Ghana Seeks New Delay On United Nations Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Ghana today demanded that the U.N. General Assembly adjourn its Congo debate pending a full report on the clash between Congolese and U.N. forces in Leopoldville.

The move came as the 99-nation assembly met to resume debate on a credentials committee recommendation that President Joseph Kasavubu be given the Congo's vacant seat.

Ghana's J. E. Jantuah said it was impossible to resolve the question until it had full information from on the scene.

"We cannot sit here in this assembly and debate and discuss the seating of a government which has attacked this very organization," he declared.

It appeared Kasavubu was slated to win.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold spoke of the clash as "a most regrettable incident." He said he had requested a report from the U.N. command and he hoped to have it during the day.

Yugoslav delegate Dobrivoje Vidic supported Ghana's adjournment motion. Under the circumstances, he said, "It would be senseless and improper to continue debate."

Vidic called for a quick departure of the U.N.'s 15-nation conciliation commission.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth blamed Ghana for the current situation. He said that if Ghana had observed the normal procedure and recalled its charge d'affaires, Nathanial Welbeck, there would have been no difficulty.

He said the Congolese forces were acting "to enforce a legitimate expulsion order of the chief of state."

Wadsworth said the incident was regrettable but the assembly should get on with its debate on the seating of the Kasavubu delegation.

Western delegates predicted he would win by a comfortable margin, but the issue was complicated by fighting in Leopoldville Monday night between U. N. troops and the forces of the Congolese army chief, Joseph Mobutu.

Kasavubu in a statement defended the action of Mobutu's army in using force in an effort to throw out a Ghanaian diplomat who has been acting as advisor to Patrice Lumumba, Kasavubu's rival.

The assembly resumes debate after a late night session in which several delegates pushed Kasavubu's candidacy.

Cuba's ambassador, Manuel Bisbee, led off the debate with a heated attack on "anti-African colonial leaders" and a blast at Kasavubu and his associates as tools of the imperialists.

Opponents of the move to seat Kasavubu contend that no action should be taken until the U. N. conciliation commission goes to the Congo to try to bring warring political factions together.

Guinea announced earlier that President Sekou Toure had sent a cable to President Eisenhower charging the United States with taking a partisan stand in behalf of Kasavubu in assembly debate and declaring that Guinea would refuse to take part in the conciliation mission if the United States sticks to its position.

The Soviet Union put out a statement accusing the U. N. Command of collaborating with Mobutu. It called for an immediate report from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on the latest turn of events in the Congo.

The Soviet charge apparently was triggered by word from Leopoldville that Mobutu's army attacked the residence of Nathaniel Welbeck, Ghana's charge d'affaires in the Congo, and that the United Nations had yielded and agreed to hand Welbeck over to the Congolese for expulsion.

Earlier the United States accused the Soviet Union of trying to plunge the assembly into a cold war debate on an issue that should involve Africa alone.

In other Congo developments:

Hammarskjold warned that the United Nations must put up the money needed to pay for its 20,000-man army and other activities in the Congo or junk the entire operation.

Hammarskjold told the 99-nation U. N. financial committee that the world organization was faced by a grave financial situation that threatened not only its Congo command but all its other operations. He said the U. N. treasury would be virtually bare by the year's end.

NEW WING AT COGDELL HOSPITAL ABOUT READY—The 30 beds in the upper floor of the new $450,000 two-story addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital will be ready for occupancy this week, barring difficulties. Only ceiling tile and arrangement of furniture is left before patients who are already crowding the hospital can be moved in. Above, hospital superintendent Bill Newsom and housekeeper Maggie Blalock unfold one of the pale gold room divider curtains, while Hugh Robinson, assistant engineer, looks on.

Big Capsule Is Recovered After Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has safely brought back to earth a 500-pound space capsule using a combination of a drag balloon and a parachute.

The device, called a ballute, was tested successfully for the second time Monday at Santa Rosa Island, Fla. The capsule was shot to a height of 32 miles by a three-stage missile.

Four other rockets were launched during the day in re-entry tests at the Eglin Air Force Base site. Three of these also involved balloons.

The ballute system, developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corp., worked this way:

As the third stage of the rocket reached 75,000 feet, still coasting upward at 1,100 miles an hour, a nine-foot balloon was released from the tail section.

The balloon popped into shape in a tenth of a second and was reeled out on a cable to stabilize the 500-pound capsule and slow it down by atmospheric drag.

A strain gauge measured the amount of drag and radioed the information to the ground, while a camera recorded the balloon's performance.

The capsule eventually reached a height of 170,000 feet. When the balloon had slowed it to less than the speed of sound (760 miles an hour), a parachute popped out and lowered the package into the Gulf of Mexico test range.

Surface crews recovered the capsule 45 minutes after it was launched.

The tests are aimed at finding out whether drag balloons can help solve re-entry problems by slowing down space capsules enough so they won't burn up in the atmosphere as they come down.

Northern Peru Shaken By Quakes

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Four earthquakes Monday night shook Peru's northern coast where a tidal wave battered half a dozen fishing towns Sunday, killing two persons. Nine others are missing.

The shocks spread new alarm in Lambayeque Province 450 miles north of Lima.

The Geophysics Institute at Huancayo, in Peru's central mountain range, said its seismograph indicated that an undersea earthquake caused Sunday's tidal wave.

Charter Vote Denied; Test In Court Looms

In a lively special session the city council last night refused to order an election on the basis of a petition calling for amendments to the city charter adopted in 1952, on the grounds that the petition lacked the 10 per cent of the qualified voters within the city limits to make it binding upon the council. Attorney for the petitioners Robert Patterson immediately served notice that he would take the matter to 132nd District Court.

The council refused to accept also 154 names submitted to them last night, stating in refusing that the petition had been in their hands for two weeks and they had tabled refusal last week so a delegation would have time to check the list of petitioners with City Secretary K. O. Pitner who had reported insufficient names on the petitions. This was done, according to members of the council, so that everyone would be satisfied with the double-check, not so that more names could be obtained to add to the lists.

Acting as Mayor Pro Tem until the arrival of Mayor John Hamblen, Councilman Stanley Noah stated that while he believed fully in the right of petition, he felt the present petition questioned the sincerity of the council.

"My hands are clean. I serve without pay and serve with all honesty and sincerity as do all other members of the council. this petition is a challenge to the council," Noah said, adding that the city council had had no complaints as to persons not qualified to hold a job in the city.

"Under our form of government (the city charter) we can get rid of any undesirable through the council; we can fire any person through the city manager and can fire the city manager overnight; but it takes almost an act of congress to get rid of an elected official." Noah said in defense of the system which pays less for a city manager and a council serving without pay than it would for the proposed elected officials called for in the petition.

Outbursts from the 15 spectators were heard above a steady commentary of several ladies on each question brought before the council.

At one point, Mayor Hamblen stopped proceedings to comment that all present were adults and should conduct themselves so and let the meeting proceed.

The council verbally approving Noah's statement, voted to deny the election at which point Patterson, giving notice of further action in court, left, followed by most of the delegation.

In a later statement, Patterson reaffirmed his intention to ask the district court to order the mayor and councilmen to call an election in response to the petition.

He plans this action because "the council refused to accept and file 154 names presented and it is my position that they are bound by law to accept the original copy had in excess of 500 qualified, verified voters and the second had 154 making a total of 654 verified qualified voters.

"It is the position of the city that there are not 10 per cent of the voters, but they won't come up with a number," Patterson continued, adding that the City attorney W. W. Park had felt that the tabling had in actuality closed the petition, but that the petitioners did not agree.

"The petition was not refused so it was open to names," he added.

In a separate statement this morning, Councilman Noah said that he had hoped to answer in his statement to the council the last paragraph in the petition which says the charter was drawn up at the crest of the oil boom and was for a continually growing city and should be done away with now that Snyder has stopped growing. In 1952, Noah said, there were 2,466 water meters in the city and the number has grown steadily and healthily to 3,938 at present, which is not a sign of arrested growth.

The petition, as presented, calls for the abolishing of the city manager type government, and for an elected city marshal. The mayor would draw a salary of $7,000 to $9,000 per annum with council members paid $20 each for each meeting to be held twice a month.

According to Pitner, the original petition fell 41 short of the 471 required.

Officers Hunt For Texas Boy's Body

FORT WORTH (AP)—An intensive search was launched late Monday in Mississippi for the body of a 12-year-old boy after Texas police said a 35-year-old man told them he shot and killed his mentally retarded son.

Chief of Police W. M. Sustaire of Euless, 12 miles northeast of Fort Worth, said the man, a former mental hospital patient, said he took his son from a special school for the mentally retarded at Mexia, and drove to Mississippi.

He quoted the father as saying he shot the boy in the head and covered the body with pine needles.

Sustaire said that the best he could determine from the man's statements was that the slaying occurred near a dirt road between Lumberton and Purvis, Miss.

Mississippi state police reported that a search of the area Monday night was unsuccessful but would be resumed today.

Sustaire said the man was broke and hungry and appeared dazed when found in his car near here Monday. He was brought to the jail for some food and in a routine check it was found he was wanted for questioning in the disappearance of his son from the Mexia school.

Sustaire said the man admitted taking the boy from the school but at first was reluctant to tell of his whereabouts.

"Then he told me he had killed the boy," the chief said. "At first he said he did it because he ran out of money and had no way of taking care of him (the boy). Then he turned right around and said it was an accident."

The chief said that later the man expressed dislike of the Mexia school and said "He was my son and he was entitled to better than that. He's better off now—he's not suffering anymore."

Officers said the man had been in six mental hospitals.

Deposed Turk Is Acquitted

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP)—Deposed Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes today was acquitted of charges that he ordered the killing of an illegitimate child born to him and an opera singer.

The verdict was handed down by the special high court trying Menderes and scores of his associates on a series of charges including violation of the constitution.

It also acquitted an Istanbul Gynecologist, Dr. Fahri Alabey, who was accused of killing the child on Menderes' orders. The acquittals were the first in the Yassiada mass trials which opened Oct. 14.

Menderes failed to show any reaction when the verdict was announced but Alabey broke into a grin.

A string of witnesses in what has come to be known as the "baby case" testified the child, born in June, 1955, was premature and died before Atabey arrived.

The prosecutors charged that Menderes dispatched Atabey to the house of Miss Ayhan Aydan, the premier's mistress to murder the infant and thus hide its illegitimate birth.

Fashionable Spots Raided In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—A dozen State Liquor Control Board officers and Dallas vice squad officers raided two fashionable drinking and dining places Monday night. They seized about 250 cases of liquor.

State officers will file charges of operating open saloons against the Chateau Briand restaurant and the Gaslight Club.

New Hospital Wing Is Nearing Completion

By GERRY BURTON

It's Christmas already in the new wing at Cogdell Memorial Hospital as hustle and bustle makes way for opening the 30 beds in the second floor.

Each hour brings scores of boxes to be opened and classified-little boxes, middle-sized boxes, big boxes, square boxes, tall boxes, and flat boxes-all of which must be exclaimed over as brand new gleaming instruments, sheets, curtains, beds, mattresses, divider curtains come pouring out.

Hardwood chairs, desks, bedside tables, over-bed trays, even "kitchen" supplies get "oohs" of appreciation as they are placed in rooms getting ready for occupancy.

Hospital superintendent Bill Newsom was happily in the middle of the activity, opening boxes and grinning with pride at each new arrival, but he really shined at the bed erecting problem. He and Norman Knox credit manager worked constantly fitting screws that didn't seem to match with anything, pushing nuts and bolts home and making sure each connection was firmly in place.

Each bed was then fitted with sturdy innerspring mattresses with plasticized covers and the motors and all mechanics connected with the beds were tested.

"We've used this type mattress for about a year in some rooms down stairs and you couldn't tell them from these," Maggie Blalock, the hospital housekeeper bragged, adding that she had been in the hospital for weeks on one and it was wonderful compared with the old style mattresses that needed rubber or plastic sheets and padding.

Magnificient views of the city and surrounding landscapes give the impression of breadth and airiness not actually contained in the building.

The entire decor is of muted shades of blue and gold with drapes ("not up yet but they are fabulous") a perfect blend of the two hues.

A "constant care" room on the north end of the wing near the nurses desk has half walls and glass upperparts separating each bed area, but at no time does it leave the bed inacessable immediately.

On the opposite end overlooking the Martha Ann Womans Club, the nurses home and miles of south Scurry County real estate are two rooms with a solarium effect, having two walls that are solid windows. One is a private room and the other semi-private.

Each room on the floor has an individual thermostat control for airconditioning and heating units.

Terrazo flooring and tile wainscoating lend an air of being ultra clean even in the clutter of "moving in," the patient part of which will take place the latter part of the week.

The lower floor is not ready since most of the heavy equipment must be installed there. Hopes are expressed that it will be ready for use before Christmas.

Half of the $450,000 construction was recently secured from federal funds. With the funds assured the Scurry County Commissioners Court cancelled $225,000 in bonds that had been voted by the county with the stipulation that half be canceled if federal funds were forthcoming.

Cogdell Memorial Hospital, a county project, is governed by a board of directors under the Commissioners Court.

Court Test Looms On Recount Plea

AUSTIN (AP)—Republican demands for investigation of what they claim was fraud in counting Texas' presidential votes headed today for a legal test in district court here.

State GOP officials, still hoping they may be able to swing Texas' 24 electoral votes to Richard Nixon from John F. Kennedy, protested sharply when Atty. Gen. Will Wilson refused to grant an immediate statewide investigation.

"All this does is to try to sweep the matter under the rug and forget it," Austin attorney Hardy Hollers told Wilson. Hollers was Travis County director of the Texans for Nixon Organization, which included many conservative Democrats who worked with the Republicans.

Wilson said he felt he was "leaning over backwards" to give the Republicans a court test of their claim that irregularity and apparent inconsistency in tossing out ballots in the presidential race constituted fraud.

The attorney general, a Democrat, told the Republican delegation he would do his duty regardless of party affiliation. He said his future action in the case would depend on what the district court rules.

Wilson denied the GOP request for statewide impoundment of ballots and investigation of the election in which the Democratic ticket of Sen. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson won by an unofficial 45,264 margin.

The official State Election Board count comes Friday. The Republican officials said they are "contemplating" a formal contest and injunction proceeding there.

State Democratic Chairman Ed Connally at Abilene called the GOP action "sour grapes."

"I don't think there has been any fraud," Connally said. "Of course there are always chances for a mistake. But I am sure that there have been just as many mistakes on one side as the other."

Johnson, DeGaulle Meet For Parley

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, U.S. vice president-elect, and French President Charles de Gaulle had a 45-minute conference today. Johnson said they discussed "the wide range of problems confronting the people of the world."

The two men met in De Gaulle's private office. Although it was billed in advance as a courtesy call, the two men immediately got down to serious talk.

Johnson is in Paris attending a meeting of parliamentarians from NATO countries. He was invited to the palace in order to give De Gaulle his first official contact with the incoming American administration.

On coming from the meeting, Johnson said he had extended his "felicitations and congratulations" to De Gaulle, who is celebrating his 70th birthday today.

Then Johnson drove across the Seine River to lunch with Premier Michel Debre and a dozen or more French political and government figures.

The vice president-elect was accompanied to De Gaulle's residence by U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

In a brief interview in the palace courtyard after the talk Johnson said: "We had a very cordial meeting. I felt very stimulated and deeply appreciative for the opportunity to be in the presence of one of the world's great leaders."

Before the De Gaulle talk, Johnson's aides said the vice president-elect had no intention of bringing up at this time any of the issues on which France and the United States have divergent views. It was an opportunity, however, to sound out De Gaulle.

Johnson indicated in a speech Monday that the new U. S. administration would be more receptive to some of De Gaulle's ideas than was the Eisenhower administration. In that light, the NATO parliamentarians today examined possible expansion into broader political and economic fields.

The vice president-elect in his speech sounded a call for "new dimensions" for NATO which would "enlarge the community of joint purposes to include new neighbors of the world."

Proposals for developing political and economic cooperation within NATO were to come up in closed committee sessions.

Johnson, as a member of the political committee, was in a position to spell out more in detail what he had in mind in speaking of new dimensions for new neighbors.

One idea discussed in conference corridors is a joint program of aid to underdeveloped countries.

Johnson was a focus of conference attention. Although he emphasized that he was here in his role of Texas senator to fulfill an engagement dating back to last year, other delegates persisted in thinking of him as the new vice president, a key personality in the new administration of John F. Kennedy, and the dominant figure in the United States Senate.

Johnson's aides did not exclude the possibility that the senator may also meet with some French opposition political leaders such as Guy Mollet, secretary-general of the French Socialist party.

The military committee was to take up proposals, voiced Monday by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, for putting atomic weapons into NATO's hands.

Kennedy Is Studying High-Level Job Rolls

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy gave priority attention today to filling about 80 top federal jobs after disclosure that he intends to cut the White House staff deeply—starting at the top.

Kennedy expects to abolish, at least so far as title is concerned, what in the Eisenhower administration has been one of the most powerful positions in government. The job is called "the assistant to the President."

The man who apparently will come closest to filling that role in the new administration is Theodore C. Sorensen, 32, long-time Kennedy aide who already has been named White House special counsel.

These Kennedy plans were announced late Monday by Clark M. Clifford, Kennedy's chief liaison man with the outgoing Republicans.

Clifford said he gave Kennedy a list of about 80 high level jobs—including Cabinet posts—which must be filled first in order to give the new president complete control of the executive branch when he is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Kennedy also got from Clifford a second list of between 400 and 500 jobs of secondary importance, and a third tabulation of about 1,200 lesser positions—all filled by presidential appointment.

As for the possibility Kennedy will retain some personnel who are in career jobs in these categories, Clifford replied in response to a news conference question: "I am sure that he will."

Dealing with reduction of the White House staff, Clifford said Kennedy had told him it will be "nowhere near as large as it is under the present administration."

On President Eisenhower's immediate staff there are, Clifford said, 51 persons exclusive of secretarial and clerical workers. He added that Truman had a staff of about 15, and said Kennedy had reached no final decision on the exact number to be on his White House roster.

Asked why Kennedy expects to wipe out the position of "the" assistant to the president, Clifford replied: "I think he said only that personally at this time he did not contemplate appointing 'such a man, and I believe that the reasoning was that he did not contemplate setting up a man who would act between him and his staff, as I think the position has existed in this past Eisenhower administration."

Under Eisenhower, the job is held at present by Wilton B. Persons, once a major general on Eisenhower's Army staff. Person's predecessor, and perhaps the most powerful man in the position, was Sherman Adams, who resigned under fire in 1958 after charges he had accepted favors and had granted some. Adams denied any wrong-doing.

In the Truman administration, John R. Steelman was the assistant to the president.

The Kennedy staff will be compact, close-knit and with easy access to the boss.

Clifford put it this way: "He wants to keep it small, and I believe in that way it brings him not only in greater contact with the staff, but it brings him into greater contact with the heads of departments, which he also desires."

At his news conference Clifford called it important that Kennedy act swiftly to name a budget director or at least someone to represent the new director for talks with the Eisenhower Budget Bureau regarding spending and revenue planning for the next fiscal year. Clifford said he hopes the new director will be picked by Dec. 1, and that Kennedy is fully aware of the urgency but wants to find the best man available.

Board Hoping To Meet Its Payroll

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — School Supt. James F. Redmond remained optimistic today that the New Orleans School Board, beset by financial as well as integration woes, can meet teacher payrolls this week.

Redmond said he is still hopeful of getting a bank loan to cover the $1.9 million in salaries due teachers, principals and secretaries Wednesday.

Seven of Louisiana's 10 presidential elector's said they felt morally obligated to cast ballots for President-elect John F. Kennedy regardless of Kennedy's failure to comment on the integration affair. One elector declined to comment. Two others could not be reached.

At Palm Beach, Fla., Monday Clark Clifford, a Kennedy aide, said the president-elect considers it inappropriate to comment on a U.S. court order restraining the Louisiana Legislature from blocking federally directed integration.

Chris Faser, executive secretary to Gov. Jimmie Davis, and four legislators had flown to Palm Beach Sunday with a resolution asking Kennedy to outline his views on federal court action forbidding the legislature from interfering with school integration.

It was learned that Gov. Davis has called a conference of Southern governors to meet Nov. 30 at Baton Rouge to discuss the integration situation. The Louisiana governor also wants Southern chief executives to unite in getting presidential electors to throw the election into the U.S. House of Representatives.

A decision by a three-judge federal court on a request to suspend racial mixing until federal and state differences can be ironed out may be handed down later this week.

The financial status of the school board was called desperate by Walter Latapie, the board's chief accountant. He said four payrolls totaling about $2.15 million must be met by the end of the month.

Dies Hints He May Run

AUSTIN (AP)— Former Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin says he has had plenty of offers of support for a possible race for Sen. Lyndon Johnson's Senate seat.

"But I won't say I've been swamped with them like some other candidates claim to have been," he added.

The conservative spoke to the Austin Anti-Communist League Monday.

Dies hinted he might run for the Senate.

"I figure Lyndon will resign on Jan. 19 after he helps to organize the senate, and any announcement of my intentions would come then," he said.

The first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee said if he should run it would be on neither the state nor the national Democratic platform. He would run, he said "on the principles I've always stood for, which I think of as progressive conservatism—sound money, a balanced budget, common sense in government."

Dies predicted "it's going to be slim pickings" getting campaign contributions in the special Senate race.

Definition Of Conditions Facing Business A Puzzle

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—What to call the present state of business is still dividing the experts—even with election considerations out of the way. And so is setting the date for a change in whatever the condition is called.

An economy with as many persons out of work can't be given a clean bill of health. Nor can an economy where emergency steps are being taken to shore up the value of the U.S. dollar in the eyes of the world.

But while many call the present state a recession, others insist it's just a mild inventory adjustment, and some deny it's anything more than a breather ensuring a further advance—at some future time.

The stock market has been playing it cagey. It has neither soared convincingly in expectation of a quick and impressive upswing in business, nor has it slumped badly of late in anticipation of a real slide into hard times.

The figures available to business economists just haven't pointed decisively in either direction—a strong rebound or a growing slump.

The latest over-all figures, those of the Commerce Department on the dollar value of all goods and services produced—gross national product—show the first nine months of the year averaging $503.5 billion at an annual rate. Allowing for price increase, the rise in output over the same period last year comes to 3 per cent.

The gross national product reached a record $505 billion rate in the April-June quarter, but slipped back in the summer months. Personal consumption spending also dipped a bit in the third quarter. Business inventories were about the same.

Economists think the final three months of 1960 will be as roughly the same pace.

Variations on setting the date for an about face in the over-all economy are almost as wide.

Those who hold that the major culprit has been the fall off in business spending for inventory—down some $11.4 billion since the first three months of 1960—say this can't go on much longer. Therefore, sometime in the first half of 1961 business ordering of materials and finished products will pick up. The economy then should be on the upgrade again by next summer.

Those who call consumer hesitancy to splurge the chief worry of business just now hold—even if they don't prove it—that this is sure to disappear in coming months.

Panel Supports Houston U. Plea

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission on Higher Education recommended today that the University of Houston be made a fully state supported institution.

The commission approved a staff recommendation that concluded "that the feasibility of making the University of Houston a fully state supported institution of higher education is obvious."

The staff report noted that by taking the university as a state school the state can obtain an excellent physical plant without incurring debt or added expense. The effective date of the recommendation is Sept. 1, 1963.

The final word lies with the legislature.

In the vote to take in the school, Lee Lockwood of Waco abstained. All other commission members voted for the recommendation.

The proposal to make the University of Houston, second largest in the state, a tax-supported school has been under study.

The staff report was conditioned on the legislature first adequately financing the present 19 state-supported schools and on the University of Houston tailoring its degree program to fit commission specifications.

The University of Houston has 11,049 students. It has graduated 15,600 since 1950. It now receives state support for its first two years, the same as a public junior colleges. It was estimated it would take $4 million a year in general revenue funds to put the University of Houston on a full state supported basis.

The commission also discussed appropriations requests by the 19 fully state-supported schools. Another item on the agenda was possible revision of tuition charges.

4 Wounded In Gunfight

DALLAS (AP)—An early morning gunfight between officers and three police characters left the three and a detective wounded.

The shooting occurred at a motel in north Dallas.

Police Capt. Pat Ganaway told this story:

Officers had been watching the three for several days. They saw them leave their home Monday night, armed with a shotgun.

They followed them to the Holiday Inn—in North Dallas where they saw the men enter a motel room.

A short time later Ganaway called to the men to surrender.

The three opened fire and special detective D. J. Bryan was wounded in the leg.

Other officers opened fire and all three men fell to the ground.

In a motel room, five men were found bound. None was harmed.

Police said the men in the motel room said they are olinten, a night club operator and a lawyer.

Police said they found $16,629 on the wounded men. None is seriously hurt.

Ask Germany To Help More

BONN, Germany (AP) — An American financial-team today resumed efforts to ease pressure on the dollar by persuading West Germany to shoulder a larger burden of foreign aid and Western defense expenses.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dion met for the second day with Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Prior to the meeting, U.S. experts worked out what the Bonn government should do to help the Americans out of their balance of payments difficulties. The German experts were said to have outlined what this properous nation can contribute.

Informants said the experts did not greatly change the American request for increased foreign aid and defense expenses.

The Americans were reported to have asked for nearly $1.5 billion while the Bonn government is said to be ready to contribute around $1 billion.

Two Denton Men Killed In Crash

SANGER, Tex. (AP)—Two Denton men were killed and a Fort Worth man was injured when their car ran into the rear of a truck 4 miles north of here Monday night.

Dead were Pat Rice Buttram, 22, and Richard Lee Stinchcomb, 21.

Milton Doyle Green, 21, of Fort Worth was in a serious condition at a Denton hospital.

The driver of the truck was not injured.

Tax Advisory Panel Ends Its Session

DALLAS (AP)—The "transfer tax" and a state income tax appeared to be getting top consideration as the Governor's Tax Advisory Commission, meeting here Monday, wrestled with the state's financial problems.

The commission, which wound up its hearings at 11 p.m. Monday, is expected to turn over its findings and recommendation to Gov. Price Daniel in about a week.

The group worked on the projected state budget for the next two years and possible recommendations for new taxes to be presented to the Legislature in January.

Gov. Daniel attended the session, presided over by John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the commission.

The Dallas Morning News said a 2 per cent transfer tax probably has top priority although the State AFL-CIO is pushing for a graduated state income tax.

The "transfer tax" label was suggested because the term "sales tax" is unpopular in Texas and many legislators are on record as being opposed to it. Daniel has also stated his opposition to a sales tax.

As now proposed, the transfer tax would be placed on practically all items except food and medical services at the retail level.

A flat 2 per cent, the News was told, would put about $117,000,000 annually in the state's coffers—more than enough to cover the state's deficit.

State labor organizations are already on record as opposing any kind of sales tax, though they have agreed that a new evaluation of the state's tax structure should be made. The state AFL-CIO has recommended a corporate net profits tax, personal income tax and a mineral resources severance tax.

DRAFTY HOUSES

New heating systems are designed to keep temperature variations to a minimum, in old houses as well as modern buildings. A specially designed blower has been incorporated that provides even circulation from floor to ceiling throughout a house. Children can play on the floor in perfect comfort. The system is designed to change the air constantly so it is always fresh.

PRE SHRUNK RIBBON

Because some ribbon may shrink up to three inches per yard, it's best to pre-shrink ribbon yardage before using it in any kind of needlework. Wash in soap or detergent suds, rinse, and let it drip-dry before it is stitched to the fabric. Thus, it will not pucker the item it trims when laundered.

Women Named To Aid In Church Decor

Personel of the Committee of Churchwomen who will decorate Colonial Hill Baptist Church for the Community Thanksgiving Day Service was announced Sunday by Mrs. James E. Green, president of the local Council of Churchwomen. Aiding Mrs. Green will be Mesdames Roy Havens, Howard Hogue, J. W. Leftwich and S. M. Plier. This is the first year the women have been asked to help the Snyder-Scurry County Ministerial Alliance in this endeavor and they are most enthusiastic, Drs. Green reported.

Preacher for the traditional service will be the Rev. Walter Lentz, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church. Rev. Lentz is well know in the community for his weekly broadcasts of KSNY in which he presents a broad picture of Church News from all over the world.

Through the cooperation of Snyder Jaycees the service will be tape recorded for broadcast later in the day. The service will be held at 10 a.m. Ministers participating will be the Rev. Messers Lentz, Carpenter, Fletcher, Herrin and Hamlin. Due to the absence from the city of the Rev. Charles Spivey, the service will be presided over by the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, who is chairman of the committee on Community Cooperation. Other members of the committee are the Rev. Harry Vanderpool and the Rev. Jimmie Nelson.

Mrs. Hugh Taylor, club president held a brief business session following the program.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Sweets For Holiday Table

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

DOES YOUR family, like ours, appreciate a lagniappe — a gracious extra — among traditional Thanksgiving desserts?

If so, plan to concoct a sweet trifle that may be brought out as a pleasant surprise hours after the pumpkin and mince pies have been devoured. No matter how the diners around our holiday table moan that they "can't eat another thing" the extras are always consumed. One batch of hearty eating seems to breed a desire for more.

The lagniappe also has a practical use. Whether dinner is at noon or between six and seven o'clock, there are often relatives and friends dropping in during the afternoon or evening. Then the extra dessert is perfect to serve with a fresh batch of tea or coffee.

So this year what is the offering to be? We vote for Maple Cream Cornucopias, and here's the how and why of this suggestion.

For years we've been using the same wafer recipe — one calling for flour, butter and blended maple syrup — that may be familiar to you. These we rolled in the traditional tube shape. But recently we had a bright idea that worked out just the way we dreamed it would. We shaped the wafers into cornucopias. Then reminded of the cone - shaped wafers lusciously filled with whipped cream, beloved by Europeans, we gave our cornucopias the same treatment.

These trifles are rich, as befits a holiday dessert. But for all their lavish taste they are pleasantly inexpensive.

MAPLE CREAM CORNUCOPIAS

½ cup blended maple syrup
¼ cup butter
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Maple Cream

Stir together syrup and butter in saucepan over high heat; bring to a boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from heat; add flour and salt and stir until smooth. Drop level tablespoons, 3 inches apart, on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 9 minutes. Remove from oven and cool about 1 minute. With wide spatula or pancake turner remove a wafer and quickly lap over two edges to form cornucopia shape; with fingers press lapped edges lightly together. Place on wire rack to cool. Quickly shape remaining wafers, one at a time, the same way (if any wafers harden before they are rolled, return to oven for a few seconds). Lightly spoon Maple Cream into cornucopias without packing down; wrap individually for freezing and place in freezer at once. Serve without defrosting as finger food. Makes 12.

Maple Cream: Beat together 1 cup heavy cream, ¼ cup blended maple syrup and a pinch of salt until just stiff.

Note: If you have no freezer, make and shape the wafers; store in a tightly covered container. At serving time fill with maple Cream.

THANKSGIVING CORNUCOPIAS: Lacy wafers filled with whipped cream are flavored with blended maple syrup for a luscious holiday treat.

Supermarket, Elevator Will Make Debut In Old Florence

BY INEZ ROBB

FLORENCE, Italy. — Offhand, it is difficult to dream up any addition to this gemlike city, cradel of the Renaissance, that would not be in the nature of lily-gilding.

Who or what can add joy or title to a city long since glorified by Michelangelo, Botticelli, Ghiberti, Cellini, Da Vinci, Brunelleschi, Donatello, et al?

Yet, two new somethings are being added to Florence that are certain in one instance to delight the citizens and, in the second, to bring aid and comfort to tourists who pour in here from all over the world.

Florence, which was a flourishing Etruscan city before the Romans moved in and took over, is about to be blessed with its first American-style supermarket. The red-letter day for its formal oepning, complete with carts, is Dec. 1.

The substantial shadow of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York will hover over the supermarket premiere. It was his idea to establish such markets in Latin America and, when they proved successful South of the Border, to branch out into Europe.

Milan was chosen as the testing place for the venture in Italy. The up-and-coming Milanese have made a tremendous success ok the supermarket and encouraged Mr. Rockefeller and the International Basic Economy Corporation to take a similar flier in Florence.

It seems to me that a city in which one is constantly running into English signs such as "Crusted Pizza Like You Get Back Home" and, above a hotel, "Just Like Home" is mentally and spiritually ready for a supermarket.

The second addition, which tourists will love, is an elevator, now in the course of installation in Palazzo Vecchio, that superb 13th Century civic palace which is not only Florence's best known landmark but its trademark, too.

When, after climbing the palazzo's endless stone stairways, I came upon laborers chiseling out the top of the shaft, I fet as my ankles buckled under me—that I had certainly come back to Florence a year too soon! What a boon to next season's footsore sightseers! To ease the arches by even one elevator, especially in Florence, is a great missionary work.

For Florence, with its wealth of architectural jewels crammed with an endless richness of great Renaissance art, is absolute death on the feet even when one is strongwilled, disciplined sightseer.

One would really have to live a lifetime in Florence to savor all its beauties. What the sensible sightseer (me, of course!) does is to make up his mind what he really has time to see and digest; and stick to that schedule come hell or high water.

One man's art choice may be another's anathema. But I come to Florence to commune with Michelangelo, Ghiberti and Benvenuto Cellini, that thorough rascal and braggart who was not only a genius as sculptor and goldsmith, but who wrote one of the most lively, dynamic and entertaining autobiographies on record.

Cellini introduced me to the exuberant and lethal life of Renaissance Florence when I happened across his "Autobiography" at the tender age of 12. I am certain my mother would have been as horrified to know that I had curled up with it as a latter-day mother at the thought of her 12-year-old daughter reading "Lady Chatterley".

But if there were rough passages in the "Autobiography" I was oblivious to them. It's only effect was to make me fall in love with Florence and Benvenuto. I am always amazed, when I stand in front of the bust of Cellini on the Ponte Vecchio and the full-length statue of him in the courtyard of the Uffizi gallery, to note that this rascal and another of my heroes, the saintly Gen. Robert E. Lee, are dead-ringers for each other.

The good general would have recognized Benvenuto's gifts, but I feel certain he wouldn't have allowed him in the house. Cellini was a rowdy genious, but no one ever mistook him for a gentleman, which is probably the reason the centuries have not dimmed his "Autobiography".

Carrier Wasp Is Off On Patrol

BOSTON (AP)—The 40,000-ton aircraft carrier Wasp leaves Boston today for the troubled Caribbean and patrol duty off Nicaragua and Guatemala.

The Wasp, with a crew of 2,400 men, will relieve the carrier Shangri-La off the Central American coast, the Navy announced Monday night.

For the crew of the Wasp the sailing orders meant cancellation of Thanksgiving leaves with their families.

Control Of Weather Not All Desirable

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Science now holds out the hope that man eventually will be able to control the weather.

This possibility, on the face of it, sounds like a great boon. But is it?

Do we really want a push-button climate as the final climax of a push-button world?

There is no doubt that the achievement of automatic weather by man would offer many advantages.

It would enable him to grow vastly larger crops, thus averting for a longer time the crisis of worldwide hunger being brought on by over-population.

It would help reduce his cost of living. He would need less clothing, less fuel for heating purposes—at least in his home. He would spend less for cold cures and cough drops.

It would enable him to reduce the rigors of both heat in summer and cold in winter, and perhaps give the whole world the year-round climate of a balmy South Sea island.

Doesn't it all sound wonderful? But the question remains—would it actually be so wonderful, assuming an unbridled science might manage to achieve these miracles?

We already have done much to ameliorate the extremes of bad weather. We have air-conditioned houses, cars, theaters, offices, factories and bowling alleys to protect us from extreme high temperatures in July and August.

We have marvelous heating systems to warm our autos, our homes and our places of public work and assembly in winter. And millions now have the cash to flee south for a vacation week or two in January or February.

It is one thing to air-condition a home. It is quite another thing to seek to air-condition the world—hitherto regarded as a chore of God or nature.

Are we wise enough yet to make our own weather? Do we know enough yet about ourselves to even pick the weather which would be best for us?

Many have dreamed of an earth of flowering plenty bathed forever in a mild and beneficent sunshine. But is a satin security such as this the real answer to our life's true needs?

It could turn out to be a lotus nightmare, the plethora of a popped promise.

The rhythm of the changing seasons, some have held, is responsible for the vigor of people who dwell in a temperate clime. To do our best—and feel our best—we need an icicle time as well as a time of sunshine.

Texan Loses To Car Thief Again

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—Texas Baseball League President Richard (Dick) Butler of San Antonio, has been struck out again by a car thief.

In August Butler flew from Texas to Cincinnati, rented a car, and drove here to visit his mother, Mrs. Richard Butler.

He parked the car in front of his mother's house. Next morning it was gone.

Sunday he came home again, in his own 1960 car. He parked it in the same spot.

Monday morning it too was gone.

New LA Franchise Is Up For Debate Today

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Del Webb and Walter O'Malley, the two titans of the major leagues, were expected to hold the center of the stormy stage today as the baseleagured American League resumed its formidable task of locating a franchise in Los Angeles.

Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, and O'Malley, head of the Los Angeles Dodgers, arrived here this morning for a summit meeting in Commissioner Ford Frick's office with league presidents Jo Cronin of the American and Warren Giles of the National.

O'Malley made his position quite clear even before he left the West Coast.

"I'm not opposed to the expansion of the American League into Los Angeles," he said, "but not in 1961."

The position of Webb and the American League is just as plain. They are determined to grant a franchise to Los Angeles, and in 1961. O'Malley notwithstanding.

Webb was dispatched to the West Coast with instructions to offer what it considers a "reasonable" settlement to O'Malley for any expenses he might have accrued in bringing the Dodgers there three years ago. O'Malley has said that compensation to the Dodgers by the new American League entry would be the least important of the conditions.

"I am opposed to sharing the Los Angeles Coliseum in 1961," he said. "I think a new team should be located in an area 15 miles from the Dodgers home site."

He mentioned such places as Long Beach and San Bernardino. Some American League owners are wondering why he didn't add Laguna Beach.

"O'Malley just doesn't want the American League in Los Angeles," said Nate Dolan, the blunt-spoken vice president of the Cleveland Indians. "We made an honest attempt to abide by the commissioner's wishes—to affect some kind of a fair and reasonable settlement with O'Malley. Now it's up to the commissioner to weigh all the evidence and make his decision."

While in Los Angeles, Webb conferred with Kenyon Brown, former stockholder in the Detroit Tigers, on the prospect of Brown heading a syndicate, including hotel owner Conrad Hilton, to take over the Los Angeles franchise. He was expected to make his report at the league meeting.

Charles A. Finley, who last week offered to invest $5 million of his own money if granted the LA franchise, has been receiving support from American League backers.

Finley's staunchest supporter is Frank Lane, general manager of the Indians.

"I think, along with several others, that the American League is fortunate to have a fellow like Finley who, at least on five different occasions, has attempted to buy a baseball franchise. As far back as six years ago he tried to buy the Philadelphia Athletics."

Hank Greenberg and Bill Veeck, who at one time were interested in acquiring the Los Angeles franchise themselves, are other boosters of Finley. Only a week ago, when it seemed that Greenberg and Veeck might move to the coast, they tentatively agreed to sell their 54 per cent of the Chicago White Sox to Finley for $400,000. Greenberg has since declared he no longer is interested in Los Angeles.

The already clouded future of the American League received an additional jolt Monday night from Branch Rickey, the retiring head of the ill-fated Continental League, the would-be third major circuit.

In a farewell speech to the press, the 79-year-old baseball executive declared the American League would soon regret what he termed "its abortive attempt to expand," and predicted that the two newest members—Washington and Los Angeles — would forfeit their franchises a month after the opening of the 1961 season.

Rickey, who long has professed the only true expansion is a third major league, also decried the National League's announced plans to grant franchises to New York and Houston to operate in 1962.

"Both moves are illogical to the point of absurdity," he said. "The new teams cannot endure. It will be a matter of years before the ninth and tenth place teams can progress to the point of respectability."

Bowl Speculation Holds Spotlight

By JACK CLARK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Speculation, rather than college football teams, filled most of the available postseason bowl spots today even after Penn State and Baylor announced their willingness to participate in the Liberty and Gator Bowls, respectively.

This pair Monday joined Washington, Arkansas and Missouri, which over the weekend, announced bowl acceptances. Four of the nine major bowls have yet to fill a spot and it is unlikely that there will be much more action in that direction until after Saturday's games when many of the eligibles wind up the regular 1960 season.

The newly organized Gotham Bowl in New York may not even get off the ground. Syracuse, the defending national and Cotton Bowl champion, and a key to a good "home draw" by the Gotham committee, withdrew from all post-season consideration yesterday.

The committee still hopes to land the winner of the Army-Navy game.

The list of available narrowed down to about 10, which include: Alabama (7-1-1), Tennessee (5-2-2) Mississippi (8-0-1), Minnesota and Iowa, both 8-1, Duke, Florida, Texas and Rice, all 7-2, and Oregon 7-2-1.

Iowa and Minnesota, Big Ten co-champions, must be eliminated if not invited to the Rose Bowl. Conference rules prohibit other bowl play.

Here is the present bowl lineup, including the speculation:

ROSE—Washington (9-1), defending Big Five and Rose Bowl champ, is in. "It's just about narrowed down to Navy, Iowa and Minnesota, with some others under consideration," Huskies coach Jim Owens said Monday night. Navy gave Washington its only loss, 15-14, this season.

SUGAR—No berths filled. Mississippi is favored to win the Southeastern Conference title with a victory Saturday over Mississippi State and the SEC champ usually is the host. Florida and Alabama may slip in if Ole Miss falters. The visitor may be Rice if the Owls beat Baylor and tie for the Southwest Conference title.

COTTON—Arkansas (8-2) is the host. Oregon, Alabama and Tennessee have been named as possibilities.

ORANGE—Missouri (9-1), which lost to Georgia 14-0 last New Year's Day, is back. Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference king, may be the top choice now that Syracuse has declined.

GATOR—Baylor (7-2) is in, and Florida was invited last week but put off a decision until after its final game against Miami this weekend. If Ole Miss wins the SEC title, the Gators will accept.

LIBERTY—Penn State (6-3) is back to defend its title. Texas, Tennessee and Alabama, which lost 7-0 in the inaugural last year, are possibles.

BLUEBONNET—No team has been named, but Texas seems the logical "home" choice. Again Tennessee and Alabama seem to be the choice, depending who's left in the battle with the Liberty Bowl.

Tennessee Tech accepted a berth in the Tangerine Bowl Monday night.

Five Stars Are Drafted

DALLAS (AP) — Five outstanding Southwest Conference football players were snapped up Monday by the American Football League's early draft. The sixth round of the drafting, being conducted by telephone, will be completed today.

E. J. Holub, Texas Tech center; Bob Lilly, Texas Christian tackle; Jerry Mays, Southern Methodist tackle; Arnold Davis, Baylor end; and Monte Lee, Texas guard; were grabbed by the AFL teams.

The Dallas Texans grabbed Holub, Lilly and Mays. Houston snatched Lee, and New York got Arnold Davis but traded him to Buffalo.

Auburn tackle Ken Rice was the first draft choice, drawn by Buffalo, which got the first pick due to its standings in the race.

First choices of the other seven clubs in the league were Tom Brown, Minnesota Guard; Tommy Mason, Tulane halfback; Bob Gaiters, New Mexico State halfback; Joe Rutgens, Illinois tackle; Holub, Earl Faison, Indiana end, and Mike Ditka, Pittsburgh.

Brown was drawn by New York, Mason by Boston, Gaiters by Denver, Rutgens by Oakland, Faison by Los Angeles and Ditka by Houston.

Commissioner Joe Foss said no players could be signed to contracts before completing their college eligibility, including bowl games.

GRANT TEAFF

Grant Teaff Speaker For Grid Banquet

A former Snyder High School athelete who this year is making his debut as a college coach, is coming back home tonight to speak to high school footballers in his old home town.

He is Grant Teaff, head coach at McMurry College, where he starred as a football player during his undergraduate days.

Teaff will be guest speaker at the banquet for Snyder High School football players tonight in the high school cafeteria. The banquet will begin at 7 p.m.

Teaff graduated from Snyder High School in 1951 and was captain of the Tiger Football Team his senior year. Following graduation from high school he attended San Angelo Junior College and then McMurry, playing football throughout his college career.

He is in his first year as head football coach at McMurry, and so far this season his young, inexperienced Indians have won three and lost six decisions. They still have one game remaining on their encounter with their cross-town rivals, Abilene Christian College.

Drag Racers From Snyder Win Awards

A group of drag racers from Snyder took part in the monthly races held in Abilene Sunday and proved successful in winning two savings bonds and four class trophies.

John Billy Koonsman, in his 1960 Pontiac, was winner of the $25 stock Eleminator Bond and also the Super Stock Glass trophy.

Bill Dennis, in his '34 Chevrolet coupe, won the $25 Street Eleminator Bond and the G Gas Class trophy.

Billy Valentine, in his '34 Ford coupe, won the B Altered Class trophy.

Wendell Smith, in his 1957 Chevrolet, won the C Stock Class trophy.

The top speed Sunday was 155 mph in 9.15 seconds. This was turned in by Eddie Hill in his Pontiac super-charged A Dragster from Wichita Falls.

Snyderites attending the races included Mr. and Mrs. John Billy Koonsman, Bill Dennis, Ronnie Weber, Jody Gilbert, Franklin Gilbert, Keith Lloyd, Ron Dupree, Bill Valentine, Eddie Watson, Mr. and Mrs. John Huckaby, Jesse Allen, Kelton Pinterton, Carroll Cox, Randy Hays and Arnold Wllace.

Members of the Blasters Auto Club in attendance were Wendell Smith, Beverly Smith, Bobby Brown, Pooch Hatter, Jimmy Sellers, Eddie Taylor, Dickie Locke, Sue Holloway and Linda Hodge.

The next drag races will be held on Dec. 18.

Top Teams Hold Ranking

DALLAS (AP) — Wichita Falls and Jacksonville, both undefeated and untied, this week captured the No. 1 schoolboy rankings in Classes AAAA and AAA in the Dallas News' final 1960 schoolboy football poll.

The Coyotes, who replaced Baytown as the AAAA kingpin three weeks ago, won the top ranking by a unanimous vote from sports writers across the state.

Jacksonville, on the other hand, was pressed by Bay City for the top AAA slot.

Port Arthur claimed the runner-up berth behind Wichita Falls with Dallas Samuell, San Antonio Jefferson and Baytown third, fourth and fifth in that order.

Bay City moved into second place in AAA, followed by Brownwood, Carrollton and Monahans.

Greenville cruised into the AAA top ten for the first time and defending champion Cleburne made a return appearance.

Galena Park and Waco bumped Highland Park and Temple out of AAAA's select circle.

The final rankings:

Class AAAA: 1. Wichita Falls 2. Port Arthur. 3. Dallas Samuell. 4. San Antonio Jefferson. 5. Baytown. 6. Odessa Permian. 7. Corpus Christi Miller. 8. Borger. 9. Galena Park. 10. Waco.

Class AAA: 1. Jacksonville. 2. Bay City. 3. Brownwood. 4. Carrollton. 5. Monahans. 6. Port Lavaca. 7. Seguin. 8. Greenville. 9. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo. 10. Cleburne.

Wilt Regains His Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia has regained the National Basketball Association individual scoring lead despite a tremendous scoring spree by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain leads the West Coast flash 549-513, but the Philadelphian has played one more game than Baylor, who set an NBA single game record by scoring 71 points against New York last week, and got 52 in another game.

Baylor, however, has averaged 36.64 points a game to 36.60 for Chamberlain. Both marks are the highest in the 15-year history of the league.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati continues in third place with 483 points.

There are eight national forests in Arizona — Apache, Coconino, Coronado, Gila, Kaibab, Prescott, Sitgreaves and Tonto.

Minnesota's Gophers Are Back On Top

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota leapfrogged back into first pace in the weekly Associated Press football rankings today as the fight for the national college championship headed into a photo finish.

The coveted title will be decided on the results of next week's final AP poll of the season.

Minnesota barely edged out Iowa and Mississippi for the No. 1 spot. The Gophers finished with 424½ points to 417½ for second-place Iowa. Mississippi, in third place, had 398 points.

Washington, the Big Five champion and host team in the Rose Bowl, moved up one notch to fourth with 249 points, while Missouri, the leader last week, tumbled to fifth with 241 points after a 23-7 beating from Kansas.

Arkansas, the Cotton Bowl host, was sixth, followed by Navy, Auburn, Ohio State and Kansas.

Minnesota and Iowa have finished their seasons, each with an 8-1 record and tied for the Big Ten championship.

But third-place Mississippi, the only team in the top 10 that hasn't been defeated, still has one more game. The Rebs, who boast an 8-0-1 record, play Mississippi State in their finale Saturday.

The leaders, with first-place votes in parentheses (points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. Minnesota (13½)	424½
2 Iowa (17½)	417½
3. Mississippi (13)	398
4. Washington (2)	249
5. Missouri	241
6. Arkansas	228
7. Navy	188
8. Auburn (1)	149½
9. Ohio State	117
10. Kansas	48

Others receiving votes: Duke 36, Rice 34, Yale 30½, Michigan State 19, New Mexico State 9, Penn State 9, Syracuse 6, Florida 6, Texas 3, Purdue 2, Oregon 2, Michigan 2, Oregon State 1.

Yale received one first-place vote.

Brownwood Team Uses Long Gainers To Get Touchdowns

The Snyder Tigers will face a team Friday that takes delight in breaking for the long scoring play.

The long run and the long pass are favorite weapons of the Brownwood Lions, champions of District 4-AAA, according to Jimmy Gafford, who gave a scouting report on the Tigers' bi-district foes at last night's session of the Quarterback Club.

Their last conference game, a 28-0 decision over Weatherford, gives some indication of the Lions' attack.

In that one, Quarterback Ben Elledge tossed a 21-yard pass to End Lawrence Elkins for one touchdown, while others were scored on runs of 56, 63 and 33 yards. Fullback A. D. Carnes made one of the long touchdowns runs, while Max Emfinger, tailback in Coach Gordon Wood's wing T attack, scored another, and the third running touchdown was picked up by a sophomore, James Crow.

As for the Brownwood defense, Gafford said it was fluid and effective.

"They like to move, and there are lots of them wherever the ball goes," Gafford said.

Elkins is rated as one of the top high school ends in Texas, and is being boomed for a spot on the all-state team. He is an excellent pass receiver and a favorite target of Elledge, who throws the long pass well.

Meanwhile, the Tigers are at work trying to polish their attack and at the same time get some "cripples" back in full-scale action. Several local gridders are suffering from an assortment of bruises.

"We can't do much out there," said Coach John Conley of this week's practice sessions, "but we are hoping some of our injured boys will be able to play some Friday."

Tickets for the bi-district game went on sale yesterday at the school administration building. The reserved seat ducats sell for $2 each, while student tickets are priced at 50 cents each.

Sale of reserved seat tickets will be limited to season ticket holders until 5 p.m. today. Beginning tomorrow they will be available to the general public. Ticket sales will continue at the administration building until 11 a.m. Thursday.

Top Coaches Due In Blue-Gray Game

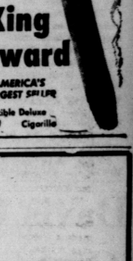

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three of the South's leading college coaches will coach the Gray team for the 23rd annual Blue-Gray game here Dec. 31.

Appointment of Paul Dietzel of LSU, Wallace Butts of Georgia and Bill Hildebrand of Wake Forest was announced by Blue-Gray officials Monday.

Signing of three of the nation's top passers for the South also was announced. They are Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Jerry Eisaman of Kentucky and Norman Snead of Wake Forest.

Blue team coaches, named earlier, are Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Don Faurot of Missouri.

Baylor Players Are Happy

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baylor's going Gator Bowling Dec. 31 and there's nobody any happier than the Bears' Ronnie Stanley and Herby Adkins.

Stanley, a quarterback, and Adkins, a guard, are roommates at Baylor and constant companions on hunting and fishing trips.

"We hear the fishing down there is out of this world," Adkins said Monday after the Bears had accepted the Gator Bowl bid. The two often burn a kerosene lantern in their room "because it smells good and freshens the air."

Word of the selection spread like wildfire over the Baylor campus and the central Texas city of Waco almost before it was officially announced from Jacksonville.

Coach John Bridgers placed a long distance call Monday and was interrupted by an operator, who congratulated him.

"That's supposed to be a secret for another hour or so," Bridgers said. "How did you find out?"

"Oh, my girl friend just told me . . .," the operator replied. "She's from the same home town as the girl friend of one of the players—isn't it wonderful?"

Baylor's Gator Bowl foe has not been named.

Steady rain fell at Waco Monday and Bridgers called off practice in favor of a long squad meeting followed by game films and a scout report on Rice.

Baylor, although out of the Southwest Conference race, holds the "key to Rice's championship hopes. Arkansas already has clinched a tie for the title and captured the Cotton Bowl host spot but must share the crown if Rice defeats Baylor.

Arkansas has taken a two-week vacation until it resumes workouts for its Cotton Bowl foe, as yet unnamed.

Rain forced Texas A&M indoors and Coach Jim Myers worked the Aggies in sweat clothes polishing up for their traditional game with the University of Texas Thanksgiving Day.

Texas Christians held a light drill, working primarily on passing. The Frogs tackle winless Southern Methodist Saturday in Dallas.

TCU Coach Abe Martin made several position changes, saying he was "going to look for a couple of hard running halfbacks and use my passing to score TDs."

A soggy field canceled SMU's practice session so the Mustangs settled down to watch game films and devise a plan to end their nine-game drought.

Texas Tech completed its season last week.

Reapportionment Suit A Milestone

By GAVIN SCOTT

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court's decision to hear the Tennessee reapportionment suit is a milestone in the struggle of cities to break rural control of state legislatures, spokesmen for the plaintiffs said today.

The court agreed Monday to a hearing on a suit by 10 Tennessee voters who seek redistribution of legislative seats to reflect the shift of population from the farms to the cities.

The decision has significance far beyond the borders of Tennessee.

"The Supreme Court has never before agreed to hear a legislative reapportionment case," said Harris Gilbert, one of several lawyers for the plaintiffs.

"This is a great hurdle forward," said Z. T. Osborn, another attorney for the group.

The court in a 1946 Illinois reapportionment case said that "courts ought not to enter this political thicket."

Should the court now agree the plaintiffs' constitutional rights have been denied, a new avenue would be opened to advocates of redistricting in states where rural lawmakers have blocked every effort at reapportionment.

The Tennessee Legislature has not been redistricted since 1901, despite a provision in the state constitution that requires a count of qualified voters every 10 years and apportionment of seats in the assembly accordingly.

The chief issue before the Supreme Court is whether the federal courts have authority to compel redistricting of state legislatures. A special three-judge federal panel here, in dismissing the Tennesseans' suit last Dec. 21, held federal courts lacked jurisdiction.

The plaintiffs base their case for federal jurisdiction on the contention the failure of the legislature to reapportion its seats has deprived them of equal representation as guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

State Atty. Gen. George McCanless, a defendant in the suit, asked dismissal on grounds no federal question is involved.

Davis Calls Parley Of State Heads

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Jimmie Davis of Louisiana has called a conference of Southern governors to discuss federal orders to integrate New Orleans public schools and a possible bolt of the Democratic party by Dixie presidential electors.

News of the conference was learned Monday when Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi telegraphed to Davis his plans to attend the Nov. 30 session in court.

Barnett promised to cooperate with Louisiana in its fight against the federal court directives.

U.S. Dist. Judge Skelly Wright of New Orleans has issued orders directing the Louisiana Legislature, the governor and other high state officials not to interfere with school desegregation. Davis called the meeting to condemn Wright's action.

Barnett's office also said the Louisiana governor wanted Southern governors to unite in getting presidential electors to throw the election into Congress.

Mississippi chose eight unpledged electors in November. Barnett has said there would be a chance to get a conservative president if the election went to the House.

Barnett, now on a tour of South America with other governors, was expected to return here Nov. 29.

It was not known how many other Southern governors were invited by Davis.

Davis is reported to have worked behind the scenes for the Louisiana Democratic Central Committee to support unpledged electors. The body, by a razor-thin margin, voted to back President-elect John Kennedy.

After the election Davis said he voted for Kennedy.

Wilson On TADA Board

Bill Wilson of Wilson Motors in Snyder was named this week as an Associate Director of the Texas Automotive Dealers Association, the state-wide association of factory-authorized new car and truck dealers.

Wilson's appointment was announced by TADA President F. D. Mitchell of Waco. TADA, with headquarters in Austin is an organization of more than one thousand Texas new car dealers.

"The Texas Automotive Dealers Association has a history of more than forty years service and is one of the largest associations of its kind in the nation," Mitchell said. "Its purpose is to establish a higher plane of commercial integrity for those engaged in the new car and truck business, and to work together to provide the maximum in service to the buying public. We are extremely proud to have a man of Mr. Wilson's calibre accept this position of responsiblity and leadership with our association."

In this post Wilson will maintain close contact with all new car and truck dealers in this area and will work directly with TADA Area Director Horace Holley of Abilene.

Thinks Public Will Demand More Debates

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the National Broadcasting Co. believes the public will demand that television debates by presidential candidates become a permanent fixture.

Robert W. Sarnoff, NBC board chairman, in the latest of his periodic letters to TV and radio editors, said Monday that any one of the four debates between President-elect John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon "would qualify as the most watched program in television history."

Turkeys Plentiful In U. S. Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are plenty of turkeys in supermarkets and neighborhood groceries to grace Thanksgiving Day tables.

Big birds over 20 pounds are in particular abundance. But there are not as many birds under eight pounds as last year.

Stocks of turkeys in cold storage had reached a record total of 279 million pounds on Nov. 1. The previous record was 255 million pounds on Nov. 1, 1958.

It is difficult to determine whether you will pay more or less for your turkey this year than a year ago. Birds were sold in more weight categories last year than this year.

For those who aren't fanciers of turkey meat, many stores are featuring rib roasts and hams.

Shrimp and lobster tails are among fish specialties.

The traditional Thanksgiving cranberry is in abundant supply. A record crop of 131 million pounds has been harvested.

Housewives have a large variety of vegetables for selection to round out holiday menus.

New arrivals on the market include kumquats, Boston and romaine lettuce, Italian type peppers from Florida, anise, domestic cabbage and big Boston lettuce from California.

Best vegetable buys are broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, Chinese cabbage, cucumbers, Florida endive and escarole, mushrooms, medium yellow onions, turnips, rutabagas, eastern potatoes, radishes, yellow straightneck squash, curly parsley, nemagold and orange and yellow Jersey sweet potatoes.

California anise, Florida okra, white broiler onions, green peas and tomatoes are expensive.

Best fruit buys are chestnuts, cranberries, emperor grapes, cortland and McIntosh apples and small pomegranates.

On the expensive side are tangerines and melons.

Revision Of Import Plan Is Requested

WASHINGTON (AP)—The acting president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) has told the Department of the Interior it should revise its methods of computing crude oil import quotas.

J. F. West of Stamford, Tex., testified Monday at a hearing before Undersecretary of the Interior Elmer F. Bennett. The department called the meeting to get industry comment on a proposed 60,000 barrel a day import cut.

"The effect of the current procedure for basic crude oil imports upon demand for products in addition to crude oil production has been to assure the growth of crude oil imports at the expense of domestic oil production," West said.

"This occurs by virtue of the fact that imports are accorded a percentage not only of growth in demand for crude oil but of some competitive products and even imports themselves.

West told the secretary Texas, of Oct. 21, had produced this year 44.6 million barrels below its depressed production total of the same period in 1959. "Meanwhile, imports gained approximately 13 million barrels in the same period," he said.

He said the planned cut, while laudable, does not go far enough.

No Penalty For Voting

CHICAGO (AP)—The archbishop of San Juan, Puerto Rico, has flatly denied that Roman Catholics in that country will be punished for disobeying a church order on voting in a national election.

The Most Rev. James P. Davis in a statement Monday night said sacraments would not be withheld from Catholics who defied church instructions to vote against Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party in the Nov. 8 election. Marin's party swept the election.

His statement followed a report that the Catholic woman mayor of San Juan, Felisa de Gauthier, was ordered by her pastor to do public penance before she can receive Communion because of the way she voted.

Archbishop Davis, in Chicago for a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension Society, said his statement covers all three dioceses in the church's Puerto Rico province — San Juan, Ponce and Arecibo.

The archbishop said he had instructed his clergy that no sanctions or canonical penalties were provided when Puerto Rican bishops jointly issued letters urging Catholics to vote against the Popular Democratic party.

Youth Quits His New Career As Fisherman

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Three days in a disabled boat on the Gulf of Mexico convinced a New Jersey youth he didn't want to become a commercial fisherman.

A Coast Guard helicopter plucked Mickey Panella, 20, of West New York, N.J., from the 16-foot outboard-motor boat late Monday about 35 miles from shore.

Panella said he had been drifting since Friday when his motor failed.

He said he came to Florida to become a commercial fisherman but changed his mind after he had to eat half-raw fish cooked over a gasoline fire he started in the bottom of an ice chest.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Charles N. Stewart and Ida Dymes were married Monday. It was the second marriage for each. Mrs. Dymes is 59. Stewart is 104.

Conflicting Evidence In Five Deaths

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Authorities today had conflicting evidence in the death of five men whose charred bodies were found sitting in a parked car near here.

Some clues point to murder but others indicate "a tragic mishap," Pike County Prosecutor John Paul Runyan said Monday.

X-rays revealed metal fragments in the chests of four of the bodies. A radiologist said the fragments could be shotgun pellets or rifle bullets.

The dead men, all from the remote Greasy Creek area of this mountainous eastern Kentucky county, are:

Bud Hopkins, 24, and his brother Louie, 16; Harmon Robinson, 42; Harvey Ratliff, 24, and Denver Yates, 25. All but Louie Hopkins, who was unemployed, were coal miners.

Their bodies were found early Sunday in a car parked in a creek bed on Greasy Creek Road, 17 miles southeast of here. The car's interior was scorched, but the exterior was not damaged.

Former Veep John Garner Marks His 92nd Birthday

By JOE BENHAM

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner marks 92 years of colorful life today by becoming honorary mayor of the hill country town where his political career began before the turn of the century.

He expects to spend the day with old friends and a few visitors, in comparative quiet compared to his oft-stormy 38 years in Washington and the sweeping celebration of his 90th birthday two years ago.

Nevertheless, the occasion will be an impressive one for the still-spry master politician and elder statesman who attains his longtime ambition of spending half of his life a public servant and half in private life, the office of honorary mayor of Uvalde, conferred on bushy-browed "Cactus Jack" by Mayor Melvin Roland the City Council, will be the sixth he has held.

He served as county judge, state representative, congressman, speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives and vice president between 1896 and 1940, when he retired from public life after breaking with Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Garner has lived quietly since his unsuccessful opposition to Roosevelt's third-term bid, which provoked the vice president to tell a biographer "a president in his third and successive terms may not be a dictator, but he is the first cousin or half-brother of one, and he will act like one."

He opposed recognition of the Soviet Union in 1933 and "putting the government into business," which he termed "a violation of the nation's industrial and commercial fabric."

Garner spends much of his time chatting with visitors and shelling pecans from the trees that tower over his cottage.

His callers range from former President Harry S. Truman, House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Adlai E. Stevenson to curious teen-agers who know Garner's name only from history books and their parents' conversations.

Until his 90th birthday, Garner often broke out a bottle of bourbon and joined guests in "striking a blow for liberty"—his term for having a friendly drink.

He gave up bourbon and cigars two years ago. He eats sparingly and is said by his friends to be in good health.

Ghana Congo Envoy Leaves Residence

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Nathanial Welbeck, Ghana's charge d'affaires, left his battleground residence en route home to Accra today after an all-night siege by the Congo army to enforce his ouster from the country.

Welbeck said he was leaving the Congo "because my government wants me to go." He said he would make another statement upon his arrival in Accra.

Gold Is No Longer A Laughing Matter

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A few years ago, every comic in the land was getting laughs by poking fun at Uncle Sam's seemingly unlimited supply of gold.

Americans chuckled automatically at every mention of the pullon vaults at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Today, gold no longer is a laughing matter.

In the past 3½ months, other nations have been "buying" U.S. gold at the rate of more than $4 billion a year. The total American supply—$18 billion—is at a 20-year low.

Foreigners are able to buy heavily because, in their dealings with the United States, they are receiving more dollars than they can handily spend.

Some of the buying is normal. Some is abnormal and ominous.

The free world's economic machine operates primarily on two brands of gasoline: gold and U.S. dollars. Gold and dollars finance world trade and are the "reserves" that stand behind the paper money of most non-Communist countries.

Because there isn't enough gold in the world to back up all the money, the dollar has become an acceptable substitute. This is possible because the dollar, literally, is "as good as gold."

Uncle Sam stands ready at any time to sell gold to other nations in exchange for dollars. One is as good as the other, so long as the price of gold remains unchanged at $35 an ounce.

Will the dollar always be as good as gold?

A few years ago, when Ft. Knox was a joke, the question wouldn't have been asked. The United States then was an island of prosperity in the postwar sea of ruin.

Today, however, a prospering Europe can afford U.S. gold and is buying heavily. Some of the buying seems to stem from uncertainty about the future of the dollar.

Officials here won't concede there has been any serious uncertainty in the foreign quarters that count most, governments and their central banks.

Governments and central banks are the only ones—except jewelry makers—who are permitted to buy U.S. gold. Traditionally, they buy gold with some of the dollars they receive. However, in recent months they have been using a higher proportion of their dollars to buy gold.

This appears to be a sign of uncertainty—the sort of uncertainty that feeds upon itself. It doubtless was one reason by President Eisenhower last week ordered emergency measures to attack the problem—instead of waiting nine weeks for the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Eisenhower's moves were designed to reduce the deficit in the U. S. balance of international payments. The balance of payments represents the difference between the amount of money coming into the country and the amount going out.

In 10 of the past 11 years, the United States and its citizens have paid out to foreigners more than they've received. These deficits have increased sharply in the past three years, reaching $3.8 billion in 1959.

Foreign governments and central banks normally wind up with more than half of the dollars which move overseas because of the payments deficit. And since they always use some of their dollars to buy gold, big deficits mean big sales of gold.

In the first half of 1960, the U.S. payments deficit was shrinking. It dropped to an annual rate of $2.7 billion on the strength of increased exports. Gold sales slowed to a trickle—less than $200 million for six months.

Then came a slackening in the American economy while Europe boomed. Interest rates were lowered in an effort to stimulate business. European rates were increased in a move to fight inflation.

The result: Many Americans, and Europeans with investments here, decided to shift their money to Europe in order to earn better interest. This meant more dollars moving overseas.

Almost overnight, the payments picture changed dramatically. In July, August and September, the payments deficit increased to a rate of $4.3 billion a year. The trickle of gold became a flood.

Interest rates here and abroad are coming closer together now. Officials will be watching to see whether this lessens the gold drain.

In any case, interest rates are only part of the problem. So long as the United States pays out abroad more than it receives, gold will continue to move into foreign hands.

The question is whether income and outgo can be brought into reasonable balance before the gold problem reaches crisis proportions.

Soviet Aims Are Revealed In Paris

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

A development in Paris Monday provides a clue to Soviet intentions toward the incoming U. S. administration. It indicates a long-range, back-door attack to divide the United States from its North Atlantic allies.

The Paris move carried a step further the Soviet attack on the structure of the United Nations. The Soviet delegation demanded that the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization abolish the post of its director-general and substitute a three-member executive board, representing the Communist bloc, the neutrals and the West.

This proposal was similar to the one applied to the U. N. secretary-general's office by Premier Khrushchev during his spectacular show in the U. N. Assembly last month.

The proposal to abolish the secretary-general's office got little support, even from neutralist nations. But the Russians have been bringing up the general idea of three-man directorates time after time in various committees and agencies of the world peace organization.

To broach the idea for UNESCO, however, would seem to make little sense, even for the Kremlin. UNESCO is supposed to deal with matters largely outside the frigid atmosphere of the cold war.

It is difficult to see what the Russians expect to get out of their Paris proposal.

What the Russians seem to be doing is serving notice that nothing can be done toward easing world tensions by the United Nations as it exists today.

By persisting in their demands, and applying them in such unlikely fields as cultural relations among nations, the Russians fortify the impression that they hope to freeze the cold war permanently into all U. N. organs. This indicates a Soviet presumption that the cold war cannot and will not come to an end.

Since the Russians seek to build into all U. N. organs a paralyzing, disruptive veto power, it would seem logical to assume that they will not work within the world organization unless they can control it. Lacking much prospect of that for the present, they seem to want to stall any effective U.N. operation.

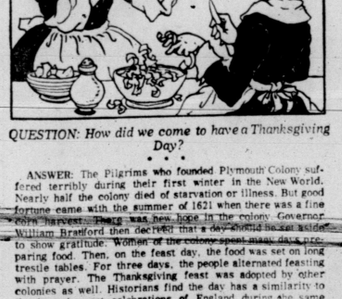

If the Russians have their way, this will mean summits, summits and more summits. The indications are that they are now generating the steam for pressure they intend to bring against the administration of President-elect Kennedy to push him into a top-level meeting in April.

When Sen. Kennedy became the apparent victor in the U. S. elections, Khrushchev sent him a message saying that "the eyes of many people are fixed on the United States and the Soviet Union, because the destinies of world peace largely depend upon the state of Soviet-American relations."

This seemed to express the idea that the only nations which can attempt to settle world problems are the U.S.S.R. and the United States. Should the United States seem to accept such an idea, it could arouse such distrust among America's allies that the beginning of the end of NATO might be in sight.

That is one of Khrushchev's most cherished goals. His attack on the U. N. structure may be just one weapon in his attempt to achieve it.

Junior Editors Quiz on THANKSGIVING

QUESTION: How did we come to have a Thanksgiving Day?

• • •

ANSWER: The Pilgrims who founded Plymouth Colony suffered terribly during their first winter in the New World. Nearly half the colony died of starvation or illness. But good fortune came with the summer of 1621 when there was a fine corn harvest. There was new hope in the colony. Governor William Bradford then decreed that a day should be set aside to show gratitude. Women of the colony spent many days preparing food. Then, on the feast day, the food was set on long trestle tables. For three days, the people alternated feasting with prayer. The Thanksgiving feast was adopted by other colonies as well. Historians find the day has a similarity to the home-harvest celebrations of England during the same period.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to make a list of all the goods the Pilgrims had at their first Thanksgiving feast. You can find the information in a history book dealing with the colonists.

Author Faces Charge As Wife Stabbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Author Norman Mailer, 37, whose latest book is "Advertisements for Myself," has been arrested on a charge of stabbing his wife, Adele, during a party in their Manhattan apartment.

Mrs. Mailer, 35, in critical condition with a knife wound in the stomach and one in the back, told police: "He didn't say anything. He just looked at me. He didn't say a word. He stabbed me."

Mailer had a penknife when detectives arrested him Monday night when he arrived at University Hospital to visit his wife. He was booked on a charge of felonious assault.

He refused to discuss the stabbing with newsmen. Later, his attorney, John Cox, told detectives that when he conferred with Mailer he had "encountered difficulty in talking" with him.

Police quoted Mrs. Mailer as saying her husband had "homicidal tendencies" and that his family had been trying to persuade him to see a psychiatrist.

Mrs. Mailer showed up at the hospital about 8 a. m. Sunday, three hours after the stabbing. She first told doctors she had slipped at a party and fallen on broken glass. They doubted the story and notified police. After an emergency operation she told officers of the stabbing.

It was the second time in eight days that Mailer had been arrested. A week ago Monday he was arrested at Birdland, a jazz nightclub, on a disorderly conduct charge after he argued with the management over a $7.60 bill. A hearing was scheduled today.

Last June, Mailer, acting as his own counsel, was found guilty of drunkenness by a Provincetown, Mass., judge. Mailer was acquitted, however, on a charge of rude and disorderly conduct.

TV Actors May Strike

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The actors who appear with throbbing heads, stubbly beards and dishpan hands in filmed station-break commercials may go on strike.

If they do, they'll take thousands of other actors with them.

The Screen Actors Guild Monday night authorized a strike against producers of the spot television announcements. The mail vote, 4,369 to 549, was announced at a mass meeting.

A similar action has been taken by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, with whom the SAG has been negotiating jointly with producers, TV networks and advertising agencies. Both unions' contracts expired last Tuesday.

A guild spokesman said a walkout would halt live performances on network radio and TV stations, and would also halt the filming of new commercials and pre-taped programs. Most radio announcers in major cities would also leave their jobs, spokesmen said.

The guild, declining to be specific about its demands, said they include a pay rate based on the number of listeners in a given area.

AFTRA has 16,000 members and Sag has 13,000 members.

Judge Quits Post To Practice Law

CLEBURNE (AP)—Dist. Judge John James Jr. says he will resign to enter private law practice.

James was appointed in 1957 to the unexpired term of Penn Jackson, who became chairman of the Texas Insurance Board.

The judge telephoned the office of Gov. Price Daniel Monday to resign.

Recount Requests Delay Tabulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recount requests could delay even longer than usual the final, official tabulation of the vote cast in the Nov. 8 election.

With President-elect John F. Kennedy's popular vote lead now cut below 175,000, Republicans were challenging the results in sections of Illinois, New Jersey and Texas, and looking for possible grounds for similar action elsewhere.

Few, however, expected any overturn of Kennedy's electoral vote margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It is the electoral vote—not the popular vote—which elects a president.

In that tally, Kennedy led Nixon 300 to 223, with 269 needed for election. Fourteen other electors, in Alabama and Mississippi, are not pledged to either.

Latest figures on the popular vote, with more than 1,100 precincts still unreported and some absentee ballots still to be counted, stood this way:

Kennedy—33,919,296

Nixon—33,744,669

Kennedy's margin was a bare 174,627 over Nixon, and his share of the vote cast for the two major candidates was 50.13 per cent, to 49.87 for Nixon.

Partial recounts have been started by Republicans in Illinois, with 27 electoral votes, and New Jersey, with 16. In Texas, with 24 electoral votes, a limited court test was arranged of what the Republicans called "frauds and irregularities" in the election.

Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson rejected a Republican request for a statewide investigation, but said a court test of returns from 34 precincts could determine whether the GOP charges justify further investigation.

Even without recounts and challenges, however, some states may not complete their final, official tallies for several more weeks.

Thus far, 11 states have completed the official canvass, and 11 others hope to finish this week. Fifteen other states canvassing boards meet next week.

Some of the 13 others may not finish their counting much before the Electoral College meets Dec. 19 to make official the selection of the next president.

Why, in these days of quick communications, does it take so long to get the vote tabulated?

The variety of state laws, special provisions for absentee voting, and sometimes the lack of interest of election officials combine with other factors to delay the count.

The vote totals available the morning after an election are entirely unofficial. Usually they are decisive enough to assure the outcome and nobody cares much about the figures after that. Sometimes, as in this year's balloting, the results are close and a few thousand votes can be significant.

Men Sought For MP Corp

Sgt. Jack Thomas, local U. S. Army Recruiter said today his service is interested in contacting young men, who are interested in the U. S. Army Military Police Corp.

Young men who enlist for the Military Police Corp are trained in law, methods of apprehension, search, judo and techniques of investigation. The Military Policemen must know rules and regulations governing conduct and behavior of military personnel, according to the Sgt.

The physical and mental requirements to join the Army Police corp, in addition to the normal requirements are, be at least five feet seven inches tall and be effective in meeting emergency situations.

The Military policeman gains complete knowledge of the operation of law enforcement agencies. This would greatly assist a young man interested in becoming a civilian law enforcement officer, the Sgt said.

Young men intersted in the corp are invited to contact Sgt. Thomas at 2419 Avenue S for more information.

Night Club License Is Suspended

NEW YORK (AP)—The night club where Sophie Tucker performed without a valid entertainer's license has been slapped with a four-day police suspension, beginning Wednesday.

Police added the name of Sherman Billingsley, owner of the Stork Club, to their growing list of violators of cabaret licensing laws.

Miss Tucker recently sang at Jack Silverman's International restaurant with an expired license. The suspension means that the establishment may serve food and drinks, but cannot offer entertainment. Comedian Joey Adams was to have begun an engagement at the club Wednesday.

Billingsley and three of his waiters were found to have no identification cards when police inspected the Stork Club Monday.

Under a 1941 ruling, all cabaret employes and performers must have identity cards—in effect, licenses—to work. They must be photographed and fingerprinted and pay a $2 fee.

A citizens' committee touched off investigations when it charged that police corruption was involved in the issuing of the licenses.

A hearing was scheduled today for Jules Podell, owner of the Copacabana where Frank Sinatra has admitted singing without license.

Police said they found violations of work, state liquor or health laws at El Morocco, the Embers, Armando's and many other of the city's 1,200 cabarets.

Ike Hunting Quail Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower flies to Albany in southwest Georgia today for a day of quail hunting which ends his two-weeks Deep South vacation.

Riding in a mule-drawn wagon, the president was to try his hunting luck on the sprawling plantation owned by his oil man friend, W. Alton (Pete) Jones.

Eisenhower seemed relaxed and pink-cheeked from his daily golfing rounds in Augusta although he reportedly suffered a twinge of bursitis in his right shoulder a few days ago.

He is due to fly back to Washington late Wednesday afternoon from Turner Air Force Base in Albany, returning to the White House for the final 58 days of his term as chief executive.

Sandra Dee Plans To Wed Bobby Darin

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Sandra Dee says of her engagement to singer Bobby Darin: "I'm on Cloud Nine."

Miss Dee, 18, disclosed their engagement Monday. She and Darin, 24, met while making a picture in Italy.

Darin returned from Rome a few days ago. Miss Dee arrived in New York Sunday night and was met at the plane by Darin. They rode into town in a limousine and when they arrived "Sandra was engaged and a very happy girl," says her press agent. Darin gave her an emerald-cut diamond engagement ring.
