FERGUSON DROPS IN SUDDENLY AS SPEAKERSHIP IS BECOMING HOT

Antis Sharpen Axe to Get Irwin, the Dallas Candidate

CAUCUS PLANNED

Satterwhite Issues Statement Defending His Past Record

By W. BOYD GATEWOOD
Record News Staff at Austin

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 9.—Renewal in the house of representatives of the bitter klan and anti klan feud of past political campaigns in Texas appeared in prospect here tonight as a likely dramatic climax to the ever tightening contest for the speakership.

The possibility of the fight being taken to the floor of the house on straight-out issue of klan or anti klan, if it appears that a certain candidate has developed in dangerous strength, was freely discussed in political circles today.

Some there are who go so far as to say that much a plan will be urged on the lieutenants of another candidate for speaker as the eleventh hour offensive to hurl back the advance of the most formidable rival. Knowledge of such a plan of action was disclaimed, however, at the headquarters of all three candidates, J. W. Hall of Houston, T. K. Irwin of Dallas, and Lee Satterwhite of Plains.

Becomes Serious Factor

That the klan question, a sore spot hitherto tenderly handled by all three of the aspirants, now enters in a factor seriously to be considered, showed here tonight as self evident. The rumor that the old fued simmered fretfully over the fire scarcely had sifted through the hotel lobbies until Lee Satterwhite shot a brondside disclaiming any affiliation with the hooded order.

Then followed T. K. Irwin with a similiar disavowal. Nothing came from the hall headquarters save this by Eugene Blount of Nacagdoches, Hall's campaign manager:

"There has never been the slightest intimitaon that Mr. Hall has any klan affiliation. In fact it is universally understood that he hasn't."

The seriousness of the situation

Opposition to Stone

Confirmation of Associate Supreme Justice Delayed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Unexpected opposition to the confirmation of Attorney General Stone to be an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States arose today with a result that a senate judiciary subcommittee deferred action pending examination of court records laid before it by James A. Ownbey of Boulder, Colo.

These records deal with a suit brought against Ownbey by the executors of the estate of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, for whom Mr. Stone appeared as counsel before the supreme court. Ownbey lost the action which came up from the Delaware state courts.

HIGH COLORADO KLUXER FACING FORCE - WEDDING COURT CHARGES

Governor-Elect of Colorado Goes On Dr. Locke's Bond

KIDNAPPING CHARGED

Admits Ceremony Performed, But Denies Any Coercion

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 9.—Dr. John Galen Locke, grand dragon of the ku klux klan, realm of Colorado, was arrested shortly after noon today on a warrant issued by Juvenile Judge Ben B. Lindsey, charging him with conspiracy and kidnaping in connection with the alleged forced marriage of Keith Boehm, 19, to Miss Mae Nash, in his office last Tuesday.

Clarence J. Morley, governor-elect of Colorado, went on Dr. Locke's bond, which was fixed at $1,000 by Judge Lindsey. Mr. Morley, who also is a Denver district judge, was elected to the governorship this fall with the support of the ku klux klan.

Kidnaping Charged.

Formal charges of kidnaping and conspiracy were lodged against Locke and others in Judge Lindsey's juvenile court today on complaint of Keith Boehm, 19-year-old Denver high school youth. The complaint alleged that the men kidnaped him last Tuesday night, took him to the offices of Dr. Locke, who is grand dragon of the ku klux klan, realm of Colorado, and there forced him to marry Miss Mae Nash.

Judge Lindsey immediately issued warrants calling for the arrest of Dr. Locke, William Pritts, C. A. Kirkling and an unidentified man, known only as "Chris." Service of the warrants began at once.

Dr. Locke admitted the ceremony was performed in his office, but denied any coercion had been used.

Youth a Klansman.

The youth, who was taken from a downtown hotel operated by his parents, is a klansman, Dr. Locke declared, and added that he found the boy had obtained a marriage license more than a year ago "to deceive" the girl, who, he said, was to become a mother soon.

As a klansman, he thought it was his duty ti see that young Boehm did "the right thing by marrying the girl," he declared. He said he talked the matter over with the girl, her mother and the boy and all agreed to the marriage Boehm's parents sought annulment of the marriage and the case was taken under advisement by District Attorney Vancise.

Five In a Pen Break

Desperate Effort Made For Big McAlester Delivery

M'ALESTER, Okla., Jan. 9.—Five prisoners were missing ins final check today at the Oklahoma state penitentiary following a sensational escape last night while part of the prison was temporarily thrown into darkness.

It was discovered that a belt had been cut in the prison power plant and that the emergency connection with the McAlester municipal lighting system had been severed. An auxiliary dynamo re-established the current in about five minutes. Prison officials indicated today that a general break was feared for a short time.

Humphreys Gets Check For Million

FORT WORTH, Jan. 9.—The Prairie Oil and Gas company handed Col. A. E. Humphreys of the Humphreys-Boyd Oil company a check for $1,000,000 today covering payment on the first consignment of Wortham oil delivered to that company on a 3,000,000 barrel contract Humphreys-Boyd has with Prairie.

The Humphreys-Boyd company is buying oil from other producers, besides almost 50,000 barrels a day from its own production in the field. It has recently made a contract with Sinclair for the delivery of 3,000,000 barrels of crude.

Simms Oil company has sold 300,000 barrels of Wortham crude to Beacon Oil and Refining company at Houston at the posted price.

WICHITANS GET WORTHAM WELL

Cranfill - Murchison - Fain Complete 50th Wortham Producer, 1,600 Bbls.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 9.—Cranfill-Murchison-Fain, Wichita Falls, completed Wortham's fiftieth well today, their No. 1, Simmons, doing an estimated 1,600-barrels with sand barely scratched at 2,978 feet.

The pool did 138,000 this morning from 45 wells.

There were seven completions today and two dry holes, Atlantic Oil Producing company's No. 1, Edwards, and Tri-Y Oil company's No. 1, McCorkle.

Humphreys-Boyd No. 2, Manning, which flowed 400 and quit several days ago has finally set a liner at 3,015 and after drilling a foot deeper, total 3,016, is doing 1,200. This development is a great relief to operators as a dry hole would have limited the field to two locations width at that point. The well is off the east side of the field and about 2,500 feet southwest of Humphreys-Boyd's No. 1, Simmons.

Today's wells were:

Cranfill, Murchison and Fain's 1, Simmons, west offset of Moss and Kelling's 1, Simmons, both of which are on two and one half acre tracts is doing nearly 1,600 daily in pay barely penetrated to day's depth 3,078 feet.

Humphreys-Boyd's 2, Manning, 1,500 barrels from sand penetrated one foot to 3,016. Tiest had first pay at 2,978 feet for a small well.

Humphrey's 1, T. B. Poindexter, center lot one block, seven Wortham townsite found pay at 2,959 feet and in to 1,992 feet did at rate of 7,000.

Cranfill and Reynolds, 1, Cashion tot 44, block eight, Wortham townsite is 1,700 barrels, sand at 2,983 to 2,985.

Gulf's 1, Lindley, sand at 2,932 to 2,997 feet is doing at rate of 5,500.

Humphreys-Boyd's seven, Simmons, tool for 7,000 and eight, Simmons for 1,000 daily.

Wortham has achieved present record since Nov. 21, when Boyd's 1, came in and Thanksgiving day when Boyd's 1, Simmons came in for 12,000.

Changes in Chevrolet

Improvements Made, Inside and Out, Dealer Reports

The new Chevrolet is here. And, according to Pope Pool, of Pool-Stogner Chevrolet Co., it is new in every respect.

The General Motors corporation of which the Chevrolet Motor company is a part, has always adhered to a policy of continually improving its product from time to time as new developments in the motor car industry warranted and without making a great deal of fuss about calling the car a new model.

Rapid strides i nthe perfection of the Chevrolet during the past six months, however, so nearly caused a complete change in every working part of the car that the new Chevrolet that is now on display in the showrooms of the local dealer can be called a brand new car from the radiator shell to the gas tank filler cap.

DENY A HARDING BRIBE

Mortimer Case Hears Refutation of Charge to Cousin

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Two witnesses for the defense denied today in the veterans' bureau conspiracy trial a story by Elias H. Mortimer, principal government witness, that a cousin of the late President Harding had been offered a bribe of $1,000,000 to "help influence the sale of the government's wartime wooden fleet."

SLIP OF A GIRL ALMOST WINS COTTON AWARD

Miss Edra Robinson Takes Second Place in Staple Contest

D. W. M'SHAM FIRST

Junior College Miss Loses First By But 98 Pounds of Ginned Lint

A Junior college girl in her teens was second-prize winner in the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce cotton growing contest held here last fall, it was announced Friday night at the annual chamber of commerce banquet. She missed out on the first prize by a scant 98 pounds of ginned lint.

Miss Edra Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robinson living near Lake Wichita and just east of the paved road to the lake, was the winner.

First to D. W. McSham.

First prize in the contest went to D. W. McSham, residing northwest of the lake, who made 962.28 pounds of ginned lint on a contest acre. This picked but 38 pounds of being an even two bales. On his entire farm he had 70 acres of irrigated cotton under cultivation and produced 55 bales in all.

Miss Robinson's record was 864 pounds of ginned lint on one acre. The Robinson farm of 28 acres in cotton made 38 bales with an average of 508 pounds per bale.

Presentation of the two prizes—$200 in cash to Mr. McSham and $150 to Miss Robinson—were made at the banquet by Judge A. H. Britain. Miss Robinson will use her winnings to finance a university courst next year.

AT 78, A SIXTH WIFE

Aged Man Re-weds Immediately After Divorcing Fifth

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Ten minutes after a district court decree separating him from his fifth wife had been signed, Wilhelm Bottcher, 78, today obtained a marriage license and was wedded to his sixth spouse, Mrs. Marie Kester, 65, his housekeeper.

Bottcher was divorced from his fifth wife, Mrs. Lena Bottcher, on charges of desertion and asserted at the hearing that he was "through with marriage forever."

TWO KILLED AT WORTHAM

Oil Workers Dead When Struck By a Coiled Hose in Fields

CORSICANA, Jan. 9.—Two men were killed here today. F. W. Woods, 55, driller in Wortham oil field, died almost instantly when struck on the head by a cement hose. The body of a man believed to be Floyd Kelta was found in the Wortham railroad yards, with the skull crushed.

POST STORAGE WARNINGS

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—All deer and wild turkey in storage in Texas must be out by midnight of January 10 to comply with the law, said a warning issued today by the state game, fish and oyster commission. Telephone inquiries as to the time limit have been coming in, said Commissioner Boyd. The storage limit on does was up December 25.

JURY TAMPERING CHARGED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Wilbur D. Campbell, an automobile salesman, was indicted by the grand jury here today on a charge of communicating with John J. Apffel, a juror in the case of "Kid" McCoy, during the course of McCoy's trial for the murder of Mrs. Mors.

First Picture Of Texas Women Supreme Court

Here is the epoch-making supreme court of Texas, the first appellate court in the history of American jurisprudence to be composed wholly of women, as the lady justices were at work in supreme courtroom Thursday at Austin. The modern Portias decided they would review the work of two courts, the El Paso trial court and the court of civil appeals, and will have the power to reverse the findings of both those courts if their judgment so directs. They will sit January 30 to hear arguments.

At the left is Miss Hattie L. Henenberg of Dallas, associate justice; center, Mrs. Hortense Ward of Houston, to whom fell the distinction of presiding over the first court in which women reached the highest rank in the judicial department of government; and right, Miss Ruth Brazzill of Galveston, associate justice.

Mrs. Ward is the only one of the original three women named by Governor Neff to serve on this court, Mrs. Edith Wilmans of Dallas having been unable to serve, upon which Miss Henenberg, first named special chief justice, gave way to the designation of Mrs. Ward as the chief justice, and the appointment of Miss Ruth Brazzill of Galveston as the associate member.

ACCIDENT COSTS KATY MAN'S ARM

Geo. Sharp, 207 Chestnut, Injured At Frederick Last Night

George Sharp, 207 Chesnut street, conductor for the Missouri-Kansas-railroad, had his right arm severed just below the shoulder last night about 9 o'clock in an accident at Frederick, Okla.

Sharp had left home early yesterday morning on a north bound local freight on the Northwestern division of the Katy, the accident occurring just before the day's work was ended last night at Frederick. Exact details were not obtainable here last night.

Medical aid was rendered the man at Frederick last night. He will be brought to Wichita Falls this morning.

The Day In Washington

The house shipping board committee resumed hearings.

Secretary Weeks expressed opposition to creation of a department of aeronautics.

The house passed the war department appropriation bill carrying $291,000,000.

The house began consideration of the McFadden bill to amend the national banking laws.

The railroad report on consolidation was sent to the senate interstate commerce commission.

It was announced that President Coolidge is unalterate opposed to general elevation in American capital ships.

Persistent reports were circulated that Associate Justice Holmes contemplates retirement from the supreme court.

Action on the nomination of Attorney General Stone for the supreme court was held up by the senate judiciary sub-committee.

Hearings were closed by a senate committee considering the Capper bill for concentration of prohibition enforcement.

Judge Holmes to Quit

Report Has It Another Vacancy On Supreme Bench Soon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Another vacancy on the bench of the supreme court in the near future was indicated today in unconfirmed but undenied reports that Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was preparing to resign.

Although Justice Holmes has not disclosed his plans, some of his friends say he will leave the bench in time for his successor to be confirmed before congress adjourns March 4.

"Her Excellency" Named On 50,000 Invitations To Inaugural Ball at Austin

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 9.—"Her excellency" today appeared on gubernatorial ball invitations for the first time in the history of Texas.

More than 10,000 beautifully engraved invitations, on heavy paper, the first quota of more than 50,000 that will invite Texas citizens to attend the three-way ball that will celebrate the inauguration of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as governor of Texas on January 20, were placed in the mails. The body of the invitation is in script, but two lines in the center, different from the rest, predominate. They are "Her Excellency" and "Miriam A. Ferguson, governor of Texas."

At the top of the invitation is a small photograph of the capitol building and in the center in pale green tint, is the seal of the state.

The ball executive committee of 20 members headed by John J. Peeler, president, is listed on the second page. The invitation reads as follows:

"The citizens of Austin request the pleasure of the company of yourself and ladies at a reception and ball in honor of the inauguration of Her Excellency, Miriam A. Ferguson, governor of Texas, Tuesday evening, January twentieth, nineteen hundred twenty-five, at 9 o'clock, state capitol."

2 DEAD, 8 HURT NEAR WORTHAM

Wm. H. Abney of Waco Killed in Oil-Boiler Explosion

WACO, Jan. 9.—William H. Abney of Waco and a negro man were instantly killed at 5 o'clock this afternoon when a boiler at an oil well drilling at Wortham exploded. Eight others were injured, several probably fatally.

The blast blew the boiler high above the derrick and bodies of the men killed were picked up in bits. Some of the injured were reported to have hands or feet blown away.

The explosion occurred at the E. L. Smith Oil company's Edwards No. 3 well.

DOUG MALLOCH BREAKS UP THE HOUSE AT C OF C YEAR BANQUET

Acknowledged a Highbrow, He Proves a Champion Human

OVER 650 DINE

Success of Affair a Complete One Without Qualification

By HAROLD JOHNSON,
Record News Staff.

A poet breezed into Wichita Falls yesterday afternoon.

His coming, perhaps, was marked by few who thought that his appearance here would go down as one of more than average moment; but last night over 650 men and women left the Junior college cafeteria with a feeling that the visit of Douglas Malloch was destined to live long in the memory of those who heard him. They felt that the lilting humor, the sound philosophy, the brilliant satire and the epigramatic gems of wisdom with which he regaled his hearers at the annual chamber of commerce banquet would play an important part in shaping in the mould of optimism and friendship the affairs of the city for 1925.

Mr. Malloch was pre-eminently the hit of a program that provided an abundance of fruitful smashes. He was called on to fill a difficult role in winding up the entertainment features of an entertaining evening, and that he filled it to perfection was attested by an ovation that did not cease until he took the floor again.

Composes a Poem.

When he did conclude it was to present one more poem of his own composition.

"We authors write the books ourselves;
The printer man supplies them;
The dealer puts them on the shelves—
God bless the man that buys them."

Nothing so extraordinary about the verse, but it was typical of all Mr. Malloch's comments. It was the simplicity and evident application that gave them their charm. Short lines on friendship, optimism, self sacrifice were interspersed liberally throughout his address in such a manner that the crowd caught their import just at the right time and knew it had been given another homely truth with a coating of literary sugar. The speaker took this tack at the first and pursued it on to the end. He brought a storm of laughter at one moment, and then shut it off abruptly and completely by merely starting another observation. No one wanted to miss a word and the alternate periods of booming hilarity and tense silence was the result.

"Cultivating Friendship."

To give the gist of Mr. Malloch's remarks is merely to stress the fact that cultivating friendship pays; that no one likes a grouch; that optimism has a place—and a big one in the development of every worth while enterprise; that pests are distinctly non-essential and that gossips and rumors are not to be trusted—"as any landlady can tell you." He touched on all these in a classical style. His preachments on them had a distinct and very apparent bearing on community building and territorial development. Some times he made the application himself and sometimes he left it to the crowd, but always he drove home the point that optimism and friendship in any line of work paid big dividends on the investment.

He made no attempt to touch on the individual problems of Wichita Falls. These he left to Judge Britain, Dr. R. Youngblood and others, but his hearers knew when they left that these separate items, could be welded into a more compact and serviceable whole if the beam of Malloch's kindly philosophy was applied in the welding process.

Classic Plus Plebian.

It was just the sort of talk that

200 Passengers Reported Lost In Sea Hurricane

Mexican Steamship Brings Story of Catastrophe to Galveston

GALVESTON, Jan. 9.—Bringing reports that the Mexican steamship Tamaulipas had been lost with 200 passengers, the coastal schooner Isodoro with 43 passengers and several fishing schooners, Captain H. Broch, master of the Nicaraguan motor ship Worden of the Southern Banana corporation declared that the Christmas norther was the worst southern seas ever experienced.

"It was the worst storm I have ever seen. It was more like a hurricane, while it lasted, than I ever experienced, and it lasted about 16 hours," the captain said. "Our life boats became unleashed and were damaged, but otherwise we suffered no damages."

The Tamaulipas, a government vessel, was enroute from Vera Cruz to Frontera with 200 passengers, while the Isodoro, which had 43 deck passengers for Vera Cruz, was leaving Frontera when the Worden went into that port.

Daisetta Man Is Found Dead At His Home In Hull

Long List of Deaths By Violence Augmented By Shot

HULL, Texas, Jan. 9.—Found with a gaping wound through the top of his head and a .32 calibre pistol by his side at 1:30 Friday morning after the report of a pistol shot had been heard by members of the family, Tom Byrd, 28, of Daisetta, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Byrd of this place, died at 4 o'clock in the morning without regaining consciousness.

An inquest was held by Justice of the Peace D. W. MacLeod, and a verdict of suicide rendered.

The untimely death of this young man recalls the accidently death of his sister last June. She was visiting her father at the time and in some manner her clothing was ignited while she was cooking on a gas stove.

Young Byrd is said to be related to Archie Byrd, who, with John Springer, was shot to death at Johnson's bayou on the afternoon of New Year's day.

BLOCK A CITY MANAGER

Opposition at Austin Scores a Coup In Latest Action

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—Attorneys representing three members of the city council opposed to calling the council election on February 2, Friday morning scored a coup when they secured the issuance of a writ of prohibition by the court of civil appeals forbidding Judge George Calhoun and S. A. Philquist, district clerk, from serving papers in the writ of injunction issued Thursday afternoon by Calhoun, which demanded that the council should call the election forthwith.

This order will place the matter in status quo until the case is heard before the court of civil appeals.

STATES BLAME TEXAS

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Texas is accused by other southern states of causing high text book prices all over the south because of the large contracts in this state, S. M. N. Marrs, superintendent of public instructions, declared today on his return from a conference of state school heads at Gulf Port, Mississippi.

This is due to the requirement that if books are sold cheaper in one state during the life of any contract it would operate to reduce the price in all other states.

Because of the large contracts in Texas, the publishers, said, Mr. Marrs, cannot afford to lower prices in other states as that would lower prices here.

WALL STREET WILD AGAIN

New Bull Movement Sends Certain Stocks to Record Levels.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Speculation in stocks was resumed on a large scale today when three score issues, including a number of standard industrial and railroad shares were lifted to their highest prices in a year or more and total sales fell just short of two million shares. The general railroad average rose to the highest levels in eight years.

FOUND FUGITIVE JAILED

WACO, Jan. 9.—When E. W. Henderson, a Fort Worth dairyman, arrived in Waco this morning hot on the trail of Fred Hared, an employe, and $225 in cash, he was pleased and surprised to find his man already in jail. City detectives already had arrested him on another matter.

JOHN BULL AND BROTHER JONATHAN.

John Bull has placed an embargo on American potatoes. Brother Jonathan has prepared a note of protest. American potato growers are howling. They resent the attitude of Mr. Bull. Mr. Bull says potato bugs are prevalent in America. Brother Jonathan says this may be true but the bugs are more prevalent in Canada than in the United States and no embargo has been put on Canadian exports by the British.

Mr. Bull has the right to place an embargo on American potatoes. If he is successful in growing a huge supply of cotton in the Sudan he will be justified in placing a high tax embargo on American cotton.

Brother Jonathan builds high tariff barriers when he is in the mood. He calls it protection for American industry and American labor. What is sauce for the British gander should be sauce for the American goose.

Canadian farmers live under the British flag. John Bull is willing to give a preference to Canadian potatoes grown by his sons or his step sons. He is determined to shut out potato bugs from the United States hoping all the time that his Canadian sons will kill the bugs before the potatoes are shipped to the tight little isle.

Trade wars are just as costly as dollars go as wars of the fire and the sword. They may be bloodless wars but they are wars just the same. Brother Jonathan will engage in many trade wars in coming years. He isn't loved in forlegn lands, more especially European lands. Europeans owe Brother Jonathan and his children some twenty-one billion dollars.

There is no place on record where a debtor who was ever accused of idealising a borrower. Human nature does not develop in that direction. Brother Jonathan may have saved the world for democracy in other lands under alien flags who have forgotten but there is a vast army of unbaked democrats that it ever happened.

WHAT PRICE SAYS.

Colonel Theodore H. Price is an economist and financier. In days long gone he was a cotton speculator, first on the bull side and then on the bear side of the market. According to the colonel the excess of merchandise exports over imports in 1924 may be placed at one billion dollars.

If so southern cotton helped to swell the size of the export pile of merchandise.

There are some few wise cotton speculators who predict that foreign nations will take 6,500,000 bales of American grown cotton of the crop of 1924 before the close of the cotton year in July, 1925. If so there will be 7,000,000 bales of the crop of 1924 for American mills in the American warehouses.

Thanks to foreign buyers the surplus of the 1924 crop will not fix the price this season.

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE ITALIAN HOUSE.

Columbia university has recently opened an Italian house.

"The purpose is to have a center for promoting good relations between Italy and the United States.

As Ambassador Caetani says:

"Nations in appearance widely different are in stead closely connected by cultural factors that often pass unnoticed because not sufficiently emphasized. This is especially true between Italy and the United States."

We often find that we have more ties of kinship with foreign people than we have differences. They feel the same as we do, they are affected by the same pains and joys. They have the same hopes and fears.

Besides this, in the case of Italy we have many points of connection. We are like Siamese Twins, joined at the top. The basis of our literature is essentially Italian.

We are a part of Roman civilization as to our culture, and there is no reason why the American branch, though it be somewhat more distant, should not keep in touch with the Italian branch. As Caetani says, "The capital letters of any book printed in New York today are the same as those printed 2,000 years ago in the Forum. Both Italian and Anglo-Saxon civilizations are offsprings of the intellectual awakening that first sprang forth in Italy after the dark period of the lower Middle Ages."

Any movement that tends to increase and perfect the understanding between the two nations is welcome. And this movement, which is distinctly cultural and has nothing of the sordid in it, especially to be commended.

We need Italian culture in the United States. We need the Italians' love of beauty, of nature and of music. We need their light-hearted way of looking at things.

The American is a mixture of all races. Although he may be Anglo-Saxon at bottom, he is an omnivorous Anglo-Saxon and eagerly devours the civilization of other peoples.

We have our Grand Opera house, where music is given largely in Italian, and we need to emphasize the effect of Italian literature upon us. Beside music, Italians have excelled in art, in literature and in invention, and we should gladly take whatever they have to offer for our intellectual pabulum.

The Italian House of Columbia ought to be a center of Italian culture and means whereby the effect of Italian culture shall permeate into the United States.

We are not rivals of Italy in any sense, but are co-operating with her in the great work of transferring humanity's interests over from the flesh to the spirit. The Italians have done notable work in culture, and the cultural centers of the United States should be glad to co-operate with them.

The work has the cordial co-operation of President Butler, and of Dr. Gerig, at the head of the Romance Department. It should have the support of the entire public, as the influence of Italy that comes to us through it cannot help but do us good.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE ISLE OF BY-AND-BY

Underneath a placid sky,
Half the world around,
Lies the isle of By-and-By
And thither we are bound.
Cloudless days and starry nights,
By a sparkling sea,
Offer all the rare delights
Of what is-to-be.

Every little boy and girl
Hopes some day to sail
Through the waves that dance and swirl
In the summer gale,
With the scudding clouds to race
Through the filmy spray,
Far from all the commonplace
Of this dull Today.

Wonder you that round the isle,
Sails are dotted white
And that many a happy smile
Speaks of true delight?
Wonder you that at the fall
Of the fearful dark,
Little children, one and all,
Are eager to embark?

May each dark and gathering storm
Fade beneath the sun,
May the winds blow soft and warm
Till the voyage is done,
Unruffled flow the shinging tide
Until the vessels lie,
All swinging in the bay beside
The isle of By-and-By.

HOW TO READ—IN ONE LESSON

So many girls have written to me, telling me how greatly they desire to improve their minds by reading. And yet, they all despair, they can't get settled down to an evening's reading, unless the book is a light novel. It's so much more fun to turn on the victorla, and practice that new step they just learned the other night. It's so much more interesting to call up June, and discuss in minute detail all the events of the last twenty-four hours. In fact anything and everything seems more desirable than reading that dull-looking book that Mimi prescribed for them.

But that book is only the beginning of a long and serious course of training that you've set for yourself. And as long as you've got to do it, why not make this reading business as attractive as possible. In the first place, be sure the room in which you read is comfortably warm. If you're one of those lucky people who have fireplaces in their homes, by all means set it blazing. Otherwise, make the best of the good old radiator. Be sure it's turned on far enough. Now get out your warmest, woolliest bathrobe—not the graceful trailing negligee, in which you feel like Lady Diana Manners, but the disreputable old bathrobe that buttons up snugly and envelops you in its comfortable warmth. Now the old felt bedroom slippers, all run down at the heel—totally unlike the smart new satin mules which you have such great difficulty in keeping on your feet. Your hair is apt to district your attention by falling over your eyes at regular intervals, so you'd better brush it back smooth, and secure the lock that's most apt to stray, with a hairpin.

I'd suggest that a dish of apples, or perhaps a box of candy be right where you can reach it. And after you've assembled all this material curl up in the most comfortable place you can find, using five or six pillows to insure perfect comfort, turn on a nice soft light—and read! Try this at home on your davenport. It's sure to work.

What Today Means to You

CAPRICORN

Excellent vibrations manifest themselves throughout the day and evening. They tend to ease, satisfaction, and pleasure, Being of benefic nature, they tend to enhance success in all matters by improving the reasoning, comparative, and judging faculties. It is an excellent occasion for all intellectual matters such as correspondence, literary efforts, teaching, and friendly intercourse. The aspects indicate the probable successful outcome of a courtship, and your fate can be safely put to the test; they also denote that marriages solemnized today promise to be permanent, and not evanescent, institutions.

A child born today will be quite normal, and require only normal treatment, in order to attain a healthy and robust maturity. Characteristically, it will be energetic, vigorous, and determined, and will never acknowledge defeat until all resources have been exhausted. If it cannot force its way through an obstacle, it will go over or around it. It will prove to be kindly, sympathetic, and generous, slow to anger and quick to forgive. It is destined to live a very happy and contented life.

If today is your birthday, you are a natural leader, as well as a clear thinker. Success in either social or commercial enterprises invariably will be yours. You are a trifle too self-conscious, and have sometimes shown a lack of self-esteem. You are greatly attracted by the opposite sex, and unusually popular among your friends.

Fortune has been very generous in its gifts to you, as success in any line of endeavor is easily attained by you without antagonizing those who would ordinarily be your rivals. You hurt no one's feelings, but are always considerate of everybody. You tread on no one's toes, and carefully go around them, if necessary, to avoid doing so. You persist, however, in your mapped out course, regardless of all detours, and invariably reach your goal.

You do not admit to yourself that you are quite as good as your friends say you are. You, however, never show this lack of self-appreciation to others. Your intimate and frank consciousness, even though not admitted to others, has saved you from many a misstep that another, not so clearly visioned, would have made.

Successful people born on this date are: John T. Hoffman, lawyer; George W. Melville, once chief engineer, U. S. N.; Elisha B. Andrews, educator; Waterman T. Hewlett, educator; John W. Root, architect; Howard Chandler Christy, artist.

Cross-Word Puzzle

How to Solve the Cross-word Puzzle.

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the forms are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the forms. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE.

GLEANINGS

FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE.

Thinking Animals.

A gentleman who believes that Evolution was invented by Darwin and the Devil has been repeating lately the questionable satement that dogs do not think.

How do we know that animals have not a language of their own? There is more reason to suppose that they think than that they do not.

Napoleon was on eof those who contended there is a link between animals and the Deity. His views on the subject are interesting, even if they are not authoritative.

To him it was presumption in us to say that animals do not think.

"A horse has memory, knowledge and love. He knows his master from the servants, though the latter are more constantly with him.

"I had a horse myself who knew me from any other person, and manifested by capering and proudly marching with his head erect when I was on his back—his knowledge that he bore a person superior to others by whom he was surrounded.

"Neither would he allow any other person to mount him except one groom who constantly took care of him, and when ridden by him his motions were far different and such as seemed to say that he was conscious he bore an inferior.

"When I lost my way I was accustomed to throw the reins down his neck, and he always discovered it in places where I, with all my observation and boasted superior knowledge, could not."

Who can deny the sagacity of dogs?

Plants are so many animals who eat and drink, and there are graduations up to man, who is only the most perfect of them all. He reasons better.

Incidentally, persons who credit Charles Darwin with fostering the idea of Evolution as it is now called, do so ignorantly. The theory of Evolution, or Transformation as it is sometimes labeled, was not first conceived by Darwin, or by Alfred Russel Wallace, who observed the operation of Circumstantial Selection simultaneously with Charles.

As Bernard Shaw says, "When Artistole grouped animals with backbones as blood relations, he began the sort of classification, which, when extended by Darwin to monkeys and men, so shocked my uncle."

Two thousand years before Darwin was born, the Greek philosopher Empedocles opined that all forms of life are transformations of four elements, fire, air, earth and water, affected by the two innate forces of attraction and repulsion, or love and hate.

HOW IT STARTED

"Come Off."

This slang expression, used usually with a contemptuous flavor and meaning "Stop!" is not generally in favor with users of good English. And so it is a good example of what a far cry there is between so many modern words, sayings and expressions and their origins.

The earliest recorded usage of "Come off!" was in good standing and under most auspicious circumstances. Its author was no less a personage than Chaucer, the Fourteenth Century English poet who has been called the father of English literature.

In Chaucer's "Parliament of Fowles" where the young eagles talked so much and so long that the other birds grew tired and resentful, some of the latter delegates finally made themselves heard, crying:

"Come off! Alas, you will have no

Principle and Interest

A banker asked by a young relative to give the requisites for the right kind of success said simply:

"Principle and Interest."

The youth considered that answer a bit before he acted on it.

The more he thought about it, the less he liked it.

At last he determined to go back to his advisor and talk to him frankly.

"Uncle," he said, "there must be something more to life than principle and interest. I know you banking men are first and last for business, but it seems to me that merely thinking of money and what money will earn would make a man pretty sordid, and not always over-particular about his methods.

"I know you are not that sort, and I was wondering why you give me such a rule."

"I thought that in these days of cross word puzzles you might have guessed my meaning better," said the old gentleman.

"There are two ways to spell 'principal,' and I spelled it p-r-i-n-c-i-p-l-e. There are two definitions of 'interest.'"

"I believe in principle in business—high principle."

"And by interest I do not mean mere interest on money."

"Anybody can get interest on money if he is reasonably careful with his investments."

"What I meant, and what I thought you might guess that I meant was 'princi.le,' meaning a standard of conduct, and 'interest' meaning interest in your work.

"Given an average intelligence, which you seem to have, in spite of the fact that you were a little slow in getting my meaning, any man who has real principles, and who takes a real interest in what he is doing ought to get along."

"I do not say that he will gather millions of money together, or build up great industrial systems."

"But he ought to make enough to support a family and educate his children, and at the same time get some enjoyment out of life."

"For after all, if you devote by far the greater part of your time to business, your life must be a good deal of a failure unless you get some fun out of the business."

"Do something that you like to do, or can learn to like to do."

"Do it as well as you can, and learn to do it better day by day."

"Do it fairly and honestly, treating customers and employes and employers with consideration, even though they sometimes fail in consideration to you—as they often will."

"These are not infallible rules for success, but you are far more likely to attain success if you follow them, and their use will at least make your business life more worth while.

"I have used them all my life, and one of my greatest sources of satisfaction is that there is nothing that I do which interests me half as much or gives me nearly as much pleasure as my work."

MATTERS OF HEALTH

Frighten not the little kids,
Nor discourage invalids;
Damned be he who gets a kick
From Scaring children 'til they're sick.

The heat and the moisture of outdoor air is always present in proper proportions.

When the city hospital facilities move to the country, the country doctors will stop moving to the city.

If your room's too dry and you can't regulate the heat with your old, base burner, open the window and the air'll be a little damper.

Reducing one's weight too rapidly often causes severe permanent damage. One authority says that "five pounds per month" is a safe rate.

For passing fads we have a failing.
Chlorine gas we're now inhaling—
Just to cure a common cold;
Enthusiasts extoll it's virtue,
Insisting that it cannot hurt you—
But nature cures 'em, as of old.

While it is not always possible to detect cancers of the internal organs early enough to eradicate them, there is no reason why external cancers should ever cause death.

POEMS THAT LIVE

For Love's Sake Only

If thou must love me, let it be for naught
Except for love's sake only. Do not say
"I love her for her smile, her look, her way
Of speaking gently; for a trick of thought
That falls in well with mine, and certes brought
A sense of pleasant ease on such a day,"—
For these things in themselves, Beloved, may
Be changed, or change for thee,—and love so wrought
May be unwrought so. Neither love me for
Thine own dear pity's wiping my cheek dry,
A creature might forget to weep who bore
Thy comfort long, and love thy love thereby,
But love me for love's sake, that evermore
Thou may'st love on through love's eternity.

SOIL SURVEY VINDICATED

Large Development Company Moves In After Studying Reports

LUBBOCK, Texas.—Value of the soil survey as a means of accurately inventorying agricultural resources of a region was very forcibly demonstrated here recently, according to R. E. Karper, superintendent of the local experiment station. Maps and reports on the soil were studied by representatives of a large development company desiring to locate an extensive tract of uniformly good soil, Mr. Karper said. Such a tract was located with the aid of the soil survey and upon inspection by the prospective purchasers, the land was found as represented in the soil reports and maps.

Friends are people who know something that would cure you quickly if you would just try it.

The undeveloped people are those that can't butcher one another except at close range.

HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD—

That Henry Hall, the man who wrote Down Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow, died in the city of Denver Christmas eve, and was buried with only four mourners at his grave.

That twenty years ago he was one of the best known of the black faced minstrel comedians but for the last 12 years of his life he was a dishwasher in a restaurant for downs and outs in the city of Denver.

That Kansas City greeted the new year with 113 murders to its credit in the old year, or a new high record.

That the county coroner in his report estimated that more than 50 per cent of the killers went unpunished in a city that boasts of its colleges, its courts, its churches and its schools.

That copper is selling around 15 cents per pound and the copper kings of America expect the most properous year in their history.

That International cotton buyers say that foreign spindles will consume 6,500,000 bales of American cotton this season.

That the holiday business America ever was the best in years and that trade reviews say the outlook for the new year is very bright.

That top hogs at the close of the holiday season sold at $10.80 and operators in the Chicago and Kansas City markets look for the $11.000 mark early in the new year.

That New York business men and bankers regard the business outlook in 1925 most favorable and all the eastern merchants reflect the optimistic feeling of Wall street.

That the new year opened with railway car loading beating the record, wheat and rye making new high records and an enormous acreage of wheat reported planted in the grain producing sections.

That William M. Ritter, founder of the Ritter Lumber company of Columbus, Ohio, made a Christmas donation of $3,000,000 in company stock to 124 men and women employes, in order to leave the world better than he found it.

That there is only one man held as a federal political prisoner in American jails and he is a Russian alien convicted of deserting from the American forces in Siberia in 1919.

That there are 124 men held as state political prisoners and all but 12 are in jail in California, the only state where active prosecution is going on against I. W. W.s and other violators of the syndicalism law.

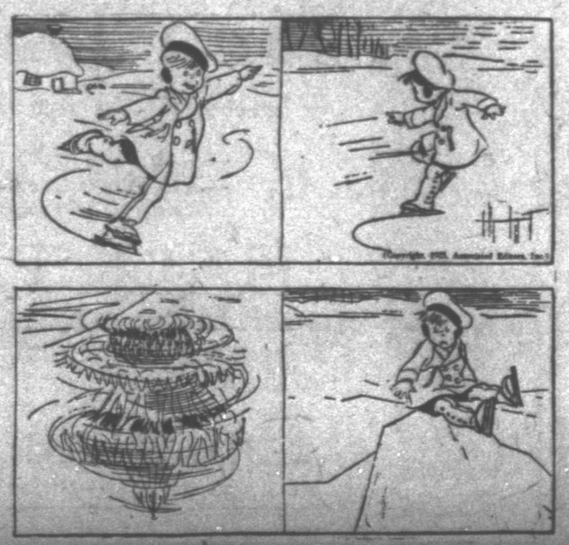

ANOTHER AUTO MENACE

Cars Spread Seeds of Russian Thistle Weed, Expert Finds

SPUR, Texas—A unique method of spreading the seed of the Russian thistle weed pest to Texas farmers, has been found by R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the experiment station here. The seeds of this weed are frequently scattered by automobiles, Mr. Dickson said, as the plant is often picked up by the cranks of cars and spread along the roads of the country.

"The wind is the most common cause of spread of this variety of weed seed," Mr. Dickson said. "Twenty years ago the Russian thistle was not found in Texas but was common in Kansas. In this comparatively short period of time it has continued its spread until it has covered a considerable area of Texas land."

S. RAYMOND BROOKS MARGARET STALLINGS
W. BOYD GATEWOOD GEORGE S. WRIGHT

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 9.—The conservatism of Senator Jesse E. Smith of Breckenridge will be felt when the senate gets down to work.

Senator Smith is not a politician, he says. He is a former school teacher, a banker and business man. He declares he will support the Ferguson program so long as they appeal to him as being the best for the state, but he intends to use his own judgment about Ferguson measures and all others.

More casinghead gasoline is made in his district than in any other similar area in the world. Eastland and Stephens counties are the center for this business. But, besides casinghead gasoline and oil, he represents in the senate an important farming area.

Smith will favor some increase in the gasoline sales tax, and a corresponding reduction in the motor vehicle tax. He hasn't decided whether he will accept a 200-per cent increase of the sales tax, or from one up to three cents.

He is from an important oil section, but has not yet announced whether he will oppose the coming Coffee-Woodruff gross production increase tax measure, or whether he will fight to lower the present 2 per cent tax.

"Nothing radical along any line—nothing radical," that is his declaration, his slogan and his platform—that is Jesse E. Smith of Breckenridge.

If Lee Satterwhite wins the speakership race—and no prediction is being made as to the outcome—it is regarded as likely that Eugene H. Blount of Nacogndoches will get the chairmanship of the powerful appropriations committee. With equal likelihood, in case of J. W. Hall's victory, Claude D. Teer of Williamson county, would loom for the appropriations plum.

Satterwhite, according to one of his lieutenants, Dewey Young, representative from Collinsworth county, is pledged to do all a speaker could do to rush through the general appropriations bills during the regular session. That is a Ferguson administration measure also. Representative T. K. Irwin, the third of the candidates for speaker, is supporting the Ferguson administration program, he has announced.

The state board of control has recommended a budget which was given a year's study; and even if the governor disregards it, hopes it will aid the legislature in the general appropriations work. Governor, board of control, and all the candidates for speaker are apparently unanimous in wanting to get the appropriations out of the way. That usuall y removes about 98 per cent of the necessity for a special session following the regular 60-day term. The regular session is not limited to 60 days, but after that period the pay of the members is cus from $5 to $2 per day for the rest of the term, and the custom has been for the legislature to quit on or son after the sixtieth day.

In guessing about the new, many are overlooking the fact that Governor Pat M. Neff still has an opportunity to talk to the legislature by executive message, and that he may make many suggestions or recommendations to the house and senate during the week he will be in office after the bodies convene.

Governor Neff will probably send to the senate for confirmation his list of appointees—textbook commission, member of the board of control, insurance commissioner, banking commissioner, commissioner of markets and warhouses, four members of the University of Texas board of regents, Mrs. Stanford on the industrial accident board; many general non-salaried board members, members of the highway commission, member of the prison board, and still other state officers. C. V. Terrell must be confirmed twice, though he will hold an office to which elected, after about January 20. He was appointed treasurer, and later appointed railroad commissioner. S. L. Stephens must be confirmed as treasurer, even though his successor has qualified.

The confirmation issues may be the warmest one of the first week of the session.

The Governor Neff banquet on the night of January 17 in honor of the retiring chief executive is to draw several hundred persons from over the state, the committee in charge said today. So many requests for plates have been received that the committee asked those expecting to attend to make their reservations at least 24 hours before. Admission will be by ticket.

Gov. Pat M. Neff today appointed H. M. Hargrave of Beaumont as a member of the board of directors of the Texas Technological college, to take the place of former Gov. W. P. Hobby of Houston, resigned. Mr. Hargrave is president of the San Jacinto Life Insurance company.

The Terrell primary law is to be changed by elimination of the run-off primary and exension o every couny of he sysem of regisering voers, ift12 of thesystem of registering voters, if a bill made public today by Representative A. J. Durham of Sabinal receives approval of the legislature.

FERGUSON

from the view of those whose wish it is that the old klan feud shall not be reopened, was given some added significance when it became known that James E. Ferguson dropped quietly into Austin this aftrenoon and straightway went into conference with leaders at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George S. Nall.

Ferguson Keeps Quiet

The former governor could not be reached by newspaper correspondents. His attitude on the speakership whether one of "hands off" or later alignment with one of the candidates, could not therefore be ascertained.

According to information regarded as authoritative, the plan for pitching the contest in the house on the klan issue is this:

Friends of Hall, unknown to him, are considering a final poll of strength of speaker candidates Sunday night. If by that poll it is feared Irwin shows dangerous strength, these friends, believers in direct action, intend hurling the charge of klansman or former klansman at Irwin at the opening session of the house next Tuesday.

These friends agree that Hall or Blount know nothing of the projected eleventh hour offensive to stop Irwin if it appears he is gaining. Up until today the klan question was studiously avoided and hushed by all concerned in the contest for speaker.

Satterwhite Began It

Today Lee Satterwhite opened the door to the question when he charged that reports were being circulated that he was affiliated with the klan and issued a statement denying such affiliations.

"If any responsible person can make a sworn affidavit that I have ever belonged to the klan or have ever made application, I will withdraw from the race for speaker and resign from the house," said Satterwrite.

Satterwhite declared that he was not making the klan question an issue, adding, "nor are my worthy opponents."

Irwin expressed surprise that there might be an effort to attack him on the floor of the house on the ground that he is affiliated with the klan.

"How can they attack me on that?" he questioned," I am not so affiliated," he asserted." Such tastics are those of desperation in the face of defeat; eleventh hour propaganda raised to interject passion and prejudice where passion and prejudice should not prevail. "So far as I am concerned, the speakership race is won and I am only waiting for the vote to be elected. I have conducted an honorable, clean campaign, free from any extraneous issues. This false issue, if it is raised, will avail my opponents nothing. I have previously stated that I stand four square on the democratic platform and for administration policies.

Irwin's campaign, like those of his opponents, has attracted both klansmen, and anti-klansmen, non-klan supporters. Meanwhile, the prospect of a flareu p of the old fire that has swept Texas political campaigns in the past continues tonight to be the livest topic of discussion and speculation.

LEGAL NOTICE

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita county, a copy of the following notice:

The State of Texas to all persons interested in the welfare of Harry Reynolds, a boy 11 years old; Glenn Reynolds, a boy 9 years old; Paul Reynolds, a boy 1 year old, minors: Know ye that Mrs. Tennie Reynolds was by the county court of Wichita county, Texas, on the 2nd day of January A. D. 1925, duly appointed temporary guardian of the persons and estates of said minors, which appointment will be made permanent unless the same shall be successfully contested at the next term of said court, commencing on the first Monday in February A. D. 1925, the same being the 2nd day of February A. D. 1925, at the court house thereof, in Wichita Falls, at which time all persons interested in the welfare of said minors may appear and contest such appointment if they so desire.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 2nd day of January A. D. 1925.

ALMA Y. MILLER, Clerk
County Court Wichita Co., Texas.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothe and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Wayne "Big" Munn, After Flipping Lewis Ready for All Comers

Top O' Morn Stuff

In regards to that foul committed by Munn Thursday night when he bounced Strangler Lewis so hard that the heavyweight mat crown was jarred loose, Dr. R. G. Clapp, Cornhusker wrestling coach and Wyne's former college grappling tutor declared yesterday that Munn never committed a deliberate foul during nearly three years of collegiate competition.

Unintentional fouls can be committed in the mat game just as in boxing, and Wichita Falls fistic followers know the latter happens every now and then.

One point of interest: the wisecracs can't yap what with Lewis abed in the hospital yesterday and today, that the match was framed.

They Praise Horned Frogs

Waco sport scribes are praising the prowess of Texas Christian university basketeers following the defeat there of the Baylor five by the Frogs. And Austin writers are doffing their caps to the Christians also. The Longhorns beat T. C. U. in the varsity byn by a 14 to 15 tabulation, but only after the most brilliant of rallies.

Texas is not as strong this year in reserve cage strength, but on paper the Southwest conference title seems to lie almost within the grasps of three teams incluring the Steers. The other pair of quintets with admitted championship possibilites are the Oklahoma Agges and the Horned Frogs.

Goofus, our star, has just discovered the world is alleged to be round, so he sweitedly declares.

As a reporter, Goofus is slow but deadly.

Jin Tucker, refreshing Waco sportologist, is taking great pains these days to explain to his readers that Baylor Coach Frank Bridges received injuries in an automobile wreck afterward and not while he was refereeing the Longhorn-T. C. U. cage tilt in Austin the other night.

Another Texas Star

Both the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox are after Chester (Spot) Falk, southpaw, stab star of the Texas interscolastic league adn the bulk of the Austin high school baseball team. Spot seems destined to travel in the footsteps of his big brother, Bib Falk, in the way of big league baseball fame, but Spot probably will adhere to the pitching role instead of turning to the outfield.

Falk probably will join the Red Sox because there a youngster will have a better chance to make good, says The Austin Statesman.

For several seasons Spot has stood the boys on their heads both in interscholastic and semi-pro circles of Texas. The veteran varsity baseball coach, Billy Disch, believes the youngster is slated for a great baseball career if he can be brought along slowly and not spoiled by rushing. Spot is 19 years old.

Most fighters can make you see stars when they hit, so it's said, but Duke Trammel makes you see the next eclipse. There're many who can testify to that, including the writer who has got in front of Dukum's starboard hook once or twice.

Seems Judge Landis has barred Jimmy O'Connell from basketball, too. Well, Jim can always play solitaire, unless the playing card manufacturers enlist on the side of Organized baseball.

CORNHUSKERS FEAST MICKS.

Notre Dame Pointed for Nebraska, Lieb Tells 'Em.

LINCOLN, Jan. 9.—The Notre Dame collegiate football champions were on their way home today after hobnobbing with the University of Nebraska gridiron squad at a banquet here last evening.

Tom Lieb, assistant to Rockne, told the Cornhuskers the "fitin' Irish" were "pointed" for the Nebraska game more than any other on their schedule as it would have "broken the heart" of the 23 Rockne veterans had they lost to Nebraska three times in succession.

Lieb explained Notre Dame's failure to use the forward passing game against Stanford by declaring the injury to Quarterback Stuhldreher early in the game had compelled them to adopt an altered style of play.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 9.—While Harry Greb, middleweight champion of the world, was busily denying rumors that he is to be married soon to Miss Louise Walton of Boston, Bob Sage of Detroit, his opponent in a fight for the middleweight championship of the world, announced his engagement today to Miss Catherine McIntosh of Detroit.

NOTRE DAME'S HORSEMEN SET FOOTBALL TRAVELING RECORD TO GRAB OFF GRID GONFALON

Micks Journey Almost Half Circumference of Earth, 9,000 Miles to Play Three Games

Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden were well named the Four Horsemen. But why stop at the backfield?

Why not the Eleven Horsemen, or twenty-two, or whatever number of galloping athletes pack their uniforms in the Notre Dame caravan?

Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden may be the lance point of the attack, they may be the apex of the charging wedge, but the other seven are right with them or thereabouts.

Ten victories furnish proof of the Horesmen's riding on gridirons, but they don't begin to tell the complete story of the charging of the whole caravan.

The Horsemen scored only four of the ten triumphs on their own prairie. Most of the riding was done into enemy territory and back home again.

Ponder over the vast milenge covered. Their first invasion was into the east to repulse the advance of the Army in New York. The following week they retraced their steps to throw back the attack of the Tigers. Later they appeared at Madison, Wis.; Evenston, Ill.; Pittsburgh, Pa., and Pasadena, California.

The soil of seven states has been trampled by their fleet hoofs. The caravan traveling from Middle West to East and from Middle West to Far West, has doubtless traversed three or four times that many states.

The milenge is amazing. We figured it out last night with the aid of a trusty atlas. The caravan now rests in South Bend, Ind., until next fall. In three months it traveled close to 10,500 miles.

* * * *

The Horsemen have ridden almost half way around the world.

* * * *

Traveled 9,000 Miles For Three Games

Three of the games—Army, Princeton and Stanford—take in railroad mileage of more than 9,000 miles. The longest hop was to the Coast, a distance of approximately 2,750 miles. The shortest was to Evanston for the Northwestern contest. This journey was only seventy-five miles.

The hop to New York and back to South Bend covered about 1,800 miles. The Princeton trip was shorter, something like 1,700. Madison, where Wisconsin was played, is in the neighborhood of 200 miles from the home of the Horsemen.

The Madison jump was nothing. Neither was the journey to Evanston, but the trip to Pittsburgh for Carnegie Tech was something more than a short ride. South Bend is 470 miles west of the Smoky City.

Six teams lost on the following Notre Dame road schedule, but the railroads didn't:

Team	Place	Distance
Army	New York	900
Princeton	Princeton, N. J.	850
Wisconsin	Madison, Wis.	200
Northwestern	Evanston, Ill.	75
Carnegie Tech	Pittsburgh, Pa.	470
Stanford	Pasadena, Cal.	2750

The distance given does not include the return trip. Multiply th etotal by two and the result is close to half the circumference of the earth.

Railroads benefited further on the Notre Dame schedule. Georgia Tech journeyed from Atlanta to South Bend. And Nebraska came to the home of the Horsemen from Lincoln, Neb.

* * * *

Rockne's galloping athletes journeyed 10,500 miles through all sorts of temperature and atmospheric conditions. Thermometers have registered 10 below and 70 above at playing points, but judging from results, climate never bothered the Horsemen.

Yale Leads in All-Americans

J. S. M. writes in to inquire which college has been given the greatest number of places on the All-American team since Walter Camp began his annual hobby. That shows J. S. M. is no respecter of a sports scribe's idle moments.

We labored over back files for the better part of an hour and a half before we discovered that Yale led the parade with eighty-four representatives on the thirty-six elevens which Camp has selected. Harvard is second with seventy-four, Princeton third with fifty-five and Pennsylvania fourth with thirty-eight.

Up to 1891 Camp confined himself to the Big Three. Then he included Pennsylvania, and until 1895 his selections were limited to the Big Four. For the last twenty-nine years the veteran authority has picked players he believed best regardless of affiliations.

Prior to 1895 Yale and Princeton were tied with twenty All-Americans each. Harvard had eighteen and Pennsylvania five.

Wyckoff, the great Cornell quarterback, was the first outsider to break into the all-star team. Three years later Hirschbeger, the famous Chicago fullback ad one of Stagg's greatest proteges, was selected over Big Four fullbacks, and in 1899 Seneca, of the Indians, was given a place. Wyckoff, Hirschberger and Seneca were the only outsiders prior to 1900.

Camp has chosen players from thirty-three colleges. For the first time in thirty-five years no member of a Big Three eleven was picked for the last season. Yale, Harvard ad Princeton could be skipped for many more years and still be out in front. Here's the complete list:

Yale	84	Indiana	4
Harvard	74	Columbia	4
Princeton	55	Ohio State	3
Pennsylvania	38	California	3
Michigan	13	Lafayette	3
West Point	11	Centre	3
Cornell	10	Rutgers	3
Dartmouth	10	Wisconsin	2
Chicago	8	Georgia Tech	2
Navy	6	W. and J.	2
Colgate	6	Iowa	2
Penn State	5	Notre Dame	2
Brown	5	Amherst	1
Syracuse	5	West Virginia	1
Minnesota	5	Vanderbilt	1
Illinois	5	Nebraska	1
Pittsburgh	5

Stuhldreher was the second Notre Dame player to be picked by Camp. The first was Gipp, the greatest back of 1920. He died a victim of pneumonia a few weeks after the selections were made known.

Kelly and Granham Come Back

It's a baseball adage that no two men score alike. Likewise no two men get exactly the same reaction out of any given play.

Little Andy High, Brooklyn all-round infielder, picked the career of big George Kelly as having provided him with the greatest comeback thrill he can recall. Elmer Jacobs, former Phillies' pitcher now with the Chicago Cubs, got his rally drama out of a deed by George Grantham, his teammate, until the November trade which took Grantham to the Pirates.

Andy and Jake have never been teammates, but both come from Missouri and both name a George as their hero.

Andy writes from his St. Louis home:

"Don't know that I can recall just at this time any particular comeback incident which stands out in my mind. But in 1922, my first year in the major leagues, I was much impressed by the spirit and courage of George Kelly, Giants' first baseman.

"George took more 'riding' and booing during that season than any other player I can recall. Never could understand why, unless his unusual height called for a certai namount of ridicule from the fans.

"The only effect the 'riding' had, as fas us I could see, was to make his hitting and general all-round play improve so much that it must have proved to the fans that their criticism had been unjust.

"That's whatI should describe as the best comeback I ever witnessed, for George was sensitive and he had to simply like the loud-voiced fans and make them like him. Which he did."

Elmer Jacobs' home is in Salem, Mo. He himself is a notable comeback.

The late Pat Moran always maintained that Jacobs was a great pitcher. Jake's big league career started with the Phillies when Pat was manager. He was coming along finely under the coaching of Moran and Killefer, until he was traded to St. Louis for Meadows.

Jake's comeback with Chicago was the real result of a great year in the Pacific coast league in the 1923 season. When the Cubs bought him he found himself once more under the coaching of the Moran system, as carried along by Will Killefer.

Here is the comeback's comeback. We had a game last summer against Pittsburgh. Aldridge was pitching, but we went into the ninth inning with a score of 4 to 2 against us. Grantham had a bad day at second base. Two, or maybe three errors. Anyhow, it was a ball game where winning pitching looked as if it was going to be on the losing side.

* * * *

"Anyhow, with two on in the ninth inning, Grantham came up and clouted a home run. We won, 5 to 4. I think that was a world's champion comeback, don't you?"

New Mat Champ Tried Boxing, But Was Knocked Out

Strangler's Conquerer Has Been Wrestling Only 11 Months

WIFE PROUD OF HIM

Negro Porters Bet Month's Pay On Nebraskan To Win

By CHARLES LEAVELLE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Jan 9.—The greatest ambition of Wayne "Big" Munn had been satisfied today after his defeat last night of Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world heavyweight champion wrestler. Since his initial mat appearance less than eleven months ago, Munn has burned with the desire to meet and conquer Lewis.

Seated beside his young and pretty wife, in their cozy apartment here today big Wayne told of his great love for clean sport, and how he had studied and trained in anticipation of some day facing the champion on the mat.

And his wife is proud of him. She calls him "Big Boy." He towers fully 18 inches above her and as she puts it, is "just a great big kid."

"Was I there? Well I certainly was, and it was grand," Mrs. Munn declared, her eyes sparkling, as she rested her head against her husband's shoulder.

Wanted Dempsey

Before choosing wrestling as his profession Munn tried his hand at boxing, but with unsatisfactory results. He was knocked out in the second round of his initial fight.

"When I went into professional athletics, I went in to win. Fairly and honestly, of course As I began training for my first fight I intended to meet Jack Dempsey in a year or so. The championship was my goal. The day of the bout came and as I crawled into the ring—as a preliminary fighter—I felt that I was taking my first step toward the crown.

"y opponent was a veteran.' I thought my superior strength would carry through.

"As the gong announced the second round he "opened up.' I next remembered looking dazedly up at the referee as he counted.

"I didn't think about the championship for two days. Then I began to train for another fight, but friends persuaded me to try wrestling."

Won From Start

unn's first mat experience was against an Oregon miner. He bent in two straight falls. Three minutes for the first and two for the second

The new champion will meet all comers as fast as matches can be arranged he declared. For the present he will rest he says.

Employes of the apartment hotel where the unns reside lingered about the champion's apartment all during the morning. Three negro porters who drew their month's pay to bet on unn, on his appearance, selected a spokesman to congratulate him this morning.

Wayne's two brothers, Monte and Wade, with whom he starred on the gridiron at Nebraska University in 1916 and 1917, were in ring side seats at the match last night. Monte is a representative in the Nebraska legislature.

Wayne was greatly amused he said at the antics of an instructor of English who taught him in his high school days.

"She is a maidenly dignified old lady and the way she yelled and rooted for me last night was highly amusing, said the champion.

Foul Was Accidental, Says Munn

In an exclusive statement to International News Service Friday morning Munn declared the throwing of Lewis out of the ring was an accident the referee must have seen had he been on either side instead of behind the two men.

"I had just got a crotch hold and half Nelson on Lewis which I had been working for all evening," said the new cumpion. "I had lifted Lewis over my head to throw him to the mat when he broke the hold and in using his left arm pushed himself out of my arms and out of the ring.

"I don't think that anyone who knows me would believe I would attempt a deliberate foul or try to throw an opponent on a cement floor."

NURMI RESUMES TRAINING.

Finn Refuses Offers Made by Movie and Sculptor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Paavo Nurmi went back into light training today for his next appearance in the municipal games at Madison Square Garden January 15. He refuses to be made a hero as a result of his smashing indoor debt here. Offers from a motion picture company which wished to make slow motion pictures of the famous runner in action and from a sculptor who wanted him to pose, were refused.

MRS. MARRIOTT WINS OUT.

Mrs. Hatchett Loses Play-Off of Golf Tie at Country Club.

Low medal honors went to Mrs. E. W. Marriott, but not until after a play-off of a tie score with Mrs. J. B. Hatchett, in this week's feminine golf tourney held on the Country club links. Miss Laura Lee Hampshire captured class B honors.

The scores of the tournament:

Mrs. Fred Couper 52, Mrs. W. C. Witcher 59, Mrs. H. L. Ruehl 63, Mrs. E. W. Marriott 47, Mrs. J. B. Hatchett 47, Mrs. A. W. Fisher 48, Mrs. J. H. Fletcher 48, Mrs. G. H. Hampshire, Mrs. C. O. Davis 50. Miss Laura Lee Hampshire 67.

They Took His Cutlass, But Wallie Still Has Big Mitt and Brains

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The other day Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburg club, wound a towel about his head again and did some more housecleaning Among other things he decided he didn't need Wallie Schmidt, veteran catcher, any longer.

Wallie was called in and tipped off that he was due to walk the plank.

He turned over his cutlass but as he climbed up on the plank to walk it he hung outo his big glove and his head. And when he leaped off the end of the springboard he landed on the island of Receptive Mood instead of in the waters of oblivion.

In other words, Mr. Walter Schmidt is not done as a ball player. The chances are 1 to 1 Grant he will be doing some back-stopping and more coaching for another big league club when baseball gets under way the coming spring.

Schmidt may not be the best catcher in the game but he is one of the best. He is one of the headiest receivers in the business. His knowledge of the opposing batters and his ability to read young pitchers and help them make the most of their stuff has helped many a young slab artist get away in good shape and remain in the ranks of the winners.

Zach Wheat, one of the greatest natural hitters in the game, paid Schmidt a pretty compliment one time when he remarked that he never tried to outguess a pitcher but that Wallie Schmidt did keep him guessing as to what kind of a ball the catcher had asked for.

Burleigh Grimes, shrewd veteran of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is frank in his admiration of Schmidt, who gave him many pointers when Grimes was his teammate with the Pirates back in 1916 and 1917.

Schmidt is one of baseballs footballs He broke into the game with Indianapolis and had played with Fort Smith, Helena, Memphis, Winston-Salem and Roanoke when the Cleveland club gave him a trial in 1916. The Cleveland bosscs decided he wasn't worth hanging onto and sold him to the Athletics. About the time Schmidt thought he had finally found a home Connie Mack shipped him to San Francisco. That was in 1911. He labored there five years before he drew another chance in the big time—with Pittsburg.

He proceeded to take rank as one of the best catchers in the National League despite the fact that he couldn't raise his batting average above two dollars and a half. In 1920 he showed a burst of Ruthlessness at the bat, hitting .329. This probably was because he had been a holdout, had reported late and felt he had to get his usual number of hits for the season.

He was born in the thriving town of Coal Hill, Ark., which, for that reason, claims its place in the baseball sun.

BROWNING TO SCRAP ON MEMPHIS CARD TONIGHT

Mutt Browning of Breckenridge will box Jack Sullivan of Lindsey, Okla., in the ten-round main event of the Charles R. Simmons post weekly fight card in Memphis tonight.

Browning boxed Moco Carpenter at Breckenridge New Year's night to a draw. He was in Wichita Falls Thursday night and challenged the winner of the Carpenter-Clark match which went to a draw, also Browning expects to appear on one of the weekly cards here some time in the future against Carpenter or some other good light heavyweight.

Gorman Wrestles in Memphis.

Jack Gorman, 185-pound wrestler of Wellington who is billed to grapple with Chief Wow Wow of Frederick at the Elks smoker Monday night, is scheduled to wrestle in Memphis tonight. He will come to Wichita Falls Sunday. The Elks match is to be best two out of three falls. A four-round boxing preliminary between two local boys is to be arranged, according to the athletic committee.

Houston to Enter Texas Open.

HOUSTON, Jan. 9.—A squad consisting of at least five professional golfers of Houston will represent the local district in the annual Texas open at San Antonio. The five who are certain to go to the Aalamo City are Willie Maguire, Tom Burke, Will Lundberg, Dan Kenny and Carl Baker.

Faith and the .300 Hitters

How Santone's Cellar Champions Won The Pennant

(Third Installment)

Our pitchers had settled down pretty well, and was holding the other teams to low scores, but we had just quit hittin'. We couldn't have hit a baby carriage with an automobile Think of that! A team with eleven natural three-hundred hitters, and no a man hittin' over two hundred and eighty-six, and I am only that high on a few lucky ones. We'd even quit cussin' the official scorers, which is a bad sign. I don't think we could have taken a score blank and marked a base hit on it.

Old Jack is worst of all. He was always gettin' his buttin' average mixed up with the size of his collars, and then kickin' when he tried to get on a fifteen and one-half instead of an eighteen.

By the time Dallus has licked us the third straight time, every one in the club is cryin' Jack and tryin' to stick the blame on him. The newspapers begins sayin' Jack had been dead six or seven years and askin' the management to notify the coroner.

I quit readin' the papers at all in them days. There was too much truth in what them fellows was writin' about us. I don't mind bein', in the clubhouse, how bad I am, but it sounds much worse when it gets into type. I remember, oncet tellin' a reporter what a bum game I played, and he wrote just what I said about myself, and when I read it the next mornin' I wanted to hunt him up and lick him for sayin' it.

Well, sir, we gets back home, havin' lost nineteen straights and cussin' the conductor because he went slow up at Figeron Street crossin' and let us drop off there. There wasn't any brass band down to the depot to meet us We gets out of our car quiet and easy, not tellin' any one we is the San Antonio's baseball club—not a-tall. We scatters quick for the back streets. Every time I passes a couple of guys on the street they looks at me as if ready to pull their guns, and says: "There's one of 'em now!" and I feels like runnin'. Them Texas fans is touchy, and they sure don't care much for a loser.

Terhune is gettin' grayer and balder every minute. He had tried changin' the battin' order, and in Dallas he's turned it upside down, and let the pitcher lead off, but he can't break that hoodoo no way. So he orders us out for mornin' practice the day after we gets in.

That was the crabbiest bunch of athletes I ever did see together. We gets out there in the mornin' and knocks all the knots out of the fences with fine drives against any kind of pitchin', and in the afternoon we can't hit a ticket scalper on Broadway. Honest, we swings our heads off at floaters so slow a fellow can see the ball all the way up, and count the stitches on it, and untie the knot on the seam while the ball is going past.

We gets trimmed again, of course, and shut out with two hits, and one paper starts a contest offerin' a reward to any one who will discover how our team happens to get them. Most of us decides to stick inside the park and practice after the game is over. At least, that is what we tells each other, but there is a lot of fans hangin' round outside the fence, and we don't want to go out till it gets dark There's no tellin' what them Texas fans will do to a fellow when they get some crazy idea into their beans.

Terhune didn't say a word. He's all cussed out; and ain't got a cuss left for any one, no matter what happens. He don't know what to do, and all he can think of is mornin' practice, so he orders us out early the next day.

We wns all sittin' round in the club-house, growlin', and cussin' each other, and each one alibyin' himself, and blamin' some one else, when Jack Davies comes in. He looked happy, which makes us sorer than ever, until he gets in the middle of the floor and says:

"Fellows, I've got a plan to break this hoodoo. You all stick here, while I fix it. I think I can arrange to start us all hittin' again."

We don't believe him, of course, but anything that sounds like base hits interests us just then, so we asks him how he's goin' to do it?

"I ain't sure I can pull it off, boys," he says, seriouslike. "But if I can we'll murder a few pitchers. I'm goin' to try. You stick here. If it works—"

He won't say anything more, but he has got us goin We watches him clost while he goes out to the mower shed and gets a wheelbarrow,

Lewis Due For Quick Recovery

KANSAS CITP, Jan. 9.—"Strangler" Lewis, fallen champion heavyweight wrestler, was reported tonight to be resting comfortably at the hospital where he was taken following his defeat last night by Wayne "Big" Munn.

"Although it would be difficult at this time to state accurately just how grave the wrestler's injury is," his physician said tonight, "his condition is very favorable to speedy recovery."

Lewis suffered a sprain of the sacro-iliac joint and bruises when he slipped from Munn's arms or was thrown outside the ring. The physician, who had said early today that it might be necessary to encase Lewis in a pluster cast, declared tonight this would not be necessary.

McMULLEN TO MEET DUKE.

Trammel Willing to Box If Elmer Makes Weight.

Elmer McMullen of Dodge City, Kan., popular welterweight pugilist, will in all likelihood tangle with Duke Trammel, Wichita Falls favorite, on the next legion fistic card billed January 22, announced Promoter Don Wofford Friday. Trammel has agreed to meet McMullen with the understanding that the Kansas glovester put of a $50 forfeit to make 147 pounds ringside.

CARPENTER'S NOSE CRACKED.

Moco Carpenter, Wichita Falls light heavy, is nursing a broken nose and split lik as result of his embroglio with Roughhouse Clark, local heavyweight, Thursday. The bout was called a draw.

and then takes every bat in the clubhouse and piles it on the barrow and starts wheelin' 'em away.

"I'll bring 'em all back inside an hour," he says. "Then well see if it works."

Jack Wheels the bats out the carriage gate, and we sits around on the clubhouse porch wonderin what sort of an idiotic scheme he's got in that old bald bean of his. Every one tries guessin' some sort of a thing, but no one has any idea what Jack's up t. He sure has us interested. Olson bets Pop Pence four bits Jack has a patent spring to stick in the bats, and make 'em hit. The rest of us gives it up. Maybe his scheme ain't worth a nickel; but, like a fellow with neuralgia, we was perfectly willing to try anything any one had to suggest.

Playing with Fire
The Story of a Social Climber
by Lucille Van Slyke

ROSALIE BLANCHARD a pretty little country school ma'am who has many ambitions, and

CHARLES FERGUSON, whose only ambition seems to be to marry her, and

EUNICE FERGUSON, his middle-aged cousin, who is a teacher in a fashionable boarding school for girls. A sudden attack of appendicitis makes it impossible for her to return to the school and Rose eagerly offers to go for her. Soon after her arrival at Pendleton Hall Rosalie meets,

R. STUYVESANT CONVERSE, a bachelor cousin of Mrs. Stuyvesant Perry's who is entering her grand-daughter at Pendleton Hall, a squire of dames, who finds Rosalie's youthful prettiness and pertness and decidedly entertaining. He invites her to dance with him at a smart little country restaurant known as Foxes' Den.

PERFECTLY DELICIOUS BARGAINS.
CHAPTER VI.

NEVER in the world did a pay envelope make any girl happier than that first pay envelope that Mrs. Hartwell pushed across the desk to Rosalie Blanchard. One hundred and fifty dollars in it! She wanted to dance down the tiled corridor!

Three teachers were going shopping with her. They clambered into the smart little yellow station cart about two in the afternoon, bound for a clothes shop in a big hotel in a nearby village. And for the first time since she had met those rather snobbish persons, she found them treating her with some degree of friendliness.

"My dear," bubbled the rather angular Vassar graduate who was the history instructor, "you never saw such bargains as we get every fall over here when the owner's summer trade is over and she is closing out her left-overs! She cuts prices to next to nothing. I got the swankiest hand embroidered sport frock last fall for thirty-six dollars."

To Rosalie, used to Emsville prices, thirty-six dollars sounded like enough to buy at least two frocks. But she wisely said nothing as the little station cart bumped up and down the Westchester hills in the gorgeous September sunlight.

Two hours later, stacked with boxes, the cart was coasting down a long curving hill with the teachers chattering gaily. Rosalie was so happy over her purchases that she wanted to hug them.

One box held a fascinating little cream-coloured crepe dinner frock, charmingly decorated with pale yellow roses stencilled about its smartly flaring skirt. Another box held a pleated sport skirt of dove grey with an old rose jacket of flannel bound in grey, two silk blouses, a wee grey felt hat and the proper shoes and hosiery to wear with these things.

THE Vassar girl was almost gurgling with pride because she had superintended Rosalie's purchases.

"My dear! You're being so small is the luckiest thing! All through life you will be picking up the most delicious bargains! I never heard of anything so ridiculous as your getting those yellow satin slippers for five dollars! They are worth at least eighteen."

Rosalie's dark eyes shone and her usually pale cheeks were flaming with color.

Only one thing bothered her, the fact that she would have to wear her shabby old coat over that charming little evening gown. And being naturally of a rather straight-forward nature she hated the idea that she would have to slip away, clandestine fashion, when the time came for her to meet Dick Converse that evening.

The village was at least a mile and a half from the school, she decided that she would have to carry the wonderful new slippers in her coat pocket when she walked down the long hill.

"Like a servant girl," she thought miserably.

Every day that she lived at Pendleton Hall was making her unhappier. The simple life that she had lived previously was in startling contrast to the rather cophisticated simplicity of Pendleton Hall. The very things that she hated most about it she envied the most. Even these half-grown youngsters who were pupils had a sort of intuitive knowledge of what was the appropriate thing to do! Whereas Rosalie felt as though every thing she did or said was the wrong thing.

Yet already she had picked up little mannerisms and habits and was using new bits of speech with studied ease.

SHREWD little Mannette Quimby pranced about her as she donned the new dinner dress.

"Gee! Miss Rosy Lee!" she chanted. "You're some gal!"

Rosalie blushed at the child's compliment. But her eyes narrowed thoughtfully. Nannette had dined the evening previous at her grandmother's house and she knew that Dick Converse dined there too. Dick's little nickname for her was this "Miss Rosy Lee." Had he discussed her before the child?

She went down stairs, sternly deciding that she would not accept Dick's invitation. Decidedly it was not safe to take chances like that.

For that very afternoon the Vassar girl had discussed the gallant Mr. R. Stuyvesant Converse with startling frankness.

"Saw you playing tennis with him," she had let fall with seemingly carelessness. "Know him very well?"

Rosalie had answered with dry lips.

"Not very."

"Perfect old tame cat, isn't he?" the Vassar girl went on. "Men like Dick make me weary. Has just enough income that he doesn't have to work. Ten years ago you'd have said that he was going to set the world afire. Good looking, the right sort, corking tennis player, good at polo, voted the handsomest man in his class at college. But I don't know—his whole life is like his war record—he was one of those desk colonels on the terrible battlefront of Washington, D. C. I think, myself, that 'Lisbeth Perry and her crowd have been the ruination of him. He just fetches and carries for those old girls, most of them old enough to be his mother!"

It was at this point that Rosalie told herself that certainly she wouldn't go dancing with Mr. R. Stuyvesant Converse!

But three minutes later when the fat little mathematics teacher asked: "Is it true he's a marvelous dancer?" and the Vassar girl murmured, "perfectly ritzy, you want to cry yourself to sleep with joy after a couple of fox trots with him." Why Rosalie wouldn't have been human if she hadn't wanted to risk just one good crying spell!

DINNER was rather an event that night, the first time that the new dining hall had been used. Mrs. Hartwell was positively awe-inspiring in trailing black lace with a huge comb in her iron-grey hair.

But she gave Rosalie the first pleasant word she had given her since her arrival when the little substitute teacher trippled into the room in her pretty new dress.

"Bless us! I though you were one of the seniors!" she ejaculated good humoredly. "Nice frock, my dear, very nice!"

Again Rosalie waveringly decided she would not go to meet Dick!

But at eight o'clock Nanette Quimby winked at her in the big hall where the children were dancing.

"Dick said he'd be down at the tennis court for you at nine," she whispered. "He promised me a new tennis racket if I'd tell you and nobody else—a 'delicious bargain'!" she mimicked the history instructor.

MARKETS

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—Cotton futures closed steady at net advance of 12 to 23 points.

	High	Low	Close	P.Close
Jan.	23.84	23.64	23.72	23.53
Mar.	24.02	23.72	23.80-90	23.71

July	24.37	24.07	24.25-31	24.07
Oct.	23.75	23.45	23.60	23.37

Opening: January 23.85; March 23.72; May 23.97; July 24.07; October 23.43.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—The market for cotton developed a steady tone today but trading was far from active. After an early advance of 20 to 31 points on active months mainly on the higher price for sterling, the expectation of a bullish week-end and the continued absence of rain in Texas, the market drifted somewhat aimlessly for the rest of the day within the early range and without developing any decisive trend in either direction, finally closing at a net gain of 12 points on March.

At the start as Liverpool was about due, the market opened steady but somewhat irregular first trades showing a loss of one point to gains of four points. The market traded at 23.72 for March and 23.97 for May during the opening call and these prices proved to be the lowest of the day. Prices soon firmed up and by the middle of the morning March traded at 24.02 and May at 24.27 or 30 points up from the lows and 29 to 31 above Wednesday's close. For the rest of the day prices fluctuated within the early range and the close showed net gains for the day of 12 to 18 points on the near months and 22 to 23 on the more distant positions.

Weekly statistics proved bullish as expected with mill takings for the week reaching 430,000 bales against 354,000 last year and 293,000 year before last, and exports reaching 176,965 against 100,325 last year. The most interesting development, however, was the first decreased 6,389 for the week.

The weather map showed no rain in the western half of the belt but private advices later in the day reported rather good rains at Taylor, Texas, which appeared to be rather general.

Exports for the day totalled 26,112 bales, of which Galveston cleared 10,804 bales.

Spot News

GALVESTON, Jan. 9.—The spot market closed steady unchanged. Sales 1,833 bales. Low ordinary 16.85; ordinary 18.55; good ordinary 19.85; low middling 22.35; middling 23.85; good middling 24.50; middling fair 24.85.

N. Y. Stocks

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—With a marked increase in public participation stock prices today continued to move to higher ground under the lead of the shipping, industrial and railroad shares. The demand for stocks, which spread over a broad list, was predicted upon the continuance of easy money rates and reports of further improvement in the steel, oil and other independent industries.

United States Steel common touched 124¾, the highest price since 1917, and Baldwin closed 2¾ points higher at 1.36¾, after selling at 136½, the highest price in more than a year. American Can touched 166 and then slipped back to 164¾ for a small fractional gain on the day. Studebaker, the other member of the so-called "big four" moved within a narrow range and closed fractionally lower at 45.

High grade rails were in good demand throughout the session. Southern Pacific crossed 108 to the highest price since 1920, closing at a net gain of 2 points. Union Pacific touched 153, the highest price in nearly 2 years. Further accumulation of Denver and Rio Grande Western preferred sent that stock up five points to a record top at 54.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVE STOCK

FORT WORTH, Jan. 9.—Friday was a day of meager cattle and calf receipts and the trade was devoid of any unusual features. Around 2,500 head of cattle and 600 calves were here. Cattle values remained on a steady level and the calf trade again leaned toward strength.

A few cars of fed steers were on offer, but most of the supply consisted of grassers, the latter clearing around 5.50 to 6.50. Fed steers did not sell so readily, and prices were barely in line with the week's 25c decline.

Cattle, 3,100 including 600 calves; market steady; bevves 3.50@8.25; stockers 3.25@7.00; cows 1.75@5.50; cutters 2.25@2.85; canners 1.50@2.00; heifers 3.25@8.00; yearlings 3.50@8.50; bulls 2.50@4.50; calves 2.00@8.00.

Hogs 1,700, including 900 direct; shipping strong; top around 10.70; bulk 10.00@10.50; best medium weight 10.60@10.75; good mixed 10.50@10.65; good light 10.25@10.50; fair mixed 10.00@10.25; fair light 9.75@10.00; common 7.50@8.50; packing sows 8.50@9.75; pigs 8.00@8.75.

Sheep, 200; market steady; lambs 12.00@13.50; feeders 12.00@14.50; yearlings 10.00@13.50; wethers 7.50@9.50; ewes 7.00@8.50; culls 1.50@3.00; stockers 3.00@5.00; goats 1.50@3.25.

WOOL

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"Business in the local wool market has been rather quiet, but the market has a confident tone and prices are generally well sustained, although some slight irregularities have existed.

"The manufacturers are getting ready for their heavy weight openings expected to commence the latter part of the month. Meanwhile, however, they are not neglecting to look the wool market over rather carefully. Woolen mills are buying more generally than worsted interests.

"In the west contracting is within narrow limits, but at firm rates. Such sales as have been held in the foreign primary markets have shown little change from the pre-holiday closing sales. Exchange is rising against the local importer.

"Mohair is firm on limited inquiry."

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations:

Pace, Bernhart

Pace Brothers No. 1, Bernhardt, TE&LCO survey, block 238, west of the Litchfield pool, after being equipped for the pump has made a small well with a little water content.

Rig has been skidded 300 feet south and 300 feet east to the location for the No. 2, in the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of northeast quarter of block 238. The No. 1 well is located in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of the block.

Bridwell-Heydrick, T&P

Bridwell and Heydrick, and the T. & P. Coal and Oil company, are rigged up with cable tools and about ready to spud on their No. 1, McCrary, in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 52, block 14, H&TCRR block 14.

North Vernon Has One Drilling Well Down 1,625 Feet

Texhoma Has Standard Rig Built on Covert Farm, Near Odell

BIG BEND COUNTRY

Wichita Falls District to Get Thru Testing Out by Development Underway

In line with the trend of operations over the so-called Wichita Falls district now to seek spots further removed from the more or less developed fields of Wichita and north Archer counties is a pronounced wildcatting campaign being started over the northern part of Wilbarger county in the vicinity of Odell, north of the Pease river and south of Red river.

The area is in a large bend of Red river, similar to the bends further to the south which enclose the Nocona gas field, Petrolia area and Burkburnett fields. There have been comparatively few holes drilled in the section, and in practically all which have been drilled deep enough as many as four showing have been found, the general level of these sands being at 1,650 and 1,700 feet, an unusually thick stratum found usually between 1,825 and 50 feet, another at 1,930 feet, and the deepest at 2,200 feet.

One Well Down 1,600 Feet.

The drilling campaign now under way in this section of the county includes one well down already to an interesting depth, one well rigged up and ready to go, two locations on which operations will start at once, and four tentative locations, where drilling is planned in the near future.

Northeast of Odell Hamilton-Shadbolt-Shelton-Smith have started up again after being shut down over the holidays, depth yesterday given as 1,625 feet, on their No. 1 Kester near the center of the southwest narter of the northwest narter of section 7, block 11, H&TCRR survey. The next two weeks should show something one day or another in this test.

Locations.

Texhoma Oil and Refining company is rigged with cable tools and about ready to spud on their No. 1, Covert, located in section 8, block 15.

Stidham and Thrasher have made a location for a rotary test in the center of the northwest 40 acres of the southeast quarter of section 34, in block 11, H&TCRR survey, on the C. Neal land, and expect to get started up at once.

Holmes and Bailey have made a tentative location in section 7, block 10 H&TCRR survey on the W. T. Collins farm, about two miles from either the Hamilton-Shadbolt-Smith or Texhoma tests.

G. C. Wood et al have made a location and will get started immediately in the northeast corner of the southeast 40 acres of the southwest narter of section 24, S. D. Bettes, block 16, H&TCRR survey.

Lipscomb Kaiser has made a tentative olcation on the E. W. Neece farm three miles west of Odell, just across the line in Hardeman county, no section number.

C. Eaton et al have made a tentative location in the east half of section 68, block 15, F. E. Shaw farm about two miles southeast of the Stidham and Thrasher location.

Luts and others have a prospective location in block 19, in the apex of the river bend, between three and four miles northeast of Odell.

Marathon West?

North Wilbarger county has come to the attention of operators at various times since oil was first discovered in this district, but in all that time comparatively little drilling has been done. Its location, according to J. A. Udden, J. W. Beede and W. P. Bentley of the University of Texas on the northernmost crest of the much-discussed Marathon fold is borne out in a measure by entirely different formations which are encountered in wells in Wichita and other parts of Wilbarger county, the South Vernon shallow lime being almost altogether missing, it is reported.

All of the tests mentioned are to be drilled with rotary tools with the single exception of the Texhoma's Covert location.

New Heydrick Map

Heydrick Mapping company has completed a map of the Olney district covering an area approximately 21 miles long, east and west and 13 1-2 miles wide, north and south, taking in the four corners of Archer, Young, Throckmorton and Baylor counties, up to date. Scale is 2,000 feet to the inch. The concentration of activity in that district has made this map much to be desired, the old Swastika map covering only a portio nof the active district.

Further Advance In Fuel Oil Price Is Not Likely If Predictions Made By Standard Head Prove Accurate

Competition of Fuel Oil With Coal As Expressed in Belief of Teagle Will Not Warrant New Increase.

If the price of fuel oil is to remain at a competitive price with the market price of coal, as W. C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, has declared should be, there is little liklihood of a material advance above the present quotation in vogue at present of $1.30 a barrel for fuel at north Texas and Oklahoma refineries.

A report of the Western Petroleum Refiners' association statistical bureau has figured that with coal bringing $2.05 a ton at the mine and fuel oil bringing $1.30 a barrel the utilized British Thermal units to each dollar would be 4,729,064 for coal, and 4,356,159 for fuel oil.

The refiners' association has figured that the above relationship of the two commodities existed as of September, 1924. It has figured that the price relationship was in favor of fuel oil all during 1924 until August when the price of fuel oil increased to an average of $1.22 a barrel at refineries, and coal was $1.99 a ton giving fuel oil 4,641,800 British thermal units to the dollar and coal 4,824,121.

In computing the heat units which may be utilized from one dollar's expenditure in the two fuels, it has been estimated that coal has 12,000 B.T.U.'s to the pound compared with 19,000 a pound for fuel oil, 40 per cent efficiency compared with 90 per cent for oil, 4,800 utilized B.T.U.'s for coal and 18,050 for oil; that there are 313.14 pounds in a barrel of fuel oil, 9,600,000 utilized British thermal units a ton for coal and 5,663,007 British thermal units utilized to the barrel of fuel oil.

South Vernon Oil Co.

The South Vernon Oil company is setting casing at a reported depth of 1,907 feet on the north offset to the old Sheerin and McCamey No. 1 Richardson, which failed to make a well from varied 1,900 and 2,000-foot formations. This test is being watched with more than usual interest inasmuch as its completion for a successful producer will shed a new light on territory south of the fied proper, which has not ooked so good since the seeming faiure of the Sheerin-McCamey-Lucey producer.

The South Vernon offset to the Barkley-Meadows well on the east side of their lease in section 83 is reported drilling below 1,800 feet.

No. 7, offset to the Richardson test is eight feet in the sand.

The South Vernon Oil company's No. 10, an inside location, just east of the Ray-Massie offsets is setting and cementing casing at a depth of 1,936 feet on sand.

Verschoyle, Wainscott

C. H. Verschoyle's No. 1, Wainscott, located in the southwest corner of the east half of block 1590, TE&LCO survey, north Young county, south of the Harmel pool, was expected to start up again yesterday after being shut down at 1,301 feet.

Bridwell-Heydrick, Stephens

Bridwell and Heydrick expect to drill the plug out some time today on their No. 3, Stephens, casing having been cemented at a depth of 2,273 feet, the deepest productive sand so far found in the field.

Midcontinent Notes

WICHITA, Kansas.—S. W. Forrester of Wichita will drill a deep test in the NE of the NW of 4-33-7, 15 miles southwest of Winfield, on the M. A. Countryman farm, a half mile from producing wells.

Shreveport, Louisiana — Rapid decline at Smackover accounted for the major part of a 425,628 barrel decline in the December production of pools in north Louisiana and south Arkansas, where despite an increase in six of eleven pools the district dopped that figure.

BRAMAN, Oklahoma—E. B. Shawrer wildcat, located midway between the old Fox-Bush field in southern Butler county and the rock pool in northern Cowley county is being watched closely by operators here who believe that it has more than an average chance to make a good well and open a new pool, due to showings in surrounding tests.

C-C BANQUET

might be expected at such a meeting as last night's proved to be. It was a combination of the classic and plebian—or, if you please, highbrow stuff administered in cosmopolitan fashion to an audience that thrived on it. Mr. Malloch had the highbrow stuff; he talked it in a way all could understand; and his hearers liked it.

The ovation that came when the post closed was as spontaneous as it was prolonged and sincere. It lasted so long that Judge A. H. Britain, who had left the speaker's table when Mr. Malloch's passes on bald heads began to hit too close to home, had time to wiggle through the close-packed crowd from one side of the room to the other and gain his seat again. The little verse quoted above was the speaker's parting remark and it, too, was vigorously applauded.

But while Mr. Walloch drew much of the evening's attention he was by no means the whole show. There were, for example, two other addresses that claimed an important place. Judge A. H. Britain spoke at length on what the chamber of commerce had done in the year past and what it proposed to do in the 12 months to come. Dr. B. Youngblood, director of experiment stations of Texas A. and M. college handled the subject of irrigation in exhaustive fashion. There was music—the Fort Sill Military band, a "singspiration" led by R. E. Shepherd; awarding of cotton contest prizes to D. W. McSham and Miss Edna Robinson; a one-reel movie that showed Wichita Falls "as was and is;" balloting on and selection of five new directors; announcement that C. H. Verschoyle and the Rotary club have made possible the presentation of a loving cup to the city's most useful citizen in 1924; endorsement of the 350,000 campaign fund to be solicited for the chamber—and others.

Judge Britain, who acted as toastmaster of the evening gave the usual but at the same time an unusual address dealing with the work of the chamber. As president of the organization he reviewed its past achievements and then launched onto the program that the chamber has set for itself in 1925. The complete task is set forth in the 21 main objectives, previously decided on and that are found on page 10 of this morning's Record News.

The more important ones, as indicated by the speaker, included plans for the erection of a new civic auditorium to fill a long felt need here, and the aggresive colonization of the irrigation valley. On the auditorium proposition, Judge Britain said that the method of procedure was yet to be determined, but that if Wichita Falls was to "abandon her swaddling clothes and graduate into the class of a real metropolis she must have some such building." He suggested that the structure be designed as a home for the Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A. and that possibly it could be used for municipal administration.

For $50,000 Budget

The idea as a whole evidently appealed to the banqueteers for the speaker's remarks on it were greeted with applause.

In concluding Judge Britain referred to the coming chamber of commerce campaign; he stressed the need of a budget of $50,000 and closed with "let us make up our minds as to what we want to do in 1925—then do it—and thus be sure of success."

In his address, "Irrigation—Your Opportunity," Dr. B. Youngblood traced the development of irrigating from the days of its inception. He characterized the practice of it here as "supplemental irrigation," pointing out that the normal rainfall of the territory was sufficient to produce "dry crops," but that the availability of water assured constant production at all times. He mentioned the wide the danger of water logging, and in variety of fertile soil, warned against conclusion pledged the constant and earnest support of his school and department. In this connection he urged that the experiment station established here be allowed to do all the experimenting in agricultural lines.

Dr. Youngblood, Mr. Malloch and Judge Britain were the only speakers of the evening, although the program was started off with a short declamation, "A Citizen's Creed," by Fred Couper Jr., one of the city school system's most talented young orators. These features with the added attraction of the Fort Sill band required from after 7 o'clock until after 11 to present. The band lent tremendous assistance in the promotion of the evening and was warmly applauded after its selections.

This "pre-season" affair was a novel stunt. The diners were sent to the big auditorium as they entered the building and there were treated to a concert, some big time vaudeville and some home talent stuff of class itself. Two acts from the Wichita theatre bill—the Keller sisters and Lynch and McKay and Ardine were introduced by George Hodgins after the band had finished. R. S. Shepherd, with Mrs. Shepherd at the piano wound up the program with a complex musicale that is hard to classify. But like all of Shep's stunts, it was good.

Dr. J. C. Cantwell, superintendent of schools here, pried the lid off with a short talk concerning the Junior college and what it meant to Wichita Falls. He announced that an open house was to be held in the near future to which the public was invited. The school wants to show, he said, just what they have in the way of equipment and facilities.

Name Directors

Balloting on five new directors for the chamber for 1925 was started as soon as the diners had entered the hall and the results were announced at the close. Nine prominent Wichitans were submitted, and the five elected were as follows: W. D. Cline, W. P. Ferguson, J. T. Gant, E. S. Goodner and J. C. Mytinger. Other directors having one more year to serve are Judge Britain, H. T. Harrell, W. B. Hamilton, Marvin Smith and P. A. Rogers. Directors with two years to serve are T. P. Duncan, J. S. Bridwell, Carter McGregor, Frank Timberlake and Luther Hoffman.

A meeting of the board will be held Friday night, Jan. 16, at which officers will be elected and organization completed. Plans for the campaign also will be mapped out at a meeting of the various committee chairmen to be held at the Wichita club at noon today, and other meetings to be held by the chairmen and workers next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The drive will be conducted those three days.

Long and careful planning for the dinner was evident from the manner in which the mechanics of it were handled. A large number of ladies comprising the general and special committees were on hand to lend whatever assistance was needed. The actual preparation of the dinner was made by Mrs. P. A. Welty, director of the Junior college cafeteria, and her own corps of assistants. The serving was done by the members of the Business and Professional women's club under the direction of Mrs. Iva Austin.

Chairmen and Committees.

J. T. Harrell was general chairman of the committee in charge of all arrangements and others who worked with him on this were J. T. Gant, Dr. N. F. Grafton, J. M. McFall, S. A. L. Morgan, J. N. Prothro and R. E. Penick.

John H. Bailey of Cuero Is Veteran of the Legislature and Father of the Senate

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

John H. Bailey of Cuero, DeWitt county, is the father of the Senate. He was a slendor sheik thirty years ago when he made his maiden speech in the House of Representatives.

Senator Archie Parr of Benavedies comes back with the same old smile and the padre like expression. Senator W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock, way out in the west, is another of the strong men returned.

Senator J. W. Reid of Canyon is a man who should make his mark under the big dome this winter. He was a teacher for many years. He owned land in the Mexia oil districts. Luck smashed him in the face and filled his pockets. Now he is one of the leading business men and progressive farmers in the west.

Senator Pierce B. Ward of Johnson county is a new member but this will not be his first term. Way back before the coming of the world war he held down the senate seat for four years and knows all the old timers.

Senator Charles Murphy of Houston is an old member and before he was sent to the senate by the people of his district he had served two terms in the lower house. He speaks for organized labor and whenever he speaks he speaks out loud.

Senator Thomas Jefferson Holbrook of Galveston is back again. His friends wanted him to run for congress last year but some one told him that a political bird in hand was worth two political birds in the bush.

Senator Julius Real of Kerr county overwhelmed T. H. Ridgeway of Bexar county, the democratic nominee, and has the distinction of being the only republican member of the senate. Not many years ago Julius Real ran against another democratic nominee in the same district and overwhelmed him.

Senator Arthur J. Wirtz of Guadalupe county came back by a large majority. He is the young man who led the fight against the Neff ouster bill and history makes mention of the fact that Wirtz won the fight.

Senator Lloyd E. Price of Dalngerfield, Senator H. F. Triplett, of of Schulenburg, Senator Carl C. of Kaufman, Senator W. S. Moore of Gainesville, Senator Joe M. Moore of Greenville, Senator Gus Russek of Schulenburg, Senator Carl C Hardin of Stephenville, Senator Eugene Miller of Garner, Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls, Senator Jesse R. Smith of Breckenridge, Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, and Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine, are beginners in the upper house.

Of the number Senators Price, J. Roy Hardin, Joe M. Moore, Eugene Miller and J. D. Parnell have had legislative experience in other years in the hall of the house of representatives. Price led the fight for the income tax in the 38th legislature and Joe M. Moore was one of his principal supporters. They were overwhelmed.

It is said that the advocates of a state income tax will not press the issue this year as the ice is thin and the water deep. Senator Berkeley of Alpine comes as the successor of former Senator Robert M. Dudley of El Paso. He represents large interests as there are more cattle, sheep and goats in his district than can be found in any other senatorial district beneath the shining sun.

Among the leading members of the 38th legislature who will answer the roll call of the 39th are Senators L. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, H. L. Lewis of Navasota, Charles R. Floyd of Paris, Edgar E. Witt of Waco, Robert A. Stuart of Fort Worth, Thomas G. Pollard of Tyler, R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, and J. G. Strong of Carthage.

Senator Eugene Miller of Parker county defeated Roy Coffee of Wise county. Coffee is the statesman who led the fight in the 37th and 38th legislatures for a five cent gross receipt tax on petroleum. They put him away when he aspired to a seat in the senate. Senator J. D. Parnell comes from the big oil district known as the mid-continent territory. He is said to know all about petroleum, having made and lost a fortune getting his heels greased.

There are politicians who say that Senator Fairchild will be the floor leader for the Ferguson forces as he is a died in the wool Ferguson man and has never whimpered or wavered, since the political stars fell in 1916. There are two groups in the senate; there may be three before the session grows old.

The fourth of this series will deal with the personnel of the new house where the big appropriation bills are hammered into shape and where the gas manufacturers always start in to clean up the work in sixty days and later along in the year embrace an extra session and sometimes two or three extra sessions.

Best Bill Of The Season Is Critic Vaudeville View

Filled with laughs, clever dancing, good singing and unusual acrobatics, the bill at the Wichita Theater this week is one of the best rounded vaudeville programs presented in Wichita Falls this season.

Fred Ardath, assisted by Eart Hall, "a member of the same club," and Grace Osborn, the wrathful wife, brought laughs from the audience every minute of his act. There were about two people in the theater who kept a straight face. Entering in a condition best described as having three sheets in the wind, he goes through three stages of intoxication—jollicose, bellicose and lachrymose. The act's percentage for entertainment runs high.

Verna Kerinska, dainty toe dancer, and Eduard Gozart bring a dancing act that retains a delightful Continental flavor. Slim and Stalwart grace are brought into contrast by the two, and each is complimentary to the other in two dances of fast movement and difficult features.

The Keller Sisters and Lynch bring "The Spirit of Youth" into the bill with jazz, close harmony and some excellent clog dancing. If you've never heard "Insufficient Papa," you should hear the smaller Keller sing it. The audience last night wanted to hear it again.

McKay and Ardine, in "The Night Watchman," brought laughs from the audience with clever patter that ran straight through dances and even songs.

Lillian Gresham, assisted by two young men, Louis Lazarin and Mario Palermo, took a number of bows and gave an encore after an act of harmony and fine singing.

The Yong Wong Brothers—four of them—go through a strenuous twice-a-day dozen or so that leave the audience almost gasping.

Spotlights and a Pathe Review opened the bill. There will be performances today at 2:30 and this evening at 7:30 and 9:30.

Race Perjudice A Jury Question In Agent's Trial

Introduction of evidence starts at 9 o'clock Saturday morning in 30th district court in the case of the state vs. E. B. McClure, charged with the murder on December 5, last, of Wesley Lisk, Dallas negro. The twelfth juror was selected late Friday afternoon and court adjourned for the day.

Jury Personnel.

The jury is composed of the following: Charles Scott, R. L. Jones, Mike Smith, George O. Howery, D. C. McNeil, B. O. Pierson, D. A. Swarthout, E. A. Willis, R. W. Reynolds, E. L. Vaught, J. D. Neil and Lester Miller.

The state exercised five of its 15 peremptory challenges and the defense used eleven.

Selection of the jury started Friday morning after Judge H. R. Wilson had overruled a motion presented by the defense to quash the jury venire.

Questions Asked.

In questioning the veniremen District Attorney James V. Allred and Assistant District Attorney Robert K. Crain sought to learn the attitude of the witnesses as regarded their belief in the right of negroes to protection by the law of life and property.

Chamber of Commerce Has Ambitious Program Ahead

A busy year in many lines of endeavor, all designed to promote the advancement of Wichita Falls, has been outlined by the chamber of commerce for 1925. Enumerated below are the 21 principal items that comprise the task set by the chamber of commerce for itself.

1. Enlarged advertising campaign for new industrial and investors.
2. More aggressive colonization and development of the irrigated valley.
3. Employment of full-time industrial commissioner to make practical effort for new industries.
4. Continued and more determined effort to develop wholesale and manufacturing business in the trade territory.
5. Campaign early in the spring for an auditorium and civic center.
6. Correction of unfavorable railroad and traffic conditions for business expansion.
7. Aiding in every practical way Wichita Falls newspapers to compete against newspapers from other cities.
8. Establishment of community foundation fund through bequests of wealthy estates for endowment of junior college and other community benefits.
9. Preparation of map of city showing all industrial sites and railroad switching facilities.
10. Paving a new and shorter road through the irrigated valley to the diversion dam, on the south side of the river.
11. Planting of trees along concrete highway from tourist park to state experiment farm, twelve miles.
12. Building of a pavilion at state experiment farm for farmes meetings and summer courses in agriculture.
13. Building attractive summer house and comfort station for tourists and campers at Lake Kemp.
14. Beautification of Fred Weeks park in co-operation with city park department and paving of road to and through the property.
15. Paving of concrete roas through Winrthhost section.
16. Regulation of growing motor bus transportation lines.
17. Continued efforts through representatives in congress for a federal building and postoffice.
18. Promotion of zone laws to protect homes from encroachments of business buildings.
19. Continued effort to secure state and federal aid for free bridges across Red river and regulation of tolls on all bridges between Texas and Oklahoma.
20. Continued earnest attention to public health and public safety.
21. A public market place and cotton yard which will be a trading center for farmers, truck growers and the buyers.

PIGGLY WIGGLY Store No. 8 will make its bow in a formal opening Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to Wichita Falls citizens, serving the neighborhood surrounding its location at Fifteenth and Lamar streets.

N. E. Moore, manager of the new store, will be in charge of festivities when the Green River Orchestra of ten pieces will play, and carnations will be given to the thousands of adults who are expected to pass through the turnstile of this latest addition to the Piggly Wiggly chain in this city.

The new Number 8 store marks another step in the sensational but steady success of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Company composed of local men, of which C. S. Wyatt is president and manager. Since his arrival in Wichita Falls in May 1923 when the two then existing Piggly Wiggly stores were purchased by the company, Mr. Wyatt has opened six new stores and contemplates the erection of two other stores in the near future.

Constructed according to the very latest regulations, the new store differs from all others in the city, in that the center row of shelves has been cut down so that customers in the aisles can see all over the store. Locating and choosing of goods is greatly simplified, and the improvement adds much to the convenience and good appearance of the store.

The store is the large size "four line" or four aisle establishment, with the completely stocked meat market and huge refrigerators at the rear. Many new features have been installed for the convenience of patrons, all equipment being the rsult of successful experiments to find the best in labor and time-saving fixtures.

Two show windows of the fine brick building face the two corner streets, Fifteenth and Lamar streets, while the third show window on Lamar street is fitted with a white enamelled refrigerating box to display choice meats. Concrete sidwalks have been laid at the corner and paving put in between the curb and the street edge for the convenience of shoppers who care to park their cars.

Double doors, each of extra thickness and each fitted with padlocks have been erected at side and back entries, and heavy bar bolts also fitted with padlocks are placed across the doors as a triple surety against thieves. All windows are strongly barred, and every effort has been exerted to make the store the safest, most convenient and most sanitary building of its kind yet erected in the city.

Here's The Interior Of New Piggly Wiggly Store No. 8

The interior of the new No. 8 Piggly Wiggly store and meat market is shown in the cut, which points out the advantages in lowering the center shelves of goods to a 5½ foot height so that customers and employees can see all over the store.

A Success in Chicago.

The improvement has been tried with great success in the Chicago stores and is being installed by C. S. Wyatt, president of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Co., with interest as to the result. If the improved type of store proves as pleasing to Wichita Falls patrons as it has to buyers in other cities, Mr. Wyatt states that he intends remodeling all the stores in the city with the lowered center shelves.

The advantages of the improved Piggly Wiggly storewill be appreciated by the hundreds of busy shoppers who pass through the turnstile, for they have been erected to please and satisfy the customer. The interior appearance of the store is much more attractive as the display of merchandise is arranged for easier location and selection than before. Price tags are suspended over the center of the lowered display shelves by means of a line of metal pipe. They are easy to see, and do not interfere with removing the goods from the shelves.

Packed in Glass.

The merchandise packed in glass is placed on the top of the lowered shelves and greet the customer at every turn. Carefully kept records show that the sale of these goods, which carry a good margin of profit, is greatly increased. There is less breakage than there formerly was, as no glass goods are placed either on the high or low shelves, and as can be readily understood, inventories can be more easily taken.

The new arrangement is very adaptable as to amount of shelf space as the operator can accommodate h stock without materially affecting th appearance of his store.

The lighting is much better; every portion of the store is better lighted as there are no shadows cast by the center shelving. Articles can be located easily across the store, and there is no wandering up and down the aisles through a slutdn maze of shelves to search for the desired articles. Records show that since the change in other stores there have been no complaints from customers, and many compliments.

Piggly Wiggly In Wichita Falls Is Local-Owned Firm

Most of Those Holding a Controling Interest Reside in City

THEY TRAIN WORKERS

Employees of Stores Get Intensive Instruction in Business Policies

The Piggly Wiggly Company of Wichita Falls, headed by C. S. Wyatt of this city is a Wichita Falls organization and the controlling stock in the company is owned by Wichita Falls men. Of the five stockholders, Mr. Wyatt, president and general manager of the company, J. R. Moore, secretary-treasurer, and T. F. Parker, store superintendent and vice president reside here; while Earle Wyatt, vice president, resides in Dallas where he is general manager of 40 Piggly Wiggly Stores. F. F. Florence, the fifth share owner is a director of the company and is vice president of the Republic National Bank at Dallas.

Messrs. Moore and Parker have been with Mr. Wyatt in business connections for several years. Mr Parker has been with him since he entered Piggly Wiggly work seven years ago, and Mr. Moore joining him three and a half years ago in Dallas, going from there to Chicago where he served as office manager and cashier under Mr. Wyatt.

The store system in Wichita Falls employs regularly 57 workers, all of whom are owners of a $1,000 life insurance policy presented by the company from the Williams-Dwyer agency. The indemnity is $2,000 for death by accident. All market managers and store managers are presented annual passes to the Strand theater by the company.

All workers are carefully trained for their duties, and it is an established fact that the Piggly Wiggly stores furnish one of the finest schools of practical training in the city for young business material. Constant improvement is the aim of the organization, and service backed by courtesy and highest efficiency are the watchwords of Mr. Wyatt's successful organization.

FOUR JAILED FOR THEFT

Youths in San Antonio Charged With Petty Thievery Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 9.—Four youths, one of them only 14 years old, were placed in jail here today on charges alleging theft under $50. Two boys were arrested as they labored under the weight of a 100 pound box of dates stolen from a grocery store. A negro, 14, is alleged to have stolen a pair of trousers. The last youth, a Mexican, was arrested on suspicion and was found to have a stolen motormeter in his possession.

U.S. Debts With France In Revolutionary Days Paid Back, Dusty Records Show

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Aroused by statements appearing in the French presses and made in the Paris chamber to the effect that the United States never paid its revolutionary war debts to France, officials have dug back in the dusty files of the state department and found figures which completely refute these French charges, it was learned today.

Members of the American debt funding commission have been supplies with the data.

The government records disclose that four loans were secured from France between 1777 and 1783, totaling 35,000,000 livre (about $6,500,000) and that these were all repaid by 1815 with the exception of partial interest on one small loan remitted by France.

The records disclose that there was some times some delay in meeting the obligations—but they were paid.

The French newspapers and some officials have been advancing the alleged non-payment of America's revolutionary debts to France as a reason wh ythe United States should remit or cancel all or part of France's 4,000,000,000 dollar war debt to the United States.

In the retail distribution of food products there are certain costs which must be added for which the consumer must pay. None of these costs add to the intrinsic merit of the products. The system, which can eliminate some of these costs and lessen others, can and does give better values.

The PIGGLY WIGGLY system eliminates certain costs and lessens others, therefore it can and does give the public better values.

PIGGLY WIGGLY is the only system of merchandising today in existence which makes a real distinction between that which is useless and that which is necessary in retail food distribution.

No delivery, no bad debts, no waiting to be waited on, you help yourself, nationally known goods, clean stores, enormous volume of sales at a small margin of profit.

PIGGLY WIGGLY stores are price makers. They stand as a barrier against extortionate prices and are a stepping stone to better living at less cost.

Wyatt's Rise In Piggly Wiggly A Commercial Epic

Started 7 Years Ago as a Checker in Dallas; Now Runs Chain Here

HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

Direction of Stores in All Parts of Country Fits Him for His Work

C. S. Wyatt, president of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Co., and acknowledged by his business associates to be one of the keenest minded and most capable business men in this section of the country, has in a short year and a half since his arrival in the city, purchased the two then existing Piggly Wiggly stores, re-organized them, and erected six others in various parts of the city and nearby towns, as well as a baking plant and a large warehouse.

Total sales for the year 1924 for the stores in Wichita Falls and Burkburnett were $1,208,021.28.

Average $15,000.

The average sales per month per store are the largest anywhere in the United States, according to national headquarters at Memphis. Mr. Wyatt's store average runs $15,000 a month, and his nearest rival is the Los Angeles Piggly Wiggly Co., whose store average is $10,000 per store.

By his remarkable purchasing ability and his sound business policy in operating his stores, he has written grocery history in this city and stimulated business to a marked degree. His phenominal rise in business circles of Wichita Falls is due to his valuable experience at handling of chain store operations some years ago, and to his genius for handling a mercantile business, conceded him by prominent men of the city.

Mr. Wyatt, according to his own statement, first started work with the Piggly Wiggly chain stores seven years ago in Dallas when he was employed for $75 a month as a checker in the third Piggly Wiggly store then in existence in the United States. He spent a year and a half there learning the business after which he was sent to Piggly Wiggly national headquarters at Memphis, Tennessee.

Working there as assistant to the national president for two years, he did much special work which included traveling to the various stores to build up the sales. He then served as district manager at Indianapolis and went back to Dallas where he worked with the Piggly Wiggly stores for a year and a half.

He was sent to Chicago where he had charge of 99 stores in that city and 14 stores in surrounding towns. There he became a stockholder and was appointed one of thirteen directors of the $10,000,000 Piggly Wiggly corporation.

After the Piggly Wiggly raid in 1923, some of the stores liquidated, and knowing that Wichita Falls was a valuable location he chose this city as the best place to open his business.

Paying a bonus of $10,000, the highest ever paid in the United States for one Piggly Wiggly territory, Mr. Wyatt purchased the Wichita county rights for operation, purchased the two stores here, and built the present business which commands the respect of customers and competitors alike.

Six new stores have been erected in the nineteen months, and two more are to be built in the near future. The company has bought and equipped a first class baking plant which supplies all of the stores with bread. The warehouse which supplies the stores is located at 520 6th street and has a capacity of 50 cars. Trackage extends along the rear of the building and loading of the trucks is done at the front. Over $92,000 of goods were handled through the warehouse during the month of December.

Mr. Wyatt attributes the success of his stores to his dealing direct from the manufacturer and maintaining a low operating expense.

Unborn Infant of Negress a Party to Suit to Set Aside

WACO, Jan. 9.—The unborn child of Pinkie Scott, negress, widow of Robert Scott, shot last September by Lou Fowler, is party to a suit brought in the 19th district court today, wherein the Indemnity Insurance company of North America appeals from an award of the Industrial accident board last month.

The insurance company carried the compensation insurance on the Robinson Packing company where Scott was employed at the time Fowler, another employe, shot and killed him. The accident board in December awarded the widow and her children, including the unborn $9.17 per week for 360 weeks, ordering the insurance company to pay this amount.

"The Best Looking Man In Harris County" Due To Shine As Statesman

By MARGARET STALLINGS.
Record News Staff at Austin.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 9.—"The best looking man in Harris county"—that's the way his friends describe him but J. W. Hall protests—"I enjoy a joke but I don't tell many."

Came from Alabama to Texas when he was a youngster—and brought with him a deep voice and a friendly manner that is characteristic of Alabamans.

Walks with a big stride—says it was acquired from following a plow over in Navarro county.

Looks Like One.

Is tall and impressive looking—looks like a statesman and has it all over some of 'em in that he has a frank, open countenance — carries everything on his face.

A good thinker and a man of deep convictions—knows what he wants and goes after it—and never makes an enemy.

Has made three races for the legislature from Harris county and has never had an opponent — his firm handclasp has a way of making friends for him—and keeping them after they're made.

Declares that he knows men will lie but that he trusts women—and in the next breath asked his interviewer to bring the story around and let him look it over before it was run—seems like Alabama is close to Missouri in some instances.

Tells a story of farm life that makes the rest of the politicians who come from the farm sound like magazine agriculturists.

At twelve years of age he ran his mother's farm down in Navarro county and that year sold his first bale of cotton at Kerens—which, by the way, was the first bale of cotton sold at Kerens after the Cotton Belt line went through.

The senator is around fifty-two now—but that bale of cotton has meant more to him than all the bills in the legislatures in which he has served—and his friends point out that his record has been an excellent one.

Has Big Business.

Farmed until he was 27 years old and then went to selling farm implements—and has been at it ever since—has a hardware business in Houston—and it is a very successful one.

Was county commissioner and a member of the Harris county board of education—he's just the sort of men that belongs on a school board—he might even have been a school trustee in earlier years—but he didn't mention the fact.

Is vice president of the Humble State bank—has the right sort of atmosphere—belongs behind the gilded letters on the door that read—"President—Private"—and whether it has been boll weevils, grasshoppers or drouth that ruined your crop you know that you're going to get the help you need to get through the year when you get on the inside of that door.

He smokes an excellent cigar—they come right out of his own pocket—and he is as happy as a kid when he sheds his shoes at the first warm wind of spring—it may be the senators who are visiting him at his headquarters at the Driskill—or he may have some other reason for his good nature—just say it's because he's from Alabama and let it go at that.

Labor Party To Invade Japan

Labor-Ruled Government to Be a Certainty Within Decade, Belief

TOKIO, Jan. 9.—Passage of the universal manhood suffrage bill by the diet which is confidently expected during the present session, will mean the birth of a labor party in aanap, according to close observers.

It is predicted that within a decade, Japan will have a labor government. It is certain that the next elections will see a labor party in the field, actively endeavoring to elect candidates to the diet.

A nucleus for a strong labor party already exists in an organization known as the Seinji Kenkukai. This organization was formed about six months ago and already has a membership of 3,000. It has adopted a platform and is laying plans for formation of the first labor party in the orient.

GRAND OPENING

THIS MORNING AT 9 O'CLOCK

STORE NO. 8 AT 15TH AND LAMAR

THIS STORE IS EQUIPPED WITH 1925 IMPROVED FIXTURES AND IS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL GROCERY STORE WE HAVE EVER DESIGNED — SPOTLESS AND CLEA N.

—What would you be Paying for Groceries Today Were There No Piggly Wiggly Stores

Looking back over the past two years, can you not conscientiously answer the above question? In every locality in Wichita Falls in which Piggly Wiggly Stores have been located prices on foodstuffs have come down—and stayed down. Close our doors today and you would find the old conditions and prices back again. But we're here to stay, and will continue to give our customers the same high quality foodstuffs at the lowest possible prices.

EMPLOYES—In any organization the success that is attained is measured by the teamwork and loyalty of its employes. The management has worked out a proposition whereby each employe can work to the top.

Not only are good salaries paid, but often they become managers. They are given annual passes to the Strand Theater and every employe, regardless of his position, is given a $1,000.00 insurance policy paid for by the company, which remains in effect so long as we retain his or her services.

PIGGLY WIGGLY WINS!

PIGGLY WIGGLY MARKETS

Jumping off in the lead when the first Market was opened, Piggly Wiggly has lengthened the distance every day since. We are now operating eight Markets in Wichita Falls and Burkburnett.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTED— CORN-FED MEATS

only handled in our Markets. We believed that the people of Wichita county had rather pay a nickel more for Government-inspected Meats—tender, juicy Steaks and Roasts that goes to the cooling room, dressed and inspected by Government men, five minutes after they are killed, than buy the so-called home-killed meat that is bought at a farm house, killed, dressed in the open, on a scaffold, that is carried on a truck subject to flies, dirt, etc. How correct we were in our belief has been demonstrated by the constant growth of the sales in our Markets.

Big Expansions In P-W Stores Ready In Southern Calif.

Popularity of Service and Quality Reflected By Rapid Growth

A score of new Piggly Wiggly stores will be opened soon in southern California in one of the greatest expansion programs in the history of the company. The expansion in southern California is but part of the program which embraces the entire country with special emphasis on the southland.

Arthur C. Jones, president of the California Piggly Wiggly company, is now on a tour of the country. He is visiting many cities that have stores of the national chain where he is becoming acquainted with all the problems that confront Piggly Wiggly operators.

The organization now has 32 stores in southern California. Ten are scheduled to open in that section within the next two months. "We have confidence in the future of southern California and are preparing for the great expansion program," Mr. Jones said.

The entire country has benefited in the expansion. Stores that have been opened since August, 1923, number 202. Beside this number of stores, 100 Piggly Wiggly meat markets opened at various places. These markets have been opened since January of this year.

Seven cities have opened three or more stores within the past few months. These, with their number, are: Cleveland, Ohio, 11; Los Angeles, Cal., 10; St. Louis, Mo., 7; Louisville, Ky., 6; Dallas, Texas, 5; New Orleans, La., 3, and Spokane, Wash., 3.

Others on Honor List.

Other cities included on the Piggly Wiggly honor list are: Kalamazoo, Mich., La Junta, Colo.; Calina, Kan.; Globe, Ariz.; Arkansas City, Kan.; Okmulgee, Okla.; Nashville, Tenn.; Racine, Wis.; St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn.; Ballinger, Texas; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Denver, Colo.; Springfield, Ill.; Muskogee, Okla.; Munire, Ind.; Bowie, Texas; Columbia, Mo.; Shreveport, La.; San Francisco, Cal.; Sacramento, Cal.; Tyler, Texas; Reno, Nev.; McPherson, Kan.; Monrovia, Cal.; Coleman, Texas; San Bernardino, Cal.; Ashland, Ky.; Lexington, N. C.; Del Rio, Texas, and Miami, Fla.—Memphis, Tenn. Commercial Appeals, September 23, 1924.

Interior Of Piggly Wiggly Bakery

Ho Hum! What's a Charge Or 2 More; Arson, Theft, Bigamy and Others Come

LIBERTY, Mo., Jan. 9.—Last summer Joseph G. Wright, was as happy an auctioneer as ever cried a farm sale. But since then things have been "not so good." And today, Wright could use a lot of improvement in the cosmos—quite a bit.

As the autumn days approached Wright's barn burned. It looked like "lady luck" was turning her head.

A few ays later his home burned.

Then the hogs of a neighbor seemed to wander off—just like that.

By the time the grand jury had indicted him for the theft of the hogs and for good measure added charges of arson in the loss of his barn and house, Wright could see "lady luck" beating it away from his vicinity.

As a Christmas gift, he got word on December 23, that his wife had gotten a divorce decree in Independence, Mo.

That was not so bad, for he had her successor picked out—Miss Mattie Zimmer, whom he proceeded to marry at once.

But yesterday, Judge Thad G. Lendon of Independence annulled Mrs. Wright's divorce decree on the ground she had made false affidavits as to her residence.

And today—county attorney Raymond Gummins announced he was going to investigate Wright's marriage to see whether bigamy should be added to the arson and theft charges.

Such a life!

WORLD TOUR IS HALTED.

The German Youths in Hands of Cops After Starting Long Jaunt.

HOUSTON, Jan. 9.—The brave attempt of Max Haas and E. Herenins, two 17-year-old German lads, to see the world on their own hook, has ended disasteriously. Citizens at Westfield near here picked up the two boys late yesterday and turned them over to police here.

The pair came to the United States as stowaways on a German freighter, police learned. They were unable to say at what port they landed but apparently it was not Houston.

After wandering about for several days they reached Westfield they said. Police will hold them for immigration authorities.

France Ready To Pay England, Is Latest Report

Long Time Payment and Low Interest Rate Sought By Clemental

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A proposition for French payments—on long time terms and low interest rates, but none the less a difenite proposal to pay, has been made by Finance Minister Clementtl to Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill, official circles here reported today.

By the terms of Clementel's reported proposition, France would pay Great Britain and the United States at the same time a point on which the British have insisted. France would pay its debt in 80 years but wants a 10-year moratorium first. The interes trate on the first ten years of payment following the moratorium would be half of one per cent and in the second decade one per cent, with arrangements for payment of the principal left for the present to future negotiations.

Diplomatic circles also were discussing the information informally transmitted to Britian by the United States advising Britain that under no circumstances can the United States enter a general debt conference unless congress amends the debt funding law.

This information was inclined to crimp British hopes for such a conference. The British realize that it would not be advantageous for them to enter a conference where they would be the only creditors.

All Bread Baked In Piggly Wiggly Ovens Right Here

Heavy Calls for Krispy Krust Demand Quantity Production for Stores

HAVE MODERN PLANT

900 Loaves an Hour Possible From Mixers and Ovens in Big Shop

Bread for the new Piggly Wiggly store will came from the Piggly Wiggly bakeries which supply all the Piggly Wiggly stores owned by the Wichita Falls company. The building, constructed of brick and equipped with the finest and most modern baking machinery is located on Eleventh street between Lamar and Travis avenues.

"We sold bread cheaper than the local bakeries wanted to sell it, and the best plan for procuring the kind of break we wanted, at the price we wanted, and in the quantity we wanted, was to buy and equip our own plant," stated C. S. Wyatt, president of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Co.

Bought Best Machinery.

"This we did, installing J. H. Day machinery, the finest produced, used in 85 per cent of the bakeries in the United States. Huge mixers, spotless white and shining, dividers that automatically cut and weigh the loaves the desired size, rounders to knead the loaves, and moulders to shape them for baking and divide them in the center, characteristic of the familiar "Krispy Krust" bread carried home nightly by thousands of Piggly Wiggly shoppers all over the city, are all run by electricity at the desired speed. Sixteen ounce loaves of family bread are made, and one and one-half pound pullman or square loaves.

500 Loaves An Hour.

The great Middleby Marshall ovens, the largest and finest of any bakery in the city were shipped in and installed especially for Piggly Wiggly and bake 500 loaves of bread an hour. They are gas heated at a scientifically correct temperature to bake the loaf evenly so as to insure the best possible texture of the bread.

The loaves when baked are machine wrapped and sealed in waxed paper wrappers bearing the trademark "Krispy Krust," and the name "Piggly Wiggly."

All machinery and equipment is scrubbed and kept scrupulously clean. Floors, tables, and racks are clean and orderly and the baking work is done by attendants clothed in white. Sanitation is stressed, and helps to produce one of the finest and most wholesome loaves of bread offered for sale in the city. Special trucks carry the freshly baked loaves to the various stores as they need it.

MEDICINE MARKET RUINED

Cops Halt Plans of Missouri Man To Get Money for Wife and Babes.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Jan. 9.—Jim Turner today began serving a jail sentence here in lieu of a $100 fine imposed upon him yesterday after he had opened a "medicine" show on Main street.

The "medicine" however, was of a kind frowned upon by police. Turner had driven a battered car into town and was offering his wares to passers-by when police arrived to inspect his stock.

"I have been working on a road gang and needed money for my wife and six kids," Turner explained to Judge C. L. Chinn, after his hearing.

After two weeks in the United States he will sail from New York for Europe where he will join General Francisco Serrano, his former minister of war. Serrano is in Spain on a confidential mission for the Mexican government.

EAST TEXAS UP IN ARMS

Armed Vigilantes Scour Country In Search for Plundering Yeggs.

TYLER, Texas, Jan. 9.—Hundreds of armed searchers, continued their hunt today for the traveling yegg band that for three weeks has burned and plundered villages of east Texas, continuing their depredations with wholesale raids on Chandler, twelve miles west of here. Citizens of Chandler were aroused in time to check the small incendiary fire that culminated the latest assault.

Knickerbocker Dons War Paint In Effort to Get Pardon for Dallas Man

DALLAS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Because he believes that Will Barns was unjustly convicted of highway robbery when a jury in criminal district court No. 2 recently sentenced him to 25 years in prison, Rev. Hubert D. Knickerbocker, presiding elder of the Methodist churches in Dallas county today announced that he will conduct a vigorous fight for Barnes' release.

Rev. Knickerbocker will confer late today with District Attorney Shelby Cox in an effort to arrange for Barnes' freedom or a new trial. Failing in this, he said he will conduct a campaign to arouse public sympathy and will go so far as to obtain a pardon if necessary.

Barnes was convicted and sentenced after he had testified that he participated in a hold-up at the instigation of police and county officers. He pleaded that he was playing the role of detective to obtain evidence against hijackers, which testimony of Sheriff Dan Harston corroborated. After his conviction county jail prisoners regarded him as a stool pigeon and mauled him.

Some Piggly Wiggly Facts

The first Piggly Wiggly store was established in Memphis, Tenn., September, 1916—today there are in operation 1400 Piggly Wiggly grocery stores and eight Piggly Wiggly variety stores in the United States and Canada.

Piggly Wiggly is a "help yourself" store, with the advantage of chain store operation and chain store buying developed to highest degree of efficiency and economy for its customers and profitable returns for its operators.

Piggly Wiggly stores have succeeded because they appeal to the thrift, the taste, the comfort and the convenience of the housewife.

The Piggly Wiggly system cuts the family food bill from 10 to 25 per cent.

Customers shop at Piggly Wiggly with pleasure, profit, and satisfaction.

Piggly Wiggly stores have succeeded because of the low operation cost which is obtained by the customers helping themselves, bringing their purchase to the checking counter, paying cash and taking their purchase with them—unnecessary clerks, bad debts and delivery costs are eliminated.

One hundred people can help themselves at Piggly Wiggly in the same time as ten people can be waited upon at the ordinary grocery store.

Piggly Wiggly stores have succeeded because the volume of business, by reason of the patented fixtures and the labor saving instrumentalities used, is from two to five times as large as an ordinary grocery store, location and floor space being the same. The larger volume—the faster the turnover, which means more profits to everyone concerned.

The cost of operating the average retail grocery store is from 17 to 20 per cent, according to the United States government figures. The cost of operating a Piggly Wiggly store is from eight to 12 per cent, according to statements rendered by Piggly Wiggly operators from every part of the country who have been managing Piggly Wiggly stores from one to seven years. Patrons profit by this saving.

JANES TAKES LIFE EASY

Wealthy Panhandle Cattleman Retired To Enjoy Huge Fortune.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 9.—John N. Janes, cattleman of Muleshoe, Texas, and defendant in a $100,000 alimony action at Kansas City, has "retired from active ranch life and confines his activities to enjoying his huge fortune," officials of the Southwestern Cattlemen's association said here today.

The great portion of Janes' mammouth Panhandle ranch has been subdivided into farming tracts and rented to home-seekers.

FOREIGN TRADE GREATEST

Exports and Imports to and From America Best in Any Normal Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—With exports of more than a billion dollars in excess of imports the foreign trade of the United States in 1924 was the greatest of any normal year in the history of the nation, the department of commerce announces.

Foreign commerce for 1924 was $8,225,000,000, bringing the total since the war to $73,817,000,000. Exports exceeded imports by $18,228,000,000 in the six year period.

NEGRO THIEVES CAPTURED.

Oklahoma Officials Round Up Band That Terrorizes Two Counties.

CHICKASHA, Okla., Jan. 8.—The arrest last night of a negro drug addict is expected to lead to a general round-up today of a band of negro robbers that has been terrorizing two counties for two months. A large amount of loot found in the negro's possession is said to have been taken from stores and residences in Grady and Caddo counties.

Money and valuables taken by the band will amount to several thousands of dollars. Sheriff Matt Sankey of Grady county is being assisted by Caddo county deputies.

Come On In And Enjoy It All— Says Ma To Klan

She Hurls Another Bomb by Inviting Kluxers To Her Inaugural

SAYS SHE FORGIVES

"I Want Texas to Know I Carry No Hate in My Heart," She Says

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson, governor-elect, clinging to her previously proposed "tea and cake" policy for an administrative atmosphere of peace and harmony, cast another etiquette bomb into already abashed ranks of hardened Texas law makers today.

Crashing down the recognized time honored privilege of political vindictiveness, Mrs. Ferguson extended formal and cordial invitation to the ku klux klan to attend her inaugural ceremonies

Reports Denied

Reports that executives of the hooded order had notified all klansmen that Mrs. Ferguson looked with disapproval on any klan representation at the ceremonies, brought hasty denial from Mrs. Ferguson at her Temple home today—exemplifying the eternal power of a woman to forgive.

Her husband, former governor Jas. E. Ferguson, maligned by official klan organs, his record assailed in diatribe mouthings from campaign platforms by admitted members of the klan and herself made a party to one of the bitterest personality campaigns in the history of Texas has left Ma Ferguson with only the desire to "forgive and forget."

She's All Happy

Supremely happy in the knowledge of a victory won for vindication of a family honor, she confronted a member of the klan today and unhesitatingly responded to his question of "a klansman's future privilege in Texas" with tribute to every man and woman in Texas, irrespective of political or fraternal affiliations.

Walking into the Ferguson headquarters and elbowing himself into an audience with the governor-elect, the klansman said:

"I am a member of the ku klux klin. I understand members of my order are not welcome at your inauguration. May I confirm this?"

With a note of surprise, Mrs. Ferguson, in part, reiterated a statement made shortly after her election.

"I intend to accept office with an equal measure of recognition to every man and woman in Texas, regardless of political or fraternal affiliations.

"You can tell the klan that I extend them formal invitation to attend the inauguration and the succeeding ball I want the people of Texas to know I carry no hate in my heart and that I forgive those who brought seven years of humiliation and grief upon us."

Hearty applause from the throngs that have constantly besieged her headquarters followed the brief statement.

Ma had also won another "elastic victory" today.

She had previously announced her Temple home for rent "children barred."

Quite to the contrary she announces that her home has been leased to a family of eight children.

Confidentially she explained the children were all grown.

No reply had been received by Mrs. Ferguson this morning from Governor Al Smith of New York to her request that clemency be shown Florencio Lerma, Texas born Mexican sentenced to die for the slaying of a New York policeman.

Mrs. Ferguson's request was based on hundreds of pleas made by Texans seeking to spare Lerma's life.

Fresh Products Always In Stock At Piggly Wiggly

Goods on Shelves Replaced Many Times a Day in All Local Stores

WAREHOUSES FILLED

Ample Reserve Supply Kept in Stock to Meet Any and All Demands

Fresh products can always be obtained by patrons of Piggly-Wiggly stores. Goods are replaced many times a day and nothing remains in any of these chain stores long enough to become stale, according to C. S. Wyatt, president of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Co.

"Because of the convenient location of Piggly Wiggly stores, the great volume of business owing to the quickness and satisfaction of the self-service principle, and the economy of buying on a cash and "serve yourself" basis, food products and household necessities move from the stores at a most rapid rate," Mr. Wyatt states.

Warehouses Full

"The Piggly Wiggly warehouse is abundantly stocked for replacement of the purchased merchandise, and wires are kept hot ordering new supplies. Almost every incoming train brings its carload of fresh goods or so for Piggly Wiggly shelves over the city.

"As the new store is established, it is stocked with goods anticipated to meet th eneeds of the neighborhood where it is located. This is virtually a skeleton stock which the store manager watches closely so that he may check up daily on what brands or articles are selling out fastest, and therefore should be restocked every day.

Foods Replaced

"The result of this constant watching of the stocks on the shelves is that every morning finds replacements of the goods sold the previous day. The selection is therefore fresh and complete for the housewife as she makes her daily shopping trip.

"In other words, the Piggly Wiggly policy is to keep right abreast of the trade in every store in its chain. The Piggly Wiggly chain is recognized as one of the most tremendous outlets in the world for high-standard, nationally advertised, satisfaction-giving products.

Fragment Of Watch Chain Driven Into Davy Crockett's Body Found In Disused Bible In Austin School

SHERMAN, Texas.—A fragment of watch chain driven by a Mexican bullet into the body of Davy Crockett and removed March 6, 1836, the morning of after his death at the Alamo, has been found here. It is thought to be one of the most intimate relics of the famous Texas battle.

Lost more than 25 years and rediscovered by chance in the library of Austin college here, the relic was accompanied by evidence of authenticity which showed it to have been preserved by a kinswoman of Crockett. Notes which she made bear dates more than 60 years old, and were made at least 20 years after the massacre at the Alamo.

Found By Minister

The recent discovery was made by Mrs. T. A. Wharton and a party including the Rev. William M. Anderson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dallas, and the Rev. Chal Vinson, missionary to Lucbo, Africa, as they were examining an old Spanish testament which they had found while browsing through a collection of old books dating back as far as 1600.

Fastened by a rusted pin to a ragged, moth-eaten scrap of paper, carefully wrapped and tucked under the front cover of the old Spanish testament, the chain fragment was explained by a note in faded script which could be traced across the scrap of paper, in the following words:

"Fragment of watch chain worn by Davy Crockett, imbedded in his body by a Mexican bullet, and removed on the morning after his death at the Alamo, March 6, 1836."

The mystery of how the relic got into the library could not be explained by the librarian, Mrs. R. R. Harwell or by President T. S. Clyce, though the latter has been connected with the college 25 years. The explanation was found in another note, however, plainer than the first, which indicates the date the college came into possession of the bit of chain as a gift. The note reads:

Given To College

"Given to the Philomathean society (of Austin college, then at Huntsville) by a cousin of the old hero, Mrs. A. S. Wilson of Huntsville, March, 1856."

The one-inch piece of watch chain has become a center of interest in a number of other relics which the college possesses, including a shelf of old books, a loan collection of Republic of Texas currency, a school bell more than 75 years old and a number of other items. There is a movement on foot to house the collection and make of it a historical museum, possibly in honor of Stephen F. Austin, for which the college is named.

Best Grades Of All Goods Sold By Piggly Wiggly

Only Products That Stand Acid Test of Time Put on Local Shelves

USE NATIONAL BRANDS

Officials of Stores Here Believe in Offering Best of Everything

Only the highest grade of standand products is ever offered in Piggly Wiggly stores. Trade marked brands of which the maker is proud and behind which he stands will be offered in the new No. 8 store as in other stores here and "fit over the world."

The presence of a product on the shelves of a Piggly Wiggly store is the biggest advertisement it could possibly have for products used there are only the livest, most popular items on the market today.

The margin of profit on sales in Piggly Wiggly stores is small, the policy of the organization being to make a little on a great volume of trade, rather than a lot of a small volume.

Handle Best Grades

The only possible way to carry out this policy, is to handle products which ar ewidely known because of their high quality and the saitsfaction derived from their use year after year. Practically every item on the shelves is a "self-seller"—that is, the housewife is familiar with it because of repeated and constant use as a result of nation wide advertising campaigns costing millions of dollars which are put on by the manufacturers of the product through the leading periodicals of the nation.

The reputation not only of Piggly Wiggly, but of the world's leading manufacturers as well, is behind practically every product offered by this chain of stores.

Have Stood Test

When you enter a Piggly Wiggly store, you may be sure that everything on its shelves has stood the acid test of nation-wide use by thrifty and discriminating housewives and that each article can be bought and used with complete satisfaction that th earticle is the best that money, brains and devotion to the purpose can produce. There is no guesswork or experimenting in stocking the shelves of Puggly Wiggly stores and there is no guesswork or experimenting connected with the use of the foodstuffs and household necessities obtained in them.

No Profit To Be Gained In Lower Price For Goods

Reduction in One Item Is Preface for Boost in Another Later

THE BUYER IS LOSER

Piggly Wiggly Sells at Lowest Possible Cost at All Times, Says Moore

"Nothing can be gained by the buyer who purchases on a cut-price basis," states J. R. Moore, secretary-treasurer of the Wichita Falls Piggly Wiggly Co., commenting on the emphatic statement to this effect issued by Piggly Wiggly officials who have made years of study and observation of trade conditions and grocery merchandising.

"It sounds attractive to the housewife when she reads that she can buy this or that article here or there for a few cents less than it's regulation price," Mr. Moore says, "but in the long run, she will pay the market price plus for everything she buys in that type of store—something for nothing, never."

One Down, One Up

"Our investigations show that when the price of one article of food or household equipment is reduced, the prices of other commodities are increased correspondingly so as to meet this reduction. More often than not, the increases in the prices of the other articles are more than required to offset the reductions on the especially featured article.

"A strikingly low price on one article—sugar, for instance—is quoted and when that price is fixed the sales force is instructed to make sure that the purchaser of the reduced article also buys the other articles on which the price has been boosted.

She Pays Later

"This means that a housewife, responding to a cut-price offer purchases the reduced commodity and is immediately subjected to high pressure salesmanship methods so as to insure her making a purchase to offset the reduction by which she expected to profit.

"And it frequently happens that whereas the housewife purchased the reduced article of her own volition and because she needed it, she makes the second purchase because she is talked into it and does not actually need the goods.

"Piggly Wiggly stores do not cut prices, but often, through effective buying, are able to pass on to their customers some remarkable savings and, having no salesmen, there are no high pressure methods, coercion, or recommending of products to unwilling purchasers."

Men are inferior in some ways, but they can do without a wash rag.

He Holds Highest Job In Capitol—And He's Aged 70

AUSTIN, Texas, (AP)—The highest job in the state capitol is held by John H. Milam, "70-year-old boy," who doesn't believe in a copy-book maxims of success.

Mr. Milam is watchman of the dome and keeper of the official flag of the Lone Star State. And he didn't start at the bottom and work up to reach his present job either, he declares. Furthermore, he hasn't spent all his life in the employ of the state slowly edging up the ladder.

"I started on the third floor of the capitol," said Mr. Milam, "exactly four years and nine months ago. I began with the next to the highest job, and now I have the highest job in the statehouse. I haven't spent my life getting where I am either. There's a lot of bunk in some of these copy-book maxims for succeeding."

The work of this spry young man of 70 years consists in raising the Texas flag to its mast on the state house every morning at the hour of 8 and lowering it at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He also is caretaker of the dome, which he opens each morning to visitors at 8 o'clock. He closes up at 11:15 a. m., opens again at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and stays open until 4:30 p. m.

"My chief business," said Mr. Milam, "is answering the questions of curious visitors; and it's quite a job. I have the dimensions of the state house down by heart; each visitor asks for them. I recite the figures and he writes them down in his notebook very seriously as if they amounted to a great deal.

A hick town is a place where neighbors know how long your grocery bill has run.

JOHN MOORE OF WACO DIES.

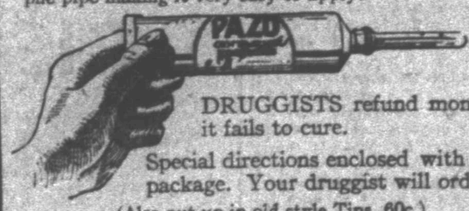

WACO, Jan. 9.—John Moore, 84 years old, a resident of Texas for 72 years, died here this morning in a local sanitarium, where he was carried four weeks ago, suffering from burns as a result of his clothing catching fire while in front of a gas stove at his home.

New Plan For Paying Taxes

In a great number of cases it works a hardship and is often impossible for the taxpayer to meet his taxes in a lump sum as is required in the case of property and personal tax of the state, county, city, school and water improvement district.

These taxes become delinquent after January 31st and thereafter are subject to penalty, costs and interest. These charges run the total up materially.

A plan is now offered by the Wichita Falls Finance company whereby the tax payer can obtain the necessary funds to pay his taxes in full and refund the loan from them in monthly payments.

The cost is considerably less than if one's taxes become delinquent and are unpaid for several months and the fees and interest are added.

They have the funds for this purpose and can give prompt service. Call on them at 800 Eighth street, Kemp Hotel Bldg., and have the method explained.—Adv.
