CYCLE OF GIVING

Joseph Basco/Reporter-Telegram

Salvation Army commanding officer Tex Ellis loads a donated bicycle into a truck during a benefit program Friday at Jake's Clays. The Cycle of Giving program offered donors a free lunch and round of clay shooting for a bicycle donation. Half of the bicycles gathered from the event will be brought to the Midland Salvation Army store.

Jake's Clays collects 110 bicycles for Christmas

By Joseph Basco
jbasco@mrt.com

Bicycle donors gathered at Jake's Clays on Friday for lunch and a round of sporting clays.

The event — the Cycle of Giving — was a collaboration between The Salvation Army and Jake's Clays. A bicycle, tricycle or scooter donation entitled the donor to a free enchilada lunch and a round of clay shooting.

"This is unique," said donor Ed Runyan. "I don't know anyone else who does this."

Peggy Floyd, co-owner of Jake's Clays, said this is the second year for Cycle of Giving event with Salvation Army.

"I love bicycles," Floyd said. "As a kid my all-time favorite gift was a bike."

Jeff Jacobson, the other co-owner of Jake's Clays, said they collected more than 110 bicycles Friday. All the bicycles donated were divided between the Midland and Odessa Salvation Army stores.

"Kids these days are playing video games," Jacobson said. "These bikes will give them exercise."

Two Salvation Army commanding officers were present to collect and load the bicycles on two trucks.

Capt. Tex Ellis, commanding officer of the Midland Salvation Army, said the bicycles collected will be put toward the organization's Angel Tree program. Ellis said the program provides children's gifts for families who can not afford presents during the holiday season.

"We help 1,200 children with the Angel Tree program," Ellis said.

Lt. Joe Contreras, commanding officer of the Odessa Salvation Army, said he has been involved with the Angel Tree program all his life.

"Growing up, my Christmas wasn't great," Contreras said. "My dad was in prison and my mom couldn't afford Christmas presents."

Now, as a person who gives presents to needy children, Contreras said it means a lot to give, to make an impact on a child's life.

"It's a good feeling to know both sides of the Angel Tree program," Ellis said.

Because of high winds, some donors did not shoot. Jacobson said they will receive a $40 gift card instead.

Jackie Johnson, regional manager for ProPetro Services, said he donated eight bicycles and helmets.

"We are willing to help out the community," Johnson said.

Lee Pierce, another donor, said he didn't mind if he didn't shoot because the event was for the kids.

"Even with Midland's high salaries," Pierce said, "the price of living still inhibits what kids deserve."

Ector County jury sentences White to life in prison

By Jon Vanderlaan
jvanderlaan@oaoa.com

Victor White maintained his trial was a sham even after he was sentenced Friday afternoon to life in prison on four counts of attempted capital murder and 20 years in prison on attempted murder and aggravated assault.

White was accused of shooting Ector County Sheriff's Office Sgt. Steve McNeill, deputy Ricky Tijerina, Lubbock police officer Don Billingsley and Whiting Petroleum landman Lucas Bedrick during a 22-hour standoff that began Sept. 17, 2010, at White's West Odessa compound.

"Jury, I don't blame you for anything in any form or fashion," White said after his sentence was pronounced. "You weren't given all the evidence."

White maintained in his trial that there was another shooter, which prosecutor and District Attorney Bobby Bland termed a "phantom shooter," who was paid by Sheriff Mark Donaldson to shoot the victims in the case.

About 150 law enforcement officers were at the scene, with armored vehicles and helicopters circling the compound at a scene that looked more like a warzone than a standoff.

Testimony and video during the trial showed that despite tacticians with the Texas Rangers coming from Austin to direct officers, White often was a step ahead and able to not only elude, but attack officers during the 22 hours.

"We've dealt with this for two years waiting for this to go on and our best wishes and hopes came true," Doanldson said.

White claimed that Donaldson threatened to kill him in 1995 and that he stayed on his property since that time, afraid of being murdered by the sheriff's office.

Both McNeill and Bedrick said they were relieved to have it over, and McNeill said although he still deals with the effects of his head injury every day, he doesn't think about that day much.

Lawrence Barber was White's defense attorney. The case was tried in Judge Bill McCoy's 358th District Court.

Bland was often passionate when questioning White and arguing the case.

"It was the only appropriate sentence for what he did. Endangering so many lives and especially with most of them being police officers," Bland said. "This verdict confirms how serious this community takes attempts to kill law enforcement officers."

FROM WIRE REPORTS

Sheriff's Office arrests escaped community work inmate

Midland County Sheriff's Office arrested an inmate who escaped from community work Thursday.

Derrick Chase Landers walked off from the Midland Senior Citizens Center on Illinois Avenue at 1:20 p.m. while serving time under the MCSO Community Work Program, according to a release by the MCSO.

Landers was found and arrested at Hastings Entertainment on Cuthbert Avenue. He was transported to Midland County Detention Center, the release said.

Chief Deputy Ed Krevit described Landers as a white male, 6 feet tall and was born in 1992.

"His history with us is non-violent," Krevit said.

Landers' criminal history with the MCSO was an unpaid citation and a failure to appear in court, which put him into community work.

His criminal record may now include felony escape.

Lamar Elementary School was on lockdown as a precautionary measure but was released to normal operations after Landers was apprehended, according to Midland Independent School District's Facebook page.

Midland man arrested for sexual assault

A Midland man was in custody Thursday after allegedly raping a woman, according to an arrest affidavit.

Matthew Alexander Hoover, 24, was being held on a $150,000 bond for a charge of sexual assault, a second-degree felony.

According to the report, Hoover was living with the alleged victim in a bedroom next to the laundry room. On Wednesday, the alleged victim was in the laundry room when Hoover called her over into his room.

The alleged victim noticed Hoover was naked with a condom on. The alleged victim said to him she would not sleep with him. Hoover, according to the report, then grabbed her, pulled off her clothes and raped her.

The alleged victim allowed Midland Police Department to enter the residence to seize evidence, such as the alleged victim's clothes and the condom, according to the report.

Couple arrested for aggravated assault, resisting arrest

A couple was arrested Wednesday for allegedly resisting arrest and pointing a shotgun at Midland County Sheriff's Office deputies.

According to a release by the Sheriff's Office, deputies arrived at the 2600 block of Storey Avenue to serve civil papers on Teresa Bastron.

During the delivery, Bastron drove up in her car, which allegedly had fake license plates. Deputies had to pull her out of the car, according to the release. Bastron was placed under arrest for resisting arrest and displaying fake license plates.

During this time, Mark Bastron, her husband, opened the front door of their residence and pointed a shotgun at deputies, according to the release. He was ordered to put down the weapon and was placed under arrest for aggravated assault on a public servant. Both were transported to the Midland County Detention Center.

PUC approves writing rules for smart meter opt-out

Associated Press

EL PASO — The Public Utility Commission has decided to develop a set of rules so consumers can opt out of the smart meters installed in millions of Texas homes and businesses.

Consumers have opposed the new meters, citing possible health hazards and privacy concerns. Some have installed steel cages around their analog meters to prevent utility workers from replacing them with the new digital units, and one Houston woman held a gun to impede a utility worker from replacing her meter.

PUC spokesman Terry Hadley said Friday that an opt-out would leave already-installed smart meters in place but disable the devices' radio frequency capabilities.

A draft of the new rules will be written and submitted for public comment, Hadley said. After that, the PUC will vote again on whether to adopt them, which means there's still a chance the opt-out will fail.

Smart meters allow for remote metering via radio frequency and are make the billing process cheaper since there is no need to send utility workers to read them. The meters also provide real-time information on energy consumption and help utilities prevent grid overloads during peak times. They also report to the utility when there is a power outage, making reconnection faster.

In websites and meetings organized by PUC, those against smart meters have spoken of possible government snooping and violations of the Fourth Amendment — unreasonable search and seizure — as well as the chance that hackers could access people's information from the meters.

On a petition template that's posted on www.bantexassmartmeters.com, meters are called "surveillance devices" because they record the household occupants' activities and can be used to "gain a highly invasive and detailed view" of their lives. Smart meters record consumption in 15-minute intervals.

Cancer probe in Texas draws scrutiny from NCI

Associated Press

AUSTIN — The National Cancer Institute confirmed Friday that federal officials are taking a closer look at a troubled $3 billion cancer-fighting effort in Texas that is under a criminal investigation over a lucrative taxpayer-funded grant awarded by the state agency.

The Cancer Prevention and Research Institute of Texas touts its status as an NCI-approved funding entity — an exclusive group headlined by the nation's most prominent cancer organizations. The list is fewer than two dozen and includes the American Cancer Society, Susan G. Komen for the Cure and federal entities like the Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

The designation is a federal seal-of-approval that signals high peer review standards and conflict of interest policies. Yearlong turmoil within the CPRIT reached a new peak this week when the agency's beleaguered chief executive asked to resign and prosecutors opened cases following an $11 million grant to a private company that was revealed to have bypassed an independent review.

NCI spokeswoman Aleea Farrakh Khan told The Associated Press that officials are "evaluating recent events" at CPRIT. She said officials have not made decisions or contacted the agency directly.

Members of CPRIT's governing board did not immediately return an email seeking comment.

An NCI designation is not required for CPRIT to continue running the nation's second-largest pot of cancer research dollars, Khan said. But jeopardizing that status would be a severe blow to CPRIT's reputation, which already has been battered by sweeping resignations, internal accusations of politics trumping science and now a criminal investigation.

A recent internal audit at CPRIT discovered an $11 million funding request from Dallas-based Peloton Therapeutics was approved without the agency ever scrutinizing the proposal's merits.

FROM WIRE REPORTS

LUBBOCK

Man guilty in biodiesel fuel fraud case

A West Texas businessman has pleaded guilty to dozens of federal fraud and money laundering counts relating to a $42 million biodiesel fuel fraud investigation.

Jeffrey David Gunselman pleaded guilty in federal court in Lubbock on Friday to 51 wire fraud counts and 24 of money laundering. He also pleaded guilty to four counts of making false statements in violation of the Clean Air Act.

Each wire fraud count is punishable by up to 20 years in prison, while each money-laundering count carries a 10-year maximum prison sentence. No sentencing date has been set.

Court documents show the former Absolute Fuels chief executive sold federal renewable fuel credits to oil refiners and brokers without making the biodiesel to go with them.

AMARILLO

Orthodontist admits to Medicaid scheme

A West Texas orthodontist has pleaded guilty to improperly billing the state Medicaid program for millions of dollars.

The Amarillo Globe-News reports that Michael David Goodwin pleaded guilty Thursday to one count of health care fraud. The 63-year-old Goodwin faces up to 10 years.

An investigation by authorities showed that Goodwin was billing Medicaid for work done by dental assistants and booking patients at 10-minute increments, pushing them to rush treatments. He also billed for work he supposedly did at his Amarillo office on days that flight records showed he was in Indiana.

Goodwin admitted filing $2.6 million in billings, some of which were not medically necessary, for at least four years starting in 2008.

US oil, gas exploration rigs drop this week by 1

Oilfield services company Baker Hughes Inc. says the number of rigs actively exploring for oil and natural gas in the U.S. fell this week by one to 1,799.

Baker Hughes, based in Houston, said Friday that 1,381 were exploring for oil and 416 were searching for gas. Two were listed as miscellaneous. A year ago, Baker Hughes counted 2,019 rigs.

Of the major oil- and gas-producing states, New Mexico gained eight rigs, Alaska gained four and Colorado and North Dakota each gained one.

There were 848 rigs exploring for oil and natural gas in Texas this week, a loss of 5.

Louisiana lost six rigs, Oklahoma lost three and Arkansas lost one. California, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Wyoming were unchanged.

FORT HOOD

Soldier killed after firing at officers

Fort Hood police have shot and killed a soldier who fired a gun while sitting in his car on the Central Texas Army post.

Fort Hood officials said officers responded to a report of a suspicious vehicle parked near a lake about a mile from the main gate about 3:20 a.m. Friday. Then, the officers returned fire after the soldier shot his weapon at them as they approached the car. The officers were not injured.

Officials said the officers tried life-saving measures before emergency medical personnel arrived, but the soldier died.

Investigators later determined that the 30-year-old man was assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division at Fort Hood.

The soldier's name wasn't immediately released. The investigation is ongoing.

School shootings

A gunman at a Connecticut elementary school killed more than two dozen people, including children, on Friday. Here is a look at some other recent school shootings:

April 2, 2012

A gunman killed seven people in a rampage at a California Christian university. Jongjin Kim, the Oikos University, said the suspect, One Goh, was angry because administrators refused to grant him a full tuition refund after he dropped out of the nursing program.

Feb. 27, 2012

Three students were killed and two wounded in a shooting spree that started in a school cafeteria in Chardon, Ohio, as students waited for buses to other schools. Police have charged T.J. Lane, who was 17 at the time, as an adult.

Feb. 14, 2008

Former student Steven Kazmierczak, 27, opened fire in a lecture hall at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb, Ill., fatally shooting five students and wounding 18 others before committing suicide.

April 16, 2007

Seung-Hui Cho, 23, fatally shot 32 people in a dorm and a classroom at Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, then killed himself.

Oct. 2, 2006

Charles Carl Roberts IV, 32, shot to death five girls at West Nickel Mines Amish School in Pennsylvania, then killed himself.

March 21, 2005

Jeffrey Weise, 16, shot and killed five schoolmates, a teacher and an unarmed guard at a high school on the Red Lake Indian Reservation in Minnesota before taking his own life. Weise had earlier killed his grandfather and his grandfather's companion.

Oct. 28, 2002

Robert Flores Jr., 41, who was flunking out of the University of Arizona nursing school, shot and killed three of his professors before killing himself.

March 5, 2001

Charles "Andy" Williams, 15, killed two fellow students and wounded 13 others at Santana High School in Santee, Calif.

April 20, 1999

Students Eric Harris, 18, and Dylan Klebold, 17, opened fire at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo., killing 12 classmates and a teacher and wounding 26 others before killing themselves in the school's library.

May 21, 1998

Two teenagers were killed and more than 20 people hurt when Kip Kinkel, 17, opened fire at a high school in Springfield, Ore., after killing his parents.

March 24, 1998

Andrew Golden, 11, and Mitchell Johnson, 13, killed four girls and a teacher at a Jonesboro, Ark., middle school. Ten others were wounded in the shooting.

Dec. 1, 1997

Three students were killed and five wounded at a high school in West Paducah, Ky. Michael Carneal, then 14, later pleaded guilty but mentally ill to murder and is serving life in prison.

Oct. 1, 1997

Luke Woodham, 16, of Pearl, Miss., fatally shot two students and wounded seven others after stabbing his mother to death. He was sentenced the following year to three life sentences.

Tragedy strikes small elementary school in Connecticut

GUNMAN KILLS 20 CHILDREN

Associated Press

In this photo provided by the Newtown Bee, a police officer leads two women and a child from Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn., where a gunman opened fire, killing 26 people, including 20 children, on Friday.

Associated Press

NEWTOWN, Conn. — A man killed his mother at their home and then opened fire Friday inside the elementary school where she taught, massacring 26 people, including 20 children, as youngsters cowered in fear to the sound of gunshots reverberating through the building and screams echoing over the intercom.

The 20-year-old killer, carrying at least two handguns, committed suicide at the school, bringing the death toll to 28, authorities said.

The rampage, coming less than two weeks before Christmas, was the nation's second-deadliest school shooting, exceeded only by the Virginia Tech massacre that claimed 33 lives in 2007.

Police shed no light on the motive for the attack. The gunman, Adam Lanza, was believed to suffer from a personality disorder and lived with his mother, said a law enforcement official who was briefed on the investigation but was not authorized to discuss it.

Panicked parents looking for their children raced to Sandy Hook Elementary in Newtown, a prosperous New England community of about 27,000 people 60 miles northeast of New York City. Police told youngsters at the kindergarten-through-fourth-grade school to close their eyes as they were led from the building so that they wouldn't see the blood and broken glass.

Schoolchildren — some crying, others looking frightened — were escorted through a parking lot in a line, hands on each other's shoulders.

Law enforcement officials speaking on condition of anonymity said that Lanza killed his mother, Nancy Lanza, then drove to the school in her car with at least three guns, including a high-powered rifle that he apparently left in the back of the vehicle, and shot up two classrooms. Nancy Lanza was a part-time substitute at the school, according to a parent.

Authorities gave no details on exactly how the attack unfolded. But a custodian ran through the halls, warning of a gunman on the loose, and someone switched on the intercom, alerting people in the building to the attack — and perhaps saving many lives — by letting them hear the hysteria going on in the school office, a teacher said.

Teachers locked their doors and ordered children to huddle in a corner or hide in closets as shots echoed through the building.

State police Lt. Paul Vance said 28 people in all were killed, including the gunman, and a woman who worked at the school was wounded.

Tearful Obama calls for action

Associated Press

"They had their entire lives ahead of them — birthdays, graduations, weddings, kids of their own"

President Barack Obama

WASHINGTON — A tearful President Barack Obama said Friday he grieved first as a father about the massacre at a Connecticut elementary school, declaring, "Our hearts are broken today." He called for "meaningful action" to prevent such shootings but did not say what it should be.

"The majority of those who died were children — beautiful, little kids between the ages of 5 and 10 years old," Obama said.

At that point he had to pause for several seconds to keep his composure, and he wiped his eyes.

The scene in the White House briefing room was one of the most emotional moments of Obama's presidency. Near him, two senior aides cried and held hands as they listened to the president.

Twenty-seven people, including 20 children, were killed when a gunman opened fire inside the school. The shooter blasted his way through the building as young students cowered helplessly. The dead included the shooter.

The story jolted parents and other people across the nation, and the White House was no different.

Obama began his comments with no greeting. He ended them with words of Scripture, walking away in silence.

He recited the future milestones lost and had to pause again to gather his words.

"They had their entire lives ahead of them — birthdays, graduations, weddings, kids of their own," the president said of those who were killed.

He ordered that U.S. flags be flown at half-staff on public grounds through Tuesday. The White House also canceled a trip Obama was planning to take Wednesday to Portland, Maine.

As the president received briefings about the shooting, his spokesman, Jay Carney, responded to questions about gun control and Obama's campaign promises on the matter by saying "I don't think today is that day" for such a discussion.

Others, however, said it was.

"If now is not the time to have a serious discussion about gun control and the epidemic of gun violence plaguing our society, I don't know when is," Rep. Jerrold Nadler, D-N.Y. said in a statement.

The president himself signaled a desire for action, but he was not specific.

"As a country, we have been through this too many times," Obama said. "We're going to have to come together and take meaningful action to prevent more tragedies like this, regardless of the politics."

During Obama's time in office, mass shootings have shaken communities in Wisconsin, Texas and Colorado.

The latest attack comes less than two weeks before Christmas. It appeared to be the nation's second-deadliest school shooting, exceeded only by the Virginia Tech massacre in 2007.

Obama spoke from the "James S. Brady Press Briefing Room," named in 2000 in honor of the former White House press secretary, James Brady, who was shot and disabled in the assassination attempt on Ronald Reagan in 1981. Brady and his wife, Sarah, have become activists for gun control.

The president and his wife, Michelle, have two daughters.

"Michelle and I will do what I know every parent in America will do, which is hug our children a little tighter," he said. "But there are families in Connecticut who cannot do that tonight, and they need all us of right now."

The president pledged support to Connecticut Gov. Dannel P. Malloy.

Said Obama: "He will have every single resource that he needs to investigate this heinous crime."

Warren: It's important to teach a child 'not to live in fear'

From staff reports

In the wake of the shooting at Sandy Hook Elementary in Newtown, Conn., Midland ISD Superintendent Ryder Warren said the main thing that can be done is to teach kids not to live in fear.

"The biggest thing I can teach a child right now, in any of my schools and my three (children) at home, is not to live in fear," Warren said. "Even with something as horrendous as this, we need to teach our kids how to be safe but not to live in fear."

Though Warren regularly talks about safety with his 3,000-plus employees and has schools regularly participate in lockdown, fire and bomb threat drills, Warren said there truly isn't a way to prepare for an event like Friday's shooting.

"For someone intending to do harm, it's very challenging for any school district to prevent that," Warren said. "We try to plan for these contingencies, but it's very hard to plan for something like this, that is so evil."

"We not only have to worry about a situation like Columbine, where a kid in the school shoots, but also situations like today where someone comes in from the outside," Warren said. "Every superintendent tries to be proactive, but in these situations, so much is reactive."

MISD's police department consists of 11 police offices and four security officers, with an officer of some sort placed at every secondary campus.

Seven police officers are assigned to campuses — two at Lee High, two at Midland High and one each at Midland Freshman, Lee Freshman and Goddard Junior High — and a security officer is permanently assigned at Coleman High School, Abell, Alamo and San Jacinto junior highs.

Two officers patrol the north and south parts of the city as members of roving units, often responding to elementary schools or backing up secondary schools, as needed.

Security officers act as "the eyes and ears" at their campuses and help with minor discipline issues, including breaking up fights. If there's a criminal act, the security officers will notify police officers and control the situation until they arrive, MISD Police Chief David Colburn previously told the Reporter-Telegram.

MIDLANDERS HOLD VIGIL

A group of children with parents gathered in front of the Midland Independent School District administration building Friday for a candlelight vigil in the wake of the fatal Newtown, Conn., mass shooting.

Diana McKnight, a mother and grandmother, organized the event. Her prayer and speech moved people to tears.

"It was a spur-of-the-moment thing," McKnight said in regard to the event's origin. "I just needed to do something."

About 40 people showed up for the event, which lasted 30 minutes.

A look at some of the largest mass shootings worldwide

July 20, 2012

Twelve people are killed when a gunman enters an Aurora, Colo., movie theater, releases a canister of gas and then opens fire during opening night of the Batman movie "The Dark Knight Rises." James Holmes, 24, has been charged in the deaths.

Texas lawmakers speak out on guns

By Joe Holley
Houston Chronicle

The massacre of 20 children and six adults at a Connecticut elementary school has prompted anguished national debate about access to guns. In Texas, though, the debate is likely to be muted — the issue all but settled.

"I hope and trust that in the next session of Congress there will be sustained and thoughtful debate about America's gun culture," said Sen. Dianne Feinstein, D-Calif.

But in Texas some elected officials were calling for more guns, not less.

Schoolchildren likely would be safer if more people carried guns on campuses, said Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Patterson, who was influential in passing the state's concealed handgun law as a Pasadena state senator in 1995.

Patterson, who keeps a .22 Magnum in his left boot, suggested arming more campus police officers, security guards and responsible citizens.

"Had there been (armed security guards and citizens) in Colorado, at Virginia Tech or now in Connecticut — someone that could have changed the dynamic and to do so by having a firearm — there would be fewer lives lost."

Gayle Fallon, president of the Houston Federation of Teachers union, said she was strongly opposed to arming teachers with pistols, as a small school district in Harrold did in 2008, drawing national attention.

"I seriously hope we don't see the idiocy come out again in Texas of, 'Why don't we just arm teachers?'" Fallon said. "But I'm sure we will in the legislative session. This country needs to get guns under control, and I'm not particularly anti-gun. I own them, but there should be some controls on who can own one."

U.S. Sens. Kay Bailey Hutchison and John Cornyn and other Texas officials also responded to the Connecticut massacre with condolences for the victims. They avoided mentioning anything that smacked of gun control.

"The horrific event that transpired at Sandy Hook Elementary in Connecticut is as profoundly disturbing as it is impossible to fully understand," said Gov. Rick Perry.

"The senseless and cowardly shooting in Connecticut reminds us all of the vigilance we must maintain to protect our children in their schools," said Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott.

Abbott and Perry are outspoken supporters of the Second Amendment. "We Texans like our guns," the governor wrote in his book "Fed Up." "We don't like meddlesome statists who want to infringe on our right to keep and bear them."

Texas politicians long have known not to meddle. They can cite the Second Amendment experience of the state's last Democratic governor, Ann Richards, as a cautionary tale.

In September 1990, a man named George Hennard rammed his pickup into a Luby's Cafeteria in Killeen and then used two handguns to murder 27 people and wound 20 more before killing himself. A chiropractor named Suzanna Gratia Hupp watched Hennard kill her mother and father and was haunted ever after by her belief that if she hadn't left her .38 revolver in the car she could have stopped the massacre. Hupp ran for the legislature on that issue and won.

In 1993, the Texas Legislature passed Patterson's bill allowing private citizens to carry concealed handguns, and Richards vetoed it.

"The people of this state do not need to be reminded that weapons of violence produce death to innocent children and adults," she said. "I am an avid hunter and believe strongly in the rights of individuals to own guns. That is not the question here. This legislation will only increase the level of violence in our streets."

Richards lost her bid for re-election the next year. Her stand on "concealed carry" was likely a factor. Nearly two decades later, a Houston Democrat from a relatively safe district is one of the few elected officials to even allude to gun control.

"It's long past time for our country to have a serious conversation about gun violence, its causes, and steps to address it," said state Sen. Rodney Ellis.

Ellis, who last session fought a bill that would have allowed guns on college campuses, called on state and federal officials "to stand up for sensible measures" and "to advance responsible reforms to reduce gun violence."

SMU political scientist Cal Jillson predicts any such discussions will be futile.

"A political progressive has to accept the fact that there are so many things that need to be done in Texas — water, transportation, education — that this particular battle might not be the first on the list," he said. "Gun rights in Texas are here to stay. They're not going to change that, but they might be able to do something about the other issues."

They're here to stay, because they're deeply ingrained in the Texas character, says Michael Lind, a native Texan and a fellow at the Washington-based New America Foundation. He suggests that the power of the gun culture lies in the state's rural traditions and in "the Scots-Irish culture of honor."

Lind points out that the culture of honor doesn't explain most of the school massacres this country has experienced, but it does mean that guns are more readily available to troubled individuals.

The state's shrinking rural population will eliminate one constituency opposed to gun regulation and the assimilation of culture-of-honor traditionalists into mainstream suburban life will eliminate another, he said.

"When the vast majority of kids grow up watching video games instead of hunting and fishing and have parents who teach them to tell the teacher about a bully instead of whupping his ass, I think opposition to sensible gun regulation will collapse, everywhere except among the craziest militia types."

Perry calls for plan reviews

Gov. Rick Perry requested Texas Education Commissioner Michael Williams direct Texas school districts to review their emergency operation plans after Friday's shooting.

"It is essential that we ensure all Texas schools are equipped and ready to carry out a strategic plan to secure the safety of students and staff in the event of a threat such as the one that occurred today," Gov. Perry said.

Perry also referred districts to the Texas School Safety Center (TSSC) at Texas State University as a resource to assist in developing a plan of response or improving an existing plan.

Passed in 2005, Senate Bill 11 required school districts and public junior colleges to adopt and implement a multi-hazard emergency operations plan that includes district employee training and mandatory school drills to prepare students and employees for responding to an emergency.

Some of shooter's guns may have been mom's

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A law enforcement official says some guns owned by the mother of the gunman in the Connecticut elementary school rampage match the models of the guns used in the shooting.

The official cautioned that investigators haven't conclusively linked the guns used in the rampage to the ones the woman owned.

The official said state police records show the woman had legally purchased five firearms and all were registered in Connecticut. Authorities are still trying to account for all the guns.

President Barack Obama declared the school shooting a national tragedy and said "meaningful action" needed to be taken to prevent this from happening again. What "meaningful action" should Obama take to ensure this tragedy never happens again? Here are our responses from www.facebook.com/thereporter-Telegram:

Sadly there is nothing he or anyone else can do. You cannot predict nor control crazy. It's literally impossible. You can seal up all of the schools, malls, airports, movie theaters, etc., force people to go through full body cavity searches, and people will still find a way to inflict mayhem and evil upon others. All we can do is pray for the victims, their families and humanity as a whole. There is just too much hate and anger in this world.

Dustin Palmer

There is no way to prevent these sorts of things. This is an issue of mental illness. A man who was in need of serious help and took his anger out on the innocent. This has nothing to do with gun control.

Katie Ellis

The sad reality, which I hate to point out today of all days, is that whatever Obama does to try and diminish the possibility of this happening again won't stop this from ever happening again; unless you can eliminate all evil from the world and from the hearts of flawed human beings. ... I'm all for trying to make it as least likely as possible, but the reality of the world is that we live with this possibility, which is a sad fact but it is the truth of the world as we know it. Our nation's leadership needs to do something, but what that is and how effective it would be is anybody's guess right now.

David Konz

Only in Texas would people worry about their guns on a day like today.

Cindy Harris

You're right, we are worried about gun control. Don't punish the innocent because of actions of the guilty. I have a right to bear arms, to protect my children from people like this. Look at the shooting in Oregon this week and look at this. People aren't allowed to carry in some extremely dangerous places, banks, airports, malls, schools and hospitals. I work in an ER and what do you think would happen if someone walked in and started shooting? You'd have a bunch of dead nurses and doctors, and you can bet your (butt) people would wonder why we weren't allowed to protect ourselves.

Tami Uselton Hamill

What can he do? If outlawing things worked, why do we have prostitution, illegal aliens, meth, heroin and pot?

Rocky Smith

Don't take our guns. That is our right to protect against people like this guy. Arm people at schools, guards, whatever it takes to keep to keep our children safe.

Lady Rebs finally find right pace in win over OHS

ODESSA — It certainly didn't look like the Lee girls basketball team had just won by 28 points after Friday's game.

The Lady Rebels overcame a slow start to gradually pull away from Odessa High in a 60-32 District 2-5A victory at the Odessa High Fieldhouse. However, immediately following the win, Lee coach Morgan Moylan-Fowler instructed her team to run 13 down-and-backs along the sideline while the Lee and Odessa High boys warmed up for their game.

"We played a slow team, and we came out bad," junior guard Shanses Ray said. "We didn't play up to the best of our abilities. We had a bad warm-up. We're happy with the win. We just know we can work harder than we've been doing."

Lady Rebels	60
Lady Bronchos	32

Moylan-Fowler was happy with what she saw from the Lady Rebels in the fourth quarter, but it was the effort in the first three periods that had the team running after the game.

"We had a bad start," Moylan-Fowler said. "We started to do some good things in the fourth quarter, but the other three quarters weren't so great."

Lee only had an 8-5 lead after the opening period but opened the second on a 12-2 run to pull away for a 22-7 advantage with 3 minutes, 33 seconds left in the first half. Ray scored eight points during that rally as Odessa High struggled to keep her out of the lane. Odessa High managed to battle back some and cut Lee's lead to 26-16.

Sophomore guard Daija Stanford carried the Lady Rebels in the third period, scoring eight of her game-high 18 points in the frame. Stanford hit a 3-pointer with 2:52 to play in the third to put Lee up 34-21, then drove to the bucket for a layup on the Lady Rebels next possession. Stanford had a steal that turned into a layup to answer a 3-pointer by Odessa High's Kali Cobos, putting Lee up 38-24 with 1:23 left in the third.

The Lady Rebels finally started playing at the pace they had been striving for the entire game in the fourth period, when a series of steals led directly to points. Lee outscored OHS 19-7 in the final period, and four different Lady Rebels scored at least four points in the quarter. Lee ended up forcing Odessa High into nine turnovers in the fourth and 32 for the game.

"We were ready to play and everybody started working together and playing defense," Ray said. "We just need to play our tempo and not theirs."

MHS' defense does the job against Tascosa

Lady Bulldogs	48
Lady Rebels	29

Midland High coach Ron Berry said his team looked "dead-legged" in practice Thursday after playing 11 games in two weeks.

But that's not how his team looked Friday, as it turned up the defensive pressure early against Amarillo Tascosa and recorded 18 steals in a 48-29 win at Chaparral Center.

Eight of the steals came in the first quarter, which Midland High (11-7, 3-1 in District 2-5A) ended with a 7-0 run and never looked back.

"I thought our defense won the game for us," Berry said. "We jumped on (Tascosa) early, and they got really rattled."

The Lady Bulldogs were nursing an 11-7 lead in the final minute of the first quarter when they came to life thanks to a slew of Tascosa (4-12, 1-4) turnovers in the backcourt.

After a Kristyn Wilbanks 3-pointer put Midland High up 14-7 with 44 seconds to play in the first, Catarina Rendon stole the ensuing inbounds pass and sank a short jumper to put her team up nine.

Rendon then stole the next inbounds pass and, after Tascosa knocked the Down two starters, Midland High did everything in its power to erase a 14-point halftime deficit Friday.

But for every push the Bulldogs made at Chaparral Center, Amarillo Tascosa had a response as the Rebels won going away, 60-47.

Midland High came into the game without sophomore post Blake Canis and senior guard Jacob Makowsky, who were out with ankle injuries, but that wasn't what hurt the Bulldogs early, coach Justin Hardin said.

Hardin said he felt his team began the game playing nervous, falling behind 12 points after one quarter, and Midland High (4-12, 1-1 in District 2-5A) never dug out of the hole.

"We didn't settle in and just get our feet set," Hardin said of the first half. "We stood around a lot in the first half.

Free throws help OHS down Lee, put Rebels in hole

By Jonathan Hull
jhull@mrt.com

ODESSA — Free throws can make all the difference in a game, and that was never more apparent than in Odessa High's victory against Lee on Friday night.

The Bronchos earned nearly three times as many opportunities at the charity stripe than Lee and hit several key free throws in the final minutes of 57-47 victory in a District 2-5A boys basketball game at Odessa High Fieldhouse.

The Bronchos went 20 of 28 from the free-throw line compared to Lee hitting seven of just 10 attempts.

"They were just much more aggressive tonight," Lee coach Mark Coffman said. "Free throws were the difference."

Odessa High used an 8-0 run midway through the second period that was capped by back-to-back

Bronchos	57
Rebels	47

3-pointers from Jamie Johnson and Aaron McMaryion to break what was a tie game and pull away for a 26-18 advantage. The Bronchos lead the remainder of the game, although Lee made it interesting at times.

The Rebels (7-8, 0-3 in 2-5A) trailed just 40-36 heading into the final period, when a three point play by Jordan Williams, pulled Lee within 42-39 with 6 minutes, 35 seconds remaining in the game. A quick 5-0 spurt by the Bronchos gave them some breathing room momentarily, but the Rebels responded with a layup by Grant Coffman and a three point play by Anthony McCoy, pulling within 47-44 with 3:08 left to play.

But Lee hit one more field goal from that point, while the Bronchos (8-7, 1-2) went 10 of 12 at the free-throw line in the game's final two minutes. Deary was 8 of 10 from the charity stripe during that span.

"I thought the players showed a lot of heart tonight," OHS coach James Johnson said. "If you're going to hold off a team, then you've got to make free throws. Those guys really stepped up when they needed to."

As for the disparity in free throw attempts between the two teams, Johnson chalks that up to the ability of his guards to penetrate the lane consistently.

"We're fortunate to have some quick guards that get into the lane pretty easily," Johnson said. "They were very aggressive tonight and that really made a difference."

McMaryion ended up leading all scorers with 18 points, while Deary scored just one field goal — a 3-pointer in the first period — in scoring 17 points. McCoy led Lee with 13 points, and Williams had ball out of bounds, hit a jumper off the ensuing inbounds to put the Lady Dawgs up double digits.

From there, Midland High was off and running, starting the second quarter with a 12-0 run that put it up 30-8 with 4:24 to play in the opening half.

Rendon and Wilbanks combined for seven steals in the first half as Tascosa was barely able to set up an offense.

"They know that they're quick and that they can do that kind of thing, and they have fun doing it," Berry said of his team. "I told them they're like a bunch of sharks in bloody water."

Rendon finished with a team-high 12 points to go with five rebounds and four steals while Wilbanks had seven points and three steals. Freshman Alexandrea Washington chipped in eight points while grabbing a team-high nine rebounds.

Tascosa, meanwhile, never scored double-digit points in a quarter.

"In practice, we've been working on defense a lot," Rendon said, "and I think we executed very well tonight."

Midland High, meanwhile, saw its lead balloon to 24 at one point on a Washington layup late in the third quarter before coasting to the win.

And after their impressive victory against the Lady Rebels, the Lady Bulldogs were feeling energized, not tired, in spite of their grueling recent schedule.

"We've got practice in the morning," Wilbanks said. "We're ready to go."

didn't move a lot."

Tascosa took advantage, responding to a Justin LeClear one-handed slam with a Trevor Shoels putback at the buzzer to end the first quarter up 20-8.

Tascosa (7-6, 2-1) went into the half up 30-16 thanks largely to senior forward Conner Thompson, who hit six of seven shots in the opening half.

Thompson finished with a game-high 20 points and nine rebounds as Rebel coach Steven Jackson said he answered a challenge posed to him earlier in the week.

"Lead by example, that's what (Jackson has) been preaching all week," Thompson said. "Vocally I know what to say, but I need to start leading as an example."

Despite falling behind 18 points later, Midland High didn't go away, cutting the lead to 12 on a Gary Ringo 3-pointer followed by a three-point play from Mazelle Justice in the final minute of the third.

The Bulldogs later cut the lead to single digits on a four-point play by LeClear that made it 44-35 with 6:28 remaining in the game.

LeClear stepped up for the shorthanded Bulldogs on Friday, hitting his first five shots from the field en route to a team-high 17 points and nine rebounds.

"He took the challenge tonight, (and) he met it," Hardin said. "He's a tough, gritty kid. He has his sophomore moments, but he did a good job tonight."

But right on cue, Tascosa ripped off a 6-0 run after the Bulldogs pulled within nine, starting with back-to-back layups by forward Max Baker.

The Rebels capped the spurt on a Brock Yarbrough layup that came on an assist from Thompson after his only steal, putting the Rebels up 50-35 with 4:36 to play.

"We just had to fight back," Thompson said. "They're going to make their runs, we're going to make our runs, so we just need to weather the storm and come back strong."

Midland High cut the lead to 10 again on a Shawn Rivers 3-pointer with 2:22 to play but wasn't able to get closer as Tascosa nailed all of its free throws in the final minutes.

Hardin said he was encouraged by the way his team played in the second half but noted that it can't play the way it did early Friday with Canis and Makowsky questionable for the Bulldogs' next game against Odessa High on Monday.

"I just think we played (in the second half). I just think we got out there and mixed it up," Hardin said. "The timidness on offense is what's killing us."

a double-double with 11 points and 11 rebounds.

Lee remains winless in district play, while Odessa High equaled its district win total from a season ago with its first 2-5A victory.

"We only won one last year, so it's nice to get this one early," Johnson said. "It's important for us to hang with the pack, and not dig an early hole in the standings."

That's a hole in which the Rebels now find themselves standing.

Stephenville tops El Campo, 70-35, for 3A title

Associated Press

ARLINGTON — Tyler Jones accounted for nine touchdowns — five passing and four rushing — and Stephenville set a record for points in a championship game, beating El Campo 70-35 for the Class 3A Division I title Friday night.

Jones had 432 yards passing and 124 on the ground, and Brice Gunter had 158 yards receiving and three touchdowns.

Stephenville (13-1) won the title in its first season in Class 3A after winning four championships in 4A in the 1990s.

Quarterback Bryce Brandl led the El Campo (14-1) with 149 yards rushing and three touchdowns.

El Campo had been to a state final just once before in its 101-year history, a defeat in 1967.

Jackalopes lose 11th straight game against Frisco

From staff reports

FRISCO — Texas scored two goals in the second period and that was all the Tornadoes needed to extend the Odessa Jackalopes' losing streak to 11 games with a 4-1 victory on Friday night at Dr Pepper Arena.

Texas outshot the Jackalopes 49-15 as Odessa's lone goal came midway through the second period when Josh Racek scoring on assists from Lawrence Cornellier and Steven Haydon.

Odessa fell to 4-21-2 with 10 points and have not won since early November. Texas improved to 22-9-1 with 45 points and are second in the NAHL's South Division.

The two teams will play again at noon today in Frisco.

Texas Tech's Kingsbury gets rousing reception

By Betsy Blaney
Associated Press

LUBBOCK— Kliff Kingsbury is finally back where it feels like home.

Kingsbury was formally introduced Friday as the new head coach at Texas Tech, where he starred as the quarterback of some of Mike Leach's high-flying offenses. The former offensive coordinator at Houston and, most recently, Texas A&M, said those jobs were purely business.

Kingsbury

"But being here now, this is personal to me," said Kingsbury. "This is where I want to be. This is a place that's helped shape me as a man. It's given me so much."

Kingsbury, a mentor to Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Manziel this year and the first in a string of record-setting Red Raiders quarterbacks, was hired Wednesday to succeed Tommy Tuberville, who left unexpectedly for Cincinnati less than a week ago after logging three losing Big 12 seasons in Lubbock.

The 33-year-old Kingsbury has never been a head coach. He's the youngest head coach of a BCS school and the second-youngest in the Football Bowl Subdivision behind Toledo's Matt Campbell.

Kingsbury has a four-year deal that averages $2 million a year — not bad for a guy who just five years ago was making less than $30,000 a year as a quality control assistant at Houston.

He promised a "young and energetic" coaching staff and has already gotten Eric Morris, a former Red Raiders receiver who coached with Leach this season at Washington State, and Kevin Curtis, a former safety, to sign on.

This is all wonderful news to the Texas Tech faithful who have watched the program stumble in the aftermath of Leach's 2009 firing and Tuberville's struggles. On Friday, it was clear Kingsbury's hire was a home-run decision by athletic director Kirby Hocutt.

"I don't have any doubt about that because he brings a level of enthusiasm and excitement" fans want for the program, said Rick Dykes, who was offensive coordinator under his father, former Red Raiders coach Spike Dykes, and recruited Kingsbury in 1998.

During his time under Leach's pass-happy offense, Kingsbury helped engineer wins over Oklahoma, Texas A&M and Texas. He led the Red Raiders to a 38-28 win over the Sooners as a redshirt freshman in his first start, throwing for three TDs and running for a fourth. In 2002, Kingsbury's final home game saw him throw for 473 yards and six touchdowns to outlast the Longhorns, 42-38.

On Friday, Kingsbury wasn't ready to reveal what sort of offense fans will see. He said the program is "not broken" despite back-to-back seasons where the Red Raiders slid down the stretch. This year, they lost four of their last five games and in 2011 they dropped five straight to close the season for the program's first losing season since 1992.

"I'm more of a walking-type guy, not a talking-type guy, so I'll let you all see that in the fall," he said. "But it's going to be an exciting brand of football."

Local forecast

Expect a mostly sunny day with a high near 65 and winds from the west at 15 to 25 mph. Gusts as high as 35 mph are in the forecast. Tonight, expect winds to slow down to 10 to 15 mph and a low around 37.

On Sunday and Monday, look for highs in the mid 60s and lows in the 30s. On Tuesday and Wednesday, highs in the 70s return to the forecast. There is no rain in the seven-day forecast.

The high on Friday reached 65 while the low dropped to 52. The record high for Dec. 14 is 82 set in 1995. The record low is 14 set in 1985.

Nation forecast

Much of the eastern third of the nation will be free of precipitation today. Spotty showers are forecast along Florida's east coast, because of a flow of moisture off the Atlantic Ocean. As warmth builds on a south flow over the Gulf Coast, colder air will push in across New England.

A storm and trailing cold front will affect a large part of the central states. Mostly snow is forecast to fall from part of northern Minnesota to northern Wisconsin.

Dad drops by college too much for independence-minded kids

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school and will be off to college next year. Like my older brother, I will be attending a school 30 minutes from home.

A problem he has, and that I'm worried about, is setting boundaries with our father. Dad works near the college and insists on stopping by to visit my brother at least once a week. If my brother refuses to meet with him, Dad guilt-trips him and gets angry.

I want to experience independence in college. How can I avoid this problem and set visitation boundaries with my father? — COLLEGE BOUND IN GEORGIA

DEAR COLLEGE BOUND: So many people your age who write to me have no father involved in their lives at all, and you appear to have a little too much. I agree that by the time a student reaches college, it is time for more independence than your father seems willing to give your brother.

If your mother is in the picture, perhaps she could reason with your dad. However, if that's not possible, your brother — and you — may have to transfer to other schools to put some distance between you.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and his 4-year-old daughter live with me and my two children. We keep our finances separate. I am self-employed and work mostly from home. I also take care of the household chores.

My problem is that he thinks because I work from home I should take care of his daughter during the day, versus her going to day care. My schedule is very full, and I enjoy being able to work from home without the interruptions of having to play nanny while my children are in school. However, I feel guilty about not helping him out on this.

Am I selfish for not helping him, or am I justified in my feelings? — DON'T WANT TO BE THE NANNY

DEAR DON'T WANT TO BE THE NANNY: If you need the income from your business, that's where you should be directing your energy. Your job, coupled with the housework, is enough to handle.

Your boyfriend is employed, and he can place the 4-year-old in day care during the hours your children are in school. Depending upon your schedule, including his daughter in whatever activities your children are involved in should not take up too large a chunk of your time.

DEAR ABBY: Charlie and I have been married 14 years. Between 1970 and 1980, he traveled with a big circus. He says those were the best years of his life.

We have taken several cruises together and other nice trips, but he never mentions them. It's always his circus days that he talks about.

I have asked him several times not to bring the subject up so much. He will go a day or two before mentioning the circus again. Is there anything I can say to make him stop? It's driving me crazy. — BORED UNDER THE BIG TOP

DEAR BORED: I'm sure your husband doesn't mean to belittle the good times you have had together. But his circus adventure ended 30 years ago. What I suspect Charlie is reminiscing about is less the circus than it is his youth.

Try this the next time he mentions the subject: Remind him that you have already heard the story.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Dec. 15, 2012:

This year, you often overwhelm others with your energy. In hindsight, even you could be taken aback by your liveliness. The upside is that you will be able to accomplish a lot. You naturally will find the right path and the right advisers. If you are single, you could encounter someone very intense. Together, you'll experience tremendous passion. If you are attached, your relationship goes up a notch in intensity. Be accepting and respectful of your differences. AQUARIUS adds action and excitement to your life.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★ Avoid being commander in chief of your immediate surroundings. Kick back and start enjoying yourself more. Festivities surround the holidays. Do not forget a friend at a distance. Plan to call or visit this person sometime soon. Tonight: Where your friends are.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★ Touch base with loved ones early on. Perhaps without realizing your role, you might have become a major force in a project. Whether you are bringing the family together or decorating for the holidays, you make a difference. Tonight: A must appearance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★ Handle a serious matter first in order to free up some time for holiday errands. Buy a Christmas music CD if you don't already have one. Some of you might even decide to go to a Christmas concert or show. Tonight: Let your mind wander.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★ Make calls in the morning. In the afternoon, make time for a special person in your life. The two of you might decide to go see a movie or attend a holiday party. Spending quality time together puts both of you in the holiday spirit. Tonight: Share some eggnog.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★ You have so much energy that you could bowl someone over without realizing it. Think positively, but don't expect others to manifest that same vitality. Your caring nature attracts so many people that you might need to adjust your schedule. Tonight: Just do not be alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★ Recognize your limitations. How you handle a personal matter could change as a result. This morning, the energy around you could be high. For some of you, this intensity is reflected in an important relationship. Tonight: If you are tired, say so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★ Clear the air with a family member. Make sure your home is as you'd like it to be for the holidays. You can get a lot done if you stay focused. Allow more creativity to come out with a loved one. Enjoy the moment. Tonight: Play the night away.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ You could be looking at a situation far differently right now. With your energy, you could complete your holiday shopping or decorating in no time. Consider inviting a family member over for some holiday fun. Tonight: You don't need to go far.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★ You need to follow through on what is important to you. Someone is observing you and sees your priorities. This knowledge could affect a certain bond. Return calls, before it is too late in the day. Tonight: Join a friend after doing some errands.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★ You have a way about you that attracts many people. You could feel tired and pushed to the max by midafternoon. Change your pace, but remain active if you can. A gift bought today might be a little excessive. Tonight: Your treat.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★ Move past an immediate issue. You might feel as if you could do something if someone would let you just try. Your softer side emerges when talking to a loved one. As a result, you'll have the desire to revitalize a friendship. Tonight: Meet up with friends.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★ Your ability to bounce back makes quite a difference in how you handle a swift change. You will manage to revise your reschedule and make everything fit in. Your clarity is obvious when discussing a problem. Tonight: Get some R and R.

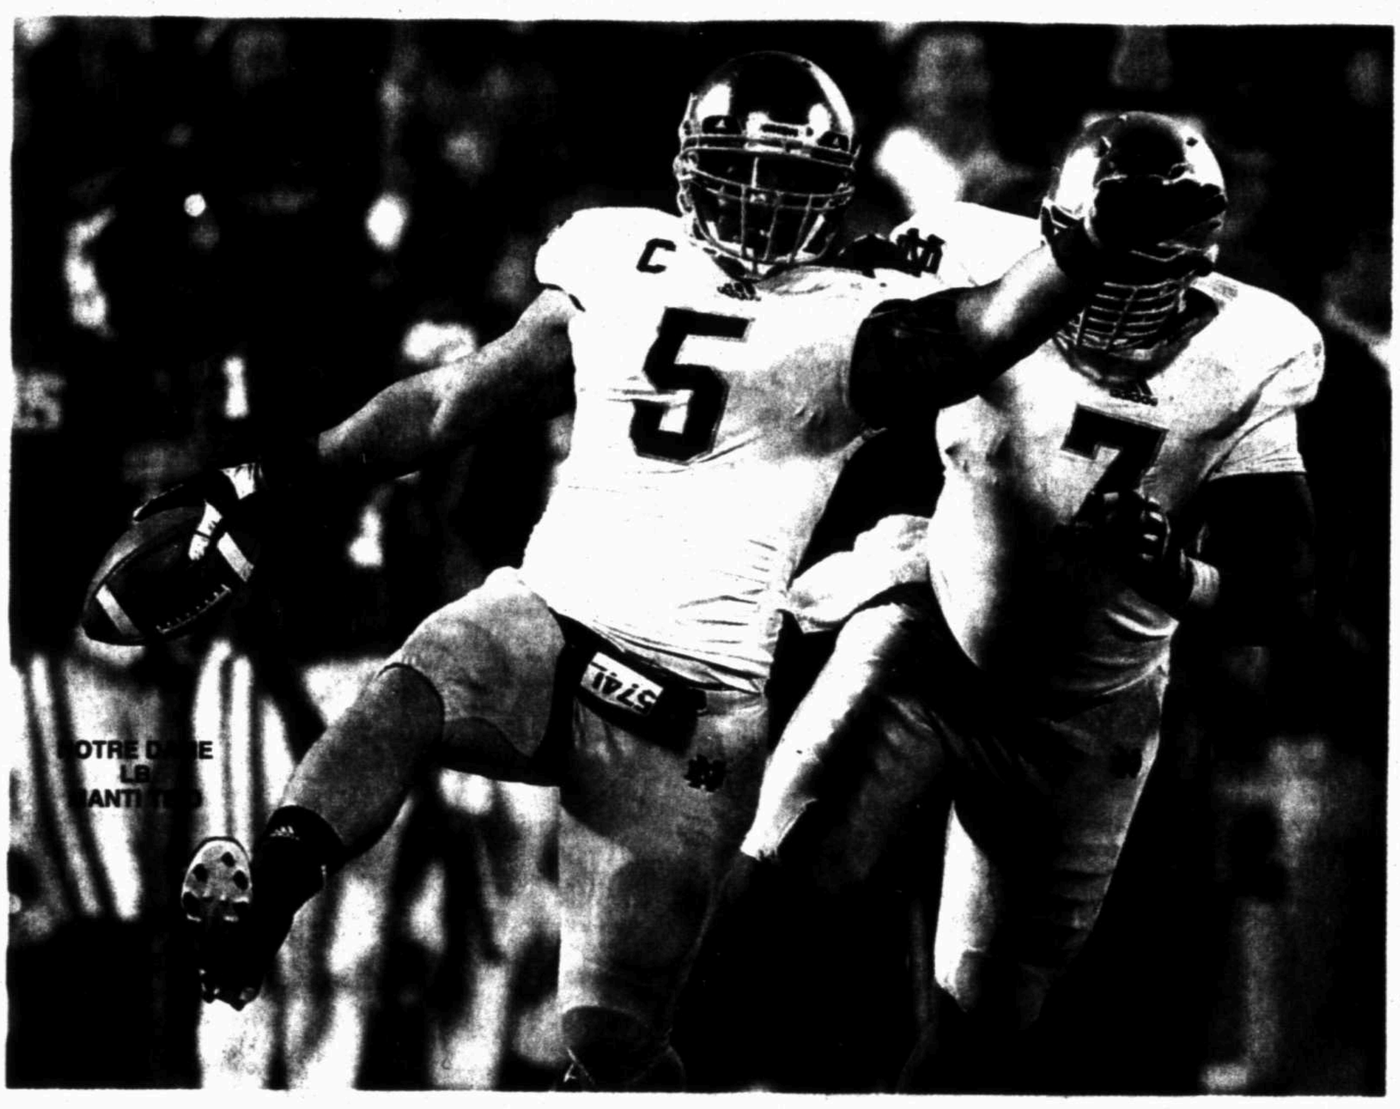
Time to go bowling

For many, the holiday season simply wouldn't be complete without the bowl games. While there is plenty of lobbying for an extended playoff system at the highest level of college football, the holidays for many wouldn't feel the same without the bowl games. For sports fans, it means there's something to watch on television every day during a time when your other choices mainly consist of Christmas movies or a marathon of reruns of shows ranging from NCIS to Law & Order to Big Bang Theory. Yes, there are 35 bowl games this season, and it does seem like entirely too many. But when it's either a college football bowl game or watching Miracle on 34th Street for the 18th time in a month, which would you choose? Here's a rundown of some of the things worth watching for over the next four weeks:



COMPILED BY SPORTS WRITER JONATHAN HULL

Top Games

The BCS National Championship between No. 1 Notre Dame and No. 2 Alabama is obviously must-see TV as the Irish try to end the SEC's reign over the college football world. However, a couple of the other BCS games don't exactly scream "You have to watch!" One could argue this is the worst slate of BCS games in the history of the organization. There are other games you won't want to miss, though.

COTTON BOWL
TEXAS A&M VS. OKLAHOMA
JAN. 4, ARLINGTON

While it's not the A&M-Texas matchup many fans in the state were hoping for, this isn't a bad consolation with the Aggies facing one of their former Big 12 brethren. A&M is one of the hottest brands in the country right now with Heisman-winning freshman QB Johnny Manziel behind center. Oklahoma is feeling spurned after not making it to the BCS on a technicality.

FIESTA BOWL
OREGON VS. KANSAS STATE
JAN. 3, GLENDALE, ARIZ.

At one point in the season, it appeared this might be the matchup for the BCS Championship. The Fiesta Bowl pulled off a coup to pit these two teams against each other. There should be plenty of offense, too, with K-State sporting Heisman finalist Collin Klein against Oregon's dynamic backfield of DeAnthony Thomas and Kenjon Barner.

CHICK-FIL-A BOWL
CLEMSON VS. LSU
DEC. 31, ATLANTA

LSU's defense has been one of the premier units in the country the past few seasons, and is a perfect display of what SEC football is all about. SEC haters should appreciate seeing one of the conference's elite defenses tested by one of the most explosive offenses in the country. Clemson can put points on the board in a hurry.

PINSTRIPE BOWL
SYRACUSE VS. WEST VIRGINIA
DEC. 29, BRONX, N.Y.

This was once a great rivalry that appeared to be put on hold with West Virginia's move to the Big 12 this season. Thanks to the bowl games, this rivalry continues. There will be a lot of yards posted with Geno Smith at QB for West Virginia and Ryan Nassib managing the Syracuse offense. It's likely going to be odd for both fan bases to see the winner hoist the George Steinbrenner Trophy instead of the traditional Ben Schwartzwalder Trophy.

HOLIDAY BOWL
BAYLOR VS. UCLA
DEC. 27, SAN DIEGO

Like offense? Then you'll love this matchup. Robert Griffin III might be in the NFL now, but Baylor's offense was still the most prolific in the country. And the Bears don't exactly get many stops on defense. That means a big day for UCLA RB Johnathan Franklin.

NEW MEXICO BOWL
NEVADA VS. ARIZONA
TODAY, ALBUQUERQUE

That's right, the first bowl game of the year is definitely worth watching. Both teams might have a 7-5 record, but both also represent one of the things that make the college game so unique — gimmick offenses. Nevada utilizes the Pistol formation to run an option attack, while Arizona uses the spread option look made famous by their first-year coach Rich Rodriguez while he was at West Virginia. It will also likely be the shortest game in terms of duration.

Coaching Carousel

As usual, there have been plenty of coaching changes at the end of the college season. And some of the teams that have lost their coaches are yet to hire replacements. Here's a list of the bowl teams experiencing coaching changes heading into the holidays:

■ Texas Tech. Tommy Tuberville pulled a shocking move by jumping ship to Cincinnati, which will be coached by Steve Stripling in the Belk Bowl after its former head coach Butch Jones accepted the head job at Tennessee. The Red Raiders just announced former quarterback Kliff Kingsbury as their new head coach. Kingsbury had been the offensive coordinator at Texas A&M. Kingsbury will be in attendance for the Meineke Car Care Bowl, but offensive line coach Chris Thomsen will patrol the sideline.

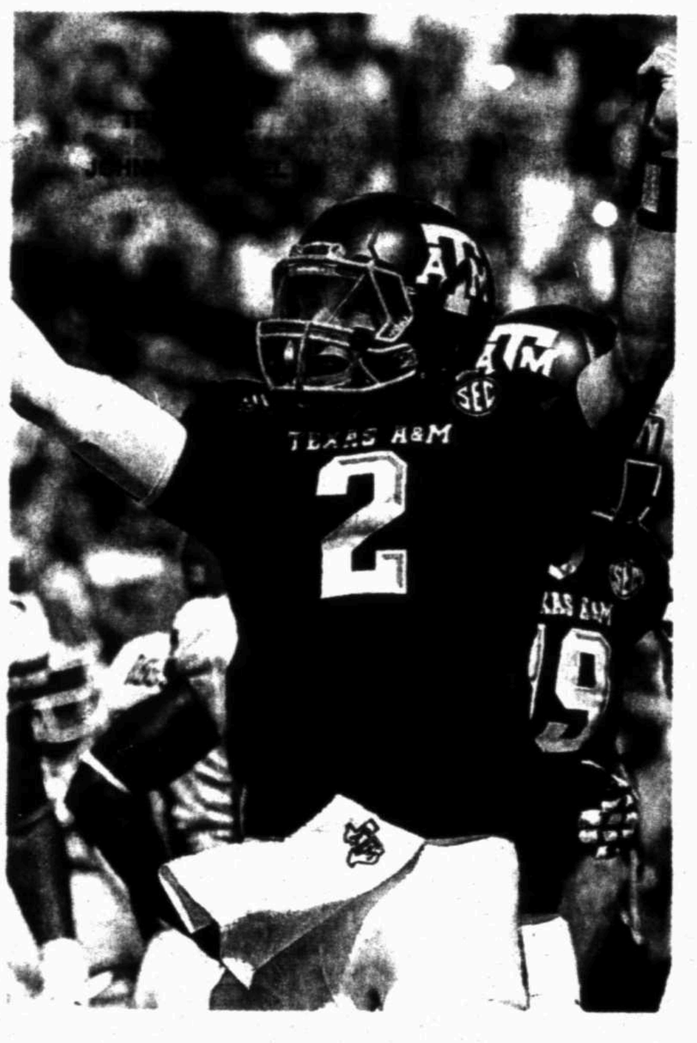
■ Wisconsin. Former coach Bret Bielema made a somewhat surprising move to Arkansas after the season, and athletic director and former coach Barry Alvarez will coach the Badgers against Stanford in the Rose Bowl. Wisconsin is yet to hire Bielema's replacement.

■ Arkansas State. Gus Malzahn stuck with the Red Wolves for only a season before bolting back to Auburn for the head coaching job there. Arkansas State just hired Texas co-offensive coordinator Bryan Harsin as the new head coach. Defensive coordinator John Thompson will serve as interim head coach during the GoDaddy.com Bowl against Kent State.

■ North Carolina State. Tom O'Brien was fired after a 7-5 season, and the Wolfpack welcomed Northern Illinois coach Dave Doeren as their new head coach after he took the Huskies to an Orange Bowl bid this season. Longtime O'Brien assistant Dana Bible will coach the Wolfpack in the Music City Bowl against Vanderbilt.

■ Northern Illinois. Speaking of Doeren's departure from NIU, the Huskies promoted offensive coordinator Rod Carey to head coach, and he will make his debut in the Orange Bowl against Florida State.

■ San Jose State. After taking the Spartans from a 2-10 record to a 10-2 mark in three years, Mike MacIntyre was hired at Colorado in an attempt to turn around another struggling program. Defensive coordinator Kent Baer will lead the Spartans into the Military Bowl against Bowling Green.



Players to Watch

MANTI TE'O, LB, NOTRE DAME

Te'o is the best defensive player in the country. When an inside linebacker is considered to be a top five pick by NFL scouts, then he's special.

JOHNNY MANZIEL, QB, TEXAS A&M

He's the first freshman to ever win the Heisman Trophy. If that doesn't make you want to check him out, then nothing will.

JARVIS JONES, OLB, GEORGIA

Jones is in the backfield of opposing offenses so often he should be required to apply for permanent residence.

TAVON AUSTIN, WR, WEST VIRGINIA

A lot of hype was given to WVU QB Geno Smith earlier in the season, but Austin is the most exciting player on the Mountaineer roster. He's electric in the open field.

KA'DEEM CAREY, RB, ARIZONA

Carey led FBS in rushing with 146.4 yards per game. Arizona's spread option offense puts him on display, and he's a player who could be one of Manziel's biggest challengers for next season's Heisman.

JORDAN LYNCH, QB, NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Lynch is more of a runner than a passer, but his heroics against Kent State in the MAC Championship earned him some national recognition. It's going to be interesting to see how he fares against Florida State's vaunted defense.

COLLIN KLEIN, QB, KANSAS STATE

Klein was once the favorite to win the Heisman, but got punished for the Wildcats loss to Baylor. Losing is rare to Klein, who always finds a way to win.

KENJON BARNER & DEANTHONY THOMAS, RB, OREGON

Oregon's backfield is lethal. Either Barner or Thomas can go the distance anytime they touch the ball.

CHANCE WARMACK, OG, ALABAMA

Fat guys need love, too! Warmack is as good as any offensive lineman in the country.

Swag Bags

Every bowl game provides each player with gifts, or what is better known as "swag", for their participation. Some bowls provide a more impressive collection of gifts than others. Here's some notable swag bags from this year's games:

■ Texas fans might be disappointed the Longhorns are playing in the Alamo Bowl as opposed to the Cotton Bowl or a BCS bowl, but the players will be pretty stoked about their swag bags. Each player is given an Apple iPad Mini and a Fossil watch to go along with a $100 Best Buy gift card.

■ There might be nothing that college-aged men like more nowadays than expensive headphones for their iPods. The Liberty Bowl and New Orleans Bowl will have some very happy players on their hands. Iowa State and Tulsa will get Sol Republic Tracks HD Anthem headphones, which are about $150, from the Liberty Bowl along with Nike athletic shoes, sandals, sunglasses and a backpack. The New Orleans Bowl will be rewarding Louisiana-Lafayette and East Carolina players with the ever-popular Beats by Dre headphones as well as a Fossil watch.

■ In today's world, everyone needs a flat-screen HD TV. The Meineke Car Care Bowl of Texas is providing a 32-inch one to all players from Minnesota and Texas Tech. No word on how the Gophers plan on actually transporting around 100 televisions back to Minnesota.

■ Wouldn't you think the Russell Athletic Sports Bowl would provide a ton of athletic gear as its swag? That's simply not the case. Each player will receive a $420 shopping spree to a Best Buy in Orlando, though. Most will probably like that trade.

■ One clothing sponsor that is providing its own brand's swag is New Era, which hosts the Pinstripe Bowl at Yankee Stadium. New Era has probably the most popular caps on the market, especially among college students, and will hand out more than one, along with a duffle bag, winter hat, hoodie, sweatpants, thermal, polo and crew shirts.

■ Many bowls have begun using the gift suite as their main provision of swag. A gift suite is a private event in which game participants are given an order form and allowed to select a gift, or gifts, up to a value that is predetermined by each specific bowl, but not to exceed $550, which is the limit set by the NCAA. The MAACO Las Vegas Bowl, for example, is providing only a gift suite. This was done as a way to allow players to do some holiday shopping for friends and family as well.

Some games you must skip, and others you must see this bowl season

oleroy@mrt.com

It's college bowl season time, and you know what that means? Family time or time to catch up with reading a good book.

I know you're thinking, why is a sports writer telling me to skip the bowl season. But no, I'm not saying to skip the entire bowl season, I'm just saying it's probably OK to skip a good portion of it thanks to the several meaningless games being played over the next couple of weeks.

Isn't it enough that ESPN pushes an anchor that goes by "Coach" just because his last name begins with that word? Now they have to push one bad bowl after another.

I get it. Bowls are about money for sponsors and to the schools participating in the respective games. It's just that there are too many out there.

There was a time in a galaxy not far away when bowls were special and highly coveted. Not everybody, even with a winning record, got to go to a bowl game. Now there are 35 bowl games, which means that unless you were the dumb athletic director from Louisiana Tech who turned down the Independence Bowl for something better (Really?!!) then it is likely that your favorite FBS team with a winning record will be playing in the "We're Only Here to Pitch Our Product Bowl."

So excuse my skepticism and sarcasm for the next few weeks, but really folks, unless you're either Alabama or Notre Dame playing in the national championship game, there's going to be very little to cheer about.

But on that note, I have combed through the bowls and picked out the must-see bowls and some of the must-skips.

Let's start off with the must-skips.

Famous Idaho Potato Bowl, Toledo (9-3) vs. Utah State (10-2). First of all the name is ridiculous. I mean, really?? Second, I'm always going to pick this bowl as a must-skip because it is played in Boise, Idaho. Nothing against Boise, but I really hate that awful blue turf. If you can manage to avoid a headache watching a game played on blue turf, the game features two teams with great records but no noteworthy wins on either schedule.

Hawaii Bowl, SMU (6-6) vs. Fresno State (9-3). Well, unless you're an SMU fan or just really want a break from family and/or in-laws then this game played on Christmas Eve night is for you. SMU barely qualified for a bowl thanks to play-

MRT'S GUIDE TO THE 2012-13 COLLEGE BOWL SEASON

NEW MEXICO BOWL
NEVADA (7-5) VS. ARIZONA (7-5)

When: Noon today
Where: University Stadium, Albuquerque, N.M.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Yes, only because there will be plenty of points

The scoop: A Pac-12 team and a Mountain West team may not be much to write home about, but this one could be exciting.

HAWAII BOWL
SMU (6-6) VS. FRESNO STATE (9-3)

When: 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 24
Where: Aloha Stadium, Honolulu
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Hey, it's football on a night when there isn't any

The scoop: SMU not only goes to back-to-back bowls but gets to go back to Hawaii. Hard on the school's athletic budget, but fun for the kids and what fans can afford it. As far as the game, lots of points could be the norm in this one.

RUSSELL ATHLETIC BOWL
VIRGINIA TECH (6-6) VS. RUTGERS (9-3)

When: 4:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28
Where: Florida Citrus Bowl, Orlando, Fla.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Only if it comes with free stuff

The scoop: Virginia Tech has struggled all year and Rutgers was a few points away from playing in the BCS. It's hard to figure out motivation for either of these teams.

BUFFALO WILD WINGS BOWL
MICHIGAN STATE (6-6) VS. TCU (7-5)

When: 9:15 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29
Where: Sun Devil Stadium, Tempe, Ariz.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Maybe

The scoop: There is much more motivation in this game for TCU than Michigan State, which could make this one a blowout.

GATOR BOWL
MISSISSIPPI STATE (8-4) VS. NORTHWESTERN (9-3)

When: 11 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: EverBank Field, Jacksonville, Fla.
TV: ESPN2

Worth Watching: Hey's it's New Year's, why not

The scoop: These SEC-Big 10 games are always interesting, and this one could be.

FIESTA BOWL
KANSAS STATE (11-1) VS. OREGON (11-1)

When: 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 3
Where: University of Phoenix Stadium, Glendale, Ariz.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Oh yea

The scoop: A clash of styles that could produce the year's best bowl game.

FAMOUS IDAHO POTATO BOWL
TOLEDO (9-3) VS. UTAH STATE (10-2)

When: 3:30 p.m. today
Where: Bronco Stadium, Boise, Idaho
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Maybe

The scoop: Not sure why to watch this bowl, but it will make you hungry with all the potato commercials.

LITTLE CAESARS PIZZA BOWL
CENTRAL MICHIGAN (6-6) VS. WESTERN KENTUCKY (7-5)

When: 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 26
Where: Ford Field, Detroit
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Uhh ...

The scoop: Someone needs to make sure that new Western Kentucky coach Bobby Petrino doesn't take a motorcycle to the game to watch his new team.

MEINEKE CAR CARE BOWL
MINNESOTA (6-6) VS. TEXAS TECH (7-5)

When: 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28
Where: Reliant Stadium, Houston
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Sure, why not

The scoop: The Red Raiders hired a new coach so this could be audition time for some players in this game.

MUSIC CITY BOWL
VANDERBILT (8-4) VS. N.C. STATE (7-5)

When: 11 a.m., Monday, Dec. 31
Where: LP Field, Nashville, Tenn.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Ehh ...

The scoop: Vanderbilt is playing in its hometown in a bowl game, but Wolfpack players are auditioning for a new coach so there are some interesting story lines in this one.

CAPITAL ONE BOWL
GEORGIA (11-2) VS. NEBRASKA (10-3)

When: Noon, Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: Citrus Bowl, Orlando, Fla.
TV: ABC

Worth Watching: Oh yea

The scoop: Motivation for Georgia could be an issue, but one thing is for sure, there will be lots of red in the stands.

COTTON BOWL
TEXAS A&M (10-2) VS. OKLAHOMA (10-2)

When: 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 4
Where: Cowboys Stadium, Arlington
TV: FOX

Worth Watching: Heck Yes

The scoop: Possibly the best match up of the bowl season between two former Big 12 rivals. Plus, Johnny Manziel is playing, so it should be fun.

POINSETTIA BOWL
SAN DIEGO STATE (9-3) VS. BYU (7-5)

When: 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20
Where: Qualcomm Stadium, San Diego
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Uhhh ...

The scoop: BYU is back in its old bowl stomping grounds in San Diego and playing an old WAC rival. Not much else on this one.

MILITARY BOWL
BOWLING GREEN (8-4) VS. SAN JOSE STATE (10-2)

When: 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27
Where: RFK Stadium, Washington
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Yes

The scoop: The Spartans have been rebuilt and will head east and bring their brand of football with them.

ARMED FORCES BOWL
RICE (6-6) VS. AIR FORCE (6-6)

When: 10:45 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 29
Where: Amon Carter Stadium, Fort Worth
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Only because a Texas team is playing in it.

The scoop: OK, Air Force's option offense is fun to watch, but man it's way too early for a bowl game.

SUN BOWL
GEORGIA TECH (6-7) VS. SOUTHERN CAL (7-5)

When: 2 p.m., Monday, Dec. 31
Where: Sun Bowl, El Paso
TV: CBS

Worth Watching: Not sure

The scoop: A team with a losing record and a team that struggled down the stretch after having national championship aspirations ... you be the judge on whether to watch this one.

OUTBACK BOWL
SOUTH CAROLINA (10-2) VS. MICHIGAN (8-4)

When: Noon, Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: Raymond Jaymes Stadium, Tampa, Fla.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Hey, Spurrier's coaching, nuf said.

The scoop: By all accounts this should be a blowout but expect Michigan to put up a fight to help salvage a season gone awry.

BBVA COMPASS BOWL
PITTSBURGH (6-6) VS. MISSISSIPPI (6-6)

When: Noon Saturday, Jan. 5
Where: Legion Field, Birmingham, Ala.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Ehh ...

The scoop: A pair of 6-6 teams playing in the middle of all the BCS bowl games, what's wrong with this picture?

BEEF O' BRADY'S BOWL
BALL STATE (9-3) VS. CENTRAL FLORIDA (8-4)

When: 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 21
Where: Tropicana Field, St. Petersburg, Fla.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Well ...

The scoop: If David Letterman makes a cameo maybe watch this one, but it is the only football on that night so it might be worth it.

BELK BOWL
DUKE (6-6) VS. CINCINNATI (9-3)

When: 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27
Where: Bank of America Stadium, Charlotte, N.C.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Maybe

The scoop: Duke returning to a bowl is intriguing but still this is a bowl sponsored by a department store. Wonder what kind of swag comes for this one?

FIGHT HUNGER BOWL
ARIZONA STATE (7-5) VS. NAVY (8-4)

When: 2:15 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29
Where: AT&T Park, San Francisco
TV: ESPN2

Worth Watching: It's on ESPN2, so that should tell you all you need to know.

The scoop: Navy's triple-option offense is fun to watch, and it's shocking that coaching nomad Todd Graham is actually coaching in this game.

LIBERTY BOWL
IOWA STATE (6-6) VS. TULSA (10-3)

When: 2:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 31
Where: Liberty Bowl, Memphis, Tenn.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Maybe

The scoop: This is an intriguing matchup because this might be a respect game for Tulsa as the Conference USA champ.

ROSE BOWL GAME
presented by VIZIO
STANFORD (11-2) VS. WISCONSIN (8-5)

When: 4 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: It's the first of the BCS bowls, duh

The scoop: Another game where red will dominate, and features two run-oriented offenses. It's like the Rose Bowl, circa 1968.

GODADDY.COM BOWL
KENT STATE (11-2) VS. ARKANSAS STATE (9-3)

When: 8 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 6
Where: Ladd-Peebles Stadium, Mobile, Ala.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: At least for the commercials

The scoop: This could be a good game, but not quite the prelude to the BCS Championship you would be expecting.

NEW ORLEANS BOWL
EAST CAROLINA (8-4) VS. LOUISIANA-LAFAYETTE (7-4)

When: 11 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 22
Where: Superdome, New Orleans, La.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Sure, why not

The scoop: This is almost a home game for the Rajun Cajuns, so expect a slightly raucous crowd and not much defense. This one could be fun to watch but will take a while.

HOLIDAY BOWL
BAYLOR (7-5) VS. UCLA (9-4)

When: 8:45 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27
Where: Qualcomm Stadium, San Diego
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Yes!!!

The scoop: Finally a game that features two teams most people recognize. Get ready for this one to be high scoring and fun to watch. You know, a Holiday Bowl that harkens back to the days of Steve Young and Jim McMahon.

PINSTRIPE BOWL
SYRACUSE (7-5) VS. WEST VIRGINIA (7-5)

When: 2:15 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29
Where: Yankee Stadium, New York
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: An emphatic yes

The scoop: An old Eastern states rivalry is renewed, and Yankee fans might actually get to see some offense in the postseason in this game.

CHICK-FIL-A BOWL
LSU (10-2) VS. CLEMSON (10-2)

When: 6:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 31
Where: Georgia Dome, Atlanta
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Yes

The scoop: Les Miles' press conferences are always fun, but this one could be a great game between a team with a good offense and good defense. Which means it will come down to LSU's anemic offense and Clemson's defense.

ORANGE BOWL
NORTHERN ILLINOIS (12-1) VS. FLORIDA STATE (11-2)

When: 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: Sun Life Stadium, Miami
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: That's your call

The scoop: Northern Illinois messed up the postseason plans for a lot of teams with this bid, so expect the Huskies to play motivated football. Florida State on the other hand is in a tough situation in this one.

BCS NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHP
NOTRE DAME (12-0) VS. ALABAMA (12-1)

When: 7:30 p.m., Monday, Jan. 7
Where: Sun Life Stadium, Miami
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Duh!

The scoop: No this isn't your father's Notre Dame-Alabama game, but this one has the potential to be one of the better BCS title games in a while. Expect lots of defense, but there will be enough offense to make things interesting.

MAACO BOWL
BOISE STATE (10-2) VS. WASHINGTON (7-5)

When: 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 22
Where: Sam Boyd Stadium, Las Vegas
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: OK, if you have to

The scoop: The final race of the Supercross season will draw more people than this game, but this one could be interesting. Washington has improved over last year and should be better this time around in a bowl. Right?

INDEPENDENCE BOWL
LOUISIANA-MONROE (8-4) VS. OHIO (8-4)

When: 1 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28
Where: Independence Stadium, Shreveport, La.
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Why not

The scoop: Louisiana-Monroe beat Arkansas earlier this season and Ohio University was though it might be a BCS buster. This game is a long way from the BCS but might produce some good football.

ALAMO BOWL
TEXAS (8-4) VS. OREGON STATE (9-3)

When: 5:45 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29
Where: Alamodome, San Antonio
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Sure

The scoop: Hang on in this one because there could be some points scored.

HEART OF DALLAS BOWL
PURDUE (6-6) VS. OKLAHOMA STATE (7-5)

When: 11 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1
Where: Cotton Bowl, Dallas
TV: ESPNU

Worth Watching: Yes, if you can find it

The scoop: Oklahoma State was thinking it might end up in the other bowl in the Metroplex on this day, but it didn't work out the Cowboys' way. So motivation will be a key for the Cowboys.

SUGAR BOWL
FLORIDA (11-1) VS. LOUISVILLE (10-2)

When: 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 2
Where: Sugar Bowl, New Orleans
TV: ESPN

Worth Watching: Yes

The scoop: Cardinals coach Charlie Strong faces off against his old employer as a head coach, and Florida will be eyeing a big bowl win heading into next season.

ing against Conference USA opponents. While June Jones has done a good job of taking this program to bowl games, this season's resume wasn't too bowl worthy with blowout losses to Baylor, Texas A&M, UCF, and Rice.

Little Ceasars Bowl, Central Michigan (6-6) vs. Western Kentucky (7-5). Unless you're getting free pizza for watching this, why would you want to waste your time. Oh, did I mention it's Central Michigan against Western Kentucky?

GoDaddy.com Bowl, Kent State (11-2) vs. Arkansas State (9-3). I have to admit, I like the commercials for GoDaddy, but this game is held the night before the national championship game. I'm sure nothing will get you pumped up more for a national championship game than watching Kent State and Arkansas State, right?

Now here are what I think are the must sees.

Holiday Bowl, Baylor (7-5) vs. UCLA (9-4). Holiday Bowl officials like shootouts and they may get one here thanks to Baylor alone -- a great offense and a not-so great defense. But hey, it's bowl season. Who really cares about defenses at this time of year? The only knock is that it's a 8:45 p.m. start (local time), so you may want to have a good excuse ready on why you were late for work the next day.

Alamo Bowl, Texas (8-4) vs. Oregon State (9-3). I admit, the only reason I'm interested in this bowl is to see how the Longhorns react to playing in this game. I don't think too many Longhorn fans were excited about their team playing a bowl game up the road from Austin. That's like New York Yankee fans getting excited about just winning the A.L. East these days. Texas still wants to capitalize on having the home field advantage, while the Beavers surprised many by the season they had.

Chick-Fil-A Bowl, LSU (10-2) vs. Clemson (10-2). Watching LSU coach Les Miles in press conferences leading up this game is entertaining enough for me. This guy is just nuts! If that's not enough, both of these teams are 10-2 and it also matches LSU's defense against Clemson's high-potent offense.

Fiesta Bowl, Kansas State (11-1) vs. Oregon (11-1). These two teams very well could have been playing for a national championship but instead are playing in what could be one of the most interesting bowl games of the season. Can Collin Klein work his magic enough to outlast the Ducks and their offense?

Cotton Bowl, Texas A&M (10-2) vs. Oklahoma (10-2). At least two former Big 12 foes are meeting again. Or maybe this game should be called, who hates Texas the most? Either way, I'm interested to see how OU quarterback Landry Jones does in his last college game that features Heisman Trophy winner and freshman phenom Johnny Manziel (I'm not calling him by his other 10 nicknames) on the other side of the field.

BCS National Championship, Notre Dame (12-0) vs. Alabama (12-1). What more can be said? This is the national championship game, dudes!! Plus, it feels like we're a in a time warp going back about 24 years — the last time both of these storied programs were on top. Instead of Gene Stallings, you have Nick Saban coaching the Crimson Tide. And instead of having Chris Zorich making plays on defense for the Fighting Irish, you have Manti Te'o.

For additional business savings opportunities, ask your dealer about the GM Business Choice Program, or visit gmbusinesschoice.com for program details and vehicle eligibility

To learn more, visit gmfleet.com/vehicle-tax-deductions/index.jsp

1 The tax incentives are available for depreciable tangible property which is acquired by purchase for use in the active conduct of a trade or business. Additional limitation based on purchases—for the 2012 tax year, the aggregate deduction of $139,000 under Internal Revenue code Section 179 is most beneficial to small businesses that place in service no more than $560,000 of "Section 179 property" during the year. Certain vehicles, models and restrictions apply. Consult your tax professional for details.
2 Each individual's tax situation is unique, therefore, please consult your tax professional to confirm vehicle depreciation deduction and tax benefits. For more details, visit www.irs.gov, or to calculate your bonus depreciation, visit www.depreciationbonus.org.
3 For vehicles that qualify as passenger automobiles under the Internal Revenue Code, there is a $11,160 per vehicle depreciation deduction cap.
4 For vehicles that qualify as passenger automobiles under the Internal Revenue Code that are trucks or vans, there is a $11,360 per vehicle depreciation deduction cap.
5 For vehicles that qualify as sport utility vehicles under the Internal Revenue Code, there is a $25,000 per vehicle depreciation deduction cap © 2012 General Motors. All rights reserved.

Open House
The Cats Meow
408 Andrews Hwy.
Thurs - Sat 10am-6pm

Its that wonderful time of year when the world celebrates the birth of Jesus. We would like to invite you to our Annual Open House this Friday & Saturday December 14 & 15. This year we have hundreds of ornaments from the early 1900's through the 1970's. They have come from Germany, Russia, Poland, Czech, Japan and the good old USA. Come view our Santa Collection with everything from a 1930's Santa who's eyes light up to mid century Velvet Santa's. We have trees decorated in everything from the traditional Holiday red and gold to trees trimmed with sewing items, photographs and vintage tins. Steven is selling some of his bottle brush trees. The shop is packed with fine antiques for friends, loved ones and even yourself. We may be the only store in town who sells mink and leopard bow ties. Come sign up for a $100.00 gift certificate and enjoy some cider and Christmas cheer.

December 22 at 2:00 and 4:00 we will have lectures on the Traditions of Christmas. We have a surprise guest speaker who will bring part of her Christmas collection. Steven will show you his "Good Shepard Tree" created in memory of his Grandmother. The lectures will take place in the doll museum and seating is limited. Come share your Christmas traditions with us.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas

Classified Style

'Twas the day before Christmas,
I walked in the house
I completed the shopping,
except for my spouse;
I was tired from all
that running around,
Yet a gift for my husband
could not be found;

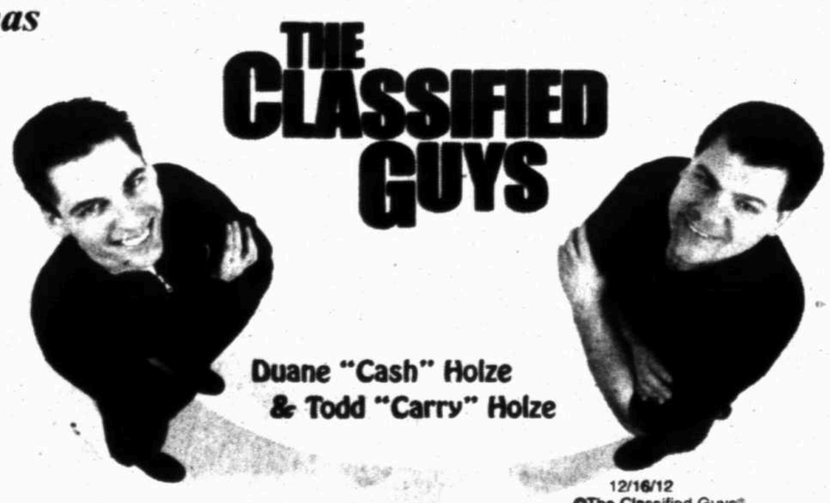
He lay fast asleep all snug in his chair,
And snoring away without any care;
He's getting so lazy and sluggish these days,
I needed a gift for his lethargic ways.

Then out on the road there arose such a clatter,
I sprang to the door to see what was the matter.
A man on a bicycle, he flew like a flash,
And slipped on some ice right into our trash.

The tracks I could see through the new-fallen snow,
A puffy white mound had cushioned his blow.
He brushed off the flakes and walked off the pain,
Then hopped on his bike after fixing the chain.

"I got it!" I thought. "My husband's great gift;
Some exercise gear will soon make him swift,"
I picked up the paper for the classified section,
In no time at all I'd find a selection;

A Gazelle, a Bowflex or a rowing machine;
A thigh master, nautilus or pilates routine!
From easy to use to assembly required,
Would any of these get my husband inspired?



There's so much equipment from which to choose,
If he had any one, a few pounds he could lose.
The listings I searched for one he might like,
An elliptical, treadmill or stationary bike?

And then, in a twinkling, an ad caught my eye,
For a complete home gym I wanted to buy.
So the seller I called and he answered the phone,
A right jolly old fellow said, "Come over I'm home."

He was waiting at the door, all decked out in red,
Complete with a Santa cap placed on his head;
With a cherry red nose he was quite full of cheer,
Could it be too much eggnog or too many beers?

His eyes-how they twinkled!
His beard was snow white!
He seemed so familiar, a memorable sight!
He had a broad face and smiled with a grin,
That drew much attention to his big double chin;

"The equipment," he shared, "is in like new condition,
It'll get you in shape if you have the ambition;
Try crunches and presses and work every limb,
I used it quite often when I used to be slim.

See my job it requires just a few extra pounds,
And I do understand how crazy that sounds;
But I'll give you the gym at a rock bottom price,
I can see in your eyes you're not naughty, but nice;"

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And magically lifted it up with a jerk,
To the car he went and strapped it on snug,
Then turned to me quickly and gave me a hug;

"Thank you," I said, "for completing my mission,"
As I glanced back at him, I turned the ignition.
Then I heard him exclaim as I drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all,
and to all a Good-Night."

YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD'S BEEN REZONED OR HADN'T YOU HEARD?

When local governments make decisions they are required to publish a newspaper notice to let you know. But that could change.

Local governmental entities across the state want to bury their public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites.

What you don't know will affect you personally!

If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
