It should be a pleasure to shop in Slaton these days, with so many good sales going on. Wheeler's, Anthony's and others are in there swinging sale prices that are fan-O. Z. Ball & Co. Too.

Wheeler isn't whistling when he says in this Slatonite that the were marked down in some cases as much as 80%.

Alex Webb isn't kidding about the bargains in his store, either. Bobby Brooks, Nelly Don and other well-known brands are wearing their price tags at half-mast. And there's a grab table where Webb tries "to get rid of things no one would have." Surprising bargains at 97c. Be sure you read his ad carefully.

And it never pays to sell Anthony's short — whenever they have a sale, it's sure to be a money-saver. Check their ad and you'll see.

The most hilarious scene that can imagine is Alma McClanahan chasing a shop-lifter down an alley, and with every step shouting, "Call the police, Call the police." And it really happened.

Jack Cole accompanied Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Fields to the Baptist Convention in Dallas. They left Slaton in time to make it to Dallas in time to go to church and we met them on the highway Sunday afternoon. Their horn sounded as they recognized our car, and James stopped the car and turned around. They had pulled up and were waiting. Bro. Fields got out of his car, walked back to ours and greeted us with this: "I'm out chasing my flock!"

If anyone in Slaton knows who is to head the March of Dimes this year I would consider it a great favor if they would let me in on the secret. I know at least 15 of the people who are not going to head the drive here but I can't learn who Mr. X is. Do you know?

J. B. Kitten has returned to his home from Mercy Hospital where he spent a week recovering from a tractor accident.

'59 TIGER FOOTBALL CAPTAINS

Conference Basketball Play To Start Friday

Slaton High School's Tiger and Tigerettes basketball teams start conference play Friday night against Post, at Post.

The starting of conference play will see a change or two in the Tiger lineup as one new starter, Mike Rose, becomes eligible.

Coach John Taylor has named his starting quintet against Post as Rose, center; James Cole and Randy Sanders, guards; and Jerry Hogue and David Bishop, forwards. Hogue continues to lead the team in the scoring category going into conference play.

Since the first of the year, the team has chalked up wins over Falls and Sudan and losses to Jellou and Dimmitt.

The Tigerettes have won four games while losing only one since the new year got underway.

A Idalou, Jan. 2, the girls won 50-43, with Judy Bishop scoring 26 points and Judy Dunn scoring 21. For Idalou, Linda Johnson scored 19.

The next game, with Falls, Slaton won 69-63 and had Elaine Pionis scoring 24 points and Miss Bishop, 19. For the losers, Sharon Sessom bucketed 39 points.

In Lockney, Jan. 6, Slaton brought home another win, 58-40. Miss Bishop was again high scorer for the Tigerettes with 21 points. Kay Holley scored 11. For Lockney, Miss Boedicker scored 24.

In the Dimmitt Tournament Slaton won the first game over Nazareth, 54-46. Judy Bishop scored 20 points, Pat Schilling and Judy Dunn scored 16 each. Clarice Schulte scored 20 points for Nazareth. In the second tournament game, Slaton lost to Abertathy, 71-39. Margie Guinn of Abertathy scored 25 points while Slaton's Judy Bishop got 15 points and Miss Schilling, 14.

As Highlight Of Jaycee Week

Jaycees Set 'Boss Night' Banquet

A "Bosses Night" banquet on Tuesday night, Jan. 20, will highlight Jaycee Week in Slaton.

Jaycee Week will be observed from Jan. 18 to 25 throughout the state and nation. The local organization has several projects outlined to celebrate the week.

The Feature, the "Bosses Night" banquet, will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the VFW Hall. Each Jaycee will be expected to attend and bring sworn in as deputy tax collectors Tuesday. This work will get underway before Jaycee week actually starts. A booth is set up in Citizens State Bank today for the convenience of area residents in paying their poll tax.

Don Kendrick, heading up the poll tax project, reported that members of the club, deputized tax collectors, will sell the tax next Thursday night from door to door over town.

This Sunday morning, the club will attend church together at the Church of Christ. This activity will actually be the "kick-off" for Jaycee Week.

The proclamation came from the Mayor's office yesterday morning and points out that, "because of the fine local Jaycee organization, residents of this community should pause to recognize the work members of that club are doing."

The Mayor continued, "Their civic work and community projects make the club one of Slaton's most important organizations. I hereby salute the Slaton Junior Chamber of Commerce and proclaim the week of January 18 through 25 as 'Jaycee Week' in Slaton."

his employer, or an associate or prominent businessman.

Ted Swanner, Jaycee president, will be master of ceremonies at the event.

Scheduled on the program are the naming of the "Outstanding Young Farmer" of the Slaton area, a report by the nominating committee on selections of new officers and a short talk by John Schmidt on the Jaycee organization.

Otis Rogers will present the man selected as the "Outstanding Young Farmer" of the Slaton area with a plaque. The winner will be entered in state-wide competition with a chance to go to the national finals this spring.

D. W. Walton will give the invocation at the banquet.

Another club activity during the special week will include the selling of poll tax. Ten Jaycees were expected to attend and bring sworn in as deputy tax collectors Tuesday. This work will get underway before Jaycee week actually starts. A booth is set up in Citizens State Bank today for the convenience of area residents in paying their poll tax.

Bank Deposits Mirror Excellent Agriculture Year In Slaton Area

HE MADE A HAUL

Chief of Police Bill Daniels is shown here with some of the "haul" he made last Saturday and Sunday night. Daniels and his force uncovered two barrels in the "flats" area of town, filled with alcoholic beverages. One of the barrels contained quart bottles of beer and the other whiskey. The unique method of hiding the illicit beverage was spoiled, however, when the police saw "air holes" and dug the barrels out of the ground. In other recent liquor violations activities, four Slaton residents were charged with failure to purchase federal alcohol tax stamp after agents of the Internal Revenue Service's Alcohol and Tobacco Unit spent several days of undercover work in Lubbock County. Other activity is also pending. (Slatonite Staff Photo)

New Telephone Directories Are Mailed Here

The new Slaton telephone directories were mailed to subscribers here January 12, 1959.

J. C. Oakley, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company Manager, has announced.

"The new directory contains approximately 2,000 alphabetical listings," Oakley said.

Old directories should be thrown away as soon as the new issue is received. However, care should be taken to remove any item such as photos, letters, and notes which might have been placed between the pages, the manager advised.

The Slaton directory has a green cover and contains 16 "white" or alphabetical pages and 32 "yellow" or classified pages. Approximately 1,200 copies of the directory have been printed.

"A number of extra copies are printed as replacements for those used in public telephone booths and other places where much use occurs," Oakley explained.

"The telephone directory," he added, "remains one of the 'best read' books in Slaton."

You can save time by referring to it if you are not sure of a number or need assistance of any kind. The yellow pages are a convenient listing of almost every business in town, he added.

Bank deposits at the Citizens State Bank in Slaton were up $865,751.44 over deposits at the same time last year, a year's end bank call report showed this week.

And this figure still does not tell the current story as money from a bumper cotton crop in the Slaton area continues to pour into the bank.

Since the first of the year, deposits have increased by nearly $900,000.

The increased deposits are indicative of a highly strengthened Slaton-area economy.

The area has just completed one of its most prosperous agriculture years.

As of Dec. 31, 1958, demand deposits at Citizens State totaled $5,341,703.54. At the end of 1957, the amount was $4,475,952.10.

However, even more astounding is the report that since the first of the year, deposits have climbed from $5,341,703.54 to $6,217,635.25 on Jan. 13. Income tax was one of the primary reasons for the jump early this month. Some farmers preferred to be paid for their crop in 1959.

Loans at the bank are about the same as last year and, not including government obligations, totalled $3,588,441.62 as of Dec. 31.

Other year-end figures show United States Government obligations, direct and guaranteed, $890,156.25; obligations of state and political subdivisions, $190,387.70; cash and balance due from other banks, including reserve balances and cash items in process of collection, $364,399.37; Banking house, or leasehold improvements, $121,875.00.

Ten-Game Football Schedule Announced

The 1959 football schedule of the Slaton High School Fighting Tigers was announced this week by Coach Leonard Ehrler.

The ten-game schedule has the team playing at home for four contests and on the road for six.

Two teams, Stamford and Abertathy, have been replaced on the schedule by Rotan and Crosbyton.

The conference games get underway on Oct. 16 when the Tigers trek to Floydada. On the next to successive week ends they play Spur and then Tahoka. Next comes an open date and the regular season ends with a home game against arch-rival Post on Nov. 13.

18th Annual Lubbock County Stock Show March 7

The 18th Annual Lubbock County Stock Show will be held March 7 at the Western Cotton Oil Grounds at Slaton.

This widely-known county show has grown from a humble beginning (a local poultry show) to one of the outstanding county shows in Texas. The show is sponsored each year by the businessmen of Slaton and other surrounding Lubbock County towns and Wilson, Lynn County, Slaton Chamber of Commerce, Slaton Futufarmers; and 4-H Clubs of Lubbock County.

This show will be made up of approximately 500 entries, the majority of which will be in the swine division.

The prize money in the sheep division has been increased this year for the individual places and the best group of three fat lambs and best group of three fat barrows have been dropped from the show.

The officers of the show this year are co-general superintendents James Shearer and Jesse P. Brown, local FFA Advisor.

The assistant superintendent and narrator of the show will be the newly-elected county commissioner, Alton Brazell.

Joe Walker Jr., a farmer of Slaton, will again serve as secretary. The superintendents of the various divisions are as follows:

Don Bell, calves; J. R. Bridges, sheep; Buddy Winters and John Powers, fat swine; Richard Uowers, gilts.

The judges of the 1959 show will be Paul Gross, assistant county agent of Gaines County as the swine judge and Calvin Holcomb, Gaines County agent will judge the sheep and calves.

"The management of the Lubbock County Stock Show, the officials of the City of Slaton, and the Slaton Chamber of Commerce wish to express their deep appreciation for the co-operation of the business firms, individuals, and the service clubs in Lubbock and Slaton, who help to make this show possible," stock show representatives said this week.

'Beyond The Call Of Booty ...'

If'n Ya Haven't Tried It ...

The Greek philosopher Pericles had a good point when he wrote, "No Athenian should ever confess that he neglected public service for the sake of his private fortune."

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce is founded on this precept. Its board members believe fervently in the proposition that a businessman owes more to his city than taxes. The chamber affords the businessman, professional man and many others an excellent opportunity for service, "beyond the call of booty."

As a complex of many activities ... 11 permanent and many special committees, for instance ... the chamber of commerce does civic jobs that no single industry or group could possibly undertake.

Its promotion of projects on behalf of businessmen, youth, farmers, laborers, etc., are examples of what citizens, working together for the good of their city, can accomplish through the chamber of commerce.

On Feb. 2, possibly one of the most important meetings to be held in Slaton this year, will take place at the K. of C. Hall, the 33rd annual meeting of the chamber of commerce.

If you believe in Slaton, what to work for its progress and growth, don't fail to attend that banquet. Whether you are pleased with the chamber's work or not, whether you like the way it works for Slaton or not, if you are truly interested in "Our Town," you can at least be in attendance at that banquet.

Important things are to be done. Five new members will be elected. The officers will be installed and a top-notch speaker is scheduled. As extra, added attractions, the community's outstanding citizen and woman of the year will be recognized. Many other things are in store.

Some people disagree on the value of our chamber of commerce. They say, "They don't do anything to help us grow," or, "They're going at it the wrong way," or, "Why don't they do something really big for Slaton," or any number of things constituting a complaint.

Most of these people are those who have never served on the chamber, have never offered their help on chamber projects and have, in fact, themselves done nothing or very little on Slaton's behalf. That's the way it goes. The less one does, the more, sometimes, he complains about what is being done.

We sincerely hope, friend, that you are not one of those who does little and complains much, for much remains to be done and little can be helped by complaints.

If you would heed the admonition of Pericles, the chamber would be happy to tell you how ... starting with that Feb. 2 banquet.

(Editor's Note: A few comments from neighboring newspapers.)

Excerpt from an editorial by Jim Cornish in the Post Dispatch:

1958 has been a mighty good year.

That's a sum up of the last 12 months in seven words. And it pretty well applies to Post. Garza County, and this whole trade area.

From the economic standpoint, old 1958 proved a honey on practically every economic front.

Crops were bumper sized. Milo set a new record in the county both in size and yield. The bread-and-butter cotton crop for the first time in eight long years—after six of drought and one of harvest rains—was a 20,000 bales plus dilly. Out on the big ranches, cattle continued on the comeback trail, growing steadily in numbers.

The year was another tremendous one from the oil standpoint for the county. At this writing Garza was challenging for the leadership in most new pool openers for the year in all West Texas. The majors were drilling deep and the independents were drilling shallow. The rigs were busy Christmas week when the oil business usually is in the year-end doldrums.

Shell Pipeline laid in a big new pipeline into southern Garza County and spread out a gathering system which cost well over a $1,000,000.

Main streeters had a lot to be happy about too. Many businessmen, a Dispatch survey shows, reported the biggest business year ever in 1958 with a record Christmas business too.

Appliance dealers reported that the Christmas buying this year included plenty of major appliances delivered on Christmas Eve. It was a good year for furniture too. Business was here for those who went after it.

School enrollments jumped to new record high with more records seen immediately ahead to pose a school expansion problem. Almost a dozen new trailer parks opened here during the year as the growing population of oil folks brought their homes in with them. The local housing shortage stayed tight from January through to December. The postmaster estimated a 500 increase in the town's population.

1958 totaled up as truly a year of progress. And as a new year begins Post and its area can look forward expectantly to more of the same.

Oil men are talking of plenty of drilling for years to come. The agricultural picture is solid again. Farmers are back on their feet. Bank deposits are at peak levels. Car sales are beginning to boom—a good indicator of better times.

Post in the new year needs to face up to its growth. School expansion is a must. Of course the White River Water development will be pushed just as fast as it is possible to go.

But there are other problems to consider. New housing needs to be encouraged with every possible means. The housing pinch here is very tight and appears certain to stay that way until major progress can be made.

—SOUNDING BOARD—
From, "The Country Editor," by H. M. Baggally, in the Tulsa Herald:

Remember the "knock, knock, who's there?" craze which swept the country several years ago? Then there was the rash of little moron jokes which followed. Now we have what they call "cruelty jokes" that are making the rounds. Most of them we don't get; however, some of the most recent ones have a Christmas flavor and are slightly more comprehensible.

Jerry Hollingsworth in the Winkler County News began his column recently with one, "All right, fat boy, get down off my roof—and bring those reindeer with you!"

The Ernest Jolner quoted one last week, "I don't care what star you're following—get those camels off the freeway!"

Understand the variety going around Wayland college are more subtle. In fact, the psychology department is reported to be making a study of some of those characters down there who are repeating cruelty jokes.

The newspaper continues to be a vital part of the nation's life, and, despite the advent of radio and television, it continues to be the nation's No. 1 advertising medium as well as the primary force in the country's political life.

The importance of the newspaper was illustrated last week when all of New York's big dailies were forced to cease publication because of the strike.

A great percentage of the population reads the newspaper today more than at any time in history.

"What specials have you got on today?" That was the question that flooded New York City department stores from telephone callers and shoppers who were without the newspaper ads that usually supplied them with the answers, according to the Associated Press.

"They wander through the aisles with no ideas in mind," a store official said.

"It's been bad for business. Many stores report that for the season as a whole they'll come out ahead of last year but that the outcome would have been far better if it hadn't been for the advertisement black-out."

With the newspaper shutdown two weeks old, Deputy City Commerce Commissioner Vincent O'Shea estimated that department and specialty store sales the week before Christmas lagged 6 1/2 to 7 per cent below the same date last year.

He estimated sales losses for the week at more than 3 1/2 million dollars.

Telephone and mail orders were particularly affected, major department stores reported. "The biggest problem has been that people can't shop as readily without suggestions. They're slower to make choices. If you have a special gift item on hand, you've got to tell people about it or they don't know it's there," said the commissioner.

To bridge the gap, Macy's began distribution at its doors of an extra four-page daily list of special buys. It also upped its radio and TV commercials which it uses to supplement its newspaper advertising.

So reported the Associated Press December 23.

Tulia merchants and the Chamber of Commerce did more to promote Christmas, proportionately, than did any of the surrounding towns or cities. Local street and home decorations were much more impressive than any we could find in Amarillo.

As a result of Tulia's concentrated promotion, both free and paid, local merchants enjoyed a wonderful Christmas business. Meanwhile reports seeping out of Amarillo are to the effect that Christmas business was just so-so.

It just goes to show that the little town can hold its own against the big town if it goes after business in earnest.

And what can be done in December can be done, proportionately, during the other 11 months. As individual merchants and as a Chamber of Commerce we must be just as diligent in going after business from January until November as we were during December.

It is noted that Amarillo didn't relax a moment after Christmas. The day after Christmas, Amarillo merchants, letting no grass grow under their feet, were out after business.

Over and over it has been proved that the local advertising media are capable of getting a message to the public. Remember the crowds that jammed our streets the night of December 1? Local press and radio alone brought those people to town. We were the only source of publicity given this event.

Something to think about when a television or radio advertising salesman from out of town comes around, when someone comes around wanting to sell you an ad on a calendar, when you are approached with 1,001 so-called advertising gimmicks during the coming months.

No Dogteams, Moose Bother On Highways But Drivers Have Great Danger, Darkness!

The major traffic hazards in Alaska are dog teams, moose and long hours of darkness. Few U. S. motorists have run into dog teams or moose lately. But darkness certainly is one

Council. of the major driving problems, according to the National Safety Council. Darkness doesn't mean just "pitch blackness." It also includes the "twilight hours"—

4-8 p.m. Consider these facts: 1. Three times as many motorists and pedestrians lose their lives at night in auto accidents as during the day.

2. Nearly 3 out of 10 auto accidents occur from 4-8 p.m. One out of four fatal auto accidents occurs then, too.

3. In summer months, especially, the succeeding four hours—8 to midnight—are almost equally as hazardous as the twilight hours. About 1 out of every 5 auto deaths charged against U. S. motorists occurs then, the Council says.

Why is darkness such a danger? For several reasons, the Council points out. Such as:

1. Drivers are tired after a hard day. A trip is a pretty tiring ordeal, even when it's not preceded by eight hours of work.

2. Motorists probably are more inclined to doze at the wheel at night. About 1,850 motorists killed in traffic accidents in 1936 were said to have fallen asleep at the wheel, an estimated 270,000 dozing motorists were involved in that year's traffic accidents.

3. It's harder for most motorists to see at night, and some of them just don't seem to realize it. Too, headlights of approaching cars make driving difficult for many persons.

4. At night it's hard to spot hazards ahead—sudden twists in the road, wandering animals, a motorist tinkering with his stalled auto.

5. Perhaps most dangerous of the night-time hazards are improper headlights and overdriving your lights.

Overdriving your lights? That means this: At a speed of 60 m.p.h., it takes at least 366 feet to stop a car. The Uniform Vehicle Code recommends that an auto's bright lights be capable of illuminating an object 350 feet away. Which means if you're driving 60 and see a stalled auto ahead, you probably can't possibly stop before reaching it.

The solution to preventing deaths during darkness?

1. Make sure your car lights are properly adjusted. Clean the lenses before driving.

2. Keep your windshield clean, too. It will help reduce fatigue and eyestrain.

3. Slow down when the sun's down.

4. Dim your lights to approaching cars, even if they don't dim theirs. And dim when following a car.

5. Stop periodically on trips for a break. "It's true that in America we don't have dog teams or moose to contend with," the Council says.

"But it still takes a lot of extra effort by motorists to make night driving safe."

Texas Drivers Are Urged To 'Share The Road — Arrive Alive!'

"Share the Road — Arrive Alive!" In those words J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, today urged all motorists to support the Share the Road program of the Texas Safety Association and the National Safety Council.

This program is a part of the nation-wide Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents campaign. "To stay safe in traffic, the driver must be keenly aware that he's not the only one on the road," Musick said. "He's just one of many drivers, so he must keep in step with the others and share the road with them."

The Safety expert said this involves, first of all, a willingness to share and then the skill and judgement to do the right thing at the right time. He gave the following rules as a guide to drivers to help them fit their driving to the pattern of traffic around them.

1. Keep alert. Develop defensive driving. Study the road ahead for accident situations. The higher the speed, the farther ahead your attention must be fixed.

2. Think ahead. Plan emergency measures. Know your own and your car's capabilities. If the car ahead should suddenly block your lane, could you stop? Could you swerve to avoid an accident?

3. Be adaptable. Get the "feel" of changing traffic, road and weather conditions. Adjust your speed immediately.

4. Pace yourself by the traffic around you. This includes noting traffic behind through constant use of your rear-view mirrors. Don't race. Don't lag. Don't ride the bumper of the car ahead.

5. Take only your share of the road—in the proper place. Keep in the proper lane. Pass only when you see you have ample time and space to avoid cutting out and in too sharply. Signal all turns and lane changes. 6. Obey to the letter all traffic laws, signs, signals and the dictates of common sense and courtesy. If you make a mistake, don't lose your head. Don't jeopardize yourself and others by hasty, foolishly sudden moves.

Musick had a special word to say about safety on super-highways, pointed out that the higher speeds permissible on such roads make the above rules doubly important and vital. In addition, he said, this rule should be added: Watch signs carefully for rules governing the particular road you're traveling — such things as directions for entering or leaving the highway.

Now, from a point six or eight paces back from the table, have your guests walk quickly past the bottle and, without slackening their pace, flick the ball off with a finger. Sound easy? Try it. Remember, contestants must not slow down or stop to shoot. Hint: aim at the bottom half of the ball.

Special Army Enlistment Plan Is Outlined

Qualified young men may now enlist for duty in Europe with one of two elite U. S. Army pentomic units through a special U. S. Army enlistment option, SFC. William T. Jones, Army Recruiter, announced today.

Enlistments are being accepted for the 2nd Battle Group, 4th Infantry, and the 2nd Reconnaissance Squadron, 7th Cavalry. Both are elements of the 3rd Infantry Division. SFC. Jones pointed out that this special enlistment option is open for "buddy enlistments," whereby a young man may enter the Army with his buddies for the same unit and overseas assignment.

Further information on this Choice, Not Chance, enlistment may be obtained from SFC. Jones at The Post Office Building, Slaton, each Wednesday.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas' 56th Legislature soars off the launching pad this week.

Predictions are that it'll be orbiting around the Capitol for many months to come—certainly long enough to put to good use the aid conditioners newly installed in the Legislative chambers.

Many have suggested the 56th will have to have one or more special sessions before it can solve all its pressing problems. Certainly before they can leave, the lawmakers will have to perform the thankless task of levying many more millions in state taxes.

Additionally, they'll be beset on all sides for new spending programs which would call for even more taxes.

After several months of this, outer space may look invitingly calm compared to the Texas Capitol.

THIN KITTY—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's official revenue estimate for 1960-61 is more of a storm warning than a forecast.

Calvert expects the state's general fund deficit to hit $65,234,703 by the end of this biennium next August. Under the present tax set-up, he estimates revenue to the same fund during the next two years would total $180,697,245.

After the deficit is taken care of, only $115,000,000 would be left for 1960-61 spending. It's a pretty thin kitty when compared with the $282,000,000 appropriated from general revenue for 1958-59. It means the state will have to raise $167,000,000 more just to maintain its present "standard of living."

Comptroller Calvert's official revenue estimate this year is a far cry from the one he made two years ago for the 55th Legislature. In that well-heeled era Calvert forecast approximately a $50,000,000 surplus. No one paid too much attention to outgoing House Speaker Jim Lindsey's prophecy that spending needs would outrun this figure.

In good years and bad, the Legislature is bound by law to hold its appropriations within the comptroller's revenue estimate.

TREASURE HUNT—A number of economies plus stricter levying and collecting of present taxes might net the state as much as $74,599,957 without new taxes.

This report was made by a financial study committee headed by Secretary of State Zollic Steakley. Committee was appointed by Gov. Price Daniel last summer.

Its six cash-raising ideas: (1) put more tax-collecting person-

State Highway '59 Rehabilitation Program Announced By Commission

AUSTIN—The State Highway Commission recently announced a program to rehabilitate 2,385 miles of the State Highway System.

Marshall Formby, Chairman of the State Highway Commission, stated that the $20-million program is for the principal purpose of protecting the investment that has been made by the taxpayers of Texas in the State Highway System.

"We will be working on 360 projects under this program, and the work will be done during 1959. We must always have programs of this type in order to keep our present highways in the best possible state or repair until they can be rebuilt completely. The volume of traffic generated by Texas' 4.3 million vehicles is tremendous, and a road-rehabilitation program helps to increase the carrying capacity of the road. A very important aspect of the program is that the work done on these highways will make them safer, too—a goal we are constantly striving for," Formby said.

The Commission chairman stated last that the work under the program would be in road widening, shoulder work, and surfacing of the highway.

Lubbock County projects are: US 37 from Hale County Line to Lubbock, 14.8 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $30,400.

US 84 from Shallowater to Lubbock, 9.6 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $22,800.

US 82 from intersection of US 62 and St. 116 Northeast to US 62 Northeast of Lubbock (4th Street), 8.4 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $21,600.

US 62 from College Avenue and 19th Street, East to US 82, Northeast of Lubbock (19th Street), 5.6 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $16,800.

US 84 in Lubbock from 22nd Street South to 50th Street (Avenue Q), 1.9 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $6,500.

US 84 from Slaton to Lynn County Line, 3.1 miles to Seal Coat at an estimated cost of $3,100.

Labor spokesmen on the council were critical of Brown's one-week waiting period proposal and even more critical of Brown and Commissioner Maurice Acres. State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman accused the two commissioners of voting down the appeals of jobless workers.

Management representatives declared the commission's first responsibility was to get people employed, not to pay out benefits.

HIGHER PRICES SEEN—1959 may be the year for another round of inflation, warns the University Bureau of Business Research.

BBR noted that even with the recession there was no drop in prices during 1958. Hence, the expected expansion in business in the coming year might mean some sharp price rises.

Jets To Replace B-25s At Reese Air Base

A B-25 commemoration and an open house at Reese Air Force base the latter part of this month will mark the end of basic reciprocal pilot training and the institution of basic single jet training throughout the Air Training Command.

The commemoration will include the unveiling of a mounted B-25 at Reese's main gate on January 23. A bronze commemorative plaque has been presented by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and dignitaries from the city will be present for the ceremony.

The open house will be held from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturday, January 24. The public is invited to see a Wing parade and aircraft flyover, inspect aircraft on the flightline, see an F-100 put through its paces by Bob Hoover, North American Aviation Corporation test pilot, see Capt. Robert Fogg, Air Force test pilot, demonstrate the T-37, and watch the "Colorado Minute Men," an Air National Guard flying team that ranks with the Air Force "Thunderbirds," put on a precision flying demonstration.

Reese is the last ATC base to train basic reciprocal engine pilots. With the graduation of Class 59-E, currently training in the B-25, the end of an era of reciprocal pilot training will have been reached. In the future, all Air Force student pilots will graduate jet qualified.

The phase-out of the B-25 has been underway for the past two years at the five ATC basic training bases. All-jet training is now being conducted at Greenville AFB, Miss., Webb and Laredo AFBs, Texas, and Vance AFB, Okla. Reese currently has three jet classes in training.

In addition to her wartime role, the venerable B-25 has compiled an impressive record as a trainer. Since the first class, 43-1, graduated in 1943, approximately 30,000 pilots have won their wings in her cockpits, and the converted bomber has flown over 2.6 million hours in its role as trainer.

As the T-33s have been phased in at Reese, the B-25s have been flown to an aircraft storage area at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz. When Class 59-E graduates, the only B-25 that will remain at the base will be the one permanently mounted at Reese's gate.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bain's grandchildren, Steve, Gary, and Kathy, children of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. McCoy of Lubbock, visited them over the week end.

Outlook For Santa Fe Favorable

Optimism that the recent improvement in the Nation's economy will continue in 1959 was expressed recently by Ernest S. Marsh, president of the Santa Fe Railway, Chicago, in his year-end review and outlook.

General Business activity in Santa Fe territory, rather slow early in 1958, increased quickly under the impetus of record grain harvests. Increased production of other agricultural commodities and a general pick-up in freight revenues exceeded fourth quarter expectations, Marsh said.

"Santa Fe's net earnings in 1958 should exceed last year's by possibly 5 per cent," Marsh declared. "Despite an expected 4 per cent drop in operating revenue this year."

He indicated agricultural and industrial development prospects in the West and Southwest for 1959 appear favorable at this time and that 1959 revenues are expected to reflect a modest increase over the current year.

However, next year's earnings prospects are subject to the likelihood of continued inflationary trends in wage rates and in the cost of materials and supplies, Marsh declared.

Santa Fe spent approximately $38 million on capital improvements in 1958 on such items as 2,300 new freight cars, 50 new baggage cars and the laying of approximately 150 miles of continuously welded rail.

Marsh said the final phase of the new "Push Button" yard facilities at the Corwith Freight Terminal was completed during the year. This $20 million improvement program at Chicago provides a 32-tract automatic retarder yard, three modern freight houses and car and locomotive repair facilities.

The company recently authorized the purchase of 42 new 2400 H.P. Diesel locomotives and 626 new freight cars scheduled for delivery in 1959, while 248 more miles of continuously welded rail will be laid. Additional diesels and freight cars are under consideration for the 1959 program.

Additional improvements scheduled for 1959 include modernization of certain freight yards, expansion of radio communication and roadway signaling equipment, including some centralized traffic control planned throughout the system.

Marsh pointed out that reductions in both Eastbound and Westbound Transcontinental freight schedules made during the year enable the company to provide its transcontinental customers with earlier delivery of their goods. Such service improvements are expected to result in a larger volume of freight traffic moving by rail in 1959.

In the field of Legislation, the Santa Fe President regards the passage of the Transportation Act of 1958 as a significant expression of public concern for the inequities which have plagued the rail industry for years.

"Repeal of the 3 per cent Federal Excise Tax on freight charges was helpful," he said. "But many obstacles still confronting the industry must be hurdled before full equality of opportunity and treatment can be achieved."

"Paramount among these are the repeal of the 10 per cent Passenger Excise Tax; repeal of the Agricultural commodities exemption or its extension to Non-Motor Carriers; removal of artificial barriers preventing transport diversification by the Railroad Industry; revision of depreciation policies in respect to Railroad Plant and Equipment, and the establishment of suitable user charges where publicly-owned facilities are provided for the railroads' competitors," Marsh said.

"Given fair treatment in regard to the Santa Fe and the nation's railroads can meet the transportation challenge of the future and contribute importantly in the long range prosperity of the country."

Social Security Representative To Visit Here

How and when farm operators should file social security reports of wages paid their hired hands is a familiar question at this time, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office. Hutton further stated that some farm employers are not sure of their obligation to report the wages paid to their farm workers.

If you paid a farm worker $150 or more cash wages during 1958, his wages must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service. Or, regardless of the amount of wages—if you paid a worker on a time basis for his work on at least 20 days during 1958, the amount you paid him must be reported. Work by the hour, day, week, or month is on a time basis. Payment of the social security tax on wages must be made with the report.

The social security tax is 4 1/2%. The farmer deducts 2 1/4% from the employee's cash wages and adds 2 1/4% himself. He then reports the worker's name, social security number and total wages to the Internal Revenue Service in Dallas at the end of each year. The report for 1958 is due by January 31, 1959.

As a reminder Hutton said, "If a farmer hires groups of employees through a crew leader, the crew leader may be the employer." For additional information farmers and crew leaders contact the local social security office at 2878-34th St. Lubbock Texas.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Slaton on Jan. 20, 1959 at 9 a.m. at the Red Cross Room City Hall, and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to Social Security.

Teen Talk

Everyone is wearing new things, received as Christmas presents, around school. Barbara Childress wore a pretty blue sweater to school last week. Diane Heinrich, Billy Balmanns, Randy Sanders, Judie Bishop, and Don Howell were also sporting new sweaters this week. Ophelia Bloxum and Jan Smith were flashing their new dinner rings around. In the line of jewelry, we've seen Peggy Gentry wearing a Tiger pin, Marilyn Nelson with a new necklace, and Kay Holley wearing a new watch. All in all it seems Christmas was a real success.

Wasn't the Sophomore assembly a scream? Acting as M.C. was Don Edwards, who introduced such celebrities as LaVerne Baker (Colene Gilliland), "The Teddy Bears" (Judy Franke, Eddie Gravell, and Bill Wheeler), Johnny "Presley" Morris, Ricky Nelson, (Johnny Taylor), Jack Scott (Robert Keys), and in the audience, Pat and Pam Every (Pat Pettigrew and Pam Henry). Everyone certainly enjoyed this unusual type of assembly.

We'd like to welcome Jim Vickers to Slaton High School. Jim, as most of you know, has lived in France the past few years. Jim is a real friendly guy with a swell personality and we're real glad to have him with us.

We wonder why Patsy Pettigrew didn't wear her hair in that lovely shade of blue she had over the week end. With that and the chemise dress she wore Monday, she would have been a real "knock-out."

Speaking of dresses, Claudene Townsend wore a beautiful pink dress to school Monday. She was real embarrassed when Patty Clark "hollered" out in Algebra class how pretty she thought it was.

The basketball teams seemed to have enjoyed themselves at Dimmitt Friday. Some of the girls told us what fun they had that night, talking on the phone.

The sixth period choral class was in hysterics Monday after rambling through a new song which had unusual lyrics. The over-all effect was hilarious.

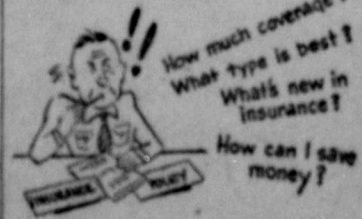

Russell Cummings, you should feel honored. Not everyone received an 11 by 16 picture of Tommie McCall.

From our vantage point at the rear table in third period study hall, we see students cramming for these mid-term exams in process this week. Remember, kids, just keep your nose to the grindstone, your shoulder to the wheel and your ear to the ground. Now try working that way.

A. T. Taylor of Stockton, Calif., is visiting Mrs. Annie Brown.
