Lady Wolves lose heartbreaker

By Sandy McSpadden

It was sweet while it lasted -- but great things seldom last too long.

The Lady Wolves got a taste of that old lesson in Scurry County Coliseum Tuesday night, falling before a pack of raging Slaton Tigers 52-41.

Slaton dominated the boards and the free throw line, forcing the Wolves' offensive attack to falter early.

Colorado didn't get to the free throw line until 5:46 of the fourth quarter. That in itself possibly made history.

The red and black made only three of 12 field goals in the first quarter, dropping behind 11-6 and shooting only 29 percent for the game.

Things didn't get better in the second period. C-City made only six of 27 field goal attempts and trailed the Tigers 22-14 at the half as Slaton had canned 11 free throws.

Little 5-3 veteran guard Jana Redwine hit a 3-pointer to close Colorado to 18-14, but Tiger post 5-9 Shannon Krajcovik scored two baskets and 5-6 guard Patavia Whatley picked up a bucket.

Momentum shifted back to Slaton.

In the third quarter Redwine came alive, making another 3-pointer.

Veteran 5-8 senior Bettina Bridgford, still trying to make something happen, drilled a 3 and a deuce, but Slaton was blocking out, giving Colorado only one shot down the court.

Neither team gave up. The game was physical. The Lady Wolves, in foul trouble, fought fiercely not to let it get away.

Five-10 Kendra Anderson, the only junior starter, made a difference in the fourth quarter with 11 of her 13 points.

But Slaton had some offense left with Krajcovik and Whatley.

Krajcovik made four free throws down the stretch, as did the other 5-9 post, Tiffany Turney.

The Colorado fans loudly protested early in the fourth quarter when Bridgford took an elbow to the jaw and collapsed heavily to the floor, but no foul was called.

Then a Slaton player drew a touch foul at the other end and shot free throws while Bridgford was trying to recover on the bench.

She soon returned to the

Family Dollar to open doors in mid-March

America has more than 2,900 Family Dollar stores, and now Colorado City will have one, too, thanks mostly to residents here asking for one at stores in other area cities.

A company official in Odessa said late last week that the chain will open a new store in mid-March in the old Perry Brothers building at 185 E. Second St. downtown.

"They've been thinking about it for a year or a year and a half," said area headquarters store manager Jessie Gallas in Odessa.

"We have had a lot of people from Colorado City coming into our stores in Sweetwater, Big Spring and other places asking when we were going to put a store in Colorado City," she said.

The company had an-

Guelkers, Bertie Kidd honored at banquet

HONOREES Sue and Carl Guelker, left, and Bertie Kidd are the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce's 1998 "Farm and Ranch Family of the Year" and "Citizen of the Year" for their civic and humanitarian activities. They were honored at Saturday night's annual chamber banquet.

Carl and Sue Guelker were honored as "Farm and Ranch Family of the Year" and Bertie Kidd was recognized as "Citizen of the Year" in the annual Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce Banquet Saturday night at the Civic Center.

Two hundred people heard the Guelkers be recognized for activities in the PTA at Kelley Elementary School, where their daughter attends the first grade, and in organizing the Mitchell County 4-H Club several years ago.

They farm cotton, show Quarter Horses and maintain a commercial cow herd.

Guelker, Pct. 2 Mitchell County commissioner, farms 1,581 cropland acres and has 2,715 rangeland acres. He has been involved in Extension Service cotton test plots, and he and his wife have been active in the Texas Farm Bureau's Young Farmers and Ranchers Program.

He was a board member of the Texas Farm Bureau Association until elected county commissioner eight years ago.

The Guelkers were also praised for their involvement in horse-related projects and in 4-H Club, FFA and Mitchell County Livestock Show work.

Their award was presented by last year's recipients. Mr. and Mrs. Manual Munoz.

Bertie Kidd was recognized by Wallace and Ware Unit Warden Rodney Cooper, who listed numerous activities that she has been involved in to improve the lives of city and county residents.

Ms. Kidd transports elderly and low-income people to physicians and on errands and helps them complete applications for assistance, Warden Cooper said.

She even listens to ambulance and fire department radio calls to find people who need help, he said.

She has worked extensively

MCH losing out with Specialty Clinic doctors

Mitchell County Hospital Board members are apparently headed for a showdown with doctors at the hospital district-owned Specialty Clinic at Fifth and Walnut St. over out-of-town treatment of patients.

In his month y medical staff report, Dr. Dee Roach said the physicians "agreed to use the hospital as much as possible" when they occupied the c'inic building but have been using it hardly at all for surgeries.

Board member Dale Geiger asked Dr. Roach if other specialty physicians could be persuaded to start practicing there and use the county hospital, and Dr. Roach said he will try to offer some alternatives at the board's March meeting.

"We're not in business to go broke," the chief of staff said. "There are some other individuals who would be more amenable to using our facilities."

Dr. Roach said the subject had just been thoroughly discussed at a medical staff meeting.

Other business in the 6 p.m. meeting included a report by Administrator Rick Rickard that the hospital's occupancy rate improved to an average of 11.2 patients per day in January.

C-Court okays sale of delinquent tax property

Mitchell County commissioners met in a specially called meeting Tuesday morning and dispensed with three routine items, including the assignment of a used copying machine to the Texas Department of Public Safety at the Sheriff's Office.

Troopers Mark Negri and Russell Conkling attended the 9 a.m. meeting to ask for the copier and a new printer for their computer.

The Minolta copier was formerly used by County Judge Ray Mayo and is now in the county law library, and the court donated to copier to the DPS.

Pct. 4 Commissioner Bill Preston said the court could not consider maintenance for the copier or a new printer until budget deliberations this summer.

Other business in the 20-minute meeting included approval of three Colorado City property sales for the satisfaction of delinquent taxes.

The court okayed the sales of houses and lots at 827 E. Eighth St. and 624 Elm St. for $8,000 and $1,000, respectively, and a lot at 612 Chestnut St. for $1,000, with the house there to be demolished and removed by a crew of

GOP looks for watershed

Taking on characteristics of a majority party, the Republican Party of Texas has a number of contested races for its nominations on the statewide Tuesday, March 10, ballot.

Party Communications Director Robert Black in Austin predicted Monday that "1998 is a year which will probably go down as a watershed year" because of the gains the party will make.

He said it has the advantage of popular Gov. George W. Bush's leading the ticket, and he is optimistic that it will gain the eight seats it needs to take control of the Texas House of Representatives in Austin.

The House has 150 members, 68 of whom are currently Republicans.

"We have a number of contested primaries on the statewide level, and that's indicative of the growing dominance and growing support of the Republican Party," Black said.

He noted that the GOP (Grand Old Party) garnered more than a million votes for the first time in 1996, and he expects 600,000 to 700,000 votes in this "off-year," or non-presidential year, election.

"We don't expect a low turnout," he said.

The contested GOP primary races are topped by a three-way battle for attorney general among former state party chairman Tom Pauken of Dallas and former State Supreme Court Justice John Cornyn and Texas Railroad Commissioner Barry Williamson, both of Austin.

Pauken ran two hard-edged races against Democrat Jim Mattox in the late 1970's for a Dallas congressional seat, and Mattox is seeking the Democratic nomination for attorney general this spring.

The nomination for land commissioner is being contested by State Sen. Jerry Patterson of Pasadena, Houston businessman David Dewhurst and Round Rock Air Force veteran Don Loucks.

Sen. Patterson is well known for sponsoring the state's right-to-carry handgun law and for sponsoring the repeal of the motorcycle helmet law.

However, Dewhurst is a longtime Houston grassroots Republican party worker.

Former State Rep. Susan Combs of Austin and Paris businessman Hamp Hodges are the party's candidates for agriculture commissioner, with Ms. Combs also having been the statewide director of U. S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchinson's homestate offices.

Former Secretary of State Tony Garza of Cameron County in deep South Texas is seeking the nomination for railroad commissioner against former U. S. Rep. Steve Stockman of Beaumont.

There are three incumbents seeking re-election in statewide judicial races -- Harriet O'Neill and Deborah Hankinson for Places 2 and 4 on the Supreme Court and Lawrence Myers for Place 3 on the Criminal Appeals Court.

Judge O'Neill is opposed by Candace Tyson, Judge Hankinson by Steve Smith and Judge Meyers by Herb Hancock.

Robert Pelton, who has law offices in Abilene and Houston, is seeking the 11th Court of Appeals nomination against Kollin Shadle of Abilene and Terry McCall of Comanche.

Shadle is a 41-year-old Hamlin native who handles appellate cases for the Taylor County district attorney's office.

The 11th Court of Appeals in Eastland serves 23 counties including Mitchell County, and HOMEOWNERS Alan and Krisha Rivera, center, show the new home they have bought at the Hillcrest Addition. With them are General Manager Dell Toelkes and Assistant DeLynn Hackfeld.

Hillcrest Development sells first C-City home

Four houses are up with two more on the way at the Hillcrest Addition in northwestern Colorado City, and this is a big week because the first homeowners have moved into the projected 72-home development.

Alan and Krisha Rivera, along with their 7-month-old son Austin, have bought one of the addition's mid-sized homes with three bedrooms, two bathrooms and 1,147 square feet of floor space.

Hillcrest General Manager Dell Toelkes said that in three of the other four families who have signed contracts for homes, either the husband or the wife is employed by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, although neither of the Riveras is.

The development was planned in part to provide housing for employees of the Ware and Wallace Unit state penitentiaries here.

Toelkes said two mid-sized homes are being built without buyers but that he is confident they will be sold.

"We're very encouraged," he said. "We have a lot of hard work in front us, but we're tickled with what's been accomplished and with how we have got the ball rolling.

"We have another four or five good prospects that we're working on."

Development of the Hillcrest Addition by Covenant Communities of Austin started in the summer of 1996 on 16 acres just south of Interstate 20.

Fleetwood Homes of Waco and Riverside, Calif., is building the homes to the 90-percent point of completion at its Waco factory, but Toelkes is using a number of local subcontractors.

"Fleetwood was chosen due to their commitment to customer satisfaction and warranty programs,," he said. "They really stand by their product, and in a project of this size that's what you need -- a partner who is strong enough and big enough to stay in there with you."

Joined by two Austin investors since the project started, Covenant Communities Partners Ltd. is also building the Forrest Hills Addition in Lamesa, near the Preston Smith Unit.

Local sub-contractors in the Colorado City development are Jesse Gonzalez, electrical work; Custom Service, plumbing; Tony Rivera of Watsco Sales & Service, air conditioning; Ron Appling, carpentry and roofing; David Garcia, painting; Pete Klein, concrete; and handyman work, Ken Whitzel.

Local and area suppliers are the Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. and Corky's True Value of Colorado City and Sweetwater Ready Mix Concrete Co.

The homes come in three sizes, and buyers may choose what kind of features they want before their homes are built.

Small-size homes have 1,038 square feet of floor space, but they still have three bedrooms and two bathrooms.

Large-size homes have 1,421 square feet, four bedrooms and two bathrooms.

Prices range from from the high $40,000's for small-size, mid-$50,000's for mid-size and about $60,000 for large-size homes.

Price Construction Co., of Big Spring is at work now surfacing the development's four streets -- Hillcrest Drive, Hill Street, Melodie Lane and Hidalgo Street.

Toelkes said 75 to 80 percent of the homes will be small to mid-size.

"We have a lot of selections in wall and floor coverings and countertops," he said. "When someone comes in and wants a home, we go room by room and item by item, what color and style carpet, wallcoverings, countertops, cabinets, drapes and curtains."

The Mitchell County Economic Development Board helped organize the construction of the prisons and the involvement of Covenant Communities, and board member Mike Hemphill of Colorado City said he is pleased with what he has seen so far.

"It's a boon to the community and the whole county to have some housing available, not only to the prison people but to everyone that's looking for a permanent home," Hemphill said.

"I think it's a necessity if we're going to reap any of the benefits of having the prisons here, having people live here instead of driving from some of the surrounding communities."

Toelkes said the company will continue building "spec homes," or houses that have not been sold yet, because it demonstrates confidence and maintains forward momentum.

"Building spec homes is a little risky because you're second-guessing what people want," he said. "But pre-selling everything is not good, either, because people moving into a sub-division want to see some activity."

The Mitchell County Commissioners Court is ready to begin building a road nearly a half-mile from the I-20 access road to the entrance of Hillcrest Addition using roadbase made from chemically polluted soil at the old Col-Tex refinery in southwestern Colorado City.

Fina Oil and Chemical Co. of Dallas has guaranteed that the roadbase, made of asphalt and concrete mixed with caliche and the Col-Tex soil, will be non-toxic.

Toelkes worked three years in a Laredo housing development as a partner in Vista Homes of Kerrville before coming here.

"We're very encouraged," he said. "We've got a lot of hard work in front of us, but we are very happy and pleased with our success up till now."

Mitchell County Clerk Debby Carlock is encouraging voters to write in candidates for voting precinct chairmanships in Pcts. 2, 3 and 046.

Chairmen have already been elected in Pcts. 1, Lee J. Woods; 4, Sammy W. Billingsley; and 25, Verta Hardegree.

Polling places for the unfilled precinct chairmanships are at Westbrook Tax Office, 2; Mitchell County Courthouse, 3; and Calvary Baptist Church, 046.

Other polls are at the school administration building, 1, and Oak Street Baptist Church, 025.

Pct. 4 Republicans in Loraine will vote at Calvary Baptist Church because a co-judge and an alternate judge were not appointed for that precinct. Pct. 4 Democrats only will vote at Loraine Senior Citizens Center.

Mrs. Carlock noted that this will be Mitchell County's first joint primary with both parties voting at the same polls except for Pct. 4.

She reported a lively interest in the election since early voting began on Monday, with 32 Democrats and four Republicans having cast ballots at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

(Next week: the statewide Democrats.)

Dockrey spends lifetime in air

AIRMAN J. O. Dockrey Jr. spends his free time restoring a Taylorcraft airplane that he once used to take patients to a hospital in Galveston. A Taylorcraft cruises at a top speed of about 100 mph.

Before the invention of the airplane, some boys would lie back in the grass and watch the sky and birds, wishing they could fly into the clouds and look down and see what the birds see.

Those were the ones who would be pilots.

"I was always fascinated by airplanes as long as I can remember," said J. O. Dockrey Jr. of Colorado City, who has been flying since the late 1940's. "I could watch airplanes till they went out of sight.

"I could go up to an airplane and run my hand down the side of it, and it had a smell and feel like nothing else. I have just been fascinated by airplanes all my life.

"You feel the wind under the wings, the sensation of flying. Up above the ground, there are things you see that no one else does."

Dockrey, 69, is a former city councilman and Chamber of Commerce president who helped found the Colorado City Fly-In for visiting pilots in 1962,

Dr. R. D. Bridgford created the event, but for many years Dockrey has led it, inviting pilots with notices in national flying magazines to fly into the Jetstrip Airport north of town, see other pilots and enjoy a breakfast served there by the staff at City National Bank staff.

There were 100 pilots two years ago and 80 last year from Abilene, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Lubbock and other West Texas cities.

Awards are given in various categories, the oldest and youngest pilots, the oldest and most unusual airplanes and the pilot who has flown the farthest distance.

The farthest distance flown has been from Anchorage, Alaska, and awards have been given for flights from Austin, Quitaque, in the Panhandle near Floydada, and Hobbs, N. M.

Asked what makes a good pilot, Dockrey said it is largely an inborn talent.

"A lot of people will tell that a good pilot has natural abilities that you are born with, but then people would dispute that," he said. "But I think there's a lot of merit to it.

"You need to be careful, cautious and plan ahead. If you don't plan ahead, you're always getting in a hurry trying to do things you should have done before.

"Somebody once said that flying is hours and hours of boredom punctuated by periods of stark terror," he said, adding that landings are "where you can get behind an airplane in a hurry" if you do not plan for them.

Dockrey, owner of Dockrey Motors car company, owns a Cessna 150 single-engine plane that he flies for pleasure and commercially for aerial photography and trips, and he is rebuilding a faster Taylorcraft plane that he has owned for 28 years.

The Taylorcraft is one of the planes used by Dockrey and his former partner, Frank Deregibus, in a flying service operated by the two for almost 30 years, primarily flying patients to the University of Texas hospital in Galveston.

Deregibus, a Dodge dealer here, was a former Pan Am pilot, and Dockrey kept the business going with another pilot for a few years after Deregibus retired and moved to El Paso in the late 1980's

Asked if he is conservative in the air, Dockrey said, "Well, I wouldn't say that."

He and Deregibus flew a Cessna Tri-Pacer for many years -- a good airplane with rather small gas tanks.

There were less than two hours of fuel in each of its two tanks, so the men would fly on each tank for about an hour and then fly on the left one until it ran out and the engine started dying, when they would switch on the other one.

Then they would know that they had to land within the next 100 miles, or less.

They would usually run out in the right tank in the Houston vicinity and it's 50 miles from Houston to Galveston, "so we had a 25-mile edge," he said.

"Frank and I did a lot of weather flying that was illegal, flying to Galveston at night. One night we were mesmerized by the lights of Houston, stretching from horizon to horizon, forgot to switch tanks and ran out of gas.

"I sprained my wrist reaching for the tank that had gas. We'd have been in a heck of a shape -- over Houston at night."

As much as he loves to fly, Dockrey did not make a smooth entry into it.

A Colorado City native, he "bought the superintendent cigars and finally graduated" from Colorado High School in 1946.

He had been wanting to fly and went out to the old "gravel pit" runway south of town to take lessons. When he found out they had gone up from $8 to $9 an hour, though, he couldn't afford it and "put it off till I thought I could afford that other dollar."

He finally made it back to the 2,000-foot airstrip, made quick progress with instructor Mack Hobbs and had just soloed in Hobbs' Piper Cub when something happened to show him how serious the venture was.

"Mack was coming back from Bandera with a student, Peanuts Bassham, and they ran into a windmill on the Joe Maddox Ranch," he said. "They were either hedgehopping or practicing emergency landings.

"I quit flying. I didn't get back to it for another two years."

Dockrey is an Army Korean War veteran, having served 10 months at Su Won, south of Seoul, as a sergeant in the quarter master, or supply, corps.

"I mostly fought a typewriter," he said.

But his service had some interest because he had helped build a runway nearby from which Sabre Jets flew north to fight the Chinese.

"I could write a book about Korea," he said. "For a country boy from West Texas to get off the ship and see those little bitty tracks the trains ran on. . .

"The first morning I was there, I woke up and looked out at the hills and there were people in caves, living in the caves. It was a real strange country.

"I'll never forget the smell. People emptied out their cesspools every morning, and they would dump it out and empty it on the fields. Then about 9 or 10 o'clock the sun was up and warmed everything up, and you got to smelling that.

"You know how soldiers can be. We called them honeybuckets."

Mitchell County aviation took a big step forward in the late 1960's, when the airport was moved from land leased from Eelon Harrell near the south shore of Lake Champion to a runway on land owned by O. B. Truelock 4 1/2 miles east of town.

Dockrey and Deregibus lighted the runway with electric bulbs in Mason jars, and a year later they raised $800 to put up a beacon.

"Then we were so prosperous we decided to get the airport paved," he said. "The city wouldn't do it, but the county came in and paved it."

And Truelock Field, with only a 3,000-foot runway, served for about 15 years until Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring donated its 11,000-foot runway, about eight miles north of town, to the city.

Dockrey established a Civil Air Patrol chapter in Mitchell County that is no longer operative, and he helped organize the first Crime Line here when he was on the city council.

He and his wife Betty have a daughter, Donna Lindsey of Colorado City, and three grandchildren.

The new management team at C.C. Certified Quality Meats include Micah and Lacy Butler. Both have advanced degrees in animal science and beef cattle breeding at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

At C.C. Certified Quality Meats

New managers named

A historic Mitchell County business, C. C. Certified Quality Meats, has decided to join the county's economic expansion by hiring two new managers and offering expanded services and products.

The 102 Oak St. business employs 11 people and expects to hire more as it grows, said manager Micah J. Butler.

Butler and his wife Lacy both have master's degrees in beef and food-related disciplines from Texas Tech University in Lubbock, and they have just arrived in Colorado City to assume management of the business owned by Vic Adoue and Lee Hitt of Dallas.

A lot of show steers are being slaughtered during this stock show season, and C.C. Certified has a $15 kill fee and cuts and wraps all the meat for 35 cents a pound, Butler said.

The 27-year-old Olney native also hopes that his $54.95 packages of 13 pounds of steak, four pounds of roast and eight pounds of hamburger meat prove popular.

The company will offer 90-percent lean ground beef, free of growth hormones and antibiotics, through its Nature's Natural Beef line -- a product that is gaining national popularity.

Going back around a half-century here, C. C. Certified has a 30-by-60-foot freezer and keeps large quantities of frozen pork, beef, lamb and goat meat for the owners until they are needed.

It slaughters, butchers and provides all related services on the premises.

Employees are LeAnne Jackson, Minnie Gomez, Ester Quintero, Amelia Espinoza, Alice Franco, Homero Roman, Sergio Molina, Rodrigo Munoz and Macario Gomez -- a staff that Butler said will be expanded significantly as sales increase.

The company sells hamburger patties, beef tips and chicken fried steaks to restaurants, nursing homes and hospitals in Snyder, Sweetwater, Big Spring and Colorado City, and Butler said he will be looking to expand those services.

Along with their main lines of meat, the company has "value-added products" of jerky and sausage and some poultry and fish.

It also dresses and processes venison for hunters.

"We stress quality," Butler said.

"Hopefully, we can expand this enough where we can be a large employer and bring that economic value to the community."

Butler earned a bachelor's degree in animal production in 1993 and a master's in animal science and food technology at Texas Tech in 1995.

He was Tech's meats judging coach in 1995 after working as an assistant coach from 1992 to '94, and he wants to work with high school meats judging teams in Colorado City, Westbrook and Loraine during his free time.

Buler has an extensive video collection on meats judging, which he said is a competitive necessity to prepare for modern judging contests.

He said young people may become motivated to make a profession of animal and meat science through such extra-curricular activities.

Lacy Barrett Butler, 27, is a native of Valley Mills, near Waco, who earned a bachelor's degree in animal science at Tech in 1993 and a master's in beef cattle breeding and genetics there in 1995.

The Butlers have been working since 1995 for CEV Multimedia in Lubbock, Micah as sales director and Lacy as marketing director.

Air Force extends comment period concerning fly-overs

Responding to public outcries about Dyess Air Force Base bomber fly-overs in west-central Texas, the Air Force has extended the period for taking public comments about its plans to April 3.

Area farmers and ranchers met last Tuesday at Scurry County Coliseum in Snyder to marshall opposition to the scheduled low-level fly-overs of B-1 and B-52 bombers from Dyess AFB in Abilene.

Local landowners were invited to the meeting even though Mitchell County would not be directly affected.

The affected counties would be Borden, Dawson, Fisher, Garza, Kent, Lynn, Scurry and Stonewall counties.

Comments are being taken at RBTI EIS, c/o 7th CES/CEV, 710 3rd St., Dyess AFB, TX. 79607.

In a Thursday statement from Langley Air Force Base in Langley, Va., the public affairs office of Headquarters Air Combat Command said the delay is "in response to public concerns and congressional requests.

"The United States Air Force is committed to public involvement throughout the environmental impact analysis process of their proposed airspace and training actions," a spokesman said.

"The Air Force has found public involvement improves their proposals, providing a better balance between Air Force operational requirements, traditional land uses and environmental concerns."

"The Air Force encourages citizens to submit their written comments as soon as possible to permit the most thorough response possible."

Coronary heart disease is No. 1 killer

By Mary McMullen,
County Extension Agent
for Family and
Consumer Sciences

Coronary heart disease is the No. 1 killer of American females and is the No. 2 killer of Mitchell County females ages 25 to 64. From 1990 to '96, 10 Mitchell County females of this age group lost their lives to this deadly killer.

Stroke is the No. 3 killer of American women and the No. 1 cause of serious, long-term disability in our sex. Yet most women do not recognize cardiovascular disease as a "woman's disease" and cause of death.

Since 1984 the number of cardiovascular disease deaths, for females has exceeded those for males. In the United States, heart disease and stroke have claimed more female lives annually than the next 16 causes of death combined -- and almost twice as many as all forms of cancer.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is proud to join the American Heart Association in its national observance of February as American Heart Month. During this observance, it is hoped that Mitchell County women will become aware of this deadly killer, the dangers of heart disease and stroke and of the preventative measures they can take.

This year's theme, "Each One, Reach One," urges women to learn more about heart disease and stroke and to share this vital information with another woman -- a friend, co-worker, neighbor or relative.

If you are a woman, I encourage you to take charge of your cardiovascular health. Learn more about heart disease and stroke and the ways you can reduce your risks.

If you are a man, share the information with a woman you care about.

The American Heart Association recommends several ways of controlling your risk of heart attack and stroke: stop smoking, control your cholesterol level, control high blood pressure, be physically active, maintain a healthy weight and eat a healthy, low-fat diet.

For more information about women and cardiovascular disease, and for heart-healthy recipes and help in altering your favorite recipes to make them heart-healthy, please contact me at 728-3111.

Salado

By Tumbleweed Smith

I've been going to Salado since the fifties when I was in Baylor. Then, Salado was one of those small insignificant towns that had nothing distinctive about it except a good place to eat. You stopped for lunch or dinner at the Stage Coach Inn on your way to somewhere else.

In the 60's, I noticed a few changes in Salado. Some unique stores opened. Tourists were walking the streets. People were wading in the creek and pinicing under huge live oak trees. It had become a place where visitors enjoyed themselves.

I went to Salado frequently and found more interesting people to interview, more special things to report. The place was growing. By the 70's, Salado was a significant place with much to offer. It was a shopping mecca, a sophisticated place that attracted artists.

By the 80's, Salado was cultured and refined, with an enchanting character and friendly spirit. The spring fed creek provided a peaceful beauty. Salado's growth was steady, but well planned, retaining the specialness that made people feel good about being there.

By the 90's, Salado had become the address of distinction for the ladies and gentlemen of Texas.

I have interviewed Salado's artists and craftsmen, merchants and characters. I've reported on the charming life along Salado Creek, the old grist mills, the Scottish heritage and the Robertson Plantation. I've been to Mill Creek, which, according to one prestigious publication, has the most beautiful golf course in Texas.

Salado has its own Institute for the Humanities, which brings in an impressive list of people who are known around the world for their expertise in various fields of endeavor.

The symbol of Salado is a bronze statue of a legendary mermaid donated by artist Troy Kelley. The statue sits in Salado creek and is called Sirena.

The Stage Coach Inn is still going strong. Some of the waitresses are the same ones who served food there forty years ago.

I enjoyed learning about Salado's history, how it was established as a stage stop and trade center. It had a college. Salado was a promising community, once considered as the site for the state captial and the University of Texas. When residents of Salado see what monstrous growth Austin has had, thereby transforming a nice small town into just another big city, they are glad Salado was not selected.

Years ago, the railroad by-passed Salado and the town fell into decline. It became old and weathered, showing ruins of its past importance. The population in 1930 and 200.

Something happened in the 40's to turn the community around. A strange eccentric man, Dion Van Bibber, arrived on the scene. He drove a car once owned by Cecil B. DeMille. He wore a beret and kissed ladies' hands. He restored the Stage Coach Inn and in doing so, brought the village back to life.

Hospital honors employees

Nelwyn Strain has been named the Employee of the Month for January at Valley Fair Lodge.

Nelwyn has worked in health care for the past 18 years. Charles Root offered her a secretarial/bookkeeping job and her career began. She has been married to Jack Strain for 16 years. She graduated from Colorado High, moved away for a few years and then returned to Colorado City. She has a son, Trey Cade, who is a professor at Texas A&M. Nelwyn enjoys Cajun- and seafood, traveling, reading and her church work.

Marsha Rickard says, "Nelwyn is very creative and thoughtful. It is nice to have someone to bounce ideas off of and get back useful and introspective feedback."

Nita Brooks, Mitchell County Hospital Employee of the Month of January has been working in the operating room for the past 10 years. She also works the floor or the nursery when she is needed. She was nominated by a young employee that noted, "She has taught me all about the O.R. She is always friendly to coworkers and to the patients. She is a hard worker and deserves to be noticed."

Nita and her husband Bill live in Snyder. They have two children, Tyra (16) and Sid (23). Bill works for YZ in Snyder. Patsy Robinson, OR Director, says that Nita is in her second semester of her OR Technician Certification. She also commented that, "Nita is always smiling and promotes harmony at the hospital."

Farm bill clobbers '97 cotton prices

Mitchell County farmer Woody Anderson has been recently re-elected vice-chairman of the cotton producers' committee of the National Cotton Council -- a serious role because the current Farm Bill is creating serious problems in the industry.

By removing limits on how many acres farmers may plant, the Farm Bill is causing and will continue to cause wild fluctuations in commodity prices from year to year, Anderson said.

So the National Cotton Council, based in Memphis, Tenn., will probably push to have it abolished before it expires as scheduled in 2002.

Anderson, who farms east of Colorado City, is also a member of the State Farm Service Agency Committee, formerly the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Committee.

Anderson is optimistic that the cotton industry's problems will be dealt with successfully because the top two men on the House Agriculture Committee in Washington are U. S. Reps. Larry Combest of Lubbock and Charles Stenholm of Stamford.

Combest, a Republican, has taken over as committee chairman since the Farm Bill was written. Stenholm is the ranking Democrat and will become chairman if his party regains control of Congress.

"Both of them have a real grass-roots understanding of the cotton industry and what makes it work," Anderson said.

He said Mitchell County farmers have just experienced what the Farm Bill means, having their best crop in 10 years but seeing the price fall from the mid-60-cent range per pound to the high 40's between the start of the harvest and the end.

He noted ironically that the 1997 legislation was called the "Freedom to Farm" bill.

"It's going to be an up-and-down market," Anderson said. "We will see a wide swing in prices."

Because there was a lot of cotton acreage last year and production was good, depressing prices with an oversupply, acreage will be substantially less this year and prices will go back up -- and so on from season to season until the situation is corrected.

He predicted that soybeans and corn will be planted this year in many cotton fields in response to 1997's low prices.

"I think this Farm Bill we're under will be re-looked at before 2002 because of the wide swings," Anderson said.

"We have unilaterally disarmed our farmers in this Farm Bill."

He said the problem is even more threatening because European cotton production is increasing and European producers will gain greater shares of the market during reduced production years in the United States.

In a Thursday telephone interview from Gorman, where he had been attending a conference on the peanut industry, Rep. Stenholm said the chances are nil of altering the Farm Bill before 2000.

But he indicated that if the makeup of Congress changes enough that year, the bill could still be significantly improved two years before it finally expires.

"I was contacted a year ago by the CEO's of two of the largest cotton textile plants in America, and they were concerned about getting into a boom and bust with an oversupply one year and a collapse in production the next year," the congressman said.

"These two plants use seven million bales of United States cotton a year.

"The further we get into this program, the more concern we hear from all aspects of the industry about the steady, reliable supply of competitive prices."

Stenholm said he never liked the Freedom to Farm Bill, but it was the only legislation that could attract the necessary 218 votes to be approved in the Republican-dominated House of Representatives last year in Washington.

Woody Anderson

Asked what the chances are to abolish the bill in 2000, he said, "It depends on who is elected. There are going to be a whole lot of new faces.

"There are some things we can do. We have got to have better crop insurance to allow producers to insure against catastrophic losses due to weather or insects or the collapse of international markets."

Stenholm said Congress did do something constructive in the last session, approving agricultural loans through the International Monetary Fund to South Korea and other Southeast Asian countries to shore up American cotton prices.

Problems in Southeast Asia "probably knocked a nickel to a dime" off domestic cotton prices, he said, and without the loans they would have dropped even further.

He agreed with Anderson that foreign producers of cotton and synthetics will grab an increasing share of the cotton market in the years when American producers plant less.

"What price is it going to take to encourage farmers to plant cotton?" he asked.

Stenholm is running for re-election this year against Dr. Rudy Izzard of Abilene, a Republican. They will meet in the Nov. 3 general election.

Happy 20th Anniversary

We love you!

PUBLIC NOTICE

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) to charge an additional 26 cents per month per line to recover costs for providing Expanded Local Calling service (ELC) to certain Texas Customers.

The 26 cents per month surcharge would not be billed to customers who receive ELC. However, customers who receive ELC and pay less than the maximum $3.50 a month residential ELC charge or less than the maximum $7 business ELC charge will have to pay the additional 26 cents per month charge.

Expanded Local Calling was created in 1993 by Texas legislation that requires telephone companies to provide toll-free calling between small towns that share a community of interest such as a school or hospital district. The legislation allows telephone companies to recover costs not paid through customer charges by applying a surcharge to all other customers in the state who do not receive the ELC service or who do not pay the maximum ELC rate. The maximum monthly ELC rate allowed under state law is $3.50 per line for residential customers and $7 per line for business customers.

Southwestern Bell estimates that the 26 cents per month per line charge will recover the $27 million annual cost of providing ELC service that is not recovered from ELC rates.

If approved by the PUC, the monthly statewide surcharge of 26 cents per line per month will begin with the April, 1998 billing cycles, with an agreement to refund all or part of the charge if the PUC does not approve it.

For questions about the reasons for the charge, please call the Southwestern Bell Business Office listed in your directory.

The PUC assigned Docket Number 18513 to this proceeding. The deadline for intervention in this matter is March 31, 1998. Persons who wish to intervene or comment in these proceedings should notify the PUC by March 31, 1998. All requests to intervene should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 13326, Austin, TX, 78711-3326. For information intervening, please call the PUC at 1-888-782-8477 or at 512-936-7120.

AVISO PUBLICO

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) presentó una solicitud ante la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas (PUC) para cobrar 26 centavos más al mes por línea para recuperar los costos por el servicio de Llamadas Locales Ampliadas (ELC) a ciertos clientes en Texas.

El cargo de 26 centavos al mes no se cobrará a los clientes que reciben ELC. Sin embargo, los clientes que reciben ELC y pagan menos del máximo de $3.50 al mes por el servicio ELC residencial o menos del máximo de $7 por el servicio ELC comercial, tendrán que pagar 26 centavos adicionales a su pago mensual.

El servicio de Llamadas Locales Ampliadas (ELC) fue establecido en 1993 por la legislación del estado de Texas y requiere que las compañías prestadoras de servicios telefónicos ofrezcan llamadas de larga distancia gratuitas entre pequeñas poblaciones que comparten un interés común tales como distritos escolares y de hospitales. Esta ley permite que las compañías telefónicas recuperen los costos no pagados mediante cargos a clientes, a través de un cargo a todos los demás clientes en el estado que no reciben el servicio ELC o que no pagan la tarifa máxima del servicio ELC. La tarifa máxima mensual permitida por la ley estatal es $3.50 por línea para clientes con servicio residencial y $7 por línea para clientes con servicio comercial.

Southwestern Bell calcula que los 26 centavos al mes por línea cubrirán los $27 millones del costo anual del servicio ELC que no está cubierto por las tarifas de ELC.

Si la PUC autoriza el cargo mensual estatal de 26 centavos al mes por línea éste comenzará a partir de los ciclos de facturación de abril 1998, con el acuerdo de reembolsar todo o parte del cargo si la PUC no lo autoriza.

Para preguntas relacionadas con este cargo, por favor llame a la Oficina Local de Southwestern Bell listada en su directorio telefónico.

La PUC asignó el número de registro de 18513 a este procedimiento. El plazo de intervención sobre este asunto terminará el 31 de marzo de 1998. Las personas que deseen intervenir o hacer comentarios sobre este procedimiento deberán notificar a la PUC antes del 31 de marzo de 1998. Todas las solicitudes de intervención deberán enviarse por correo a Public Utility Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 13326, Austin, TX 78711-3326. Para mayor información sobre la intervención, por favor comuníquese con la PUC al 1-888-782-8477 o al 512-936-7120.

African-American women urged to know heart history

By Mary McMullen CEA-FCS

During February we observe both Black History Month and American Heart Month. This year, I would like to urge all African-American women in Mitchell County to know your heart history.

Heart disease and stroke are the number one killers of black women. From ages 35-74 a black woman is 71% more likely to die from coronary heart disease than is a white woman. In 1995, coronary heart disease rates were 81.6 deaths per 100,000 black females and 39.6 deaths from stroke out of 100,000 black females. These are 35% higher and 71% higher rates than those found in white women. In 1995 the death rate from high blood pressure was 21.7 per 100,000 black females compared to 4.8 per 100,000 white females. This was a 352% or 4.5 times higher rate!

You can reduce your risk of heart attack and stroke. Start by knowing your personal heart history and becoming aware of personal characteristics, habits and risk factors for this deadly disease. Some of these you can't control or change but some of these you can. Here are some risks factors.

If you are 55 years or older, if you have passed menopause or if you have had your ovaries removed your risk may increase. As a rule women have higher HDL or (good) cholesterol levels than do men. The female hormone estrogen tends to raise the HDL or the "good" level which may help explain why premenopausal women are usually protected from heart disease. If you are 55 or older, post-menopausal or have no ovaries consult your doctor about estrogen therapy.

Know your family history for heart disease. If your father or brother had a heart attack before age 55 or if your mother or sister had a heart attack before age 65, your risk for heart attack may increase.

Do you smoke or live with a smoker? If you smoke, stop! The number one thing a woman can do to reduce her risk of heart attack is to stop smoking. Your risk is also increased if you live or work with people who smoke daily.

Know your cholesterol level. Keep it under a 240 mg/d/total. Keep your HDL (good cholesterol) level above 35mg/d/. Know your blood pressure. Your blood pressure should be below 140/90. Are you physically inactive, 20 or more pounds overweight or a diabetic? These all contribute to a greater risk for heart attack.

Finally, know your medical history. If you have had one heart attack, another may follow it. If you have had a stroke a heart attack may follow or if you have an abnormal heart rate your risk is increased.

Remember to know your risk, work with doctors to reduce, control and prevent heart attack and strokes. And remember, you are the Heartbeat of America.

COOK'S CORNER

Our readers may remember a lady by the name of Lela Land Richburg. She lives in Hart, Texas and occasionally sends in recipes which we have previously published in Cook's Corner.

Lela recently sent in a few recipes and we wanted to be able to provide some information about her to our readers. Speaking with her on the phone, Lela told me a little bit about herself.

Growing up in Mitchell County, Lela married John Lucas and moved away in 1942. She returned for 12 years or so between 1982 and '94. She now lives in Hart with her husband, Lester Richburg.

Lela enjoys cooking, especially desserts. She is a diabetic, so she doesn't get to eat them too much. She said that Lester usually eats what she doesn't give away.

Like many, Lela's mother taught her to cook. When she was a child, Lela would get up early so she could watch her mother make biscuits. Lela said, "There was a time when I could make the best biscuits." She doesn't cook them as often now and said that they haven't turned out as good the last few times she has made them.

Jan Wing, Lela's daughter, lives in Lewisville, Texas and Lela is very proud of her grandson, John Bearor, who is 16.

One of Lela's most interesting hobbies is her collection of recipes. She started keeping all the recipes she could get her hands on approximately 15 years ago. She now has 15 cookbooks and shoe boxes full of recipes. She gets them from friends and family, she takes them out of magazines or off the inside of labels on jars and cans. Lela gets her recipes from most anywhere. She has so many, she can't even try all of them.

Well, there is one sure thing, Lela likes to share her recipes and we enjoy receiving them from her. Try these dishes and remember she sent them to you.

They file more workers' compensation claims and they increase cost to employer group health plans. They have poor decision making abilities and contribute to loss of customer due to poor customer relations.

Who are they? They are the substance abusers that work for you.

The conference will be held Thursday, March 5, from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Lubbock Plaza Irving Room.

Seminar topics include how to develop a drug and alcohol policy, how to manage the legal aspects of a substance abuse program, how to identify chronic substance abusers in the workplace, how to recognize and measure the "pros" of drug testing, and how to fine tune your existing substance abuse policies and procedures. These topics and more will be addressed by a professional safety consultant, a business law attorney, a substance abuse prevention specialist, and an employer panel representing Lubbock-area industries.

Space is limited. The registration fee of $40 includes lunch. For more information or to register, please call 806-796-6540.

Lady Wolves stomp Alpine, 66-32

The Colorado Lady Wolves won their second bi-district championship trophy in three years Thursday night at Odessa Permian Field House, stomping Alpine 66-32.

In the first quarter, the Wolves showed play-off jitters shooting only 5 of 15 from the field and coughing up six turnovers, but the Lady Bucks were nervous too.

Wily veteran 5'8" senior Bettina Bridgford, sensing the problem, took charge of the situation, penetrated the 2-3 zone defense and hit two jump shots. The score was knotted at 7-7 with 2:08 left in the first period when senior Jana Redwine got a wake-up call. After missing the first three shots, the 5'4" senior guard canned a deuce, and two straight threes. Add juniors Staci Turnbow and Jamie Mason with two points each, after Alpine turnovers, and the Pack led 12-7 at the end of one. The game wouldn't get any closer.

That high-tech defense employed by the Wild Bunch caused six steals and eight turnovers. All seven players that touched the floor in the first period got in on the frantic action. All good coaches know defense wins ball games and tonight was no exception. Coach Darrin Leverton's troop found high gear.

The Wolves press allowed only two Alpine points in 5:30 of the second stanza. Meanwhile Bridgford led the Wolves, slowed down the offense, looked for and took the good shot, and pulled out to a 28-15 halftime advantage.

Alpine used the 2-3 zone defense to stymie 5'10" junior Kendra Anderson, and it was working for the most part, but the Wolves leading scorer still managed five points in the second, three of them coming at the foul line. Redwine's three long range bombs, stretched the Bucks zone defense to the limit.

The second half was a blowout! Bridgford scored two to open the third. Mason stole the ball and Colorado had two more. Anderson dropped an assist on Turnbow for two points, senior Barbara Rivera tossed in a wild one, and Colorado City moved out to a 44-22 advantage through three.

Senior Mica Merrell didn't shoot much and had two points for the game, but she was tops on the Wolves with seven steals and three assists.

The fourth quarter was more of the same. Kendra Anderson made six of her 16 points that frame, thanks to two assists from Margaret Jameson, the 5'7" sophomore up from the JV. Liz Rivera, also up from JV ranks, spelled Kendra Anderson and was solid on defense for Colorado.

Redwine, making five three pointers on the night, led all Wolf scorers with 23. Anderson tallied 16, and Bridgford made 12. Rivera tucked in five, Turnbow had six and Mason made two points.

A happy and confident Darrin Leverton said after the game, "Our kids were nervous at the opening bell, but we calmed down pretty quick. I was real proud of our defensive effort and as the game progressed the offense got into gear. I thought the referees loosened up toward the middle of the game, and that's the way it should be in the play-offs. They're going to let the kids play, so it's going to be rougher, particularly under the basket."

Colorado City is now 23-5 on the year.

THE FORM IS GOOD, BUT THE BALL WON'T FALL. Colorado's senior forward Mica Merrell (24) shoots a good shot in the first quarter against defender Allison Lewis (32). The ball just wouldn't go in. Colorado lost the tilt 52-41 in Snyder.

I'M GONNA SLAP THAT THING OUT OF YOUR HAND. Wolves Jamie Mason (44) gets off shots before Slaton's Brittany Huddleston can block the shot. The ball failed to fall. Colorado lost the game 52-41.

game, however.

Slaton drew a large contingent to the contest, although not as big as the Lady Wolves', and both groups of fans were demonstrative throughout the contest.

The crowd was estimated at more than 3,000 fans.

Redwine didn't get free for a 3 in the waning minutes, and Mica Merrell failed to get the shots down to the wire for the Wolves.

Time will always run out.

Colorado City closed out another super year, going 23-6 and covering another district and bi-district championship.

Slaton marches on to regionals in Lubbock this weekend, sporting a 25-4 record.

A Colorado fan said it best: "These kids have given a great ride for the past years, and I'll never forget it. I know they won't either."

Wolves head coach Darrin Leverton was stunned by the event but still upbeat .

"I told the girls in the locker room after the game that they left it all out on the court," he said. "They can always look in the mirror and be proud of the way they played and what they accomplished.

"Slaton had a good ballclub. I think they were a little more physical on the boards than we were.

"We didn't shoot well, but let's give Slaton credit. They did a fine job defensing us.

"We've had a great year, and I'm proud of the kids."

Colorado Wolves lose to Sonora in final game

Sonora made it a point to add district foes to their list of victories at least twice this basketball season.

The Colorado Wolves didn't escape and were dropped by the Broncos 81-50 at Sonora in the final boys game of the season.

The Wolves kept it close in the first quarter trailing 15-12, but a 23-3 second stanza run by Sonora put a lid on the Wolves' hopes of winning.

The Pack could manage only two three pointers, while the red hot district champs hit 11.

Sonora finished the season 21-7 and 10-0 in district. The Wolves went to 10-17 and 4-6.

Senior Adam Wood led CHS scorers for the last time with 14, Randy Byington tapped in eight, and Terry Green made seven. Justin Hill had five, Justin Matthews and Brett Hoyle made four points each. Ty Wood and Armando Rocha shared three points apiece, and Will Bassham had two.

C-City Record to sponsor Basketball Contest

Along with a consortium of other Texas newspapers, the Colorado City Record will participate in a statewide basketball contest promotion involving the upcoming NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament.

The statewide winner of the March Madness contest, called "the biggest office pool in Texas" by its promoter, will win a $1,000 cash prize. There will also be a local winner of a smaller prize in each participating community. In the Colorado City area, the local winner will receive $100.

The object of the game is to amass as many of the possible 300 points as you can by correctly selecting winners of the games. The tournament begins March 12. The contestant who garners the most of the 300 points statewide will win the $1,000 prize. The contestant locally who garners the most of the 300 points is the local winner.

The contest entry form will be published in next week's Record. Because the 64-team field won't be known at the time of publication, contestants will need to hold on to their entry until Sunday, March 8, when the pairings and seeding for the tourney will be announced. Then, simply write the 64 team names into the 64 boxes provided, making sure that regions and seed numbers are correct.

Simply clip the entry from the paper and fill in your picks -- right on through the championship game, to be played March 30. The Final Four tournament will be held in San Antonio March 28-30.

The contest is run by a Denver-based firm, POWER POINTS, Inc., which also operates the Texas POWER POINTS Football Contest.

All contest entries must be received by the Record by noon Thursday, March 12. Simply mailing them by then will not be enough. Winners will be announced in the Record on April 2. A sample of the contest is shown below.

PAW PRINTS

Notes from the
Colorado Independent School District

How does U.I.L. realignment work?

By Russell Merket, Superintendent
Colorado Independent School District

One of the latest events that affected our school was the realignment of schools into districts and classifications by the University Interscholastic League (UIL). This is a tremendous job. We have five basic classifications and several subdivisions in some of those five classes. The process that places some 1000 schools into five classes and four geographical regions in a state as large as Texas is a very difficult task.

How does the process work? Here is a short description of the process.

Enrollment:

Participant schools and charter schools shall be assigned to a conference on the basis of enrollment on a date from the previous October. The formulas used to determine enrollment shall be:

(1) Grades 9-12 will be used to determine enrollment. Formulas will be used to determine enrollment for high schools that only have grades 10, 11, and 12.

(2) Participating schools and charter schools are divided into conferences for the 1998-99 and 1999-00 school years, according to the following enrollments:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 222 schools | conference 5A | 1780 & up |
| 217 schools | conference 4A | 780 to 1779 |
| 212 schools | conference 3A | 345 to 779 |
| 224 schools | conference 2A | 160 to 344 |
| 299 basketball schools | conference 1A | 159 & below |
| 128 -- 11-man football schools | | |
| 88 -- 6-man schools | | |

A lot of time and effort by UIL staff is spent assigning schools to districts that will keep travel to a minimum. In some cases, especially in West Texas, it is difficult to have districts where all schools are in close proximity in order to limit travel.

The UIL staff also works with only numbers when establishing classifications. They are allowed a small variance in the number of schools placed in each classification.

Recently, superintendents in class AAA voted in favor of taking three schools to the play-offs. This still has to be approved by the State Board of Education. A close vote is possible. Citizens are urged to write to their representatives on the state board expressing your opinion. The name and address for the representatives in this area are:

Monte Hasie
Rauscher Pierce Refsnes
5211 Brownfield, Hwy Suite 120
Lubbock, Texas 79407

Richard Watson
PO Box 249
Gorman, Texas 76454

The enrollments of schools for Colorado City's new district are as follows:

|---|---|
| Seminole | 624 |
| Lamesa | 677 |
| Brownfield | 665 |
| Slaton | 467 |
| Denver City | 489 |
| Colorado City | 372 |

Greetings. We hope you had a good week. Have you built anything from wood lately? Recently, I felt confident enough to start work on wooden bookshelves, piece of cake, childs play. I began sawing, hammering, nailing, gluing and sweating - who needed a tape measure, I had a "good eye". Soon I began taking several tea breaks. Things weren't going as planned. My good eye went bad because none of the board appeared plumb.

There was a gaping hole in one corner big enough for a pregnant mouse to go and come as she pleased. My thumb hurt and was swollen from hammber blows. Soon, I set the wooden marvel upright. It wobbled. One side was off plub by three inches. Later, I thought the brick looked just fine under the short side. Glue kept running down my leg into my shoe. I think I cried.

Billie Rutherford of Lubbock spent last week with her mother Bea Lee.

Last Sunday Gregg and Robin Walker and son visited with Elba Evans. They all drove out to their farm south of town, did some cooking and eating, and enjoyed their time together.

Maylou Beaty was in town one day last week to visit mom, Elva Evans, and do a few chores around her home.

Donna Seaton from Abilene spent the weekend with her sister Debbie Finley. The ladies did a lot of visiting and went to church last Sunday.

We are beginning to see fruit trees in bloom all over town. We know it's too early but it has been so warm. It would be nice to have a fruit crop this year. It's not nice to fool Mother Nature!

Katrina Robinson of Abilene was in town last Sunday and Monday to spend the two days with her mother, Eva Wells.

Craig Finley was here this past Saturday and Sunday visiting his family. He is going to McMurry in Abilene.

Our condolences go to the Turk and Snyder families and friends. Ludie Turk, sister of Tony Snyder passed away over the weekend at a Hospice Care facility at Abilene. Bertha Fay Snyder reminded me that Ludie lived here in Loraine for a while.

We have concerns for Lee Matlock, Rachel Singleton, Joy Dickenson, and Hazel Pratt at this time and send our well wishes.

Verna Mae Adkins enjoyed the company of her two daughters from Ft. Worth last week. Ruthie Mae Griffen and Shirly Ann Adkins. They visited, cooked, shopped and went to a funeral while here. Verna was so glad to have both girls here at the same time.

Bobby and Wanza Graham have been staying with grandchildren at Lake Colorado City while their parents are away. They have been having a great time "child sitting". The babies have grown some.

Pres and Billie Powell have been losing a lot of sleep in the wee hours before dawn. Instead of a crowing rooster, they are bothered by a howling coyote. We remember that in their animal cemetery, burials have taken place for some pack rats, gofers, snakes, and other varmits. If the coyote knew about the cemetery, he might be quiet.

Senior Center News

Last Monday, February 16th, Gert Karwedsky joined us at the center to tell us about her life as a child. She was born in Holland, had one brother plus her parents. She was 8 or 9 years old when Germans invaded their homeland and life for the family changed drastically and forever. They often times went hungry having only a sugar beet or a carrot for supper. After several months of vitamin and mineral deficiencies, she became very ill and was sent to a different area of Holland to be treated and cared for. Mrs. Karwedsky told about going through people's garbage. She said they were thrilled to find potato peelings or anything they could wash and make soup with.

Mrs. Karwedsky is a good speaker and we enjoyed her report and of course empathised with what families had to bear during war time.

Musicians coming from Snyder and Colorado City to play for us last Wednesday the 18th were Joe Vincent, Charles Dunn, Benny Benidents, Aubrey Wilson and Jack Denman. The band was great and we want a return visit. Muriel Vincent and Earline Dunn came with their husbands.

We learned Monday that Geoary Martin, of Loraine, will be a write in candidate for chairman of Mitchell County on the Democratic party.

Mr. Mayo spoke to the Senior crowd last Monday. He gave us a short bio and places he had worked. He is running for commissioner Precinct 4 of Michell County.

Bill Preston was also at the center last Friday morning. He didn't speak long since everyone there was familiar with him and his works. He is also a candidate for Precinct 4.

The mini fair at the center Monday morning was a great success. Nurses screened for blood sugar readings and they also took blood pressure plus answered questions. A speaker from a hospice care spoke as did our county extension agent on revising recipes for heart health.

I saw Verlie Owens Monday and she was still in the clouds over her 75th birthday party last Sunday. She said everyone made her feel so special and thankful for family members and friends as well. After all the good things that happened, she is looking forward to her 85th birthday and not dreading it.

"Funny Bones"

A couple stopped their cow in front of a restaurant in Arizona. After being seated and scanning menus, they both decided on friend chicken.

The waitress took their order but explained it might take a while.

Hungry for friend chicken, they agreed to wait. After 40 minutes had passed without their meal they made inquiries.

Timidly the waitress explained she couldn't take the life of a chicken so they would have to wait for a "road kill".

Take care and see you about town.

Wildlife program to help restore native habitat

The Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP) is the U.S. Department of Agriculture's newest wildlife program and it's for people who want to restore degraded native habitat on private lands.

"WHIP is a voluntary program which provides both technical assistance and cost-sharing to restore degraded native habitat on private land," explained Steve Shrode, District Conservationist with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). "Participants who own or control land agree to prepare and implement a wildlife habitat development plan which contains wildlife habitat practices to be installed on the land. In addition, if the landowner agrees, wildlife agencies like the Texas Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, or private organizations like Ducks Unlimited may provide expertise or additional funding to help complete a project."

The wildlife development plan is prepared in consultation with the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District. The plan describes the landowner's goals for improving a wildlife habitat, includes a list of practices and schedule for installing them, and details the steps necessary to restore and maintain the habitat for the life of the agreement.

"USDA and the participant enter into a cost-share agreement to restore the degraded habitat," said Shrode. "The agreement generally lasts 5-10 years from the date the contract is signed. The landowner agrees to maintain the cost-shared practices and allow USDA access to monitor the effectiveness of the practices."

The sign-up for WHIP is in progress at the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Office at 2302 N. Hwy. 208 (G-Kell Building). For more information call (915) 728-3473. All programs and services of the U.S. Department of Agriculture are available on a nondiscriminatory basis.

NOTICES

PRAYER FOR ALL IN MILITARY SERVICE

O God, we beseech you, watch over the souls of all who are exposed to the horrors of war, and to the spiritual dangers inseparable from a military life. Bless them with such a strong Faith that no human respect may ever lead them to deny it, or fear to practice it. Do by your grace fortify them against the contagion of bad example. Keep them always in your friendship. May nothing in life or death ever separate them from you.

Mother of God, be with them on land, or sea, or in the air during life and at the hour of death, and grant that they may die in the grace of you Son.

May their Guardian Angels protect them. Amen.

PRAYER FOR PEACE

God has warned us repeatedly, and especially through the Virgin Mary at Fatima, that we must pray for peace. Fervently offer this prayer for our beloved America and for all nations.

Give peace, O Lord, in our days; for there is none other that fights for us, but only you, our God.

"Let there be peace in your strength, O Lord, and plenty in your strong places."

Let Us Pray

O God, from Whom proceed all holy desires, all right counsels and just works, grant unto us your servants that peace which the world cannot give, that our hearts may be devoted to your service, and that, being delivered from the fear of our enemies, we may pass our time in peace under your protection. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

WALLACE CENTER NEWS

by Golda Redwine

As usual, the Wallace Community Center is a-buzz with a variety of activities right now. Most people are familiar with the Tuesday/Thursday noon-time meals for senior citizens but aren't aware that the lunch program also includes home delivery of meals by Bob and Cheryl McNeal. There are currently 50 (+) people receiving meals at home and the noon time lunch is well attended each week. A program precedes each noon meal, such as last Thursday's entertainment provided by local singer Tandy Curlee and the traditional crowning of the Valentine's Day King and Queen.

The Wallace Community Center is also the site for numerous activities for all ages:

Seniors started an indoor walking program this month and invited everyone in he community to join them in the Wallace Gym at 10:30 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday. Domino and card games are played in the dining room following the noon meals and crafters meet the second Wednesday of each month to work on handmade items to be sold at the annual Christmas bazaar fund-raiser.

Before and after meals, diners can see how the internet works and try their hand at e-mailing a grandchild, searching the World Wide Web for information or chatting with the seniors around the world in a seniors chat room. CyberTex of Colorado City set-up the computer with internet capabilities in January and, every week, at least one person from the community comes to the center to learn more about the information superhighway and see a free demonstration.

Useful information is also available through a range of programs and classes held at the Wallace Center:

- Income tax assistance is provided each Wednesday. Robert Starkey 1:00-4;00 p.m.
- GED classes are held every Monday night. Bob Reily and Orphie Conner, instructors.
- Computer classes--The first in what's expected to be a series of various types of computer classes is scheduled to begin in March. Instruction in Windows 95 will be held Tuesday, March 3 and Tuesday, March 10.
- 55 Alive Classes--- Sponsored through AARP, 55 Alive is a safe driving class for people 50 and older. Most insurance companies will give a 10 percent discount for those who complete the course. The fee is $8.
- Defensive Driving - for ticket removal insurance reduction. Charles Ray Watlington, instructor.
- Karate - Call anytime to register for Karate classes which will begin in March.

Besides educational programs, the center is the home for several local organizations. The Brush and Palette Club meets the first Tuesday of each month. AARP meets the third Tuesday of every month. The Mitchell County Hospital District Pink Ladies and the Retired Teachers Association meet once a month.

There's always something new going on at the Wallace Center. In March, the center will hold a garage sale as a fund raiser for the Senior Nutrition Program. Please keep this vital program in mind when you're doing your spring cleaning. Donations of items for the garage sale can be taken to the Wallace Center from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

If you have any questions about of the Wallace Center's many activities, place call 728-2392.

Fruit tree pruning basics

Late February and March, hopefully after most of the hard winter freezes have ended, is the ideal time to prune fruit trees. Most homeowners take it for granted that they need to prune, but many may not understand why. Additionally, most publications that diagram pruning steps are based on ideally trained trees, however in reality many fruit trees receive little or no training the first few years following planting. The novice pruner approaching a poorly trained tree often finds it difficulty to determine where to start or finish when first pruning their trees.

Armed with a few pruning basics, the novice pruner can approach any fruit tree and make intelligent pruning decisions.

There are many reasons that fruit trees are pruned. Trees are pruned to control tree size, allow sunshine to penetrate the tree canopy (branches that are heavily shaded bear no fruit), to remove excessive fruiting wood (fruiting trees tend to overbear and pruning helps lighten the load and thus improves fruit quality), and to shape the tree for a pleasing appearance and ease of maintenance.

The pruner should understand that pruning is a dwarfing process and the pruned tree will ultimately be smaller and bear fewer total fruit. Pruning doesn't produce more fruit, but it does produce higher quality fruit, keep the fruiting area seasonably close to the ground, make the tree more efficient to maintain, and make trees more attractive.

Pruning cuts need to be predominantly thinning cuts (removal of entire branches back to a fork) rather than heading cuts (removal of a portion of a branch).

Basic pruning steps to follow include:

1. Remove any dead branches.

2. Remove low branches or hanging branches that will be in the way of the mower or tractor once they are carrying in heavy fruit load.

3. Remove crowded and heavily shaded branches. Fruiting wood (last years growth) needs as much direct sunlight as possible to produce fruit buds. Inadequate pruning can result in shading of lower branches that will gradually cause the fruiting area of tree to be higher above the ground.

4. With peaches and other stone fruits that have been trained to a vase shape, remove highly vigorous upright branches (waterspouts) that tend to close the open center.

5. Lower the height of the tree only if desired for easier management and harvest. Taller trees can produce more fruit. Do not lower the height of tall pear or apple trees by "flat-topping". This only encourages more vigorous, upright growth.

6. Remove all suckers growing from the base of the trunk. They can turn a tree into a bush and these branches will not bear quality fruit.

As you attack your fruit trees, consider pruning basics and goals. Trees that look like the pictures in pamphlets to explain pruning seldom exist, and even when they do it is only because of regular training from the time the tree was planted. Your tree, whether well trained or untrained, has the inherent ability to bear much fruit. Sound pruning practices simply aid you in enhancing that ability while maintaining a strong, efficient, attractive tree.
