was the query running in Nollie's mind. She sat down again, uncertain what to do, racking her brain for an excuse to get away quickly.

"Want to powder your nose? I've a box in a new French rachel that's swell. It's on the dresser in the other room," suggested the lady of the apartment affably.

Here was a chance to go. But, to her chagrin, Man Number Two followed her, thrust aside the hanging bead curtains and stood in the bedroom doorway.

He had a leering, appraising expression in his eyes that both angered and shocked Nollie.

The very skin on her body seemed to creep. A hot flush flew to her forehead.

"Is there anything you want?" She would meet this situation with dignity.

"Yes. Plenty. Come on, Pretty Face. Give me a kiss—" He suddenly strode up to her as she stood by the dresser and put his arms about her.

"Let go at once. You go. Leave me alone." He had bent her head back forcibly, but she struggled and twisted.

"You go at once. I'll scream . . ." she cried breathlessly.

"Scream here? In this gay joint? What's the big idea? So—you pretty little golddigger, you!—you'd blackmail me, would you?"

"Let me go, I say—"

His lips were almost touching hers. His hands, pinioning her arms, dug heard into her flesh.

With a dexterous twist born of her fear and aversion of this beast, Nollie freed her right hand, clenched it and struck out wildly. The blow hit that open, leering mouth with considerable force for so slight a girl, so that a sharp cut from his two front teeth came on the knuckles.

"You—!" He stagged back, calling her an unmentionable word, his handkerchief to his lips, his face black with anger.

"Get away. Don't dare to touch me again," she panted.

"Touch you again? I've a darn good mind to call in the police, you—you hellion!"

"What's this? What's this?" Daffy appeared on the scene. "What's the matter with your mouth, Ted White? It's bleeding . . ."

"Ask your designing lady friend! I bet you put her up to this! But it won't work with me! I've a damn good mind to expose your racket—"

Nollie felt sick and faint. She saw Daffy take him by the arm and down the tiny passage to the bathroom where his loosened teeth could be attended to. Daffy's voice was high in argument. . . .

Nollie grabbed her hat and bag and made a swift rush for the front door and down the stairs on feet to which fear lent wings. . .

She'd die rather than go back in there! Oh run! Run quick! Behind her were loud footsteps . . . the sound of their voices. . .!

Oklahoma to Speed Up Lone Star Gas Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18. (UP)—Leon Hirsh, special attorney for Gov. W. H. Murray, said today he would ask that hearing for permanent receivership for the Lone Star Gas company properties in Oklahoma at the "earliest possible date."

Hirsh will go to Waurika tomorrow to attend the hearing which he said could not be completed in one day and that it would have to be continued because of the court docket Monday. He said as far as he knew the company's petition for an order restraining him from acting in the case had not been granted.

David Garrick, the great English actor, who at one time lived with the Johnsons, described Mrs. Johnson as "very fat, with a bosom of more than ordinary protuberance, with swelled cheeks of a florid red, produced by thick painting and increased by the liberal use of cordials; flaring and fantastic in her dress and affected both in her speech and general behavior."

Prolapsus Causes "Pot Belly"

One thing which I would very much like to do with each one of my readers, is to have you watch the organs of a living, breathing person under the fluoroscope of the X-ray. You would see the heart beat, see the diaphragm move up and down, see the stomach and intestines. I believe that this would be one of the most important and interesting things that could ever happen to you. We all like to watch the engines of airplanes and cars move and find them intensely interesting, yet it is a thousand times more interesting to stand and see the living movement of a human body. You can only have a feeling of awe and reverence while you watch that mysterious, quiet functioning which we call life.

And as you watched the internal organs of others, you would see that about 90 per cent of the women, and many of the men, have organs which have dropped, or fallen, or sagged from the places where they ought to be. You would see that many times the stomach is from two to four inches lower than the patient thinks it is. The name of such a condition is prolapsus. This means that the organs of the abdomen have fallen down and are pressing one on top of the other.

However, you do not need the fluoroscope to tell you when people are prolapsed, for often these sagged organs will push the lower abdomen forward and cause a "pot belly" which is easily noticed. Most of the women who wear corsets are only trying to overcome the disfigurement of fallen organs, which protrdue and ruin the outline of the figure.

Those who stand, ride, or do much classical dancing will often develop prolapsus. The thin person will usually have a worse case than the plump one, whose layers of fat tend to "float" the organs upward and keeps them from falling down where they ought not to be.

Prolapsus causes a great many other troubles and of course these disorders are not overcome until the prolapsus is corrected. For example, as the folds of the bowl sag they rub together, producing an irritation which finally causes the formation of scar tissue, binding the bowl together in an adhesion. Prolapsus also makes constipation much worse the bowels being kinked, twisted and dropped in such a way that the food residue does not pass through readily. Many cases of female derangement, bladder irritation, digestive troubles, varicose veins, piles, hernia, etc., are associated with prolapsus.

Quite often when the organs fall a paunch develops and this is one of the first signs of aging. The best way to prevent prolapsus is to build your own corset by developing strong abdominal muscles, so that they will hold the organs firmly in place. This natural supporting "corset" is formed when the muscles are made firm and strong. Patients with all of the internal organs in their normal places both look and feel better.

Many patients know that they suffer with prolapsus, but they do not know the best treatment to use for it. Those who have already developed prolapsus will be glad to read that I have prepared some special exercises taken while lying on the back, which will cure prolapsus in many cases. It may take many months to restore the organs to their proper position, but the good which is accomplished is worth all the effort necessary. If you will use these exercises persistently, it will be remarkable to you how the organs will lift back up into normal position where they do not interfere with each other. Write to me in care of this newspaper and send a large self-addressed stamped envelope, with a two-cent stamp, for the article on Prolapsus, and another two-cent stamp if you want the article on the Slanting Board Exercises.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pain After Extraction

Question—Catherine writes: "I had an impacted lower molar extracted with a local anesthetic. The pain has never stopped since then, about six months ago. The doctor says the maxillary nerve has been injured. He has been treating me for several months, but the pain increases. I am suffering terribly, no appetite, weight declining, and cannot sleep nights. Neither hot or cold applications or medicine seem to help."

Answer—It is quite likely that due to the irritation of the nerve that neuritis has set in and I would suggest that you diet for neuritis. Perhaps the original cause of the irritation has been overcome but the inflammation is persisting in the nerve. Treatment with the galvanic electric current might prove beneficial.

No Need to Reduce

Question—O. V. says: "I am a girl 15 years old and I am five feet one inch tall and weigh 110 pounds. Will you please tell me if I am over-weight, and, if so, how can I reduce."

Answer—I think your weight as mentioned in your letter is normal enough for a girl of your height.

Pinguecula and Pterygium

Question—G. H. asks: "Is there any cure for pinguecula or pterygium?"

Answer—The disease you have named means formations on the corner of the eye which are due to irritation from some cause such as outside infection through dust or bacteria, or from an over-acid secretion of the eye lubricants. This trouble can be checked and even cured by proper dieting and the use of a simple eye wash applied several times daily.

New York Professor To Wed Calles' Daughter

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Announcement of the engagement of Senorita Artemisa Elias Calles, 17, youngest of former President Plutarco Elias Calles' five daughters, to Dr. Joseph Jordan Eller of New York came as a surprise to the American colony today.

No hint of the romance between the young Columbia university professor and the only remaining unmarried daughter of Mexico's "strong man" had leaked out prior to the statement in this morning's newspapers that they would be married in the Calles home in October.

Artemisa returned only three months ago from a convent in San Diego, Calif., and Dr. Eller arrived in July to attend the Pan-American medical congress.

COYOTES OPEN SEASON WITH 25-0 VICTORY OVER TEMPLE

PACK CRUMBLES TIGER LINE

Withrow and Daugherty Lead Colorful Attack

By FRED THOMPSON

The lighter and less experienced Temple, Okla., Tigers were no match for an inspired Coyote eleven here yesterday afternoon, and the Wichita Falls High school machine officially opened the 1931 grid season with a decisive 25 to 0 victory, falling only one touchdown short of equalling their mark last year, when they defeated the Tigers 32 to 0.

Led by two plunging backfielders, Capt. Bennett Withrow, left half, and Bob Daugherty, fullback, who time and again ploughed without mercy through the frail Temple line, the Coyotes rang up a touchdown in every period and on the defensive put up a stone wall that would not permit a serious Tiger threat at any stage of the game.

Daugherty and Withrow, who between them did all the Wichita Falls scoring, shared backfield honors with Burns McKinney, Bill Jenkins and Cleo Creecy, each of whom had a fling at the right halfback position with outstanding success. The line showed considerable improvement, with Malcolm Mauldin, right guard, easily the outstanding star. Mauldin was in the thick of practically every play and made some of the most spectacular tackles of the afternoon.

Crowd Sees Game

The game was witnessed by several hundred Wichita Falls High school students who crowded around the field south of the school building. Wichita Falls contributed its share of grown-ups, too. The high school band, led by Tom McCarty, and the school cheer squad were on hand to enliven the occasion.

They didn't have to wait long before beginning the cheering. Taking the ball from their own nine-yard line, the Coyotes began a smashing attack at the line and scored a touchdown within the first ten minutes of play.

Temple won the toss and elected to kick, Captain Withrow of the Coyotes choosing to defend the east goal. Withrow grabbed the kickoff and ran 18 yards to his own 37-yard line before being downed, but on the first play he fumbled a none-too-good pass from center and Sanders, Temple halfback, recovered on the 34-yard line. Three tries at the line were futile and Price kicked, the Coyotes taking the ball on their nine-yard line.

Benny Gets Through

Then the charge began. Making one of the most spectacular runs of the day, Withrow on the first play bucked off left tackle for a 39-yard dash. On the next play Temple drew a five-yard penalty for offside. McKinney and Daugherty then alternated on three plunges that took the leather to the 29-yard line. Withrow and Powell joined them in a succession of dives, the latter finally bucking through center to give the Pack first down on the two-yard stripe. Then it was a simple matter for Daugherty to cut back over left guard and give Wichita Falls its first touchdown of the season. Withrow failed to place kick for the extra point.

The Pack promptly started another drive that took them to the 39-yard line. At this point they drew a penalty and J. Parkey, Tiger left end, did a noble job of breaking up a cut-back by Withrow, slinging the latter for a four-yard loss, but this distance was immediately regained when Withrow and Greenwood completed a long pass just as the quarter ended, the ball landing on Temple's 16-yard line.

Daugherty opened the second period with a five-yard gain through left guard and Withrow took it over right tackle for four more to the six-yard line. Daugherty then took it over for Wichita Falls' second counter. Withrow's place kick was blocked by Wilson, Temple right guard.

Temple Line Holds

Immediately play was resumed, another drive was started, a 14-yard gain by Jenkins, and a 17-yard around-end sprint by Withrow being the main factor in getting the ball down to the Tigers' nine-yard line, but there the Temple line tightened and the Pack lost the ball. After some skirmishing, Price of Temple punted out of danger and the end of the first half found the ball in midfield.

Sanders of Temple received Withrow's kickoff to start the third period and was downed on his 28-yard stripe. Then after Mauldin had thrown Trammell for a five-yard loss Price punted 32 yards to midfield, and there the Coyotes started goal-ward again. Drives by Creecy and Daugherty, aided by an eight-yard pass, Withrow to Greenwood, gave the Pack a first down on the 26-yard line. Withrow's and Creecy's gains then were topped off by Daugherty's 10-yard dive which gave the Pack first down on the five-yard line, and after Powell had made a yard through center Withrow took it over. His pass to Brandon for the extra point was completed, but Brandon caught the ball outside of the end zone, and the extra point thus was not allowed.

It was toward the end of the third period that the Coyotes made their only punt of the day, a beautiful 41-yard kick by Daugherty.

And it was at the end of this same period that Sanders of Temple got off a beautiful 20-yard pass to Trammell, placing the ball on the Coyotes' 48-yard line as the quarter ended.

The Final Counter

As the final period opened, Temple continued its passing attack, Sanders passing to Bowen for an eight-yard gain but on the next play Trammell fumbled and Bob Brandon fell on it. The tide of battle then wavered, first one team and then the other making nice gains, but the Coyotes found an opening for their last touchdown when Temple fumbled on the 30-yard line. Withrow and Daugherty made six yards between them and Coach Holton sent in a wad of substitutes. Hawthorne made about four yards through center and Temple drew a five-yard penalty, pushing the ball on the five-yard line. It was first down and goal to go, and after Shain had made a yard off left tackle, Withrow took it over. He then place kicked for the extra point.

QUANAH DRUBS ELDORADO 70–0

Speedy Backs Stage Many Long Runs

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Sept. 18.—The Quanah Indians inaugurated their 1931 season with a rush here Friday afternoon, flattening a light but courageous team from Eldorado, Okla., High school beneath a 70-0 score.

Able to score almost at will after the first few moments, Quanah declined to unfold anything but straight line plays. A speedy backfield composed of Marsallis, Cox, Rogers and Faircloth unreeled numerous long runs, ably abetted by Norman, left end, who accounted for several touchdowns. Jones, right end, also broke into the scoring column.

The Indians will entertain another Oklahoma team in a second practice game next Friday, when Olustee High school comes here. Quanah's conference schedule opens on Oct. 17 at Electra.

Stamford Whips Knox City, 51 to 6

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 18.—Stamford High school pried the lid off the 1931 grid season here Friday afternoon with a 51-6 victory over the lighter Knox City High school team in a practice game.

Before the end of the first quarter, coasting under a big lead, the Stamford coach began running in second string material. Before the game ended, the local lineup was composed entirely of reserves, and against this formation Knox City pushed over its only counter of the game.

Stamford will play the Breckenridge High school Buckaroos next Friday, Sept. 25, at Breckenridge in a non-conference game.

Alvord Defeats Saint Jo, 37-0

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, Sept. 18.—The Alvord High school Eagles sunk their talons deeply into the belabored backs of the Saint Jo Panthers here this afternoon in the season's curtain-raiser, and carried away a one-sided victory, 37 to 0.

Supremacy of the Alvord scoring machinery did not evidence itself until the second half, however. After two periods had given neither team a marker, the Eagles opened up in the third quarter to amass a total of 25 points. Continuing their raid in the closing period, they added 12 more points.

O'Neal punctured the Panther defense for two counters, Durritt went over three times, and McClung, fullback for the visitors, added the sixth touchdown. Hoover, Phillips and Holland, linemen, performed brilliantly in the Saint Jo defense.

Vernon Lions Blast Lid Off With 60-0 Victory Over Olustee, Okla.

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 18.—Coach Heinie Weir limbered up the scoring machinery of the Vernon Lions here Friday afternoon at the expense of a light team from Olustee, Okla., High school, rolling up a score of 60 to 0 with many second-string players participating in the Vernon scheme of battle.

The game was played in midsummer temperature, and with only four substitutes available. The visitors were heavily punished by the stress of battle. Coach Weir opened with a light backfield, but near the end of the first quarter, began running in his heavier guns, chalking up a 34-0 score in the first half.

Forward passes figured heavily in the addition of 26 more points during the last two quarters, with Smith and Christian performing brilliantly in both running and aerial attack.

Corzine scored first for Vernon in the first quarter with a 10-yard sprint around end. During the second quarter, a forward pass, Smith to Emrich, with a 20-yard dash by the latter, scored another touchdown. Christian and Thompson combined advances for the third marker, the latter carrying it over. Christian and Garner culminated consistent drives with two more touchdowns before the half ended.

Olustee rallied in the fourth quarter with an aerial attack, but it was quickly smothered. Mason, Smith and Christian accounted for five points after touchdown with accurate toes.

Burk and Walters In Scoreless Tie

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Sept. 18.—The Burkburnett Bulldogs and the Walters Red Devils, both high schools organizations, battled fiercely through four quarters here Friday afternoon to a 0-0 score before a large opening-game crowd.

Walters gained a brief advantage in the first quarter, pushing the ball to the visitors' one-foot line, where the attack stalled. During the three remaining quarters, the Bulldogs kept the ball in Walters territory almost constantly. They repeatedly penetrated to within 30 yards of the Red Devil goal, but lacked the punch to get over.

The Burkburnett team played without the services of its backfield star, Ragsdale, whose absence threw the signal-calling burden upon Salyer.

Burkburnett opens it conference season next Friday, Sept. 25, at Henrietta, Texas.

Special to The Record News.

NEWCASTLE, Texas, Sept. 18.—Newcastle High school tripped up Caddo High to the tune of 20 to 0 here Friday afternoon in the second 1931 game on the locals' schedule.

Newcastle scored twice in the third quarter, Fields and Coop carrying the ball over. In the fourth quarter, Dover broke loose for a 50-yard gallop which ended on the Caddo one-foot line. Hennon smashed it over for the third and last counter.

ARCHER CITY BEATS HAWKS

Iowa Park Takes 44-0 Lacing

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 18.—Justifying pre-season dope which has accorded them unusual class B strength, Coach Bill Cooper's rampant High school Wildcats flayed the Iowa Park Hawks decisively here Friday afternoon, running up a score of 44 to 0 with a fleet quartet of backs which functioned brilliantly behind a hard-charging forward wall.

The invading Hawks seriously impeded the progress of the Archer City attack during the first half, the intermission showing but 18 points scored by the ultimate victors. But so rapidly did the touchdowns materialize in the second half that Archer City's second team was allowed to play a large part of the two closing quarters.

Strahan, Horaney, Kinder and Larkin comprised the quartet of ball-carriers which piled up Archer City's score. Using straight football almost exclusively, they executed dashes of from five to 50 yards each to bewilder the invaders' defense.

Conspicuous in the play of the locals' line play was the all-around brilliance of Captain Wright, Fish and Hayes. Cowart and Maier of Iowa Park were the mainstays of the Hawk line, while Cobb and May accounted for most of the yardage amassed by the visiting team. Archer City scored a total off 11 first downs to one for Iowa Park. The game was witnessed by a large crowd.

The Wildcats will open their class B conference season next Friday at Munday.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—A slight opening advance in cotton here today was followed by declines under increased southern selling together with liquidation and local pressure which was promoted by the weakness in the stock market and reports of continued favorable weather for picking and ginning in the South.

Prices made new low ground for the season with December selling off from 6.73 to 6.58 or 16 net lower and closing at that figure. The general list closed easy at net declines of 14 to 16 points.

Business was more active than for some time past and there seemed to be considerable cotton wanted but the buying was chiefly on the dips or on scale down orders and the market showed increasing weakness toward the close, when selling influenced by the easier ruling of the stock market and the talk of increased selling pressure from the South evidently became more active. October sold at 6.50 early, broke to 6.34 while March declined from 7.02 to 6.84, and closing quotations were at the lowest of the day.

Exports today 22,463 making 498,009 so far this season. Port receipts 105,203. U. S. port stocks 2,923,893. A prior report estimated ginnings prior to Sept. 16 at 1,917,690 sales against 3,736,120 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18. (AP)—The cotton market was fairly active in today's session while prices developed a downward trend, reaching new low levels for the season. The depressing influences included some hedge selling, selling by ring traders, disappointed at the long delay in solution of the acreage problem and weakness in stocks.

Although Liverpool was better than due, the market here opened virtually unchanged but soon started downward and continued to ease off during the morning, until around mid-session it showed losses of 10 points compared with the previous close. The weekly statistics proved rather bullish, particularly mill takings which were larger than last week as well as last year. The market continued to rule easy all afternoon, making lows for the day right at the end, 18, under the previous close and closing at the bottom, barely steady, at net declines for the day of 17 to 18 points. Liverpool will be due tomorrow 7 to 8 penny points down on New Orleans.

Port receipts 102,852; for week 242,758; for season 710,408; last season 1,564,514; exports 22,963; for week 124,642; for season 487,224; last season 819,139; port stock 2,920,677; last year 2,292,356; combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 57,521; last year 72,094; spot sales at southern markets 59,670; last year 51,076.

World-Wide Selling Demoralizes Stock Prices on New York Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (US)—A world-wide avalanche of selling poured into the stock market today, causing virtual demoralization of prices.

Only the presence of the short interest prevented alarming depreciation in the quotations on many securities, among them the standard investment issues. There was no disputing the character of the pressure which instead of diminishing actually increased on the decline in prices.

The entire market was engulfed in the wave of liquidation, the bearish forces seeing to it that those issues untouched by genuine liquidation were plentifully supplied by short-selling.

It was a market to test one's courage, for it emphasized the falsity of the previous day's modest upturn. Throughout the day, from the very opening of trading, the offerings were persistent at virtually all bids.

Hardly a single issue escaped the pressure.

The bond market likewise was subjected to a broad liquidation, with drastic breaks in German and other foreign obligations, and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the "key" bond of the empire in the American market, slumped to a new low, suffering a sharp decline. Volume swelled close to 3,000,000 shares.

The eyes of the market were focused on Britain. The pound sterling's artificial price was proven when, with temporary removal of support, the rate immediately broke as much as five cents per pound for "futures." For several days it has been virtually impossible to sell "future" sterling for speculation, and this was one of the most disturbing factors to interests aware of the inner situation.

A great deal of the selling very plainly came from European sources, with London, Amsterdam and Paris contributing. It was rumored that huge foreign accounts were being liquidated, with at least one enormous international figure mentioned in this connection. The market itself showed that the liquidation was being conducted with little regard for prices, since many of the so-called international stocks were dumped in heavy volume on severe price depreciation.

The foreigners are tremendously impressed by the British situation, and they are expressing their fright through liquidation of all securities in the haste for accumulation of cash resources alone.

Net losses for the day best illustrate the extent of the day's decline: 6¼ points in American Telephone, 3½ in U. S. Steel, 4¾ in in American Can, 3⅜ in Dupont, 2⅛ in General Motors, 2⅝ in North American, 2⅝ in Westinghouse, 3¼ in Consolidated Gas, and among the rails, 6¼ in Atchison, 3⅜ in New York Central, 9⅜ in Union Pacific. General Motors attained a 10 per cent yield when it sold down to 30, and 20,000 shares were dumped at the low price, but seemingly a scale support order absorbed the offerings.

Consolidated Gas, pet of the investment trusts and other huge investors, broke under 80, and its yield thereby increased to above 5 per cent. The public utilities as a group, however, displayed additional evidence that the selling can hardly be considered of speculative nature in the main, although there is persistent report of a huge bear group operating in the market. Bears cannot alone bring about such vicious declines, at this stage of a bear market, as was witnessed today.

The drastic decline in price of one of the big insurance stocks, representative of the "common stock era," was another factor of disturbing nature.

How nervous is the present state of mind even of enormous speculators and investors was best illustrated in the confirmed statement that huge purchasers of stocks during the early days of the week turned turtle today and dumped their stocks when the market failed its Thursday rally.

The investor has become panic-stricken and buying demand is virtually nil except on a scale downward. The market is demanding something concretely cheerful. Even large-scale bears hesitate to make new commitments at prevailing prices and under prevailing semi-hysterical conditions.

It is a market reflecting the high-strung character of the world's investment community, quick to believe every wild rumor and loath to believe that the long downswing has gone a great distance toward the full discounting of all the depression.

Calm observers would welcome as the most cheerful development of all the achievement of stability in the bond market. Until this develops, they are loath to believe that more than temporary upturns in stock prices can be achieved. In the meantime, all eyes are upon Britain.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18. (AP)—Good demand continued today for all offerings except grain sorghums on the cash grain market. Exporters were bidding 49@50c for wheat delivered Texas gulf ports.

Quotations ranged as follows on carloads, freight paid:

Basis delivered Texas gulf, export rate, or group three points:

Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling 58@58½c; No. 1 hard 14 per cent protein 56@58½c; 15 per cent 60@63½c; 16 per cent 64@66½c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 40@42c; No. 2 white 43½@44c; No. 2 yellow 49@51c.

Barley—No. 2, 35@38c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 75@78c; No. 2 kaffir 75@80c.

Basis delivered group three points—Oats, No. 2 red 24@24½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (AP)—Stubborn rearguard fighting saved the grain markets today from any general retreat as a result of bearish action of securities. Deferred deliveries both of wheat and corn succumbed to pessimism engendered by sharp breaks in stocks, but speculative buying of September grain contracts against equal sales of contracts for more distant months served to put relative firmness into cereals. Enlarged shipping demand for corn was in evidence, and there were advices that importing countries were paying good premiums for high grade wheat, a kind difficult to obtain the next three and half months except in North America.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1¼ cents lower, corn at ¼c decline to ¼c advance, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to 20c down.

Fortified by "spreading" transactions, September wheat gained on December and at one stage rose to the best figures since Aug. 15. Comparative strength of September corn was associated with purchases of 230,000 bushels of cash corn and with vessel charters taken for 400,000 bushels of corn to go east from Chicago. Meanwhile, holders of deferred deliveries of wheat and corn resisted as best they could the influence of extreme weakness of stocks, and kept cereal prices temporarily from more than fractional declines.

Toward the end of the day, however, buying support for grains was large and prices of deliveries other than September gave way gradually under increased selling pressure as stocks continued to plunge lower. Fresh export demand for North American wheat was of a disappointing volume, and reports of sales of Liverpool dispatches telling of enlarged receipts of wheat there and of increased warehouse stocks, with very slow call from millers. Dry and hot weather continued in Kansas, a circumstance pointing to decreased acreage, but on the other hand good rains in central Nebraska were construed as a handicap to wheat bulls.

Oats and rye paralleled the action of wheat and corn, and each averaged lower.

Provisions sagged owing to liquidating sales.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 49¼c, 50¾c; Dec. 49¼c, 50⅝c; March 52¼c, 53c; May 52¾c; 54⅜ @54¾c. Corn—Sept. 41¾c, 43½c; Dec. 37⅛ @37½c, 38⅛ @38¾c; May 41½ @41⅝c, 42⅜c.

Col. Zack Mulhall Succumbs at 82

MULHALL, Okla., Sept. 18. (UP)—Col. Zack Mulhall, one of the few remaining Southwest pioneers who settled this section and aided in changing it from desolate Indian territory to agricultural and oil lands, died today.

His 84 years of life were filled with adventure. Reared in the then western frontier town of St. Louis, he made his way to Oklahoma territory. He gained land for his first ranch in the famous Cherokee Strip run 38 years ago. On the site of this ranch now stands Mulhall, the town named in his honor.

He was identified for years with wild west shows and recently had acted as master of ceremonies for the 101 ranch circus.

Mulhall died from the ailments of old age and from grief for his wife, who died last January.

He will be buried Sunday afternoon at his ranch home.

JAP-CHINESE TROOPS CLASH

Walled City of Mukden Is Surrendered

and until early this morning, when the Japanese forces entered the walled city just before dawn.

The fighting caused panic in the most seriously affected parts of the capital. Mukden has a population of about 200,000.

JAPAN BLAMED FOR "PROVOKING" FIGHT

PEKING, China, Sept. 19.—Saturday—(UP)—The Japanese army was reported to have assumed control at Mukden, capital of Manchuria, after 18 hours of intermittent fighting with Chinese troops, officials at Marshall Chang Hsueh-Liang's headquarters said.

The marshal's headquarters quoted the Japanese consul-general as saying the army had taken command and added that Marshal Chang was unable to confer with military officials at the capital.

Heavy firing continued outside Mukden after midnight, private advices said.

Deny Attacks

Chang's headquarters announced that official information messages said the Japanese soldiers had appeared at the Mukden north military camp, outside the east gate of the city and opened fire on Chinese soldiers.

"Apparently the Japanese military forces intended to provoke the incident to provide a pretext for occupation of Manchuria," and official statement issued by Marshal Chang said. "I, therefore, ordered the Chinese soldiers at Mukden to stack their guns immediately and to avoid resistance."

Marshal Chang, who has broken away from the policies set by his father, the late Chang Tso-Lin, allied himself with the Chinese government in the Mukden incident by definitely denying charges circulated in Japan that the fighting was started by an attack of Mukden soldiers on the Japanese guards of the southern Manchurian railway.

Powerful Forces

It was believed, however, that his statement indicated a desire to end hostilities as quickly as possible. The forces of Japan, third ranking naval power of the world, would give her a vast advantage in any prolonged hostilities in Manchuria and might increase her influence there as a result.

The Manchurian forces trained by Chang Tso-Lin and Chang Hsueh-Liang have been known as the most powerful in China. The young Chang has long held the "balance of power" in internal dissension in China and was able to halt the last civil war by marching his troops to Peking, where he took control of the area in behalf of the national government.

ANCIENT PROVINCES AT STAKE

The young and troubled Chinese republic is engaged in another test of strength with Japan over the three ancient provinces of Manchuria, once known as "the forbidden land."

The Manchurian provinces, which were moulded into a powerful and independent unit a few years ago by the late General Chang Tso-Lin, have been the chief source of international troubles in the Orient under the overlordship of Chang Hsueh-Liang, young and modern master of the tiger throne room at Mukden, which has allied himself with the Chinese nationalist government at Nanking.

The fact that Manchuria, comparatively rich in minerals and other resources and having a moderate climate, lies ti the north of China (connected only by a narrow link) and adjoins Japan's province of Korea, has opened it to the influence of both nations. The influence of Soviet Russia laso has been felt strongly, since Manchuria borders Siberia on the north, east and west. Within the last two years, difficulties over the Soviet-controlled Chinese Eastern railway has threatened military action in Manchuria.

Japan has long looked to Manchuria as an outlet for her population, which is overcrowding the island empire to an almost prohibitive extent.

The defendant was accused of having stolen about 10 chickens from a small farm near this city. He waived preliminary hearing, and was placed under bond pending action of the grand jury in October.

JUNIOR C.-C. HEARS JAYNES

Path to Leadership Is in Service, Says Speaker

Leadership is the greatest need of the present age, Frank E. Jaynes, educational director of the community chest drive, told members of the Junior chamber of commerce Friday noon at the membership luncheon at the Wichita club.

"And the shortest, surest path to leadership," he declared, "lies along the highway of human service." So many men, the speaker said, have amassed fortunes to become known only as successful providers for themselves.

Basing his speech on the subject "The Old Order Changeth, Giving Way to the New," the speaker urged support of the coming community chest drive. He quoted the achievements of many men of history who had risen to high regard in the esteem of the world through serving humanity.

A second address on the program was delivered by Walter D. Cline, director of the coming drive. Mr. Cline spoke concerning the expenses incidental to the campaign. Many rumors are prevalent, he declared, that a sum of $10,000 is being spent for the services of executives of the American Cities bureau, who are, he said, lending their experience in conducting the drive to a successful end. He declared that only $2,400 is being spent for the services of Mr. Jaynes and Linden Brooks, who are supervising the preliminary work of the actual drive for community chest funds.

Mr. Cline explained that the expense of the campaign has been cut to the minimum, and that a total of only $4,000 will be spent for outside services, stationery, printing, and salaries of clerks, necessary for mailing pleas to residents of Wichita Falls.

Jim Durnal of the junior chamber's good will trips committee urged that every person who could do so accompany a delegation of Wichitans to the Young County fair at Graham Sept. 24. Several other announcements of interest to the membership were made.

Included in the guests at the luncheon were John F. O'Donohoe, J. S. Bridwell and Stayton Bonner, executives of the chest drive.

117 Cases Dismissed In County Law Court

One hundred and seventeen misdemeanor cases were dismissed by Judge Irvin J. Vogel of the county court at law Friday upon motion of L. V. Abernathy, county attorney, clearing the docket of all dormant cases.

Insufficient evidence, no arrest, absence of witnesses, conviction in justice court for the same offense, subsequent conviction on felony charges, and lack of jurisdiction were among the reasons given for dismissing the charges.

FARMER FACES CHARGE

County Attorney L. V. Abernathy Friday received a complaint charging a farmer in the K. M. A. district with damaging the public highway.

It was charged in the complaint that the defendant allows large amounts of irrigation water to empty upon a dirt road adjoining his land. The case will be filed in justice court, Mr. Abernathy said.

MAJESTIC: Joan Crawford in "This Modern Age," with Neil Hamilton, Pauline Frederick and Monroe Owsley. "Strange as It Seems"; Mack Sennett comedy, "Cannon Ball," and Terrytoon "Blues."

STATE: "Chic" Sale and Walter Huston heading an all star cast in "Star Witness." Sennett novelty, Lloyd Hamilton comedy and latest news.

GEM: Wally Wales in "Flying Lariats"; chapter nine of "Heroes of the Flames," and Silly Symphony cartoon.

A midnight matinee featuring George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton" is something for lovers of good pictures to anticipate. The Alexander Hamilton portrayed by the magnificent actor is a man of flesh and blood, one of emotions, rather than the stormy aristocrat and financial genius.

George Arliss, past 60, acts marvelously the bouyant and virile young man who became the temporary dupe of one of the cleverest adventuresses of her day.

History is woven into the human drama in a manner that will make students remember the period as a vivid front page story of today. Washington's farewell to his troops is one magnificent historic scene.

Doris Kenyon as Mrs. Hamilton comes home from England to hear of her husband's entanglement. And beautiful June Collyer is the alluring young woman to whose fascinations the young Hamilton yields.

Historic periods have their scandals that kindly biographers and historians try to keep in the background. Hamilton who was master of men but who was mastered momentarily by a woman, had such a skeleton in his closet.

Tragedy was never very far from the famous champion of human rights; but romance of the period made beautiful with powder and patches, knee breeches, shining shoe buckles, spreads a glamour over the tragedy.

Because of the magnificent actor and because of the history told in the play, the State theater is extending through this column an invitation to all history teachers of the public schools to be guests of the theater at the opening show, Saturday night at 11:30. The regular run will open Sunday and extend through Wednesday. Only one Arliss and only one such play for him to glorify.

PIONEER OF ELECTRA DIES

Mrs. Nancy McDuff Succumbs at Age of 72

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 18.—Mrs. Nancy McDuff, 72, pioneer Electran, succumbed Friday morning following a lingering illness. She was a native of North Carolina, but lived in Texas most of her life. In 1889 she was married to John McDuff and lived in Greer county, Oklahoma, 15 miles north of Doan's crossing. They moved to Electra more than 40 years ago before the town was built.

Mr. McDuff was a cowboy for the late D. Waggoner in 1879 and worked for the Waggoner estate until ill health forced him to retire last year. Mrs. McDuff was known as "Aunt Nan" to her many friends.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Baptist church Saturday at 4 o'clock with Rev. W. W. Rivers officiating. Survivors in addition to the husband are one brother, Lee Miller of Santa Barbara, Calif., two half sisters, Mrs. Sally McDaniel, Electra; Mrs. Rebeccah Gillard of Nebraska, and a number of nieces and nephews.

$1,500 Seized in Raid Returned to Leo Kelm

Upon the order of Sam B. Spence, district attorney, $1,500 in currency declared by officers to have been in the pockets of Leo Kelm when he was apprehended Wednesday on a gambling charge, was returned to the defendant Friday.

Kelm was charged with exhibiting a gambling table after he had been arrested at a local hotel by city officers. Eighty dollars in silver, said to have been stacked upon the table, was ordered by Mr. Spence to be held as evidence.

Kelm is at liberty under $1,000 bond pending action of the grand jury.

There'd be no need for A&P if you could deal direct with the farmer, for in the "good old days" what the housewife paid for food and what the farmer received for it were exactly equal. But as towns and cities grew the farmer received less and you paid more . . . because of a clumsy, round-about system.
By cutting out many wastes A&P is able to charge you less, and pay the farmer a larger share of the retail price. We bridge the gap between the farmer and you.
