Casing The Casing

T. C. Richardson, center, superintendent of the east division for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, pitches in with crew members to make sure about placement of big casing around the CRWD main supply line where it goes under U.S. 87 north of Big Spring. The route is due to be converted into a four-lane divided highway and highway department regulations for such roads call for casing around all pipes. Hence, self-liners of the 45-in. casing are being eased around the 27-inch line which carries lake water to Odessa.

Soggy South Braces For More Rain

By The Associated Press

The soggy Southland braced today for its seventh straight rainy day and took hope from a hint that the worst of the rain is over. But even if the rains end Friday, and that's not certain, flooding from overloaded streams created new problems.

Property damage from high water and tornadoes continued to mount and the number of deaths rose to five early today when two children drowned as a boat evacuating them from a flooded area in Mississippi, capsized.

A teen-age boy drowned at Birmingham when he fell into a rain-swollen pond. Two deaths were attributed to the weather in Louisiana.

More showers were forecast for Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia today but the U.S. Weather Bureau at Birmingham said rain-fall should not be as heavy on the western end of the band of weather.

Blowing dust in the Northwest Texas area was expected to be the only blemish on clear and mild springlike weather over the state Thursday.

Temperatures were due to reach the 80s in many sections during the afternoon as result of the warming trend that followed the heavy snows and widespread rains earlier in the week.

The extended forecasts called for cooler temperatures and showers in the eastern and southern part of the state during the week-end.

Not a single point reported freezing weather early Thursday as readings ranged from 35 at Lubbock to 56 at Galveston and Dallas.

President Urges Vast Development Plans

Hamby Charged With Failure To Pay Fuel Taxes

Charges of failure to pay state fuel taxes — a felony under a special statute in Texas penal code — were filed against M. O. Hamby Jr., Big Spring oil and gasoline distributor, Thursday morning.

Hamby, in a complaint drawn and signed by Gil Jones, district attorney, is charged with collecting $1,082.50 in state fuel taxes during the calendar month of December, 1960, and willfully failing to pay the tax collected to the state of Texas.

The defendant is accused of failing to comply with the state law which specifies that such taxes collected by a distributor for a calendar month must be transmitted to the state tax agency before the 20th day of the following month.

Jones filed the complaint in the court of Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, shortly before noon. A warrant for Hamby's arrest was issued.

This case is a part of the tangled investigation which has been under way for some time into gasoline shortages allegedly found at the Cyden refinery. Four cases of theft of gasoline have been filed against four Cyden employees in connection with gasoline irregularities.

Hamby has been named as defendant in a damage suit brought by Cosden Petroleum Corporation in 118th District Court. The suit, filed several weeks ago, asked that Hamby be made to pay Cosden $76,000 for gasoline he has acquired and for which Cosden claims no compensation.

He is also sued for $100,000 exemplary damages, which the oil company claims is due it.

A member of the state comptroller's office was in Big Spring for a number of days in January working on the case. This complaint filed by Jones today was said to be a result of findings made by this official.

Takes A Slap At Ike's Policy

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today sent Congress a program for vast development of America's natural resources and he asserted Eisenhower administration policy took a heavy toll of lives "by postponing essential flood control projects."

In a special message, the President set forth plans for both immediate and long range dealing with a host of problems in the field of resources. He said: "If we fail to use these blessings prudently, we will be in trouble in a short time."

He called for facing up to the problems now, and added: "The task is large but it will be done."

NO PRICE TAG

Kennedy placed no price tag on his far-reaching program which, among other things, envisages development of economically competitive nuclear power within 10 years to replace or supplement power from conventional fuels in areas where such fuel is expensive.

Administration officials said they won't be able to estimate the added cost of the over-all Kennedy program over present levels of resources spending until studies by the Budget Bureau and other federal agencies have been completed. These officials indicated they look for very little impact on the budget with several of Kennedy proposals geared to needs years from now.

SALT WATER

Specific recommendations by the President include doubling spending on research aimed at making salty ocean water suitable for use in the home and by industry. The administration said this would hike the outlay to $10 million a year.

"I pledge," said Kennedy, "that when this know-how is achieved it will immediately be made available to every nation in the world who (sic) wishes it, along with appropriate technical and other assistance for its use. Indeed the United States welcomes now the cooperation of all other nations who wish to join in this effort at present."

The Kennedy program dealt with water resources generally and the prospect for doubled consumption—to 600 billion gallons daily by 1980; big scale expansion of electric power; forest conservation; exploration of the oceans for oil, gas and minerals and for seafood; great expansion of recreational areas; and control of air and water pollution.

PREFERS CO-OPS

Kennedy said that in marketing federal electric power, preference will be given to public agencies and cooperatives.

In outlining plans for water resources development, the President said "we reject a 'no new starts' policy." Kennedy did not name the Eisenhower administration but added, said this was a slap at his predecessor's regime. Kennedy and other Democrats contended during the campaign last year that the government under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower stifled development of water resources by advocating an economy policy, which, the critics said, blocked the start of new projects.

"Such a policy," Kennedy said today, "denied the resource requirements and potential upon which our economic growth hinges; and took a heavy toll in added costs and even human life and homes by postponing essential flood control projects."

ORDERLY PROGRAM

As for the future in this field, the President said: "I have requested the director of the Bureau of the Budget, working with appropriate department and agency heads, to schedule a progressive, orderly program of starting new projects to meet accumulated demands, taking into account the availability of funds."

In this case and generally throughout his message Kennedy mentioned no specific projects. Legislation detailing these is expected to go to Congress later.

"From the beginning of civilization, every nation's basic wealth and progress has stemmed in large measure from its natural resources," Kennedy told Congress. "The nation has been, and is now, especially fortunate in the blessings we have inherited. Our entire society rests upon—and is dependent upon—our water, our land, our forests and our minerals."

CRITICAL FUTURE

Kennedy continued: "But even under conservative projections, we face a future of critical shortages and handicaps. By the year 2000, a United States population of 200 million—nearly doubled in 40 years—will need far greater supplies of farm products, timber, water, minerals, fuels, energy, and opportunities for outdoor recreation."

He said "Wise investment in a resource program today will return vast dividends tomorrow, and failures to act now may be opportunities lost forever."

Kennedy said his goal was to bring together in a single message "the widely scattered resource policies of the federal government." He added that in the past these policies have overlapped and often conflicted, "and funds were wasted on competing efforts."

IN TOUCH

Twice during the last 24 hours Goldberger is known to have been in touch with the president of Western Airlines in an effort to get that company to go along with the others.

Informed sources said the urgency of the situation was pointed up by plans of the other airlines to withdraw their commitments to Goldberger if Western did not fall in line by noon EST today.

Goldberg Wins Extension In Airline Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today won a two-hour extension of time for an attempt to negotiate settlement of the flight engineers strike.

The agreement on more time for negotiations was announced by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger a few minutes before a previously agreed deadline—noon EST today.

All the struck airlines except Western, a Pacific coast operator, had agreed to temporary settlement terms.

The engineers union was standing pat on a refusal to enter an agreement unless Western went along.

The other affected carriers had said they would pull out of the settlement unless the men were ready to go back to work at noon.

Salinger announced that Goldberger had won an agreement from the industry for an extension of the deadline to 2 p.m.

At the time of his announcement, Salinger said Goldberger was attempting to reach the president of Western Airlines by telephone in an effort to persuade Western to go along with the other companies.

Salinger said it was his understanding that if Western were to make such a commitment, the strike could be ended swiftly.

Goldberger had planned a visit to the White House to report to President Kennedy on settlement efforts. That was put off until after the new deadline.

White House sources said earlier that Kennedy had been advised of the prospect that a settlement could be reached if Western joined in.

The report coincided almost precisely with an outline given to newsmen by engineers union sources.

REPORT

Goldberger arranged to give Kennedy a first-hand report on settlement efforts.

Kennedy has been advised that a settlement by midday was virtually a certainty if Western Airlines agreed to let its striking flight engineers go back to work without reprisals while a presidential study committee—appointed earlier this week—attempted to work out long-range settlement terms. That probably would take about 90 days.

Western has fired its 130 striking engineers and has announced it will hire pilots to take their place.

Other struck airlines have agreed, on the other hand, to let their engineers return to work pending outcome of the study by the presidential commission.

State Sets March Date For Area Road Project Bids

Bids have been invited for March 17-18 by the Texas Highway Department for the Interstate 20 loop through northern Colorado City.

Two lateral road projects in Howard County, FM 2309 (Hartwell road) and FM 846 (Hamlin road) also will be up for letting on March 17 and will specify 110 working days. The Hartwell road will connect IS 20 with the Andrews highway west of Big Spring and will approximate 5 1/2 miles. The Hamlin road will open a route from the US 87-Knott intersection eastward to the Luther road, thus completing an east-west bisector of the north half of Howard County.

The March contracts also will call for seal-coating on US 87 in Coke, Cancha and Sterling counties. J. C. (Jake) Roberts, district highway engineer at Abilene, said the last of the right of way for construction of the Colorado City loop was purchased Tuesday.

The contracts for the IS loop through the north part of Colorado City will cover a 7.1 mile job. The initial contract will be for grading and structures and a later contract will be for base and surface. The project includes six overpasses, including one at the north end of Colorado City where State Highway 208 to Snyder passes through.

The 3.7-mile west leg from State 208 west to the intersection with the present US 80-15 20 will be up for opening on March 17. The 3.4-mile east leg from State 208 east to the city limits of Colorado City will be opened March 18. The projects are to be completed in 190 working days.

Joe Smoot, Colorado City, will be the supervising engineer.

Roberts said that efforts will be made to schedule bid-taking on the IS-20 loop at the north edge of Big Spring this year. He said about 70 per cent of the right of way has been purchased for this job. The Big Spring loop will complete IS-20 projects in Robert's district (No. 8) except for the route across Callahan County. Engineering on this is now under way. The Sweetwater loop is about complete (and is open) and work is near completion in the Abilene area.

Commission Race Gets Two More Candidates

Two new candidates for posts on the Big Spring City Commission filed with City Secretary C. R. McClelleny Wednesday. They were H. Boyce Hale, and Hank McDaniel.

Hale, 40, a resident of Big Spring since 1952, has been active in sports and Scout work.

He is a material and payroll clerk in the springing department of Phillips Petroleum Corp.; owns his home at 1703 Main; is married and has three children. He is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Hale served three years in the U.S. Navy and two years in Naval Reserve.

He is a member of the Western Sportsman Club, Disabled American Veterans; secretary-treasurer of the local chapter Southwest Basketball Officials Association, and the Permian Bowling League; cubmaster of Pack 138, College Heights School.

In a statement of his platform he said he "favored securing (city) employees from local citizens; the city limits have gone far enough, let the city catch them before expanding any farther; take a good look into the possibility of cutting expenditures and try to effect a program to live within a budget."

"Let aging (city) employees know that they would be given every opportunity to remain until normal retirement; encourage better police protection and see that hoods and bums stay clear of Big Spring; assure all our citizens that they have certain constitutional rights and that these rights shall not be denied to them; assure all citizens of equal rights and treatments by our law enforcement agencies; give a big effort to get our street and sewer program in high gear."

"I would give our merchants a large-sized share of the responsibility in naming one-way streets; try to give our low-lying sections better drainage; I would remind all public servants (employees) that they have certain moral obligations, and that to violate these is to violate the trust put to them by our voters."

McDaniel, associated with Boyd J. McDaniel Construction Co. of Big Spring, has been a resident of the city for 40 years. He is married and has four sons, one of whom is at home. The firm with whom he is associated has been in the building business for the past few years, and is now doing contracting work for Cosden Petroleum Corp.

"If the people of Big Spring should honor me with the job as a city commissioner I will work

Proposal To Let Voters Decide Issue

AUSTIN (AP)—A proposal to let the voters say which of several possible taxes they would accept with least distaste was sent Wednesday night to an apparently hostile House subcommittee.

The referral came after an hour of mostly critical discussion of the bill by Rep. Wesley Roberts of Seminole. The proposal would ask the voters in the April 4 special election whether they would greet an income tax, general sales tax or payroll tax with least resistance. The results of the poll would not bind the legislature.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, referred the bill to a subcommittee comprised of Reps. Sam Collins of Newton, DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, Ronald Roberts of Hillsboro, Joe Cannon of Mexico and Bob Mullen of Alice. All except Mullen aimed sharp questions at Roberts during the hour-long hearing on the bill.

"How can you justify keeping any tax off if you really want to know the will of the people?" Cannon asked.

Hale suggested that if the voters were to be questioned at all the list of proposed taxes should be longer.

"If you want a fair tax it ought to be a state income tax or a sales tax," Roberts said. He told the committee, however, "You can beef it up if you want to I just want the committee to give me something I can put out on the floor of the House."

Several committee members said such a poll would indicate perhaps that the legislature had no confidence in its own judgment.

"As responsible elected officials we can make a fairly accurate determination on this issue," Rep. Jim Markgraf of Soury said.

Conventions Planned Here In 1961 Will Add $162,000 To Local Economy

By JOE BEYER

To borrow a phrase and twist it a bit, "Conventions are a something fling." At least the conventioners' spending would indicate it.

Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, says that the average conventioner spends about $30 per day at a convention.

What does this mean to Big Spring? At present, not so much. Only four conventions are scheduled to be in Big Spring this year and another is pending.

No doubt others will be arranged before the year is over. There are also such other events as the Big Spring Rodeo, National Junior College Relays, and the Junior Rodeo.

But those already set are significant. About 2,000 persons are expected to come into town for the affairs, bringing with them some $162,000 to add to the community kitty.

The P.T.A. District Convention, March 22, has an expected 200 visitors; the Federation of Women's Clubs District 8 Convention, March 23-24, should bring in about 400 persons; The Assembly of God Convention, April 24-27, about 1,000 visitors; and the Lions Club Convention, May 5-6, another 200 people.

The convention still in the mill is the Texas branch of the National League of Postmasters, a two-day affair to be held some time in December. Normally about 200 persons attend.

The influx of new cash means better prospects for the local merchants than they could expect from only local trade. While the $162,000 may not look like much at first glance, economists say that each new dollar circulates 13 times within the community. This would mean that the outside capital would be worth something like $2,106,000. Any community can be thankful for such a boost.

Quimby pointed out another benefit which conventions give a community. The city gets advertising which it could hardly afford in any other medium. People go home with a warm feeling toward the community and do not hesitate to return in the future.

He said that Big Spring has numerous factors in its favor when it comes to choosing a location for conventions. "We have adequate housing accommodations, meeting places, places to eat, in addition to scenic spots to attract visitors," he commented.

Conventions are easily absorbed in a city the size of Big Spring and Quimby could recall no problems presented by the additional people.

Although the Chamber has no special branch to invite organizations to have their conventions here, local persons work within clubs to push Big Spring as the site for conventions.

Lamesa Resident Admits Shooting In New Mexico

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — The body of a 31-year-old El Paso man was found late Wednesday on the Apache Indian Reservation about five miles south of Ruidoso. He had been shot in the back.

The man who allegedly did the shooting was arrested in Lubbock, Tex., Tuesday and he led officers to the body.

The victim was identified as D. F. Lefler. The man who police say admitted the shooting is Roy Leon Handy, 21, of Lamesa, Tex.

Lubbock Deputy Sheriffs George Eubank and John Todd brought Handy from Lubbock to the Ruidoso area.

Handy said he shot his friend Feb. 5, put the body in a ditch and drove on to Lubbock. While there on Feb. 6, he cashed several bad checks using Lefler's identification.

When Handy returned to Lubbock police arrested him in Lefler's automobile. While questioning him about the car, Handy told them of the shooting.

Handy told officers he and Lefler had been target practicing with 22-caliber pistols on the mountainside. He said he and Lefler had been drinking when suddenly, Lefler jumped to his feet and said, "Come on, let's see if you can hit me."

Handy said the man then began running down the gulley. He said he aimed his pistol at the running man and pulled the trigger. Lefler fell.

An autopsy is to be performed today. The body was taken to a Ruidoso funeral home.

Handy was placed in the Otero County Jail in Alamogordo.

LAMESA (SC) — Leon Handy, arrested in connection with the death of D. F. Lefler near Ruidoso, N. M., attended school here and is well known in this area.

He is listed as a cafe cook and although officers have had occasion to talk with him on several occasions, he has no court record here.

At the time he was picked up in Lubbock, Dawson County Sheriff Henry Mayfield had a warrant for Handy's arrest on the Lubbock checking charges.

Last week, L. S. Fuller, El Paso, step-father of Lefler, was here trying to pick up some trace which would lead him to Lefler.

In his statement to officers, Handy said that he disposed of the pistol in Alamogordo, N. M., after the shooting and after he had been picked up on a routine traffic charge. He also said that he and Lefler had begun a drunken spree in Juarez, Mexico, across from El Paso.

Kennedy Selects El Paso Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy chose Raymond Telles, mayor of El Paso, Texas, today to be ambassador to Costa Rica.

Telles, who will succeed Whitling Willauer, was elected mayor of El Paso in 1957—the first American of Mexican descent to become mayor of a major U.S. city. He was re-elected in 1959.

WHA' HOPPEN?

Officials Ponder Fire Payments

Have payments made by Howard County to the city of Big Spring for rural fire protection been paid on a current basis or on a one-year-behind plan?

How many years is the agreement entered into by the city and county in Dec. 1958 by which the county was to pay $6,000 per annum for fire protection, to continue?

How does it happen that the contracts (copies of which exist in both the city and county records) were never officially signed?

These are questions which members of the Howard County Commissioners Court and City Manager A. K. Steinheimer were pondering Thursday morning in the county court house.

The city contends that the payments made by the county for rural fire protection were made on a delayed basis—that is to say the payment made in 1960 was actually for services rendered in 1959.

The county commissioners—none of whom has been on the county board at the time the contract was drawn in December, 1958—are not certain this is the case. They feel that the $6,000 paid in 1959-60 was for the purchase of the fire truck stipulated in the contract and for those two years service at $6,000 per annum.

The city feels that the first $26,000 was for 1958 services, the second for 1959 and that $6,000 is now due for 1960.

The question arose as a result of action by the Howard County Commissioners last Monday voting to reduce the annual payment to the city for rural fire protection from $6,000 to $3,000.

Steinheimer pointed out that the confused condition relative to the agreement stems from the fact that it all was worked out at a time when major changes in personnel in both the county board and the city organization was under way. Herbert Whitney, then city manager, was preparing to leave Big Spring and did leave soon after 1959 began; the commissioners court has completely changed since the agreement was drawn.

Lee Porter, county auditor, was going back through his older records this morning seeking information about the agreement which prevailed prior to the 1958 contract.

West's First Skyscraper Is Getting A Facelifting

DALLAS (AP)—The building that was the tallest west of the Mississippi in 1908 is emerging as a glass and aluminum skyscraper as Dallas tackles the problem of downtown modernization.

Hundreds of small buildings have been demolished in Dallas during the past decade to provide parking lots or sites for the scores of new gleaming towers.

But—as many other cities across the nation are discovering—the "problem buildings" are the skyscrapers of the first half of the century, buildings that have become obsolete but are structurally sound and too big to tear down.

The Praetorian Building, right in the middle of downtown Dallas, is one of the several on which millions of dollars are being spent for complete remodeling to make them as swank and as luxurious as the city's newest skyscrapers. Similar treatment is slated for nearly a dozen other Dallas buildings.

When the 15-story Praetorian was completed in 1908 it was the first here of steel construction.

But as newer and taller buildings rose, the Praetorian faded into oblivion, its once fashionable facade first becoming quaint and then garish.

In 1955 Praetorian Mutual Life decided to move outside of the downtown area and erect a new building.

NO SALE

"But we found we couldn't sell the old building. No one would buy it and we couldn't walk away and leave it," President J. M. Motley said.

The insurance firm then decided on the remodeling program. The old building was stripped to its steel framework and an addition was started alongside the old structure to more than double the size of the building.

Except for the steel framework of the 53-year-old building everything else in the new Praetorian will be new and modern.

Half a dozen blocks away the 10-story United Fidelity Building—long known as the Texas &

Pacific Building—is getting a similar complete overhaul.

VALUE

Cedric Burgher Sr., president of United Fidelity Insurance Co., is confident his firm is going to get value plus for the more than $1 million it is spending on the 43-year-old building.

"The cost of complete remodeling is costing about $8 per square foot compared to an estimated $20 for new construction," he says.

The largest remodeling job in Dallas has been on the block-long, eight-story building that was a warehouse for a wholesale hardware firm since 1908.

The barn-like fortress—with 600,000 square feet of floor space—had become a white elephant and an unattractive one as well.

New owners acquired the structure and converted it into a merchandise mart to fill a long-time need in this wholesale and distributing center.

DEAR ABBY

IT'S NOT LOVE

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two very fine, well-established gentlemen in love with me, but I cannot for the life of me make up my mind which one I want. Each knows about the other and have both been so patient with me I am even more in doubt than ever. If only one would give up so I wouldn't have this decision to make.

I feel like such a fool, Abby, telling them to give me more time. I am 29 years old and should know what I want. What I think I want one, my heart hurts so for the other. I have changed my mind a dozen times back and forth. Is it possible to be in love with two men? I think that's my trouble.

ALL MIXED UP DEAR ABBY: You are infatuated, grateful, flattered and confused, but you aren't in love with either man. A woman "in love" isn't tortured by indecision. She KNOWS!

DEAR ABBY: When eating seafood, is it proper to eat the toast underneath the seafood? I have been told the toast is put there only to absorb the steam and moisture and is not meant to be eaten. It was delicious. IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: You may eat anything served to you that is edible. When in doubt, watch your hostess. I know a man who actually cut up and ate the lace paper dolly on his dessert plate. He thought it was "lough meringue."

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy who is 14. I take piano lessons and want to be a fashion designer. To most boys I am an ideal sissy. On the bus going home from school they pester me and try to pick a fight. Abby, I don't want to fight although I think I could knock their stupid blocks off. Don't tell me to ignore them. It won't do any good.

HATES TO FIGHT DEAR ABBY: Take a few boxing lessons. Even if you never raise your fists in anger it will be good for your self-confidence to know you can defend yourself if you ever have to.

DEAR ABBY: You said in your column that smokers were the most selfish people in the world. I think you're wrong. Dog-owners are.

THE UNDENIABLE

RELIGIOUS LEADERS

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, West Highway 80

Leading people by our good example, and by faithfully teaching the Scriptures, is something for all of us to do. In the sense of exercising authority, the only church leaders (ac-faith cometh by hearing, and according to the Bible) are the elders in local congregations.

They are the only people in the church who are said to "oversee" and "rule" (Acts 20:28; 1 Tim. 5:17).

They do not rule in matters of Christian faith; but in those secondary matters which the Lord has left up to the judgment of His people.

One's faith is to be determined by what the Bible says. "So then hearing by the Word of God" (Rom. 10:17). The things we are to believe cannot be determined by any man, or any council; and certainly not by a majority vote of any group. We are free under God to take the Bible, regulate our lives by it, and teach what it says; regardless of what men may think, say or do!

Unions Retrench To Recoup Loss Of Dues-Paying Members

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The business recession is hitting hard at organized labor's own management operations. A drop of about one million dues-paying members has forced the AFL-CIO to retrench.

Federation leaders said privately today that, like many businesses, they are going to have to adopt economies and get more revenue to keep their big labor organization out of the red.

Lagging employment has reduced AFL-CIO dues paying membership from about 13.5 million to about 12.5 million, it was said. Members out of work don't pay regular dues.

Also, while dues revenue has been declining, union expenses have been increasing.

The retrenchment program is expected to result in some layoffs on the AFL-CIO headquarters staff in Washington as well as a tighter rein on donations to various causes which have been running to over $1 million each year.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council also was expected to levy a temporary special assessment of two cents per member on affiliated unions in order to counter a general fund deficit that has climbed to about $700,000 in the past eight months.

The temporary additional dues payment, amounting to about $2 million would continue until the AFL-CIO holds its next convention here in December when a permanent dues increase is expected to be proposed.

The federation's economic policy committee, headed by the United Auto Workers Union president, Walter Reuther, issued a study Wednesday saying that President Kennedy's recovery program, even when put into effect, won't stop rising unemployment.

The study said that if Kennedy would adopt an AFL-CIO suggestion for a quick, temporary $3-billion income tax cut along with his other proposals, the way could be clear for resumption of full employment and production.

AFL-CIO leaders, reviewing their 1960 political operation in the presidential campaign, decided to start work now to boost worker voting registration for the 1962 congressional elections. Union quotas for 1962 political contributions also were boosted to insure a full campaign chest.

No Refueling For New Sub

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nuclear submarines which will never need refueling may be built soon, says Capt. William R. Anderson, former skipper of the nuclear sub Nautilus.

Anderson, who took the Nautilus on its historic trip under the North Pole, gave an interview Wednesday.

"The Nautilus could go 60,000 miles on its first load of fuel," he said. "Before long it will be possible to build a reactor that will not need refueling for the entire life of the ships — maybe 25 years."

Anderson, of Bakersville, Tenn., is now an aid to the secretary of the Navy. He said the most significant recent occurrence regarding nuclear subs was President Kennedy's action in accelerating the Polaris missile program.

Betting Proposal Opponents Fight

AUSTIN (AP) — A backer and an opponent of the controversial parimutuel betting proposal argued heatedly Wednesday night, but they may make up.

Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah, who is fighting the plan, said Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio, who is for it, "threatened to redistrict me out of the House if I keep on fighting it."

Johnson said that Healy misconstrued a remark he had made in a heated argument. "I certainly am not going to use my position on the redistricting committee against him," Johnson said when asked for comment.

"I said I had one vote on the congressional and legislative redistricting committee and I said I was going to take care of my friends. If he construed it that way I'll apologize," Johnson said.

Healy said he did not think that members of the Legislature "would countenance tactics of that kind" in reference to Johnson's remark.

"If I have to give up my district right now they can have it back but I'm going to fight this proposition all the way with all the vitality I have."

The proposed constitutional amendment by Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio was recommended for House passage by a committee this week. It faces a stiff floor battle.

Industry Has New Worry: Censorship

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The broadcasting industry, already under attack from many quarters, now has a new worry: Threat of formal censorship. It has joined the motion picture and publishing industries in an effort to re-open a new Supreme Court decision, even though its lawyers don't think TV and radio are immediately involved.

The decision was one upholding the right of local and state censorship boards to preview a film before permitting it to be shown in theaters.

"There are dangerous potentials," said Douglas Anello, chief counsel for the National Association of Broadcasters. "Whenever you impose censorship in one medium, it might spread to another. The whole idea of prior restraint is abhorrent. And if this case (the one on which the decision was based) stands, it is conceivable that Congress could pass a law requiring the submission of TV film to the Federal Communications Commission or some other place before it was broadcast."

The decision comes at a time when broadcasting is in serious trouble, its public favor "is dangerously low," said former Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, new NAB president, in a recent speech.

"This conclusion, to me, is inescapable in the light of widespread criticism we are getting from responsible individuals, public officials and a growing variety of reputable organizations," Collins said.

TV and radio insist they can handle their problems by self-regulation, which primarily means by widespread adherence to radio and television codes set up by NAB, and by network departments which wield blue pencils.

Obviously, all the forces looking sternly at television programming are having their effect. The question, of course, is whether that effect will be one which will make routine TV fare more bland than it currently is or whether it will stimulate the industry to raise its standards.

Officials Report Roswell Findings

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP)—Officials investigating an accident that killed six persons and injured a score at a missile launching pit Feb. 6 reported the accident occurred as a huge crane rolled over the edge of the pit and exploded. The crane was being prepared for movement away from the area, the report said.

The crane had been parked with the gears in a low reverse, and when the engine was started it began backing toward the silo, toppling in and fell to the bottom.

Youth Group Pickets For U.S. Nuclear Disarmament

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A group of persons, identifying themselves as Youth for Nuclear Disarmament, Wednesday picketed the Franklin Institute where the director of the Navy's fleet ballistic missile program spoke.

The pickets, who said they are calling for a halt to the U.S. and Soviet arms build-up, marched in the rain past a full-sized model of the Polaris outside the institute. Several of the pickets, most of whom were college students, carried placards. The picketing was peaceful.

Speaking before a joint meeting of the Franklin Institute and Engineering Societies, Vice Adm. William F. Raborn said the Polaris is the most powerful weapon ever conceived and a major deterrent to war.

Earlier, at a news conference,

Raborn said that by 1964 atomic submarines carrying the Polaris will be able to hit any spot on the earth.

Public Hearing Called On Bill To Check Universities

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—A public hearing is scheduled at 2 p.m. today on a bill introduced to investigate New Mexico's universities.

The bill was introduced by Sen. M. Carr. He says his bill will receive a "do pass" recommendation from the finance committee.

A petition bearing more than 1,300 signatures of students and faculty members has been obtained supporting the professors. The petition states that "their right to voice opinions without fear of intimidation."

Mark Acuff and Mike Kyne, students, are backing the petition.

State's Top Girl Players In Meet

Four trophies are in the offing for winners in the 16th annual Big Spring Invitational Girls' Volleyball Tournament, which got under way at 11 a.m. today and is to continue through Saturday.

The champion, the runnerup, the third place winner and the consolation titlist will earn team awards.

In addition, miniature sterling silver volleyballs will go to 12 members of the championship team and to as many players on the runnerup squad.

No all-tournament team will be selected.

Imperial has won the crown the past two years and is among the favorites in this year's meet. It faces competition from such contingents as Lamesa, Pampa, Andrews, Fort Stockton and the host team.

Lamesa is the defending state champion in Class AAA and was a finalist in the Denver City meet last week.

Pampa has been the Class AAAA state runnerup the past two years. Imperial was the state runnerup in Class B last year and won first place in the Odessa Tournament this year. Buffalo upset Imperial in the state meet in 1960.

Andrews was the Class AAA state runnerup last year. Fort Stockton ruled as the Class AA state titlist last year. Big Spring has held the Class AAAA state championship the past four years.

The Steerette troupe was the only defending champion to win in the state meet last year.

Several faculty members and HCJC personnel will help Bernice Waggoner run off the tournament. Tournament season tickets are being sold for $1.50 adults and $1 students.

Five games were on tap today and tonight while first round play will extend through Friday morning.

Among outstanding players in the meet are Donna Boles, Lamesa; Manuela Dominguez, Imperial; and Elena Patterson, Big Spring, all of whom were all-state last year. All are spikers.

Patterson and Dominguez have rated the honor the past two seasons.

The host Steerettes were to play Sweetwater at 11 a.m. today in an "assembly game." If they won that one, they are to play again at 8 p.m. Friday, at which time they meet the survivor in the Phillips-Denver City game.

This evening's action sends Andrews against Ozona at 6 p.m., Phillips against Denver City at 7 p.m., and San Angelo against Fort Stockton at 8 p.m.

Tournament play will be resumed (in the consolation round) at 1 p.m. tomorrow. Championship finals are on tap for 8 p.m. Saturday.

All games will be played in the BSHS Gym.

Wilson's Leads Kegling Meet

At the end of the first week of bowling in the City Men's Bowling Tournament Wilson's Insurance Agency team is leading in the team event with a score of 3115.

Runnerup is the Schlitz team, with 3031.

Doubles leaders are Lee Younkin and Gus Taute, with 1323, and runnersup are Lee Younkin and T. K. Price. Lee Younkin also is leading in the singles event with 684 with Art Madewell's 658 in the runner-up spot.

Leader in the All-Events is Bill Hammack, with 1913, and Eddie Kohanek is runnerup with 1898. High game in the tournament was rolled by Eddie Kohanek, with a 254 and high series by Boyce Hale with a 642.

High scratch leaders are as follows: Team — Wilson's Insurance Agency, 3029; doubles — George Pike and Elton Kelley, 1171; singles — Bill Carter, 614; All-Events — Bill Littlejohn, 1783.

All male bowlers are reminded that one more weekend of the tournament is scheduled.

Team events will be at 5:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. on Saturday and shifts at 1:30, 4:00 and 6:30 and the last shift at 9:00 p.m. on Sunday for doubles and singles. All entries should be submitted as soon as possible for these shifts.

Trophies and awards will be given away on March 18 at 2:00 p.m. at Pinocchio's on 3rd and Birdwell.

Election of officers for the coming year will be conducted at this time, also. Representatives of all teams in Big Spring are invited to attend to vote for their directors.

Baton Rouge Open Under Way Today

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — With some sunshine expected to help dry out the Sherwood Forest Country Club course, entrants in the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open today took advantage of a day's delay in starting the tournament to get accustomed to the course.

The 72-hole event was due to start today but officials delayed it 24 hours because of weather conditions. It will run through Sunday.

Heading the field will be defending champion Arnold Palmer, fresh from his victory in the Phoenix Open, and the venerable Sam Snead, who set the tourney record here of 275 when he last competed in the event in 1953.

The winter tour's leading money winner, Gary Player of South Africa, will play in a threesome with 1952 winner Jack Burke Jr. and former LSU star Johnny Pott of Shreveport.

Palmer will play with 1959 Baton Rouge winner Howie Johnson, and Doug Ford, who has won more money here over the years than any other golfer.

Bonnie Court Is 'Snake Pit'

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — The basketball court in the Olean Armory, home base for second-ranked St. Bonaventure, is regulation length and almost regulation width. But the shallow bleachers on the sides and the deep stands at the ends give it the feel of a long hall.

Smoking is not allowed. So at halftime, the entire crowd of 2,000 pushes out into the small foyer and lights up. It gets kind of close, so somebody opens the front doors.

This blows all the smoke back into the gym, and when the teams return to the floor they need radar to find the bench.

With a nervous laugh, they call it the snake pit. It's only a slight exaggeration. The Bonnies haven't been beaten here since 1948—98 games ago.

Siena is expected to become the 99th victim tonight. And Saturday night comes the century figure. There's something decisive about the number 100. It's got to be mighty close to the longest home winning streak in major college basketball history. Maybe, in fact fate never ordained it. And if that isn't enough, the opponent is Niagara, the last team to beat the Bonnies in the armory 13 years ago.

Local fans claim the Bonnies themselves never play a really good game here.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Charley Arnold of Our Town has had recent word from his former neighbor, Vernon Harton, and Vernon is looking at the world through rose-colored glasses.

Harton is the one-time Big Spring High School basketball mentor who now holds a similar position at Jacksonville Baptist College.

In the school's last seven starts, it has averaged nearly 100 points a game. It has beaten, in order, Navarro, 109-87; Lee of Baytown, 106-73; Henderson County of Athens, 109-78; Lee again, 104-77; Navarro again, 102-73; and East Texas Baptist JayVees, 94-77, while losing to Lon Morris, 85-81.

Bobby Evans, who departed HCJC at midterm to go to Jacksonville and play for his former coach, is now a starter there. Homer Mills, who also performed for Harton here last year, has recovered from a knee injury and is getting to play a lot for the Jacksonville team.

Harton, incidentally, wrangled an invitation to the Region 14 tournament (winner of which goes to the National Juco meet at Hutchinson, Kansas). The Region 14 show starts next Monday in Nacogdoches.

Other teams selected for the tournament include Tyler, Kilgore, Lon Morris, Wharton, Allen Academy, Texarkana and Panola.

The tournament committee passed up Paris JC and took Jacksonville instead. It seems Boyd Converse, the Paris coach, had laid down certain demands to the tournament committee that couldn't be met. He didn't want to play either Tyler, Kilgore or Lon Morris in the first round. Harton evidently didn't care who JBC played, so long as he got in.

The luck of the draw sends Jacksonville Baptist against Tyler, the tournament favorite. Tyler can be had, however, as HCJC's Jay-hawks so ably proved in the past Christmas week tournament here.

Murry Holditch, who takes over as head coach at Sweetwater High School, played his college ball at Texas A&M when Homer Norton and Harry Steitler served as coaches there. His first job was as line coach at Pearsall ten years ago.

Max Bumgardner, the San Angelo College mentor, reportedly was very interested in the Sweetwater job. He reportedly wants to break into high school coaching somewhere. He has excellent credentials.

Dan LaGrasta, who was elevated to the first assistant's job at San Angelo when Holditch took the Sweetwater post, applied for the Big Spring head coaching position after Al Milch submitted his resignation.

Pancho Gonzales is one of the few big time tennis players who prefers to receive service when he wins the pre-game spin of the racket. He believes that a man's first serve is his weakest.

Jim (Dutch) Stehley, better known, perhaps, as a track and field mentor, has been elevated to a varsity assistant coach's job at Snyder High School.

Stehley's old job with the Snyder B team has been taken over by Bill Hartsfield, up from Travis Junior High School.

Stehley will help coach the Snyder backs. V. V. Shearburn handles the varsity line coaching job.

Baylor received $94,932 for having appeared in the last Gator Bowl game but was allowed to keep only $64,366 of that amount. The rest went to other Southwest Conference schools.

Wally Butts, who retired as head football coach at the University of Georgia, may not stay retired. He's said to be angling for a job in pro football, possibly in the American Football League.

Lakeview Seeks District Title

COLORADO CITY — Big Spring Lakeview and Booker T. Washington of Sweetwater clash here at 8:30 o'clock this evening to see which team wears the District 1-A Negro Girls' basketball crown.

Boys' teams of the two schools tangle in an exhibition at 7:30 p.m.

Big Spring won the opener of the three-game series in Big Spring, 41-40, while Sweetwater came back to win the second game in its own gym, 42-40.

Regardless of which team wins tonight, all play will cease, since the teams do not take part in the playoffs.

Lakeview carries a 10-5 won-lost record onto the court.

Probable starters for the Rockets include Mavis Newton, Gloria Scott and Jenny Johnson, forwards; and Myrtle Wright, Mary Helen Green and Ruby Lee Green, all guards.

Subs who will make the trip include Barbara Frazier, Pearl May Green and Anita Dixon.

Newton leads the team in scoring with a 25-point average. Johnson is averaging 12 points a game and Scott ten.

FLEXIBILITY!

The Daily Newspaper Is the Flexible Medium for Pinning Down Sales

Newspapers don't tie up the advertiser with rigid time schedules or space limitations that weaken the impact and effectiveness of his message. Newspapers offer creative and physical flexibility. An advertiser can use a two-page spread to tell a detailed story or he can use a smaller space to say what he wants in fewer words, depending on his budget and his strategy. The physical flexibility of newspapers means ads can be scheduled quickly to take care of sudden selling opportunities. The daily newspaper is flexible enough to fit any advertising strategy.

EDUCATORS RECOMMEND:

Test To Measure Fitness Of Soft (?) American Youth

How They're Done:

How Does Your Child Stack Up Against The National Muscle, Stamina Average?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Americans seem to be getting weak and flabby. And, that goes for youth as well as age. How does your youngster measure up in physical fitness? Here are some tests you can apply to your youngster for comparison with other American youths.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — American youngsters are softer and flabbier than the youth of other countries.

This isn't speculation. It has been proven by tests.

In identical trials, British boys finished 14 per cent higher than American boys and British girls 23 per cent higher than American girls.

Japanese boys and girls, growing up in the rough and rugged post-war years in a defeated nation, outscored their American counterparts by a wide margin.

Alfred E. Scholz of Yale, who supervised the testing of 9,000 youngsters in 1959, reports:

"What appalled me was the number of boys who could not pull themselves up to a chinning bar at least one time. Some could not even pull a bend in their elbow joints."

"Can you imagine a boy or girl not being able to climb out of a swimming pool, onto a raft or into a boat?"

The physical fitness tests were drawn up by a committee of experts working with the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Education Association.

The seven test items are designed to measure arm strength and arm power, leg power, abdominal endurance, speed and agility, sheer speed and endurance for sustained activities.

They have been given to about 25 million American school children since 1957.

If your child hasn't been tested yet, you may want to test him yourself, following these instructions and national averages published by the AAHPER in its "Youth Fitness Test Manual":

Taking Off

Youngster springs away from the takeoff board in a standing broad jump, one of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation's tests of physical fitness. The jump is designed to measure leg power.

Fitness Trial

Two girls team up in the sit-up exercise, one of the tests of physical fitness drawn up by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. The sit-up is measure of abdominal endurance. The onlooker is Dr. Shane MacCarthy, executive director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness.

PULL-UPS (BOYS)

This is the "chinning" exercise. A metal or wooden bar approximately 1 1/2 inches in diameter should be high enough so the youngster can hang with arms and legs fully extended and feet free of the floor. He raises his body by the arms until his chin can be placed over the bar. Then he lowers his body to the starting position again. The exercise is repeated as many times as possible.

up, turning the trunk to the left and touching the right elbow to the left knee, returns to the starting position, then sits up and touches the left elbow to the right knee. The exercise is repeated to a maximum of 50 sit-ups for girls, 100 for boys.

PULL-UPS (GIRLS)

The bar is about chest-high. The youngster extends her legs under the bar and extends the arms fully. The arms should form an angle of 90 degrees with the body line and the body line should form an angle of 45 degrees with the floor. The heels should be braced to prevent slipping. The youngster raises her body by the arms until her chest touches the bar, then lowers her body to a full hang and repeats the exercise. The test should be ended if she reaches 40 pull-ups.

The pupil lies on his back, either on the floor or on a mat, with legs extended and feet about two feet apart. His hands are placed on the back of the neck with the fingers interlaced. A partner holds the ankles down, so that the heels will be in contact with the mat or floor at all times. The pupil sits

'Physically Fit' Gets Definition

The accepted definition of a physically fit person is "one who has the physical wherewithal (strength, endurance and skill) to get through the normal day's activity without undue fatigue and has enough left over to meet emergency situations that might arise."

Teachers Attend Reading Clinic

Faculty and administrative representatives of local schools will attend a reading clinic Friday and Saturday at Southern Methodist University.

The question with which they will be concerned is, "How can we help Johnny improve his independent ability and desire to read?"

The Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading (TAIR) holds annual clinics at colleges and universities in the state. The SMU clinic is of particular local interest because the editor and author of reading texts and supplemental reading materials used in city schools, Dr. Paul McKee, will be a featured speaker.

Dr. Ruth Strang, professor of education at the University of Arizona, and Dr. Alice McGuire, librarian at Austin Elementary School in Austin, are also featured speakers and consultants. The clinic will consist of grade level demonstrations, lectures, panel discussions and question and answer periods. Local representatives will attend as many of these as possible to bring back reports on approaches to reading problems of children of all age and reading levels.

Principals attending are Mrs. Ruth Rutherford, Park Hill and Cedar Crest; William R. Davies, Marcy; R. G. Robertson, Bauer and Kate Morrison; and W. C. Blankenship, College Heights. Mary Foreman, elementary counselor, will also attend.

Elementary classroom teachers to be present are Mesdames Zoe Gibbs, Mary Alice Rush, Leola Hale, John Hale, Agnes Mitchell, Marilyn Voorhies, Elizabeth Schatell, Ola Robertson and Miss Nancy Smith.

Mesdames Miriam Wilcox and Suzanne Batterson are secondary classroom teachers who will attend the clinic.

Cards Being Addressed For Street Survey

Inquiry cards, to be mailed to every 10th water customer in Big Spring and designed to get a cross-section of opinion regarding the one-way traffic pattern in the downtown area, were received by the city Thursday morning. They were turned over to the water department for addressing and will be mailed by the first of next week.

The survey was decided upon in a called session of the Big Spring Traffic Commission on Jan. 30 following a petition to the city commission to abolish the one-way pattern.

The commission hit upon the plan to mail the cards to every 10th water customer to preclude any charge of hand-picking those to receive the cards.

Cards are to be returned within five days after mailing. If further study is necessary members of the commission will make the survey in person.

Bruce Dunn, Big Spring director of public works, and secretary to the traffic commission, said he had received several letters from citizens asking that the pattern be maintained.

The one-way traffic pattern was set up, after many months of study and public hearings, on a trial basis, and the commission has felt that sufficient time has not been given to prove whether it is practical or not.

When the cards have been returned the traffic commission will meet to decide if further study is necessary. If there is evidence of the need of more study the members will decide upon the method to be used.

State Police Watch For Beds

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Police are on the alert to deal with any highway bed pushing.

It appears that pushing beds is the latest collegiate kick — like swallowing goldfish or crowding into telephone booths. The pushing of a bed along a road — any road — is the idea.

Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs is prepared. He said a catch-all state law would be invoked. The law says no one shall refuse to comply with a police officer directing or regulating traffic.

Smith Requests His Name Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Earl E. T. Smith, Palm Beach financier, has asked President Kennedy to withdraw his name as ambassador to Switzerland. He thus got Kennedy off a diplomatic hook.

Smith's appointment, never formally announced, was criticized strongly in the Swiss press. It drew some adverse comment at home, too.

A Republican, Smith was ambassador to Cuba in the Eisenhower administration until just after Fidel Castro took over. He was quickly replaced there by a career diplomat.

Castro said Smith was too friendly with Fulgencio Batista, the dictator Castro overthrew.

Since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba recently, the Swiss have been handling U. S. interests in Havana at U. S. request. Much of the Swiss criticism apparently centered on this factor—that the new appointment of Smith might cause embarrassment and difficulty in carrying out these duties for the United States.

Smith's appointment to Havana was regarded as a political appointment. During his election campaign, Kennedy often struck out at political payoffs in the naming of ambassadors.

There was some surprise, therefore, when it became known here that Smith was Kennedy's choice for the Swiss post.

But Smith is a long time friend and neighbor of the Kennedy family at the Florida resort. While vacationing there before taking office, Kennedy played golf with Smith several times.

The Swiss government did not openly oppose Smith, but its cabinet delayed approval of him and made it clear it would rather have someone else. Ambassadorial nominations are never submitted to the Senate until the host government has indicated the nominee is welcome.

All this presented Kennedy with a rather tricky problem. If he withdrew Smith's name himself, he would have risked charges that he knuckled under to Castro's displeasure.

But Smith provided the graceful way out by his announcement Wednesday night at his Florida home. He said he asked the White House to withdraw his name "because of the controversy that has been stimulated."

Kennedy said in a statement "I nominate Mr. Smith because I felt he had the qualities to be an effective representative of our country. It is still my view, I therefore accept his decision with real regret. I hope that at some future time he can be again of service to our country."

Bankruptcy Is First Step

SHELDON Iowa (AP)—Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon has taken the first step toward voluntary bankruptcy, paying the way for the formation of a new company.

The firm which went into the hands of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. after the closing last month of the Sheldon National Bank. The firm's principal stockholder was Burnice Iverson Geiger, 58, who embezzled more than $2 million from the bank and gave Northern Biochemical credit of about $900,000.

The company filed voluntary bankruptcy proceedings in U. S. District Court at Sioux City Wednesday.

Elliott Roosevelt, chief operating officer of the defunct corporation, had said previously that bankruptcy was a preliminary step to formation of a successor firm, Sheldon Chemical Co.

It will engage, he said, in the same business—processing and marketing additives for livestock feed.

10 Indictments Are Returned

LAMESA (SC) — A Dawson County grand jury returned indictments against 10 persons here Tuesday. District Attorney George Hanan presented a relatively light docket of 19 cases with four being passed and five no bills returned.

Indicted were Allen K. Shay, John R. McCall Jr., and Jack Hartwig, companion cases of burglary of a coin-operated machine; Bobby Brannham, Bobby L. Cockrell and Jerry Arrick, companion burglary cases; Roger R. Tibbitts, DWI (second offense); Jesse Briens, forgery and passing; Dorothy L. Bracken, forgery; and Julia Charles, passing.

No bills were returned in cases involving George W. Henager, burglary of a coin-operated machine; Daniel A. Cruz and C. J. Lample, worthless check; Mike R. Vargas, theft over $50; and Jack Bennett, burglary.

Jury Awards No Damages

LAMESA (SC) — An Andrews man seeking damages of $11,200 was awarded nothing by a Dawson County jury here Tuesday in a short trial in 106th Judicial District Court.

The jury's verdict favored Carson Echols of Lamesa, the defendant. James L. Brooks, the plaintiff, sought damages as a result of a vehicle accident on Oct. 15, 1958, when he collided with a cow owned by Echols on State Highway 115.

The jury was required to answer 22 special issues in the case. Adolph Hollmann Jr. was jury foreman.

Promised Debate Fades Into Common Political Squabble

By The Associated Press
The proposed face-to-face television debate between Congressman Jim Wright and Republican John Tower—candidates in the April 4 special U.S. Senate election—has apparently fizzled into an old-fashioned political squabble.

When Wright challenged Tower last week to the TV debate the former Wichita Falls professor accepted.

But after Wright, campaigning in East Texas, renewed the challenge, Tower told Austin newsmen Wednesday that the Fort Worth congressman would have to debate the other four active candidates first.

Citing a private opinion poll which showed Tower in the lead and Wright in sixth place, the Republican said "I think he has a good idea there but since I am at the top of the listing I think he ought to work his way up in the same category as a fighter would do."

Tower said as soon as Wright has met State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, former State Rep. Maury Maverick Jr., Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, and interim U.S. Sen. William A. Blakley in television debates "I will immediately cancel any conflicting engagements I may have and meet him whenever and wherever he chooses.

Wright in a statement said in reply:

"It is disappointing to note that Mr. Tower is wesseling out of his earlier boastful acceptance of my invitation to a debate.... If he thinks his extreme point of view will stand the searching public light of comparison then he has nothing to fear.... His political excuse is a smoke screen to cover his lack of confidence in the public's acceptance of his extreme doctrinaire right-wing viewpoint when measured alongside the truly important and decisive issue of our time."

Both Tower and Wilson held coffee receptions in Austin Wednesday while Wright closed out the third day of his week-long 1,700-mile helicopter trip at Beaumont.

Maverick, speaking in Houston, said he approved President Kennedy's program for finance aid to schools.

"We must build for the future in education as daringly and aggressively as we have built other aspects of our society. I stand with President Kennedy and not with timid or ignorant men," Maverick said.

Gonzalez campaigned in Tyler Wednesday while Blakley spent most of the day shaking hands in downtown Dallas.

Jail-Bird's Eye View Of Jail

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Rarely had the police paddy wagon had such passengers as the handcuffed six it hauled off to jail—smiling.

They were University of Kentucky students. Members, in fact, of the Student Congress Judicial Board which disciplines university students who get arrested.

They volunteered to be temporary prisoners—and university officials and Lexington police handled the make-believe warrants for breach of peace—to get a jail-bird's eye-view of how arrests are made.

Japanese Stiffen Film Censorship

By BOB THOMAS
AP Staff Writer

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese movie censors normally a mild lot, are adopting a new toughness toward violence in American and other foreign films.

Scenes of assault, especially with knives, will get close scrutiny and cuts will be made. The Japanese leaders are growing more and more alarmed with the rise of armed assaults by juveniles.

Many responsible persons here believe crime dramas of films and TV have contributed to this rise of violence. A close watch is kept on violence in TV—"The Untouchables" may never play here. Both incoming and Japan-made films are being closely watched.

Government censorship is forbidden by the postwar Japanese constitution. But the Japanese generally respect authority, and self-censorship is usually effected when the authorities wish it.

Film censoring in Japan is patterned after Hollywood's production code. The movie interests contribute to a commission of motion picture code of ethics which interest Texas businessmen in recognizing their own stake in traffic safety, said Brad Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission.

Half of the traffic deaths last year were of men directing or working for Texas businesses. Smith thinks realization of the loss of these men and their future services to these companies may spur business to add the vital ingredient of influence in the legislature.

In addition to direct loss, damage-suit judgments resulting from traffic accidents have added to the economic loss.

Property damage from Texas traffic accidents amounts to $725 per minute. A person is injured on Texas roads every 4 minutes.

Daniel publicly has urged that the state not permit the safety recommendations again to become lost or ignored.

NEEDS DEFINED

The National Safety Council, which studies the traffic safety activities of all states, says the legislative needs have been clearly defined in Texas. The council estimates these steps can save 500 lives and perhaps reduce the economic loss by $100 million a year. All but one of the six recommendations have been repeatedly urged by the governor, the Texas Legislative Council and the safety associations.

These are the proposals, all of which have been or will be introduced.

1. State aid for driver education—enabling all school districts to provide high school driver education.
2. A stronger driver license law to remove the few whose use of the highways is dangerous. It would empower the state police to suspend or revoke a license under certain conditions.
3. A chemical test law for drunken drivers.
4. Courts of record—creating a new system of courts, on a self-sustaining basis, to review traffic cases quickly.
5. Add 100 highway patrolmen a year for several years.
6. A workable speed limit law—to permit authorities to zone up or down the speed limit law which Texas does not have. The governor has taken no stand on this proposal.

Now buried deeply in a Senate subcommittee is the proposal to change the state's prima facie speed law to an absolute speed law, as used in 27 other states. Under the present law it is not necessarily a violation to go above the speed limit if the motorist and his attorney can convince the court he was driving reasonably and prudently at the particular time. The other approach makes it flatly illegal to drive faster than the posted speed.

FLEXIBILITY

"It establishes limits understandable by the motorists and provides for flexibility so that realistic speeds can be established," said Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety.

Texas laws have other loopholes to furnish the dangerous driver an avenue of relief.

The law provides that after a misdemeanor conviction for drunken driving, a felony indictment may be returned on a second offense. An earlier felony sentence is used on subsequent conviction to enhance the penalty but this does not apply in felony drunken driving cases. Previous felony convictions cannot be shown on DWI cases regardless of the number.

A person convicted of stealing chickens in Texas could be imprisoned longer than one receiving his "sixth" felony sentence for drunk driving.

CHEMICAL TESTS

Four states, Colorado, New Jersey, North Dakota and Oregon, have a mandatory chemical test law. In 27 other states the test is permissive.

Chemical tests do not determine how much alcohol has been consumed. They measure the concentration of alcohol in the blood.

Under present Texas law a person voluntarily decides whether to consent to the blood test and his refusal cannot be used against him at his trial.

Daniel says driver education hands his list of recommendations in this field. "This is the only way I know to stop feeding a steady flow of uneducated young drivers into the highways."

Daniel says the Texas driver's license law has not been given a major revision since 1941. He said the state should have a law

Tools Ready, But Legislature Fails To Act On Traffic Safety

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP)—Safety experts, backed by Gov. Price Daniel, say they have the tools to save 500 lives a year from traffic accidents in Texas but for four years the Legislature has been content not to act.

These same proposals again are before the Legislature but prospects at best appear doubtful.

Two reasons generally are heard: No demand from an apathetic public that these steps be taken, and the legislators' concern on taxes, spending and other pressing problems.

A third factor is that some lawyer-legislators in key committee positions apparently want the state to keep its bogged-down traffic appeals system and vague speed law to help get their clients off the hook.

A drive is beginning to try to interest Texas businessmen in recognizing their own stake in traffic safety, said Brad Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission.

Half of the traffic deaths last year were of men directing or working for Texas businesses. Smith thinks realization of the loss of these men and their future services to these companies may spur business to add the vital ingredient of influence in the legislature.

Daniel says the Texas driver's license law has not been given a major revision since 1941. He said the state should have a law

"that will authorize the DPS to rule off the roads those drivers whose own records prove they are a menace to others."

LOTS OF LETTERS

Garrison said the DPS receives many letters from concerned persons advising them "that Uncle Joe or Aunt Betty can't drive safely anymore and asking us to re-examine them."

Texas law permits a motorist convicted of a serious traffic violation to lose his license and continue driving until a higher court gets around to rehearing the case perhaps years later.

The Legislature has authorized Texas to have 774 Highway Patrolmen who start at $325 a month and go to a maximum of $388 plus longevity pay. Pennsylvania has 1,997 patrolmen and California 2,536.

Senate Snuffs Out Rights For Women Amendment

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas senators apparently have killed another drive by women to pass an "equal rights" amendment to the state Constitution.

The movement spun to a halt before the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee Wednesday night. Undoubtedly, the women have not had their last word.

The committee voted to assign the amendment by Sen. William Moore of Bryan to an unstructured subcommittee from which it is not expected to depart.

8-7 VOTE

The 8-7 vote came moments after Sen. Frank Owen III of El Paso had engineered passage of an amendment, which opponents said killed the effect of the resolution. The vote was 8-6.

Owen's amendment said that nothing in the proposed constitutional change would wipe out the present "benefits and exemptions" held by women in Texas. The simply worded amendment by Moore declares that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied" because of sex.

Opponents often have said such a sweeping proposal would crowd the courts with legal confusion, force the judges to decide the effect of such an amendment and undo laws which now protect women.

Mrs. Hermine Tobolsky of Dallas, long-time leader in the campaign, rallied a striking force of more than 300 smartly tailored women for the hearing.

DO HARM

One lone woman, however, advised the committee that such a resolution will "do more harm to women and will tend to confuse the law."

She was Mrs. Hubert Hudson, tall, attractive wife of the senator from Brownsville and daughter of former Gov. Dan Moody.

Mrs. Hudson, a lawyer, said the legislature should study any discriminatory laws as separate matters rather than perhaps "demolish laws which have protected a substantial majority of the women of the state for a long time," in one stroke.

"We don't want second class citizenship," was the general theme sounded by Mrs. Constance Condon of Dallas, Moore's first witness. She represented the Dallas Woman's Forum and the Trinity District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

WANT JUSTICE

"All we are asking is justice. We feel the same laws should apply to men and women. We are not asking for special privileges," Jack Scruggs of Houston said a single woman has the authority to manage her own property. He said he knew of no reason why after she becomes married that she should no longer have this right.

Under present Texas law, a married woman cannot manage, sell or give away separate property without the consent of her husband. Neither can she endorse a promissory note that concerns separate property, get a divorce on the ground of one act of adultery alone or go into business with her own funds without her husband's signature and consent. Witnesses said about 45 laws would be affected by the amendment.

TO PROTECT

"At the time this legislation was passed it was intended to protect the women of this state," Scruggs said under questioning. "But things have changed. We don't drive model-Ts anymore. Women have advanced and we are faced with it whether we approve it or not."

Mrs. Silas Grant of Hillsboro, state legislative chairman of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Elizabeth Douthett of Wallis, publisher of the Waller County Record, also spoke for the amendment.

'Prepare The Man' Selected ATC Motto

"Prepare the Man" has been selected as motto for the Air Training Command, which has the mission of preparing men for the U.S. Air Force.

This phrase, submitted by Mrs. Joan W. Bellah, was chosen after three months of screening about 2,000 entries. The wife of 1st Lt. Connie G. Bellah, she sent in her entry while they were stationed at Greenville AFB, Miss. They are now at SAC's Wurtsmith AFB, Mich.

In "Preparing the Man," ATC, headquartered at Randolph AFB under the command of Lt. James E. Briggs, begins its mission with recruitment and ends when the man leaves the service. He must change with weapons systems. ATC gives him his basic military indoctrination, trains him in an Air Force skill, and re-trains him as weapons systems change.

In addition to being responsible for procurement and providing basic training for all U.S. Air Force personnel (men and women), ATC provides undergraduate and graduate pilot training, training in all non-rated Air Force specialties for officers and airmen; officer - level training for enlisted officer candidates (men and women) and flying training for navigators.

As its part in the ATC picture, Webb AFB, commanded by Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, has been providing basic flying training for pilots. Starting next month, Webb will "prepare the man" in putting students through preflight, primary, and basic flying training as the undergraduate pilot training program gets underway.

July 7 will mark ATC's 18th year of service in preparing people in support of the Air Force's mission of gaining and maintaining general air supremacy.

Someone Speaks Up For Oysters

AUSTIN (AP)—State income from sales of oyster shell should be plowed back into oyster conservation, Henry LeBlanc Sr. of Port Arthur, president of Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, said today.

He told the Gulf Coast members of the Legislature that the state should construct new reefs to prevent further depletion of the oyster and shell supply. Only a fraction of some $500,000 gained from shell in 1960 went for oyster restoration, he said.

Byrd Puts 'Integration' Tag On Education Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., sparked fresh Southern opposition to President Kennedy's aid to education program with the assertion today that it will open a back door to school integration.

Byrd said he is convinced after an analysis of Kennedy's proposals for federal educational grants to states to spend as they see fit that the program will "have the way for the most colossal sort of expenditures."

But even more distasteful to him, he said in an interview, is what he regards as the probability that Congress eventually may require school desegregation in all states accepting federal funds.

"No one can guarantee that there will not be federal efforts to control our schools to this extent," Byrd said.

"Any bill Congress passes now may not carry a desegregation provision. But there is real danger that on some future bill appropriating the money to make the payments to the states a rider may be attached saying that no funds shall go to any state which does not desegregate its schools."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff told a news conference Monday he believed it would be a great tragedy to use federal aid to education as a lever to end school segregation.

Ribicoff endorsed the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against segregation in public schools. But he said he would oppose any amendment that would deny federal aid to schools because they are segregated.

Byrd's outspoken opposition to the education program was regarded as significant because some Kennedy administration officials believed the Virginian might go along because of the state control features of the Kennedy bill.

Their efforts to woo Byrd over to their side have been matched by attempts to chip other Southern Democrats away from a bipartisan conservative coalition opposing the Kennedy proposals.

Favorite Recipes Given From Collection Of Mrs. Sturdivant

"Recipe collector" is the name which applies to Mrs. Arlen Sturdivant, a busy mother of three. Mrs. Sturdivant also enjoys trying new recipes.

Making up the main hobby of Mrs. Sturdivant are five-year-old Rick; two-year-old Cathy and Randy, who is nine months. Other things which she enjoys are bridge and crossword puzzles. The busy homemaker prefers the baking of desserts in the line of cooking.

2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
2 cups flour

This Pie Is A Favorite

Once a dessert over which chefs labored for hours to serve to their royal masters, Nesselrode pie, today is in the "everyman's" domain. This has been made possible by the use of convenience foods and new techniques which cut preparation time to a minimum.

The secret is in the use of sweetened condensed milk, plus a preparation technique. Sweetened condensed milk has qualities unlike other milks. Milk and sugar are already blended for your convenience. It therefore can be used in dessert preparation without tedious cooking. Heat is not necessary to thicken it. The mixture can be thickened almost magically by the addition of fresh lemon juice. This simple action makes sweetened condensed milk the basis for many delightful desserts.

Make the pie shell with a packaged pie crust mix. Mix, bake and cool the pie shell. While it is cooling, combine the Nesselrode filling. Fill the thoroughly chilled shell and place in the refrigerator for 4 to 5 hours or until the mixture has set.

Made this modern way, Nesselrode is a creamy-rich mixture used for pies, puddings and ice cream, which will win you new fame as a dessert maker. This easy-to-make creamy base and ready-to-use chopped glazed tropical fruit will make it possible. Here is the recipe:

NESSERODE PIE
(Makes one 9-inch pie)
1 (9-inch) baked pie shell
1-3 cups (one 15-oz. can) Sweetened Condensed Milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tbsps. rum extract
1 cup glazed Tropical Fruits
1/2 cup chopped almonds
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Whipped cream, optional
Shaved Chocolate, optional

Rice Is Delicious, Economical

"Rice loves Chicken." That cordial comment likely is more at home in the kitchen than scribbled in chalk on the wall.

But, it can be said, everyone enjoys seeing rice and chicken together. They make a compatible pair when it comes to planning a delightful, economical meal.

Yet, rice is not only for going steady. It's an equally delicious companion to meats of all kinds, fruits and vegetables.

Rice salads have become popular, too, in recent years. What's more, rice is on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of February plentiful foods.

Rice has been called the most important food in the world. Its origin pre-dates history. It probably was first cultivated in India 3,000 years before Christ. And primitive man likely ate rice in the form of wild grass seeds much before that.

Of course wild-rice seeds are a far cry from rice dishes served today. Take exotic dishes like chicken and rice for example; or, rice and seafoods. Then, there are homey dishes like stuffed peppers; desserts like rice pudding, dotted with raisins and topped with meringue; or parfaits made with rice and fruit. Combinations are limitless. Rice is so versatile.

The United States is an important rice country. Production has risen quite steadily since the 30's. Last year's harvest—mostly in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and other southern states—totaled 54.4 million 100-pound bags, one of the largest crops ever. Consumption approaches 6 pounds per person each year. And the U. S. is the fourth largest rice exporter in the world.

Easy Elegant Dessert Peach Melba, Coffee

Will success ever spoil ice cream's popularity? Apparently not! For come sun or snow, ice cream is eaten with enthusiasm by people of all ages all over the world.

One of the reasons we never tire of this cool dessert is its amazing versatility. There are hundreds of delectable combinations you can create by covering ice cream with fruits and sauces. Among the most illustrious and widely-enjoyed is luscious Peach Melba. When dessert time comes, and the coffee cups are filled, you can offer no more tempting nor beautiful treat than this.

To make Peach Melba, surround a generous scoop of vanilla ice cream with two peach halves. Usually, a raspberry sauce is then spooned over all. This time, however, we suggest you substitute Bar-le-Duc, a sauce of whole red currants in syrup packed in France. The crisp tartness is an excellent complement to the sweetness of the peaches and ice cream.

Whenever you choose to serve this dessert, whether it is after dinner or late in the afternoon, accompany it with hot, freshly-brewed coffee. And, because coffee is at least as popular as ice cream, be sure you brew enough for everyone to have a second cup!

PEACH MELBA

Surround a generous scoop of vanilla ice cream with two canned peach halves. Spoon raspberry syrup or Bar-le-Duc over all.

Savory Chicken Gives Variety

Broiler-fryers are excellent for stewing or simmering to tenderness. They cook to doneness in only an hour or so.

Preparing creamed chicken is easy. Simply simmer the birds until tender, allow to cool in the broth and remove all bones. Then chop, dice or slice the meat for a host of delightful meals.

Here's a basic creamed chicken recipe developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It can be varied by adding cooked vegetables and subtle seasonings to the cream sauce, or by serving on a host of different "beds."

SAVORY CREAMED CHICKEN

Take 4 tablespoons butter or other fat; 1 cup celery, chopped; 1 tablespoon onion, chopped; 1/2 green pepper, chopped; 1/2 cup flour; 3 cups chicken broth or chicken consommé; 1/2 to 1 cup cream; salt; and 3 cups diced chicken.

Chop the celery, onion and pepper; melt fat until sautéed. Stir in the flour and blend thoroughly.

Slowly stir in broth and cream, and cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Season to taste with salt. Add the chicken.

For fuller-flavored stock, use consommé. Heat the mixture thoroughly and serve hot.

What kind of bed? Try hot baked potato halves, rice rings, a bed of parsleyed rice, patte shells, waffles, pancakes, crisp toast, crispy crackers, hot biscuits or buttered noodles.

Creamed chicken also is delicious when served in individual casseroles. For variety, try some of these ideas:

Top each ramekin with a mound of mashed potatoes. Place under broiler until potatoes are nipped with brown.

Divide baking powder biscuits into halves. Place bottom halves in ramekins, top with creamed chicken mixture and top off with top part of biscuit.

Add 2 cups cooked spaghetti to the creamed chicken, pour into casseroles, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Garnishes can be varied, too. Add a cross-cross of green pepper or a wreath of grated or ground fresh green pepper. Try a scattering of pimiento squares or diamonds, diced hard cooked eggs, grated cheese or chopped peanuts.

Any way you serve this classic favorite, you can be sure it will please.

Place disjointed broiler-fryers in kettle; add water to cover and season with salt. Cover the kettle and simmer—don't boil—the chicken until tender, about one hour.

When done, remove chicken from broth and transfer to a covered dish. Place in moderate oven until time to serve.

Measure broth and combine 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons, each, flour and melted shortening for each cup of broth. Add some of the hot broth to the flour-fat mixture.

Then, stirring constantly, pour the mixture into the broth in the kettle. Cook the gravy until slightly thickened.

Season to taste.

It's ready for dumplings. To make the dumplings, take 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg and 1-3 cup milk.

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat the egg, combine egg with milk and mix with the dry ingredients. Drop by spoonful into the boiling chicken gravy, cover tightly and cook for 15 minutes.

The cover must not be removed while the dumplings are cooking because if the steam escapes they will not be light.

After the dumplings are cooked, an egg yolk may be added to the gravy for color and richness. Beat the yolk and stir into it, one at a time, several spoonfuls of the hot gravy. Then add to the rest of the gravy, stirring constantly until smooth.

Continue the cooking for a few minutes, but be very careful not to overcook, as the egg will separate. Serve the hot dumplings and gravy over the chicken.

And here's a party-perfect variation: Curried Chicken With Carrots and Coconut.

Simmer disjointed broiler-fryers in enough salt water to cover, until tender. Remove chicken from broth and keep warm in a covered dish. Sauté 1/2 cup sliced onions in 3 tablespoons fat for about 5 minutes.

Stir in 3 tablespoons flour, then slowly add about 1 pint of the chicken broth, stirring constantly.

Cook until smooth and thickened. Add 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, salt to taste, the cooked chicken and 2 cups of cooked shredded carrots.

Serve hot with a border of flaky boiled rice, a generous sprinkling of grated fresh coconut and the curried chicken is ready to serve.

Beef-Potato Puff Is Good Easy-Do Dinner

Sometimes there just aren't enough hours in the day to get everything done and spend a lot of time in the kitchen, too. Here's a main course suggestion that solves the time problem for you and is truly delicious besides—Beef-Potato Puff.

You can fix it in about twenty minutes because it utilizes a wonderful convenience product, instant whipped potato flakes. No need to peel, boil and mash potatoes for this recipe. Simply add milk, butter and the tiny "flavor flakes" to boiling salted water and whip. The whole meal can be cooked in one skillet (regular or electric), with a quick paper towel cleaning after sauteing the meat. Here's how to do it:

BEEF-POTATO PUFF

(Makes 4 servings)
1/2 cup butter
1 lb. ground chuck
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Melt butter in large skillet; add ground chuck, salt, pepper, garlic salt and onion; saute until meat is completely browned and crumbled. Remove from skillet and set aside.

Clean out skillet carefully with paper towel. Prepare 4 servings of instant whipped potato flakes according to directions on box. Add finely chopped parsley to the potatoes; blend well.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; fold into potatoes. Melt the 2 tablespoons butter in same skillet; saute potatoes until lightly browned.

Spread browned meat on potatoes. Garnish with sliced hard-boiled egg, if desired. Serve in wedge-shaped servings.

Golden Fruit Bowl Is Refreshing

Refreshing fruit dessert for the end of a Chinese-style meal.

GOLDEN FRUIT BOWL

2 large grapefruit
2 large oranges
1 can (about 1 lb., 4 oz.) crushed pineapple
Candied cherries

Pare grapefruit and oranges so no white membrane remains; cut away sections from dividing membranes.

Turn undrained pineapple into serving bowl; drain citrus fruit sections and mix any juice with pineapple.

Arrange citrus over pineapple. Chill.
Garnish with cherries before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Easy Shape

The easy shape of fashion makes its point in a three piece costume of pastel green worsted knit jersey. The jacket is lightly fitted down to the band just below the waist. Long shawl collar in matching mouton, decorative clasp closing at the waist, three quarter sleeves. Companion overblouse has a jewel neck and short sleeves. Slim skirt is sheath lined. It comes in sky blue with black mouton and in lilac, beige or black with brown mouton.

Cookies Are Real Treats

Real molasses flavor! MOLASSES COCONUT

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup dark molasses
1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg
1/2 cup fine-grated coconut

Sift together the flour and salt.

Cream butter and sugar; beat in molasses and vanilla, then egg. Add sifted dry ingredients; stir until combined. Stir in coconut.

Drop heaping teaspoons of mixture, a few inches apart, on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven about 8 minutes or until edges are browned.

Remove to wire rack to cool. Cookies get hard after storing; they're good for dunking! Makes about 5 dozen.

NOTE: This recipe does not call for baking powder or baking soda.

For Dieters

For the weight-watching sorority: Mix 1/2 cup very strong espresso coffee with 1/2 cup scalding hot skim milk. Add 1/4 teaspoon sugar and a dash of cinnamon. This makes 1 serving; serve in a glass.

Elegant Dessert

With cups of rich, hot coffee, world-famous Peach Melba is an ever-popular dessert—either for company dinners or afternoon gatherings. Instead of using the traditional raspberry sauce, crown the vanilla ice cream and peaches with delicious Bar-le-Duc.

Nice To Wear

The fluid look for spring shows its reason for being in an easy to wear two-piece navy wool knit dress from Italy. The overblouse has a V neck and small, flat collar starting up near the shoulder line. Dramatic contrast in double white stripes edges the collar, neckline, three quarter sleeves and bottom of the blouse. The skirt is slim; also comes in white with navy stripes and in gold or purple, both with white stripes.

Jo Copeland

FOUR-IN-ONE

Versatile Fashion To Take You Through Day

With quiet authority in every trend-setting line, Jo Copeland's four-in-one costume is the perfect plan for a busy spring day.

Briefly jacketed, it goes shopping in town, then on to lunch or a matinee.

Where dinner is included, the slim skirt with its contrast blouse and cummerbund will go it beautifully alone.

Make the suit itself now in lightweight wool, faille or wool crepe, and again for summer in linen or chambray. For the separate blouse and bias cummerbund, choose rayon jersey, silk crepe or triple sheer; and on a day in June what would be a "retailer, cooler contrast than a liberty lawn print.

From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to ready-to-wear.

Size 12 requires 2 1/4 yards of 54-inch fabric for skirt and jacket, 1 1/4 yards of 39-inch fabric (without nap) for blouse and cummerbund.

To order Pattern No. S-1386, state size, send $1.00. Add 25 cents for first class mail and special handling. For Pattern Books No. 17 and No. 18 send $1.00 for each.

Oriental Motif Used For Party

COAHOMA (SC) — Guests calling Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Cauble removed their shoes before entering the house. The occasion was the 11th anniversary tea of the Mary Jane Club, whose members were dressed in oriental costumes for the affair which followed a Japanese theme.

In the living room, a large ming tree, made by the 18 hostesses, stood in a base of jewel cases and fans and was decorated with twinkling lights and small parasols.

Favors were tiny parasols bearing names of guests, who knelt to be served from the bare, polished table, which was kneeling height.

A Japanese woman figure centered the table, which held a large ebony bowl of fresh fruits and melon. Forming a background for the scene was a silk screen with parasols on each side.

Basket Doilies

Crochet this set of basket doilies measuring 9, 12, and 15 inches in diameter. It will dress up your table. Pattern No. 397 contains complete instructions.

Send 25 cents in coins for this pattern to MARTHA MADISON, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 10 cents for each pattern for first class mailing.

Instructors Named For Flower Show School

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Thinks Everyone Can Have Good Figure

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—When I first met Janet Lake, she was brunette, single and under contract to MGM. Now three years later she is blonde, a mother and concentrating on TV.

"It is inspiring the way girls have babies today and keep such a teen-aged line," I remarked when we met on the "Sugarfoot" set at Warner Bros.

"I had an operation after my baby was born," Janet confessed, "and I couldn't exercise for a while, but as soon as I was strong enough, I went to dancing classes. It is so easy to lose the flexible feeling that comes with using your body. There is no need to have a matronly figure. If you are willing to work, you can get back in shape after having a baby."

"And I believe that everyone should exercise," she went on. "Our doctor told my mother that many heart conditions were brought on by sedentary living, and he told her that she should plan to take a brisk walk every day. It is so easy to park yourself in front of a TV and do nothing but watch programs and munch goodies."

"When I was in school," Janet continued, "I almost developed diabetes because of eating so many sweets and starches. I am trying to give my daughter only natural sweets and foods which are high in protein so she will not develop bad eating habits."

"I have an energy drink that I make for myself and share with my little girl. It's made with a cup of protein powder, one and one-half cups of skim milk, one raw egg and a small amount of non-alcoholic orange extract. It is delicious and most satisfying. It gets very thick — like a milkshake — when you put it in a blender, but if you don't have one, you can use an egg-beater."

As we were talking, a producer that Janet knew stopped a moment to greet her.

Janet turned to me later and told me, "See, blonde hair is a lot of trouble, but it still is true that gentlemen prefer it."

Janet Lake does not believe anyone need have a matronly figure. "If you are willing to work, you can get back in shape after having a baby," she says.

Works For Figure

ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Washington's birthday will have a very special significance now for Mr. and Mrs. JOE PHILLIP LIBERTY because on that day they became parents of a son, whom they have named Phillip Todd. The baby was born at Herman Hospital at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Houston and he weighed 8 pounds, 6 ounces. Maternal grandparents are MR. AND MRS. L. T. KING, and paternal grandparents are MR. AND MRS. ELMER DYER of Ackerly. Mrs. Liberty is in Room 374 at Herman Hospital.

Mrs. King left Wednesday night to be with her daughter when she returns home from the hospital. She is the former NANCY KING.

MRS. MALCOLM PATTERSON has returned from Waco where she has been with her mother, who has been ill.

If things had worked out as the hostesses hoped, the centerpiece for the table at the Tuesday coffee for FAN BARBER would have been most unique. The beautifully decorated fans came through without a hitch, but no one could come up with a good workable idea for getting a little cloud (for DON CLOUD, the prospective bridegroom) over the centerpiece.

MR. AND MRS. CLAIBERT LEBOUF are in Corpus Christi to visit their son and his family.

WAYNE GRIFFITH returned this afternoon from Lubbock where he was guest cornet soloist with the Lubbock Christian College band in their Thursday morning concert. Wayne is captain of the Big Spring High band and has done outstanding work in all areas of competition.

Installation Held For Brownie Troop

Wednesday afternoon at the Girl Scout House, a new Brownie troop was installed. The little girls are pupils in Cedar Crest School.

Girl Scout Troop 210 performed the flag ceremony; Mrs. Lee Allison told the Brownie story, and Mrs. Earnest Miller spoke on the goals and accomplishments of the troop. She also installed the leader, Mrs. Chester Faught, who in turn installed the Brownies.

The ceremony ended with the Friendship Circle made by the troop, with the Brownie promise repeated.

Watch That Dog! He May Show What Type Character You Are

By JOY MILLER

AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Dogs are introverts and extroverts just like people, says Bob Bartos, an expert on canine character. Some, in fact, grow into four-legged fascinations of their owners.

"I have a feeling," Bartos says seriously, "that a dog that gets too human can be a little dishonest. He knows what he's supposed to do, and he knows that you know he knows. But he's come to like the soft life, and wants to do everything the easy way."

Basically, dogs are very much what you allow them to be, says Bartos, a professional handler, specialty judge and manager of a big research kennel in the Pacific Northwest.

"With 114 recognized breeds, of all sizes, shapes and dispositions, you can't make flat statements about dogs' temperaments any more than you can about human nationalities."

"It's true a highstrung, frenetic woman can make a nervous wreck out of a lot of animals, but a phlegmatic basset, for example, probably wouldn't be bothered."

Bringing up dogs is very much like raising children, he explains. The most important things are patience, consistency and good management. "And no one is worse for a dog, or a child, than a person who is undecided. You've got to make sure he understands exactly what you want him to do, and then make sure it does every time."

But Bartos, who has raised three children and innumerable dogs, says we expect too much of our dogs—and children, too.

"We expect them to adjust immediately to every situation. Most people who expect a dog to be worldly first take him to a busy shopping district and drag him all around to expose him to everything. This is the worst thing in the world to do. He has to be prepared gradually. If you do have an extrovert who takes readily to crowds, he may have other faults. Sometimes dogs who are the hardest to train retain the training longer. Impatience is an owner's worst fault."

Bartos' experience with dogs goes back to childhood. His parents raised German shepherds as a hobby. He began raising terriers, and the dour dignified Scotty is still his favorite breed. In 1947 he went into dog nutrition work. "Since World War II tremendous strides have been made in research."

But proper diet is only one part of good management, which Bartos says can make or break a dog. "More dogs are ruined by bad management than by bad breeding."

News While It's News

People in the Big Spring area are receiving better news service than ever before—news on the day it's news—no "pre-date" editions—through the special motor routes maintained by The Herald. In the small communities, in the oil camps, on the farms, they're finding in The Herald a newspaper that publishes news of interest to them. West Texas oil, West Texas farming and ranching, West Texas sports, West Texas women's activities, West Texas happenings. That's the reason more and more people on these routes and in this area are saying, "Leave us The Herald."

Where Advertising Pays

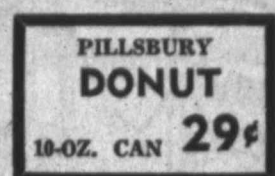

This daily delivery, right to area homes, is "money in the bank" for the merchant who uses Herald advertising. No other medium, of any kind, anywhere, can reach the same people who are looking for better values, who want a good place to shop, and who turn to The Herald for their shopping guide. This is real benefit to Big Spring merchants who have a sales story to tell to the people in this area. The rural daily delivery is, of course, in addition to the 68 city route carriers who put The Herald every day right at the door of more than 6,800 Big Spring homes.

Sea Water Conversion Plant

Erection of evaporator bodies at left show progress made on the million-gallon-per day sea water conversion plant being built at Freeport. The plant designed to convert sea water to fresh water for less than $1 per 1,000 gallons, will be operated by the Office of Saline Water, United States Department of Interior. The large tank at right is a clarifier-thickener reservoir for magnesium hydroxide crystals which will be recycled to maintain cleanliness. (AP Wirephoto).

Kennedy Uses Ike's Formula

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has been picking new ambassadors with about the same language qualifications as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's ambassadors.

A check of Kennedy's 13 announced choices of men to represent America at foreign capitals showed today that: Eight speak a language native to or commonly used in the countries to which they are sent—five do not. Their Eisenhower predecessors had the same ratio of language qualifications.

Kennedy also has been selecting about the same proportion of career men as Eisenhower.

In U. S. government parlance a "career" ambassador is a person picked from the career foreign service while a "political" ambassador is anyone else, whatever his merits. Some "political" ambassadors, however, have had a great deal of diplomatic experience.

For example David K. E. Bruce a wealthy Democrat who was Eisenhower's ambassador to West Germany and is now going to London for Kennedy, has had extensive diplomatic experience and enjoys a high rating from career diplomats.

Seven of the Kennedy appointments are career diplomats, six are political appointees.

The 13 Eisenhower envoys replaced include six career diplomats, seven political appointees.

Kennedy, whose father was a politically appointed ambassador to London, raised the issue of the competency of U. S. ambassadors in his campaign for the presidency last year.

"I believe it incumbent upon the next president of the United States," he said, to appoint "the best people he can get, ambassadors who can speak the language—not merely people who make a political contribution, but can speak the language."

Against such criticism, Eisenhower administration defenders said: (1) The State Department was already pushing language training for foreign service officers, (2) the frequently-rotated diplomats could not possibly learn every intricate language where they might be sent, and (3) the top officer in many embassies can operate effectively without the local language.

Little Interest Has Been Noted In School Elections

Considerable interest is being paid to the Big Spring city school election but so far, little interest has been shown in similar elections which will be held in each of the common school districts, Coahoma and Forsan Independent School Districts and for the Howard County Junior College. At the same election on April 1, two members of the Howard County School Board are to be selected.

Deadline for candidates to file for these posts is March 2. Candidates should file with the county judge's office.

Two members are to be elected on the Howard County Junior College Board.

The two vacancies on the Howard County School Board are Commissioner's Precinct No. 1 (Fred Roman, incumbent) and Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 (J. D. Gilmore, incumbent).

Gay Hill common school district is to elect two members to its board. Terms of Ulysses Hall and Jeff Painter expire this year. Center Point is to elect one board member. J. Alden Ryan's tenure of office ends this year. Max Zant's term as a trustee at Vealmoor expires and a successor is to be elected.

In the county board elections, voters in the Big Spring Independent School District and the Sands County-line Independent District are eligible to vote in selecting a successor to Romans. In Commissioner Precinct No. 2 race, voters in Big Spring Independent School District, Coahoma district and part of the Forsan district are eligible to vote.

Leases Do Not Allow Damages By Operator

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court has held that an oil and gas lease does not allow an operator to use either the surface or subsurface of the property in a way to permanently damage a land owner.

The ruling was made in two cases involving pollution of fresh water supplies from salt water produced in connection with the drilling of oil wells.

The court affirmed lower court decisions in a suit brought by heirs of Charles Landell against James G. Brown and associates. Three wells were drilled in 1955 on the 155-acre Landell farm in Lubbock County. In June 1957 the Landells complained that salt water had polluted an irrigation well on the farm. The drilling company argued that it leased the land for a salt water disposal pit and the Landells consented to it being used for that purpose. The Court of Civil Appeals agreed the drilling firm had a right to use the land but affirmed the trial court decision because a jury found the firm guilty of negligence.
