

General Rains Fall Over County; To Be Aid To Young Wheat

Precipitation Last Week In Floydada Totaled 1.37 Inches; Snow Adds Half Inch.

Furnishing additional and much needed moisture, general rains fell over Floyd County Thursday and Thursday night of last week to brighten prospects with improved wheat growing conditions and assure a good season for spring planting.

The total amount of rainfall recorded in Floydada was 1.37 inches.
A heavy blanket of snow that had remained on the ground for over 10 days vanished before the downpour and added an estimated half inch to the total amount of moisture.
Roads were unusually heavy Friday of last week and were practically impassable except for the highways.
Traffic was delayed but was not totally stopped. Mail carriers reported unusual difficulties in negotiating their routes, several having been forced to spend about twice the usual amount of time on their runs.

Low temperature for the week was recorded Tuesday morning about 4 o'clock when the low point reached 25 degrees. The low for this morning was 30 degrees, where the thermometer was standing at 8 o'clock.
Sunday was the warmest day recorded with a reading of 53 degrees.

Temperature readings recorded at the West Texas Gas Company office here, with the respective high and low points for each day of the last week were as follows: Thursday, 39, 30; Friday, 42, 36; Saturday, 53, 36; Sunday, 53, 31; Monday, 46, 29; Tuesday, 52, 25; Wednesday, 51,

PECANS FROM MISSOURI

E. H. Campbell was in this week with some pecans from a seedling pecan tree he set out on his place in Missouri some years ago. The place is in Dallas County perhaps a hun-

The pecans have a good flavor.

seem to thrive south from his part of Missouri down through Arkansas, the pecans he received were raised further north than any he knew of.

ages of Fruits, Nuts, Candy And Toys.

Christmas cheer went into 55 Floydada homes Saturday that might otherwise have been missed by Santa Claus on his annual distribution of gifts. Local organizations, churches and individual citizens and firms cooperated in the plan to help needy families.

Packages of fruits, nuts and candy with toys were taken Saturday afternoon to every part of the city by a volunteer committee including W.
A. Gound of the Boy Scouts, S. W.
Ross of the Chamber of Commerce, W. Edd Brown representing the churches and Pastor's Alliance and G. L. Kirk of the West Texas Gas Company.

Kiddies Are Pleased

"We put toys and fruits in homes where there would likely have been none on Christmas," Mr. Gound said. "You never saw anyone as tickled as those kiddies were when we arrived," Mr. Ross stated.

"We appreciate the cooperation given," added Mr. Gound. "Es-

CHRISTMAS IS CELEBRATED QUIETLY; WEATHER HALTS PLANS FOR MANY PEOPLE

Christmas in Floydada was observed quietly with the majority of the people remaining at home to enjoy the day around the fireside.

A number of firms remained closed Monday in observance of the day, giving the employees the advantage of the extra day of rest.

Christmas trees for the youngsters were held at the churches but all were informal.

Heavy roads caused by heavy snows and rains of the week prevented many from making trips to visit relatives and friends as planned.

Robbers Batter Station But Get Little Loot in Robbery on Monday Night

Although they battered Panhandle Filling Station at the south end of the paving on Main Street Monday night, at an hour believed to be after 12 o'clock, robbers who "attacked" the station made a disappointing haul. Their "objective" appeared to be tires and tubes and although they finally gained access to a stock of eighty-seven tires and a somewhat lesser number of tubes the haul amounted to only nine tires and about thirty tubes.

When John Haney, the station operator for W. R. Dooley, came down Tuesday morning, however the station gave ample evidence of the siege that had been laid against it.
A window to a toilet room had been broken and the toilet door battered with some heavy instrument until the door had to be replaced. Failing to gain entrance there the robbers next attacked the station through the vulcanizing room, entering that compartment by breaking a window. Here the door held also.

In their third attempt the robbers broke out one of the side windows to the station, and entering it by that means finally broke an upper lock on the window. However, they met more locks harder to break. The greater part of the tire stock—

MARTIN BROWN IS INJURED WHEN CARS COLLIDE XMAS DAY ON CORNER OF SQUARE

Martin Brown of this city was painfully though not seriously injured late Sunday afternoon when the two door sedan in which he was riding was struck on a down-town street by a Ford roadster driven by Aubrey Martin. Virgil Shaw and Burl Holt were also in the roadster but none of the trio were injured.

Mr. Brown was unconscious for several minutes and he was rushed to the Smith & Smith Sanitarium.
Three stitches were taken to close a deep cut on his left hand. The full extent of his injuries had not been determined yesterday but it is thought that several ribs on the right side were fractured. He also was cut on the head and right hand and suffered bruises about the body.

Both cars were damaged but neither turned over. The accident occurred at the southwest corner of the square. Mr. Brown was driving north on Main Street and Martin was driving west on California. Mr.
Martin was said to have explained that the sun shining in his eyes blinded him so that he did not see the other car.

Mr. Brown was sufficiently recovered to come down-town yesterday for a short time.

Gratitude as only the smiles of kiddies can express it was very much in evidence Wednesday at noon following the bountiful lunch served free at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Tyler, 420 South Fourth Street for the kiddies of Floydada who had not had a Christmas dinner with "turkey and all the trimmings" because of financial matters at home. A total of 160 were served.

The youngsters ate to their hearts content—and had the times of their young lives around the long tables arranged so that the food could be served cafeteria style.

Citizens of Floydada, merchants, and members of the Church of the Nazarene all cooperated in making the special Christmas dinner possible. It was a great occasion for everyone and without exception all seemed to enjoy everything thoroughly.

There was plenty of food for all those present, enough to fill baskets for some 65 more who were unable to come because of illness or other causes, and even then some was left. A total of 225 were served.

"I have enough food now to feed 50 more youngsters and will be glad to receive names if the good people will just phone me or let me know where it is needed," Rev. Tyler said.

Rev. I. A. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church made the address of welcome and District Attorney A. J. Folley made the response. Mrs. Ella Johnson read the scripture lesson and Rev. N. B.
Stanley offered a word of prayer before the meal was served.

All the ministers of the city were special guests of honor for the occasion and among those present were Rev. S. R. McClung, Elder J.
J. Day, Rev. G. W. Tubbs, Rev. W.
H. Cheatham, Rev. I. A. Smith, Rev. N. B. Stanley and Rev. Tyler.
Master of ceremonies was Rev.
Tyler and he managed carefully to make sure that no one was overlooked at the festivities.

After the meal proper, bags of candy, fruit and nuts were given the boys and girls and to those who had received no gifts this Christmas a toy was given by Rev. Tyler.

The lunch was prepared and served by women of the church and others cooperating.

"We wish to thank all those who cooperated in any way and we appreciate the wonderful spirit shown by the good people who made this occasion possible," Rev. Tyler said.
"It has been a great occasion for the children."

"All expenses to about $5 have been covered and the dinner will not cost me over that amount."

Legion Refutes Cost Propaganda Statements

McDermott Post Claims Public Records Disprove Impression Made Upon People.

So much misleading propaganda has been issued recently in connection with veterans' cost that the public has received an erroneous impression of the relation these bear to Federal expenditures, the local American Legion Post said in submitting facts which are a matter of public record which disprove these misleading statements, its officials maintain.

"It has been the habit of opponents of the veterans' of the World War," a statement issued this week says, "to say that veterans' expenditures for the year 1932 were 24 per cent of the total expenditures of the Federal Government, which is untrue and intended to prejudice the public against the veterans."

Continuing the statement says: "The total expenditures of the Federal Government for 1932 were $4,813,922,498. Of this amount $884,841,819 aggregates the total expenditure for veterans of all wars, which is only 20 per cent of the total Federal Expenditures for 1932."

"Of this total expended for veterans $232,509,428 was paid out in direct cash benefits on account of pensions to veterans and widows of wars other than the World War and should not be chargeable to the expense of World War veterans as is being done by opponents. If this amount be deducted, then the total expenditure for World War veterans in 1932 is only $752,332,391, or only 15.6 per cent of the total Federal expenditures for the year 1932."

"Likewise, the $200,000,000 set aside to retire adjusted service certificates should not be charged as an expenditure for veterans since it is an adjustment of his war time pay. If this amount be deducted then the total for 1932 is only $552,332,391, or just 11.4 per cent of the total Government expenditures for the year."

The amount of $123,840,592 paid out on account of War Risk Insurance should be deducted, for it will be remembered that the soldier paid the Government premiums on this insurance out of their own pockets. When this amount is deducted it is found that the expenditures for World War veterans is only 8.9 per cent of the total Government expenditures for 1932."

"When these cost percentages are compared with those which pertained during the period from the Civil War to the World War it is found that since the World War veterans expenditures on account of all wars is far less than expenditures on account of pensions to veterans and their dependents prior to that time. During the period preceding the World War 24 per cent of the total Government expenditures went to veterans and their dependents, while for the period since the World War the total has never reached 24 per cent."

Prior to the World War figures made by the Legionnaires give the following example of the relation veterans expenditures bore to total government expenditure:

It's easy to say they're all alike—and easy to prove they are NOT. Dissolve a genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet in water, pour it off, feel the fine powder that coats the glass.

Do this with some other tablet; see what coarse particles are left! They feel as sharp as sand, even to your finger. How must they affect those delicate membranes which line your throat—your stomach?

For immediate relief from headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia or neuritis, lumbago, rheumatism, there's nothing like Bayer Aspirin. It cannot depress the heart.

DESSERT PREPARATIONS ARE POPULAR IN HOT WEATHER

The average housewife wants to spend as little time as possible over a cook-stove when the weather is hot. And she can save some time and energy, when preparing dessert for the family, by ordering a package or two of the many good dessert preparations on the market. These articles, including pudding powders, pie fillers, gelatine dessert powders, and others, are available in many forms at low prices and, when properly made, are tasty and wholesome, says J. W. Sale, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

"There are three principal ingredients of most dessert preparations—milk, eggs, and sugar," says Sale. "These are required in nearly all desserts, but numerous recipes require butter, baking powder, a flavor, and often corn starch or flour. With these things in mind, reading labels on dessert preparations becomes a comparatively simple matter. When a particular article, such as, for example, a pudding powder, does not contain all the ingredients expected in such a feed, the label will declare what ingredients should be added in the kitchen."

"Reading the label will help the purchaser to get the most economical buy for her money. For example, a complete pudding powder is worth more than an artificially colored and flavored cornstarch to which one has to add milk, eggs, and sugar. Labels on dessert preparations tell the buyer what she is getting. She can judge by the price which is the better value of two or more choices."

Many dessert preparations are artificially colored and flavored. A lemon pie filling which contains genuine lemon juice and grated rind is obviously superior to one which contains added citric acid and oil of lemon for flavor. The pure food law requires that the presence of artificial color or flavor in food be declared upon the label.

In common with all other packaged foods, labels on dessert preparations are required by the Federal food and drugs act to contain a statement which truthfully tells how much the package holds.

Daily Cash Market

● Through 1932, as in former years, Swift & Company has maintained its nationwide cash market for farm produce.

More than 100 Swift & Company produce plants in the West and Central West have continued to buy daily the supplies offered. Everything they purchase has a market over a thousand miles wide and thousands of miles long. The supply goes wherever demand is best.

At no time, in the territories served by these plants have producers of poultry, butterfat and eggs been without a daily cash market.

● Swift & Company has not had this year—had any control over prices. The farmer's made by what the consumer can and will pay butter, eggs and poultry. This company's to cover the gap, quickly and economically between 200,000 farm patrons and nearly as many keepers.

Posting daily quotations at its buying plants & Company is really saying to the producer:

"Consumers everywhere, through their retailers, offer much for poultry, butterfat or eggs. Costs of preparation and transportation and selling are kept at a minimum. When these service costs deducted, the price paid here is about what retailers will pay at their doors hundreds of miles away."

● Volume holds down processing cost. Carload shipments reduce freight bills. The same salesmen who sell Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon and Brookfield Sausage also sell Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl and Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs and Cheese, thus benefiting livestock men and produce growers alike.

A Farmer's Life

"As He Lives It"

BY ED HOLMES

(Station C. E. H. Farm)

Another beautiful Christmas as far as the weather was concerned. We have fine moisture in the ground and believe me the wheat is getting green. As soon as the ground dries on top, nearly all farmers will have good grazing for their stock. That is all the clear money we have made for the last two years from wheat.

Saturday night I met one of my neighbors who had caught a way to town and part of the way back then walked two miles in the mud with an armful of packages that his five little children wouldn't be disappointed on Christmas morning. I'll bet he didn't regret the trouble when those kids found that Old Santa had really made his rounds.

More hogs have been butchered on farms this year and sold to town people than I have ever heard of before. The regular price seems to be 5c per pound, where they take the whole hog. This pays the farmer a little money for his trouble and saves the buyer money also. I believe the meanest thing I ever done was last week when I fastened two pulleys on a fat calf, pulled him up by his hind legs, cut his throat with a butcher knife then held a tub and caught his blood as he bled to death! This is a new way to me but makes the meat in fine shape. No we didn't make a blood pudding with his blood. The depression is not far enough along for us to be in that stage yet. I fed it to the chickens and then eat a few extra eggs. I'll admit that the eggs were good.

After I wrote about the rabbits being good hog and chicken feed, a farmer wrote that he had had trouble with worms in his chickens and hogs and that a doctor advised against it. I'll just say that not one flock of chickens or one bunch of hogs out of each hundred is free from worms that commonly infest them. It is not the kind of feed that they eat but the methods of sanitation followed that gets you into trouble.

During fly time you must be very careful about feeding rabbits to chickens as in two hours from the time flies lay eggs in warm blood you have plenty of live screw worms and when swallowed by chickens it will kill the chickens. I avoid this by skinning the rabbits and feed them to the chickens just before sundown. Take a butcher knife and slash them considerably so the chickens can get the meat easily. Next morning real early I feed what is left to the hogs. I think this will stop the trouble.

Monday night we gave our Christmas play regardless of the bad roads and so much sickness. A fair crowd was there regardless of many troubles including finances. About $47.00 has been collected for season tickets and general admission for this first play. Many of the audience shed a few tears in the tight spots of the play, much to our satisfaction. We appreciate the many nice compliments that were passed on the actors.

Two of the actors that were in the play to begin with were sick and didn't even get to come last Monday night. For their benefit and many others that were not there on account of bad roads and sickness, we will again give the play in our auditorium on Friday night, December 30. This may be your last chance to see us give this play as we're considering getting up another play to trade for our usual number of eight plays for this season.

I want to personally invite all the cast of Juniors in "The Attorney for the Defense" of the Floydada High School and the sponsor of the play to come be with us Friday night at Sand Hill. You will be admitted free. Be there.

Here is wishing you plenty of work to do in the New Year and that you get paid for it.

Dougherty News

(By Mrs. W. D. Newell)

The snow and rain the past three weeks reminds us of many civic improvements that need to be made. One of the first things that presents itself is the need of a better road leading north to the highway. This road is needing to be widened also a higher grade with better drainage.

With this improvement and the straightening of the crooks in the road at the old Mayview corner would be one of our biggest improvements at this time.

A survey has been made and plans are being formed to make this a reality.

Some of the mud holes in our town remind us that there are several culverts and other drainage that need opening.

The need of a road leading North was demonstrated Tuesday when the funeral procession was making its way to the cemetery. Not only do we need this road for this reason but it would also be a great help to our little town from a business standpoint as it would give a more direct route into the trade territory north, which is an important factor to the growth of our town.

Dougherty citizens are reminded that we, as a community, should complete the organization of our cemetery association. Plans were started some time ago for this organization but, as yet, have not been completed.

The association has a deed to 14 13/100 acres for a cemetery and at present has two graves in it.

Plans have been drawn up for the arrangement of the lots and drives but have not been staked off on the ground.

When we see some of the older cemeteries and notice the lack of systematic arrangement, we can readily see the need for this to be attended to at once.

Sunday School Lesson

JOHN PREPARES THE WAY FOR JESUS

International Sunday School lesson for Sunday, January 1. Subject: "John Prepares the Way for Jesus."

Golden Text.—Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. Mark 1:3.

Lesson Text.—Mark 1:1-11.

The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God;

2 As it is written in the prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 John did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.

5 And there went out unto him all the land of Judea, and they of Jerusalem, and were all baptized of him in the river of Jordan, confessing their sins.

6 And John was clothed with camel's hair, and with a girdle of a man about his loins; and he did eat locusts and wild honey;

7 And preached, saying, There cometh one mightier than I after me, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose.

8 I indeed have baptized you with water; but he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost.

9 And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan.

10 And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him:

11 And there came a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

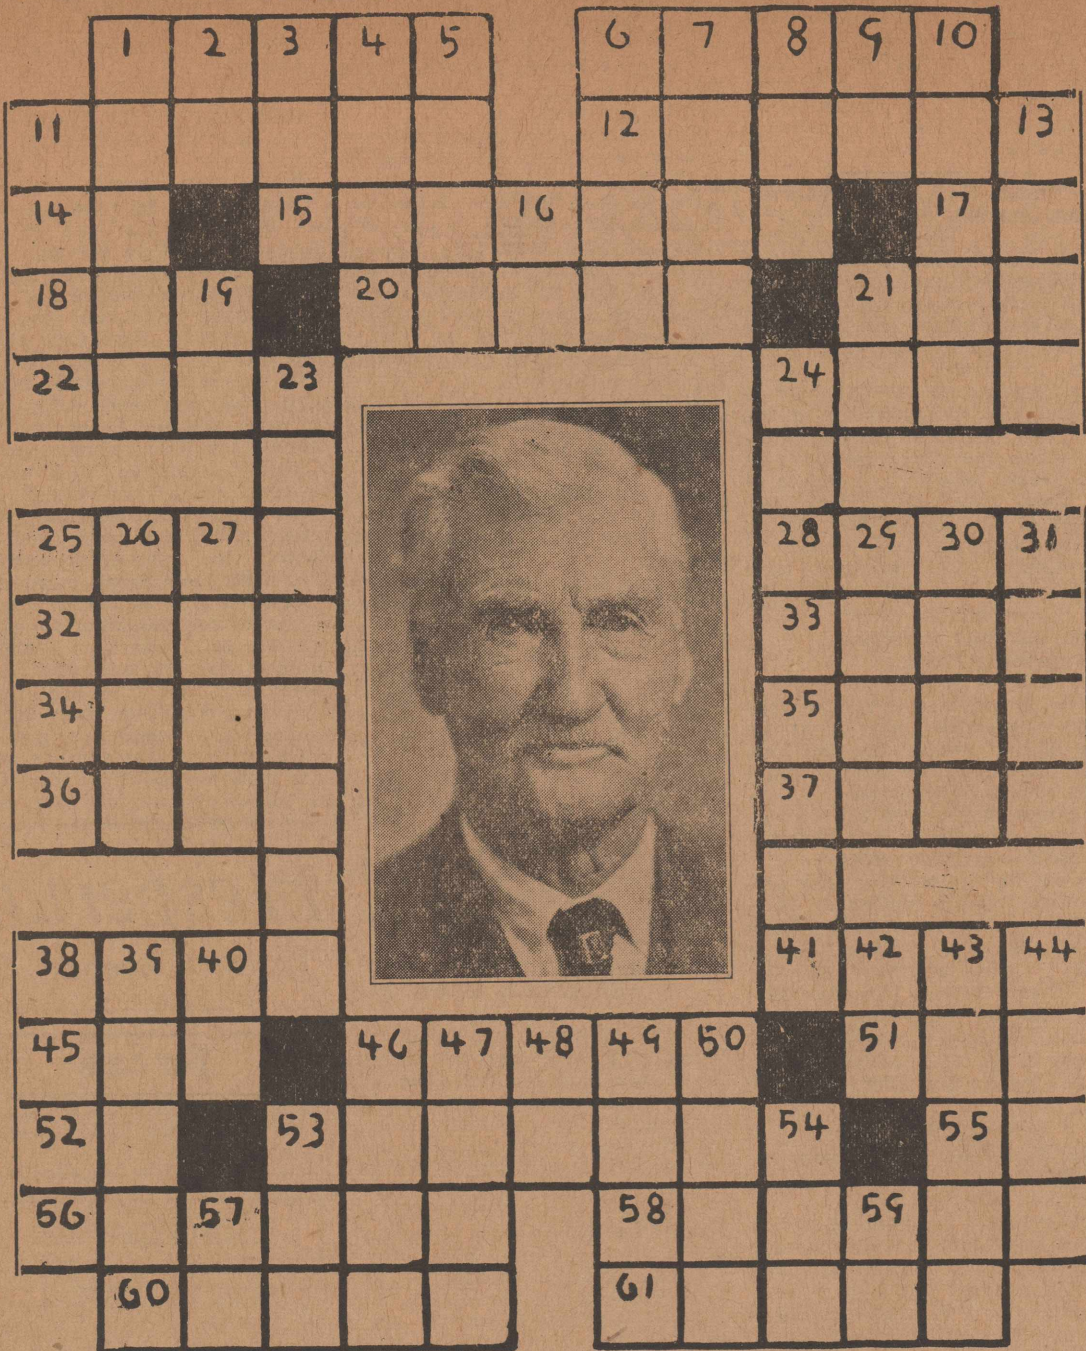

Time.—Birth of Jesus, last part of B. C. 5, probably at or near Bethlehem. Ministry of John the Baptist began in the summer of A. D. 26.

Place.—Jesus was born in Bethlehem and was baptized in the River Jordan.

The Lesson Comment

John the Baptist was six months older than Jesus—his cousin and his forerunner, who prepared the people for his coming. He was the child of godly parents and of full priestly descent, both Zacharias and Elizabeth being of the tribe of Levi, and descendants of Aaron. John was born in the hill country of Judea,

Hesperian Cross-Word Puzzle Number 76 and was filled with the Holy Spirit from his birth. He spent the early years of his manhood in seclusion in the wilderness near his home, west of the Dead Sea, preparing for his great work.

When about thirty years of age John appeared in the wilderness adjoining the Jordan River, with his message of repentance, and announcing that the kingdom of God was at hand. John was a minister who knew his Bible, and began his sermon by quoting the prophet Malachi (Chapter 3) and Isaiah (40:3). Let us not forget this and remember that the birth, the life, the death and resurrection of Jesus had all been foretold many times by prophecy.

The preaching of John is supposed to have been done during the Sabbatical year, when the people, being free from business cares, could come out in great numbers to hear his message. The people did not go to hear him, for we read in Matthew that "all Jerusalem and Judea and all the region round about Jordan were baptized of him confessing their sins."

It was a Jewish custom to baptize proselytes. When a pagan desired to become a Jew by adoption he was baptized, signifying the washing away of his sins of heathendom, and he became a new man—a Jew. But John preached that Jews, as well as pagans, were in need of cleansing. Being descended from Abraham, children of promise, could not save them as they supposed; they must all repent of their wickedness and be made clean. And then, one day Jesus appeared on the banks of the Jordan and desired baptism at the hands of John.

The very One about whom John had preached—the One who, he had said should baptize with the Holy Spirit, came asking water baptism of him! One may only imagine how reluctant John was to perform this service for his Lord. He told Jesus that he, John, had need to be baptized of him, "and comest thou to me?" But Jesus insisted and told John that it "becometh us to fulfill all righteousness," or, as the Twentieth Century New Testament gives it: "it is proper for us to satisfy in this way every religious requirement."

After this John made no more objection, but administered baptism to Jesus.

As Jesus came from the water, after his baptism, the clouds of the sky parted, and the Spirit, like a dove, descended upon him, while from the sky there came a voice—the Father's voice—saying: "Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

SEVEN DAUGHTERS SURVIVE J. R. BROWN, WHOSE DEATH WAS RECORDED LAST WEEK

J. R. Brown, the news of whose death reached Floydada friends of the family last week, was survived by seven daughters, who live in various cities and towns of this section. His death occurred on December 20 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sallie English at Snyder, where he and Mrs. Brown had spent the past three winters. He was 77 years of age.

The funeral service was held at Snyder, where Rev. S. H. Young, former pastor here, was joined by Rev. McGahey, Baptist minister, in conducting the funeral, on Wednesday afternoon, December 21.

He was a native of Tennessee, where he was married to Miss Martha Rose fifty-eight years ago on July 18. After moving to this state Mr. Brown lived many years in Stephens County. The family came to Floydada about 1910 and lived here four years. Mr. Brown and his son, E. E. Brown, deceased three years ago, were engaged in the mercantile business here. The latter made his home here until the time of his death. The senior Mr. Brown moved to Petersburg with his family and in late years the family resided at Crosbyton.

The surviving daughters are Mrs. Callie Cheyney of Canyon; Mrs. Ida Bartley of Cone; Mrs. Anna Hargrove of Ralls; Mrs. Beckie Hilliard of Portales, New Mexico; Mrs. Sallie English of Snyder; Mrs. Ruby Collett of Lubbock; Mrs. George Gregory of Petersburg, all of whom except the daughter at Ralls were present for the funeral service. Thirty-seven grandchildren and twenty-seven great-grand children survive the deceased.

His daughter, Jessie Brown, daughter-in-law of the deceased, returned home Monday after attending the funeral.

have been seized wherever found in Federal jurisdiction.

Some medical preparations, while not being labeled with therapeutic claims for cancer, are advertised in the press and by radio, as having merit for the disease. The pure food and drug law gives Government officers no authority to regulate outside advertising. For this reason it is wise to compare the label statements with those which may be printed in collateral advertising.

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH FROM COLD "REMEDIES"

In autumn people remain indoors more, and susceptibility to colds increases. The hazard is greater also because, with the opening of school, contagious and infectious diseases are more prevalent.

These maladies, such as measles, and other diseases common to children, generally appear with symptoms comparable to those of a cold. says Dr. F. J. Cullen, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. Mothers should be on their guard against such troubles and should realize that medicines ordinarily used for colds are of no value in the treatment of more serious diseases.

"For many years scientists have been working to find the causes and proper treatment of colds," Doctor Cullen states. "So far their work has been of little avail. There are medicines on the market recommended for colds but their main benefits are relief from some of the symptoms. The individual must trust to more reliable measures to remove the underlying causes.

"Some manufacturers, through their advertising, lead a purchaser to believe that their products will not only cure colds, but likewise prevent pneumonia, sinus infections and other serious maladies. Such declarations are not based on facts. While the administration at present is not taking regulatory action against products recommended for the relief of a symptom of a cold, it is removing from the market preparations falsely and fraudulently labeled as having remedial value in the treatment of diseases such as influenza, the symptoms of which are similar to colds."

GERMS—FRIENDLY AND UN-FRIENDLY

There are people who so greatly resemble each other that it is with difficulty they are distinguished the one from another—an honest baker or banker may be twin in physical likeness to a bandit—in like manner are plants similar in appearance. The poison ivy can only on close examination disclose its difference to plants that are harmless.

There are countless fish which look alike but are not really so—some are poisonous—some are not—so it is all through the animal and vegetable forms of life. There are verily millions and millions of living one-celled animals and plants over the earth. They are so tiny and colorless that they do not proclaim themselves and are not noted until by reason of their strength and virulence they cause trouble. What is their family name and are they all evil?

Their family name is "germ." No, they are not all bad. They have points of similarity and they are divided into two classes—the evil ones, which carry disease, and the non-evil ones, which do not carry disease. It is the bad germs that must be guarded against.

There are at least 1500 kinds of germs that are known about and from 50 to 75 of these carry disease—such diseases as scarlet fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, tetanus, and many other life taking diseases. With the other class of germs—that are non-harmful—are some that are of service; quite helpful, in fact. Among these are the germs that make yeast, and the germs that change cabbage into sauerkraut, milk into cheese, and cider into vinegar.

Germs of all kinds gather in public places. The schoolroom is a favorite resort of the "genus germ." Some germs there are that make boys and girls simply sleepy and dull, and others that cause real illness.

Until modern sanitation dictated the abolition of the common drinking cup and common towel—these were the lurking places of disorderly germs.

Homes are freer from germ laden flies since science has decreed them responsible for the spread of typhoid fever and other diseases.

Germs flourish in dark, damp places—yet they are seldom strong enough to thrive and multiply in bright sunlight. With this fact in view, sunlight should be considered the arch enemy of germs and therefore one of man's best blessings.

The liberal use of soap and water for the hands after touching such often used objects as door-knobs and public stair-rails will help to keep disease germs at bay.—Texas Health Bulletin.

REMOVING GREASE STAINS

Carbon tetrachloride is a favorite solvent for grease stains because it involves no fire risk and never makes the color run. It can be bought by the pound tin can at any drug store at a reasonable price, says the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

In dealing with stains made by automobile grease, first rub lard or white vaseline on the spot on the wrong side. Use a clean rag to remove this, with as much of the black grease as possible, lay the spot face down on a clean pad, apply the carbon tetrachloride on the wrong side, to push the dirt out, rather than rub it in from the right side. Brush lightly or "feather" the edge of the spot so there will be no ring.

Spots of salad oil or other pure fat on light-colored goods sometimes respond to talcum or French chalk, left on for several hours to absorb the grease.

PRESIDENTS' FAMILIES

Some facts regarding the family relations of our presidents may be of interest, as they are probably little known to the average reader. How many, for example, could tell offhand how many presidents never married? The answer is, only one, Buchanan.

All the rest were married, and five of them twice, Tyler, Fillmore, Benjamin Harrison, Roosevelt and Wilson. Seven married widows, Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Fillmore, B. Harrison and Wilson, the last three taking widows as their second wives.

The wives of Jefferson, Jackson, Van Buren and Arthur died before their husbands became president. Cleveland went into office as a bachelor, but was married during his first term.

Washington, Madison, Jackson, Polk and Harding were childless. Tyler was the father of 14 children, seven by each of his wives. W. H. Harrison was the father of 10. Hayes was the father of eight, Jefferson, Taylor and Roosevelt were the fathers of six each.

Two widows of presidents remarried. Mrs. Cleveland married T. J. Preston, Jr., a professor of archeology, in 1913, about five years after her husband's death. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison married James Blaine Walken, Jr., her third husband, in 1921, when she was 64 years of age.

The most unusual circumstance connected with the marital relations of any president concerned Andrew Jackson. Believing that Mrs. Lewis Robards had been divorced from her husband, he married her in 1791, only to discover that the decree of divorce had not yet been granted. Later the decree was issued and Jackson remarried Mrs. Robards in 1794.

SOYBEANS BECOME NEW UNITED STATES EXPORT

Soybeans have become a new export of the United States.

Although the bean was introduced here from the Orient, its popularity has increased so rapidly that last year more than 2,100,000 bushels were exported, much of it to Germany, the United States Department of Agriculture says. This is the first time the soybean has been exported from this country on a large commercial scale.

Problems encountered in shipping the beans gave growers and exporters helpful knowledge for future shipments, the department says. They found that the standard United States grades were acceptable to foreign buyers without question. They tried shipping beans in bags, but found the waste was greater than when shipped in bulk. Beans containing more than 14 per cent moisture can not be shipped safely. Beans dried in kilns were low in moisture content, but they split badly in handling, lowering the grade. The department believes kiln drying is feasible if carefully done.

Long Beach, Calif.—A human clock will be used to celebrate the New Year at Long Beach, Calif. With each figure a pretty girl and Father Time joining with little Happy New Year in tolling out the magic hour, a tion in the unique pageantry which culminates in the forming of the living clock is rehearsed on the beach under the direction of Miss Ethel Lunt. tration. An ancient food, dried currants are still highly esteemed.

The housewife may be interested in knowing that there is considerable difference in the qualities of different types of dried currants and that labels on the box will help to guide her in getting just the kind desired, says Mr. Howard. Grading down from first quality, the currant varieties are as follows: Vostizza, Patras, Amalias, Pyrgos (Provincial), and Kalamyos. These names may be printed on the label. The label may also contain the word "washed". This means that the dried product has been washed free from extraneous impurities. The housewife will also find on the label a statement of how much the box contains.

"There was a day when unsanitary conditions were known to prevail among the currant-packing establishments in Greece," states Mr. Howard. "As a result, some currants were found, upon Government examination at the docks, to contain impurities and the fruit was therefore adulterated under the pure food law. To-day, with each consular invoice accompanying an importation of dried currants there must be attached an endorsement by the American consul, indicating that the fruit was packed under certain prescribed sanitary conditions. If the consul's statement does not accompany the consignment, the goods are excluded from entry into the United States by officials of the Federal Food and Drug Administration."

The family was seated at the table with a guest who was a business acquaintance of dad's all ready to enjoy the meal, when Tommy blurted out, "Why mother, this is roast beef!"

"Why, yes, dear," mother agreed, "why?"

"But, daddy said this morning that he was going to bring that big fish home for dinner tonight."

STILL WE PRESS RIGHT ON

The past year has not been laden with as much of prosperity as our people could desire. It has seen many of our best laid plans fail to materialize. But the same sun still shines, the same fertile earth is still under our feet to bring forth its abundance.

And the same courage and hope that has brought us thus far will carry on to a solution of our difficulties. For us it is best to be glad at this time to have the opportunity to "turn over a new leaf," and to face the coming months of 1933 with high courage. For, although the past belongs to history, the future is ours.

For our part, we intend to press right on, giving the people of Floydada the best that we have every twenty-four hours in every day—a service of ample power and volume for the every-minute needs of our big list of patrons.

And as we make preparations to face whatever 1933 has to offer, we pause to thank our loyal friends for their patronage, and to hope that each shall have a sufficiency of Good Health, of Courage and of Hope to carry him through the year with flying colors.

MACHINE AGE MEANS BETTER LIVING, SAYS INDUSTRIALIST

While some economists and industrialists are wavering in their faith in the machine age, Dr. Alberto Pirelli, prominent Italian rubber manufacturer and former president of the International Chamber of Commerce, in defence of modern civilization, points to three major factors which have already materialized or are in the way of becoming a reality through economic progress: namely, reduction in work hours, higher wage schedules, and lower costs. These, he says in the Rotarian, are making for the wonderful improvement in the standard of living of vast masses of people in the most advanced countries of the world.

"As has rightly been said, machinery is labor-saving, not labor-saving," states Dr. Pirelli; "it has reduced physical fatigue, replacing men by mechanical devices for production and transport in the heavier and more repetitive tasks."

"The ancients said that it took five slaves to make a free man. Today machinery has taken the place of the free man. True, a machine momentarily takes the work off the hands of the worker, but, in normal times, he can easily find other jobs which are made possible through the increased wealth brought about by the technological reduction costs."

"How is it possible to deny," he questions, "that the higher standard of life of the masses thus secured, together with the development by public and private enterprise of institutions for improving the education and health of the people, are not in themselves a splendid achievement?"

"Undoubtedly technological progress has been achieved through standardization and uniformity. I do not fear the standardization of articles of current use, provided it does not lead to standardization of thought and mental habits."

"Nor need we fear that taste will degenerate because the range of objects subject to standardization has enlarged; this is merely due to the fact that the number of objects in common use has grown. Taste and originality may be worked out in the widening fields of newly created classes of goods."

"Standardization and mechanization of production have not only cheapened goods but have improved their accuracy and, generally speaking, their quality. If some people think the contrary is the case it is because they confuse quality with originality."

DIVORCE POLITICS FROM EDUCATION SAYS CORNELL PROFESSOR

School boards that are facing deficits and curtailment of expenditures may well study the conspicuous example of sound financing in effect in the school system at Ithaca, New York. There a fine new $500,000 junior high-school building has just been completed without a cent of bonded indebtedness; in addition, teachers' salaries and increments are being paid, and taxes have been reduced gradually over a period of years.

How was it done? Dr. Clyde B.
Moore, professor at Cornell University and a member of the Ithaca school board, answers this question in The Rotarian. It is, he says, simply applying the proven business principle of not spending the last cent of the yearly income before actually setting up a budget for the coming year; of building up a reserve for the unexpected or the unusual period when the receipts are not equal to the expenditures.

"Several years ago," says Dr.
Moore, "the policy was formulated for Ithaca schools of anticipating future needs by conserving any surplus funds and including in the budget an item for future building needs. Now, during years of somewhat decreased incomes, there is no dearth of funds for school needs."

"Basic to this situation," he contends, "is the fact that the school district of the City of Ithaca is not a city department coordinated with the departments of police, fire, street and the like. The schools are administered through a board of education consisting of nine members. Three are elected each year (at large) and serve for a period of three years. This board represents the public in fixing the tax rate and in carrying on the administrative work of the schools commonly assigned to such a body. It is independent of other city departments and must stand or fall on its own merits. It deals with schools only, and there is no opportunity to begof issues nor to confuse school expenditures in departments directly responsible to the mayor and city council."

"Each board member represents the whole city. Each year there are three candidates and the name of each appears on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. There are no party lines in the Ithaca board of education."

Captain Hawks Tests Mystery Ship

—Photos from Wide World Photos

Municipal Airport, Inglewood, Calif.—Photo shows Captain Frank Hawks, pilot known throughout the world for his long distance speed flight, flying his new robot "mystery" ship on his maiden flight. The ship, which cost $35,000 to build has a gasoline capacity of 616 gallons, which can carry the ship on a non-stop flight of 3,000 miles; it has a single seat in the control cockpit which is equipped with the latest developments in instruments for "blind" flying and a robot pilot; has a wing-span of 48-feet and is 30-feet long from the tip of its nose to the end of its rudder; can make around 250 miles an hour and has a gross weight of about 7,000 pounds. Captain Hawks expects to make many new records with this plane.

WHAT VALUE, TERRACING?

College Station.—Texas farmers think county agents too conservative in the values they place on terraces.
At least that is the conclusion drawn from a summary of farmer estimates from all over the State which averages $7.92 per acre for the value of terraced land compared to $5 per acre estimated by M. R. Bentley, farm engineer in the A. and M.
College Extension Service. The latter figure is commonly accepted by the Service and cooperating organizations. Using farmer estimates, terracing up to 1932 has been worth $44,000,000 to Texas.

The range of farmer estimates is great, but seldom has one been lower than $5 per acre. A West Texan says: "I have seen years when terraces meant the difference between a crop and no crop at all." An East Texan states: "I had rather work terraced land with no fertilizer than untilerraced land with 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre." Most of them express the worth of terraces in terms of increased yields which they estimate all the way from $1 per acre per year up to a one-third increase. In several cases men who terraced 10 or 15 years ago, and have therefore had a chance to observe the effect of terraces on market values, declare terraces make the land worth from $10 to $25 more per acre.

A county agent says that a portion of the crop increases should be credited to the better management that is usually practiced by those who terrace. "A man who thinks enough of his farm to terrace it will ordinarily use a crop rotation including legumes, till the land better, and sow better seed."

"This is the view of the Extension Service," says Mr. Bentley.
"Terracing is the first step in building soil to profitable levels. Terracing saves the foundation, prevents further losses of fertility, and makes the most of rainfall. This gives a good farmer something on which to build a paying farm."

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Keim and iting with her sister, Mrs. C. M.

Martin, and family.

SEEKS FARMERS' ADVICE

Instead of advising farmers, the United States Department of Agriculture is reversing the ordinary practice, and is asking farmers for suggestions on the problem of controlling soil erosion.

The department believes many farmers have developed their own plans, ideas, and devices for preventing soil erosion. It wants these ideas and plans to try out at its erosion stations in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Missouri, North Carolina, Washington, Iowa, and Wisconsin.

The department will be glad to receive any suggestions from farmers who have tried any of these methods and found them practical. Suggestions should be sent to H. H.
Bennett, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

TIMBER CROP IN 25 YEARS

A forest plantation of 324 acres started by a coke company of Scottsdale, Pa., from 1906 to 1912 now contains many trees ready for cutting for mine props and lagging. The plantings were made under plans furnished by the United States Forest Service in 1906. Large areas of red oak and smaller ones of silver maple made the best growth. Some of the 25-year-old stands of oak and maple recently examined by extension foresters were found to be 50 feet high, containing trees 10 inches in diameter, although most of the stands were 30 to 40 feet in height. Except when forest fires had invaded portions of the area, the plantings proved commercially profitable.

GREEN AND RIPE OLIVES BOTH CONTAIN VITAMIN A

If you have always looked on olives primarily as a table accessory, it is time to revise your ideas, and give both green and ripe olives a place in your menus as a food of real value. There was a time when a careful mother snatched an olive away from a child who was experimenting with its taste. Now the United States Department of Agriculture can assure her that there is nothing about olives to hurt children and much to benefit them.

Both ripe and green olives contain abundant quantities of vitamin A, the Bureau of Home Economics reports after completing a series of laboratory feeding tests.
Vitamin A is particularly important to our nutritive well-being, for it

Foods having a yellow or green color are usually rich sources of this vitamin. About seven medium-sized whole milk, or as a serving of the bleached lettuce leaves that usually appear in a salad.

Tests of one of the varieties of ripe olives for vitamins B, C, D, and G indicated that the olives were important as a source of vitamin B and did not contain any of the others in detectable amounts. Because they are a rich source of vitamin A, however, the bureau recommends that both green and ripe olives be used more, not only as an appetizer, but in cooked dishes, salads, sandwiches, and sauces.

How To Travel

There are two ways an American may travel abroad; one is to compare everything he sees or hears unfavorably with what we have at home. This may be flattering to one's patriotic sentiments, but it closes the gates of the mind; the other way is to keep one's eyes, ears and mind open so that one may learn.—William Lyon Phelps in the Rotarian Magazine.

Dumb-Bells?

A democratic government cannot be more intelligent than its people.
A leader cannot lead a nation far beyond national intelligence. It is quite possible for a legislator to be limited and handicapped by the lack of intelligence cooperative interest on the part of his constituency.
Sherwood Snyder in the Rotarian Magazine.
