The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Papa Herbert Stevens of South Bend, Ind. was convicted of punching his squawling infant son on the nose, and must serve 220 days at the Penitentiary. Papa Herbert didn't even get out of "I never did like babies; I hate to hear them yell, and I didn't want a baby, anyway," he told the judge.

Let's Scrunch Nails. It's things like this which make a woman, any woman and every woman want to scrub her nails. It's not the ears off every male living. Perhaps men are not to blame because they are born without material virtues of patience, even with "scrunching nails."

But it is this same natural instinct of responsibility for children which makes hundreds of thousands of women attempt to choose small families only to be met with husbandly opposition which says "we'll get along somehow," but which does not "go" until "the brats start squabbling."

Fannie's Creed. "A wife that is too responsible may not be the best for a man." This philosophy of Fannie's Creed was recently divorced her "Nicky" is not altogether dumb. All of us have some domestic "responsibility" all because the woman's over-developed sense of responsibility has left the man not knowing how much, if any, of the responsibility business was his.

Wildly Envious. Heading the "wildly envious" joyal horde of Edward Halliburton—"The Royal Road to Romance," and "The Glorious Adventure"—some scholars are at a loss to find a woman. The optimists say that today's woman can do anything and everything a man can do. But honestly now, can you imagine any woman sticking a tooth brush and bottle of aspirin in her hand bag and calmly going off with 50 to see the whole world? To wear her way of cattle boats, to climb Mt. Olympus and the Matterhorn, to swim the Hellespont, the Bosphorus and the Nile, to sleep all night atop Gibraltar or the Acropolis? To get locked in the Taj Mahal all night? To walk all over Greece until the Delphic Sybil is found? To—It hurts me too much to go on. Here's an ad: Wanted—Companion for such a trip. I'll try it if I can find a G. F. to go along.

We'd Be Arrested. Well, suppose the right companion applies, then what? We'd travel without our baggage just about five miles before being arrested as vagrants or suspicious characters or disorderly or something terrible because we were not home as all respectable women should be, washing dishes and scrubbing floors, and our own inhibitions, produced through years of living as women, are supposed to live, would make us hesitate, blushed and embarrassed, when we hit the first police.

DEAN AT OKLAHOMA A. M. OUSTED BY STATE BOARD. OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 4.—Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Oklahoma A. and M. College of Stillwater, today won his fight to oust E. P. Boyd, dean of the engineering department, when the State Board of Agriculture unanimously agreed to replace Boyd with John Randolph Dupree of the Oregon Agricultural College.

HOGS DON'T OVERTAKE. When hogs of any age have constant access to self-feeders there is practically no danger of their overeating. This is of considerable importance in the case of sows which are suckling their litters.

Wife's Arrested. Well, suppose the right companion applies, then what? to be scolded or "slid down." We hear considerable about today's woman's place in the sun. Maybe we do have a little place at home, but if we started to see the queer places of earth we'd find how little we'd progressed since Eve, and we'd earn that our "right to live as a person" had not as "just a woman is really much "holoma."

Paris Talks Fashions In Furs For Chic And Real Wear

PARIS, Oct. 4.—With the first snap of autumn air, fashionable women begin to consider the season's furs—both for chic and for practical wear.

Fur cravats, which take the place of silk scarves, are being noticed with tallcoated suits. Many of the narrow neckpieces are seen in dyed mouselin, crinon and shaved rabbit.

Occasionally fur is combined with cloth but the cravats are of tenege made entirely of fur. They are worn like a stock, turned over once. An enterprising manufacturer of novelty jewelry is putting out a jeweled clip to hold the ends of the cravat in place.

A few daring fashion prognosticators anticipate a revival of small muffs this winter. They base their observations less on weather reports than fashion showings.

Several important designers introduced barrel muffs into their first showings of the season. Most people regarded them only as something details served up, like the chestnut and champagne, for the amusement of the guests at the premiere. But a few took the muffs seriously. They point out that many winter coats are minus fur collars, although they have fur collars.

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(By Associated Press Staff Editor)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—The eye of their battle with the Pittsburgh Pirates for the world baseball championship, the New York Yankees faced the possibility of one of their best shutout pitchers, Herb Pennock, as a result of a severe knee injury to the south paw star in batting drill this afternoon. Pennock, who has never met defeat in a world series and has a record of four shutouts, was hit just above the left knee by a sharp line drive from the bat of Cedric Durst, substitute outfielder. The blow ruptured a blood vessel and caused a swelling the size of an ordinary fist. The injury who admitted he first did, expressed his belief that the doctor will recover him within two days but it was considered extremely doubtful whether Pennock will be able to start before the third or fourth game, if at all.

Loss Is Hard Blow

The probable loss of Pennock, the only south paw on either team slated for first time, not only is a severe loss to Yankee prospects but makes it virtually certain the World Series will be a battle of right handers.

"My right handers have got to stop the Yanks," Donie Bush, pilot of the Pirates declared. "They're all right handers."

Ray Kremer, husky California ace of the Pirate staff, will oppose Waite Hoyt, the leading Yankee filcher, in the opening game. They have been slated for the first time in the series, and the manager-agents' selection definite today.

The second game is due to pit Wiley Moore, the Yankee "sinker ball" star, against the Hoosier speedster, Vic Aldridge, while Lou Gehrig, Yankee veteran and former P. H. B. hero, is slated to oppose the Pirates' "Coke" Cramer, another likely choice for the third game in New York Friday.

DRAFT CATCHES FOUR TEXAS LEAGUERS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—Twenty-five minor league players were drafted tonight by club owners of the American and National Leagues at the annual draft meeting conducted by Baseball Commissioner Landis. All of the clubs except the Yankees and Athletics shared in the player selection.

Washington, with four players headed the list, which developed special bids for the services of Howard Freigan, third baseman of the Kansas City club of the American League this year, was drafted by the New York Giants.

The list of drafted players, obtained by Brooklyn after being sought by twelve clubs:

"Lefty" O'Donel, former Yankee pitcher who compiled a notable record as an outfielder, and signed with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League this year, was drafted by the New York Giants.

The list of drafted players, obtained by the various major league clubs follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Cleveland: Bill Haynes, pitcher from Toronto; played this season for the Yankees, St. P. Y. Wilson, outfielder, Milwaukee.
Boston: John Heflin, catcher Toledo.
St. Louis: Clyde Manion, catcher, Newark, N. J.
Chicago: John Mann, shortstop Wichita Falls, Texas; G. H. Redfern, infielder, St. Paul, Texas.
Detroit: Guilford Hanson, pitcher, Syracuse.
Washington: F. Giffen, pitcher, Memphis; Hugh McMillan, catcher, Louisville; Albert Cooper, catcher, Birmingham, Ala.; Thomas Taylor, infielder, Houston, Texas.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Pittsburgh: James Lindsay, pitcher, San Antonio; Charles Wahab, pitcher, Lawrence, Mass.
St. Louis: Virgil Davis, catcher, Buffalo, N. Y.
Cincinnati: J. C. Edwards, pitcher, South.
Boston: Arthur Delaney, pitcher, Oakland, Calif.; Baxter Williams, catcher, Asheville, N. C.
Chicago: T. T. Prothro, third baseman, Portland, Ore.; N. A. MacMillan, second baseman, St. Paul.

New York: Ed O'Doul, outfielder, San Francisco; Chester Nichols, pitcher, Jersey City.
Philadelphia: A. C. Whitney, third baseman, New Orleans; Ray Bengo, pitcher, Waco, Texas.
Brooklyn: Howard Freigan, third baseman, Kansas City, Mo.; Louis Knapp, pitcher, Indianapolis.

Pirates Even Choice

Due to the confidence of Pirate roster in Kremer, the National League says an even choice to make against the Yankees for the opening game, but the Yankees remained slight favorites to capture the series.

The tremendous punch in the Yankee bats, particularly those of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, is the factor which gives the Yankees a New York's favor. The exhibition of the Babe especially has impressed all observers, besides striking no little apprehension in the hearts of the Corsair fans since two days of batting drill at Forbes field have given a "showdown" of the Yankees' power. Ruth, fresh from his record-breaking home run campaign is "hot," the players and critics admit, as confident and sure of eye as he ever had been in his famous career. In his series at the plate this afternoon, the Babe hit three balls into the right field grandstands, his pet target, and hammered one mammoth drive to the top of deep center field fence. Gehrig was able to put only one out of the field but "Columbia Lew" is regarded as just about as likely to break up a ball game as the Babe.

Both Managers Predict Victory

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—Breaking their previous reticence the rival and diminutive pilots of the Yankees and Pirates both predicted victories in statements today to the Associated Press.

"We're going to win," Donie Bush, Pirate manager, declared. "That's not mere confidence; it's a conviction. This club is too strong and game to be licked. Our right hand pitchers will stop the Yankee sluggers. They've got to be caught if we get them. The players are in good shape."

"It looks like a tough series," asserted Miller Huggins, Yankee manager, "but the Yankees figure to win on their hitting. It's always a gamble in a short series, but I expect our pitchers to hold their own. The club is stronger and steadier than last year. I don't have the range at bat and I don't see how they can be stopped."

Yankees Well Rounded

The Yankees present a well-rounded outfit. They have an abundance of right-handers to compete with the Pirate stars. To match the Gettysburg of the Yankees, they have plenty of outfield speed in Ruth, Meusel and Combs.

The infield, with the veteran Dugan, led by a young but much improved Edie in Lammert, Koenig and Gehrig is close to a defensive match for the Pirate inner cordon but behind the bat, neither Collins, Bengough nor Grabowski measures up to the all round skill of Earl Smith, best of the Pirate receivers.

Both teams put in vigorous workouts at Forbes field today.

A record Pittsburgh baseball crowd of 45,000 is expected to jam the park for the opening test as a colorful series as any in recent memory. Temporary bleacher seats holding 2,000, have been erected behind the outfield barriers. Standing room for 1,000 more will be sold just before the game starts at 1:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Fair weather is promised for the day.

Highway Engineer Inspecting Roads

Division Highway Engineer Geo. A. Field was in Kent county yesterday inspecting the state highway between Claremont and the Garza county line in preparation for paving, grading and drainage work which has recently been completed.

Mr. Field will later go to Dickens county to inspect a highway there on which a base is being laid preparatory to covering with asphalt.

BIG SPRING WILL INJURIES CREEP INTO RANKS OF MATADORS

At 2:30 p. m. Friday, October 7, Lubbock high school football team will play the Big Spring eleven. This popular team has not been seen on the local gridiron for some time, but many old-timers will remember the three battles of former years. Herb's studies, Daddy Dickinson, in Dixon, and others probably recall the famous 6 to 0 game of 1914 in that year, the Big Spring team was built around a huge fullback named "Turk" Turk, certainly lived up to his name, almost playing "eye" with the Lubbock team, but the Westerners finally came out with the big end of the 6 to 0 count.

Big Spring may not have a "Turk" this year, but judging from former years they are sure to have a scrapping team, and the Lubbock High spears are expecting this to be a real test for their boys.

Coach Harris, of Big Spring is also using this as a test game for his boys, as they expect to meet the strong Abilene team in the following week.

Lubbock will enter the fray with the lightest team in years. Conner, ruka and Morgan have only five minutes from last year's team out they are working the boys very afternoon until dark, to get them in shape for the strong class "A" teams of the district.

It is the local team that show the same fighting spirit that they displayed in the game with Floydville last week when they entered the contest with a score of 13 to 0, against them and then made two touchdowns, almost tying the score with the heavy "Whiteheads" boys are sure to make a strong bid for a District No. 1 of the Interscholastic League.

All the old-time Westerners, as well as a large crowd of other fans, are sure to be on the sidelines Friday.

Plays that have not yet been used by the Matadors in the early contests are being worked with diligence and through long hours by the Matador camp. The Matador trio of coaches expect to work on these plays until the eleven is sufficiently drilled to carry on the work successfully against Matty Bell's outfit.

The special train, which is being run under the auspices of the college, is filling up pretty rapidly and it is thought that more than 300 fans will board the T. C. U. special to Ft. Worth Friday evening. Reservations for the train may be made either at the passenger station or at the college. The round trip ticket is $12.00 plus sleeper fee.

Santa Fe Agent Completes Plans For Tech Special

The largest crowd ever sent from the Lubbock section on a special train is expected to board the "Tech T. C. U." special which will leave Lubbock Friday night for Fort Worth, where on Saturday the Texas Tech Matadors will battle the Horned Frogs.

This was the prediction made yesterday by E. A. Tosha, traveling freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe, whose headquarters are in Amarillo. Mr. Tosha was in Lubbock to complete arrangements for the Fort Worth special.

He urged that those planning to make the trip secure transportation as soon as possible in order that ample equipment for the special train may be assured. The Santa Fe will cooperate with Tech in every possible way to facilitate handling of the crowd of fans expected to make the trip.

Schedule for the special calls for it to leave Lubbock at 7 p. m. Friday night, arriving in Fort Worth at 4:30 the next morning. Return will be made leaving Fort Worth at 11:45 Saturday night, and reaching Lubbock about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Santa Fe has ever stood ready to cooperate with the Tech in furnishing special trains for football contests. Two years ago trains were operated to Canyon and Brownwood and last year to Canyon, Abilene and Fort Worth.

Isn't it strange that where moonshine comes from is a secret still?

Players Aver Earl Combs Will Be Hero Of Coming Series

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—While the non-playing World Series experts have been advising the fans to keep their eyes on Ruth and Gehrig of the Yankees and the Warner boys of the Pirates, the ball-players pick Earl Combs, fleet New York centerfielder, as a probable star of the Series.

Waite Hoyt, star Yankee pitcher, who is himself in the way of being a hero himself, leaned on a box-rail at Forbes field today as the Yankees were having practice, and remarked to a group of American and National Leaguers talking baseball in the box, that "that fellow up at the plate now will get as many hits as anybody in this series." "That fellow" was Combs.

Don Howley, chimed in, "I don't see why he shouldn't. We never got him out all season. Not once." Jack Onlaw, former Pirate coach and now coach for the Washington club, voted "aye."

"Combs knows his way about up at the plate as well as any man I ever saw," Jack said. "He guards the plate" better than any player I know. He doesn't go after the ball unless it's in there, but if it is, look out."

The "Kentucky Colonel" played great ball for the Yankees in the last World Series and the ballplayers say he is a better performer now than he was then. As Combs was nominated informally for the Series hall of fame in advance of the play, his ballplaying friends said they pinned their faith on his all-around ability and spirit.

Toledo Now Leads Bisons In Series For Junior Title

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 4 (AP)—Stuart has running by Bill Marriot. Toledo's third baseman, gave the American Association champions victory over Buffalo 6 to 5 today in the fourth game of the Little World Series, providing a dramatic ninth inning finish.

Toledo now leads the International League, nominal winners three games to one, and the Bisons' only hope for the junior title is to win four games out of the next five.

Each club had put on furious batting rallies, which forced the opposing pitchers off the mound, leaving the score tied after the sixth.

The seventh and eighth innings were scoreless and the Bisons were set down in order in the ninth by Bill Spence, the Mudhens' submarine right-hander.

Score by Innings:
Buffalo 100 130 000-5 2 1
Toledo 000 002 001-6 12 1
Falk, Stricker and Devlin; McCullough, Speed and O'Neil.

Walter cf; Earlhart lf; P. Wason cf; Wright ss; Trautman 2b; Greenbaum 3b; Harris 1b; Smith c; Kremer p.

Impress: At plate, E. C. Quigg, National League, as first base; Richard Noll, American League, as second; Charles Moran, National League, at third; Edward Cronin, American League, as pitcher.

Game time 7:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

FREIGHT CONGESTION

Low water in the Magdalena river, only means of freight transportation between the Atlantic coast and the interior of Colombia, has resulted in a congestion of freight at transfer points, steamboat companies are accepting no heavy or bulky cargoes for six months, hoping by decreasing the draft to keep their ships off the sand bars in the bend at Clego, where a number of ships have been aground. There is also freight congestion at Buenaventura on the Pacific coast, but this is attributed to the lack of port facilities and railroad equipment.

AFRICA A COTTON MARKET

Both men and women of French West Africa wear cotton clothing, with the result that cotton is the largest import. Great Britain now supplies about 60 per cent. The men want bleached sheetings and shirtings from which to make "boubois" a shirt reaching to the ground worn over saten trousers that are baggy in the seat and tight at the ankles. The women insist upon dyed saten for their "boubois" and buy fancy woven piece goods for scarves in which they carry everything from babies to household supplies.

San Francisco To France At 7—She Wishes She Was Going Even Further

Muriel and Mary Jane, photographed on shipboard

BY GENE COHN, NEA Service Writer.

HAVRE, France, Oct. 3—Muriel and Mary Jane have established something of a juvenile non-stop record.

All of which has been an adventure of Ulysses proportions for Muriel aged seven, whose last name is Moore and who has traveled to France alone all the way from San Francisco. But it's been a bit tough on Mary Jane.

Mary Jane is a doll and doll must be expected to be neglected when small girls go whisking about the world like fairy princesses in the old fables. Mary Jane has been relegated to a corner most of the time while Muriel gets the best of all that human kindness can bestow upon a tot making alone and unaided such a trek as causes many an older to hesitate.

Fellow Voyagers. I crossed over on the same boat with Muriel, and she told me all about her journeying.

"You see, my mamma came from France," she began. "Just a few years ago she could not talk a word of English. And I remember we lived in Seattle and San Francisco and some other places out there. I have a grandma and grandpa on a farm somewhere around Paris or somewhere. Let's see, where would that be, do you know?"

I suggested there might be several farms around Paris. "So mamma put me on the train at San Francisco and said to go visit my grandma and grandpa," Muriel's story ran.

A Mera Jaunt! Just like that! Get on the train and go visit your relatives in Paris! And away went Muriel, happy as could be.

On shipboard Muriel had what she wanted when she wanted it and if she didn't think of it someone else did. The ship's cat deserted the purser's headquarters and attached itself to Muriel. She might choose whatever table pleased her fancy, from the captain's to the other's. Muriel watched her bed hour and her bath hour, her meal time and her sleep.

When she got to Havre there were a nice old grandma and grand daddy to meet her. But not one word of English could they speak, and not one word of French could Muriel speak—all of which struck her as very funny.

"Oh, I wish I was going on and on and on," said Muriel, as she rode away to the farm.

Lubbock Men Are Main Speakers At Lamesa Luncheon

LAMESA, Tex., Oct. 4.—The business men's luncheon club had the distinct honor of entertaining South Plains notables here at noon today. The Honorable W. W. Rik of Lubbock, gave the main address before the body, on the topic of community credit. Among other things Rik pointed out that the world would be lost without credit. He also stated that at least the great South Plains of Texas had become stabilized and men of credit ability have extended to this great section such credit as meant its forward march.

Other visitors were Rev. E. E. White, of the First Methodist church, Lubbock, and Dean A. W. Evans of Texas Tech, who agreed with Rik's talk by saying that education was the biggest credit business in the world, in that it took the greatest investment and paid the greatest dividends.

There were 43 present at luncheon today. The club meets each Tuesday.

Cambridge Team To Meet Simmons In Forensic Tilt

ABILENE, Oct. 4.—The first international debate ever held in West Texas is scheduled for November 18 when Simmons University of this city meets the Cambridge University of England team in the local school's Auditorium. The date was recently closed when representatives of Simmons wired an acceptance, in answer to a letter proposing the contest.

The English team is composed of three men, who will be graduated at Cambridge in June. The Simmons team has not yet been chosen, said Prof. W. A. Stephenson, debating coach.

The question, selected by Simmons out of a list submitted, will be: "That in the opinion of this House compulsory military training should be adopted as a part of the educational system in all schools and universities." Cambridge will take the negative side of the question.

The American tour is being arranged through the Institute of International Education, with headquarters at New York City. Last year the English toured the east and south and this year are going through the west and southwest.

Each team will be given 45 minutes for speaking with no rebuttals. The judging will probably be done by the English system which lets the audience decide the winner at the close of the debate.

BRAZIL LIKES U. S. MOVIES
American motion picture films dominate the market in Brazil, since movie theater proprietors have found that European films do not have sufficient drawing power to pay profits. Increased sale of American goods is attributed to the films, which depict American life, sometimes fantastically, but always to an interested audience.
