Americans Missing As Congo Rebels Advance

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Three Americans were reported missing today in the eastern Congolese city of Bukavu, where messages said fighting persisted between government soldiers and Communist-backed rebels.

The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said it was without word from its vice consul in Bukavu, Louis R. McCarlane, 25, of Seattle, and two Army officers attached to the U.S. military mission to the Congo.

The officers are Col. William A. Dodds, the 50-year-old counter-insurgency expert, and Lt. Col. Donald V. Rattan, 40, an infantry officer from Alexandra, Va.

The embassy said consulate officials lost track of the three men owing to the swiftness of the rebel advance into Bukavu Wednesday.

Consul Richard Matheron of Fresno, Calif., and the five other members of his staff radioed they were safe at Kavumbe Airport, about three miles from Bukavu in the nearby Rwanda Republic.

Almost all of Bukavu's African quarters were in rebel hands, messages said.

Maintaining an airlift started Wednesday night, a planeload of Congolese reinforcements left Leopoldville this morning for Bukavu.

Bukavu is the last major city of the northeastern Congo still in government hands. Its fall would be a severe blow to the hopes of Premier Moise Tshombe of rolling back the revolt.

Tshombe has moved to oust thousands of citizens of African nations accused of undercutting his regime.

As the spreading Communist-backed rebellion seemed to take a turn for the worse, Tshombe said he believed a report that Peking-trained rebel leader Pierre Mulele, 33, was dead. Diplomatic sources, however, believe the former Congolese education minister was alive in Brazzaville, the former French Congo.

Government forces in Bukavu were reported pushed back to the city's European quarter, but Col. Leonard Mulamba said he believed he could retake the rebel-held part of the city if reinforcements were available. U.S. cargo planes airlifted two loads of troops and supplies to the besieged city during the night.

The U.S. Embassy said that its seven or eight-man staff in Bukavu fled to neighboring Rwanda after heavy street fighting erupted Wednesday. A planeload of 40 refugees, mostly U.N. personnel, arrived in Leopoldville Wednesday night.

A government garrison of some 800 troops was fighting to salvage the city, capital of central Kivu Province and the only important city in the turbulent northeastern Congo still under government control.

The rebels, who hold an estimated 25 per cent of this vast and mineral-rich nation, captured the key city of Stanleyville two weeks ago.

The Bukavu uprising came after a government order in Leopoldville to deport citizens of Brazzaville, Burundi and Mali whose governments are accused of backing the revolt.

Denouncing the governments as accomplices of Communist China, Tshombe told a news conference that his order would be lifted only if their support of the rebellion ends. He accused China of moving to use the Congo as a base to take over all of Africa.

11 Negroes Register In Jackson

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Eleven Negroes registered today to attend white schools after city public schools lowered first-grade racial barriers under a federal court desegregation order.

Galloway and Watkins schools reported one Negro each within 10 minutes after registration at the city's 26 white and 12 Negro elementary schools began. Both were boys accompanied by parents.

No incidents were reported.

School officials said the Negroes were arriving mostly in private cars, accompanied by parents. Authorities refused to let other relatives accompany either white or Negro children for registration.

Police stood watching the schools but the grounds were all quiet.

Newspapers Praise Dietrich's Singing

TAORMINA, Sicily (AP) — Marlene Dietrich scored a triumph in her Italian singing debut.

The German-born singer and actress appeared Wednesday night in a "Songs of the World" festival in the Sicilian resort of Taormina. Italian newspaper critics praised her performance.

Anti-Poverty Bill Finalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today the $947.5-million anti-poverty bill intended to improve living conditions for millions of Americans.

The ceremony climaxed a long fight for the most important piece of legislation originating in the Johnson administration after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The President gave it highest priority on his 1964 program behind the civil rights and tax-cut bills.

Sponsors said it would supplement the civil rights measure because many of the beneficiaries would be low-income Negro families and jobless Negro youths.

The poverty measure wraps up a bundle of programs designed to give jobs to idle youth, help low-income families get off relief and provide literacy and job training.

Some of these, such as the Youth Conservation Corps, had been pushed in previous sessions but never cleared both branches of Congress.

The new law is an authorization measure. Johnson already has asked Congress to appropriate the $947.5 million in a supplemental money bill.

The authorizations are for fiscal 1965 which ends next June 30. If the program is to continue beyond that date, Congress will have to vote new allotments.

Some sponsors of the measure at the Capitol privately expressed doubts as to how effective it could be in the trial period ahead.

Many Republicans argued it was a politically inspired measure which would make little dent on poverty.

However, Sargent Shriver, who served as assistant to the President in drafting and advocating the program, told Congress it should reach 600,000 persons directly the first year and up to 7 million families through community action projects.

Johnson has announced Shriver will be named director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the official title of the program.

Oil Allowable Increased To 28 Per Cent

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission ordered today that Texas oil production be held to 28 per cent of potential during September, a big increase over August.

The commission acted at the monthly statewide hearing, at which six of 13 oil purchasers testifying asked for an increase in the August allowable.

August production was ordered held to 2,794,312 barrels daily under a 26.5 per cent formula, the lowest in 18 months.

Next month's quota totals 2,831,583 barrels daily.

The Bureau of Mines forecast September demand for Texas crude at 2.62 million barrels daily, down 5,000 from August.

Purchasers' nominations, in barrels per day and by per cent:

29—Sun, 107,598; Texaco, 140,000.

28—Humble, 417,800.

27—Atlantic, 76,335; Mobil, 236,300; Gulf, 206,650.

26.5—Sinclair, 99,300; Standard of Texas, 35,500.

26—Pan American, 239,170; Cities Service, 81,000; Shell, 165,700; Continental, 26,500; Phillips 124,328.

The commission heard testimony on its proposal to require oil well plugging bonds.

The commission ordered several months ago that operators post $5,000 bond upon application to drill or rework a well, but the order was suspended and the hearing called after oilmen protested.

Tom Gordon, chairman of a group of all the big independent oil and gas associations in the state, asked the commission to defer action pending a study by the commission's industry advisory committee.

"While anything relating to water pollution deserves the most serious attention, and realistic action is in order, nothing is to be gained and much could be sacrificed by adopting a requirement which is inappropriate or unduly burdensome, as we believe the proposed order to be," Gordon said.

J. E. Sturrock, manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association, said that group supports the commission requirement.

ON REAPPORTIONMENT

Dirksen Pushes Early Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pressed today for a showdown in the congressional battle over reapportionment — and the Supreme Court — immediately after Democrats hold their national convention.

The Senate, already snarled by a filibuster against Dirksen's proposal for delaying court-ordered reapportionment by population of both houses of state legislatures, received a much tougher proposal from the House Wednesday.

Urged to show its "intestinal fortitude," the House approved 218 to 175 a bill that would strip federal courts of jurisdiction in reapportionment cases.

To try to push his proposal through, Dirksen has offered it as a rider to the $3.3-billion foreign aid bill, one of the measures on the administration's "must list."

Dirksen said the House measure would increase pressure in the Senate for adoption of his amendment and might shorten the fight Senate Democratic liberals are making to prevent a vote on his proposal.

"If the filibuster doesn't stop when Congress reconvenes after the Democratic National Convention next week," Dirksen told a reporter, "I'll have no choice but to file a cloture petition."

He said he was confident proponents could muster the necessary two-thirds majority of senators present and voting to bring the debate to an end.

Opponents of Dirksen's rider, including Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said they would continue their talkathon indefinitely.

The Senate recesses Friday night until Aug. 31. The Democratic National Convention opens Monday in Atlantic City, N.J.

The House bill, introduced by Rep. William M. Tuck, D-Va., was sped to the House floor in a power display by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee. The wily Southern conservative invoked a little-used rule to take the measure from the Judiciary Committee.

Dirksen sees little likelihood of Senate acceptance of the House bill, which would take jurisdiction over state apportionment from the lower federal courts and appellate jurisdiction away from the Supreme Court.

Under the Senate rider, reapportionment would be delayed for up to two years "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

Dirksen has said its purpose is to "buy time" for congressional adoption of a constitutional amendment nullifying the Supreme Court decision.

Steel Beam Flys Through Super Chief

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — Two persons were killed today when an I-beam tumbled off a passing freight train and hurtled like a spear through the window of the Santa Fe Super Chief passenger train.

First reports were that five persons were injured, including a young girl, trapped beneath the beam.

The identity of the dead and injured was not available immediately.

Conductor F. E. Young described the accident this way:

"The I-beam probably jostled loose from this passing freight train. It struck the engine a glancing blow, then started a pinwheel and went through the window of a chair car."

Young said the Super Chief was about 30 minutes out of Needles, Calif., when the accident occurred. It had departed from Los Angeles and was eastbound.

The train continued into Kingman, the beam protruding from the side of the car.

The young girl still was trapped by the beam when the train reached Kingman, about 15 minutes later.

Welding torches were used to cut the beam from the train. It resumed its trip about 7:30 a.m.

Threat Leads Barry To Alter Flight Plans

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A telephoned death threat Wednesday caused a change in plans in the plane flight of Sen. Barry Goldwater back to Washington.

A caller told the Springfield Police Department that Goldwater would be shot between 3:30 and 4 p.m. The GOP presidential candidate's plane, due at Washington at that time, switched destinations.

It landed at Dulles International Airport and a waiting limousine took Goldwater the 28 miles into Washington.

Goldwater has had at least two other death threats, one in Washington and another at his Phoenix home.

FOR WALKOUT

UAW Eyes Prime Mark

By GENE SCHROEDER

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union — backed by a $66-million strike fund—is expected to select its prime target today for a possible nationwide strike in the auto industry.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther and union officials scheduled a series of meetings to discuss the status of negotiations over three-year contracts covering more than a half million assembly line workers.

Out of the talks is expected to come a decision on which of the Big Three automakers — General Motors, Ford or Chrysler — will be tagged as the No. 1 target for a possibly crippling walkout.

The union is taking a strike vote among its members in all three companies.

A UAW spokesman estimated that the strike fund, providing an average of $25 per week in benefits to each worker, would support a strike up to eight weeks at GM, longer at Ford or Chrysler.

All the Big Three contracts are due to expire at midnight Aug. 31.

Union strategy, if precent is followed, would then be to halt production with a mass walkout at the target company's plants, while extending contracts with the other two firms on a day-to-day basis.

The strikebound company would be hit when it hurts the most — just when 1965 models are beginning to roll out of the factories. Its competitors, meanwhile, would have the auto sales field virtually to themselves.

In 1961, GM was the primary target. Ford was singled out in 1955 and 1958.

Bargaining talks between the UAW and the Big Three have entered their eighth week.

The union rejected as "miserably inadequate" and "terribly disappointing" parallel offers by the companies Monday calling for higher wages, earlier retirement and larger pensions.

UAW leaders contend that all three firms have chalked up fantastic profits in the past 18 months that should be shared with their workers.

Airliner Crashes In Nev. Desert

TONOPAH, Nev. (AP) — A twin-engine DC3 airliner carrying 35 persons on a flight from Burbank, Calif., to Hawthorne, Nev., crash-landed on a desert lake 10 miles southeast of Tonopah Wednesday night.

A Federal Aviation Agency spokesman said 20 of the 32 passengers and three crew members aboard were injured. At least two, the pilot and copilot, were seriously hurt.

Capt. Harold Hopkins, of the Burbank area, was reported in critical condition. He was pinned in the wreckage for two hours.

The craft was a scheduled airliner of Hawthorne-Nevada Airlines. Most of the passengers were on a trip to the big El Capitan Casino in Hawthorne.

The FAA said one engine failed when the plane was north of Beatty, Nev., 114 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

The FAA said Hopkins tried to reach Tonopah, but trouble developed in the other engine. The plane then made a landing on an unlighted strip outlined on a dry lake for emergency X15 rocket ship landings.

COMMUNICATION SATELLITE ROCKETED — The Syncom 3 communications satellite rockets away from Cape Kennedy toward an intended stationary orbit high over the Pacific Ocean. If successful the satellite will be in position to televise to the United States portions of the October Olympic Games in Japan. (AP Wirephoto)

Syncom 3 Turns Tricky Maneuver

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The Syncom 3 "Olympic Star" satellite cleared a tricky space hurdle early today and headed for another critical maneuver later in the day.

The complex moves, controlled by radio command from the ground, are aimed at placing the spacecraft in a stationary orbit above the Pacific Ocean where it would be in position to televise the Olympic Games from Tokyo.

This afternoon, a station at Salisbury, Australia, was to trigger a small rocket aboard the satellite. The rocket was to fire a 19-second burst of energy to switch Syncom 3 from a wide-looping orbit ranging from 695 to 23,675 miles to a circular course in which both the high and low points will be about 23,000 miles up.

The action, scheduled to occur nigh above Sumatra, also would kick Syncom 3 into a seemingly stationary position in which it would appear to hover motionless over one area of the earth because its relative speed would match that of the earth's rotation.

This would not end the satellite's space acrobatics. For more than 10 days afterwards, ground stations are to command small jets on the spacecraft to fire at precise times to move it slowly eastward along the equator until it reaches a point above the intersection of the equator and the International Date Line.

The jets are to arrest it there so the craft would be on station for extensive communications experiments between wide areas of North America and Asia. The satellite successfully passed initial voice, radio and tape-recorder transmission tests Wednesday, shortly after it was launched.

U.S., Japanese, Canadian and European interests plan to use Syncom 3 to speed Olympic television pictures to North American and European viewers in October.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not sound very serious to you, but it has caused a small war between my girl and me. I am a mechanic, 23 and single. I am going with a very nice girl who is 22 and works in an office. Her office is having a party. (A hayride, of all things.) They decided not to ask anyone who is NOT employed in their office. That isn't too bad. But the clincher is that no wives or husbands are invited. They are all over 21 and drinks are served. If I were a married man working in an office, I wouldn't go to an office party if my wife was not welcome. My girl is on the hayride committee and she says I don't work in an office and I don't know what I'm talking about: that any time you have married couples at a drinking party it always ends up in a drunken brawl. Am I wrong? Or is she?

MECHANIC

DEAR MECHANIC: She is. And, furthermore, if a married person is in danger of becoming involved in a "drunken brawl," he is better off with his own wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive (I'm told) 23-year-old woman who has had more than her share of dates, so please don't think I'm man-hungry. I have a next-door neighbor who is approximately 26. He has been living there with his brother and sister-in-law for about a year. I am not the flirty type, so things have been going slow. I know he is shy, and so far the most I have been able to get out of him is a "hello." I know he is aware of my existence, but that's about it. I don't think he has a steady girl as he's home a lot. How can I go about wrangling a date with him?

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Your best bet is to become better acquainted with the sister-in-law. You can always borrow a cup of sugar. Once she knows you better, if the man is available, interested, and normal, you'll have your chance. Otherwise, who needs him?

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what to do about a neighbor who talks about sex all the time. No matter what anybody says, he always puts a dirty meaning to it, and gets off on his favorite subject. He uses filthy words, too. His wife must think it's cute because she is right there and she laughs right along with him. The rest of us are embarrassed and try to change the subject, but he can turn any subject back to sex again. We are disgusted with him but don't know how to handle the situation. Any suggestions?

"MRS. CLEAN"

DEAR "MRS. CLEAN": A good friend could tell old foulmouth to shape up or shut up. Unless one's around, bow out of his company and avoid him.

Firefighters Head Home

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Boneweary professional fire fighters prepared to go home today after subduing Nevada's worst range fires.

Behind them, they leave:

— More than 350,000 acres of charred rangeland. Much of it was valuable to northeastern Nevada stockmen for grazing their cattle.

— An undetermined number of cattle lost, fences burned and minor ranch buildings damaged.

Many of the men had been on the line since Saturday.

A crew of 111 men was still posted on the worst and most stubborn blaze, the 200,000-acre Boulder Flat-Maggie Creek fire which burned a stretch of grass and sagebrush 75 miles long to the west and northwest of Elko.

It was controlled Wednesday afternoon by an assault team of 1,000 fire fighters. Skeleton crews mopped up five other blazes. The crew had totaled 2,300 men.

Rites Today For Mrs. Annie Taylor

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Taylor, 78, of Hermleigh were to have been held at 3 p.m. today at the Hermleigh Church of Christ. Mrs. Taylor died Wednesday morning at her home.

Jim Beyer, minister of the church, and Byron Taylor were to officiate at the services. Arrangements were under the direction of Bell - Seale Funeral Home.

Los Angeles Gunman Takes Cash, Jewels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vera Krupp, former wife of German industrialist Alfred Krupp, says a gunman posed as a pest inspector forced his way into her home and took $60,000 in cash and jewels.

Mrs. Krupp, 55, said Wednesday in Los Angeles the robber bound both her and a maid. A postman who became suspicious when no one answered the doorbell freed the two women.

GOP Chairman Questions Audit

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Dean Burch indicates he believes President Johnson and his family are a lot richer than accountants say and that Republicans intend to make a campaign issue of how the first family accumulated its wealth.

Burch, who was handpicked for his job by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, told a news conference Wednesday that the accounting firm's estimate of the Johnson's wealth at $3,434,098 was "incredibly low." The accounting was made at Johnson's request and the report was released by the White House.

Burch complained that assets were listed on the basis of cost to the Johnsons. He said this was "like listing the value of Manhattan Island at $24." He insisted the fair market value ought to be the basis for assessing the family wealth.

Some published reports have placed the Johnson family worth as high as $14 million, contending the market value of the Johnson holdings far exceed their book value.

Burch said he found it peculiar that "the bulk of the fortune was made in areas subject to government regulation" over a period when he said Johnson was making an average of $12,000 a year in public service.

Observing that "a public officer must avoid not only evil but the appearance of evil," he said the Republicans want to know whether there was any "influence aired in the government regulated field."

The accounting firm of Haskins and Sells, directed by the President July 7 to make an audit, reported that on July 31 Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters, Lynda Bird and Luci Baines, had assets of $3,682,770 and liabilities of $198,672. This placed their net worth at $3,484,098.

Most of the Johnson holdings were in the name of his wife, Lady Bird. She had a net worth of $2,126,298 compared with $378,081 for the president. Lynda Bird's net worth was $490,141 and Luci Baines' $498,578.

US First Lady Greeted By Royal Canadian Dragoons

By FRANCES LEWINE

CAMPOBELLO ISLAND, New Brunswick (AP) — The Royal Canadian Dragoons band, colorfully garbed in scarlet jackets, greeted Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson today as she arrived to join in dedication ceremonies at the Roosevelt - Campobello International Park at the island summer home of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The band also played some of the late president's favorite tunes as the First Lady of the United States joined Mrs. Lester Pearson, wife of the Canadian prime minister for the ceremonies.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Pearson toured the Roosevelt home before the ceremony, and were shown some of the mementoes the late president had collectd here, including his Harvard crew oar and a telescope. About 500 people were at the home for the ceremonies.

Mrs. Johnson told the audience of U.S. and Canadian officials, members of the Roosevelt family and the donors of the site that the island memorial "stands as witness to our unfortified boundaries and to our friendship with our neighbors."

She said in her prepared speech that "a man triumphed over adversity" here, "and among these bays and books and boats" the shaping of a presidency took place.

It was on Campobello — he called it his "beloved island" — that Roosevelt was stricken with crippling polio in 1921.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, the ODRINEX plan. You must lose ugly fat or your money back. One of the basic problems of losing weight is your inability to stick to a planned diet. The ODRINEX plan contains a tiny tablet and is easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food thus making it easier and more comfortable for you to diet. Your weight must come down because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. Of course ODRINEX can't do all the work for you alone. But if you really want to cut down on your eating, and lose weight ODRINEX can be a powerful helper. National Organizations Praise President For Appointing Women To Top Level Jobs

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Four women's organizations have saluted President Lyndon B. Johnson's historic acceleration of women in government.

The President's action in stepping up appointment and promotion of women to existing vacancies in top level government jobs has been rewarded by the the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, and words of praise have come from three other national women's organizations.

A unique "Accelerator Award" was created by the BPW for presentation at their national convention in Detroit last week. The gold - inlaid automobile accelerator, mounted in onys, was inscribed:

"To the Honorable Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, for his contribution to accelerating the progress of women."

Appropriately, the President sent the top ranking woman in his Administration, Mrs. Esther Peterson, to Detroit to accept the award for him. Mrs. Peterson, mother of four, is living proof of the President's contention that, "A woman's place is not only in the home, but in the House, the Senate, and throughout government service." She is the first woman Assistant Secretary of Labor, and also serves the President as his Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs, and as Executive Vice Chairman of the Interdepartmental Committee on the Status of Women.

Mrs. Peterson told the business and professional women that President Johnson's interest in utilizing female talents is now new. She recalled an address he made to the Commission on the Status of Women in Sept. 1962, when he had no premonition that he would in so short a time be the President of the United States. The then Vice President said:

"Equal employment opportunity is not a luxury in which we indulge out of fuzzy-headed motives. It has become not only a question of justice—which alone should be enough — but a question of grim and urgent necessity. We have the responsibility of finding ways and means of tapping the resources of women, who are half our society."

Mrs. Peterson thanked the BPW on behalf of President Johnson "for helping him find those ways."

Federation President, Mrs. Virginia Allen, referring to the actions that have distinguished President Johnson's efforts for women, said:

"When the President of the United States sets a pattern for utilizing untapped resources, we feel there will be a matching response from business, industry, and the professions."

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, which 42 years ago passed a resolution urging "additional appointments of qualified women to positions of responsibility," has called the President's appointment of women to top level jobs a real "breakthrough".

"President Johnson is indeed to be commended," said Federation President Mrs. William H. Hasebroock. "It is especially encouraging that many of these jobs are being offered to capable women already in the Federal Service."

The Association of University Women also "applauds the President's efforts to promote greater use of women citizens."

The AAUW, which claims to have worked since 1882 to achieve this goal, believes: Women have taken an impressive stride forward as a result of President Johnson's appointments of so many qualified women to important government posts."

The President of the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Robert J. Stuart, had this to say: "This country needs all the brains and ability it can muster. There are women with brains and ability. It is gratifying to note that being a woman is no longer considered a barrier to appointment and that, in fact, the tendency to seek out and appoint women of ability is becoming apparent not only on the national level but on the state and local level as well."

Since the President first challenged his Cabinet in January of this year with the question: "What have you got against women?" the list of female appointments and promotions has been consistently growing.

The President followed his question with a firm memo to department and agency heads, directing: "It is imperative that an intensive effort be made to fill top - level vacancies in your agency with women who, but for the historical bias against their sex, would be considered well - qualified."

By the final week of July, a total of 1,195 women had either been appointed or promoted to executive positions paying $10,000 or more. The President has personally appointed 56 women to sub-cabinet rank, ambassadors, or Federal commissions, many in areas previously considered exclusive male territory. Also, 238 women have been appointed to professional positions in civil service, and 901 women already in civil service have been promoted to the executive level, with salaries ranging from $9,980 to $20,000.

President Johnson set the tone for his Administration at a White House reception in April honoring 150 female appointees and their proud partners. (More than two - thirds were married.)

"My whole aim in promoting women and picking out more women to serve in this Administration is to underline our profound belief that we can waste no talent, we can frustrate no creative power, we can neglect no skill in our search for an open and just and challenging society," said the President.

"I am not one who believes that all intelligence and skill is for some obscure reason confined entirely to the male population ... To conclude that women are unfitted to the risk of our historic society seems to me the equivelent of closing male eyes to female facts."

To a female reporter covering the White House, he recently said: "I believe this is the century of human rights. Women have rights — and one of them is the right to serve their country."

The President's precedent — breaking appointments have included scientific and business fields hitherto ungraced by feminine presence. Among his many firsts are Dr. Mary I. Bunting, former President of Radcliffe College, appointed to the Atomic Energy Commission; Mrs. Elizabeth S. May, former Dean of Wheaton College in Mass., to the Board of Directors of the Export - Import Bank; Mrs. Virginia Mae Brown, who also was the first woman to serve on the West Virginia Public Service Commission, to the Interstate Commerce Commission; Mrs. Dorothy Jacobson, formerly with the Minnesota State Department of Education, to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; and Mrs. Jane Hanna, St. Joseph, Mo., to Deputy Director for Civil Defense in the Department of Defense.

One woman wrote the President's wife: "I feel much safer knowing that a woman who is also a mother is participating in the deliberations on the use of atomic energy." Mrs. Bunting, who has had a distinguished career as an educator and researcher in bacteriology and physics, is also the mother of four, with three grown children in college or graduate school, and one son in high school.

In the Department of Commerce women hold top posts as a meteorologist in charge of a weather bureau station (Mrs. Hazel Tatro); a world renowned astrophysicist (Mrs. Charlotte Sitterly); an attorney serving as an Area Redevelopment administrator (Mrs. Eleanor Buschman); and international trade analyst (Miss Frances Hall); and as chief of the computer brain center feeding the Department diverse statistics ranging from business to babies (Mrs. Dorothy Armstrong).

Mrs. Lynn Beaumont, Deputy Director of Media Relations for the U. S. Travel Service, believes that the greatest risk for the employed woman is not less job status but loss of femininity. "It takes patience and skill to maintain the delicate balance between femininity, without trading on sex, and the objectivity needed to compete in what is still essentially a man's world," claims Mrs. Beaumont.

President Johnson is not only aware of woman's dual role, and her reluctance to give up any part of being a wife and mother, he is doing something about it. A special task force has been asked to compile and maintain two separate files on outstanding women, one on women who are qualified and able to accept full time government jobs, and one on women who could accept temporary or part time assignments.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the first woman to be appointed Executive Assistant to the Vice President by Mr. Johnson, and now serving as Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, points out that: "By tailoring the jobs to what women can give, we can get the best brains and skills and not disrupt their lives."

The President's wife advised Radcliffe College's graduating women this June: "If you can achieve the precious balance between women's domestic and civic life, you can do more for zest and sanity in our society than by any other achievement."

Beating The Heat

Tips for keeping cool: Put away heavy curtains, ornaments, extra chairs and rugs. Uncluttered space gives a cool feeling. Do as much cooking as you can in the morning. If your kitchen countertops are ceramic tiled, there'll be no wearisome clean-up — just a swish with a damp cloth. An afternoon nap not only will refresh you, but help convey the cool idea to the family returning from work or play.

A small frying chicken may be dredged with a quarter cup of seasoned flour, but for a large chicken you'll need one-third to one-half cup.

Auxiliary Bath

Having the only bathroom upstairs or in a remote part of the house has become "just too inconvenient" with the trend to outdoor living. A bath just inside a patio entranceway with a waterproof ceramic tile shower is one logical answer. Such a location is also convenient for guests who otherwise might have to trudge upstairs. An extra shower cabinet is a wonderful convenience wherever you find it around the home.

Hanging Baskets Are Back

The old - fashioned hanging baskets like Grandma used to have swinging from her porch are rapidly coming back into favor across the country.

The colorful baskets full of trailing vines, bright geraniums or almost any kind of greenery have been seen in large numbers in the Midwest during the past two or three years and Southeastern residents have never completely abandoned them. Some Midwestern towns are lining their main streets with baskets attached to lamp posts to add color and charm to the downtown area.

The homemaker can take a tip from the trend and use hanging baskets on the patio or porch or suspended from trees in the lawn. The most common container is the "hennest" type of wire or poultry netting, lined with sphagnum moss. It can be hung inexpensively with wire or with appropriate size chain. Three - hole suspension is easiest but four holes often will give better support — depending upon the size and weight of the container. Basket and chain can be spray painted the same color for a "decorator look."

Many homemakers are putting their imaginations to work to create different kinds of baskets. An old bird - cage stored away in the attic, for example, can be turned into a real conversation piece. Spray it white or your favorite color, fill it with English ivy or Wandering Jew and hang it with a chain from a tree in the lawn. To lend color to the arrangement, you might add two or three rose geraniums.

Old - time iron cooking pots, renovated kegs, ordinary wooden boxes, or even water-buckets all will do fine as hanging baskets. Some kinds of plants will quickly cover the container so that the type of container isn't very important, anyhow, from the standpoint of appearance.

The type of plants used can be as varied as your taste and imagination desire. Cacti, herbs, annuals such as trailing nasturtium and portulaca, Golden Moss, and even spreading junipers can be used.

If the plants used have not been exposed to direct sunlight, hang them in partial shade until they become accustomed to outdoor living. Water and fertilize as you would any outdoor potted plants.

Plainview HD Club Has Picnic

Eicke and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eicke, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Holladay and boys, Mr. and Mrs. John Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Koonsman, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillan and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Murphree, Mr. and Mrs. Mozelle Roggenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Shular. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Glasscock and Mrs. Monty Ivison and children.

Mrs. John Floyd will be hostess for the next meeting.

Yankees Are Plagued By Trickle Troubles

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Chicago White Sox are rushing toward the top of the American League, the New York Yankees are having trickle troubles.

The White Sox moved to within a one-half game of first-place Baltimore Wednesday night, taking advantage of three Yankee errors for four unearned runs in a 4-2 victory. The Orioles [illegible] Boston 4-3 in 10 innings.

Pitcher Jim Bouton and third baseman Clete Boyer were the Yankees who had the trickles.

The malady first appeared in the third inning after the White Sox loaded the bases with two out. Pete Ward grounded to first baseman Joe Pepitone, who tossed the ball to Bouton at first. The throw was in time, but Bouton missed the base, allowing Ray Herbert to score.

His error upset Bouton so much that he threw the ball down in disgust. As it trickled near the first base coaching box, Jim Landis, who had reached third on the first miscue, dashed home with the run that gave Chicago a 2-1 lead.

The trickles mushroomed into catastrophe in the seventh inning when Chicago scored two runs, breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

With runners at first and second and none out, J. C. Martin bunted along the third base line. Bouton grabbed the ball, but his throw to third for the force was too late. But wait. Mike Hershberger slid past the base.

Boyer alertly pounced on the runner, tagging him for an apparent out. But wait again. The ball trickled out of Boyer's glove, and the White Sox had the bases loaded.

Bouton settled down briefly, striking out Cam Carreon. Then, however, he walked Landis for one run, and Pete Mikkelsen replaced him. Don Buford ended the scoring with a sacrifice fly that scored Ron Hansen.

The loss kept the Yankees four games behind Baltimore. In other AL games, Detroit defeated Los Angeles 5-2, Minnesota downed Washington 3-1 and Cleveland outlasted Kansas City 6-4.

In the National League, Philadelphia whipped Chicago 9-5, Cincinnati dumped San Francisco 7-1, Houston nipped St. Louis 8-7 in 10 innings, New York beat Pittsburgh 4-2 and Los Angeles edged Milwaukee 7-6.

The Orioles also experienced difficulty with a trickling baseball. In their case it was a couple of bunts that rolled foul. They came off the bat of Boston rookie Tony Horton in the 10th inning with Carl Yastrzemski at first. After he failed to sacrifice, Horton slammed a double into the left field corner, scoring Yastrzemski with the winning run.

Baltimore sent the game into overtime on Jerry Adair's triple and John Orsino's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning. Orsino earlier had homered for the Orioles as did Boog Powell.

Detroit grabbed sole possession of fourth place behind Don Demeter and Norm Cash. Demeter's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run against the Angels in the seventh inning while Cash added a two-run homer in the eighth. Jim Fregosi had tied the game 2-2 with a homer in the Angels' seventh.

Jim Kaat and Al Worthington pitched the Twins past the Senators, Kaat, 13-6, had a shutout until the ninth. Worthington replaced him after Don Leppert walked and Dick Phillips got his fourth hit, a single. Jim King singled in a run, but Worthington got the next two Senators.

Vic Davalillo drove in three runs and Joe Azcue two for the Indians. All of Davalillo's RBI came on a third-inning single with the bases loaded and two out. The hit broke a 2-2 tie, putting the Indians ahead to stay. Jim Gentile socked his 22nd homer for the Athletics in the fourth.

CLEAR SAILING — American Eagle tries something new in the 113-year history of America's Cup racing, a clear plastic spinnaker. The Eagle used the new device in vain effort to catch up to rival Constellation in light air during the race off Newport, R. I. The main sail of a spectator sloop may be seen in the background through the spinnaker. Neither this sail nor any other helped the Eagle and she lost by a wide margin after several mishaps. Lee Due To Pilot Broncs At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Jacky Lee was expected to direct the Denver Broncos' offense against his former teammates tonight when Denver and the Houston Oilers square off in an American Football League exhibition game.

Lee was acquired last week by Denver in what the Oiler officials called a two year "loan." In exchange the Oilers received veteran tackle Bud McFadin and Denver's first draft choice this year.

Oiler spokesmen said Lee would return to the Oilers in two years, but Lee has been reported as saying he will not.

Denver suffered from quarterback troubles last year and so far this season in its two exhibition games, losing to San Diego and Oakland. Both of those losses came before Lee was acquired.

Houston, with a new coach in Sammy Baugh, has gained a split in two exhibition games, beating Boston and losing to San Diego.

Veteran George Blanda is expected to be the Oiler starting quarterback but with rookie Don Trull of Baylor slated to see considerable service.

With McFadin on the squad, Houston will have two linemen who made All America at the University of Texas 13 years apart.

McFadin, who won All-America honors as a Longhorn guard in 1950, joins tackle Scott Appleton, who won the honor in 1963 with the Texas team.

Herman Recalls Glories Of Past

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Behind the bar in a French Quarter bistro hangs a large-as-life photograph of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. It was taken a dozen years ago when the duke —who gave up the English throne to marry for love—came to New Orleans for Carnival.

"I nearly knocked a man into his lap," said the old man, sitting on a stool beneath the picture.

"He wanted to meet me again," said the old man, who is also shown in the photo.

The old man is Pete Herman, now blind, who was bantamweight champion of the world 40 years ago. Herman operates the bistro and is also vice chairman of the Louisiana Athletic Commission.

Pete Herman recalled the past.

It was early January in 1921. The Duke of Windsor was then the Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne.

It took all the persuasiveness of the prince to talk Jimmy Wilde, a cocky British battler, to meet Herman in the ring.

The fight with Wilde was scheduled for Jan. 13, 1921.

Pete was two pounds under the 118 specified in the contract at the weigh in. Wilde was four or five pounds lighter.

At fight time, Wilde insisted that Herman get on the scales again.

"I was feeling just mean enough that I refused to' Pete recalled. "Actually I know I didn't weigh more than 116½ and I think Wilde just wanted everybody to feel sorry for him because he was lighter, about 112, although he had beaten bigger men than me."

Herman was in the ring. Wilde sulked in his dressing room.

The Prince of Wales was at ringside. He went into Wilde's dressing room and, after a lengthy chat, persuaded Wilde to go on with the fight.

"That was a scrap, but in the 17th round I knocked him out," Pete said. "Wilde went through the ropes and almost into the prince's lap."

The Prince of Wales later became Edward VIII and then abdicated.

Pete Herman sailed back to the United States the day after whipping Wilde. Within a few months, he regained the bantamweight crown—which he had first won in 1917.

A year later he was blind. Now, nearing 70, he sits and recalls the glories of yesteryear.

TL Stars Meet Houston Tonight

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio's Chris Zachary and Houston's Danny Coombs have been tabbed as starting pitchers tonight for the Texas League All-Stars' clash with the Houston Colts.

A crowd of more than 8,000 is expected for the game, starting at 7 p.m.

Zachary, the league's leading pitcher with a 19-5 record for San Antonio, was a unanimous choice for the All-Star team, picked by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Zachary was the starting pitcher for Houston last year.

Coombs (9-9) is a rookie southpaw.

The All-Stars won last year's annual classic by virtue of a ninth-inning home run, a grand slam by Tulsa's Jim Beauchamp in the bottom of the ninth which gave the All-Stars a 9-5 triumph.

Lou Fitzgerald, San Antonio Bullets manager who will direct the all-stars, served notice the Colts have their work cut out.

"This is a very fine, representative club we'll send against Houston," Fitzgerald said, "they can't take us lightly. We have power, but we have speed, too—and plenty of it."

Fitzgerald, managing his seventh All-Star team, plans to pitch Zachary only two innings. Other pitchers he can call on are Don Bradley (12-5), San Antonio; Pat House (8-8), Austin; Jim Ward (13-12), Albuquerque; Paul Doyle (9-13), El Paso; and Nelson Briles (11-4), Tulsa.

The starting lineup will include Sonny Jackson, San Antonio, shortstop; Bob Tolan, Tulsa, rightfield; Brock Bailey, Albuquerque, leftfield; Joe Morgan, San Antonio, second base; Larry Stubing, El Paso, first base; Don Lecklon, Albuquerque, third base; Ellis Burton, Fort Worth, centerfield; Hector Valle, Albuquerque, catcher, and Zachary.

Jim Burris, Texas League president, said league directors will hold a meeting earlier in the day to discuss the league structure for the 1965 season.

The Houston Colts have already announced they will not have a team in San Antonio next season.

Last year's game drew 8,816 fans.

Arnie, Jack Say Course In Top Shape

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Masters champion Arnold Palmer and long-hitting Jack Nicklaus, having blayed a practice round together, both were convinced the Firestone Course is ready to be taken during the $50,000 American Golf Classic beginning today.

Palmer, one of the four men who has conquered the 7,165-yard layout with sub par totals after four rounds in three previous classics, said the course with its par of 35-35—70 is in beautiful condition.

"I'm sure it'll take a 278 to win it," said Palmer, who fired that score to win the Classic in 1962 and then saw Johnny Pott capture first place last year with a 278 as Palmer finished second with a 280.

Nicklaus, coming off a 10-day rest from tournament competition, said, "the guy who wins it this year might do better than 278. The greens are consistent and putting will be much easier."

Weightlifters In U. S. Are Hopeful

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when the United States dominated the Olympic weightlifting competition. In the 1948 Games in England and again in '52 in Finland and in '56 in Australia, American lifters won the majority of gold medals.

The story was different in the 1960 Olympics in Rome. America won one gold medal. No longer did the U.S. boys hold most of the world records either.

Russia became the powerhouse and the United States found itself struggling to hold second place with Japan, Hungary and Poland.

"Things will be different in Tokyo in October," vows Dave Matlin, chairman of the U.S. Olympic weightlifting committee which is conducting two-day trials at the World's Fair beginning Friday to pick the seven-man squad that will travel to the Orient.

"And I'm not speaking idly. Look at the results of the 1963 Pan-American Games in Brazil. We won six of the seven gold medals. That is the main reason for my optimism."

Matlin may be too optimistic. The Russians figure to be as powerful as ever, other Communist bloc nations have top contenders and Japan also has some title threats.

Among the Pan-Am champs entered are Joe Puleo of Detroit, a middleweight and Bill March of York, Pa., the middle heavyweight titlist.

In all, over 60 lifters are entered in seven classes in the two-day trials. The 123, 132, 148 and 198 trials are listed for opening day.

Sox Scoreboard In Premature Eruption

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox' bomb-spewing, rocket-snooting, roaring scoreboard exploded Wednesday night prematurely.

Usually, it is set off when a Sox player hits a home run. It hasn't seen too much action lately.

But when the Sox defeated the Yankees 4-2, the word was passed in all the excitement to shoot the board and away it went just as the game ended.

The White Sox' third straight win over the Yanks pulled them to within half a game of league-leading Baltimore.

Coaching School Sets Four Records

AUSTIN (AP) — This year's Texas Coaching School at Fort Worth attracted more football and basketball attendance, more coaches and more wives of coaches than ever before.

These were four records disclosed after an official check by L. W. McConachie, executive vice president of the sponsoring Texas High School Coaches Association.

A total of 4,115 coaches enrolled. Football attendance hit 7,224. And 837 coaches wives attended the school.

McConachie also said association membership now stands at 4,270 and is expected to reach 4,300 by September.

Grid Tickets Are Ready

Football season ticket purchasers who renewed their options for the 1964 season may pick up their tickets tomorrow at the school administration office.

The tickets will be issued between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Hopeful's Personal Wealth Becomes A Campaign Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now there's another log on the fire before the presidential campaign even starts. This time it's the private fortunes of the presidential candidats.

Less than two weeks ago, Sen. Barry Goldwater through his bank made public figures on his wealth. Johnson did the same on his wealth Wednesday through an accounting firm.

Within a few hours the Republican vice presidential candidate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, said the size of Johnson's fortune makes his integrity subject to "some question."

And Goldwater's handpicked chairman of the Republican National committee, Dean Burch, questioned the way the accounting firm had arrived at its figures on Johnson's financial worth.

He called it "most peculiar" and said the Republicans would make it an issue in the campaign.

The campaign isn't supposed to start until September but already Goldwater has called Johnson a "phony," Miller has questioned his integrity and Johnson has charged them with making false and reckless statements. That's pretty rough going for so early in the game.

It has taken some weeks for Johnson and Goldwater to get around to making public figures on their finances.

But in the 1952 campaign the two candidates — Adlai E. Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower — waited much longer before reporting to the public on their income.

On Aug. 11 Time magazine estimated the wealth of Goldwater and his wife at $1.7 million. And on Aug. 13 a Phoenix, Ariz., bank which administers the Goldwater trust accounts said the value was $1.7 million.

An official of the bank — the Valley National Bank — said Goldwater's income last year, including his $22,500 senate salary, was $65,000.

On June 9 the Washington Star reported the Johnson family holdings were worth an estimated $9 million.

On July 7 an accounting firm hired by Johnson was instructed by the President to audit the records of his family for the 10½ years from Jan. 1, 1954 to July 31, 1964.

Meanwhile, Life had been doing its own digging into Johnson's finances and said that in his years on the public payroll since the 1930s he had grown notably wealthy. Life estimated the family worth at $14 million.

Wednesday by Johnson's order the accounting firm he hired — Haskins and Sells — publicly announced the Johnson family wealth at $3,484,098.

There are different ways of figuring wealth. If the book value is used the wealth could be presented as many times lower than the market value.

At a news conference at Roslyn, N.Y., Miller was asked if he thought the wealth of the Presidents family would be a campaign issue.

He said: "I would hope always that integrity in office and morality in office would be an issue. There would be some question about the integrity of a man who has been on the public payroll in a full time job for 30 years and during that time be accumulating a personal fortune in excess of $14 million."

It was not clear whether Miller was aware of the much lower figure released by the accounting firm.

In calling the accounting of Johnson's wealth "most peculiar," Burch told a news conference the approximately 3.5 million fgure of the accounting firm was "incredibly low."

He said the way the total value of Johnson's assets was arrived at was "like listing the value of Manhattan Island at $25."

Business Has Its Own Red Tape

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flushed with victory, your correspondent can report that he has busted through Washington red tape.

"What kind of red tape?" you may ask. Federal red tape? No, private-enterprise red tape!

For 10 days your reporter, whom we shall call Mr. X, arose in the morning and found his wife grumpy.

"I've been letting my artistic eye roam over this room," she said, waving her hand around the living room of our modest house on the edge of Georgetown, "and I've decided it needs refurbishing."

"Just look at that armchair you've been sitting in for 35 years, and dropping ashes on. Its stuffing is coming out," she said.

"Okay," said Mr. X, who was in his usual morning state, that is weakened and defenseless. "Let's go over to a big department store and buy a new chair."

The store has a couple of acres of furniture and you can roam it without much intervention by sales persons. There don't seem to be many such persons on the premises.

Suddenly Mrs. X's eyes lighted up, she shed her grumpy mood and pointed. "That's the chair," she hollered.

Mr. X looked up a salesman, who shall be known as Mr. Y, and said, in his innocence, "We'll take that chair."

Mr. Y, with a pitying tone as if initiating a novice into the mysteries of big business, said: "But, sir, you cannot have it."

"How's that again?" inquired Mr. X.

"It will take me at least six weeks to get that chair from the factory," said Mr. Y.

"But I don't want a chair from the factory," protested Mr. X. "I want that chair. There it is right there, with a sign on its saying 'sale $99.'"

"Sir," said Mr. Y, "if I sold you that chair, it would disrupt our orderly procedure. Besides, if we let go of it, there would be an empty space where it was."

Mr. and Mrs. X retired to a nearby cocktail lounge and conferred. The upshot was a decision that they would not take this reclining in any easy chair. The thing to do was fight to spend the $99 that was burning a hole in their pockets.

Over the next four days, Mr. X kept calling up higher and higher echelons in the department store and finally hit the jackpot.

He put in a call for the president of the store and — contrary to every expectation — got him. The president, who shall be known as Mr. Z, apparently had let all his eight secretaries go to lunch at one time, and therefore had to answer the phone himself.

Mr. X laid his piteous plea before the head man. All he wanted to do, Mr. X said, was to spend $99, and then he added this clincher out of the outmoded past:

"When I was a boy in Lowell, Massachusetts," said Mr. X. "I worked in a drygoods store. And, believe me, if we had sold everything in that store — stripped it clean — by Saturday night, we would have been happy. We'd have been glad to have sold the customers the gaslight fixtures off the wall."

Junior Editors Quiz on JENNY LIND

QUESTION: Who was the "Swedish nightingale?"

* * *

ANSWER: Jenny Lind, one of the most famous of all singers. Our artist drew this portrait from a miniature painted on ivory, which was made during her American visit between 1850 and 1852. Jenny Lind was born in Sweden in 1820. She had a marvellous musical gift from the beginning; an opera dancer, who discovered this, persuaded her mother to have Jenny educated for the operatic stage. By 1836 she had given her first operatic performance and she became famous almost at once. It is too bad that we have no records to show us just what were the qualities of her singing which made it so outstanding; people spoke of the "glory" of her voice, calling it both rich and warm. In the opera, she had the gift of conviction; she could enter all the way into the spirit of the part she was playing. But Jenny's voice was her greatest gift, and realizing this, she gave up the operatic stage to devote herself to concert singing. Soon she was known all over the world as the Swedish nightingale, this bird being generally regarded as the finest singer with wings. When Jenny came to America, she was managed by the famous promoter of the circus, P. T. Barnum.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Try singing once in a while, even if you don't think you have a good voice. Singing tends to make us happy.

Government Says Income Reach New Peak In July

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal income hit a new high in July — officially. And this leads many to wonder: Whose income rose?

Many persons reading the government report that personal incomes went up $1.5 billion to a record annual rate of $490.8 billion noted little, if any, change in their own income. Most families probably found the bills just as hard to meet in July as in June.

But the government deals in totals rather than in individual cases. And it says the totals went up. They didn't climb as fast as they were rising in the early months of 1964 but still got a bit higher on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The government always adjusts such figures to take account of the usual variations at different periods of the year. And in many lines incomes change markedly from season to season. Without seasonal adjustment the charts of many government statistics would have more of a roller-coaster look than the steady rise that most show now.

The greater part of the July gain appears due to the rise in the number of employed. It was the new incomes that boosted the total rather than any notable change in the individual take of those already on the payroll.

Others who are better off than awhile back also include those who have benefited from increased dividend payments by many corporations, and those who cashed in on the six months-rise in prices of many stocks.

The biggest share of the July rise in income totals was in the wages and salaries division. This went up, at an annual rate of $1.2 billion to a total of $331.3 billion. Factory payrolls alone increased $200 million in July, putting the annual rate at $102.9 billion.

The Department of Commerce says that farm income slipped by $200 million in July to an annual rate of $17 billion.

Since personal incomes are the chief ingredient in the nation's economic mix, the prospects are good for a tasty dish this autumn — and hopefully, for at least the first part of 1965.

Sen. Goldwater Nixes Briefings

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater left the door open today for intelligence briefings from President Johnson's advisers — but said he is not going to be trapped into campaign silence about things he already knows.

"I will ask for intelligence briefings when I feel they are needed," the Republican nominee for president said Wednesday in an interview.

Goldwater indicated he has no plans now to ask for such sessions.

Johnson offered intelligence briefings last April to all the Republican contenders for the presidential nomination.

Goldwater rejected the offer. He said secret briefings could stifle legitimate campaign debate.

But he said then that if he won the Republican nomination he would expect the administration to provide "the regular briefings made available to other candidates in the past."

The Arizona senator coupled his remarks Wednesday on administration briefings with a new slap at an old campaign target, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

He accused the Pentagon chief of making public top secret information "that I have held respect for" in challenging Goldwater's statements on defense matters.

Goldwater told newsmen his early campaign speeches are going to be aimed in large measure at clearing up what he views as wrong impressions left by the Republican primary campaign.

He said Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York — his chief rivals for the nomination — "have done me more harm than Johnson could ever do me."

The senator said his early campaign speeches will be designed in part to straightening out incorrect impressions about his views on war and peace, income taxes, Social Security and other issues.

"Impressions arising from what Scranton and Rockefeller said about you?" a reporter asked.

"Yes," the senator said.

It was learned Goldwater views Scranton as his logical successor as Republican standard bearer should he lose in November by a wide margin.

Goldwater was said to feel that if he loses by a slim margin, he could well get another shot at the presidency himself four years from now.

Few Places Have Become Private Clubs

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Only a small percentage of businesses in the South have turned into private clubs to avoid integration since enactment of the civil rights law.

An Associated Press survey showed scattered instances of restaurants — and one hotel — changing to restricted memberships as a means of keeping out Negroes.

In Mississippi 13 businesses have been issued private club charters by the secretary of state since the new law was signed by President Johnson last July 2.

"If I took Negro customers, I would go out of business," explained one businessman. "If I didn't, I would be in trouble with the government. This way the club selects its members and we avoid trouble."

In Jackson, Miss., the Robert E. Lee Hotel obtained a private club charter but has not disclosed details of its planned operation.

In Little Rock, Ark., the state capitol cafeteria was incorporated as a private club shortly after the civil rights law was enacted. An aide to Gov. Orval Faubus serves as corporation president.

The AP survey showed only half a dozen switches in Alabama which Negro leaders last spring labeled a major decegregation target.

A restaurant near Rocky Mount, Va., became a private club but the owner said the decision had nothing to do with the law. A tavern in Norfolk turned private more than a year ago to avoid serving Negroes.

In Georgia, segregationist Lester Maddox closed his Atlanta restaurant rather than comply with a federal court order to integrate. Maddox said he had been considering a private club operation but no decision has been made.

Negroes have gone to court against private clubs in Texas and North Carolina.

Mexico Elects First Woman Senator

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first woman ever to occupy a Senate seat was formally declared elected Wednesday.

Maria Lavalle Urbina, of Campeche state, was one of six persons whose election was confirmed during a session of the electoral college.

Hearing Date Set For Estes' Bond

EL PASO (AP)—Aug. 31 is the tentative date set for a hearing to revoke Billie Sol Estes' $100,000 appeal bond.

Estes' 15-year sentence for fraud was recently upheld by the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La. Fred Morton, assistant U.S. attorney, filed the motion to revoke the bond to send the former agricultural manipulator to jail soon.

Estes' lawyers, however, indicated they will file a counter motion for rehearing before the New Orleans court and if turned down, a writ of certiorari to advance the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Morton said an appeal to the high court probably would lead the New Orleans Court to set a new bond. He said federal attorneys would ask that the $100,000 bond now placed by Estes' father, brother and uncle be doubled.

Estes has until Aug. 31 to ask for a rehearing by the appellate court.

His Family Matters Are Placed First!

SYCAMORE, Ala. (AP) — Customers of barber Jim Bearden were warned well in advance that they might be left in the lurch.

When a blessed event appeared imminent in the Bearden Household, he posted this sign in his shop:

"Notice. Not responsible if I have to depart in the middle of your haircut. My wife and I are expecting our first child at any moment. If you don't mind, please pour some water on me if I should pass out."

Farm Group Asks Boycott Of Markets

By JACK DONOVAN

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization, complaining of depressed prices, has called for withholding of livestock from the market in a move for greater bargaining power.

The call to growers to keep their livestock off the market went out Wednesday to 23 states from the Rocky Mountains to the East Coast. A similar action was staged by the NFO for 33 days in 15 states two years ago.

"We want people to know where their pork chops and steaks come from and for farmers to receive a fair price," said Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., NFO president.

"The drop in farm prices started some 12 years ago and is now part of a longtime trend," he said. "NFO has been making progress in the bargaining field. But this holding action will give farmers the opportunity to suddenly stop their punishment at the market place."

Staley, 41, in his ninth year as president, said the action will be by far the greatest show of bargaining power that American farmers have ever made."

The NFO, now in its 10th year, seeks to sign processors to contracts, thus assuring a steady flow of livestock to market at predetermined prices.

The minimum prices the NFO seeks are the same as two years ago: $22.75 a hundredweight for No. 1 and 2 graded hogs, $32.45 for choice beef cattle and $29.45 a hundredweight for sheep.

Not since 1958, have hogs brought the NFO asking price. Within the last two years hog prices dropped to $14.00 a hundredweight. Earlier this year cattle sold for $20.50.

The result of the 1962 holding action, which was marked by some violence, was never clearly determined. The NFO claimed success. The processors said they were able to get sufficient livestock for slaughter. However, prices paid at the market place did rise slightly.

States involved in the current holding action are Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Nebraska, Kansas, North and South Dakota, Michigan, Tennessee, Colorado, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Idaho, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming and West Virginia.

Army Wonders If Scouting Might Be For The Birds

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is wondering whether the job of scouting out a hidden enemy may be for the birds. It is paying something more than chicken feed to find out.

The research program already has winged into its second phase.

The results of an initial feasibility study on birds' reconnaissance potential so encouraged Army scientists at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground that a $174,472 contract has been signed with the General Atronics Corp. of Philadelphia.

When the Army awarded the contract, it would say only that it was a "research program of training birds for field surveillance" and that "the project is classified."

A spokesman went a bit farther today in answering questions. "The initial program was a study of the learning ability of birds. In this case, the study was to determine whether a bird can be taught to recognize the presence of a person and, if so, would the bird perform characteristic action indicating such recognition," the spokesman said.

The feasibility study indicated positively that a bird can be taught and that a bird will perform a characteristic response indicating recognition of the presence of a person.

"On the basis of this, a further study is being initiated."

This was about as far as the spokesman was willing to go.

Hunters have long believed that crows, and perhaps some game birds, have a system of surveillance and communicate warnings of perils to the flock.

African Farmers Ask Texans To Pay Return Visit

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—South African mohair farmers just back from a visit with mohair men in Texas are hoping the Americans will pay them a reciprocal visit. American and South African farmers have common interests, they say.

They believe an expected decrease in the size of the Texas mohair clip may have considerable influence on the mohair market in the coming season, which starts in September.

Ninety-five per cent of the American mohair industry is in Texas, and E. H. G. Outram, vice chairman of the South African Mohair Board, said the drought in Texas was bound to lead to an expected decrease in the crop.

Outram said there were serious problems of organization in mohair to be overcome in the United States. But despite this there seemed to be every possibility of common ground being developed by South African mohair growers and the United States, particularly in the fields of marketing and international promotion.

"There was a free exchange of information on the important aspects of mohair marketing and promotion and our Texas colleagues are as keen as we are to develop closer collaboration to our mutual benefit," Outram said.

"We are satisfied that the initiative which our board and growers have shown in sending this delegation to the states will have far reaching effects. We have established first contact and now look forward to a reciprocal visit by leaders of the Texas mohair industry to study our organization and marketing."

The South African delegation spent three weeks in the United States. They visited government departments, research establishments, fashion organizations, mohair merchants and growers in New York, Boston, Washington, San Francisco, Denver and the Edwards Plateau in Texas. They ended their tour by attending the annual Angora show and sales of bloodstock at Kerrville, Tex.

Buddhist Assails Pres. Khanh

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A top Buddhist leader publicly assailed President Nguyen Khanh today as the government sought to avert an explosion on the first anniversary of the bloody pagoda raids.

Addressing a rally of 4,000 Buddhist youths, the leader, Tich Tan Chau, sharply criticized Khanh's assumption of additional power last Sunday, when he ousted Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh as president and installed himself.

The rally — held in the grounds of the Buddhist Association headquarters here — was in commemoration of last year's pagoda raids by police under orders from the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Anxious to avoid an outbreak, police did not interfere during the rally and it ended without incident. But several Buddhist high school teachers said during the rally that they have been invited to police headquarters for questioning.

Khanh — who is a Buddhist — had ordered his armed forces to avoid entanglement with political and religious groups. He also warned students to stick to their books rather than demonstrations, or they might find themselves in the army.

Buddhist leaders have voiced fear that Khanh, now that he has pushed Minh into the background, may create a regime similar to that of Diem.

Military Service Set For Viet Casualty

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — First Lt. Harold L. McNeil, killed a week ago in Viet Nam, will be buried with military honors here today.

A civilian service was scheduled at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 p.m., followed by graveside rites and a military service at Forest Lawn Memorial Park here.

McNeil, 30, was killed by Viet Cong ground fire during a massive helicopter assault on the Communist troops.

Military pallbearers and a firing squad from the U.S. Army Depot at Red River Arsenal near Texarkana will participate. Six T-19 Army Aircraft from Ft. Wolters and Ft. Sam Houston will fly over the grave during the services.

OPEN HOUSE

Bell - Seale Funeral Home

Saturday And Sunday

August 22 and 23

1:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Bell-Seale Funeral Home Sets Opening

The new Bell - Seale Funeral Home will be open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday.

The new facility, located at Thirty - first Street and the Big Spring Highway, has been occupied for about ___ days, but has not been formally opened to the public.

The Open House will be from one until seven o'clock each afternoon, and visitors will have the opportunity to see all that is modern in mortuary facilities.

The visitor's first impression upon entering the lobby is one of spacious restfulness. Professionally decorated by Mrs. Juanita Umberson, the restful theme is carried out in calm green and gold tones.

Even the furniture, in French provincial style, lends its air of quiet grace to the reception room.

The peace and restfulness of the lobby is further enhanced by a tasteful indoor garden with a constantly flowing waterfall.

Paintings and murals in the new building, most of which were done by Mrs. Gaither Bell, are all in perfect harmony with the building's decor.

The 12,000 feet of floor space were all designed with one thought in mind, that of making possible the most perfect facility possible in which to pay tribute to loved ones.

Frank Darby, who designed the building, worked closely with the owners in providing what they knew from experience would be the most needed and desired facilities.

For example, the chapel was designed in perfect taste for the holding of funerals. Actually, the chapel also lends itself to use as a wedding chapel, and the first activity of the new building, even before it was quite complete, was the holding of a wedding in the chapel.

The chapel walls are paneled in a rich mahogany wood, and the chapel lights are adjustable so that just the right amount of light can be provided.

A total of 294 persons may be seated on the Applachian red oak pews. Extra seating, of course, can be provided by using folding chairs. The family room, located just off the chapel proper, can be used for up to 40 persons, but the seats in that room are not fixed and only the number needed are provided.

The owners of Bell - Seale Funeral Home feel that with this excellent facility available, more and more use will be made of it by the survivors of those whose church home is in another city, or whose church here does not lend itself to the necessary physical needs of a funeral.

No charge is made for the use of the chapel for weddings or funerals.

One of the features of the new funeral home which was found by experience to be appreciated, is the fact that all of the walls are soundproof walls. Private matters between families and clergymen, or the funeral directors, remain private.

Separate offices for various needs are also provided in the new building. The private arrangements office, the insurance office, and the business office, are all separate and distinct, and business in any office may be conducted and completed without the fear of intrusion of other business.

The display room of the Bell-Seale Funeral Home is large enough so that a good selection of caskets can be kept on hand at all times, and large enough that the caskets offered may be displayed in such a way that an intelligent selection may be made. As much or as little assistance as the family may desire is given in the selection of a casket.

The building is air-conditioned throughout. An intercommunication system is provided.

In fact, everything has been done that the builders know to do to make the Bell-Seale Funeral Home the most up-to-date mortuary facility possible to better serve the people of this area.

Parking Space Is Provided For 100 Cars At Bell-Seale

In this mechanical age, the parking situation is one which must be considered by any business.

With this fact in mind, Bell-Seale Funeral Home has designated a large part of its property as a parking lot.

South of the building and adjacent to the chapel for easy accessibility is an area sufficient for parking 100 cars.

Persons desiring to attend graveside services will park in this area, making it easy for them to join the procession to the cemetery.

The providing of this paved parking area is just another example of the planning which went into the construction of the new funeral home to make it as convenient as possible.

Dream Comes True With Construction Of New Bell-Seale Funeral Home Here

The construction of the Bell-Seale Funeral Home is the culmination of the dream of Bill Seale, president of the firm.

His dream was to provide the very best service possible in a building especially designed and suited for the perfect memorial tribute.

Born and raised in Vernon, Seale first started work in the Underwood Funeral Home there when he was 14 years old. Even then he recognized that the profession of funeral director was one of service to his fellow man, and decided to make it his life work.

He studied for his profession, and graduated from the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science, which has since become the Gupton Jones School.

Seale then worked in Memphis, Tex. with the Spicer Funeral Home, leaving there to become the manager of a funeral home in Turkey, Tex. which was owned by McDonald Funeral Home of Lubbock.

In 1948, along with Lewis Eudy, he bought out McDonald's interest in the funeral homes in Turkey and Matador. Eudy operated the Turkey funeral home, while Seale managed the funeral home in Matador.

On Nov. 1, 1963 he bought the interest of Mrs. Seaton Barnes in the Bell Funeral Home here.

Seale is a veteran of war-time service with the United States Navy. He married the former Miss Edith Hightower in January, 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. Seale live at 2900 Thirty - fourth Street. They are the parents of a daughter, Marsha Lynn, 15, and a 20-months-old son, Billy Kris.

Since moving to Snyder, both Mr and Mrs. Seale have been active in civic work. Seale's latest appointment was as the general director of the Scurry County United Fund.

Gaither Bell, vice president of the funeral home, is a native of Mansfield, and came to Snyder in 1925 when R. H. Odom purchased the Stokes Funeral Home. Mrs. Odom is Bell's sister.

Bell became a licensed Funeral Director in 1935, and was for many years associated with the Odom Funeral Home.

Bell, along with Mr. and Mrs. Seaton Barnes, opened the Bell Funeral Home in August, 1952.

He and Mrs. Bell live at 1609 Twenty - ninth Street, and also own a ranch northeast of Snyder. They have one married daughter, Belinda.

Many of the features of the new Bell - Seale Funeral Home building are there as the result of Seale's and Bell's recognizing the need for these features over their many years of professional experience in funeral directing.

Thus not only the dream-come-true building, but the personnel as well, offer this area the ultimate in funeral service.

Pallbearers Have Own Room Near Chapel

A private room has been provided for pallbearers in the new Bell - Seale Funeral Home.

Anyone who has served as a pallbearer at a funeral home service has felt the need for an official place to meet. Pallbearers must of necessity arrive early for the service and yet are often ill-at-ease while waiting.

The pallbearers room is private in every sense and is furnished with adequate seating space, smoking facilities, a telephone, and a place for coats and hats.

Insurance Is Benefit To Family

Thoughtful people plan ahead.

And one thing that a thoughtful person can do is to make some arrangements ahead of the time that they'll be needed.

Burial insurance is a good example of this pre - planning. It's so much easier for the family if their loved one took care of that chore years ago.

Bell - Seale Funeral Home makes available burial policies in amounts from $150 which are written through the Bell Burial Association, to policies up to $1,000 which are sub - written through Union Security Life Insurance Company.

Union Security is a Texas company which are selected by Bell - Seale Funeral Directors because they knew that this company was a large enough company with adequate financial reserves. By underwriting through Union Security, Bell - Seale knows that they are providing the strength to which all of their policy - holders are entitled.

The thoughtfulness of a burial policy is one thing that a person can do ahead of time which will be appreciated by those he leaves behind.

Funeral Costs Are Decided By Family

How much or how little should be spent for a funeral is a question that the family concerned alone can determine. Funerals are entirely individual, adapted to personal taste, preferences and needs.

Bell - Seale Funeral Home, finds it possible, however, to offer a few dependable guides. These are: 1. The standard of living to which each is accustomed. Their advice is that to go far above this is misguided sentimentality, and to go far below is mistaken economy. 2. Available funds. By this is meant the cash on hand in savings or checking accounts and available securities, together with insurance provided for this purpose. And 3. The effect on future income. To spend an amount that would seriously curtail the principal and then work future hardship is never good business judgment.

Bell - Seale Funeral Directors feel that a decision made with these three points in mind will prove wise and satisfactory to all concerned.

The complete funeral service cost is made clear to each family. When the casket is selected, all of the costs are itimized. Included in that cost is not only the casket, but also the use of all the funeral home facilities, professional services and all the other essential items that are connected with the funeral.

It is the policy of Bell-Seale to make no effort at any time to influence the decision of the family in the selection room. The funeral home staff will be available, however, for counsel in the selection of this unfamiliar merchandise.

The final decision regarding the casket to be purchased is the decision which only the family can make. And that decision governs to a large degree the cost of the complete funeral service.

Arrangements In Advance Are Helpful

Because funeral arrangements are entirely a matter of personal needs and preferences, the only sure way to obtain specific information is to go to Bell - Seale Funeral Directors and discuss details with them. A person need not hesitate to do this in advance of need.

Bell - Seale Funeral Directors may be consulted as may a lawyer, doctor or other professional man. Such visits or requests are held in strict confidence, and the professional people at Bell - Seale are glad to be able to help with advice and suggestions. Inquiries may be made entirely without obligation.

Furthermore, Bell - Seale Funeral Directors invite inspection. The establishment is open at all times, thus giving one an opportunity to see the facilities that are placed at the disposal of their clients, and to gain interesting, instructive knowledge.

Funeral Director Can Help Obtain Benefits

Under the Social Security Act certain benefits are paid to the next of kin or a fully or currently insured individual.

Among the benefits is a lump sum payment of three times the monthly benefit, but not more than $255. Applications for such benefits should be made promptly since they will not be honored unless filed prior to the expiration of two years after the date of death.

The funeral director is familiar with the details and procedures required by the Act and can provide very helpful assistance.

Special Minister's Room Is Provided

The Bell - Seale Funeral Home has included in its building a special room for ministers.

The room, as are all the rooms of the building, is soundproof. It is located adjacent to the family room, so that the minister is available to the family before the services.

Landscaping Adds To Beauty Of Building

The new Bell - Seale Funeral Home is landscaped with one goal in mind: to compliment the architectural structure of the building and blend the entire grounds into an eye - pleasing unit.

Wax - leaf poodles and bush honeysuckle are used to line the drives and highlight the building itself.

The lawn has been started, and in a few weeks should make a carpet of green around the building complimenting the red brick of the structure.

At night the building is lighted from the outside by soft lights, so that whether it is day or night, the citizens of Snyder can take pride in this handsome new building in Snyder.

Bell-Seale Funeral Home

Corner Ave. S And 31st. St.

Most of us are certain we've thought of everything to help those we care about, in the event tragedy strikes us.

We carefully insure our home against fire (this thoughtful gesture protects the mortgage company.)

We place substantial collision insurance on our car (we want the finance company or bank to get its money if we have a loss.)

We even buy a large amount of liability insurance to pay damages in the event someone sues us. (we want to make sure they get their thousands of dollars.)

Yes, we've thought of everything . . . everyone is protected. Everyone?

There is one thing more . . . only you can do. You can own a Funeral Expense Policy . . . in YOUR name . . . to take care of those final expenses in the event something should happen to you.

Eight out of ten women outlive their husbands and are left alone to buy and pay for last rites. This is one item so often overlooked.

Funeral Expense Protection should not be confused with regular life insurance. (We recommend you purchase as much life insurance as you can possibly afford . . . no family can have too much.)

But then . . . for only pennies per year . . . add that one more thing only you can do. Make sure your wife will not have to pay for funeral expenses out of the money she will need for living expenses.

To accompany the finest funeral service facilities, Bell-Seale has chosen the finest Funeral Expense Insurance available to Texans, from Union Security Life Insurance Company.

Call or drop by our beautiful new funeral home today for full details.

there's one more thing . . . only you can do

When you purchase your Funeral Expense Protection from Bell-Seale Funeral Home you're insured by the largest Texas owned life insurance company specialiizng in Funeral Expense Coverage. We know the Union Security Life Insurance Co. They're tops in low cost protection for the individual or the whole family.

You are invited to visit our beautiful new home at Ave. S & 31st.
