Dodson Council Passes Curfew, Sets Fire Zone

Dodson City Council members passed a curfew ordinance in a called meeting Tuesday night, April 1, which will require all persons under 18 years of age to be off the streets after 10:00 p.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

A few minutes later, another ordinance was passed designating a fire zone within the city limits to regulate the storage of feed bundles, hay and other combustible feed.

The curfew ordinance has been under consideration for some time and is not a direct outgrowth of the burglary of a service station there Monday night, March 30, said Lonnie Roberson, a member of the council.

It was passed, however, to correct a problem of a number of children and young teenagers who have been out at night, he added.

The fire zone includes city blocks 27 through 44, and from the Dodson bank building extends two block east, two west, one north and one south.

The action was taken as a precautionary measure, Mr. Roberson said.

Violation of either ordinance is punishable by fines not to exceed $100.

All members of the council were present, including Mayor Herschel Tabor and council members Thurman Crownover, L. C. Leathers, T. M. Sanderson and Mr. Roberson and City Secretary Fred Boyd.

Planning Commission First

Work Completed for RC&D Application

All work gathering information and drafting the application for assistance in developing a Resources Conservation and Development Project Plan has been completed, according to Harry Frye of Shamrock, president of the North Rolling Plains RC&D. It will be in final form in about three weeks he said Wednesday, April 1.

Since federal funds will be used in financing the eight-county FC&D program, the application must first have the approval of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, Amarillo.

Although the RC&D and most if not all the member counties are at present non-members of the planning commission, no difficulty in securing its approval is expected, said Gary Reed, unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The application will then be sent to the State Soil Conservation Service and next to the office of Governor Preston Smith.

"We anticipate that it will be in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture within a reasonably short time," said Mr. Frye.

"It would not be premature for each sponsor to begin considering their needs and making plans for those projects that they wish included in the RC&D work plan for the first year," continued Mr. Frye.

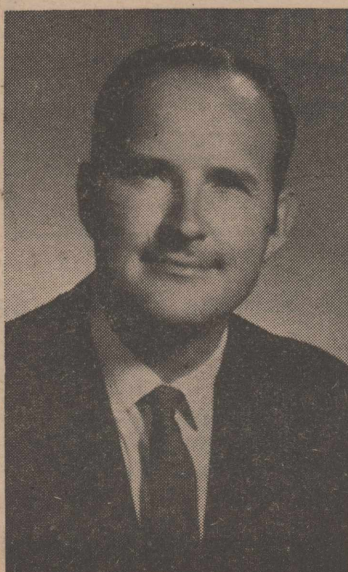

"We expect to have a coordinator working with you within a very short time."

The member counties are Briscoe, Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hemphill, Lipscomb and Wheeler. W. R. Breeding represents Collingsworth County on the Executive Board. Other members, in addition to Mr. Frye, are A. L. Gailey, secretary-treasurer, B. F. Conyers, O. R. Stark, James Clifton and Bright Newhouse.

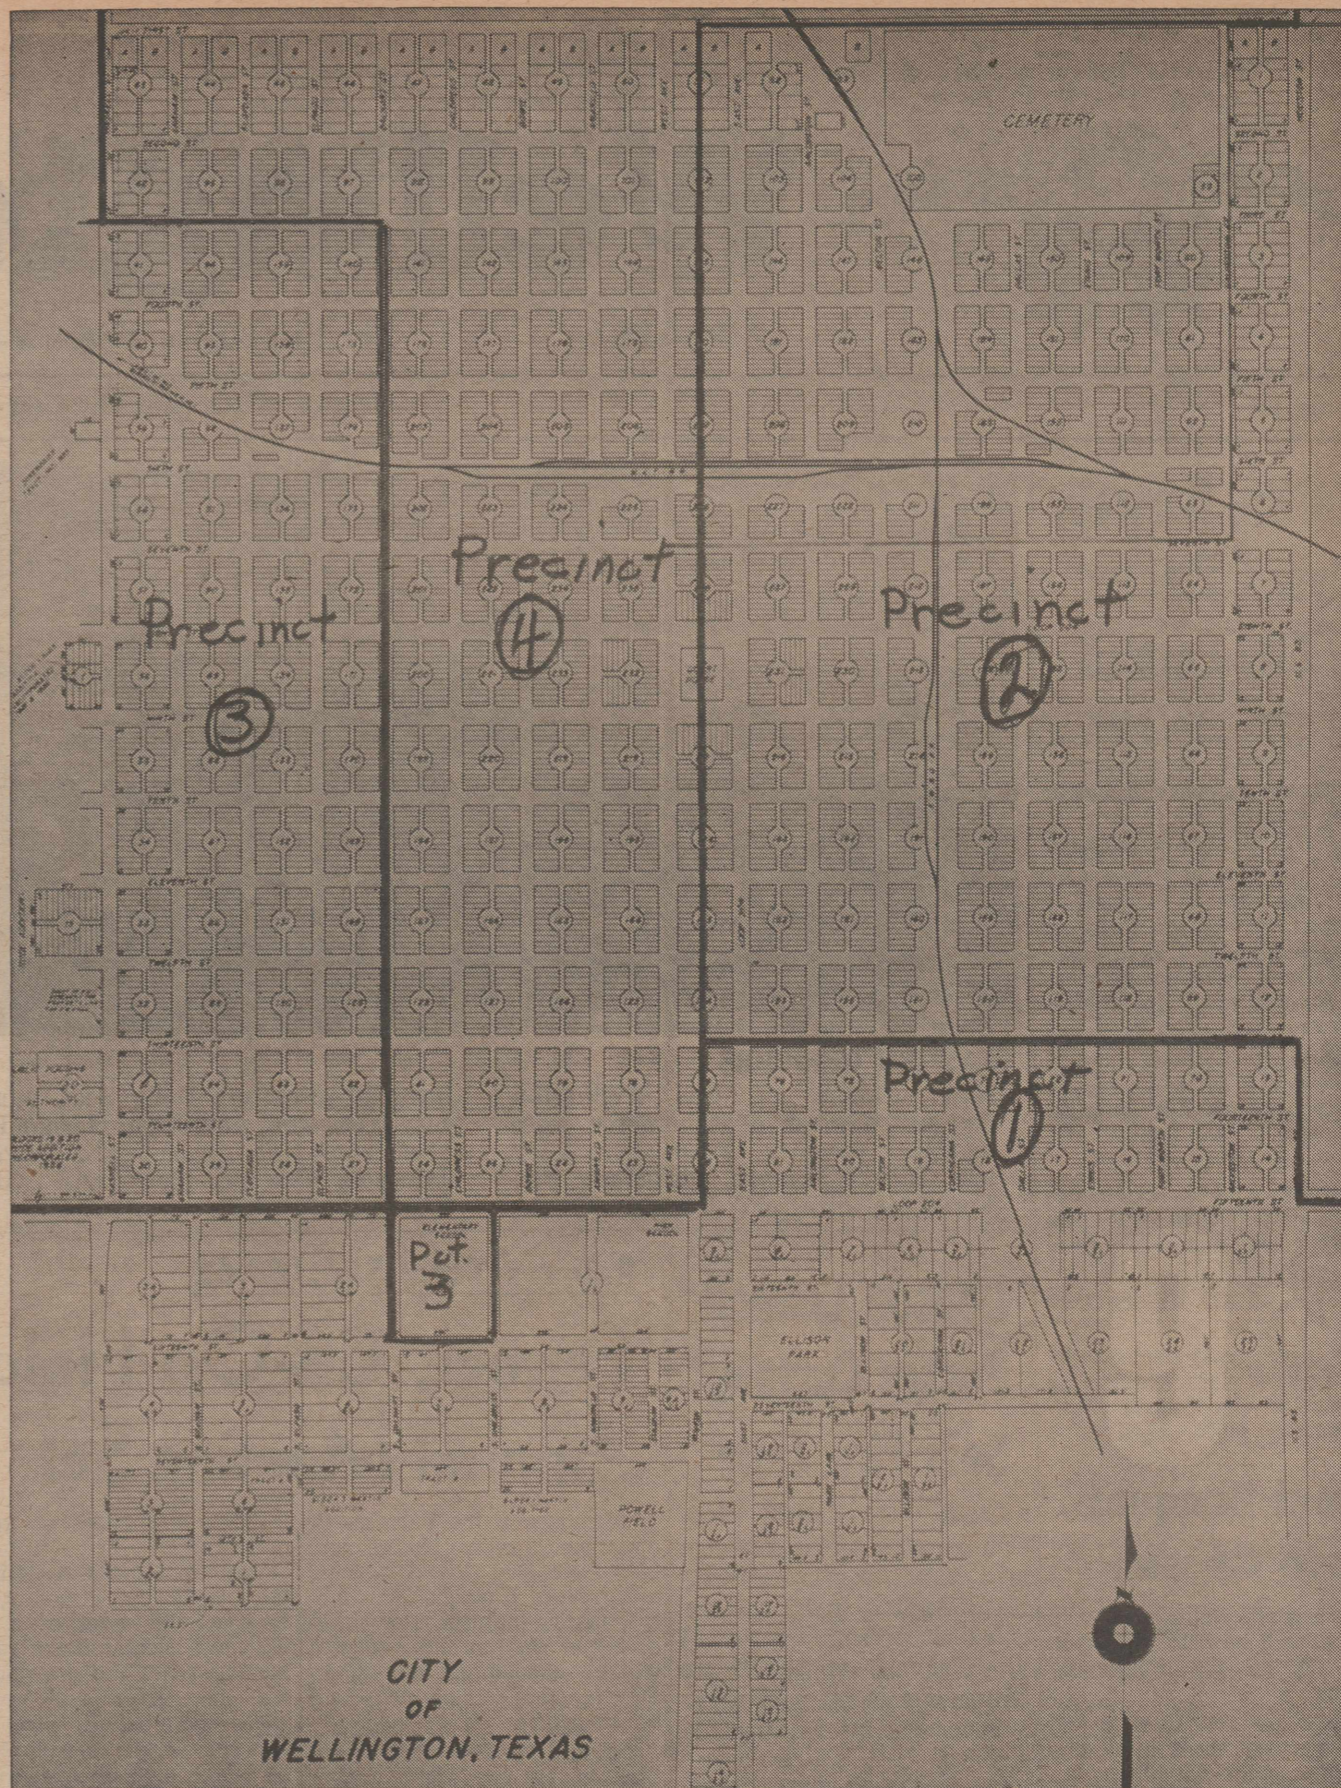

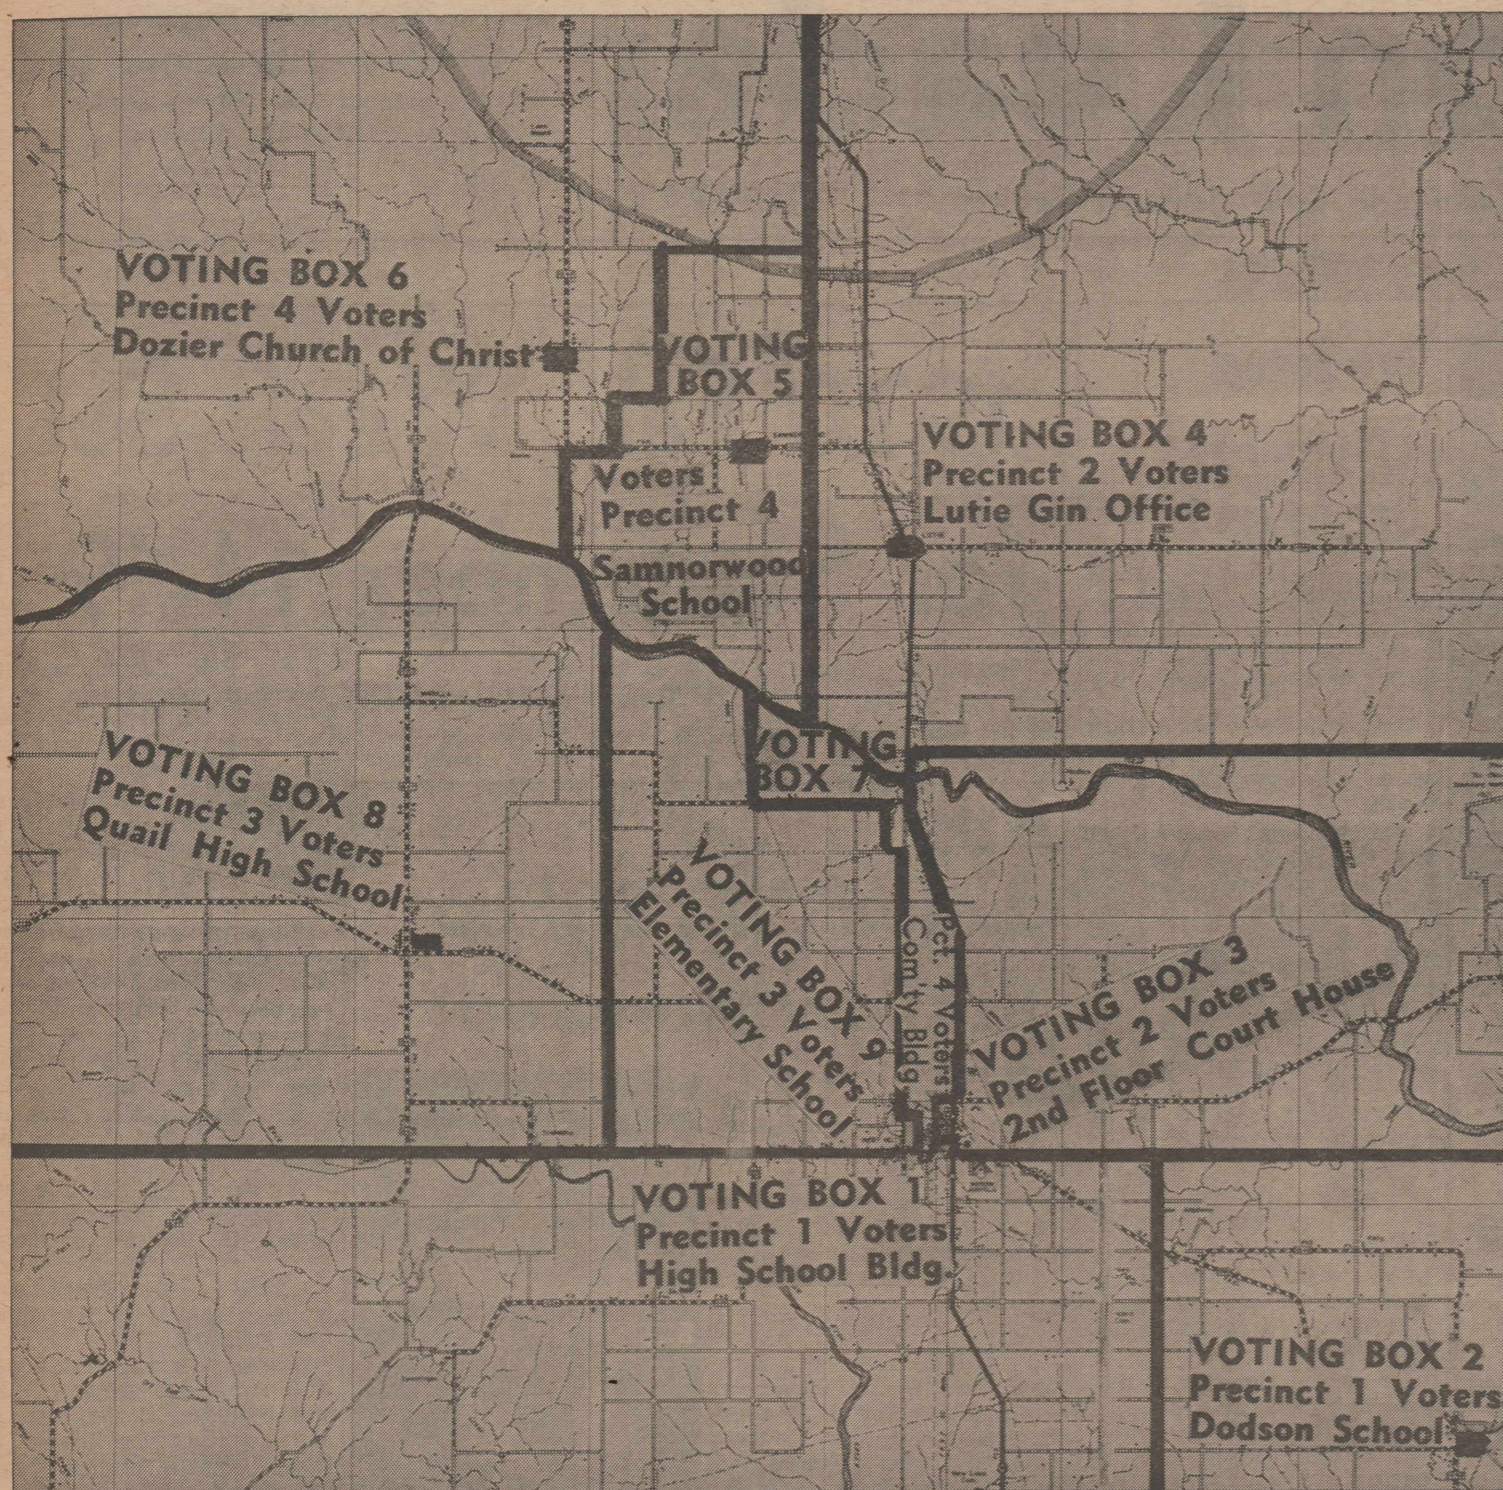

"We're excited about the prospects the future holds for our area and know that the people of our area feel the same," said Mr. Frye.

National FHA Week Observed Through Nation April 5 to 11

National FHA Week, April 5-11, will be observed by 12,000 local chapters of Future Homemakers of America across the country. Theme for the week is "25 Years of Sterling Opportunity" in recognition of the FHA's 25th anniversary.

Focusing on the positive contribution of youth to society, this year's objective — "To Promote Communication for the Enrichment of Human Relationships" — will come alive through projects and activities of FHA members in the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and some American schools overseas.

National President Luck Hendrix, a high school senior from Metter, Ga., explains that National FHA Week provides the members everywhere the opportunity to demonstrate that youth does care about improving life both now and in the future. "We know that the future is youth's challenge and that we must prepare for it diligently and creatively," she said. She also feels that "through meaningful communication we can promote understanding and strengthen our relationships with all peoples."

Future Homemakers of America was founded in 1945 and during its existence of 25 years its programs have served some 15 million students by broadening the Home Economics education programs and providing opportunities for improving personal, family and community life.

In conjunction with the National Objectives, the theme chosen for the 1970 state meeting for the Texas Association of Future Homemakers to be held in Austin April 24-25, will be "Our World—To Know, To Care, To Do."

More than 5,000 members and advisors representing 16,000 members in 1,600 chapters across the state are expected to attend the meeting.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Jane Vincent, counseling psychologist at the Testing and Counseling Center, the University of Texas at Austin. She will

Some folks swear by pesticides, others swear at them. Usually the difference in the two is their understanding of them and how they are applied.

Whether or not pesticides harm men, animals, plants, fish and wildlife depends largely upon one person—the user.

By following a few simple rules of safety when using agricultural chemicals, especially pesticides, trouble can be avoided. Follow all label directions and safety precautions. The manufacturer is required by law to properly label his material. The label clearly states what the pesticide is to be used for and how. Also precautions for the applicator's safety when applying the material are listed.

All agricultural chemicals, especially pesticides should be stored under lock and key and in their original containers. If for any reason, the original container is not used, then properly label the substitute. Don't guess what is in the unlabeled bag or bottle. It could be a costly one. Dispose of containers in a safe manner. Guard against drifting of sprays or dusts. Make sure they do not drift into an area where they will be harmful.

One farmer produces the food and fiber consumed by 42 of his fellow citizens and his efficiency continues to improve.

Yet urban Americans, who make up approximately 94% of the population, are often unaware the agriculture is still a "cornerstone of life".

Many children think milk originates in a carton, that meat and poultry begin their trip to the market wrapped in plastic, and that cotton shirts grow that way.

Agriculture, the producer of these goods, is the largest industry in the U.S. and employs more workers than any other industry.

Agriculture is the principal source of new wealth in America. Each dollar of wealth taken from the soil yields about $7 of income throughout the rest of the country.

Mangum Ready for Annual 3-Day Rattlesnake Hunt

The Mangum Chamber of Commerce has announced the fifth annual Rattlesnake Derby to be held at Mangum, Okla., on April 10, 11 and 12. The Flea Market will again be held this year in conjunction with the rattlesnake hunt. These, plus other special features, are planned to provide interest and entertainment for the entire family.

Since the Mangum hunt is still relatively new, many large "rattlers" remain in the extensive hunt areas. New hunt areas are opened up each year.

Special precautions will be taken again this year to assure proper indoctrination for hunters and medical attention for those who may get bitten. Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded hunters catching the largest, smallest, most pounds and most snakes. Marked snakes worth $25 each will be released in the hunt areas.

Other events are a domino tournament Saturday night, a "plug casting" contest for all registered hunters who are anglers on Sunday afternoon, and a Miss Derby Princess contest Friday with the winner reigning as queen over the hunt. Dances and a country and western music get together will be Saturday night. Awards will be presented Sunday.

Dunson Explains Two Discharges for Military

The Veterans Administration has moved to clear up misconceptions about two types of military discharges, according to Riley Dunson, County Veterans Service Officer.

Citing the problem, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said today that misunderstanding about the difference between "honorable" and "general" discharge certificates are causing some veterans unjustified difficulties.

"Actually, both types of separation are completely acceptable for veterans benefits," Johnson explained.

He commented that the general discharge always has the qualifying phrase "under honorable conditions" because this type of separation is issued as evidence of honorable service.

The VA chief said some ex-servicemen have reported trouble obtaining employment after showing potential employers their general discharge certificates.

Western Theme Featured in Annual Senior Roundup Held by B&PW Club

Jenkins was chairman of the event, with Mrs. David Peters, Mrs. Pat McAlister, Mrs. V. K. Orr, Jr., and Mrs. Pearl Aaron as co-chairmen. Decorations were western with cacti complementing the red and white checked tablecloths. When welcomed at the door, a red bandana was tied around each senior's neck. All seniors were attired in western clothes. Entertainment was furnished by the B&PW Chorus singing a medley of Western songs, and the Sagebrush Singers, composed of Carol Sue Burba, Mary Karen Bearden, Charlotte Masten and Vicki Saunders, presented five western songs. The two groups sang before a hitching post surrounded by saddles, bales of hay and yucca plants. Refreshments of hot apple cider, sandwiches and cookies were served. Approximately ninety persons attended.

SELF DEFENSE FOR WOMEN.

There are things a woman can do to protect herself against a man who would rape or murder her. There are other things she can often do to keep from getting into this situation in the first place.

Chester Fant, Department of Public Safety education officer, gave sound and practical advice to approximately 100 Collingsworth women and girls, with a sprinkling of men, Tuesday evening, March 31.

"Don't be afraid you will hurt your assailant. He is trying to hurt or possibly even kill you," Mr. Fant warned.

The meeting was sponsored by County Judge Zook Thomas and Mrs. Leta Hill, home demonstration agent.

Some of the ways a woman may defend herself will be given in a series of articles over the next few weeks.

TRAVELING MOTOR VEHICLES

Rural Highways

Do not pick up hitchhikers who are strangers to you.

Avoid stopping at lonely, out of the way, or poorly lighted places for car service.

If you have car trouble and need help, hang a white cloth on a traffic side door handle and/or radio aerial. You might also raise the hood.

If someone stops and you are in doubt about your safety, stay in your car with the doors locked and windows up (except one lowered enough to talk through) until you are sure of the person's intent.

If the person proves to be a would-be culprit, sound your horn frantically whenever a vehicle passes, until the person leaves.

Make a note of his description, his license number, what he said, and the time and report the incident to the nearest police.

If you are alone, avoid stopping to give aid to a "breakdown" if the car and occupants appear suspicious in any way. If you make such a stop, keep your doors locked, get instructions for sending help and drive on.

Be sure you have a spare tire properly inflated, tire tools and jack, enough gasoline and oil and a good battery before starting a cross-country trip alone. Check radiator water and tire pressure. Under-inflated tires rolling at rural speeds will overheat and may give trouble. Before a trip at night check batteries in flashlight.

There are items in a woman's purse or in the glove compartment of the car with which she can fight—a fingernail file for jabbing, a comb to rake across an assailant's eyes ... a screwdriver, among them.

Urban Streets

Keep your car doors locked inside and windows high enough that a person outside cannot reach inside and unlock a door easily when you make stops at signal lights and stop signs.

If you suspect a driver of following you, make a curb stop at some place where people are about and let the car pass you. Get the license number but only for purposes of having it later should there be need of locating a suspect for some reason.

Remember that vehicles at times follow other vehicles for miles in a city just as on rural roads because the drivers are going to the same general area.

If after stopping a couple of times to let the suspect car go by, you still find the same car following you, you would have cause for concern.

If a car follows you into your driveway at night and it would be difficult to alert a capable person in your house or if there is no one there to alert, stay in your car with doors locked until you identify one of the car's occupants or know the driver's intent.

Sound your horn, loud and long; neighbors will usually come to investigate such a commotion.

When parking at night select a place that will be lighted when you return. If you must park in an unlighted place, lock your car to keep a person from hiding in the rear compartment.

Locking it anyway will help reduce car thefts. And, of course, anyone old enough to drive should never leave ignition keys in a car either at or away from home except where required, as at a garage or parking lot.

When parking anywhere always set the parking brake. On a grade turn the front wheels toward curb.

When parked at a curb, especially in a city or in an unlighted area, keep doors locked and windows high. If wait is extended, cut off ignition to avert danger of carbon monoxide gas both to yourself and to occupants in a vehicle behind you.

Do not park long behind a

UT Profs Advise Undecided Students

AUSTIN.—More than 300 faculty members in The University of Texas College of Arts and Sciences have volunteered to serve as regular advisors to students registered as "undetermined majors".

Almost 1,500 students are in that category this spring, but only 800 requested advisors. More than 200 faculty members offered to help as many as 10 students each. The other 100 agreed to advise fewer students.

Undetermined majors who did not request advisors at registration time are now being given a second chance to do so.

vehicle with its engine running. All drivers in a traffic jam should cut off their engines.

WEATHER FLOWER

The scarlet pimpernel is supposed to close its petals at the approach of rain. This flower has been called the "peasant's weather glass" or the "poor man's warning".

Oldest bell in the world is reputed to be that found in the Babylonian Palace of Nimrod, which dates from 1000 B.C.

Every Girl an Officer of Quail Future Homemakers

Quail, smallest of the Future Homemakers of America chapters in the county, draws every girl in to full participation in its affairs, and every girl serves as an officer.

Mrs. Sue Shields of Lelia Lake is the homemaking instructor under a plan by which one teacher serves the two schools.

Officers are: president, Marie

McGill; vice president, Sherrie Canada; secretary, Sandra Sullivan; treasurer, Janet Patterson; historian-reporter, Susan Langley; pianist, Brenda Childers; song leader, Karon Peters.

Chapter parents are Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Langley, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Childers, and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Patterson.

Darrell Feemster is the chapter bea.

Area projects the chapter is working on this year include homemaking—an unlimited career, Facts and Fads, Individuality Counts, and Help for the Next Generation.

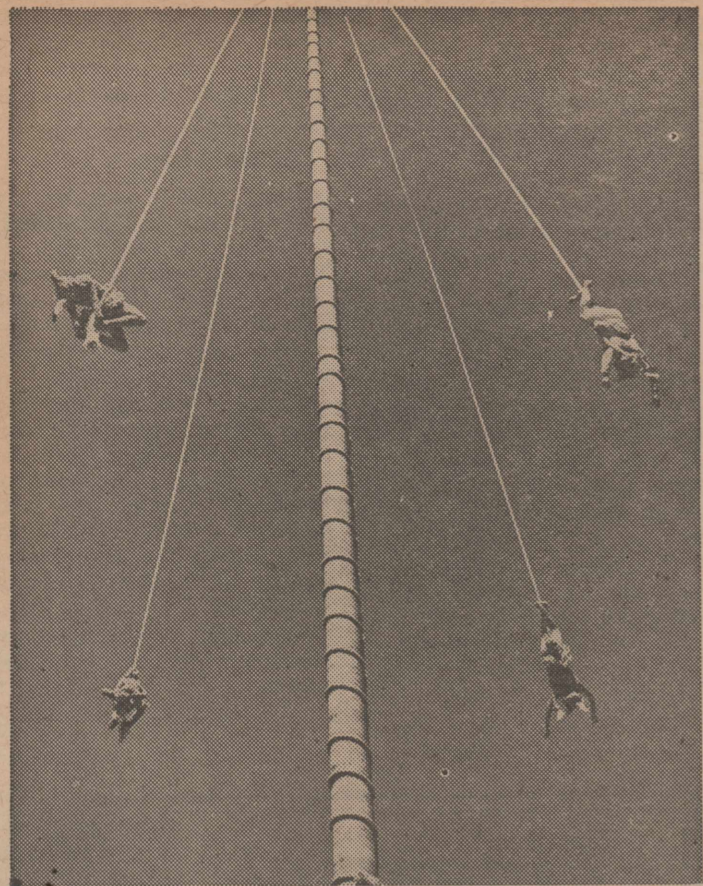

Two members of the chapter will be selected to attend the State FHA Convention in Austin, April 23 through 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Bounds are in Dallas this week where Mr. Bounds will have x-rays and treatment on his hip. They will visit his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Rogers in Arlington while there.

UT Project Puts Leaders on Tape

AUSTIN.—The University of Texas Oral Business History Project will be able to put more businessmen "on tape" this year, thanks to a $21,400 grant from the Moody Foundation of Galveston.

The grant allows interviewers from the University to expand the project which calls for tape-recording the recollections of Texas executives whose careers have had an impact on industry and business.

The tapes and transcriptions become part of the University's archives and are available for research.

Conduct in the Court

Persons who would disrupt their own court trials have been put on notice by the U. S. Supreme Court of the type of treatment they can expect.

There was no dissenting voice recently when the court held that disorderly defendants may forfeit their constitutional right to be present at their own trials.

"The flagrant disregard in the courtroom of elementary standards of proper conduct should not and cannot be tolerated," said Justice Hugo Black, the court's senior member, in delivering the opinion. "We believe trial judges confronted with disruptive, contumacious, stubbornly defiant defendants must be given sufficient discretion to meet the circumstances in each case."

The opinion said the judge could take "at least" three measures to deal with such a defendant:

- (1) Bind and gag him, thereby keeping him present.
- (2) Cite him for contempt.
- (3) Take him out of the courtroom until he promises to conduct himself properly.

These alternatives are vastly superior to the recent proposal of a U. S. Senator that persons who do not conduct themselves properly in the courtroom be imprisoned until they could act correctly.

Even if a defendant is removed from the courtroom, his attorney will be available to represent his interests.

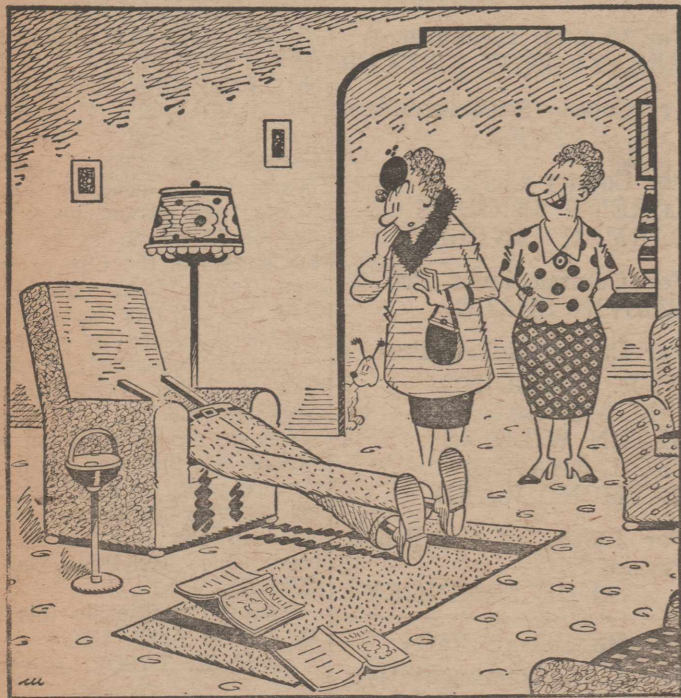

Judge William J. Brennan Jr., in a concurring opinion, said he hoped judges would "make reasonable efforts" to enable an excluded defendant to keep in touch with his lawyer.

The court did not endorse such methods as placing defendants in a soundproof booth in the courtroom or televising his trial to him outside.

However these methods appear to deserve study and eventually may prove to be the best compromises between the right of a defendant to face his accusers and the need to maintain order AUSTIN.—"Things are going to get worse, unless we plan and fight a war against drug abuse in Texas," Gov. Preston Smith told the Conference on Public Health and Drugs.

Noting that in the past 10 years "arrests of teenagers for drug abuse increased 800%," Smith urged the conference to come up with new means of controlling and preventing drug problems, as well as reviewing what is being done.

"We need to examine the penalties," he said.

"The drug offender who is caught is often very young. He may have been pressured into experimentation with drugs.

"Yet, within the legal machinery, his punishment can be as severe as that of a dope pusher or seller.

"Is this fair? Or is it out of proportion with the crime?" Smith asked.

Earlier, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, accompanied by newsmen, law officers and government officials, toured drug treatment and mental health facilities over the state. On the trip, Barnes proposed a state drug center near a medical school for treatment, rehabilitation and research.

Later, Barnes joined Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin at the meeting of the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Committee with the Texas Education Agency to hear what plans the agency has developed for teaching a course on the dangers of drugs and crime, as required by the last legislature.

Speaking to the meeting, Martin expressed concern over the increasing use of heroin, which, he said, is becoming a major problem.

Involving young people in the program will be necessary if it is successful, the Attorney General said, "because no program of narcotics control can ever be effective unless the young people themselves want it to be effective."

CROSSROADS REPORT

Senator McGovern is all broke up on account of he's afraid President Nixon's new "workfare" plan may force some welfareers to go to work at undignified jobs.

Of course, any useful work is dignified, except to a snob, or to a career moochmaster who may get a twitch of feeling unnecessary and wishing to explain to himself and others why he ain't working.

Job snobbishness is often an inconsistent characteristic. A man may feel to high-toned to wash dishes, but not too proud to take charity money which has been squeezed out of some old boy who earned it by washing dishes.

construction and $4.2 million for right-of-way in "Plan A for '70's." About $37.9 million of the total would go to farm-to-market roads.

Long-range plan does not include interstate projects, those programmed for later construction or strictly-urban facilities.

Bilingual Districts Picked

Thirteen Texas school districts have been selected by the U.S. Department of Education to submit plans for a bilingual education program during the 1970-71 school year.

They are Alamo Heights, Northside Independent School District and South South ISD, all of San Antonio; Alice; Colorado City; Corpus Christi; Del Valle; Edinburg; El Paso; Galveston; Kingsville; Orange Grove and Port Isabel.

Children three to 18 with limited English-speaking ability will be benefited. Seventy-six other districts now operate under bilingual program funding.

$1 Million Park Accepted

State officially took deed to the 4,800-acre scenic Wheatley Ranch for a state park, after Gov. Smith handed a $300,465 check to Mrs. C. A. Wheatley of San Antonio.

The major park development, with anticipated federal aid, is in the planning stage. Reporters could not help pointing out that the state could have had the entire Wheatley property—with wild game, river frontage, waterfalls, fish and stands of trees—absolutely free eight years ago. Deal fell through when the legislature failed to provide the requested $250,000 for development.

Meanwhile, the Governor has requested federal study of possible release of the Matagorda Island military installation in Calhoun County for recreational purposes.

Courts Speak

Supreme Court set an April 29 hearing on the question of whether a businessman can collect damages for libel if a credit rating agency puts out an incorrect report that he has filed for bankruptcy. A Midland businessman brought suit against Dun & Bradstreet which corrected its error.

High Court heard arguments on the question of whether the residence of the district superintendent of the Methodist Church conference is tax exempt. Also booked for hearing is the tax-exempt status of officially-declared historic sites.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the life sentence for robbery by assault given a Lubbock man, despite expert testimony he was mentally retarded.

Uncorroborated testimony of one who may have been an accomplice cannot be used alone to sustain a conviction for possession of marijuana, Court of Criminal Appeals held.

Lawsuits have been filed in federal court in El Paso to force district courts, courts of civil appeals and justice of the peace courts redistricting in line with the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Building Designers Selected

Two Austin architectural firms—Page, Southerland-Page and Brooks, Barr, Graeber and White—were picked to design the new multi-million, 10-story State Highway Building here.

Strict rules declare that the building must harmonize with the nearby governor's mansion, state capitol and other structures in the capitol complex. It also must include the old Lundberg Bakery, an Austin landmark which actually will be a part of the new building, serving as a tourist information center.

Estimated design and construction will take about three years.

HOW MONEY WAS NAMED

Originally money was useful material and many names of units of money reflect this fact. Consider the Greek drachma for example. Drachma meant "handful" and the original drachma had the value of a handful of iron nails.

Another way of naming money was to give it the name of a unit of measurement. An example of this is the English pound.

Useful at first, money later became more ornamental. Many coins can be found today with holes in their centers. The holes made it possible to string the coins together, so that they might be used as bracelets and necklaces.

After progressing from useful to ornamental commodities, money finally came to be considered in terms of debt and debt names such as note and bill were finally applied to it.

Wellington FHA Has Full Work Program

Wellington Future Homemakers of America have engaged in a variety of activities this year in support of the 1969-1973 National Program of Work, according to Mrs. P. M. Scott, home economics instructor and FHA advisor.

This program, based on concerns of youth, was designed by FHA members from throughout the United States to guide the work of over 600,000 FHA'ers.

The two major objectives of the program are (1) to strengthen bonds within the family and between the family and community, and (2) to help youth comprehend the problems of society and contribute to their solution.

Wellington FHA members held a membership Coke party in September to welcome new members and introduce them to the FHA program.

To help Future Homemakers become more aware of responsibilities and privileges of American citizenship, Boys and Girls State Representatives and delegates to the Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar spoke at programs in October and January.

Christmas caroling and a party for FFA members have been other highlights of this year's activities.

Projects of the Wellington FHA Chapter have included a doughnut cookbook and bake sales. Funds from these projects will be used to sponsor two delegates to the State FHA meeting in Austin April 23-25. Part of the money was used to buy an overhead projector, play school equipment and FHA Degree Handbooks for the Homemaking Department.

Service projects include sending Valentines to soldiers in Vietnam, Christmas cards to patients in state hospitals, and the collection of Old Glasses for New Eyes for the Needy. Many FHA members participated in a personal improvement project by enrolling in a four-weeks charm school completed in March.

Still to come for Wellington Future Homemakers are the activities of FHA Week and the annual salad supper for parents, which will be held in May.

Members of the chapter are Pam Guthrie, Francis Hayes, Malicia Junod, Lillian McKinney, Susan Oney, Cathy Thomason, Kathy Tyler.

Norwood Girls, Arnett Boys Win Tourney

Samnorwood girls and Arnett boys won the annual Samnorwood pee wee basketball tournament, held Thursday through Saturday, April 2 to 4.

Second place went to Lefors Optimist Club girls and Samnorwood boys, while third place winners were Shamrock girls and Erick, Okla., boys.

Consolation bracket winners were Arnett girls and Lefors boys.

Teams participating in this tournament are made up almost altogether of boys and girls in the fifth and sixth grades, just before they begin to play on junior high teams, Coach Kenneth Martindale explained.

Some teams, however, dip into the fourth grade to complete membership.

The girls finals saw the Samnorwood girls win over Lefors by only one point, 16 to 15. Cindy Coleman was high pointer for Norwood with 10, and Lee Vincent had 8 for Lefors.

Arnett boys, praised by Coach Martindale as a "real fine club" won over Norwood 54 to 25. Joe Martinez made 21 points for Norwood and Carl Bigfoot 33 for Arnett.

The tournament was well attended and the crowds were entertained with a number of good games, Coach Martindale said.

The book is a companion to "The Texas Country Editor" published in 1966.

The new book is the story of Texas politics from 1950 through 1970 and also deals with national politics since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The book will be available through local book stores or from The Tulia Herald. Price is $6.95 plus 30¢ sales tax. Foreword to the new book is by Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois.

Baggary and Dr. Jones are being honored with a coffee and autograph party in Ezra Jones Memorial Cafeteria in Tulia on April 19 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Special guest at the coffee will be U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough.

Hugh Sherwood Dies in Houston

Hugh Sherwood, member of a pioneer Collingsworth County family, was killed in an automobile accident in Houston March 26. Wellington friends learned this week.

Hugh Sherwood was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Sherwood, who were among the early settlers to move to Wellington. The elder Sherwood died in 1902 and his wife died in 1937.

Hugh Sherwood left Wellington about 35 years ago to follow his occupation as a salesman and had been living in Houston in recent years.

He is survived by his wife, one brother, Elswick Sherwood, Houston, and one sister, Mrs. Seth Horn of Iran.

OUTSTANDING HERO

Sgt. Alvin York of the 82nd Division was considered the outstanding hero of World War I. On Oct. 8, 1918, York practically singlehandedly killed 28 Germans and captured 132 in the Argonne Forest.

how to live - and die - with Texas Probate

This is a condensed version of one of 10 chapters of a 21-chapter book "How to Live—and Die—With Texas Probate," copyrighted by Gulf Publishing Co. These condensations in no way cover the whole volume, which can be purchased from your local bookstore or from Gulf Publishing Co., P. O. Box 2708, Houston 77001.

THE DEBTS I HAVE CREATED—HOW PAID

Everybody has debts. The size and nature of them varies with each family. It is not surprising that bigger debts are created by wealthier people because they have the credit rating to support larger borrowings.

Unfortunately, many families of average means obligate themselves beyond their abilities to pay, causing financial problems during lifetime and after death. The biggest obligation is usually the mortgage on the home.

In addition, there may be time payments for cars, appliances and other items. These obligations may become a factor to deal with in the administration of an estate.

Take the case of a husband and wife with minor children.

If the husband lives to retirement, the mortgage on the home will be paid off, along with many other items purchased on credit. But what if the husband dies at an earlier age? The wise man plans for that possibility.

Provisions in Will

Whether or not the will so provides, the one handling the estate is under a duty to pay debts of obligate. Community debts—those created during marriage—are primarily payable out of the total community property upon the death of either. A direction in a will that "my just debts be paid" does not ordinarily bind the deceased person's half interest in the community estate to pay the whole community debts.

Will provisions about paying debts that are unclear may cause confusion, delays and unnecessary expense. For example, the phrase "my just debts be paid" may be interpreted as requiring the executor to pay installment debts and long term mortgages—a thing which might not be desirable.

Funeral Expenses

Funeral expenses and items such as tombstones, grave markers, crypts or burial plots are chargeable against the estate and not against the community share of a surviving spouse. As a matter of public policy, such expenses are granted a high priority for payment.

If there is no burial insurance and if the person has not otherwise provided for payment of funeral expenses in his will, then they will be paid out of such assets as are available in the estate before other debts.

Estate Taxes — Inheritance Taxes

Just as funeral expenses are a kind of involuntary debt against the estate, so are taxes due because of death. Federal estate taxes and state of Texas inheritance taxes may well be, and in many instances are, the largest charge against the estate.

Let it suffice to say that if a person's estate is larger than $60,000 the estate is subject to the federal estate tax and the Texas inheritance tax will likely be payable.

Many people have little cash but are wealthy "on paper"; that is, they may own a farm or ranch or have other assets that are of considerable value but are not like cash.

If, at death, the size of the estate is such that several thousand dollars in estate and inheritance taxes are due, then the only alternative is to sell all or a portion of the estate to raise the necessary cash.

Planning for Payment of Debts and Taxes

There are steps that may be taken to minimize probate costs, provide for the payment of debts and reduce estate and inheritance taxes. A few suggestions are:

- 1) Have a current will, expertly drafted, to clarify debt problems and effect tax savings.
- 2) Sign a buy-sell agreement

(with life insurance providing the funds) where a person is a member of a partnership or a closely held business whose interest is to be bought out at death.

3) Buy a mortgage cancellation policy on the home to assure that at death the home will be free of debt.

4) Have sufficient insurance to pay debts, taxes and cost of probate.

5) Invest regularly in liquid assets such as stocks, bonds and savings that can be converted to cash.

6) Purchase endowment insurance on the children to insure their college education.

7) Start a consistent program of cash savings for future financial security.

8) During lifetime create only those obligations that can be paid without financial strain at death.

Summary

A fact of our existence is debts, taxes and death. How debts and taxes are paid after death varies in direct proportion to the thought and planning given to them during life.

A person who does not avail himself of the wealth of professional estate-planning talent available today is unwise. There is no substitute for competent legal advice.

Home-drawn or do-it-yourself wills can cause endless litigation and penalize the family by higher costs and increased taxes. One improper sentence in a will can destroy tax advantages that are legally available and can cause unnecessary taxes to be due.

An attorney's fee for preparing a will which makes proper provision for payment of the debts, taxes and probate costs is small compared to the saving that can be effected.

NEXT: There are no tax advantages in joint ownership of property but there can be tax disadvantages.

Clean-Up Week for Wellington has been designated as that of April 20 through 25. The City Council considered it best to allow a little time for people to get ready between the announcement and the week of the intensive drive. The trucks will start hauling April 27 in order not to go back a second time.

It is time now to get our individual premises in order. Even on well kept premises the task can't be done in a day or a week. Much more can be accomplished by making a survey of your property and making a list of the things that need attention and then proceed to do them in an orderly manner. The greatest boost you can give Clean-Up Week is to have your own property spic and span before April 25 arrives.

Most people will be pleased to learn that the date of the Collingsworth County Free Fair has been changed back to September. Last year the Fair was held in October due to the fact that was the only date that a carnival could be secured and that has been an important source of revenue. Ralph Owens and Billy Moseley who were named directors of the Fair by the Chamber of Commerce at the first of the year, have secured a carnival for the week of September 14 through 19.

This date in the middle of the month will give the exhibitors an opportunity to gather and show better agricultural products. Last year the heads of the agricultural departments said they found it more difficult to collect prize showings than it would have been in September. This date won't please everyone for nothing ever does; but it is thought that it will please more concerned people than October.

Glen Shelton paid a deserved tribute to the beauty of the girls of Wellington both past and present in a recent column in The Wichita Falls Record News:

OFF ON A TANGENT — With a note to Deskins Wells: Zooks! Deskins, but you grow pretty girls out there in the Wellington prairies! Saw your pic of "Miss Wellington," Janice White on page one of the Leader last week, and noted the runners-up about as comely, and then observed the spelling champs, also depicted on page one, were beauties too. Now a question: Is the good Lord making up in feminine pulchritude there what he failed to do with you men?

Have seen queens come and go, but the most beautiful of all, in my opinion, was Fayette Peoples of Wellington about a decade ago.

REASON

A car radio fails to work under a bridge because the steelwork of the bridge and the ground on which it rests constitute a conducting loop. The electromagnetic field is zero within this loop, hence no radio waves reach the receiver.

"Staple" refers to cotton fiber length.

One Injured in Accident Sun.

One Wellington woman was hospitalized for injuries received in a two-car collision at the intersection of 8th and Haskell Streets about 6:45 p.m. Sunday, April 5.

She is Mrs. Henry Davidson, who was a passenger in the car with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Raburn, according to Police Chief Donald Nunnelley.

Occupants of the other car were Mr. and Mrs. Author Castor and Mr. and Mrs. Mario Sosa.

Chief Nunnelley said Mr. Raburn was driving west on 8th Street and made a left turn onto Haskell. The Castor vehicle was northbound on Haskell.

Mrs. Davidson remained in St. Joseph's Tuesday for treatment of bruises. None of the others in the accident were hospitalized, Chief Nunnelley said.

Damage to the cars was heavy, he said. Mr. Raburn was driving a 1969 Chevrolet and Mr. Castor a 1968 Mercury.

Assisting in the investigation were Sheriff John Rainey, Deputy Alvin Minatrea and Patrolmen Doug Wright and Robert Holman.

SECRETARY BIRD

The secretary bird received its name from the long plumes which project from the back of its head as quill pens once did from behind the ear of a secretary. The bird is best known for its snake-killing abilities.
