Baptists Paying Off Debt On Building, Plan Dedication

Plans are rapidly maturing for a church dedication service to be held at the Baptist Church on the fifth Sunday in this month, that being the last day of Rev. Geo. A. Dale's service as pastor.

The church began looking forward to such a service several weeks ago, and when the pastor tendered his resignation, the finance committee began speeding up the raising of the money with which to pay off the indebtedness on the church in full before the present pastor should leave. The committee has so nearly reached its goal already as to leave no doubt as to the final outcome. Just a few who have expressed their intention of contributing to the fund have not yet done so. Their contributions undoubtedly will place the fund over the top in the next few days, according to members of the finance committee.

The committee consists of Deen Nowlin, church treasurer, W. A. Reddell, Sunday school superintendent, and Garland Pennington, assisted by Pastor Geo. A. Dale. The sum necessary to clear the debt is $7,192.50, and almost that amount has been raised. The committee has done splendid work. The completed structure was built at a cost of about $40,000.00.

The committee expects to have the cancelled notes in hand before dedication day.

All the former pastors of the church as well as neighboring pastors are being invited to attend the services on that day.

Pastor Geo. A. Dale tendered his resignation on the first Sunday in this month to take effect on February 1, and the resignation has been accepted by the church. The fifth Sunday in this month will mark the close of a pastorate of eight years and almost five months.

The pulpit committee, consisting of W. A. Reddell, Deen Nowlin, Lonnie Howell, Mrs. Jim Burleson, and Mrs. Garland Pennington is already functioning and hopes to be able to make a recommendation to the church soon after the present pastor's resignation takes effect.

New Members In Defense Guard

Several new recruits were enlisted in the Texas Defense Guard last Monday night at the meeting of the local company.

Coffee and sandwiches were served the company by Piggly Wiggly grocery.

HICKERSONS MOVE TO TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hickerson, long-time residents of the Three Lakes community, moved Monday into their home recently purchased from A. P. Edwards.

Women Will Make Surgical Dressings

The Tahoka Red Cross surgical dressing room, located next door to the Cash Store, will be opened next week to begin work on surgical dressings.

Lynn county Chapter of the Red Cross is appealing for workers to make surgical dressings and help meet the quota of 24,000 dressings asked for by the War Department.

Since manufacturers of surgical dressings have had their machines taken over for making other war materials, the War Department must depend on the Red Cross for 90 per cent of all dressings to be used by the Armed forces. In the next two months 24,000 are to be completed in this county.

The surgical dressing room will be open from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week, beginning Tuesday, January 12th.

The Red Cross urges women to donate their time to meet the quota in the allotted time. It will be necessary for the workers to wear hairnets, wash dresses or smocks, and no nail polish.

CAPTURED GERMAN FLYERS—Swift, efficient and destructive, the American landing in Africa already is history. Here is pictured a touch of the human side of the campaign. Note the variety of expression on the faces of these Nazi airmen who pose for Signal Corps Photographer Lieut. Robert Longini at Fedala, French Morocco.

J. K. Woosley Back From England Trip

J. K. Woosley, recently returned to the States from England, is en route home to spend his furlough. He wired his sister, Mrs. F. E. (Lou) Calvery Thursday morning from White Sulphur Springs, Va.

It will be his first visit to Tahoka since he went to Lubbock to join the Army. Several months ago he was sent to England and only recently returned.

Rotary Inducts Six New Members

Six new members were welcomed into the Rotary Club by Wynne Collier, official spokesman for the club, at the luncheon Thursday afternoon. They are Sheriff Sam Floyd, Rafe Richardson, Judge C. Smith, Rev. A. E. Brown, Howard Payne, and Johnnie Sims, the new West Texas Gas manager here.

Rev. A. E. Brown, official pianist for the club, presented a really fast and furious musical program, which everybody enjoyed.

President Truett Smith read a letter of appreciation to the club from Houston Spikes, former club secretary who has moved to Slaton to become district manager of the gas company.

The editor of The News had been asked to speak briefly on the subject of Good Citizenship with special reference to the payment of poll taxes. He urged that everybody subject to a poll tax should pay the same, first as a matter of good citizenship, second, to help the public school fund, and third, to enable him to vote in case an election should arise during the year.

Avon Powell New Coach At Tahoka

Tahoka High School authorities have been fortunate in procuring a coach and athletic director who has promise of being a permanent fixture on the faculty for the remainder of the school year.

Avon Powell, assistant coach of Florida, who is a 1942 graduate of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and a former attendant at the New Mexico Junior College at Portales, has accepted the position of coach and athletic director here.

While in college, Mr. Powell was an all-around athlete, lettering in basketball, football, and track, and school authorities feel that they are fortunate in finding such a well qualified teacher to fill the place of Coach Volney Hill, who is now on the Lamesa faculty.

Mrs. Sid McCord Dies At Eastland

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McCord of Grassland attended the funeral of Mrs. Sid McCord at Eastland the first of last week. Bob and Sid are brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid McCord and their four children had lived in Tahoka, at New Lynn and at other points in Lynn county before removing to Eastland several years ago. She had been in bad health for a long time.

Men Assigned To Foreign Service Will Receive Kits From Lynn County People

By MRS. H. L. RODDY
Chairman of War Production

Every soldier and marine that sails for overseas duty with the armed forces of our country is given a kit bag as he boards his ship. These kit bags are small, weighing one and one-half pounds, but in them is crowded as much for the comfort and pleasure of home as may be included in so small a package. These bags are given the troops as parting gifts of the American Red Cross.

Lynn county's quota of the bags is 200, this giving the people in this county a chance to do something for our boys. The bags will be made and packed in the Red Cross sewing room, which is open every Tuesday from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. They will be made from scrap material sent from the factories where Army uniforms are made. The contents of each kit must be regulation size and will be ordered tax free by the Lynn County Chapter, but will be sent here, where individuals interested may help pack the bags. Messages and names giving the personal touch to the kits may also be included.

Each kit will contain the following items: Small soap box and soap, deck of playing cards, package of cigarettes or smoking tobacco and cigarette papers, shoe polishing cloth, small pencil, package of envelopes and paper, package of chewing gum, pair of tan shoe laces, waterproof match box if available, package of double-edge razor blades, small book (pocketsize) detective, humorous, etc., sewing case (housewife). The "Housewife" will contain buttons for shirt, fronts, trousers, raincoats, and underwear; needles, safety pin, skeins of thread.

The contents of each bag will cost about $1.00. This means Lynn county must raise $200.00 at once. Several clubs and organizations have already voted to donate and help pack the bags. Those who wish to donate may leave their donations at the Red Cross room or with Carl Griffing, the bank or at the Red Cross Room.

We have other sewing and knitting to do and we need YOU and YOU to come and do your part in Red Cross work.

Forgery Charge Against Ex-Convict

Sheriff Sam Floyd went to Lubbock Sunday and brought back an O'Donnell Negro who was charged with passing forged checks to certain citizens of the last-named city.

The accused man bears the name of Luther Frazier, and officers say that he has already done service in the pen for theft, committed in a town further east.

Another O'Donnell man, G. A. Calhoun, has been in jail since Wednesday of last week, on a charge of having raised a terrible rumpus in that peaceful little city recently. He is said to be a "dope-head."

MRS. J. K. APPLEWHITE UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, who underwent an operation in West Texas Hospital Tuesday for appendicitis, is reported to be doing well. The family had been uneasy about her condition for several days.

Fifth Williams Boy Is Entering Army

If the Army accepts Jesse L. Williams, who left last night to take his physical examination, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. S. Williams, who live three miles north of Tahoka, will have five sons in the Army.

Four sons entering prior to Jesse are Staff Sgt. Jimmie A. Williams of Camp White, Oregon; Pvt. Miller Williams, who is in Hawaii; Pvt. Gilliam Williams, Camp Carson, Colo.; and Pvt. R. L. Williams, Camp Berkeley.

Not only is it unusual for five brothers to be in the Army but it likewise unusual that all five are in the same branch of the service.

Negro Charged In Murder Case

On Christmas Day two Lynn county Negroes got into a ruckus "over on the hill." One of the Negroes, Willie Riley, about 35, found a soft place in another Negro's head and stuck a knife into it.

The wounded Negro, one Shearon Buchanan, who had been at work for Claud Wells out on the farm, was taken to a Lubbock hospital for repairs. But the wound in his head refused to heal. On the contrary, the victim died on New Year's Day. Then the sheriff, Sam Floyd, lodged a complaint in Justice P. D. Server's court charging Riley with murder. He was already in jail on a charge of assault to murder. And now the chances are that Riley will get a one-way trip to Huntsville.

Riley has already served one term in the pen, officers say, on a murder conviction which he was given down at Benjamin, Knox county, a few years ago.

Farmers Meeting At New Home

N. S. Abbott, vocation agriculture teacher at New Home, reports that an excellent meeting with 16 in attendance was held at the school in that community Monday night for the purpose of discussing farm problems.

County Agent Judge C. Smith was the principal speaker, discussing the farm program. Mr. Abbott also discussed the hog cholera situation. He says there have been many hogs lost in that section by cholera.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Wyatt had as their guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Street and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lane of O'Donnell and their daughter, Mrs. Richard Young, of Lubbock.

Sen. and Mrs. G. H. Nelson and children of Lubbock visited friends in Tahoka Sunday.

Congratulations . .

To Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hamilton on the arrival Tuesday morning of a 6 pound and 1 ounce baby girl in a Lamesa hospital, Dr. Prohl attending. The little lady has been named Vickie.

Agreement Reached On Terracing Work

Cotton Ginnings Reach 90,000 Bales

The number of bales of cotton ginned in Tahoka the past season up to Thursday morning is clicking up pretty close to 20,000 bales, the exact figures as given to The News being 19,282.

From this and other data, it is estimated that fully 90,000 bales have been ginned in Lynn county, possibly as much as 91,000.

Most of the cotton has been gathered, of course, but there are still some pretty white fields scattered about. If the cotton now in the field is ever gathered, Tahoka ginnings will doubtless pass the 20,000 mark and the county will probably go about 95,000.

At any rate, it is believed that Lynn county leads all West Texas in cotton ginnings the past year and probably leads the entire state.

Mrs. Floyd Lightner Dies In Train Crash

Mrs. Ruby Agnes Lightner, wife of Floyd Lightner, residing five miles south of Slaton, was killed on Wednesday afternoon of last week when her car was struck by a train while crossing the Santa Fe railway tracks near the south edge of Slaton. A small child, her niece, who was in the car with her at the time, was not seriously injured.

Apparently the motor of the car stopped just as the car got onto the tracks. The car and the driver were carried a considerable distance up the track before the locomotive could be stopped, according to L. S. Lightner of Redwine, father of Floyd, who reported the tragedy to The News.

The body was taken to Levelland, where Mrs. Lightner's parents now reside, for burial. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hale, who formerly resided in the vicinity of Draw in this county.

Other survivors include two brothers, Austin Hale of Levelland, and Delton Hale now in the U. S. Navy; four sisters, Mrs. C. B. Early, who resides near Tahoka, Mrs. Stella Hale, Mrs. Leta Mae Craddock, and Miss Geneva Hale, all of Levelland. J. B. Hale of Tahoka is her grandfather.

Man Scalded In Hog Vat Is Recovering

County Commissioner Lonnie Williams reports that his brother, Dock Williams, who was severely scalded when he fell backwards into a vat of hot water while engaged in killing hogs early last week at his place a mile west of the Tahoka-O'Donnell highway near Guthrie Lake and who was taken to a hospital in Lubbock for treatment, was able to return to his home Saturday.

Williams was badly scalded from below the knees to the waist, and the accident doubtless would have proved fatal had not others present pulled him out of the vat.

The accident occurred when another man struck him on the chest in mere play.

Hendersons Buy Jane's Beauty Shop

Jane's Beauty Shop, formerly operated by Mrs. Janie Minor, was sold last week to Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson.

Mrs. Henderson, who will manage the shop, stated Thursday that the interior was being completely redecorated and remodeled, and that the shop would be reopened shortly.

Mrs. A. H. McGonagill has accepted a position in the office of Dr. Sam Dunn at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock.

Commissioners To Give All Possible Soil Project Aid

At a meeting of members of the Board of Supervisors of the Lynn County Soil Conservation District and two members of the AAA County Committee with the commissioners court Monday, the court gave its assurance to those agencies that it would cooperate with them to the fullest extent practicable in carrying out the soil and moisture conservation program.

The main purpose of the meeting was to work out a plan whereby the county would make road equipment available to the District in assisting farmers who cooperate with the District in soil and moisture conservation work, and an understanding seemingly satisfactory to all parties concerned was reached.

Present were all members of the commissioners court, consisting of County Judge Chester Connolly and Commissioners Pat Swann of Wilson, Lonnie Williams of Draw, John Anderson of O'Donnell, and Leon Jennings of Joe Stokes.

Representing the Soil Conservation Service was H. E. Mather of Tahoka, and the Lynn County Soil Conservation Board was represented by R. L. Littlepage of Midway, chairman, and John Sander of Wilson, Lloyd McCormick of New Home, and P. E. Askew of Wells. The Lynn County AAA Committee was represented by R. R. Adams of Wells and B. J. Emanuel of Garfield.

County Judge Chester Connolly, presiding, opened the discussion with the statement that the commissioners court was desirous of extending all assistance possible to the District Supervisors in carrying out (Cont'd. on last page)

School Given Books By Oscar Roberts

Fifty-two volumes of reading material, along with a glass display book case, were presented the Tahoka Grade School this week by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts.

Included in the list of books are 20 volumes of "The Book of Knowledge," a complete set, and also the entire group of "Berle's Self-Culture" reference books. Supplementing these, there were 21 miscellaneous books, ranging from works of fiction to reference books in grammar and poetry.

The school is very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts for the gift.

School Adds New War Courses

School authorities were pleased to announce this week the addition of three courses to the regular school curriculum. One course instituted will be pre-flight training, which is recommended by the National government for all boys who are preparing to make military fliers. The study is basic ground training for flight, which includes navigation, meteorology, and other specialized subjects.

The other two courses to be offered are algebra classes, one of which will be freshman math, which was formerly taught by Miss Eleanor King, and the other will be a make-up course in algebra for the benefit of those students who have missed school and others who need additional training in the fundamentals.

These classes, which will be offered the last three periods in the afternoon, will be taught by B. T. Smith, local postal clerk and licensed pilot. They are open to both boy and girl students.

Word has not yet been definitely given from the proper authorities as to whether or not these courses will be allowed to be accredited.

EDITORIAL

Mid-term examinations are past history. Most students are now thinking and planning for the second semester.

Some students only think, "Well, I've passed my mid-term exams. Now I can relax until I have to cram for next semester's exams." These are the students who don't realize that high school education is only offered once. Realization that subjects and things taught here can never be regained often comes too late.

How many of our parents are sacrificing something to send and keep us in school? They want us to have a better education than was offered to them. In return for these sacrifices, the least thing we can do is to pass our work and apply ourselves to the best of our ability. Information is given to you; you, yourself, must make the application. Now is the time for us to "settle down" and make up last semester's grades.

Miss Ruby Perry Is New Faculty Member

Miss Ruby Perry, a new teacher from Liberty Hill high school, where she taught music and coached girls' basketball, has joined our faculty.

This is her fifth year of teaching, and she is a graduate of Southwestern University at Georgetown.

Miss Perry will teach Chemistry, Texas history, and choral singing here, as well as coaching the girls' basketball team.

Girls Basketball Has Many Participants

Three-fifteen finds groups of girls disappearing from high school every afternoon, only to be re-discovered a few minutes later in the dressing rooms of the grade school gym. This time of day marks the beginning of practice period for the girls' basketball squad.

Approximately ten minutes are spent as the girls dress, hunting shoe strings that have disappeared along with missing shoes and gym suits. After these preliminaries comes warm-up drill.

Captains are selected and sides are chosen for each day's practice scrimmage, and falls, scratches, and bruises are quickly forgotten in the excitement of the game.

Eighteen girls daily practice making the basket, as well as the team, and eight of this number are participating in the sport for their first year of experience.

Five minutes until 4:00 is "closing time" as the girls disappear again into the dressing rooms, and each emerges at 4:00 on the dot ready to ride the bus or walk home.

'Ordeal' Recommended, Aviation Popular, So Is National Anthem

In case you are in search of some good reading material, why don't you try "Ordeal" by Melville Shute. The background of the story is based on the present day war in England.

Looks as though the whole school is in favor of the prospective course on aerodynamics or radio technician training.

It was made known last week by the Department of Education that college and high school football will continue through 1943 and the years to come.

A group of high school girls were listening to the radio a few days ago when suddenly the music of the "Star Spangled Banner" poured forth. The little group remained silent for a few minutes, then one member wiped away a tear that was making its way down her cheek and said, "I think that is the most beautiful song ever written. It tells everything we are fighting for in such a few words and yet it makes you want to fight anyone and everyone who defies that song and what it means."

This only goes to show you that the high school students do realize that there is a war going on and that they are willing and ready to do all they can to make "Tomorrow" a free America.

Home Ec. Has Place In Defense Program

(By Joy LaNell Moore)

Did you ever think how the study of Home Economics in our schools affects National defense?

You have, no doubt, heard the statement, "Homes are our first line of defense." In a fight for life or death, such as we are now engaged, all lines must be as nearly perfect as possible in order to insure victory. The study of home-making teaches the girls who will establish our future homes how to make those institutions happy, wholesome, and successful.

Cheerfulness, cooperation, sympathy—the ornaments of the home, as well as the physical side—these are things the home needs and which the study of Home Economics teaches.

This is one way in which girls who are not old enough for the defense plants or the several branches of the woman's army can serve.

Perhaps it seems like a small part to play, but much of the time, the small things are the spokes that hold the wheel, the wheel of National Defense, together.

First Aid Practice Is Given Students

"Try the spiral bandage! Please hand me the scissors! There, that's on!"

No, it isn't a doctor's office nor a hospital; Home Economics girls are merely practicing first aid.

Beginning this semester, the girls of the second year Homemaking class take up the study of bandaging, artificial respiration, and the many other phases of first aid.

In connection with the study, girls of the class will demonstrate the administration of first aid.

This and That . . .

(By LaVoyle Richardson)

Students of Tahoka high school turned over a new leaf this week, as Jan. 10 marked the beginning of a new semester. After resting up from the mid-term examinations, they decided it was about time to settle down and do a little studying and straight thinking for a change.

It looks as though the girls around Tahoka will have to include something else besides fruit juices on their diet these days. Although all fruit juices were frozen last week, tomato juice can still be put on the shelf by the local grocer.

The civics class was flattered Monday when Mrs. Kirkwood informed them that they made better grades than any of the rest of her classes.

Another song has taken its rank of popularity in high school this week. It is "For Me and My Gal." Of course, the fact that the song is just ten years old and was copyrighted in 1932 doesn't seem to make any difference.

Miss Ineva Headrick started the new semester off by making the senior English students read a chapter on "The Habit of Thinking." It is possible that she doubts the thinking ability of some of the dignified seniors?

Have you ever played the game of make-believe? If not, you have no idea of the fun you are missing. For instance, let's make believe and conjure up our ideal high school girl. We might find her looking something like this:

It is noticeable that her figure is remarkably similar to Billie Wayne Pennington; looking more closely, she is found to have Joyce Kenley's hair, Jimmie Lou Thomas' mouth, Alice Roberts' eyes and lashes, and Aloyce Jewell Parker's eye brows; our model would have the nose of LaVoyle Richardson. Her complexion of peaches and cream reminds you of Mary Ruth Edwards, and her hands are identical to the capable one of Peggy Fenton.

Last Monday sophomore girls rushed into Home Economics class with the startling news that an "uncommonly" handsome male had enrolled, his name being Prentice Brashal.

LaVoyle Richardson was in Dutch again last week when she was tardy in English class for the —th time (this blank to be filled in by Miss Ineva Headrick). Everyday this senior comes straggling to class, but never without a smile. Incidentally the seniors got a lecture that day which couldn't be found in any English book.

Irene Carver, who has been visiting her brother in the Navy, and who is now stationed in California, is back in school again.

Aggie boys called on the broken trees and shrubs on the campus this week armed with saws and axes. They did a very good pruning job, and if you will notice, the grounds are greatly improved in looks.

New Faces . . .

Mamie Lee McClellan enrolled here Monday in the seventh grade. She attended school at Spur.

Her subjects are history, reading, social science, language arts, and arithmetic.

She has blonde hair and grey eyes, and her favorite subject is history.

Personality . . .

"I want to be a surgeon some day."

Thus a slender six-foot-one inch Tahoka high school student sums up his ambition. Noble Rumbo has reason to believe that he may someday achieve his ambition, for he has been an honor roll student for four years and is an excellent chemistry student.

As president of the senior class, Noble has done his part in making the class a success in its activities. He has an excellent record and will graduate at the end of this term, being only sixteen years of age.

Noble is noted for his polished manners. He goes about his studies at school being friendly and carrying on interesting conversations with all the students. As a football player he deserves a medal for his keen sportsmanship and dependability to the team. Not only does Noble play excellent football but hopes to reach his goal in being a star basketball player this year.

His favorite pastime is photography, and he hopes to make this hobby turn into an avocation as a help in making his work as a surgeon become a success.

Noble has large brown eyes and is a light brunette. His favorite food is fried chicken and he enjoys to the fullest extent his work on the farm.

Cruses Are Moving To Cotton Center

Parting may be sweet sorrow according to Shakespeare, but to Wanda, Wilma, and Roy Lee (Bo) Cruse, it was anything but sweet, as they moved from their home in the Dixie community this week to Cotton Center.

Moving from Mobeetle to Tahoka in 1938, the Cruses have been enrolled in Tahoka schools since then, Wanda's being a senior, Wilma a freshman, and Bo also a fourth year student.

Here's hoping the Cruses like their new home in Cotton Center, and they are wished success by all their Tahoka friends.

Grade School Whine

Reading contests hold the lime-light for second grade students this week. Mrs. F. A. Wyatt and Mrs. Deck Dunagan, second grade teachers, have been giving oral timed tests, seeing what student is capable of reading the most words in the shortest length of time and making the fewest number of errors.

Third grade students are going cosmopolitan as they study the different races of the world, how they live, their habits, their methods of working and making a living, their clothing and schools. Life of the Eskimos, Indians, Africans, and others has been the topic of study.

Ingenuity has been running high in the art classes of Miss Anita Reddell for the past week. Students have been making costume jewelry and remodeling felt hats. Some of the materials used in making the necklaces, bracelets, and lapel pins are natural and dyed nuts of all kinds, beans and corn of different color, soda pop lids, and China berries. Making pins with wood burning sets has been one popular method used in making the jewelry.

Sub-Debs Elect New Members, Sponsors

As the Sub-Deb meeting was called to order Monday afternoon by Peggy Fenton, president, the selection of new members and sponsors was brought before the club.

The new Sub-Debs are: Marcilene Stevens, Clara Faye Nordyke, Geraldine Frazier, and Jerline Bartley. Mrs. Edgar Edwards and Miss Eloise Nettles were selected as the new sponsors to fill the places of Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. Houston Spikes.

A committee consisting of Pat Hill, Dorothy Lee Carmack, Dorothy Jean Applewhite, Joan Edwards and Mary Beth Fenton was appointed to plan the assembly program which the club will sponsor February 3.

After a program at which Euelia Collins read the rules governing parliamentary laws, cups of ice cream were served. The next meeting will be February 27 in the home of Geraldine Mather.

WOMEN AT WAR

Rosebud

Rosebud is eight, and the most beautiful shade of caramel fudge. To her loving Mammy and Pappy she is known, on approximately alternate days, as "Angel" and "You devil child". It was on her devil-child days that Rosebud tied the knots in the shirts that Mammy had taken in for washing, and poured the whole of the vanilla bottle into the lamb stew, just, she said later through bitter tears, to "flavor it up some".

On her angel days Rosebud is equally imaginative even if a more restless occupant of the little shack down on Vinegar Hill. Once when Mammy was out doing day work, Rosebud got a wave of cleaning fever and scoured every pot and pan in the kitchen so that they literally glistened. Another day, left alone, she tidied up Mammy's and Pappy's room to such a point of apple-pie order that it was a week before Pappy could find an undershirt.

Rosebud is a great reader of the newspapers. Mammy and Pappy don't take one, but there are plenty of perfectly good newspapers blowing round Vinegar Hill. It was out of one of them that Rosebud got her idea for spending the ten cents the Bunny had put under her pillow the night her tooth came out. After breakfast Rosebud disappeared down the Hill and reappeared soon after with a beautiful ten-cent War Stamp pasted firmly into a brand-new book with neat little squares for more stamps. She displayed her investment to Mammy. "I declare you're an angel child," Mammy said. Rosebud went on sitting on the kitchen floor staring with large brown eyes at the empty squares in her book. From time to time she took hold of one or another of her teeth and wiggled it, gently.

Mammy was engrossed in a particularly big washing. Rosebud was as quiet as a mouse and Mammy forgot about her until, coming in from the yard with her arms full of dry sheets, she encountered her child with a large hammer in her hand. Scenting the devil in her angel child, Mammy shouted at her, "Rosebud! Come yere with that hammer! What you planning on doing?"

But what was done was done. In Rosebud's other hand was another tooth. Her mouth was stretched in a broad if slightly bloody smile. "I ain't doing nothing, Mammy," she said. "I'm just filling up my stamp book."

METHODIST CHURCH

The objectives for our church are:
1. Personal commitment of life to Christ, seeking to lead our present membership to unreserved dedication. To increase our membership 20 percent, 10 percent on profession of faith and 10 percent otherwise. 2. Christian giving and a sound financial system in every church with a minimum of 40 percent of our members pledged to tithe for the duration and participating by February 1, 1943.

Stewardship will be the general theme for several weeks in our Sunday services. The members are asked to pray for humble and devoted dedication of self, service and substance to the Lord Jesus Christ. 2. For the local church, its pastor, leaders, members that a genuine awakening might be experienced and many won to Christ. 3. For the Methodist church and all others others that the missionary passion might be reborn and be a faithful interpreter of Jesus Christ in a confused world. 4. For our men in the service, for peace, and the day when all races and peoples shall live together as children of one Father. Services of last Sunday were well attended—do it again this Sunday. A hearty welcome awaits you.

Parker Turns Farmer, Will Try The Sand

B. L. Parker, long-time sheriff of Lynn county, who went out of office in January 1, reports that he is going to do his best this year to feed the nation.

He owns a farm of something more than 200 acres out north of Tahoka and he has leased for farming purposes the 200-acre tract owned by the City adjoining his farm, and is making preparation to show the world what a real farmer in Lynn county can do.

A lot of that land is very sandy, and so Parker plans to plant it in peaputs, black-eyed peas, and soy beans. Of course he will have some cotton and maize too, but he is counting strong on those goobers and black-eyes. We hope he doesn't glut the market.

By the way, we hear that there are a few boys down about Huntsville who are delighted to know that Parker has gone into the farming business.

Nearly all the time for many years there has been division among the three members of the state railroad commission, two against one on nearly every important matter that arose. For the past two years it has been Culberson and Sadler against Thompson. Beauford Jester of Corsicana, who won the nomination last summer and the election last fall, was recently sworn in to take the place of Jerry Sadler, resigned. He seems to have lined up with Thompson, and now it is Thompson and Jester against Culberson, or perhaps we should say that it is now Culberson against the other two, for this week the newspapers have received a communication from him taking Chairman Jester to task for announcing that soon an order will go into effect increasing intra-state rates in accordance with an order issued by the Federal Interstate Commerce Commission. Culberson takes the position that the Texas Commission should quit yielding to pressure from the Interstate Commerce Commission but should resist such pressure even to the extent of going to court with their differences if that should be necessary. Apparently Culberson is right in this matter, but it looks as if there is to be continued wrangling among themselves by the members of the Texas Railroad commission.

ODDS and ENDS

by Eee Eye, the Elder

Genius sometimes come wrapped up in a black skin.

When death came to George Washington Carver of Tuskegee Institute for Negroes at Tuskegee, Alabama, on Tuesday of last week, it brought to an end the career of the greatest agricultural scientist the United States has ever produced, doubtless the greatest the world has ever produced.

His discoveries as to the multiplicity of uses to which some of the most common products of the farm, such as potatoes and peanuts, may be put have increased the value of these products to the American farmer by untold millions of dollars.

This column two or three years ago commented on the remarkable achievements of this wonderful genius.

We do not know whether George Washington Carver had mixed blood in his veins or not, probably so; but all the same his parents were slaves. He was born at Diamond Grove, Missouri, but he never knew the exact date of his birth. He thinks it must have been in the year 1864. But since he did not know either the day, the month, or the year of his birth, there were no birthday celebrations for George Washington Carver even after he achieved fame in the field of science.

But even as a Negro lad, his soul began to thirst for knowledge, and by hook or crook he managed to get an education. After teaching for a time in a college in Iowa, as we remember it, he was given a position on the faculty of Tuskegee Institute in 1894. There he spent the remainder of his days, teaching the Negro youth that attended the college and achieving one astounding triumph after another in the field of scientific research and discovery. Not only were the products of the soil but the soil itself became the object of study and experimentation by this colored prodigy. He took the old red clay from the Alabama hills and made it perform wonders—extracted from it many useful and valuable commodities of commerce.

All this Carver did for the sheer love of it, and for the pleasure he derived from helping the human race. All that he seemed to desire for himself was the simple food and clothing necessary to sustain him in comfort.

And under and through it all, he exhibited a firm and simple faith in God.

Thus the name of this humble but talented Negro, George Washington Carver, will shine on the pages of history as that of one of the greatest scientists of the world and one of the noblest benefactors of mankind.

But Carver is not the only great Negro who has wrought and triumphed at Tuskegee Institute.

The Negro who enjoys the reputation of being probably the greatest of his race was the late president of Tuskegee Institute, Booker T. Washington.

There is no doubt, however, about Booker T. having more white blood than Negro blood in his veins. His mother was a mulatto, but his father was a white man. He was born in Franklin county, Virginia, in 1859, just before the War between the States broke out. His mother was a slave; and he likewise was a slave. Whether or not his father was a slave-owner, the records before us sayeth not. But freedom for the slaves came too early in his life for him ever to have suffered any of the discomforts of slavery.

But though his father was a white man, naturally he took the status of his mother and was reared as any other Negro.

But the fires of aspiration began to burn early in his soul too, and while he worked in West Virginia coal mines as a boy he attended night school and in 1872 he entered Hampton Normal and Industrial Institute, a Negro school which had been founded by the American Missionary Society four years before on the eastern coast of Virginia. Graduating in 1875, he then began his teaching career, and in 1881 he organized the little Negro school at Tuskegee which gradually developed under his marvelous guidance into perhaps the greatest institution of its kind in the world.

Booker T. Washington was a powerful orator as well as a noted educator, and he devoted much time to an effort to better the relations between the white and the Negro races. At the same time, he taught the Negroes not to strive for social equality with the whites but to train themselves in useful occupations and hereby become valuable citizens.

He possibly did more for the uplift and welfare of the Negro race than any other one man in the world.

When Booker T. Washington died in 1915, he was succeeded as head of Tuskegee Institute by Robert R. Moton, another Virginia-born Negro who was educated at Hampton and who was a teacher in that institution for twenty-five years before going to Tuskegee. He too has shown remarkable ability and is doing a great work for his race.

The Negro who gained the greatest reputation in the political field and who doubtless did more than any other Negro to bring about abolition of slavery was the noted Fred Douglass, a Negro whose life and work most of the older people now living doubtless have almost forgotten and whom most of the younger people never even heard of.

But Fred Douglass was a mighty power in his day.

Born in Maryland in February, 1817, he died in Washington, D. C., in 1895, at the age of 78, after having held many positions of trust and great responsibility under this government.

His father was a white man, but his mother was a Negro slave, and Frederick too was brought up as a slave.

When he was fifteen years of age, his white master sold him to a Baltimore ship-builder. But the white blood in his veins rebelled against slavery, and at the age of twenty-one he escaped from his master and fled to free soil. Already he had learned to read and write and as soon as opportunity afforded he demonstrated his powers as an orator, primitive though his first efforts.

Tiptons Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

A meager and somewhat belated report of the celebration of the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Tipton, who reside over in East Tahoka, has been given to The News.

This event occurred on December 24 at the residence of the aged couple, who were married in Tishomingo, Mississippi, on December 24, 1892. Mrs. Tipton is a sister of Mrs. D. L. Short, who also resides in that vicinity, the Shorts having observed their Golden Wedding anniversary just about two years ago.

The anniversary, occurring on the day before Christmas, was featured by a great feast spread at the noon hour, all the living children being present to celebrate the happy occasion. One child had died at the age of six.

The five children present were John Riley Tipton and Lattie Ezell Tipton of Dawson county, Mrs. Altae Jane Pope of Amarillo, Mrs. Edna Mae McFarland of Parker county, and Clyde David Tipton of Amarillo. Also present were other members of their families, including nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A few close friends were also present, and others called throughout the day.

Many lovely gifts were received by the couple.

Southland News

(By Mrs. Marvin Truebeck)

The Southland Co-op Hatchery will start next Friday, if present plans materialize. Ed Lieske will be manager. A. Wilke, the president elected last year, plans to have a meeting of the stockholders the first of this week to elect officers.

The school has a new well, at no cost to the district.

Mrs. W. H. Fletcher of Plainview came down last Monday to visit her grandchildren, Jack Frank Fletcher at Wilson, who was sick, Jimmy Fletcher, who was in the Slaton hospital, and Glynda and Calvin Grantham of Southland.

Mrs. R. E. King was carried to the Slaton hospital a week ago Sunday night. She was suffering from an infection from removal of a growth on her head.

Mrs. O. E. McGaw has had the flu, bordering on pneumonia, the past week.

"Shorty" Fletcher writes from New Guinea: "It's a pretty hard life we lead here but it isn't as bad as I had pictured it. We seem to eat better than anybody else in this whole area. We have a mess sergeant that keeps on the ball."

The 18 and 19-year old boys are beginning to leave. C. W. (Red) Dodson and Kenneth (Judge) Young plan to join Uncle Sam's men in service Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Anderson and children spent last Sunday in Levelland with her brother and family, the Stewarts. Early Saturday morning the Andersons left for California, where he plans to enter Defense work. Mrs. Bill Winterrowd and daughter are temporarily running the cafe.

The Albert Krause family moved to Crosbyton Monday. Mr. Krause's father says he can't picture a churchless Germany. When he taught school as a young man in the Old Country, everybody went to church when the Sunday morning bells rang.

Mrs. O. J. Harmonson and grandson Jo Jo returned Tuesday from California, and Jo Jo started to school here Wednesday.

Seaman 2/c Floyd (Bill) Payton arrived back in the States from convoy duty on Christmas day. He came home on January 2 to visit his parents, the D. R. Paytons, who live west of town. His brother Bruce is also in the Navy. Both boys are stationed at San Diego.

Mrs. I. W. L. Scott came on New Year's Day to visit her son, C. R. Scott and family of Pleasant Valley. Sunday she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Robbins and family of Southland.

The grandson of the John Irvins, whose eye was injured during a battle with snow-balls last month, had the bandage off his eye for the first time last Tuesday, and he could see the electric light. The gash was so near the pupil that some one had to sit by him day and night to prevent his rolling over and causing the fluid to drain out of his eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Watson and daughters, Inez and Shirley, have moved from Fruitvale in East Texas to the Swanner place east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hoard and family left Saturday afternoon to visit relatives in Elida, New Mexico. They planned to stay a week and decide whether they will move out there.

Mrs. A. F. Davies had a severe case of the flu last week.

Mrs. C. H. White was very sick again Sunday.

The Jack Oakleys had out-of-town guests Sunday.

Here from Panama

Pfc. Reuben Wilke, son of Mrs. E. C. Wilke of near New Lynn, is home on a thirty-day furlough from the Panama Canal Zone, where he is with an anti-aircraft group. He has been in the Army a year and at the canal since last June.

Naturally, Pfc. Wilke is not allowed to reveal anything about the defenses of that vital zone, but he does say that it is plenty well protected.

He says the mosquitos are terrific down there, the climate is pretty warm for a boy from the Texas plains, but his ruddy appearance indicated that neither one had had a bad effect on his health. He says it is hard to imagine how dense the jungles are.

AT SHEPPARD FIELD

Pvt. John W. (Jackie) Weathers is now a member of the 417th Technical School Squadron at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, where he is training for service as a mechanic in the Army Air Forces.

Siftings . . .

By Mrs. Nora Billingsley

The Editor's reminiscent paragraph about parching green coffee took me back in memory to a little old kitchen in Tennessee with its coffee mill on the wall (and how very important it used to be that the parching coffee was not allowed to "scorch").

There was also the flour barrel, the long wooden bread tray, and the cedar water bucket, and the dipper from which every one, including visitors, drank. However, if a negro asked for a drink we drew the line on our dipper and gave him a glass of water instead (lucky black man!) There was also the common communion cup that passed from hand to hand and from lip to lip, and I wonder, did "the colonel's" lady squirm if, perchance, she took the cup from the hand of "Judy O'Grady" even though they were "sisters under the skin."

Water was carried from a well, some distance from the house, and if, as sometimes happened, the rope got out of control and went sailing after the bucket through the pulley and into the well, our "Water system" was effectively cut off until they could be fished out.

At this late date I pause to consider why the rope's end was not secured in some way to prevent these accidents, but maybe that invention came later.

A nearby farmer who had things fixed handier and more up-to-date had a cistern on his back porch. A long loop of chain extended into the cistern and along its length tin cups were fastened which had one side of the top end bent inwards. When a crank was turned and the tin cups came tilting "over the top" they spilled their contents and soon filled the bucket set under a faucet. All this gear was neatly enclosed but by opening a little door we could watch it working and see what made it "tick."

Well, all these things have gone along with my grandmother's loom, McGuffey's Readers, Arbuckle coffee and the mangle loading shot gun.

Speaking of guns reminds us from what ineffectual beginnings our present deadly weapons have evolved. During the Revolution a soldier had to pour powder into the muzzle of his long heavy "flintlock." He packed it down with a wad of paper and his ramrod. After getting it properly loaded he poured a little powder into the flashpan so the flint could spark it. A little wind would blow the powder out of the pan or a little rain would render the weapon useless—unless he used it as a club.

After the battle of Brandywine, Washington and Howe faced each other in a driving rain and could not resume the fight because the guns would not shoot.

One hundred and forty years later a cannon made by the Germans, the "Big Bertha" bombarded Paris with high explosive shells from a distance of 75 miles, one of which hitting a church killed 86 people and wounded 68.

Today, when we think of the submarine, the torpedoes and mines, the bombers and "block busters," we wonder if the ultimate in ingenuity for destruction has been reached, or are there yet "greater" inventions yet to come?

W. E. Suddarth, now connected with the U. S. Censor office in San Antonio, was here visiting friends and looking after business matters this week. Mr. Suddarth was a long-time resident of Tahoka and still calls this his home.

Congratulations . . .

A daughter weighing 6 pounds and 2 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Marshall of Tahoka last Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, according to information given out at the Lubbock General Hospital.

Miss Myrna Dean Gagnat left Tuesday morning for Washington, D. C., to re-enter Chevy Chase school following a holiday visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gagnat. Mr. Gagnat accompanied her as far as Kansas City, where he went on business and to visit his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith have returned from Dallas, where they went over the week end to be present when Mr. Smith's nine-year-old niece was to have an operation for removal of a brain tumor. But, after entering the hospital, the little girl developed scarlet fever and she and her mother were placed in an isolation ward for three weeks, and the operation was postponed until after that period.

Guy Smith reports that his 16-year-old son who is in an Amarillo hospital recovering from infantile paralysis is now able to walk on crutches and has hopes of complete recovery.

Care for my Car
for my Country?

Sonny, what you do to your car is your business, although chances are you won't be able to get another while the war is on.

But what your daddy does to his car is the nation's business!

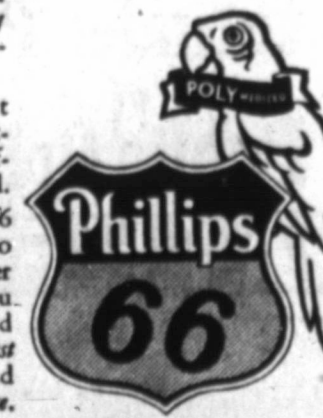

The American way of life is geared to the motor car. It takes the warworker to his job, carries munitions, provides essential civilian transportation. That is why cars and tires must be used wisely, must be preserved to play their part in holding war production at maximum.

Your Phillips 66 Service Man is pledged to help you Care For Your Car . . . For Your Country. And though you drive less miles, don't make the mistake of assuming your car needs less care. Reduced driving may increase crank-case dilution of oil by unburned fuel . . . may increase sludge because of added condensation of moisture. Both greatly reduce the motor protection and lubricating efficiency of your oil.

Your battery, with charging time cut down, will need more frequent inspection. And spark plugs must be scientifically adjusted to prevent waste of fuel.

Remember, every Phillips 66 Service Man is specially trained to make your car and your tires last longer and go farther. Enlist his aid, when you stop at any Orange and Black 66 Shield for Phillips 66 Poly Gas, famous for fast starting pep and extra mileage . . . and Phillips 66 Motor Oil, 100% paraffin base.

Connolly Gunner Instructor At Pyote

Sgt. Keith Connolly, who spent a month here with his parents following his return from the Southwest Pacific, and a member of the 19th Bombardment Group which covered itself with fame in stemming the Japs' invasion, is now a gunnery instructor at the new Pyote (Texas) Army Air Base.

Connolly was gunner on a Flying Fortress in the Southwest Pacific for many months and was awarded the Silver Star for "gallantry in action."

He left here several days ago to report with the 19th Bombardment Group at Poncatello, Idaho, and expected to be returned to active war, possibly north Africa, but instead the entire group was sent to Pyote to instruct flyers preparing to take off for the war zones.

The 19th has been in the scrap every since the start of the War, and is Colin Kelly's old outfit. Every man in the group is a hero of this war.

WOMEN AT WAR

Mom

"Sausages for breakfast! Sausages for breakfast! I can smell 'em!" Small Joe came tumbling downstairs fastening the belt of his shorts as he came. He made a beeline for the kitchen. Pop was already sitting at the table, reading the paper, while Mom held the handle of the frying-pan over the stove. Small Joe came close and sniffed the delicious smoke, wriggling all over with early-morning joy.

"Better be thankful for them while you can still get them." One glance at Mom's face told small Joe this was one of her tight-lipped days. "Not a drop of coffee in the house, and no sugar left to put in it if there was. Some war!" Small Joe kept still.

"Letter for you, son," Pop said in his quiet voice. Small Joe made a leap for his place at table. There it was, a private personal letter for him alone, propped against his milk glass.

"Hey, Pop! It's from brother!" Small Joe was pulling the envelope apart and diving into the contents. "Hey, look what he sent me." He passed over an oblong of thick, crinkly paper while he leaned over the sheet of writing-paper.

"A twenty-five dollar War Bond," Pop said slowly. Mom turned and looked at it over Pop's shoulder, with the frying-pan in her hand.

"Listen what he says. 'How are you doing, kid? Hurry and grow up so you can help me slap the Japs. Aren't you most big enough to get into the Army? Here's something for you in your name. Let's the whole family gang up and help to win this war.'"

Pop and Mom were silent. But small Joe didn't notice that. He was full of his letter and his War Bond.

"Gee, Pop, in six years I could get into the Army, couldn't I, Pop? Gee, Pop, I want to be a soldier like brother and fight in this war. Gee, isn't that bond nifty? Look, it was issued in Honolulu. It's mine."

But Pop was looking at Mom and Mom was looking at Pop. There were tears in Mom's eyes. She shook her head sharply. Pop reached out and patted her hand gently.

"Well, can't let our soldier boy beat us to buying War Bonds, can we, old lady?" was all he said.

She shook her head again. "I guess if he can give up his job and go off to war I can do some fighting back at home," she said in a queer voice. Small Joe looked up at her in surprise. She saw him looking at her and spoke sharply.

"Well, Joe, we're about ready to eat. Say grace."

Small Joe folded his hands and bent his head as he had been taught. "Oh Lord, we thank thee for this food and all thy bountiful gifts..."

"Amen," Pop said. "Now eat your good sausages."

County Commissioner Pat Swann of Wilson, who was here on official business Tuesday, was exhibiting to friends a rather spectacular photograph which he had just received from his son Garland, who is in the Marines and is operating somewhere in the Pacific.

The photograph indicates that the seriousness of war has not destroyed our youths' sense of the comic. Garland was sporting a suite of mustache and a goatee twisted and pointed so as to make him look like a Spanish cavalier of about the sixteenth century, his hat and garb matching the mustache. Dad was getting a lot of kick out of the picture.

Bobby George Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver, has been confined to his bed two or three days this week from an attack of appendicitis.

There was church and Sunday school at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and Sunday night. Rev. Morrison held the services.

Rev. Boyd preached at the Baptist Church Sunday. A fairly good crowd attended.

DRAW FAMILY MOVES TO LUBBOCK

James Gayden and family who have been living near Draw for a number of years removed to Lubbock last Thursday in order that Mr. Gayden may devote more time to aviation.

Mr. Gayden, Clayton Beard, and Paul Walker went in together and purchased a plane several months ago, and since that time Mr. Gayden has been taking flying lessons intermittently at a flying school at Lubbock, but his duties on the farm have been so pressing that he could find little time to devote to aviation.

Recently he sold his farming implements at an auction sale and went out of the farming business, temporarily at least. He hopes in time to become an expert aviator.

Incidentally, Messrs. Gayden, Beard, and Walker installed one of the best landing fields in the entire country at Draw, Mr. Gayden says.

Postmaster Owen Taylor of Lamesa was a business visitor here Tuesday, according to our own postmaster, Happy Smith. Taylor reported 1942 as the best year the Lamesa postoffice ever had, and Hap says he can make the same kind of report respecting the Tahoka postoffice. One thing is sure and certain, Hap is handling more Lynn County News each week now than he ever handled before in his life.

WILSON NEWS

By Mrs. Frank Fletcher, Reporter

Pvt. Arnold Behrend, who was recently promoted to Private First Class, has been home on a 10-day furlough visiting his mother, brother and sister. He left January 8th for Camp Carson, Colo., where he has been in training since July, 1942. He says that he enjoys Army life.

Owen Blevins and Mrs. Blevins moved to their farm at New Home Tuesday.

We ask the readers to please forgive the reporter for missing Wilson news of the past few weeks and the lack of news this week. Here's the explanation of it all: When the reporter's daughter was barely three weeks old her six-year-old son, Jimmy, was operated on for appendicitis at the Mercy Hospital in Slaton; and the day before he was released her son, Jack Frank, entered the same hospital with pneumonia. Jimmy returned home Sunday and Jack Frank probably will be home before the News is published. So, maybe, we can have our hands on the news as soon as they are well and back in school.

Mrs. W. H. Fletcher of Plainview visited her son, Frank Fletcher, and family in Wilson and her grandson, Jimmy, in the hospital in Slaton, returning to Plainview Wednesday.

The son of Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Todd has been ill this week.

Hazel Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Robinson, has been taking treatment for tonsillitis and its painful after-effects.

Mrs. Ira Clary is suffering with a cold and sinus infection this week. Mmes. R. R. Robinson, E. O. Montgomery and J. L. Hyde were in Slaton and Lubbock last Thursday.

Walter McNabb of Lubbock was in Wilson Saturday.

Pat Campbell, local postmaster, has purchased the drug store from "Scoop" Copeland. "Scoop" will have to go to the Army soon. Miss Johnnie Ward will continue the operation of the drug store for Mr. Campbell.

MEXICAN COUPLE WED

Judge P. D. Server reports that he read the marriage rites for a Mexican couple at the Oscar Wuensch farm near Wilson last Saturday night.

It seems to have been regarded by the Mexican population as an outstanding social event, for the fair senioritas were there in great numbers garbed in their most expensive and showy costumes, and the handsome young seniors were there too. A sumptuous supper and dancing followed the wedding, two sheep having been killed for the feast.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Draper returned Sunday from Georgetown, where they had attended the funeral of Mrs. Robinson, one of Mr. Draper's sisters. They accompanied another sister back to her Fort Worth home, as they returned. Mr. Draper states that he and the sister in Fort Worth are the only ones left of the brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Burton Edwards, who has been so seriously sick the past few weeks, is now out of the hospital but is staying in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Boles, in Lubbock. Her many friends here are delighted that she is showing improvement.

L. R. Tilton, Dallas, district manager, and R. S. Booker, Lubbock manager of the Fuller Brush company were here Saturday on business with their local representative, Mrs. N. E. Wood.

MR. AND MRS. R. H. BATES GIVEN FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bates were honored Wednesday night of last week with a farewell party and shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Armontrout.

Refreshments were served to the following: Messrs. and Mmes. Cecil Bradshaw, Detrich Renfro, Floyd Smith, J. C. Veach, R. L. Smith, Parris, G. N. McWhorter, Jim Izard, J. R. Strain and Thelma Ruth, Unfred and Connolly, Chas. Armontrout, Donald Caudle, Mrs. Lela Brown, Mrs. Kornegay, Mrs. C. E. Boyd, Mrs. R. W. Lewis, Joe Elton and Leona.

Several who were not present sent gifts.—Contributed.

Mrs. Frank Fletcher, our Wilson correspondent, thinks that old Bill Shakespeare knew what he was talking about when he observed that "Misfortunes come not singly but in battalions," as will be discovered by a reading of her news report in this paper this week. Here's hoping that both her little fellows who had to be taken to the hospital may be strong and well as usual within a few days. And congratulations for the new-come!

S. B. Bennett, whose condition for several days was thought to be hopeless, has apparently improved and he has been brought back from the hospital to his little home in southeast Tahoka. A son in the Army visited him here a few days but had to go back to his camp. He must depend upon his friends for proper nursing and food.

H. P. Caveness is still suffered from a recent attack of the flu at his home in northwest Tahoka, in addition to a protracted illness from which he had not completely recovered. His sister, Mrs. S. B. Francis, who came a few weeks ago, is still here on a visit with him while he recuperates.

WEST TEXAS MUST FURNISH MORE WAACS

A new quota for the West Texas Army Recruiting District calls for the enrollment of more than four times the number of WAACs during January, February and March as have joined the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps during any previous three month's period.

Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, Commanding Officer of the West Texas Recruiting and Induction District, stated that every effort will be made to reach this quota. He said that it is going to take the help of every one of the 76 counties in the district to attain this goal.

WAAC officers will visit practically every town in the district during the three months' period. Public meetings will be held in many of these towns to give the public Army Auxiliary Corps. Newspapers, full information on the Women's radio stations, theatres, women's clubs, and various other civic organizations will be asked to aid in this recruiting drive. Women are urgently needed to take over non-combatant assignments that relieve physically fit soldiers for fighting duties.

The pay scale, which is the same as the Army's, will be distributed along with other information on advantages of training; the clothing, food, lodging and care of women, and all the attractions of membership in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

All organizations willing to help in this recruiting drive should contact the Headquarters of the West Texas Recruiting and Induction District in Lubbock.

THANK YOU

We wish to thank our friends and customers for the business and association we have enjoyed during our four years and three months in business in Tahoka as consignee for The Texas Company. We have truly enjoyed our stay here, and regret to leave, but due to the fact that one of us is in the Army, we find continued operation of the business difficult.

A. L. (Allie) White, who has been driving our truck ever since we have been here, succeeds us as Texas consignee, and we ask that you give him all the patronage you can. Leroy Akin is in charge of the Texas Service Station.

Soil Work . . .

their program. He continued by stating that in every case attention to the county roads must have first consideration but that whenever equipment could be spared from road work it would be made available to the District.

R. R. Adams, chairman of the AAA County Committee, explained to the group how the 1943 farm program would assist farmers in terracing and other conservation work. The 1943 program, Adams stated, is much more liberal than in previous years in respect to terracing. In past years the farmer was limited in the amount of payment he could earn by carrying out soil building practices. In 1943 there is no limit set on the amount allowed for terracing.

Payment for terracing will be made at a rate not to exceed 80 cents per hundred linear feet of terraces built. This amounts to $42.24 per mile and the farmer can be paid for as many miles as are needed on his farm. All terraces must meet AAA specifications, Adams stated, if the farmer expects to be paid for this practice. He also explained that this payment could be drawn as soon as the terraces are completed.

Commissioners Anderson and Jennings stated that some of their equipment is leased to the Government for war work and they will be limited in the amount of equipment they can furnish until this equipment is returned. Commissioner Swann announced that his equipment is being repaired at this time but that some of it would be available soon. Commissioners Williams and Anderson stated that they expected to be able to make some equipment available for use by the District Supervisors about February 1st.

The charge to be made for 1943 for the use of the maintainer or a tractor and grader has been set at $3.50 per hour. No schedule was set for the rental on elevating graders, but it was suggested that the charge would be not less than $5.00 per hour.

R. L. Littlepage, chairman of the Board of District Supervisors, urged all farmers to arrange whenever possible to supply their own equipment for building terraces. Littlepage stated that he hopes to build a terracing machine for his own use and that he would make it available to his neighbors if he is successful in getting materials for construction.

H. E. Mather, Work Unit Leader, assisting the District, stated that applications have been received from more than one hundred farmers asking for terracing of approximately 35,000 acres. Mather states that the Soil Conservation Service has employed ten local men to assist the engineers in surveying for terraces. Four crews are in the field assisting farmers at this time.

Supervisors are holding meetings next week, according to Mr. Mather, at Draw school on Tuesday night, Jan. 19, at Wells Wednesday night, Jan. 20, and at Dixie Friday night, January 22. Each of these meetings will be at 8 p. m., and all farmers are invited.
