Since April 11, which was designated as "All-America City Day" in Snyder, the Chamber of Commerce has been selling packets of emblems, including stamps, decals and bumper stickers, all with the All-America City shield featured prominently.

Now, the chamber office occasionally receives mail from distant points with the Snyder All-America City stamps on them. One regular user of the stamps is U. S. Rep. George H. Mahon, Congressman for the 19th District of Texas, who was here and participated in the All-America City Day festivities.

The chamber office still has an ample supply of the stickers, decals and stamps which are available for a small fee. The bumper stickers and decals should rise in popularity with the advent of the summer vacation season.

Preparing for dedication ceremonies at Lake E. V. Spence near Robert Lee, the Colorado River Municipal Water District has issued a new folder which includes some facts and figures on the new lake as well as Lake J. B. Thomas.

For example, the full elevation of Lake Thomas is 2258 feet above sea level, while full elevation of Lake Spence is 1898 feet. However, capacity of Lake Spence is 488,760 acre feet, compared to 204,000 acre feet for Lake Thomas. The Robert Lee Dam is 22,000 feet long, and the Lake Thomas Dam is 14,500 feet long.

Lake Spence will have 137 miles of shore line at full elevation, while Lake Thomas' shoreline is 75 miles at full elevation.

The difference in size of the two reservoirs is determined by their respective drainage areas. Lake Thomas' drainage area, or "watershed," is 960 square miles. The drainage area of Lake Spence covers 2,700 square miles.

The ceremony at Lake Spence is scheduled for Saturday, June 14.

Estate Unclaimed

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. (AP) — Someone has $111,364.20 coming — but nobody seems to know who he, she or they are.

The money is the estate of William Goodman, a Los Angeles metal shop owner who died four years ago without leaving a will.

Efforts to locate relatives have failed and his estate, mostly cash, has been turned over to State Controller Houston I. Flourney to hold for the rightful heir or heirs.

If nobody shows up by May 6, 1974, the money will become state property. Flourney's office says the estate is one of the largest it has ever handled. It now has unclaimed estates totaling nearly $7.5 million.

AFTER SHIPS COLLIDE

Search Begun For 73 Men

By GEORGE ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Navy ships crisscrossed the South China Sea off the coast of Vietnam today but failed to find more of 73 men missing after an Australian carrier cut a U.S. destroyer in two.

The bow section of the USS Frank E. Evans sank swiftly after it was rammed by the Melbourne during maneuvers about 240 miles southeast of Saigon just before dawn Tuesday Saigon time.

The Navy's latest figures listed one American sailor dead, 73 missing from the Evans, and 200 survivors, including the skipper, Cmdr. A. S. McLemore.

No casualties were reported on the Melbourne.

The Evans was a famed World War II destroyer which weathered a massive kamikaze attack in 1945. It was based at Long Beach, Calif.

The collision occurred during maneuvers by warships of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization.

The survivors were taken aboard the Melbourne and later transferred to the USS Kearsarge, a carrier that rushed to the scene from its station 85 miles away.

The Melbourne, involved in a similar disaster on Feb. 10, 1964, headed for Singapore. Radio Australia said the ship was expected to arrive Thursday.

Destination of the Kearsarge was not immediately known.

But the Navy said one man in critical condition was flown to a U.S. hospital at Cam Ranh Bay, on the South Vietnamese coast 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

There was no report on how many of the destroyer's survivors were injured.

Search parties later boarded the aft section of the Evans, still afloat at last report, to recover classified documents and salvage what they could.

Adm. John J. Hyland, Pacific fleet commander, immediately ordered a court of inquiry into the collision.

There were no details on exactly how the disaster occurred.

The vessels were among some 40 warshis of six SEATO nations taking part in the maneuvers, called "Sea Spirit." The maneuvers were cancelled after the collision.

The weather was clear, the seas calm and both ships were equipped with radar.

The destroyer, steaming nearby, had been escorting the carrier as it took on planes.

Then suddenly, in the darkness of 4:15 a.m., the 705-foot Melbourne plowed right through the port side of the smaller, 376-foot Evans, slicing it in two.

The destroyer's bow sank in two minutes, but the aft section was towed by the Melbourne and kept afloat while survivors were taken aboard. There was no fire.

Later the hull was lashed to the U.S. destroyer Everett F. Larson, the Navy said.

The Melbourne was left with a gaping hole, 4 feet wide, about 12 feet above the water line. The carrier's forecastle and flight deck also were damaged, a spokesman said, and one catapult was rendered useless.

The first collision involving the carrier bears an eerie similarity to the latest disaster.

The 25,000-ton Melbourne knifed through the Australian destroyer Voyager off the coast of Australia on another clear night five years ago when the seas were also calm.

The Voyager's bow sank immediately. The rest of the ship went down in three hours. The toll: 82 dead, including the skipper.

That incident created a furor in Australia, but the Melbourne was finally absolved of any blame.

"I can't help feeling dismay that it happened again to the Melbourne," Australian Navy Minister Clive Kelly told Newsmen in Adelaide, Australia.

"A lot of people will look upon it as a jinx on the vessel."

The Evans was the seventh U.S. warship involved in a major accident at sea in less than three years. A total of 313 lives were lost in the six earlier accidents.

Texas Has Shower Activity

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gusty thundershowers played tag through parts of West, South and East Texas this morning, and showed signs of spreading toward the north and east.

The shower activity, with occasional thunderstorms as well across the northern half of the state, was expected to continue into Wednesday as the latest cool front gradually played out.

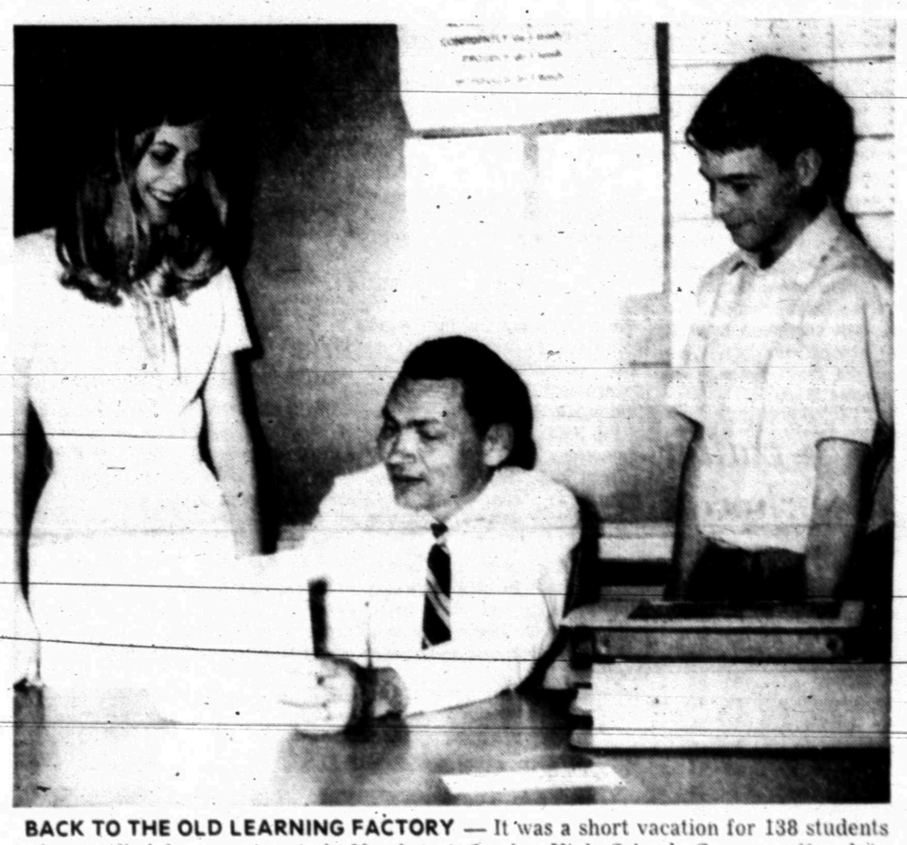
Early this morning the frontal system lay across South Texas along a line linking Victoria, San Antonio and Del Rio. Forecasters looked for it to drift a little back toward the north while dissipating.

Hard rains fell here and there in the Lower Rio Grande Valley during the night, prompting the Weather Bureau to post a warning against possible flash flooding in Hidalgo and Starr Counties.

As much as 1.63 inches of rain fell at Rio Grande City, but there were no reports of high water in that area.

There also were locally heavy thunderstorms in the Big Bend country of far West Texas, and the sighting of a tornado whirling harmelssly through a remote area 55 miles southeast of El Paso was reported Monday afternoon.

Still more showers cropped up this morning in a Panhandle-Plains sector embracing Dalhart, Perryton, Amarillo, Childress, Plainview and Lubbock, in the area from Wichita Falls toward Eastland in West Central Texas, and from Tyler in East Texas and near College Station to Brownwood and Seymour toward the west.



BACK TO THE OLD LEARNING FACTORY — It was a short vacation for 138 students who enrolled for summer study Monday at Snyder High School. Courses offered in summer school at SHS are English for freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors; American history, world history, civics, typing, and algebra I and II. The summer term will continue for six weeks. Here Franklin Pruitt, seated, history teacher, goes over an assignment with Pam Hartsfield and Dale Harrington.

CITY AWARDS CONTRACTS

Addition Is Annexed

Snyder City Council last night agreed to annex a portion of Park View Addition (immediately west of Bassridge) and accepted bids for installation of water and sewer lines and paving of streets in the new addition.

Also approved were a contract for seal-coating approximately 100 blocks of city streets and a new ordinance to control "junk" cars in the city.

The Park View Addition property annexation ordinance was passed on first reading. The annexation had been requested by Rodney Smith the developer. The water and sewer lines and street improvement will be performed by contracts awarded by the city, but at the developer's expense. Plains Utility Co. of Lubbock was the lone bidder on installation of water and sewer lines, with an aggregate of $2,568.75. Price Construction Co. of Snyder was the lone bidder on the paving work with a proposal of $12,136.

Price Construction Co. also was awarded a contract to seal-coat city streets at a cost of 12 cents per square yard, which would amount to $13,548.84 for 100 to 110 blocks, which the city expects to do this summer.

The "junk car" ordinance defints a junk vehicle as one without a current license plate and inspection sticker, which is either wrecked, abandoned, dismantled or partially dismantled. It would make it possible for the city to declare such a vehicle a nuisance unless located at a business lawfully operated in a lawful zone in which such vehicles are necessary to the operation of the business. The ordinance provides for abatement of the nuisance and penalty for failure to do so after proper notification. Second and final reading of the ordinance is due at the council's July meeting.

The council approved a plan proposed by City Manager George Patterson to become self-insured in lieu of workman's compensation insurance, effective July 1. The city's

Nixon Heads For Crucial Sunday Midway Meeting

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon headed westward today, planning to spell out basic principles for solving homefront problems as he makes his way toward a crucial Midway Island meeting on the nation's most perplexing international problem.

Nixon's first major stop today was scheduled for General Beadle College at Madison, S.D., where the White House said he would talk about "the basic values of America currently under challenge."

Administration sources had indicated Nixon would deal broadly with such matters as moral values and the rule of law, skirting direct discussion of campus disorders.

At Air Force Academy commencement exercises Wednesday the President will discuss "the role of a great nation in the world and the role of a military defense in our society." He is expected to talk about the fears of some Americans that the military establishment, and more particularly a military-industrial alliance, is wielding too much power.

After two days at his new San Clemente, Calif., home, Nixon will head across the Pacific for Sunday's meeting with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu on Midway Island.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, and Secretary of State William P. Rogers also are to join in the meeting.

Nixon would like their six-hour conference to produce public affirmation that Washington and Saigon are in full agreement on Nixon's eight-point Vietnam peace plan of May 4.

While the Nixon administration has asserted that Thieu gave full approval in advance to Nixon's proposals for the Paris talks; the South Vietnamese president in recent visits to South Korea and Formosa suggested he might balk at some key Nixon proposals. Thieu is concerned about a proposal that could be interpreted as indicating willingness to accept a coalition government in Saigon in which the Viet Cong could participate.

Nixon's family is making the trip with him, with the exception of the hop to Midway. Mrs. Nixon with daughters Tricia Nixon and Julie Eisenhower will spend Sunday in Honolulu.

Following Wednesday's speech at the Air Force Academy, the Nixon's will fly to San Clemente to spend the night. The President will confer on domestic matters with members of the White House staff there before leaving Saturday for Honolulu.

After the Midway conference, the chief executive and his family will spend Sunday night in Honolulu, then return to San Clemente for an overnight stay. They return to the White House on June 10.

Burger Seeking Senate Approval

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warren E. Burger went before the Senate Judiciary Committee today to seek confirmation as chief justice of the United States while the Mexican-American who threatened to attempt a citizen's arrest waited in a hallway outside.

Reies Lopez Tijerina of Albuquerque, N.M., stood in a line of spectators outside the crowded, heavily guarded hearing room.

Tijerina, carrying a red book entitled "The Law of Arrest," held running interviews declaring that Burger should be arrested for violating the civil rights of poor people and minority groups.

"This is the best detergent against police brutality," Tijerina said. "The citizen's arrest, we must revive it."

Burger, meanwhile, was escorted to the hearing room through another entrance by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman.

Burger, likely the only witness to testify during the committee hearing, was nominated to succeed Earl Warren, who is retiring as chief justice at the end of the Supreme Court term this month.

Although Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had said in the wake of the Abe Fortas affair that he anticipated lengthy, searching Senate proceedings on Supreme Court nominees, there is little indication of trouble for Burger, now a judge on the federal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

"I don't expect any fireworks," said Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., a member of the Judiciary Committee, about the appointment of Burger, who is considered a more conservative jurist than Warren.

Mansfield also said the nomination probably wouldn't reach the Senate floor before next week.

The one exception to today's peaceful proceedings was a threat by Reies Lopez Tijerina, the Mexican-American militant, to arrest Burger on the basis of a citizen's warrant charging the judge with violating the civil rights of poor people.

Senate questions for Burger, in the aftermath of the Fortas controversy included probes into his activities off the bench. Tydings had said he would question the chief justice-designate about his $2,000-a-year role as a trustee of the Mayo Foundation.

The Maryland senator and other advocates of a new code of ethics for judges also had said they wanted to know Burger's stand on public disclosure of outside income.

Kansas City Fire Leaves Twelve Dead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Twelve persons, including six believed members of one family, died early today as fire swept an apartment building and police began looking for a resident recently evicted from the building.

Police said a youth who rented an apartment in the building last Saturday was evicted Sunday for letting some friends move in with him was seen around the building on the south side of the midtown business district early today.

The young man had told the apartment building manager she would regret having thrown him out, authorities added.

Eight of the fire victims were children.

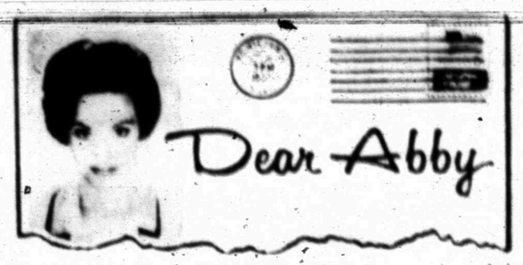
The blaze was discovered in the three-story, L-shaped brick structure shortly after 2 o'clock and burned out of control for about two hours.

Among the dead was five-months-old Harry Smith. His father, Lawrence Smith, 30, is in serious condition at General Hospital from injuries suffered, police said, when he jumped from the third floor with the child cradled in his arms.

Cornelius and Charles Twenter, brothers who live nearby were passing the building in a car.

Cornelius said "there was a man standing above the front porch screaming for help.

"We ran up the stairway of the building, knocking on doors and telling everyone to close their windows and shut the doors. The fire wasn't that bad then.



DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 85-year-old father. There are five of us children still living, but I am the oldest and his "favorite", with whom he has lived since Mamma died 14 years ago.

Before Mamma died I promised her I'd never put Papa in a home.

Papa has money and has provided generously for all his children and grandchildren (he claims) and he keeps reminding me that in his will he has taken "extra good" care of me because I've taken "extra good" care of him.

I can honestly say that Papa has never been any trouble until about a year ago when he started putting his hearing aid batteries in my egg compartment and took to putting his house slippers in my freezer. He does other little things like cleaning his pipe directly into my vegetable bin, and he is so forgetful I had to change from gas to electricity because he kept turning on the gas jets trying to change the "television channel." Also, last winter he went out to water "the garden" in the snow wearing only his pajama tops!

I don't dare leave him alone for a moment now. He doesn't like strangers around and I can't watch him 24 hours a day. My husband says I should put him in a home— that the old man would never know the difference since he now calls me "Agnes" which was Mamma's name. Thank you.

MANCHESTER

DEAR MANCHESTER: If he calls you Agnes it's pretty safe bet he wouldn't object to a "stranger" relievng you for a 24-hour watch. Give it a try. And if he's so "forgetful" as to be dangerous to himslef and others, don't hesitate to put him where he will get the care and "watching" he needs. And don't feel guilty. He probably won't know whether he's in a home or Yanyee stadium.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband's secretary calls him "TIGER," and he calls her "KITTEN."

Believe me, he is plenty behind in his homework, so I don't think I have much to worry about in that department, but what do you make of it?

TIGER'S WIFE IN OAK PARK

DEAR WIFE: I have a feline they're foolin'.

DEAR ABBY: If I read one more article about how careful a woamn should be about her "person" if she wants to hold her man, I am going to scream.

Why doesn't someone write that maybe THEY should be careful how they look and smell or they might lose their wives?

A wife is supposed to be freshly bathed, immaculately groomed, fragrantly scented, with hair shining, and her breath as fresh as morning dew when her man comes home from work. Then HE sits down to eat supper in his dirty work clothes, after which he plops down in an easy chair and watches television until they play the Star Spangled Banner. Then he fails into bed without bathing or brushing his teeth and expacts instant romance! I'd like to hear from other women to whom this scene is familiar.

"TURNED OFF"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Sorry, but the Eskimo custom of lending one's wife to a friend is still practiced.

I play in the national guard band, and we went to the Eskimo Village of Gamble on St. Lawrence Island as part of our annual 2-week field training. We sat around and talked to some of the natives there, and one man offered his daughter to a member of our band for the night. This was apparently his way of showing his friendship and hospitality.

The guy refused the offer because he had been married a week before, and besides we weren't planning on spending the night there.

Sincerely yours,
RUSELL KIDD

A request from Lindy Clark for a permit to install a liquefied petroleum gas station at 1607 Twenty - fifth Street was rejected. Councilmen noted that the location is in the city's No. 1 fire zone and that the state insurance commission had advised that the key fire insurance rate would be subject to an increase of one to four cents if such a station is installed.

The city's annual audit was presented by Buster Anderson, CPA, and accepted by the council. Anderson noted that the audit reflected "excellent planning" in expenditure of city funds during the past year. The overall figures showed budgeted revenue of $869,563.22 and actual expenditure of $856,103.64, leaving an overall balance of $13,459.58.

Residents Disagree With Panel

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — People who live and work near the oil-stained beaches of Santa Barbara disagreed today with a special presidential panel which says offshore oil production should be resumed.

"The people are upset," said County Supervisor George Clyde. "They want drilling in the channel banned."

The plan announced Monday in Washington is expected to be approved by Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel. It calls for continued drilling for 10 to 20 years to pump out an undersea deposit of oil that has been seeping into the Santa Barbara Channel in varying amounts since an offshore well blew out in January.

"After what we've been through," said Mayor Gerald Firestone, "I think the proper solution would have been to eliminate drilling altogether."

A citizen said of the plan's: "Like that black, gooey stuff on the beach there—it stinks."

A geology professor at the University of California in Santa Barbara said a false premise was the basis for the recommendtions of the special panel headed by Dr. Lee DuBridge, President Nixon's scientific adviser.

The professor, Dr. Robert Curry, said:

"The panel evidently based its decision on the belief that the petroleum field now leaking is unique and not connected with an oil-producing horizon.

"Yes, it is possible to dry it up by heavy pumping but this might increase porosity and, when the field recharges itself, the leak could flow more freely than it now does."

When the well in Santa Barbara Channel blew out Jan. 28, an oil slick blotching 800 square miles contaminated commercial and recreational beaches.

The leak continued from fissures around the well even though the main seepage was halted after 11 days.

Thieu Won't Discuss Coalition

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu returned today from visits to South Korea and Nationalist China reiterating his opposition to a coalition government with the Viet Cong.

Before leaving Taipei, Formosa, Thieu said he would not even discuss a coalition when he meets President Nixon Sunday at Midway Island.

In a brief report to the nation by television, Thieu said he was in complete agreement with South Korea and Nationalist China in the struggle against Communist aggression.

Thieu told the Vietnamese people he would report to them again after his talks with Nixon. Nixon has not advocated a coalition government but in his peace plan suggested elections as soon as possible after peace is restored.

Concluding a five-day state visit to Nationalist China, Thieu said at a news conference in Taipei he expects to discuss the gradual replacement of U.S. Troops in Vietnam with South Vietnamese forces when he meets Nixon.

"We may also discuss a more concrete program on how to move toward peace at the talks in Paris," Thieu said. But "I have no intention to discuss the coalition government because I do not intend to do so, and I think President Nixon would not intend to do so with me."

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in its recent 10-point peace plan called for a coalition government for South Vietnam to arrange elections and supervise the withdrawal of foreign troops. Thieu has said repeatedly he would "never" accept such a government.

Nixon has taken no definite stand on the subject. But he said in offering his own eight-point peace program that he was "prepared to accept any government in South Vietnam that results from the free choice of the South Vietnamese people themselves."

Thieu and Nixon's peace program was "compatible" with the six-point program he has proposed.

"Now it is up to the Communists in Paris to have more substantial talks and show better willingness for peace," he said. "Wt have done our best possible."

Thieu said he also does not plan to ask Nixon whether the United States will support his government until the next election called for by South Vietnam's constitution, in 1971.

But, he added "I would like to hear whether the U.S. government and people are determined to help the Vietnamese people to defend freedom until we have an honorable peace and reasonable solution for the war."

He said Washington and Saigon have a common plan for the gradual replacement of U.S. troops by South Vietnamese.

"We are determined to take more responsibility," he said emphatically. "We are ready to do that, we are able to do that, to alleviate the burdens of the U.S. people and U.S. Army."

Thieu sharply denounced anti-war critics Monday night at a farewell banquet attended by President Chaing Kia-shek and other top government officials. One recent critic is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who said last week that Thieu "doesn't help the cause of peace by lobbying in South Korea and Taiwan (Formosa) . . . against President Nixon's peace plan."

WOMEN

Flowers Symbolize God's Power-Beauty Says Ansary

"God hath planted Beauty in our midst [illegible] in the city."

"We came upon the valley of Persia's kings — where the palace of Persepolis lies. It was my eighteenth birthday; in the month of May. I stood upon a hill, and in the valley below where King Darius once ruled a great empire, a hundred million poppies bloomed before my eyes. This is true. It is not a woman's exaggeration. The wind blew, and the huge sea of bright red wild flowers rippled and swayed. Nature was bursting! It was brilliant and endless, and more powerful than a poet's imagination. Later in the valley, I looked at the flowers with reverence, and I did not pick one blossom."

In these words, Maryam Ansary, the young and classically beautiful wife of the Iranian Ambassador to the United States, describes her most memorable encounter with beauty.

To those who know her, it is at once evident that every detail of her story perfectly reflects the broader truths of her own life and character.

This radiant young woman has more than an ordinary love for her country, its poets and artists, its life - loving people and long, proud history. She speaks of King Darius the First, who constructed the palace of Persepolis in 486 B. C., as though the illustrious monarch ruled yesterday. She is thoroughly conversant with the present Shah's social and economic reforms, his democratic "revolution from within," and with a glowing smile she will tell you that he is indeed a Shahanshah — a King of Kings — in the very noblest Persian tradition.

But if one were to ask, "What makes Maryam Ansary most Persian?" the answer would be two - fold. First, there is her sense of personal identity. She is a world citizen — educated in Iran, France, and Washington, D. C. — at George Washington University. She speaks English flawlessly and with poetic beauty. Yet, buttressing all this is her vivid awareness that her own homeland is indeed "the cradle of civilization" and she is a part of Iran's matchless 3,000 - year - old cultural and religious heritage.

Moreover, she sees herself and each member of her family as creative participants in contemporary Iranian history. Her father, His Excellency Abol-Gassem Panahy, formerly Iran's Counsel - General in New York, was appointed Iranian Ambassador to the United Nations in 1955 but died before he could fulfill his post. Her husband, 39-year-old Houshang Ansory, a graduate of the London School of Economics, is Iran's Ambassador to the United States. And if her year - old son Nader one day holds the same position, she will doubly rejoice, for then each of the men closest to her will have been honored to serve their king and country.

Love For Beauty

A love for beauty is the second, and perhaps most important, quality that distinguishes Maryam Ansary as being unmistakably Persian. With the verve, warmth and dignity so characteristic of her people, she cares for things beautiful, she studies beauty, and she creates beauty — beauty to be seen and enjoyed in daily life.

In a recent exclusive embassy interview with Shirley Foster Fields, writer for the Society of American Florists, she said: "My name — Maryam — is the name of a flower in Persia. Flower names for women are, in fact, very common in Iran. Lily and Yasmin are the names names of my sister-in-law and niece.

"Over the centuries, we Persians have used flowers to honor God, to depict beauty and life. Flowers are everywhere in our culture — in our poetry, in our marvelous carpets and miniature paintings, in our pottery and textiles and our daily lives.

"As a people, I should say that we have an exceptional hunger for flowers! In the humblest Iranian home, one inevitably finds a small bowl of fresh fruit, and a bouquet of fresh flowers. These are enjoyed and replaced daily."

She pointed out that although flower production thrives in Iran, none are sold for export because home consumption is so great. With typical insight into Iranian character, she added: "The people who grow flowers love them more than they love the fact that they sell them."

This comment comes as no surprise to one familiar with Iran's history. Since earliest times, Iranians have believed in — and celebrated — the divinity of nature and the existence of one God. A single line by Persia's great 13th Century poet Sa'adi illustrates the point: "To the eye of a discerning man, every leaf upon a growing tree is a book imparting knowledge of our Creator."

"Persia is the birthplace of the world's first monotheistic religion — Zoroastrianism," Mrs. Ansary explained. "For centuries we have felt and seen the presence of one divine creative force in the universe. We cannot define it exactly, but we use flowers to symbolize the power and beauty of God."

At The Embassy

An embassy is sometimes a cold and impersonal place, but certainly this cannot be said of the Embassy of Iran. Priceless carpets, miniature paintings and tapestries, incomparable tile work, and Mrs. Ansary's own fresh flower bouquets beautify the chancery and residence.

Early in the morning, in the presence of her young son and daughter, Nader and Nadereh, she had arranged twin bouquets of fragrant eucalyptus, carnations, and fugi chrysanthemums. One she placed beside a couch of white brocade; the other on an antique sideboard, directly in front of an exquisitely-wrought silk carpet displayed like a tapestry on the wall. The carpet shows lovers in a garden, so there was a happy blending of blossoms in the room — hand - stitched and real.

"A subtle but powerful change takes place in the home constantly beautified with flowers," she said. "Women who live with them daily become, themselves, more beautiful."

Mrs. Ansary's favorite flowers for entertaining are red and white carnations. "They are dramatic and long-lasting," she said. "My personal favorites are the rose, Persia's national flower, and the lily-of-the-valley because it is beautiful yet unpretentious, just as I like people to be. And I love hyacinths because they proclaim spring and have the strength to endure the rigors of the snow."

Outside in the fresh, springtime air there was the sound of water gently splashing from a classically - designed Persian pool and fountain. Much of the Middle Eastern world is desert; perhaps this is why the Iranian's concept of paradise is a pool and flower garden.

There were books of Persian poetry at the embassy, and one verse was especially appropriate. Written by the 14th Century poet Amir Khosrow, it is a reminder that no matter how strong the encroachments of 20th Century technology, natural beauty is a heritage that all Iranians are determined to preserve.

The masked bobwhite made its home in the deep grasses of southern Arizona until overgrazing by cattle eliminated its natural habitat. By 1912, many ornithologists believed the bird to be extinct. It was rediscovered in 1927 in Sonora, Mexico.

Rural Search For Basics

HOMELAND: A Report From the Country. By Hal Borland. Lippincott. $4.50.

It is reassuring to know that the fundamentals of life remain unchanged in the world which Borland inhabits.

He is the countryman — not exactly a farmer — who has written these "dispatches," as he calls them, to let the outer world know what is going on. Readers of his earlier books will know that he lives in the Berkshires at the northwest corner of Connecticut.

These pieces are full of astute observations, about the weather, the crops, the wildlife and the cycles of nature.

But they also are saturated with the philosophy of country living, and the eternal search for the basic verities. Such truths as "the miracles are in the root, the seed, the egg, not in the laboratories or the machines."

Borland refuses to accept the myths of technology, and chides the technologists for substituting techniques and data for the answers to life. He also formulates his credo, saying that the country can give a man a belief in "life and time, if nothing else. Given these, almost anything is possible that a rational man might want."

In format, these articles are based on the four seasons, in each of the last five years, arranged chronologically. His observations and reflections follow the rhythms of the year, and the effect is like hearing the four movements of a symphony, orchestrated in five different ways.

NATION'S HIGHEST COST OF LIVING

Hawaii Sun Raises Prices

By GEORGE ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — "I know Hawaii has the nation's highest cost of living," the housewife told her husband.

"But this is ridiculous!"

The woman, a recent arrival, had just paid 88 cents for a head of lettuce that would have cost 20 cents in Los Angeles.

A tourist may grumble about the high cost of a Hawaii holiday while sipping a $1.30 beer in Waikiki. But it's the Hawai resident who pays the highest premium for a place in the sun.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, the Island State has the highest food prices in the nation. And just about everything else.

An executive transferred here was shocked to learn the dingy, rat-trapped home he had just inspected would cost $325 a month.

"I wouldn't even live in it for $100," he told the landlady. She shrugged, confident the house would be rented within the week. It was.

With limited housing and no rent controls, finding a place to live is a new resident's biggest headache.

Lt. Gov. Thomas P. Gill disclosed a recent survey that found only seven homes out of every 1,000 in the Honolulu housing market are available to house hunters.

In a report made March 26, Gill said the average price of a home in Hawaii had jumped about $12,000 since 1960. The average price of a single-family dwelling was $28,477, compared to a national average of $15,940.

"We can clearly demonstrate that the market price of a single-family home in Hawaii is from 50 to 100 per cent higher than similar housing on the mainland," the report concluded.

The pineapple industry is Hawaii's No. 3 moneymaker, behind the military and tourism, and yet a can of sliced pineapple costs up to 11 cents more here than on the mainland.

A newspaper survey found a market less than 2,000 feet from the gate of Dole's Oahu cannery selling No. 2 cans of sliced pineapple for 39 cents. In Baltimore, identical cans of the Dole Hawaiian product sold for 37 cents.

While the national cost-of-living surveys give Honolulu the honors, behind San Francisco, New York and Chicago, they ignore the Neighbor Islands that comprise the State of Hawaii.

Actually, Honolulu is not the nation's costliest city. That title belongs to Wailuku, on the Island of Maui, the hub of the state's sugar cane industry.

Most of the large mainland companies give employes a 10 per cent cost-of-living salary increase when they are transferred here. Persons stationed in Hawaii with the military receive "overseas pay."

How do residents combat the high cost of living?

Well, you don't wear much clothing. The kids go to school barefoot. And there are no heating bills.

But mostly they put their wives to work.

"Hawaii has the highest percentage of working wives in the nation," says state statistician Robert Schmitt.

Because of this, family income in Hawaii is generally higher than on the mainland. The median family income here is $8,053, against $6,882 on the mainland.

An economic forecast predicts tourism will overtake military spending in the next decade to become the No. 1 industry in Hawaii.

And yet some blame tourism for spiraling prices in Hawaii.

Honolulu Mayor Frank Fasi urged the legislature to enact a hotel room tax, hoping to ease the tax burden of local residents.

"We are fast becoming peasants in Paradise," he said.

The recent Rotary International convention brought 15,000 Rotarians to Honolulu, each of them spending from $50 to $90 a day.

A group called the "Hawaii Residents Council" mailed mimeographed pleas to Rotarians, urging them not spend money here.

Boyle Gives Philosophy To Graduate

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear Poor Man's Philosopher:

"I am graduating from college this week and have already ordered a frame for my sheepskin.

"Now I'm trying to figure out what to do next. Would you mind telling me how I can live a long and happy life?

"Wondering."

Dear Wondering:

Certainly, my boy. It's easy to tell someone else how to live a long and happy life. Doing it oneself, of course, is quite another matter.

The first thing I'd do if I were you is to throw away any old picket signs you may have been carrying lately. You won't need them anymore unless you have decided to become a career picket.

The next thing to do is to find a steady job. Your sheepskin should be of help in opening a few doors. But remember it is only a badge of accomplishment; it is not a passport to immediate prosperity.

Unless you are unusually self-reliant, it is probably better to work for a corporation rather than try to start off on your own. And don't worry too much if you aren't offered a vice-idency of the firm the first few months.

While the world is full of vice presidents, most of them spent years before achieving that thick rug on the floor, that nameplate on the door. Be content to do the nitty-gritty tasks until you learn the rules of the business game.

From the day you get your first paycheck until the day you cash your last one, be sure to save or invest at least 15 per cent of everyone you get. This often may mean a real sacrifice, but it will give you a cushion of confidence and win the respect of your peers.

As soon as you are on a regular payroll, you will be astounded at how many young women are willing to marry you. Don't be in a hurry and wed a girl merely because she is pretty, has a steady job herself or a rich papa.

Her beauty may come from the drugstore, she may quit her job, or her papa may lose his riches. Wait and marry the girl you find you simply cannot live any longer without.

Here are some further general rules that should help bring you success and health:

If you find you simply can't stand the line of work you're in, quit while you're young and go into one you can stand.

Don't call your boss by his first name unless you marry his daughter or he has been calling you by your first name for at least five years.

Lend or borrow money only when you must do so to keep our own self-respect.

Work for only a few good causes. If you try to work for every worthwhile cause, you'll fritter yourself away.

Read a new book or an old poem at least once a week, get eight hours of sleep every night and walk three miles every day, do your best to keep from falling in love with your neighbor's wife, and never interrupt your own wife when she's telling you something she insists is for your own good.

Junior Editors Quiz on MISTLETOE

QUESTION: How does mistletoe start growing on trees?

* * *

ANSWER: Mistletoe is a curious vine which lives on certain trees. It has evergreen leaves and clusters of attractive white berries. These berries are sticky, with seeds inside, and are eaten by birds. The bird wipes his beak on the bark of a tree to clean it, and some of the seeds are left on the tree. These sprout and send feelers into the tree, making a connection through which the vine gets water and minerals. The Roman writer Pliny records that, along with the oak tree, the mistletoe was regarded as sacred by the ancient cult of the Druids. Many of our Christmas symbols have their roots in ancient customs. People in Scandinavia are said to have been the first to hang up mistletoe. The tradition seemed to have been that a sprig of mistletoe would lead toward marriage. From this probably came the custom of hanging it up to give a gay romantic note to the Christmas festivities. Catch someone standing under the mistletoe, says the custom, and you have the right to a kiss.

Indians Scalp A's, Braves Nudge Cubs

The Braves edged the Cubs, 8-6 and the Athletics fell to the Indians in two Little League baseball games last night in Towle Memorial Park.

The Braves scored three runs in the fifth and two in the sixth to overcome an early lead by the Cubs. Ronny Payne socked a two bagger in a three run Cub uprising in the first inning and then added a solo home run in the fifth.

Roy Carter homered in the sixth frame with Roy Gill on the sack for the Braves margin of victory. Bryan Hargrove had lashed a three-bagger for the Braves when they scored three runs in the fifth.

In the second game the Athletics beat the Indians 8-6. In the first inning the Athletics scored one run after R. Miller hit a single, the only Athletic hit of the game. The Indians were scoreless in the first. In the second inning, the Athletics scored one more run as M. Miller crossed home. The Indians didn't score in the second. The third inning saw the Athletics chalk up four more runs the Indians finally got on the scoreboard with two runs after a hit by Greg Gafford. The The Athletics didn't score in the fourth and the Indians narrowed the gap scoring three runs after hits by Billy Murry, Bob Thompson and Joey Arnold. The fifth inning was scoreless for both teams. The Indians took advantage of a scoreless sixth for the Athletics and brought in three more runs to win the game. Sid Perry smashed a home run and Billy Murry got a hit for the Indian drive. Harvey Waller, giving up only one hit to the Athletics, was the winning pitcher while S. Walton was the losing pitcher.

Teaff Snares Palo Duro Star

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Angelo State head football coach Grant Teaff has signed schoolboy all-American William (Junior) Cunningham of Amarillo Palo Duro to a football letter of intent.

Cunningham, a 6-foot-3 215-pound defensive tackle and end, was named to the first team defensive unit on the Class AAAA all-state team last season.

Teaff also announced the signing of three other footballers including fullback Gary Howell of Spur, halfback Joey Sherman of New Deal, and guard-tackle Gary Rotla of Houston Sam Houston.

DALLAS (AP) — Mike Cronholm of Lake Highlands, the Class AAAA 330-yard hurdles champion, has signed a track letter of intent with Rice University.

Cronholm's best clocking in the 330 hurdles is 37.4, the second fastest time in the nation.

The 6-foot, 160-pounder ran the 440-yard hurdles in :53.2 at the Meet of Champions in Houston last weekend.

New Irving Coach

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Denny Carter has been named head football coach at Irving High School, replacing Kenneth Dabbs, who resigned last week.

Carter was an assistant coach at Irving last season, when the Tigers advanced to the state quarterfinals.

Dabbs resigned to become head coach and athletic director of the new Eanes Independent School District near Austin.

Bullets, Oilers Tie, Braves Shell Sports

The Braves shelled the Sports 12-0, and the Bullets and Oilers fought to a 2-2 standstill in Junior Teenage League action in Towle Park Monday night.

The Braves' Jackie Murray and Gary Smith shared the mound chores. The only hit they allowed the Sports was a triple by Billy Giles in the first inning. The Sports also put men on base in the second, third and sixth frames on walks or errors, but each time the Braves hurlers quelled the threat.

Murray and Smith also aided their own cause with two hits apiece. One of Murray's was a 6th inning 3-run home run that propelled the Braves into the final run and caused the tilt to be halted under the 10 run rule. Jackie also drove in a run in the 5th frame with a single. Smith singled in the 5th and 6th inning. His first hit drove in a run.

DeWayne Riggs slammed a double for the Braves in the third, and the hit accounted for two more runs. Joe Price singled in a run in the third stanza. The other four runs were unearned.

Larry Fuller and Terry Sutton handled the pitching for the Sports.

The tilt between the Bullets and Oilers was called after six innings with the score deadlocked at 2-2. Each team tallied a run in the last inning. The Bullets got their last run on a single by Marvin McClanahan. The Oilers' last run resulted from an error that put Jim Waters on first followed by a resounding triple by Jerry Webb.

The Oilers had taken a 1-0 lead in the 1st when Charley Anderson walked, advanced on a single by Hubert Crayton, and scored on subsequent walks. The Bullets had tied it up in the 5th. Kent Horsley tripled and scored on an error. Horsley's triple and McClanahan's single were the only hits given up by the Oiler pitchers Robert Braziel and Sidney Wall.

Ralph Johnston, the losing hurler, was touched for five safeties. The other Oiler hits included doubles by Braziel and Ivory Greer and another single by Crayton.

Weather permitting, the Dodgers meet the Rebels in the first tilt tonight followed by a Senior Teenage League inaugural match between the Clippers and the Jets.

FARM LEAGUE ACTION

Cubs Rip Braves; A's, Tribe Tie

In the first of two Farm League clashes held last night at Towle Park, the Cubs clobbered the Braves 17-3. Taking advantage of ten walks and a single by Dwain Collier the Cubs took a substantial lead in the first inning bringing in nine runs. The Braves were scoreless in the first. Using four more walks and a sacrifice by Malcome Small the Cubs scored four more times in the second. The third inning saw the Cubs bring in four more runs after Dwain Collier rapped his second single of the game. The Braves chalked up their only three runs in the third after Jimmy Crow hit a double. The game was called after the third inning leaving Terry Franks the winning pitcher for the Cubs while James Spivey was the loosing pitcher for the Braves.

In the second Farm League game, the Athletics and the Indians battled it out to a 9-9 tie in a game that only went five innings. The Athletics managed to bring in three runs in the first inning, when Marrio Herrendo and Robert Irwin hit singles. The Indians scored twice in the second inning. Jackie Womack, and Denton Hanna rapped Indian singles in the first. The second inning, with singles by Marrio Herrendo, Robert Irwin and Randy Tate, the Athletics scored two more runs while the Indians failed to cross home. The Athletics scored three more runs in the third with no hits and the Indians, with singles by Fernando Lopez, Gary Carlton and Randy Stroder brought in two runs. The Athletics scored only one run in the fourth inning after Marrio Herrendo smashed a double. The Indians brought in three runs in the fourth with no hits. The fifth inning the Athletics were scoreless but the Indians chalked up two more runs after Dana Hanna, and Randy Stroder hit singles.

Levias Signs 3-Year Oiler Pro Pact

HOUSTON (AP) — Jerry Levias, the exciting All-American flanker from Southern Methodist University, is an official member of the Houston Oilers today.

Levias, the first Negro on a Southwest Conference grid-iron team, was the Oilers' number 2 draft choice. He signed a multi-year contract Monday that is believed to be at least $126,000 during the next three years.

"We've signed Jerry to a multi-year contract," said Don Klosterman, general manager and vice president.

"We were in close contact with Jerry over the weekend and he came to town this morning to consumate our negotiations," Klosterman said.

Levias said that signing with the oilmen was just like "staying in the Southwest Conference."

"It's a load off my mind and I'm sure it's a load off my mother's mind. I'm sure it will ease her mind a lot," Levias said. "This is certainly one of the highlights of my career and maybe now I can start repaying my mother for all the things she's done for me."

The contract with the Oilers was the first of several contracts for the former Mustang. He said Monday that he is in negotiations for a position in the marketing division of Continental Oil Co., of Houston.

"We're still talking, but I hope to go to work for them. However, I'm still negotiating so just some of the pressure is off after signing with the Oilers," Levais said.

Meanwhile, the Oilers also announced the signing of Johnny Peacock, a defensive back from the University of Houston. Peacock, was the American Football League team's No. 5 draft choice.

The tall blond's salary terms were not disclosed. He weighs 248-pounds and will be used by the oilmen as a safety.

"I'm just real happy with being able to stay in Houston where I already know a lot of people," Peacock said.

He played quarterback at Goliad High School.

The Oilers further announced Monday that an agreement with the Chicago Bears was reached to give the teams five exhibition games, four of them in the Astrodome. The games will be spread over a number of years.

Levias, an academic All American, is a nominee for the National Football Foundation graduate scholarship.

The 5-10, 175-pound consensus graduate scholarship.

The 5-10, 175-pound consensus All-American in 1968, was named Sophomore of the Year in 1967. While at Southern Methodist he demolished all of Doak Walker's punt and kick-off return marks and established new pass receiving records previously owned by Benton Musslewhite.

Collegiate marks established by Levias include most passes caught in a single game (5), in a single season (80), and in a career (155).

Levias and his mother, who watched the contract signing at a luncheon in the Astrodome were greeted by Levias' cousin Miller Farr, an Oiler cornerback.

Americans Pin Hopes On Girls

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States' two top tennis girls, Nancy Richey and Julie Heldman, faced each other today in the quarter-finals of the French Open championships—and it was a vital match for both.

Nancy, of San Angelo, Tex., is defending the title she won last year.

Julie, of New York City, is bidding for the big European double. She won the Italian titlt in April.

The United States no longer has any interest in the men's singles event at the Roland Garros Stadium and is pinning its hopes on the girls. Two other Americans, professionals Mrs. Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals, are also in the quarter-finals but were not scheduled to play today.

Also scheduled for today were the two remaining men's singles —Rod Laver of Australia, the top seed, vs. Andrew Gimeno of Spain, and Tom Okker of The Netherlands vs. John Newcombe of Australia.

Two Australians, Kerry Melville and Mrs. Margaret Court, were paired against each other in the women's singles.

The men's singles, carrying a first prize of $7,000 is dominated by promoter-controlled professionals.

In doubles matches Monday, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, U.S. Davis Cup players, advanced by default. They didn't have to play in the quarter-finals because Manuel Santana of Spain withdrew because of a groin injury.

Carlos, ChiSox Clip Boston

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing half-baked about Chicago's Sweetroll Kid. Before long, he might be the hottest biscuit in baseball's swinging May family.

Carlos "Sweetroll" May, whose older brother, Lee, hits home runs for Cincinnati, poled the first grand slam homer of his brief major league career Monday night, climaxing a six-run eighth inning rally that thrust the Chicago White Sox past Boston 6-4.

The homer, 11th of the season for the Chicago rookie, gave him 29 RBI in 38 games and boosted his batting average to .307—fifth best in the American League.

Brother Lee has hit 15 homers and knocked in 35 runs for the Reds in four more games, but his average is 23 points lower.

"Carlos is going to be an even better hitter than his brother," says Luis Aparicio, the White Sox' veteran shortstop. "Lee is good. I know he hit .290 last season with 22 homers and 80 RBI. I looked it up.

"But Carlos has a better swing. In maybe two years he'll pass Lee."

Seattle's Mike Hegan cracked two homers and a single to move into the No. 6 spot in the AL batting derby with a .304 Cleveland 8-2. California beat Denny McLain and the Detroit mark as the Pilots slammed Tigers 3-1; Minnesota nipped the New York Yankees 3-2 on Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer and Washington edged Kansas City 7-6 in other AL action.

In the National League, the New York Mets shaded Los Angeles 2-1; San Diego stung Philadelphia 6-4 and Atlanta trimmed St. Louis 6-3. The San Francisco-Montreal and Cincinnati-Pittsburgh games were rained out, while Houston and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

May, nicknamed "Cupcake," and then "Sweetroll" by White Sox teammates because of his butterball physique, smacked 10 homers before celebrating his 21st birthday on May 17. He had hit just 13 last season at Lynchburg, while leading the Class AA Carolina League with a .330 average.

The 6-foot-205 pound left-handed swinger had failed to connect in 14 games prior to Monday night. But he unloaded into the faraway right field seats at Fenway Park against southpaw Sparky Lyle in the eighth.

"Lefties don't bother him," said Manager Don Gutteridge. "He's absolutely fearless.

"He's tremendously strong and he's going to get stronger."

The White Sox' stunning comeback—after they'd been blanked on two hits through the seventh by rookie Mike Nagy—eclipsed Rico Petrocelli's 16th homer and Carl Yastrzemski's 12th for the Red Sox.

Hegan, a good-field first baseman-outfielder who batted .136 for the Yankees in his only previous full season in the majors, drove in three runs with his fifth and sixth homers as the Pilots battered Cleveland. He hit one home run in 86 games with New York.

The 26-year-old son of Jim Hegan, a former All-Star catcher for Cleveland, also drew a walk in Seattle's three-run first inning flurry and singled in the seventh for a perfect night at the plate.

Steve Whitaker drove in two more Seattle runs with a homer and bunt single. Winning pitcher Steve Barber and reliever Jim Bouton scattered six hits, including Ken Harrelson's fifth homer.

The Angels spotted Detroit a first inning run, then scored three off McLain, 8-5, in the third. Jay Johnstone keyed the burst with a two-run triple and tallied on Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly. Tom Murphy and reliever Rudy May checked the Tigers on four hits.

McLain, who won 31 games for Detroit last year, didn't sustain his fifth loss until Aug. 24.

Killebrew socked his 408th career homer in the fifth inning, erasing a 2-1 New York lead built on Bobby Cox' third inning homer and taking 13th place on the all-time HR list—one ahead of Duke Snider.

Southpaw Jim Kaat went the distance for the Twins, yielding six hits and bringing his season mark to 5-3.

Bernie Allen's bases-loaded triple in the third inning brought the Senators from behind to a 5-4 edge and they went on to hand Kansas City its sixth successive setback.

Frank Howard stroked two singles and a triple and scored three Washington runs. Juan Rios had three hits, including his first major league homer, for the Royals.

Court Ruling On Military Crimes Adds Legal Work

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

The amount of legal case work is liable to rise in the wake of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision to stop military trials for off-post crimes by servicemen.

This is the conclusion drawn by several Texas District Attorneys, but others say they have already instituted the ruling handed down by the nation's highest court Monday.

In a 5-3 decision, the court overturned the conviction of an Army sergeant found guilty by a court martial of attempted rapt of a 14-year-old girl at a Honolulu hotel.

Associated Justice William O. Douglas, who wrote the majority opinion, said, "We have concluded that the crime to be under military jurisdiction must be service- connected."

Stanley Kacir, district attorney of Bell County in Texas, which includes Ft. Hood, remarked: "My first impression is one of shock when I think of the increase in business that we are going to have."

Kacir said circumstances determine whether civilian or military authorities try a case involving a serviceman. "I would estimate we have between 150-250 cases per year of every sort, particularly marijuana, that are turned over to the military for prosectution."

Kacir added that if a soldier commits a crime, such as burglary, against a civilian, then he tries the case.

"But my district judge feels that since the military is more familiar with the soldiers involved, he likes me to turn the case back over to the military."

San Antonio Dist. Atty. James Barlow said, "I've been expecting it (the decision). It's going to create a problem here."

There are many military posts in the San Antonio area, and Barlow said he handles major off-post crimes by servicemen. "But on a lot of minor crimes, we let the military clean their own house."

He said servicemen occasionally commit crimes to avoid being sent to Vietnam.

"On one occassion, just before a guy was supposed to ship out, he broke into the Alamo, then set the alarm off and waited for the officers. In that case, we just turned him over to the military and they shipped him out."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Marquez of El Paso, site of Ft. Bliss, said the decision will have little effect.

"When crimes are committed in our community by military men, off-post, we go ahead and try the individual," he said.

"Our experience has been the military code is not as severe as the state penal code. A robber, for example, might get six months in the stockade, while he would get a minimum of five years in prison under state law."

In Wichita Falls, home of Sheppard Air Force Base, Dist. Atty. Jim Phagan says there will be little change.

"We handle military personnel just as we do civilians, if the crime is committed off the military reservation. In isolated incidents, we will turn cases over to them. But it is very much the exception to the rule," Phagan said.

Dist. Atty. Sam Cleveland of Palo Pinto County, which includes Ft. Wolters, said: "We don't have a great deal of trouble from persons at the fort. I've been trying most of the felonies—at least 90 per cent of them."

And in Fort Worth, with nearby Carswell Air Force Base, Asst. Dist. Atty. John Brady said, "We don't look for any changes in our work load at all."

Proportionately, he said, military personnel do not commit a large number of crimes.

Tax Returns Tell Fact On Parvin

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New tax returns show the foundation which Supreme Court William O Douglas headed has cut most of its links with Las Vegas casinos and has switched its money to blue chip stocks.

Douglas, who resigned as president of the Parvin Foundation last month, received a total of $84,765 over the past seven years as its only paid officer, the records show.

The 1968 tax returns, made public Monday by the Internal Revenue Service, disclose the foundation began selling its stock in the controversial Parvin-Dohrmann Co. last November. The firm owns three gambling casinos in Las Vegas.

The foundation reaped nearly $2.5 million from the sale—a gain of tenfold over the value listed in tax returns just four years ago.

The returns show the foundation was still tied to the firm at the start of this year through a $700,000 loan to Parvin-Dohrmann.

The loan is believed to figure in an investigation of the foundation's tax status by the IRS.

Douglas' departure from the foundation was announced May 23 while controversy still shadowed Justice Abe Fortas' resignation from the Supreme Court in the storm over a $20,000 annual agreement with the family foundation of a jailed financier.

A reported letter sent by Douglas to the Parvin Foundation offering advice on its tax problems has stirred more criticism in Congress.

The return shows the foundation placed its investments last year in such other stocks as IBM, AT&T, Anaconda, International Paper, Standard Oil and Cooper Tire.

Sirhan Wishes . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Sirhan B. Sirhan says he wishes Robert F. Kennedy were alive "to be president."

The convicted assassin of the New York senator, in a interview from Los Angeles County jail, said, "Every morning when I get up, sir, I say I wish that son-of-a-gun were alive, that I wouldn't have to be here now."

Sirhan was interviewed by Jack Perkins, NBC news correspondent, on May 22, the day after he was sentenced to die in the San Quentin gas chamber. NBC reportedly paid $12,000 to Sirhan for the interview.

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — Murrell Foster, director of information at East Texas State University here, has been named manager of the communications department of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

HHH Critical Of Nixon Food Plan

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the Nixon administration is "either unable or unwilling" to meet the problem of feeding the poor.

Describing hunger as a "serious and needless public health emergency," Humphrey said:

"In January a new administration, declaring its intention to eradicate hunger, came on the scene. But months have gone by and little has been accomplished.

"One is forced to conclude that the over-all hunger attack outlined with such fanfare by the President a few weeks ago —but not yet put before Congress—lacks the urgency so clearly required.

"It calls for too little money, no new or imaginative programs, and a delay in meaningful expansion until the 1970s.

"This kind of response is inadequate in view of this coutnry's tremendous wealth. It is unnecessarily timid in view of the strong public support for doing what is necessary. And it is indefensible in view of recent testimony disclosing findings of the national nutrition survey."

Humphrey made his remarks in an address prepared for delivery at commencement ceremonies at Morehouse College.

TAX ANSWERS

Q — I have my refund. Does that mean my return was alright and will not be audited?

A — No, it does not. The fact that you have your refund indicates only that your return contained all the required information needed to process it.

IRS generally has three years from the filing deadline of the return to examine the return and propose an adjustment in the tax liability.

For this reason, keep your tax records for at least three years from the due date of the return. Some records such as those relating to the acquisition of a house or other property, should be kept longer.

Q — I lost my refund check. Can I get it replaced?

A —Yes, report the loss to the IRS Service Center where you filed your return. They will send you the forms needed to apply for a replacement check.

Q — I forgot to deduct my medical expenses when I filed my 1968 tax return. Is it too late to do it?

A — No, it is not too late to amend a 1968 return. To make a change, obtain a Form 1040-X, Amended U. S. Individual Income Tax Return, from your local IRS office and enter the information called for. It is not necessary to file a completely new return.

Q — Is a gardener considered household help? If so, will I have to withhold social security taxes on wages paid?

A — Wages paid to a gardener are subject to social security taxes. If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter then you are required to file a Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees, and pay social security taxes.

Income taxes, however, do not have to be withheld from wages paid gardeners and other household help.

Q — My son is taking a job this summer and plans to put most of the money he earns in the bank to pay his college expenses in the fall. If he earns over $600 will we lose our dependency exemption for him

A — If your son is under 19 at year end or will be a full-time student during the year, the amount of money he earns will not disqualify him from being claimed as your dependent as long as you furnish more than one-half of his support and the other dependency tests are met. He must file his own return, however, if he earns $600 or more during the year.

Q — Do you have to be a doctor or a lawyer to set up your own retirement plan?

A — No, other persons in business for themseles can take advantage of the tax provisions allowing them to deduct contributions to a self-employed retirement plan. This includes people who have their own business and also those who have income from part-time self-employment which is in addition to their regular job.

Publication 566, Questions and Answers on Retirement Plans for the Self-Employed, gives more information on these plans. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

Farm Plans Raise Question

WASHINGTON (AP) Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin parries many questions about Nixon administration farm plans with a refrain such as

"We're considering numerous alternatives and hope to reach some kind of consensus later on this year."

Hardin believes he has time [illegible] Congress do not expire until the end of 1970.

But impatience is growing in some quarters. And there are rumbles that Congress may take the lead and begin hearings on a farm program for the 1970s long before the administration is ready to move.

If so, Hardin shrugs, he will be available to the congressional committees.

In the meantime, he is committed to a thorough study and review of all possible avenues. Massive land retirement Possibly, Hardin says. But there are many problems to consider.

The administration says it senses considerable dissatisfaction among leading farm organizations and congressional power centers over the inability of federal programs the past 36 years to solve the problems.

Therefore, the Nixon farm team says, some middle route must be found through which huge surpluses can be avoided and farm income boosted if possible.

What specific proposals ultimately will be unveiled are not clear at this point. But there is a growing expression of doubt among Nixon farm officials that the nation can forever be wedded to what some consider highly restrictive and expensive farm subsidy and production control programs.

This doubt is not new nor has it been confined to the Nixon administration. It was summed up last week in Kansas City by assistant secretary Clarence D. Palmby at a meeting of the American Feed Manufacturers Association.

"It is time," Palmby said, "to deliver farm policy out of the gross partisanship and ideology that have made it so difficult in the past to view farm problems realistically. And I believe we have a rare opportunity to realign the farm programs in the years immediately ahead."

Palmby mentioned inflation, lagging exports, a continuing surplus problem and the price support structure as examples of farm obstacles.

"The rice support program no longer benefits low-income farmers to any decisive extent," Palmby said.

Also, he said, the price support structure has impaired the marketing system.

"Whenever price supports are unrealistically high, they tend for some commodities to discourage utilization," Palmby said. "This has happened, at times, in the past."

The balance of supply with effective demand is the crux of most farm problems. This elusive balance and the role of government programs also has been debated long before Palmby made his talk.

Here are the words of some past secretaries of agriculture:

—Orville L. Freeman, Nov. 18, 1967, speaking of farm bargaining power: "We've gone about as far as we can under existing programs. Further progress toward parity of income for farmers will depend primarily on what they can do for themselves through groun action, on their ability to maintain supply-demand balance—and on their ability to show some economic muscle at the bargaining table."

—Ezra Taft Benson, Feb. 6, 1958: "We in the department want to help, but we all know that government cannot assume and solve all our farm problems. Farms have to be run, decisions have to be made, and responsibilities have to be by the families on the farm."

—Henry Wallace, Dec. 15, 1933. "What we need is not less science in production, but more science in distribution, and this means distribution of wealth as well as of the physical products."

Rockefeller Says Trip Successful

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says that despite the anti-U.S. demonstrations his Latin-American trip was a "tremendous success" in terms of finding out what the people are thinking.

"Despite the problems that developed," the trip brought into "sharp focus the feelings, hopes and aspirations" of Latin Americans, he told newsmen on his arrival Monday night at Kennedy Airport.

The New York governor returned ahead of schedule from the second of four planned fact-finding trips for President Nixon because his stop in Venezuela was canceled to forestall any further disturbances.

He reaffirmed his determination to continue the presidential mission. "I think our tours are working very well," he said. 'As for harm, I can't see any area where harm is being done."

"The trip is a tremendous success in my opinion in the sense of finding out what the President asked us to find out," Rockefeller said. He defined the purpose of the mission as finding out "what the people are thinking."

Rockefeller was originally scheduled to visit every Latin American nation except Cuba. Peru was taken off the itinerary before the start of the second leg because of a crisis over Peruvian expropriation of a U.S.-owned oil company.

Violence has marred seven of the nine stops made thus far. A visit to Bolivia was cut from 22 hours to three and did not extend beyond the confines of the heavily guarded airport.

Rockefeller attributed the anti-U.S. demonstrations to dissident students. "We must recognize that student protest is a pattern of life—worldwide," he said.

But he also said, "There is some evidence that there is some popular support to these demonstrations or it would not be giving those countries so much trouble."

As to his findings, the Republican governor said it appeared that "sources of friction" between the United States and Latin America "have increased."

In addition to Bolivia, the mission visited Colombia, Ecuador and Trinidad and Rockefller said, "I am ready to go back to Venezuela anytime."

Vietnam Veteran Goes On Trial

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A U.S. Army veteran of Vietnam is scheduled to go on trial Friday for distributing anti-war material on his post.

Spec. 4 Bob Bowers, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will appear before a special court martial at Ft. Hood, an Army spokesman said.

His military attorney, Capt. John W. Richardson, said Bowers was accused of distributing copies of two locally published anti-war leaflets, The Fatigue Press and the GI Organizer.

Richardson said it was against Army regulations to distribute any literature on a post without the permission of the post commander. He said maximum penalty for the offense is two years in the stockade.

An Army spokesman said Bowers was seeking a civilian attorney, which might delay his trial. Bowers was reportedly restricted to his unit pending the outcome of the court martial.

Holiday Sets New Record In Fatalities

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents took a record 597 lives during the 78-hour Memorial Day weekend, topping the previous three-day Memorial Day record of 542 set in 1966.

The National Safety Council had estimated 550 to 650 persons would lose their lives in traffic mishaps during the period from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

During a nonholiday period of equal length two weeks ago, 481 traffic deaths were counted in an Associated Press survey, conducted for comparison purposes.

The highest traffic toll for any Memorial Day weekend was in 1968 when 629 persons died in a four-day period.

Howard Pyle, safety council director, said Monday the recent holiday traffic toll is a "direct relationship to the ever widening gap between trouble-making factors that contribute to highway crashes and problem solving factors that provide more safety."

Woman Shot In Houston Robbery

HOUSTON (AP) — Gertrude Wachsberg, 40, was shot and killed Monday in a holdup at the food market she operated with her husband, David Wachsberg, also 49.

Police quoted witnesses as saying Mrs. Wachsberg emptied three cash registers for the robber, who was armed with an automatic pistol.

"I thought the man was going to leave the store, but he grabbed Mrs. Wachsberg by the back of her dress and pulled her toward the door," said Checker Dorothy Mae Skyes.

"He said, 'You're going with me'. Mrs. Wachsberg said, 'no, what do you want with me?," Mrs. Sykes told police.

She said Mrs. Wachsberg tried to pull away, and, as the robber grabbed her around the neck, change fell on the floor and the gun fired.

Police records showed this was the fourth time in 10 days and the sixth in 27 days that a Houston resident was killed during a robbery.
