Miners Get 3-Day Work-Week

Chiang Back in Command of Nationalists Fight With Reds

"WINNING this contest," said Charles A. Spencer, Pampan who is a student at Wayland College, Plainview, "has come so much as a surprise that I was not prepared to meet the crisis." In a field of several hundred entries, Sencer took first prize (a newspaper camera) in the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce photographic contest. His scene above, taken just south of Pampa, was entered in the amateur class. John Humphreys, Canadian, won the professional class with a scene of a ranch home.

CHENGTU, China — (AP) — Chiang Kai-shek was back today in command of Nationalist China's fight against the Communists. He took over shortly after arriving in this new refugee capital from fallen Chungking.

The confused, travel-weary Nationalist government still was trying to set up shop in its fourth capital this year when the Generalissimo announced he was resuming direction of operations against the Reds.

Chiang made the move, his office said in a statement, as head of the Nationalist Emergency Council. The statement said he had no intention — at the moment — of resuming the presidency he gave up last January. But high sources predicted he would do that, too, before long.

One of the Generalissimo's first moves was to call in other Nationalist leaders to discuss measures for checking the Red tide flooding into southwestern China.

The Communists took Chungking yesterday. The takeover apparently was swift. The signal that the Reds had completely occupied the city of 1,000,000 persons came at 6:30 last night. This was a formal announcement by the telecommunications bureau that service to Chungking was suspended.

(Hong Kong newspapers gave the picture of Chungking's transfer to Communist rule. It was in the classic pattern of many a Nationalist city, including the PITTSBURGH—(AP)—John L. Lewis' back to work orders for his striking United Mine Workers today drew a quick cheer from his hard pressed diggers.

Lewis' order, backed up by his 200-man Policy Committee, reinstated the three-day work-week in hard and soft coal mines across the country starting Monday.

"That's good news," declared UMW Representative Dennis Harshall of the rich Pittsburgh District 5 when he heard the Lewis edict.

"The men will be glad to hear it. The prospects of a Christmas without work weren't very bright for our men."

Lewis' order came less than 11 hours after the diggers quit the pits. Actually they lose only two work days — today and Friday — since Saturday is an optional work day. The mines are idle Sunday.

Today's shutdown was complete. Reports from coal-producing states indicated only scattered non-union strip (surface) mines and 16,000 progressive mine workers in Illinois were at work.

Only maintenance crews reported for work this morning.

In most mines, the 10 p.m. shifts worked a regular turn to get in a full day's work. This, however, is a preparatory rather than a production shift.

Two hours before the truce expired, some 200 miners failed to report the overnight shift at the No. 4 and 5 mines of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation at California, Pa.

Lewis has had his soft coal Wage Policy Committee in New York all week. He's postponed meetings three times. The latest was this morning.

It was the Wage Policy Committee that met with Lewis on Nov. 9 in Chicago and decided to send the 380,000 soft coal miners east of the Mississippi back to work for three weeks. They had been idle 52 days. Earlier, Lewis directed 20,000 Western soft coal and 80,000 anthracite diggers to go back to work.

President Truman is keeping a close watch on the situation from his vacation retreat in Key West, Fla.

For months, Lewis has been trying to get a new contract to enforce the demands he's never publicly announced. He's merely said they would add 30 to 35 cents a ton to the cost of coal.

The miners' basic wage is $14.05 for an eight-hour day. Average weekly earnings run about $70.

But the operators pay millions of dollars to the miners besides wages. Through a 20-cents-a-ton royalty they finance entirely the cost of a $100-a-month pensions for retired miners and a health and welfare fund.

The last strike started Sept. 19. It began shortly after Lewis announced the welfare and pension payments had to be suspended because he said Southern operators stopped contributions when the contract expired last June 30.

BLAST WRECKED AUTOMOBILE—Mrs. Mildred Noble, wife of a well-known Dallas gambler, was killed in Dallas when she attempted to start a car parked in front of the Noble home and the car was wrecked in a shattering explosion. Only this wreckage remained. Mrs. Noble's body was hurled 100 feet from the car. Justice of the Peace W. L. Richburg said he believed both dynamite and nitroglycerine were used to make a bomb which apparently was wired to the starter. (AP Wirephoto)

Humiliating Defeat Suffered By Italian Reds in Strike Try

ROME — (AP) — Italy's Communists suffered a humiliating defeat today in their attempt to paralyze this nation in a 24-hour general strike.

Seven hours after the strike started at 6 a.m. (11 p.m. CST) its effects were scarcely felt. It was much more of a failure than a similar one-day general strike in France last Friday, and the second flop in a month for the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL).

Government spokesmen said the walkout was a failure except in Italy's big northern factories, the chief centers of Italian Communist strength.

Even the Communists laid little claim to success. A spokesman for the CGIL admitted that transportation was nearly normal in most cities.

Yesterday the CGIL had appealed to all workers in Italy to join the strike in protest against the death of two farmhands in a clash with police in the south.

Today, however, a CGIL spokesman said: "The strike didn't intend to paralyze the nation. It was only a limited protest."

Thousands of non-strikers ignored the order by the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL) and went to work in makeshift transportation. Many stores were open in Rome.

Full effects of the strike had yet to be assessed. Reports from outlying districts were unavailable in the morning hours.

But in Rome only half of the city's transportation system was stalled by the strike. The strike, which began at 6 a.m. (Rome time), was scheduled to end at 6 a.m. Friday.

Rome radio said anti-Communist workers were manning special buses and about a third of the main streetcar lines.

Most Italians shrugged their shoulders and grumbled about the inconvenience caused by what non-Communist observers called

From Here on There'll Be a New Taste, in Water That Is

From here on out it will be the new taste in water that is.

City Engineer Ray Evans has been kept busy answering telephone calls from curious housewives inquiring about the change of taste in the city's water.

The water tastes differently because the new field, south of town, is in partial use. It has less salt and is softer.

Two of the pumps have been okayed by the engineering department and the third is still under test. It will remain in the test status for at least a week, Evans said this morning.

The supply pouring into the city now tests almost zero in salt—15 parts per million—and a hardness of 160 as compared to the old wells' hardness of 400.

Well No. 1, the first to be accepted and paid for by the city, has been in use since July and is producing 732 gallons a minute. This is a little over a million gallons per day. It was the only well accepted at the time when the three wells in the new field south of the city were completed. The other two were crooked and were not accepted, but have been since with the installation of submersible pumps.

Well No. 2, the largest, is now producing 974 gallons per minute when running wide open. This was clocked as 65.5 percent efficiency. When valved down it ran at 66 percent efficiency, for that condition, spouting 838 gallons per minute. This well was one of the crooked ones and has been fitted with a submersible pump.

Still under test and running below the required 65 percent efficiency, Well No. 3 has been able to produce only 560 gallons per minute. Evans said that the well will be run for another week before accepted in an attempt to develop it by continual pumping. The continual pumping is expected to loosen and open the pores in the water bearing sand to increase its productivity.

The other two pumps are now supplying the city with water. It is from these that water today is going into drinking glasses, shooting from fountains, and running into dishpans. This is the new tasting water.

But it is only part of Pampa's water picture. The scene will soon change with more piping, additional fire hydrants, and possibly more overhead storage tanks. The city is growing and the city is trying to keep the pace.

Broadcasting Convict Free Under Suspension

JACKSON, Miss. — (AP)— Mississippi's broadcasting convict is free under a six months suspension of sentence.

Gov. Fielding Wright granted a suspension of sentence yesterday to William Frank Moody, who Federal Communications officials recently found was using three shortwave transmitters at the penitentiary to communicate with relatives at Moss Point, Miss.

In Mississippi a suspension of sentence is a temporary parole. If during the period of the suspension the prisoner makes a good record he usually receives a permanent suspension, equivalent to a regular parole.

Moody was originally sent to the penitentiary at Parchman, Miss., on a seven-year sentence for robbery. Three subsequent escapes added 43 years to the sentence.

Today Deadline for Plaintiffs' Briefs

HOUSTON — (AP) — Today was the deadline for plaintiffs to file their briefs on final arguments in the $200,000,000 Texas City disaster damages mass trial.

Government attorneys will have until Dec. 14 to file an answer.

Some 2,000 to 3,000 plaintiffs, involved in about 300 damage suits, are asking that the federal government be held liable for damages suffered in the April 16-17 waterfront disaster, in which more than 500 were killed or missing.

Awards for Parade Set

Footballs and compacts will be awarded to three boys and girls with winning animals in the pet section of the Flight of Santa Claus Parade, Paul Beisenherz, Parade Committee chairman, said.

A special prize of a football or a compact will go to the child who has the most comical entry.

Footballs will be donated by Thompson Hardware, Pampa Hardware and Addington Western Store while the compacts will be gifts from Zale's, McCarley's and Leder's.

Boys and girls may decorate themselves and their pets. They may carry their pets in cages, wagons or ride them, Beisenherz said. No entry blank is needed for the pet section. Children who wish to enter should have their pets at the Junior High School playground at 2:30 p.m. one week from today.

"Because many of the children in the section will be tiny tots, the route for them will be from the Junior High School on Cuyler to the Santa Fe Tracks at Atchison and Foster," he added.

New Zealand Drops Statism

AUCKLAND, N. Z. — (AP) — A Labor government which brought advanced social legislation to New Zealand in the past 14 years has been turned out of office.

The government of Prime Minister Peter Fraser yesterday went down to defeat at the hands of the opposition Nationalist Party, which said the people were tired of government controls and would eliminate them where possible.

The new Prime Minister will be Sidney George Holland, 56, former businessman who has been opposition leader in the Wellington Parliament since the Labor government took office in 1935.

Final standing of the parties in a Parliament of 80 members showed the Nationalists will have 46 seats to Labor's 34.

Labor had a majority of four in the previous Parliament.

New Zealand is an island nation of only about 2,802,000 population and 103,935 square miles, but the outcome drew wide attention.

The Labor government of Australia, 1,200 miles to the west, faces a similar test at the polls Dec. 10.

Children Contest Shooting of Santa

CHICAGO — (AP) — In Pittsburgh a news broadcaster began his program "John L. Lewis just shot Santa Claus" — and then went on telling of the coal strike.

A dozen children promptly grabbed their telephones last night and called the Sun-Times here. "Say it isn't so!" they begged. The newspaper obliged.

U.S. Officials Show Concern Over Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany —(AP)— American officials showed increasing concern today over the question of rising German nationalism.

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy said last night there had been "some rise" in nationalistic tendencies in Western Germany. But he declared he was not certain whether the increase was more than could be expected.

A high commission survey group, basing its report on a poll of 3,800 Germans, found today that nationalists are becoming more vocal with the lessening of allied military controls.

The group reported some politicians were "beating drums" to gather nationalist sympathy but that there was no evidence of any general upsurge of the nazi-type thinking among the rank and file.

Earlier McCloy had said he assumed there were "areas and groups still motivated by nationalism in its sinister sense" — meaning nazism—as distinguished from healthy patriotism.

Some American officials have privately expressed concern at the increase of nazi-type publications, particularly in Bavaria. Throughout Bermany nationalists and neo-nazi elements have moved more brazenly into the open.

There also has been increased stirrings by such groups as the "friends of Otto Strasser" followers of one of the founders of the Nazi Party who is now in exile in Canada. Strasser's appeal for return to Germany has been rejected by the British.

Some Stores to Close for Game

A survey of business houses in town yesterday revealed some local stores will close for the Pampa-Wichita Falls football game tomorrow, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

Some stores will close at 1:30 p.m. honoring the district champions and will open again after the game, remaining open until about 7:30 p.m. Other stores will remain open during the game and close at the regular time.

The Retail Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce several days ago met and recommended closing for the game.

University Student Dies From Pistol Shot Through the Head

AUSTIN — (AP) — William Sydney (Red) Miles, 18, Freshman University of Texas student from Texas City, died instantly at 12:41 a.m. today from a pistol shot through the head.

He died in the bathroom of his A-Bar Hotel apartment. A pistol was found at his feet.

Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee said he would delay a verdict until fingerprints on the pistol were checked by the Department of Public Safety and a paraffin test was made to determine whether Miles held the pistol when it was fired. Miles was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Miles. He was enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Irwin Jarett of Lubbock, Miles' roommate, told police Miles had been out with friends during the evening. When he came in after bidding his companions good night, he locked the door of the apartment from the inside and started for the bathroom with a chrome-plated pistol in his hand.

Jarett said he asked Miles: "What are you up to?" Miles did not answer but entered the

Action on Tidelands Is Pushed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Supreme Court had a request from the Justice Department today for speedy action of the government's claim to the oil rich tidelands of Texas and Louisiana.

The department asked for a decision in the Louisiana case using the facts and pleadings now before the high tribunal. The department also asked the court to turn down the state's demand for a jury trial.

As an alternative, the court was asked to hear argument on a motion for judgment of whether the government has paramount rights to the tidelands or full title.

The Justice Department filed a separate petition asking the court to reject Texas' demand for appointment of a special master to gather evidence and make recommendations for a final decision. The high court, the department said, should hear argument as soon as possible on the motion by the government for immediate judgment against Texas.

The Justice Department also asked the court to reject the request made by Texas for permission to take oral depositions bearing on the tidelands claim. Texas had asked that the depositions be taken from Capt. Thomas Fenlon of Hunt, Texas; Robert Armiger, Capt. Richard Carey, Richard Carey, Jr., and Edgar Granger, all of Beaumont, Texas.

Blood Donors to Aid Corsicana Mother

CORSICANA — (AP) — Blood donors are to be sent by bus to Galveston to help a 23-year-old Corsicana mother fight a strange disease that is wasting away her bones.

Widening of Highway 60 Being Sought

Approximately 25 delegates from Texas towns along U. S. Highway 60 met before the State Highway Commission Tuesday and requested widening of the highway to a minimum of 24 feet.

Guy Saunders, chairman of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee, and G. S. "Pinkey" Vineyard, vice president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, served as spokesmen for the delegation.

The commission pointed out that such a program will cost from two to eight million dollars. However the members of the commission said funds for federal aid roads would be forthcoming soon and the U. S. Highway 60 project would be considered.

It was pointed out that Oklahoma will soon have Highway 60 throughout the state to a standard of 30 feet. In Texas the road is now only 18 feet wide.

Appearing with the Highway 60 delegation were County Commissioner Joe Clark, Vineyard, Manager E. O. Wedgeworth, all of Pampa; County Commissioner Charlie Johnson, chamber of Commerce Manager Rex Baxter, and Saunders, all of Amarillo; County Judge L. H. Foster and County Commissioner Troy Moore, Hereford.

County Judge Burney Slack and County Commissioners Pat Baker and D. S. Hill, Canyon; County Commissioner Clarence Beckman, Umbarger; City Manager A. A. Meredith, Mayor George W. Finger, County Judge Norman Coffee and County Commissioner Fritz Thompson, all of Borger.

Negro Schools Ask Group for Membership

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools may decide today whether to admit Negro colleges and schools.

Admission was requested yesterday by Dr. A. D. Beittel, president of Talladega, Ala., College. He told the association's 54th annual convention the Negro institutions want to take part in setting up standards.

It was the first time admission of Negro schools had been requested.

Father Andrew C. Smith, vice president, said the association's constitution has no discriminatory clause. He said the commissions on higher and secondary education could recommend admittance of any schools. The commissions were to report today.

The associations' Accreditation Committee evaluates Negro schools with the same standards used for white schools. Some 60 Negro colleges and 150 high schools meet these standards.

Dr. John E. Ivey, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., told the convention only three Southern states are providing good higher education facilities for Negroes.

Except for Arkansas, Kentucky and Oklahoma, he said, every state in the South has been derelict.

Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean of the College of Education at the University of Texas, is chairman of the Planning Committee.

Organization For GOP Urged

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas — (AP)— Rep. Martin (R-Mass) says Southern Republicans won't gain real strength until they "organize right down to the precinct."

"Texas as well as other states needs the two-party system," the former House speaker told a Republican rally last night.

"America is in the midst of a great crisis," he said. "The people should be vigilant. The nation is on the sure march to bankruptcy. Nations can go bankrupt just like individuals — if they spend recklessly."

About 250 people from a wide South Texas area gathered in the Hotel Nimitz ballroom for the rally.

Another speaker, Jack Porter, Houston oilman and unsuccessful candidate last year for the U. S. Senate, also urged greater organizational efforts.

Pilots Invited to 'Aerial Pow Wow'

Pilots of this area have been invited to what is called an "Aerial Pow Wow" at Oklahoma City next Sunday. Flyers will land at Wiley Post Airpark during the day, and they will be entertained by the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce at Skirvin Tower Hotel, it was announced.

The announcement being sent out to most pilots, but intended for all, said:

"The various aviation clubs of Oklahoma City are also taking part in planning a very enjoyable day for you and we sincerely urge everyone of you to help us make it a success by being here."

Judge Roy Bean, Prize Winning Steer At Livestock Show, Brings $11.50 Pound

White Way Under New Ownership

After 14 years in the same place and under the same ownership, Vantine's White Way Drive Inn changed hands and immediately closed Tuesday for renovations. Its new owner, Six Owens, took over.

The drive inn had been operated at 618 W. Foster by Mark and John Vantine for 14 years. It was originally started as a cafe, but was later remodeled and turned into a cafeteria.

The transfer was completed with Owens, former owner and operator of Six's Pig Stand on S. Barnes, Tuesday morning. Mark Vantine told The News yesterday. Vantine said he would turn his attentions to his ranch from now on.

Owens, Vantine said, bought the White Way Drive Inn name, but not the Vantine name, the stock and fixtures and leased the building and grounds for three years.

The new proprietor this morning said he would be closed for about 10 days for remodeling and renovations, but did not discuss other plans. He said those would be announced later.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE

The public Library in the City Hall will be closed tomorrow afternoon for the Pampa-Wichita Falls game.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition was sold for $13,800 at a record high price today — $11.50 a pound.

The steer, Judge Roy Bean, a champion junior yearling Hereford, was shown by the Pecos County, Texas, 4-H Club. It weighed 1200 pounds for sale.

The purchaser was Dearborn Motors Corporation of Detroit, the national marketing organization for Ford tractors and Dearborn farm equipment.

The previous record was $10.75 a pound paid last year.

Bidders for Dearborn Motors said the firm may show the steer but it eventually will be slaughtered for beef.

On the auction block, too, were other prize animals. The $10.75 price was paid last year by Glenn McCarthy, Houston, Texas, oilman, rancher, and hotel owner. He paid the price for "Old Gold," an Aberdeen Angus owned by C. E. Yoder and Sons of Muscatine, Iowa.

Until today, Judge Roy Bean had been pampered since calfdom for the big show. He was combed and slicked again for the sale today.

But his fate now will be that of the commonest steer. He will be knocked in the head, jerked into the air, hided and butchered. His carcass will be prepared for the winning bidder. Now, he is just so much beef — the choicest obtainable anywhere, to be sure.

ORANGE'S STEEL PLANT FIGHT TYPICAL OF COMPETITION FOR U.S. INDUSTRY

By J. CULLEN BROWNING

ORANGE, Texas — (AP) — The stop signal was flashed this week for the solid trainloads of big steel pipe which have been moving through Texas from the West Coast in recent months. And nobody was happier to see the red light go on than the people of Orange.

For many weeks citizens of this Southeast Texas industrial center have sat parked in their automobiles at railroad crossings and watched one freight train after another bearing big steel pipe.

Each carload carried a sign on both sides reading: "Fabricated by Consolidated Western Steel Corp., Los Angeles, Calif."

Now, in a matter of a few weeks, the trainloads of pipe will be moving out of instead of through Orange and the signs will be changed to read: "Fabricated by Consolidated Western Steel Corp., Orange, Texas."

This pipe, thousands of miles of it, runs from 24 inches to 36 inches in diameter and is being used for new pipelines from Southwestern oil and gas fields to the East and Midwest.

And its fabrication apparently is just beginning. This week, after concluding a deal with the government to buy a surplus Navy shipyard at Orange, Consolidated Western Steel Corp. announced plans to spend $5,000,000 for a new mill to fabricate the pipe at the shipyard.

The new mill, Consolidated announced, will employ at least 250 persons and will have a monthly capacity of 100,000 net tons — about 50 miles — of 24-inch or bigger electric welded and expanded steel pipe.

And the company will have additional uses for the surplus shipyard. Its announcement said the steel fabricating operations now being carried on in a similar plant adjacent which it already owned would be expanded sufficiently to require at least another 500 employes.

These things brought a lot of broad smiles to businessmen and unemployed industrial workers in Orange.

Ever since last Oct. 5 Houston had been under the impression it would get the pipe mill. Consolidated owns a 78-acre tract of land near the Houston ship channel and had announced it would build the plant there. But this week Consolidated president Alden G. Roach said that it would be built in Orange instead because its location here would "make a more economical operation."

That's just part of the story. Some of the rest of it can be told now and is still timely because it illustrates the fierce competition going on between Gulf and West Coasts and between points on each coast for chunks of the huge new segments of U. S. industry still looking for a place to locate.

It took an act of Congress to bring the new plant to Orange and the predicate for the act was laid before the end of World War II. Back in 1944 Orange businessmen and capitalists got together and organized what is now called the Industrial Dvelopment Committee. Virtually every businessman in Orange County contributes to the support of the committee, each according to his ability.

The committee maintains its own offices, in the charge of a full-time director, John W. Simmons. It operates independently of but in cooperation with the Orange Chamber of Commerce.

The committee was born of a bitter experience following World War I. Just as it did in the second great conflict, Orange had a major boom in 1916 and 1917. But when the first world war ended the thousands of workers who came here from other points for jobs in the wartime shipyards threw their tools in the river and went home.

The city almost died for lack of payrolls. By the mid-thirties an estimated 95 percent of its population was dependent directly or indirectly on the government's make-work program and the situation had reached the point where the local newspaper bannered a story to the effect that the week's WPA pay checks would total $9,000.

Long before World War II ended the people of Orange swore that sort of thing would not be permitted to happen again and the Industrial Development Committee was born of their determination.

The committee performed many services in bringing small industries to the city and helping established firms to expand but the real test of its effectiveness came in connection with the Consolidated plant.

Consolidated had been trying to buy the surplus shipyard since before the war ended. The deal might have been closed much earlier but the firm, then indendently owned, was sold to U. S. Steel Corp. The Justice Department contended that transaction was in violation of the anti-trust laws and filed suit to have it nullified.

Eventually, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of U. S. Steel and negotiations for the purchase of the shipyard were resumed. The Justice Department put the damper on the deal when it ruled the sale would be in violation of the anti-trust laws.

That's where the Industrial Development Committee stepped in. With neither the knowledge nor the consent of Consolidated or its the final hectic days of its last session, passed a bill directing the General Services Administration to go ahead and sell the shipyard to Consolidated.

The bill passed both houses without a dissenting vote and was signed by the President without question.

U. S. Steel, meanwhile, had withdrawn its offer to buy the facilities. But immediately after the passage of the measure the offer was reinstated, the deal concluded and plans made to build the pipe mill at Orange instead of Houston.

Protection, Not Rescue, Top Aim

NEW YORK —(AP)— The hub of the West's defense strategy, as viewed by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, must be to protect Western Europeans from invasion and not just to rescue them afterward.

Montgomery, top military man in the Western alliance, said that if Western Europe is overrun again by invaders, "that is the end of the people who live there."

The field marshal, who heads the Commanders in Chief Committee of the Western European Union, spoke before 1,800 persons at a Waldorf-Astoria Hotel dinner meeting sponsored by the English-Speaking Union of the United States.

Gurley Says U.S. Claims Unjustified

WASHINGTON—Fred G. Gurley of Chicago, president of the Santa Fe Railway system, this week told the Interstate Commerce Commission that the Department of Justice's claim that railroad rates on government wartime freight were too high, was "entirely unjustified."

"The amounts charged the government," he said, "were unduly low rather than the reverse."

The railroad president was a witness in the reparations cases being heard by the commission. The Justice Department contends that the railroads should have granted the government larger rate concessions than they did on its wartime freight, and is seeking to recover amounts said to aggregate between two and three billion dollars.

"A decision favorable to the military shipper in these cases could inflict great injury upon the financial structure of the railroads, and, consequently, their ability to carry on. Payment of the huge sum demanded by the government would be calamitous. It would undoubtedly render many roads insolvent and would seriously impair the service afforded by all," he declared.

Gurley said that while the government was receiving "the benefit of preferred and extraordinary services far exceeding those accorded commercial shippers," the Santa Fe's average revenue per ton mile was less during the war years than duringg the period preceding and following the war.

The commercial shipper, the witness pointed out in his statement, "paid higher charges than the military shipper (the government) during the war and the movement of his freight was subordinated to the movement of military freight."

Gurley said that if the railroads were required to increase their rates to meet a huge reparations award, their competitors who operate over highways and waterways, improved by the government, would gain a substantial competitive advantage.

The Santa Fe president recalled that about 10 years ago he attended a meeting of railroad executives at Washington at which they were told of President Roosevelt's concern over the international situation and were urged to prepare immediately for an emergency.

"There was a firm determination," he said, "that the railroads would transport all of the goods that the industrial capacity of the nation could produce and transport all of the men incident to the largest army we ever had. All of that we did.

"Now ten years later I am in Washington again. This time I appear in defense of charges made two years after the end of the war that payments by certain agencies of the government for services rendered during the war were improper payments."

Congress' Mail Lost in Crash

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A lot of Congressional mail to Texans is believed to have been lost in the American Airlines plane crash Tuesday at Dallas.

This was disclosed by Ira Galloway, secretary to Rep. Thornberry (D-Texas), who checked with the Post Office Department after learning air mail he had sent the congressman in Austin did not show up.

Galloway told a reporter postal officials said air mail sent from here Monday night for virtually all parts of Texas except the El Paso area was aboard the plane that crashed and another that landed in Dallas five minutes later.

Much of the air mail that Texas Congressional offices send to their home districts daily is flown to Texas on the night schedule on which the accident occurred.

Atomic Weapons Division Created

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — The U. S. Air Force announced creation of a new division to deal with atomic weapons and its establishment at Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque.

The new organization will be the U. S. Air Force Special Weapons Command. Brig. Gen. Howard G. Bunker will lead the new division. He is chief of the Air Force field office for atomic energy here now.

The new division will work closely with the armed forces special weapons project at Sandia, another Albuquerque installation; but Bunker said it is not connected with it in any other way.

The project handles the assembly of atomic bombs and other weapons, it was disclosed last week.

Bankers Concerned Over Return Paid for Use of Money Invested

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — Bankers and financial men are weighing the possibilities of a new round of wage increases for hiring your money.

In other words, they are concerned over the percentage of return being paid for the use of money invested.

Interest rates run all the way from less than one percent on up. It depends on the amount of risk the money runs, the length of the loan, the ability of the borrower to pay, and what the money will be used for.

The supply of money at the moment is of little concern. There is far more money available for lending now than there are jobs for it to do.

The federal government sets the basic wage rates for money. This is done through the Federal Reserve System purchases or sales of government bonds. That is called open market operations. When the reserve system buys, that creates a demand for governments and the price goes up. As the price rises, the amount of return you receive goes down.

Right now the return on long-term government bonds is 2 to 2 1-4 percent. Last week in testimony before a House-Senate economic subcommittee, reserve system bankers gave the impression there was a possibility of a price dip which would result in a higher return on governments.

Because changes in the return on government bonds influences all interest rates, there are a number of businessmen who privately express concern. They don't want to pay more for the money they borrow in running their businesses.

And from quite a different source another argument over money has blown up.

The New York Stock Exchange thinks people are getting tired of putting their money to work at low wages. The exchange and its members are urging investment in dividend - paying common stocks. In general, of course, the higher the risk the greater the return.

The campaign stresses that there are 1,018 issues of common stock listed for trading on the exchange, and that 856 of these are paying dividends that average eight percent this year on current prices for the stocks.

Wholesale Price Index Shows Drop

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week declined to $5.69 from $5.74 the previous week, and was 10.5 percent below the year-ago level of $6.36.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Declines in the wholesale price of tea, cocoa, eggs, potatoes and lambs outweighed advances in wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, hams, jellies, butter, steers and hogs.

U.S. Becomes Concerned Over Fate of Formosa

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Top United States officials are becoming increasingly concerned over the fate of strategic Formosa as Chinese Communists extend their iron grip on the mainland of Asia.

The island, which thrusts into the American defense chain between Japan and the Philippines, was returned to China under a wartime agreement. Nationalist forces still control it, but their prospects of continuing to do so appear slimmer every day.

The possibility that a future war with Russia might find Formosa in Communist hands has military and diplomatic authorities hands of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek or some other friendly ruler, the United States agreed to take Formosa away from Japan —which got it by conquest in 1895—and return it to China.

That agreement was subject to final confirmation in a Japanese peace treaty, which still has to be written.

At the end of the war Chiang took over the strategic island and has now converted it into a redoubt, against the onrushing Communists.

Since Formosa is separated from the Chinese mainland by 80 miles of open water, it is not a Communist invasion of the island which causes most concern among top officials here, but rather the possibility of internal revolution.

STEPPED UP

COLLEGE PARK, Md — Dr. H. C. (Curly) Byrd, University of Maryland president, served as the school's football coach from 1912-34.

Q's and A's

Q—For what are the planets named?

A—All but one of the planets are named for a classic god or godness. Our earth is the one exception.

Q—Where did George Washington take command of the Continental Army?

A—Washington arrived at the headquarters of the Army at Cambridge, Mass., and under a great elm tree, afterward named the Washington Elm, assumed command, July 3, 1775.

Q—Do minnows grow to be large fish?

A—No. The minnow is a distinct species of fish, and one that is full grown attains a length of three to four inches, though specimens as long as seven inches have been reported.

Q—Does corn grow wild?

A—Corn never has been found in a wild state and its origin is a mystery. Evidence indicates that the plant from which it is derived is now extinct.

Q—Which type of automobile is most popular?

A—Four-door sedans are the most popular body type for cars, followed by two-door sedans, convertibles, business coupes and station wagons in that order.

Q—How does Stone Mountain compare with other mountains of stone?

A—Stone Mountain is about 16 miles east of Atlanta, Ga. This massive dome of muscovite granite, seven miles is circumference and over 800 feet high, is said to be the largest body of exposed granite in the world.

Q—Where is the Theodore Roosevelt National Park

A—The new Theodore Roosevelt National Memorial Park covers 58,000 acres along the Little Missouri River in North Dakota; part of Theodore Roosevelt's Elkhorn Ranch.

Q—Where were the first friction matches made in America?

A—In 1825 the first friction matches in America were manufactured in Thurmont, Md. The old Match House still stands.

Q—Was Paul Hindemith's symphony "Matthis der Maler" written about a real person?

A—Hindemith prepared his own libretto for his opera, using the painter Grunewald as his central figure, but building his plot around the Peasant War of 1524 in southern Germany.

Q—Where is the most powerful United States lighthouse?

A—The one at Hillsboro Inlet, Fla.—5,500,000 candlepower.

Icebergs are never seen in the Arctic Ocean because there are few glaciers around it large and active enough to produce bergs.

If you are going to serve 6, you'd better buy a 4-pound veal rump roast, boned. With this quantity of stuffing it will be plenty of meat for your party.
Melt the butter or margarine and grate the onion. Chop up the parsley. Mix all these together thoroughly with your hands, along with the bread crumbs, egg, salt and pepper. Shape the stuffing into 2" balls.
When roast is done, make the gravy your usual way. Then place the balls in the pan carefully so as not to break them and baste with gravy until they are piping hot through. This will probably take 7 or 8 minutes.

The CAMEO

By Virginia Teale

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Charlie Reddy, a young lawyer who is investigating the murder of Martin Falter, has called upon Stephanie Smith, employed by Hagar Blair in running a gift shop. Reddy learns about a valuable cameo which is a key clue in the case and which he thinks is missing, but it has been found and is in Stephanie's possession. Stephanie is worried about Hagar not returning from a meeting with Neil O'Neill, who claimed ownership of the cameo. They go to Hagar's house, where Stephanie lives, and find the studio door open.

XX

CHARLIE REDDY walked around examining several completed sculptures. He looked longest at a stylized madonna carved from myrtle wood, then turned, smiling, to Stephanie:

"Do I know the model for this piece? It looks like you."

She didn't answer and he saw that her eyes were fixed on a large figure with a soiled cloth draped over it. Eyes wide, she turned her white face toward him and pointed a shaking finger:

"That. Over there. Hagar doesn't have a piece that large."

He followed her glance then whirled as she gave a small sharp scream:

"Look!" she whispered. "Look down below, on the floor!"

The edges of the drape were stained dark red, and the floor beneath was wet dark red. You couldn't mistake that color, he thought woodenly. It wasn't paint.

Stephanie had covered her face with her hands and was sobbing jerkily, "Oh, it couldn't be Hagar! It couldn't be Hagar! Oh, please!"

He forced himself to plod over and lift up the cloth. He had placed his body between the quiet figure on the chair and the sobbing girl who stood rigidly in the center of the room. He looked down at the face which was tilted back and seemed to be staring up at him with enormous sightless eyes. He lowered his eyes and drew the cloth back over the head. He took Stephanie gently into his arms: "It's Neil O'Neill," he told her quietly. "She's dead."

She stood a few seconds, then slumped into Reddy's arms.

SOME minutes later, Charlie had carried Stephanie back to the house, revived her and started the coffee dripping. She was on the divan, her hands clenched, trying to think, to feel. He dragged a chair close and sat down.

"I suppose you're afraid it might have been Hagar Blair who punctured Mrs. O'Neill. But, forget it, it just isn't logical, she'd have no reason." He eyed her intently, "She wouldn't have a reason, would she?"

Stephanie pressed his handkerchief to her face, muffling her words: "I think she might have. And it's my fault!"

He leaned forward. "Stephanie! It's important that you tell me what you know about this! There are two murders now, and that means there's great danger for everyone who's even remotely involved in this."

She was looking vaguely at the ceiling. Reddy made his voice more urgent:

"Listen, Stephanie. When someone commits a murder, he or she is not necessarily a dangerous person. The crime could result from an intense momentary emotion—fear, anger, jealousy, any number of things. But when the murderer kills a second time, things take on a very ominous aspect. And we're almost sure both of these deaths were caused by the same person, because of the weapon used."

Stephanie's tears had stopped and she was giving him her attention.

"You may think," he went on, "that what you know—I'm assuming you know something—is not relevant. But, believe me, anything may be relevant. And I promise that if you confide in me, I'll keep your confidence insofar as I'm able in the interests of justice. You can trust me, Stephanie. And you must, you may be in danger. Just as your friend Hagar is in danger!"

AT the mention of Hagar's name, Stephanie sat up and swung her feet to the floor. Her blue eyes were wide and very dark:

"Charlie! I'm scared! Where is Hagar? Where could she be?"

He opened his mouth, but there was a sound of liquid meeting flame out in the kitchen and he jumped up and raced toward it.

When he returned, he carried a small tray with cups, sugar and coffee pot which he set down on the low table in front of the divan.

He poured. "Can you drink yours black? Better for you."

She nodded, her eyes on his face wonderingly: "How can you be so calm when there's a—when Nellya is—?"

He grinned faintly. "Calm? Who's calm? Usually I can pour a cup of coffee without splashing half of it into the saucer." He mopped it up with a paper napkin. "Here now, take this."

She took the cup and smelled the steam appreciatively.

He settled back in his chair: "I'll have to call the chief pretty quick about this, but first I wish you'd tell me everything, anything, you know." He gave her an encouraging grin, "Better confide cozily over the coffee cups than down in our cold, gray bastille."

Stephanie stared into her coffee, then took a trembling sip. She looked somewhere beyond him as she started to speak:

"The first thing you ought to know, I guess, is that my name once was Serenov." Her eyes begged his understanding. "But I am an American, I was born in Chicago. My parents were Russian. And Nellya was my mother's sister."

Reddy stopped drinking his coffee. He put the cup and saucer carefully on the tray. He set his back firmly against the cushions of the chair and folded his hands across his stomach:

"Go on, please," he said.

Court Rules on Injuries Suits

AUSTIN — (AP) — A person injured while riding as a guest in an automobile cannot collect damages if the owner or driver showed only ordinary negligence.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals ruled to this effect in upholding the decision of a Travis County trial court.

William Lee McCarty had appealed from an instructed verdict by District Judge J. Harris Gardner based on the court's conclusion that he failed to show he was not a guest and also failed to show that the collision was caused by more than ordinary negligence.

He said he was riding as a passenger of L. L. Moss, car owner, and Rex Neill, car operator, when the automobile collided with other traffic on S. Congress Avenue in Austin.

Appointment Is Nearly Kidnaping

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — An attempt to get a Texas-born Princess on a television show nearly turned out to be a kidnaping case.

The Princess Aleene, former wife of Prince Johannes of Lichtenstein, told police that a man telephoned her at her hotel, saying she had won an automobile in a San Francisco drawing and made an appointment to meet her.

She and a woman friend got into a car, but became suspicious and got out.

Police Lt. Harry Didion said the owner of the car was a television producer, who explained he used the scheme to "get a real, live princess" on his show. No charges have been filed.

She is the daughter of the late Charles McFarland, Weatherford, Texas, cattle raiser.

Board Moves to Pick School Head

AUSTIN — (AP) — The first step toward finding a man to head Texas' public school system at the state level was taken Tuesday at the organization meeting of the newly elected state school board.

R. B. (Bob) Anderson of Vernon, chairman, was directed by the board to name a committee to collect data on persons eligible for the position.

Anderson said he would like to have a reasonable time "to give careful consideration to appointment of the committee. A Jan. 2 deadline was set.

Tomato Shipments Are Running Behind

WESLACO — (AP) — Fall tomato shipments out of the Lower Rio Grande Valley by rail are running a little less than a third of the shipments at this time last year.

Growers and shippers blamed the hot, dry weather earlier in the growing season for the reduced crop.

Auto Industry Plans Big '50

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — (AP) — The auto industry is going to build a lot of cars and trucks during the first half of 1950.

In the first half of the current record-breaking year the industry's assembly plants rolled out approximately 2,995,000 cars and trucks. Many industry sources say that, barring labor difficulties or more materials shortages, this figure will be equalled or bettered in the January-June period of next year.

But indications are that the factories will have a tough time getting into high volume production before March. They will have the equipment and manpower but it will be many weeks before steel once again is plentiful.

Most industry authorities say all the factories now closed for various reasons — materials shortages, inventories and model change-overs — probably will be back in production by mid-December. The production rate, however, will be far below that prior to Thanksgiving Day.

One of the results of the lagging output volume will be further delay in the availability of new 1950 model cars. This seems especially true of most of the General Motors and Chrysler makes. Ford has had 1950 Ford and Mercury models in production since early this month.

32 New Cases of Polio Reported

AUSTIN — (AP) — Thirty-two new cases of polio were reported by 19 counties last week, the State Health Department said.

No new counties were added to the list, which now carries 203 counties hit by polio this year. A total of 2,290 cases have been reported to date compared with 1,713 cases found in 160 counties during the same period in 1948.

Menhaden have many local names such as bugfish, bughead, oldwife, alewife, greentail, chebog, mossbunker, whitefish, bonyfish, and fatback.

Texas Rice Being Sent to Indonesia

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Rice for shipment to Indonesia is being gathered in Texas under a revival of Economic Cooperation Administration grants to Holland.

William Reid, executive vice president of the Rice Millers Association, said that $10,000,000 worth of rice is being acquired in Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas as a stop-gap measure until the Indonesian crop becomes available in April.

Questions of Income Boil Down to Worth

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When you talk of income, it always comes down to a question like this:

What's a dollar worth? How much will it buy? So, even though I'm making more than last year, am I really better off?

A few days ago the government — through the Federal Reserve Board — issued a report on income.

It said that in 1939 personal income — that did not include the profits of corporations — was $73 billion.

But in September, 1949, personal income was $211 billion, or almost three times greater than in 1939.

Did that mean that Americans—on the average — in 1949 were making three times what they made in 1939? No.

The $211 billion personal income for 1949 was a total figure. No average was involved.

To begin with, things in 1949 were different from 1939.

Higher taxes and increased living costs cut into the income of everybody. The most convenient example is that of the factory worker.

Take the average pay of a worker in the manufacturing industry. In 1939 it was $23.86. In 1949, it was $55.72.

Was he thus $31.86 better off, with that much more money to spend? No.

In 1949 his pay was $55.72. After deducting taxes — this was for a man with no dependents —he had $23.58.

In 199 his pay was $55.72. After deducting the higher 1949 taxes and allowing for the higher living costs, his pay was worth $28.57 in terms of 1939 dollars and buying power.

The Labor Statistics Bureau also reports:

The highest paid workers in the manufacturing industry are the mechanical workers on newspapers, such as printers and so on.

In September, 1949, they were averaging $0.33 a week. In 1939 they averaged $37.58.

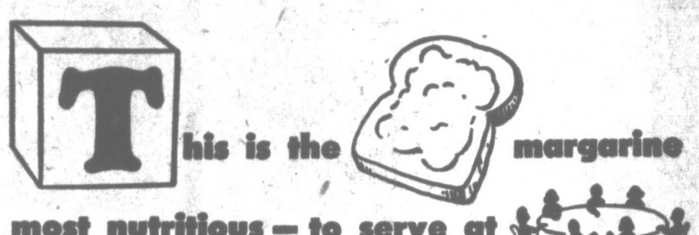

The lowest paid workers in the manufacturing industry are the workshirt-makers.

In September, 1949, they averaged $27.35 a week. In 1939 they averaged $11.03.

END COMING SLOWLY

The earth is coming to an end, due to its own respiratory system, says a French scientist, but he doesn't predict this to take place until about 6,000,000 years from now.

Magic of Fire Demonstrated

It's not often that Pampa firemen are called to extinguish a fire before it starts. Yesterday afternoon they had their fire fighting equipment ready before a large butane fire shot its bright orange flames into the air.

Texas Butane Dealers Association staged a demonstration at 1:45 p. m. yesterday at the Shamrock Products Company, 806 W. Wilks. The fire was extinguished several different ways—with fog, water and dry compound extinguishers.

William J. Lawson, executive secretary of the Texas Butane Dealers Association, Austin, held a "Magic of Fire" demonstration at 10 a. m. yesterday in the City Hall.

The association's 40th demonstration in recent months was presented here. Lawson was assisted by three representatives of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. They were Arthur Evans, H. F. Brown and G. M. Kintz.

Kintz had charge of the morning demonstration and showed how various materials will ignite and explode. He then explained the best methods of extinguishing the fires.

A miniature laboratory was set up in the City Commission Room for the demonstrations in which the characteristics and properties of various petroleum products were displayed.

HANGAR TO BE BUILT

DALLAS —(AP)— Pioneer Airlines has secured a special building permit for $275,885 for hangar and shop buildings at Love Field in Dallas. The City Council issued the permit Tuesday. Pioneer decided to move headquarters from Houston to Dallas when it lost its quarters at the Houston Municipal Airport.

S. I. Crew's Commodore Lea, injured last spring in the preakness, will come back to the races this winter at Hialeah.

Room Needed For Busts of HST, Wallace

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Congress has its work cut out for it when it returns in January: it has to find some place for the busts of Henry A. Wallace and Harry S. Truman.

While the congressmen are at it, they also can find spots for John Paul Jones and Brigham Young.

Capitol Architect David Lynn admitted that Congress is falling behind at its bust-placing. But there's a reason for this. Statuary Hall is being redecorated and it was thought best to wait until this job was completed.

But now Congress can dally no longer.

Maybe you wonder, how does a man become a bust?

Well, the ways are various. One of the simplest ways is to get yourself a job as vice president of the U. S.

Then the bust goes into the Capitol automatically.

Or you can be a big shot in your home state. Every state is entitled to two busts. That's how Brigham Young got in. Utah wanted to honor the man who led the Mormon exodus into the wilderness.

Or you can be a miscellaneous hero, which seems like a tougher way.

After all these years, the Navy is sponsoring John Paul Jones.

As for the Messrs. Wallace and Truman, their busts are ready and waiting. Charles Keck did one of Mr. Truman, in 1947. Wallace's bust, by Jo Davidson, was completed last year.

In case your history is hazy, Mr. Truman hasn't been a vice president since April, 1945. Wallace gave up vice presidenting on Jan. 20, 1945.

Mexicans to Lose Buying Privilege

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Some changes in buying across the U. S.-Mexico border may come after Dec. 3. On that day there will expire temporary permission for some frontier towns to import the 207 articles on a prohibited list issued June 21.

So far President Miguel Aleman has shown no disposition to enlarge the special rights of border people to buy in the United States and to bring goods to Mexico without paying duty. Under a law passed Nov. 27, 1948, the President is authorized to create, alter or abolish free zones. His one major action was the 15-year extension, beginning Jan. 1, 1952, of the Lower California privilege.

Nogales, Ariz., frequently has been mentioned as a candidate for free zone rights but so far there is no indication that the President will authorize them. His disposition, as represented by the Treasury Department, has been more toward tightening than loosening restrictions, all aimed toward discouraging the spending of dollars abroad by Mexicans.

Canyon Agent Gets Award of Merit

CHICAGO — (AP) — Certificates of merit for outstanding work were presented to 48 home demonstration agents from 31 states and Puerto Rico.

The awards were given by the National Home Demonstration Agents Association. M. C. Wilson, director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service, made the presentation.

The recipients included Lou Ella Patterson, of Canyon, Texas.

Archbishop Asks Ban on A-Bombs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Anglican Archbishop of York (England), Dr. Cyril F. Garbett, advocates that America and Britain take the lead in calling on the nations of the world to pledge to-mediate and collective vengeance against any country using the atomic bomb.

That idea is one with which the harrassed United Nations has been struggling ineffectually for a long time.

Even more challenging is Dr. Garbett's idea that the Western democracies should agree they never will use the atomic bomb against an enemy unless it has been used against them first. This sort of seems to put the peace-minded democracies on a nasty spot — like the crack-of-d a w n duelist who holds his fire until after his opponent has taken a pot shot at him.

Anyway, it strikes me that the place to start is with the outlawing of war altogether, which is the objective of the United Nations.

I could be terribly wrong, having seen a lot of war at first hand I find it difficult to argue that it's more humanitarian to destroy a city by bombing it for a month with high explosives than it is to wipe it out with one atomic bomb.

That's not an argument for the fearsome atomic bomb. Outlaw it by all means. But at the same time outlaw all other weapons.

Which will you have — an atomic bomb, an ordinary high explosive bomb, or a high explosive shell from a big gun? I never have been killed and so can't speak from experience, but my observation is that one is about as bad as another.

The purpose of war is to knock out your enemy in the quickest way possible under the current international laws governing conflict with arms.

It strikes me that it's rather putting the cart before the horse to argue about what sort of weapons shall be used once war is started.

Let's have peace — not regulated war.

Start at the bottom and work everybody.
—Actor Jackie Gleason's Hollywood success formula.

Three Caught Three Hours After Robbery

DUMAS — (AP) — Three men were arrested in Dumas today just three hours after a tourist court in Dalhart, 47 miles away, was ransacked.

A salesman's car parked in front of the tourist court also was looted.

The three men arrested here by Dumas city patrolmen were driving two trucks. A considerable number of topcoats, raincoats and sample shoes — all for the left foot — were found in the trucks. Dalhart officers took the trio back to Dalhart.

Pampa Rotarians yesterday invited their nearest competitor to a special program presented by the club's Competitor Relations Committee held in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Three short discussions on competitor relations were given by Frank Dial, Bill Parks and Atty. Walter E. Rogers.

Dial, proprietor of Frank Dial Tire Co., centered his talk around "service" and how it is applied to different vocations. In his own field, he said, service had necessarily increased with competition as the number of automobiles increased on the roads.

Parks, manager of Montgomery Ward's, using merchandising as his topic, told the club the day of competitors not speaking to each other has long since passed and that a different attitude now exists between businessmen who are running competitive businesses. He added that one of the most important items in retail selling was meeting the customers' demands in goods.

Service to a client, and professional ethics and courtesy were briefed by Atty. Rogers. He told the club that a lawyer's duties to his client were to do everything legally possible for him when he is involved in a court proceeding, both civil and criminal. The ethics and courtesy of the profession, he added, are guarded by the grievance committees of local and state bar associations. It is to this group that clients or other attorneys take their complaints if they think they have been wronged by a lawyer.

The ladies night program scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 6, was postponed due to the football banquet in the high school and the API meeting in Borger. Both fall on the same night.

Prior to the program, President Jack Sullivan reported briefly on the district forum held in Borger last week.

Deputy Shoots Man Resisting Arrest

MAGNOLIA, Texas — (AP) — Deputy Sheriff G. W. Dickerson is charged with murder in the death of a man he shot while trying to arrest.

Dickerson was trying to serve a warrant charging Tommie Applewhite, about 45, with assault to murder.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed J. Damuth of Montgomery County said Dickerson shot Applewhite above the heart when the man resisted.

Dickerson was released under bond. His case might be considered by the Montgomery County Grand Jury, now in session.

Applewhite had left a store and had been threatening the owner, T. H. Yon, with a shotgun, Damuth said.

Man Released To Answer Charge

FORT WORTH —(AP)— James Clifton Wheeler, 27, is to be returned here from Washington, D. C. within a few days to await trial on charges of robbing the Weatherford Citizens National Bank.

He has been a mental patient in Washington, committed on Feb. 20, 1948, by U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

He is accused of taking $3,082 at gun point from the bank on Dec. 4, 1947. Judge Davidson signed an order Wednesday directing the U. S. marshal here to bring Wheeler back since Wheeler is of sound mind and no longer in need of treatment in a hospital for mental disorders.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Income Tax Booklet Now Available

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For 25 cents you can get a lot of information on making out your 1949 income tax.

You don't have to figure the tax on your 1949 income, or pay it, till 1950.

But if you want a lot of detailed information there's a government booklet you can buy. It's called "Your Federal Income Tax."

It runs to 138 pages, is put out by the Internal Revenue Bureau which collects your tax, and is intended to answer a lot of questions.

You can buy it by sending 25 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.

Last year the government sold 265,000 copies.

In 1949 about 50 million people filed an income tax return on their 1948 income. In 1950 around 53 million are expected to file returns.

When the income tax deadline —it's March 15, 1950—draws near, this writer and other newsmen will write series of stories explaining who does what about his income tax.

But none of these stories can go into the details, and cover as many different problems, as are treated in this booklet. So it's a good quarter's investment for a great many people.

The government will mail — to everyone who filed a return in 1949 — an income tax form for filing their return in 1950.

It will sent out two kinds of forms: an easy one, called 1040A, and one that requires a little more work, called 1040.

With the latter the government will enclose a 16-page booklet explaining some of the details of income tax filing.

Still, this booklet, helpful as it is, does not cover as much ground as the 138-page booklet.

As an example of some of the fields treated in the larger booklet:

It shows the step-by-step way of filling out a return, it covers things like contribution deductions, medical and dental expenses, traveling expense deductions, alimony and automobile deductions, payment and refund of taxes, and so on.

Elaborate Rites Held for Wife of Dallas Gambler

DALLAS — (AP) — An elaborate funeral service — with a two-ton casket of solid bronze — was held today for Mrs. Herbert Noble, 36, killed by a bomb when she started her gambler husband's car.

bathroom and locked the door, Jarett continued.

A shot was fired almost immediately.

Student residents told police Miles' mother had tried to contact him by telephone several times during the day but Miles had refused to accept the calls.

Jarett said Miles had been nervous during the day but had appeared in good spirits when he went out for the evening.

Friends of Miles said he stopped by Herman Custard's room to borrow a cigaret when he returned to the hotel. Custard kept a pistol in his dresser drawer. The same pistol was found at Miles' feet.

No note was found.

Miles was a transfer student from Allen Academy in Bryan.

His death was the second violent death at the university in less than two months. Edward Graydon Grounds, 19-year-old Sophomore, jumped to his death from the university's Tower observation platform Oct. 15.

Prospectors Delay Work Until Spring

FAIRBANKS, Alaska — (AP) — Whatever became of the fish-wheel gold strike?

Howling arctic winds and sub-zero temperatures have the answer to that question clutched closely to their frigid bosoms.

a "purely political" demonstration.

Factories in Bologna, in Italy's strongly Communist industrial north, were closed, however, as were printing plants and the city's transportation system.

But Bologna's shops and offices were open and newspapers were being sold.

In Milan, another northern industrial city which has often been considered a Communist stronghold, stores and the commercial life of the city were nearly normal.

First reports from Palermo, capital of Sicily, said the strike was only partly effective there.

Roman strike-defying workers and shop owners got police protection.

The CGIL ordered its 5,000,000 members to stop work in all activities except the most vital public services. The nation's trains were supposed to stop for two hours.

The strike was a crucial test of power for the big union. Opposing members of the anti-Communist labor unions were told by their leaders to defy the strike order.

Communist leaders of the CGIL had ignored a government request to hold off from any demonstration until government request to hold off from any demonstration until government investigators got a full report on the police-peasant clash which caused the deaths.

A government report said a caribinieri (state militiaman) had fired a burst from his tommy gun "only when in danger of being overwhelmed" by an angry mob of demonstrators near Bari on Southern Italy's Adriatic Coast.

(In Chungking's case, the pro-Communist Hong Kong press said, the committee was made up of four businessmen, including the director of the Chamber of Commerce and the managing director of the Szechwan Silk Manufacturing Co. It preserved peace and order until the Reds were ready to enter. Then it greeted them at the banks of the Yangtze.)

Already people were wondering how long Chengtu would last as the seat of government. One month was an optimistic estimate. In that time, many said, the Reds would have covered the 170 miles that separate Chengtu from Chungking.

(Hong Kong press reports said the fast-moving Communist troops of Gen. Liu Po-cheng already were streaking out from Chungking to take Hochwan, 35 miles northwest toward Chengtu.)

Paternalism And the Farmer

An article in the November issue of Country Gentlemen discusses the important question of "What's Ahead for Beef?" One of the most interesting parts of it is a quotation from a man who operates a highly successful Hereford ranch which was started with six animals many years ago.

Asked for his views of government paternalism, he said: "I believe that more than any other group in agriculture the ranchmen have been most concerned over recent trends that would give the government greater control and authority in the carrying on of our business. We who live on the range with its constant threat of drought, failing water supplies, predatory animals, disease and unpredictable market conditions know that the only real security a man can have is in his own self-reliance.

"Certainly there will be disasters, but none quite so great as that of letting Washington do our worrying for us. The only way to a sound agriculture is for each of us to recognize our personal responsibility and to attain the stature that will permit us to discharge it satisfactorily to ourselves, our community and in the end our government. When farmers and ranchers expect the government to solve all their problems, the government will be running our business, the rest of us just hired hands."

Views like that are as refreshing as a summer breeze at a time when more and more people look to government for a dubious "security," not realizing that they are losing their liberties in the process. The great meat industry, all the way from the producers through the packers to the retailers, is one of the achievements of free enterprise—of individual self-reliance, not political paternalism. It must be kept that way—and so must all the other enterprises that represent the collective strength of America.

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN

Now here's a man who could become the idol of all American wives, with proper direction. He's an actor named Mell Turner and he's won an accident claim from the State of Virginia for a very romantic injury . . . in a love scene he broke his nose on the leading lady's forehead!

How many husbands have that much energy? I'm not referring only to George, but statistics I got from a reliable source prove that husbands don't kiss hard enough to break a soap bubble!

On the other hand, Mr. Turner won't be a champion until he improves his aim. If he'd tried to kiss the leading lady's lips, he'd never have broken his nose on her forehead. Am I right, girls?

QUICKIES Ken Reynolds

"The News Want Ad said to keep him muzzled—but I thought they meant he talked too much!"

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949)

NEW YORK — According to the New York Herald Tribune's prejudicial custom of making political propaganda in its book reviews, a new biography of the late Heywood Broun was assigned for review to Broun's devotee, Quentin Reynolds. Broun was a fellow - traveler for many years, but he was also a voluptuary and, in the intellectual sense, a sneak. Thus, he never joined the Communist Party and, in his last days, having, as some contemporary said, "worshipped at all shrines," he embraced Catholicism and was funeralized with eclat by Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Like Broun, Reynolds was sloppy and ran to fat but the fact was not to be established until we got the war which he had been howling for, that his protuberant belly was filled with something else than guts. Reynolds was a sycophant, a coat-holder for Broun and imitated his morals, and his equally frowsy physical and sartorial corpus.

In this review of the Broun biography, Reynolds wrote, in effect, that I was responsible for Broun's death, although he died of pneumonia, because about that time I wrote that Broun had lied about some matter in one of his columns. I do not recall that particular accusation, but I will not trouble Reynolds for a bill of particulars. Broun was a notorious liar. For an example, which he never had quite the effrontery to deny, he lied when he wrote that J. B. Matthews, the chief investigator of the old Dies Committee, seriously testified that Shirley Temple was a dangerously subversive instrument of the Communists.

The proposition that Broun was so cut up that he lost his will to live and to do for Connie, his wife, and the only truly honest and devoted friend he had, just because I called him a liar, argues ill for Broun's courage. Reynolds does his memory no honor here because Broun made his living at controversy. I would want better authority for the aspersion that, although he loved to dish it, Broun couldn't take it.

Broun was a dirty fighter. He had an ingratiating way which gave people to believe that his cruel ambition to run the lives of other newspaper workers and bend their necks or break them through the Communist terror of his newspaper guild was but the philanthropic doing of a man who truly loved his fellow men. Heywood shunned the company of his equals such as Alexander Woollcott and Robert Benchley because he couldn't fool them. They were onto him. So he cultivated a personal cult of four-flushers like Reynolds and sorry mediocrities or less who could be deceived by his pretense of heroic goodness.

There were at least as many self-respecting newspaper workers who knew he was running the guild as a Communist agency and simply would not dedicate their lives, their living, their human dignity and the welfare of their wives and children to his ulterior ambition.

He was in many Communist fronts, and, once, by a lapse of judgment, he wrote that he never could be cajoled, coerced or persuaded to say a word against the Soviet government because, to him it was the greatest effort ever made for human betterment.

Reynolds' medicine grew too strong even for Collier's, which, I am told, incidentally, has "seen the light" and faced about. He is no longer an "editor" of Collier's. However, a fellow of his politics can do fairly well in Hollywood as I have been told he does.

Reynolds gives some false impressions. So I offer some corrective data.

Broun was a nudist during one phase of his soiled existence in his leafy retreat away from it all at Stamford, but he and his friends of both sexes practised their nudism in seclusion at his "lake," a mucky wallow, hidden from the road. And Broun complained to me that Reynolds and his girl friend of the moment were nuding along the public road. Heywood said that, after all, the Yankee neighbors might not understand. If they saw Reynolds and his wench strolling along together, absolutely raw, they would call the State Police and give him and his place a bad name. There was no color line and a conspicuous Negro Communist of the present day, by Broun's own word to me, seduced a susceptible young white girl at Heywood Broun's.

Connie Broun, Heywood's widow, for whom Reynolds now expresses noble sentiments, reflecting credit on himself, related that, as Reynolds was riding to Heywood's grave with her, he proposed marriage. But she said that, some time later, after he had made an artificial reputation as a brave war correspondent in the London blitz, he snubbed her publicly and barely knew her. That would be credible. Reynolds did fall in love with himself as a "celebrity" and, by forceful, opportune promotion, became one of the great individual profiteers of the war. Connie, by the way, soon after she married Heywood, cleaned out the whole parasitic, licentious lot, ran them down the road and turned Broun respectable.

Reynolds was largely an absentee war correspondent. He covered the ghastly Dieppe raid from a battleship and, when the invasion of Normandy was made, relieving the pressure on his Russian friends, he was safe in the United States cleaning up. He cleaned up in the movies, in vaudeville, on the radio and on the lecture circuit. He cleaned up $2,000 of the ill-gotten loot of the Garsson brothers who, with Congressman Andy May, later were convicted of fraud in war contracts. When I went to Boston to make a bad speech for $1,350, which was given to John B. Powell, the martyr editor, who was dying slowly as a consequence of his tortures at the hands of the Japanese, Reynolds made a worse one, of the same program, for $2,000 for Quentin Reynolds.

Reynolds was an "interventionist." He loathed "isolationists." But, though he was a giant and a bachelor, he let several million kids about 18 years old do the fighting. The old Army regulars and their wives, speak of his kind as the "Let's you and him fight" school of heroes.

In the 1944 campaign, Roosevelt did his damnedest to beat Clare Boothe for Congress in Connecticut. The whole first team went up—Roosevelt, Wallace and many of the non-combatant warriors of the radio, stage and screen, including Reynolds.

Clare licked the whole 'varsity, single handed.

When she came to Reynolds, she peeled him of his mangy hide and nailed it to the barn door with the yellow streak glaring for the world to see.

This was strange conduct in a war correspondent, six feet two, weighing 250 and in the prime of life and health. Clare said, attacking a woman on the home front who had actually seen more fighting than he, and closer up, while high school boys were pushing back the Nazis in the war that he had been asking for for the last ten years.

Estes Must Testify As to Red Ties

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Tree Surgeon Fred Estes will have to testify in federal court Dec. 5 about possible Communist ties of seven Dallas aliens.

His attorney, Sam Barbaria, failed yesterday in an effort to have the order stayed by Judge Leon McCord of the U.S. 5th Court of Circuit Appeals. Federal Judge William H. Atwell had ordered Estes to testify before him Dec. 5.

The Sole Purpose of an Interview With E. Stanley Jones

E. Stanley Jones in refusing to grant an interview with a stenographer present where he would be obliged to answer questions without evasion and where he would have the opportunity to give $1,000 to any charity, or to any widow in distress, or to any invalid, or to any blind person he might select, says he can see "no useful purpose which can be served by such an interview."

Well, that would depend entirely upon what yardstick a person used to determine what was a useful purpose. Of course, E. Stanley Jones can see no useful purpose. There would be no useful purpose for E. Stanley Jones. The only guide or norm or measure that E. Stanley Jones seems to use to determine whether or not something has a useful purpose is whether or not it gives E. Stanley Jones a bigger buildup for more personal power. Of course, using that as a standard, he can see no useful purpose.

If, however, he would use the useful purpose of trying to better understand Nature's and God's laws, there is a very useful purpose in any act that throws light on what a man is advocating.

E Stanley Jones proposes to bring about a condition whereby "every child born into the world should be given an equal opportunity with every other child to an adequate education, a meaningful job, the respect of his fellows, to old age security and sickness benefits." That is a very desirable objective. Those people who know enough about their subject so that they are always willing to answer questions with a stenographer present without evasion are thoroughly convinced that E. Stanley Jones' method of bringing this about will bring the exact opposite from what he claims it will do. His method is having the government do it.

E. Stanley Jones is about as rational when he refuses to be specific as a draftsman or an engineer would be who would not write specifications or furnish a blue print of an elevator or a skyscraper or an airplane he contends will be an improvement on any elevator, skyscraper or airplane now built. Any engineer who would not write a complete set of specifications so as to admit to no further questions would not be taken seriously by any rational person. A rational person would not want to build an elevator or skyscraper or airplane that would not meet every test. They would not want people to risk their lives on something that could not be harmonized with reason.

But the little harm that would be done by a few people being killed in an elevator or skyscraper or airplane would be infinitely less harmful than the harm that would result if people attempted to put E. Stanley Jones' fallacy or chimera into operation.

Would E. Stanley Jones contend that there would be no useful purpose in checking a mechanical contrivance? Would he contend that it was not necessary to test every proposal, every theory, of human relations to determine whether or not it would bring about the desired result?

Of course if E. Stanley Jones is infallible and is the sole judge of whether specifications or blue prints of what he proposes are necessary and useful then of course in E. Stanley Jones' mind it could not serve a useful purpose.

If E. Stanley Jones has no desire to be very very careful himself and not to advocate anything that will add to unemployment and the poverty of the people, submitting to an interview would at least give some worthy widow or invalid or blind person $1000. He is not willing to devote two hours in order to do this.

The real useful purpose he would serve would be to more clearly demonstrate that E. Stanley Jones was a confused, conceited and exhaulted individual, and that he would be obliged to contradict himself and be very embarrassed and uncomfortable and feel foolish in a very short time. Of course this would be no useful purpose as judged by E. Stanley Jones. The fact of the matter is that his refusal to write specifications of his socialistic, statist, collectivist, initiating force ideas is proof to any rational person that he is relying on hunches and mysticism to determine what is useful and what is not useful; and that if he believes a thing to be so and so, it must be right because he is infallible. If he did not believe he was practically infallible and omnipotent and omniscient, he would be only too glad to have his ideas checked before he would want to revolutionize and discard the principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence on which this government was founded. But E. Stanley Jones seems to think he is wiser than the writers of the Declaration of Independence, and that he is wiser than Moses or Jesus Christ. He can discard the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount and the admonitions of Jesus who said that "Men do not light a candle and put it under a bushel." E. Stanley Jones is a nice example of what Jesus meant when he said: "Men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God."

But if E. Stanley Jones would ever get out from hiding behind a pulpit and the great Methodist church where he would have to be rational instead of mystic, his prestige would dwindle and he would not have as many people reading his mystic books and his mystic talks called sermons.

The refusal of Rev. Jones to discuss the practicability of his proposal, which requires initiating force, is of the utmost importance. It should cause any rational person who believes in the principles taught by Jesus to recognize that he has made a very very serious mistake, and that he should make every possible effort to reduce the great harm of his proposal to give the government more power over the lives of men. The mere fact that he is not willing to write a blue print of his proposals is prima facie evidence that it cannot be done. And that E. Stanley Jones is simply a mystic and so dearly loves E. Stanley Jones that he will not do anything that will expose his mysticism or his hypocrisy.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Recent reports that the Truman administration would increase the price of gold from $35 to $50 an ounce were accompanied by confidential assertions that it might precipitate a cabinet breakup through the protest resignation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It was recalled that, when Franklin D. Roosevelt devalued the dollar in 1933, Mr. Acheson resigned as undersecretary of the Treasury, supposedly because his conservative philosophy would not permit him to approve such ed the price in order to give further aid to Britain, Canada and other gold-producing countries.

INSIDE — But the controversy over possible revaluation of gold has brought out, quite accidentally, that Mr. Acheson's disagreement over monetary policy with FDR was not the reason for his quitting the "little cabinet." in 1933. Mr. Acheson has permitted that impression to get abroad, never denying the rumor, but it does not square with newly discovered facts.

Incidentally, this is perhaps the first time that the inside story of FDR's tampering with the value of gold and the dollar has ever been told save for Henry Morgenthau's memoirs. And he did not have his story straight.

IDEA — President Roosevelt was sold the idea of raising the price of gold by a Cornell professor who had been a close friend of Henry Morgenthau and Henry Wallace. The pedagogue had won their awe and admiration by deceiving his hens into laying more eggs by keeping the lights on all night in his henneries.

But FDR did not know how to work out the details technically or legally, and handed that problem to Stanley F. Reed, now Supreme Court justice but then general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. While puzzling over the problem, Mr. Reed explained the President's assignment to Jesse H. Jones, then RFC chairman.

FDR called a meeting for discussion of gold prices for a Sunday morning. Present were Mr. Acheson, then acting secretary of the Treasury because of the late William H. Woodin's illness, Mr. Reed, Mr. Jones and a few White House aides.

PLAN — Mr. Jones, meanwhile, had drawn a technical plan for manipulation of the gold price, and he handed the one-page outline to the President just before the meeting began. FDR glanced at it, and, although he had no time to digest it, adopted it as the basis of the gold-buying program.

As a shrewd operator and poker player, Mr. Jones did not propose fixing a specific price, but without advance announcement to that effect.

By that means, this country could have bought tremendous amounts of gold at low cost, and then announced its world buying figure at its own convenience in order to affect domestic prices. We would have made money that way.

In that way, assuming the scheme would work at all (it didn't), we would have bolstered our own economy, but without having to pay heavy tribute to foreign owners of gold.

CONFIDENTIAL — The gold-price manipulators assembled each morning in the cabinet room to fix that day's figure for American purchases, and to plan for the next few days' operations. The big operators, of course, were Messrs. Reed, Jones and Acheson.

After each session, the conferees framed a memorandum containing the possible prices for the next few days' purchasing. Naturally, these were extremely confidential chits, for if the details had leaked, outsiders could have made a killing at the expense of the U.S. Treasury.

On the fourth day, Mr. Morgenthau, who was then head of the Farm Credit Administration, happened in on the secret session, and, for some strange reason, was warmly welcomed by President Roosevelt. He looked on and listened to the proceedings. Knowing nothing about monetary manipulation or international finance, he was as gleeful as a boy seeing Santa Claus slide down the chimney.

WALKED — When the secret chits listing the figures for future gold prices were handed around to the "big three" by President Roosevelt, Henry leaned forward and asked for his copy. FDR quietly handed one over.

During these sessions, it had become obvious that Mr. Woodin's health would not permit him to return to the Treasury. All speculation about his successor mentioned Mr. Acheson, but there was always an undercurrent of rumor that it might go to Mr. Morgenthau because of his loyalty and subservience to Mr. Roosevelt.

These reports, together with letting Henry in on the gold conspiracy, piqued the sensitive Mr. Acheson. He resigned with this remark:

"If FDR wants that fellow in the Treasury, let him have him!"

Mr. Acheson walked out on November 15, 1933. Mr. Morgenthau became acting and undersecretary of the Treasury on Nov. 17, 1933, and head of the department in January of 1934.

THE POLICE STATE IN CRIPPSLAND

(The Chicago Tribune)

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer in the socialist government of England, has publicly announced that the treasury will pay informers who report not only violations of the exchange control act which have occurred but even those which may be "intended." The act, banning the export of money and valuables without a permit, is designed to prevent the flight of capital from the planners' paradise and to peg the pound at the price Cripps says it is worth.

It is the constant contention of socialists everywhere that "democratic socialism" is a great deal different from the acknowledged totalitarianism of such states as Stalin's Russia, Hitler's Germany, Mussolini's Italy, or pre-war Japan. Yet, inexorably the methods tend to coincide.

The London Daily Mail says that the only difference between the snooping and informing system hitherto employed by the socialists and that now in vogue is that "now the whole stinking tribe of informers has been openly invited by the chancellor to ply their contemptible trade." Before Cripps acknowledged the copper's mark as a recognized institution, government snoopers were privileged to enter any home in England without a warrant to search for evidence that rationing and other controls were being violated.

Now the socialist regime invites the same horrible practice of denouncing one friends and neighbors which has everybody in Russia and the communist satellite states in terror. To this Cripps has added a refinement paralleled previously only in the operations of the Japanese "thought police." He authorizes his agents to read people's minds and report whether, in future, they contemplate doing something which he deems illegal. This is what our own authoritarians call "democratic socialism." The state will be glad to assume total control over anybody's welfare by cooping him up in' prison.

BRITAIN'S FREE PRESS

(London Daily Mail)

It looks like a concerted drive to undermine confidence in the free press of this country is again being made by the Socialist government. Politicians, whatever their party, have little love for the press, but for a century and a half they have recognized it as one of the pillars of our liberties.

Now there is a sustained attempt to bring it into disrepute. We warn the public of this growing jealousy of freedom of expression. The dictators began by attacking the free press and ended by abolishing it. That is why they were able to imprison their people.

Texas Has Twice As Many Autos

AUSTIN — (AP) — There are now twice as many cars to drive—and dodge—in Texas as there were 16 years ago.

The State Highway Department announced that 2,500,000 vehicles were registered in Texas this year, 1,845,732 of them passenger cars, double the 1933 figure and 205,000 more than on this date a year ago.

The Devastating Shopper

By GORDON MARTIN

This old world is full of things that leave destruction in their wake, and sometimes it's hard to figure out which one should take the cake. For debris abounds when earth quakes strike and rivers overflow, while tornadoes, tanks and fullbacks smash a path where'er they go. But another threat to safety, and no greenhorn amateur, is the devastating woman on a downtown shopping tour.

Now suppose a sale is being held and people fill the store, and the lady starts her shopping on the bargain basement floor. There's a crowd of folks assembled 'round a table full of stuff, but she plows right through the mob and dares the rest to call her bluff. And she tussles for a piece of goods, and sure enough, she wins, though she leaves behind some wounded with their bruised and aching shins.

Everywhere she goes she fights her way and leaves a littered path, and she's deaf to other people who explode in righteous wrath. In the crowded elevator, when at last her buying's through, she will shift her pile of bundles, leaving others' hats askew. For there isn't much destruction that is harder to endure, than the devastating woman on a downtown shopping tour.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Bing Crosby can take three free lessons at one of Fred Astaire's dance studios—his reward for placing sixth in a dance contest at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.

It happened while Bing was in S. F. recording his radio show before starting work in "Mr. Music." He was dining with a crowd at the Mark's supper room. The M.-C. announced a dance contest.

As Bing tells it:

"I grabbed a girl—I never did find out her name—and pretty soon a guy taps me on the shoulder and says, 'Stand over there.' Then they announced the winners. There were six finalists. We got sixth place. The prize was three free lessons at an Astaire studio."

The film version of "Cheaper by the Dozen" gets more confusing every thime I think about it. Clifton Webb and Myrna Loy play the parents of 12 children. Webb is a confirmed bachelor and Myrna is childless. One of the 12 children is Jeanne Crain, who plays a 15-year-old. And everyone knows, of course, that Jeanne is the mother of two children!

A child star grown up was rehearsing a scene for a picture in which she had to play jacks. She made such a terrible mess of the kiddie game that the director flatly said:

"Oh, come on now, you remember when you played jacks as a child."

"I'm sorry," said the former kid star, wistfully, "but I never was a child."

FROM THE DEEP SOUTH

Virginia Maison at Larry, Potter's Supper Club: "Bette Davis plays a Southern girl in 'Beyond the Forest.' I saw it with my own eyes. She had Cotten in her cabin."

I'm wondering whether "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" will set a trend toward Westerns with feminine titles. Any day now, I guess, we can expect Don "Red" Barry in "The Trail of the Plunging Neckline," Roy Rogers in "High Fashion in the Saddle" and Gene Autry in "He Wore a Powder Blue Shirt."

Bob Williams, formerly of the Kay Thompson-Williams Bros. act, is now selling insurance . . . Eastern theaters are reviving the oldie, "Imitation of Life," with an ad campaign lifted from "Pinky." . . . The Bob Cummings-Arlene Dahl starrer, "Reign of Terror," has a new title — "The Black Book."

Wonderful story about Kay Kyser. He and his agent were in his New York hotel suite looking at his new TV contract with Ford when the telephone rang. It was the hotel manager asking if he could bring up a prospective tenant, since Kay was only staying temporarily.

Kay said okay and a few minutes later the manager arrived with a woman. "Mr. Kyser," he said, "this is Mrs. Henry Ford II."

"Just the lady I want to see," kidded Kay to the puzzled Mrs. Ford. "Now about this contract, I think should be changed."

Leslye Banning, sister-in-law of Jane Russell, will get the full glamor girl buildup at UI, where she was just signed to a contract. . . . John Hoyt says he's disappointed in the script of his latest film, "Outrage." He thought it was going to be a documentary about the high cost of living.

TOOK LITTLE EFFORT

Vincent Price's role in "Bagdad" requires him to do a great deal of horseback riding. Friends were amazed, at the preview, with his skill.

"Really, it was nothing," explained Price, "I have the best double in the business."

Of all the Hollywood publicity gags that backfired, the funniest, I guess, happened to John Wayne when he was making personal appearances after his film debut in "The Big Trail."

The publicity man on the picture released hundreds of stories about Wayne's proficiency at knife throwing. At one stop on the tour, a curious newspaper reporter led the unsuspecting Wayne to the local park, handed him a set of knives, pointed to a tree and said:

"Okay, John, let's see you hit it."

John was game even if his publicity man had been overenthusiastic. He started throwing the knives. But he never did hit the tree. After all, a double did all the knife throwing for him in the picture.

A Los Angeles group just paid $50,000 for the film rights to the life story of Harry Houdini, the escape artist and magician. When the film goes into production, they'll see how fast money can disappear.

There may be a big lawsuit over the new Mickey Rooney film, "The Big Wheel." The Indianapolis race track sequence features the spectacular crack-up which sent driver Duke Nalon to the hospital. Producer Harry Popkin says Nalon is threatening suit unless he's paid $5000. Popkin claims he bought the film rights from the speedway and had clearances from all the drivers, including Nalon.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Mrs. Gwen Cafritz— Washington's new Number One hostess — is being given credit for a big assist on the Vice President Alben Barkley-Mrs. Carlton Hadley romance. The veep and the St. Louis widow first met through presidential counsel and Mrs. Clark Clifford. But shortly after they met, Mrs. Cafritz threw a lawn party at her big estate. It was July 9 — a beautiful midsummer night with a breeze, the moon and the stars placed just right. Assistant Secretary for Air C. V. Whitney's wife was out of town, so he came stag. Mrs. Cafritz invited Mrs. Hadley as his dinner partner. Vice President Barkley was seated at their table. The moon and stars did the rest.

PERFECT TIME OF YEAR

One of the biggest Congressional junkets of all time is being planned for House Agriculture Committee, just after Congress reconvenes in January. Puerto Rico Gov. Munoz Marin invited the 27 members to come down and see what he was doing. He also invited them to bring their wives. Acceptances were more than he planned. So far, reservations have been made for 26 congressmen and 25 wives. Rep. Cecil F. White of California is the only committeeman not going. The committee will take along five staff members.

The party will leave New York Jan. 5 by boat and will return Jan. 17. As the sea voyage takes four and a half days each way, the committee will have just three days on the island. The Puerto Rican government will have to foot the bill, but figures it's worth the cost. In November, two other House subcommittees on Ways and Means and Education and Labor inspected the island's progress.

MIGHT NEED BRUSHING

Newton B. Drury, head of National Park Service, says he is perfectly willing to consider the offer of three New York naturalized citizens who want to clean the Statue of Liberty, free—"if they'll put it in writing." A recent NEA Service feature told how the trio — a jeweler, a chemist and a dental technician — had wanted to give Miss Liberty her first bath in 63 years and turn her from oxidized green to shining bronze. Incidentally, they want to promote a new metal polish which they have concocted. Says Drury: "After we get their offer on paper, the first thing we'd have to do is determine whether of not the statue really needs cleaning."

ROVING ECONOMIC EXPERT

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, recently resigned as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers over a difference on policies, will open an office in Washington. Dr. Nourse says he will become an "economist at large" with no clients and no fees. He is writing to friends telling them he will soon announce a source of funds giving him "the moral and financial backing with which to carry on his work." He says this source of funds will not "trammel" him in making his brand of economics available to worthy and friendly institutions.

GOLDEN OPORTUNITY

U. S. Treasury has subsidized U. S. silver miners to the tune of $15,000,000 in the last three years. That's one reason why Treasury Secretary John Snyder recently told Congressional Economic Committee he would have no objection to repeal of silver purchase legislation. Congress in 1936 required Treasury to raise the price on all newly-mined domestic silver from 71 to 90 cents an ounce. But foreign-mined silver has been available since the war at from 71 to 73 cents an ounce. That's what U. S. jewelry and photographic industries buy for commercial use. Treasury, however, has had to pay from 17 to 19 cents an ounce more on the 83,000,000 ounces it has bought in 1947-49. Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island is considering introduction of legislation to repeal this act at next Congress, and save the government some money.

SAME OLD TRICKS

All U. S. diplomats and Marshall Plan administrators in France have been alerted against possibility of a wave of crippling strikes this winter, led by French Communists. The plan, according to intelligence reports, is to wait for a cold spell and then strike workers in coal and power industries, as was done in 1948. The aim again is to set back the Marshall Plan as much as possible.

WALL STREET BUST INSPIRED REDS' BIG PLUNGE INTO U.S. POLITICS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: How did the Communist Party entrench itself in the United States? What's behind the current trials, and where will the fight lead? . . . These are some of the questions Peter Edson, NEA's Washington correspondent, seeks to answer in this fourth of a series of 13 articles on the 30-year fight against communism.)

By PETER EDDSON

By PETER EDSON

THERE HAD BEEN little overt Communist political effort, in all truth, until an October day 20 years ago. Variety inspired headlining called it: "WALL ST. LAYS AN EGG."

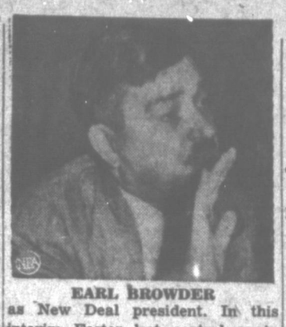

Moscow gleefully concluded that the end of capitalism (for which read the "day of revolution") was at hand. The party in America had been purged and its leaders, headed by William Z. Foster, made utterly obeisant to the Kremlin's line. A new policy was ordered. It called for promotion of strikes in coal, steel and other basic industries. But it went far beyond the same tactics as applied a decade earlier.

The unemployed (5,000,000 in 1930, more than 12,000,000 in 1935) were to be organized into a thing called the Workers' Alliance. This in turn, after a due time of agitation by marches on capitals and the like, was to become the fine tempered instrument wherewith communism thought it would win control at the polls.

There has ensued, until this day, a strange razzle-dazzle of political turn-coatism. The party has never remained consistent, cutting its cloth by the ever-changing pattern of its own opportunism as measured against the new complexities of the world at large.

Between 1929 and 1935, the party fought earnestly against Franklin D. Roosevelt, first as governor of New York and then as New Deal president. In this interim Foster lost control again and Earl Russell Browder, a Kansan and protege of his predecessor, became secretary - general, a post he was to hold for 15 years. The trend of antagonism endured until 1933, when Hitler won the chancellorship of Germany and began forthwith to liquidate the Communists.

Stalin needed friends. He needed such support as U. S. diplomatic and commercial recognition. So the party line changed once more; in 1935, at the Seventh World Communist Congress in Moscow, the order went forth: Play along with Roosevelt in 1936.

By the time election day dawned, the Communists in the U. S. were quasi-Democrats, by flat. They had a token ticket in the national race (Browder-Ford) but it meant nothing. Those of the card-holding faithful who went to the polls cast their votes for a second New Deal term—and what that meant in the way of secret agreements with the Democrats has remained one of America's great political mysteries.

The next three years were a period of appeasement. The damage done in that time is literally incalculable. Misguided intellectuals turned a pretty shade of pink. Reds crawled out of the governmental woodwork to take up many important posts and to entrench themselves so well that it took years to exterminate them. In early August, 1939, the party was respectable, with an estimated membership of 1,000,000.

In that month came the first of two historic double-crosses—the Stalin-Hitler pact. For a time the U.S. Communist leaders didn't know what to make of it, talking in larger circles than ever. When September came, and with it the march of Germany's legions into Poland, the Communist-New Deal honeymoon was over. The U.S. was once again a capitalistic ogre and Roosevelt its prophet.

The new Communist manifesto decreed that the U. S. must be kept out of the war at any cost. The American Peace Mobilization (grandson of the Anti-Imperialist League, son of the League Against War and Fascism) went into the rally-and-picket business again, uttering anguished patriotic cries whch, when properly translated, remained the staunch old line.

The U. S. acted, with formation of the Dies Committee (which will be examined in detail in a subsequent article). Browder was sentenced to four years for passport fraud, on the basis of admissions before the committee. Robert Minor, son of a Texas judge and a veteran of the Spanish Revolution—where many a world Communist learned the facts of true war—became the party's new head.

June 22, 1941, saw the second great double-cross. Hitler attacked Russia. The U.S. Communist Party rushed to the cupboard, donned a new coat and took the "not" out of their slogan. "The Yanks Are Not Coming." The U.S. could not be forced to war fast enough to suit the Communists. Meantime it must not stint in its shipments of aid to England and France.

Pearl Harbor was greeted with hosannahs. President Roosevelt pardoned Browder, who resumed the secretary-generalship in 1942. The party "disbanded" itself in June, 1944, so super-patriotic it hurt. The new name was the Communist Political Association; the dedication: "American communism should renounce the aims of partisan advancement and the party form of organization."

Less than three months after V-E Day, the party was reborn on the basis of "partisan advancement and the party form of organization." Foster was restored to command, with such now-familiar names as Eugene Dennis, John B. Williamson and Robert G. Thompson listed among his secretariat.

The convention of 1945 called for the introduction of socialism by the free choice of the American people — fine words meaning the same thing as those in the original constitution of 1919.

Once again the shifting tides of fortune, which had made the party now bold, now furtive, had militated in its favor. For the four years of the war there was virtually no resistance to communism by the government. The public had been lulled. Stalin was a friend and ally. All would not be well.

But (and here we go again), Henry A. Wallace had emerged as a new liberal, a candidate for president on the Progressive ticket. The Commies used him and his party as dupes. The U.S. Red press here and Radio Moscow indorsed him. Here was a new chance at "socialism by the free choice of the people," with the extreme left in the Wallace movement hoping for between 2,000,000 and 5,000,000 vots.

What they got were 1,130,000 votes in 45 states, as against J. Strom Thurmond's 1,168,000 as a States Righter in 19 states. The Progressives got 2 1-2 percent of the 48,489,000 total, but a large proportion of that was not from Communists.

The strategy for 1950 and 1952 cannot be conjectured, much less predicted. But there are two sure things. One is that the Communists will swing in any direction indicating gain, twisting whatever words are necessary to help. The other is that the American public, more fully aware than ever before of the peril involved, will gauge the Communists more realistically, than, on occasion, it has done in the past.

Cities Slow to Adopt New Rules

AUSTIN — (AP) — Some Texas cities are slow to adopt rules and regulations under the 1947 Firemen's and Policemen's Civil Service Act, the Supreme Court was told.

"Can Civil Service boards suspend the act by failing to adopt rules and regulations? It is being done," said Orville M. Jobe of Waco, attorney for a Sherman fireman defending a Civil Appeals Court judgment directing he be reinstated.

Jobe was replying to the contention of Joe A. Keith, attorney for the City of Sherman that if its Civil Service Board had set up no machinery, its charter powers relating to employes remained in full force.

Up for oral argument was the case of James Othway Arnold, a Sherman fireman who was discharged on grounds he had orally and physically assaulted Fire Chief Reagan H. Cooper, and on charges of insubordination.

The Court of Civil Appeals ordered the fireman reinstated, saying the question was not the fireman's guilt, but whether or not he had been legally suspended.

The burbot, a fish in northern U. S. waters which has been regarded as a pest because it eats game fish, have been found to yield a liver oil richer than that from cod fish.

Mild, Clear Weather Helps Texas Farmers

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas' mild, clear weather helped farmers move rapidly toward completion of harvest in all areas the past week.

While helping harvest, the dry weather was hurting growth of small grains, winter weeds, clovers and rescue grass over the entire state, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said in its weekly crop and weather report.

We should lose no time working out a broader area of cooperaton in atomic matters with Britain and Canada.
—David E. Lilienthal, chairman of U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The way to determine whether the B-36 is as invincible as the Air Force says or as vulnerable as the Navy says is to have the test. It is as simple as that.
—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.).

LOOKS like a Jet Plane
TRAVELS the same way

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every [illegible] evening.

You see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to "double bubble" taillights, here is the look of "the fastest thing that flies."

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock into mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

You realize that here is action, swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflow Drive* if you wish. Pleasurable—in the wide, wide outlook that's yours, and the inner satisfaction of having a Buick for your very own.

And we might add another thing, just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflow, frugal even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine — as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.

*Optional at extra cost.

HALF-A-DAY FRESHER

Holsum Ovens Are Now ½-Day Closer to Your Table

Your Holsum bread is now baked later — timed to be ready at the last minute for delivery to your grocer, with absolutely no delay or waiting. Delivery schedules have been revised, to bring the Holsum ovens still closer to your table.

Only enough Holsum bread is left in each store to meet each day's demand; no extra loaves are piled in, for "display" purposes. (We don't want today's display to be tomorrow's leftovers.) We want to be sure that the loaf of Holsum you buy, is REALLY fresher!

You will like this fresher Holsum bread better than ever. The difference is noticeable chiefly in flavor, especially when part of the loaf is eaten after the first day.

Our new baking and delivery schedules are made possible by precision timing of every step in making Holsum bread. They are just another example of the Holsum bakers' policy of giving you the freshest, best tasting, most nutritious bread it is possible to bake. If you are not already a Holsum user, get a loaf the very next time you go to your grocers.

Skin Magnifier With Every Jar

A NEW Hand Cream Specially Made to Do It!

ESOTERICA is that marvelous new kind of hand cream for fading those brown spots that make your hands look old. Also fades other blemishes and roughness caused by weather or neglect in a way no ordinary hand cream or lotion can. Leaves hands whiter, clearer, younger looking quickly—often within the first few days. While ESOTERICA looks and feels like the finest non-greasy vanishing hand cream, it has an added clearing action. Produced in a laboratory that has studied the effect of cosmetics on skin pigments for 25 years. When used on face or neck, ESOTERICA makes a perfect powder base by day—delightfully non-greasy when used at night. If you want clearer, whiter-looking hands, get ESOTERICA. Money back if the first jar does not bring desired results.

Net Farm Income Makes Big Decline

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An Agriculture Department official said that net farm income has dropped off $4,000,000,000 a year from the $18,000,000,000 peak of 1947.

It may decline another $2,000,000,000 next year, he said.

The official, Oris V. Wells, chief of the Bureau of Agriculture Economics, made his forecast to a Senate agriculture subcommittee headed by Sen. Gillette (D-Ia).

New Controversies Idle 3,046 Texans

AUSTIN —(AP)— Nine new controversies between labor and management idled 3,046 Texans last month, the Texas Employment Commission reported.

Settlement of three of the disputes before the month's end sent 99 of the workers back on the job.

Forty-two disputes were carried over from September, and 13 of these also were settled. This left 35 controversies involving 4,025 workers still to be worked out.

Largest of the October disputes was at Houston, resulting from the recent nationwide steel deadlock.

Crap Game Made Issue In Appeal

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court will decide whether or not a crap game was enough a part of a job to allow a laborer to collect workman's compensation insurance.

It will rule on an award of $6,416 to the widow of a road worker who died after a fight over a 50-cent side bet with another employe.

Chief Justice Thomas B. Coe of the 9th Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont had ruled that in this case "the crap game in which the deceased was participating at the time of his injuries had truly become a part of his working environment." The Supreme Court accepted the case for review.

The suit for workman's compensation was brought by Patsy Williams, widow of Clarence Williams, who died in Orange Oct. 23, 1947, against the American General Insurance Co. She claimed the injuries were received in the course of his employment with Trotti and Thompson, Inc., road and bridge contractors.

The civil appeals court found that it was the "usual and customary practice" of employes to shoot craps early in the morning after being carried in trucks to the job by their employers. The employer knew of the practice, the court said.

Testimony showed that Williams was hit on the head by a piece of two-by-six timber, wielded by another employe, after their argument over the side bet. Williams fell and hit the concrete floor, and died of his injuries. The man who hit him was fined on a guilty plea for negligent homicide.

The case will be argued orally before the Supreme Court Jan. 4.

WHEN SEWING PLAIDS

Plaid materials require special care from home-sewers. It is necessary to buy additional material to make plaids match at the seams. The easiest way to match a plaid is to check the notches when laying on pattern pieces, making sure that a notch on the sleeve, for example, comes at the same place in the plaid as the corresponding notch in the arm's eye. Often it's better to cut pieces one at a time and on single rather than double material, except for those pieces which must be cut on a fold of goods.

Young Group at Skating Party Held in Pampa

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skellytown young people of the Community Church were entertained at a skating party Wednesday evening at Pampa. Hosts were the young people of the McCullough Methodist Church and the Rev. E. H. Martin.

After the skating the group returned to the church for refreshments of cake and cokes, followed by a fellowship hour.

Those making the trip were Mrs. Ray Witcher, Mrs. Bernice Haskins, Addie Fern Lick, the Rev. Rex Hill, Frank Genett, Bob Moore, Sue Coleman, Dorothy Cooper, Robie Jo Cade, Peggy Todd, Dorothy Thomas, Betty Jean West, Lee McWilliams, Thadise Hightower, Kenneth Hightower, Billy and Buddy Wilkerson and Gene McWilliams.

Betty Foster, Patty Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Saxon, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hess and children, Eugene Haskins, Carl Mynear, Dianna Witcher and Lydia Kries.

What's RIGHT?

You arrive at a large party given by more than one hostess and you do not know the hostess who happens to greet you at the door.

WRONG WAY: Hurry by her in search of the hostess you do know.

RIGHT WAY: Tell her your name, instead of waiting to be introduced by the hostess who knows you.

Council of HD Clubs Meets; Reports Made and Plans for Party Discussed

Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Jr., presided at a meeting of the Gray County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs Monday afternoon in the County HD office.

Plans were made for a Christmas party, to be in the City Club Room at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, Dec. 12. All club members have been asked to attend and take a gift for exchange.

Each club has been asked to select two members to train in the use and operation of visual aid equipment.

Committee reports were given as follows:: Yearbook, Mrs. O. A. Wagner; Exhibit, Mrs. C. L. Cudney; Finance, Mrs. Harold Osborne, Reporter, Mrs. Wagner; Education and Expansion, Mrs. Ernest McKnight; Fair, Mrs. Charles Warminski.

The following presidents gave reports from their clubs: Mrs. Charles Warminski, Bell Club; Mrs. Paul Rice, Hopkins; Mrs. Harold Osborne, Wayside; Mrs. Ray Robertson, Worthwhile; Mrs. Ritter, Grandview.

On Dec. 5 all elective officers of the Council have been asked to meet in the agent's office at 1 p.m., and all committee chairmen and members of their committees have been asked to arrive at 2 o'clock for instruction.

The council is working on a county chorus and all who are interested have been asked to meet at 945 Love Monday, Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. They will meet the first and third Monday nights of each month.

Miss Doris Leggitt, district home demonstration agent, was present for the meeting, and gave a talk on the 4-H and HD work in the county.

Mrs. Mary Ann Duke, Gray County HD agent, spoke briefly, made several announcements and introduced her new secretary, Miss Patty Willit.

The 4-H Girls Clubs will hold their Christmas party at Recreation Hall at the Fair Grounds at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10.

Holiday Dinner At Rochelle Home

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rochelle entertained at a holiday 6 o'clock dinner at their home, 826 East Campbell.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Haggard, Mrs. Mary Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rochelle and Don, and Oscar Brothers.

Christmas Party Scheduled for Skellytown Club

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The J. T. Crawford home was meeting place for the Skellytown Home Demonstration Club, with Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes presiding.

A report was given on the county-wide tour made by four members: Mrs. E. E. Crawford, Mrs. W. H. Harris, Mrs. C. C. Coleman and Mrs. J. T. Crawford.

At a Christmas party, to be at the L. Z. Rhodes home at 7 o'clock Thursday, Dec. 22, gifts will be exchanged and secret pals revealed.

Miss Charlotte Tompkins, HD agent, gave a recipe for an electric mixer, and favorite recipes were exchanged. There was also a round table discussion on courtesy and social customs.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. L. Burba, E. E. Crawford, L. Z. Rhodes, W. H. Harris, C. C. Coleman, G. H. McKinney, two new members, and three visitors, Mrs. L. U. Collins, Mrs. D. Preston and Mrs. J. Wedge.

The Christmas party will be the only meeting of the club in December.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Recently I saw advertised on the cover of a national magazine an article called "How to Handle Your Mother-in-Law." The article was all right—but the title was all wrong.

One of the things that causes so much in-law trouble is that daughter-in-law tries to "handle" mother-in-law, and vice-versa.

When you start in by trying to "handle" another human being you're off to a bad start.

Because human beings resent being "handled," and they have a perfect right to.

When you are trying to handle another human being you automatically rule out certain helps to getting along together. Such helps, for instance, as genuine, unself-conscious liking, spontaneous gestures of good will, real kindness and consideration.

You take the relationship off the give-and-take standard and put it on a "get" basis: "How can I HANDLE the person so as to get what I want?"

And the minute you do that you start an tagonizing the other person. None of us likes to feel we are being "handled", whether it be by a boss, a friend, a husband or wife, or an in-law.

We want to be liked and accepted for what we are. We want to be treated with respect and genuine liking. We want a fair deal. But we don't want to be handled. We don't even want anyone to think they are capable of "handling" us, of regarding us as someone who can be moved around like a chess player.

Many of the complaints that daughters-in-law make against their monthers-in-law are based on the feeling that the mother-in-law is trying to "handle" them in order to have things her own way.

And many of the resentments that mothers-in-law hold against daughters-in-law crop up from the daughter-in-law's trying to handle her mother-in-law in such a way that she is eased right out of the picture.

What young wives need to have impressed on their minds, it seems to me, is "How to be friends with your mother-in-law"—not how to handle her.

WMU Groups Hear Book Review

The five circles of the Central Baptist Women's Missionary Union met at the church Monday at 10 a.m. to hear Mrs. Robert Huffhines review the mission book, "Japan's New Day." by Edwin Dozier. Mrs. G. C. Stark led the opening prayer.

A buffet luncheon of sandwiches, salad and pie was served at the noon hour. Mrs. Hal Upchurch dismissed the group.

Approximately 20 women attended. A nursery was provided.

Leonard Family Meets for Reunion

MOBEETIE — (Special) — The children of the R. B. Leonards gathered in their parents' home to celebrate both Thanksgiving and their father's birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Leonard, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Newman and daughter, Helen, and Joe Fred Leonard, Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Leonard and daughter, Ann, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Leonard, Bill Leonard and Roberta Leonard, all of Mobeetie.

Horace Mann P-TA Study Group At First Meeting

Mrs. Charles Glison was hostess at a covered dish luncheon for members of the Horace Mann P-TA study group at its first meeting.

Theme for the study is "Freedom to Grow," a course of study outlined in the National Parent Teachers Magazine.

Taking part on the program was Mrs. S. H. Haralson, who discussed the "Bashful and Bold Child." Mrs. H. L. Jordan discussed "School Reports and Reporters," assisted by Miss Josephine Thomas, principal, who explained the use of the report card in use in Pampa.

What's RIGHT?

SITUATION: A friend has redecorated a room, and it is a great improvement over what it was.

WRONG WAY: Say, "It hardly looks like the same room. It was so drab before."

RIGHT WAY: Be enthusiastic about the redecorating job, without ever hinting that it didn't look well before.

Mrs. Huelyn Laycock told of the "Responsibilities of Parents and Teachers."

Others attending were Mrs. G. C. Crocker, Mrs. C. W. Coffin, Mrs. Gaines, Mrs. Glison and Mrs. L. J. Zachry.

Lazy Daisy Club Plans for Party

KELLERVILLE — (Special) — The Lazy Daisy Social Club of Kellerville met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Joe Harris, and made plans for a Christmas party to be held near Christmas. The next hostess will be Mrs. Archie Farren.

Refreshments of cake and coffee was served to Mmes. J. J. Belnap, a visitor; Clarence Drum, Edwin Owen, R. F. Watson, Brent Chapman, Harris D'Spain, V. A. Wallin, Archie Farren, Jack Harris, Newt Barker, John Gregory, O. L. Thompson, Raymond McReynolds, R. D. Holmes, and H. A. Roles.

Fighting Harvesters Battle Coyotes for Bi-District Title

Green-Gold 2 Touchdown Underdogs

Tomorrow afternoon will again be climax time for the Fighting Pampa Harvester footballers as they seek to keep the football season alive in the Panhandle Class AA district. They will be trying to fight their way into the state quarterfinals for the first time in many a moon. And to do so they will have to turn in one of the biggest upsets in the 1949 Schoolboy campaign.

They will have to defeat the third-rated Wichita Falls Coyotes.

The Coyotes are riding into town today on the crest of a 10-game winning streak, and all of the betting men are figuring that they will easily make it 11 straight at the expense of the Harvesters. The Harvesters were the Coyotes' fourth victim earlier this year, by a 14-6 score, catching the Coyotes on a night when they weren't playing their top brand of ball.

Tomorrow the boys from District 2-AA will be in top shape. And when they are ready, they are rough. They have one of the finest, if not the best backfields in the state, led by the great triple-threat man, Bill Waggoner. Waggoner can run like a demon, pass like a bullet with the accuracy of a rifle and kick with the best of them.

And as if that isn't enough he is accompanied in the backfield by three other boys who can gallop like gazelles and hit the line with the power of a bulldozer. Tommy Fields, Junior, weighing 165-pounds, Senior Billy Bookout, 140-pounder, speed merchant James Self, 136-pounds, are the other members of the great running quartette. Charles Gregg, who will be in the starting line-up at the blocking back post, hasn't done any ball carrying this season, but his blocking has been the key to the great running attack of the Coyotes.

In the line the visitors will have Jerry Fouts, picked on the Star-Telegram's all-state team at one end. He weighs in at 157 pounds and is as glue-fingered as any high school end in the state. The other end post will be held by big Weldon Walker, lanky 160-pounder.

The tackle posts go to 200-pound Charley Sanders and 170-pound Don Fritz, who have been mainly responsible for the fine defensive record of the Coyotes this season. Only 54 points have been scored against the Wichita Falls eleven in the first 10 games.

At the guards will be 164-pound Clay Fulcher and 170-pound Bob Penick. Nobody runs over that part of the line, especially when it is bolstered by the presence of big Bill Harris, 160-pound center. Harris is a brother of the famous Bob Harris, all-American of a few sesons ago.

This line will average 170 pounds from end to end. The backfield that is starting tomorrow will average about 163 pounds.

In the Pampa starting lineup will be Tommy Allison and either Weldon Witcher or Jimmy Parker at the ends. In the tackle posts will be Eddie Scheig and Paul Boswell. The guards will be manned by Marvin Harvel and probably Jimmy Campbell. James Holt, regular right guard, is still suffering from an injured shoulder that hasn't responded to treatment, and probably will not get to play at all. At the center slot will be old reliable co-captain Leon Taylor.

The starting backfield will have Carl Kennedy at fullback; co-captain Pete Cooper at left halfback; Jimmy Hayes, hard-running charger at right halfback; and the top quarterback in the district, Carroll Smith, will start at his usual post. He has been suffering from a slightly twisted knee, but with it tightly taped and a strong, secure brace on, will be ready to go.

Ready to take over when needed will be John Nolan, Glenn Tarpley, Jerry Walker, Weymer Osborne, Dale Richerson, Gerald Matthews, John Young, Dick Cook, Elmer Wilson and all the rest of the great Fighting Harvesters.

The Coyotes have been mainly a ground-gaining team this season, but against Vernon it was the passing of Bill Waggoner that brought all three touchdowns as he hit receivers on each occasion to earn a 21-14 victory. The main offense of the Coyotes has been from the single wing, but in the last game they played the Coyotes did use some T formation.

The weatherman, who has cooperated for the past several weeks, has been throwing some chilly air on the Panhandle the last two days, and the weatherman forecasts even colder for Friday.

A capacity crowd is assured for the battle. General admission tickets are on sale at all of the downtown drugstores and in all probability there will be some available at the field the day of the game.

The radio coverage of the fray will be complete. To date, nine stations are due to carry the broadcast. Locally it will be KPDN, as usual. For Borger fans, KHUZ; for Amarillo, KAMQ is handling it. At Dumas, KDDD; KSEL in Lubbock, KVOP in Plainview and three Wichita Falls stations KTRN, KWFT and KFDX.

Yesterday the Harvesters had another short workout, devoted mainly to offense, running through old and new plays. Today will again be an easy day.

Tonight the team will be feted downtown at a city-wide pep rally in front of the LaNora Theatre, starting at 7 o'clock.

The season records of the teams are as follows:

Coyotes 32,	Denison 6
Coyotes 14,	Breckenridge 7
Coyotes 33,	Abilene 7
Coyotes 14,	Pampa 6
Coyotes 53,	Electra 0
Coyotes 14,	Highland Park 7
Coyotes 59,	Quanah 0
Coyotes 36,	Childress 0
Coyotes 21,	Graham 14
Coyotes 39,	Graham 7
Pampa 40,	North Dallas 0
Pampa 7,	Graham 0
Pampa 35,	El Paso High 19
Pampa 8,	Vernon 7
Pampa 6,	Wichita Falls 14
Pampa 20,	Lubbock 33
Pampa 32,	Lamesa 13
Pampa 20,	Amarillo 12
Pampa 31,	Plainview 0
Pampa 14,	Borger 7

The Harvesters will be defending a perfect record at home. Up to this game they are undefeated at Harvester Park through five games this season. Tomorrow they get a chance to further etch their names in the halls of Pampa High. And with the type of fight that has been prevalent on the squad through all the season, they could turn in the unexpected victory.

GAME INFORMATION: Bi-district championship game for District 1-AA and 2-AA, to be played at Harvester Park, Friday afternoon. Kickoff time, 2 o'clock. Winner plays winner of Lubbock-El Paso game in quarterfinals next weekend.

OFFICIALS: Judy Truelson, referee; Charles Hown, umpire; Joe Holmes, head linesman; Poss Yeary, field judge.

BROADCAST: KPDN, Pampa; KTRN, KWFT, KFDX, Wichita Falls; KHUZ, Borger; KDDD, Dumas; KAMQ, Amarillo; KVOP, Plainview; KSEL, Lubbock, all starting at 1:45.

BILL WAGGONER, 165-pound triple-threat back of the Coyotes. One of the outstanding Schoolboy stars in the state, Waggoner has led the Coyotes through this season's 10 straight victories with his spectacular running, passing and punting.

TOMMY FIELDS, though only a Junior, has already marked himself as all-state material. A full-back, weighing 165 pounds, his slashing line plunges and his terrifically hard running has made him into one of the most feared backs on the Coyote team.

Three members of the 1948 AP All-America repeated on the 1949 eleven Doak Walker of SMU, Rod Franz of California and Charlie Justice of North Carolina.

Pampans Invited To Downtown Pep Rally Tonight

A "Get a Coyote" pep rally will be held in downtown Pampa tonight in front of the LaNora Theatre starting at 7 o'clock. All of the Pampa football fans are invited to attend the rally, which will also serve as an appreciation rally to honor the Harvesters and their coaches. The entire squad will be on hand for the rally.

The Pampa Harvester band will also be present to lend its music to the rally.

The block of Cuyler Street in front of the theatre will be blocked off from traffic for the duration of the rally.

The purpose of the rally is to honor the Fighting Harvesters, the first Pampa football team in six years to bring a district title to Pampa. And all Pampa football fans are invited to attend to help get the team off to a good start on this important weekend of football for the Green and Gold.

Still Tickets Available for Grid Banquet

There are still some tickets available for the annual Football Banquet honoring the Fighting Pampa Harvesters of 1949. The date of the banquet is Dec. 6 and the place is the Senior High School cafeteria at 7:30.

Tickets may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office, at Frank Leder's jewelry store and at the Court House Cafe.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be Dana X. Bible, former coach of the Texas Longhorns and now athletic director at the state university. To accompany his talk Coach Bible will show movies of the Texas-Oklahoma game of this season, a game in which two Pampa boys, Randall Clay and Carl "Red" Mayes both saw much action.

Highlight of the evening will be the announcing of the winner of the "Fighting Heart Award," annual presentation made to the Pampa Harvester footballer deemed to have shown the most spirit and scrap through the entire season, in practice and in games. The choice is made by the men closest to the players all year long, the coaches of the team. And the choice this year will be indeed a tough one with the amount of spirit displayed by the entire squad all year. Last season's winner was Pete Cooper, co-captain of this season's squad.

These few tickets won't be available for much longer, so if you plan to attend the banquet it is most advisable to get your tickes now.

State Golden Glove Tourney Dates Selected

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Dates for the 1950 Texas Golden Gloves State Tournament will be Feb. 15, 16, 17, 18, and 20. The five-night tournament will be held in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum here.

State headquarters officials have announced that two regional centers, at San Angelo and Bryan, will send teams to the state meet. Other regional centers are: Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownwood, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Harlingen, Houston, Lufkin, Lubbock, Odessa, Paris, San Antonio, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

The eight state champions will be sent to the Chicago Tournament of Champions Feb. 27, 28 and March 1 by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, which sponsors the Golden Gloves in Texas.

Athletics Get Former Stars Back to Coach

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics announced Wednesday that Mickey Cochrane, former Detroit manager, and Bing Miller, onetime Chicago White Sox catcher, have signed as coaches for the 1950 season.

Both Cochrane and Miller were stars on the Philadelphia team's championship clubs of the early '30s.

They replace Al Simmons and Earle Brucker, dismissed last month.

Pack Due in Pampa Today For Workout

By BILL GLINES
Wichita Daily Times

WICHITA FALLS — (Special) —The final practice for the Wichita Falls High School football team in preparation for the bi-district meeting with Pampa was staged at Coyote Stadium Wednesday afternoon.

The squad left by special bus from Wichita Falls early Thursday morning and plans called for a workout that afternoon at Pampa. The squad will return to Wichita Falls immediately after the game.

Wednesday's session found the Coyotes in the best of physical condition with Tommy Fields, the line-smashing fullback, and Co-Captain Charles Sanders, rugged 200-pound tackle, back on the "ready for action" list.

Sanders took it fairly easy Wednesday, however, as his replacement, Wilton Ashby, did most of the heavy work.

Fields worked out with his upper lip taped and further protected with a face guard. A blow last week caused the split, which required stitches.

Blocking came in for more than its usual share of emphasis as Coach Joe Golding and his aides, Hunter Kirkpatrick and Weldon Bibb, sought to sharpen the Coyotes' downfield way-clearings.

Offensive maneuvers continued to take up most of the Pack's time, although defending against Pampa plays came in for its share of attention too.

One of the Coyotes raced through his assignments with renewed vigor. This was Jerry Fouts, offensive left end and defensive left halfback, who was named earlier this week to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's all-state team for Class AA.

Tailbacks Bill Waggoner and Billy Bookout sparked the drill, with Bookout's slashing runs measuring up to their usual value and Waggoner continuing to take advantage of his new-found passing prowess.

There has been no shift in the betting odds here in the past couple of days with the Coyotes generally favored to win by one, two or three touchdowns in normal weather. Rain or snow, however, would probably shave the edge down closely and work in Pampa's favor.

Laffoon and Bob Boyles Make Second Eleven

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Sul Ross and Eastern New Mexico University, the top two teams in the New Mexico Conference, dominate the all-conference football team. It was picked by coaches in the annual conference meeting here yesterday.

Sul Ross placed four players on the first team and two more on the second. The ENMU Greyhounds had three on the first and another on the second team.

Sul Ross members of the first team were tackle Dale Garner, center Mike Flanigen, end Bob Mathes and back Ted Scown.

On the second team were tackle Bob Boyles and back Charles Laffoon.

Expect Barnhill To Step Down as Razorback Coach

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. —(AP)— It seemed more likely today that John Barnhill would seek to step down as head football coach but continue as athletic director at the University of Arkansas.

He has announced only that he will recommend a reorganization of the athletic department.

His use of the word "recommend" stirred more speculation, for he probably would not have permission of the Board of Trustees or the university's Athletic Council to take any step shorter than employment of a head coach.

In Little Rock, the Arkansas Gazette today said Otis Douglas, 38-year-old assistant coach and tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles, is likely to become head coach of the Razorbacks.

Harvester Cagers Hold Hard Scrimmage for Friday Game

The Pampa Harvester basketballers, who will open their 1949-50 season Friday night against the Childress Bobcats, spent a lengthy evening of scrimmage last night at the Junior High School gymnasium against some of the Industrial League players. It will be the final hard workout for the cagers until the game Friday night.

The Harvesters showed a fairly good scoring unit last night. The starting five was composed of James Gallemore, Jimmy Howard, Jack Sutton, Dwaine Reno and Tony Jones. James Claunch and Marvin Bond also spent considerable time with the first string.

Gallemore last night looked like the leading scoring threat on the club. His 6 feet 3 inches of height place him far above the rest of the team and added to that he has the best springing ability of any of the club which gets him high into the air for rebounds and all free balls.

Howard's ball handling wasn't quite up to last season's as yet, though a few more good skirmishes like last night will add polish rapidly. Sutton was handling the ball well and was getting considerable of the rebounds.

Claunch looked good on the fast breaking plays, which appear to be the type of game the Harvesters plan to play this season. If they are going to play firehouse ball, though, they will have to get into better physical condition than they are in at the present time. The boys were tiring out and slow getting back on defense, allowing the Industrial Leaguers many easy buckets.

Little is known about the calibre of the Bobcats this season. They should have a good club, though. Several of the members of last season's squad, which caught fire midway through the year, will be back. Greatest loss to the Cats was the graduation of T. Jones, the outstanding Schoolboy quarterback in the state and a fine basketballer.

The game Friday night will start at 8 o'clock. A "B" team game has definitely been scheduled with the Bobcat "B's" starting at 7 p.m. The Guerillas will produce a good club this year, also. Most of last season's Reaper crew will be playing with the Guerillas.

Members of the Guerillas are Duane Jeter, big 6 foot 3 inch transfer who will be ineligible this year; Tommy Smith, Billy Davis, Bill McPherson, Tollie Hutchens, Bobby Seitz, Jim Delaney, Howard Musgrave, Roy King, Glen Harris, Jim Smith, Fred Williams and Jimmy Campbell.

The main game between the Harvesters and Bobcats will be broadcast by radio station KPDN starting at 8 o'clock.

LSU Choice Leaves Hotel Rooms Short

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— The selection of Louisiana State University as one of the Sugar Bowl teams leaves New Orleans needing about a thousand hotel rooms it doesn't have.

"Most LSU grads are now working in this part of the country," a hotel manager explained. "And practically every one of them will be coming here for the game."

Larger hotels in the city are already booked solid for the Jan. 2 football show.

Similarly, larger hotels in Biloxi, where the Oklahoma team will arive for training Dec. 27, are filling up fast. In fact major hostelries along the Gulf Coast for fifty miles along either side of New Orleans will be brimming by New Year's Day.

About 40,000 bowl tickets have been sold to out-of-towners, Fred Digby, general manager of the MidWinter Sports Association, announced.

The answer to the lodging problem will probably be found in the tourist courts and resort camps in the area.

The Convention and Visitors Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce will help any visitor find lodgings for three to six days.

Browns Release Boss Of San Antonio Team

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — The boss of the San Antonio baseball club said last night the parent St. Louis Browns had fired him.

The American League club owns San Antonio's franchise in the Texas League.

William R. (Billy) Byrd, San Antonio vice president and general manager, told the San Antonio Express the St. Louis club believed it was getting "a short count" at the gate. He denied any irregularities and said he asked the Browns for proof. He said the proof was never produced.

Browns officials could not be reached last night for comment.

The 1949 AP All-America has three players from Notre Dame—first time a school has placed more than two men since 1945.

By placing three players on the 1949 AP All-America Notre Dame maintains a record of having at least one player on every team since 1945.

Pro Football Team Calls Off Strike

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The San Francisco 49er's, pro football squad called off a threatened strike today.

A team spokesman said the 32 players decided their obligation to fans who want to see them play the New York Yankees here Sunday was more important than their demand for a $500 bonus per player for the game. Sunday's affair is a semi-final playoff in the All America Conference.

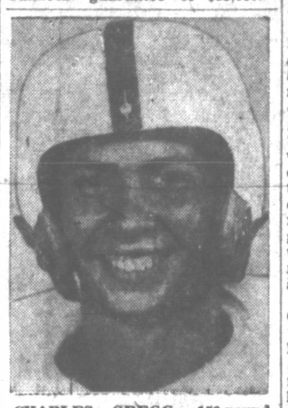

Earlier team captain Norman Standlee, 245-pound fullback and onetime Stanford great, and halfback Len Eshmont, former Fordham flash, speaking as "elder spokesmen" said the men wouldn't show up for the game unless they were promised the bonus.

Tony Morabito, one of the club owners, said nothing doing. He told the 49ers to turn out for practice this morning or the season would be over as far as they were concerned.

The squad of 32 went into a huddle last night. They came out of it at midnight with the announcement there would be no strike.

The 49ers won second place last Sunday in final All America Conference standings by beating the Yankees 35-14 in a bruising game. The Yanks wound up third and the two teams are scheduled to open the playoff here.

Cancellation of Sunday's game would have meant refunding an estimated $75,000 in advance ticket sales and the '49er owners would have had to meet the Yankees' guarantee of $15,000.

CHARLES GREGG, 156-pound quarterback, is a Senior. He has not carried the ball once this year. The only time he has laid hands on it was when he was on the receiving end of a short aerial. His main job has been as a blocker for the hard-running Coyote backs.

Newcombe, Sievers Gain Rookie Prizes

NEW YORK — (AP) — Roy Sievers, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Browns, and Don Newcombe, fireballing ace of the Brooklyn pitching staff, have been named the outstanding baseball rookies of the major leagues for 1949.

Sievers was chosen the top Freshman in the American League and Newcombe headed the newcomers in the National in the annual poll of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Newcombe, who won 17 and lost eight for the National League champion Dodgers, was an almost unanimous pick of the 24-man senior league panel.

The 23-year-old Negro star received 21½ votes. The other three went to Del Crandall, 19-year-old catcher of the Boston Braves.

In the American League, six players received nominations. Sievers, however, got ten votes to double that of his closest challenger, pitcher Alex Kellner of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Others getting votes were infielder Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees, 4; Mike Garcia of Cleveland, Johnny Groth of Detroit and Bob Kuzava of the Chicago White Sox, one each.

Lefors Gridder To Participate In Oleander Tilt

ABILENE — Wesley Daniels, end from Lefors, is a member of the McMurry Indian football team, selected to play Missouri Valley College's Vikings in the Oleander Bowl in Galveston Jan. 2.

Three times champions of the Texas Conference, the Indians rejected two out-of-state bowl invitations to accept the Oleander proposal. Under the sponsorship of the Greater Galveston Beach Association, the Oleander Bowl is expected to become recognized as one of the big-time bowls. This is the first year for the bowl to invite senior colleges.

Bucks Battle Kress Friday At Canyon

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for regional championships in Class B Schoolboy football goes through its semi-final round this week.

Three bi-district games are scheduled tonight with other final brackets in the regions to be filled tomorrow and Saturday.

Two bi-district winners already have been determined. Olton beat Meadow 24-0 and will play the winner of the White Deer-Kress game for the Region 1 title. Benavides licked Rio Hondo 45-12 and will meet the winner of the Taft-Bishop game for the Region 11 crown.

White Deer and Kress play at Canyon tomorrow. Taft and Bishop get together at Robstown tomorrow night.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Bill McCarter, Dartmouth's athletic director, advises Ivy League football teams to "stay in their own back yard" and adhere to their own rules . . . As an elderly "Ivy" alumnus, we think the Ivy Leaguers have done too much staying at home and making faces across the fence at the bad boys next door . . . And in November we think teams like Cornell, Dartmouth and Princeton would stand a pretty good chance.

Top Four Football Teams Gain Six Places on 1949 AP All-America

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hasse--News Sports Editor

QUESTION: On what college football teams do these stars perform: Eddie LeBaron, Arnold Galiffa, Bobby Zastrow, Rod Franz, Bob Williams?

TOMORROW IS THE DAY THAT PAMPANS HAVE WAITED 6 years for. The Harvesters will once again be battling in the bi-district playoff. And as the last time, in 1943, they appear to have found more than they can handle coming at them from District 2-AA. The Harvesters will be 14-point underdogs as they take to Harvester Field's gridiron tomorrow afternoon.

There are several reasons why the Harvesters will be the underdogs. First, because of the previous meeting this season between the two teams in which the Coyotes completely overwhelmed the Harvesters, though the 14-6 score doesn't indicate that. When the two teams met at Coyote Stadium the Coyotes had 18 first downs to Pampa's 6; the Coyotes outrushed the Harvesters 245 yards to 128; they completed 2 passes of 5 while the Harvesters connected on only 1 of 6.

Another good reason for the Harvesters being the underdogs is the speed and power in the Coyotes' backfield. Pampa fans will see one of the finest backfields in the state, including the Lubbock Westerners' when they see Billy Bookout, Tommy Fields, Bill Waggoner, James Self and Charles Gregg playing tomorrow. They are fast, terrifically hard runners, and experienced.

Another reason the Harvesters are the underdogs is because of the undefeated record of the Coyotes. They have gone through 10 games this season, losing none. They have racked up 315 points while holding their opponents to but 54. Only one team, Vernon, has scored more than one touchdown against them this season. Three teams, Quanah, Childress and Electra, were held scoreless. Pampa meanwhile has managed to outscore their opponents by a 211 to 116 margin.

Apparently the sole advantage the Harvesters have is playing on their home field. It is very seldom that the Coyotes get into the Panhandle and the change in climate and altitude might make some difference in their play. The Harvesters have yet to be beaten on their home field this season, having won five straight victories at Harvester Park this year.

Something else the Harvesters will be striving to do is to make Wichita Falls the sixth club that they have knocked from the ranks of the undefeated. Already they scored the first victories of the year over the North Dallas Bulldogs, the Graham Steers, the El Paso High Tigers, the Vernon Lions and the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. They have definitely been playing the role of spoilers.

Whether playing on their home field is enough of an advantage to overcome the rest of the opposing factors I don't know. But I am going to stick with the Harvesters to score an upset victory over the heretofore undefeated Coyotes.

Another mighty fine game tomorrow afternoon pits the mighty Lefors Pirates against the powerful and potent Littlefield Wildcats. All the reports emanating from the South Plains have praised the calibre of play that the Wildcats have shown this season. They have been pure fight and scrap from the opening whistle every game.

The Wildcats are heavy and fast. They can't be faster than the Pirates, but they can be heavier. And I doubt if they can be more courageous or more scrappy than the charges of Coach James Love.

The Pirates didn't come out of the Phillips game in exactly the best of shape. Sore muscles and serious colds were the result of the thrilling 42-28 victory turned in by the Buccaneers. With the small squad that Coach Love has at his disposal, he can't afford to have any of the athletes sidelined. But I'm certain, whether they are sick or sore Friday afternoon, the Pirates will put up a terrific battle before they will be defeated.

And I for one don't think they will be defeated. The winner of this game looks to be one of the contestants in the finals of Class A, and I think it will be the scrappy Pirates.

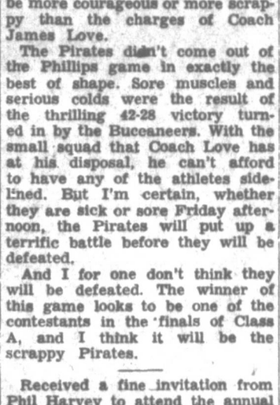

Received a fine invitation from Phil Harvey to attend the annual banquet of the Panhandle Coaches and Officials Association. The feed will be held in the Canyon High School cafeteria on the night of Dec. 12.

For this swell invitation I will forget all the ideas I had about getting me an official late in the Borger-Pampa game last Thursday right after I thought Pete Cooper made a clean interception.

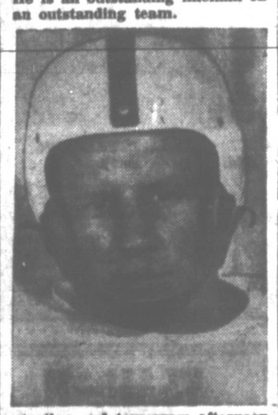

Speaker for the occasion will be Jack Curtiss, coach at El Paso Mines.

The annual banquet was held in Pampa in 1947. Lots of the members of the association are from Pampa. Thanks for the invite, fellows.

ANSWER: LeBaron — College of the Pacific; Galiffa — Army; Zastrow — Navy; Franz — California; Williams — Notre Dame.

BOB PENICK, 164-pound Coyote guard, is a returning letterman from last season's squad and has been one of the main reasons that the Coyotes have gone through the season undefeated. He is an outstanding lineman on an outstanding team.

starting end tomorrow afternoon along with Founts. Walker is a Senior, weighing 160 pounds. He has been another one of the targets for the fine-throwing Bill Waggoner. And when he isn't receiving aerials he is leading the blocking for the Coyote backs.

Meyer Promises War on Bookies

DALLAS —(AP)— Texas Chrisian University's head football coach says he's going to make war on football bookies.

"I'm going to fight them up and down the nation and try to stop this card playing on football games," Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer told the Temple Emanu-El Brotherhood last night.

He chided fans who criticize boys for making mistakes on the playing field. "I'm afraid we are losing sight of the boy and taking the game too seriously," he said.

"I hope before I die I can see one game when the entire crowd cheers a kid when he makes an excellent play, regardless of what side he's on."

Meyer said this year's Texas Christian team was "the greatest I have ever seen in courage and spirit." He said Texas might be the strongest team in the Southwest Conference next season.

Meyer said Southern Methodist has only "a remote chance" of beating Notre Dame Saturday. "When you play Notre Dame you play not one but three teams," he said.

SWC Sets New Attendance Record

(By The Associated Press)

An all-time attendance record for Southwest Conference football was set this year.

For 39 home games, 1,268,029 fans turned out, bettering last year by more than 170,000. Last year 34 games drew 1,094,865. The average in 1948 was 32,202 per game; this year it was 32,510.

Southern Methodist was responsible for it. The Methodists drew 484,000 for eight games compared to 255,931 for five last year.

Texas Christian and Texas A&M were the only other schools to show increases.

New Pro Baseball Circuit Organized

DALLAS — (AP) — The Gulf Coast League — Texas' newest professional baseball circuit — is all set with six clubs, Howard Green of Abilene, organizer of the circuit, said here today.

Green was on the way to Baltimore for the National Baseball Convention.

He formed the league and was elected temporary president.

Lufkin, Jacksonville, Galveston and Port Arthur, Texas, and Lake Charles and Crowley, Louisiana, from the circuit.

Lufkin, Jacksonville and Crowley already have parks and the others have raised the money to build.

Green said it was hoped to expand the league to eight clubs next year. Baytown and Orange, Texas, and Opelousas, Louisiana, are 1951 member prospects.

Hart of Notre Dame Unanimous Choice

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 1—(AP)—The nation's top four football juggernauts—Notre Dame, Oklahoma, California and Army—appropriately enough gained six places on the 25th Associated Press All-American team.

Notre Dame, the No. 1 team by the widest of margins, dominates the 1949 team with three men. They are the Irish co-captains, End Leon Hart and Tackle Jim Martin, and their rugged bull-necked fullback, Emil Sitko.

Oklahoma's representative is Wade Walker, a 203-pound tackle from Gastonia, N. C. California's Bears, the Rose Bowl hosts, have Rod Franz at guard for the second straight year and Army made the mythical array with all-around athlete, Quarterback Arnold Galiffa.

Two repeaters in the backfield are the prize triple threat men from the southwest and south, Doak Walker of Southern Methodist and Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina, respectively. This is the third straight All-America for Walker and the second for Justice.

The other three places went to Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota's 245-pound center; Guard John (Bull) Schweder of Pennsylvania and End Jim (Froggy) Williams of Rice.

With Notre Dame gaining three places the team strength lies in the midwest, the others from that section being Tonnemaker of Minnesota and Walker of Oklahoma. The east and southwest each placed two players on the first team with the south and west coast getting one spot apiece.

ALL MEN ARE SENIORS

It marks the first time since prewar football that the entire team is made up of seniors which is significant in that future All-Americas, barring unforseen conflicts, will include down to earth collegians instead of players who have performed all over the gridiron map with Army and Navy service teams before concluding their collegiate careers.

The 1949 team, chosen after recommendations by more than 250 sports editors, AP staff writers, college coaches and radio broadcasters, is a truly veteran group. The team age is 22.8 years and the weight average 199.4 pounds.

The youngest player chosen is Leon Hart, also the heaviest. Yet the 21-year-old 248-pound giant —he's six - four—from Turtle Creek, Pa., is the one unanimous selection in that not one dissenter could be found.

LINEMEN WERE VERSATILE

In this day of the two platoon system and high scoring games, Hart was a stickout on a great Irish team. Like the other linemen on the team he played both on offense and defense. Besides being a brilliant tackler and blocker, he was used as a ground gainer on end around plays and turned in many sensational catches of passes.

An example of Hart's value as a team man was best shown in the Irish battle here against North Carolina. He caught one of Bob Williams' passes and though he was tackled, went an additional 10 yards and then tossed a lateral to Bill Barrett for a touchdown that broke a 6-6 tie and helped turn the game into a rout.

"As our co-captain with Jim Martin, Leon has provided wonderful leadership for the Notre Dame team this year," said Coach Frank Leahy. "He is an outstanding end offensively and defensively and we will long remember him at Notre Dame."

Besides being named an AP lineman of the week in October, Hart was chosen as the college player of the year by the Maxwell Memorial Football Club of Philadelphia. Hart, an excellent student in mechanical engineering, plans to continue football among the professionals.

The other end, Jim (Froggy) Williams of Rice, also is co-captain of his team, and like Hart, figured in many scoring plays for the Owls. After the first nine games of the season, Williams was among the top three scorers in the southwest with 58 points on five TD's, 25 extra points and a field goal. In the conference race he was outscored only by Doak Walker.

"Williams is one of the finest boys I've ever had the privilege of coaching," said Rice backfield mentor Cecil Grigg. "He's a real leader."

The 21-year-old six-foot 185-pounder from Waco, Tex., is a modest player to say the least. After kicking a field goal that beat Texas in the last 10 seconds, all Froggy talked about was the great line play of his teammates.

Froggy plans to continue his education in law, either at Texas or SMU. During four varsity seasons at Rice he has caught more than 40 passes for more than 800 yards and has kicked 70 extra points which is almost half of his overall point total.

DEFENSIVE STALWART

Getting back to the backs, a Navy eleven, averaged one touchdown a game. Last year he led the nation in total offense and this season he is one of the top punters in the country.

Justice, captain of his team, undoubtedly will go down as the greatest back in North Carolina history. The son of a railroad man, Justice is the lightest player on this year's team. The native of Asheville, N. C., weighs 165 pounds.

Justice paced the Tarheels to a perfect Southern Conference record when he tossed for two touchdowns and tallied a third in the 21-20 victory over Duke, a game NC had to win. Justice, still hobbling slightly on an injured ankle that kept him out of the Notre Dame game, was pretty much the whole show although his great pass catching end, Art Weiner, did a tremendous job too, catching two Justice passes for touchdowns. In four years against Duke, Justice ran and passed the Tarheels to 10 touchdowns against the Blue Devils.

The All-America quarterback is Arnold Galiffa of West Point, a 190-pound six-foot, two T man from Donora, Pa., the home town of Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Galiffa, after a year in the Army at Fort McClellan, Ala., prepared for West Point at Amherst College. Although his receivers in the Penn game, which Army won, 14-13, were bottled up, it was his field generalship that protected Army's unblemished record.

Two of his best afternoons were against Columbia and previously unbeaten Fordham. He connected for four and three touchdown passes, respectively, against these New York City teams. Against Penn State he accounted for two touchdowns rushing.

BLAIK LAUDS GALIFFA

"Galiffa is as fine a passer as any coach would wish to have," says Army coach Earl (Red) Blaik. "He throws long and short passes with unusual accuracy and has a sense of timing seldom found in an athlete."

Prior to the Navy game, Galiffa completed 50 percent of his passes, clicking with 39 out of 78 thrown. Thirteen of his aerials were good for scores. A basketball and baseball star at the U.S. Military Academy, Galiffa will have won 11 letters by graduation time next June. Only Col. Lighthorse Harry Wilson, football great of the late 20's, exceeded Galiffa's brilliance as an athlete. Wilson won 12 Army letters.

A couple of veritable block busters, Jim Martin of Notre Dame and Wade Walker of Oklahoma, are the All-America tackles.

Martin, a 204 - pounder from Cleveland, is one of the secrets —great all around ability — of Notre Dame's success of the past few years. He looked like a cinch to be named All-America end before the season opened yet willingly went along with his coach when Leahy suggested he shift to a tackle spot. He has been the same brilliant player at tackle he was at end the last three campaigns.

WON PRESIDENTIAL CITATION

Martin is another football player who has served his country. While attached to the Marines he served in the underwater demolition branch and was a member of a unit which won a Presidential Citation for going ashore at Tinian on the eve of the invasion to secure information. He had 30 months in the Marines.

Wade Walker, a 203-pound six-footer, is one of the big reasons why Oklahoma's right halfbacks have been so successful these last four years. After serving in the Navy, Wade played varsity ball for the Sooners as a freshman and blocked from his right tackle position for Joe Golding. In 1947 he was the blocker for George Brewer. For the last two years he was the man in front when George (Junior) Thomas bulled through opposing lines. This year, Thomas set a Big Seven scoring record, getting 105 points in the first nine games breaking the record of 98 set by Missouri's Bob Steuber in 1942.

Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma says Walker is smart and a good blocker, one of the best in Sooner history.

Guards Rod Franz of California and John (Bull) Schweder of Pennsylvania both are rugged and would fit well into any team's forward wall.

Franz, a good looking 205-pounder who has had offers from Hollywood motion picture studios, is regarded as the best blocking lineman on the coast, where football is on the upswing this year. He has thrown a number of key blocks on runs which went for touchdowns.

A product of Galileo High, which sent Bobby Brown to the Yankees, Hank Luisetti to basketball fame and Lawson Little to golfing heights, Franz had three years in the Army Air Corps in the CBI theater.

"He's the hardest charging defensive guard I have seen in 24 years of coaching," says Lynn Waldorf of the Pacific Coast champions. During several practice sessions, Waldorf ordered Franz to work without shoulder pads because he hits so hard.

GALIFFA NEMESIS

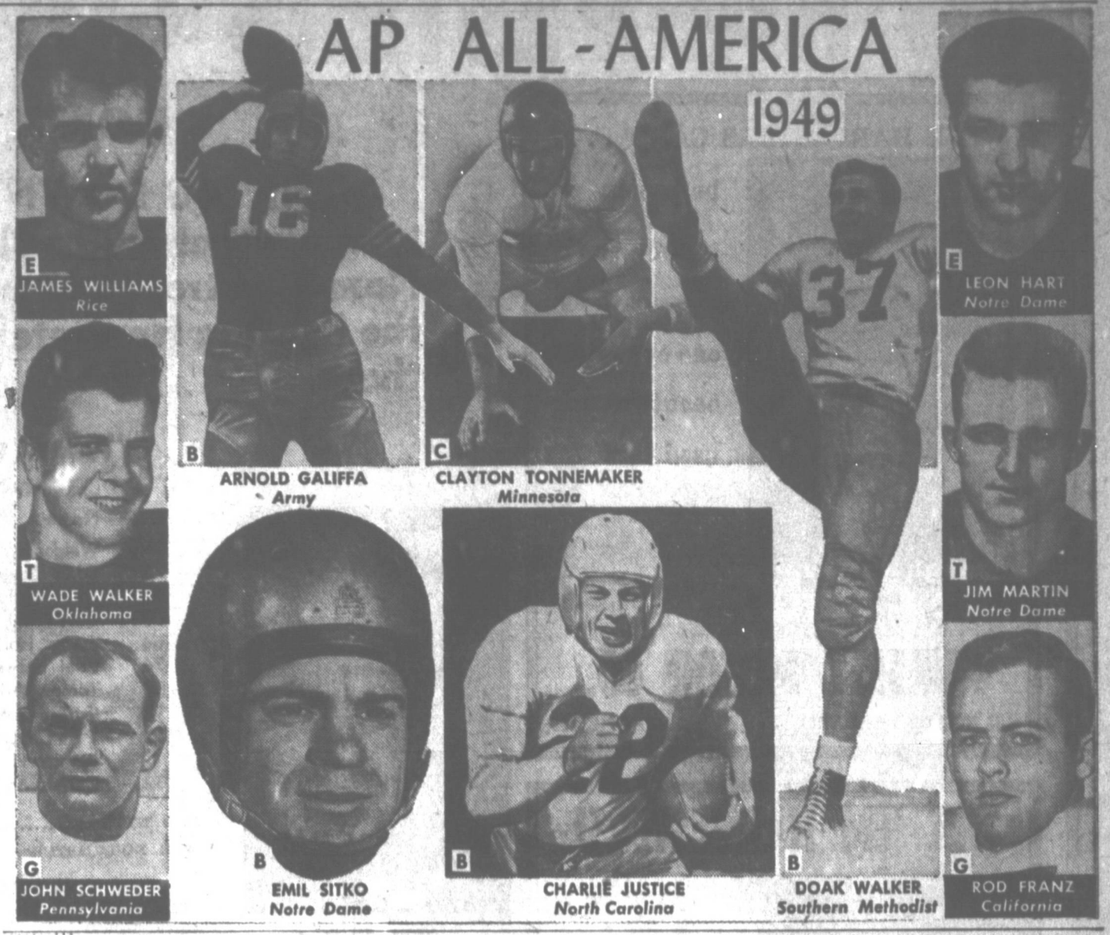

Schweder, one of the reasons why Army found Penn so tough, was a 60-minute man in rough going. Three times he threw Arnold Galiffa attempting to pass. After the Navy game he was named lineman of the week. A 200-pounder, he comes from Bethlehem, Pa., home town of Chuck Bednarik. Penn's All-America center of the last two years.

"There is no question but that Schweder is one of the outstanding linemen of the year," says Coach George Munger. "He is great on defense and darned near as good on offense."

Center Clayton Tonnemaker of Minnesota, at six-three, is one of the tallest men on the line. He ranks right next to Hart in that department and also in weight for he scales 245.

"He's big and has very good qualities of leadership to go with his all-around football abilities," says Coach Bernie Bierman. "He is especially strong on defense, and has been a consistently tough line backer. His consistency keeps me from thinking of any particular accomplishments."

Running close behind Sitko, Doak Walker, Justice and Galiffa for first team places in the backfield were such standouts as Bob Williams, the brilliant junior quarterback for Notre Dame; Hillary Chollet of Cornell, Bob Celeri of California and Chuck Ortmann of Michigan. All made the second team. The third team backs, too, had a lot of supporters. They were such stars as John Karras of Illinois, Big Ten ground gaining leader; Johnny Papit of Virginia, Eddie Price of Tulane and Navy's sensational sophomore passer, Bob Zastrow.

Dip in Gas Price Bears Watching

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — There's a tiny dip in gasoline prices that will bear watching.

The cause is the weather which has been blowing hot and cold at the wrong time. Carefully made calculations of petroleum experts have been upset. In their efforts to do something about it, they have shaved prices on various types of fuel.

The average price of gasoline in filling stations of 50 representative cities started out this month at 20.33 cents a gallon. That is without taxes. These average 6.64 cents a gallon.

In mid-summer the average price was 20.41 cents a gallon in these same cities. That's the highest price on gas since the average

So this month's average is only 8-100ths of a cent lower than that 23-year high.

But it is lower. That's the important point. And right now the big producers and distributors are inching their wholesale prices still lower by a few tenths of a cent along the Eastern Seaboard and sections of the South and Midwest.

Some have cut their prices at the retail level. So far that has been restrained.

With the end of the war, motorists burned up the road — and gas — in a light-hearted release from wartime restrictions.

Supply kept ahead of demand until the summer of 1948, when a lot of tanks went dry. But the petroleum industry met the challenge and produced the shortages out of existence.

By the first part of this year the balance between production of gasoline and fuel oil was upset. In making gas, too much fuel oil was produced. The two are tied together.

For example, the new $60,000,000 Texas Co. refinery, opened Tuesday in Westville, N. J., is geared to turn crude oil into 55 percent high grade gas and 20 percent middle distillate which includes home heating oil, besides other petroleum products.

With an over-supply of home oil early this year, the price headed down. Sellers started posting price guarantees and went on into the summer season with attractive discounts for hot weather storage buying. This fall prices rose and producers waited for cool and cold weather to spur demand. But the weather was fickle. It stayed warm. People didn't buy. Discounts were given by some producers at the wholesale level to encourage the flow of fuel oil into storage. Now all the producers hope for is a normal winter so buying will be normal.

But in this bout with the weather, gasoline stocks piled up as heating oil was produced in anticipation of winter furnace demand. The current round of wholesale price reductions on gasoline is aimed at the refiner, a spokesman for one large distributor said, rather than at the motorist. He said the idea is to put the pressure of lower prices on the refiner to get him to cut back his gasoline production.

White House to Have More Room

WASHINGTON — (AP)— President and Mrs. Truman are going to have room for extra guests when they move back into a safe and modern White House in late 1951.

They'll have space, too, to store all those things that people don't like to throw away.

They will find it expanded into a 77-room mansion with a two-story basement when the repair job about to get underway is finally completed.

The present 150-year-old structure, to be completely renovated inside, has 69 rooms and no basement.

Engineers disclosed that eight additional rooms will be built on the top — or fourth — floor, possibly for use by guests.

Actual work on repairing the home of presidents will get under way in about a week. An underpinning subcontract was let Tuesday.

SAFETY FIRST — George M. Clarke, newly elected head of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas, served ten years as managing director of the Texas Safety Association. Traffic accidents have many causes, he says, but the main one is still the "nut behind the wheel."

Grandpa Keeps Young In Heart

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — The poor man's philosopher presents his annual soapbox lecture on old age:

One of the things that makes the United States great is that it has the youngest minded grandmas and grandpas in the world.

In other countries a man is as old as his neighbors think he should be. But here he can really act as young as he feels. And people are getting as they feel younger every generation.

This refusal to grow old ranks as a far more important American contribution to global culture than the invention of cornflakes or the all-nylon sock.

It is even more important financially. People are willing to spend more hard cash to keep looking young and handsome than to make themselves comfortable. And this is true of the aging bucks as well as the does.

There is a pension psychology rampant in the land, but the old rocking chair philosophy is gone forever. Nobody is looking forward to getting government lettuce at 65 just to rent himself a chimney corner. Nope, the old folks at home aren't so anxious to stay at home. They want to buy a sports roadster and tour Florida or California.

People are marrying younger today and living longer. They get through the chillun-raising period sooner, but that doesn't mean they want to call life quits. More and more they spend their declining years declining to admit that their only remaining function is to baby-sit for their children.

Look around you and see who's doing the knitting and quilting. Not gramps. All that's too old-fashioned for her. She's taken up painting—like Grandma Moses. And grandpa's gone fishing.

Who wants to grow old gracefully? Not them. Granny isn't letting those silver threads flower among the gold, 'cause grandpappy don't like 'em. They make him feel too old. So off she hikes to the beauty shop and buys herself a henna tint.

Cigarette Stamps Yield More Revenue

AUSTIN — (AP) — Sale of cigarette stamps yielded state revenue of $2,000,640 last month, State Treasurer Jesse James reported.

This was an increase of $157,740 over last November.

Liquor stamps brought in $956,865, down $33,317; and wine stamps added $65,434, up $10,615.

Total revenue from all state stamps was $3,022,939 up $134,972 from November, 1948, but $126,904 below October.

Penn State "Oscar" Awarded Orange End

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(NEA)—Syracuse end Jim Dragotta was awarded an "Oscar" by the Penn State Thespians.

The 52-year-old campus musical comedy organization, in voting Dragotta an honorary membership, cited him for "the greatest piece of dramatic acting ever seen on Beaver Field."

Trailing 33-14, and with only seconds remaining, the touchdown-bound Orange completed a Bernie Custis pass on the Penn State one.

With the last 10 seconds ticking off, and no time for another play unless the clock was stopped, Dragotta fell flat on his face in front of an official. Time was called while Dragotta finally got to his feet, limped off the field with what the Thespains felt was an apparent smile on his face.

Syracuse lined up, Custis scooted around end to give the Orange another touchdown, end the scoring and the game.

Dons Select Players For Texas Pro Game

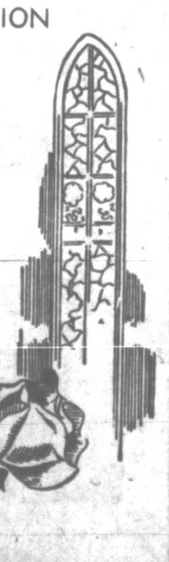

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The Los Angeles Dons today nominated eight players for consideration to play in the All-America Football Conference postseason game at Houston, Texas, Dec. 17.

The championship club of the conference will play an all-star aggregation picked from the other teams in the circuit.

Three players whose college careers were in Texas were included — center Bob Nelson and tackle Bud Tinsley from Baylor; tackle Ed Kelley from Texas.

Folks we've got what I would call a good buy for a small down payment—its located close in on North West Street, so you couldn't beat the location—its a five room modern house in pretty good shape, and it has a fairly good three room rent apartment on the rear of the lot—this apartment is renting for 45.00 per month and the rentor pays his own gas and electric bill—the lot is 50x150 ft, and it alone without the improvements on it would sell for 1250.00 any day—the loan on this property is approximately 3800.00 payable in monthly installments—now if you are looking for a house to live in, or if you would like to own it from an investment standpoint to rent out, I think we can make a deal with you—call us and we will be glad to show you this property—possession can be had on or before 30 days.

Sun Bowl Alters Selection Rule To Avoid Snubs

EL PASO — (AP) — The Sun Bowl's sponsors won't have to risk a snub by being required to invite the Border Conference champion to the annual post-season football classic after this.

The Sun Carnival has had an agreement obligating it to invite the conference champion. Three times in four years, the champion has turned down the bid. Twice it has accepted invitations to other bowls.

The Sun Carnival Executive Committee voted unanimously yesterday to dissolve the agreement. C. D. Belding, vice president in charge of team selections, offered the resolution.

The agreement to invite the Border Conference champion did not obligate the champion to accept.

Texas Tech rejected the invitation both this year and last. This year the Red Raiders accepted a bid to the Fresno, Calif., Raisin Bowl. In 1946, Hardin-Simmons turned down the bid in favor of the Alamo Bowl in San Antonio.

Texas Western of El Paso accepted the Sun Bowl bid, to play Georgetown University, this year. Texas Western previously had rejected a Raisin Bowl invitation.

Lessons in Sex Appeal, By Bacall

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for some lessons in sex appeal. The teacher: Lauren Bacall.

In an unusually frank discourse, Prof. Bacall declared "you don't have to be uncovered to be sexy.

"Showing your legs or your bosom isn't necessarily sexy. It's a fallacy to think just because you're wearing a low-cut gown or a tight sweater that you look sexy.

"Sex should be subtly suggested. You do it with a look or an expression or with your voice." (She said this in her famed "if you need me, just whistle" tones. I was beginning to get the idea.

"An actress should be good enough," she continued on the "Bright Leaf" set, "to put across the idea of sex without undraping herself."

You may recall that one of her many studio suspensions was for refusing the scantily-clad role of "The Girl from Jones Beach." No bathing girl, she.

"I have never posed for cheese cake," she remarked. "I just don't like it and I consider myself lucky that I haven't had to be subjected to it. I'm just not the type.

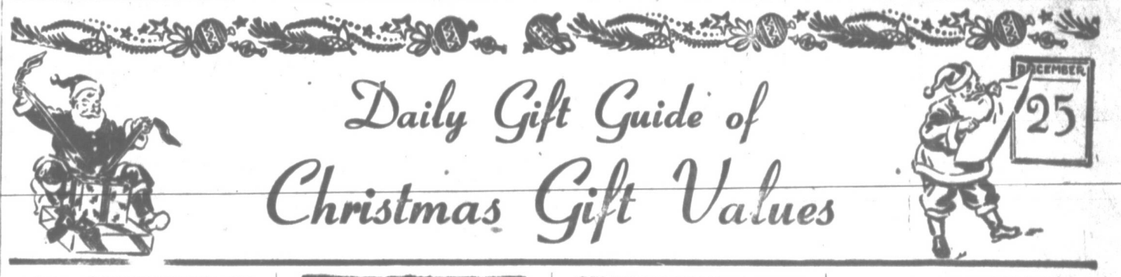

"There are lots of actresses who never pose for cheesecake, yet are considered sexy, Ingrid Bergman, for one."

As for the current trend of exposing the chests of male stars, she added:

"I think it's terrible. They are certainly scraping the bottom when they have to resort to things like that to sell pictures."

Rotary Rigs in Canada, U.S. Climb to New Peak for 1949

Climbing to a new peak for 1949, rotary rigs operating in the oil fields of the U. S. and Canada, as reported to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, showed a net increase of 23 active units for the week of Nov. 21.

Rig operations continued to reflect the drilling boom in West Texas and an increase in activity on the Gulf Coast.

The total active units for the week of 2,239 compares with 2,216 in the previous week, 2,062 a month ago and is not far below the 1948 record of 2,457 rigs operating during the comparable week of last year.

Activity by areas was: West Texas and New Mexico 679, up 20; Gulf Coast 534, up 18, Oklahoma-Kansas 382, up 10, Rocky Mountain and Canada 197, up three; Illinois 141, up one; Pacific Coast 144, down 23 and Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas 162, down six.

Kerr Promises Import Support

WASHINGTON— (AP) — Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) says he will support legislation next year to limit imports of oil and petroleum products.

He said yesterday he favors a proposal such as that advanced unsuccessfully this year by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.). Thomas sought to amend the reciprocal trade legislation sharply to limit oil imports.

Kerr-McGee Plans Test Of Salt Dome

ORANGE, Texas — (AP) — The first deep oil test of a salt dome in the floating marshes of Calcasieu Parish, La., will be made by the Kerr-McGee Drilling Co.

The company has begun erecting a rig to sink a 10,000 foot wildcat test on a 6,000 acre tract leased by Ohio Oil Co. from E. W. Brown, Jr., of Orange.

The location is near Phoenix Lake on the east flank of a salt dome which geologists say accounts for the horseshoe bend in the Sabine River where the city of Orange is located.

Kerr-McGee recently erected an oil rig and sank a well half a mile from the new location, but that time they didn't expect a gusher. The well was drilled with a rig being tested prior to shipment overseas for wildcatting operations in the neutral zone between Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. The derrick and equipment have arrived on location and operations have started, radio messages received here reported.

Sooner, Kansas Commissions Set Allowable Cuts

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The Oklahoma Corporation Commission late yesterday approved a cut in the state's oil production allowable for December and January.

State conservation office Walker T. Pound had recommended the cut of 15,445 barrels daily under the November allowable. This makes a daily allowable of 398,550 barrels for December and January.

WICHITA, Kans. — (AP) — An allowable of 275,000 barrels daily for Kansas crude oil production in December has been approved by the State Corporation Commission, it was announced here yesterday.

The figure is 10,000 barrels a day under the November allowable.

Services Pending For Fee Official

BEAUMONT — (AP) — George Oliver Mitchell, 49, superintendent of the Fee Lands and Taxation Department for the Sun Oil Co. here, died yesterday, apparently of a heart attack.

Mitchell was on the Guy Cade Jackson ranch in Chambers County, preparing a hunting camp. An unidentified friend found his body on a levy near the camp. He had left here about 2 p.m. yesterday.

He is survived by his widow; his father, C. J. Mitchell of Beaumont and two brothers, L. H. Mitchell of Venezuela and R. L. of Beaumont. Dr. John Gray, president of Lamar College, is a brother-in-law.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.
