White buffalo historic date observed today

By Charles G. Anderson

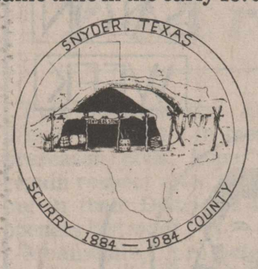

(Editor's note: the following is excerpted from Charles Anderson's new book "Deep Creek Merchant, The Story of William Henry 'Pete' Snyder" and his previous book, "In Search of the Buffalo, The Story of J. Wright Mooar."

The buffalo brought Pete Snyder, J. Wright Mooar and others into Scurry County. They had followed the herds out of Kansas and Oklahoma and into Texas. Here, Pete Snyder and J. Wright Mooar would settle down, for the great herds had been destroyed.

They and others had come to Scurry County to seek the last remnants of buffalo herds which previously roamed throughout the United States.

These two — Josiah Wright Mooar and William Henry "Pete" Snyder — would both find fame in Scurry County. Each found it in a different way.

Both men came in the fall of 1876. Whether they knew each other before arriving in Scurry County, we do not know. Both, however, worked for the Kansas-Pacific Railway in the late 1860s and both were in Kansas at the same time in the early 1870s.

J. Wright Mooar, John Mooar and their hunting party arrived in Scurry County on Friday, Oct. 6, 1876. Mooar had traveled by way of Fort Phantom near Abilene. Pete Snyder was hauling freight and supplies for the hunters and settlers throughout the West Texas area.

Pete Snyder was to gain fame just six years later when he drew up a townsite and named the town

PAST REMEMBERED — 107 years ago today, J. Wright Mooar shot and killed the white buffalo, a deed which has come to symbolize the historic past of Scurry County. In preparation for White Buffalo Days planned Saturday, Oct. 15, Snyder school children are studying about the county's history this week. Local students shown at the commemorative buffalo statue — which in part was financed by donations from school children — are (standing, from left) Zee Jenkins, Paige Gayle, Steven Thompson, Stephanie Uptergrove, Donnie Durst (seated) Cory Chesser, Amos Costillo, Jeremy Ham, Detria Jackson, Patricia Olivarez, Josh Gonzales and Raymond Floyd. Residual gas hearing date rescheduled

A court date has been postponed to hear an injunction request brought by two royalty owners seeking to halt plans by Chevron USA to terminate use of residual gas lines by county residents living adjacent to the SACROC field.

District Judge Wayland Holt had originally set the hearing for Thursday. It is now reset for Tuesday at 3 p.m. in 132nd District Court here.

SACROC officials had earlier announced Oct. 1 as the cutoff date for the gas use. A temporary restraining order was issued by Judge Holt Sept. 26 after the injunction request was filed by the county residents.

A large number of Scurry County residents have been receiving natural gas for use in their homes from the Chevron lines.

Citing the dangers involved in this use — since impurities may exist in the untested gas — SACROC officials notified these individuals in August the practice would be terminated.

Since filing of the injuction request, SACROC

Unemployment down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate declined to 9.3 percent in September, the lowest level in 17 months, as close to 400,000 jobless Americans found work in the continuing economic recovery, the Labor Department reported today.

However, 10.4 million Americans were still reported to be looking for jobs but unable to find them, the Labor Department reported.

September's decrease in the overall jobless rate was just 0.2 percentage point from the August level of 9.5 percent. But it restored the downward trend that had been interrupted when August's rate held steady at the same rate as in July.

Unemployment had declined in most months since last December's 10.8 percent, the highest level in 42 years.

Both government and private analysts have said they expect the rate to continue declining, with companies calling back laid-off workers or hiring people for newly created jobs as the economy expands in its recovery from the 1981-82 recession. But those analysts have also said the improvement is likely to be slow.

Today's report said total U.S. civilian employment climbed to a record 101.9 million in September, up 382,000 from August. At the same time, the labor force of people holding or wanting jobs increased by 107,000 to 112.4 million.

An alternate unemployment rate, which includes the more than 1.6 million armed forces personnel stationed in the United States, dipped to 9.1 percent from August's 9.4 percent.

In further encouraging news, the department said the number of "discouraged workers" — those not even counted as unemployed because they have given up looking for jobs — totaled 1.6 million in September, down 100,000 since June, when the statistic was last calculated, and off 240,000 from the recession high of more than 1.8 million at the end of 1982.

"Whites accounted for most of this improvement as blacks continued to account for a disproportionate share of the discouraged total (31 percent)," the report said.

In addition, the number of people who have been looking for work for six months or longer rose slightly — to 2.506 million from August's total of 2.447 million.

The report said about 2.9 million jobs have been created this year. Economists have said those increases should continue, even if the recovery is slowing down as many believe. If business can keep opening jobs faster than Americans stream into the labor force, the unemployment rate will decline even further.

Guilty pleas offered here

Five defendants entered pleas and were sentenced while criminal charges against two others were dropped in action in 132nd District Court this week.

Carl Croy Lynn, Jr., under four indictments for possession of a controlled substance since December 1982, pleaded guilty to a charge of cocaine possession. He was sentenced to six years in the Texas state prison system.

The remaining indictments against him, all returned by the December grand jury, were dropped as part of his plea bargin agreement.

Scott Slankard of Snyder, indicted by the September grand jury for the Aug. 31 burglary of the Oscar Sauceda residence, entered a guilty plea to the burglary charge. He was sentenced to a five-year prison term.

Bryan Whitney Palmer, indicted Monday for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, pleaded guilty to that charge and

The Soviet delegation was miffed since governors of New York and New Jersey had issued an executive order prohibiting the landing of Soviet airliners in their state--thus effectively preventing the plane of Andrei Gromyko from landing. The governors' orders followed the shooting down of the Korean passenger plane by the Russians.

Record deposits again reported for Snyder

Snyder financial institutions set a new record for deposits based on reports for the third quarter ending Sept. 30.

Five institutions--three banks and two savings and loans--reported combined deposits of $223.2 million which topped the previous record of $219 million set at the end of March of this year.

Compared to the third quarter of 1982, total deposits reflected an increase of $25.9 million. Total loans at the same firms were $130.5 million, an increase of $7.8 million over last year's third quarter.

West Texas State Bank was the deposit leader with $74.7 million. Close behind was Snyder National Bank with deposits of $74.1 million. First National Bank had deposits of $25.8 million.

Compared to the same quarter of 1982, West Texas' deposits increased $14.9 million, and compared to the June 1983 reporting period the deposit increase was $3.6 million.

Since third quarter of 1982, Snyder National had deposit increases of $11.9 million, and SNB grew $6 million since mid-year.

First National Bank's $25.8 million was down $2.1 million from the same period in 1983 and down $2.5 million from June 30.

Snyder National Bank had outstanding loans of $37.6 million compared to $32.4 million at the same time in 1982, an increase of $5.2 million. Compared to the second quarter of this year, SNB loans were up $3.3 million.

West Texas reported total loans of $35.1 million compared to $34.3 million at third quarter in 1982, an increase of $800,000. Compared to mid-year figures, total loans at West Texas were down $100,000.

At First National, total loans were $15.5 million compared to $17.7 million for the third quarter ending in 1982, a decrease of $2.2 million. Compared to mid-year, total loans were down $2.4 million.

Snyder Savings and Loan had total deposits of $25.3 million compared to $26.2 million at this time last year--a drop of $900,000. The current figure is compared to $24.7 million at mid-year.

First Federal Savings and Loan had deposits of $23.3 million compared to $21.2 million at the same time in 1982, an increase of $2.1 million. Compared to the $22.6 million second quarter figure, First Federal showed an increase of $700,000.

Snyder Savings had loans of $26.4 million compared to $24.2 million at the end of the third quarter in 1982, an increase of $2.2 million. Compared to the $25.2 million mid-year figure, the loans were up $1.2 million.

Total loans at First Federal were $15.9 million compared to $14.1 million last year, an increase of $1.8 million. In comparison to the $15.5 million at current mid-year, the increase was $400,000.

Homestate Savings, which operates a branch office in Snyder, does not report individual branch figures.

In Brief

CIA accusations are made

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A captured rebel pilot claims CIA officers are directing anti-government attacks from Honduran bases, prompting Nicaragua to protest the "generous assistance" provided to the rebels by Washington.

At a Managua news conference Thursday, Nicaragua's Deputy Foreign Minister Nora Astorga presented the man, identified as former National Guard Maj. Roberto Amador Narvaez, as "proof of the growing involvement of the CIA" in rebel attacks on targets in the leftist-ruled country.

His claims could not be confirmed independently.

Moderate quake reported

By The Associated Press

A moderate earthquake shook residents across parts of the Northeast and Canada today, rattling dishes and shaking furniture, but there were no immediate reports of damage or injuries.

The quake, with a Richter scale reading given at 5.2 and 4.9, occurred at 6:19 a.m. and lasted about 15 seconds, officials said. It was felt in New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, and in Canada between Toronto and Ottawa, authorities said.

Frank Baldwin, physical science technician at the National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., said the quake was centered northeast of Blue Mountain Lake in the Adirondack region of upstate New York, about 85 miles north of Albany. It measured 5.2 on the Richter scale, he said.

John Ebel, assistant director of the Weston Observatory in Weston, Mass., said the quake measured 4.9 on the Richter scale. Different Richter readings from different agencies are not uncommon.

Eastern announces losses

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines lost $34.4 million in the third quarter, bringing the carrier's losses to nearly $128.9 million for the first nine months of 1983, the airline said today.

In the same quarter last year, Eastern posted a $32.8 million loss.

Meanwhile, Eastern chairman FraBorman and leaders of the Miami-based company's three major unions were to announce a breakthrough today in an 18-month-old labor dispute.

William Usery, a former U.S. labor secretary hired as an Eastern labor consultant, said the announcement would include news of "a breakthrough in this situation."

Borman told the company's employees Sept. 26 that they must accept a 15 percent pay cut or else the company would have to turn to bankruptcy court or shut down all together.

Eastern and the union representing the airline's flight attendants reopened negotiations for a new contract Thursday and Borman appealed for a speedy compromise.

Lucas indicted three times

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas, a drifter sentenced to 75 years in prison for one of the 150 murders he claims to have committed in 16 states, could face the death penalty if convicted under his latest indictment.

Lucas, a 47-year-old former mental patient, was indicted Thursday on three counts of capital murder after leading officers to sites where he claims to have buried bodies. Lucas was charged with the deaths of two Houston women and an unidentified woman.

Frank Newton, an investigator with the Montgomery County district attorney's office, said it was the first capital murder charge against Lucas.

Newton identified the victims as Laura Donez, 16, of Houston; Gloria Stephan of Houston, and an unidentified woman, but the investigator was unable to say when or where the bodies were found.

2-4A roundup

Fort Stockton and Andrews, picked 1-2 in most preseason polls, hope to regain respect after tripping in their District 2-4A openers last week.

Meanwhile, projected darkhorse Sweetwater is starting to shine.

Fort Stockton was shocked 14-0 by Pecos and Andrews took a 20-15 licking from fiesty Monahans as 2-4A began loop wars last Friday. In other games, Sweetwater and San Angelo Lake View kept their winning strings intact by topping Snyder, 28-6, and Lamesa, 25-0, respectively.

Last Friday's outcomes leave no clear-cut favorites in the four games slated this week. Sweetwater travels to Fort Stockton while Pecos is at Andrews, Monahans goes to San Angelo and Snyder buses to Lamesa.

Sweetwater's Gerald Todd leads the loop in rushing with 472 yards on 68 carries. John Rodgers of Lake View follows with 461.

Frazier, Lake View quarterback has passed complete 32 of 65 times for 469 yards and seven touchdowns. Leading the receiving corps is Snyder's Chad Peterson with 203 yards on 13 receptions.

Former 'coach-mates' square off...

Tigers take on Lamesa tonight at 8

LAMESA -- George Byerly says it'll have no bearing on preparation for the game, but the fact that he and Lamesa coach Clyde Noonkester used to work together gives tonight's ballgame an interesting sidelight.

For the two teams, who have a combined record of 1-7 so far this season, winning is the highlight.

"He wants to win real bad and I do too," said Byerly. "This is their homecoming and we know they'll be ready. We're going to have to be ready ourselves or we'll get our britches spanked."

Byerly was a football assistant under Noonkester when Clarendon reached the state semifinals in 1972.

"He and I are good friends," said Byerly. "He's a fine coach."

The men will set friendship aside for awhile tonight when Snyder invades Lamesa Stadium at 8 o'clock. It's an important game for two schools trying to build winning football programs. Snyder has beaten the Golden Tornadoes six straight times in a series that extends back to 1925. Tonight, the teams will meet for the 41st time. Lamesa leads the series 20-18-2.

The Tornadoes, 1-3, feature a steady running game. But like Snyder, Lamesa has failed to produce points. In four games, tonight's hosts have scored 40. But 34 of those came in a win over Brownfield.

"Nobody has really stopped their running. They've stopped them from scoring but not from moving the football," said Byerly.

Snyder has had similar problems. The Tigers have scored in every game, but are averaging just 7 points per outing. And They've been inside the opponents' 20 and come up empty numerous times. The Tigers have made some changes this week to help bolster their scoring, but Byerly is remaining mum on the subject before kickoff.

Most of the yardage going into the contest has been accumulated by a pair of running backs, sophomore Kenneth Williams for Lamesa and senior Norman Malone for Snyder. Williams, a 168-pounder, has run for 318 yards on 67 carries. Malone, 175, has rushed for 323 on 65 carries and caught six passes for 60 yards.

Second leading rusher for the Tors - has been junior Gilbert Arredondo, who has 150 yards on 30 carries.

Both teams have thrown the football about a third of the time, but there are indications Snyder would like to get away from that.

"We went into the last game trying to not pass as much and that's what we'll try to do Friday," said Byerly. "We still want to throw some to keep them off balance, but we're not completing a very good percentage (29.7) of our passes and we're wasting those downs."

Lamesa's completion rate is only slightly better - 36.8 percent. Quarterback for the Tornadoes is 150-senior Kreg Bryant, who seldom runs the ball. He has 24 yards on 16 carries this season.

"No, he usually hands off - usually to his tailback (Williams) - or throws the ball. They like to run power sweeps and we'll have to stop that or they'll hold the ball," Byerly added. "Williams has looked real bright for them. That's they guy you've mainly got to stop. Bryant looks like he could really hurt you as a passer, but his receivers haven't always caught the ball well."

Bengals clout visitors, 18-13

Snyder junior varsity took an early lead, lost it, and had to rally late in the third quarter to defeat Lamesa here Thursday evening, 18-13.

The win gives the Cats a 3-3 season record as they prepare to host Monahans next Thursday at 7 p.m.

Snyder scored on its first and second drives of the ballgame. Tim Kershaw put the locals on the board first, scoring on an eight yard run with 9:49 left in the opening quarter. The point-after try was no good.

The Cats scored again with 11:14 remaining in the half. Theron Brown went over from nine yards out. The run for two failed, 12-0.

Lamesa retaliated before halftime, scoring on a one yard run after Snyder muffed a punt return at its 25-yard line. The kick-after was good.

Then, on the second play of the third quarter, Lamesa broke for a 75-yard touchdown run. Again the point-after was good, and the Tors went in front, 13-12.

But Snyder came back. Working off of a Jake Menix interception that left the Cats inside Tor territory, Snyder punched the ball down and scored on a one yard run by Kershaw. The PAT run was unsuccessful.

Snyder ended a late threat by Lamesa when Tony Pineda intercepted.

"Our backs ran hard and our whole defense played super," said Coach Robert Crawford. "They (Lamesa) threw the ball 30 times and only completed six of them. We intercepted three."

The other interception was by Rusty Radican.

Rookie, vet pace Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) -- Mike Boddicker, a 26-year-old rookie, registered a record-tying 14 strikeouts and Gary Roenicke, a veteran at age 28, hit a two-run homer and scored two other runs Thursday night as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Chicago White Sox 4-0 to tie their American League Championship Series at one game apiece.

The best-of-five championship set resumes tonight in Chicago, with Rich Dotson, 22-7, pitching for the White Sox against Baltimore's Mike Flanagan, 12-4.

Boddicker became the first rookie to hurl a shutout in AL championship play, limiting the White Sox to five hits. His 14 strikeouts were a career high and the most by an American League pitcher this year.

Roenicke doubled leading off the second inning and scored the game's first run when Law first bobbled Ken Singleton's grounder, then threw it past first baseman Paciorek.

Late stand gives win to Cat frosh

LAMESA -- Snyder freshmen held Lamesa inside the five yardline for four downs late in the game here Thursday and went on to win, 16-15.

The freshmen record zooms to 5-0 with the victory. Snyder A-squad does not play again for two weeks, however the B-team will travel to Aspermont next Thursday for a 7 p.m. contest.

Snyder went ahead in the game 8-7 on a 56-yard touchdown pass-and-run from Kyle Guerry to Earl Ware and a conversion toss from Guerry to Jerry Villareal.

The Cats made it 16-7 later when Jeff Rose scored on a three yard run and then optioned in the two-point conversion.

Lamesa came back to score on a fourth and nine play following an interception. The Tors quickly set up again as they picked a fumble out of the air and ran it to the Cat 30-yard line. From there, they moved to the 5.

Snyder held for four downs, however, and later took an intentional safety with 20 seconds left on the clock.

"I was real proud of our team for responding to what looked like a bad situation and coming out victorious," said Coach Ricky Howell. "I thought that showed a lot of character. Also, Kyle Guerry had a deep thigh bruise and played the whole game and really showed a lot of toughness."

Jr. High trades wins with Tors

Snyder junior high A-teams both won, while the B-teams lost in football action with Lamesa on Thursday.

The seventh grade played in Snyder and the eighth grade played in Lamesa.

Snyder eighth grade A-team won 38-0. Scott Lanier threw scoring passes of 50 yards to Craig Watkins and six yards to Trey Tippens. Lanier also ran over one TD from a yard out. Lawrence Barrera scored on runs of two and four yards. Pete Madrid also scored on a one yard run. Mark Garcia ran over for a two-point conversion.

The eighth grade B-team lost, 26-0.

Snyder seventh grade A-team won 6-0 and the B-team lost 36-0.

Lee Fletcher scored on a four yard run for the A-squad.

"The offensive line did a real good job blocking and the backs hit the holes well," said seventh grade coach Roland Herrera. "Roy Guiterrez and Randy Alacorn did a good job at linebacker."

The Cats will play intramural games next Thursday and go to Sweetwater on Oct. 20.

Tired Tigers top Fort Stockton

FORT STOCKTON -- A long bus ride and a hour delay took a toll on the Tigers here Thursday, but they rallied once again to defeat Fort Stockton and claim their seventh District 2-4A victory.

Snyder, which lost the first game 12-15 but fought back to win the second and third 15-12 and 15-11, is now 7-1 in district play. The Tigers travel to Lamesa next Thursday.

If the four-hour bus trip wasn't enough, electrical problems added to the tiring evening. Because of storms, electricity went out as players were warming up for the junior varsity match. The squads were forced to move to an alternate gymnasium before they could begin play, an hour behind schedule.

"We didn't get in until 3:00 this morning and we are tired," sighed Coach Leslie O'Pry. "We played real sluggish the first game. Stockton came out and dinked on us like crazy. We had to change our defense a lot and it took the first game to warm up."

Snyder began to dominate late in the first match. Though the Panthers won, Snyder broke game-point service eight consecutive times before the hosts could eek out the win.

"It's nice to know we can come back and win a second game," said the coach. "Usually we come out like gang busters in the first one and play poorly in the second one. Under the circumstances I was really pleased with the kids."

Serving for points for Snyder were Cari Walker 6, Susan Brim 15, Mona Green 8, Tricia Gregory 6, Sabrina Sullivan 5 and Karlene Thompson 2.

Snyder JV lost 15-11 and 15-3. Serving for points were Leslie Ward and Kima McLarty 4 each, Cintia Gonzales 3, Allison Adams 2 and Hope Hernandez 1.

The junior varsity will also play Lamesa next Thursday.

Dear Abby

Young Couple's Love Is Mostly Just Lust

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a very mature 13-year-old girl in love with a guy who just turned 18. I'll call him "Brian." I asked my parents if I could go out with him, and they said no, right off, so I've been sneaking around to be with him.

Abby, we really love each other, but Brian says he is not a talker, he is a doer. He wants to show me how much he loves me by making love to me. I'm still a virgin, but we have come very, very close to going all the way.

Brian wants me to prove my love by going all the way with him, but something is holding me back. He says it's not wrong to have sex if you are really in love.

What should I do?

BRIAN'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Brian may tell you he is not a "talker," he is a "doer," but he is both, so don't let him talk you into (or out of) anything. That old "prove-your-love" line has been around for a very long time, and it's just as phony today as it was when your grandmother was a girl.

No respectable young man would allow — much less encourage — a 13-year-old girl to sneak around and lie to her parents. I can understand how your young heart throbs when you're near him, but it's not "love" — it's a natural sex desire, which is nothing to be ashamed of. But you are too young, emotionally immature and vulnerable to become sexually active.

Be wise, young lady, and cool it with Brian before you lose control and find yourself in serious trouble.

DEAR ABBY: Very often you advise your readers to "consult your clergyman." While there is absolutely nothing wrong with this advice, there is something definitely wrong with your terminology.

Since most major denominations have been ordaining women for quite some time, the proper term is no longer "clergyman." It is either "clergyperson" or "member of the clergy." Only when the individual's sex is known should the terms "clergywoman" or "clergyman" be used.

Please sign me . . . THE REV. SUSAN F. JAREK-GLIDDEN: a clergywoman, a clergyperson, or a member of the clergy — but most definitely not a clergy*man*.

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
SALEM, N.H.

DEAR SUSAN F. JAREK-GLIDDEN, CLERGY-WOMAN: Old habits die hard. I shall henceforth watch out for gender-benders — and other offenders.

DEAR ABBY: I identified with the 13-year-old girl who was ashamed to invite her friends over because she lived in a "dump." You see, I also grew up in the same kind of home.

Only a year ago did I learn at a class reunion that my friends loved coming to my house because they found it so comfortable and my parents so kind and friendly.

Many of my former classmates told me their homes were so "perfect," and their parents so concerned with keeping the house "neat and tidy," their friends couldn't relax there.

I was actually envied for my parents and the home I thought was a "dump." I'm sorry I didn't know sooner, before my parents died.

The time for a defender to start thinking is during the bidding. He should continue his thinking process as soon as dummy hits the table so as to plan ahead and decide on his early plays.

East's thinking during the bidding is that he is not likely to defeat the spade slam unless the ace of spades appears in dummy.

His first look at dummy confirms that opinion. His king of spades has become so much trash.

Declarer wins the club lead with dummy's king, thinks a while and leads the queen of spades. Muddled thinking will tell East to cover. Maybe South holds four trumps to the A-10. Good thinking will tell him that is just impossible. If South did hold just A-10-x-x in trumps, he would undoubtedly have led low, hoping to find East with a singleton king.

Is there any point in ducking? There sure is, provided East has seen the possibilities in time to be ready to play low without making a production number of it. Let's see what a quick duck leads to. Expert South has a sure-fire winning play if West has the spade king. He rises with his ace of trumps, strips clubs and hearts from his hand and dummy and leads a small trump.

If West wins, he will be stone-cold dead. But East wins, leads a diamond and West's king becomes the setting trick.

Water in Alaska is too hot

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Water is so hot in some spots in Alaska, it has to be cooled down for bathing purposes — even in winter.

The country's largest state boasts at least four natural hot springs with water heated up to 156 degrees Fahrenheit while the air is a snappy 40 degrees below zero in the winter. Cold water is added to these mineral springs to make them tolerable for a relaxing soak.

Chena Hot Springs resort, 60 miles northeast of Fairbanks, has signs near the outside springs warning visitors against a quick dip because of the extra hot water. Its indoor pools are co9led down from 156 F to 110 F, while the large swimming pool has 90-degree water.

Some 137 miles north of Fairbanks, the Arctic Circle Hot Springs has a natural constant flow of hot water of 386 gallons per minute at 139 degrees. Nelozi Hot Springs, some 200 miles northwest of Fairbanks, is so remote, you can only reach it by small airplane.

If you're watching your weight, try substituting pita bread for the bread you usually eat. It's just one slice with a pocket in the middle; about 90 calories for a medium-size pocket. HERSHEL HINSHAW

Hershel's Hints

THERE ARE THREE TIMES A YEAR TO PREVENT CERTAIN WEEDS FROM GERMINATING BY PUTTING DOWN A FERTI-LOME PRE-EMERGENCE HERBACIDE.

1.) IN THE EARLY FALL (SUCH AS NOW).
The temperature is right, everything is in place, all we need now IS RAIN to germinate those fall weeds - including winter rye. This is the ideal time to prevent wild rye and 34 other weeds by using Ferti-lome Balan pre-emergence herbacide.

2.) ABOUT JANUARY FIRST TO FEBRUARY.
Ths application should prevent early spring weeds that will begin to germinate in February and March. (Such as dandilions, careless weeds, plaintain, clover, foxtail, henbit, etc.)

3.) ABOUT MARCH 15th.
This is the time to use a pre-emergence herbacide to prevent late germinating weeds such as crabgrass, grassburrs, Johnson grass seed, etc. (These late germinating weeds begin germinating when the ground begins to warm up.)

IT SHOULD BE REMEMBERED THAT THE EFFECTIVENESS OF A PRE-EMERGENCE HERBACIDE IS ABOUT 60 DAYS. THESE HERBACIDES SHOULD BE USED ONLY ON BERMUDA GRASS AND ST. AUGUSTINE.

"Snyder." J. Wright Mooar gained fame his second day in Scurry County when he killed the White Buffalo just 10 miles northwest of present day Snyder.

On Oct. 6, 1876, Wright Mooar, along with Dan Dowd, Wright's brother John and others came to Deep Creek. As they crossed it, Wright remarked to John that it was really a "deep creek." It was a custom in those days for hunters to name creeks, and the name "Deep Creek" was immediately given.

After spending the night along Deep Creek, the hunters arose at daybreak and headed up the creek to the northwest. They moved quickly toward the hills in search of the buffalo.

The great herds had all but disappeared with many of them retreating to the Texas Panhandle, which was largely controlled by Indians.

The hunters traveled hard in the crisp autumn morning and arrived about 10 a.m. at a part of Deep Creek which was garded by high hills to the west. The Hackberry, Chinaberry and Cottonwood trees grew thick and high along the banks of the creek and the channel cut deeply into the rich soil as the water rushed toward the Colorado River to the south.

The hunters had seen small herds of buffalo, but they did not pause as they wanted to make camp early.

After the camp was secured, J. Wright Mooar told the others that he would look around out west of camp and would be back about sunset. As he rode toward the Caprock, he viewed this area as no white man had ever seen it.

The country was ablaze with autumn colors as the sea of grass, all blended together, made it look like a giant rainbow laid out on the prairie.

About two miles away from camp, Mooar turned his horse toward the southwest and he rode by small prairie lakes which were brimming with water and rolling with white caps. Far to the west, he could see the Caprock looking down upon him like a monument guarding a hidden valley.

As Mooar journeyed toward the Caprock, he traveled along the banks of a small creek, then turned back east to his camp on Deep Creek.

Reaching the hills just west of his Deep Creek camp, he paused to look at the beauty below him. The smoke from the campfire made its way into the late afternoon sky and rays of the sun struck a brillance of colors, forming a backdrop behind the camp.

Suddenly, Mooar spotted a small herd of buffalo on the horizon just beyond the wagons. The sun's rays, in its autumn glory, flashed on a "white object" in the midst of the herd. He knew immediately that it was a white buffalo and his heart raced with excitment.

He galloped into camp and asked his men if they had seen the white animal. They replied that they had seen the herd, but had not noticed the white buffalo. This news caused excitment among the hunters.

Dan Dowd was chosen to go with Mooar for the kill, and Dan secured two knives from his saddle bag. The two hunters slipped slowly out of camp and down into the banks of Deep Creek. Mooar knew the animals would escape if they suspected intruders.

Any unusual sound, such as the breaking of a twig or the falling of a rock, would cause the animals to break and run. The two men traveled the 600 yards in about 20 minutes.

Mooar recalls that he and Dowd "peeked cautiously over the banks of Deep Creek at the small herd which was grazing peacefully near the foot of a cottonwood tree." The white buffalo stood out distinctly in the herd.

The white buffalo was considered a freak of nature and a god to the Indians. It was a prize that all buffalo hunters hoped for, but few ever gained.

Pausing momentarily, Mooar stood in awe at the great white buffalo cow. He said to Dowd, "Take a good look, Dan, there is he gamiest animal on earth...a white buffalo."

With these words, he rested his left elbow on the prairie grassland, and took careful aim. The big Sharps rifle cracked and the white beast fell to the ground. The rest of the herd, angered by the shot, rushed together in a moment of frustration and confusion. Mooar recalls that the small herd headed toward him and Dowd and they shot three bulls as the herd rushed past them.

The whole affair had lasted less than five minutes, but it would bring J. Wright Mooar fame that would be with him for the rest of his life.

Mooar and Dowd took their knives and skinned the animal and hung the meat high in the cottonwood tree for the night. There it would be safe from the coyotes and wolves which inhabited Deep Creek.

From that day on, Mooar kept the white buffalo hide and showed it to all who came and wanted to see it. The hide is now in the possession of his granddaughter, Judy Hays, on the old Mooar Ranch where the white buffalo was killed.

Pete Snyder saw the hide the first time he worked for J. Wright Mooar in the winter of 1876. President Teddy Roosevelt saw it when Mooar was at the St. Louis Fair in 1904 and offered to buy it from Mooar. Mooar politely declined the offer.

The buffalo were beginning to disappear by 1877, and the hunters were becoming ranchers, farmers or businessmen. Pete Snyder saw his opportunity to settle in this area and, in 1877, he established a trading post about 10 miles west of the Mooar Ranch near Fluvanna. This venture would eventually lead to the establishment of the town of "Snyder."

The buffalo were the main influence for bringing settlers to this area. When the buffalo was gone, the men and women who came with them settled down and built a community. J. Wright Mooar spent the rest of his life close to the spot where he killed the white buffalo. Pete Snyder, who lived here only briefly, stayed close by at Colorado City where he settled down and married.

The white buffalo brought fame to J. Wright Mooar and will always be a part of the legend of an era long past. Mooar and Snyderr both will be remembered for their deeds in our community.

And it all started with J. Wright Mooar when he killed the White Buffalo on Oct. 7, 1876 — 107 years ago today.

Pleas given for charges was assessed a 10-year prison term.

The court also revoked a previously granted 10-year felony probation term for Palmer and he is now serving the two terms concurrently.

Kenneth Freeman, indicted in September for criminal mischief in connection with an unauthorized connection to electrical service owned by the Midwest Electric Cooperative, was placed on felony probation for two years after he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Also drawing a probated sentence from the court was Eugene C. Williams who pleaded guilty to a charge of felony DWI. Williams was placed on probation for a period of three years.

Felony burglary charges against Delores Allen and theft charges against Lisa McCollum were dropped this week. Both defendants had been indicted by past grand juries for the two offenses.

The court cited the refiling of the case as a misdemeanor in county court in dismissing the indictment against Allen and indicated that full restitution led to the dismissal of the charges against McCollum.

Cases closed

Snyder police logged one misdemeanor arrest and closed two pending cases in action Thursday.

Reports indicate all of the property reported taken in a burglary of the Joe Lara residence June 25 had been recovered and local officers stopped their investigation at Lara's request.

Officers also called off their investigation of a criminal mishief incident reported Wednesday at the Phillip Fisher residence at Fisher's request.

One man was arrested on public intoxication charges Thursday evening.

Bullock blasts Gov. White

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock, who says he would like to have Gov. Mark White's job, has accused the governor of wasting taxpayers dollars, spending too much time on his "yacht" and neglecting the state while "running for vice president."

Richard Dawson, host of the popular TV game show "Family Feud," was one of the major characters on the TV comedy, "Hogan's Heroes."

Gas line hearing reset

has held off on any action related to this termination.

The plantiffs in the case claim that they and the oil company have a legally binding contract allowing them the free use of the gas.

In addition to stopping Chevron from cutting off the gas, the plaintiffs are seeking compensation for expenses incurred in coverting their residences to use other forms of energy.

The court action is seen by individuals involved as a test case for other county residents who have been using the residual line gas.

Plaintiffs in the case are Richard Lee and Rhylene Stoker and Lester O. and Martha E. Moore. They are represented by local attorney Dan Cotton and Odessa attorney Roy L. Bell.

One vehicle needs wrecker

No injuries were reported in a two-vehicle traffic accident at the intersection of College Ave. and 25th St. early Friday morning.

According to police reports, involved vehicles were a 1977 Volkswagen driven by Darla Black Gray of 100 37th St. and a 1979 Oldsmobile driven by Lynn Reedy Bethel of 3300 48th. The accident occurred around 7:46 a.m.

Minor to moderate damages were reported to both vehicles. A punctured radiator on the Volkswagen required it to be towed away.

Snyder police were called also to investigate a single hit and run traffic mishap Thursday morning.

According to reports, a highway sign at 111 N Ave. Y had been struck by an unidentified vehicle sometime before 8:02 a.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone you know and like may be in need of your help today. If you can't assist materially, at least try to give encouragement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) At social gatherings today it's to your advantage to mix with everyone, rather than to cloister yourself with a select group. Be friendly to all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be sure that the goals you set for yourself today will be worth the effort to achieve them. Don't waste your time on hollow victories.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll make good judgments today because you'll have the ability to see the true worth of both sides where important issues are concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be protective of loved ones today, but try to do so without smothering them. Holding too tight a reign will reverse the results you desire.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things which you normally take in stride could get you unduly upset today if they go amiss. Keep a cool head when stepping over small obstacles.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're a keen observer today, and this can either work for or against you. When you spot weaknesses in others, think twice before commenting.

Circle K Corporation to purchase stock

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Circle K Corp., operator of Phoenix-based chain of convenience stores, will purchase all stock in UtoteM Inc., owner of another chain of convenience stores, from American Financial Corp., according to an agreement in principle announced Thursday.

The purchase price of about $225 million includes cash, mortgage notes, convertible preferred stock and warrants, announced Circle K Chairman Karl Eller and Carl H. Lindner, chairman of AFC, based in Cincinnati.

The transaction is subject to approval by Circle K shareholders and by the Federal Trade and Securities Exchange commissions, said Ray Cox, a spokesman for Circle K.

UtoteM has about 960 stores, mostly in Sun Belt states from Florida to California. Circle K operates about 1,200 stores in 12 Western and Southwestern states.

Human bones found

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Medical examiners said they would begin the task today of reassembling "several bags" of human bones found under a house in the hope that they can piece together clues to what police believe was the murder of at least one person.

The bones were unearthed Thursday from a house where a man had committed suicide the same weekend a woman and child disappeared, police said.

The bones were found as crewmen were leveling a house that had been gutted by a fire. The house had been occupied by George Earl Gray, 43, who committed suicide on Feb. 22, 1980 by slashing his wrists and hanging himself from a light fixture, police said.

Officials say a woman and child have not been seen since the man's death.

Fort Worth homicide detective Lt. T.C. Swan said police suspect murder because the human bones were found in a shallow grave. He said there were enough bones to "fill several bags," but it was undetermined whether the bones belonged to more than one person.

Bill Fabian, a spokesman for the Tarrant County Medical Examiner, said an examination of the bones would begin today, as well as a possible reassembling of the bones.

He said medical examiners made a tentative identification of the bones Thursday, but he said it was not a positive one.

"We struck out in our first try at it (identifying the bones)," he said.

When the bones were dug up police had to restrain Doris Faye Salone, who ran up to the site, screaming: "My sister's in there."

Later, Ms. Salone said her 20-year-old sister, Gloria Jean Salone, was staying with Gray until he was found dead.

Paul Harvey

September 20 of this year 100,000 Filipinos rampaged through the streets of Manila shouting "Revolution! Revolution!"

Theirs was no "revolution."

Before daybreak there were a dozen dead and hundreds wounded on the bloody streets.

But their was no revolution.

These were not hungry people who sought to storm the Palace. Manila, comparatively, is prosperous.

These, ostensibly protesting the Marcos regime had nobody better to offer.

But political incendiaries in their midst — using the assassination of Aquino as their excuse — rallied a mob.

It's easy anywhere — especially in the so-called Third World — to rally a mob.

Let me tell you how easy.

Any fourth-string, bush-league evangelist can annouce a religious rally in Jakarta or Seoul and a flood tide of half a million will converge.

Most wll not know his name, will not understand his language, but for the eternally bored it is "something to do," it is "someplace to be."

Evangelists used to credit "a miracle of the Lord."

Some, if only by implication, would credit their own personal magnetism.

Until it was discovered that anybody can do it; that most anybody can attract a crowd in those nations of abundant ennui.

Or mobilize a demonstration.

Or incite a riot.

Colonialism — one nation seeking to rule another — failed because it is so easy for people who are unhappy, frustrated, bored...

And we all periodically are unhappy, frustrated, bored...

It is so easy to focus resentment on "outside" rulers.

In nations now independent of foreign domination, any such resitiveness must be taken out on the incumbent government — whichever.

I count forty nations presently at war with themselves and the assortment of justification — ancient hatreds, religious differences, tribal rivalries — all boil down mostly to abject, chronic public boredom.

Periodic elections let off some steam but demonstrating is more fun. Even when it gets bloody.

The communists make the most of this. Americans must at least recognize it — before we exhaust our resources trying to enforce peace and quiet in places already rebelling against too much peace and quite.

Property taxes up during 1982

AUSTIN (AP) — School districts, counties, cities and other local taxing authorities in Texas levied nearly $6.6 billion in property taxes last year — an increase of 14.4 percent over 1981.

Kenneth E. Graeber, executive director of the State Property Tax Board, said in 1982, the property tax levy per capita in Texas was $377, compared to $336 the previous year.

He said in conjunction with the 1982 tax year, voters in 35 taxing jurisdictions held rollback elections, in which voters decide whether to put an 8 percent ceiling on tax hikes. In 21 units, voters favored the rollback. It failed in the other 14.

Other statistics compiled by the board:

— Half the property taxes in 1982 were levied by school districts.

— The amount of property taxes levied in 1981 was $5.75 billion, a 16.3 increase over 1980. The biggest jump in property taxes came in 1980, when tax levies rose by more than 19 percent over those of 1979.

— Property taxes accounted for 38 percent of the total state and local tax burden in Texas in 1982.

— The largest single contributor to property taxes last year was the single-family homeowner, who accounted for 28 precent of taxes levied. Second was commercial and industrial property at 21 percent, and oil and gas taxpayers contributed 14 percent.

— Five rollback elections were held in Montgomery County, the most in any county; all five passed. No rollback elections were held in West Texas.

Cataracts and vision

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had my eyes examined by a qualified eye specialist and he told me that my eyes show early signs of cataracts which may or may not occur. I do not have any eye trouble except that sometimes I feel spots before my vision.

I have heard there is no treatment for a cataract once the cataract has started. If I do get a cataract, what will be the state of my vision when the cataract is removed by operation? I am very fond of reading and hope to live an active life until the end. After the operation, will I be able to do my normal reading and lead a normal life?

Since I have been told the diagnosis of cataracts I remain awfully worried. Is this mental tension harmful for cataracts?

DEAR READER — It is natural to be very concerned when you think you may lose your vision and you do not understand exactly what the problem is or if it can be treated.

Let me assure you many people have small cataracts or opacities in the lens of one or both eyes and continue to have good vision. That is why everyone who has a cataract does not need an operation. Depending on your health and age, you may never have enough opacification of your lenses to require surgery.

If you do develop sufficient clouding of the lenses to interfere with vision, you may still be able to see well with glasses. If not — and if the rest of your eyes are normal — you can simply have the cataract removed. With contact lenses or implants you will have good vision provided the rest of your eye is healthy. Now if you did develop changes in the retina, then that would be the limitation to your vision, not the cataract problem.

You will understand the problem of cataracts as related to your vision better after reading The Health Letter 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about the young woman with the rumbling stomach. I used to have the same problem. I've found that if I eat a peanut butter sandwich before I go out this solves my problem.

This seems too simple to be true, but it works for me. The young lady might try it and I hope it helps her.

DEAR READER — Thank you for your interest in helping others. And eating does stop the rumbling stomach that is caused by hunger contractions. Another reader wrote about stopping the rumbles from hunger contractions by eating crackers.

Stopping the hunger contractions and the noise they make by eating proves the point that you do not rest the stomach by not eating. On the contrary, eating may quiet the beast.

Unfortunately some individuals, which I believe is true of the lady who wrote originally, have gas formations that pass through liquid. These will continue to occur even if you eat something before going out. The intestines are usually active and gas formed in the stomach or swallowed will cause sounds when the small intestines are making their normal rhythmic contractions. But it is always worth trying a snack to see if that will help as it did for you.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

If you want to pay less for surgical care you'll find surgeon's fees lower in smaller communities, higher in major cities. The Health Insurance Association of America says an analysis of some surgeons' charges across the nation shows the highest average rates in and around larger cities, such as New York, Los Angeles and Washington. Some of the lowest surgical fees are in rural communities in Alabama, Maine, West Virginia and South Dakota.

Stallion owners hopeful

LONDON (AP) — The owners of superstallion Shergar, kidnapped by gunmen in Ireland eight months ago, believe the $13-million racehorse is still alive and have boosted a reward for his safe return to at least $150,000.

"We hope to flush out the kidnappers by increasing the reward," Stanley John, a spokesman for Lloyd's of London, said Thursday night. Lloyds paid out a $10.5-million claim last June to the syndicate that owns Shergar.

"We believe the horse is still alive and felt that the trail was getting colder and colder. Not everyone believes it, but what can you do?"

John said Lloyd's approved the syndicate's reward offer. But he stressed: "Any offer we're involved in is conditional on the horse being returned alive and the gang involved being convicted."

John said the 34-member syndicate, including millionaires Robert Sangster and the Aga Khan, decided to increase the reward to "a six-figure amount" at a weekend meeting in Paris in a last-chance bid to end the Shergar mystery.

The meeting was attended by an executive of Lloyd's, which since the insurance payout technically owns the champion horse, winner of the 1981 English and Irish Derby classics.

The payout was the biggest in the history of thoroughbred insurance.

John said the syndicate will meet again within three weeks to decide exactly how much reward money they will post, John said.

There are two other rewards posted for Shergar $75,000 by the Irish Thoroughbred Breeders' Association and $15,000 dollars by the London racing newspaper Sporting Life.

The 5-year-old Shergar was snatched from the Ballymoney stud farm in the Irish Republic's County Kildare bluegrass country Feb. 8 by four masked gunmen.

Police in the Republic and British-ruled Northern Ireland mounted a lengthy dragnet for the stallion, but turned up no clues.

Key witness disqualified

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Country and western singer Hank Williams Jr., fighting a $1.2 million breach of contract suit, says he was not drunk but was "a man fightin' a cold" when he cut short a performance at a nightclub two years ago.

A key defense witness in the lawsuit against Williams was disqualified Thursday after he admitted that he and Williams had discussed testimony during the trial.

The lawsuit contends Williams illegally broke a contract to sing at the club on June 13, 1981. Testimony ended at noon Thursday.

Merle Kilgore, who was traveling with Williams when the singer broke off an engagement at the now-defunct Spurs Club in nearby Denison, told a lawyer for the club that he and Williams had been staying in an adjoining hotel rooms since Sunday night and that the two had discussed testimony several times.

The trial, which was in its fourth day Thursday, has drawn about 20 spectators each day.
