Congress Amazed At Gigantic Plans

Relief For Destitute Texans Assured As Bonds Are Sold

Banks Of Two Cities Are To Furnish Cash

Advance Of $1,148,000 To Be Made; Money To Be Available At Once And Relief Crisis Will Be Postponed

Other Bids Asked

Plans Are Continuing For A Wide Distribution Of Bonds And Success Of Efforts Is Believed Assured

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 4.—Immediate resumption of full relief grants to thousands of destitute Texans was assured today when Fred Florence, chairman of the special Texas relief bond committee, announced that four Dallas and Fort Worth banks would advance $1,148,000 on the state relief bond issue.

This money will be sent immediately to the state treasurer at Austin through the Fort Worth National bank as fiscal agent of the special committee and will end, temporarily at least, the lack of funds which has hampered Texas relief agencies for several weeks.

Take Over All Bonds

Florence, in a statement, said the committee had arranged to take over from the state all bonds subscribed for under the original advertisement for bids and means of payment had been completed through the First National bank and Republic National Bank and Trust company in Dallas and the First National bank in Fort Worth.

"These banks," he said, have agreed to provide the money to be paid to the state treasurer during the interim of the consummation of the delivery to the legal subscribers to the bonds, thereby avoiding a delay of several days and considerable red tape that would otherwise result. . . .

Get Cash At Once

"The handling of the matter in this manner enables the state to obtain the money at once and thereby assures the carrying on of the relief to the destitute people of Texas."

The commission, meanwhile, set Jan. 22 as the date to receive bids on the unsubscribed portion of the $2,750,000 issue provided for by the state legislature. When bids first were asked, none were received. At the second advertisement, slightly more than $1,000,000 were bid for and, in order to con-

Man Confesses Double Murder

"I Guess This Means Chair," Father States As He Views Bodies Of His Two Children In Chicago Morgue

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Taken to an undertaking establishment to view the bodies of his two children, John Piotrowski, 27 years old CWA worker, stared at them dully today and muttered his second confession.

"It's true, I killed them," police quoted him as saying. "I guess this means the chair."

Confirms Story

He wrote his name for the second time on his confession, made yesterday, confirmed its brutal story of how, in a jealous frenzy, he clubbed his wife, their two children, and a young roomer he said he found in his wife's arms when he came home unexpectedly.

Betty Ann, the Piotrowski's 3-year-old daughter, died an hour later. The other child, a 10 months old boy, Piotrowski said, he drowned in a tub of water.

Repudiates Confession

Earlier in the day Piotrowski had repudiated his confession, reverting to his earlier story that he knew nothing about the double murder.

John Pahfield, the roomer, has vanished.

Police Captain Horan said he believed Piotrowski to be demented.

The young wife, Anna, 23 years old, was in too critical condition to answer police questions.

You Can't Blame The Taxi Driver

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—A $43,300,000 check in his pocket and not enough money to pay a taxicab bill was the predicament in which Lloyd Landau found himself.

Landau is a solicitor for the public works administration.

The taxicab bill was for forty cents and he was in Chicago.

After displaying the federal check to the doubtful driver and a considerable debate as to his identity, the driver allowed him to enter the Union League club to borrow 50 cents from the desk clerk.

The check was drawn in connection with a government transfer of funds in Chicago.

Texas Jersey Cattle Club In Closing Session; Several Interesting Talks Slated On Today's Program

SEVERAL changes marked the opening session of the seventh annual meeting, Texas Agricultural Workers association yesterday afternoon in the Hotel Hilton ball room. A. C. Williams, president of the federal land bank at Houston was unable to be present and his address was postponed until this morning.

Last night a banquet program was held at the Hilton hotel at 7 o'clock.

Following the opening of the afternoon session by President Jack Shelton, Durwood H. Bradley, member of the board of directors of the Board of City Development and chamber of commerce, on behalf of the city, welcomed the visitors. Miss Margaret W. Weeks explained briefly the plans for the afternoon tea at the practice house on the campus at Texas Tech.

Experiments Explained

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station here, gave in detail results of several ham and bacon curing experiments conducted here. He told of the several methods of curing and how the several plans worked. As a climax, Mr. Jones exhibited a ham that had been in the cure for nearly a year and which was removed especially for the talk.

Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent leader, announced home demonstration exhibits were on display in the lobby of the hotel and there would also be an exhibit at the practice house. She specially invited the men to attend the tea and there were a large number who did so. They also went over the college campus while there.

Judge Miller Speaks

"I would not attempt to define county government as it is in Texas today," said Judge Otis Miller, Anson, former president of the West Texas Association of County Judges and commissioners in opening his talk on county organization. "It works, and it does not work. Much depends upon the men who work it."

Judge Miller urged a complete remodeling of the state's county organization plan. He urged legislative changes and such other changes as were necessary to revamp the entire program. While Judge Miller advocated the county-manager form of government, he said that there were three plans generally advocated.

Several questions were asked of Judge Miller from the floor and

New York Gangsters On Spot; LaGuardia Means Business In Round-Up

All Night Drive Brings 143 Hoodlums In Net; Gotham's Gang Hangouts Emptied

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. — One hundred forty-three gangsters paraded into police headquarters today—herded together in a quiet all night drive on known criminals as Commissioner John F. O'Ryan's administration began to function.

Under the glaring lights of the famous police lineup 64 of them passed, the first group taken as the police responded to their new leader's demand to "clean up or get out."

It was the biggest police drive since the regime of Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, but it lacked the Whalen touch. He always announced his drives in advance.

The drive started before midnight and lasted until dawn — policemen and detectives, forgetting their early morning naps, as they answered the promise by O'Ryan and Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia that there would be no political interference in police matters.

"Yes, we stepped out all right," one detective explained. "It's just what we want. We don't mind going out after them if we're sure we'll be backed up."

New Year Takes On Rosy Hue In Lubbock As Bank Deposits And Resources Go Toward Top

Deposits Near $4,500,000 For Three National Banks Here; Total Loans Show A Decline Since October

LUBBOCK and the South Plains entered the new year with deposits approximating $4,500,000 in three national banks here.

With net receipts of its large cotton crop and Uncle Sam's cotton reduction checks salted away, 1934 looked rosy.

Deposits Jump Higher

Deposits, which had increased $1,139,342.40 since Oct. 25, 1933, were greater than total resources of the three institutions 65 days before. Total loans declined $116,533.85 — from $1,340,753.05 to $1,224,219.20.

According to reports prepared yesterday in anticipation of a call from the comptroller of the currency for a report up to the close of business, Dec. 30, First National, Citizens National, and Lubbock National banks had resources of $5,160,743.41. That represented an increase of $1,124,725.24 since Oct. 25.

More Liquid Condition

The banks were in a more liquid condition, their loans less and their cash on hand and cash quickly available greater.

Cash Dec. 30 totaled $2,413,601.94, on Oct. 25 the total was $1,392,792.50. Increase in all cash resources was $1,231,286, from $2,147,350 to $3,378,636.

The new year also brought deposit insurance to the customers of the three banks.

Deposits Are Insured

Beginning Jan. 1, all deposits of $2,500 were insured 100 per cent. On July 1, the 100 per cent insurance will include the first $10,000 on deposit. At the same time there will be effective a 75 per cent insurance on the next $40,000 on deposit, and there will be a 50 per cent insurance on all money placed in the bank after the first $50,000.

It was estimated that not more than 50 customers of the Lubbock banks have more than $10,000 on deposit.

Murder Charge Faces Youth In Slaying Of Step-Mother

Another Bright Page Looms In Alabama Prison History

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 4. (AP) —Alabama convicts today had written another bright page into the history of the Christmas parole custom as a final check up from the five prisons and 10 road camps showed that only four of 330 long termers failed to return after spending the holidays at home.

GRAVELY WOUNDED

STEPHENVILLE, Jan. 4. (AP) — Curtis Young, 21, was found early tonight at a downtown filling station, where he was working, with a bullet wound near his heart. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. He told doctors he was cleaning a pistol and it discharged accidentally.

Uncle Sam Plans To Borrow More Money Than There Is; To Muster His Bank Credit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—The government plans to borrow within the next six months almost twice as much actual money as there is in the country.

The prospective borrowing, as revealed by the budget message today is around $10,000,000,000. The amount of money in circulation (save some governmental funds for which no accounting can be made) totaled only $5,791,000,000 at the close of business January 3, 1934.

Uncle San will get his $10,000,000,000 through the use of bank and other credit since most financial transactions are carried on that way.

Byrd Ship Is Battling Ice

Dramatic Flight Is Made By Harold June Through Snow Squalls; Mystery Of Ross Sea May Be Cleared

(By The Associated Press)

ABOARD ADMIRAL BYRD'S FLAGSHIP, In The Arctic, Jan. 4. (Via. Mackay Radio)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd held his flagship hove to in the ice pack today, debating his next move after a dramatic flight through snow squalls, fog and lowhanging clouds to latitude 72.30 today.

A fresh snow squall assailed the vessel. The pack appeared to be pressing in, and the engine room gang had steam up in two boilers so that the ship was prepared to move if conditions changed much for the worse.

Clear Up Mystery

In Admiral Byrd's opinion, yesterday's flight may have the effect of clearing up the mystery of the Pacific quadrant and extinguishing the conception of the Ross sea as a sea enclosed on three sides by continental Antarctica.

It would appear now, Admiral Byrd said, that the bulge of unknown white space on the map which seemingly encloses the Ross sea is just water borne ice and that no land exists hereabouts.

The experiences of the flight together with events that followed showed that any further aerial enterprises in this area, at least at this time of the year, will be attended with great risks.

Chief Pilot Harold June said that

More than 100 buildings, including two at the naval air station, were damaged. One of the tornadoes passed within three blocks of the main business section.

Conference Is Held To Push Future Plans

Administration Schedule For Congress Begins To Assume Shape; St. Lawrence Pact Written On List

Skirmishes Loom

House Starts Its Debate On Liquor Tax; U. S. Adherence To World Court Wiped From Session's Slate

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The administration program for congress began taking shape at a White House conference late today with the St. Lawrence waterways pact written on the list for this session and the protocol for adherence to the world court being rubbed off.

Silver also came prominently to the fore in the president's discussion with congressional leaders today and there were subsequent intimations of new administrative moves on this subject with a diminishing prospect of legislative action.

Canvass Situation

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, canvassed the whole legislative situation with President Roosevelt at a lengthy parley.

"We feel the situation in Europe is so complex," he said, "that this is not an opportune time to proceed with the world court resolution.

"A St. Lawrence treaty is on the calendar and I believe the senate will take it up in the early future."

The senate leader offered no prediction on the outcome.

This will give the senate something to do while the house is busy on its appropriation and revenue bills.

Want Early Adjournment

Robinson said he was confident congress could adjourn between May 1 and May 15.

The revised protocol for American adherence to the world court was sent to the senate by President Hoover in December, 1930. After a long wait in committee it was reported favorably to the senate floor but never got up for discussion.

Busy with his domestic recovery campaign, President Roosevelt has given no time to the world court problem.

Robinson said he had not discussed the protective tariff and war debt messages which President Roosevelt will send to congress and there was no indication today that they were imminent.

After receiving the president's budget message, congress snapped

Inability To Get License No Defense For Violation

BRADY, Jan. 4. (AP)—E. J. Miller, district court judging, ruling that inability to obtain state beer retailers licenses in so-called local option territory did not constitute legal defense for violating the state revenue law, today granted a permanent injunction restraining W. D. Cargill, coffee shop operator, from further sale of beer without a state license.

Cargill also was fined $25 for contempt of court for continuing sale of beer in defiance of a temporary restraining order granted Dec. 19 and was remanded to jail "until he removes all beer held for sale from his premises and gives bond of $500 that he will not sell beer further on these premises."

Signs Of Emotion Shown As Fur Capes Appear On Block

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP) — Two opulent fur capes, from among the many treasures of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, were put on the auction block today, and for the first time since the sale of her effects began, Mrs. McCormick's daughter, Muriel, showed signs of outward emotion.

She bought both the coats—an expensive affair of chinchilla, and a striking cape of Russian ermine. Spectators around her noticed, however, that she flushed and seemed upset.

WAXAHACHIE, Jan. 4. Manassa Mauler Expects An Heir

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 4. (AP) —Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, said here tonight he and Mrs. Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams of Broadway, are expecting an heir.

Dempsey, grinning around a cigar while his train stopped here en route to New York, asserted he and his wife are "very happy."

"I always wanted one," he said. "Hannah is pleased as well as myself. We hope it will be twins."

"Both boys, Jack?" Dempsey was asked.

"We'll be glad anyway," he replied.

Mrs. Dempsey, a smiling witness to her husband's statements, declined to be quoted on the prospects for another "cheerful little earful."

Acceptance Of Tax Proposals Deemed Likely

No Material Change Expected In Committee Plan; Major Issue Raised Is $2 Tax On Distilled Spirits

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Acceptance by the house of the ways and means committee's liquor tax bill without material change was apparent today after considerable debate in which charges were made that poisonous alcoholic beverages were being sold at huge profits by racketeers in the liquor industry.

The major issue raised over the measure came on its proposed $2 a gallon distilled spirits rate which was estimated by Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.), as capable of raising $300,000,000 on the basis of an expected 150,000,000 gallon annual consumption.

To Offer Amendment

Notice was served by Representative O'Connor, (D., N. Y.), that before a vote could be had on the bill tomorrow, he would offer an amendment to increase the rate to $5 a gallon. He argued that the advocates of repeal had "sold the country" on the idea of revenue from liquor and asserted this was "no time to run out on the promise."

A round of applause greeted the demand of Representative Britten (R., Ill.), that an embargo be placed against French wines because of that country's failure to pay its war debt. Calling the French a "nation of cheaters" and "defaulting misers," Britten also said President Roosevelt should force France to pay its debt or lose its export trade to this country.

Is Only Temporary

In opening five hours of debate on the measure, Chairman Doughton disclosed that the liquor bill, designed to raise $470,000,000 annually, including $160,000,000 from the $5 a barrel beer levy, was temporary.

A complete revision of the liquor laws is contemplated later, he said, adding that the purpose of the temporary measure was to start a flow of new revenue into the treasury through the increase over the present $1.10-a-gallon rate.

The $2 rate, he explained, was considered "reasonable" as well as the maximum that could be levied to produce the most revenue and at

Death Toll In Los Angeles Flood Is Decreased To 38

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4. (AP)—As more than 1,000 active workers continued the search for bodies, the fluctuating death list in the New Year's eve flood tragedy in Los Angeles suburbs was reduced to 38 in a coroner's report late today.

The number of persons still reported missing was pared down to 60.

Many of these, authorities believe, may be in sodden tombs of mud, debris and rocks which clutter up the Verdugo hill slope communities where the flood was worst.

FDR Proposes To Spend Huge Amount In '34

Biggest Peace-Time Spending Program In History Of The Nation Planned; Support Of Demos Is Expected

Borrow 10 Billion

Public Debt To Reach Highest Point; Pay As You Go Basis Planned In 1936; Balanced Budget To Be Sought

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — President Roosevelt today asked congress to approve the biggest peace-time spending program in American history and, despite some head-wagging, it was soon apparent that his recommendations would be enacted in much the same form as he submitted them.

Some Democrats were surprised at the size of the figures proposed, while the Republicans expressed amazement and a few of them concern. The president's party with its huge majority rallied staunchly around him, however, and support, or at least no intention of opposing the program, was indicated by some members of the minority.

Borrowing Planned

Reduced to simplest terms, the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and estimates for the remainder of the current year foresaw:

Government borrowing of ten billion dollars in the next six months.

Expenditures for the two years totaling $16,529,000,805, receipts aggregating $6,634,904,135, a deficit for the two years combined of $9,295,000,000 and a consequent increase in the public debt to $31,834,000,000, the highest point it ever has reached.

Emergency Program Costly

Of these disbursements, $5,017,488,467 were listed as general outlays for the ordinary expenses of the government and the remainder, $11,512,317,200, was set down as emergency spending intended to further the recovery program.

"It is my belief that so far as we can make estimates with our present knowledge, the government should seek to hold the total debt within this amount," said the president, referring to his $31,000,000,000 forecast.

"Furthermore the government during the balance of this calendar year should plan to bring its 1936

Abandon Hope In Mine Fire

Conceded Death Toll In Mine Disaster Is 140; Efforts To Extinguish Blaze Fail; Only Four Survive

(By The Associated Press)

DUCHCOV, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 4.—Hope was abandoned for 129 entombed miners in the "Nelson III" coal mine tonight when, after all day efforts to conquer an underground fire which repeatedly broke out in the workings, engineers concluded there was no chance of reaching the men alive.

The only survivors of a terrific blast that imprisoned the workers were four who escaped immediately after the explosion. A total of 11 bodies was recovered, making the aggregate conceded death toll 140.

Heads Of Families

Nearly three-fourths of the victims were heads of families. One leaves seven children.

The chief inspector of the mining districts has been removed by the government and an investigation to fix the responsibility for the catastrophe continued.

One generally accepted theory was that the explosion was caused by the combustion of coal dust.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IT'S OPEN season on people who predict things that will happen during 1934. And, since this is that time of year, everything from epidemics of scarlet fever to the end of the world are included.

Each January brings its predictions and usually there are a few of the seers who set the date for the earth's destruction. Usually it is predicted right down to the hour and these prophets do a lot to spread the alarm among the populace.

Some times some of these predictions ring true. It's probably due to the law of averages or just pure luck. At least those of us who have little faith in seers can think this.

We should worry over whether or not the world is going to come to an end on May 12 or September 30 or whatever date is set. Our concern should be much more on what becomes of us when the end happens along. And I haven't much faith in people who wait until destruction is imminent to begin repenting.

FOR THIN PEOPLE

IT IS SAID that the best way to reduce is to stop eating while you are yet hungry. The Polish singer, Ganna Walska, has a better idea. She has some English Gothic dining room chairs which she treasures but they are so fragile that no fat person can sit in them to dine. Only featherweights may be asked to sit at this table of hers.

Perhaps if those who are bothered with too much weight bought and treasured such chairs they would reduce of necessity!

ONE OF MANY

IF YOU THINK times are better and that the NRA has helped, your view is that held by many other women in the nation.

Basing their views on a survey of 40,000 women in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee and the surrounding trade territories, a New York firm has announced that 75 per cent of the women believe we are on our way out of the depression toward unprecedented prosperity; that 80 per cent believe implicitly in the NRA and are convinced that it is not contrary to our form of government; that 82 per cent believe that either every one has been benefitted by the NRA or at least one group has been helped. Eighty per cent are confident that the dollar is in good hands and have no fear of the "baloney" dollar.

So, if you are pleased with the steps that are being made toward recovery, you can rest assured that you share the views of many others.

THEY ARE INTERESTED

DON'T ever imagine that parents of today are not interested in giving their teen-age daughters the proper training and help. A magazine story on "What Every Girl Should Know", was mentioned in this column early in the week. Since then there have been many calls from men, as well as women, wanting to know which copy of the magazine the story appears in. They have daughters and are interested in doing all they can for them. And, as you might expect of modern parents, they are seeking help to do the job well.

Women Relate Death Details

Members Of Church Faction In Arkansas Give Versions Of Shooting; Say Defendant In Case Stumbled Out Door

PIGGETT, Ark., Jan. 4. (AP)—Women members of the Rev. Joe Jeffers' church faction who were attending prayer meeting when J. W. McMurdo, aged janitor, was slain, gave their version of the shooting and some of the highlights of the church strife leading up to it today in the murder trial of the Rev. Dale S. Crowley, Baptist minister.

Mrs. Lena Shook and Mrs. Stacy Baswell, corroborating previous testimony by Mrs. Clara Coleman, said they were outside the tabernacle when Crowley stumbled out of the door, arose, picked up a gun and went back in, firing. They declared no shot had been fired until the minister began shooting.

Mrs. Baswell said she and others left the rostrum where they were holding prayer service when they heard a commotion at the rear of the building. There, she said, they heard Crowley order McMurdo, janitor for the Jeffers' faction, to vacate.

Presently Crowley fell out of the door and the gun dropped from his pocket, Mrs. Baswell said. She said she reached for the gun, but Crowley beat her to it and went back in the door, where he started firing.

Hearing Opens For Oklahoman

Robert Hayter Is Composed As Witnesses Take The Stand; Alibi Will Be Offered By Defense Attorneys

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 4. (AP)—The preliminary hearing of Robert F. Hayter on murder charges in the mysterious slayings of his wife and two children here last October proceeded slowly today, the state examining only four witnesses.

With several state witnesses remaining to be heard and about 50 defense witnesses summoned, it appeared the hearing would require several days.

Hayter Is Composed

Three peace officers and a neighbor of the Hayters testified as the state sought to weave a net of circumstantial evidence about Hayter, middle-aged refrigerator salesman, who appeared composed and intensely interested in the proceedings.

Police Chief D. Moncrief, jr., declared Hayter had contradicted himself during questioning concerning circumstances surrounding the slayings.

Moncrief testified Hayter told him repeatedly before his arrest a month after the slayings that he had never touched either of the stoves that were torn loose from gas pipes in the locked Hayter home. However, Moncrief said, after his arrest, Hayter declared he touched the stoves on his last visit home, Oct. 16.

Fingerprints Are Found

The fact that Hayter's fingerprints were on the stoves was interpreted by the state as evidence that he was the one who had ripped them from their connections.

After discovery of the bodies of Mrs. Hayter, a son, Sidney, 17, and a daughter, Nellie, 14, in the locked Hayter home Nov. 1, evidence of an apparent attempt to burn the house was found.

Defense Counsel Joe Cline and W. C. Stevens said the principal defense testimony would be to show that Hayter was in Fort Worth, Tex., the night of Oct. 27 when the slayings were believed to have occurred. Hayter was in Oklahoma City when the bodies were found.

Defense counsel announced that Virginia Hayter, 20, the only surviving child of the family, would provide "probably the most startling evidence for her father." They also said Hayter himself would take the stand as well as "the other woman," mentioned in the case.

In previous questioning, Hayter and the wife of an El Reno railroad man readily admitted a friendship extending over a period of years but maintained their innocence of knowledge of the slayings.

Mrs. Jack Dodson, neighbor of the Hayters, testified she heard a woman scream and four shots on the night the trio was believed slain.

Sheriff Fritz McCarty described the condition of the house when he arrived and Undersheriff Bill Ford substantiated Moncrief's testimony.

Root Tip Would Be Seven Times Bigger Than Earth In A Year If Given Food

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 4.—A single tomato root tip, a quarter-inch long, is growing so fast "artificially" at the Rockefeller institution that if there were food enough it would become seven and a half times as big as the earth in a little more than a year.

The growth is a living proof of the irresistible energy behind the principle of life and the forces which produce evolution. It shows what a single seed could do under the "favorable" conditions of a millenium where it had no competition, and more food to eat than the entire size of the earth.

Nutrition Studied

The scientific aim of the experiment is a study of problems of plant nutrition and the behavior of certain diseases. It was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Philip R. White of the Princeton branch of the Rockefeller institute for medical research.

It began with a sterilized tomato seed, a little more than a year ago. One root tip was cut off soon after sprouting. The tip is the part which grows. This tip was placed in water, containing as plants food about half a dozen chemical salts, a small amount of purified cane sugar and a tiny bit of yeast, less than one one-hundredth of one per cent.

As the tip grew it was cut back and the portions so clided off, were placed each in its own test tube to grow alone. This was repeated until there were 100 tubes from the original tip. Since the each bit of root has been paried down once a week, and the "other half" thrown away. Some of the tips died, even under their "tomato millenium" and were replaced.

"If, instead of many brances being discarded," said Dr. White, "all of them had been retained and had grown at rates corresponding to the observed mean values, the total number of branches would today be about 100,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 and the length of the roots more than 1,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 inches.

"The enormity of this figure can perhaps be appreciated when it is realized that this represents a mass of tissue equal to about seven and a half times the volume of the earth."

O. F. Rea Sells Interest In Milling Company To Brothers

ABERNATHY, Jan. 4. (Special)—Purchase of the interests of O. F. Rea in the A. R. A. Milling company here and the change of the name of the concern to Anderson Brothers Milling Co., was announced by R. H. and C. O. Anderson, sole owners.

The mill was started some years ago by O. A. and O. F. Rea, a number of years ago. It has a capacity of 100 barrels of flour per day, with other products being made. In 1932 O. A. Rea sold his interests to the Anderson brothers, who had been connected with the mill for some time.

From time to time new machinery has been installed.

Since its erection in 1930, 300,000 persons have visited the Pioneer Woman statute at Ponca City, Okla.

Annual January Clearance Sale

Sale Begins Friday, Jan. 5th Closes Saturday, Jan. 13th Eight Big Days Of Opportunity!

It is not easy to quote reduced prices for a Clearance Sale this January. Rising markets—the unusual desirability of stocks on hand—healthy low inventories—a strong financial position—all argue against severe reductions, but dispite all this we again offer you this event with all the outstanding opportunities that have been its tradition for the many years that it has been the outstanding merchandising event in Lubbock and the South Plains.

Were there no other reasons, one alone would be sufficient to influence our decision to "carry on" as usual—It has been a decided factor in the prices you find quoted on the page below. For years you have learned to expect great values from us in January. You have planned for months to make savings from this event. YOU EXPECT THIS SALE.

We can not disappoint you, for despite "replacement costs" "code requirements" "production schedule" and other requirements of the new order you are looking to us to serve you. This has been a main factor in establishing the liberal discounts you find quoted below on truly high quality merchandise that bears every requirement you demand.

Please Do Not Ask For Return Or Exchange Privileges! Remember This Is Clearance Time!

HERE IS THE 1934 EDITION, "BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER" DESPITE CHANGED CONDITIONS AND A MARKET THAT DOES NOT LEND ITSELF EASILY TO THE QUOTING OF PRICES SUCH AS YOU FIND ON THIS PAGE!

A 1934 OF OPPORTUNITY

A new year has just dawned—a year that we frankly believe will bring increased prosperity to you and yours. Also we believe that increased prices will be the rule. Therefore it's wise to save now.

THERE ARE UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR MEN IN THIS ANNUAL

January Clearance Sale

For Here You Find Material Discounts On Standard Well Known Makes That Meet Your Every Requirement Of STYLE, FIT And QUALITY

SALE BEGINS FRIDAY, JAN. 5TH CLOSES SATURDAY, JAN. 13TH EIGHT DAYS OF SELLING

Naturally you are only vaguely interested in the problems that confronted us in arranging this 1934 Clearance Sale. We know that the final price quoted is the real point of interest, nevertheless we can not resist telling you of some of the difficulties that were important factors when we were arranging discounts for this sale.

Almost without exception every item in our men's department reflects an increased cost on replacement. This is not theory. Its an actual reality. We know because we have made Spring purchases and have actually paid the advances. At regular prices of today these goods are cheap but regardless of conditions for the past eleven years we have offered you reduced prices in January. You expect this of us—we know many of you have planned for some time to take advantage of these savings. We can not disappoint you. Therefore again we feature another of our Annual Clearance Sales—one that again features bona fide reductions on the quality merchandise that has always been a hobby with us.

Big Slices In Federal Budget Offered United States Army And Navy

Generous Sum For The Navy

Total Of $53,819,334 Asked By President Roosevelt For Continued Work In Building Of New Ships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP) — A recommendation that congress give the war department $14,622,717 more during the next fiscal year than the estimated $379,613,342 the department will spend this year was included today in President Roosevelt's budget message.

With exception of the citizens military training camps and seacoast defenses, every section of the department's military activities division would receive increased funds.

The total increase for the military activities branch would be $28,936,345 over the $217,047,327 estimated expenditure this year.

The president estimated C. M. T. C., expenses this year at $1,000,000. The recommended expenditure for the year starting July 1 was $987,213. That amount, the president said, would provide for training 14,000 youths.

The seacoast defense arm was trimmed from $1,245,022 to $1,174,970.

The budget would cut non-military activities, including river and harbor work, from $47,550,804 to $37,007,925.

The largest increase in the military activities branch was $10,268,706 for the finance department which pays officers and enlisted men. The recommended allotment took into consideration possibility of restoration of one-third of the 15 per cent pay cut.

The increase for the quartermaster corps was $5,012,725 and for the air corps, $9,850,580.

More Funds For The War Department Being Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—The navy was dealt with generously in both ships and men by President Roosevelt today in asking funds for the service in his annual budget.

The president asked congress to appropriate $53,819,334 for new vessels and continued work upon those already authorized, an increase of $1,622,927 over such authorized obligations during the 1934 fiscal year.

To Continue Work

In general this would permit continuance of work on 15 vessels now being constructed with regular appropriations and the laying down of the last of the planned 10,000 ton 8-inch gun cruisers next January. In addition the construction of 33,000 tons of six-inch gun cruisers could go forward.

These cruisers, under the terms of the London naval treaty, could be either three of 10,000 tons or five of 6,500 tons. All of these ships are separate and apart from the 32 vessels to be constructed with the $238,000,000 of public works funds turned over some months ago to the navy by executive order.

Huge Sum Available

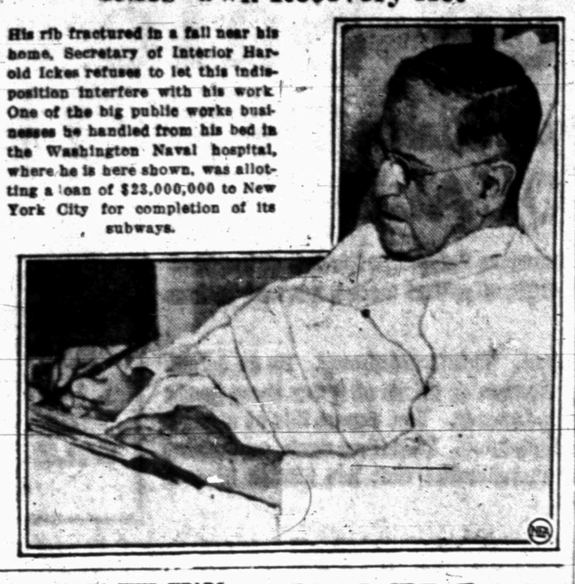

The budget 1935 estimate, including a restoration of one-third of the 15 per cent pay cut taken by the services, called for $288,030,725. This was $5,996,818 less than the authorized obligations for 1934.

It was estimated, however, that with accrued balances to be carried forward to the 1935 fiscal year and use of unexpended funds from continuing appropriations, there would be available for expenditure by the navy $315,691,521.

During the World War, 2360 churches were destroyed in France, and of these only 500 have been rebuilt.

Ickes' Own Recovery Act

His rib fractured in a fall near his home, Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes refuses to let this indisposition interfere with his work. One of the big public works businesses to be handled from his bed in the Washington Naval hospital, where he is here shown, was allotting a loan of $23,000,000 to New York City for completion of its subways.

Hoberecht pleaded guilty on November 28.

Pomp Of Ancient Days Being Planned To Mark Coronation Of Boy Emperor

HSINCHING, (Changchun) Manchukuo, Jan. 4 (AP)—Henry Pu-Yi, 28, is expected to be crowned king of Manchukuo March 1 with all the pomp and panoply of China's ancient days of imperial grandeur.

(Dispatches from Tokyo Jan. 2 had indicated Pu-Yi's coronation was expected shortly.)

A special coronation commission will be inaugurated Jan. 10 to arrange for the former "boy emperor's" restoration to the dragon throne. The date intended would coincide with the second anniversary of Manchukuo's foundation by Japan which wrested the territory from Manchuria to establish the present state.

The commission will be headed by Premier Cheng Hsiao-Hsi, former tutor to Pu-Yi.

Pu-Yi's expected elevation will be preceded by the promulgation of a new constitution patterned largely after that of Japan and by the issuance of a new Japanese protocol for Manchukuo in which it is expected that Japan not only will guarantee Pu-Yi's sovereignty but reiterate Japan's stand of her right to defend the new state with the Japanese army and navy.

STORES DESTROYED

GILMER, Jan. 4. (AP)—Fire consumed the dry goods stores of J. W. Wall and J. Kurtz early today with an estimated loss of $35,000. Two arrests were made by investigators.

Of the 26 states which have laws relating to old age pensions, only 15 actually have put these laws in operation.

Slaton Girl Who Left Her Home Weds Oklahoma Man

The recent marriage of Betty Lou Campbell of Slaton and Virgil Wheatley of Oklahoma City reminded that the Campbell girl left her home in Slaton, July 22, was arrested Dec. 13 in Oklahoma City, and was returned to her home. Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley will live in Oklahoma City.

Mr. Wheatley, a government employe, went to Slaton recently, Miss Campbell and he were married there, and they left for Oklahoma City that night. Mrs. J. D. Campbell, the girl's mother, attended the wedding.

After the girl, described as 15 years old, was arrested in the Oklahoma City postoffice when she called for a general delivery letter from her home, authorities were puzzled as to what to do with her, as she refused to "talk". Sheriff Tom Abel, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, returned the girl.

Tearful Young Slayer Begs Forgiveness From The Widow Of His Victim

Remorse For Actions Told

Wife Shows No Emotion While Youth Tells Story But She Later Breaks Down; States He Deserves Punishment

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4. (AP)—The widow of a man shot down during an attempted holdup nearly three years ago met the self-confessed slayer in the district attorney's office late today.

The meeting was arranged at the request of the killer, Dewey Fowler, 21, who had admitted after a night of grueling cross-examination, that he had fired the shot which killed U. E. Horton, 40, filling station owner, during a robbery attempt the night of May 8, 1931.

Asks Forgiveness

The young man had begged officers for the opportunity to beg the woman's forgiveness.

With tears in his eyes the young man told of the remorse he had suffered since that night. He asked to shake her hand. Mrs. Horton, who is the mother of two grown sons, told the youth that he would feel better if he would tell her everything.

And so the youth told the same story he had related to officers earlier in the day, how he and two other youths had decided to stage a holdup and selected Horton's filling station when they saw him counting his money; how he had fired a single shot when Horton resisted the robbers; how the crime had haunted him day and night ever since the slaying.

Shows Little Emotion

Mrs. Horton showed little emotion while she was talking to the youth, but she burst into tears when she related her own story of the holdup.

"I believe the boy is sincere in his remorse," Mrs. Horton said, "but I think he should be punished."

Judge Clark M. Mullican Is Speaker At P-TA Gathering

"Building good citizens out of present-day boys and girls is the most important project any state or nation can undertake," Judge Clark M. Mullican declared at a meeting of Lubbock Junior High school P.-T. A. last night. "In a few more years the boys and girls of today will be in the saddle and it is our concern to know how they will ride," he said.

"The ancients engaged in sports and games for physical beauty and development. Modern civilization has added a third object—to aid mental development. Ultra-modern civilization is recognizing a fourth, the development of good citizenship."

STAY IS GRANTED

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 4. (AP)—The state supreme court late today granted a stay of execution of sentence for Ronald Finney, bond broker under a 31 to 635-year penitentiary sentence, ordering that he be held in custody of the Shawnee county sheriff until final disposition of his appeal, or until further order from the court. The court refused to reduce his $40,000-appeal bond.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Walton Speaks To Farm Group

Texas Aggie President Talks At Banquet; About 100 Are Present At Affair Held At Hotel Hilton

The social order existing August, 1929, will never return, Dr. T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. and M. college, told about 100 persons attending a banquet of Texas Agricultural Workers association at Hilton hotel last night.

Dr. R. H. Montgomery, professor of economics at Texas university, the other speaker, declared, "You cannot function any longer allowing every individual to do as he pleases with his own property."

"I think we're coming out of this depression, but this is our last one under a democracy," he declared. "The group which benefits most by the old order will oppose it most."

Speaking of the government production reduction campaigns, Doctor Walton said, "The thing we've done is justified as a temporary experiment.

"There will come a time when the government of this nation cannot collect taxes from one group of people to subsidize another group. If the government continues subsidizing agriculture the government must dictate every act on every farm. The other course is for agriculture to adjust its practices so that farms practically will be self-supporting."

Stangel Toastmaster

Miss Cecille Mitchell of Plainview, accompanied by Guy Woods, also of Plainview, sang three selections. Dr. W. L. Stangel of Texas Technological college was toastmaster.

In speaking of the high quality of birds shown he added "this show is going to be one of the shows of this country."

Stumbling Blocks In Way Of Senate Confirmations Believed Removed

Favor Offered To Appointees

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Makes Favorable Impression Before Committee; James Landis Is Also To Be Approved

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—Stumbling blocks in the way of confirmation of Henry Morgenthau, jr., as secretary of the treasury and James M. Landis of Massachusetts as a member of the federal trade commission tonight apparently had been removed.

Senate Republican leaders decided not to make a party issue of the discharge by President Roosevelt of William E. Humphrey of Washington, a Republican, to make a place on the trade commission for Landis.

Made During Recess

The Landis appointment was one of those made during the recess of congress. Humphrey was removed by the president and took his case into the courts contending he was ejected without cause and was entitled to his pay.

The nomination of Henry Morgenthau, jr., to be secretary of the treasury today was assured of quick confirmation after the senate finance committee had unanimously approved it and Senator Long (D-La), had announced on the floor he would not contest the appointment.

Morgenthau appeared in person before the committee and after a lengthy examination as to his qualifications by committee members and by Long, a non-member, regarding internal revenue bureau cases, all 18 senators voted for a favorable report.

Made Good Impression

Chairman Harrison said Morgenthau, a close personal friend of President Roosevelt who took office New Year's day, made a "very wonderful impression" on the committee, which acted even before the nomination was before it. He later submitted the favorable report to the senate, but under the rules action was deferred until Monday, the senate having recessed over the weekend.

Long, who had indicated he might oppose the nomination, said he was satisfied with the examination of the New Yorker by the committee and would not oppose him.

He explained he had sought permission to question Morgenthau because of newspaper reports of statements attributed to the secretary regarding tax settlements pending before the revenue bureau. He said he regarded the statements as "unwise and irregular."

Long told the senate Morgenthau informed the committee he had made the statements and there was some disagreement among members whether they constituted a violation of the law.

"I think they were irregular," Long said. "Nevertheless it seems the irregularities were with intent to favor the public, so I will make no objection to his confirmation."

Studying Life . . .

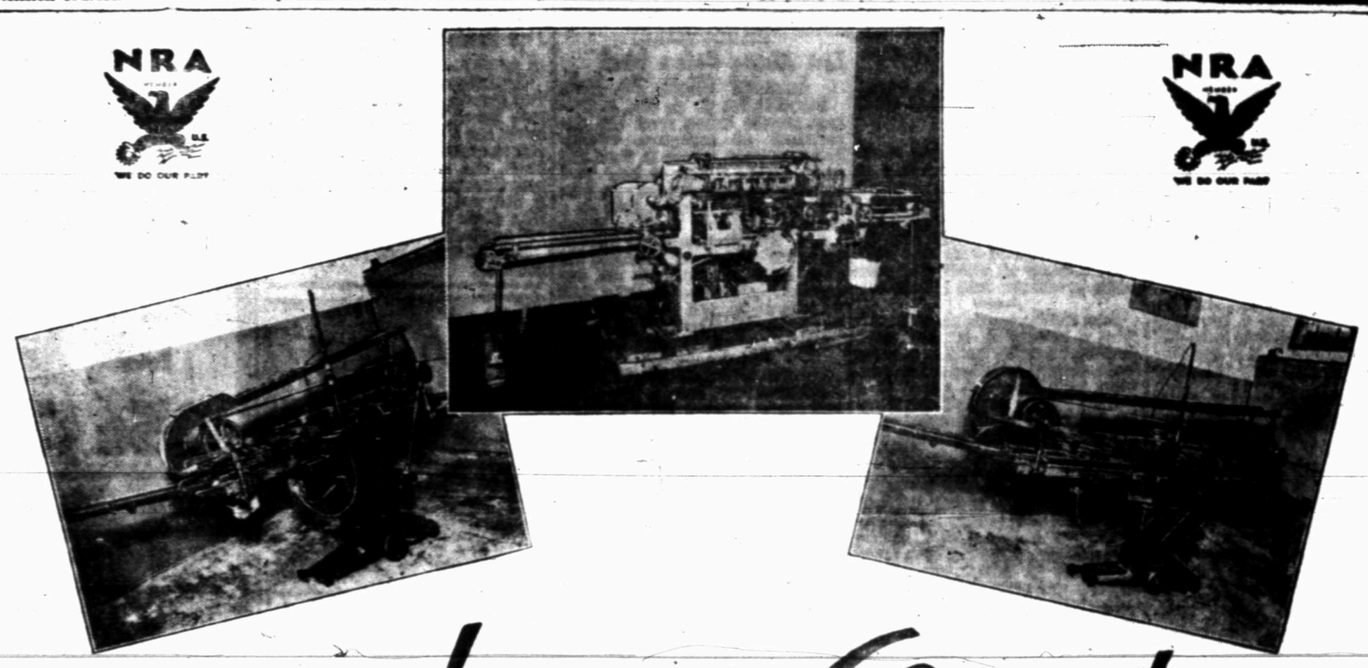

PROPER TRAINING is the birthright of every American youth. Without the proper education and development of those faculties which will be necessary to him in later life, he will be seriously handicapped.

Realizing this, the newspaper industry is seeking to give the boys who are associated with it every opportunity for advancement. Through close co-operation with school authorities and by giving their boys special training in the fundamentals of business, they are developing a generation of boys who are above the average in intelligence, self-reliance, dependability and health.

Your carrier boy is one of 588,000 boys who are engaged in the sale and distribution of newspapers—a task that requires less than an hour and a half a day. He is a young merchant, supplementing his school work with a course in practical business training. He is learning the lesson of service, courtesy, punctuality and thrift. Encourage him in his task and respect the ambition and initiative which he has displayed in choosing it.

These three machines were being used to label and wrap in cellophane Admiration and Bright & Early Coffees, products of the Duncan Coffee Company, when the Company wired President Roosevelt that it would subscribe to the President's re-employment agreement—100%.

As the purpose of the agreement and the NRA was and is to provide more jobs for the jobless, the Duncan Coffee Company decided to replace these machines with human beings, even at the expense of an increased cost in the packing department.

These eighteen girls and four young men—a total of 22 employees, are doing the work, previously performed by the three machines pictured above, at an increase in cost of $15,496.00 per year, in wages to these employees.

The only machines now used by the Duncan Coffee Company are: Roasters, Dripkut, Steelcut and grinding machines and automatic weighing machines, which are necessary to prevent the human hands from coming in contact with the coffee.

While many manufacturers have moved to replace human workers with machines, we believe we are making a modest contribution to better times by increasing payrolls.

We believe the public will approve our policy and will provide more jobs by using more Admiration and Bright & Early Coffees. Both are fine coffees—roast fresh—"they taste better."

Texas Agricultural Head Advocates Clair Plan; Will Speak Over Plains

Advocating the so-called Clair plan for agriculture, sponsored by the National League for Economic Stabilization of which Francis J. Clair is president, J. E. McDonald, state commission of agriculture has arranged several speaking engagements for this section, including one in Lubbock tonight.

Wednesday he spoke at Crosbyton in the afternoon and at Ralls at night. Saturday afternoon he speaks at Littlefield at 2:30; Monday afternoon at 2:30 at Lamesa and at Colorado at 8:30 that night and at San Angelo on Tuesday.

An Inverted Tariff

"The Clair plan is an inverted tariff," he said in discussing the plan. "It gives to the American farmer his pro-rata in the American market at the American price, which will enable every American farmer to patronize liberally other American industries.

"Under the plan we pro-rate annually the major agricultural crops on each farm in America. The Clair plan does not require an appropriation of any tax money; it does not put the government in business in any manner other than as an umpire, so to speak.

"It does not provide for production regulation, leaving to the farmers to plant whatever they may choose on their farms.

Shift Production

"The plan enables us to shift the production of crops for foreign markets at world prices to any section that may have low production costs. Under the plan we might grow any crop in low production cost areas and further develop our foreign markets."

The plan is entirely voluntary, Mr. McDonald pointed out. It has been presented to congress and in his opinion there is a good chance of it coming before congress for enactment at this session.

Mr. McDonald, said he had drawn up a plan for the solving of some of the agricultural problems. "I read carefully and studied every plan that came to my desk," he added. "I read them all. I formed one of my own. When the Clair plan came along I chucked mine into the wastebasket."

J. E. McDONALD

The commissioner has prepared an amendment to the plan which he hopes will be adopted. It is an explanation to farmers and business men of the plan that he is making in a series of meetings.

There are 3,805 negro physicians and surgeons in the United States, says the bureau of the census.

Matadors Nosed Out By House Of David, 33-28; To Play Again Tonight

Tech Controls Lead To Final Five Minutes

Clever Passers From Michigan Keep House In Uproar With Tricks Of The Trade; Tech Shows Much Improvement

The House of David's two-ring circus from Benton Harbor, Mich., (presented at the south ring during the first half, the north ring of Tech's basketball court during the second) provided so much fun and entertainment last night that the large gathering of fans forgot to be sorrowful over the ultimate result.

With Captain Red Johnson, forward, and Buck Buchanan, guard keeping up a ceaseless barrage of adjectives and trick passes, the game moved along in Tech's favor and the fans' delight until late in the final period. It ended, 33 to 28, for the unshaven men from Michigan.

Failure to sink cinch shots and capitalize on gratis tosses from the foe-line prevented the Matadors from gaining an even larger lead in the first 35 minutes of the game. The half ended, 22 to 13, favoring Coach Dell Morgan's men, but it might as easily have been 32 to 13. Co-Captain Alvin Crews and Truman Green finally found their basket eyes late in the first half to sink enough shots to take a handsome lead, but it faded as the last act drew near curtain time.

To Continue Series

The teams meet again tonight to continue and conclude the series. A basket drill this afternoon probably will be called by Coach Morgan, who is in hopes of turning the tables and gaining a split series tonight. The contest opens at 7:30 o'clock.

The clever passing of Buchanan kept the crowd of about 1,700, fifty per cent of whom were students, in a more or less violent uproar, and the Davids continual "gripe" in language as picturesque as their unusual appearance helped make it a demonstration rather than a ball game. But it had a thrilling finish, and fans kept to their seats until the final gun.

With less than five minutes to go, Tech was leading by the scant margin of 1 point. The score was 28 to 27. Then the bearded boys got down to serious business, controlled the ball through the closing minutes and fired enough shots to hold a lead. At that, the Matadors had four good chances to score in those final minutes, but over-anxiety sent their shots awry.

Costos Takes Lead

Costos, black-bearded young giant who replaced Brad Lair at center when the 6 ft., 11 in., pivoter came out with a bump on his ankle the size of a croquet ball, fired the shots that gave the Davidites a 29 to 28 lead. A couple of gift shots helped boost the pointage, and Linville, scrappy substitute forward and guard, sank a neat field goal just before the gun.

Exceptionally well trained at taking advantage of charity tosses, the visitors sank 14 out of 21 free tries. Johnson, always a scoring threat made his first seven attempts from the free line count for a point apiece and missed an eighth. The Matadors were sadly lacking in this phase of the game, sinking only two gift shots the whole evening.

Tech Looks Better

Although they missed a heap of targets, the Matadors looked considerably improved after their dismal showing a week ago in the second game with the Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers. Their passing was better. They charged up and down the field with more vim and purpose. Truman Green, Larry Priddy and J. C. Thomas turned in fine games on the defense, and Robison, Gilmore and the Crews brothers looked good at times in their duties.

Captain Johnson of the House played the heavy part in the drama with 17 points to his credit. In addition to the seven free goals, he nailed the hoop five times for two points a time.

Co-Captain Alvin Crews of the Matadors sank four field goals to take second scoring honors. Green, with three field goals, tied Costos for third place.

Simmons Cowboys Hold Off East Texas Attack To Win 45-40 Game At Commerce

COMMERCE, Jan. 4. (AP) — The Simmons university Cowboys warded off a closing rally of the East Texas Teachers college Lions to win a basketball game here tonight, 45 to 40.

Two field goals by Smith, East Texas forward, and another by Dean, lanky center, brought the Teachers' score to within three points of Simmons' as the game neared an end. Then Seed dropped two long shots in quick succession to run up the winning margin for the Cowboys.

Gene McCollum, Simmons guard, was high scorer with nine field goals, a total of 18 points. Dean was runner up with 16 points.

Excellent play by McCollum, Seed and Neely gave the Simmons team victory. The goal shooting of Captain Smith and Dean kept the Teachers in the running all the way.

The teams play here again tonight.

ON THE SIDELINES BY EDWARD J. NEIL

One of the big surprises of 1934 may be the return of Robert Tyre Jones, that fellow from Georgia, to tournament golf competition.

It won't be, of course, the summer long grind of the old days, from the amateur battles of two continents to the open tournaments of the same, the grind that finally caught up with him in 1930, when he won all four, and took the edge from the fun of competition.

But Bobby is interested in a new and sumptuous course in Atlanta. When the pros and amateurs gather there in the spring, Bobby will gather with them. It's a short step from there to open competition. Once the fire is lighted again, the tingle of matching strokes comes back, Bobby will be the same as any of us.

There still is no official opinion of his status as an amateur. When Jones announced his competitive retirement after the grand slam of 1930 and took up the motion picture work that made him a wealthy man, the question of his amateur standing was scrupulously avoided on all sides.

Won't Force Show-Down

But there never was, and there isn't today, a more sincere amateur sportman than Robert Tyre Jones. If the showdown came, it might be necessary for the United States Golf association to rule against him as an amateur. The best single proof that Bob is and always will be an amateur is the fact that he never would either force or countenance such a showdown.

There isn't any reason why Jones shouldn't return to open competition, if he feels again the urge to battle with the best down the last fairway, as he did so gloriously for so many years. Open competition would welcome him with pawing arms for he means more to golf and gate receipts than all the champions who have followed him.

But there again the amateur spirit of the man might hold him back, whether he thought he could win or not. Prize money would mean nothing to him. I doubt under any circumstances that we'll ever see Bobby circling a golf course for the money that waits at the last green.

He is sensitive, though, to the feelings of the citizens who cheered him on and thrilled with him through his years of combat. If he thought for a minute that they thought he was taking any unfair sort of an advantage, Bobby wouldn't go.

Still In His Prime

How good would Jones be, I wonder, after three years of absence from tournament competition. Probably as good as he ever was, which was the best the game has ever seen.

Of all competitive sports, golf takes less from a man and stays with him longest. Harry Vardon was over 50 before the rest of the field started beating him. Alex Herd, at 65, has no trouble qualifying year after year for the British open. Jim Braid, at 63, does the same. They don't win any more, but they're still up there.

Compared to them, Bob Jones, going on 32, still is an infant. His swing was the most perfectly grooved thing golf ever saw. It's something time may wreck eventually, but certainly that time is at least two decades away.

There's the question, of course, of Jones' mental attitude if he were to return to competition. Today he rates among the well-to-do business men of the land, without a worry in the world. Informal play has kept him in good condition.

Some of the reverence his opponents felt for Jones in 1930 probably has departed with the rise of a new crop of competitors. In the grand slam year one of Boby's most powerful assets was the trepidation with which the opposition approached every shot in competition with him. They blew in the stretch when the iron nerved Atlantan put the pressure on.

So they might just bother him with their lack of appreciation for a couple of rounds, but Jones has a way of rebuilding respect any time the opposition thinks it is getting through his defense. He'll toss a couple of 67's at them, and that'll "larn" 'em all over again.

Texas U. Body Meets To Pass On Coach Bids

Athletic Council In A Private Session Last Night; Board Of Regents Meets Today To Consider Recommendations

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 4. — The athletic council of the University of Texas was in session tonight considering the recommendations it will make to the board of regents toward filling the position of head football coach, made vacant by the resignation of Clyde Littlefield.

The meeting place of the athletic council could not be located. All members of the council have maintained virtually an absolute silence concerning the council's plans but it was reported unofficially that the council would make several recommendations.

That plan would be allowed, it was reported, because the council had not been informed of the salary the regents were willing to pay.

Nine Eligible Coaches

Recommendations probably would be made in several salary brackets. Final selection would be made by the regents.

Obtaining a coach had been the subject of frequent meeting of the council. They had sifted through hundreds of applications and recommendations. It was understood the list had been reduced to nine eligible candidates.

Professor W. E. Metzenthin, chairman, said following a lengthy afternoon session of the council that it was possible no recommendation would be made to the regents at this time. The regents have scheduled a meeting for tomorrow at which the council had been expected to make a report on the coaching situation.

The recommendations of the council will not be made public, Prof. Metzenthin said.

Officers Probe Anton Robberies

Investigation by Anton and Hockley county officers of two burglaries late Tuesday or early Wednesday in Anton was joined Thursday by two Santa Fe railway investigators. Cleve Cobb of Lubbock and Dee Robinson of Clovis. The Santa Fe railway station was one of two places entered by burglars.

Although evidently nothing was taken from the railway station, no money having been found, the Anton Drug store was robbed of $40 in cash and, its equipment damaged the same night, Mayor Paul Whitfield of Anton said.

The money was taken from a safe, the door of which was forced off. Checks were left in a neat stack in the safe. No pennies were taken. Narcotics also were left in the safe.

About $300 damage was done to a cash register, the safe, and gaming tables. Although a touch of a button would have released the cash register's electrically-operated drawers, it was pried open.

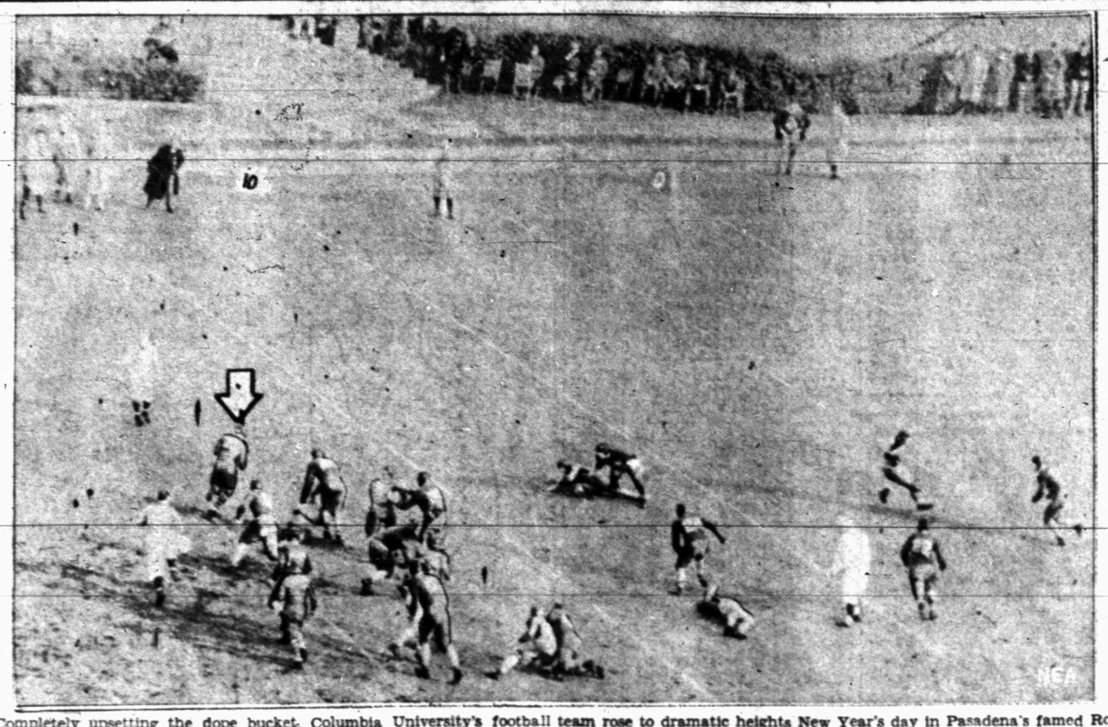

The burglars, to whom the railway station break-in also was attributed, evidently were not hurried. Two chocolate malted milks had been mixed, at the fountain, and drunk.

Burglary of the railway station was the second recently, Mayor Whitfield said.

As Columbia's Lions Marched To Victory Over Stanford's Tribe

Completely upsetting the dope bucket, Columbia University's football team rose to dramatic heights New Year's day in Pasadena's famed Rose Bowl east-west grid classic, and defeated a heavily-favored Stanford eleven, 7 to 0. Twenty-five thousand umbrella shielded spectators saw the New Yorkers scalp "Tiny" Thornhill's Palo Alto, Calif., Indians while a rainstorm converted the playing field into a sea of mud. Photo shows Barabas, Columbia back, indicated by arrow, starting his 15-yard run around left end for the only score of the game.

Miami Tourney To Draw Crowd

About 200 Or More Expected In Miami $2,000 Open, To Start Today; Armour, Sarazen In Fast Practice Rounds

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 4. (AP)—One of the greatest fields in ten years of competition was entered tonight in the $2,000 72-hole Miami open golf tournament, starting tomorrow.

Registration lists, which include names of many of the crack shot makers of the country as well as a sprinkling of amateurs, have passed the 150 mark.

Practice rounds were completed today over the 6,130-yard par—70 course with indications that local entries may give the veterans a run for the money during the tournament, which opens with an 18-hole round tomorrow, followed by another Saturday and the final 36-hole grind Sunday.

Willie Dow of Miami led the field in the last practice rounds, carding a 67, three under par. Tommy Armour, the Black Scot from Chicago, came in with a 68, a stroke better than Gene Sarrazen, P. G. A. champion, and Eddie Hassmann of Miami.

Sarazen, who won the Miami open for four consecutive years from 1927 to 1930 has been looked upon to win again this year, but the hurdles will be none too easy.

Arkansas Razorbacks Defeat Southwest Missouri, 22 To 15

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 4. (AP)—Overcoming an early lead, the University of Arkansas basketball team tonight defeated the Southwest Missouri Teachers, 22 to 15.

Arkansas' two brilliant sophomores, Jack Newby, forward, and H. L. Poole, center, led the Razorback attack by scoring nine and eight points, respectively.

Giants Not Fussing About Change In Baseball; Believe They Can Improve Swat Average With Rabbitlike Ball

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—The impression seems to have got about that Bill Terry and his world champion New York Giants are a bit glum about the faster, standard ball that will be unveiled by the American and National League presidents in Philadelphia tomorrow.

So Charles A. Stoneham, president of the club, and Jim Tierney, the secretary, want it understood right now that nothing could be farther from the truth; that the Giants, in fact, from Stoneham all the way down through Terry and the rank and file, believe they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the change.

Voted For Change

"As a matter of fact we voted for the change in Chicago when the decision to adopt a uniform ball close to American League standards was made at the league meetings," Tierney insisted. "We weren't opposed to it, as stories from there indicated. And here's why:

"We talked it all over—Terry, Mr. Stoneham and I—and Terry told us he was certain he'd hit a faster ball at least 20 points better than the .332 average he had last season.

"He said there isn't a batter on our club who doesn't figure to improve his average a great deal with the new ball. Frank O'Doul, a smart, line drive hitter, should climb right back to the top again. Mel Ott, a natural slugger, will be clouting into the stands. George Davis, Joe Moore, Johny Vergez, all line hitters, will drive more balls through the infield."

"Look At The Record"

The hitting part is generally accepted, but what about the effect of a faster ball on the superlative pitching that carried the Giants to the National League title when the hitters failed last season? Stoneham answered that as Al Smith would.

"Look at the record," he said. "You saw Carl Hubbell, Hal Schumacher, Dolfo Luque and Freddy Fitzsimmons pitch that American League ball to the Senators in the World Series games in Washington. What happened?

"Schumacher, until he suddenly blew up, was better than he had been in the first game in New York pitching the National League ball. Hubbell, tired and under a tremendous strain, pitched greater ball in Washington than he did here. Luque was superb in his one relief appearance. Only Fitzsimmons failed to win and he had but one chance."

Eddie Shore Absolved Of Malicious Intent Result Of Collision With Bailey

MONTREAL, Jan. 4. (AP)—Eddie Shore, defense star of the Boston Bruins of the National hockey league, today was absolved of any deliberate intent to injure Irvin (Ace) Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs when he charged into him at Boston Dec. 12, and his indefinite suspension set to end Jan. 28.

Frank Patrick, managing director of the league, in announcing the action said a thorough investigation had convinced him the collision of the two players was an accident and now that Bailey's recovery seemed certain he was restoring Shore to good standing.

Bailey, who suffered a fractured skull when he was knocked to the ice by Shore, is still in a Boston hospital. He also absolved Shore of any deliberate action against him.

Troubled Irish Knew What Was Wrong—But It Took Rockne To Tell Them

By NEA Service

THE Irish were playing Stanford, and Ernie Nevers was plowing through Notre Dame's forward wall with ease. Try as they might, the Ramblers couldn't stop the Sierra Slayer.

Time after time the Irish were pushed back, and they commenced to look for signs of reinforcements sent in by Knute Rockne. But no relief came until they were on their own 10-yard line.

Adam Walsh looked Rockne-ward and saw big McMahon, a lineman who stuttered when he got excited, warming up. When he reported to the referee, Walsh called his men together and pleaded:

"Stop that next play and then McMahon can tell us what Rock thinks is wrong."

The play was stopped and the players crowded around big McMahon.

"What did Rock say?" they shouted. "What's the matter? What's wrong? What'll we do?

And as soon as McMahon got his wind, he stuttered out:

"R-rock s-s-ays the t-t-trouble with you g-g-guys is—you c-c-can't stop N-n-nevers."

Solons Offer Long Stream Of Pet Bills

Recovery Act Faces Attack

Effects Of Administration's Program Reflected Thursday As Some Solons Offer Plans To Broaden It

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—The effects of the administration program of last session was reflected today in the stream of bills which sought to broaden it.

Some, however, reflected sentiment for an about face, one measure by Senator Dickinson (R-Iowa) seeking the repeal of the national recovery act save for sections declaring a national emergency and authorizing the government's construction program.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) sought the repeal of the provision of the act that exempts industries operating under codes from the anti-trust laws.

Norris Offers Plan

On the other hand, Senator Norris (R-Neb) advocated the establishment of a Missouri valley authority along the lines of the Tennessee valley project.

Representative Hastings (D-Okla) called for an Arkansas valley authority to study the feasibility of improving the Arkansas river and its tributaries.

Strict regulation of cotton production under licensing of all ginnings by the secretary of agriculture was proposed by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala). The amount to be sold each year would be determined in January. Growers would receive quotas based on past average production and acreage.

Make Officers Liable

Senators Costigan (D-Colo) and Wagner (D-NY) proposed to make state and local officers and governmental employes liable in federal courts for neglect of duty or conspiracy in lynchings.

The farm credit administration would be authorized to make crop loans to farmers during 1934 similar to those made during the past year, under a bill by Senator Smith (D-SC).

Other measures introduced included:

Senator King (D-Utah), free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to one with gold.

Senator Copeland (D-NY), regulation of the sale of food, drugs and cosmetics. The measure eliminated so called objectionable features of the Tugwell bill.

Cattle Plan Offered

Senator Connally (D-Tex), make cattle a basic agricultural commodity under the agricultural adjustment act.

Senator King, independence for the Philippines.

Representative Marland (D-Okla) authorize up to $50,000,000 for control of flood waters of the Arkansas river and its tributaries for irrigation, agriculture and electrical power development, terracing and the like.

Representative Thomason (D-Tex) providing the equitable adjustments with contractors with the government who sustained losses or failed to earn reasonable profits by reason of compliance with the NRA within 30 days after its effective date.

Limit Judges' Terms

Representative Swank (D-Okla), to secure to the farmers a price for agricultural products of not less than the cost of production thereof, including a reasonable profit.

Representative Strong (D-Tex), limit to six years the terms of United States district judges.

Scrugham (D-Nev), authorizing 16 to one coinage of silver.

A number of bills to restore presumptive ratings to veterans in active service between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and making the rate of compensation for service-connected total disability for world war veterans $100 a month were introduced.

"Handsome Max" Adds New Gags To His Repertoire

Give the big boy a little hand! And the girls did—gladly, as handsome Max Adelbert Baer, heavyweight challenger and film actor, swung into his new role as master of ceremonies in a New York night club. It is quite evident that Max likes his work, but you can't blame him for that. He sings and dances with the gay chorines, and in the dressing room—well, he knows something about makeup, too. This is all very nice, but Max says his mind still is on prize-fighting. He expects that lightning-bolt right of his to bring him the heavyweight crown, possibly in June. (Associated Press Photos)

Heirs To Belgium's Throne Expecting Birth Of Child

BRUSSELS, Jan. 4. (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Brabant, heirs to the thrones of Belgium, expect the birth of a third child this spring.

The duke, Prince Leopold, and his wife, the former Princess Astrid of Sweden, were married in 1926. Their children at present are the six-year-old Princess Josephine and the three-year-old Prince Baudouin.

Death Sentence Commuted To Life By California Governor

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 4. (AP) The death sentence imposed upon Jack D. Green for the slaying of a Los Angeles policeman was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor James Rolph today.

Green was to have been hanged at San Quentin prison tomorrow.

Green bases his plea on the ground that Joseeph Francis Regan, his companion, shot and killed Police Officer Hugh Crowler during the holdup of a theater in Westwood two years ago and that he Green, did not fire a shot. Regan was hanged at San Quentin for the crime.

About 200 men have been given employment for six months in building levees to protect Hickman, Ky., from Mississippi river floods.

Mr. Wallace And Football

NOW that the smoke of verbal battle has almost died away in the controversy between Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and various leading football coaches, it may be well to take a brief stock of the situation.

Secretary Wallace, naturally, brought down the ire of grid fans and mentors when he bluntly remarked the other day that "football is a racket instead of a sport." Where he made his mistake was in the choice of his words; use of the term "racket" left him wide open for criticism not alone by the men who make their living priming football teams but by the friends and relatives of hundreds of players, and by millions of fans who may not know a single player but who delight in the game.

What Secretary Wallace probably meant was that football is greatly overemphasized and that it restricts to only a few boys of each student body the opportunity for appreciable physical advancement. Our football organization the country over—and be assured that it is fully organized—is decidedly not a "racket" in the accepted sense of the word but, instead, is one of the biggest business institutions built up by our complex civilization.

The public itself is largely to blame for the over-emphasis placed upon football and for the adoption of a system which fails to build physically the rank and file of high school and college students and specializes upon those who are more than average physically fit. The public demands its football, in copious quantities; it pays its money for football and it would be strange indeed if its desire to pay were not met with a generous supply for the very evident demand. The basic law of supply and demand, you see, applies to football just as it applies to cotton, sugar and gum boots.

As The El Paso Times aptly remarked in connection with the storm which greeted Henry Wallace's statement, we, in a America, may well take a tip from England where every secondary school and college student is given attention from the physical standpoint, instead of the attention being lavished on the relatively few.

We can still have our varsity football for the benefit of the crack players and the howling multitudes of spectators yet, at the same time, spend some of the time and some of the financial appropriations in developing the under-developed youth, or that portion of it not physically capable of matching ribs, legs and craniums with lusty giants.

"Athletics and directed sports for all" might well be the slogan adopted by every American high school and college with the reservation that inter-collegiate and scholastic competition be continued for those best fitted to enter into it.

DISILLUSIONMENT

Just a year ago, perhaps even more recently, that new car for the purchase of which the old relic of 1930 was the down payment, represented the last word in the motor-car makers' art. It was the latest thing and looked like the last and best. By comparison with everything that had gone before it, it was motorcar perfection.

The lines of the streamline body, the color combination, the chromium plate, the performance, the equipment, the endurance qualities of that marvel of motordom convinced the owner that his automobile wants were satisfied for at least five years, for the industry could not possibly improve upon it within that time and nothing could antiquate it for at least a decade.

But January comes and the automobile industry decides to hold a show. That meant producing something to show. Presto chango! Hundreds of 1934 models that put the proudest product of 1933 in a class with the short skirts.

The satisfied owner of a 1933 model will soon be a prospect for a 1934 model, convinced that if he can make a good trade his car needs for another five years will be fulfilled. And so arrival at the saturation point in automobile ownership is postponed another year.

Speaking of painless alarm clocks, why not equip one to play the closing hymn. That wakes everybody in good humor.

A New York minister proposes a code for American churches. It would limit, we assume, the length of sermons.

KNOWING GOD

"No man knoweth the Father save the Son."—Matthew 11:27.

While Jesus was speaking of Himself here, the thing He was saying is true for all of us. No one can know your earthly father except his children. No person can know the heavenly Father except those who have realized their sonship to Him.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

IT was a sad blow to Deputy Administrator Sol Rosenblatt of NRA when President Roosevelt suspended the clause in the movie code enabling a direct blue eagle attack on excessive screen salaries.

The clause in question largely had publicity for teeth. It provided that where the code authority discovered an actor or actress was being unduly paid, the offending producer should be assessed not more than $10,000, and the facts made public.

Meanwhile the artist in question would continue to work out his contract.

Sol figured 'way back in mid-October when the President complained about the wages being paid "immature persons" in the movie industry that the White House was in his corner. (The "immature" remark referred to those mentally thin who drew terrific salaries through their papas' nepotism.)

Now Rosenblatt has only the consolation he has something under ninety days in which to complete an investigation, prove his case and get the clause restored.

He's everlastingly gathering evidence. It is possible he may even wind up with open hearings.

In seeking to reach—and reduce—the big salaries of Hollywood, Rosenblatt is somewhat alone at NRA. Boss Johnson doesn't believe it can be done. Others in authority share the same view.

They are swayed by the consideration a movie actor should be paid in proportion to his box-office appeal. Without it he wouldn't be in pictures, and with it he makes heavy sugar for his employers.

BOLOGNA: In keeping with international amity, all governments nowadays exchange notes and ideas on their public works programs (everybody has them).

It remained for the city of Bologna, Italy, to furnish us with the newest idea. In addition to sums for road building, construction, etc., it was reported the sum of 200,000 lira had been set aside to encourage matrimony and the birth of children.

Which led Secretary Ickes to comment that Italy was way ahead of the United States in the matter of what constitutes public works.

* * *

BOOST: The men in charge of setting up consumers' councils in each of our 3,000-odd counties are waxing enthusiastic about their work.

Seven members are to sit in each county to safeguard public interest and promote consumer education.

So far 3,000 replies have been received from the letters these organizers sent out and with them came about 15,000 recommendations for county councils membership.

This work is being done by the Bureau of Economic education which started out under the NRA Consumers' Advisory council but is rapidly crawling under the wing of the all-inclusive National Emergency council.

Those at the helm—all PHD's—are working their heads off because it is the first time the federal government ever attempted to set up a permanent educational agency of this sort carrying into every section.

They say it will be a question of two-way education. They will try to keep consumers informed as to any sharp-shooting at their pocketbooks and in return they expect to get a lot of helpful blasts to pass along to the legislators.

NOTES: Relief Administrator Hopkins doesn't like the word "dole," but he doesn't get violent about it. . . . He'd rather talk about direct and indirect relief. . . . Some of the heavy-money boys spent quite a little educating us to this in 1932 because they shuddered at the word dole. . . . A telephone operator at Civil Works the other day was trying very hard to put a long distance call through from a "Mr. McGilligan" to Administrator Hopkins. . . . The latter's secretary had never heard of the gentleman and wanted more identification. . . . Eva LeGallionne, the actress and an old friend of Hopkins', was calling from Chicago. . . . At least one Democratic senator and one news commentator to appear on national broadcasts recently called the President "Ruse-velt" . . . The family insists it is "Rose-velt" with the accent on the first syllable.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

JIMMY WARBURG may be New York's white plume in the budget battle.

Warburg takes the budget very seriously as the first step toward the preservation of government credit and subsequent monetary stabilization. He has the warm support of local conservatives who see in him a better ambassador than almost any other New Yorker you can name. His personal relations with the administration are known to be still friendly and he is counted on to present the New York viewpoint without having too many old tomatoes thrown at him.

A noted New York educator is also trying to figure out how to add his strength to the balanced budget brigade without becoming personally involved in the wrangle. He may get into an argument with some of his former associates before he's through.

An effort will be made to induce insurance companies and savings banks to speak out in meeting about cutting down government expenses.

LEGION: The American Legion will obtain a compromise settlement in its drive to restore veterans' benefits. Payments to service disability cases will be scaled up.

But the best sources have it flat that the administration will not yield an inch in the matter of non-service disability benefits. The dope is that the boys might as well save their breath.

According to private reports the Legion will carefully avoid anything that looks like a direct assault on the President. But they intend to nail Lew Douglas' hide to the wall if it's the last thing they do. Local insiders say that Douglas won't be so easy to skin. They point out that the President needs him as a buffer for attacks on the budget just as he needs General Johnson as a buffer for NRA criticism. Douglas' friends say he has no intention of quitting and no qualms about being eased out. On the other hand he has no illusions about his influence outside his own department.

VETERANS: Reports drifting in here from around the country indicate that the preference given to veterans for Civil Works jobs is adding nothing to the popularity of veterans' organizations. Some New Yorkers think that the wave of protests known to have been sent to congressmen will do more to undermine the Legion's political prestige than anything that has happened since it was created.

* * *

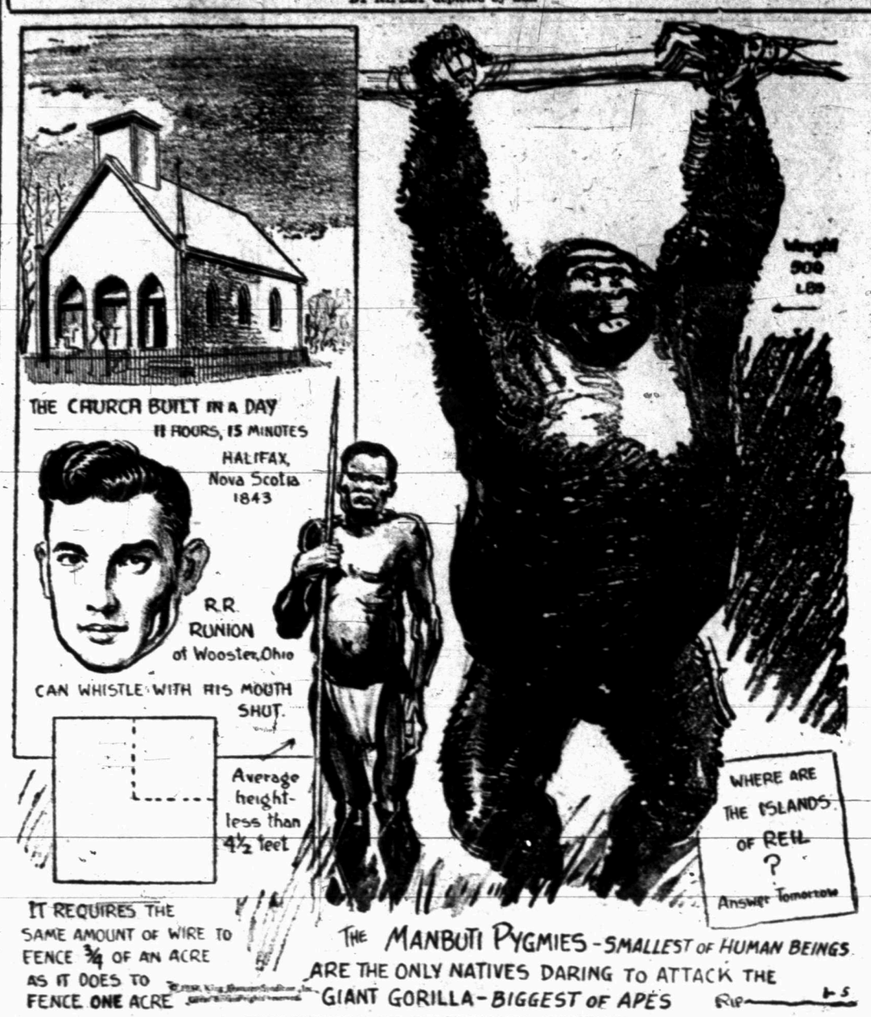

TEDDY: Young Teddy Roosevelt's re-entry into the political arena via a budget balancing speech was predicted here over a month ago. Local budget balancers were not so keen for the start he made. They believe that demands for wholesale firing of federal employees and further federal pay cuts will butter no parsnips either for the budget cause or for the Republican party.

LORD MOUNTSTEPHEN

George Stephen Lord Mountstephen, born on a farm in Scotland in 1829, came to Canada in 1850. In 1881 he became associated with Lord Strathcone, his cousin, in the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which led to his being given a baronetcy in 1886. In 1891 he was elevated to the peerage, taking the title of Lord Mountstephen from a peak in the Canadian Rockies previously named after him.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader found dead in his apartment?

DAVID BANNISTER, author, former newspaper reporter, undertakes to find out.

Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen the girl, but she has since disappeared.

HERMAN SCURLACH, who wrote King a threatening letter, is in jail. He declares his innocence. AL DRUGAN, friend of King's says the orchestra leader has been having trouble with JOE PARROTT, his former vaudeville partner, and accusses Parrott of the murder. Police learn that MELVINA HOLLISTER, middle-aged spinster, had a violent quarrel with King after his cat killed her canary. CAPTAIN McNEAL of the detective bureau visits Miss Hollister and decides she will bear watching.

The blond suspect is arrested. DENISE LANG, King's fiancee comes to headquarters and tells of seeing King with a blond girl the day before his death.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

Bannister stepped forward. It was a woman's cry that he had heard—a cry that was muffled and died quickly. He heard someone coming then and turned.

A slim young man with a square black object slung from a strap over one shoulder was coming toward Bannister. "You working for the Post?" the young man asked.

Bannister nodded.

"I'm Sawyer," the newcomer said "What going on here? Austin said to come over and make some shots of a couple of dames. What's it all about?"

Bannister explained what had happened. The photographer slipped the strap from his shoulder and unfastened the case containing his camera.

"So they're still in there?" he asked, nodding toward McNeal's office.

Bannister assured him that they were.

The slender young man eyed the door speculatively. "There's no use of my handing around here," he said. "The chief won't stand for pictures in the building. Best thing I can do is go outside and wait until this Lang girl comes out. I'll make some shots of her and then come back and see what I can get on the other one."

Bannister said all right, that would probably be best. Sawyer paused long enough to ask for a match, lighted a cigaret and then disappeared.

There were no sounds now from behind that door. Nothing at all. Bannister, listening, felt his muscles grow taut. He did not know why it had suddenly become so important for him to know what was going on behind that door. But he must know!

And then the door opened. Park Coleman emerged, and behind him Denise Lang. The girl's face was turned so that Bannister could not see it. He said eagerly to Coleman, "The other girl—?"

"She's still in there."

Coleman did not look as though he wanted to talk but Bannister paid no attention to that. "But is she the one?" he demanded. "Did Miss Lang identify her?"

It was Denise Lang who answered. She raised her head and Bannister saw that she had been weeping. Her eyes were swollen and reddened.

"She's—the one," the girl told him brokenly. "She's the one I saw with T-Tracy—!"

Coleman put a hand on her arm, roughly but at the same time as though he wanted to shield her. "Come on, Denise," he said. "I'm going to take you home. You shouldn't have come out today, anyhow."

He said something more but Bannister did not hear it. Bannister was heading for a telephone. A minute later he reported to the assistant city editor of the Post that Denise Lang had identified the girl who was under arrest. The rest of the story was all just as he had given it before.

Parker Coleman and Denise Lang were gone when Bannister returned to the corridor. For a newspaperman who had just turned in an important exclusive story he showed a surprising lack of exuberance. His mood, as a matter of fact, was quite the reverse. Bannister looked again at the door of McNeal's office, scowled and returned to the press room.

The news that Denise Lang had identified the blond prisoner as the girl she had seen talking with Tracy King two days before appeared exclusively in the Evening Post that afternoon but the full story of what happened behind that closed door was reserved for the morning newspaper. It was almost six o'clock when McNeal admitted the reporters to his office. All of them had been waiting an hour or more. They asked questions eagerly.

McNeal ignored the questioning. Leaning both arms on the desk before him he began impressively: "Well, I've got something for you this time. I think in 24 hours we'll have this case solved. The girl has been identified by Link, the clerk at the Shelby Arms, and she's admitted she went to King's rooms."

"What's her name?" demanded Gainey.

McNeal shook his head. "We don't know yet," he said, "but we'll find out. She's admitted she went to King's apartment at nine o'clock the night he was killed. Said she went there to get some letters—"

"What kind of letters?" one of the others asked.

McNeal scowled. "Letters she'd written to him. Mash notes, I suppose. Her story is that she saw King in the morning and he promised she could have the letters if she came to his apartment that night. But when she got there he said he'd misplaced the letters and promised to bring them to her the next day at the hotel. That's her story. We haven't been able to break it yet but we will. Now don't print this, but here's my theory. Evidently this girl was crazy about King. Somehow she must have found out that he was going to marry Denise Lang, and she came here to try to stop the marriage. When she found she couldn't—bingo! You know the one about the 'woman scorned.' Well—"

Bannister, who had been listening silently, interrupted: "What about the letters? Did you find them?"

"We did not," McNeal told him, "and the reason is because they weren't there. There wasn't an inch of that apartment that wasn't searched. I was there myself and I know!"

"What's the rest of her story?" Bannister asked.

McNeal scratched his head. "We haven't got it yet," he admitted, "but we will! By morning we ought to have a confession. Maybe sooner."

"But you haven't even got her name yet," Gainey put in. "Mystery girl, huh? Miss X. Beautiful, blond mystery girl. Where'd she come from?"

"That's another of the things she won't talk about—or hasn't yet," McNeal admitted. "The fact remains that she was the last person to see Tracy King alive. She's admitted as much. Two witnesses have identified her. The coroner says King died between nine and 9:30 and that's the time she was in his apartment. Why, it's plain as the nose on your face—"

"How about letting us talk to her?" Gainey asked.

"Not now! She isn't going to see anybody until we get that confession."

The reporters lingered a few minutes longer. McNeal said that they were trying to trace the girl's identity through fingerprints, the missing persons bureau and several other agencies. He was confident they would have her complete story soon.

"How'd Sawyer come out on the pictures?" Gainey asked as he and Bannister left the room together.

"Don't know. He was here but I don't know whether he made anything or not."

Gainey gazed at his companion. Was Bannister, who had seemed such a regular fellow, suddenly getting high hat? The tone and air of indifference suggested it. Gainey was disappointed. The next moment he decided he had been mistaken. Bannister chatted about the newest developments in the case in a friendly enough manner as the two walked along the street toward the office of the Evening Post.

"Well, if our friend, Captain McNeal, is right about it," he said, "my assignment on the Post went last much longer. All we have to do now is sit and wait for a confession."

Gainey frowned. "Yes," he said, "if McNeal is right. Funny the girl won't tell them her name or even where she came from. If she didn't want to spill her real name you'd think she'd make up one. I wonder if McNeal is right."

"I'm wondering the same thing," Bannister admitted.

But he wasn't. His feeling since he had seen Juliet France that morning had undergone a complete metamorphosis. He knew now that she had lied to him, deliberately deceived him, trying to play on his sympathy. She had told him one story and the police another. She had said she did not know Tracy King, had never seen him before. Yet Denise Lang had seen them together. Letters—what McNeal called "mash notes"—what could they mean but a love affair? And a jealous woman would do anything. Yes, indeed. How many murders in the world's history had taken place just as McNeal had reconstructed this one? Countless thousands, no doubt.

He thought of the girl in the green suit again and a single word formed itself in his mind—"murderess."

FDR Proposes Huge Program

Biggest Peace-Time Spending Plan In All History Of The Nation Looms; Support Of Demos Expected

expenditures including recovery and relief with the revenues expected in the fiscal year 1936."

Pay As You Go Basis

Thus, the chief executive served notice that after June, 1935, he intends to put the government on a "pay as you go" basis with the added assertion:

"We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt recommended that the present rate of 3 cents for non-local letter mail be continued, as his post office estimates were predicted upon it, and asked that the present ban on automatic pay increases for government employes be lifted so far as army, navy and marine corps personnel were concerned.

Control Is Provided

To provide a coordinated control of emergency expenditures, he announced that he had given the budget bureau supervision over such outlays and had given to the sharp eyes of Comptroller General McCarl the responsibility of auditing them.

A total lack of reference to new taxation, combined with optimistic phrases as to the business outlook, encouraged Wall Street to a rally which transmitted itself to the grain pits. Of the future, the chief executive said:

"It is evident to me, as I am sure it is evident to you, that powerful forces for recovery exist. It is by laying a foundation of confidence in the present and faith in the future that the upturn which we have so far seen will become cumulative. The cornerstone of this foundation is the good credit of the government.

Effect Upon Confidence

"It is, therefore, not strange nor is it academic that this credit has a profound effect upon the confidence so necessary to permit the new recovery to develop into maturity."

"If we maintain the course I have outlined, we can confidently look forward to cumulative beneficial forces represented by increased volume of business, more general profit, greater employment, a diminution of relief expenditures, larger governmental receipts and repayments and greater human happiness."

Members of house and senate were quick to offer their views on the president's message as soon as it had been read to the two houses by their reading clerks, a desultory performance, which found the members chatting with each other generally and a few following the printed text with which they had been supplied.

Startling Revelation

Speaker Rainey called the expected deficit for this fiscal year, $7,309,000,000, "startling indeed," but he added that "there is nothing so alarming about an increase of five to six billions more in the national debt when the normal national income is around $78,000,000,000.

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican floor leader, expressed himself as "overcome and shocked" and said it would take him several days to catch his breath.

At the senate wing of the capital, Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said the "frankness of the message" commended it and that "anyone familiar with the extraordinary expenditures of the government must have anticipated" the existence of a large deficit.

The Republican leader, McNary of Oregon, said the sums proposed by the president were the "largest in peace-time and we will have to slow down in the process of spending or we will never come back in earnings."

Much significance was attached to the statement of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, influential member of the Old Republican group. He said the country was "perfectly ably to endure a debt as large as $31,000,000,000 and if we can depend upon the president's assurances that after that debt is reached the budget will be balanced in fact, there is nothing to worry about."

Texas Relief

form to legal requirements, it will be necessary for the remaining portion to be readvertised.

"In the meantime," Florence said, "plans are continuing for a wide distribution of the bonds and the success of the efforts appears assured."

The special bond committee was formed several weeks ago after the federal government had moved to stop federal relief grants because the state bond issue had not been sold so that each dollar from Washington would be matched by another dollar from Austin.

Announcement of the total subscriptions is expected in a few days. There was a slight delay in delivery of the bonds already purchased and for that reason the four banks agreed to advance the money. The task of signing the bonds was being rushed at the state capital. Each one must be signed by the governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general and twice by the comptroller.

James V. Allred, attorney general, said no request had been made by the Texas relief commision for sale of the second issue of $2,750,000 authorized by the legislature. The law makes it incumbent on the commission to ask for sale of the bonds before the bond commission can act.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Speculative markets today weathered whatever surprise they may have received from the enormous figures in the federal budget, and closing prices found most commodities with net gains while stocks, on the whole, showed little change.

Wall Street, bewildered at first by word that the government planned to borrow six billions in new money and four billions for refunding during a six months period, appeared to have reached the conclusion that the president, in his presentation of the recovery program costs, had put the situation's worst foot forward and had put the cards on the table, whether or not all of them would have to be played.

The budget statement, it was pointed out, was bold and bald, but it set a limit to expenditure and it provided for footing the bills through orthodox means. That the prospective borrowing program foreshadows further credit expansion, which is regarded as a possible form of inflation, was accepted as inevitable, and no doubt the moderate advance in staple prices got its impetus from this view.

The first reaction to the news was a decline for U. S. government bonds and the dollar; however, the former closed with some recovery from the lows and dollar exchange was not particularly hard hit. Stocks stood virtually motionless while traders tried to digest the budget figures; later, metal shares, inspired partly by fresh silver agitation in congress, this time in the house, and partly by renewed rumors of an impending free gold market, rallied and irregular advances occurred elsewhere. The average net change was a decline of two-tenths point. Volume was only 1,216,840 shares.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4. (AP) — Cotton turned strong and active late today after fluctuating uncertainly in early trading and the close was 14 to 19 points net higher.

The opening was a shade easier although Liverpool cables were slightly better than due. First trades here showed losses of 4 to 6 points and prices eased further in early trading on commission house selling and easier stocks.

There was a rally of 4 to 8 points in the second hour on trade buying and price fixing, but later in the morning prices weakened again with stocks and wheat.

Near noon there was a rally of 5 to 6 points from the lows. Prices made new highs for the day right at the end with March at 10.88, May at 10.71 and July at 10.66 or 27 points above the lows of the morning. The close was at the top with March 14 points net higher, May 17 net higher and July 16 net higher.

Port receipts 16,255, for week 84,569, for season 5,986,660, last season 6,040,055. Exports 26,144, for week 99,883, for season 4,172,650, last season 4,234,504. Port stock 4,127,869, last year 4,794,039. Combined shipboard stock in New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 220,896, last year 160,176. Spot sales at southern markets 14,808, last year 38,089.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. (AP) — Overcoming the handicap of early selling which pushed contracts down about 50 cents a bale, cotton rallied in the late trading to close at gains of more than $1 a bale in some positions.

March after selling off to 10.30, or 27 points below yesterday's high advanced to 10.59 in the later trading, making new high ground for the movement. That delivery closed at 10.57 with the general market ending firm at net advances of 14 to 23 points.

Following a slightly lower opening the more active positions sold 11 to 12 points net lower during the early trading under liquidation and scattered selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. There was also some selling attributed to reports of a cotton trade agreement between India and Japan. These suggested some possible adverse effect on exports of American cotton during the balance of the season.

The market steadied up after the early offerings had been absorbed on trade buying and covering. The latter became more active during the afternoon, in connection with talk of prospects for business expansion following government expenditures in the recovery and relief programs, while inflationary theories seemed to be strengthened somewhat by the rally in foreign exchange. Activee months sold 28 to 30 points up from the low levels of the morning and closed within a few points of the best.

Exports today 35,344 making 4,283,788 so far this season. Port receipts 37,068. U. S. port stocks 4,174,910.

Gangsters

he says," said another. "We know now that we won't lose our jobs if we pick up the wrong guy."

Meanwhile, O'Ryan kept insisting that the drive was not an extraordinary criminal roundup and that none was planned. He also said there would be no unusual police shakeup.

But into the speakeasies — which O'Ryan has promised to eliminate when licensing is completed—cafes, night clubs, and known gang hangouts the police went to make arrests for offenses ranging from extortion to narcotic addiction.

Police headquarters normally quiet in the early morning, was jammed. There were insufficient cells. Officers had to go to restaurants to get sandwiches and coffee for the roundup prisoners.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 4. (AP)—Cattle trade at mid-western markets was featured by another slight price upturn on the lighter weights of fed steers and yearlings, most points reporting prices steady to 15 higher. Other killing classes were unchanged with a fair demand for finished strong weight steers, but short-feds were hard to move. Choice long yearlings in Chicago cleared up to 8.00 and at Kansas City two loads of yearlings realized 8.35. Bulk of strong weight steers are selling downward from 8.35 with several markets today reporting a sizable supply of rather plain short-fed medium weights at 7.75@8.25. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 23,000 as compared with 29,038 last Thursday and 15,647 a year ago.

Several markets reported upturns of 5 to 10 on hogs scaling downward from 210 lbs. but offerings with more weight ruled 5 to 15 lower. The day's extreme top of 3.75 was paid at St. Louis.

Chicago reported a strong to 25 higher fat lamb market, but at most of the river markets difficulty was experienced in maintaining steady prices. Good to choice wooled lambs in Chicago bulked at 7.75@8.00. Sheep were on a steady to strong basis.

Dr. Lewis C. Crabb, state veterinarian, in a lengthy discussion on "Stabilizing the Dairy Industry," declared the industry has "gone through the depression better than any other phase of agriculture." He termed it the "forgotten man" of the recovery program and urged a reduction of its production to eliminate a surplus estimated at 141,000,000 gallons of milk annually and 400,000 to 500,000 surplus cows.

Agreement Outlined

The marketing agreements in the milk industry were outlined by E. R. Eudaly, extension dairy husbandman at A. and M. The purpose is to set up a parity price that will be fair alike to producers, distributors and the public, he said. The Texas "parity price" he estimated at $3 per 100 pounds of milk. Operation of the agreements locally and by districts, was gone into.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4. (AP)—Wheat was in good demand Thursday while other offerings on the cash grain market were fairly easy selling.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery point:

Delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat No. 1 hard 90 2-4@91 2-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 58@60; No. 3 nominally 57@58. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. nominally 1.08@1.10. No. 3 milo nominally 1.06@1.08; No. 2 kafir nominally 93@95; No. 3 kafir nominally 91@93.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 mixed 64@64 1-4; No. 3 white 63 1-2@64; No. 2 yellow 65@65 1-2. Oats No. 2 red 46 1-2@47 1-2; No. 3 red 45 1-4@46 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 4. (AP)—President Roosevelt's budget message to congress received credit from grain traders today for a late general upturn of prices.

Broader buying developed after the message was delivered, and earlier obstacles in values were more overcome. The president's reference to "no additional taxes" appeared especially to exert a stimulating influence, and the message was generally construed as involving credit expansion.

Wheat closed firm at some reaction from the day's top but 1-8 to 5-8 above yesterday's finish, corn 5-8 to 1 3-8 up, oats 1-4 decline to 1-8 gain, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to a rise of 10 cents.

Local Markets

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Grain—S. E. Coan Grain and Seed company, following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers; Cotton—Plains Cotton Cooperative company. All prices subject to change during the day.

Congress

readily back into routine and set about the work of giving Mr. Roosevelt what he asked for.

After a brief pause to absorb the formidable facts and figures presented by the budget message, the house settled down to debate preliminary to passage of the liquor tax measure. The senate listened to the budget message and then adjourned.

From indications during the day, there will be a number of partisan skirmishes over the economy act which last session reduced the compensation of thousands of veterans and slashed the pay of government employes 15 per cent.

Bills Are Offered

Senator Robinson (D., Ind.), brought forward bills to restore the veterans cuts and Representative Snell (R. N. Y.), said he favored restoring the full 15 per cent to government workers instead of the five per cent planned by the administration.

A petition to pay the soldiers' bonus in full also was filed during the day by Representative Lundeen (F-L, Minn.)

A prospective point for senate controversy dissipated with the announcement by Senator Long (D., La.), that he would not oppose confirmation of Henry Morgenthau, jr., as secretary of the treasury.

Nominations Are Up

More than 100 nominations made during the congressional recess, were sent to congress by the president. Morgenthau's name was among them.

While the senate banking committee went ahead with its study of the Detroit banking situation, the senate adopted a resolution calling on the treasury for the full information concerning war debts.

Senator Borah (R., Idaho) started what may prove a brisk tilt over the national industrial recovery act by introducing a resolution for repeal of its anti-trust provisions. The anti-trust statutes were waived in the recovery act and Borah claimed it has hurt little business.

Will pay $11.00 per ton for maize heads also want all kinds of grain and seeds.

American Held

Accused as a member of an international spy group, Arvid Werner Jacobson, 29, above, an American school teacher and graduate of the University of Michigan, was arrested in Helsingfors, Finland. His wife also was taken into custody. The Jacobsons are suspected of Communistic affiliations by the Finnish police, said a cablegram to Detroit.

Mexican Aviator Plans Long Hop

MEXICO, D. F., Jan. 4. (AP) — A 5,000-mile, non-stop flight to Buenos Aires, crossing some of the most dangerous air territory in the world, is to be undertaken in February by Capt. Antonio Cardenas Rodrigues, Mexican military aviator.

The hop is planned both as a good will flight and in memory of Maj. Pablo Sidar who plunged into the sea off Costa Rica several years ago while attempting the flight.

CAPT. ANTONIO RODRIGUEZ

Capt. Rodrigues will fly an all-metal plane now being built at Inglewood, Calif.

Commander H. G. Weems, U. S. N., is acting as adviser for the venture.

Byrd Ship

yesterday's flight was "tough all the way."

"When we turned north," June said, "a whopping snowstorm was coming up due south of us and we didn't turn any too soon. More storms had closed in behind us, and we hit one snow squall after another for an hour on the homeward stretch.

"We couldn't fly higher than 200 feet because of snow and fog and the danger of ice forming on the wings. Low as we were, there were periods when we lost sight of the water and pack below. The stuff was so thick we never saw the bergs until we were over them. If they had been in front of us we would never have seen them at all."

Tax Proposals

the same time low enough to eliminate illicit traffic.

Charges Are Hurled

O'Connor charged that millions of gallons of blended and rectified "poisonous" liquor containing "raw alcohol" were being sold at high prices.

An executive meeting of the ways and means committee was called for tomorrow by Doughton to consider several amendments. These were understood to deal with labeling bottles to show their contents, and possible reduction of rates on distilled spirits going into private industries such as perfumes and food.

Opposition to the $2-gallon spirits rate was voiced by Representative Dirken, (R., Ill.), who comes from a whisky producing district. He said it was too high and that excessive local license fees and increased corn prices resulting from the processing tax should be considered. He advocated a $1.50 rate.

McMillan Installed As Kiwanis Head During Annual Ladies Night Program

Members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club and their wives gathered around the banquet table in Hotel Lubbock last night in the club's annual ladies night program and to install their new president, W. G. McMillan, in office. Approximately 150 attended the affair.

W. C. Rylander was toastmaster. An excellent program of entertainment was given by a group from Plainview. Misses Pollyanna Ernest, Verba Lee Ellison and Edna Terry appeared in tap dance numbers and assisted Dr. C. M. Clough in a blackface skit. Dr. Clough kept the house in laughter with his antics and jokes. Prof. Guy Woods was at the piano and gave a number of piano and vocal numbers.

B. Sherrod Speaks

B. Sherrod lieutenant-governor of district 6 of the Texas-Oklahoma division, spoke briefly on the accomplishments of Kiwanis in the past year and outlined plans for the program in 1934. Durwood Bradley, retiring president, also spoke and presented President McMillan with the president's pin. McMillan, in turn, gave a few remarks and presented Bradley with a past president's pin.

A report of attendance by Secretary L. E. Davis revealed an attendance of 92 per cent for the club for the year and 41 members with a perfect attendance.

New Bradley's orchestra entertained during the dinner.

Out-of-town visitors at the affair besides those on the program were: Col. R. P. Smyth and Bob Bowen of Plainview, Walter Leur of Los Angeles and Mrs. D. B. Hill of Dallas.

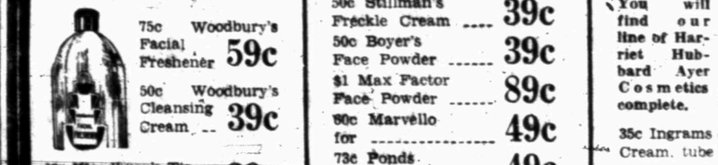

PIONEER SUCCUMBS

COLORADO, Jan. 4. (AP)—Mrs. R. N. Gary, resident of Colorado and Mitchell county for more than 60 years, died today in a hospital here. She was a native of Arkadelphia, Ark. Her husband, R. N. Gary, was a pioneer cattleman of West Texas. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

The "Drink Merchant" Appears

The orderly and systematic manner in which liquor will be retailed in most states is shown in this over-the-counter preview of a New York City beverage store. In contract to pre-Prohibition selling, new regulations for retail sale and consumption in the overwhelmingly "wet" Empire State specify the amount of liquor to be purchased at a time, the hours of sale, who may and may not buy—and who may and may not sell.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 65

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

After setting the infernal machine Paulvitch blew out the lamp and stepped from the cabin. Cautiously he made his way to his former bunk and hastily gathering together his few possessions, crossed the deck and lowered himself in silence into his canoe. A minute or two later he was paddling toward the shore to be swallowed up in the darkness of the jungle night, meanwhile congratulating himself on the promising success of his plans.

Could he have had ever a slight foreknowledge of what awaited him in the long years to come in the terrors of a hideous jungle existence he would have fled to the certain death of the open sea rather than endure it. But for the moment his thoughts were occupied with his fancied triumph and his earlier life in old Russia, where he had been taught the dastardly business by which he now believed he had doomed the Kincaid.

Years before, under the rule of the Czar in his native land, Paulvitch had been a prominent member of a famous and much feared band of Nihilists. In old St. Petersburg he had learned and practiced the making of these deadly machines which so often laid low the hated upper classes. To escape Siberia he had finally joined Rokoff's band to embark upon that villian's kidnapping expedition and its promise of gold.

During the long voyage to the African coast he had employed his spare time in constructing the infernal machine whose potential destructiveness could wipe out in the fraction of a second every enemy aboard the Kincaid. Paulvitch licked his lips in anticipatory joy. "Life and vengeance are not to elude me after all," he thought as he visioned the outcome of his night's gruesome work.

Quick Start On Borrowing Of $10,000,000,000 Planned

Banks To Back Huge Proposal

Exact Date Of First Issue And Type Of Paper To Be Offered Unknown; Will Rely On Federal Reserve System

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP) — A quick start on the task of borrowing $10,000,000,000 in six months is planned by the treasury.

Administration financial leaders are confident the banks have ample resources to absorb these flotations for financing the recovery campaign. This view was expressed today by a high authority in the treasury.

Date Is Undecided

The exact date of the first issue and the type of paper to be offered is undecided, but it is considered certain to come lofig before March 15 when a $460,000,000 certificate issue matures.

An important factor in all treasury plans will be banking and business reaction to President Roosevelt's budget message, which forecasts a new public debt peak of $31,834,000,000 on June 30, 1935.

Treasury officials said they believed Mr. Roosevelt's advocacy of holding "the total debt within this amount" and his view that the budget should be completely balanced in 1936 would help to crystallize public opinion in favor of the president's program.

Rely On Reserve System

It is evident the administration is relying on the assistance of the federal reserve system in accomplishing its borrowings—$6,000,000,000 of new money and $4,000,000,000 to meet maturities.

The system's cooperation is expected to be forthcoming. It is believed this problem was reviewed thoroughly by reserve bank governors at a recent meeting, while in the last week, Mr. Roosevelt has been in reported conference with Governor Eugene Black of the federal reserve board.

Latest reserve board figures showed the banks had $2,432,000,000 of government securities in their portfolios, an increase of $581,000,000 in the last year.

More than a month ago, the reserve banks halted open-market purchases of government obligations, noting that member bank reserves were $800,000,000 above legal requirements.

It can be said definitely the treasury is not now considering resort to a "baby bond" issue or another liberty loan campaign. First, such a type of flotation is not believed necessary. Second, officials say such an issue is likely to be deflationary, taking funds from the average citizen which otherwise would go into new purchases and aid industry. Also, such loans are expensve to float.

In regard to the public debt of $31,834,000,000 which the president forecast for the end of 1935, treasury officials said if combined with outstanding local debts, it still would leave the per capita governmental burden in this country below that of France and far below Great Britain's.

Abandoned Car Believed To Have Been Used By Bandits

GILMER, Jan. 4. (AP) — A mud-spattered coupe abandoned on a country road near Gilmer Tuesday night was believed today to have been occupied by Clyde Barrow and his woman companion, Bonnie Parker.

The automobile was stolen in Kansas but bore Louisiana license plates. Kansas plates were found inside, along with bloody bandages, detective magazines, sandwiches and hairpins. The motor had failed to function and keys were broken off in door locks to delay identification.

Kentucky game laws make it illegal to catch or kill deer, elk, wild turkeys and song birds.

Link Two Of Oldest Families

An alliance that will unite two of the oldest families of America will be the marriage of Miss Eileen Gillespie (left), a descendant of Roger Williams, to John Jacob Astor (right), younger son of the late John Jacob Astor, who went down on the Titantic. Young Astor became of age last summer, coming into the $3,000,000 trust fund established by his father.

Hypodermic Found Which Promises To Call Persons From Verge Of Death

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 4. (AP) —A new hypodermic which promises to call back from the verge of death persons suffering from too much alcohol, drowning, electric shock surgical shock, and asphyxia was announced to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

It has been used successfully already to restore quickly to life and health a man moribund from too much anesthetic during an operation. It was developed first for this kind of "recall" of persons who had sunk too deeply under anesthesia.

Treatment Described

The treatment was described by Walter V. MacGilvra, D. D. S., of the Harvard university dental school. The treatment has a new Greek name, Palinaesthesia. The hypodermic is intravenous injection of minute amounts of hydrochloric acid.

He termed the injection a "recall acid" and said investigations are planned to discover whether there may be other similar acids which might possess life-restoring powers perhaps over more range.

The treatment is still so new that the proper doses of hydrochloric acid have not all been standardized. But in an emergency at Worcester Memorial hospital, last July he said it was used for the first time upon man.

Worked Successfully

The patient, Dr. MacGilvra said, was "moribund" due to unexpected effects of an anesthetic. The hydrochloric acid was injected at 10:15 a. m. Eight minutes later lips began to twitch; in 10 the hands moved; in 40 minutes the patient was talking coherently.

Repeated studies of this patient, since said Dr. MacGilvra, have failed to disclose any ill effects of the acid. It has been tried also upon six human beings who were not dying, but used to study its effectiveness.

Lubbock Man Named Colonel By Governor Of Kentucky

Texas Pioneer Dies Thursday

Mother Of Lubbock Man Taken By Death At El Paso; Last Rites Will Be Read Today At Haskell

ABILENE, Jan. 4. (AP)—Mrs. J. A. Couch, pioneer West Texas woman and former Abilene resident, died early today in El Paso at the home of a daughter, Mrs. L. W. Roberts. She was 89 years old last November 3. She had observed her birthday in the home of a son, Carlton Couch, of Haskell where she resided for several years.

Surviving sons and daughters are John and Carlton Couch of Haskell, Ed Couch and Mrs. R. L. Reeves of Weslaco, Dan Couch of Lubbock and Mrs. Roberts.

Funeral service will be held Friday in Haskell.

Mrs. Couch was born in Tennessee in 1844 and with her husband and two young children moved to Texas sixty years ago. They traveled in a covered wagon, the trip taking three months. They settled in Haskell county 20 years ago and prior to that had lived in Hill, Coleman, Knox and Clay county.

Amnesia Victim Will Return To Home; Relatives Located

DALLAS, Jan. 4. (AP)—Mrs. Willie Mae Betts, amnesia victim who had been under observation since Sunday night in the county jail, will be permitted to return to the home of her mother, Mrs. G. F. Smith here as soon as her condition improves sufficiently, Dr. A. W. Schwenkenberg, county alienist, said today.

Identification of Mrs. Betts was made by Mrs. De De La Torre, a friend, who told jail officials it was her understanding she had relatives in Lubbock.

It developed today that J. J. Walters, brother-in-law of Mrs. Betts, also had identified her and he said her mother, Mrs. Smith, and her sister, Mrs. Walters, lived here.

Murray Fisher, jailer, was advised that the last time Mrs. Betts' relatives saw her she left for Lewisville, Denton county, several weeks ago. Mrs. Betts regained her memory here Sunday night and asked aid in determining where she was and her identity.

Southern Farmers Get Large Income

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. (AP)—Total income of southern cotton growers from the 1933 crop was estimated today by the farm administration at more than twice that received in 1932.

This figure includes rental payments and potential option profits, the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture said.

The farm value of lint cotton for the 1933 season was placed by the board at $617,716,000 as compared with $317,861,000 in 1932.

In addition to the lint cotton value, rental payments totaling $111,528,000 have been distributed and farmers who participated in the plow-up program last summer are now receiving about $48,000,000 in profits on cotton options which they held.

The income from cottonseed in 1933 was estimated at $79,532,000 compared with $53,627,000 in 1932, making the gross income from last year's cotton crop $856,776,000 compared with $425,488,000 in 1932.

Bryans Find Thrill In Yachting

The orator's platform where his father won glorious fame, holds no appeal for William Jennings Bryan, Jr. He chooses the lurching deck of a yacht for his thrills. He is shown here with his wife as they enjoy winter yachting on the cruiser Camin, off Catalina Island.

British automobiles are narrower than American automobiles and they have four forward speeds as compared to the American car's three.
