TORNADOES RAVAGE TWO MIDWEST DISTRICTS

Clay County Man Near Death After Stabbing At Jolly Filling Station

FARMER FACES COMPLAINT IN KNIFE BATTLE

Jim Grable, Milk Truck Driver, Has Small Chance To Live

WOUNDS AT HEART

Tom Richardson Sought by Sheriff After Filing Of Charges

Special to The Record News

HENRIETTA, Texas, May 1.—Suffering from three deep knife wounds, one above and another below the heart, Jim Grable, milk truck driver, lay near death in his home at Jolly Thursday night following an encounter with Tom Richardson, Clay county farmer, at the Wilson filling station at Jolly Thursday afternoon.

Charges of assault with intent to kill were filed against Richardson after the affray, according to information given by H. W. Glasgow, county attorney. Investigators told Mr. Glasgow that the stabbing followed a fist fight between the two men, who are said to have been close friends for many years.

Richardson Unfound

A search conducted by Sheriff J. M. Donnell failed Thursday night to disclose the whereabouts of the accused man. He was not to be found at or near his home, north of Jolly. Neighbors said he was seen driving away from the scene of the encounter in an automobile.

The injured man, holding a blood soaked cloth over a gaping wound just below the heart, was rushed into Henrietta for medical attention. The gash exposed the lung and physicians said he was breathing through the cut.

Recovery Doubtful

Ten stitches were taken in the wounds near the heart and others in a gash in the right shoulder. Doctors said his chances for recovery were very slim.

After receiving emergency treatment, Grable, extremely weak from the loss of blood, was taken back to his home in Jolly. Both he and Richardson are married men. They have made their homes in Clay county for many years and have been close associates.

Inquiries revealed no motive for the stabbing, witnesses explaining that the fight developed before its cause was revealed.

Only 12 Union Vets At G. A. R. Convention

FORT WORTH, May 1. (UP)—Only 12 stooped grey-haired veterans of the civil war were present to answer roll call today for the annual convention of the Texas division of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Dissatisfaction with the refusal of their national body to accept the invitation to meet with the Confederate veterans was expressed. "Why must this hatred go on?" asked Dr. E. H. Cowan, of Crawfordsville, Ind., surgeon general of the national encampment. "All the old differences should be forgotten and we should work for a united organization."

Fifty Policemen Dead In Brazilian Disorders

BUENOS AIRES, May 1. (UP)—A news agency report from Parahyba, Brazil, today stated that 40 provincial policemen had been killed in ambush by rebels near Princeza. Police casualities in the past few days were said to total 50 dead. The trouble is wholly a state affair, and does not afect the government of Brazil.

German Pilot Injured In Queer Rocket Ship

BREMERHAVEN, May 1. (US)—Pilot Espenlaub, maneuvering a new rocket-plane of peculiar design, was slightly injured today when the plane crashed shortly after taking off. He was removed to a hospital.

Bob Long's 'Zeal' For U. T. Oil Lease Inquiry Sends Investigators To Cover

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, May 1.—University land leasing investigation will be conducted behind closed doors until after the primaries, to avoid possible entanglement with politics, members of the house committee revealed here at the end of the first closed session of the inquiry.

Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls, during the executive meeting, withdrew accusations that were made when a "personal row" developed between him and State Auditor Moore Lynn, according to Lynn.

Representative Long was quoted by members as having contended Auditor Lynn and Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt were not cooperating in the investigation, which is being made under Long's resolution that asserted the $200,000,000 leases to Texon and Big Lake companies in Reagan county were void.

Long also withdrew his accusation against Mr. Bobbitt, members of the house committee said, and the delay in public hearings was to avoid embarrassing Mr. Bobbitt during the political campaign. The committee decided to proceed now with auditing university and land office records of royalties.

The members of the committee credited its internal dissention to Representative Long's "over-zealousness" in pushing the inquiry. Mr. Long is serving as secretary of the legislative committee.

'Over-Zealous'

R. J. (Bob) Long, state representative from Wichita Falls, has caused a legislative committee and officials of the attorney general's office conducting an investigation of certain University of Texas oil leases, to proceed in closed sessions. The committee members said Long was "over-zealous." Long, one of the younger legislators, won his election on the plea that he was "not qualified for the office but none of my opponents is qualified."

Lawton Pioneer Dies Of Sudden Heart Attack

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., May 1.—T. J. Rogers, Lawton "1901'er" and one of the most widely known pioneer citizens of this section, died of a heart attack while seated at the breakfast table in his home here at 7 o'clock this morning. He was 65 years of age.

Mr. Rogers came to Lawton from Texas in 1901. He has been engaged for many years in the transfer business. Besides his widow he leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. L. White and Mrs. W. H. Scarlett, both of this city.

Al Capone Sails From Cuba in High Dudgeon

ABOARD S. S. TOLOA, May 1. (UP)—Scarface Al Capone was a glum passenger aboard this steamship today.

Two days ago the Chicago gangster landed in Cuba intending to enjoy a four-day holiday. Yesterday he was surreptiously yanked out of bed and made to appear before secret police.

Today he boarded this vessel, bound for New York, but refused to say whether he had been asked to leave Havana. He remained in his cabin, refusing to talk for publication. He was attended by four henchmen.

Babies Die in Flames As Home Burns Down

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 1. (UP)—Two children were burned to death and two others were seriously injured when fire destroyed the home of W. J. Rogers at Flat Top, Mercer county ,today.

The fire started when Straly Richmond, 14, who lived with the Rogers family, and Lando Rogers, 4, attempted to start a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene. Both were seriously burned.

The dead were Pearl Rogers, 2, and her two-months-old brother, Lowell. They were burned to death as they slept.

Blindness Theatened After Strange Illness

MEXICO CITY, May 1. (US)—Thousands of Mexican natives in the state of Chiapas are on the verge of being blinded by a disease called onchocerchosis, according to Dr. Juan Luis Torrea, who has just returned from the stricken area.

According to Doctor Torrea, a study of the affliction disclosed that the disease attacks the eye directly, instead of developing in another part of the body.

Virtually the entire coffee producing region of Chiapas is now infected, and a population of about 100,000 exposed to the disease.

Accidents Claim Two Lives in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, May 1. (UP)—Two men met violent deaths here today. John Woeful fell down an elevator shaft and Walter Dike was crushed when a crane collapsed on a construction job.

WALSH SCORES JUDGE PARKER

Nominee Accused of Aiding 'Stigma Suits'

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—Judge John J. Parker's activities as special government prosecutor of war fraud cases under former Attorney General Daugherty were brought before the senate today by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who charged the supreme court nominee lent himself to the efforts of Daugherty to "stigmatize the Wilson administration."

Walsh's charges and a defense of Parker by Senator Herbert, Republican, Rhode Island, over the federal judge's much criticized decision upholding a yellow dog anti-union injunction, brought the senate controversy over President Hoover's nominee near a vote tonight.

It is expected action on the nomination will be taken tomorrow or more likely Monday. The vote will be close, but private polls tonight still indicated a small majority against confirmation.

The Montana senator referred to the United States harness case in which Parker acted as special assistant attorney general for Daugherty.

"I cannot avoid the conclusion this was one of the Daugherty fraud prosecutions for the purpose of throwing discredit upon the preceding Democratic administration," Walsh declared, citing the statement of the trial judge in the case there was not a scintilla of evidence warranting conviction of the defendants who were charged with

Wife Wants $100,000 For Husband's Lost Love

LOS ANGELES, May 1. (UP)—Helen Wills, said to be a film actress, and using the same name as the famous tennis champion, was named defendant today in a $100,000 suit charging she alienated the affections of Dr. Frank A. Zastrow, prominent dentist.

The action was brought by the dentist's wife, Eleanor A. Zastrow, who also named him in a divorce suit.

Huge Expenditure for Nomination Bodes Trouble for Mrs. McCormick

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—A quarter of a million dollars of her own money arose as a prospective obstacle today between Ruth Hanna McCormick and her dearest ambition—the Illinois senatorship.

Before a committee of the senate which looks askance on such large expenditure, the daughter of Mark Hanna disclosed her expenditures, the exact total of which she herself doesn't know, in winning the Republican nomination from Senator Deneen last month.

The Nye primary investigating comittee found her total listed campaign expenses from last July 1 were $252,572, of which $253,971 was spent after she filed for the nomination. She asked for no contributions, and only a few small sums from relatives argmented her own bank account.

Her expenditures make some of the rich men who have been criticized for spending large sums in the senate races look like misers although her total is far less than those of Senator Pepper and William S. Vare in Pennsylvania and Frank L. Smith in her own state. Vare and Smith were barred, and Pepper failed to get the nomination despite expenditures of $1,804,:979. Vare spent $780,000 for his ticket, and Smith $458,782. Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan who resigned after being censured for excessive expenditures, spent only $195,000, and W. A. Clark of Montana, one of the famous members

U. S. C.-C. VOTES AGAINST FARM BOARD POLICY

Repeal of Agriculture Aid Law Demanded at Convention

HOOVER SOFT PEDALS

President Steers Clear of Farm Issue in Talk To Delegates

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—American business men as represented in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce declared war today on the Hoover-Legge farm board policy of dealing in farm products as unfair competition with private business.

Repeal of the board's authority to use federal money to finance farm cooperatives and carry on stabilization operations was demanded in a resolution adopted at the chamber's closing session.

President Hoover went before the chamber tonight for a speech, but in this "enemy's camp" as far as farm policies are concerned, he did not touch on the farm problem.

Resolution Adopted

The resolution, strenuously opposed yesterday by Agriculture Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge of the farm board, was adopted by a viva voce vote of the 1,500 or more prominent business men present. Only 25 or 30 voices were raised against it. One speaker John Brandt, Minneapolis, of the Land o' Lakes creamery, warned the delegates the action would only make farmers angry at the chamber, and pleaded for more time to disclose how the farm act will function.

The action is regarded by farm men as just another step in the feud which began when grain trade men protested that the board's marketing activities will destroy them. The farm board's reply then was noncommittal, to the effect that business giving real service to the farmer will not suffer.

Advice Sanctioned

The part of the farm board act under protest included all the important functions of the board, except the giving of advice.

Resentment is expected to flare against the chamber at the capital, where the western members cooperated with the Republican administration in enacting the law. Under it, an authorization of $500,000,000 was enacted, and half of this huge amount already has been placed at the board's disposal. With some of it, the board through its agencies bought grain in a big way during the slump several weeks

Manslaughter Verdict Follows Fatal Crash

LOS ANGELES, May 1. (UP)—A few minutes after completing testimony in his own behalf, Thomas Bell, 36, late today ended his trial growing out of the deaths of three persons struck in a pedestrian safety zone by changing his plea of guilt on two counts of manslaughter and one of drunken driving.

Sentence will be imposed Monday. Had the trial continued and Bell been convicted of second degree murder he would have been liable for two life sentences.

Seven persons were struck by Bell's car when it careened into the safety zone, but only the deaths of Judson Bailey, 60, and Alvis Kuebler, 53, were included in the complaint. Mrs. Ira Hamilton, 54, died after the complaint was filed.

Dr. D. A. Simmons Buried In Sherman Thursday

SHERMAN, Texas, May 1. (UP)—Dr. D. A. Simmons, 89, father of Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system, was buried here late today. He died at Tioga following a long illness. He came to Texas in 1872 after serving with the Confederate army in the civil war.

'Hell, Who Wants to Be a Lady?' Inquires Mother Jones

Battle-Scarred Woman Labor Advocate Marks 100th Birthday

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—If the women of the United States would quit "trying to be so ladylike," they could easily make this the greatest country in the history of the world, Mother Jones said today in revealing her philosophy acquired in 100 years of storm and strife.

Wearing a corsage bouquet for the first time in her life as a special concession to friends assembled for her 100th birthday anniversary, the heroine of countless bitter labor battles delivered a ringing message to the women of the country to awaken and make use of the power they hold.

"If the women would only realize what they have in their hands, there is no limit to what they could accomplish," Mother Jones declared, speaking into the microphone for the sound pictures.

"The trouble is they have let the capitalists make them believe this wouldn't be ladylike. Maybe it wouldn't but, hell, who wants to be a lady anyhow? Women are what we want and they have a great mission to fulfill."

Mother Jones unloosened a tirade against prohibition, calling it the "worst affliction the country has."

She then returned to the subject of woman's duty to labor, telling how 100 women, wives of striking miners, had proved entirely too much for a federal judge in West Virginia during the mine disorders there. This was the last labor disturbance in which Mother Jones took part.

"The judge had sentenced these 100 women to prison for no other offense than trying to keep the 'scabs' away," Mother Jones related. "They were all taken away to jail and it seemed there was nothing to do about it. Then I got an idea.

"I told the women to sleep during the day and sing all night, not letting up a minute. Well, it worked in no time at all. All the guests in a nearby hotel moved out, the citizens raised loud complaints and that judge was beaten in short order and had to release them all."

Mother Jones spoke from a rocking chair in front of the Maryland farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Burgess, with whom she lives.

Representatives of organized labor from various sections of the country were present to honor the little Irish woman who had battled for labor in the face of even machine guns and bayonets.

It was a trying day for Mother Jones, who was allowed to leave her bed for the first time in months for this occasion, but she seemed to enjoy it.

Among the hundreds sending messages of congratulations were Labor Secretary Davis, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and Governor Ritchie of Maryland. A huge birthday cake with 100 candles was received from the Washington building trades council.

Encompassed by a peace and serenity denied her in the long years she has been fighting for labor causes, "Mother" Jones celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday at Silver Springs, Md. In an address to the women of America, she said members of her sex have become "too ladylike." American Federation of Labor organizations in a number of cities held ceremonies honoring "Mother" Jones, who still keeps close track of "her boys" through the newspapers.

FINAL CENSUS DRIVE PLANNED

Civic Leaders Meet Today With Supervisor

A group of civic leaders, chamber of commerce officials, county and city officers will meet with Thomas L. Ball, district census supervisor, at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the directors room of the chamber of commerce to make plans for a final move to enumerate any residents of Wichita Falls who may not be on the records. The meeting will be in charge of J. L. Jackson, first vice president of the chamber of commerce, who is acting in the absence of J. S. Bridwell, president.

Suggestions from citizens will be considered at the meeting in an attempt to make the final compilation of the city census a complete count, Mr. Ball said. Although a few have not been counted he believes that it will be possible to get the name of every citizen here before the final report is made early next week.

At the meeting Friday Mr. Ball will make a report on the outlook of the final report, which will probably be completed at the end of this week.

A census report from Burkburnett issued Thursday showed a total population of 3,281, which is 2,019 less than the 1920 count. The large decrease is due to the fact that the last census was taken during the height of the oil boom there, Mr. Ball stated. Iowa Park has a population of 2,008 as compared to the 1929 census of 2,041.

Windthorst, of precinct four in Archer county, has 87 residents. The entire precinct has a population of 750 as compared to 731 in 1920.

SHERMAN'S TOTAL SHOWS 15,636

SHERMAN, Texas, May 1. (UP)—Sherman's population increased 605 residents between 1920 and 1930, census figures revealed today. There were 15,031 living here in 1920 and 1930 figures, released today, show 15,636 at the present time.

Gangsters Evade Search Of California Police

LOS ANGELES, May 1. (UP)—The search for two bandits, believed to be August H. Winkler and Fred R. Burke, the latter believed to have been the machine gunner in the Chicago gangland St. Valentine's day massacre, continued today without a definite clue.

Four persons had identified the two from pictures as perpetrators of various jewel robberies in this vicinity in the last few weeks.

'We' Will Fly to Havana From Nicaragua Friday

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, May 1. (US)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will take off from this city for Havana and Miami tomorrow, on the last two hops of his seven-day flight inaugurating the New York-Buenos Aires air mail route.

Fish Prize List Closes At 6 Today

Entries in the annual fishing contest sponsored by The Record News and Daily Times will close at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, and all fish which are to participate in the prize awards must be weighed in at the Times Publishing company before that hour.

Opening day success of the anglers Thursday was marred by muddy water and high winds at both Lake Wichita and Diversion lake. The best fishing was reported at Lake Kemp, especially for bass. While a number of fine entries have been received, the average weight of both crappie and bass so far received is below that of 1929.

Thirteen prizes, consisting of cash and fishing merchandise, are posted for the winners this year. All fish weighed before 6 p. m. Friday are eligible to participate in the awards, no distinction being made between fish caught Thursday and those caught Friday.

Irish Waiters Too Proud to Accept Tips

DUBLIN, May 1. (US)—Irish waiters and waitresses are demanding that no more tips be offered them. They say that tips are "injurious to self-respect."

The hotel workers' branch of the Irish Transport Workers' union has proposed to hotel owners that adequate wages be substituted for the tip system.

100-Year-Old Groom Issued License to Wed

BASTROP, Texas, May 1. (UP)—A marriage license was issued here today to Victor Carillo, 100-years old and his prospective bride, Juanita Cordova.

STORM SWEEPS WICHITA AREA

Wind and Rain Strike Northwest Texas

Swept southward by a strong wind that shattered wire conections in its path, brief, fierce rainstorms, accompanied by brilliant electrical displays drenched the Panhandle and Northwest Texas Thursday night.

The disturbance struck Wichita Falls shortly after 11 o'clock, sweeping on toward the south. Railroad schedules were delayed and telephone connections broken by the force of the wind and the rain, but no serious damage was reported.

The downpour was general all the way down the Fort Worth and Denver line from Amarillo and was reported to have extended into both the North and South Plains area. Heavy showers fell at Clarendon, Memphis, Chillicothe, Quanah, Vernon, Electra, Iowa Park and Henrietta, according to reports received in the office of the Record News.

The spring storm broke at the close of a day of unseasonable sultry heat, sending the mercury down over the whole section and adding its moisture to the beneficial rains which soaked the section earlier in the week.

Mexican Revolutionist Held at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 1. (UP)—Gen. Andres G. Garcia, financial agent for General Escobar in the late Mexican revolution and once Mexican postmaster, was arraigned before a federal commission today on a warrant from Tucson, Ariz.

General Garcia is charged with conspiracy to violate the neutrality of the United States during the revolution by attempting to ship arms into Mexico.

Prisoner 'Borrows' Bed Rail and Blanket From Girl's Cell to Escape

W. H. Dollar made his escape from the city jail late Thursday night by prying the bars in a window of his cell apart with a bed rail "borrowed" from a woman's cell and letting himself out of a window from the second story of the city hall with a rope made of a blanket torn into strips and tied together. Outside assistance aided him in getting possession of the rail.

He climbed down the blanket rope into Ohio street from a front window of the city hall without being discovered. It was not known that he was gone until a fireman came into the police room and inquired about a ladder hanging from the window.

The bed rail was secured from a bed in an adjoining cell in which a young woman was being held, officers were told. According to her story, someone from outside asked her to hand out a rail from an extra bed that was in the cell. He told her that he was the jailor and wanted the rail to fix another bed. She handed the rail through the bars above the door without seeing the person to whom it was given.

The rail was passed into the cell occupied by Dollar through the bars above the door. It was used to pry apart the lower end of three bars in a window opening on a hall to the rear of a row of cells.

The woman said the escaping man came to her cell and jerked a blanket from her bed through the window. He apparently had forgotten to place a blanket within reach after crawling out through the narrow opening. The woman said that she tried to attract the attention of policemen after handing out the rail.

From the end of the hall in the rear of the cells, Dollar went into the photographing room in the front of the building and tied his improvised rope to a pipe and descended into the street on it.

STORM BRINGS PALL OF DEATH TO VILLAGES

Rescuers Kept Busy Aiding Scores of Injured and Recovering Bodies

TWO BABIES KILLED

Two Women and Infant Drown as Big Waves Envelopes Auto

Tornadoes in two areas in the Midwest and scattered electrical and rain storms took a heavy toll in human lives and property Thursday night.

First definite reports from the partially isolated districts showed 13 persons dead and more than 100 injured, many of whom are expected to die.

Heaviest damage was done at Tekemah, Neb., where six persons were killed and scores injured. Twisters in Minnesota killed five persons and in the same state three were drowned when a huge wall of water swept over a highway following a torrential rain.

Many farm buildings were destroyed, livestock was killed and telephone and telegraph wires were rendered useless for a time.

OMAHA, Neb., May 1. (AP)—Six persons were killed and several score more were injured, many seriously, in a tornado that struck Tekamah, Neb., early tonight, and swept on to six other towns in Nebraska before cutting into Iowa.

Other Nebraska towns hit by the storm are Pender, Homer, Jackson, Winnebago, Bancroft and Walthill, all in northeast Nebraska.

Baby Killed

Three of the dead at Tekamah have been identified. They are Al Brinkley, John Houser and the infant son of Hans C. Anderson.

The baby was killed in his mother's arms when the Anderson home was wrecked. Mrs. Anderson suffered a broken arm while Mr. Anderson's back was broken.

Doctors were summoned to Tekamah from nearby towns and those injured badly enough to demand hospital care were brought to Omaha after the Tekamah facilities had been exhausted.

Injured Rescued

Ambulances from nearby towns were pressed into service to aid in transporting the injured to Omaha.

A large part of the town lies in ruins. The streets were reported clogged with debris and the town is in darkness, all electric wires having been levelled by the storm.

The American Legion hall was converted into a haven for the homeless and the less seriously injured.

Moves Eastward

Residents of Tekamah said the tornado hit with full fury at 6:50 p. m. It struck suddenly, sweeping up from the west and moved directly eastward through the northern section of the town, missing the principal residential district.

On the heels of the storm, the entire city was plunged into darkness by breaks in the wiring system. At the hospital and other relief stations opened to treat the injured, doctors were working by flashlights.

THREE DROWN IN MINNESOTA

LAKE CITY, Minn., May 1. (AP)—Three persons were drowned late today when their automobile was enveloped by a huge wall of water on highway No. 59, six miles east of here, following a cloudburst.

The dead: Mrs. W. W. Lawler, about 33, of Rochester, Minn.; her 5-year-old daughter, Betty Janes; Mrs. Walter Dodge, about 40, of Rochester, Minn.

M'HAM GIVES APRIL REPORT

Balance of $84,232 Shown In County General Fund

A balance of $84,232.97 in the general fund of Wichita county is shown in the April report of T. W. McHam, county treasurer, issued Thursday and to be submitted next Monday at the regular weekly meeting of the county commissioners court. The balance in the general fund is approximately $20,000 less than that of April 30 last year, Mr. McHam said.

The large amounts spent for charity by the county during the first few months of this year account in part for the smaller balance, it was explained. The decrease could not be assigned to any one expenditure, Mr. McHam said, although charity has been perhaps the largest and most necessary expense. Large sums have also been spent in laying several miles of gravel roads in each of the precincts, he said.

Other items in the report were as follows:

Precinct No. 1 (Wichita Falls), M. A. Bundy, commissioner: Receipts, $2,729.60; disbursements, $7,177.43; balance, $57,754.47.

Precinct No. 2 (Burkburnett), F. R. Knauth, commissioner: Receipts, $1,755.77; disbursements, $7,244.56; balance, $32,576.83.

Precinct No. 3 (Iowa Park), L. L. Kuntz, commissioner: Receipts, $1,702.98; disbursements, $9,816.62; balance, $30,229.94.

Precinct No. 4 (Electra), H. H. Haynes, commissioner: Receipts, $1,931.22; disbursements, $8,107.13; balance, $34,072.44.

The county jury fund showed disbursements of $1,813 and a balance of $18,964.82 and the hospital maintenance fund indicated expenditures of $2,658.92 and a balance of $4,006.99.

Jury Upholds Claim For Salary After Discharge

A jury in the 78th district court Thursday morning returned a verdict in favor of G. H. Bradley at the close of the trial of his suit for $3,450 alleged due him from the Reiter Foster Oil company in payment for the time remaining after his discharge before expiration of a year's contract. Bradley claimed he was discharged before the termination of a contract by which he was to receive $500 a month and that the remainder due him was $4,750. His earnings at other work after the dismissal, however, were subtracted from the total, leaving $3,450, to which the jury found he was entitled.

DEATHS

PAUL WATERS

Funeral services for Paul Waters, 25, war veteran who died Monday night, were held from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside. The services were in charge of the American Legion.

Mr. Waters died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Waters, 304 Travis avenue, after several years illness. He is survived by his parents; his wife; two children, Paul Jr., and Carmelita Waters; three sisters, Mrs. D. H. McKinney of Dallas, Mrs. I. T. Brooks of Davenport, Iowa, and Mary Louise Waters of Wichita Falls; two brothers, G. Y. and S. D. Waters of Wichita Falls.

Noted Artists to Appear on Forum Program Approved for Next Year

Skeyhill and Halliburton to Return; Attendance to Be Restricted to Members of Forum

Plans for bringing to Wichita Falls a most interesting group of artists were made Thursday morning when the program committee of the Woman's Forum met at the clubhouse. Mrs. Guy Rogers, second vice president and chairman of the committee, presided. A tentative program was outlined and the artists selected by the committee will be procured if possible.

One of the attractions, selected by the committee, which is sure to receive a warm welcome is a return engagement of Richard Halliburton, who will be remembered by forum members for his lecture on "The Royal Road to Romance." And all those who have been regretting the fact that they missed hearing the brilliant Australian lecturer, Tom Skeyhill, may have an opportunity to hear him this season as his name also is on the list selected.

Music lovers will be gratified to know that on the first Tuesday in October at the seated tea the Woman's Forum will present in concert Claude Simpson, brilliant pianist, whose work has been outstanding in the music department of S. M. U. It is understood he will receive his degree in music from that college this spring. Claude Simpson is well known in Wichita Falls and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Simpson of 2210 Tenth street.

Frank Dobie, president of the Texas Folklore society, will appear on one program and lovers of folklore are already looking forward with interest to what Mr. Dobie will have to say. Another outstanding lecturer selected will be either Ida M. Tarbell or Dhan Gopal Mukerji. Ida M. Tarbell is called the foremost woman publicist and is noted for her biography of Lincoln. Probably no other man knows India as does Dhan Gopal Mukerji. His lectures are said to be vivid and colorful and to bring to his auidence an India hitheto unknown to the majority of people.

A rare musical treat will be the program featuring Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis and her associates in the beautifully arrranged musical presentation of 16 Rue Pigalle.

Those who heard Mrs. Ernest May in her talk on "International Relations" at the district federation meeting at Stephenville will be delighted at the possibility of hearing her on a forum program. Mrs. May is the former Rachael Garza, Spanish instructor in the University of Texas. One dramatic program has been arranged for, the speakers and details to be announced later.

It has been voted that future forum attractions will not be open to the general public as has been the custom heretofore. Only forum members will be privileged to attend. Men may obtain their membership cards on payment of dues. Mrs. C. P. Burton has charge of this part of the membership.

Oklahoman to Face Theft Charges Here

Warren Belcher, deputy sheriff, returned Thursday evening from Lawton, Okla., where he took into custody, through a governor's warrent J. L. Copeland, indicted by the last grand jury for the 30th district court on a charge of theft over $50, according to information given by Sheriff W. G. Bralley. Copeland was being held at Fort Sill, near Lawton, in connection with a case against him through the United States army. Mr. Bralley said. The accused man had resisted extradition until service of the warrant Thursday. He was lodged in the county jail here.

PRISONER TRANSFERRED

H. C. Gracy, under an indictment returned by the grand jury for the 30th district court a few days ago and charged with theft over $50 and with receiving and concealing stolen property, was placed in the county jail here Thursday following his transfer from the Vernon jail where he had been a prisoner, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

WOMAN SUES

But Traction Firm Blames High Heels for Her Injury in Fall

The $8,000 damage suit brought against the Wichita Falls Traction company by Mrs. W. B. Baldwin on a claim growing out of injuries she is alleged to have suffered when she stepped out of a bus into a hole near the curb was given to the jury shortly before 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the 89th district court. Judge P. A. Martin excused the jury until Friday morning and the verdict is expected before noon.

Mrs. Baldwin, wife of the reporter in the 30th district court, alleges the bus driver was negligent in failing to stop at a safe place for passengers to alight and that as a result she stepped into a hole hidden by grass, breaking the bones of her foot. Attorneys for the traction company contend that fact that Mrs. Baldwin was wearing high heels was contributory negligence.

fraudulent selling of war department harness.

The senator said he felt Parker "lent himself to the purpose, hoping that somehow a jury with political bias aroused by the reaction of the war might find a verdict of guilty."

Hebert used the same defense of Parker some others have used during the four-day senate debate, that he only followed a supreme court precedent in upholding the "yellow dog" contract.

"Parker has expressed no opinion other than what the law required," Hebert said. "He did not rule on the yellow dog contract."

"The supreme court had upheld its validity and it is the law of the land, and it will remain the law of the land until it is in some way changed."

Hebert cited about 450 cases and 184 opinions of Parker's "many of which looked toward a liberalization of procedure in the federal courts."

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, a Parker opponent, declared he was frank to admit "we want men on the bench who have modern ideas and not barbarous theories of former ages which would create modern slavery."

"I am not in favor of packing the court with men who favor enforcement of contracts that mean human slavery," Norris said. "I will not vote for a man when I know he favors the yellow dog contract."

Hoover on Prosperity

America has passed the worst of the business depression and rapid improvement toward new prosperity is in sight, President Hoover told the chamber of commerce at the final session tonight.

He proposed a new commission representing business, industry, labor and agriculture to study the causes and cures for such upheavals as the country has recently witnessed.

Though the business men a few hours before had adopted resolutions condemning the administration's farm policy of financing farm cooperatives, the president made no reference to this in his prepared speech except to remark the farm loan system had helped support farm mortgages during the crisis.

Recovery Certain

"While the crash only took place six months ago," Mr. Hoover said, "I am convinced we have now passed the worst and with continued effort we shall rapidly recover. There is one certainty in the future of a people of the resources, intelligence and character of the people of the United States—that is, prosperity."

The president said that, while grave consequences from the period of depression had been averted, there was "one form of credit which is most inadequately organized and which almost ceased to function under the present stress."

"This," he said, "Is the provision of a steady flow of capital to the home builder. From a social standpoint of view this is one of the most vital segments of credit and should be placed in such a definitely mobilized and organized form as would assure its continuous and stable flow.

"The whole range of our experiences from this boom and slump should be placed under accurate examination with a view to broad determination of what can be done to achieve greater stability for the future both in prevention and in remedy," he said in explanation of of his new plan.

"If such an exhaustive examination meets with general approval I shall, when the situation clears a little, move to organize a body—representative of business, economics, labor and agriculture—to undertake it."

PETERS TAKES FEDERAL POST

New U. S. Commissioner Succeeds Lantz

Melvin E. Peters, Wichita Falls attorney recently appointed by Judge William H. Atwell of federal district court to succeed J. A. Lantz, resigned, as United States commissioner here, took over the duties of his office Thursday, Judge Lantz' resignation having been made effective May 1.

The initial action taken by Judge Peters in his new capacity was the receiving of complaints charging manufacture and possession of liquor against Jerome Hoepfner, arrested Thursday morning when members of the sheriff's department seized a small still and about eight gallons of whisky at Hoepfner's place four and a half miles south of the city. Charlie Gant and Dick Morris, deputies who made the arrest, destroyed about 50 gallons of mash, they reported. Judge Peters set Hoepfner's bond at $500.

Former Oklahoma Sheriff Held on Murder Charge

GOOSE CREEK, Texas, May 1. (UP)—John W. Blevins, former Oklahoma sheriff, was charged with assault to murder here today for the shooting of Frank Knight, 28, who died in Beaumont following a fight on the old Spanish trail last night.

Authorities were awaiting official word of Knight's death to change the charge to one of murder. In a statement, Blevins, now a stove salesman, said that he and another man were sitting in an automobile parked in front of a house along the road when Knight jumped on the running board, was pushed off and then jumped on the other. Blevins said he then shot Knight, an oil field worker from Dayton.

Grand Jury Declines To Indict Mercy Slayer

CHICAGO, May 1. (US)—A grand jury refused today to indict Charles Cutler, aged "mercy slayer."

After five years of silence, Cutler last week surrendered to the authorities and confessed that to save his daughter, Mary, from further suffering he had turned on the gas in her room while she slept. A coroner's jury at that time had rendered a verdict of suicide after learning that the young woman had been despondent because of illness.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Why she didn't want to kiss him

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) has broken up many a love affair and friendship.

Don't fool yourself that you never have it. Because you simply cannot be sure of that. Halitosis never announces itself to the victim. But it does to others—and offends them.

Therefore, before meeting others, rinse the mouth with full strength Listerine. If halitosis is present, it destroys it. If it isn't (and you cannot tell) your mouth receives the benefit of a refreshing and invigorating treatment.

Listerine overcomes halitosis because it is an active antiseptic and germicide which kills germs of all kinds in 15 seconds. Therefore, it checks food fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it gets rid of the odors themselves.

Keep a bottle of Listerine handy in home and office. Use it often. It pays. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

ALTUS SEEKS NEW AIR LINE

Shortway Company Makes Route Proposition

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., May 1.—Members of the parks, playgrounds and aviation committee of the chamber of commerce met this week to discuss the plan of routing Altus on the proposed schedule of the Oklahoma Shortway Airlines company.

No definite action will be taken toward accepting the proposition which the company has submitted to the members of this committee and the members of the city council until another personal interview with Jack Adkins, operation manager of the company, is secured.

Adkins has arranged to make another trip to Altus and should be here this week or early next week.

The Oklahoma Shortway Airlines company started operation Monday of a line between Denver and Oklahoma City. A United Airways passenger ship took off at 9:55 a. m., Monday with the first passengers. The ship leaves Denver at 8:45 a. m., and is scheduled to arrive in Oklahoma City at 5 p. m.

If Altus is secured as a stop on this transportation route the system will be inaugurated within two weeks.

The first step in improving the present airport north of the city is the building of a passenger station on the landing field. Walter Hinton, member of the committee is in charge of this phase of improvement. The proposed building will be a stucco structure with possibly three rooms.

Derives Great Benefit From It

Plainview Farmer Says, "I Am Feeling Just Fine and Getting Wonderful Results From Argotane

It is now an accepted fact that 90 per cent of sickness can be traced directly to disarranged stomach said the Argotane man, and I can safely say that in all my experience I have never heard of a formula that has as rapid and permanent action on such ailments as stomach, liver and kidney trouble as Argotane has. This preparation is nationally know and people in Plainview, as everywhere, are giving their statements and endorsement of Argotane, as to the benefits received. For instance Mr. J. S. Kayen of rurol route 1, Plainview, Texas, says:

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for about the last 10 years, had gas that formed on my stomach, and puffed up, bloated spells. Food soured on my stomach, and I got to where I didn't have an appetite and didn't want to eat. I was very weak and run-down, and never got a good night's rest. I was in a very run-down condition and nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I had a very bad case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives.

"Argotane has certainly produced wonderful results for me. I'm not bothered with gas on my stomach, or any sign of stomach trouble, and my dizzy, nervous spells are gone, and all that tired, worn out feeling. I feel better now than I have in 10 years, and Argotane is the only medicine that has given me relief."

Sultan's Payment of Fraudulent Note to U. S. Merchant Hurts Credit

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Director, Record News Information Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A merchant in a western town some years ago—before the world war—drove a thriving trade, the people of half a county and more coming to his emporium for supplies. He was a solid citizen and, in addition to his store, owned land and livestock. But in the course of his business he found it necessary constantly to borrow at the bank as do nearly all merchants—whether corner grocers or huge city department stores.

His bank knew he was good for almost any amount within reason. At one time, when he had notes aggregating some $20,000 in the bank, he was called in by the bank president, an old friend, and told that he would have to take up those notes in a hurry because a tip had just come that the bank examiners were coming around. The line of credit extended to the merchant, though known to the banker to be safe, would be regarded as too large by the official examiners and that would mean trouble.

Money Not Available

The merchant explained that he simply could not raise the cash. He had to wait until bills owed to him were paid. The banker asked him whether he could not draw a draft on some debtor and deposit that as collateral security to satisfy the bank examiners. No, there was no one upon whom he could draw at that time.

"Well, take a chance," said the banker. "Draw on anybody at all. We can show the draft to the examiners and after they have gone, cancel it. Draw on somebody a long way off. Draw on the sultan of Turkey."

Willing to help the banker, the merchant was willing to enter into the game and signed a draft for $20,000 on the sultan of Turkey which draft was duly put up against the money he owed, all for the benefit of the inquiring eyes of the bank examiners. They came and went and all was well. The merchant and even the banker forgot about the draft at the moment and even neglected to go through the operation of cancelling it.

A week or so later, the banker called the merchant and asked him to hustle down to the bank. When he got there he informed the astonished tradesman that his draft for $20,000 on the sultan of Turkey had been honored and the money paid.

How the Miracle Happened

It was true and here is the background.

At the time the sultan's government was trying to borrow some millions of dollars in New York. The Wall street banking syndicate which was underwriting the loan stipulated that before the bonds should be floated on the American money market some odds and ends of American merchant claims against the Turkish government, which had been in dispute, must be paid. It would help the sale of the new Turkish loan bonds. Such claims as were on file were promptly settled and the loan of millions was just about to be handed over when in popped, by way of the consul general of Turkey in New York, the western banker's draft for $20,000. It seemed to the Turkish consul general that to haggle over this might delay, even jeopardize the loan of millions so, without even cabling Constantinople, he ordered the draft honored and the $20,000 was sent to the western merchant.

Turkey's Credit Gone

Whatever became of the money is a detail not known to the writer but the story is an introduction to Turkish finance and may explain in part why the republic of Turkey just now is having difficulty in getting a loan. Negotiations are going forward in every money center in the world and so far little success has been met. This loose sort of financial dealing seems to have characterized Turkish fiscal management for many years and although the nation's credit in the past has held up remarkably it now is suffering eclipse for a number of reasons.

Turkish bonds were a popular investment in Europe, especially in France, in the past century. It may have been the glamour of eastern magnificence which seemed to indicate a background of great wealth, but from whatever the cause the sultan seldom had difficulty in borrowing. But in the latter part of the 19th century, the sultan defaulted on his indebtedness and the powers stepped in. By international agreement a public debt administration was set up and certain revenues definitely set aside for the service of the debt. Foreign fiscal agents, in effect receivers, were in charge. All went well for quite a while, the pledged revenues bringing in enough to take care of interest and such amortization as was arranged. Turkish credit was rehabilitated.

Government Changes Form

When Germany began taking such an active interest in Turkey, grooming her for alliance by lending Prussian army officers to train her troops and arranging through diplomatic channels for the Berlin-to-Bagdad railway, Turkish bonds gained popularity in Germany.

The world war interfered with Turkish finances, however, as it did with all finances. The public debt administration crumbled before the disaster of the central powers' downfall. It is to be noted, however, that in the early part of the war, the international public debt administration of Turkey continued to pay interest to holders of Turkish bonds even in declared enemy countries.

After a long period of financial prostration, the Turkish debt was readjusted by a new international agreement in 1928 under which fresh bonds in a ratio of about 40 per cent were issued to the holders of the old, defaulted bonds. It looked as though everything were going to be all right again. But a few weeks ago, the Turkish republic gave notice that it would have to default on interest payments again and now the whole Turkish financial situation is once more in turmoil, with the Turkish government seeking loans to stabilize its fiscal position.

Better Risk Now

It is true that, fundamentally, Turkey is probably a better risk than ever before, although a certain traditional looseness in management is to be still noted. The government has spent large sums in such permanently valuable investments as railways and highways, schools and other public works of a character calculated to add lasting value to the nation and ultimately bring an economic return. But the immediate position is not good. There has been a series of crop failures and the transition from the old sultanate to the republican form of government has been upsetting and expensive. So no one is putting up any money just now.

Before the war gold was the chief medium of exchange in Turkey. Gold coin was constantly employed in everyday transactions. The Turkish pound or lira was worth $4.40 in gold. Then there were gold coins worth $2.20 and $1.10. Silver coins were the tcherak, worth 20 cents; the medigedie, worth four tcheraks, and the piastre, worth four cents and closely resembling the American dime. Oddly enough, during the war, these were worth more than gold because of the high world price of silver and most silver coins disappeared from circulation. To get a gold lira changed into silver, one would have to pay a premium to the sarafs or professional money changers. The silver coins were melted for bullion. Copper coins were the 10 and 20-para pieces. Ten paras were worth one cent, U. S.

After the war when the financial crisis came, the new nationalist government issued shinplaster paper money and small coins of aluminum and tin. The Turkish pound, once worth $4.40 when it was stabilized by gold reserves, now is quoted at from 40 to 45 cents in international exchange.

Texas Bridal Couples Leave Trail Of Gold in Oklahoma Border Towns

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., May 1.—Good Texas money continues to pour into the coffers of Oklahoma counties adjacent to the Northern Texas line, through mediums of the court clerk offices, in marriage license fees, as a result of Texas laws which require a three-day's notification of intention and a physical examination of applicants for licenses.

Lawton, Frederick, Walters and Waurika each receive many visits from the Texas lovelorn, all of whom leave a number of dollars in the city in which they are married.

Despite the fact that recent rains "slowed up" traffic between Lawton and the Texas line, 11 Texas couples "trekked" to Lawton during the month of April in search of marriage licenses and justices of the peace. The license fee is $3. The justice of the peace fee is $3, and should a couple prefer a minister the fee is a voluntary one, but seldom is less than $5.

Usually the contracting parties are accompanied by friends and a wedding feast at one of the cafes follows the ceremony, and the gas stations receive a visit before the return journey to Texas is entered upon. The average bridegroom will leave not less than a $10 bill during the first pursuit of happiness.

Texas cities represented at the marriage license bureau here during April were: Gatesville, St. Joe, Verdun, Wilbarger, Munster, Santa Anna, Olney, Pampa, Wichita Falls, Grayford, Temple and Wilbite.

COTTON GROUP HEARING TODAY

Receivership for Association to Be Decided

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 1. (UP)—Whether the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association will be thrown into a permanent receivership will be decided at a hearing tomorrow before District Judge T. G. Chambers.

Judge Chambers appointed R. H. Wilson as temporary receiver last week after several of the 30,000 members through their attorney, D. B. Welty, sued the association for almost $3,000,000.

Sam L. Morley, manager, and association directors are expected to oppose the permanent receivership. The suit alleged the association under Morley's management bought cotton from speculators contrary to rules and "has squandered thousands of dollars."

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. KEEN and ALERT at "FOUR"

the day's grind demands men of unusual Vitality

"Oh! fine"

you want to feel the same way

BUSINESS today requires that the successful man be physically fit and mentally alert.

Men, especially, forget themselves physically. Their work demands practically all their time. They do not exercise enough. They get little or no sunshine. They are robbed of a good appetite . . . and when their red-blood-cells fall below normal their flesh becomes flabby, their nerves unsteady. Their strength must be reinforced.

Soundness of body and peace of mind depend upon the proper number of red-cells in the blood—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red-cell count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

You will be pleased to know that S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.

is taken by many people at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition. Seek energy, vitality and the blessings of good health through this time-tested remedy which has been on the market over 100 years. Take at mealtimes. WETS ATTACK LADY ASTOR

Dry Views of Noblewoman Endanger Seat

By T. C. WATSON

LONDON, May 1. (US)—Lady Nancy Astor's favor of prohibition may cost her her seat in the house of commons at the next general election.

This became more than a probability when it was learned that the liquor interests intend to make a great effort to defeat her.

In the previous parliament Lady Astor retained her membership by a majority well over 5,000, but at the last election, owing mainly to the unpopularity of her views on the drink question, her majority was reduced to 211.

Defeat Seen

The report that the liquor trade with its new propaganda organization intends to fight Lady Astor's re-election was given authenticity at a recent clash between F. A. McQuisten, Scottish M. P., and Lady Astor in the house of commons.

McQuisten was making a speech on the liquor traffic when Lady Astor interrupted him.

In anger he turned on her and said:

"I must remind the noble lady, that despite her enormous resources most of which come from New York, she nearly lost her seat at the last election.

"I prophesy with absolute certainty that she will lose it next time. I would be sorry to lose her because she is the one bright spot of color in this very drab institution."

Sharp Debate

The incident occurred during a debate on the recently passed bill which will amend the merchant shipping act so as to suspend or cancel the certificates of any ship's officers engaged in smuggling liquor into the United States. Lady Astor was one of the bill's backers. McQuisten objected to it on the grounds that there was no necessity for it. If anybody violated the laws of the United States, he declared, let the United States punish them.

"Are we going to impinge on the freedom of the seas?" he asked while commons roared with laughter.

"Everyone in the United States knows that prohibition is a gigantic imposture and only a few hysterical females and males believe in it."

Guess what ingredient is missing from this

Apple Sauce Recipe

Pare, core and quarter several juicy, sour apples. Put them in a saucepan and cook with just enough water to keep them from burning. Add a dash of cinnamon and a little lemon juice. Cool and serve.

YOU ONLY need one guess. Sugar is missing. And if you add sugar "to taste" just before you take your apple sauce from the stove, you will have the utmost in flavorful goodness.

Very often you wonder how to improve foods which are lacking in flavor or appetite-appeal. In most cases a dash of sugar is all that is necessary. This is especially true in the preparation of vegetables. Just try a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooking spinach, carrots, string beans, tomatoes and peas. You'll be surprised at the way sugar improves the distinctive flavor of each vegetable.

When you consider that vegetables, cereals and fruit are essential in the diet for the vitamins, mineral salts and roughage they contain, you will realize the importance of making these foods appeal to the appetites of young and old. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Writers Department Has Last Program Thursday

Mrs. J. E. H. Railey presided over the meeting and program luncheon for members of the writers department of the Woman's Forum when the group met at the clubhouse Thursday at 12 o'clock for the last meeting of the year.

The one long table was attractively decorated with bowls of pink and red roses combined with fern, and silver pheasants were placed artistically between the bowls.

The program was opened with Mrs. W. P. Bowen reading an original one-act play entitled "Crude and Unrefined," which dealt with a poor family finding oil on their farm. Mrs. J. Truman Stevens read a group of her poems and Mrs. Bernard Martin read Mrs. G. B. Smedley's paper on "Wichita County Folk Lore," which Mrs. Smedley gave in Austin at a meeting of the Folk Lore society. Mrs. Bruce Hyde of Electra read an original short story entitled, "Justice," and Mrs. W. N. Maer, newly elected president of the Woman's Forum, made an announcement concerning the bridge tournament to be held at the clubhouse Tuesday morning and evening. The members voted to send flowers to Mrs. W. M. Cason who is ill.

Special hostesses included Mesdames Curtis Atkinson, H. O. Cravens, E. C. deMontel and J. M. Whitworth. Covers were laid for Mesdames E. T. Duff, E. C. deMontel, J. E. H. Railey, James P. Bowen, Skeen Staley, J. W. Akin Jr., J. Truman Stevens, R. H. Peterson, Charles E. Watson, T. H Clement, Curtis Atkinson, H. O. Cravens, James L. Duffy, O. W. Wilson, Bernard Martin, O. T. Gorsline, A. K. Jarrell, John Barbour of Iowa Park, Wayne Holmes, Dr. Maude Lindsey, Mesdames N. G. Hilliard, M. T. Clements, O. W. Harvey, Bruce Hyde of Electra, J. M. Whitworth, W. F. Sanford, Sam Kruger, Anna Barker, Edgar Ratcliff, John M. Martin, Guy Rogers, T. C. Watkins, W. N. Maer, S. S. McKenney, C. A. Spragins, Ben G. O'Neal and P. P. Langford.

Mrs. Bolding Wins Weekly Prize for Ladies' Golf Club

Members of the Ladies Golf association of the country club met for the regular weekly games and luncheon at the clubhouse Thursday when Mrs. W. P. Bolding won the low score ball.

The luncheon table was decorated in green crystal and bowls of red radiance roses combined with blue larkspur were used at intervals.

Qualifying rounds for the championship cup were played and those qualifying include Mesdames W. P. Bolding, J. B. Hatchitt, R. L. Hargrave, H. L. Ruehl, W. S. Abbott, L. O. Landon, C. O. Davis, Helen Kendall, E. Garonzik, Roy I. Carter, H. P. Ledford, H. B. White, J. W. Caldwell Jr., B. F. Caldwell. Mesdames J. L. Waggoner, L. H. Estes and J. T. Montgomery also played in the tournament but did not complete the 18 holes which is necessary for qualification.

Legge Favors $10,000,000 Farm Research Project

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—An endowed institution with a capital of at least $10,000,000 to aid agriculture through research and in any other way possible would perform an invaluable service and should be created in the near future, Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, said today.

Legge revealed he has personally favored such an organization for some time and has discussed plans with a number of eminent attorneys who approved the project. An outline of the plan has been drafted in tentative form, he added.

Woman's Mystery Her Chief Hold On Man, Says Dorothy

Instead of Women's Lamenting Their Misfortune in Not Being Understood by Their Husbands, It Is a Mercy for Which They Should Thank Heaven on Their Knees, Declares Dorothy Dix.

Peggy Joyce, who has had four husbands and who is still young and good looking enough to get four more with any reasonable break of luck, says that a woman should never marry a man who understands women.

These words are pearls of wisdom that fall from the lips of a matrimonial expert, and they should be eagerly gathered up and taken to heart by those foolish ladies who yearn to be understood by the opposite sex. Curiously enough, this is an almost universal feminine obsession, and the grievance of nine out of 10 disgruntled wives is that their husbands do not understand them. They admit that their Johns are good and kind and generous and faithful, but they do not understand them, so all is woe, and beating upon their breasts.

But instead of women's lamenting their misfortune in not being understood by men, it is a mercy for which they should thank heaven on their knees, for it is the one thing that not only keeps a man intrigued and interested in a woman, but that enables her to work him. A woman whose reaction to every situation a man had figured out would have as little fascination for him as a toy has for a child after he has broken it open and found out what made the wheels go round. A wife whose every mood and tense her husband could anticipate would be as boring to him as a tale he knew by heart.

The chief allure that a woman has for a man is the unexpected. He never knows what she is going to do next, nor which way the cat will jump. She is an unknown country that he can never fully explore. She piques his curiosity and keeps him guessing and that stimulates his imagination, and rouses his fighting blood and makes him determined to solve that human conundrum even if he has to marry it to do so. But far otherwise would it be if a man understood women and knew the answer to the riddle before it was even asked.

The more mysterious a woman is the more she fires a man's fancy, and that is why they are so foolish in desiring to present a diagram of their hearts and souls to men, even to their husbands, and that is why they make such a mistake in not keeping secret all the little tricks of their trade. As, for instance, how they achieve their looks.

Although I have seen it done a million times I have never ceased to shudder when I behold a woman make up her face in public. It is such a psychological crime, for one dab of the powder puff and one swipe of the lipstick, sweep away all illusion and proclaim to all men and sundry, that the skin they love to touch owes its beauty to the drug store and not to nature. But for the give-away they might have always believed that Miss Peaches and Cream's complexion was genuine instead of synthetic, and that the wave in her hair was put there by God and not by curling irons.

A very astute old man of the world once said to me that his idea of a subtle woman, who would never lose her chairm for a man, was one to whom he could be married for 20 years without ever finding out whether her hair was her own or not. Certainly, by the same token, a clever woman performs the rites of the toilet in private and does not make men wise to the exact amount of rouge she uses, nor how she achieves her effects of beauty.

But suppose men really did understand women How it would cut down the marriage rate! For it would enable the man who doesn't want to get married to scent danger from afar and take to the tall timber for safety, whereas now he never even perceives that a woman is pursuing him until after she has nabbed him. The salvation of women is that men know so little about them that they take them at their face value, so to speak, and as long as they are young and slim and pretty they never suspect that they are anything but what they seem.

It is because men do not understand women that a woman can take in even the shrewdest man and put across any kind of propaganda about herself that she desires. The flapper golddigger can make the aged millionaire believe that she is marrying him for love of himself alone; the hard-boiled woman can make a man believe she is a clinging vine; the woman with a lurid past can make a man believe that she is an angel at heart and is the unfortunate victim of circumstances. Even a moron can roll her eyes at an intellectual man and make him think she would be a congenial companion.

And suppose some evil fairy should grant wives' prayers for husbands who understand them, what a boomerang it would be. Suppose a husband could assay a wife's tears and know when she was weeping for grief and when for revenue only.

In her sprightly autobiography Miss Joyce tells how she wept Rolls Royces and sable coats and diamond necklaces out of her husbands, and while not many men are able to dry their wives' tears on such expensive luxuries, still and all, a lot of women know that the water way is the shortest cut to their heart's desire and the quickest way of ending an argument especially when they are in the wrong.

And if men understood women, how it would block wives' time-honored approach when they had to impart to their husbands the news that mother was coming for a nice long visit, or that their new hat cost $40, or that they had made up their minds to go to Europe for the summer. What good would it do to feed a man on all the things he liked best, and listen while he told over his pet story for the millionth time, and be so sweet and amiable that butter wouldn't melt in your mouth, if he knew exactly what was motivating you and could read you like a book?

No. Perish the thought that men should ever understand women. We would be simply sunk if they did. Miss Joyce is right when she says that women should never marry a man who understands women, and she takes the wedding cake, as usual.

Every Week Health Week at Nursery

Proper Feeding First, Says Mrs. G. R. Ellis

By MRS. G. R. ELLIS
President Federated Missionary Societies

(One of a series of articles written for Children's Health week).

We take great pleasure in saying a word in the interest of child health week for the Wichita Falls Day Nursery. If you will visit this institution, and observe the health posters on the walls and read our health menus on the kitchen cabinet door, you will see every week is health week with us.

We endeavor to avail ourselves of every opportunity to give our children the best; so with the advice of the Red Cross dietitian, city physician and nurse, and a trained woman in charge who both supervises and teaches, we are able to carry out health programs very efficiently. Our children come from homes where the mothers must work to support them. We keep them all day. They are bathed and fed and each child has a nap in his own little white bed with the windows open. Each child represents a family, and the child is the key to the family; so if the child is trained in habits of cleanliness, better citizenship will result.

Proper feeding of the child is necessary before the soul of the child can be reached. Scientists now tell us that practically the entire course of an individual life is determined by the training and environment in early life. What a responsibility is ours then, for making health, love, happiness and goodness shine around and upon them.

Our children of the day nursery are just as bright and pretty as the children of wealthy or famous townsmen; and quite as often the little girls are born with curly hair, and the boys with Caruso voices. All they need is a chance.

Teaching children to observe the rules of health in eating correct foods, I think, is one of the most effective agencies in developing character. Where control of appetite is mastered, other health producing ideals are easily carried out.

Health is built day by day. By the habits you form in your work and in your play, so many inches you will add to your height—by eating and sleeping and living just right.

If Baby has
COLIC

A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

Do Women Suffer More Than Men?

Physicians tell us that the nervous system of woman is more highly organized, more delicately poised, and therefore, more sensitive to disturbances and susceptible to pain than that of men.

Women especially appreciate and profit by the use of Capudine, because it quickly relieves high nerve tension and pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. For nervous headache, periodic pains, pains in the back and sides, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, nothing is so quickly effective and satisfactory as Capudine. Being liquid it acts much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

Every home should be supplied with Capudine. It brings grateful relief from nerve strain and pain, and affords peaceful relaxation in just a few minutes. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

LOST TITIAN CANVAS FOUND

Ancient Portrait Valued at $150,000

DETROIT, May 1. (INS)—A genuine Titian masterpiece, hidden perhaps for centuries under layers of restorers' paint and varnish has just been discovered in Detroit.

W. R. Valentiner, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, bought the painting for $400. It is valued at $150,000.

It is a portrait of Dodge Girolomo Priuli, painted by Titian about 1559. For many years it was in the collection of the Duchess of Berry in Venice. Then it disappeared, taken out of Italy.

Experts consider it probable that a layer of over-paint was spread on the canvas deliberately to conceal the fact it was a work of the great Italian master, perhaps, to facilitate its removal from Italy.

Doctor Valentiner saw the time-dulled painting at the recent sale of the Havemeyer collection in New York. It was labeled simply "School of Titian," and purported to be the work of one of the master's pupils. He purchased it for $400 and turned it over to William Shur, restorer at the institute, who, after painstaking delicate work restored the true colors of the master.

Leaders of Opposing Faiths Probe Cosmic Problems in Verbal Battle

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 1. (INS)—Three thousand persons today were mulling over the arguments of four brilliant speakers, who affirmed their faiths, or lack of faith at a religious forum held here last night.

With Meredith Nicholson, famous Indiana novelist, presiding, the four speakers described their respective beliefs and were applauded nearly impartially by the 3,000 persons who heard them.

The speakers were Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church; Quin O'Brien, Catholic and prominent Chicago lawyer; Rabbi Morris M. Feuerlicht of the Indianapolis Hebrew congregation, and Clarence R. Darrow, internationally prominent criminal lawyer and agnostic.

Friction Lacking

Without friction and in good spirit, the exponents of the various beliefs, which have clashed in bloody wars during the dark days of the past, presented their arguments calmly and logically.

Among the statements of the speakers were:

Bishop Hughes—"The people of our faith freely admit the difficulties and mysteries of our position. Either God is eternal or matter is eternal, or both are co-eternal. The conception of the agnostic simply evades these mysteries. Negations always are uninspiring, and the writers and speakers of negations are not constructive. No one ever saw an 'agnostic orphanage.' There are no 'unbelievers' hospitals,' no 'atheistic homes for the aged'."

Quin O'Brien—"Faith, not doubt, makes progress. Faith drew Columbus into an unknown ocean while doubters said: 'When you get to the edge of the world, you'll fall off.' It was faith in God and gasoline that took Lindbergh to Europe. They say we can't envision God, neither can they envision radio energy, and they can't see it, but I have seen them talk into a microphone with childish faith that the people of a nation will hear them. The church kept knowledge alive through the darkened middle ages."

Rabbi's Viewpoint

Rabbi Feuerlicht—"How wonderful it is that religious debate has become a matter of acoustics, not fistics. I do believe in a heaven and am willing to see all admitted into it in a spirit of amity. That goes, too, for my friend, Mr. Darrow. I can find no fundamental conflict between science and religion. Whenever science discovers a new truth, I am not less a believer in God, but more. I believe that a Messiah will come, but it will not be an individual. It will be a perfect embodiment of perfect, composite humanity."

Clarence Darrow—"If God made the universe, then who made God? My friends are talking of something that is beyond the comprehension of man. Which is right—they who say they know and can't tell or I who say I can't tell because I don't know? Christians say they have faith and they know. Maybe that's why, when they are dying of cancer, they run around all over the country, willing to be cut up, a piece at a time, in order to prolong their lives, when they, according to their declared faith, could go to heaven and live in peace and happiness forever without all that trouble."

Lightning Bolt Kills Farmer at His Home

KANSAS CITY, Kan., May 1. (UP)—J. E. Young, 43, was killed today when lightning struck him at his farm home two miles west of here during the thunder storm which brought more than an inch and a half of rain in two hours.

MURDER PLOT VALISE FOUND

W. R. Pearman's Suitcase Taken From River

LINN, Mo., May 1. (UP)—Authorities here were notified today that Sheriff Arthur B. Massey of Maries county had found the suitcase of W. R. Pearman, slain in a $200,000 insurance fraud plot, and whose body was found near Bentonville, Ark.

The suitcase, weighted with rocks, was found in the Gasconade river.

Finding of the suitcase corroborates a chapter in the weird story told both by Dr. A. J. Bass, retired Columbia dentist, held in jail at at Bentonville, and Casper Tillman, hunting and fishing guide, who is free under a $1,000 bond here. Both Bass and Tillman are charged with first degree murder in connection with Pearman's death.

Bass and Tillman, in their stories, told of taking the clothing out of Pearman's suitcase as they drove to Arkansas with the dead man in the rear of Bass' car, filling it with rocks and dropping it into the river.

Mississippi Official Resigns Under Fire

JACKSON, Miss., May 1. (AP)—Bryce Alexander, Rolling Fork, today tendered his resignation as a member of the Mississippi Railroad commission.

The resignation followed announcement of Chairman McGehee of a house investigating committee that articles of impeachment were ready for filing, charging the official with irregularities in granting bus permits.

Maker of Cosmetics Pays Record Fine

NEW YORK, May 1. (UP)—Mrs. Robert L. Dodge, cosmetics manufacturer, paid the largest fine on personal luggage ever received by the customs when her lawyer presented Philip Elting, collector of the port of New York, a certified check for $213,286. She will not be prosecuted.

E. M. Connell, superintendent, is now serving under a two-year contract.

The teachers elected are as follows: Miss Leonora Barrett, English; Miss Hybernia Grace, history; Miss Evangeline Kelly, English; Miss Netta Boren, Spanish; Miss Vera Bottoms, history; M. O. Pittman, coach; Miss Myrtle McKinney, home economics; J. A. Roberts, principal high school; Miss Emma Robinson, secretary and librarian; H. R. Phenix, principal of ward school; Miss Velma Heald, Mrs. Sallie B. Honea, Mrs. L. S. Bressler, Miss Hulia E. Hockman, Miss Sarah Edmonds, Miss Cornelia Thornhill, Miss Rosa Thornhill, Miss Vernor Rosser, Miss Pearl Knox, Miss Lucile Webb, Miss Viola Martin, Miss Ann Hardy, places to be assigned later.

There are 23 members of the faculty this year, one more than the school had last year.

West Raps Farm Board Cotton Plan

BOSTON, May 1. (UP)—Declaring that the federal farm board's activities had increased unemployment, Sidney Y. West of Little Rock, Ark., warned the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers here today that if the debenture plan were put into effect it might destroy the American cotton yarn and goods export business.

"They have practically cornered the May-July positions and forced them to an unnatural premium over the new cotton crop," asserted West, director of the American Cotton Shippers association, in an address before the convention.

"This has increased unemployment in the industrial sections of the country, thus decreasing the purchasing power in those districts at a time when unemployment is already great."

Grade School Graduates Elect Class Officers

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—The high seventh grade of the Thompson ward school has selected its class officers and other preparations are being made for graduating exercises at the close of school. The officers elected are: President, Cecile Bledsoe; secretary, Peggie Joe Cunningham; treasurer, Mary Emily Gilbert; class prophet, Mina Cobb; class will, Genevieve Lawrence; parting gifts, Thelma Greer; sponsor, Miss Nadine Holder. The class colors are pink and orchid and carnations are the flowers. The class motto is "Don't try dying but die trying."

JUNIOR FLIER REPAIRS PLANE

Goldsborough Awaits New Wing at El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, May 1. (INS)—With a new left wing ordered from Phoenix, Ariz., and his airplane undergoing minor repairs today, Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old aviator attempting to set a new junior transcontinental record, hoped to resume his flight to Los Angeles early tomorrow morning.

Goldsborough arrived here early today after spending the night in the desert 100 miles east of El Paso. Afraid of losing his way over the treacherous course between Midland and El Paso, the youth landed in the sands. He resumed his trip at dawn.

A new wing was ordered when examination here revealed the left wing of his ship had been badly damaged in the take off from the desert. The wing was expected to arrive tonight and the replacement made by early tomorrow.

Goldsborough's elapsed time from Westfield, N. J., to El Paso was 35½ hours. He left Westfield Monday.

A. B. Fall Seeks Rejection Of Government Motion

Insect-Infested Homes Have Most Illness

Authorities Waging Big Clean-up Campaign —Advise Using Kill-Ko

KILLS FLIES, MOSQUITOES, ANTS, MOTHS AND ROACHES

Multiplying at an almost unbelievable rate, living and feeding upon filth, insects spread all kinds of dangerous disease.

Authorities recognized the merit of Kill-Ko are urging everyone to use its deadly gas in stamping out insects, to clean up home and public buildings, thereby removing the cause of so much illness.

Kill-Ko does what dusts, powders and sticky papers cannot do. It sends off a powerful death-dealing gas that kills all insect life—and yet it is absolutely harmless to humans, beasts, fowls, furniture or fabrics.

Flies and mosquitoes fall in agony as Kill-Ko snuffs out their lives. Its gas penetrates every nook and corner, killing the young, leaving no new crop to take the place of others.

Kill-Ko has been used for years. It is approved and preferred by many health authorities. You, too, will like it better than anything you have ever used.

Get Rigo's Kill-Ko from your druggist or grocer—in the blue bottles only. Two sizes, 50c and 75c. You will find nothing else more effective.—Adv.

Armour's New Star Bacon with FIXED* FLAVOR

achieved by the "double-f" process

HOUSEWIVES have discovered a new "star" of particular brilliance . . . Armour's Star Bacon, prepared by the "double-f" process—a complete revision of our cure and smoke methods. Star Bacon was already the most melting, mouth-watering morsel that ever decorated a dish. But we were bent on "doing the impossible." And we discovered the "double-f" process.

You'll be on the verge of knowing the full meaning of "double-f" when the fat sputters in the pan, and that glorious fragrance percolates through the kitchen. And you will know, when your fork divides each marvelous mouthful. Uniformly sliced in cartons, or your dealer will slice it from the original piece. Ask for Star Bacon, and you'll get Fixed* Flavor. Armour and Company, Chicago.

Now the bottom one, too. You can see what you're getting through the window in the pound and half-pound cartons.

Your druggist says these vitalizing vitamins must benefit you wonderfully or money back.

Millions of people in America are weak and weary. They are so rundown physically and mentally that they are in no condition to do even a decent day's work.

They go to bed tired out at night and hate to get out of bed in the morning.

They have lost their ambition—they haven't half enough energy and their vitality is away below par.

The first thing these men and women should do and the best thing they can do is to get into their system the right kind of vitamins.

The kind of vitamins that build up health—that increase strength and vitality—that create energy and ambition and put into the body the power to resist disease—when disease attacks.

You'll find the right kind of vitamins to swiftly help you in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets. No drugs of any kind.

And these precious tablets are not expensive—60 tablets, 60 cents. At your druggist and remember this if they do not help you—help you wonderfully in 21 days—get your money back. Just ask for McCoy's at any drug store in America.—Adv.

Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Is there a sale for Coca-Cola outside of the United States?—A. H. S.

A.—The Coca-Cola company says that its product is selling in increasing volume in 76 foreign countries, and that the consumption in Montreal, Canada, is heavier than in Miami, Fla.

Q.—What was done with the dirt taken out when the Panama canal was dug?—K. M.

A.—It was used to fill in swamps and for the Gatun dam, also for building a causeway at the Pacific end. The dirt was carried to the places desired by 300 dump trains.

Q.—Who were the Americans who served on the first jury of the permanent court of arbitration?—M. S.

A.—The four citizens of the United States who were on the original panel of the permanent court of arbitration established at The Hague in 1899 were ex-President Benjamin Harrison, Chief Justice Fuller, Attorney General Griggs, and Mr. George Gray of the United States circuit court.

Q—Who settled the old city of Ghent in Flanders?—J. B. G.

A.—This city has existed from the very earliest time and no exact date can be given for its settlement, nor is the derivation of the name accurately known. The site was occupied by prehistoric tribes and later by the Celts and Belgii and Nervii. It is mentioned as early as the seventh century. According to one author, Ghent was originally Gand which derives from a Celtic word meaning confluent, in reference to the location of the city at the confluence of the rivers Scheldt and Lys.

Q.—What private corporation is the largest in the world?—C. E. L.

A.—The American Telephone and Telegraph is said to be. It is the first four-billion-dollar corporation. The company has about 470,000 registered shareholders and employs 454,000 people.

Q.—When did fireworks become vari-colored?—H. S.

A.—It was not until the first quarter of the 19th century that colors were added to the displays of fireworks.

Q.—From what languages in English as spoken in America derived?—A. D.

A.—English as spoken in this country is derived from many sources. Our speech has a Saxon base. Approximately 20 per cent of the words in conversational use are derived from Latin. We have many literary and ecclesistical Latin terms and technical words derived from the Greek. A greater part of our household and poetical words are Saxon. There is a strong French influence originally introduced by the conquest of the Island of Britain by William the Conqueror, the duke of Normandy. There are also in our language numerous words brought by colonists from the Netherlands, and also Spanish and Indian words.

Q.—Where is peat found and how does it look?—T. J. B.

A.—Peat is usually found in bogs or marshes and is practically the first transitory stage of coal. It is very dark and resembles dry moss.

Q.—Can a dust-bag be made for a vacuum cleaner without the use of chemicals?—E. H.

A.—The bureau of standards says it is possible. The material is usually made from a warp heavily sized before weaving, and in the weaving operation a very close tight fabric is constructed, making the interstices between the threads very small to prevent the escape of dust from the bag. Chemicals may be used to shrink the fabric and make the interstices smaller.

The Record News Offers Its Readers a Booklet on Making Cellars Dry

It has nothing to do with prohibition enforcement, but it is none the less an extremely valuable publication, for it solves problems that have worried thousands of builders and home owners. It was prepared by George M. Warren, an associate hydraulic engineer of the United States department of agriculture. It is profusely illustrated, and is the last word on cellar location, construction, and rehabilitation.

Send for your copy at once, addressing the Record News, Washington bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, and enclosing 10 cents to cover postage and handling.

How does John Barrymore know, when his new baby starts howling, that it is not expressing its genius for the talkies?

The Fight Against Judge Parker

WILL the United States supreme court of the future be susceptible to the influence of public opinion?

This question arises in connection with the gathering strength of the opposition to the confirmation of the appointment of Judge John J. Parker as associate justice in that body, and the unsuccessful attempt to prevent the confirmation of Judge Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice several months ago.

These instances, of course, are not the first in which there has been opposition to the confirmation of a president's appointees to the supreme court. Indeed, there have been several instances in which appointees have been rejected by the senate, but in these two latest instances there is a very apparent inclination on the part of the senate to take the matter of selecting members of the supreme court into its own hands and to select them in accordance with the political views of the majority of the senators.

This is a new attitude on the part of the senate and it seems to have the approval of public opinion. Maybe the public hasn't thought very deeply over the probable effect of this change.

The supreme court reached its present position of prestige and independence from outside influences including the tyranny of public opinion, which it must be admitted is often a temporary opinion, through a process of evolution and struggle. This evolution has gone on until the supreme court is recognized today as the final bulwark of liberty and freedom under the constitution.

In recent years radical opinion has sought to make the supreme court amenable to congress and through congress to the opinion of the day by attempting to provide that the decision of the court could be made subject to congressional review. Happily this effort has failed. But it seems to us that the fight that was made against Judge Hughes and is now being made against Judge Parker may be a fight, which if successful, may have somewhat the same effect of subjecting the supreme court to the tyranny of public opinion.

If members of the supreme court are to be chosen or rejected on account of their political views, will not this fact influence them in their decisions?

And if this influence creeps in will it not weaken that mighty bulwark of independence which has been one of the great strengths of our highest judicial tribunal?

We think the possibilities of this danger are sufficient to give our senators sober thought.

The End of the Big City

THE industrial revolution caused by the steam engine produced the big city, and has operated ever since to make the big city grow bigger and bigger, without a letup.

Now a new industrial revolution is in the offing, with gas and electricity as its mainstays; and it is going to undo the work of the first revolution and disperse the big city all over the landscape again.

This, at any rate, is the theory suggested by Dr. Gus Dyer, professor of political economy at Vanderbilt university, as outlined by him in a speech before the Executives' club of Chicago recently.

The last 20 years, says Dr. Dyer, have seen a miracle wrought in America by the new application of gas and electricity to industry.

"It has destroyed isolation," he says. "It has brought all America out on the great highways of life. It is taking everything worth seeing and hearing from the cities and carrying it to remote sections. It is destroying the reasons why people should go to the cities to live.

"Industries are going back to the country and the small town. The cities have the greatest fight they ever had if they are to hold their places under the new order. The small place has advantages for industry that the city can hardly meet. The cities have got to made a readjustment, recognize a new force."

As a prophet, Dr. Dyer may be less than infallible. His prophecy is interesting, just the same. We have been calmly assuming that the present drift of population toward the cities is going to continue indefinitely; what an upset is in prospect if this flow is presently to be reversed!

His thesis does not sound unreasonable, either. A visit to any one of the half dozen largest cities in this land is about enough to convince any unprejudiced observer that a great city, in many ways, is not a very good place to live. Year by year the congestion grows more unbearable, the noise and dirt grow more oppressive, the time that must be spent in the mere process of getting to and from work lengthens and lengthens. New York is already giving indications that it is just a trifle too big for any earthly use. Chicago is beginning to display the same symptoms. And some other cities are not far behind.

After all, why not? We have gone just a little bit too far in our deification of the big city. The genuine advantages that come from living in a smaller place tend to get overlooked.

If Dr. Dyer is right, and a wholesale splitting up of our cities is in prospect, we are in for some enormous, surprising changes. But perhaps we shall be better off, in the long run.

The "Follow-Through"

STATEMENTS made by Frank B. Creighton, local Boy Scout executive, at the Optimist club meeting here Wednesday contains so much truth, and truth so poignant, that one becomes at once concerned with the reason for the need which he described.

Mr. Creighton cited facts already well known to all who have acquainted themselves in recent years with Boy Scout work. The movement consists of giving sincere and intelligent guidance to the "gang spirit" which is as natural an accoutrement of boyhood as marbles and jackknives. There is a dire need for men to act as leaders, converting the problem, as he said, into a "man problem" rather than a "boy problem."

But this brings up another point in Mr. Creighton's speech. He devoted one paragraph to condemnation of the five-day work week as providing leisure time for trouble-making and for furthering the growth of commercialized recreation. Observation will show that this troublesome situation has two sides. An added day of leisure, for those old enough to be regularly employed, would in many cases afford opportunities for mischief, and in others would increase dependence upon commercialized recreation, which certainly has its faults. But the shortage of men-leaders for these younger boys—who are tomorrow's workmen—is due largely to the fact that men who would gladly serve as scoutmasters usually are held at the job of bread-winning so many hours per week that assumption of scout leadership is impossible. It so happens that most of the men who care for that sort of work find that after long hours during six days of a week, after mowing the lawn, watering the garden, patching up the garage, and taking the family on a semi-annual picnic, there is positively no time left for taking a group of other folks' boys through an evening of study, an all-night hike, or a week-end camping party.

Isn't it possible that some of the elements of the five-day week plan might be utilized to aid in providing the needed leadership for the boys who are not yet workers?

Affirmative

I, who once was a glamorous stranger,
Turned to a dull and awkward lad,
Nights that were teeming with dancing danger
Changed to nights that were pale and sad;
Phrases fair as an April morning
Lost their meaning and lost their lure,
We, who mocked at the gravest warning
Paused and faltered and felt unsure.

Thus we came to a sorry ending,
We who cherished each binding vow,
For our hearts may be slow in mending,
Skies seem cloudy and sullen now;
Yet when Spring starts the warm blood dancing,
Will you mock at her old-time thrill?
Or set out once again romancing—
As for me—why, of course, I will!
—Don Wahn.

Beautiful, but Numb

One of the prettiest cub reporters in New York, whose specialty was doing sob stories, got a job on another rag and lost it an hour later for making this boner. Her initial assignment was to cover a suicide. She learned that he killed himself because he had lost $10,000 in a week playing the races.

She began her tale with: "The race track, that merciless place where fools lose their money, prestige and self-respect, claimed another victim yesterday, etc., etc.

The editor happened to pass her desk and paused to look at her copy. He immediately fired her, and little wonder.

He was the editor of the New York Morning Telegraph, which describes itself as "America's Foremost Racing Authority."

Add Swifties

Take it from Variety, a not generally known Bernard Shaw gag concerned Shaw, William Archer, the critic, and a panhandler. Shaw and Archer were ankling down a London street and were approached by a beggar.

"Press," said Shaw, and walked on.

Broker Than Broke

The money problem appears to have struck the Eve'g Telegram's press room. A box of taffy was being raffled off there the other day and one of the staff urged a comrade nicknamed "Dutch" to take a chance.

"Go ahead, it's only a dime," he coaxed.

"Say, lissen," growled Dutch, "if I had a dime it'd look like a manhole cover."

Newspaperman Stuff

One who admired the columns written by Don Marquis writes to inquire about him. "I miss his excellent sense of humor," says the writer. "Does anybody know why he quit delighting his millions of followers?"

Not exactly. Except that when he threw in the towel, Mr. Marquis said that he wanted to Get Away From It All because his column finally reminded him of a grave 23 inches deep.

Sour Grapes

But then I find I may endure
This ache for all its heavy cost
Of losing you, as I am sure
He'll have to lose what I have lost.
—F. R. G.

The Big Sentimentalist!

Fannie Brice enjoys the "heartbreak" verse that usually tops the column. She was saying that she frequently clips and saves them. "They are so human," said Fannie. "I always wanted to write one based on an idea concerning shawls, comparing the knots in shawls to love. You know, when you make a shawl you stop every now and then and tie a knot, and then I was thinking that even if the shawl was ruined, like a love affair, the knots always remain, just like there are so many things that remain even after love is gone. I know I haven't made myself clear, but somehow I like the idea of comparing the beautiful things in love to a shawl's knots."

To which her husband, Billy Rose, interrupted: "Aw, knots!"

Incidentally

Miss Brice and Bugs Baer were discussing the intelligence of their respective children, and Fannie said: "Isn't it amazing how sophisticated most kiddies are today?"

"That's because of the movies and the radio," replied Baer. "If they had such inventions when we were kids, Fannie, both of us would have been hung before we were fourteen."

Joke

Gordon Kahn's pet quip is the silly about the dude rancher from New York who was looking over his new property in Wyoming and encountered an Indian and his squaw. The Indian was riding a horse and the squaw was waddling alongside burdened with bundles. "Here, here," grumbled the New York gentleman, "why do you let that woman carry all those bundles?"

"Ugh!" grunted the Injun, "those her bundles!"

"Well," countered the buttinsky, "the least you should do is let her ride?"

"No can do," was the indifferent reply, "she no gottem horse."

Merciless Truth

The average Broadway girl is becoming, but none of us know exactly what.

The New York Village

It is true, as someone probably has already observed, that in New York you seldom know your next door neighbor, but New York is, as someone else probably said, only a village after all.

Grena Bennett, the first wife of Richard Bennett, the actor, is the New York American's deputy music critic. At the Metropolitan Opera house the other evening Grena found herself enjoying a chat with the woman in the adjacent seat—who wasn't one of the Stotesburys, Vanderbilts, Astors or Morgans, but Mrs. Richard Bennett 3rd.

Little Wonder

Ed Wynn, the star of Ziegfeld's "Simple Simon," will never play a benefit performance again. He hasn't played one for several seasons and this is why. The founder of a tubercular camp, who runs a benefit for it annually, begged Wynn to appear at the yearly show. "But it is on a Sunday," said Wynn, "and that is my only day with my family at our home in the country." The promoter insisted. "It will be assured of success if you appear and I don't know how we'll get along without you." The star finally gave in. "All right," he agreed, "I'll give up my only day of rest to help charity."

Back stage at the benefit Wynn encountered the promoter's son. "Where's your father?" asked Wynn.

"Oh," said the boy, "he won't be able to come this evening. He can't get away from one of those darned old pinochle games."

CARESSE ⚜ A Complete Novel By RUTH TAYLOR

"Got a summons," said the constable. "Disturbin' the peace. Too much high jinks."

SYNOPSIS

Caresse O'Neill, daughter of the owner of Shady Lawn Inn in the village of Riverton, is jilted by her sweetheart, Ted Branard, son of the town's wealthy banker, on the day of the wedding. Caresse insists on continuing the party which had been arranged in her honor, and telephones Billy, a New York friend, to come down and bring two other friends as escorts for Miriam Nowell and Bess Parker, her best friends. They later go to a nearby roadhouse.

A few weeks later Caresse and friends are riding on a lonely road when the car gives out of gas near the old Morton place, which they believe abandoned. They go to the house, find a lighted lamp and a grand piano, and start dancing. Suddenly the door opens and the owner, Lee Deering, enters, to confront them.

Caresse's friends slip out of the house while she tries to explain their presence to Deering, and Caresse accepts his invitation to muffins and coffee before she returns home.

Deering becomes a boarder at Shady Lawn Inn and his friendship with Caresse develops rapidly. Teddy Branard returns suddenly, and calls on Caresse. She forces him to take her to a local roadhouse as a blow at Ted's father.

The elder Branard promises Ted a new boat if he will forget Caresse, then offers Mrs. O'Neill $50,000 for the inn on condition she leave Riverton. The offer is refused.

As were all affairs at Shady Lawn Inn, Caresse's party was a huge success. It was not an event to which any elders were invited, and everybody danced. Everybody but Lee Deering, who, after dancing once with Caresse, preferred to sit on the side lines and watch and talk to Mrs. O'Neill.

"Lee, in his life, had had so much of dancing. Too much. He had hesitated about coming to the party, but did not want to disappoint Caresse. Once there, he was glad he had come. The affair was so different from those he had known in the city. The effervescence was all there, but there was none of the artificial reasons for gaiety considered necessary on such occasions in town.

"It's quite wonderful to know that youngsters can have a good time without drinks," he told Mrs. O'Neill.

She nodded happily.

"They'll be getting nothing of that in Shady Lawn," she boasted. "Nobody can say a thing about this place."

The party was at its height, with the music doing its rollicking best, and Caresse's friends doing justice to it, when the blow came. The summons to the door might have been an answer to Mrs. O'Neill's last remark to Lee Deering.

"I'll go," offered Deering, when the bell rang.

He was beside Mrs. O'Neill when she opened the front door. A neighbor, Jared Frost, stood there. Jared pulled off his cap and twiddled it uncomfortably.

"Come right in," invited Mrs. O'Neill, hospitably. "You're a little late, Jared—the party's going to break up soon—but I reckon I can rustle you a slice of cake."

He shook his head. Lee Deering noticed his embarrassment before it was apparent to Mrs. O'Neill.

"It—it isn't that, Mrs. O'Neill," said the visitor. "Can't come in. I—I got something for you."

He fumbled in his pocket and brought out a paper. It had a legal look, and Mrs. O'Neill glanced at it curiously. Then, with a start, she recalled that Jared Frost was not only a neighbor. He was a town constable, too.

"For me?" she asked, as she took it. "Now, what in time—"

"Summons," jerked the constable. "Too much high jinks, some of 'em was sayin'. Disturbin' of the peace. Not as I think so, but this here's signed and sworn to by Elviry Lewis—she couldn't wait till mornin'—and she calculates her peace is all shot to hell and gone by the high jinks over here to the inn."

"Well, I never!"

It was all Caresse's mother could say. She took a deep breath. Deering felt it his duty to say something.

"But see here, Mr. Frost," he insisted, "nobody's disturbing any peace. People have a right to have a party in their own home, and this is Mrs. O'Neill's home, even if it is a public inn."

"Can't help that, young fellow. This here summons was give to me, and I got to give it to her. Guess she can fix it up likely. Rotten shame, says I, but there you are! Elviry swore the complaint. I got to serve the summons. No tellin' what a sour old maid'll do."

Mrs. O'Neill was to learn the matter could not be "fixed up" as easily as she thought, or the constable supposed. It was at least necessary for her to appear in the courtroom the next morning. That, to her mind, was humiliation deep and abiding.

After she had hurried her guests home, she stood in the empty room, talking to Caresse and to Teddy Branard. It had not been so easy to shoo Teddy away.

"And to think," she mourned, "that Elviry Lewis could have done such a thing! My soul life seems to be just one thing after another."

She gazed meaningly at Teddy, who was bewildered by the turn of affairs. He had the grace to flush.

Caresse was indignant.

"Wonder if she's forgotten all the dinners you cooked and I carted over to her last fall when she was down with the rheumatism? Or all the odd pieces of cake or chicken that have gone from here to her house?"

"Some folks' memories are pretty short, C'resse," said mother. She spoke to Caresse, but she looked at Teddy. "When it suits their purpose."

For him, Teddy was strangely quiet. He was thinking hard, and the circle of his thoughts wound back to one of his customary breakfast conversations at home.

"Mrs. O'Neill," he burst out suddenly. "C'resse! I'm beginning to see right through a blank wall. I've got an idea. You watch my smoke. I think I can fix this thing."

"Don't see what you can do, Teddy," sighed Mrs. O'Neill. "Not that it's not nice of you to try. But I've heard tell that folks that think they can fix Judge Branscombe is generally out of luck. And if he was to be offered money, it might mix things up still worse. Dearie me, I don't know what we would do, C'resse, if I was to lose my license—lose Shady Lawn."

"I told you to watch me," said Ted, and his lips set hard. "Got to go along now. Something to attend to tonight. You sleep easy. This'll be squashed, or whatever they do to it, tomorrow."

Not till he was gone did it occur either to Mrs. O'Neill or to Caresse that Cyrus Branard might have had a hand in their discomfiture. It came to them both at once. They looked into each other's eyes with a sudden understanding.

"No, I wonder—" began Mrs. O'Neill.

"I don't!" said Caresse, sharply. "I'm sure! The old—the old—Why, nobody else in this town could be so mean, Moms, it begins to look like we might be up against it."

"Mr. Deering said he'd be on hand, if any bail or anything was needed," said mother.

"He's fine!" enthused Caresse. "Wonder why some others can't be like him?"

Twenty minutes later Cyrus Branard's night's rest was disturbed by the young masculine cyclone that descended into his room—a thing unheard of. Teddy did not stop for preliminaries.

"What you mean by that stuff—getting out a summons for Shady Lawn?" he demanded.

"So I did get under your skin, did I?" chuckled his father. "Maybe you'll know enough to keep away from questionable places now. Next time it'll be a raid. Go away! I want to sleep."

"Not till I've said this!" flared Ted. "You may think you've got away with something, but you haven't got me on the run! I've got past your bluffing me. What I've got to say is this: You stop that case in the morning—get it squelched, understand?—or by gad, I'll make you sorry! I'll be in that courtroom myself, and I'll tell the judge and the whole world that it was you, the rich Cyrus Branard, who fixed the thing up, and who's persecuting, instead of prosecuting, the widow O'Neill! I'll spill the works! It'll be a pretty story."

Cyrus Branard lifted himself on an elbow and stared at his son.

"Are you crazy, Ted."

"No! Just getting my senses, at last. You heard what I said! You going to do it?"

"Suppose I deny your story?"

"Your word against mine, and this time mine'll go," declared Ted between set teeth. "You got till daylight to think that over!"

He flung to the door. As he opened it, he stopped to toss back a final defiance.

"I've had enough!" he announced, pressing his advantage. "Get that? Enough! You're through running me—or my friends. You'll do what I say this time or you'll be sorry. And"—he hesitated a moment more and the blood rushed to his face—"and what's more, I'll marry that girl tomorrow!"

He stalked out the door without waiting for an answer and slammed it behind him.

Cyrus Branard groaned with annoyance as he sank back on his pillow.

"By Gad, he sounded as if he meant what he said!"

U. S. CURTAILS SOVIET CREDIT

Russia's Purchases Due to Decrease

WASHINGTON, May 1. (INS)—Soviet Russia, the only important country whose buying from the United States has increased in recent months, will have a difficult task in keeping up the pace the remainder of the year, owing to credit curtailments, commerce officials said today.

Since last October the Soviet has made purchases of more than $98,000,000 from the United States, an increase of 6 per cent over the same period the year before, according to reports of that government. Soviet officials have promised there will be no decrease in orders and that purchases will continue in the same or increased volume, because of the big demand for a wide range of goods, particularly industrial and agricultural machinery in the Russian development program.

Officials here said that curtailments also are being placed in effect against the Soviet in Germany and England. The Soviet, according to the statement here, is seeking five-year terms on their purchases and the maximum terms offered in the United States, Germany and England are from six months to a year.

In natural resources and potential production there probably is no greater country in the world than the vast expanse of the old Russian empire.

Rich Bachelor Falls To Death From Room

TEXAS COTTON LOOKS BETTER

General Rains Remove Worst Hindrance

DALLAS, May 1. (UP)—"General rains over Texas this week broke a spring near-drouth which was becoming serious," The Dallas News will say Friday in its weekly cotton report.

"Northwest Texas will now start cotton planting on schedule and North and East Texas will complete planting on time. Rainfall varied from one to five inches in most areas. Hail did some damage in scattered sections and will necessitate replanting. A deluge in some South Texas counties also did considerable damage and may not warrant planting at this late date in boll weevil sections.

"Cotton is generally in need of warm, sunny weather, nights still being too cool in much of the state. On the whole early planted cotton has made fair progress, with chopping well advanced in central and southern areas and just starting in the north and east.

"Farmers report being well up with field work except in wet soils, where excessive rains fell, and in some bottoms. Top soils now are fairly well supplied with moisture for present needs, but in the absence of abundant subsoil moisture in west central counties and scattered sections of Central Texas well disturbuted rains throughout the season will be needed."

Rotarians to Install Heads

Gifts for Ladies to Be Bought by Men

Installation of new officers of the Rotary club will be held at the annual ladies' night meeting of the club at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the country club. The names of the officers will be announced by the board of directors at the installation ceremony, according to Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, retiring president.

Each Rotary member will bring a gift connected with his line of business. The gifts will be put into a common lot and each woman at the program will receive one. Other numbers will make up a surprise program following the banquet. After the program a dance is to be held.

Retiring officers are Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, president; A. E. Kelley, vice president; Tom Smock, secretary; Wiley Robertson, treasurer; A. M. Biedenharn, sergeant-at-arms; Rev. N. F. Grafton, chaplain.

May Day Demonstrations Marked By Fiery Speeches and No Trouble

(By United Press)

May day, appropriated by Communists and radicals of all shades as their day for expressing discontent with the world as it is, passed peaceably Thursday.

There were demonstrations all over the world, with the usual fiery speeches and banners denouncing those in power. There was almost no violence. Arrests altogether numbered around 500, but there were millions of demonstrants, and thousands of gatherings.

New York's demonstration was the largest in America. It was an unusual one. At noon war veterans held a patriotic demonstration at Union Square, traditionally the "Red" steam-letting sanctuary. Three hours later Communists met there, spoke, and dispersed in good temper.

Arrests in the United States numbered perhaps 150. Of these 56 were in greater New York.

But one American demonstration was accompanied by disorder worthy of the name—at Akron, Ohio. There 10 Communists, including two girls, were arrested for breaking a police line so they might distribute handbills at a factory.

There were demonstrations in Canada, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. Berlin's was the largest in any country—more than 500,000 Communists concentrating at the Lustgarten. There was no violence there and none all day except when Fascists attacked a Socialist parade.

TORNADOES HIT TWO DISTRICTS

Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri Areas Ravaged

nado today. All means of communication failed and airplanes were sent from here to survey the territory. The storm was reported moving in a northeasterly direction toward Salix, Iowa.

The tornado crossed the Missouri river five miles northwest of Salix, Iowa, and levelled nearly every tree in a timber tract near there.

It appeared to be raging over a 100-yard wide stretch and to be dipping toward the earth every quarter mile.

The storm struck the farm of Buford Buel, where it destroyed all the buildings except the residence and a hen house. Five horses were killed and two automobile trucks destroyed. All members of the family escaped injury as they sought safety in a cellar.

The tornado then struck the Martin Larson farm a quarter mile north. Several buildings were razed there and Mrs. Larson received a scalp wound when two bricks fell on her as she and her husband sought safety in the storm cellar.

Several buildings were damaged considerably at the farm home of Frank Reed.

The section reported struck is in the northeastern corner of Nebraska, about 75 miles north of Omaha and about 20 miles southwest of Sioux City. Walthill was the biggest of the six towns when the last census was taken. The populations as shown by that census follow: Walthill, 1,145; Pender, 992; Bancroft, 673; Winnebago, 645; Homer, 491; Jackson, 274.

The towns are in a rich farming section devoted to a large extent to truck farming for the nearby metropolitan areas. The area reported stricken includes parts of Thurston, Dakota, and Cuming counties, as well as the Winnebago Indian reservation.

WISCONSIN STORM

WESTBY, Wis., May 1. (AP)—Archer Funk, 9, was killed and property damage estimated at $100,000 was done by a tornado that struck here at 8:10 tonight. Two other persons were injured.

FIVE KILLED IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 1. (AP)—Five persons were killed in Minnesota and one in North Dakota during electrical and rainstorms today.

FOUR PERSONS DEAD IN KANSAS-MISSOURI

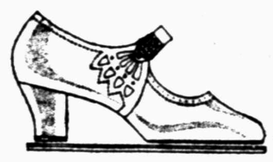

KANSAS CITY, May 1. (AP)—Four persons were killed and more than a score injured early tonight by tornadoes which also destroyed farm homes in northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri.

The dead: Lawrence Kern, 43, farmer, near Kickapoo, Kan.; John Rice, Norbone, Mo.; T. C. Rice, father of John Rice, Norborne, Mo.; Charles Storms, Norborne, Mo.

COURT DENIES WHITHAM PLEA

Clara Shultz' Property Held Homestead

A case originating in Wichita county more than three years ago and containing unusual legal questions which have held it in the courts of the state since that time was finally settled Thursday when the supreme court affirmed the original judgment of the 89th district court here in favor of Miss Clara Shultz against L. E. Whitham and company and reversed the judgment of the court of civil appeals, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News.

The case involved dispute over the superiority of vendor's and mechanic's liens on property owned by Miss Shultz. In the trial here the question arose as to whether there was a homestead on the property, attorneys for the defendant contending the wife of the man occupying the house had never lived in the home. Judge Martin, however, ruled the place was a homestead, and Miss Shultz' vendor's lien was adjudged superior to the mechanic's lien of the cement concern.

The case was carried to the court of civil appeals, where the judgment of the district court was reversed. That action was followed by taking the case before the supreme court, which reversed the appeals court judgment Thursday and affirmed the original judgment in favor of Miss Shultz. Guy Rogers, Wichita Falls attorney, represented Miss Shultz.

Baptist Woman's Missionary Union Opens Annual Conference at Electra

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—Approximately 750 members and guests attended the first night session of the 11th district Baptist Woman's Missionary Union which opened its 11th annual conference here Thursday. Out-of-town delegates numbered 75 adults and 64 children.

The night session was devoted to a study of young people's work, with Mrs. F. J. Marcell, Olney, district young people's leader, presiding. The meeting was opened with devotionals led by Miss Laura Pul, Chinese girl student at Baylor college. Mrs. Marcell gave a report on young people's activities.

Banners were awarded to three Burkburnett organizations adjudged to have come up to the standard during the year. They included the Royal Ambassadors, Young Woman's auxiliary, and the Sunbeam class. The attendance banner went to the Wichita-Archer association.

Miss Ellen Mae Ellis, Olney, talked on "Young Women's Auxiliary Ideals"; Miss Alline Music, Burkburnett, discussed girls auxiliary work, and Mrs. W. T. Turner told of the accomplisments of the main W. M. U. group.

Miss Helen Denham, Electra, and Miss Virginia Smith entertained with piano solos.

The conference was convened at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, the first meeting centering in outlines of all W. M. U. activities.

HOME DESTROYED

The home of C. L. Anderson, 1416 Sibley street, was destroyed by fire at 2:15 o'clock Thursday morning. The damage was estimated at $2,500 by firemen. The house was enveloped in flames when fire trucks reached the house in answer to a pulled fire box. Their efforts to put out the blaze were futile.

Would you like to try this doctor's laxative free of charge?

Every family has occasional need of a laxative, but it should be a family laxative. One that can't form a habit, but can be taken as often as needed. When the breath is bad or tongue is coated. Or appetite fails. Only a doctor knows the right ingredients. Dr. Caldwell discovered the right mixture years ago. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin combines harmless herbs and pure senna. It starts muscular action and soon corrects constipation. Gently, but surely, it relieves a bilious or sluggish condition. It is mild. Delicious. Effective. All druggists keep this famous prescription ready, in big bottles. Or write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle postpaid.

Funeral Services Today For John D. Stephens

Funeral services for John D. Stephens, 49, 1652 Pearl street, who died in Buffalo, N. Y., Monday after undergoing an operation, will be held from the Highland Heights Christian church at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The body arrived here at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor will officiate. Interment will be in the Altus, Okla. cemetery, Saturday.

Mr. Stephens was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and building superintendent for the Grennan bakeries. He is survived by his wife and a brother, Herbert Stephens of California.

Pallbearers will be P. B. Curb, J. H. Crouch, J. S. Blair, R. T. Kato, Jess Carr and C. H. Reid.

The body is in charge of the Hines mortuary.

Escaped Convict Held By Wichita Police

One of two suspects, arrested by police Wednesday afternoon, was identified as Austin Green, who escaped from the Clemens State farm in December, 1927.

He had been sentenced from Fort Worth to serve from five to 15 years for robbery with firearms, in 1927. He is being held here for officials from Huntsville. He was arrested with a companian for questioning in recent burgiaries in this city.

PRISONER RETURNED

Joe Chambliss, indicted by the last grand jury for the 30th district court on a charge of wife desertion, was brought to Wichita Falls late Thursday evening from Lefors, Texas, near Shamrock, where he was arrested by H. L. White, deputy sheriff. Mr. White left Wichita Falls with a warrant for Chambless Wednesday. The accused man was lodged in the county jail.

Evelyn Brent tells how to Attract . .

EVELYN BRENT, irresistibly lovely star, in the bathroom designed by a prominent New York artist and built for her in Hollywood. At home, as in her dressing room on location, she cares for her skin regularly with Lux Toilet Soap's gentle lather.

"An exquisite complexion, somehow, is always alluring. It attracts and holds attention as nothing else will. So naturally, when girls write to ask me the secret of being attractive, I'd like to say to every one: 'Keep your skin really lovely—smooth and flawless. This is all-important to any girl. And you can do it just the way we screen stars do.'"

Evelyn Brent

MARGARET LIVINGSTON, Columbia star: "Keeps my skin smooth."

"A GIRL may be appealing for ever so many reasons," says Evelyn Brent, the star whose own magnetism has proved so irresistible on the screen. "But the most compelling charm of all is smooth, soft skin.

"An exquisite complexion, somehow, is always alluring. It attracts and holds attention as nothing else will.

"Long ago the directors in Hollywood found out that no girl could hope to win out on the screen unless she has the kind of skin that makes you fairly gasp with admiration. The close-ups, you know, are taken under glaring lights that would show up mercilessly even a tiny blemish.

AGNES AYRES, Columbia star: "It's wonderful soap."

"And now that the talkies are here, there are more close-ups to face than ever, so you may be sure we all take mighty good care of our skin!"

To Keep Skin Baby-Smooth

"I can't remember who began it," this charming star goes on, "but now almost every girl in Hollywood uses the same method I do—regular care with Lux Toilet Soap. We find it most refreshing.

"Indeed it is Hollywood's favorite soap. So naturally when girls write to ask me the secret of being attractive, I'd like to say to every one: 'Keep your skin really lovely—smooth and flawless. This is all-important to any girl. And you can do it just the way we screen stars do.'"

LILA LEE, charming star: "I always use Lux Toilet Soap to guard my skin."

Certainly the beauty of Evelyn Brent's own skin is convincing! And did you ever see a more tempting complexion than Lila Lee's? She uses Lux Toilet Soap. And so does Agnes Ayres. Margaret Livingston and Dorothy Revier, too, and hundreds of others.

Nine out of Ten Lovely Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in Europe

Of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap. It has been made the official soap in all the studios.

On Broadway the stage stars are equally devoted to it. At their request it is kept in the dressing rooms of 71 of the 74 legitimate New York theaters!

DOROTHY REVIER, Columbia star: "Lathers so generously."

And even in the European capitals the screen stars, like their sisters in Hollywood, are now using it!

You will be delighted with Lux Toilet Soap, too. With the fresh smoothness it gives your skin, with its fragrant, generous lather. Order several cakes—today.

Salsify or Oyster Plant

Salsify goes under so many aliases that it might almost be used as a villain for a detective story. It is known as oyster plant, salsify, vegetable oyster and John-go-to-bed-at-noon. However, salsify under any other name tastes as good. The popular name of "oyster plant" is derived from the taste somewhat resembling oysters when this vegetable is cut up very fine, cooked and seasoned with butter and cream. However, in food composition it is very different from the oyster.

Salsify resembles in appearance a long white carrot and, like carrots and turnips, may be classed as a non-starchy vegetable if used when young before the starch has time to fully develop. Two kinds of salsify are known here, the white and the black. The white has a faint yellow tint to the skin and is white inside, while the black has black skin. Some epicures claim that the black has a superior flavor, but each one makes a good vegetable. Black salsify contains a quantity of inulin instead of starch. For this reason it is sometimes prescribed for diabetics. When put into the stomach inulin turns into sugar from the action of the hydrochloric acid. This vegetable may be used either boiled or raw in salad. In preparing it, wash well but do not scrape. Scraping causes the flesh to discolor quickly and also removes some of the vitamins and mineral salts which lie directly under the skin. Carefully remove any dark spots as they may cause a strong flavor after cooking.

The principal minerals in this vegetable are iron, potash, lime and magnesium. The leaves, if very young and tender, may be chopped and combined with other greens in a salad. Here are some recipes for salsify:

ESCALLOPED SALSIFY. Cook until soft in boiling water. Remove the skins and cut into slices. Add alternate layers of salsify and Melba toast crumbs until the dish is filled. Add some milk or cream to moisten and bake in a hot oven until brown.

STEWED SALSIFY. Boil the salsify, peel, chop into small pieces, add some butter and milk and reheat.

SALSIFY PATTIES. Boil and salsify roots, cut into small dice and mix while hot with a small amount of butter. Cool and place on shredded lettuce. Add the tender chopped hearts of the tops of the salsify.

SALSIFY-PARSLEY SALAD. Cook and slice the salsify, add some chopped parsley and olive oil. Allow to stand for at least an hour and serve in a heap on top of shredded lettuce.

STEWED SALSIFY. Boil and peel the salsify, then mash. Add one beaten egg and some melba toast crumbs. Form into flat cakes and brown in the oven.

MOTH OYSTER SOUP. Parboil, peel and slice some salsify roots. Add an equal amount of canned corn and some finely chopped celery. Put in a pan with equal parts of milk and water. Add two tablespoons of butter. Simmer very slowly until the celery is tender.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Constriction of Esophagus)

Question—K. L. Writes: "Every time I swallow a large particle of food my throat seems to close up and I have difficulty in swallowing for a long time. What do you think could cause this?"

Answer—You probably have a stricture of the esophagus. This may be caused by a nervous disorder, by tumors, or by toxic irritation. Sometimes the lining of the esophagus is very sensitive, especially if it is inflamed, and any rough or large particle of food might cause it to become constricted. Only a careful examination would reveal what is the exact cause in your case.

Seeds in Appendix?

Question—R. M. Writes: "I am fond of swallowing the seeds of raisins, grapes and figs. Somebody told me this would cause appendicitis. Do you think it is likely to?"

Answer—Seeds are very rarely found in inflamed appendices. Appendicitis usually results from an inflammation which spreads from the colon. Sometimes large quantities of gas and a sluggishness of the colon may permit small hardened particles of fecal matter to be forced into the appendix. These sometimes resembles seeds in appearance.

Red Tongue

Question—Mrs. R. L. K. writes: "My tongue is a bright red color, and my stomach seems to be continually upset. Almost everything I eat causes pain. I always thought that when the stomach was upset the tongue was coated. Why isn't this true with me?"

Answer—Sometimes people who have stomach ulcers have very red tongues. I would advise you to have an x-ray examination of the stomach, and if you find you have stomach ulcers you should use a milk diet.

Americans Talk With Sig. Marconi

NEW YORK, May 1. (INS)—Signor Marconi, "father of radio," who caused astonishment 20 years ago by sending a radio message from Ireland to Newfoundland, made the world sit up and take notice again today. From his yacht Electra, moored 34 miles from Rome, Marconi last night made the longest ship-to-shore radio call on record, speaking to New York over a distance of 4,500 miles.

He used a radio-phone of his own making.

M. H. Aylesworth of the National Broadcasting company and David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, both conversed with the Italian inventor and said his voice was heard with singular clarity.

BUFFS COLLECT 18 HITS TO WIN SECOND FROM SPUDDERS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

If there ever was a more loyal baseball patron than Mr. J. A. Clymer of Waurika, Okla., this department wants to meet him. Last winter Mr. Clymer purchased a radio, because he wanted to listen to the Spudder ball games. Then the league ruling took this pleasure from him. But did he cry? Absolutely not. He saw why the ruling was made, and though he now has a radio on his hands from which he gets little entertainment, he has no harsh words for the league.

Mr. Clymer's viewpoint is couched in a letter addressed to this department. His letter follows:

The Rambler's Corner:

After reading over your Corner today I am inclined to do just what I and quite a few others are doing, worrying, tormenting and otherwise about this broadcasting of baseball games. I went to the trouble and expense last winter to install a perfectly good radio, thinking I could get to hear the gong ring every time a Spudder came to bat. But no. They said nix. Therefore, my radio is idle, and just lately the radio fans here quit asking why. Isn't there any game today?

Now, Mr. Rambler, I'm not just what you would call a guy that wants something for nothing. I don't like to see any poor fellow like Mr. Huff invest his money in something then not get interest on his investment. Especially when he (Mr. Huff) has something the people want. So, quoting from a little epistle I found in a sport column (and right here, let me say if you don't want me to read something don't put it in the sports column. I read them all). Here's the article from a Dallas paper. On second thought I'll just send you the clipping. I value it very highly, Mr. Rambler, so if you don't feel inclined to publish it word for word in your Corner, just mail it back to me, please. At your own expense, of course. It's my sentiments, to a word. It's the Texas league's ball games, but give them to a Wah Wah store and let him and the radio sell them? No. No. It's not good business. Besides, it's not fair. I'll pay for my game, 'cause I know, just like you said, Carl and Spider and all the boys like their T-bones and taters. I've been a Spudder rooter here for six years. Loyal, too. When the boys went down, I went with 'em. I'm glad to know that Pete and Rabbit and all the boys that were here last year are doing so well. I look 'em up once a week through the Sporting News.

Now I'm not so particular that you put what I've said in print, but I do want you to put this little clipping in, and thanks a lot. I've not been able to attend any games so far this season, but I will. I hear lots of fellows say they won't go because there isn't any broadcast. I do believe its hurting the game, so many don't know the ball season is on yet. Here's luck to the Spudders. Regards to you.

J. A. Clymer, Waurika, Okla.

The sentiments Mr. Clymer found in the Dallas newspaper, and which he affirmed were his own, were exactly the same sentiments we expressed in this department Wednesday morning, and, as luck would have it, the sentiments were couched in our very words. The sentiments, to-wit, that the clamor for broadcasting of games has been raised principally by those seeking something for nothing. The article Mr. Clymer referred to is too long to publish in full today, but to give our readers the viewpoint of a man so loyal to baseball as Mr. Clymer, we will quote part of it. The article is a fan-letter addressed to "Uncle Jake," of the Dallas Journal. The fan suggested that a solution of the broadcast problem would be for the ranters to "put your money where your mouth is."

He continues: "Now, these fans that have been writing you and spending their money wiring you their howls for broadcasts of the games are impelled by the desire to get something for nothing, or, as suggested in your paper, they are using the play-by-play broadcasts as a business stimulator, without paying the freight. I, too, would like to sit in an easy chair at home, light my pipe, and sit back and enjoy the game, but I am willing to help carry the freight. All fair-minded fans should be."

Yes, Mr. Clymer, we will return your clipping "at our expense," and we hope there are a whole lot more people in Oklahoma as loyal to the Spudders in particular and baseball in general as you are.

Vernon Draws Bye In Tennis Tourney

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—The 20th annual tournament of the University of Texas Interscholastic league got under way here this afternoon with the playing of the preliminary rounds of the boys' tennis singles and doubles.

Five teams, Amarillo, Main avenue of San Antonio, Abilene, Central High of Fort Worth, and Sherman won out in the first round of the singles. Vernon, Brady and Palestine, who drew byes, are also qualified for the second round which will start tomorrow.

Edna, Franklin and Oak Cliff won their matches in the second round of the doubles, with Abilene and Sherman scheduled to play the final match of this round tomorrow.

In the singles matches, Pearce of Amarillo defeated Smalley of Yorktown, 7-5, 6-4; Gwinn of Main avenue defeated Machalas of San Jacinto High, Houston, 6-3, 6-1; Brady of Abilene beat Starnes of Rankin, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2; W. Hess of Fort Worth Central downed McCleary of Waco 6-2, 6-2 and Moody of Sherman defeated Young of Beeville, 8-6, 6-2.

In the second round doubles, Spence and Drushell of Edna trimmed Anderson and Gray of Austin, 6-4 and 6-1; Randell and Laddie Nickelson of Franklin beat Alter and Pease of Main Avenue, 6-2, 6-3; Frazier and Truelson of Oak Cliff, Dallas, defeated Johnson and Langham of Palestine 7-5, 6-3.

BISON CREW GETS 14 RUNS

Spudders Tally Only 5 but Stage Flashy Plays

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Joe Schultz' Buffs, who trained here Wednesday by getting 17 hits off Steengrafe and Florrid, did a little better Thursday, getting 18 hits off Caldwell and Vincent, and further showed the results of their Wednesday workout by making no errors (they made one Wednesday) while the Spudders made seven bungles as compared to six credited to them in the opening game of the series.

And, to keep the comparison going, the Buffs made one more score Thursday than they did Wednesday, while the Spudders made one less.

All this boiled down into a sentence reads this way: Houston 14, Wichita Falls 5.

Spider Steals Home

Even if Houston did win the game, the Spudders provided the sensations. Spider Levey stole home from third in the third inning, and the crowd went wild. It did likewise when Crouch hit a homer in the fourth with Burns and Bettencourt on the bases. The other Spudder run was scored by Caldwell in the third, who singled, went to third on Levey's base hit, and scored on Storti's infield out.

The Buffs started the scoring in the third, when four singles and Miskin's sacrifice brought Hock and Lingrel in. They scored two more in the fourth on two hits and four Spudder errors, and then lagged behind at the end of the frame when Crouch hit his productive homer.

They came out of it in the sixth, however, and started on a tallying spree that lasted through the eighth, six runs being bunched off Vincent in the latter frame. Littlejohn was the mound hero of the joust, the dapper little hurler allowing not a single hit in the six innings he toiled. Lingrel started for the Buffs, but Crouch's homer drove him from the box.

The swatting that assured Houston of the victory started in the sixth. Hunt flied out to Bettencourt. Morrow walked. Littlejohn flied out to Bettencourt. Hock doubled to center, scoring Morrow, and took third on the throw in. Miskin doubled to center, scoring Hock. Holm was safe at first on Levey's bad throw from first, Mishkin scoring on the error. Kaufmann forced Holm at second, Levey to Storti.

Selph Makes Tally

In the seventh, Selph got himself a double to right and went to third when Felix sacrificed, pitcher to first. Hunt singled to center scoring Selph. Morrow flied to center and Littlejohn to right, closing the inning.

Vincent was sent to the mound when the eighth opened. The sad story started when Hock strolled. Mishkin singled to right, sending Hock to third. Holm singled to right, scoring Hock and sending Mishkin to second. Mishkin and Holm advanced a base each on Crouch's bad throw to Levey in an effort to catch Holm out stealing. Kaufmann strolled, filling the bases. Mishkin was thrown out at the plate, Storti to Crouch, when Selph hit to the infield. Holm took third and Kaufmann second on the play. Felix walked, forcing Holm in, Kaufmann taking third and Selph second. Hunt singled to center, scoring Kaufmann and Selph and sending Felix to third. Morrow popped to Allday. Littlejohn singled to right, scoring Felix and Hunt. Hock grounded out, pitcher to first, on his second trip to the plate in the inning, and the period ended.

Hal Wiltse is due to pitch today against the Buffs in the final game of the series.

BLUES VICTORS IN POLO GAME

Trophies Offered Winners In Coming Games

The Blues won a 7 to 4 victory from the Whites in a practice polo game Thursday afternoon on Clinarowe field. Starting Sunday afternoon, three intra-squad games will be played for a set of silver trophies to be presented by Charles Featherston and Jarrel Gose. Each player of the team winning two of the three games will receive a loving cup. Dates for the other two games after Sunday will be set later.

Horrace Robbins scored five of the seven goals for his team Thursday afternoon. The Blues took the lead early in the first chukker when Robbins scored the first goal. Charles Featherston scored for his team during the chukker, but Robbins bagged one at the finish to keep the lead. Feathertson tied the score again in the second. The fifth chukker ended with the score tied at 3 to 3. The Blues knocked four goals in the last three chukkers to one for the Whites, winning the game. Others who scored were Jarrel Gose, two for the Blues; Hubert Stringer, one for the Whites; and Ernest Fain, one for the Whites.

BRAVES DOWN PIRATES, 4-3

Water Berger's Hitting Decides Contest

PITTSBURGH, May 1. (AP)—The Boston Braves, with their ex-Pittsburgh manager, Bill McKechnie, opened the first East-West series in the National league today by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3. The defeat drove the Pirates from the league leadership.

The contest was decided by the hitting of Walter Berger after Harry Seibold of Boston and Larry French of Pittsburgh fought a pitching battle for six innings. Berger hit successive home runs over the left field wall in the seventh and eighth innings. Neun hit a homer right after Berger's first.

The Pirate put together two hits for a run in the first inning and then did not touch Seibold until the eighth when they bunched four more blows for two runs. Score:

Athletics Defeat Tigers, 19 to 2

PHILADEPHIA, May 1. (AP)—The Athletics put on their own May day riot at Shibe park, today, attacking the Detroit Tigers, in six of their eight innings for a 19 to 2 victory. The champions greeted the first invaders from the West with five home runs, three doubles and two triples in their total of 18 hits.

Max Bishop opened a five-run attack on Vic Sorrell with a homer and hit another in the fourth. Jimmy Foxx hit two baggers and Al Simmons one.

Charles Sullivan, Joe Samuels and Phil Page followed Sorrell on the mound, Samuels producing Philadelphia's only scoreless innings in the sixth and seventh. They found him for eight runs in the eighth.

Bob Grove, Athletic southpaw ace, held the Tigers to seven hits and struck out nine.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 1. (AP)—Early advances on continued covering by near month shorts were followed by reactions in cotton today. May after selling up to 16.59, or 23 points net higher, reacted to 16.38 under realizing, while the new October sold off from 14.90 to 14.66 and closed at that figure. May closed at 16.49 or 11 points up from the lowest and 13 points net higher, with the general market closing steady net 13 points higher to 18 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 11 points, with the advance soon extending to 16.71 for July or 22 points net higher, while new December sold up to 15.03 during the early trading or about 13 points above yesterday's closing quotations. The demand tapered off and there were reactions during the early afternoon which carried July off to 16.47, or 2 points net lower, and new December to 14.77, making a net decline of 13 points.

Near months showed rallies of 11 to 13 points at the close on renewed covering. The closing quotations for May was 11 points under July and 183 under the new October.

Exports today 5,850 bales. Making 6,263,577 so far this season. Port receipts 5,964. U. S. port stocks 1,657,650.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 1. (AP)—Trading in cotton was only moderately active today and prices were erratic and irregular.

After a slight early reaction, prices advanced on a renewal of covering by spot interests who bought old crop months which advanced 19 to 21 points. New crop months were easy. After this demand was satisfied prices lost 22 to 24 points from the highs.

July after advancing to 16.33 declined to 16.15 and closed at 16.25 or 13 points net higher. The general market closed steady net 14 points up to 17 down.

Liverpool was unfavorable but first trades here showed gains of 2 to 10 points. The market eased most of the afternoon and October made a new low at 14.65 down 27 points from the highs. There was a rally of 15 to 18 points from the lows on covering, at the end old crop months showing net gains of 13 to 14 points and new crops net losses of 9 to 17 points.

Stock Market Cracks as Heavy Liquidation Follows Steel Drop

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 1. (US)—Continued weakness of Steel entirely offset measures to further ease money conditions and caused a wide open break in the stock market today. As the decline progressed the bad earnings statements of railroads for the first quarter and the poor showing of many industrials in the same period was emphasized and induced fairly heavy liquidation.

Steel finished 5¼ points lower, while American Telephone lost 3⅝, General Electric 2⅛, Bethlehem Steel 1⅞, Radio 1⅞, Radio Keith 2⅝, Westinghouse 2⅛, Vanadium 6⅞, International Telephone 3⅜, Union Carbide 4¼, American Can 4¼, Standard 6, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 2¼, Alleghany Corporation 2⅜, Erie 3½, Canadian Pacific 2¼, Consolidated Gas 5⅛, United Corporation 3⅜, American Foreign Power 2⅞, Public Service 2¼, United Gas Improvement 2, and United Aircraft 3⅞.

Call money was held at 4 per cent throughout. Turnover increased to the 4,633,000 share level.

That Bank of England rate reduction may not have been a surprise to Washington nor the corner of Broad and Wall but it was to most speculators and brokers. London cables indicated that few in the banking and brokerage worlds there expected it right away. The fact that the international bank directors were meeting to act on reparations financing strengthened belief that the lower rate in London and Paris was adopted entirely to help such financing. That the rate here was cut means little at this time. Money market conditions are such that the action is warranted. Eventually it means inflation—both in business and the stock market—and the stock market probably will show the first effects. The banking powers have such control over the market now, however, that they will prevent any possibility of it competing with the bond market while the reparations financing is being carried out.

All the banking powers would have had to do to cause good rally in the market following the Bank of England news would have been to mark Steel up. They can do this at any time but obviously have no intention of doing so at the moment. It is true that a good stock market would further help business recovery but then the recovery in business can be postponed but the reparations financing, according to the frank admission of some bankers, has been delayed too long. Helping out the concentrated bearish operation in Steel is the continued reports of price cutting and the failure of leaders of the Steel industry to make a truthful statement as to price policy. While they talk prosperity the Steel reviews tell of their shading prices.

Railroad earnings and the other poor results of the first quarter naturally were emphasized by the triumphant bears. There was nothing new in any of the reports however except the fact that the standing policy of powerful bankers create the market disturbance that was bound to have some influence on business sentiment throughout the country. Montgomery Ward sales gain for April was one piece of good news. Like reports of other retail organizations it reflects the betterment early in the month that resulted from improved sentiment engendered by the strong stock market. Warner Brothers bulls were forecasting a record breaking quarter. There was good absorption of the Oils also as the Pennsylvania crude price cut was regarded as a local development. Pennsylvania output is comparatively small and price changes there no longer affect other districts. California price advance is expected soon.

Everyone now talks of how the bond market has been built up for the reparation financing. A year ago this column warned of how the bond market would have to be built—and competition of the stock market with the bond market wiped out—before such financing could be carried out. At that time it was stated that stock market history showed the banking powers always won. The stock market now tells their victory. The federal reserve statements show just how unnecessary most of the manipulation of money and credit of the last several months has been from a strictly domestic viewpoint. One item alone, "loans for the account of others," increased $61,000,000 during the week. In other words there is so much money around that some people and some institutions have $61,000,000 they put to work at from 3 to 3½ per cent. That shows nothing wrong with credit but a drastic lack of confidence.

Sterling and other exchanges remained irregular in quiet trading. Cotton benefited further from short covering coincident with receipt of bullish weather advices. Wheat and other grains continued to slump under professional pressure.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 1. (AP) (U.S.D.A.) Light to moderate supplies of cattle around the 11-market circuit served to stimulate demand for the better grades of fed steers with a few markets reporting a moderate advance. Other killing classes steady. Chicago realized $14.00 on 1200-pound steers and $13.85 on 974-pound yearlings. South Texas steers on the Kansas City market ranged downward from $9.25. Cutter flesh cashed on country account at $7.00. Receipts 18,700, as compared with 26,227 last Thursday and 24,916 the corresponding day a year ago.

Fat lambs were strong to unevenly higher with fed lambs at a few markets advancing 50c and more. Choice fed wooled lambs in Chicago $10.75. At several of the river markets fed wooled offerings made $10.50. The supply approximated 52,000, a decrease of 8,500 from a week ago but 10,000 heavier than the same day last year.

Hog receipts 66,900 against 77,055 a week ago and 62,242 a year ago. Trade was fairly active at steady to 15c higher. The day's extreme top of $10.20 was paid both at Chicago and St. Louis.

Dealers quoted as follows, basis, delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 91@92c; No. 2 white delivered 93@94c; No. 2 yellow 94@95c; No. 3 white oats 51@51½c; add one cent to white oats for delivery to Texas group three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 1. (AP)—Crowded conditions of grain elevator storage space resulted today in sharp breaks in prices, May delivery of wheat outdoing any low record this season.

The trumble in values followed announcement that railroad track deliveries of grain in Chicago would hereafter be valid under an emergency ruling, and that warehouse receipts would be unnecessary. In this connection, reports were current that huge holdings of wheat congesting elevators here were here likely to be loaded out into railroad cars and offered in settlement of May delivery contracts.

After collapsing to within ¾c of $1 a bushel for May contracts, the wheat market rallied somewhat and closed unsettled at exactly yesterday's finish to ⅝c off. Corn closed unchanged 1c down, with oats varying from ½c decline to ⅝c advance, and provisions showing 2c to 10c gain.

Contributing to acute weakness which developed at one stage in wheat values today were first of the month deliveries of much more than usual magnitude. Before trading had ended, the total being 5,362,000 bushels! The aggregate for all the leading markets, including Chicago, was 10,000,000 bushels.

Corn as well as wheat showed an upward trend at first but tumbled badly later after announcement that track deliveries of corn and all grain including wheat would be permitted on May contracts. Oats were unsettled by the action of other cereals and by narrowing of the May-July spread in oats prices.

Provisions rose on account of upturns in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 99¼c@$1.03¼. July $1.02⅝@1.02¾. $1.05⅞@1.06; Sept. $1.06⅞@1.09⅛@1.09⅛. Dec. $1.11½@1.14¼. Corn, May, 78⅞@80⅜c. July 90⅛@80⅞c. Sept. 82⅝c. 84⅛c@84½c; Dec. 76⅞@78⅞c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 1. (US)—Traders were less bearish after the break in wheat prices today. Reports of better export demand and Winnipeg's independent attitude made the short side less attractive.

Commission houses mainly favor a trading attitude, cautioning against the short side feeling that most of the bearishness has been discounted. However, there is little expression of expectation for any strong advances.

Traders and commission houses have been friendly to corn for some time, but so far there has been nothing in the situation to stimulate aggressive activity on the buying side. The ease with which the market becomes oversold is dampening bear enthusiasm.

A membership on the Chicago board of trade sold today at $17,500 net to the buyer, an advance of $1,000 over the last previous sale. William P. Rowley, with Daniel F. Rice & Co., Chicago, was the purchaser.

E. H. Miller of James E. Bennett & Co., estimates winter wheat condition at 76.9 indicating a production of 540,000,000 bushels, and placing abandonment to May 1 at 9.7 per cent of the acreage.

LOANS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York federal reserve member banks for the week ending April 30 were announced by the federal reserve board today as $4,274,000,000 representing an increase of $57,000,000 as compared to the preceding week.

NEWS of the FIELD

PERKINS & CULLUM

Perkins & Cullum No. 1 Campbell Banking company 150 feet south and east of the northwest corner of block 13, S. A. Ranch subdivision in southwest Archer county is drilling at 700 feet.

BRIDWELL OIL COMPLETION

The Bridwell Oil company No. 1 R. W. Rails, located in section 2419, T. E. & L. survey, west of the Swastika pool, southwest Archer county, is swabbing at the rate of 200 barrels from the sand at 1366-74 feet.

EAST OF GRAHAM

Panhandle Refining company is drilling at 1100 feet on its No. 1 Morrison test located in the Hammond survey, abstract 1320, in the Graham area of south Young county. The test is also a short distance southwest of the Nash-Windfohr producer.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

R. A. Smith of Dallas, representing the Mid-Continent Oil Directory, is here for a few weeks in the interest of his publication.

NORTH ARCHER COUNTY

Arkansas Fuel Oil company No. 2 L. F. Wilson, located in the southwest corner of northwest quarter of northeast quarter of section 103, A. T. N. C. L. survey in north Archer county, set and cemented casing on the oil sand encountered at 1379 to 1380 feet.

PANDEM OIL CORPORATION

The Pandem Oil corporation No. D-1 L. L. Hudson, located in the east 50 of the north 100 acres of block 83, Harris subdivision, is drilling at 1347 feet and apparently missed the pay in that sector.

Deepest Field Has Big Gas Output

The group No. 1 Oil corporation (Texon Oil and Land company)—No. 2-B University, located about a quarter of a mile north of the deep discovery well in the Big Lake field, in Reagan county, West Texas, started flowing while drilling at 8,131 feet. It made 200 barrels of oil daily through an open hole and also made 14,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The Signal Oil and Gas company, through its subsidiary, the Signal Gasoline company of Texas has the gas contract on this well as well as on approximately 1,000 acres of the field.

The No. 1-B University, known as the world's deepest producer, started to flow in December, 1928, from a depth of 8,525 feet and is now producing approximately 2,900 barrels of oil and 27,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. It has been estimated that from this one well alone, more than 7,000,000 gallons of casinghead gasoline was recovered during 1929.

A third well on this property, headed for the deep sand, is now drilling below 6,000 feet. Should a similar production be obtained from this well, the Signal should, within the next few months, more than double its gasoline production in the field.

REFINED OILS STOCKS CLIMB

Bad Weather Cuts Down Consumption

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., May 1.—Although Mid-Continent refiners cut their crude runs 2,157 barels a day, and made less gasoline, stocks increased, due to a decline in shipments. Bad weather in the major consuming areas is blamed for the condition.

Crude oil runs averaged 386,660 barrels a day, and other oils amounted to 18,649 barrels a day, a loss of 6,583 barels a day. By states the crude oil runs:

Crude oil runs (in barrels):

Area—	Past Wk.	Prev. Wk.
Oklahoma	124,949	131,224
Kansas	76,815	77,121
North Texas	73,652	74,193
West Texas	46,412	44,973
Louisiana-Arkansas	64,844	61,008

Gasoline production amounted to 53,582,000 gallons, as compared to 54,149,000 gallons the week previous; shipments totaled 46,995,000 gallons as compared to 59,299,000 gallons the week before, and stocks therefore totalled 142,560,000 gallons, an increase of 6,687,000 gallons.

Output of kerosene amounted to 7,955,000 gallons against 7,249,000 gallons the week before; shipments totalled 6,551,000 gallons compared to 6,092,000 gallons the week before, and stocks increased 1,404,000 gallons totaling 19,690,000 gallons.

CHILD HEALTH DAY OBSERVED

Programs in Schools Feature Activities Here

Presentation of elaborately prepared programs in Wichita Falls public schools, health talks by radio and at the local theaters during evening performances, and a ceremony at the Memorial auditorium symbolizing the appreciation of children for the attention given to their better health marked Thursday as the banner day of Children's Health and Welfare week in this city.

Children of the day nursery met Walter Nelson Jr., mayor of Wichita Falls, at the Memorial auditorium at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning and presented him with a large May basket filled with flowers emblematic of the "gratitude of the children of this city for the interest taken in their health and protection." Representatives of the two chambers of commerce and of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association gave four-minute speeches before theater audiences at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Mrs. T. H. Lawson, nutrition committee chairman for the local Red Cross chapter, will speak on child health Friday morning at 10 o'clock from radio station KGKO, bringing to a close the formal program of activities followed here since Monday morning in observance of the national child health and welfare week.

Poultry Association To Meet Friday Night

Members of the Wichita Valley Poultry association will hold a bi-weekly meeting Friday night in the basement of the courthouse at 7:30 o'clock, according to C. O. Smith, secretary.

For the purpose of providing all members with information and advice on any phases of the poultry raising industry which may be brought before the meeting, J. R. Ray, well known poultry expert of this city, will be present at Friday night's session, it was said.

Missing Heir to Texas Estate Is Sought Here

A request for information concerning his brother, Authar Chapman, who has not been heard from for several years, was made here Thursday by W. B. Chapman of Hutchins, Dallas county. Mr. Chapman said his brother is wanted to participate in the division of the estate of the Chapman heirs, and asked that any person having information of Authar Chapman notify him at Hutchins.

The American flag had 36 stars from July 4, 1865, to July 4, 1867.

School And College Notes

Spanish club members presented their annual "pay program" for the benefit of the Wal-Kun, the college yearbook, at the regular high school and college assembly period Thursday morning. Several boys gave a takeoff on prominent college girls telling "How a Woman Keeps a Secret."

Characters in the performance included W. A. Johnson, Dick Long, Herman Smith, Bill Jenne, Durward Park, Aaron Kruger, and Jack Pitman. The play was under the direction of Miss Marjorie Woolsey of the dramatics department in the high school and college.

Orchestra Meeting

"The Collegians," Junior college orchestra, met Thursday afternoon in the little auditorium to begin plans for entertainment at the city teachers' banquet Friday, May 9. The group was organized under the direction of Homer Donahoo and will play for several entertainments in the near future.

Members at the first meeting were Homer Donahoo, Durward Park, Paul Packard, Harrold Kimmell, Charles Warmen, Thomas Hayne, Walter Fowler, Sid Clarkson, and J. L. Pope. Miss Mildred Anderson is pianist for the group.

The first sewing machine Howe put on exhibition was smashed by a Boston mob.

ROTARY HEADS REVIEW WORK

Kimbrough Completes Term As Club President

Service rendered in this community by the Rotary club and the various committee activities and meetings of the past year were reviewed at the weekly meeting of the club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon in connection with the retirement of Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, president during the past 12 months.

Almost $2,000 has been loaned by the student loan fund of the organization to students in different schools of the state during the year, it was reported. According to the report of C. H. Reid, chairman, $1,942.50 was loaned, and $243.85 in accrued interest was received.

A second conspicuous service receiving commendation Thursday was the work of the community service committee in procuring a phonograph and 46 radio headpieces for charity patients at the Wichita General hospital. Other accomplishments included the placing of road signs along highways leading to this city, assistance in providing a football training camp for the high school squad, purchase of 15 gold footballs for high school letter men, and the issuance of 3,015 passes for the "knot-hole" baseball gang.

Inter-city meetings held during the year were reviewed by L. H. Estes, chairman; programs were reported by Dr. Ted Krohn; attendance by O. D. McCoy, and business methods meetings by E. B. Lehrack. Attendance for the 12-month period averaged 87.6 per cent of the membership.

Work of the boys' work committee, including the establishment of the Wichita Falls Boys' club with a present membership of 250 boys and quarters including 16 rooms, was reviewed by W. B. Ward, chairman. The committee also has acted as guardian for boys released on suspended sentences from the juvenile court, it was announced.

New officers of the Rotary club will be installed at a banquet to be held Friday night at the country club at 7:30 o'clock.

Harris, Chatham On Junior C.-C. Lunch Program

Henry Camp Harris of the National Security Life Insurance company and James W. Chatham of the Western Garment Manufacturing company will be principal speakers at the bi-weekly membership luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce to be held Friday noon in the Industrial Mart building, 911 Eighth street, it was announced Thursday.

Arrangements for the special luncheon in the new exhibit building have been made by the industrial development committee of the Junior chamber of commerce, of which Shadie F. Hale is chairman. The affair will be staged on the first floor of the building, and the luncheon will be served by the Kemp hotel catering service.

Numerous members of the senior chamber of commerce are expected to attend the meeting Friday, Mr. Hale said. A general invitation has been extended to all members and other business men.

Frank Bird and his Bluebirds will furnish luncheon music at the meet. The Industrial Mart is located in the building formerly occupied by the Martin Printing and Stationery company.
