

Jesse White, Retired Ginner, Dies Sunday

Jesse White, 73, a resident of the county 51 years, died at St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday, Nov. 22 at 12:55 a.m., after being in ill health several years. His home was at 1110 Belton Street.

Mr. White was a retired gin manager and operator, work which he had followed all his adult life. Besides gins in Wellington, he was associated with gins at Fresno, Dodson and Arlie.

Born Dec. 27, 1890, in Ozark, Ark., Mr. White lived at Reed, Okla., before coming here in 1911.

He was married to Miss Vinnie Lowry Oct. 31, 1909, at Blair, Okla.

A devoted member of the Baptist Church, he had belonged to it since 1917.

Funeral services for Mr. White were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Monday at First Baptist Church, with the Rev. A. B. Earnest Jr., officiating. Pallbearers were grandsons and nephews, including Kenneth White, Keith White, John A. Jones, Robert E. Jones, Glynn Franks and Cecil Franks.

Burial was in the West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. White are his wife, of the home; a daughter and four sons: Miss Doris White of the home, Leon White of Hollis, Raymond White of Dallas, Roy White of McHenry, Ill., and Willie White of Oklahoma City.

Three Vehicles Hit at 83-338

One man was treated for injuries following a collision at Lucky Corner Tuesday, Nov. 24, that involved two pickups and a car. The accident occurred about 9 a.m.

LeRoy Belew, driver of the car, received rib injuries, but was released after treatment, according to Highway Patrolman Dave Crossland, who investigated the accident.

The patrolman said that Lewis Alfred, driving east on FM 338 in a pickup, pulling a tractor, had halted at the stop sign at the Highway 83 intersection.

Hilliard Scott of Dodson, driving the other pickup west on FM 338, came to a stop on the opposite side of the intersection, then pulled into Highway 83, apparently failing to see the Belew car, which was headed south, the patrolman continued.

The Scott pickup and Belew car, collided, and the impact threw the Scott vehicle into the Alfred pickup, which was not moving, according to Crossland.

There was damage to the left side of the Alfred pickup, both sides of the Scott pickup, and the left side of the Belew car.

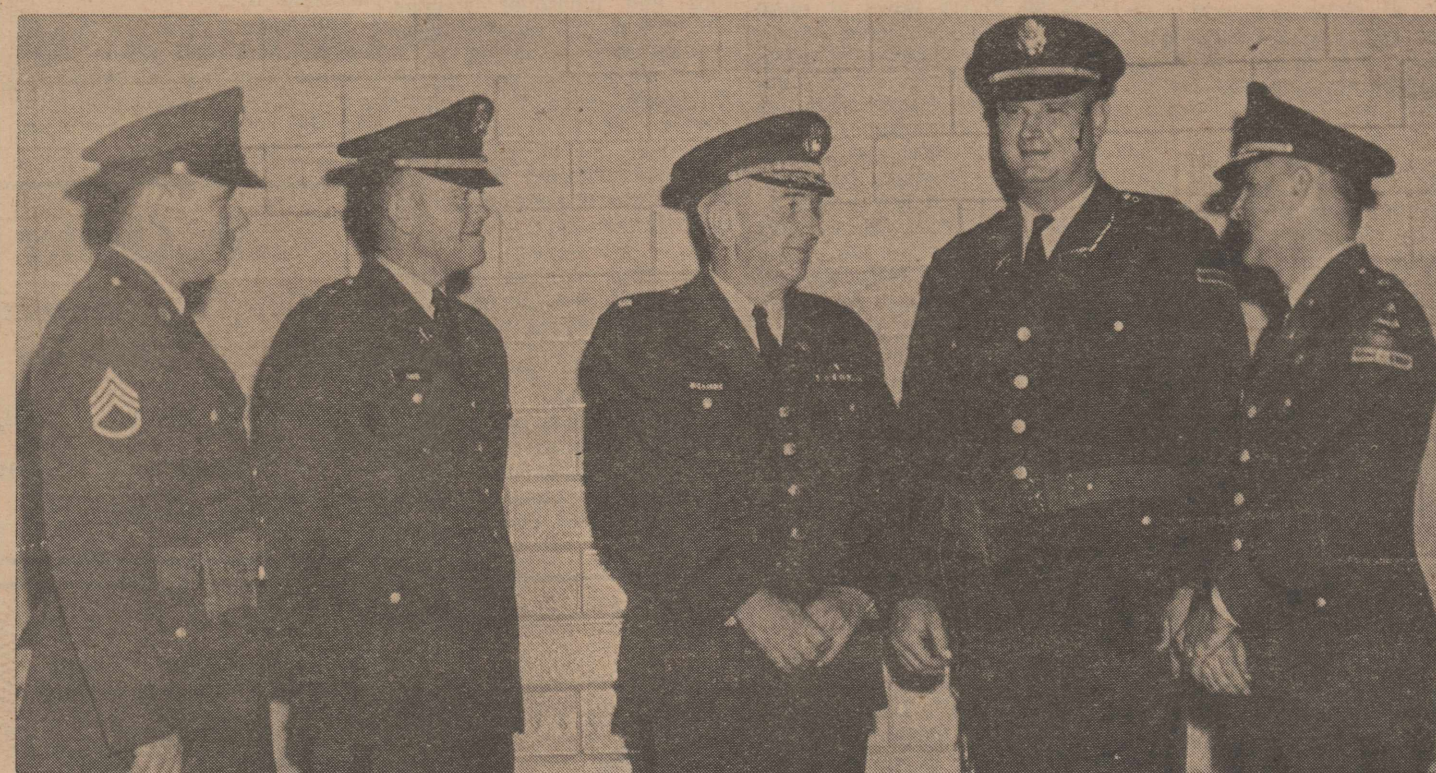

Year's Training

Gray in NG Officer Candidate School

DALLAS.—Members of the Texas National Guard's Officer Candidate School in Dallas are select members of the 49th Armored Division who are spending extra time one weekend a month and considerably more time at home training to become second lieutenants.

Officer Candidate Neal Gray of Battery A, 131st Field Artillery Battalion, 49th Armored Division, is one of the men enrolled in this program. He continues his farming here and trains with the Wellington National Guard unit, but also reports to Dallas for his officer training each month.

The training, both academic and physical, is tough and demands more of the men than their civilian jobs, explains Lt. Col. John Teipel, school commandant. A man who may be a student, store clerk or bank teller 28 days a month, will do 50 pushups, run a mile, and learn the techniques of leading a platoon into combat—all within a 24-hour weekend. NATIONAL GUARD INSPECTION

The annual general inspection of Battery A, 131st Artillery of the 49th Armored Division came Wednesday, Nov. 18, with Lt. Col. Walter Williams of the Army's IG section, Austin, as the inspecting officer. Col. Williams, center, here confers with battalion officers. At the left is Sgt. Jack Frost, who came to Wellington recently from the National Guard unit at Dumas and is the permanent employee of the guard. Second from left is Lt. Robert Cain, battalion liaison officer, while Capt. Harry Cox, battery officer, stands at Col. Williams' right and Major Billy B. Blankenship, battalion operations officer, is at right. Cain and Blankenship are from battalion headquarters at Wichita Falls. Col. Williams praised the cooperation of the people of Wellington and expressed his pleasure at the number who had come out to observe the annual inspection.

125 Expected

Christian Church Host at Two-Day Youth Rally

First Christian Church in Wellington will be host to a Christian Youth Rally Friday and Saturday, Nov. 27 and 28, which will bring together teenage boys and girls from a wide area across the Texas Panhandle and Western Oklahoma.

Plans were announced this week by Min. Hiram Cassel. Sessions will be at the church. Approximately 125 are expected.

"Thanks Be to Christ" is the theme of the rally and classes will seek to familiarize young people with the opportunities for Christian work and the challenge it presents them, Mr. Cassel said.

Guest speakers will be young ministers coming from Christian churches in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The rally will get under way Friday at 4 p.m., and the first feature is a film, "Teenage Testament" and discussion led by Mr. Cassel.

A barbecue will be held at the community building, and at 8 p.m., Stewart York, minister of the Marlow, Okla., church will speak. His subject will be "For Providing Redemption."

Classes are scheduled Saturday morning, with the session beginning at 9 a.m. The young people will have their choice in attending these, which are:

"Worldwide Opportunities," to be taught by Gilbert Forrest of Fletcher, Okla., former pastor of the church here; "Christian Service," Charles Kerr of First Christian Church, Hinton, Okla.; "Christian Vocations," Paul Hancock of First Christian Church, Claremore; and "Christian Evidence," by Min. Cassel.

At 11 a.m., Min. Pete Jones of the Washington Avenue Christian Church, Amarillo, will speak on "His Abiding Presence."

At a session starting at 1:00 p.m., Min. C. E. Staiger of Waldren, Kan., will speak on "His Continual Challenge."

Staiger is a protege of Min. Cassel, and entered the ministry under the latter several years ago at Burlington, Okla. He is now a life recruit, or ministerial student, at Midwest Christian College and minister of the Waldren Church.

The closing event will be a mission film, "A Cry in the Night."

Special music at this session will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Aten of Borger, and Wellington musicians who will be presented are Kathy Davis and Marsha Tyler in a saxophone duet, and Cheryl Wilson and Pat Wilson.

These young visitors will come from an area that extends from Amarillo to Lawton, Okla., and from Borger and Pampa to Childress, Min. Cassel said. They will stay in Wellington homes, and anyone who will keep one or more is asked to contact Rhonda Kersten.

Skilled Production

Speech Class Presents "Wizard of Oz" Mon.

Praise from a captivated audience was heaped on the characters who stepped out of the Land of Oz and onto the stage of the Wellington high school auditorium Monday evening, Nov. 23.

The sets, and light and sound effects were much above what is expected of a high school production. Costumes were realistic, judged even by professional productions.

Beforehand worry over lost lines and stage fright by the young actors failed to materialize into anything and the story moved along smoothly.

Each year the second year speech class, taught by Mrs. Bob McAlister, presents a play, especially for children. Because of the lights and sound effects, "The Wizard of Oz" was given as an evening performance.

Children were there, but so were the parents and grandparents, other adults and high school students until the auditorium was nearly full.

The production cast included Adam Garcia, in charge of sets; Bill Spillman and Freddy

Funeral Rites Held Tuesday for Newt Trout

Newton Thomas Trout, who moved to Wellington upon his retirement 12 years ago, died Monday, Nov. 24 in St. Joseph's Hospital at the age of 83.

His death was unexpected, although he had been in ill health since he was severely burned several years ago.

Mr. Trout was a retired gin manager, having worked at Allison and Wheeler many years before coming here.

He was born April 18, 1881 at Jacksboro. On Jan. 20, 1907 he was married to Miss Thelma Eller of Roff, Okla.

Funeral services for Mr. Trout were conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Kelso Chapel

Holiday Activity to Open This Week End

Wellington merchants and townspeople open the Christmas season this week end with a series of traditional goodwill events scheduled from then until Christmas.

The Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce spearheads this activity.

Wellington merchants have announced their annual Trade Days, in which $300 in script will be given away on five designated days before Christmas, Dec. 5, 12, 19, 23 and 24, according to N. M. Higdon, C-C manager.

This will be handled as it has in the past. There will be two drawings on each of these days. One will be for $35 in script and numbers will be drawn until it is claimed. The second drawing will be for $25 in script and if this is not claimed on the first drawing, it will be held over to the next drawing, with the amount accumulating.

All of these drawings will be on the courthouse lawn at 4 p.m., of the designated days.

Approximately 30 Wellington merchants are participating.

Santa Claus will come to Wellington Friday, Dec. 11, riding in his familiar old western stage coach and bringing treats for the children of the area.

He'll drive onto the courthouse square at 2 p.m. and a majority of the county's small fry is expected to be on hand to receive him.

Plans for Santa's arrival, as well as for the decorations in the business section during the holiday season, were announced this week by Denver Powell, chairman of the decorations committee for the chamber of commerce.

Christmas lights in downtown Wellington will go up Monday, Nov. 30, Powell said. These will be of the same pattern that has drawn so much favorable comment the last few years.

Wellington's traditional Christmas star atop the courthouse will be lighted again. Holiday lights will extend from the corners of the courthouse to the street light standards at the edges of the yard, then zig-zag across streets on each side of the square.

There will be a contest for the best window decoration of a holiday nature, open to any business firm in town, regardless of location.

Two prizes, $15 for first and $10 for second, will be offered. The deadline for entering is Dec. 15, according to Mrs. Ernest Harwell, chairman.

Christmas decorations committee members meeting last week to make plans were Powell, Ted Brock, Jake Leach, Quinton Brewer, Mrs. Harwell, Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. John Coleman.

Proclamation

WHEREAS our forefathers observed Thanksgiving as a day to stop and take stock of all the good things in life, although they, as we, were beset with problems, big and small. Yet they found time once each year to thank God and thank each other for all the good things they enjoyed.

AND WHEREAS, Thanksgiving is traditionally a day when families gather together, and we enjoy these associations that mean most to us,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Hiram Cudd, Mayor of Wellington, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 26 as a legal holiday and ask that each of us observe the day with a spirit of thanks and gratefulness.

Given under my hand this the 24th day of November, 1964.

WHS Teams to Meet Hedley Here Friday

The Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes will play once at home and then away from home during the coming week.

Both are doubleheaders.

The first set will be with the Hedley Owls and Owlettes in the Wellington gymnasium Friday, Nov. 27. Game time is 7 p.m.

On Tuesday, Dec. 1 the teams will travel to Shamrock to meet the Irish and the Lassies.

Hedley boys have not been beaten, and the girls also have a strong team, Coach James Stavenhagen said.

The Owls have good speed, good size, and almost always a strong team. Hedley plays in District 9-B, but the teams usually can hold their own with Class A and AA teams.

"They will be smoother than we are, because basketball is their major sport, and we'll be lucky to stay on the floor with them," Stavenhagen said.

The Class AA Irish are also strong. The boys have not lost so far and the girls also have a good team.

Like the Rockets, the Irish also will still be playing a little football, Stavenhagen predicted.

Methodists Go to Conference

Laymen and members of the San Antonio - Northwest Texas Conference will preach Monday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Todd will attend from First Methodist here, and the elected delegates are Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Crawley and John Forbis.

Methodist Men will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening, Dec. 2 at the church. The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. according to the Rev. Ellis Todd, pastor.

LUCKY CORNER GET-TOGETHER

These three vehicles were involved in a collision at the intersection of Highway 83 and FM 338—Lucky Corner—Tuesday morning, Nov. 24. Investigating officers said the car at left, driven by LeRoy Belew, was headed south on US 83, while the pickup at center, loaded with grain, was driven by Hilliard Scott of Dodson, coming west on FM 338. The impact of these two sent the Scott pickup veering into one driven by Louis Allred, right, which had halted at the intersection.

Vandalism Not a "Prank", But Part of a Big Problem

Vandalism which Wellington experienced a few weeks ago was not only the destruction of private local property, it was also part of a problem that is of nationwide concern.

Here a writer in the Fillmore, Calif., Herald looks at the parent's part in this problem:

What was your reaction to the news last week that vandals had broken out a few hundred dollars worth of plate glass windows here in Fillmore on Tuesday night? Did you "view with alarm"? Did you remark that "something ought to be done"? Or did you merely say, "It was some livewire boys with nothing else to do who got a little excited. So what, the windows were probably insured anyway?"

It seems to us that somewhere along the line we are failing these young people who are turning to crime to get their thrills. Either the home, the church or the school has failed to reach them. In most cases it is the home, for the church and the school can do little without the support of the parents.

The willful destruction of property is not something to pass over lightly. Such acts can easily pass on to more serious crimes.

When boys travel in gangs, late at night, with their own or the family car, the more irresponsible ones become the leaders. A few dares lead to petty mischief, and all too often, this leads to breaking the law. And if they are not stopped we soon have a gang of hoodlums on our hands.

The police can do little until the law is broken and even then they dread the ire of parents who "just know that my boy wouldn't do a thing like that."

It is time for parents to impress upon their young people that destruction of property is not a "boyhood prank."

NEWS LETTER

from Congressman
WALTER ROGERS

PROPER REPRESENTATION

It is the burning issue of our time — the issue of whether State governments are to possess the right to take into account the particular economic, social and political composition of their States in determining the proper apportionment of seats in the State legislatures.

The 88th Congress adjourned without reaching a solution to the problem posed by the Supreme Court's so-called "reapportionment" decisions which require that both houses of all State legislatures be structured solely on population factors — along the lines of the "one man, one vote" theory. The 89th Congress, to convene in January, will face the issue squarely and early in its first session.

Further reflecting the shift of the nation's population to metropolitan centers, the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate will be composed of more members from large cities than ever before in history.

However, every effort will continue to be made to impress upon House and Senate members that the recent Supreme Court decisions pose a threat not only to the sound functioning of State representative government but also to the needs and desires of people residing in the less populated areas of our 50 states.

It seems certain that the effect of the Supreme Court rulings will be to concentrate massive and dominant legislative power in the hands of the representatives from high-density population areas; it is also certain that many Americans view such power concentrations with deep foreboding.

Would residents of rural and semi-rural areas be well and properly represented in legislatures whose solid majorities are comprised of members unfamiliar with, or who care little about, any but the problems of the municipalities?

Would not urban-oriented legislatures be susceptible to the corrupting influence of boss rule? Would there not follow a consolidation of many state legislatures into unicameral one house bodies if both their houses are to be structured along lines taking into account a factor in representation?

Justice Harlan's dissenting opinion in the reapportionment cases decided by the Supreme Court provides a reasoned summation against the "one man, one vote" dictum.

Justice Harlan observed at one point in his dissent: "In one or another of today's opinions, the Court declares it unconstitutional for a State to give effective consideration to any of the following in establishing legislative districts: (1) history; (2) economic or other sorts of group interests; (3) area; (4) geographical considerations; (5) desire to insure effective representation for the sparsely settled areas; (6) 'availability of access of citizens to their representatives'; (7) theories of bicameralism (except those approved by the Court); (8) occupation; (9) 'an attempt to balance urban and rural power'; (10) the preference of a majority of the voters in the State."

Is not each of these factors vital? I believe they all are, as I believe that people are not ciphers and that they can be represented well only if their variety of interests are taken into account.

Thomas Jefferson believed, as I do, that the Congress of the United States should have the power to overturn unwise decisions of the Supreme Court, just as the Congress is able to override a veto by the President.

I have proposed in past sessions of the Congress—and I shall continue to propose—an amendment to the Constitution to permit Congress to set aside Supreme Court decisions which two-thirds majorities in each house of Congress believe to be at odds with the U.S. Constitution.

The strength of the United States rests upon the base of properly representative government, with the people — through their duly elected representatives — making the vital decisions as to the direction to be followed by our Ship of State.

More Park Land Urged

Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Will Odom said Texas may lose up to a third of its park land during the next 80 years because leases are expiring.

Odom called for a program of land acquisition to prevent loss of needed acreage when he spoke at the State Conservation Conference.

Earlier, he lauded Gulf States Marine Commission for efforts to develop the fishing industry and bring sea resources to the public for general benefit.

Winter Plans on Screwworm Work Announced

MISSION.—Eradication workers are plotting their strategy for combating screwworms this winter which they hope will eliminate the threat of re-infestation of the United States by the livestock pest in 1965.

Their plan is to release all available sterile screwworm flies up to 200 miles or more below the international border along both east and west coasts of Mexico where large numbers of native screwworms live throughout the winter. Sterile males mate with native females and prevent reproduction. This action is expected to weaken Mexican screwworm colonies which form the principal threat to the Southwest and slow the northward migration of the insects next spring.

Eradicators' ability to carry out this plan hinges on whether the number of screwworm cases in Texas can first be brought to an absolute minimum. If screwworms persist in Texas, it will require diverting sterile flies, airplanes and manpower from the task of strengthening the barrier zone in Mexico to fighting small, but costly outbreaks in Texas.

Each infestation in Texas costs approximately $750 to treat with sterile flies, field inspection and spray. For the same amount of money, one million sterile flies could be dispersed in Mexico where they would help protect against re-invasion from the south in 1965.

A mild winter, which would allow screwworms to survive and build up in numbers in much of the southern part of the state, would be particularly harmful to the program, authorities said. They fear stockmen may stop looking for the screwworms because of the low number of cases experienced this year and the prospects of cold weather ahead.

Success of their strategy, therefore, will depend on farmers and ranchers detecting and reporting screwworm infestations before they can multiply, so that emergency treatment can be provided. Treatment of animal wounds with smears is also called for to ward off any screwworm attack.

Opportunities in the Want Ads

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Federal Trade Commission notes how us people are often taken in by deceptive political promises, so they worry a lot about tricky advertising may fool us also.

But my no-dolt neighbor says he is not as stupid as the people-wardens think. For instance, several times here lately he has gone to tiger stations and dinosaur stations, and was plumb satisfied when gasoline was all he got.

Says he knows about figures of speech, even if the FTC doesn't, and he'd never have gone near one of those places if he had expected they would actually put a tiger or a dinosaur in his tank.

The over-matched minority which don't want Social Security funds siphoned off to pay for Medicare have about conceded the fight, even if they haven't switched.

But my Medicarian neighbor is looking forward to when he gets a little under the weather he can take a couple of weeks' hospital vacation instead of an aspirin.

Says, anyhow, he knows he will get sick as soon as this deal starts working, because it always makes him sick to be missing out on something that is free.

Basic law of nature is that when one party gets a new play-pretty, the neighbors all want one like it, and a fad gets started.

Like the nuclear bomb, which we got first, but pretty soon every country will be strutting the thing, and it looks like maybe we hadn't ought to have invented it.

The country that first thought up the bow and arrow likely figured they had the world by the tail, until everybody else got this weapon, too, and then they probably began wishing they could go back to sling-shots.

Which is pretty noble thinking, although up to now there hasn't been much of a shortage of volunteer people-improvers.

But it could be this increased interest in helping to distribute manna from Washington instead of laboring to put into the manna pot, is because taking it out involves more status and less sweat.

Quails and Bobwhites Beat Lakeview, Arnett

For the second straight week the Quail girls and boys basketball teams won all their games. They defeated the teams from Lakeview and Arnett, Okla.

On Tuesday night, Nov. 17 the Bobwhites beat the Lakeview girls 37-26, while the Quails won their game 68-28.

Then on Friday night, Nov. 20, the Bobwhites beat Arnett 45-21 and the Quails won their game 91-42. All games were played in the Quail gym.

Quail vs. Lakeview

The The Bobwhites got off to a slow start in this game, scoring only 3 points in the first quarter, but managed to outscore the determined Lakeview girls in the second period and were leading by 2 points at the half. The second half belonged to Quail as their post forward, Lonetta Neeley, scored 17 points in this half and the Bobwhites were never threatened as they won the game by 11 points. Neeley had a total of 25 points to lead all scorers. Shirley Horton scored 10 points and Sue Breedlove 2 for the Bobwhites. Tommy Payne had 14 points for the Lakeview girls.

The Quails had little trouble with the hustling Lakeview boys, as they built up a 27 point lead at halftime. The second half was played mainly by the Lakeview and Quail reserves as the young boys got in some valuable experience for the future.

All 18 Quails played with 12 of these getting in on the scoring, led by Joe Harris and Dale Morris with 11 points each. Bruce Ward scored 10, Coy Stephens 8, Paul Gollighugh 7, Jarrell Fielding 7, Smokey Mitchell 6, Earl Feemster 2, Luther Needham 2, Gary Neely 2, Garland Boyce 2, Royse Mitchell 1. Other Quails seeing action were Don Morris, Reed Souder, Robert Blevins, J. R. Downs, Gary Mitchell, and Darrell Colson.

Five boys tied for high for the Lakeview team, each scoring 4 points. They were Sanders, Sams, Duke, Thomas and Anderson.

Quail vs. Arnett

The Bobwhites had little trouble with the inexperienced girls from Arnett, as they built up a 7 point first quarter lead and extended this to 14 points by halftime. All 10 Bobwhites played in the game in which they won by 24 points.

Leading the scoring was Sue Breedlove with 19 points, followed by Shirley Horton with 15 and Lonetta Neeley had 9 and Judy Campbell 2. The other Bobwhite forward is Linda Peters. The Bobwhite guards are Mary Conner, Mary Lindsel, Mary Cummings, Patricia Kimbro and Dianne Moseley. Lorraine Hatcher had 8 points for Arnett.

The Quails had little trouble with the young Arnett boys as they built up a 57-28 halftime lead and increased this as the game progressed. All 19 Quails played with Brue Ward leading the scoring with 19 points. Dusterlie had 10 points for the Arnett boys.

The Quails' record is now 9 wins, 1 loss, and the Bobwhites have won 6 and lost 4.

Score by quarters:

Bobwhites	3	12	25	37
Lakeview	5	9	18	26
Quails	21	39	58	68
Lakeview	6	12	20	28
Bobwhites	11	21	34	45
Arnett	4	7	15	21
Quails	33	57	73	91
Arnett	13	28	36	42

Quail Teams Play Away

The Quail Bobwhites and Quails will play two games each away from home this coming week. On Friday, Nov. 27 the teams will play the Lefors teams and on Tuesday, Dec. 1 the teams will play at Estelline. Game time is 7:00 p.m.

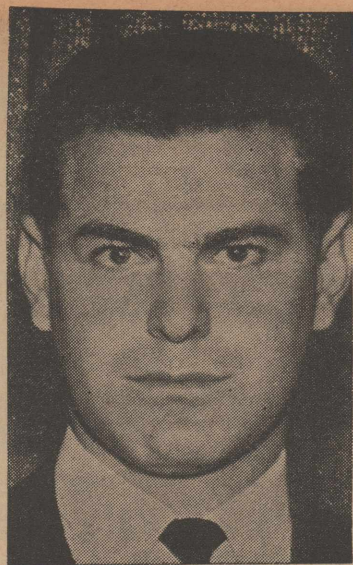

"This is the first year for Lefors to play in Class B as they played in class A last year so we are expecting them to be pretty good," Coach Don Lacy said.

"Estelline did well in football so we know they have some good athletes and their girls won district last year, so we are expecting to meet two good teams," Lacy said.

McGuire Among A&M University Seniors Honored

COLLEGE STATION.—Travis McGuire Jr., of Route 2, Wellington, is among 38 Texas A & M University seniors with outstanding records who will be listed in the new edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities," the Dean of Students, James P. Hannigan announced.

The 38 students representing a broad range of academic disciplines were chosen by a faculty-student committee. Scholastic record and extra-curricular activities were major factors in the selections.

Most of the seniors chosen have been listed as a Distinguished Student for at least one semester and each has an overall grade average of 80 or higher.

McGuire, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis McGuire is a Quail high school graduate.

At Texas A&M he is a veterinary medicine student and plans to graduate in August.

He received the Award of Merit as the outstanding sophomore veterinary medicine student and again won the honor as a junior. He also received the Borden Award for having the highest overall grade of veterinary medicine students preceding the senior year and has received other scholastic recognition. In 1961 he won the Kroger Scholarship Award.

McGuire is editor of "The Southwestern Veterinarian" and a member of Phi Kappa Phi, honor society for upperclassmen, and Phi Zeta, honor society for veterinary medicine.

Rain Again Halts Cotton Harvest in Area

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service in Memphis reported that the 7000 samples classed during the week ending Friday, Nov. 20, was more than for any week this season.

Samples classed were received the last two days of the past week and over the week end, thus indicating that harvesting was getting under way when the four days of rain from Sunday through Thursday halted operations. The rains amounted to from one to more than three inches throughout this classing territory.

Nov. 20 brought the first heavy frost, which all farmers have been looking for, and it is hoped that it will effectively kill the cotton foliage to permit harvesting by mechanical means.

The Memphis office is staffed at present with five classers and one micronaire crew, capable of handling about 2500 samples per day. Additional personnel will be added as samples warrant in order to provide the farmers a prompt and efficient classing service.

K. E. Voelkel, in charge of the Cotton Division's classing office in Memphis, stated that the cotton classed during the week was of higher quality than a week earlier.

Based on samples classed, 41 per cent was in the White grades, with 18 per cent Middling. Last week 30 per cent of the cotton was in the White grades. Light Spotted and Spotted grades represented 54 per cent, and 5 per cent of the classing, with Middling being the prevailing grade in both colored categories, with 28 per cent and 3 per cent respectively. Last week 64 per cent of the cotton classed Light Spotted and 7 per cent was Spotted.

It was significant to note that with the increased harvesting by mechanical means, there was also an increase in cotton samples reduced in grade because of grass and bark. About 3 per cent of the samples classed this week were in this category. The farmer takes a loss because of this condition. Grass and Bark is very difficult to remove at the gins even with the best equipment. At cotton mills this foreign matter must be removed and therefore means more waste, additional spinning costs and in many instances a lower grade of the finished product. It should be remembered that the grade of the farmers' cotton delivered to the gin can only be as good as the quality of harvested cotton.

"I might have been a big success, but my astigmatism kept me from reading the help wanted ads."

The staple length ranged from 13/16 inch to 1 5/32 inches. The predominant length was 15/16 inch, with 60 per cent. Other lengths were: 29/32 inch and shorter, 21 per cent; 31/32 inch, 13 per cent; and 1 inch and longer, 6 per cent.

The mike readings were changed only slightly from the week earlier and continued to read in the desirable range—with 96 per cent in the 3.5 and higher grouping. Only 4 per cent read 3.0 to 3.4.

The cotton of this section of Texas continued to reflect very strong and strong Pressley results, with 47 per cent testing 85,000 pounds per square inch and above; 53 per cent tested 75,000 to 84,000.

Cotton with a mike reading of 3.5 to 4.9, based on uncompressed, mixed lots in warehouses, brought the farmers the following average prices for some of the qualities moving at this time: Strict Low Middling, 15/16, 27.40; Low Middling, 15/16, 26.00; Middling Light Spotted, 15/16, 27.80; Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16, 26.80; and Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16, 25.10.

Cottonseed prices were steady, bringing the producer $45 and $47 per ton at gin points.

CROWDS BREED T.B.

The American tuberculosis rate increases by size of city, the Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, Ga., points out. There are 30.6 cases per 100,000 population in cities from 100,000 to 250,000; 56 per 100,000 in cities over half a million.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi River.

Teddy Gentry Takes Miss Denton as His Bride in Nebraska Ceremony

emony at five-thirty in the evening. The Congregational Church at Cambridge, Nebraska was the setting for the wedding of Miss Joyce A. Denton of Pampa and Teddy E. Gentry of Cambridge, formerly of Wellington.

The Rev. Francis Turpin officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Teddy E. Gentry

ning, Friday, October 23. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Denton, 1001 East Fisher, Pampa, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gentry, 2229 North Zimmer, Pampa.

Mr. Denton gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a street-length sheath of white brocade with a matching jacket, designed with elbow-length sleeves and trimmed in white fur. A white bow hat held her nose-tip veil. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, and she carried a cascade arrangement of pink rosebuds on a white Bible.

Mrs. Evelyn Manley was the matron of honor. She wore a blue sheath dress and her flowers were a corsage of pink carnations.

Edgar Manley was best man. The bride was a senior in Pampa high school.

The bridegroom graduated from Quail high school and received his degree from Texas A&M University in 1964. He is teaching agriculture in Cambridge, Nebraska, high school. The couple is making their home in Cambridge.

Here They Are, Just a Step from Oz

Here is the cast from "The Wizard of Oz" that captivated both children and adults Monday evening, Nov. 23 in the high school auditorium. At center, Dorothy, Aleta Owens, has found the Wizard, Skippy Duncan, who seems to be arguing the fact. At left are the Good Witch Malinda, and the Wicked Witch, Belinda, Karen Childress and Anna Kay Kelso. Next is a slave, Dwayne Poteet, and in front of him, in a white blouse, Becky Davis. Three slinky black cats are Glenna Taylor and Susan Sullivan, standing, and Connie Null, seated. Next is another slave, Gary White and behind him is a soldier, Freddy Peters. To the right of the Wizard of Oz and Dorothy are the green bearded guard and the maid at the Wizard's palace, Raymond Horton and Jan Glenn; next is the Scarecrow, Danny White, while the Cowardly Lion, Ray Floyd, is seated in the door of Dorothy's house, and next to him is Tin Man Phillip Hughey. At far right is Beverly Singley, one of the Deadly Poppies. Other cast members were Joyce Holton, Joan James, Jackie Duncan and Janyth Estes.

Club Has Study of Americanism

The 1924 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. R. R. Crawley on November 19.

"Americanism in Today's World" keyed the complete agenda, with Mrs. J. B. King, American studies chairman, as program director.

Roll call consisted of current topics on Veterans' Day, American Education Week, and Know Your America Week.

Mrs. Howard Riggs, Top of Texas District citizenship division chairman, recited the "Ten Commandments for Good Citizenship."

Further emphasizing Know Your America Week was the two-part symposium, "Bulwarks of Our Democracy."

Mrs. King presented "Facts and Fallacies of Our History" which oriented the membership on little-known important facts concerning our nation as well as authentic answers to slight misconceptions. She also gave reasons for various national traditions, slogans and emblems, with visual illustrations.

Following the discussions of heart and mind, the trend turned to part two, "Our Food Heritage," with Mrs. Scott Neill as leader. Here good eating-American style was explored from the cooking traditions of our colonists to today's techniques of creating mouth-watering menus. Mrs. Neill told how to use our food heritage of the past to bring interest and variety to meals of the present. Amusing was her description of the current variations and names of the basic all-American hamburger, not only in the United States but in innumerable forms and fashions throughout the world. Foods used in space travel and predicted forms of future foods for our population caused the members to wonder about the possibilities of culinary excitement in the next century.

In the business session with Mrs. Edward White presiding, the membership unanimously accepted Mrs. J. D. Burkhalter as a new member. Other motions that carried included the placing of the club's activities on the community calendar sponsored by the junior class of Wellington high school.

Although the hostess, a member of a Collingsworth pioneer family, is known for her use of the traditional family recipes, she used an ultra-modern rendition of the mince pie to serve Mrs. Bill Bradley, Mrs. Mack Bush, Mrs. Chester Fires, Mrs. Bill Hall, Mrs. Don Settle, Mrs. King, Mrs. Neill, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Don Van Pelt, Mrs. White, Mrs. D. F. Cook, Mrs. J. F. Michael, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, and Miss Sara E. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berryman of Lubbock visited Thursday with Mrs. J. F. Holley and Miss Marie Berryman, as well as with friends. The couple lived here a number of years ago.

Thanksgiving 1964

Let us be grateful for the bounty of our land!

We have been greatly blessed by Providence and we should be truly grateful for all the good things that have come to us. We give thanks for our American way of life that has made possible the greatest productivity per individual that any nation has ever known in the recorded time of man.

We are grateful for the privilege of living in this community with its strong, clean forward-looking people and of having the opportunity to serve you. In particular we appreciate the warm and friendly reception accorded us since we started in the Insurance business. Your encouragement and cooperation has been an inspiration to us; so at this time we extend best wishes to all of you for a happy Thanksgiving.

Defending Champions

Rocketa and Rockettes Open with Victories

The Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes, defending district 2-A champions, opened the season with a pair of victories over the Paducah Dragons and Dragonettes Saturday night, Nov. 21 at Paducah.

The Rockettes won 53 to 41, while the Rockets took a 56 to 43 victory.

Rockettes-Dragonettes

"The girls looked a little ragged but we hope with a few games they'll be improved," Coach James Stavenhagen said.

Defense was one of their strongest points, as far as the team was concerned, with Jan Glenn, Karen Childress and Susan Sullivan turning in some good work.

Younger girls had an opportunity to show their skill, also, including guards Joan James, Linda Moore, and Nancy Sanford, along with senior, Glenna Taylor.

Betty Courtney was high scorer with 25 points, although she spent considerable time on the bench as the younger girls took over. Joyce Holton added 14 points, Beverly Singley 13, and Nancy Holton 1. Other forwards playing were Becky Brewer, Regina Ferguson and Leslie Covey.

"The younger girls showed good promise and I think they will give us some help later this season," Stavenhagen said. Paducah also has a good club, although it is a young team. Considerable improvement is due by the time the teams meet again later this season.

Judy Boren was high scorer with 23 points, Shirley Rakita and Paula Rogers 9 each for Paducah.

The score by quarters:

Wellington	11	32	39	52
Paducah	5	20	28	41

Rockets-Dragons

Both Wellington and Paducah boys had a little bit of football left in them and the opening game for the two teams was rough all the way through with lots of fouls called both ways.

The Rockets jumped to an early 6-0 lead, but late in the second Paducah caught up and at half time led by 2 points. Wellington came back in the third, however, and scored 15 points before the Dragons could hit the basket. Altogether, the Rockets ran up 21 points in the third quarter.

"I felt like our first half wasn't a good one. It's not a good indication of what the boys are capable of doing, but I wasn't disappointed, for this was their first game and they had worked out only a week," Stavenhagen said.

Gary White and Ronny Hurst scored 13 points each for high. Freddy Peters added 11, Bill Spillman 9, Wayne Barton 5, Phillip Hughey 3, and Johnny Maxwell 2.

The Rockets were playing without Roger Weems, who has a football injury, but Phillip Hughey, who missed most of the football season due to injuries, was able to play.

"Their defensive play was better than the offense. Barton and Hurst did a real fine job; Peters and Spillman did good work on defense and got lots of rebounds. Gary White looked better than any time last year and Hughey did a good job rebounding and also shows a good deal of improvement," the coach said.

Younger boys played some in both halves and showed fairly good strength. These included Don Sweat, Larry Henard, Johnny Maxwell, George Leath-Bob.

Paducah also was playing without one of the better boys, Gary Moran, out with a knee injured in football.

The Dragons have fair size, rebound well, hit the basket well and have good speed. They are expected to be considerably improved before they meet the Rockets in the return game.

Farm Products Demand Up, but Prices Lower

COLLEGE STATION. — An increased demand for farm products, increased farm production and stocks, increased production expenses, and lower prices for farmers make up today's general agricultural situation, reports John G. McHaney, Extension economist of Texas A&M University.

Increasing personal income and an expanding population point to continued gains in consumer demand for farm products through the remainder of the year. McHaney attributes income gains to increasing employment, rising wages, larger dividends, surge in corporate profits, and reduction in income tax rates.

Output of farm products continues to increase and will likely total above last year's level, says McHaney, and stocks of most crops were larger at the beginning of the present marketing year. Crop indications as of July 1 were brighter than those a year earlier, and the upturn in yields is expected to continue.

Production of livestock and livestock products in the period January to June 1964, was four or five per cent above last year and is expected to total a little above 1963 during the July-December period of this year.

Production expenses have been rising steadily in recent years, the economist points out. During the first half of 1964 the index of prices paid by farmers for production items was slightly higher than a year earlier and will remain high during the rest of the year.

Prices received by farmers in the first half of 1964 averaged 2 per cent below last year. For the year as a whole they are expected to average about three per cent below 1963.

Sweater Buying Hints Offered

COLLEGE STATION.—Sweaters are important parts of fall and winter wardrobes. They can be high fashion items as well as practical, says Lynn Parks, Extension Service consumer education specialist.

Selection of a sweater usually depends on several considerations: Individual preference, activity of the person, clothing budget, and the method of care the garment will require, the specialist says.

Sweaters are cut and sewn as in regular fabrics, or are shaped by full fashioning where the designs are knitted to a particular shape. The full fashion sweaters are more expensive.

Many of today's sweaters have decorative trim. Take time to evaluate the extra cost of decorative trim in relation to the service the sweater will get and the maintenance cost. The trim should require the same care as the rest of the sweater, Miss Parks says.

The finish around the sweater neck is important. Necks can be finished by single or double thicknesses of ribbing. For soft yarns, as cashmere or nylon, a double thickness keeps the shape more adequately.

Buttons should be of fine stitches with well-tacked ends. Always read labels carefully for care instructions. Jot down a description of the sweater on the label and file it for future reference. If sweaters are inadequately labeled, do not purchase, the specialist recommends.

Careful laundering of sweaters is essential. Wool sweaters should be washed in cool water with a mild, neutral soap, then blotted and dried flat. Some of the wool fibers are treated chemically for stability and are machine washable.

Randy West visited this past week end in Lubbock with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Welch. He also attended the football game at Texas Tech Saturday afternoon.

Hunt Safety Code Stressed

AUSTIN—Sobering reminders of trouble with guns afield is reflected in the monthly arrest report of the Parks and Wildlife Department, according to J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement.

He noted that 12 arrests were made for night hunting, 25 for hunting from an automobile, 11 for hunting in closed season, 9 for exceeding the bag limit on doves, 4 for using unplugged gun and 4 for possession of wild doe deer.

Thirty-one cases were filed for lacking a hunting license but fishing licenses cases dropped from 386 on the preceding period to 173 for last month.

Phillips advised hunters to check on hunting hours, hunting places, dates for hunting different species and daily bag and seasonal limits.

He said waterfowl hunters should heed the new Federal and State regulation requiring that one feathered wing be left on each duck or goose. The same rule applies to mourning doves and other migratory game.

Phillips said one chronic cause for violations is shooting too early or too late. Unless otherwise specified, he said, the big game daily shooting hours are from half an hour before sunrise to one half hour after sunset and the waterfowl hours are from sunrise to sunset.

Booker T. Teams Win Duo From Childress Rhodes

The Booker T. Washington Panthers and Pantherettes won a double header from the Childress J. J. Rhodes Tigers and Tigerettes Wednesday evening, Nov. 18.

The Panthers won a close 65 to 59 victory, under the coaching of Lorenzo Persons. The Pantherettes, coached by Miss Francine Childs, had a more comfortable 34-25 margin.

The leading scorer for the Panthers was James Smith, with 17, while John Price added 13 and Bowdin Jones 12.

Billy Cannon was high pointer for Childress as well as for the game, making 21. Willie Hughes made 13.

This was the third victory for the Panthers, who have defeated Quannah twice and now have a 65 point per game average.

The Pantherettes are shaping up nicely since school resumed after a 5-week vacation for the cotton harvest, and the victory over Childress sent spirits up, the girls coach said.

Mary Ingram paced the scoring for the Pantherettes with 14 points, followed by Carolyn Kilgore who had 11 and Lou Helen Moore 9. High pointer for the Tigerettes was Pearl Davis with 17.

Two Booker T. Teams Play

The Booker T. Washington B team and Pee Wee basketball team played Pampa Junior high school Friday, Nov. 20. The Pee Wee team was made up of Harold Jones, Calvin Culpepper, Herman Moore, Willie Lawson, Gene Barber, David Moore, James Culpepper and Elmer Shrubs.

Pampa won 55-54 in the last 20 seconds of play. With Wellington leading by one point, 54-53, a shot from away out by a Pampa player found the basket. Coach Lorenzo Person had his players well fired up for this game.

High pointer for Wellington was Harold Jones with 21, and Calvin Culpepper made 14.

Wellington won the B game 49-34. High point player was Virgle Massey with 18. The boys look especially good at this point.

Several Pee Wee team members also played in the B game. They were Calvin Thomas, Massey, Bowden Jones, Nathaniel Lewis, Popwell Barr, Harold Jones, Calvin Culpepper, and Herman Moore.

City Youths Hurt in Wreck at Childress

Three Wellington youths, along with three friends from Childress, were injured in a one-car accident on FM Road 2530 at the edge of the east city limit of Childress Tuesday, Nov. 17 about 9:20 p.m.

Jimmy Scott, 16, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Pink Scott, was first treated at Childress General Hospital then taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, suffering from head injuries.

Relatives here said that he remained in the intensive care section until Thursday evening. He underwent surgery for a broken nose and also had a number of stitches for cuts on his head and arms. At the week end, he was reported as improving.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Scott of Ottumwa, Ia., came during the week end to be with the youth.

David E. Caison, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Caison, received head injuries, according to information received here, and remained hospitalized at Childress over night.

Sidney C. McGill, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGill, was treated at the Childress hospital and returned home that night.

Of the Childress youngsters, Maurine Farris, 17, had both ankles broken and received other injuries, while her twin brother, Maurice, had minor lacerations, according to information received here.

Gail Eaton, 15, also received minor lacerations and bruises.

According to information received by Sheriff John Rainey, the pavement was wet and the accident occurred on a slight curve. The car went across a railroad track and slammed into a dirt embankment.

More Protection for Consumers

COLLEGE STATION.—Consumers are receiving additional protection from the Federal Trade Commission as a result of a recent shoe labeling act.

The FTC ruled that the term "leather," or terms suggestive of leather, may be used only when the shoes or slippers are composed in all substantial parts of top grain leather, exclusive of ornamentation.

This means that simulated, imitation and ground or shredded leather with the appearance of natural or split leather must bear labeling which identifies the part or parts so composed, says Lynn Parks, Extension Service consumer education specialist.

Concealed insoles of non-leather material must bear a label disclosing the presence of the non-leather insoles, the Texas A&M specialist adds.

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. Comes with 335 hp. Or 360 at extra cost. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. Then there's the Le Mans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Same kind of low price. Slightly smaller teeth. So price a tiger.

Wellington's Miss Teen Ager Relives Week of Excitement

Jan Glenn, the teen ager chosen to represent Wellington in the State Miss Teen Age America Contest, and there picked to participate in the national event, was asked to describe for Wellington Leader readers that untypical week in her life, Nov. 7 to 13. Here, in her own words is that week in Dallas.

By JAN GLENN

It was my privilege and my pleasure to represent the teenage of our county in the fourth Teenage of America pageant, which was held at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel in Dallas Nov. 7-13.

This was a week filled with so many firsts for me and such memorable experiences! What did I enjoy the most? I enjoyed it all, just the way the staff of Teen Associates planned it and as I lived it!

It was my first plane ride, the flight from Amarillo to Dallas! Upon arrival at Love Field, we were whisked from the airport to the hotel in a new Comet, where one of the Dallas high school bands and cheerleaders gave us a royal welcome.

Saturday night there was a welcome banquet and each contestant was introduced. Seated at our table for this occasion was Clarence Schimmel, who produces "I've Got a Secret" and was associate producer for our pageant telecast. I met Jeanine Zavrel, the 1964 Miss Teenage of America. Jeanine was with us all through the week, giving encouragement. She is a lovely person and completely unaffected by the glamour she has known in the past year.

Sunday was spent with wardrobe fittings, publicity pictures, church, and a visit to Six Flags Over Texas. The girls from other states liked our Texas playground.

Monday and Tuesday were set aside for private interviews on general knowledge, poise and personality. By now, rehearsals for the telecast had begun and were being sandwiched into the schedule as time permitted. Monday night all 52 girls presented their talent which was open to the public. This I thoroughly enjoyed for the talent was outstanding. There was such a variety, for out of the 52 girls only two had the same number.

During the week, there was a Turtle Derby with Mickey Mantle as official starter, assisted by three of the Dallas Cowboys. We ate pizza at the Italian Inn and enjoyed a "Teen-a-Go-Go" party where the girls traded steps on the latest dances. Jeanine gave a "Pajama Party" where we quieted down to signing autograph books and an exchange of ideas. It is a treat to sit and talk to girls from all parts of our U.S.A. We had fun eating Spanish food at the Spanish Village where we were serenaded by a Senor in his native costume.

By Thursday, the rehearsals were in full swing, with the Singing Cadets from Texas A&M University, the ten finalists rehearsing their talent numbers and Bud Collyer, Allen Ludden and Betty White having arrived. The national panel of judges was on hand.

It was thrilling working with professionals and learning how a program is put together. I was impressed by the patience and friendliness of the directors and producers.

On Thursday night, the surprise party Mr. Bedford Wynn, executive producer, hosted on the 39th floor of the Southland Life Building was a real treat. We thought we were tired, but the combo band, the delicious food, the lovely view of Dallas from this point, and the previewing of the movies made during the week seemed to revive us. This was Texas hospitality!

Governor Connally had arrived and it was time Friday night for the telecast. The dressing room echoed with excitement, tensions ran high, the show was over much too soon and a very capable young lady, Carolyn Mignini, was named the 1965 Miss Teenage of America; while my good friend, Cathy Ross of Pennsylvania, was first runner-up.

We returned to the hotel for the coronation ball and buffet which was a beautiful affair. Here the five girls were presented their gifts and each of the other candidates was given a trophy for participation.

The week was ending, except for the goodbyes, which were said at early breakfast where we were serenaded by the Six Flags Band, who continued to play as each bus left the hotel for Love Field.

This was a week of excitement, friendship, work—it was an unforgettable experience for the fifty-two lucky girls who were there!

Dean Johnson in Phi Theta Kappa

In a candlelight ceremony, eight new members were initiated into the Iota Phi chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, National Honor Society of Junior Colleges. The ceremony was held Wednesday, Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the Farmer's State Bank in Clarendon.

Bill Trooper, Higgins sophomore, acting president, and Doyle Morris, Boy's Ranch sophomore, acting vice president, presided as the candidates stood in a circle, holding unlighted candles.

Each candidate knelt, placing his hand on the Bible and repeating the oath, before signing the membership book. Then his candle was lighted by the presiding officer. Refreshments were enjoyed by the group after the ceremony was concluded.

To be eligible for membership in Iota Phi, a candidate must have already completed at least 15 semester hours with a minimum B average and must maintain a 2.0 overall average, carrying a minimum of 15 hours per semester.

Initiated from Collingsworth county was Dean Johnson, a sophomore from Quail, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Others were James Bolivar of Hedley; Perry Gruhlkey of Adrian; and Larry Hight, Jeanine Lowe, Steve Richerson, Marilyn Ridenour and Ann Weatherly of Clarendon.

NEWS OF MEN IN SERVICE

USS PHILIP.—J. L. Finley, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Finley of Wellington, is a crewmember of the destroyer USS Philip, operating out of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The 22-year-old destroyer recently changed her operational schedule to meet a rather unusual commitment—that of portraying the fictional destroyer USS Cassiday in the motion picture "In Harm's Way," produced by Otto Preminger.

In the film, Cassiday makes an emergency sortie from Pearl Harbor during the attack of Dec. 7, 1941.

To make the film seem realistic, great pains were taken to make Philip look like an authentic pre-1941 destroyer. She was stripped of her battle ribbons and her squadron insignia, and a wooden 5-inch gun mount was placed over her rocket launcher.

Some of the Philip's crewmen were given bit parts in the movie; onlookers found themselves watching, wondering what their shipmates would look like on the screen.

Teachers Speak at FTA Meeting

The Wellington chapter of the Future Teachers of America met in the high school library Monday night, Nov. 16 for their regular monthly meeting.

Don Paul Sweat, the president, presided. The new yearbooks were presented by Connie Null, the yearbook chairman. Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas caroling for the shut-ins.

A vote of thanks to Jack Sanford, James Richardson and Zook Thomas for their invaluable aid in making the recent chili supper a success, was unanimous.

C. A. Crawford and Mrs. Bernice Welch presented the program on "The Difference in Teaching High School and Elementary School."

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Becky Brewer, Nancy Holton, Vicki Bergvall, and Nell Tarver.

Mr., Mrs. Geo. Brewer to Celebrate Golden Wedding Sunday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. George Brewer will be honored at an open house Sunday afternoon, Nov. 29, on their golden wedding anniversary.

The event will be in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Brewer, 1602 Childress Street, and all friends are invited to call between the hours of two and five.

The hosts will be their four children: Mr. and Mrs. Quinton Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McNabb of Dalhart, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny V. Brown of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bearden.

They will be assisted by the couple's grandchildren, most of whom will be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer were married here Nov. 29, 1914 and farmed and ranched near Wellington until only a few years ago. They now live in town.

Good Neighbor Club Holds Annual Thanksgiving Dinner Friday Evening

The Good Neighbor Club had its annual Thanksgiving banquet Friday night, November 20 in the community building. The Thanksgiving theme was carried out in the decorations and the program. Games and 42 were enjoyed during the evening.

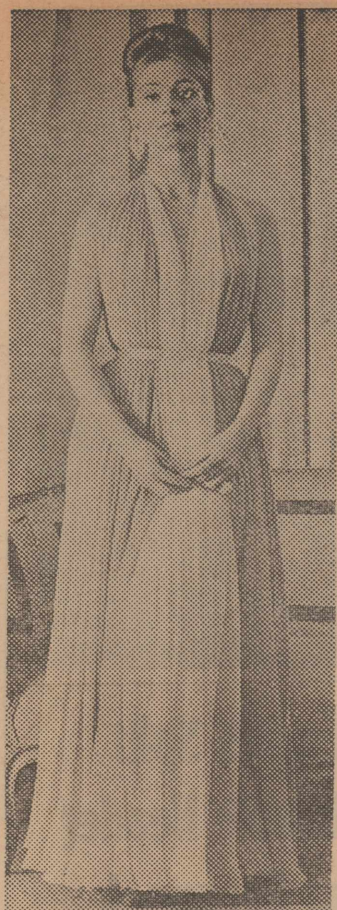

This dinner is traditional. The Good Neighbor Club originated in the Houselog community and was composed of women living in that and adjoining communities. Most of the families now live in Wellington, and the club has continued its activities.

Those attending were Edd Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kiker, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Vaughan and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Van Pelt, Mrs. Paul Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. John Trew, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karnes, Linda and Elaine, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wilbur, Chuck, Barbara and Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karnes, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kiker and Glenda, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Mrs. C. E. Roberts and Mrs. Nell Cook.

Mrs. Bruce Hite has returned home after visiting in the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie Hite, Vicky, Ray and Paula, in Yukon, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells and son Henry, and Jimmy Campbell were in Lubbock this past week end to attend the homecoming at Texas Technological College and to attend the football game between Tech and Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson and children, Jeana, David and Wayne of Tucson, Ariz., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson.

Miss Robertson Reviews Novel

Miss Dorothy Robertson was hostess to members of the Excelsior Club Thursday evening, Nov. 19 at the Greenbelt Electric directors room, and also presented the program, a review of A. J. Cronin's latest novel, "Song of Six Pence."

This book, Miss Robertson told the group, reflects the author's own life, although it is not an autobiography.

The story traces the childhood and growing up of an Irish Catholic child in a Scottish Protestant community, describing the problems he faces and the strength he gains.

During the business session, directed by Miss Rose Shadid, president, members voted that they will not exchange Christmas gifts this year, but instead will each bring groceries to the next meeting, and these will be given to a needy family. These will be brought to the next meeting, Dec. 5.

Attending Thursday evening were Mrs. E. F. Bartlett, Miss Sara Jones, Mrs. J. F. Michael, Mrs. D. C. Powell, Mrs. Robert Barjenbruch, Miss Ma-

J. D. Wilson Club Speaker

Mrs. Sam Adams was hostess to the 1954 Study Club, November 19, in the club room of Greenbelt Electric. The club collect was given in unison, led by Mrs. Leon Hartman. Names were drawn for the Christmas party and for Secret Pals. Mrs. L. B. Bratten reported on the City Federation meeting.

Mrs. C. T. Hubbard, program chairman, introduced J. D. Wilson, guest speaker, who spoke on "Our American Heritage." Mr. Wilson pointed out that we are living in a world that changes all the time, and so many things happening in recent years, there has been a renewed emphasis upon Americanism.

The United States, he said, has the highest income of any nation, a highly educated population, greater scientific research agencies, greater in medicine, technology and education than any other nation.

The Declaration of Independence is the greatest charter of freedom ever written by man, Wilson declared. Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are part of our American Heritage. The nation must never forget that we have a great Christian Heritage, he continued. Man has a divine origin and divine heritage. Our heritage of morality results from Christianity and the Ten Commandments. It is this heritage that has made America great.

In closing, Mr. Wilson stated, "We should write on every blackboard in every school in America these words 'Only from struggle comes strength'."

Attending were Mrs. Paul Spillman, Mrs. Leon Hartman, Mrs. E. W. Clement, Mrs. Denzil Lacy, Mrs. Sam McGill, Mrs. Eddie Slay, Mrs. L. B. Bratten, Mrs. Bill Hatch, Mrs. R. L. Templeton, Mrs. A. J. Fires, Mrs. Lynn Courtney, Mrs. Calvin Hurst, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. C. T. Hubbard and Mrs. Sam Adams, hostess.

rie Shadid, Miss Rose Shadid, Miss Bonnie Willis, and the hostess, Miss Robertson.

Mrs. Grant Hanna of Hereford, the district president of the Texas American Legion Auxiliary, was present to initiate the charter members and install the first officers.

Charter members initiated were Mrs. Louis Patterson, Mrs. Hugh Painter, Mrs. Duard Luck, Mrs. J. C. Howell, Mrs. Grover Graham, Mrs. Frank Guley, Mrs. Bob Birden, Mrs. Bill Norman, and the new officers.

Officers installed were Mrs. Floyd Teutsch, president; Mrs. Curtis Buchanan, vice president; Mrs. Charles Grimes, second vice president; Mrs. B. B. Martin, secretary; Mrs. Bynum Hightower, treasurer; Mrs. J. T. Martin, chaplain; and Mrs. Ross Swift, sergeant-at-arms.

Visitors present were Mrs. John Coleman of Wellington, and Clyde Alexander, commander of the Dodson American Legion Post.

Slays Entertain Baptist Class

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Slay of Amarillo held open house in their new home there for the Business and Professional Women's Class of the First Baptist Church in Wellington Thursday night, November 19.

Mrs. Slay was a member and also assistant teacher of this class before moving to Amarillo.

Class members attending were Mrs. Ruth Cochran, Mrs. Louise Kendrick, Mrs. Gracie White, Mrs. Roy Bounds, Mrs. Keith Smith, Mrs. Steve Owens, Mrs. Dick Wiley, Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Mrs. W. C. Harwell and Mrs. J. L. Burt, teacher.

Mrs. James Slay, daughter-in-law of the Slays, assisted Mrs. Slay with the entertaining.

Camp Fire Girls

Knoc-a-wana Camp Fire girls met recently at the Camp Fire hall, with Vickie McAdams as hostess. Later the girls went to a drug store for refreshments.

Attending were Jennifer Bouchelle, Jane Campbell, Carole Cochran, Juliana Hoffarth, Darlene Houser, Judy Jones, Marcia King, Karen Maxwell, Mary Saied, Vickie McAdams, Ann Smith, Doris Tingle, and the guardians, Mrs. F. L. Hoffarth and Mrs. J. B. King.

JFF Honors Husbands Thurs.

Members of the JFF Club entertained their husbands Thursday night, November 19, with a surprise party for Thanksgiving, in the home of Mrs. Joe Coleman.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Belew, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cudd, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holton, Mr. and Mrs. Drury Lacy, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. R. HDC Has Program on Fruitcakes

The Wellington Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, November 17 in the home of Mrs. Ike Rogers.

The program was on "Making and Storing Fruit Cakes." Each member contributed some hints on baking. Hints mentioned were: brown paper lined pans, soaking fruits in fruit juice over night before adding to batter.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Nannie Masten, Mrs. W. A. Morrow, Mrs. S. F. Hughes, Mrs. J. L. Hays, Mrs. Cecil Masten, and one guest, Mrs. F. L. Klihr.

Continuing an upward trend that began in 1948, United States softwood-plywood manufacturers set a record of 10.3 million square feet in 1963.

Birthday Supper Honors Girls

Miss Karen Richardson and Miss Aleta Owens were honored on their birthday, Monday, November 16 when Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, entertained with a supper of barbecued hamburgers and the trimmings. Mr. Richardson was the chef for the occasion.

The guest list included Joyce Holton, Susan Sullivan, Anna Kay Kelso, Jan Lindsey, Wynona Jones, Karen Childress, Sharon Glover, Betty Courtney, Jan Glenn, Joan James, Connie Null, Lavelle Harper, Linda Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Owens, parents of Aleta.

Wellington State Bank

At this Thanksgiving, the most American of all holidays, we express heartfelt gratitude to our many customers of the Wellington trade area.
Your long and continued friendship and patronage has helped build a banking house that is one of the strongest in this area.

And we join each of you as we give thanks for our rich harvest . . . for the vision of future in our country and its leaders . . . for the freedom in our nation that enables us to enjoy this richness.

This day we wish you . . . for Thanksgiving . . . a day that reflects the abundance of this prosperous land.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

There is so much to be thankful for in this great land of ours that thinking of a partial list makes you feel inadequate. So let's just think of the simple things such as a quiet day to enjoy the companionship of friends and family, the shouts of the children, the quiet conversation of the old, the tantalizing smells that come from the kitchen and the beauty of the November scene.

Thanksgiving has had many dates since the Pilgrims celebrated the first one in October and held a feast as they gave thanks for the bounties of the new land and the guidance of God. Texas has observed the occasion on many dates. The most recent was when Roosevelt moved the feast day up one week earlier. Texas stayed with the fourth Thursday in the month to which date it has been returned over the nation. But in the early days the Texans used many dates and at one time there was talk of making March 2, Texas Independence Day, the official Thanksgiving day of the state.

The menu of the first Thanksgiving was based on what grew wild in the land for the Pilgrims had no livestock or fowl to spare. Thus the men went into the forests and brought back wild turkey, ducks and venison for the meat. And the women picked the wild grandberries whose tartness added taste to the strong game, and pumpkin pie was a natural affiliate.

Today the menu is more or less standardized; but each family has its own variations. The difference in preparing dressing for the turkey is remarkable. Some people prefer oyster dressing, others chestnut dressing; but here in the Southwest cornbread dressing is the standby. It is made of well-browned cornbread, dry wheat bread or biscuits, onions, celery, apples, spices and the stock from the turkey. To be ideal it should never be dry, but should have enough fruit and vegetables to be moist on the inside and a crisp brown on the outside.

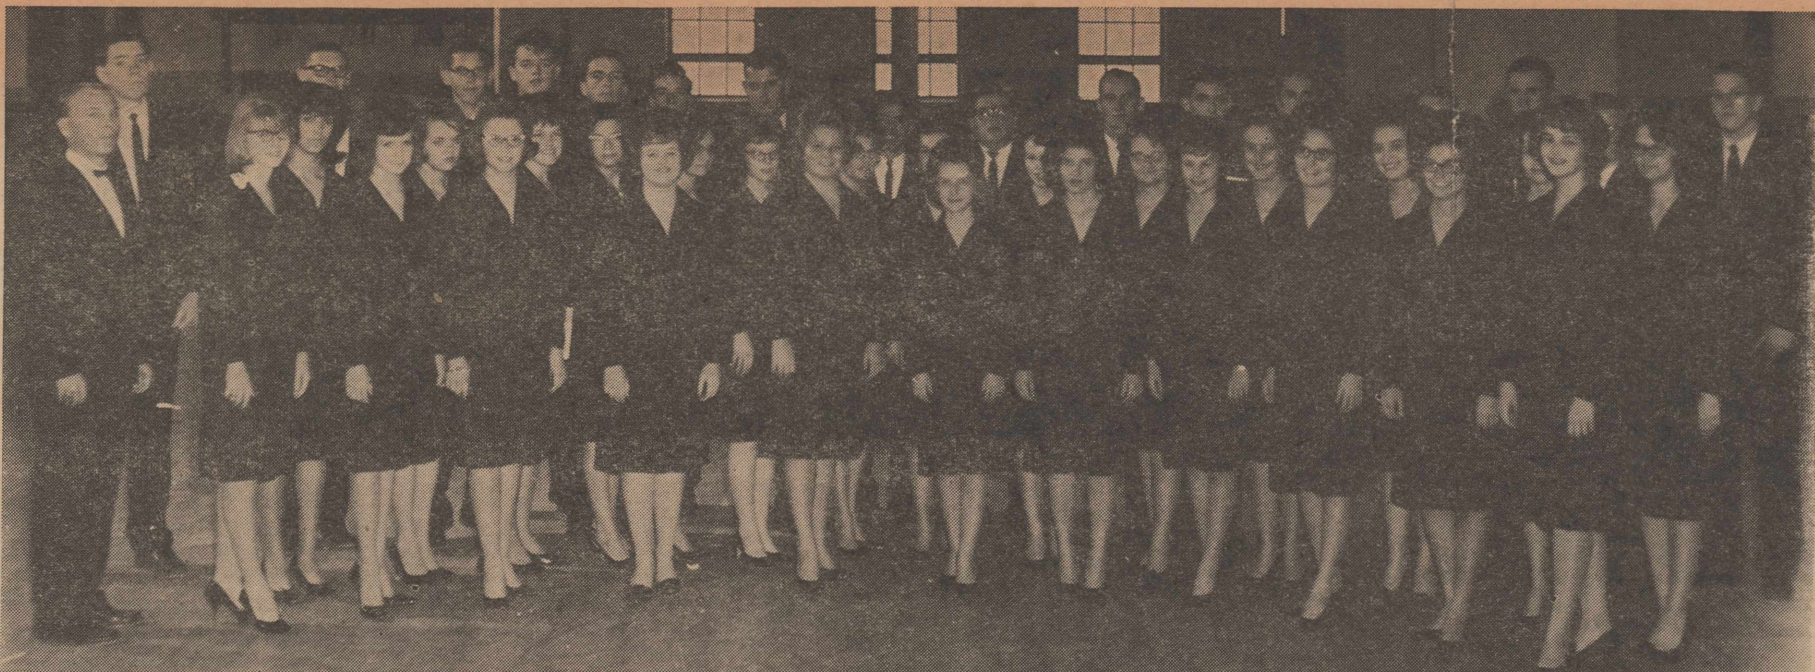

Many families now have baked ham as well as turkey on the table on Thanksgiving Day; but as Lucy Sullivan says Thanksgiving is not Thanksgiving without turkey. One year Louise and I had Thanksgiving dinner at the old Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells. The dinner was served buffet style. They had fruit cocktail, shrimp cocktail, oyster cocktail and fruit juices just to give you an idea of the variety of choices. On one end of the giant table was golden brown roasted pig with an apple in its mouth and on the other was a giant baked turkey and in the center was a platter of baked salmon and the array of other dishes defies description. If I had it to do over again, I would limit my meat to the roasted pig.

Elsie White phoned the other evening to report a number of cranes in the north part of the county. He thought they were larger than the ordinary sandhill cranes which the Parks and Wildlife Department says are very numerous in West Texas this fall. Thousands of these giant birds are concentrated in the lakes west of Lubbock and 60,000 have been seen on a single lake west of Big Spring. These cranes are much faster than they look and can attain a speed of 60 miles an hour. They are good eaters and the season will be open until Nov. 29 in certain West Texas counties; but I am not certain as to whether there is an open season in this area.

Use Care With Fire During Christmas Season

During the Christmas season, smokers are urged to use extreme care with fire, particularly around the Christmas tree. Anyone who has seen a Christmas tree ablaze needs little convincing of the quickness and intensity with which it burns, especially when it has lost its freshness. So do your smoking away from the tree, and, by all means, get rid of a tree that is dried out before it gets rid of you.

Glen Ketchum Buys Robertson Tailor Shop

V. P. Robertson, dean of Wellington dry cleaners, has sold the V. P. Robertson tailor shop to Glen Ketchum, who has already taken over the management.

The business will be known in the future as Ketchum Kleaners.

A resident of the county most of his life, Ketchum is also experienced in the cleaning business, having owned and operated one here several years ago. His wife will be associated with him in their new enterprise. Ketchum also has had experience in other lines of business here.

He announced that free pick-up and delivery service will be maintained, and added that a number of improvements in the plant are planned. There is no change in the location, 917 West Avenue.

For V. P. Robertson, this sale marked the end of a 56-year career in the dry cleaning business. Fifty-four years of that has been in Wellington. He has owned and operated the present V. P. Robertson Tailor Shop in its present location, since 1938, a little more than a quarter of a century.

Mr. Robertson entered the dry cleaning business at Munday in September 1908. He came to Wellington Feb. 14, 1910. Why?

"My wife was here," he said. The couple was not then married, and it was on a visit to see her that he first drove into Wellington, on a biting cold Jan. 1, 1910. He had rented a team and buggy at Memphis and the drive over took five hours. He walked most of the way because it was too cold to sit in the buggy.

Mr. Robertson's first shop here was in a small wooden building formerly used by Dr. Mooney as his office, and located where The Wellington Leader now stands. . . . two doors away from the building in which Mr. Robertson closed out his career.

He recalls that he had three 22-pound hand irons, a little stove, sewing machine, a few more things, and "a few gallon buckets to clean clothes in."

Cleaning was done with straight gasoline. "It was practically a new industry at that time," he recalls. Did he have any competition here?

"Big Dean was pressing a few pants on his mother's dining table," the veteran dry cleaner said.

Surprisingly, it costs less to have a suit cleaned in Wellington now than it did in 1910. "We got $1.50 then. I was charging $1.10 when I quit."

There was only one break in Mr. Robertson's career. In 1917 he sold his shop to Arthur Bailey and farmed a year. But on Saturdays and in bad weather he'd come into town and work in the shop.

Late that year, he returned to work at The Toggery, and worked until 1938. There were five owners in that period — Ira Self, the late Morris Wells, John O'Hearn, Pat Robinson and Roy Horn.

He has participated in civic activities in Wellington, but his principal devotion is to the West Avenue Church of Christ, which he serves faithfully.

The sale of the business surprised even Mr. Robertson. He celebrated his new-found leisure by going hunting on Saturday, Nov. 14, the opening day, and in a matter of a few hours returned with a trophy that is the envy of any local hunter. . . . a fine, fat wild turkey! Mr. and Mrs. Robertson have eight children. Miss Dorothy Robertson lives here and the others are J. P. Robertson of Alexandria, La.; Mrs. Forrest Abernathy of Medicine Lodge, Kan.; Dwight Robertson, Mrs. Rayburn McKee and Mrs. John D. Ingram of Amarillo; V. P. Robertson Jr. of Dallas, and Mrs. Gerald Squyres of Lancaster, Calif.

Shadix Employed as Serviceman at Steve Owens

Steve Owens Supply announced this week that they have secured the services of Lester Shadix as television and appliance serviceman for their firm.

Mr. Shadix formerly operated a television and appliance shop of his own in Mangum, Okla., before coming to Wellington.

In making the announcement Steve Owens said: "Mr. Shadix has had several years experience in servicing television sets and all kinds of appliances, including washing machines, dryers, electric and gas ranges and refrigerating units. We believe that the addition of Mr. Shadix to our organization will enable us to provide prompt and efficient service for all of our appliance customers."

Mr. Shadix, who is single, lives on a farm near Dodson and drives to his work here each day.

M. C. Ball Dies at Lubbock

Funeral services were conducted Monday, Nov. 23 for Manson C. Ball of Lubbock, a former Collingsworth county resident, who died unexpectedly Nov. 20 in a hospital in that city. He was 79.

Mr. Ball was born Jan. 16, 1885 in Iowa and came to Collingsworth county in 1907 with his parents. In 1917 he married Miss Etta Lee of Wellington. After they moved to Lubbock in 1922, he returned to visit many times. He had been a farmer most of his life and still took care of his farms at New Home and Levelland.

Surviving Mr. Ball are his wife, of the home, a son, M. C. Ball Jr. of El Paso, a daughter, Mrs. A. L. Patton of Las Vegas, Nev., along with two nieces and a nephew.

His three brothers, all of Wellington, preceded him in death: Ralph Ball in 1960, Otis Ball in 1961, and Lloyd Ball in September 1964.

Attending the funeral from here were a niece, Mrs. J. B. King; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Ball and Mrs. Otis Ball; also Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leach.

Eagles Split Double Header at Shamrock

By NANCY HILL

Sammorwood Eaglettes defeated the Shamrock Lassies 53-43 in play Friday night, Nov. 20, but the Eagles lost their game to the Irish by 57 to 36.

High scorers for the Eaglettes were Jo Nell Breeding and Suzy Bentley, with 22 each while Kay Purkey made the remaining 14.

Sherry Massey was high point Lassie, with 19 points.

Coach Loyd Stephens played his second team during much of this game.

The score by quarters:
Sammorwood 14 32 50 58
Shamrock 13 21 28 43

The Eagles were never able to overcome the Irish lead and the gap widened as the game went along. Loyd Stice, with 13 points, was high scorer for the Eagles, while Frank Polk made 11 for Shamrock.

The game by quarters:
Sammorwood 4 13 23 36
Shamrock 11 24 41 57

Petite Aleta Owens conveyed a child-like quality across the footlights as Dorothy, who went in search of the Wizard of Oz. The Wizard, Skippy Duncan, was a gruff voice off-stage during much of the play, but in the end he was kindly indeed.

The scene stealer early in the show was Danny White, who as the Scarecrow simply did nothing for about 10 minutes, then stepped down from his perch and some of the audience realized for the first time that this Scarecrow was alive.

He joined the Cowardly Lion, Ray Floyd, whose costume was a delight as was that of the Tin Man, Phillip Hughey, in a suit that was really tin.

A "hazard" along the way were soft-featured Anna Kay Kelso, who could not be recognized in her peaked hat and curved nose of the witch, and three sly black cats who were Susan Sullivan, Connie Null and Glenna Taylor.

Karen Childress was Malinda, the good witch; Joyce Holton and Beverly Singley, the deadly poppies; Raymond Horton and Jan Glenn, the Wizard's guard and maid; the Winke girls, Joyce Holton, who had a dual role, and Becky Davis; and Winkle and Wonkle, Gary White and Dwayne Poet. Janyth Estes and Freddy Peters were the soldiers.

Several of these appeared in two roles.

City Group to Squyres Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Golliugh and W. A. Golliugh Jr., were in Lawton, Okla., recently to attend the funeral services of her brother, the Rev. W. M. Squyres. Rev. Squyres was 61 years old. He was well known here, having been pastor of several Baptist churches in this area.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jewel Nipper Squyres of Lawton, and two daughters: Mrs. Billie Jones of Lawton, and Mrs. Finis Hall of El Paso; a son, James Floyd Squyres of Los Angeles; a nephew whom he raised, Donald Neal of Arkansas; and 14 grandchildren.

Other survivors include both his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Squyres of Lawton; four sisters, Mrs. Albert Golliugh of Quail, Mrs. Clyde Littlefield of Lawton, Mrs. Henry Alexander of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Perry Barnett of Birkett; and five brothers, the Rev. Dewey Squyres and the Rev. Alvin Squyres, both of California, Marvin Squyres of Washington, Dale Squyres and C. W. Squyres Jr., both of Lawton.
