Nazis Report Reds In Orel

Invaders Believed Ready To Quit Embattled Soviet City

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 3.—The Berlin radio was heard announcing today that the big Russian offensive against the eastern front baston of Orel had carried the Red Army into the city itself, and although indications were that the broadcast might be in error, it appeared that the Nazis were preparing to give up Orel to the Soviet forces closing in from seven directions.

The German radio as heard by several London morning newspapers and the Reuters news agency said: "the center of fighting was in the Orel area. The enemy attacked with great violence, especially in the southwestern part of the town."

No Other Confirmation

Although this same quotation was heard by several listeners, there was no other confirmation and it seemed that the announcer may have made a slip of the tongue or read a faulty English translation while intending to say that fighting was especially heavy southwest of Orel.

Nevertheless, while the Russians were announcing in another special communique that 70 more populated places had bee taken from the Germans in advances of from four to six miles on the Orel front, the German radio seemed to be preparing the German home front for loss of the city.

The Berlin radio broadcast a dispatch from an eastern front reporter saying that the Army had protected the hinterland and enabled the German command to "erect new defenses which will stand up to all future Soviet attacks. In the disengagement movements which have been carried out, certain territory had to be given up, but nothing fell into Soviet hands undamaged."

40 Villages Overrun

Mascow's midnight communique as recorded here by the Soviet monitor reported that the heaviest fighting for Orel was north and northwest of the city, where more than 40 villages were overrun by the advancing Russians in violent fighting. One unit wiped out a battalion of German infantry and captured nine tanks and other material.

South and southwest of the city, the Red Army occupied 26 villages and wiped out 1,000 German officers and men. Two places in this area especially mentioned among the captured were described as "strongly fortified by the enemy."

Altogether, at least 2,400 Germans were killed in the various Orel sectors, and much booty was taken.

THE HAMBURG THAT WAS—This view of a section of Hamburg, Germany's second largest city and strategic northern port, was made before the Allied air forces showered thousands of tons of bombs on the city, turning it into an "inferno", and leaving very little of the city undamaged. A Stockholm dispatch from Zurich Monday quoted Hamburg police as saying that 30,542 persons were killed, wounded or missing in the bomb-battered port as result of last week's sustained raids.

Special Session Decision Nears

Governor Indicates Statement Today

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP) — Governor Coke R. Stevenson's decision on a special session of the legislature probably will be announced tomorrow.

Following discussions today with school representatives and legislators for prospects for his proposal to readjust school financing and reduce the general fund deficit, the governor said he needed more time for consideration.

Specifically, he will talk further with representatives of the Texas State Teachers association and members o fthe House and Senate. The state board of education agreed generally with his idea but there were some differences in points of view concerning administration of the financial changup, he reproted after an executive meeting with the board.

Asks $30 School Aid

What the governor seeks to do is raise the $25 scholastic appropionment for next year to $30 and pay part of the $9,830,990 rural school aid appropriation from the increased apportionment. Per capita apportionment is paid from the available school fund which has a surplus and rural aid is paid from the general revenue fund which is heavily in deficit.

At a press conference the governor emphasized that he had not made a decision.

Asked, point-blank, when the session will begin, he replied:

"I haven't decided to call one yet."

He said members of the legislature with whom he had discussed his proposal favored it but he desired to sample the opinion of more legislators.

"I don't want to get the legislature into a squabble," was his explanation.

Only Limited Subjects

If he calls an extraordinary session—limited to 30 days by the constitution — he will submit only the school finances subject and "those for which there is urgent need."

He said he would not open it to any and all subjects. He has requested to submit old age pension and meat inspection legislation. While he did not say he would

Lid Clamped Tighter On Sale Of Turkeys

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP) — Live or dressed turkeys may not be sold, purchased or processed except on authorization of governmental agencies designated by the War Food administration (WFA), L. J. Cappleman, regional director of the Food Distribution administration (FDA), said today.

He said the order, effective today, was issued in an attempt to assure turkey dinners for American servicemen overseas on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's day.

Turkeys stored before Aug. 2 are not affected by this order, it was pointed out, thus allowing holders of storage turkeys an opportunity to clean up immediately the stocks on hand before ceiling prices established by the Office of Price administration, are seasonally reduced in September and October.

Polio Fatal To Two Brothers At Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Two more Dallas children, both from the same family, died of infantile paralysis today, as five new cases were sent to hospitals for treatment.

Two brothers, Ralph Jones, 6, and Richard, 9, died within 35 minutes of each other. Both had been ill for a week.

Their cases attracted the attention of the medical profession, since two children in one family seldom are stricken by the malady.

Six Dead, Many Hurt In Rioting

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP) — A force of 6,000 policemen patrolled the littered streets of Harlem tonight to guard against a renewal of rioting that led to the deaths of six negroes, injuries to 543 persons, 500 arrests and property damage estimated at $5,000,000.

The damage was caused last night and early today chiefly by looting of stores and bottle throwing, which left scarcely a plate glass window intact along some business streets in the nation's largest negro district. The area has a population of about 300,000.

In a move to prevent a repetition of the shootings, stabbings and fisticuffs that flared, the dimout was lifted but because stores were closed the pre-dimout brilliance of the streets was lacking.

State Guard In Reserve

Augmenting the police tonight were 1,500 members of the cty patrol corps, a wartime auxiliary police force, who went on duty to aid in enforcing a 10:30 p. m. curfew.

Standing in reserve were 8,000 state guardsmen from eight New York counties. While not ordered to the troubled section, they were told by their superiir officers to report to their various armories "for drill."

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia conferred constantly with police, Army and negro leaders and issued four

Army To Aid Coyote Eradication In Area

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP) — The Eighth Service command has granted the request of a group of cattlemen for an airplane, to be used in eradicating coyotes in Kent and Garza counties.

The ranchmen, headed by State Senator Pat Bullock of Snyder, George Beggs and C. C. York of Kent county, reported that coyotes have been killing more than 100 sheep nightly on some ranches.

The Army plane will be based at the Stamford airport.

Pre-Pearl Harbor Fathers Face Call After October 1

To Be Used Only To Fill Quotas

30,000 Believed Slated This Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Local draft boards were authorized by selective service today to call up pre-Pearl Harbor fathers after October 1, but only to the extent "absolutely required" to meet their monthly quotas.

One authoritative estimate was that only some 300,000 fathers living with and supporting children born before last September 15 and not engaged in non-deferrable work would actually be inducted this year.

Another 150,000, however, probably will have to be sent to induction stations in order to get 300,000 fully qualified men.

Since there was 6,569,000 nonfarming fathers, this would indicate that only about one out of 22 will be put into uniform in 1943.

Farm Workers Exempt

The 744,000 fathers regularly engaged in agricultural work will continue virtually draft-proof for occupational reasons.

Preparatory reclassific a t i o n s may begin at once, but local boards were forbidden to order fathers to report for induction before October 1 if they are maintaining a bona fide home relationship with children born before last September 15 and are not workers in the activities classes as non-deferrable.

Also the boards were instructed to continue calling single and childless married men first if they have no occupational or hardship ground for deferment and to make reclassifications out of the fathers' group, 3-A, "only" as needed to meet the demands upon a local board for men for military service."

The calling of fathers will be according to their draft order num-

Here Are Directions Given Boards For Dads' Drafting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—In authorizing the drafting after October 1 of fathers living with and supporting children born before September 15, 1942, selective service today gave local boards these directions on the order of call:

"When a local board is filling a call it shall first select and order to report for induction specified men who have volunteered for induction.

"To fill the balance of the call it shall, from the groups listed below, and insofar as is possible in the order in which the groups are listed, select and order to report for induction specified men finally classified in class 1-A and class 1-A-O (conscientious objectors available for non-combatant military service only) who are available for induction:

"1. Men with no dependents.

"2. Men with collateral dependents, provided such status was acquired prior to Dec. 8, 1941.

"3. Men who have wives with whom they maintain a bona fide f a m i l y r e l a t i onship in their homes, provided such status was acquired prior to December 8, 1941.

"4. M e n w h o h a v e children with whom they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes, provided such status was acquired prior to December 8, 1941. A registrant placed in class 1-A or class 1-A-O because he left an agricultural occupation or an agricultural endeavor or because he was engaged in a non-deferrable activity or occupation will be inducted prior to those men reclassified from 3-A into class 1-A or class 1-A-O pursuant to this memorandum."

Monday Hottest For Three Years

The mercury rose to the highest point in three years here Monday, the thermometer at the state experiment sub-station east of Lubbock reading 105 degrees, according to Don Jones, superintendent.

West Texas Gas company reported a reading of 109 degrees which was attained at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and held through 5 o'clock. The company's thermometer read 76 at 6 a. m., 98 at noon, 103 at 1 p. m. and 107 at 3 p. m.

Crops Take Beating

All plant life took a beating and moisture appeared to be waning fast, said Jones. Late feed is especially hard hit, he observed, and must have rain very soon, if it is to hold out.

The second highest reading of 104.5 this summer was taken at the station Saturday, July 24. Several consecutive days of 100-degree or higher temperatures were experienced last month and in June, Jones recalled.

He said it was 108 for several days here in July one year. Old timers remember days of over 110.

The heat was equally as searing elsewhere on the South Plains, reports indicated. Snyder in Scurry county reported its hottest day of the year with a reading of

Another Exchange Of Nationals Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Arrangements are being made for another exchange of American and Japanese nationals, this time at Mormugao, Portuguene India, it was learned at the State department tonight.

Officials emphasized that all arrangements have not yet been completed and that neither the list of Americans to be repatriated from internment in Japanese-occupied territory through this exchange, nor the probable date of their arrival in the United States, could be given out at this time.

Mormugao is on the west coast of India, south of Bombay, in the little Portuguese colony of Goa. The Swedish passenger ship Gripsholm, which was used in the exchange of nationals last year, is expected to serve in a similar capacity this time.

Meat, Butter Subsidy Payments 34 Million

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — The Reconstruction Finance corporation (RFC) paid out more than $34,000,000 in meat and butter subsidies since the price rollback program was launched in June, Commerce Secretary Jones announced today.

Jones said that the period for filing June claims had been extended from July 31 to the end of the month.

U. S. Test Pilot Outspeeds Sound

LONDON, Aug. 2. (AP) — An American test pilot in England traveling faster than sound, or more than 780 miles an hour, has made a vertical dive of almost five miles, believed to be the longest in aviation history, it was announced tonight.

The flyer, Lt. Col. Cass S. Hough, of Plymouth, Mich., technical director of the Eighth Fighter command, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Brig. Gen. Frank Hunter, European commander of fighter planes, for special attainment in "independent flight research."

Two Record Dives

He made two record dives, one in September, 1942, when he took a P-38 Lightning up to 43,000 feet and nosed it into a power-dive for 25,000 feet—almost five miles —before levelling off at about 18,000 feet. In February, 1943, he went up to 39,000 feet in a P-47 Thunderbolt and dived to 18,000 feet.

The U. S. Army headquarters for the European theater of operations in its announcement of Hough's feat said that "although speeds attained in both cases are military secrets, it can be said that he traveled faster than the speed of sound—or more than 780 miles per hour."

Italians Warned That Mainland Blow Near

Breathing Spell Over For Italy

Badoglio Censured; OWI Makes Appeal

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The Allies warned Italians today that their "breathing spell' was over and that the Allied onslaught on their mainland was imminent, and they assured occupied Europe a "great invasion" of the continent was in the making in England.

At the same time Allied armies in Sicily opened their big push to wipe out the remaining Axis forces there, and Allied air and sea forces resumed blasting of the Italian mainland in line with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's warning of Saturday.

In a broadcast from Algiers to occupied Europe and to the enemy, Elmer Davis, director of the U. S. Office of War information, said England had become the base for a "great and growing offensive" and no longer as the scene of "heroic defense."

Temporized Too Long

The Algiers radio in another broadcast told Italians that Badoglio had temporized too long, that land forces soon would invade their peninsula itself and that "you inevitably suffer all the horrors of war—a war on the Italian mainland."

The week-end resumption of air and naval bombardments of Italy and development of the big push in Sicily ended a period of grace inwhich the hesitant Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio failed to yield to the Allied demand for unconditional surrender.

A heavy attack by Flying Fortresses upon Naples, fleet actions against three coastal points, the swift paceof the Sicilian offensive and the American capture of San Stefano all combined to show the overwhelming power of the Allies.

Radio Algiers, following up Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's warning of Saturday, told the Italians they had been betrayed by Mussolini, but "Mussolini's ouster is not enough. Badoglio goes on with the war."

"Eight days have passed and still the Badoglio government temporizes," said the broadcast. London reception of which was affected by jamming, presumably from some major Axis station.

"If you do not make your voices heard—if Badoglio does not obey your will—we shall bomberd your ports and your industries by day and night.

Early Land Offensive

"Our land forces will soon begin an offensive on the Italian mainland.

"We shall push on exorably through Italy. You will inevitably suffer all the horrors of war—a war on the Italian peninsula."

All this, the broadcast said, was

Proudly We Present: "Moscow Dateline," By Henry Cassidy

Beginning tomorrow and continuing thereafter in daily installments is a new serial, "Moscow Dateline," by Henry C. Cassidy, veteran chief of the Associated Press staff in Russia.

"Moscow Dateline" is not fiction. It is a factual story of the new Russia and of one of h i s t o r y's most powerful rulers, Josef Stalin.

Better than any American, Henry Cassidy knows Russia and Stalin; therefore is best fitted for the job of writing of Russia and of Stalin. It was to Cassidy whom Stalin turned to act as intermediary between the people and the government of Russia, and the people and the government of the U.S.A. The Russian dictator's "Dear Mr. Cassidy" letters during the early part of American war partiei-pation were epochal. And upon the mutual trust of Cassidy and S t a l i n, "Moscow Dateline" is based.

For a great story about modern times and trends, start tomorrow reading "Moscow Dateline." It is appearing simultaneously in many of America's great newspapers.

Yanks Take San Stefano As Sicilian Cleanup Launched

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 2. —The Allies were launched tonight upon a final big offensive to wipe out the cornered Axis troops still resisting in Sicily, and simultaneously they resumed pounding the Italian mainland by air and by sea and warned the Italian population by radio that Allied invasion of the Italian mainland itself would begin "soon."

Thus the Allies brought an abrupt end to the relative respite granted the Italians in the week following he downfall of Benito Mussolini, and they added a quick bite to Gen. Dwipht D. Eisenhower's warning of Saturday that Italy must come to terms or be struck down.

Final Sicilian Push

Announcement that the final Sicilian push was on was made here at headquarters today.

San Stefano, northern anchor of the Axis Mt Etna line, fell without a fight to Gen. George S. Patton's American Seventh Army. It was one of a dozen towns captured. Mistretta, six miles south, yielded 10,000 prisoners, most of them Germans, to run the captive bag above 90,000.

The British Eighth Army stormed into the defenses of Catania on the German-Italian left, executing the calm promise of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery that "we will now drive the Germans from Sicily."

In the center, the Canadians pushed steadily forward through tortuous terrain, sometimes rising half a mile above sea level. In all sectors, Allied headquarters reported progress.

Double-Barreled Attack

Italy was under actual and psychological attack as the Badoglio government temporized further. Sky-ruling Allied air fleets ranged up the bomb-worn Italian boot as far as Naples to deliver a devastating Flying Fortress raid. Fleet units steamed under the muzzles of Italian shore batteries to bombard the port sof Crotone and Vibo Valentia Marina and a railway bridge crossing the Olivia river. Off the north coast of Sicily, American naval units shelled the retreating Germans as a heavy curtain of artillery fire picked to pieces one enemy defense position after another.

Amid it all, the Allied-controlled Algiers radio carried this message to the Italian people:

"Pietro Badoglio is betraying you. Now our forces are on the move. We are at your gates. You will be made to feel the grim realities of war. . . . Our air strength will darken the skies over your

Heavy Gains At Munda Reported

Big Jap Base Now In Artillery Range

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Tuesday, Aug. 3. — American ground forces drove forward 500 to 1,200 yards along the Munda, New Georgia, front yesterday as Allied artillery for the first time brought the Japanese base at Salamaua, New Guinea, under fire.

Reports from the South Pacific command of Admiral William F. Halsey, jr., gave no details about the manner and direction of the first gains against the Munda airbase recorded in several days, except that "considerable quantities of material" had been captured.

Program Difficult

Progress through the almost impenetrable jungle surrounding the airfield has been extremely slow and difficult. The Japanese are firmly entrenched in numerous caves in the coral rock and in substantial blockhouses. Tanks and flamethrowers were sent against the enemy last week and were believed to have contributed substantially to the new advances.

The artillery fire on Salamaua was directed at the enemy airdrome. Planes caught on the ground were destroyed, a 60-foot section of the Francise river bridge was knocked out, and direct hits were scored on anti-aircraft batteries.

Matching the intensified ground attacks on Munda, American Army and Navy planes delivered punishing blows at the enemy's base on nearby Bougainville island. One large freighter-transport was set afire, a tanker was hit and eight barges were sunk.

"At Kahili," the communique said, "more than 500 bombs were dropped on a large concentration of enemy aircraft on the airdrome, damaging many planes and causing large fires.

"In a series of interceptions by enemy fighters, one Zero was shot

U.S. Mediums Batter France

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 3. (AP) —While the heavy bombers were resting after last week's record smash at German industry, U. S. medium bombers yesterday continued their blows at Nazi airfields in France, battering those at Merville and St. Omer and returning without a loss.

Supporting squadrons of Spitfires did not have an opportunity to tangle with the German air force. The enemy just did not offer any fighter opposition.

Several bombers were damaged by flak, however, but all returned to their home fields, it was announced officially. Fliers reported they had made hits on both targets despite the intense flak.

In Air Continuously

Starting a week ago Sunday, U. S. bombers have been in the skies with only a one-day interruption. Their principal targets have been the chain of fighter airfields upon which the Axis depend for protection from Allied penetrating Europe with such increasing fury.

Returning crews reported seeing considerable damage at Merville, with hits on at least one building, runways and dispersal areas previously blasted by the mediums. The St. Omer raid was a sequel to one of five days ago.

The bomber "Buffalo Gal," piloted by Lt. A. D. Smith of Buffalo, N. Y., came back with more than 50 flak holes in its fuselage.

Army Man Critically Shot At Childress

CHILDRES, Aug. 2 (AP)—Capt. Stephen Patterson Moorhead, 28, pilot at Childress Army Air field, was critically wounded by two shots from a .22 caliber pistol at 3 a. m. today in the back yard of the house where he and Mrs. Moorehead have an apartment.

Capt. Moorhead was from Dayton, Ohio. He was graduated from Yale university in 1940 and received his wings Sept. 26, 1941 from Kelly Field, Texas.

Oldtimers Help Open Annual XIT Reunion

DALHART, Aug. 2. (AP) — Oldtimers arrived early for the seventh annual XIT reunion which started today with a parade in which Dalhart air base personnel and equipment were co-featured with the traditional color of the old west.

J. W. (Blue) Stevens of Hale Center and Charlie Vincent of Plainview, who worked for the 3,000,000-acre XIT in the 1890s, slept last night on the court house lawn. "We were sleeping on the grass like we did 50 years ago," they said, "but it used to be the coyotes and rattlesnakes that kept up awake; last night it was the heavy bombers from the air base zooming around."

Congressman Eugene Worley of Shamrock and Mrs. Worley were honor guests at the reunion.

Texans In Africa Teaching Natives That Texas Is The United States, And Other States Are Satellite Areas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—A group of 54 Texans, stationed at an air service base of the Northwest African Air forces, are making vigorous efforts to convince natives that Texas is the United States and the other 47 states are only satellite territories the war department has been informed.

The natives have also been told:

1. Those satellite territories have banded together and are assisting in winning the war.

2. The national anthem is "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

3 The capital of the United States is Austin, Texas.

4. The most beautiful girls in the world live in Texas. The sun always shines there. The crops never fail. Oil and other riches abound. It is the happy land.

These are only a few of the texts propounded at every opportunity by this group of Texans, all of whom are members of a squadron which was activated at Victoria, Tex., in 1942.

Now their jobs is to keep the fighting and bombardment planes flying. With "Texas" printed on the long bills of their caps and such legends as "take me Back to Texas" on the backs of their fatigue jackets, they go about their work with gusto.

The morale is high. There are no problems of homesickness in this outfit—its members either are too busy working or selling a bill of goods about Texas to the natives to get that malady.

It's Texas wherever one turns at this spot in Africa, however. Tech. Sgt. Leonard E. Bartula, of Bremeond, always is willing to oblige with "Beautiful, Beautiful Texas" on his harmonica, and Cpl. Granville Jamaan, of Taylor, can be stirred with no effort at all into discussing the cotton bloc.

Members of the squadron who are not Texans are strictly in the middle, even at chow time. Pvt. Oddis C. Buck, of Liberty Hill, and Pvt. Louis G. Montemayor, of San Antonio, are assistants to the chef and they carry the torch for Texas with almost evangelistic fervor.

In the front office, First Sgt.

Price Of Feeds Revised Upward

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Maximum prices on linseed oil meal, cake, pea-size meal and pellets—a protein feed used princippally by dairy farmers and hog raisers—were revised upward today by the Office of Price administration.

Dollar and cents ceilings on cottonseed oil meal and other oil meals also were announced.

Base Price Is $42

The base price set in today's revised maximum price regulation was $42 a ton at Minneapolis and Red Wing, Minn., center of the industry, for linseed oil meal and cake with a guaranteed minimum protein percentage of 34 per cent sold in carlots or pool carlots. This contrasts with the previous maximum price of $40 a ton.

Pea size meal or pellets at Minneapolis and Red Wing will be $43.50 a ton in carlots or pool carlots, compared with a previous maximum of $41.50. A differential of $1 a ton is allowed for less-than-carlot or less-than-pool carlot sales. These differentials—that of the pea size meal or pellets over meal and cake, and that on less-than-carlot sales—remain constant at all other pricing points.

Increases similar to those at the Minneapolis-Red Wing central point are reflected in the maximum prices which had been established for other points.

These other pricing points include Corpus Christi, Harlingen and Houston.

The Maximum prices established for them represent the same realization for the miller as do those established at Minneapolis and Red Wing for the millers there.

Mark-ups over processors ceiling at the various distribution levels are continued at the same amounts heretofore applying.

By today's action, ceilings of processors are increased $9.50 per ton on cottonseed oil meal and soybean oil meal, and raised $11.50 per ton on peanut oil meal. Former ceilings on cottonseed and peanut hulls varied from $5 to $15 per ton and now are established at $12 per ton. Cottonseed hull bran formerly was not under price control.

Dr. Rosso Named To Italian Foreign Post

LONDON, Aug. 2 (AP)—A Berlin broadcast DNB dispatch said today that Dr. Augusto Rosso, veteran Italian diplomat who has an American wife, had been appointed secretary-general of the Italian foreign office.

The broadcast was recorded by the Associated Press. A dispatch from Ankara last Dec. 1 quoted an authoritative source there as saying that Dr. Rossa's appointment as Italian ambassador to Turkey was cancelled because of German protests.

Among the grounds listed for the Nazi protests at that time were the fact he had married an American in 1937—she was Mrs. F. Wilkinson Bunker, Washington society matron—and that he was a long-time friend of Laurence A. Steinhardt, U. S. envoy to Turkey.

Retail Sales In June Show Gains

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP) — Sales gains of 29 per cent in June, 1943, compared with June, 1942, were reported by Texas independent retailers, but there was virtually no change from the level of May, 1943, J. C. Capt, U. S. Census director, announced today.

For the first six months of this year, sales were 26 per cent over those for the like period in 1942.

Reports From 896 Stores

Capt said these data were based upon reports from 896 stores representing most kinds of business except department stores.

Of the cities shown separately in Capt's report, Dallas independent retailers showed a sales gain of 70 per cent for June, 1943, on a year-to-year comparison.

Substantial increases were also noted, he said for Waco (65 per cent), Amarillo (46 per cent), Houston (44 per cent), San Antonio (43 per cent), Fort Worth (26 per cent) and El Paso (21 per cent.)

In cities of 50,000-99,999 Capt reported the following percentage changes of sales by independent retailers in June, 1943, as compared to May, 1943, with corresponding dollar sales as reported in June, 1943.

Amarillo, minus 6, $266,680; El Paso, minus 8, $1,306,968; Waco, minus 3, $581,344.

Ham Salad Rolls Get a Big Welcome

Here's something really new for dinner—hearty ham salad rolls! They're a snap to fix on a summer night, and so delicious your family will call for them often. So save this recipe for your file of point-thrifty favorites.

You can use leftover cooked ham if you have it—or buy a ¾ lb. piece of cooked, boneless Star Ham. We suggest Armour's Star Ham because it has such fine flavor. It is mellowed in fragrant hickory smoke and is very tender and mild. It will heighten your enjoyment of these salad rolls that will provide an ample meal for a family of 4.

Make the salad by mixing 2 cups cubed, cooked Star Ham, ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced sweet pickle, 2 hard cooked Cloverbloom Eggs sliced, ¼ tsp. salt. Add enough mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing to moisten well. Slit 4 finger rolls lengthwise, to make large enough opening to hold salad. Butter lightly and toast if desired. Fill with ham salad and garnish the top with a slice of hard cooked egg.

A Salute To The Shock Troops Of The Home Front

Congratulations and Thanks

To The Men Of The Rationing Panels

War is an unpleasant business; unpleasant abroad and, in some instances, unpleasant at home.

But as war demands its fighting men to accept distasteful assignments abroad, it also calls for soldiers of the home front to serve at essential tasks which frequently are exacting of time and thought and also unpleasant in the decisions required.

In Lubbock, as in every community in the land, there are persons who unselfishly have accepted a call to serve the war effort---a part of the war effort which directs that they interpret rulings which necessarily interfere with the desires of their fellow citizens. These patriotic citizens often have to say "no," when they'd prefer to say "yes." Sometimes they must accept unjust criticism for acts which they must perform in keeping with their orders. Service on the various Rationing Panels is not always pleasant, but to the men of the Lubbock County Rationing Board's panels Swart Optometric Clinic offers unstinted commendation and praise; takes this method of telling these men that their neighbors are for them in their work; appreciate their unselfish service to the great cause of victory. Greater patriotism has no man outside of uniform than that of the men of the Rationing Panels.

Balkans May Still Decide War's Tide

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The American air raid on the Rumanian oil fields constitutes a show of Allied might in a significant quarter, the Balkans, which may yet become the decisive battle ground of the war.

If the theory that Hitler can be beaten from the air is discarded, it is clear that the final blow must come in the defeat of his still powerful army, and that it must be done on the soil of Europe.

Test Already Started

Russia and the Balkan countries offer the most likely ground for the test, which already has started as far as the Russian front is concerned.

Prime Minister Churchill has pointed out that Germany still has about 300 effective divisions, which would be in the neighborhood of about 4,000,000 men. Of these, about two-thirds are at present concentrated on or behind the Russian front, leaving some 100 divisions for the defense of Europe.

Possibility Is Lessened

The possibility that Hitler can withdraw any appreciable strength from the Russian front to meet the growing threat that the Balkans has become considerably less since the start of Russia's powerful offenive on the central front. If the Orel drive succeeds, the German position in the Ukraine as far down as the sea of Azov will be weakened. The Russians are contantlys probing for vulnerable spots in that area, indicating their readiness to make use of the strategic possibilities.

If Hitler is forced to withdraw to a shorter line, broadly based on the Dnieper, his ability to hold back the Russians will be enhanced, but even then the way the present fighting is going indicates that he will not be able to reduce the size of his force for use elsewhere.

Virtually Eliminated Already

The collapse of Italy will eliminate all the Italian satellite troops upon which Hitler has hiterto relied to maitain his grip on the Balkans. In fact, they may be said to have been virtually eliminated already, and even if Italy manages to stay in the war a while longer, they can scarcely be prevented from withdrawing to the homeland.

The Italian strength in the Balkans has been variously estimated at from 20 to 30 divisions, probably the lower figure. Hitler will certainly have to repace them. He will have to do a great deal more than replace them if the Allies move in from across the Adriatic or the Aegean. Germany's armed strength thus would be divided on two fronts, with a dangerously slender margin left for all the remainder of Europe, and none at all for basic last reserves.

Cpl. Mike Bynum Is Buried Here Monday

Funeral services for Cpl. Michael Bynum, 31, who die in the post hospital at Lubbock Army Air field at 2:25 o'clock Monday morning after several days' illness, were conducted at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, with Rev. Wm. H. Foster, assistant pastor, officiating.

Rix Funeral home directed burial in Lubbock cemetery.

Cpl. Bynum, who enlisted at LAAF last October, had been a resident of Lubbock since 1929. A graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student at Texas Tech, Bynum was employed by Sansom Paint and Paper company prior to his enlistment in the Army. He was in the medical detachment at LAAF and resided at 2419 Twenty-fifth street.

Besides his wife, the former Marguerite Bates, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bynum, sr., 1905 Dixie drive, Cpl. Bynum is survived by two brothers, Muton O. Bynum of El Paso and J. D. Bynum, jr., 1611 Twenty-first street; and four sisters, Louise, Iva L. and Jeanette, all of 1905 Dixie drive; and Mrs. Jack Durfee of Slaton.

Cpl. Paul C. Dean of Lubbock and Cpl. Paul Hamrick of Amarillo and other members of the medical detachment at LAAF represented the post at funeral services. Pallbearers were: Jesse Chinn, Eugene Knox, C. B. Hardin, Pfc. Russell Tarrance, Johnny Wells and Staff Sgt. Albert Bates of Camp White, Ore.

Brownfield Has Successful Rodeo

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 2. (Special)—Judged as a success from every angle, Terry county's annual rodeo festival Saturday and Sunday proved an outstanding achievement in many respects, according to Ray Christopher, one of the several local business men and members of the Brownfield Roping club which sponsored the show and worked to make it "click."

"We had hoped that we might break even on the cost with our gate receipts from the four shows," Christopher said, "but we're going to do even better after the final check-up is completed."

Christopher said Monday an initial investment this year caused a heavier expense, but this was for permanent improvements. One of these included the building of 10 box stalls for race horses. Receipts will liquidate these costs, he said and still leave a small amount of surplus.

The gate was the largest, prizes were more numerous, the program throughout Saturday and Sunday the most varied and spectacular, and the entire show is pronounced by everyone to have been the best ever staged.

Saturday afternoon's parade was a crowd-getter. The cowboy dance Saturday night surpassed all expectations, and the riding and roping were up to par in every particular. Business men believe the entertainment was well worth while, and came as a brief respite in the extreme farm labor campaign which gradually is winning in a fight to save the crops.

A. L. Hartzog, county agent, reports the county's farm labor situation has eased somewhat. Most of the fields are being manned. A number of workers have been sent into the county. The peak of the chopping season has passed. Abandonment of cotton acreage will be relatively small because of inability to get the crop cleaned, Hartzog said, although a lot of work yet remains.

Local labor has been the big help. Farmers and their families have gone to the fields as never before. Feed crops have been neglected somewhat while cotton received attention. The prospects for prisoner labor seem to be growing dimmer.

Hartzog said crops have staged a come-back, after hail, rainstorm, wind, and every other damage nature could devise in the early part of the season, and grain and feed especially are looking good. Forrest Gresham has nearly 200 acres of combine maize which will be ready for harvest by Aug. 15.

So far, Hartzog said, there have been 28 calves bought for 4-H and FFA boys for feeding and breeding purposes, and about 30 more will be bought. Brownfield business men are helping in this, led by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately $172 has been paid out during the past two months as bounties for coyote scalps, rabbit ears, and ravens' feet, according to Mrs. O. L. Jones, county treasurer.

Most of the schools will open in August, and the teacher shortage is less acute than seemed would be the case earlier. A check showed last week that only 16 shortages existed at that time.

OLD BOTTLES ASKED

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—Even "dead soldiers" can fight in this war, Gov. Coke R. Stevenson has decided. Today he issued a proclamation asking Texans to cooperate in a program for return of bottles on which deposits have been made. It is expected the conservation of used bottles will permit more manufacture of glass containers for Army food purposes, the proclamation said.

Ells Named Plainview Vocational Instructor

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 2. — James Borden Ells, dairy cattle herdsman at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, has been elected to head the vocational agriculture department of Plainview city schools. He will succeed Claude Witten, who has gone into the Navy, and is stationed at San Diego. The school board also filled two or three other important vacancies.

Ells and his wife will move here within the next few days. Ells has an M. S. degree from Oklahoma A&M college, and also a B. S. degree from New Mexico A&M college, and taught vocational agriculture at Clovis, N. M., for a year and a half.

Created by the
in 1913...

A PART OF THE EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY ACT

It was during the year 1913, the year immediately preceding World War I, that the Texas Employers' Insurance Association was created by the Legislature of the State of Texas, as a part of the Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Act. This Act was passed by the Legislature in 1913 and became effective September 1 of that year.

The Association was created to carry out the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation law and to make it easier and more economical for the employers of labor in Texas to comply with the law.

INSURANCE AT COST

Although the Association was created by the Legislature, it was created as a separate body corporate, free of state control, subject only to those laws and regulations which apply to all insurance companies alike. And, it was required to secure its business in competition with and charge the same rates as other insurance companies operating in the State.

However, the Association had one advantage over its competitors. It was not to be operated for profit. Any money left after paying losses and expenses and setting up surplus and reserves was to be returned to its policyholders in the form of dividends. Last year, this advantage meant savings of approximately two million dollars to the employers of labor in Texas.

As an employer of labor in Texas, are you taking advantage of these savings?

Food Production In '43 To Be Greater

By FRED BAILEY
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—American civilians will continue to be the best fed in the world.

The first official announcement of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics on the 1943 food outlook underscored that oft-repeated statement of food officials by revealing that total food production in 1943 will be four per cent higher than in 1942 when all previous records were smashed.

Weather Is Only "If"

The record food outlook doesn't mean that civilians will have more food available for them, however. In fact, the apparent overall civilian consumption for 1943 will be six per cent under the 1941 record, but four per cent larger tha the 1935-39 average.

The only "if" in the BAE production statement was that it estimate was contingent upon average weather for the rest of the year and continuation of the present trend in record livestock production—both of which are likely prospects.

More Meat In Prospect

Livestock production is the key to the present total food outlook, and BAE figures confirmed War Food administration predictions of last week that the current meat shortage will end soon with a flood of beef, lamb and pork. It is meat production that will boost total food production above last year's figures.

Food crops, even though acreage will exceed 1942 by three per cent, will be 11 per cent above the average of 1935-39 but about 10 per cent below last year as a result of a decrease in yield per acre. But the decline will be offset by 10 per cent more food livestock which will boost 1943 figures 38 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

Comparisons Given

The Agricultural Bureau of Economics reported that compared with 1942, civilians in 1943 would get more per capita of pork, eggs, chickens, fluid milk, fats and oils, fresh citrus fruits, canned juices, dried fruits, potatoes and dry edible beans. They will get less beef and veal, lamb and mutton, fish, most dairy products other than fluid milk, fresh and canned vegetables, sugar, rice, tea and cocoa.

From a nutritional standpoint, the bureau said, the civilian per capita food supply will compare favorably with the average for 1935-39 with high quantities of protein, minerals, and vitamin A; calories in 1943 will be about the same as those average years.

Whiskey Theft Ring Is Believed Smashed

HOUSTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—Houston police sought today to connect two ex-convicts, reputed leaders of a liquor theft gang which stole $17,000 worth of whiskey in the last six weeks, with a recent liquor store burglary in which gunmen riddled the automobile of two city police officers.

Police Inspector C. V. Kern said the two men, Jimmie Tsermengas, 24, and Frank Celli, 23, and their 19-year-old girl companion would be questioned in connection with the July 7 burglary in which gunmen slugged 14 bullets toward Patrol Officers C. E. Lewis and F. W. Vatuski and then sped away.

Tsermengas was taken at Galveston Saturday by Kern and Rangers Eddie Miller and Johnnie Klevenhagen. Celli was arrested with his girl companion at a Fort Worth hotel.

The police inspector said Tsermengas was charged with burglary of a store at Liberty, Tex., Celli, he said, had been charged at Fort Worth in connection with two recent cases of robbery by firearms there. Kern said the girl was charged with unlawful possession of a firearm.

Tsermengas and Celli were sent to the penitentiary in 1937 following conviction of a Kansas City robbery in which they fought a 14-hour gun battle with police. The two were released on conditional pardon in the spring of 1942. Since that time, both had been living at Galveston.

Milo Perkins To Spend Vacation In Mexico

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Milo R. Perkins, whose job as executive director of the Board of Economic Warfare (BEW) was yanked from under him when the board was abolished as an aftermath of the Vice President Wallace-Jesse Jones feud, is leaving with his wife August 15 for a vacation in Mexico.

"There's no significance in our holiday," Perkins said, "we haven't even picked a base of operations in Mexico. We're foot-loose and expect to cover most of Mexico in our two months there."

Asked about reports that he was doleful over his ouster, the former BEW boss laughed and said he "never felt better in his life."

Sightseers View Ruins Of Storm

GALVESTON, Aug 2. (U.P.)—Citizens of this island city returned today to the job of repairing storm damage following a flood of out-of-city visitors yesterday who flocked into Galveston, obviously enjoying their first opportunity to view wreckage resulting from last week's tropical hurricane.

The inconveniences of disrupted water and utility service had little effect on the sightseers.

Beach Was Crowded

Police Chief Fred M. Ford reported the beach was crowded and that hundreds of persons spent most of the day touring the city.

The chief said the flow of visitors was "above normal" and businessmen along the island's resort beach "had all the business they could attend to."

Galveston, meanwhile, in company with a score of other towns and communities throughout the storm area, went quietly about the task of returning operations to normal. Repair crews still toiled on the gigantic job of restoring communications and power service, and in Galveston a nestimated 3,000 telephones were still out of order.

Debris Being Cleared

Storm debris, however, was being rapidly cleared away.

At Houston, city street crews worked through Sunday clearing away trash and removing the major portion of tree limbs that had littered the gulf coast city.

Six days after the hurricane, classed as the worst since 1915, 19 persons were listed as dead, four were missing and damage was estimated at $10,000,000.

The missing were all crewmen from the seagoing tug "Titan" which went down last Tuesday en route from Corpus Christi to Port Arthur while towing a loaded oil barge.

Rio Grande Valley Lemon Crop Moving

MERCEDES, Aug. 2. (AP)—The annual summer lemon crop in the Rio Grande valley is moving toward market.

It will be about a month later than the usual lemon harvest for this area because the weather has been dry during the past three months, during which the lemons have been reaching maturity.

Prices already are covering a wide range. They vary from $20 to $50 per ton to the growers, with an excellent and sustained demand. During the first few weeks of the deal most of the lemons are marketed in the valley, but later in the summer they will be shipped all over the state and nation.

Latest figures on lemon growing in the valley are contained in the 1941 U. S. department of agriculture census, which showed 110,000 lemon trees in orchards here. Many thousands of additional trees have been planted since then but few of these would be in production by this time. Of the 110,000 trees, 84,000 were in Hidalgo county, 15,000 in Willacy county and 10,000 in Cameron county, with a few hundred scattered elsewhere.

Average production is three boxes per tree.

PLANS ANNUAL PICNIC

PLAINVIEW—J. B. Daley Hale county farmer, has announced the seventh straight picnic is as many years, to be held at his home Aug. 4. A chicken barbecue wil highlight the festivities. Anyone who cares to, may come. The Davies home is 12 miles west of Plainview, on the Olton highway. Following the usual custom, chickens should be dressed and halved, and left Wednesday at Bailey Produce or at Byrd Murphy's place. They will be picked up at three o'clock and barbecued, to be served at 6 o'clock the same day. Those attending may bring whatever else they choose in the way of food, which all will be free, including the use of a swimming pool in the yard of the farm home.

RALLS NOTES

RALLS—Two oil well drilling crews have arrived in Ralls during the last week, with promise of two new test wells to begin real soon. The Crosby County Singing convention was convened at Crosbyton Sunday. Mrs. J. B. Marshall, the former Miss Minta Lois Jones, was tendered a shower. The Eastern Star organization staged a picnic Monday. Victor Schoffelmeyer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News, and C. E. Morris, manufacturer of the new cotton stripper about which so much now is being said, were visitors together here, looking over farm prospects.

ICE IN DEMAND

PLAINVIEW — Between 10,000 and 11,000 pounds of ice daily is used for icing butter shipments out of Plainview. According to R. R. English, ice manufacturer, there has been for some days an abnormal demand for ice, and this has caused a local shortage in many stores and homes, which he said could not be avoided. Cooler weather, he said, is the only thing that will reduce this demand. The plant has been operating 24 hours a day. A request for conserving ice has been made to the public, as ice cannot be had from nearby towns. Amarillo, Lubbock, Clovis, and Childress are said also to be having difficulties making their local supplies go around.

Lifting Restrictions On Cotton Explained By Marvin Jones

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — War Food Administrator Marvin Jones has advised Representative Patman of Texas that restrictions on cotton production for 1944 have been removed because of wartime demands for cottonseed products and more of the better grades and longer staple fiber.

Jones in a letter explained that there were adequate supplies of lower grade and short staple cotton fiber but that supplies of middling and better grades and 15/16th and longer are becoming short because of the wartime demands.

Jones added that "many people do not understand that two-thirds of the cotton by weight is seed, and only one-third is lint. The seed is used for both food and feed. It is a source of cottonseed oil, which is so essential at this time, and also supplies cottonseed meal, which is an important source of high protein feed and is used as a concentrate in mixed feed.

Woman Given Good Place To Sober Up

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (U.P.)—A young woman and her two companions were released from the Dallas city jail today, where they went last night at their own suggestion—to "sober up."

The young woman called the jail last night and asked how long it would take a person to sober up.

Desk Sgt. S. O. Brimberry said it all depended on how drunk the person was.

The young woman then asked if the police would take her to jail so she could sober up.

"I think I ought to go to jail until I do," she said.

Partial Evacuation Of Berlin Reported

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—A partial evacuation of civilians from Berlin was reported in progress today as German reaction to severe air bombardment of other Reich cities turned panicky and the Nazis pushed a propaganda campaign apparently designed to prevent a break in morale.

Berlin was untouched by last week's record British and American air offensive, but the Berlin correspondent of the Dagens Nyheter said a pamphlet had been delivered to homes in the capital urging all persons whose presence was not essential to leave for areas not threatened by bombs.

The pamphlet said "all school classes" — probably meaning all except universities — were being transferred to eastern Germany. Previous reports told of orders for general evacuation of Hamburg, main target of the Allied bombers.

Masses of Berlin residents, impressed by trainloads of evacuees pouring in from Hamburg, Essen and Cologne and by the sudden rise of authoritative warnings, were said to have spent the last two days digging bomb shelters.

Describing evacuees from Hamburg and other cities as appearing like persons who had "gone through purgatory physically and mentally," a Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Aftonbladet said that "one does not know how long the people shall hold out."

Hale County Alfalfa Crop Is Paying Off

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 2.—Lockview Farm, between Plainview and Lockney, harvested 165 tons of No. 1 alfalfa hay from a second cutting on 100 acres, which sold for $3,400. The first cutting yielded 116 tons. The second crop was irrigated twice. Jones Goode, farm manager, said most of the crop was sold to truckers, and that prices ranged from $19 a ton in the field to $23 a ton, f.o.b. cars.

San Angelo sheep men, hedging against another threatened shortage of proteins, are said to be laying in a supply of alfalfa.

Ralph Walker, another Hale grower, reports 54 tons the first cutting and 61 tons the second, on 29.8 acres, although part of his crop did not grade No. 1, due to rains which fell at an inconvenient time.

RAIL OFFICIAL NAMED

HOUSTON, Aug. 2. (U.P.) — Announcement was made today of the appointment of Richard E. Johnson of Estherville, Iowa, as superintendent of the Burlington Rock-Island system in Texas. Johnson, who will make his headquarters in Texas, succeeds A. G. Whittington, recently granted a leave of absence.

Hale Center Couple Gets Card From Son

HALE CENTER, Aug. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Ben C. Ray of Hale Center this week received a postcard from ther son, Pvt. George Ray, who is a prisoner of the Japanese. The card, dated Dec. 19, 1942, was mailed from Kawasaki war prisoner camp in Japan and reported he was "well and safe." He wrote that he had not heard from the homefolks since November of 1941.

The Rays also have received letters this week from all parts of the nation, from people who reported they heard the Ray boy broadcast over Japan's shortwave radio station on July 25. In his talk, he reported more information than his postcard gave, saying again that he was "well and safe," and that he needed toilet goods, food, clothing and all things that the American Red Cross would allow to be sent to him. His radio broadcast reported he had written three letters home and still had heard nothing from his relatives here. One correspondent writing the Rays reported he had made a phonograph recording of the broadcast.

George was at Clark field in the Philippines and his parents had heard nothing from him since Christmas of 1941. The first definite news of the plucky aviation mechanic's whereabouts came in a telegram from the Red Cross early in July that George was a prisoner of the Japanese. Previously the Rays had talked with a member of the heroic 19th bombardment group at Pyote, Tex., just returned from the Pacific war theatre, who told them George had escaped with a band of Americans to one of the hundreds of islands in the Philippines.

Johnson Rites Held Saturday At Austin

Several Lubbock relatives of Guy H. Johnson, 37, former Lubbock resident who died July 27 in an El Paso hospital after a long illess, returned Sunday night after attending funeral services for Mr. Johnson in Austin Saturday.

The survivors include his widow; his mother, Mrs. H. H. Johnson, and a sister, Mrs. Glenn C. Jones, both of 2707 Twenty-ninth street, and a brother R. P. Johnson, 2624 Twenty-second street, all of Lubbock; and a sister, Mrs. M. M. Mitchell of Austin.

A building contractor popularly known as "Judge," Mr. Johnson moved from Lubbock to Austin about 10 years ago. He was a member of the national guard while here.

Birthday Of Air Forces Marked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (U.P.) — The 2,000,000 "tough and efficient young Americans" of the Army Air force have made nearly 100,000 combat flights over enemy territory during the first seven months of 1943, General Henry H. Arnold revealed yesterday in an anniversary broadcast celebrating the Air Corps' 36th birthday.

Arnold, commander-in-chief of all U. S. Army Air forces, spoke from here in a round-the-world broadcast that brought in the voices of famous American air commanders in all parts of the world and revealed that the United States now enjoys air superiority in all war theaters and expects to win air domination in the near future.

Simultaneously, the War department announced that U. S. aircraft production is now totaling upwards of 7,000 planes monthly, and that monthly deliveries to the Army Air forces alone are more than the combined plane production of Italy, Germany and Japan.

4,500 Planes A Month

Deliveries to the Army were put at 4,500 or more planes a month, while total Axis production was estimated to be no greater than 4,000 planes a month—Germany 2,200, Japan 1,200, and Italy 600.

Arnold said concentrated air power has cut "a path to victory in Tunisia, across Sicily and to the heart of Rome itself." He said that together with the British, the United States is "exploding city after city in Germany into silence."

Other famous commanders who joined in the broadcast:

Maj. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of the Air Force in the European theater: "the invasion of Germany has begun. Right now we are tearing the ceiling from Hitler's fortress. We and the RAF share in the determination to give Germany no respite, no peace until unconditional surrender."

200 Axis Ships Sunk

Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, commanding the Northwest African strategic air force: "we have sunk or put out of commission over 200 enemy ships. We have destroyed over 3,000 enemy aircraft in the air and on the ground, as well as innumerable trains, trucks and tanks. We can reach any point in Italy and will continue to destroy . . . until it is no longer necessary."

Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander in the Australian theater: "we are now hammering the Japs with three times the tonnage of bombs that we were able to deliver a year ago.

Maj. Gen. Clayton L. Bissell, commanding the 10th air force in India: "we have destroyed or damaged 103 Jap fighters and bombers since January first."

Maj Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the 14th Air Force in China: "we have destroyed 444 Jap planes and 137 probables while less than 12 American pilots and two bomber crews have been lost in combat. During July alone our medium and heavy bombers have put 34,000 confirmed and probably 25,000 additional tons of Jap shipping on the bottom along the China coast."

Vacation Burglary Reported To Police

Police said they were investigating a report of burglary Monday afternoon at 2007 Avenue R.

Homer Ball, property owner, said two watches, two fountain pens and a chain had been taken when the family was on vacation. Total loss was estimated at $65.

Officials earlier in the day had arrested an 11-year-old boy and filed an information against him, alleging he stole a bicycle. The boy allegedly told officials he had stolen seven bikes since moving here a brief time ago.

A bike was stolen from Floyd Reed of 620 Avenue A; Seminole asked that officials aid in locating three runaway girls, 14 and 15; Edd Dye of Post lost a billfold containing $30 in currency and $46 in checks he had endorsed; a 54-year-old negro was held for filing of a liquor complaint.

Nazi Air Losses In July Heavy

LONDON, Aug. 2. (AP)—American bombers and fighters, challenging Germany's best aircraft in broad daylight over enemy territory, shot down more than 500 Nazi fighters during July at the cost of 108 Flying Fortresses, the U. S. Eighth Air force announced yesterday.

While American fighter losses were not listed, the report said that all American losses dropped to less than 4 per cent during the month despite the heaviest opposition yet met, and that American aircraft destroyed 75 per cent more enemy fighters in July than in the previous month.

Tonnage Not Estimated

More than 3,600 bombs were dropped on Europe during July by the American forces, said the report, which did not estimate the total tonnage.

The report added that final figures on enemy fighters downed during the last two days in the month have not been compiled and the figure 500 was based on "a conservative average for the month." In addition, more than 150 fighters probably were destroyed and more than 275 were damaged.

SPARS Sub-Station Opened In Lubbock

Announcement of opening of a sub-station of the SPARS, women's auxiliary of the Coast Guard, in Lubbock was made Monday afternoon.

Seaman 2nd C. Martha Porders, who recently completed her training at the SPAR training station at Palm Beach, Fla., has reported for duty as recruiting officer. Prior to enlisting June 28, she was a bookeeper in Lebanon, Ky.

Another SPAR is to arrive next week and others will join the recruiting staff later, it was announced. The sub-station, located in room 217 of the federal building, is to serve the South Plains and Panhandle. It is one of four SPAR sub-stations in the state.

Enlisted women will be processed in Lubbock and sent to the training station at Palm Beach. Officers will be given preliminary examinations here and then will be sent to Dallas for processing.

To qualify as an enlisted woman, an applicant must be between ages of 20 to 36, inclusive, must weigh at least 95 pounds, be at least 5 feet 4 inches tall and have two years of high school education. Height and weight requirements for officers are the same, but they may be between 20 and 49, inclusive, and must have a college degree.

Shift In Personnel At Jail Announced

Sheriff Tom Abel and his chief deputy sheriff, Parum Posey, announced Monday afternoon that Edgar E. Gray had been shifted from night jailer to day duties as a deputy sheriff, and that Raymond Land, four years on the police force, had been employed as night jailer.

The change was occasioned by recent resignation of Grady Harrist as deputy sheriff to accept a position with the city meat inspection department.

Cap Moore, deputy sheriff, will shift into the investigation slot Harrist had exercised, and will assist Posey "on the outside." Gray will aid the courts and serve processes.

Gray is a former county commissioner of Precinct 3.

Land left the police force for employment with Pan-Tex Ordnance plant in Amarillo and returned to Lubbock to sell insurance.

Applications Filed For Ration Books

Approximately 40 persons filed applications for copies of war ration book No. 3 Monday with the Lubbock cunty war price and rationing board.

Monday was the first day for filing of applications by persons who did not apply between June 1 and 10 or who have not received ration books in response to applications filed between those dates.

Those who have applied previously but failed to receive their books should take the stubs of their original applications to the board when they file new applications, it was said at board headquarters.

Aircraft Carrier Is Launched On Sunday

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 2 (AP) — The U. S. S. Bataan, first aircraft carrier named in honor of an American campaign in the present war, rode at anchor in the Delaware river today, hailed by President Manuel Queson of the Philippine commonwealth as "a symbol of the inevitable defeat of Japan."

The huge vessel was launched yesterday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yards.

Hoyme Takes Over As City Veterinarian

The city meat inspection department Monday turned over to Dr. K. H. Hoyme the duties of city veterinarian, according to City Heath Officer Dr. J. W. Rollo.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoyme and their two children already make their home in Lubbock. He has been with the department of agriculture, stationed here. Dr. Hoyme is a graduate of Texas A. and M. college.

Dr. Kenneth Bolton of Albuquerque, N. M., who has been named assistant veterinarian has been granted permission to delay reporting for duty until the later part of the week, Dr. Rollo said. Dr. and Mrs. Bolton are at the bedside of a relative in Denver, Dr. Rollo was advised.

Grady Harrist and Joe Rieger, veteran Lubbock officers, have been on duty since July 1 as lay inspectors of the reorganized inspections department.

Escort Vessel To Be Launched On Aug. 7

ORANGE, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—The scheduled launching of the destroyer escort vessel USS Tatum Aug. 7, at the yards of the Consolidated Steel Corp., Ltd., was announced today by the public relations office of the Eighth Naval district.

The vessel was named in honor of the late Lt. Comdr. Laurice Aldridge Tatum, a member of the naval dental corps. Comdr. Tatum was awarded the Silver Star medal posthumously in recognition of "extreme gallantry and intrepid conduct" in braving flames and explodig ammunition to administer to the wounded during enemy attack on the Aircraft Carrier Wasp.

The ship will be sponsored by Comdr. Tatum's wife, Mrs. Cecil Cofield Tatum, Birmingham, Ala.

Texas Tech Maps Definite Football Plans For Fall

Practice Will Start Sept. 5

Vote Is Unanimous To Continue Sport

The Texas Red Raiders will definitely play football in 1943.

This decision was reached at a meeting Monday afternoon in President Clifford B. Jones' office by athletic council members, athletic director and head football coach. The vote to continue football at Texas Tech this coming season was unanimous.

The Red Raiders will start fall practice on Sept. 5, and during the season will play such Southwest conference power-houses as the Texas A. and M. Aggies, Rice Institute Owls, Texas Christian Frogs, and probably Southern Methodist Mustangs. The complete schedule will be announced in a few days by Athletic Director Morley Jennings.

Those who attended Monday's meeting included President Jones, W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council, H. C. Pender, H. F. Godeke, both members of the council, Jennings, Head Coach Dell Morgan, and Bill Parker, director of Tech sports publicity.

President Jones said that Tech had realized an ambition of long standing by scheduling several Southwest conference teams last year and this year and the school should continue its football plans and benefits by the good will the Raiders now enjoy in the conference.

Although Tech, like many other institutions, faces a shortage of prime grid material, Coach Morgan said he would have enough huskies from which to shape a formidable team.

None of the pre-flight students on the campus are eligible for college football.

Bear Grid Fate Is Up To Army

(By The Associated Press)

Texas A. & M. College opened football practice today and five other members of the Southwest conference are preparing to start the training routine, but the question of whether Baylor will be in the race is up to the Army.

President Pat M. Neff said today if Army trainees are allowed to play Baylor will have a team but at the present time the university was not planning to be in the race because of lack of material.

Also, Baylor has only one coach —Jim Crow, freshman mentor. Varsity Head Coach Frank Kimbrough and Assistant Coach Bill Henderson are in the service.

There are 400 men in the Army specialized training program at the school, among whom are a number of capable footballers.

Loop Members Must Okay Use Of McKay

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (U.P.) — Southwest conference members will have to give their consent before Roy Dale McKay, brilliant back on last fall's University of Texas football team, can play again this year if he returns to the university as a Navy trainee.

Despite the fact that McKay has played three years of varsity football, Dr. J. C. Dolley, chairman of the intercollegiate athletic council, said special request could be made of other Southwest schools for permission to use McKay this fall.

University Coach D. X. Bible said he felt sure conference members would grant McKay and service men in similar standing permission to play this season.

Paige Is Same As West Defeats East

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (U.P.)—Leroy (Satchel) Paige turned in a characteristic performance on the mound yesterday as the West defeated the East in the 11th annual negro all-star baseball classic.

The West's 2 to 1 victory broke the East's three-year reign.

Paige, negro baseball's greatest pitcher, worked the first three innings for the West and was forced to pitch to only 10 hitters. He struck out four men, walked one, and did not allow a hit.

A crowd of 51,723—the largest to witness a ball game in Chicago for two years—jammed Comiskey park, and about 10,000 others were turned away.

Military Reiterates Stand On Athletics

BATON ROUGE, La., August 2 (AP)—The Army has reiterated its stand against permitting inductees enrolled at colleges and universities as students in special War department programs to take part in intercollegiate athletics.

Col. Herman Beukema of Washington, director of the Army specialized training division, made the announcement in a general order received today at Louisiana State university.

Members of Congress recently have acted as a spearhead for hopes of football fans that soldiers stationed at the nation's colleges might help augment dwindled college grid rosters.

However, Col. Beukema informed L.S.U. military officials that, after careful consideration, it had been decided that travel and practice necessary to intercollegiate football competition would take too much time from studies of soldiers in colleges.

LAAF Smothers Big Spring Nine 19-7

Lubbock Army Air Fliers buried the Big Spring Bombardiers Sunday by a score of 19 to 7.

Homers by Lt. Ralph Tankersly, Sgt. Sam West, player-coach, and Sgt. L. H. Dixon spearheaded the Fliers' attack. Staff Sgt. T. G. Hardwick allowed the visitors only four hits.

The Fliers are to meet the Sundown Oilers at Hubber park next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Harris Says Cox May Be A 'Jerk'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Bucky Harris, dismissed manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, declared today if there is a "jerk" connected with the Phillies it is William D. Cox, president of the baseball club. And he, said Harris, is an All-American jerk.

This was Harris's reaction to an eight-page statement Cox made public in Philadelphia last night which accused Harris of referring to the Phillies as a "seventh-place club" and to the players as "those jerks." Cox's statement also quoted Harris as saying he had no intention of running "a school for ball players."

Amazed At "Lies"

"It has taken Cox three days to get together a complete set of lies for his defense," Harris told reporters on arrival at his home here.

"There isn't anything that can be done about it, said Harris, such things being part of the game, but "it is amazing how one person could figure out so many lies."

"If I had said any of those things, I certainly would be first to admit them," Harris said.

The only accusation by Cox that "has a semblance of truth is the one about the Phillies being a seventh-place club," Harris said.

Denies "School" Charge

"At a meeting when the team's chances in the pennant race came up for discussion, I said we had a very good chance of beating out Boston and New York but we probably would have to stop there," Harris said.

As to not running "a school for ball players," Harris said, "can you imagine me or any other manager saying that; certainly I would do everything expected of a manager in bringing the players and team along."

Reds Boast Hottest Double Play Setup

CINCINNATI, Aug. 2. (AP)—It is becoming realized around the National loop that the Cincinnati Reds, whatever their faults, have the hottest double play combination of the year and maybe of major league history.

Miller, Frey, and McCormick can be rubber-stamped into practically every box score. To date, Eddie, Lonnie, and Frank, with Bert Haas contributing from third base, have 119 twin-killings, 11 in the past three games.

The major league record is 196, set by the New York Yankees in 1941, and the National record of 194 is held by the Reds of 1928 and 1931. With 59 games to go, the Reds are within shooting distance of a new mark.

PHILS LICK SAILORS

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Aug. 2. (AP) —The Philadelphia Phillies today defeated the Great Lakes Bluejackets 10 to 3, before 10,000 recruits. It was the sailors sixth loss in 13 games against major league opponents and their eighth setback in 48 contests this season.

Championship Match Slated

Galbraith Victor Over LAAF Entry

The 36-hole Lubbock city golf championship match will be played between Athletic Director Morley Jennings of Texas Tech and W. C. Galbraith of the army personnel at Tech.

The first 18 holes of the grand finale will be played Saturday afternoon and the second 18 holes Sunday afternoon. This arrangement for championship event received approval when Jennings and Galbraith explained they could not "take off" from their jobs to play 36 holes in one day.

Jennings, a long, straight tee shot artist and deadly with his approaches with the irons, swept into the finals with a one up victory over Lt. George Johnson of the Lubbock Air base. Jennings won the match on the 18th green when Johnson took a bogey 6.

Galbraith's Putting Hot

Galbraith went into the finals of the upper bracket Sunday when his round of torrid putting gave him a 3 to 1 decision over Staff Sgt. Robert L. Stuart of Lubbock Army Air field. The matches terminated on the 17th green where Galbraith got a par three against Stuart's bogey five.

Final matches in all tournament flights follow:

Championship flight, Morley Jennings vs. W. C. Galbraith.

Branch Sparkles As Baptists Beat 309th

With Leeman Branch pitching a one-hitter, the Baptists Tuesday took 309th apart 14 to 1.

Stunkaro got the lone hit and made the only 309th tally on a Baptist error. Branch whiffed nine and walked three.

LAAF sub-depot won its fourth straight victory by trouncing Whiteside Laundry 9 to 4.

A pitchers duel looms Wednesday night when Branch and his fellow-Baptists tangle with Tech Pre-Radars. Branch, who has chunked two no-hit tilts this summer ,will be opposing Earl T. Gregory, who also has two no-hitters under his belt.

Interscholastic Football To Begin Sept. 1 With Slight Change In Number Of Teams

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

One hundred and four—possibly five—teams will be in the field Sept. 1 when the Texas Interscholastic league opens its 24th annual football campaign.

Three schools announced they would drop out but one of them—Conroe—now is reconsidering. The board of trustees will meet Thursday night to determine if the decision is to be reversed.

San Angelo Strong

Should Conroe vote to continue there would be only one less team this year than made the race last fall.

Colorado City is dropping out of district 3 to play in the A division but Kingsville is returning to district 16 after a year's absence. Borger has definitely announced it will not have a team in interscholastic football this season.

And with the start of practice less than a month away—training officially opens on Sept. 1—four teams are rated standout contenders for the title. They are Amarillo and San Angelo of the upper division and Lufkin and Denison of the lower bracket.

San Angelo expects to have its greatest team in history, Amarillo boasts a veteran aggregation, Lufkin has announced it is due to have one of its finest elevens and Denison bristles with lettermen from the strong team that won the district crown last year.

Austin Still Powerful

Sherman, a member of the same distric tas Denison, also is coming up with a veteran squad.

Austin, the 1942 champion, lost most of its regulars but had strong reserves, thus the Maroons are due to be top contenders for their district title.

The districts in class AA will be as follows:

1—Amarillo, Brownfield, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview.

2—Burkburnett, Childress, Electra, Graham, Olney, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls.

3—Abilene, Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Sweetwater.

4—Austin (El Paso), Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High, Ysleta.

5—Bonham, Denison, Greenville, Highland Park (Dallas), McKinney, Sulphur Springs.

7—Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth), Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), Fort Worth Tech, North Side (Fort Worth), Masonic Home (Fort Worth, Paschal (Fort Worth), Poly (Fort Worth).

8—Crozier Tech (Dallas), Forest (Dallas), North Dallas, Sunset (Dallas), Adamson (Dallas), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas).

9—Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cisco, Mineral Wells, Ranger, Stephenville, Weatherford.

10—Bryan, Cleburne, Corsicana, Ennis, Hillsboro, Mexia, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.

11—Athens, Gladewater, Kilgore, Longview, Marshall, Texarkana, Tyler.

12—Henderson, Jacksonville, Livingston, Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Palestine.

13—Austin (Houston), Jeff Davis (Houston), Lamar (Houston), Milby (Houston), Reagan (Houston), Sam Houston (Houston), San Jacinto (Houston).

14—Beaumont, Galveston, Goose Creek, Orange, Port Arthur, South Park (Beaumont), and possibly Conroe.

15—Austin, Brackenridge (San Antonio), Corpus Christi, Kerrville, Laredo, San Antonio Tech, Jefferson (San Antonio).

16—Brownsville, Edinburg, Harlingen, Kingsville, McAllen, Robstown, San Benito.

Card, Dodger Tempers Cool

Fines And Open Date Contribute

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2 (AP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals aren't ready to kiss and make up after their latest brawl but today's open date and fines levied by President Ford Frick of the National league seemingly have served to cool everyone's temper.

As far as Walker Cooper of the Cardinals was concerned, the whole thing was a closed incident. And, as a matter of fact, he still was ready to join his chief antagonist, Mickey Owen, in a possible barnstorming tour after the season.

Allege "Dusters"

The two catchers had a friendly chat about their plans before Sunday's doubleheader and six innings later Owen was climbing all over Cooper in the start of a fight that stirred a crowd of 29,600, largest of the season in St. Louis.

The cause for anger on each side was this:

The Cardinals claimed Pitcher Les Webber had deliberately fired several "dusters" at Stan Musial. The Dodgers denied it.

The Dodgers claimed that Cooper, the next batter, deliberately stepped on First-Baseman Augie Galan's foot after being retired on a grounder to Billy Herman. The Cardinals denied it.

Umpire in Chief Bill Klem, who was in the press box at Sportsman's park, sent an immediate report to Frick and the result was a fine of $100 for Webber and $50 each for Cooper and Owen.

TRIBE BEATS GUARDS

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 2 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians broke a 1-1 tie in the ninth inning today to defeat the Boston Coast Guard team 3-1 in an exhibition game for the benefit of the Coast Guard fund.

James Buckner Rolls Perfect Bowling Game

James Buckner, 16, Monday afternoon achieved what every bowler eventually hopes to do. He rolled a perfect game — 300 — 12 strikes in a row on the alleys at Lubbock Bowling club, 1113 Main street, where he is employed.

Not only did Buckner roll the 12 strikes in a row for a perfect game but his last roll on a previous game was a strike, giving him 13 strikes in succession! He climaxed the 300-score game in a four-game series, rolling 169, 167 and 168 in previous lines.

Buckner, son of Ben A. Buckner, 2114 Avenue J, has been bowling about a year and a half and his best score previously had been 279.

Rabbi Isadore Garsek, Sam Carter, Virginia Darden, Alton Abbott ,owner of the club, and several others witnessed Buckner's game. Pin Boy Denzil Bailey, 1813-B Texas avenue, breathlessly set up pins for Buckner's game.

Young Buckner will receive a medal from the American Bowling Congress and possibly other prizes to testify for his feat.

Navy Service Teams To Be Restricted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (U.P.) — A directive issued by Secretary Frank Knox today limited Navy service teams to playing games with aggregations inside their own National Collegiate Athletic association areas.

U. S. Naval academy teams were specifically exempted from the ruling.

Under the terms of the directive, a Navy team from South Carolina would be forced to select as its opponent some club within the third NCAA district.

Letters To The Editor From Readers

TEXAS JOB DONE

Editor, The Avalanche: I have read with interest the editorial appearing in The Avalanche with reference to "The President's Political Speech."

In this editorial, mention is made of "Educational Opportunities" advocated by the President in his last "Fireside Speech" for the service men and women of this war after they have been mustered out. Without criticism of either the President or your editorial, we desire to call attention to the record as already written and to the fact that Texas is again out in front. The right to attend any state institution of higher learning in Texas by members of the armed forces of this war after their discharge without the payment of fees therefor is already the law in Texas.

Senate Bill 81, as enacted by the 48th Legislature and signed by the governor, gives this privilege to those who are now serving their country. This bill, among four others that were for the common welfare, was sponsored by The American Legion, Department of Texas. This bill was debated by The American Legion, Department of Texas and decided upon many months ago.

We are always glad to have the support of the President of the United States and all the people for any Legislation sponsored by The American Legion, but part of the job has already been done so far as our state is concerned.

Yours very truly,
George S. Berry,
Chairman, Legislative committee,
The American Legion,
Department of Texas.

DAVIES' "MISSION"

Editor, The Avalanche: The editorial in The Avalanche on "Mission to Moscow" intrigued me. I have just returned from several days visit as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies at their gorgeous Adriondak Mountain summer camp called Topridge. They assisted me in completing the mess for a book to appear soon on C. W. Post's Colony at Post. Mrs. Davies is a beautiful blond lady and very intelligent. She is the only child of the late C. W. Post and she and her husband, Ambassador Davies, are among the wealthiest people in the world. Last January they entertained me in the million dollar home, Tregaron, in Washington. I talked to both of them hours at a time and found them a very gracious and fascinating couple very much in love with each other.

They told me that the film "Mission to Moscow" which they had their techicians show while I was at Topridge was strictly a propaganda picture and Mrs. Davies said they themselves did not agree with Mellett on the manner in which it was filmed but said that perhaps the criticism of the film would cause people to flock to see it. That was the case on Broadway where I saw it being shown last week. The proceeds of sale they are turning over to war relief.

My visit to the Davies was one of the most fascinating experiences of my life but that is another story.

Sincerely yours,
Dr Charles D. Eaves,
Professor of History,
Texas Tech college.

Delay The Coffee Bouquets

COFFEE drinkers naturally are glad that rationing of the commodity has been ended at last. But before they hand any bouquets to the Office of Price administration, the President or anyone else, they might desire to examine the record as it pertains to coffee.

Some three months ago, men in the coffee business charged that the surplus of the commodity in the United States was so large that warehouses were overflowing and the merchandise was growing stale. A little later, the President hinted that rationing of coffee might be terminaed "soon."

Still later, the government reported that stocks of coffee in warehouses of the nation were one and one-half times larger than the peace-time normal. Then the OPA announced that rationing might be removed "any day." Finally, in his broadcast last week, the President announced that coffee rationing was at an end. Of course, no one would suspect that Mr. Roosevelt was inspired by any political motives in delaying the announcement until he could deliver the good news in person.

But the fact still remains that bureaucratic Washington fiddled around for three months before terminating a form of ration which probably could have been ended without harm weeks ago.

Thus, Washington is due no praise because coffee rationing is ended. Apologies for the delay would be more appropriate.

Questions For The Future

FOR most obvious reasons, plans of our high command as to the island of Kiska in the Aleutians and Wake, far southward, are closely guarded secrets. But recent raids upon both have inspired hopes that attempts may be made soon to recapture one or both.

Certainly both must be recaptured sooner or later. Rather obviously, most Americans incline to the view that it already is late in these matters. But they are supremely confident that it merely is a matter of time until both will be regained from the enemy.

However, it is most unlikely that the recapture will be the end of the story so far as Kiska and Wake are concerned. The seizures undoubtedly will inspire enthusiastic outbursts. But it won't be the sort of enthusiasm that will cause the past to be forgotten. Some questions still will remain to be asked with regard to both islands—questions which the Washington administration as a whole, and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox in particular, might like to forget.

Some question sure to be asked will center around the failure to send help to the defending garrison which wrote, upon the Island of Wake, one of the most heroic chapters in American history. Could help have been sent? Could the island have been saved? Could many of the men who died and the others who were captured by the Japs have been rescued? Perhaps none of these could have been done. But there are opinions that command respect which hold that Wake was a needless sacrifice, even when allowance is made for the paralyzing blow upon Pearl Harbor. Possibly these opinions will not be supported by fact. But the subject will be one for inquiry when the proper time comes.

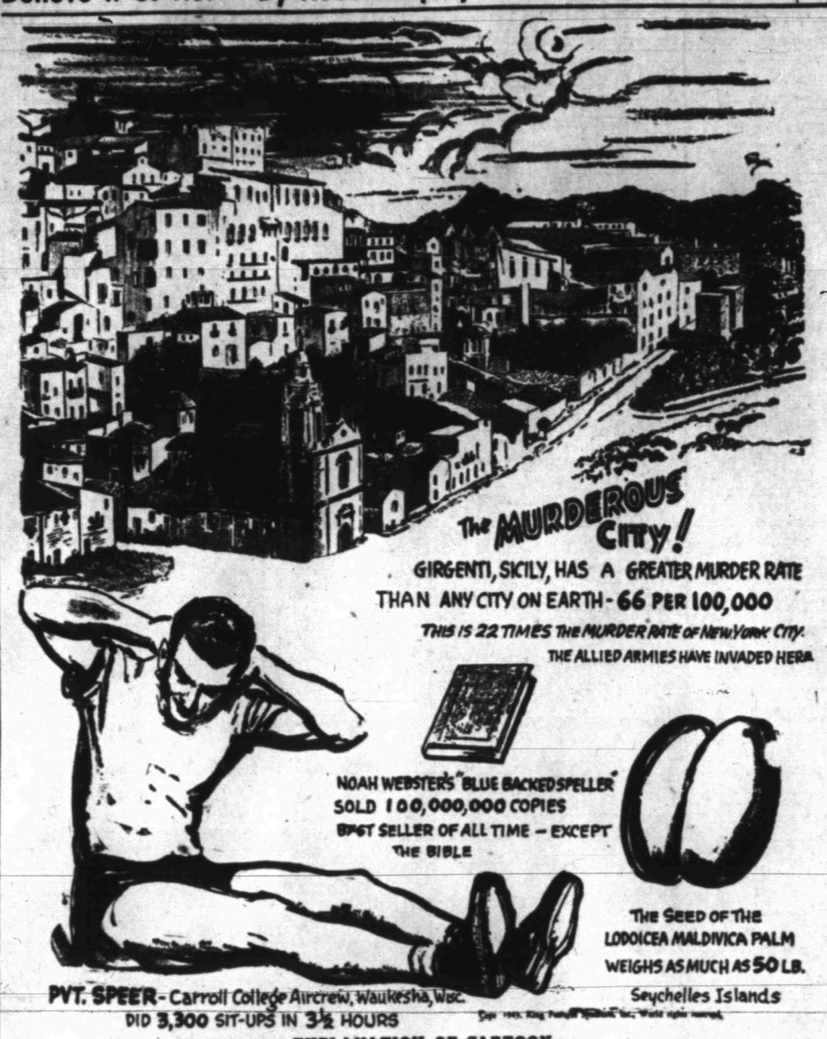

Other questions are sure to deal with Kiska. Why was it, in June of 1942, that our defenses in the Pacific were so weak that Kiska and the nearby island of Attu fell into Jap hands without the pretense of a struggle? Certainly this nation had defense equipment in huge quantities. Just a little of it diverted into the Pacific could have saved Kiska. Instead, the infinitely greater cost of recapturing a strongly fortified island must be paid—a price greater than already has been paid in driving the enemy from Attu. Do Attu and Kiska represent an inexcusable lack of foresight on the part of men like Secretary Knox? Possibly not. But it is something to investigate when circumstances permit.

Naturally, questions along this line may be premature now. The important thing at this time is to recapture them. Then will come the time for the placing of any blame that should be placed.

THE AMERICAN BEST SELLER

Noah Webster who died on May 28, 1843, ranking with the greatest of lexicographers, originated most of the accepted dictionary forms of the present day. Thirty years before there was any American literature, he wrote the first part of his "Grammatical Institute of the English language." The volume, sometimes described as "the Speller of the English Language," sold 100,000,000 copies and is still selling today. It is a best-seller second only to the Bible.

Want-Ad Romance

BY TOM HORNER

THE STORY: Want ads have played an important part in the lives of Kay Donovan and Ted Andrews. They meet, as job-seekers, over want ads, and through them discover that Kay has inherited from her inventor-father a factory and a million cans of Wondrosoap, an all-purpose cleaner. Through want ads they sell the product; recall it when Wondrosoap cleans so well that it eats holes in clothing and paint off cars; find chemist Hans Stadt, who had been Kay's father's assistant, and chemist Joe Benton, whose tests reveal Wondrosoap to be a more powerful explosive than TNT when mixed with acid. The vacation that follows for Ted, Kay and Joe, and for Mary Marshall, Kay's secretary, after the government takes over production of Wondrosoap, ends unhappily when Ted believes Kay and Joe are in love. Ted disappears. Kay, Ted, Joe and lawyer Mike Flynn start a search for him, and finally Kay finds him at Niagara Falls on his way to Canada to enlist in the army.

CHAPTER XII

WANTED—a cottage in the country. Must be rose-covered. Address Mr. and Mrs. Ted Andrews.

Mike Flynn was waiting when they reached the hotel.

"Not a trace of—" he begun. He saw Ted. "So she found you!" Mike pounded Ted's back. "It's good to have you back, son. And everything's patched up now, Katie?"

"I've been pretty much of a fool," Ted admitted.

Flynn laughed. "No more than anyone in love, boy. Now that you've met and kicked out that green-eyed devil, perhaps you'll be safe from him."

"We're going home to be married," Kay announced. "With Joe and Mary. In the factory."

"But that's a government plant now," the attorney protested. "A munitions factory. D'you think they'll stop production for a wedding?"

The Donovan chin went up. Flynn had encountered that chin before. "Well, maybe they might," he admitted.

They did.

It was a double wedding, in the warehouse of Tim Donovan's factory, with cases of Wondrosoap piled high around them. There was no music, other than the whirr of machine belts, the clanking of gears. The voices of workmen filled in for a choir.

Otherwise it was a formal affair, with Kay and Mary in white gowns and long bridal veils, and Ted and Joe handsome in cutaways. Mike Flynn gave the girls away, pulling at a too tight collar.

MacLeod and Goldberg were there, too. And old Hans Staldt, alternately beaming and wiping his eyes with a huge bandana. There were Army officers and plant officials in the background.

After the ceremony, and after Kay and Mary had kissed everyone, including Hans, an officer stepped up to Kay.

"We've arranged a special demonstration for you today, Mrs. Andrews. You would probably like to see how your explosive works in an actual test. Because you all are stockholders in the original company, we've obtained permission—"

An Army car took them to a isolated hilltop overlooking the river. The officer pointed to a sandbar.

"In a few minutes a time bomb will be dropped on that bar. . . . There is no danger. We're using a very light charge. Only a fraction of what will actually be used later. . . ."

They made an unusual picture. Two brides in wedding finery; grooms in formal attire, all staring at the sky.

A speeding bomber roared toward them, swooped low over the river. They saw the slender black bomb plunge downward, hit the sandbar squarely in the middle.

"In 15 seconds . . ." the officer said. "The timing can be governed easily."

Kay counted softly, "10—11—12—13—14—"

"BOOM!"

A high column of water and sand belched into the air, spraying them with mud. When it settled the sandbar had disappeared.

"There's your Wondrosoap, Kay," Ted whispered, his arm tight around her.

"Not mine—Dad's. . . . It works, Dad. Just like you said it woud."

They had no trouble finding the cottage Kay had dreamed of owning. The want ad took care of that. It was ideal, complete even to a rose trellis over the front door and honeysuckle vines climbing up the back porch.

"Find anything you want if you just advertise it." Ted laughed as he carried Kay across the threshold. "I even found a wife."

But honeymoon house was not filled completely with happiness. Ted had refused, finally and definitely, to live on Kay's money. That was going into bonds. They would live on what he earned or go hungry. And the market seemed to be flooded with supersalesmen.

Ted worried, too, because he couldn't get in the Army. "You certainly can't be classed as a dependent," he told Kay. "And this ticker—just a little murmur I picked up playing football. I'll probably live to be 90."

Kay tried to convince him that buying Defense Bonds was as important as training to be a soldier—he had tried to enlist—and finally succeeded. But finding Ted a job was not so easy

"He has to have something he really believes in," she confided to Mike Flynn. "If we could find him a business, lend him money to invest in it . . ."

"I've given him a dozen leads on jobs, but he won't take them."

"Ted's not sold on those jobs, himself. He can't go calling on the same prospects year in and year out, getting the same orders. He has to do it with big advertising campaigns, sell the people on wanting the product. And he has to be sold on it himself, first."

"We'll keep rying—"

"He has to find something soon. He won't take a cent of mine. We bought the house with his share of Wondrosoap, and we're living on the rest. Mike, I can't lose him again."

It was Ted who found the answer. Daily he searched the classified sections of the papers. One night—

"Kay! Kay! I've found it."

She hurried in from the kitchen, wiping flour from her heands. "What is it?"

Ted didn't answer her. He was talking to himself.

"I can do it. I'll get Flynn to check in on this guy, then I'll get Joe up here and let him run the tests. We'll investigate fully before we go off the deep end—"

"Ted, darling, what are you mumbling about?"

"We'll organize a company," Ted went on, "and launch a big advertising campaign. It's a cinch. We'll put it on every cupboard shelf in the country. We'll make millions—"

"Ted, please," Kay pleaded.

"Oh; yes." He kissed her and swung her up from the floor. "It's marvelous, honey. Sure fire. Can't miss. Here It's right here in the paper. Look. Read it."

"Put me down!"

Ted complied, thrust the paper into her hands, indicated a circled ad. She read it slowly.

WANTED—Salesman-partner. Inventor has formula for Marvello, the all-purpose cleaner. Will clean cloth, metal, wood, anything. Need partner to supply capital for production, handle sales. Write for interview. 1111D.

LITTLE PREMATURE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS In North Africa, Aug. 2. (AP)—RAF officers searching stacks of Nazi propaganda in the German consulate in bomb-shattered Palermo found a bunch of leaflets of particular interest. They were entitled: "The Decline and Fall of British Air Power."

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A LOS ANGELES fellow is suing a hospital in the City of the Angels for $500,000 damages.

A baby was born to his wife in the hospital and he was notified that it was a boy.

Overjoyed he went home immediately, bought a war bond in the boy's name (yes, the name was all ready) and celebrated the arrival of a son and heir.

But when he took his wife and baby home the next day, the "boy" turned out to be a little girl—and a half million dollars in damages is claimed.

I haven't the slightest idea on what grounds such a big damage claim is based, or why anyone should feel that he is damaged even a nickel's worth by being the father of a girl rather than a boy.

I like girls. My wife was a girl. My mother was a girl. My sister is a girl.

I love them all and to me these former little girls have been a source of joy and help.

This hankering for boys, I think, is based largely upon vanity.

The average person wants to see his name perpertuated, no matter to how little that name may amount.

A boy may grow up to carry on his father-s business or to become a famous lawyer, or doctor, or even President.

But the little girl with the little curl gets married, exchanges her name for his and sinks into the ananymity of a housewife.

YET HOW many girls have become the pride and pleasure of their parents in their declining years!

Wherever I look it's the daughter who gives her mother or her father tenderness and care.

The boy leaves home and cleaves to a career. He establishes his own household and, while he may help to support his parents, his thoughts roam the world, his mother and father become remote and detached.

A half a million damages because it's a girl.

Ask any aged mother whether she'd give up that always "little girl" for a million!

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

GROUP Capt. Harold Gatty, internationally renowned aviator, has written a book for the U. S. Air Forces, Navy and Maritime commission which may save thousands of our boys' lives before the war ends.

Entitled "The Life Raft," it is guaranteed to teach the most awkward landlubber how to find a haven on any of the oceans. Eten before publilation Gen. Henry H. Arnold bought 10,000 copies. Other generous subscribers are Maritime Chairman Emory S. Land, Navy Boss Ernest J. King and all the officials responsible for men who go down to the sea in ships, planes or aircraft carriers.

Captain Gatty, navigator on the world-girdling flight with the late Wiley Post in 1931, was for years an Australian skipper. He studied the lore of the water, sky and land and the volume embodies his many years of personal scientific observations.

He has so simplified the problems of sailing or flying by the stars, clouds, bird movements, island and atoll shapes and marine phenomena that a lad who flunks geometry in high school, although alone on a rubber boat, will know his location as familiarly as if he were standing on the old drugstore corner at home with his arm around his only-only, soft drink sweetheart.

Captain Gatty, who now lives in New York, was loaned to General Arnold for this particular task. He locked himself in his room with his manuscript and a staff of researchers from Washington and spent four months on the job.

The result is a 150-page guide that gives us a tremendous advantage over our enemies, especially Japan, in this global conflict. It will be guarded religiously lest it fall into hostile hands and when released will, of course, be distributed among our Allies.

Another textbook entitled "Survival," prepared by the Army Transport Command, supplements the Gatty opus. It tells castaways how to obtain water and food when adrift. Incidentally, both these works were inspired by Eddie Rickenbacker's harrowing experiences while he and his crew tried to maneuver a "painted ship upon a painted ocean."

PEACE: The Vatican will have a greater voice in the final peace conference than ever in modern papal history because of the Pope's role in precipitating the ousting of Mussolini and a possible Italian surrender. Domestic and foreign observers here give credit for the present crisis in Italy to the Pope, a skilled diplomat long before he reached the religious throne.

As Cardinal Pacelli, who handled foreign affairs for his predecessor, Pius XI, he understood international problems as well as people. On his visit to the United States he was even given a formal reception at the National Press club, where he made a great hit with his wit, command of language and personality.

Since becoming Pope he has conducted himself as the spiritual shepherd of Catholics everywhree. He realized that some of his flock were supporting Hitler and Mussolini for nationalistic reasons, while others, naturally, were backing Roosevelt and Churchill.

During this difficult period he appeared to be neutral in a controversy which involved such fundamentals as going to church and worshiping God as one pleases. It must be admitted, and Catholic clerics here concede it, that he was disturbed by the inclusion of Russia within the family of the United Nations.

By various means, the Pope helped to get rid of Il Duce. There is little doubt that he will exert his influence to bring about the withdrawal of Italy from the war. Newspaper dispatches already hint at such an intervention.

As a result, our State department insiders acknowledge, he will have a lot to say at some future Versailles. He will ask no material or territorial gains, of course, but he will cast his power on behalf of a just and enduring peace that will spare us a world-shattering conflict every few years.

TROLLEY: Capitol Hill is a more peaceful place this feverish summer than it has been in many years. The usual sounds of hammering, clanking and whirring machines do not disturb the few legislators, attaches and newspaper correspondents who still wander through the corridors.

No refurbishing crews are on the job these sultry days. The Congress must get along with patched and secondhand things and make the best of it, just the same as any other group of housekeepers.

For the 1943-1944 fiscal period it will not be given new rugs, thereby saving $5,000. There will be no "plumbing renewals," although lawmakers will still enjoy free shaves. The dome and center of the building are painted every four years and they were due for a face-lifting this season; they will stay dirty.

A smaller than ordinary sum has been set aside for repairing and operation of the toy subway connecting the Senate wing with member's offices. If the small amount won't keep the Toonerville trolley running, the old boys will have to act like the rest of us—walk to work.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

IN a few days the nation will be flooded with tomatoes at tumbling prices. Professional growers and Victory gardeners are filling the greatest cornucopia on record especially on the Atlantic seaboard and in California. Large-scale reaping has begun in Virginia, with New Jersey following suit next week. In many sections provision shops are swamped now.

Hot weather caused a sudden surplus likely to be as tremendous as the glut in potatoes in the East and lettuce in Wisconsin. The harvest is ripening all at once instead of mateuring slowly. Home preserving is hitting an all-time high and commercial processors will soon be overwhelmed by the sensational influx.

Factories are turning the first deliveries into ketchup, soup, juice and other commodities whose ingredients can be swiftly mashed and bottled. The normal season for putting up the quickly perishable vegetable runs to October and in an orderly flow from the fields handling is simple.

But this summer Old Sol will probably force the end of garnering to early September. If canneries and fresh markets cannot absorb the extraordinary yield, crops may rot on the bushes and animadversions of waste reverberate in the shocked land.

REFUSES: Spokesmen for the canning industry announce that its supply of peaches is approximately 45 per cent under that of 1942. Twenty-one million bushels less will be picked, the second smallest on record.

Farmers report that this year's output of beans and corn is 20 per cent off; pears 22 and apples 12. Home plots and family kettles will stock many private larders but, faced with the deficiencies listed above, it is essential that manufacturers conserve as much as possible.

They are willing but checkmated by ceilings and manpower troubles. The American Institute of Food Distribution in New York points out that the firms see fruit and vegetables for which they have concracted moving to urban stores where growers can get better prices. Concerns filling containers know the prices they must pay for raw materials but the OPA has not yet—despite plea upon plea—told them what they can ask for goods.

The government still treats distribution as separate from production. Cannery employes are allowed deferment in the draft but as they must have 20 per cent of their salaries deducted weekly for income taxes, they prefer to be independent agriculturists.

The NWLB refuses to increase wages, with the result that trained personnel shifts to the better paying war industries. Establishments are so short of labor that they are gladly hiring white collar workers, city folks and inexperienced hands — if they can get them.

History not only repeats, but its cycle of repetition constantly becomes shorter. Before many centuries have passed, living in this world will be comparable to living on a merry-go-round—and about as satisfactory.

Here And There In Texas

By HOMER G. OLSEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

THIS is a case where a can of beans competes with all the constellations in the heavens.

Proving that even when your interests lie billions of miles away, you can't escape world war.

Such, at any rate, has been the experience of the staff of McDonald observatory, operated by the University of Texas and Chicago high in the Davis mountains of West Texas.

Given an 82-inch telescope so built it can look at every bit of the sky except for a small circle around the South Pole, not to mention having a houseful of other intricate astronomical apparata, you'd think the fellows out there on 6,791- foot tall Hount Locke had everything they need.

War Hits Scientists, Too

But wartime rationing catches up even with those who live in the realm of pure science.

"Restrictions in the use of gasoline and rubber have enhanced the difficulty of living on Mount Locke," Dr. Otto Struve, director of the observatory, recently wrote friends at the University of Texas. "Conditions have become even more critical," he said, "since rationing of canned goods went into effect. Most of the observers have been used to depending to a large extent upon canned goods for their meals."

Nearest supplies are at Fort Davis, 16 miles away, where the staff also goes to get its mail.

STRUVE, a former officer in the Imperial Russian army, spends his time between the McDonald observatory and the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., which he also dircts.

Not only has the war's impact felt by most civilians been encountered also by the scientists in West Texas, but needs of the armed forces have considerably depleted the staff.

Struve reports five observatory assitants now in military service, while three of the senior astronomers are in research work bearing directly on the war effort.

One of these latter is Dr. Daniel M. Popper whose discovery of a so-called double star dwarfing our sun is size was recently annaunced.

Another sign of the times reported from McDonald observatory is that nowadays most of the visitors are soldiers. The number of visitors, of course, is considerably fewer than in pre-war years.

But whatever the vicissitudes of war, the Mount Locke astronomers manage to keep plugging away at their work.

Foreigners Aid Work

Only last month it was disclosed that a cosmic ray meter had been installed at the observatory, and under the direction of Dr. Elmer Dershem would be used to measure the intensity of rays in that vicinity.

When they have opportunity to relax the scientists can usually find horses at nearby dude ranches, and a certain amount of fishing.

Sometime later this summer the staff will be enlarged by the addition of two obsrvrs from the Argentine. They are Dr. Carlos Ulrico Besco and Dr. Jorge Sahade, both from the Natioal observatory at La Platta.

These are not, however, the only foreigners who have joined in research activities at the observatory in recent years.

Sometime ago Dr. Polydore Swing, a distinguished Belgian scientist from the University of Liege, was a staff member, as was also Dr. S. Chandrasekhar of India, an authority on stellar constitution.

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Dora Rodgers of Donna is doing her part in taking a man's job for the duration.

She's delivering a paper route in the valley.

The young lady signed up a little over a year ago to carry between 90 and 100 Valley Morning Stars daily in Donna.

Dora says she doesn't mind a bit getting up even before the chickens. And she believes that more and more girls will take up paper routes in the valley.

"I can recommend it," she says. "It's a good way to make spending money and gives you valuable training."

A whistle from 2000 miles away has made Mickey mighty happy.

Mickey is a large, white poodle with curly hair.

His master, Lt. Leslie Hightower, left him in Fort Worth last August ad went away to join the air forces. Micky has missed him a lot—and the pet hasn't forgotten.

Last week Lieutenat Hightower telephoned from Avon Park, Fla., to talk with his parents. When the conversation was over, the phone receiver was put to Mickey's ear.

Lieutenant Hightower whistled in Florida.

Mickey yelped with joy in Fort Worth.

"IT LOOKS like Uncle Sam is in the agriculture business and is not going to be outdone," said Hollis Clark after accepting 30,000 pounds of potatoes from the Food Distribution administration.

Clark, director of the Houston Harris County Welfare board, said the government bought the potatoes from the farmers.

They will go free to relief clients and inmates of county institutions at the rate of 10 pounds per person, he said.

It is virtually impossible to separate money from a man who accumulated it by hard work and careful saving over a long period of years.

Gin Company Named In Government Suit

The government filed civil action Monday in U. S. district court here, directed against McNabb Gin Co. and its owners, W. J. Weeks of Cochran county and Walter McNabb of Lubbock. The suit seeks to recover the balance due on a note of $300 made by Jack Dunlap, a resident of New Mexico, who is alleged to have borrowed government money to make the cotton crop which the McNabb gin processed for him.

The government alleges Dunlap mortgaged his crop to the government for his loan, that he still owes a balance of $248.57, and that the gin company took over Dunlap's cotton at the time it was ginned, leaving the farm loan unpaid.

U.S. Production Of Planes Mounts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—In between bombs, the U. S. Army Air force hit the Axis today with some production figures that by their very disclosure demonstrated how confident Yankee airmen have become since they wrested control of the skies over Europe, Africa and parts of the Pacific.

U. S. aircraft production now averages more than 7,000 planes monthly. The Army Air Forces receives 4,500—more than the entire output of the Axis which has been listed 2,200 monthly for Germany, 1,200 for Japan and 600 for Italy.

Russia, Britain Do Same

Russia and Britain together accomplished the same — producing more aircraft than all three Axis nations combined.

Since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, American war factories have delivered 73,132 planes to the Army.

Major General O. P. Echols, assistant chief of staff for air, said the USAAF had been allocated $40,000,000,000 in this war — 85 per cent for planes and parts—compared with $503,000,000 provided in the first World war.

Plane production for 1944 has been envisaged at 95,000, of which 36,000 would be bombers, 38,000 fighters, 12,000 transports and 9,000 trainers.

Southwest Pacific

down and one of our fighters was lost.'

Kahili, on Bougainville island, was the strongest Japanese airbase in the Solomons even before the airfield at Munda was made useless by incessant pounding of Allied bombers, units of the U. S. fleet and artillery set up on Rendova island a few miles to the south.

The artillery bombardment of the Salamaua airdrome was accompanied by a heavy bomber assault on the town itself. Flying Fortresses dropped 84 tons of bombs on defenses and installations in the area, starting numerous fires and causing heavy damage. The bombers also hit Lae, about 10 miles up the coast, bombing waterfront facilities, blowing up a large supply or fuel dump, and starting large fires.

An enemy destroyer was attacked and set afire by a night reconnaissance bomber south of New Britain, while on the island itself bombers and long-range fighters attacked the Gasmata airdrome at dawn, destroying one heavy anti-aircraft position and neuturalizing two others. Then the warplanes swept east along the coast as far as Cape Dampier, bombing and strafing barges and partially destroying three jetties.

11 Jap Fighters Downed

Fourteen Allied fighters, escorting bombers on bombing and strafing runs along the New Guinea coast, engaged an equal number of enemy fighters and shot down 11 and probably destroyed another. All the Allied planes returned to base.

Liberator bombers made an unopposed pre-dawn raid on enemy positions on Kolombangara island, across Kula gulf from New Georgia, but small units of Japanese dive bombers attempted harrassing attacks on American positions on Rendova island. The raiders were met with ground battery fire and American fighter planes which shot down three dive bombers.

BROAD DROP SWEEPS STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP) — The stock market today continued its adjustment to Wall Street's peace psychology with another broad drop in prices.

Volume totaled 1,345,310 shares compared with 1,334,770 Friday.

A small carryover of selling put leaders down fractions to around a point at the opening, but as offerings decreased a little better buying appeared and the list around midsession showed many modest net gains.

The late retreat was speeded by sharp breaks in such stocks as American Telephone, which sold off more than 4 points, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, DuPont, Woolworth, Standard Oil (NJ), and Pepsi-Cola, down 2 to 3¾ points.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite at the close was down .7 of a point at 48.8. On July 14 the 60-stock average stood at 53.3, highest since October 27, 1939.

Blocks off around a point or more included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas, American Can, General Electric, Johns-Manville and Philip Morris.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP) — Grains weakened in late dealings today as selling came into the rye pit from houses with eastern connections. News advices saying the Allies had started their all-out push in Sicily and easiness in securities discouraged buying.

Losses were mainly confined to fractions and trade continued light. The decline appeared to result from absence of buying orders rather than any aggressive selling. Oats held relatively firm.

At the close wheat was ⅝-¾ lower, September $1.43¾-⅞, December $1.45⅛-¼, oats were ⅛-¼ lower, September 69¾, and rye was down ⅝-⅞, September $1.00⅝-⅞.

bar the doors to these he said one possible exception to his statement might be the revision of franchise tax law, if such alterations were found necessary. Several oil companies have filed suits attacking constitutionality of the franchise tax statute.

Rep. Roger Q. Evans of Denison, chairman of a House committee investigating livestock slaughter declared in a telegram that present laws are inadequate to prevent the transfer, trading and sale of cancerous and diseased livestock to unscrupulous, improperly inspected packing houses and buyers.

The prospect of a special meeting poses something of an attendance problem. Six members of the Senate are in the armed forces and at least two cannot attend an immediate session.

Speaker In The Army

Speaker of the House Price Daniel is in the Army and although it might be possible for him to attend the opening of a session it remained to be seen whether he could obtain War department permission to preside throughout in view of a ruling preventing soldiers from actively performing the duties of a civil office.

The governor expressed the opinion Daniel would be "available."

House rules provide that a speaker may select some member of the House to serve in his place in the event of the speaker's absence. Rep Claude Gilmer of Rock Springs is in a favored spot since at the close of the last general session he announced he had pledges from a majority of House members to support him for speaker at the next general session which begins in January, 1945. Daniel had announced he would not a candidate for re-lection as speaker.

Sacrifices At Home Big Help To Troops

HAMILTON, Mass., Aug. 2. (AP) —Sacrifices being made on the home front have helped American troops in the Sicilian campaign, according to no less an authority than Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., leader of American forces in Sicily.

"The rationing at home is certainly insuring that the soldiers get plenty of butter at all meals, coffee three times a day and eggs for breakfast," the general said in a letter to Mrs. Patton at her Hamilton home.

"Within the last few months," he added, "there has been the greatest improvement in the soldiers. In fact, I may say that they are now veterans in the true sense of the word."

Dads Face Call After October 1

bers regardless of the number or age of their children ,unless they are granted deferment as "essential" in agriculture or industry or unless their induction would mean "extreme hardship and privation" to their families. The policy of not drafting men over 38 continues.

Up To Local Boards

The decision in each man's case will be up to his local board, subject to appeal.

In deciding whether to grant hardship deferment, classification 3-D, boards are to take into consideration provisions for allotments to dependents of service men and "other means by which the registrant could contribute to his family's support in event of induction."

To put off the actual calling of fathers as war beyond October 1 as possible, War Manpower Commissioner McNutt said local boards were told again to "comb the ranks of (the 2,976,000) men who previously have been examined and deferred in 4-F as unfit for military service and to sift out registrants who now may be qualified for duty."

They were also told to "give careful scrutiny to other deferred classification" but McNutt acknowledged that state draft directors have been reminded of industry's need to retain essential childless men so that boards would not draft them indiscriminately to put off taking fathers.

Occupational Deferment

"The emphasis should be on occupational deferment," McNutt said, adding that the United States is "the only nation engaged in this war that ever required dependency deferment and is the most generous one in allotments and allowances for dependents."

Asked about a suggestion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that men under 30 be taken before older men without regard to fathership status, McNutt said that question was one for the armed forces since they determine what age groups make the best fighting men and selective service follows their directions.

Explaining the lifting of the non-deferrable work, McNutt said:

"It is now evident that the supply of qualified registrants in classifications other than class 3-A who are not eligible for occupational deferments, together with the prospective number of class A1-A men to be obtained from registrants becoming 18 years old each month will not be sufficient to meet the monthly requirements of the armed forces after October 1.

Quota Calls Lower

McNutt disclosed that the August and September quotas call for induction of 175,000 men each month, with the Army getting 175,000 and the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard 100,000 each month. The July quota was 325,000.

During the last quarter of this year, when fathers will be eligible for the draft, approximately 625,000 men will be inducted but 150,000 can be obtained from the ranks fo youths newly turned 18 and another 175,000 from the non-fathers still in civilian life.

Fathers will make up the majority of the nearly 200,000 to be inducted monthly in the first half of next year according to tentative selective service estimates, although the actual size of 1944 calls will depend largely on the extent of combat casualties.

TEXAS CALLS UNLIKELY BEFORE LATE IN OCTOBER

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2 (AP) — Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers in Texas likely will not be called for military service until late in October or some time in November, Brig. Gen. J. Watt Page, selective service director for Texas, said here today.

"We are endeavoring to divide the calls so that draft boards with plenty of 1-A men can supply the necessary quotas", General Page said. "However, some of them will be pressed to meet their quotas in the fall in spite of all we can do.

"Much will depend on the size of our calls in the future as to how heavily the boards will have to draw on the pre-Pearl Harbor fathers".

Page was here on a visit.

OPA Promises Lower Prices For Liquor

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—A new liquor price regulation, expected to result in lower prices for many new brands now on the market, will be issued in the near future by the Office of Price administration, (OPA).

The regulation will provide ceilings at the distillery level based on cost plus's fixed mark-up, with mark-ups at each stage thereafter until it reaches the ultimate consumer.

OPA officials said today they were unable to estimate the reductions which will result, although some of them may be sizeable.

Veteran Warplane Is Quite Temperamental

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (AP)—The "Hell Cat," scarred veteran warplane of fifty battles during World War II, is so temperamental that the officer who flew her into Dallas won't allow the Fifth Ferrying command's service department to wash and grease her.

Livestock Shipments From Texas Increase

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP) — Texas shipped 7,500 carloads more livestock to market in the first half of 1943 than in the same period of 1942, the University of Texas bureau of business research reported today.

Movement of all kinds of livestock amounted to 57,672 cars—37,744 cars of cattle, 4,940 cars of calves, 9,239 cars of hogs, and 5,749 cars of sheep—in the first six months of the year.

Of total shipments, 50,867 cars moved to out of state points and to the Fort Worth stock yards.

Harlem Rioting

radio appeals to the public to keep calm.

The mayor, who shortly before noon said that the situation seemed quiet then, offered no new comment.

More than 400 persons were arraigned before four magistrates during the day, and other cases were to be placed before the courts tomorrow.

Damage Set At $5,000,000

Matthew J. Eder, executive secretary of the Uptown Chamber of Commerce, estimated that Harlem merchants suffered $5,000,000 loss through looting and damage to their stores last night and early today.

He described the damage as "five times worse" than in similar disorders in 1935, when, he said, the loss was $1,000,000.

The rioting last night began when wild rumors circulated through the district after a white policeman shot and wounded a negro soldier he said had attempted to interfere with the arrest of a negro woman in a hotel lobby.

A crowd followed the injured soldier to a hospital, somebody threw a bottle, and the disorder spread.

Dodge Answer On Rationing Query

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP) — Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown informed Governor Coke R. Stevenson today he could not inform the governor as to whether gasoline and tire quotas would be changed.

Stevenson had asked Brown for a statment to "quiet rumors and a general feeling of unrest and uncertainty" resulting from reports basic "A" gasoline coupons would be reduced in value.

In reply Brown said in a telegram:

"Quota limitations established rubber director for tires and tubes and by petroleum administrator for war gasoline.

"Any movements we might make on mileage program would result from changes in such quota limitations.

"Unable to give statement as to whether or not quotas will be changed."

Hull Not Disturbed Over British Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP) — Secretary of State Hull, asked about reports of apprehension in England over American policy toward Italy and the Badoglio government, suggested today that it would be better to give attention instead to the actual fighting.

The main purport of what he has been hearing from United Nations quarters, he told his press conference, is that the military should be given a chance to fight the war without being hamstrung by other considerations.

Hull previously has indicated that he relied on the judgment of General Dwight D. Eisenhower in the Italian situation and President Roosevelt said Friday that when surrender time comes he does not care with whom we deal so long as he is not a member of the fascist party.

Early Choice Urged For Welfare Post

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—Dr. Tom Taylor of Brownwood, member of the state board of public welfare, today told a House committee investigating old age assistance that he would like to see chosen a successor to J. S. Murchison as executive director of the welfare department "in the next two weeks."

Murchison resigned several months ago but consented to remain in his position until the board elected a new director.

"But lots of good men don't want the job," Taylor added.

Marvin Leonard of Fort Worth and Hubert Johnson of Waco, the two other members testified the board had been seeking a successor to Murchison but had not yet made a decision.

Leonard said there were approximately 20 applicants.

Italian Warnings

due to the betrayal of Italy by Mussolini and Badoglio—whom it described as "these evil forces—and against the hopes of Allied authorities because "we do not want to make war on the Italian people."

Political developments mingled with the military:

(1) Talk of an impending "peace march" on Rome by Italian leftists was current in Italian quarters of neutral Madrid.

(2) Dr. Augusto Rosso, former (1932-36) Italian ambassador to Washington whose American connections have made him objectionable to Germans in the past; was reported in a DNB broadcast from Berlin to have been appointed secretary-general of the Italian foreign office. Rosso's wife is the former Mrs. F Wilkinson Bunker of Washington.

Warning By Davis

OWI Director Elmer Davis, broadcasting from Algiers, said the United States would continue the war "until the last of our enemies is beaten down" and forecast that a great invasion would be launched from England to sweep Europe as Sicily has been swept.

Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, said in a London speech that the fall of Mussolini was a legitimate cause for rejoicing, but only on condition that "we accept this auspicious event as an incentive to a fresh endeavor against Germany and Japan."

The one main condition for any Italian withdrawal from the war must be that she provide the Allies with bases from which to get at Germany. Another is that Mussolini and other Fascist leaders must be handed over.

A Rome radio commentator declared in an afternoon broadcast that "Marshal Badoglio will bring the war to a conclusion with honor and dignity. Civil war, with its blind and aimless fury, will be avoided." But he did not say how this was to be accomplished.

Papers Urge Action

(A Zurich dispatch broadcast by the British radio and recorded in New York by NBC said newspapers of both Milan and Turin, in North Italy regions heavily infiltrated by Germans, were urging Badoglio to act in accordance with the wishes of the Italian people—"wishes which he knows well.)

Dispatches from Germany and Italy received in Bern said that Italian hopes of peace had diminished sharply.

Nazi troops were said in both Bern and Madrid to be girding for an attempt to hold northern Italy, regardless of whether the Rome government yields.

Eighteen German divisions from 180,000 to 270,000 men) were reported at Madrid to be in northern Italy, with the Appenines 200 miles above Rome as their potential first line of defense and the fortified Po river line, from 80 to 100 miles farther north, for the ultimate stand.

Ploesti Raid Gives Preview Of Future

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The first American body-blow at a most critical and now vulnerabe war nerve—Rumanian oil—has been struck. It fell at long range against the Ploesti oil center to foreshadow what certainly is in store for that vital German war resource once Italian mainland bases are available to Allied bombers, cutting the distance to the target in half.

SIMPSON

And they soon will be available. War bulletins from Sicily told tonight of the collapse of the Axis right flank with the fall of San Stefano and and Mistretta to American arms. They told also that the British 8th Army at the opposite end of the Etna line is in motion forward again.

American capture of San Stefano definitely turns the Axis Etna front in the north. It puts the San Stefano-Nicosia highway in Allied hands at both ends, cutting off escape of German or Italian forces deployed through the mountains between.

10,000 Prisoners Taken

Evidence of that came promptly with announcement that General George S. Patton's troops had take 10,000 prisoners at Mistretta, virtually midway on the highway between San Stefano and Nicosia. They were trapped, with no route of escape open eastward as American forces hold both the coastal road and the parallel highway south of the mountains.

It is obvious that Patton's men are already surging eastward beyond San Stefano, aided by American war ships in the Tyrrhenia Sea. The coastal railroad and highway is in range of their guns and the Axis retreat to Cape De Orlando to form a new front linked by road with the Etna bastion via Randazzo bids fair to be costly. It could become a rout.

An immediate effect of the fall of San Stefano and Mistretta, however, must be to open the inshore flank of the Axis line based on Troina. That in turn must expose the flank of the Axis forces holding up the Canadians advancing in the center on Regalbuto.

An early American-Canadian breakthrough in the center toward Randazzo and Adreno seems possible. It would unquestionably precipitate an Axis retreat under converging Allied pressure from the whole Etna bastion position into the Messina peninsula proper with conditions foreshadowing ultimate wholesale surrenders as happened in Tunisia.

That would place Allied troops only a two-mile jump across Messina Strait from the toe of the Itaian mainland boot. Backed by all but unchalenged sea and air control, the invasion of the boot by that or any other route selected would offer no serious obstacle. And with Allied bombers based on the heel of the boot, Apuglio, within a 1,200 mile round-trip flight of the Rumania oilfield center of Ploesti, already blackened and seared by the first mass, low-level American air raid from across the Mediterranean, its fate as a power source for the Nazi war effort would be sealed.

Jaycees Hear Talk By Ration Executive

Clarence A. Bestwick, chief clerk of the Lubbock County War Price and Rationing board, who spoke Monday before the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Hilton hotel, said the rationing board here is more fortunately situated than some. "All we have to do is reach for a telephone to get ourselves straightened out on some problem," he said, "because the OPA district office is located in Lubbock."

Ray Farmer presented Bestwick. The speaker secently has been appearing at luncheon clubs and other meetings.

Bestwick said tires, of all the things the government is rationing, are scarcest, hold less promise of again being plentiful, and the rationing of them has caused more grumbling, more violations, and more dissatisfaction with the public than any other commodity.

The speaker paid tribute to members who "are taking the rap" on the board, and he said a puzzling problem with board members is why parents allow their youngsters to burn up gasoline and tires on the streets of Lubbock to such an extent this practice is becoming noticeable and a frequent subject of unfavorable comment in other places.

He said tires for civilians will not be available until 1944, according to the government spokesmen. In the meantime, dairy trucks, peace officers, public utility vehicles, and those in essential industry have recapped their old tires, some of them as many as three times, in a real effort at conservation.

"You people here don't know what a friendly, serviceable rationing board you have," Bestwick said, "unless you go elsewhere and find the doors locked, a slit in the door to drop your request into, and a wait of many days perhaps before your request is answered by mail." He said the Lubbock rationing board has not seen fit to treat the public quite that impersonally, and yet "we have lots of complaints," he said.

Public's Idea Of Spy Is Said All Wrong

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2. (AP)—Eduardo Ampudia, new director of the government anti-espionage unit, says that "the general public thinks an international spy is always a beautiful, well-dressed woman, whereas he is actually more often an inoffensive resident smart enough to maintain contact with information sources and with enough money to track down rumors."

Ampudia replaces Jose Lelo de Larrea, recently sent on a government mission to Washington.

Mild Infestation Of Cotton Pests Noted

The weekly crop letter sent out by Anderson, Clayton Co. last week-end said cotton fields are mildly infested with leafworms, fleahoppers, and lice throughout the South Plains, but not in sufficient force to cause damage—yet. Hot, dry weather for a week and more has retarded these insects in their damaging work.

The letter said condition of the crop is good, the weather has been excellent, with showers and good rains to the westward, where it was most needed. Progress of the crop for two weeks has been excellent. Many half-grown bolls have been noted.

About 10 per cent of the total acreage still is weedy. Cleaning continues, with only a small amount of abandonment. Choppers are scarce and temperamental; getting 50 cents an hour, but efforts are somewhat a WPA. "Some speed-ups have been obtained," the letter said, "by ice watering every 200 feet—with soda pop at the end of each row.
