CAGE SEASON TO OPEN SOON

Prospects Good For A Winning Basketball Team; O'Donnell Game First

(By A. B. Sanders)

As the sun set in the west on the eve of "Turkey Day" the curtain fell on the football season for this year. But at the dawn of light on the morning of November 27, the thrilling opportunities of basketball were ushered in on the waiting applicants.

On the afternoon of December 1 the boys started basketball with the same earnestness that kept them going through the entire football season. About fifteen "hustlers" reported to receive training for the new sport. Coach Stone reports that the prospects are good for a winning team this time. There have been ten complete suits purchased for the team. These suits will be given out just before the first game. The boys will have lots of competition for places, and when we meet O'Donnell here on December 18, the people of the town will have an opportunity to see a real game. The game will be played at "Camp Tahoka." Mr. Brandon has been very generous in granting the boys the use of his camp for a court. This gives a good enclosure and will protect the spectators from the chilly winds that sometimes blow while games are being played.

Season tickets are now on sale by the Athletic Club. These tickets, on title the holder to see all the games played on the local court. We guarantee that at least ten games will be played here, and possibly more. These tickets are furnished at the minimum price of $2.00 each.

Come out and see the team in action that is starting out with the full determination of entering the district contest at Lubbock this year. There are several reasons why we can expect this. Clay Bennett, Paul King, Barney Davis of last year, and Bennie King, Milton Fulton, Tommy Woodward, Ernest Cowan, Burton Hackney, and Oran Short are all good reasons why we expect to go to Lubbock.

A tentative schedule for the first few games is as follows:

1. O'Donnell, December 18, here;
 2. Lamesa, December 22, Lamesa;
 3. Brownfield, January 8, here;
 4. Wilson, January 15, here.
- Watch for the appearance of a complete schedule soon.

Four Students On H. S. Honor Roll

The names of the students that appear below are those who have made the highest grades this past six weeks in their work and have conducted themselves in such a way that they deserve favorable mention. They are as follows:

Lois Goodrich
Henry Burkhalter
Annette Weathers
Venoy Coughran

Each of these students has made an average of 90 or above in all their work and have given no trouble in discipline nor have they been tardy more than one time. It is indeed gratifying to the teacher that we have such sincere and honestly hard working students in the school. These are distinctly the leaders in scholarship. However this does not mean that there are not others who are doing very creditable work. Such students as Elenor Baker, Jeannette Caviness, and several others who made above 90 in some of their courses but not in all are doing good work. Several more are expected to make the honor roll next time, parents, encourage your child to do the work necessary to get on the honor roll of the high school. It is really an honor that any child has the privilege of obtaining. This honor might be the starting of an ambition for more honors that would some time distinguish him in the field of service.

Supt. G. H. Nelson, Principal A. B. Sanders, and Mrs. L. F. Craft and Miss Dovie Colleenback of the Tahoka public schools attended the convention of the State Teachers Association in Dallas last week. They report a great meeting and a most enjoyable time.

County Jail Is Full of Negroes

Notwithstanding the fact that the prisoners broke jail Saturday night and several of them left for parts unknown, the jail was full and running over Sunday and Monday. The sheriff's force raided a "crap" game out near New Home on Saturday night and just seventeen sons of Ham were caught in the net. They were placed in the apartments up on the third floor of the court house which had just been vacated by the occupants and there they remained until Monday, when some of them pleaded guilty and paid their fines. Others were still in the toils of the law Tuesday. Some of them did not have sufficient coin of the realm to satisfy outraged justice but their white employees came to their rescue. All of them were cotton pickers from other parts of the state.

COLLEGE PROF VISITS HERE

Humphries Spending Week Studying Lynn County School Problems

Dr. John S. Humphries, a member of the faculty of the West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, has been visiting the schools of Lynn county this week in company with Judge C. H. Cain, who is ex officio county superintendent of schools.

Dr. Humphries is doing extension work for the College. It is his duty, as he explained at the Kiwanis luncheon Wednesday, to study the problems that arise in public school work and to assist teachers and trustees where possible in solving them. The College at Canyon, he explained, is distinctly a teachers' college, where teachers are trained for their work, and the College is undertaking to reach out and help these teachers and the public schools generally in their work. After being out with Dr. Humphries one afternoon, Judge Cain highly commended to the News the character of work he is doing.

Miss Halsey Requests Club Work Reports

Dear Club Women:
Your reports are due in my office at once. It is time to make my Annual Report but I shall have nothing to report unless I get your report first.

The following list will give you some idea of how your Club is reporting, and I am sure that each of you want to see your Club score 100 per cent on reports. Let's have yours this week by all means.

Reports received from Women's Clubs up to December first:

Gordon	17
Morgan	2
Wilson	7
Magnolia	9
Draw	8
Edith	3
O'Donnell	6
Wells	8
T	2
Dixie	6
Total	70

Wells and Gordon are almost 100 per cent, most of the others are less than 50 per cent.

Yours sincere,
Millie M. Halsey,
County Home Demonstration Agent.

Bob Haynes Goes Back To Seagraves

R. B. Haynes, former owner of The Lynn County News, now of Lubbock, was in the city Monday and stopped in to see the news force. Mr. Haynes recently re-purchased the Seagraves Signal from Albert Curry and stated to the News that he expected to go down Tuesday of this week to take charge of the plant. His family will probably move down after Christmas holidays. A few weeks ago Mr. Haynes sold his job shop in Lubbock to Harvey Blackstone of The Meadow Review. He then purchased new equipment and machinery for a new job shop, but before he had it entirely set up he sold the plant to a Mr. Wood. He then bought the Seagraves Signal, and he says he is going back to Seagraves and get out a humdrum paper. Bob will do it too.

Over 32,000 Bales Ginned; Lynn County Leading Plains

About 32,000 bales of cotton had been ginned in Lynn county up to Thursday night, according to statistics given to the News.

As we have explained heretofore, these reports are not accurate for the reason that we get only yard receipts at O'Donnell and Wilson, which entails some duplication. The totals shown below account for 32,796 bales but the actual number ginned perhaps does not exceed 32,000. This is more than 6,000 bales short of last year's total crop, and it is not thought now that his year's total will reach last year's.

Lynn county is still far in the lead of all other plains counties in cotton production. Just how great this lead is we are unable to state, for the reason that the papers in our neighboring counties and most of the other counties of the plains are not publishing their ginnings.

Ross and Good Escape From Pen

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 39.—Milt Good and Tom Ross, convicted of slaying two inspectors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association at Seminole, Gaines County about eighteen months ago, made a sensational escape, together with two other convicts, from the gray walls of the State penitentiary here at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

Good, serving a thirty-five year sentence, slugged a guard with a gun, released Ross, Clarence Whalen and George Arlington, also serving long sentences for robberies committed in Dallas, and after cutting the chain with which the prison gate was locked, raced to a car which had been parked near the walls by a woman, who is also said to have smuggled the gun into the prison, then sped away in the direction of Navasota.

Good was a hospital steward, which had allowed him considerable freedom and had been granted two furloughs recently.

The woman, supposed to have smuggled the pistol and chain-cutting tools into the prison, left a few moments before the break for liberty and waited in a car parked about 300 feet from the gate of the prison.

Good then slugged E. Van Meter, a guard, removed his keys and liberated Tom Ross, Clarence Whalen and George Arlington, three other convicts who were serving long sentences, and the quartet then forced the gate, which was chained. Cutting the chain, they ran to the car occupied by the woman and headed west at a high rate of speed.

Bloodhounds Ineffective.
No shots were fired at the fleeing prisoners, but bloodhounds were unable to keep up with the automobile, which passed through the town without attracting undue attention.

Prison guards and citizens were scouring the countryside within half an hour after the break.

The break is said to be the most sensational since 1921, when a number of long-term prisoners made their escape.

Judge G. E. Lockhart, then of Tahoka, now of Lubbock, was one of the attorneys who represented Ross and Good in all their trials.

Miss Seroyer of the public school faculty took advantage of the Thanksgiving holidays to visit relatives and friends in Cleburne.

FIRST SNOW FALLS

A high snow, driven by a high northwest wind, fell in Tahoka and over the south plains for several hours Thursday night. For an hour or more it melted as fast as it fell, after which it began to form a sheet of white over the surface of the earth. The snow soon melted in the bright sunlight of Friday morning, however. This was the first snow of the season in Lynn county.

The reports as gathered by the News are as follows:

O'Donnell (yard)	11,523
Tahoka (gins)	8,745
Wilson (yard)	2,450
Grassland	4,051
Draw	2,090
Lynn	1,950
New Home	1,327
Newmoore, approximately	800
Gordon, approximately	550
Total	32,796

While the gins at Tahoka have turned out only 8,745 bales, the yard receipts amount to 9,830. Upon request we also give the number of bales ginned by each of the gins in Tahoka, as follows:

Edwards & Lockhart	1,777
Allen	1,650
Holloway	1,610
West Texas No. 1.	1,304
West Texas No. 2	1,229
Fuller	1,175
Total	8,745

Two Car Collisions Result In Damage

Last Monday morning a near-serious accident occurred just in front of the post office when a car driven by Miss Alice Small struck another car driven by the postmaster, Don H. Parkhurst. Mr. Parkhurst's car had been standing alongside the curb he got in it and started to drive out into the middle of the street to part it. He did not see the approaching car driven by Miss Small and before she could bring her car to a stop it struck Mr. Parkhurst's car with such force as to shatter the windshield of her car, break one of the headlights and do other small damage. One of the fenders on Mr. Parkhurst's car was wrecked. Little Marjorie Wells, who was in the car with Miss Small, received some slight cuts on the face; otherwise no personal injuries were received by any of the parties. Miss Small was driving a coupe and Mr. Parkhurst a Ford touring car.

Last Friday while Mr. Johnson, who lives east of town, was driving along the highway a few miles east, he met a truck driven by a boy. The boy either did not have good control of his truck or else he was doing some careless driving, according to parties present, for he drove his truck into the car which Mr. Johnson was driving. Mr. Johnson being on the proper side of the road at the time. Two other men were in the car with Mr. Johnson. Nobody was hurt but considerable damage was done to the car. We understand that the boy's father paid for the necessary repairs.

South Ward Teacher Secretly Married

Another Secret Wedding Revealed
Miss Alamae Clements, teacher in the South Ward School, revealed the fact to friends here Saturday that she and Mr. Crawford Barrier, of the firm of Barrier Bros. of Lubbock, were married on October 14. She tendered her resignation as teacher to the board of trustees, to take effect at an early date. Mr. and Mrs. Barrier expect to go to the state of Colorado soon after the holidays, in which state they will establish their home. Mr. and Mrs. Barrier have hosts of friends here who extend good wishes and congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Weaver left Wednesday for California in their new car. Mrs. Weaver was formerly Miss Hogan, and has had charge of the Hogan Dry Goods Co. until recently. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will be on the road for Hart Silk Co. and Paris Maid underwear after January 1st.

D. L. Short has recently removed here from east Texas and will farm the coming year on the Dr. Callaway farm a few miles east of town. His son, M. L. Short, and I. B. Hill were here Tuesday from Lamesa also looking for places on which to farm the coming year.

The Methodist Missionary Society will hold a Christmas Bazaar in town December 12. Everybody take notice.

O'Donnell Band To Appear Here Sunday

Prof. A. B. Taylor, director of the O'Donnell band, was here Wednesday and arranged for his band to give a concert at 3 P. M. next Sunday afternoon. The district court room was procured for the event, and if the weather is sufficiently favorable the concert may be given on the court house lawn.

Prof. Taylor has been directing this band for several months and the boys are doing excellent work, he stated to the News man. This will be their first performance away from home.

It is to be hoped that the people of Tahoka will give the boys a good audience, not only on account of the pleasure that are sure to derive from the concert but also in order to encourage the boys and show a friendly and neighborly attitude toward a neighboring town. Come out, folks, and let's give the boys a splendid reception.

SMITH IS NEW KIWANIS HEAD

New Set of Officers Elected; Dr. Humphries of Canyon Makes Talk

At its weekly luncheon Wednesday noon, the Kiwanis Club elected its officers for the ensuing year.

The officers elected were the following:

W. E. (Happy) Smith, Pres.; B. N. Shepherd, V. Pres.; C. B. Townes, Sec.; B. H. O'Neal, Treas.; E. I. Hill, Dist. Trustee; E. R. Allen, W. B. Edwards, W. G. Briley, R. P. Weathers, W. R. Lacey, L. C. Haney, R. W. Fenton Jr., Directors.

The new officers will be installed at the first meeting of the club in January.

The above named officers had been named by a nominating committee, in accordance with Kiwanis rules. To inject a little interest another ticket was nominated. We have no information as to how the vote stood but the election committee canvassed the return and declared the above named ticket overwhelming victory.

Following the lecture Dr. John S. Humphries of the Canyon State Teachers College addressed the body concerning the nature of the extension work which the College is doing and of the work which he is undertaking to do in this county this week. His address was much enjoyed.

Dr. C. B. Townes advised the body that at a meeting of the Parent Teachers Club, the Kiwanis Club had been invited to come to the High School building half the time for their luncheons. The matter was referred to the proper committee. It is presumed that the invitation will be accepted.

Local Club Plans Library For City

The Phebe K. Warner Club met in regular session November 13 at the Court House with Mrs. Rogers acting as leader, a very interesting program on "Libraries" was given. There was much discussion as to the best ways of securing a library for Tahoka and for beginning a story hour for children. Committees were appointed to make plans for both the library and the story hour. The Club invites the hearty cooperation of the town in these undertakings. Suggestions will be appreciated.

The Club will meet again December 4. The subject for the afternoon will be "Texas Manufacturing," with Mrs. E. Smith as leader.

PressReporter.

J. E. Vernon of Fort Worth, representing the Southern Ornamental Iron Works, was in the city Friday and our good friend, A. L. Lockwood, piloted him around to the News office. While he was here we discovered that he was a son of an old time friend of the editor, N. B. Vernon of Holland, Bell county, the older Vernon having served as county commissioner of Bell county for many years. This was young Mr. Vernon's first trip to Lynn county and he was positively enthusiastic about the country. He came from the blackest of the black land and he knows a good country when he sees it.

9 PRISONERS BREAK JAIL

Four Return; Others Still At Large; Made Escape Saturday Night

The prisoners in the Lynn county jail sawed their way out of the building last Saturday and five of them made their escape. In fact all of them escaped from the jail but three of them refused to leave town and gave themselves up to the sheriff. One of them hunted the sheriff up and advised him of the jail break. On Monday morning, a negro who was among the fugitives returned and reported at the sheriff's office. The other five prisoners have not been heard from. Four of the missing men are the cotton thieves captured by the sheriff and his deputies at Wilson a few weeks ago while in the act of hauling away five bales of cotton which they had just stolen from the Wilson cotton yard. The other man who has fled to parts unknown was arrested at Brownfield several weeks ago on charges of violating the liquor laws and had been brought here by the Terry county officers for safe keeping. Hubbard, Stokes, Bolding and Whittington of Wilson and Dowdy of Brownfield are the five men who made their get-away. While no clue as to their whereabouts has been found by the sheriff, yet it is pretty certain that they left the county in a car which they stole or took from Hubbard's brother near Wilson, as he reported to officers Monday that his car had been stolen.

The prisoners escaped about eight o'clock Saturday night. They effected their escape by sawing out one of the iron bars in one of the windows on the south side near the southwest corner of the building. It is said that these bars had been almost sawed in two several years ago, and the matter of completing the job was a comparatively easy task. Having gotten the bars out of the way, the prisoners made a rope of their blankets, fastening one end inside the building and suspending the other end almost to the ground on the outside. The jail is on the third floor of the court house, and it is said that when the first man was going down the improvised rope it broke and he fell fifteen or twenty feet to the ground below. He must have struck the earth with considerable force, for he left quite a hole in the sand where he hit. The remaining prisoners say that Arthur Gibson, the negro, hit the ground running. Just how far he went before slacking his speed will probably never be known, but evidently deciding Monday morning that it would be impossible for him to escape final detection he returned to the sheriff's office and asked to be given his old berth in the county bastille.

The sheriff and his deputies have learned that two saws were slipped to one of the prisoners, Hubbard, on Thanksgiving day by his wife, who came to visit him. She brought him a pair of shoes, and the saws are said to have been concealed in the shoes. Saturday afternoon, one of the prisoners, Pressley by name, who resides in Terry county and who is in jail on liquor charge, having found out that an escape had been planned and believing that violence was to be done the jailer when he came up to feed the prisoners, wrote a note of warning advising the "laws" when in this room to keep their backs to the wall and their eyes open. The "law" did not come up that afternoon, however, and after the prisoners had effected their escape that night it was Pressley who hunted up the sheriff and informed him of the escape of his fellow prisoners. The two other prisoners who declined to make their get-away and who surrendered to the sheriff, after taking lunch at a restaurant, were Knox and Gentry, charged with liquor violations.

Sheriff Wesley Simpson, upon being informed of the jail break, got on the job immediately and he has been on the job every waking moment since. Some time, somewhere, in all probability, these fugitives will be captured and landed again in the Lynn county jail.

Judge and Mrs. G. E. Lockhart and little daughter Ernestine drove down from Lubbock Thanksgiving day to dine with the Larkins at Grandma Lewis'.

Santa Anna Reader Writes Breezy Letter

The News has received the following communication from one of its readers who resides at Santa Anna, Texas, under date of November 26:

Dear Editor:—Two or three years ago my fine friend, T. C. Leedy, sent me your ably edited paper. It still coming to our home. Some how, it is unusually interesting. Like other editors, you do sometimes go bad, but as I, and I suppose S. F., understand, you generally "walk the chalk line."

You Plains folks are interesting people, live and progressive. Lubbock is our western town, Lynn county our county.

Mr. Hill, I've tried to get the warp and filling in you. I'm placing you around the 60th milestone. Any way you bear the earmarks of 50 or more. I'll charge you with only one heinous sin until you know more about your unknown friend. You strayed too far away from you to Ma and Jimmie. Doubtless Ma is a girlie naturally good and with good intentions. You are too well posted not to know Jimmie's sins. Before reading the remainder of this epistle, see my friends, T. C. Leedy, J. B. Miles, McGonagill, and my fine old erstwhile friend, C. B. Townes. There never lived a finer gentleman than Dr. J. M. Townes, father of C. B. He was our physician, 6 feet 4 inches, a courtier unexcelled. C. B. will know my deceased father, once sheriff and tax collector and Representative of Johnson county. He was Uncle Owen Brown.

All the dailies I have read are severely condemning this awful high way graft or robbery; but I tell my friends that none have handed it out like editor Hill. If ignorant, they should be put out; if criminal put in striped clothes. I am not surprised at Joe Burkett. A finer man than S. W. T. Lanham has never lived. I do not know Frank. Intentionally or unintentionally he has committed a serious wrong.

"The wicked flee while none pursue." Now suppose I tell you I've been a life-long prohibitionist and practiced what I preach. I have opposed the anti, Roger Q. George Clark, J. W. B. Colquitt, Jimmie, etc. I'm guessing you are guilty of about the same but sure I can't tell. But you do hit the sinners in high places to suit me very much. Friend Hill, as I understand you, I am your real good friend. You are nice and fine to your western and northwestern people, including editors in other towns. Accept my compliments on this our national Thanksgiving day.

Your Unknown Friend,
Henry Brown, Bangs, Texas, Route 2.

P. S. I get R. F. D. mail by Bangs. Santa Anna is my town for 46 years, best little 2500 town and people in the Lone Star state. H. H. B.

Editor's Note—Brother Brown guesses pretty well except as to the editor's age. He thinks we must be about 60. Now if he could see us he would guess us to be about 35 or 36, possibly not over 30. But, if it will satisfy any one's curiosity, we will fess up. We have been in America almost exactly a half century, and America is the first and only country we have ever seen.

To satisfy our good friend's curiosity, we will state that this editor has likewise been a life-long prohibitionist. As a lad back in 1887 he wore the white ribbon and almost hated Roger Q. He afterwards learned that Roger Q. was a man of many fine qualities but we have always thought he was wrong on the liquor question. George Clark was likewise "anathema" with us. At one time we greatly admired Joe Bailey, but when attorney-general R. V. Davidson produced the goods on him in 1907, we quit Joe. We never voted for Oscar Colquitt in our life. Neither have we ever voted for Jimmie. We never refused to vote for him because of any ill will or animosity toward Jimmie the man, but because we disagreed with him upon the paramount issue in each of his campaigns. He was an uncompromising anti; this editor was a dyed-in-the-wool pro. Yes, having been reared in the same country with Jimmie's and having been almost a door neighbor of his, we are pretty well acquainted with Jimmie's sins. He has 'em all right. He is no Angel. Nobody ever suspected that he was about to sprout wings. But on the other hand, he is not possessed of horns and a barbed wire tail, as some of his critics seem to suspect. He has some qualities that are admirable. He is a born fighter, perhaps a little too pugnaeous, but some how or other we just naturally admire a courageous, positive, aggressive character. Now, when Jimmie started to run for governor last year, his enemies made the fool mistake of going to court and keeping his name off the ticket. Lots of us folks felt that they were not quite giving him a square deal. Besides, there was another great issue to be fought out. The question to be decided was whether or not a secret organization should be permitted to dominate the politics and the government of this state. Jimmie said it should not. Jimmie was right. No secret organization, whether it be the Knights of Columbus, the Ku Klux Klan, the Sons and Daughters of I Will Arise, or what-not, has any business fooling with politics. They kept Jimmie's name off the ticket. They tried to keep Ma's name off it. In all this, they were steadily making friends for the Fergusons. Ma was elected. A great host of mighty good people have never gotten over it. They hate Jimmie with undying hatred. They have sought every opportunity to criticize and discredit Jimmie and Ma. This editor is no worshiper of the Fergusons. We think they are just common clay, like the rest of us. But we have contended that they should be given a square deal. We have frequently pointed out that the bitterest criticisms against them were often unfounded and almost always intemperate. This editor has strayed away neither "to" nor "with" them. We have simply defended them against a fusillade or unjust criticism, but we have criticized the Ferguson administration ourselves when we felt that criticism was due. That is the only just and patriotic course for a citizen of this country to take. Come up and see us, Brother Brown. We would like to shake your hand and lok you square in the eye. You have some fine friends in Tahoka. You might find others. Most of us out here are against whiskey, against graft, against masks, and for a square deal for everybody.

ABERNATHY STORE IS ENTERED BY YEGGS

ABERNATHY, Nov. 26—Burglars last night entered the Struve Mercantile Company here and after tearing into the office safe escaped with one hundred dollars in cash and possibly other items of value.

An attempt was made last night to blow the safe of the Santa Fe station here, but was unsuccessful. Officers believe that the same party or parties responsible for the robbery of the mercantile company attempted to rob the railroad company safe, and are working on the theory that a gang of criminals were here. Evidence that more than one entered the depot office bear out this theory. Officers from throughout the plains, including Sheriff Johnson of Lubbock, are working on the case.

EDITH NEWS

Our club met with Mrs. Joe Sanders last Tuesday. Miss Halsey gave a demonstration with pressure cooker. She cooked a chicken two years old and two varieties of beans in forty minutes. There were ten ladies present. We all felt that we had gained quite a bit by this demonstration. We all resolved that some day we were going to have a pressure cooker. One or two ladies in our club have one now.

Mr. Floyd Dawson and Miss Ketchum of Wilson and Mr. F. W. Vaughn were guests of Mr and Mrs. J. R. Parris Thursday.

Mr and Mrs. G. C. Tiner and Mrs. Lane were shopping in Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. S. B. Parris of Vernon visited his brother J. R. Parris last week.

Mr Nowlin is able to be up again. The singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. F. Sunday night was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. McGonagill and daughters Addie Belle and Dorris visited Mrs. Joe Sanders Sunday.

We are still having Sunday School on Sunday afternoon. Everybody invited.

The attendance at school is increasing as the cotton is about all gathered.

Mesdames Parris, Styles, and Lane were visitors in O'Donnell Tuesday.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF TWO GIVEN HEARING

ROBY, Nov. 25.—James Sheffield, negro, was given a preliminary hearing in Justice of McMahan's court Friday, and was remanded to jail to await the action of the Fisher County grand jury. Sheffield is charged with the killing of Jose Lopez and wife and the shooting of another young Mexican on the Barron ranch in this county Nov. 14.

He has been confined to jail in another county since the double killing due to the tense feeling among the Mexican population of this and adjoining counties.

Bill Thompson was here Tuesday from Littlefield. He is preparing to move back to his farm six miles east of town. Bill says the cotton was harder hit by the freeze in the Littlefield country than here. He thinks Lynn County is good enough for any man.

The Home Economics girls, of both classes, are going to visit the Cotton Mills, in Post City Texas, one day this week.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the reputation or standing of any individual, firm or corporation, that may appear in the columns of the News,
will be gladly corrected when called to our attention.

What a sad thing it is to see mentioned in the papers of little children from five to eight years of age making big records as cotton pickers. Any man who forces children of that age to pick hundreds of pounds of cotton every day ought to be ashamed to give such news to the papers. Picking several hundred pounds of cotton every day
is a man's job, and certainly children of tender years should not be required to do such work.—McLean News

Few children are overworked in the cotton field. The most serious indictment against the employment of children in the gathering of the cotton crop is the fact that they are often thus employed when they ought to be in the school room. We will welcome the day when rural children of Texas can be taken out of the cotton field and placed in the school room. But we see no hope for that day to dawn until a successful cotton picking machine is invented and comes into general use. In the meantime the children of Texas will continue to pick cotton, without any injury whatever to their health, brother Landers. This editor was reared on a farm. He can scarcely remember the time when he did not gather up his cotton sack in the fall and go with other members of the family to the field to pick cotton. We went to the field early and stayed late. We had a father who worked himself and believed in teaching his children to work. Guess we picked about as much cotton and worked about as hard at the job as the ordinary child.
It never hurt us. In fact, we thank God that we had it to do. We take little stock in this sob stuff that so many "Reformers" are constantly putting out about the over-worked child. There are some children in the factories and shops in the cities
who are required to work too hard and in unsanitary places. We ought to have laws to protect them. But every child above ten years of age or even younger ought to have some kind of employment for a part of the time at least when it is not in school.
To permit the child to grow up in idleness is committing a heinous crime against the child. "Idleness is the devil's workshop," and the child that is brought up in idleness makes the kind of man that lands in jail or the kind of woman that becomes a society butterfly or a leech or society. We are for the child that works;
and we are for the parent who requires his child to work. Of course, we are against over-working little girls, but very little of that is done
on the farms of this country, brother,
very little.

Lufkin News: A recent law passed by the Turkish Government prohibits the wearing of the fez and the carrying of any knife more than four inches long. The poor cartoonist must now learn to draw a different sort of person than the conventional fez-wearing fellow with a murderous looking dagger at his belt when they want to represent a Turk.

The Turk is being Westernized.
He is no longer the dull, slow-witted, indolent, harem-supported fellow he was a generation ago. The Westernization of the Orient's proceeds apace in all directions. Recently two women of high degree, one a wife of King Hussein, the other a wife of his, son arrived at Jerusalem from their desert palaces to have their teeth worked on by modern dentists and get their heads bobbed by modern hairdressers. They are even now visiting the dentist's office and the beauty parlor alternately, and shopping for western dry goods, short skirts and cosmetics, in the stores of Jerusalem. Jerusalem itself has taken on an unwonted hustle. As would be expected, among the thousands of Jews who have gone there to establish themselves in their ancient capital are numerous Jewish merchants. They have opened real stores and stocked up with European merchandise. The subjugated females of the old East have perked up. They are no longer the mere chattels of their husbands. They are bored stiff by their traditional clothing and demand to dress up in stylish apparel. The fashion magazine has reached them. The moving pictures have taught them. The tourist agencies, with their flocks

of European and American sightseers, have educated their eyes to observe the women of other lands, and they are becoming dissatisfied with themselves. What is true of the Mohammedan East is true in even larger degree of the Japanese and Chinese East. The peoples of the world are coming closer together in sentiment and understanding. It is for the good of the world.—State Press in Dallas News.

In a conversation with a superintendent of schools in a nearby town, it was stated that girls are much more energetic than boys,
both in their studies and on the athletic field. The schoolman attributed this to the fact that so many boys are addicted to the cigarette habit. It is one of the crimes of our age that so many of our young people are helpless in the chains of the tobacco habit.—McLean News.

The cigarette habit is a filthy,
hurtful habit. The cigarette fiend leaves a litter of cigarette stubs
where he works, which are sometimes the cause of destructive fires and are always unsightly. The young boy who has become a slave to the cigarette habit is not quite as strong physically as he would have been had he not acquired the habit. Most of us believe that he is not quite as strong mentally and morally. The cigarette fiend does not have an equal chance with the non-smoker
when he undertakes to secure employment. Most employers prefer employees who do not smoke. It is foolish for a young boy to take up the cigarette habit. It is a moral crime for a parent to permit his child to smoke. We are against the cigarette, body and soul.

The Travis county grand jury adjourned Saturday without returning any indictments in connection with the awarding of road contracts by the late highway commission. From the report filed it is to be inferred that the grand jury was not able to complete its investigations. That it adjourned without finding a bill indicates that it failed to find sufficient evidence, if any at all, that any crime had been committed. Another grand jury, which will convene next Monday, will probably coninue the probe. If crime has been committed, we hope this grand jury will be able to find it. If none had been committed, we hope that they will give all suspected parties a clean bill of health, so far as they can do so. The people of Texas desire only hat justice be done.

There are a few politicians and a good many other folks talking about the possible impeachment of Mrs.
Ferguson because of the irregularities and remissness of the late state highway commissioners in awarding road contracts. All such talk is foolish. Most of it is inspired by hatred. The wish is father to the thought. That the highway commissioners were inexcusably remis-

in their duties is perfectly apparent.
That Mrs. Ferguson made a mistake in her efforts to obstruct the suit of the attorney general is also apparent. But that she has been guilty of any crime or of any act which could
by the exercise of the imagination justify impeachment charges, is not at all probable. If Mrs. Ferguson's enemies wish to make her re-election sure, about the best way for them to do so is to undertake to impeach
her. "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." It seems to us that some of Mrs. Ferguson's enemies are approaching the condition of madness.

No home merchant likes to see his customers patronize a mail order house for the things the merchant has in stock, yet on the other hand many times a merchant will order his printing, insurance and other things out of his line from outside firms and thinks nothing of it.
The man who depends upon the people at home to keep him in business has no right to patronize outside firms when he can get the same service at home.—McLean News.

DALLAS KLAN'S FORMER LEADER WANTS WAGES

DALLAS, Nov. 28.—George W.
Butcher, former leader of the Dallas Ku Klux Klan, Saturday filed suit in District Court to recover $9-330 alleged due him for services
while employed as field and service man for the national order. Butcher alleges he was employed for one year at a salary of $200 a week, but was discharged Aug. 28, and that there is a balance of $4,330 due in salary. He claims that he was employed by the national organization to perform duties for the local order, for which he is due $4,500.

He also says he was employed by the national organization to obtain witnesses for the trial of Phil Fox in Atlanta in December, 1922, and was to have received $8,450, but only received $4,500.

LIVER TROUBLE

Louisiana Man Tells How He Keeps "Up and Going."

"It doesn't matter how strong and healthy we think we are," says
Mr. W. S. Reynolds, of Arcadia, La., "every once in a while, in order to keep up and going, we have to cleanse the system and take a little something for the liver."
"My old standby is Black-Draught. I have used it off and on for 20 years."

"I get bilious and have a bad taste in my mouth. My head feels dull. I just don't feel like getting around and doing my work. I know it isn't laziness, but biliousness, so I take a few doses of Black-Draught and, when it acts, I get up feeling like new, full of pep and ready for any kind of work. I can certainly recommend it."

Black-Draught liver medicine is made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful habit-forming mineral drugs. In an easy, natural way it helps cleanse the system of poisonous impurities and tends to leave the organs in a normal, healthy condition.

The Spirit of Education in Tahoka

(By A. B. Sanders)

It has been observed that in place where the best schools are maintained there is a spirit behind the work that moves the same onward with a smoothness that is characteristic of the person who has the satisfaction of having done his work well.

Generally speaking there are two very distinct sources of this dynamic force. As one would generally suppose, there is what we call the "pep" of the student body. This is a result of team work among the students and the faculty for the purpose of putting the school and its activities over in a great way. Enthusiasm for athletics, club activities, and competition for places on the honor roll are among the things that stimulate this so-called "pep" which is so necessary to a first class school.

However we find that the spirit of education that lives and has its expression in the minds and hearts of the people is the quiet moving force that is necessary for any school to be a success. This substantial interest that parents have for their own children and the children of the community is the foundation upon which good schools are built and maintained. In other words, it is the people that make a good school possible.

The people of Tahoka are to be commended for the fact that the spirit of education is beginning to be aroused, not out of a sleeping silence but from a state of minimum activity to that of active interest. Let us illustrate with this example: one year ago when the writer asked a patron how he thought the school was progressing, this answer was given, "Oh, I never hear any one speak of the school. I suppose it is all right." At present the patrons are asking about their children's progress and are really interested in the school and its function in the community. One year ago the student body as a whole seemed to be irresponsible and not in the least interested in the extra curriculum. Today the students have seen that it is their school and are taking to some degree, the responsibility they are supposed to carry. (This phase can not be completely reversed in one year.) The students are participating enthusiastically and regularly in the outside activities and are making them really worth while.

There are possibly several reasons for these favorable changes. The people have seen the need and have begun to realize they are the makers of the school. As a result of this they have cooperated with our superintendent, Mr. Nelson, who has worked unceasingly for the good of the school at all times. The parents have also helped our excellent teachers by insisting on their children doing their school work first.

With this wholesome growth of interest in the education of the youths of Tahoka, there is every reason to believe that the people will see the needs as they arise. After seeing the need and knowing the results of fulfilling the same, will not every one of us express a desire for more room and better facilities when given a chance to do so?

Let's clean Tahoka!

COLLINGSWORTH LEADS IN NUMBER OF DIVORCES

More than one out of eight marriages in Collingsworth County went on the rocks in 1924, and with 30 divorces suits pending in district court this week it seems that the proportion will be put down to 1 out of 6 in 1925. Childress County has the best record of any of the neighboring counties. In 1924 there were 212 marriages in Childress County and only 14 divorces. Collingsworth County has 185 marriages in 1924 and 25 divorces. Hall county is nearly as good as Childress with 168 marriages and 11 divorces.—Wellington Leader.

DALLAS MAN SUES WOMEN OF KLAN FOR $4,463

DALLAS, Nov. 28—Suit for $4,463, alleged balance owed by the women of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., on a purchase of 6,000 robes aggregating a cost of $15,000, has been filed in district court here by J. F. Pruitt. He claims he sold the robes during the past two years at a price of $2.50 each.

J. E. Morgan, who lives out in the Magnolia community, came to town Saturday to receive a shipment of Braham chickens which his brother had sent him from Rule. The shipment consisted of twelve hens and a rooster, and they certainly were fine looking birds. Mr. Morgan said that his wife was strong for full-blood poultry stock; just plain old chickens was good enough for him, however. If these fine-haired fowls do not produce the eggs, J. E. says he is going back to his old Duke's mixture of common, ordinary domineers, and he knows he will have ham and eggs every morning for breakfast.

O. A. Porter, editor of the Breckenridge Weekly Democrat and Frank H. Herrick, a printer on the Brickens Daily American, were here Wednesday on a tour of the plains and other sections of West Texas. They were looking for a location but confided to the News man that they had been unable to find any papers in this section for sale.

FLOYD COUNTY SHERIFF FINDS BIG AMOUNT OF LOOT WEDNESDAY

FLOYDADA, Nov. 27—Loot amounting to above $100.00 was recovered near Floydada today by J. R. Maddox, sheriff of Floyd county. Automobile accessories the value of which was approximately $100.00 was identified by an automobile dealer in Idalou, Texas and $300.00 worth of general merchandise was identified by E. L. Gardner of Gold Okla. whose store was burglarized a few days ago.

Folks, let's help them put it over.

Little Mary Margaret Tunnell gave a dance, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Wyatt on the piano and Miss Leona Allen on the violin. Miss Allen rendered several popular selections on the violin. Accompanied by Miss Leota Knight as pianist.

Barney Davis was re-elected Captain of the football team for next year.

'SHOULD GROW JUJUBE FRUIT

—W. B. LANHAM

Chinese Fruit Adaptable To Texas,
Says Horticulture
Specialist

"A fruit which is little known, but which offers interesting possibilities for home use in Texas is the Chinese Jujube," says W. B. Lanham, Chief Division of Horticulture, Texas Agriculture Experiment Station. "This fruit has been grown extensively enough in Texas to indicate that it is a dependable producer in practically every section of the State. It will grow in the fence corners and do yard and in hedges or in thickets. It also responds to careful treatment and to cultivation which tends to increase the size and the quality of the fruits. There are numerous varieties of the jujubes bearing fruit from the size of a small cherry to that of a large plum. To get the best of those it is necessary to graft or bud the trees as the plants growing from the seed produce smaller fruits. When green, the fruit is greenish in color not unlike a green plum. As the fruit ripens, the color changes from green to whitish and then brown or purple spots appear and when fully ripe, the skin is a chocolate color. The tree, while deciduous, is very ornamental during the spring, summer and into late fall resembling some evergreens in foliage. The form is erect and the tree does not grow to extreme size which makes it very desirable in landscaping the farmstead. Its beautiful glossy green foliage and numerous fruits give it a very attractive appearance.

"Because of its habit of late blooming the jujube escapes damage from the spring frosts and seems adapted to a wide range of moisture and temperature conditions and to almost every type of soil. It begins to bear in the first or second year and no crop failures have been noted by us in Texas. A few trees have been growing and producing fruit in Texas for more than 40 years, though they are not of the improved types that were introduced about 18 years ago. The sprouts springing up from the roots which come near the surface in the neighborhood of the trees bear numerous fruits, but they are small because they come from roots of native stock used in propagation. This habit causes the plants springing from surface roots, if unmolested, to form in thickets similar to plum thickets, and it is said that the Japanese get great advantage from these jujube thickets in neglected places by fattening their hogs on the fruits.

"Jujubes should be planted out in the winter or early spring, the same as any deciduous fruit tree. Their care, especially for the first few years is the same as should be given any young orchard. Because of the certainty of the crop and its hardiness and wide adaptability, the jujube offers unique opportunity for every one of the 465,000 farm homes in Texas to have some fruit about the place.

The fruit is eaten fresh, pickled, and preserved. Candied, they are known as Chinese dates, for they look and taste much like candied dates. The fruit is not highly flavored and when eaten raw as an apple will be enjoyed though it will not be so readily used as the more highly flavored fruits; but since the more highly flavored fruits are in too many cases entirely absent on Texas farms, it will be a good plan for every farm home to plant a few jujubes. Furthermore, it is probable that the jujube when better known will become more and more popular as a fruit and a food. It compares favorably with the fig and the date in food value. Dried jujubes carry more protein than dried dates, and more sugar than dried figs and scarcely less than dried dates. Fresh jujubes carry 50 per cent more sugar than fresh figs.

"The jujubes make a splendid confection. The process is simple and involves perforating the tough skin and cooking in syrup, draining and packing for use. The skins are conveniently pricked by passing the fruits over sharp tacks which have been driven about a quarter of an inch apart through a thin board, or by slitting with a nest of razor blades. This pricking or slitting of the skin is to prevent explosions as the fruit become heated in the syrup. Cooking requires only 20 to 25 minutes. Delicious sweet pickles are made of jujube mock mince meat can be had easily.

"In 1908, the late Frank M. Myers Agricultural Explorer for the United States Department of Agriculture, sent to the United States scions of some large fruited varieties of the jujube which is sometimes called the Japanese date though it is not a date, but belongs to the Buckthorn family of the Genus Ziziphus Mill. In 1913, a number of these improved varieties of jujubes were planted at the Main Experiment Station at College Station and at some of the substations throughout the State. Without exception, the trees have borne heavy crops and the trees at the College this year under the most severe drouth conditions every experienced in this section produced very heavy crops of fruit as fine in quality as in the most seasonable years. The trees seemed to suffer no hardships whatever because of the drouth nor have they seemed to suffer during the most excessive wet periods."

REWARD OFFERED FOR "CONVICTION OF RICH"

AUSTIN, Nov. 28.—Governor Ferguson issued a proclamation Saturday offering a reward of $500 for arrest and conviction of any citizen of Texas for violating the liquor laws, who is worth in property or money as much as $5,000. She said the funds at her command are limited, "but I will use every cent available to continue this reward."

She scored millionaires and wealthy persons for their liquor boastings and possessions, and pitted the poor folks of small means who are being sent to the penitentiary for liquor law violations.

Urges Highbrows' Conviction

The Governor said where such conditions existed then justice becomes a mockery and the law becomes a stretch in the nostrils of all law abiding people.

Declaring that she was not under taking to justify the poor in the violation of the liquor law, she called on the officers from the bench down to put the same law in force against the rich that "is now being put in force against the poor." She urged the conviction of a few of these "highbrows" and to show the world that all men, regardless of their wealth or station, are equal before the law.

"The enforcement of the liquor law in Texas has become the enforcement of the law against the poor and for the rich," the Governor's proclamation reads.

Opportunity Is Tendered.
"If the rich of this country were not patronizing, so many bootleggers and aiding and abetting them to violate the law, the bootleggers would have to go out of business for want of business.

"If those who are so prone to criticize my administration for lack of enforcement of the liquor laws are sincere in their charge, I now tender them an opportunity to join me in the arrest and detection of those who are to be most blamed for violating the liquor laws."

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Briley left Sunday morning for Mineral Wells and Fort Worth. They will attend the Baptist Convention of Texas in session this week at Mineral Wells and Mr. Briley will transact business in Fort Worth.

BOILER WASHING PLANT AT SLATON IS NEARING COMPLETION BY SANTE FE

SLATON, Nov. 27.—The hot water boiler washing plant, now under construction at a cost of $50,000 by the Santa Fe, is rapidly nearing completion. Slaton is the division point of the F. & S. P. and the roundhouse and shops are located here.

Before locomotives are placed back in service after their regular run, they are completely overhauled and reconditioned. The installation of this new plant will greatly facilitate that work, allowing the mechanics more time for the necessary repair work, according to railroad officials here.

School Responsibility

"For every right or privilege, there is a corresponding duty or obligation." We find this true in every phase of life. Not only in the world of adult citizens, but among students of a school. Everyone has rights which others must respect. Every student is proud of the privileges he enjoys; and he feels that no one may encroach upon these rights. Therefore, every student has obligations to others in the school which it is absolutely necessary that he perform. Since he is responsible for these duties, then automatically, there is created for him a responsibility. This school responsibility includes social, scholastic and spiritual responsibilities.

The school is a social institution. Hence, students of the school have social responsibilities. All students love to attend good schools where the credits made are recognized by the State. To obtain such credits, the student body must do the work and put in the extra time required by the state. The library must be enlarged and kept in good form. The students are responsible for the books which are taken from it. The different organizations connected with the school try to bring to the town first class entertainments for the uplift of the Mural and the general education of the students. Without the cooperation of the student body these entertainments cannot be financed. If the club work is a success, it must be taken seriously and dealt with as classes in the school.

There must be good conduct among the student body in the school grounds, in the class room, in the study hall, and in chapel. Since the chapel exercises are almost the only medium where by the patrons of the school get a glimpse of the spiritual development. Each one is held responsible for this training and development. They may learn spiritually by listening to lectures and sermons, by reading God's word and by observation. In school they may respect the scriptural part of the chapel program and be willing to take part in it.

On special days such as "Thanksgiving Day," which are set apart for thanking God for the blessings he has bestowed upon them, they can observe the holiday, not only in form, but in some word or deed of kindness and thankfulness. No matter which way they choose to inform themselves on spiritual subjects, they must receive this knowledge; for each one is held responsible for his own spiritual training.

These social responsibilities are closely connected and interwoven with the scholastic responsibilities. Students are sent to school by the toll and sacrifice of parents. Then it is their duty to learn. Not only must they learn for their parents' sakes, but for their own good. They are becoming responsible for their future lives. The government provides them with school buildings, equipment, and books for which they are responsible. They are responsible for the record the school makes in athletics. It is their duty to keep their bodies healthy. If they develop their bodies, their success will be shortened by a weak, frail body. Therefore, they are obligated to take part in some form of athletics, thereby helping their individual bodies as well as the entire school.

They must not forget the school life, the students should try to make these programs, at least representative of the school work. All these

THE REAL GORILLA A PEACEFUL CREATURE

(By Herbert Beardsley in Dumb Animals.)

Among all the wild animals of Africa, the rarest and about the least known to the world, is the gorilla. The fantastic and misleading statements of early writers, such as Du Chailly, and others, regarding the savage nature of the gorilla are not confirmed by the most recent explorers who met the gorilla at close range in its forest habitat. The real truth is that this great ape is practically a harmless, good tempered beast, neither attacking or inflicting injury upon man, natives, or any of the animals living in his haunts.

To preserve and safeguard this interesting creature for the future, a new sanctuary and reserve of extensive area has recently been set aside in the heart of the gorilla country, in Central African Congo, by the Belgian government. Here in their primitive surroundings, the gorillas can roam undisturbed and unmolested by natives or white sportsmen. Their scanty numbers have been much reduced of late. One Swedish prince, for instance, killed over a dozen individuals, old and young for museum purposes.

The home of this amiable giant, and the best gorilla country known, is the Lake Kivu district, in the northeastern part of the Belgian Congo, Central Africa. They are not to be found, however in great numbers. It is estimated only two hundred, or so, wander through the dense jungles of this area. Here on the forested slopes of three mountains, wild gorillas live in a primeval forest of great beauty, termed a veritable fairyland. Some of their favorite foods grow in abundance in this region.

It is believed that the gorilla travels only about three to five miles a day strolling leisurely through the forest in family groups, eating as he goes. He is a vegetarian and lives on the great varieties of rank growing food stuffs, and kill no other animals to satisfy his hunger.

Though depicted in the latest Natural History publications as walking freely erect, this is not the gorilla's normal and correct posture. The great ape progresses on all-fours, his body leans forward at an angle of less than 45 degrees, and his hands touch the ground as he walks. The hands and feet are clumsy, being very short and wide, and are webbed almost to the first joints. In fact, it would be impossible for an animal of such bulk and weight to make any headway in an upright position while plodding his way up the steep slopes of his mountainous feeding grounds.

Contrary to popular belief, the gorilla is not a tree-living animal. If one climbs a half-fallen tree for food or at the approach of danger, he must come down the trunk he ascends, in as much as being heavy and rather sluggish, he cannot swing from one tree or limb to another. When ready to turn in for a night's rest, he constructs a bed on the floor of the forest with the leaves, grass and debris that lay within arm's reach. Frequently, at the base of trees from the mossy trunks of which trail hanging vegetation, a screened sleeping-place will be made for his wife and family.

A full grown male gorilla, when assuming an upright position, stands over six feet and weighs 450 pounds. The legs are ridiculously short, but the village blacksmith will turn green with envy at the contemplation of the arms, for they are enormously powerful and have a tremendous reach. The female gorilla is a pygmy compared with her mate, standing no more than four feet high, and is less powerful animal in every respect. While following their trail in the dense jungles the explorers came upon many alert, adult males at very close quarters. None, however, showed the slightest inclination to start a fight, or to rise on two legs and rush madly at the invader of their domain. They generally fly before man, and will only turn when wounded or in defense of family and little ones.

The Ride of Caesar Rodney

A century and a half ago the State of Delaware gave one of its greatest patriots to the cause of American Freedom. He was Caesar Rodney, and he was among the first of the delegates to the Continental Congress in Philadelphia in 1776 to sign the Declaration of Independence.

Now the same state is among the first to signify its intention of joining in the observance of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Sesquicentennial International Exposition which opens in Philadelphia on June 1, 1926. The legislature has appropriated funds for the erection of a building on the Exposition grounds. Within the building the part that the State has played in the history of the nation will be portrayed from Rodney's time to the present.

The great eighty-mile horseback ride that Rodney made, in order to be present at the deliberations of the Congress that led to the signing of the Declaration, is equal to if not of greater historical importance than the ride of Paul Revere.

When the deliberations were begun, the Delaware delegates were split. Thomas McKean, of that State, pleaded for time and sent a horseman south to find Rodney, who was unable to be present, and to tell him to hasten to Philadelphia.

As soon as Rodney heard the news he called out, "Saddle the black," faced north and galloped away. The sun went down and then the moon and the stars shone upon a single rider, hurrying widely through forests, over streams and by plantations.

When the sun rose over Philadelphia the next day, the delegates gathered quietly in Independence Hall, but Rodney was still miles to the south. The session was begun, and his friend, McKean, waited outside. An hour passed, and then another, and finally Rodney, booted and spurred, tired and dusty, entered the Congress.

Soon Delaware was called. McKean voted "Aye" for Independence. Read, another Delaware delegate, voted "Nay," and then the rider arose:

"As I believe the voice of my constituents," he said "and of all fair, sensible and honest men is in favor of Independence, and as my own judgment concurs with them, I vote for Independence."

When the news that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted reached Dover, the capital of Delaware, on July 6, 1776, the Assembly, which was in session, arose and gave three cheers for Independence, and three cheers for Caesar Rodney. They then took a picture of King George from the wall and had it burned in a huge bonfire.

Rodney was a brigadier general in the Delaware militia. Later he played a prominent part in the war for freedom.

John L. Greenfield of Dallas, formerly in the real estate business here and president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, was in the city on Friday. Mr. Greenfield hinted to the News man that he might possibly move back to Tahoka after Christmas holidays. Mr. Greenfield is a live wire and a distinct asset to any city in which he resides. Here is hoping that he sees fit to cast his lot with us again.

FLOYD CO. COMPLETES HER $37,000 JAIL; ITS A MODERN BUILDING

FLOYDADA, Nov. 27.—Floyd county's new $37,000 jail was completed this week and turned over to the commissioner's court. The jail is modern in every respect—fire proof, steam heated, bath tub and shower baths, hospital wards and a locking system that is both "tool" and "foot" proof. The cells and cages are surrounded with steel bars, uncuttable and unaffected by heat.

The building is a three story brick. Sheriff Maddox will occupy the first floor, six rooms having been fitted up with all modern conveniences for that purpose. All the second floor is made into cells and cages for men prisoners. These will accommodate 34 prisoners. Women prisoners will be held on the third floor which will also be used as a hospital in case of emergency. In all the jail will accommodate 46 prisoners.

Mrs. Tom Lemond and Miss Lola Lewis are spending a few days at Ballinger with relatives.

The Famous T-Bar Ranch Lands

This ranch consisted originally of 126 sections, or more than 80,000 acres. Twenty sections of this land lying north of the Tahoka-Brownfield highway and west of the Tahoka-Lubbock highway and adjoining the townsite of Tahoka has been placed on the market. A part of this land has been sold and converted into farms and as fine cotton as can be found on the south plains may be found today on these lands. We are selling these lands out in quarter and half sections. This is your chance to get a home. Lynn county produced more than 38,000 bales of cotton last year. It is conservatively estimated that it will produce 50,000 bales this year. Fine land, fine water, fine people; complete crop failures almost unknown.

Price $35.00 and up

We also have other fine lands in Lynn County and neighboring counties. Let us show you.

Methodist Society Completes Study of Latin America

The Study Class of the Methodist Missionary Society met at the Parsonage Monday afternoon and finished the study of Latin America. This has been a most interesting book, and Mrs. Eldridge has employed such unique methods in presenting each separate chapter that we are not likely to "let it go in one ear and out the other." In fact, we can't; because it has been stamped on our minds and its there to stay. We have decided that Latin America needs Christ presented to them in a new way. It needs those who believe in fellowship and good-will and Christian neighborliness; who have a faith that in these southern implies a new Kingdom of the Cross may be rebuilt. It is much more important to know what we are going to do to meet them.

The Class will take up an Outline Study of the Book of Acts immediately after Christmas.

There were fifteen members present who enjoyed the lesson and such delicious refreshments, of Sandwiches, Waldorf salad, pickles, and tea.

Next Monday the Society will elect the officers for the New Year. If you don't want an office you had better be present.

Adami's Father Dies At Winters Home

F. C. Adami of Winters, father of O. B. Adami of the City Bakery here died Thursday morning of injuries received the preceding Saturday when he was struck by a car driven by a negro, an account of which occurrence was given in these columns last week.

Mr. Adami was considerably more than eighty-four years of age but was in comparatively good health for one of his years. The car struck him and knocked him down, breaking two or three of his ribs, inflicting an ugly wound on the back of his head, and causing internal injuries. He made a remarkable fight for life, considering his age and the character of his wounds.

Mr. Adami had been a resident of Winters for 21 years and was a highly respected citizen of that town and community. Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Winters cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Adami of this city were present at the time of his death and at his funeral, having gone to Winters on Monday, returning last Sunday night. He left surviving him his aged wife and three sons, Charley and Ernest Adami of Winters and Oscar of this city. One son, Frank, died several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Adami have the sympathy of many friends here in this hour of bereavement.

Oiling of Highway To Begin Soon

A contract was let last Tuesday by the State Highway Department for the oiling of the highway between Lubbock and Amarillo, thru Plainview.

The commissioners of the counties are now cooperating with the state highway people and are grading the road preparatory to placing the oil on it. When re-graded and oiled, it is expected that this will be one of the best highways in this section of the country, second only in efficiency to a macadam road.

"It will be five or six weeks until the oiling is done," Mr. W. J. Espy, commissioner of precinct one, said this week. "We are now grading in the south part of the precinct and other commissioners are grading along this road and it will likely take about four or five weeks until the grading is completed."

It is not known whether the oiling will obstruct traffic on the road. In California, where oiling has been resorted to frequently it was stated that the traffic was not barred from the road, but the cars went right on, not disturbing the oiling process at all.

A good highway such as this is going to be sure to result in the routing of additional tourist traffic through our city and county and be a great benefit on this account alone, not considering that the citizens will materially benefit from the building of the road—Plainview News.

W. B. Gollehon, who lives on the east line of the county on the Tahoka Post road, stated to the News man Friday that he would gather a half bale of cotton per acre from his crop this year, very little of it being "bollies." Quite a number of other farmers in that part of the county are doing fully as well. We claim that is not at all bad.

SLATON BOY WINS TRIP TO CHICAGO

The record I. J. Thornton, 16 years of age, has made in his club work in the past two years is a challenge to every South Plains farmer, in the opinion of D. F. Eaton, county agricultural agent for Lubbock County. Making a net profit of $311.31 on three acres or $103.77 per acre. Thornton has hung up a record that has not been equaled it is believed but a record which can be attained by employing the latest methods of diversification and intensified farming on the South Plains.

Thornton lives in the Posey community between Slaton and Lubbock and has just left for Chicago, having won a free trip there to the annual Boys and Girls Congress offered by the Santa Fe to winning club boys along the Santa Fe lines.

Last year Thornton entered club work here, growing five acres of grain sorghum, from which he harvested 19,600 pounds of grain. During the year he made the grain judging team which represented Lubbock County at the annual short course at College station and took fourth place in state competition in the individual class and was a member of the team which won eight place.

This year, Thornton grew three acres of milo maize averaging 2,250 pounds per acre. He harvested 7 and 7-8 tons of grain from the three acres, and has already sold one ton of pure seed which brought him $57.00 and has the remaining 3 and 7-8 tons under contract to sell for $23.44 per ton. He won a $50.00 county prize and $7.55 in premiums at the Slaton fair which makes his receipts total $38.29. His records show that the total expense of growing the crop was $26.98 including taxes, rent, labor, including his own and other expenses. This leaves him a net profit of $11.31. The trip to Chicago which will be of a great educational value to him is figured by the Santa Fe railway system at about $125 per boy which would bring the total benefit received from his three acres of and up to $436.31.

This shows what can be done with South Plains soil and is a mark for every farmer to "shoot at."

FLOYD COUNTY FARMER GETS 31 BALES COTTON FROM THIRTY ACRES

LOCKNEY, Nov. 26.—R. A. Keniston, who lives nine miles southwest of Lockney, has made 31 bales of cotton on 30 acres of land, 28 bales have already been sold on the Lockney market.

This cotton was grown on irrigated land, but Keniston states that it was only watered one time, and that was in July. The cost of watering was approximately $1.00 per acre. Besides his cotton crop Keniston made considerable amount of feed. All of this crop was grown and harvested without additional help.

T-Bar News

There is still plenty of cotton to pick and pull in this community.

J. W. Nichols, Louis Moore, Ridal Nichols, and Tommy Quillin, Louis Moore's nephew, made a trip to Mule shoe Sunday. The freeze sure did hit the people hard from Lubbock to Muleshoe, especially cotton and late feed, but early maize is certainly fine.

The box supper at T-Bar school house Saturday night, November 21, was a success. The proceeds were sufficient to pay the expense of moving the house and paying for the same which the school board purchased from Mr. Crews. The house is now on the school ground and the principal is living in it. We hope this is the beginning of a modern equipped teacherage here.

The school is progressing nicely, with 37 enrolled the second week. We hope to have every pupil enrolled before Christmas. There are three sets of twins enrolled. Can you beat that?

ALREADY AFTER WEALTHY DRY AGENT DECLARES

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 28.—N. A. Baker, district head of federal prohibition force here, said Saturday that if Governor Ferguson's offer of $500 reward for arrest and conviction of liquor violators worth over $5,000 were retroactive his men could claim several of them.

Baker declared the offer would have no effect on prohibition enforcement in this district, however, as he insisted the officers already are doing their best.
