'Bentsen Bill' Sparks Hot Debate In House

AUSTIN (AP) — A presidential primary bill designed to help Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's chances of capturing the Democratic nomination was taken up for debate today by the Texas House.

Numerous amendments to the controversial measure awaited action. Both liberals and backers of Alabama Gov. George Wallace sought to eliminate what they have called a "winner-take-all" system proposed by the bill.

Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth, the sponsor, said the measure had been cleared by the Democratic National Committee's Compliance Review Commission as being square with party rules.

Before the bill was taken up, Schieffer issued a written statement declaring it was not a winner-take-all measure.

In floor action Monday, the Senate passed, 29-1, a bill raising from 72,000 to 80,000 pounds the permissible weights of loaded trucks on Texas highways.

Sen. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, the sponsor, said the bill had two chief merits: It would raise registration fees paid into the treasury by $13.8 million over the next five years and would save fuel by putting more cargo in fewer trucks.

But Sen. A. R. Schwartz, the lone objector, contended the bill increased risks for travelers on the state's highways.

He said senators might pick up a newspaper and "find that one of your constituents has been killed, injured or maimed for life" by a "monster truck. . barreling along a two-lane highway. . .I want you to remember that you sat here on the Senate floor and voted to let it happen."

Senators passed to the House on voice vote a bill permitting longer suspensions of "incorrigible" public school pupils. A superintendent could suspend a pupil immediately, pending the next meeting of the local school board. A pupil would receive written reasons for his suspension, which he could contest before the board.

Henry Ford Hit With DWI Charge

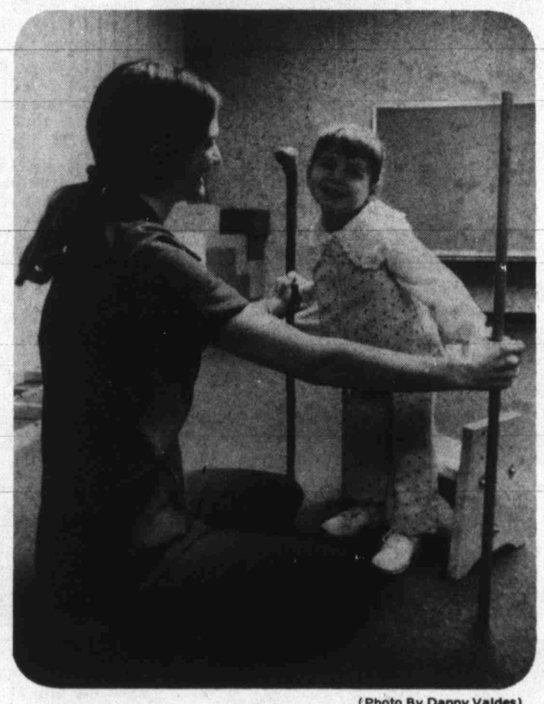

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Auto executive Henry Ford II was driving on the wrong side of the road when he was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor, police say.

Kathleen DuRoss, a Detroit model, was with Ford when he was arrested, police said. She was not held.

Ford, 57, chairman of Ford Motor Co., spent more than three hours in the Santa Barbara County jail before posting $375 bail early Sunday, the sheriff's department said Monday.

He paid the money in cash himself and was ordered to appear in Municipal Court on March 7. He could be fined $375 if convicted.

The arresting officer, H.G. Hunt of the California Highway Patrol, said Ford "was weaving in the lane" of one of the main commercial streets of suburban Goleta when he was stopped at 11:45 p.m. Saturday.

Texan To Point Finger At Ex-Okie Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A Texas man who was indicted with former Gov. David Hall last month was due to be the first witness against him and another Texan as their federal court bribery and extortion trial was resumed today.

U. S. Atty. William R. Burkett said R. Kevin Mooney of Fort Worth, a public relations man who pleaded guilty to a single charge and agreed to cooperate with the prosecution after two other charges were dropped, would be his leadoff witness.

Selection of the jury of seven men and five women jury, under careful questioning by Chief U. S. Dist. Court Judge Fred Daugherty about the effect of pretrial news stories, and opening statements by lawyers consumed all of Monday, the trial's opening day.

Hall's lawyer, D. C. Thomas, reserved his opening statement until later.

Hall and W. W. "Doc" Taylor of Dallas, the co-defendants, are charged with attempting to bribe Secretary of State John Rogers to influence investment of $10 million in state employes' retirement funds with Guaranteed Investors Corp., a firm headed by Taylor.

Mooney, a former law school classmate of Hall, was an employe of Taylor's firm.

Hall is named on four counts of extortion and bribery. If convicted on all counts, he would face maximum sentences of 35 years in prison and $40,000 in fines. Taylor is named on three counts carrying maximum penalties of 15 years and $30,000.

Testimony from Mooney and Rogers and more than 20 tape recordings Rogers made of his conversations with Hall, Taylor and Mooney are expected to be the backbone of the government's case.

But James P. Linn, Taylor's lawyer, said Rogers, has been guilty of "sickening conduct" and he will prove Rogers began soliciting a bribe from Taylor last November, a month before the government contends the bribe scheme was initiated by Hall.

COMPANY OFFICIALS HERE SAY

Adjustment Clause Helps Prevent Gas Shortage

By MARJ CARPENTER

A lengthy discussion of the soaring cost of gas at the City Council meeting this morning at City Hall explained the rise in cost, but failed to offer any relief to the customer.

Bill Lampke, Daryl Shortes, top officials of Pioneer Gas from Amarillo and Dearl Pittman, local manager, all spoke and answered a barrage of questions from councilmen and other interested persons.

They once again explained the cost adjustment clause which is now on almost every gas bill in the state; since it allows the individual gas companies to compete in the purchasing of gas.

Officials warned that without this ability to compete in purchasing gas that the system could end up with a severe gas shortage. They also explained that the winter months of December and January were much colder than the corresponding months last year.

The official then distributed a sheet comparing gas prices to such towns as El Paso, San Angelo, Fort Worth, Brownsville, Austin, Port Arthur and others showing Big Spring's base rate low at $1.37 going on up to Brownville's $2.08.

THOUGHT YOU KNEW

However, questions concerning towns in the immediate area and within their system, brought the answer from one of the officials, "Oh, I thought you already knew that Big Spring and Pampa were higher than others in our system."

They admitted that Amarillo was lowest with a $.45 compared to Big Spring's $1.37 but explained it was due to an old contract in which the Amarillo Oil Company restricted gas sales to Amarillo.

Officials added that rates changed in Lamesa, Odessa and Midland were around $1.17, or .20 less than Big Spring, but said it was due to the average cost per customer. They explained that the original price of the Big Spring system plus the cost of upgrading it had made a higher rate necessary here. They included Forsan and Coahoma in these rates since they were part of the local system here. Mayor Jack Lamb of Forsan was a visitor at the meeting.

Two citizens, Richard Eagan and Dave Brasell, directed questions at the officials in connection with the rates and company policies.

READ OUR OWN

Pioneer also stated that Big Spring was the only city in their system which insists on reading the meters itself. This also raises the cost slightly, about 15 cents per customer, it was explained.

The council had only reached the second item on the agenda by news deadline time this morning due to the lengthy presentation on the cost of gas.

The second item was an emergency reading of a resolution authorizing the city manager to submit a preapplication for HUD funds. Paul Feazelle, administrative assistant, presented details of the application, showing needed paving on the north side and in a five block area on west 5th and 6th streets.

The plan also showed possible sewer improvements and included items on the demolition of unsound buildings and the upgrading of present housing.

Jack Watkins again spoke to the City Council about information which he says he obtained from HUD which would indicate that the program might eventually evolve into a housing subsidy program. He agreed that the preliminary application might be needed, but that a close look should be made at the final application.

He also apologized to the council, explaining he had been unable to get a HUD official to come and speak at a meeting which he was trying to set up for the Big Spring Property Owners' Association. He claimed that HUD officials quit answering his calls and letters. He said he had written several letters in protest to this treatment.

The emergency reading for preapplication was expected to be passed, since it would have to be in Dallas by March 1.

All council members were present at today's meeting.

TWO IS A CROWD

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Two was a crowd in this instance.

A defendant in a 78th District Court case told how he broke into a building then heard a noise behind him.

"When I went to the window where I had broken in," Mike Cherry told Judge Stanley Kirk, "there was another man stuck.... He couldn't get in or back out. I almost hit him with a pipe I was carrying."

"The other guy said he was trying to burglarize the place, too, so I helped to push him back out and then let him in a side door," the defendant said.

He explained that "I was skinny and the other guy was fat," and that's why the other man got stuck in the 9x12-inch window.

As the story went, both men were arrested by police minutes later—and Monday the "skinny" defendant pleaded guilty, receiving a three-year probated sentence.

Duran Gets 20 Years

Rogelio Duran, 17, who has been in jail since the night of the offense, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court late this morning to the Sept. 21 rape of a 24-year-old woman.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton, accepted the recommendation of District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III and sentenced Duran to 20 years in prison.

Duran signed a statement which related this story:

At about 2 a.m., he saw the woman buying gasoline at the 7-11 store at 18th and Gregg Streets and asking directions to Lubbock.

Duran followed her and about 10 miles north of Big Spring on U.S. 87 he rammed her car off road onto the muddy shoulder.

She managed to get her vehicle back on the pavement. The pursuit continued, and Duran forced her off the road several times.

One time, Duran caused the victim to make a u-turn. When her car became stuck in a muddy shoulder, Duran told her to get out. She didn't.

He broke the driver's window with a hoe from his car and opened the door.

"With her seat belt fastened, she fought for several minutes trying to prevent the defendant's dragging her from her vehicle . . ." But Duran won the struggle and threw her on the ground.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Puente arrested Duran, who was on foot a couple of miles north of Big Spring a couple of hours later.

The World At-A-Glance

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek government is reported interrogating at least 30 officers to find out how much of the armed forces was involved in an attempt to overthrow Premier Constantine Caramanlis and return the former military dictators to power. The government announced Monday that it had suppressed an attempt to restore the military junta that collapsed seven months ago. The government put the armed forces on the alert, but other Greek cities were reported calm with no outward signs of unusual military activity.

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard J. Daley faces his first primary election challenge in 20 years today as Chicago voters prepared to choose a Democratic mayoral candidate. Daley, 72, is expected to win, but he faces a strong challenge from City Council member William Singer. Other candidates are Edward V. Hanrahan, a former protege of the mayor, and state Sen. Richard Newhouse, a black liberal.

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Bar Association has ended internal bickering and removed one roadblock to wider acceptance of prepaid legal insurance. The dispute within the ABA has centered over the question of whether a group with legal insurance should have the services of one lawyer or law firm or if members could go to the lawyer of their choice. At a midyear meeting Monday, the ABA House of Delegates compromised, saying in effect that it makes no difference — the same rules of professional conduct, including prohibitions against advertising, shall apply for both plans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Railway Association will recommend Wednesday that passenger train service be upgraded on 17 major northeastern and midwestern routes, sources say. The USRA, which was set up by Congress to restructure bankrupt railroads in the Northeast into a profit-making corporation, will recommend that financially-ailing railroads in the Northeast be consolidated into a 15,000-mile-long freight system.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats begin the task of combining their various energy conservation proposals in an effort to produce a single alternative to President Ford's program by the end of the week. Proposals formulated by Democratic task forces from House and Senate feature higher gasoline taxes. House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said that the tax hike would reach 16 cents per gallon in two years under the proposal formulated by the House Democratic group.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fire retardant chemicals make some plastic building materials more dangerous if fire breaks out and people are nearby, a scientific research team has reported. The retardant chemicals give off gases when the plastic burns. Those fumes are far more lethal than the gases given off by burning untreated plastics, the scientists found.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. resumption of arms sales on a cash-and-carry basis to Pakistan has brought a new strain in U.S. relations with India. Pakistani leaders, meantime, began preparing their military shopping list. In announcing the end of the decade-old embargo on weapons sales to both Pakistan and India, the State Department said Monday it saw no reason why the United States should not continue to enjoy very good relations with both countries.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel is examining whether to rewrite, scrap or retain the 25th Amendment to the Constitution, which guided Gerald R. Ford to the White House and Nelson A. Rockefeller to the vice presidency. A variety of plans are being offered to amend the presidential succession process, but Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., author of the 25th Amendment, says it has proved itself and should be kept intact.

Dallas Bandits Steal $21,897 From Police

DALLAS (AP) — Respect for law and order is sadly lacking nowadays, the custodians of a city police department safe found Monday night

A couple of masked bandits coolly stuck up the police property room and made off with $21,897 in the lockbox, officers reported. The money was being held as evidence in pending criminal cases.

First a caller who claimed to be a policewoman investigating a burglary telephoned and asked clerk Roger White to bring his city truck to a certain address — it proved phony — and pick up a stereo set.

White's departure left clerk Charles Levy, 38, alone in the warehouse-sized room. Levy said that's when the robbers, wearing black ski masks, arrived. Pointing a pistol, they promised to shoot him unless he handed over the cash.

Levy escorted the intruders to an inner room and took a padlock off a door to a closet containing the unlocked safe. The bandits emptied it, locked Levy in the closet and fled.

White returned on discovering he had been tricked and freed Levy after about 45 minutes.

U.S. Airlifting Food To Blockaded Capital

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Rouge intensified its rocket attack on Phnom Penh today as U. S. diplomats reported the American airlift had delivered a record of more than 1,000 tons of ammunition in 24 hours.

"We are going even higher," said one official. Meanwhile, the U.S. Embassy in Saigon announced that the airlift would be expanded Thursday to fly 545 tons of rice and 62,500 gallons of gasoline and other petroleum products from the South Vietnamese capital to besieged Phnom Penh.

The Khmer Rouge fired 22 107mm rockets into Phnom Penh and its airport between 2 a.m. and noon. They wounded four persons, damaged several shops and set a DC3 owned by a Cambodian airline afire. None of the airlift planes were hit.

The Khmer Rouge also kept up heavy shelling at the Neak Luong naval base, the major position still held by the government on the Mekong river southeast of Phnom Penh.

Only three supply convoys for Phnom Penh were able to run the Khmer Rouge blockade of the river during January, and there have been none in February. The capital city is now dependent on the airlift which the U.S. government is paying American airlines to fly with planes most of which are furnished by the U.S. Air Force.

American diplomatic sources said the U.S. government was having to cancel orders for other military supplies to finance the airlift because its funds for Cambodian military aid are exhausted.

"We have run out of money but there are still some supplies in the pipeline," one source said.

President Ford is seeking $222 million from Congress for additional military aid to Cambodia.

In South Vietnam, the South Vietnamese air force claimed its pilots wrecked 80 trucks and a tank in a North Vietnamese supply convoy along the Cambodian and Laotian borders 280 miles north of Saigon.

The Saigon command claimed 17 North Vietnamese killed in a clash in the Mekong Delta 120 miles southwest of Saigon. But military sources said a South Vietnamese jet fighter-bomber was shot down and the pilot killed during raids against North Vietnamese positions on Black Virgin Mountain overlooking Tay Ninh, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

Two Skyjackers Release 15 Hostages, Surrender

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Two armed hijackers of a Philippine Airlines DC3 released their 15 hostages and surrendered today, 10 hours after seizing the plane over the central Philippines and ordering it to fly to Manila.

Before the surrender, Philippines President Ferdinand E. Marcos interrupted a televised political broadcast he was making to announce he would meet one of the hijacker's demand for a pardon.

After being taken into custody, the hijackers met with Philippine authorities at the airport.

The leader of the hijackers claimed he had been jailed because of "planted evidence" and was asking for a complete presidential pardon.

It was not clear immediately whether the man had escaped from a prison.

An airline spokesman said the plane, with 30 persons aboard, was taken over while on a domestic flight bound for Mindanao, the southernmost Philippine island where a Moslem rebellion has raged for more than two years.

The hijacking came two days before a scheduled national referendum on Marcos' martial law presidency.

Marcos has linked the vote to solving the 29-month-old guerrilla war between the government and Moslem rebels in the southern Philippines.

HE'S JUST IN TIME — Doug Parkin works inside historic clock on Salt Lake City's Main Street. It's not known when the clock was erected, but 1868 photographs show the street without the clock, while 1880 photos show it in place. The clock, its pedestal made of bronze and iron, was first run by a waterwheel, then by springs and batteries, then was connected to a master electric system inside a nearby bank. Parkin isn't dismantling the old timepiece for good — it is going into storage until the city completes its Main Street remodeling project.

Double Tax Bite

This year, as every worker knows, the Social Security tax bite has gone up again — to a maximum of $825 on the first $14,100 of wages or salary. This is in addition to the federal income tax.

It's reached the point, says the Tax Foundation, Inc., where this matter of being hit twice on the same income is beginning to involve a sizable sum of money.

Consider a married man with two children who will earn exactly $14,100 this year.

If his federal income tax were figured on the amount left after his $825 Social Security tax had been withheld, he would pay $154 less in income tax.

Or the other way, if his Social Security tax were based on the income remaining after the federal income tax was withheld, that would be $93 less.

The federal government, of course, doesn't see it that way in applying both taxes to the same income. It has always taxed as "income" the employe's share of the Social Security tax.

Most state and local governments extend the tax-on-tax process a step further by not allowing the deductibility of either federal income or Social Security taxes when figuring income.

There's one bright spot. The employer's matching Social Security contribution is not considered as part of a worker's income. Thus nobody — so far — has slapped a tax on it. This, however doesn't ease the employer's pain.

To Whom They Listen

The Texas House of Representatives passed a resolution Thursday directed to Congress opposing excise taxes on intrastate sale of natural gas and domestic oil, as well as import taxes on oil and gas.

The resolution passed 93 to 35, but with spirited debate.

The opposing views were well summed up by Rep. Carl Parker, Port Arthur, who was against the resolution, and by Rep. John Newton of Beeville, a co-sponsor of it.

Said Parker:

"We waste every session a lot of time playing congressmen, telling Congress what to do, with these Mickey Mouse resolutions. It won't have any more effect on your congressman than a letter from you — probably not as much."

Newton argued:

"It's about time to be telling Congress what the people back home think . . . the Federal Energy Administration is writing regulations today without Texas input."

No harm is done by such a resolution, but don't expect Congress to flip-flop when it receive it. Rep. Parker is correct in assuming that Congress pay more attention to consituents — personal constituents.

One-Parent Family

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

As a child and, later, as an adult, I experienced some of the problems of a one-parent family. This not not uncommon, of course, for today, millions of men and women are raising their children without the other parent.

IF YOU ARE ONE of these — or if you are faced with the possibility of becoming one — the U.S. Government Printing Office has published a booklet which may be of some help to you. It suggests ways to get help through the initial period of adjustment and difficulty; it gives a plan of action; and offers practical advice on sensible attitudes about yourself and your children.

Whether through death or divorce, the loss of a mate seldom occurs without some degree of shock or emotional upheaval. No matter how prepared a person might be, they go through a difficult adjustment period at the beginning.

THIS IS THE time to begin getting help.

If there are relatives nearby, they may be pleased to be consulted and hurt if they are not asked to help. Sometimes, of course, they are miles away, and a visit is impossible. Or, for a variety of reasons, you may not want to turn to relatives. How about a friend? The chance to talk the thing out, and think it through, with a trusted friend can be an important step.

If there are no relatives or friends who can help (without being the source of more problems) how about local institutions whose whole purpose in life is to be helpful and supportive? Many church leaders get their greatest satisfaction from opportunitites to help in family crises. Often, it is not necessary to be a member of the church, or even of the same religion, for the clergy to take an active and effective interest in helping.

THEN, THERE ARE local family-help institutes, the city social services or welfare agency, mental health agency, Veterans Administration and others. Most have professional family counselors available to listen and advise, and they are also equipped to help meet emergency housing, food, clothing and money problems.

However, you may find that you do not qualify for help from public agencies. Don't resign yourself; keep trying. There are some private agencies which have been known to help in such situations — maybe the Jaycees, Lion's Club, Kiwanis, Masons, Knights of Columbus, etc. Why not call or visit them? If they can't help, ask if they can suggest somewhere else.

WHATEVER HELP is needed should certainly be sought — and accepted — without hesitance or embarrassment. For everyone needs help of one kind or another during his or her lifetime, and a special kind of need comes to different people.

Help for the one-parent family goes a long way toward easing the physical, financial and emotional burdens.

BUT PERHAPS THE greatest comfort may be in knowing the simple fact that the adjustment period will pass, as it has for thousands of others faced with the similar adjustments. And with its passing, the parent should enter the next phase with confidence, and with a plan. Next week, we'll look at such a plan.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I know the Bible says to honor our parents. But my problem is that I disobeyed mine, and now they are dead. Will that block God's forgiveness for me? In other words, will God make me suffer to pay for those sins?

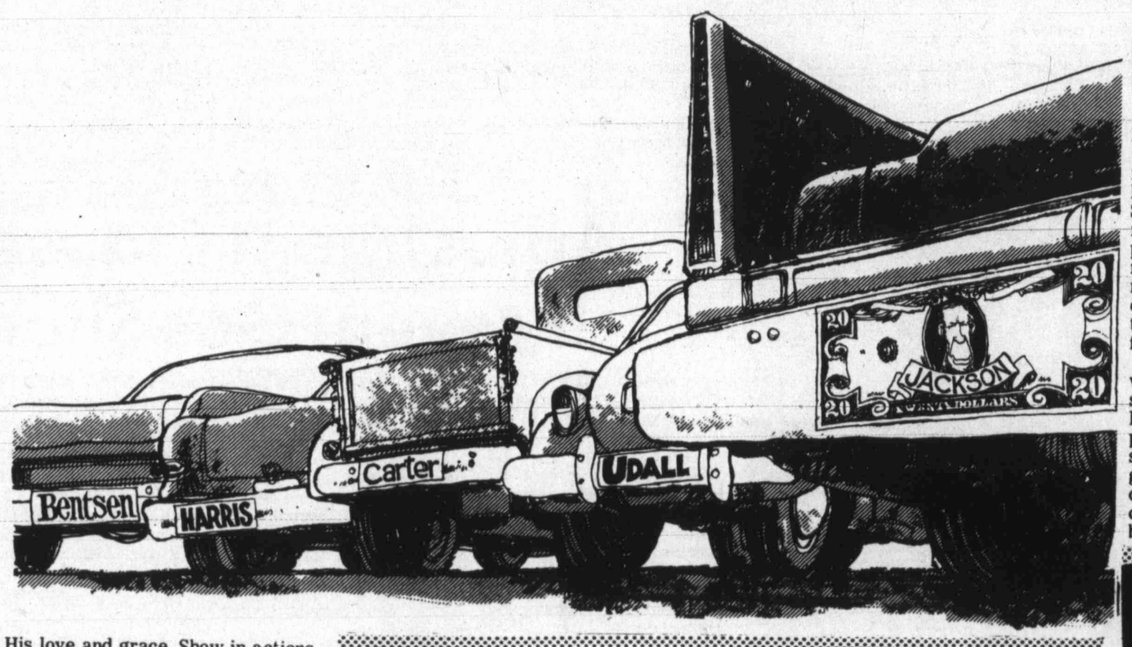

M.M.

It's in Exodus 20:12, that the Bible has this command about honoring parent. Jesus even quoted it when Hetalked to the rich young ruler. It certainly needs special emphasis today.

But apparently, it's because you can no longer ask your parents for forgiveness that you wonder about God's pardon. Don't worry! Mark 3:28 says, "All sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men." If you're really repentant and have faith in Christ, that's all that's needed.

You have a misconception of God — as many do. He is not some ogre who wants to exact the price of error to the last farthing. He is rather a loving Father, who forgets as well as forgives, and who is more anxious to build up and reward than to destroy and condemn.

Consider this statement of Peter, "For Christ also has once suffered for our sins — the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God." Move ahead now in full assurance of His love and grace. Show in actions to others the deeds you now have shown your parents.

Assault On The CIA

William F. Buckley, Jr.

It is reassuring to note that a few members of the Establishment came together fora highly publicized informal testimonial dinner in honor of Mr. Richard Helms, lately director of the Central Intelligence Agency, for the purpose of repulsing the shock troops engaged in a war against the CIA for which they want unconditional surrender. Averill Harriman, for instance, was there, detaching himself from his younger colleagues, hungry to do to the CIA what they really want to do to the United States of America, namely humiliate her. I do believe that if it were possible, some of these gentlemen would disrobe the Statue of Liberty, to expose American Shame.

REALLY WHAT WE HAVE failed to take into account is that nowadays the differences between formal states of war, and of peace, are less clearly defined than they were. Clearly we fought a war in Indochina, but we did not denominate it as such. Nor did we declare war against Castro Cuba even while mounting a huge military operation against it.

All of this is because a formal declaration of war carries the implicit obligation of the war-making power to use its total resources, and our total resources come close to the power to blow up the globe. Accordingly, we stress war less; but the obligations to keep the general peace impose upon us a condition of alertness, an attraction to the minor operation for the purpose of aborting the major operation. This factor the critics of the CIA give insufficient attention to in pursuing Operation Impotence.

MR. WILLIAM J. CASEY, who is now president of the Export Import Bank, was recently given the William J. Donovan Award. Mr. Casey was Chief of Secret Intelligence for the European Theater of Operations during the Second World War, and in his remarks accepting the award, he reminisced about some of the achievements of the OSS, precursor of the CIA, during the war. The Americans, struggling to emerge from an age of innocence, began the war without an intelligence arm.. "It's hard for us to realize today that there was a time in 1940 and 1941 when William J. Donovan was a one-man CIA for President Roosevelt."

THERE WAS A MULTIPLICITY of reminiscences in Mr. Casey's speech. One that particularly strikes the imagination was the report in 1942, from an escaped Norwegian scientist, that the Germans were probably on to the feasibility of an atom bomb based on heavy water. Hitler had ordered a tripling of production from a plant in central Norway which was the only source of heavy water in Europe. The Norwegian scientist fashioned plastic explosives exactly appropriate to destroy the laboratories in which he had recently worked, and these were attached by nine Norwegian paratroopers.

BUT A FEW MONTHS later, the Germans had the plant back in operation. Eisenhower sent 155 flying fortresses to destroy the plant. Destroyed, instead, were Norwegian civilians and Allied airmen. But Hitler, fearing a more successful sortie, ordered the plant disassembled and brought to Germany. A huge aerial assault on the ferryboat carrying the plant was ordered. But a single agent entered the boat, applied plastic explosive to its hull, and slithered off before it sailed. "Half way across," Mr. Casey recalls, "the innards of the heavy water plant and some 15,000 litres of heavy water went to the bottom of the sea and it's still there. This operation may have deprived Hitler of the atom bomb with all that would have meant for our civilization."

I WONDER WHAT WE ARE supposed to do if some madcap little country manufactures or — more likely — steals, a couple of atom bombs. Complain to the Security Council? Devastate the country with our own nuclear bombs? Or, better, how are we supposed to discover whether such a country has designs on the atom bomb? Is there a way, inexpensive to human life, to abort such a development? All these plots sound Graustarkian, but the possession of the bomb is every bit as melodramatic as the possession of the Prisoner of Zenda.

Art Of Avoiding Blame

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy is depressed, the company's profits are down and the chief executive officer resigns "for personal reasons." Should you believe the reason as stated?

It might be true, but chances are it isn't, says a professor who has spent hundreds of hours counseling some of the top men in American industry as well as examining by computer the routes to executive success.

You might believe the resignation resulted from the lower profits, but that explanation also might be wrong, says Eugene Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University.

Of four chief executives who might use the personal reason excuse, the chances are that the lowered profits might not play a critical role at all. And only one of the four men will in fact be involved in a personal life crisis.

The most likely reasons, Jennings concludes, is that the chief executive mismanaged his board of directors or lost confidence in them. Either situation makes his task almost impossible.

Without support of the board, Jennings states, an executive today is almost helpless. He can survive mismanagement of the company, low profits and other negative symptoms, but he cannot mishandle his board.

In fact, he proclaims, the critical task of any chief executive today is to "practice the art of avoiding blame." That is, convince the board to look elsewhere for the cause of poor performance.

"Negotiating immunity from attribution of blame," as Jennings phrases it, takes considerable skill and time. It cannot be done overnight; if a chief hasn't cultivated his board before the crisis develops, he hasn't a chance.

On the other hand, if he has done his groundwork, a chief can be fairly confident of riding out a storm. Time after time, Jennings states, chief executives get into profit crises and remain immune from blame.

"Most executives are fired simply because their power base is eroded," he states. But if a chief cultivates the board, he has developed the art of avoiding blame. "It isn't easy," Jennings says, "it separates the men from the boys."

Just 10 years ago many chief executives still adhered to the policy that the less the board knew the better off was the chief executive. He could go about his business unencumbered by questioning and suggestions.

Today's board member knows he has assumed a responsible role, one that could even involve him in legal challenges or charges of mismanagement. Generally, he is far better informed. He takes his job seriously.

And for the chief executive officer, that means the board member must be cultivated. "Corporate losses are only ephemeral earmarks of executive failure," says Jennings. The ultimate failure is mismanagement — of the board.

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — In his frantic quest for enough Senators to save the oil import tax, President Ford has totally reversed the old Nixon "hardscore" legislative strategy — with early results causing conservative Republicans to mutter I told you so.

TO PRESIDENT NIXON, liberal Republicans were untouchables, scarcely more respectable than newsmen and not to be treated with deference. But President Ford last Tuesday invited 13 liberal Republican Senators belonging to the Wednesday Group for dinner — a White House first.

That repudiated Nixon's strategy of building a bipartisan "hardscore" in Congress and neglecting liberals of both parties. Facing far worse congressional problems than Nixon ever encountered, Mr. Ford seeks support anywhere he can find it. Besides, he has always attempted to gloss over ideological differences among Republicans.

SO, CAMARADERIE prevailed for over three hours Tuesday night with liberal Republican Senators at Mr. Ford's dinner table even though most oppose his oil import tax. Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, a foremost untouchable of Nixon days, opened the discussion by expressing satisfaction in a President who would seek opinions not in tune with his own.

Such opinions were quickly offered. With Sen. Jacob Javits of New York leading the way, Eastern Senators complained that the import tax impact on heating oil prices was unfair to their region. The President replied he intended to "tilt" the impact — more on gasoline, less on heating fuel. Javits and the other Easterners commended Mr. Ford's flexibility (though Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska interjected that too much "tilt" on gasoline would lose his present support).

THE DINNER encouraged the White House to hope that, though it believed only five of the 13 attending opposed the Democratic bill suspending the Ford import tax, the number of "no" votes had been expanded. In fact, only four of the Wednesdayers — one less than expected — voted against it the next day.

Nearly as disappointing was only one Southern Democrat, Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, opposing the tariff suspension. At a White House breakfast for Southern Senators, Sen. John B. McClellan of Arkansas sounded so helpful that presidential aides were sure he would vote against the bill and perhaps bring other Southerners along with him. They were wrong.

TO CONSERVATIVE Republicans, the overwhelming Senate defeat establishes Mr. Ford's folly. Their argument: in wooing liberal Republicans, the President has sought the unattainable while alienating attainable Dixiecrats.

In truth, however, Mr. Ford lacks the rapport with old line Southerners enjoyed by Nixon. Thus, he can never command similar loyalty. Moreover, the White House is still seeking additional Wednesday Group support on the crucial vote to sustain Mr. Ford's veto of the import suspension bill.

WHATEVER HAPPENS to the oil tariff, the Ford White House intends to continue treating the liberals as bona fide Republicans — believing the policy eventually will pay dividends. So, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will go to Capitol Hill this week for a private luncheon with the Wednesday groups of both the House and Senate. Like last Tuesday night's dinner, that never could have happened in the Nixon era.

Despite Ron Ziegler's assurances that Richard M. Nixon is through with politics, the former President recently showed he not only regards himself as a Republican leader but — to the anguish of some Republican politicians — apparently intends to play that role. On Jan. 28, five days after Rep. John Jarman of Oklahoma switched from Democratic to Republican, he received a telephone call (through the White House switchboard, according to Jarman's office) from Nixon in San Clement. Nixon commended Jarman's conversion. When Jarman told the story, some of his colleagues winced.

They're Not The Same

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain the relationship between nicotine in cigarettes, which is said to constrict blood vessels and cause poor circulation, and nicotinic acid, which is prescribed to avert migraine headaches.

I thought migraines were caused by dilation of blood vessels in the head. I am confused. — S.L.

Nicotine and nicotinic acid are similar in their molecular structure, but their properties are quite different.

Nicotine is a poisonous alkaloid found in tobacco. Nicotinic acid is a vitamin of the B-complex family, and it is essential to the body.

Nicotinic acid has been used in the treatment of pellagra, a disease that was once common in areas where diets consisted largely of corn meal, a food dificent in the vitamin. It was reported that about 7,000 Americans died of pellagra in 1930 alone, most of them in the south.

There were fears that when nicotinic acid was named there would be some confusion, that people would get the notion tobacco nicotine was some kind of vitamin, too. To avoid this, the name was quickly changed to "niacin," by which it is commonly known today. However, the confusion remains because of the use of the old name by some scientists.

You are confused on another matter. Niacin does dilate blood vessels, but it is not used in treatment of migraine, in which there is first a constriction followed by a dilation of blood vessels in the head.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you please give your opinion of by-pass surgery to take off weight? Is there any danger to health after such surgery? Can it ever be undone?

Would you advise it for a 43-year-old mother of five children who is in good health except she is so overweight? She has tried several diets but they don't seem to work. She can't control her eating. — H.L.

By-pass surgery involves a closing off of a section of the small intestine. The idea is to reduce digestive capacity, permit less food absorption, and thus fewer calories, thereby reducing weight. The theory is physiologically sound, and the surgery has often produced desired results.

Would I recommend it? No, except in the most dramatic cases of obesity and when all other methods have been tried or where continued obesity represents an immediate threat to the life of the patient. In general, prevention is always desired over treatment in overweight persons.

Your letter leaves out an important fact. Just how overweight are you? You would be a candidate for this surgery only if your physician sees there is no other way to get weight off you. Most doctors do not recommend it lightly.

Liver, heart, and blood problems have been known to occur as a result of it. However, the procedure is reversible.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

You gave a very good summary of the Howard County Soil Survey Report in the Feb. 12 issue of the Herald. West Texas has the greatest land area of standard soil surveys in the United States. With Crane, Midland, Glasscock and Mitchell Counties as the southern boundary, every county north has been mapped except Oldham, Donley and Roberts.

We, in the Soil Conservation Service, appreciate your support over the many years. The column, "Our County," is a good example because it gives people information that should make them interested in the soil survey report. The information contained in the report has many uses to many kinds of individuals and groups.

C. RICHARD SIVALLS

Sivalls Honored

C. Richard (Dick) Sivalls, Odessa, president of Sivalls Tank Co. of Odessa, was named engineer of the year at a banquet attended by more than 200 engineers Friday evening.

The Permian Basin chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers held the affair at Ranchland Country Club in Midland. Wayne Faser, Big Spring, second vice president of the chapter, headed a Big Spring delegation.

Sivalls, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, taught briefly in his alma mater's school of engineering before military duty, then joined Sivalls Tanks in Odessa as assistant engineer, sales manager and in 1970 as president. He has been extremely active in professional affairs, as well as civic affairs, being currently a candidate for regent of Odessa College. He also headed Odessa's first industrial committee.

He is a member of his church (First United Methodist) board and substitute teacher. Last year his paper, "Glycol Dehydrator Design Manual" was honored by University of Oklahoma as one of the best 36 papers selected from hundreds published over the past 25 years.

Car Passenger Is Injured

An auto accident at West 2nd and Jones Streets Monday at 3:04 p.m. sent Melissa McGrady, Odessa, to Malone and Hogan Clinic where she was treated and released.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Gloria Wheeler McGrady, Odessa. The McGrady car and a car driven by Mary Ester Flores, 403 Trades collided at the intersection.

Head Count Is Stedy Here

Enrollment in Big Spring schools held steady last week. The 3,304 in elementary schools was up seven, while the secondary total of 2,951 was down five, including four at Senior high level, Hospital-homebound enrollment of 149 was off one, leaving a net gain of one at 6,404.

Farabee Co-Sponsoring Rural Development Bill

State Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, announced Monday his co-sponsorship of legislation which would "put state law on the side of rural industrial development."

The legislation calls for a referendum on a constitutional amendment allowing the issuance of industrial development bonds.

These bonds could be issued by political subdivisions of the state such as city and counties.

They would make available financing for new or expanding industry at tax free municipal bond rates, which are usually 1½ or 2 per cent below prime commercial rates.

These revenues bonds would not be backed by general credit of the political subdivision issuing the bond, Farabee stressed.

Since the liability of revenue bonds is not based on the taxing ability of the city or county, taxes would be unaffected by the issuance of these bonds.

Home rule municipalities Farabee explained, can design their charters to allow the issuance of revenue bonds.

Counties and non-home rule cities are currently prevented by the state constitution from issuing such bonds.

"It is time we stopped tying the hands of our smaller communities in the area of industrial development," Farabee said.

At present 44 other states, including all states bordering Texas, use industrial bonds to attract industry.

The Texas Industrial Commission, citing the latest survey by a national organization of state development agencies, noted that "the 457 revenue bonds issued in one year helped create 47,000 new jobs. These jobs were mostly in non-metropolitan areas and the majority of the plants financed by this method employed less than 100 people."

Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, is sponsoring the legislation with Sen. Farabee.

Action Backed By John Hill

COLORADO CITY — Texas Attorney General John Hill has forwarded a letter to Joe Earnest, Mitchell County attorney, advising him that the Mitchell County commissioners were justified in reducing the salaries of Mitchell constables to $1 a month.

In addition, Hill said it was his opinion that since the commission had the power to set constable salaries, they also had the right to refuse to pay constables more than $12 per year for 1973 and succeeding years.

Earnest had petitioned Hill for a ruling after action taken by the Mitchell commissioners Aug. 31, 1971, when they reduced constables' salaries to $1 monthly and established a monthly expense and travel allowance for each constable effective Sept. 1, 1971, to be paid until each one completed his term of office.

The new expense and travel allowance which previously had been budgeted were $119 a month for constable precinct 1 and $93 per month for precincts 2, 3 and 4.

FFA Groups Set For Stock Show

Two members of the Big Spring High School FFA Chapter and 11 members of the Sands High School FFA will compete in the junior division of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo underway this week through March 2.

Participating members are Don Adams and Perry Schulze from Big Spring. Truett Vines is the sponsor of Big Spring while Lon McDonald is the sponsor for Sands.

The competition in the junior livestock show, the largest in the country, will be held this week. Around 19,000 entries are expected.

The show will be held in their $12.5 million facility while the rodeo began Friday in the Astrodome.

Girl Scouts Plan Exhibit

Members of the Girl Scout units in the Sand Springs Coahoma area are planning now for climaxing the observance of Girl Scout Week with a big display at Highland Mall.

The bicentennial theme will center on background and activities of surrounding counties. In addition to this "Texas on Parade" exhibit, girls, who plan later on a cobina to Mexico, will be staging a bake sale to raise funds for it. There also will be coffee and cold drinks at a concession.

Units in Service Unit 27 headed by Mrs. Donna Van Ness, chairman, held their daughter and father banquet last week with 90 attending the affair at Furr's cafeteria.

Mrs. Van Ness expressed appreciation for those who supported the recent cookie sale. In all, the girls sold 2,514 boxes of cookies, the breakdown showing Brownie Troop 407 with 943, Junior Troop 436 with 1,248, and Senior troops 436 and 144 showing 323 boxes.

A decade or so ago, Britain, France, Sweden and Italy dominated the European Bridge Championships. No other country had the bridge savvy to seriously challenge these powers. However the standard of play worldwide has improved tremendously, and countries that were once cannon fodder are now forces to be reckoned with.

In the 1974 championship, Portugal was hard on the heels of the leaders throughout the two weeks of play, and eventually finished a creditable sixth. Their star player is Manuel Antunes, who held the West cards on this hand from his country's match against Ireland.

The Irish, perhaps relying on some help from the leprechauns, reached an ambitious three no trump contract. However, the contract was by no means easy to defeat. Antunes made a safe enough lead when he selected a low diamond, won by declarer's king. A heart was led to the king and the jack of spades was successfully finessed. Now, declarer led a low heart towards dummy, and Antunes paused to take stock.

Declarer almost certainly had five spade tricks, and the ace of diamonds brought his total in that suit to two. With a heart trick already in the bank, declarer had a total of eight tricks and needed only one more for his game. Both the bidding and the play indicated that declarer must have the queen of hearts.

Thus, West realized that he could not afford to duck the heart, for the jack would be the game-going trick. Equally obvious was that the defenders would have to take four fast tricks in clubs if they were to defeat the contract. There are only one way to accomplish this. Antunes shifted to the jack of clubs!

Whether declarer covered or not, the defenders were bound to take four club tricks. When, in fact, he played the queen, East won the ace, returned a club to his partner's king and West was able to continue a low club through dummy's 8-6 to his partner's 10-7. Note that the defenders can score no more than three clubs if West shifts to any other club.

Is Your Lifestyle Promoting Stroke?

Take a closer look at your lifestyle. Is it turning you into a prime candidate for heart attack or stroke?

Dr. Larry C. Key, Chairman of the Howard County Heart Fund Drive, says that the more than 880,000 deaths each year from two of the nation's major killers — heart attack and stroke — are proof that "too many Americans are doing too little to safeguard their hearts."

He points out that scientists have pinned down certain "risk factors — conditions that lead to heart disease.

"By modifying some of these risk factors, and minimizing the danger of those we can't change," he says, "our chances of living longer, heart-healthy lives are greatly increased."

Dr. Key cites certain risk factors which can't be avoided — heredity, sex, age and race:

"We've found that a tendency toward certain heart diseases can be inherited. If a parent or grandparent suffered from heart attack or stroke, there's a greater chance that you may also suffer from that disease. Some heart diseases do affect one sex more than another, and vulnerability increases with age. Your race is also a factor. For example, black Americans suffer a higher incidence of high blood pressure than white Americans."

But the Heart Association physician points out that there are risk factors that can be avoided:

"The three major ones are high blood pressure — which can be kept at a safe level through effective drug and diet therapy; a high cholesterol level — which you can help lower through proper diet; and cigarette smoking — which can be eliminated altogether."

Another risk factor is obesity. And this, too, can be controlled.

"We're a nation of overeaters and television athletes," he says. "If we'd spend less time in front of the TV set and the dinner table, and more time walking and performing other moderate daily exercise, we'd live longer, heart-healthy lives."

Dr. Key offers a simple rule for heart-healthy eating: Stick to foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol, such as fish (except shellfish) and poultry and whole grain products, skim milk and its by-products. Limit egg yolks to no more than three per week. Avoid excessive amounts of whole milk products, beef, pork and veal, which are high in saturated fats and cholesterol.

But when it comes to exercise, he cautions:

"Before you start any exercise program or undertake a strenuous activity, see your doctor. He's the only one who can decide what's best for you. Exercise — it's a good thing, if you don't overdo it."

What it all boils down to, Dr. Key says, is this: "Life is filled with risks. But when it comes to heart attack and stroke, you must consider risk factors. By taking a hard look at your lifestyle, and making it more heart-healthy, you can eliminate or reduce your chances of heart attack or stroke."

Bids On Truck, Garage Are Applauded By FFA

Members of County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon discussed allowing county employes and elected officials, in addition to the public, submit sealed bids for two used cars and a presently inoperative riding lawnmower.

No decision was made, because the subject of seeking bids on the excess property did not appear on the agenda. The matter will be reconsidered next Monday.

C. R. Crim, the local engineer contracted to prepare specifications for an airport fire truck and fire truck garage, said Federal Aviation Administration officials called the low bids "the best they'd had in a long time."

FAA Albuquerque, N.M., recommended the low bids be accepted subject to FAA approval, Crim told the court.

D. D. Johnston will build the building for $22,282. Pollard Chevrolet is selling the truck for $4,632. And American Fire Equipment Co. is providing the fire truck "skid unit" for $7,832.

In other business, the court:

Authorized travel pay for two deputy sheriffs planning to attend a physical evidence school in Austin.

Took no action on a request county road crews haul off foundations from razed Forsan teacherages.

And learned the county was notifying the firm which sold the county livestock scales that a supplemental bill would not be paid. County Judge Bill Tune said commissioners court had requested alternate bids with and without installation and the successful bid specified neither way. County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eyssen Jr. advised him, Tune said, the county was not obligated to pay the supplemental bill of about $160 for installation.

Man Narrowly Misses Train

John William Kaiser, 44-year-old Big Spring man, was injured at 12:45 a.m., Saturday when his 1961 model car went out of control, bounced off a utility pole and came within four inches of being struck by a train in Odessa.

Kaiser was driving west on an IS 20 service road when his vehicle struck the pole and stopped near the Texas and Pacific tracks.

A passing train missed the front end of the car by less than half a foot.

Kaiser was listed in satisfactory condition at an Odessa hospital. He sustained lacerations to his left hand and had possible chest injuries.

Sharon Jenkins Earns Trip To Washington

The Big Spring Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs attended Texas YMCA Youth and Government program in Austin Feb. 20-23. This was the largest conference ever held, with 800 participants. Big Spring sent 33 delegates.

In the judicial branch, Sharon Jenkins took the office of Supreme Court Justice. Miss Jenkins is the first delegate to receive a state office from Big Spring. She will attend the National Conference in Washington, D.C., in June with the Governor, Clark Lowenfield of El Paso. Governor Dolph Brisco will sponsor the two on this expense paid trip.

Doug Robison was chosen Outstanding House Representative, the highest honor given to a representative.

In the Senate, Paige Little contributed comments on the failure of bills she felt were not relevant to the Texas Constitution. However, many bills received her support for passage.

The Big Spring Hi-Y organizations are made possible through the work and effort of Mrs. Hannah Coleman. Mrs. Jack Little and Rene Brown were sponsors of the Austin trip.

Betty Hears From Those Against ERA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's mail at the White House is running 3 to 1 against her outspoken support of passage of the Equal Rights Amendment—ERA—to the Constitution to end sex discrimination.

Press Secretary Sheila Weidenfeld said Thursday that mail the White House has counted so far shows 360 in praise of Mrs. Ford's efforts and 1,128 against.

The First Lady's staff was not reluctant to announce the figures and Mrs. Ford was reported unperturbed by the reaction. "She expected it," said Mrs. Weidenfeld.

Mrs. Ford, visiting with wives of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce directors at Blair House, explained to a reporter her assessment of the mail count:

"It's those who are against (ERA) who are doing the writing.

"Those who are for it sit back and say 'good for her — push on.'"

Mrs. Ford has been telephoning and writing legislators in several states where ERA has come up for action recently, including Illinois, Missouri, North Dakota, Arizona and Nevada. Thirty-four of the necessary 38 states have ratified the amendment.

She says she plans to continue her personal effort despite the setback of votes in states such as Arizona, Nevada and Utah.

Her efforts for ERA on her own have inspired letters to the editors of newspapers around the country, have sparked some editorials and has brought mail to the White House from around the country.

UNFAVORABLE MAIL — First Lady Betty Ford leaves Blair House, in Washington Thursday, following a Chamber of Commerce reception. According to the White House, Mrs. Ford has received unfavorable mail for her public stand favoring the Equal Rights Amendment.

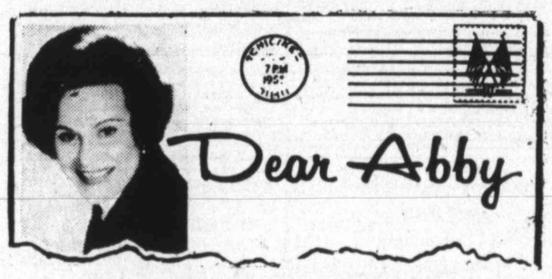

Some of the sentiments from the letters to Mrs. Ford follow:

"It is wonderful to have a First Lady who is concerned about people and not just about clothes or decorating or trees — trees are fine but human dignity and freedom concern me more."

On the other side against Mrs. Ford's stand were such sentiments as:

"What right do you have as a representative of all women to contact the legislators and put pressure on them to pass the hated ERA? That is below the dignity of the First Lady of the land and is certainly an all-time low for any First Lady.

"The ERA is being forced upon us by subversive organizations, subversive peoples, and now YOU."

There's A Difference In What Is Exhibited

DEAR ABBY: Why is is that when a man is caught exposing himself in public, he is charged with indecent exposure, locked up, and they call him an "exhibitionist?" Then in his defense, they say that "exhibitionism" is an illness, characterized by an uncontrollable urge to expose oneself, and that the man who does it needs treatment, not punishment.

But when a woman exhibits her body in topless (and bottomless) bars, or dances practically naked on the stage, every man in the place gawks, gets his eyes full, and says: "Isn't that sexy?"

Let's be fair, Abby. Isn't her "exhibitionism" an illness, too? And shouldn't she be treated for a compulsion to expose herself in public?

ONE MAN'S VIEW

DEAR VIEW: Not necessarily.

"Exhibitionism" in the medical-legal sense applies only to males who display their genitals in public. (Such men are usually impotent and insecure in their masculinity and behave in this manner in order to compensate for it.) Women who work in topless bars and dance practically naked on the stage do so because they are proud of their bodies and enjoy the applause — and the money.

DEAR ABBY: When I come home after work, I don't expect an elaborate meal, but I do expect to eat. The other evening, my wife put two hot dogs and some potato chips on a plate. That was all. She called it "dinner." This has happened before and I told her that this was not my idea of a meal. Is it yours?

UNDERFED IN CONN.

DEAR UNDERFED: No. Tell her again. But next time, be more specific. Tell her what your idea of a meal IS.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Time Is Coming To Choose Lawn

Are you ready to start a new lawn or reseed some bare spots in your old lawn?

Do you want a lawn with a "carpet-like" appearance? Then, you should select seed of fine-textured grass.

You can find out whether the package contains fine-textured or coarse-textured grass seeds by reading its label. It shows what seeds are included in the blend and the percentage by weight of each kind.

Also, you'll find the percentage of weed seeds and of inert matter — such as dirt, chaff and stones — in the blend, the percentage of seeds of each variety likely to germinate and the date on which the seeds were tested.

Generally, the germination percentage is considered reliable up to six months after testing.

Such information is required under many State laws and by the Federal Seed Act, a truth-in-labeling law which applies to seed sold in interstate commerce. It is administered by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Once you have decided the type of lawn you want, then consider the climatic conditions of your area and the conditions of sun and shade your grass will encounter.

The list of grasses suitable for lawns in the warm regions include bermudagrass, carpetgrass, zoysia, and St. Augustine grass.

Grasses that tolerate shady areas are red fescue, rough bluegrass, and St. Augustine grass, while bentgrasses, Kentucky bluegrass, bermudagrass and carpetgrass require more sun.

Red and chewings fescue and rough bluegrass — which is really a fine-textured grass similar in appearance to Kentucky bluegrass — are often mixed with Kentucky bluegrass for planting in shady areas of the lawn.

Experts frequently recommend a blend of various suitable kinds and varieties of grass seeds instead of a single kind because diseases which might attack certain varieties might not attack others.

Municipal Judge John R. Coffee set bonds at $25,000 for each defendant after the Friday night arrests in Alvin, near Houston.

Hillers' brother, Patrolman Mike Hillers, participated in the arrests.

Title On Line

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Howard Payne and Sam Houston State, both specialists in upset tactics, square off tonight for the championship of the Lone Star Conference basketball tournament.

The two Cinderella teams fought uphill battles to reach tonight's final game. They surprised favored first-round opponents Sunday and then knocked off the conference East and West zone champions in Monday's semifinals.

Sam Houston State shocked East Zone winner and pre-tournament favorite East Texas State 80-78 as Kenny Stewart tossed in a pair of free throws with three seconds left in overtime of the semifinal game.

Howard Payne, with backing from a home town crowd, whipped LSC West champion Abilene Christian 88-79 as Tom Johnson chipped in 31 points for the Yellow Jackets.

The season ended for East Texas with a 10-5 LSC record and 18-10 over-all. Abilene Christian finished up 10-5 in the loop and 16-11 on the season.

The victor in tonight's championship match will face St. Mary's, the Big State Conference winner with a 21-5 season record, for the right to go to National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics national tournament in Kansas City March 10-15.

Sam Houston, which finished the regular season third in the LSC East, brought its record to 8-8 in the league and 13-16 overall. Howard Payne, which finished third in the West, is now 11-5 in the LSC and 18-9 for the season.

Sam Houston's Bearkats made the tournament here only by virtue of the fact that Stephen F. Austin, which finished 13-1 and 19-8, was on probation and ineligible for the conference titles.

LOSE 116-108

South Plains Slows Up Hawks' Region V Plans

LEVELLAND — South Plains overcame a 14 point handicap contributed to 18 critical turnovers committed by Howard College, dumping the Hawks, 116-108, here Monday night.

HC is now faced with a critical problem. The Hawks must score over NMMI in Roswell, Thursday, or forget thoughts of going to the heralded Region V Tourney.

HC with the loss drops to 9-6 in the Western Conference and 19-10 over-all. SPC shoots up to 6-9 and 16-12 concerning WJCAC and seasonal statistics.

"It will be hard to recover, but we'll do it," said Harold Wilder, Hawk head coach. "Our team is the type to make everything hard for ourselves. But everytime it has been hard, we've done it."

The Hawks also need the NMMI win to keep Wilder's 20-victory season intact. In his four years at HC, Wilder has gone over 20 each time.

HC had kept SPC under control from the 10:40 first half posting, ahead 21-20. But the Texans arose to the predicament, reeling off two rapid-fire shots to knot the regulation period, 95-95, with 17 seconds left.

The Hawks forced SPC into the five minute extra period as Alfred Gladden hauled down a Marcus Johnson rebound as time elapsed.

HC lost its composure in the overtime session chiefly on Henry Taylor's ability to drill in 10 of his 45 total points. Also visible was two hard to take HC turnovers.

The extra period play was tied twice. HC had a brief fling at the lead on floor shots by Marvin Johnson, Alfred Gladden and Johnson again.

Then SPC took hold of the reigns, 103-101, and the win was a SPC foregone conclusion.

Four HC players fouled out in the extra frame, three after the SPC damage had been done, Larry Erves, Johnny Harris and Ron May. Ernest Lawrence was the first Hawk forced to the side at 4:14.

Johnson and Erves teamed together to come up with more than half of the Hawks total points, pushing in 33 and 30 respectively.

The Hawks had climbed to a 14 point peak reading near the close of the first half, at 54-40. SPC laid in two quick buckets to slice the deficit down to 54-44 at the half-way point.

Johnson, with his SPC effort, climbs to No. 12 among the HC all-time scorers. The 6-4 freshman has gathered in 710 points.

HOWARD COLLEGE (108) — Harris, 5-3-13; Gladden, 3-8-14; Erves, 12-6-30; Johnson, 16-1-33; Lawrence, 3-0-6; Giles, 3-0-6; May, 1-1-3; Davis, D., 0-1-1. Totals 43-23-108.

MINOR REQUESTS

Burris Points Out Areas Of Concern

"Even though we are constantly reminded that we are faced with both the problem of being the smallest school within our district as well as faced with a problem of school economics, there are some things we could do to improve our program," Bob Burris, athletic director, told the board of trustees at a discussion meeting held Monday night.

The athletic director went through the program in detail, sport by sport, and pointed out areas where coaches had made special requests.

Most of the coaches made only minor requests such as tops for the baseball lockers and basketball lockers and problems of alternating the use of the gymnasium.

However, the tennis coach listed quite a few needs for the high school courts, listing such items as resurfacing, curbing and wind screens, all of which are sizeable items.

A few probable tennis fans in the back of the room also asked a few pointed questions about athletic equipment, comparing everything to the fact that all football equipment was purchased.

Burris answered the question as to why the school did not purchase all athletic equipment with, "Even school districts as rich as — say Andrews — don't purchase all athletic equipment."

Burris discussed the off-season program for athletes, potentials for football, need for more participation in track, the program in golf, tennis, cross country, volleyball, baseball, girl's track, and basketball.

One of the physical needs mentioned was a public address system that would work for the gymnasium.

The board also discussed setting up a solid policy on the responsibilities of the athletic director and a chain of command for coaches under the guidance of the University Interscholastic League and administrative policy.

Distributed to the board by Burris was an eight point list of responsibilities of the director and also a list of local coaches and their assignments.

The board went into executive session to discuss a matter of athletic personnel. No action was taken.

Board members present included Roy Watkins, Al Valdes, Tom Fetters, Jerry Jenkins and Dan Wilkins.

Rules Prohibit Three Contests

Tech Needs Win For Tie

By The Associated Press

It's the consistency and depth of Texas A&M against the productive starting five of Texas Tech tonight in a pivotal Southwest Conference basketball battle.

Texas Tech, 8-2 in the SWC race and one game behind the Aggies' 9-1 mark, relies on the inside offensive and defensive prowess of center Rick Bullock and forward William Johnson and the outside shooting of guard Phil Bailey. But Red Raider Coach Gerald Myers, who used only six players Saturday in a key victory over Arkansas, has no bench to compare with A&M's.

Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf used 12 players in Saturday's easy victory over Rice, and he often has four or more players scoring in double figures.

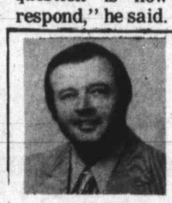

"Tech has a veteran outfit with an excellent coaching staff," said Metcalf, "but we have a good team, too. It's the most consistent team I've ever had, with total dedication and good senior leadership."

"A&M is an outstanding team, and we know they're going to play that way. The question is how we will respond," he said.

Tonight's game at College Station could mean a climactic end to the SWC title race, or a beginning of a climactic final two weeks.

An A&M victory would give it a two-game lead on the field with just three games to play. A Red Raider triumph would tie the race and set up the possibility of a one-game playoff in two weeks.

Extended Coverage

According to crime statistics, there are about two burglaries a minute — every day of the year. How safe is your home?

First protection is good locks — and not just on the front door! Side and back doors, usually not visible from the street, are even more important!

A good lock is resistant to jimmying or picking; the best have a double-locking deadbolt or dead latch which is locked separately from the outside with a key. Some even have saw-proof bolts for further protection.

Doors with glass panes (or with easy-to-break wooden panels) should be fitted with double-cylinder locks that require a key on the inside as well as the outside. This would keep a burglar from breaking the window and just reaching in to open the door.
