Sewage spill to cost $90,000

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The city will pay a local contractor more than $90,000 for repair work to ruptured sewage lines that spilled raw sewage into Beals Creek earlier this year.

Director of Public Works Tom Decell said capital improvement funds earmarked for sewage system improvements and money from the operation and maintenance budget will finance the payment to Southwest Utilities of Big Spring for labor, equipment, pipes and supplies.

In addition, 330 city man hours were "lost" in containing, sealing and cleaning up the gush of raw sewage, Decell said.

Decell said the city first noticed the problem Feb. 2 and finished the repair job April 1.

Meanwhile, the sewage spill raised the ire of the Texas Water Commission whose field officer, Terry James, discovered a manhole overflowing with raw sewage ¼ to ½ mile downstream from the first reported break.

Furthermore, Bill Lockey, of the TWC office in Odessa, said someone had gone to the trouble of diverting the overflow directly into Beals Creek. Lockey issued the city a citation Feb. 26.

The citation lets the city know the agency is aware of the spill and that the city did not give proper notice to the TWC, agency spokesman Max Woodfin said after learning of the spill.

Woodfin said the citation was the first step toward considering penalizing the city up to $10,000 per day per violation.

Decell said the city has not been fined for the spill but says the city is still subject to administrative

Second Soviet reactor feared in meltdown

MOSCOW (AP) — A second reactor at the Ukrainian nuclear plant may have been devastated by a meltdown today, and several European nations warned their citizens about the radiation danger from what could be the world's worst nuclear disaster.

The Soviet Union acknowledged two people dead in the Chernobyl plant accident 60 miles north of Kiev, but reports from U.S. officials in Washington, a Dutch ham radio operator and an American professor in Kiev indicated a much higher toll.

Reagan administration sources in Washington, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said today it was clear an inferno still raged at the site and was spewing radiation into the atmosphere. They said U.S. intelligence agencies now believe that a problem in one Chernobyl reactor evolved into a meltdown by Saturday and a second meltdown had occurred or was occurring in a second.

Radiation spread more than 1,000 miles over much of Europe and prompted Sweden to warn against drinking contaminated rainwater and Austria to advise parents to keep infants indoors. Children lined up at health centers in Poland for medication against possible radiation poison. Yugoslavia's official news agency said levels of radioactivity were three to four times above normal in the country's north.

Several European leaders angrily demanded that Moscow explain why it had not quickly alerted the world to the disaster, which was first detected in Scandinavia on Sunday but not confirmed by the Soviet Union until Monday. West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher urged the Soviets to shut down all power plants similar to the Chernobyl facility.

Britain and Finland began arranging the evacuation of their citizens from Kiev, while the U.S. Embassy in Moscow advised Americans to leave the Ukrainian capital of 2.4 million. France asked the Soviet government to authorize French citizens in the Ukraine to leave.

The Soviet government issued a terse statement Tuesday saying two people were killed and four communities near the plant evacuated. A Soviet official visiting Washington said less than a hundred people were injured.

But a top U.S. official called the accident "the most catastrophic nuclear disaster in history" and experts warned of long-term health problems.

Pride, image get priority

Community leaders agreed on top priorities for Big Spring for the next year and set up a steering committee to see that solutions are carried out during the Chamber of Commerce strategic planning conference Tuesday.

Community pride and image was the No. 1 priority, community leaders agreed at the day-long conference.

Solutions suggested were continued cleanup of the city, development of the downtown area, and stricter law enforcement in cleaning up and condemning unsafe property.

Tourism and economic development were listed as the No. 2 priority. Hiring a development director to pinpoint focal areas and to oversee projects was suggested.

Texas ranks third in tourism in the United States, following California and Florida, said Hooper Sanders, former Industrial Foundation president. Yet the state ranks 17th in terms of advertising itself, he said.

Tom Watson, publisher of the Big Spring Herald, said promotion of Big Spring has been inconsistent. Most of our tourist dollars will come from people traveling through on the highways, he said.

Big Spring should also be promoted as a retirement community, he said. The town has such assets as a large medical community, he said.

Watson said the economic development committee at the conference would like to see 100 percent of the motel tax spent on tourism, instead of part of it going into the city general fund.

The No. 3 problem pinpointed at the conference was "man's inhumanity to man," including murder, rape, battery and other crimes, said Johnnie Lou Avery, conference coordinator.

Suggested solutions were stricter law enforcement; a shelter for battered women; after-school programs and care for latch-key children; and seminars dealing with stress, particularly for people who have lost their jobs.

Other areas targeted at the meeting were better use of college facilities; better communication between public and service agencies; development of senior citizens resources; and health care help for those on the Diagnostic-Related Groups program, which sets a specific amount of time someone on Medicare may be in the hospital for a specific disease.

Named to the steering committee were Bill Brooks, chairman of the Big Spring school board; Terry Hanson, business manager of the Howard County Junior College District; J.F. Póynor, superintendent

Tuesday's ballots set one-day voting record

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

A powerful wave of last-minute absentee votes for the May 3 primary elections pushed the total to 830 ballots cast by the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

County Clerk Margaret Ray said a record 317 of those votes were cast Tuesday.

"We sometimes average between 150 and 200 absentee votes on a good day," Ray said this morning. "But we've never had this many in one day."

Of the 830 ballots cast, 718 voted absentee on the Democratic ballot and 112 voted Republican, according to county clerk office tabulations.

Ray said her office deputies mailed 51 ballots and have received 39 back. The remaining 12 mail ballots must be received in her office by 7 p.m. Saturday.

This year's 830 absentee votes compares against 758 in 1984 and 540 in 1982.

In 1984, 646 absentee votes were Democratic and 112 were Republican, said Ray. In 1982, 498 persons voted Democratic on absentee ballots and 42 voted Republican.

She has "no gripes" about yesterday's unusually high turnout of absentee voters.

"We're proud they did vote," Ray said.

Trace of rain reported

Despite a lot of wind, thunder and lightning Tuesday night, most areas around Big Spring reported just a trace of rain.

According to the U.S. Agricultural Research Service, rainfall in Big Spring this year amounts to just 0.39 inches, far below the 3.63 inches normal-to-date. The field service reported only a trace of rain Tuesday.

Thunder was heard over the Spring City again this morning, and the forecast today calls for a 20 percent chance of rain.

Names in the news

NEW YORK — Soprano MONT-SERRAT CABALLE, violinists ISSAC STERN and ITZHAK PERLMAN and the New York Philharmonic helped its conductor, ZUBIN MEHTA, celebrate his 50th birthday.

The concert Tuesday night at Avery Fisher Hall included works by Vivaldi, Dvorak, Donizetti, Richard Strauss and, of course, a round of "Happy Birthday."

After the concert, televised by PBS, Nancy Mehta gave a birthday party for a smaller group of her husband's friends.

NEW YORK — Fashion designer CALVIN KLEIN and actress ELIZABETH TAYLOR were the hosts at a star-studded cocktail party to raise money for AIDS research.

"AIDS knows no prejudice. It strikes men, women and children. But with your help, we will win," said Miss Taylor.

Ryan White, the 14-year-old Kokomo, Ind., hemophiliac who is afflicted with the deadly acquired immune deficiency syndrome, was among those at Tuesday night's party, which was expected to raise at least $500,000.

Also attending were comedian David Brenner, Yoko Ono and her son Sean Lennon, actresses Brooke Shields and Dina Merrill, singers Peter Allen and Grace Jones, and fashion designers Mary McFadden, Donna Karan, Jackie Rogers,

"It makes me feel pretty good that everybody would turn out tonight to help AIDS research," said Ryan, who recently won a court order allowing him to return to school after being barred because of his disease.

NEW YORK — Musicians BUCK CLAYTON, SY OLIVER and MOR-TON GOULD were among the 500 people attending a ceremony unveiling a 22-cent postage stamp honoring Duke Ellington on what would have been his 87th birthday.

Those at Tuesday's ceremony heard the Ellington Bank, conducted by Ellington's son Mercer, play "The 22 Cent Stamp."

Duke Ellington, who died in 1974, composed "The 3 Cent Stamp" in 1943. Mercer Ellington introduced his father's retitled tune by saying, "Of course the rates have gone up. And so did the tempo."

Among Ellington's more than 900 compositions are such standards as "Satin Doll," "It Don't Mean a Thing if it Ain't Got That Swing"

and "Mood Indigo."

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Several hundred actors, including PETER O'TOOLE, are prepared to defy a ban by their union, Equity, on performing in South Africa, the union's former president said today.

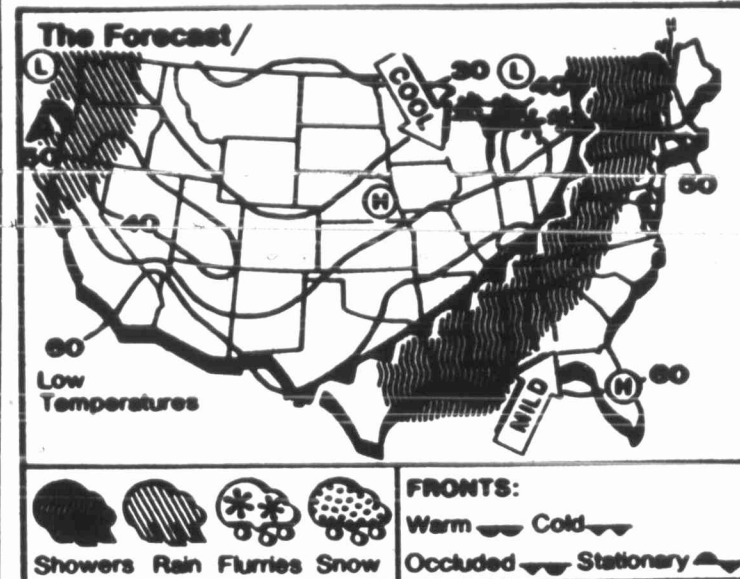

Derek Bond, who resigned as Equity president because of the April 11 ban, said a protest letter signed by hundreds of leading performers was delivered to the union's London headquarters.

The letter said that although those who signed it abhorred apartheid and pledged never to perform before racially segregated audiences they "reject utterly the right of Equity to issue an instruction to its members not to perform in South Africa."

"We give due notice that, in the right professional circumstances, we would disregard such an instruction," the letter continued.

Local firms to design sports complex

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

A joint proposal by GSW & Associates and Design Plus Architects, both local firms, to design a multisports complex south of town was endorsed by a parks and recreation board subcommittee Friday.

Director of Public Works Tom Decell said the firms were selected unanimously from a field of five companies interviewed by the two-member subcommittee.

The decision to go with the local firms was based on the companies' overall innovativeness and not an ultimate design, Decell said.

GSW of 711 E. Third St., with offices in Dallas, is the engineering firm that designed a $3.2 million modification to the city's sewage treatment plant in 1980 and most recently planned the $290,000 renovation to the same plant.

The cost of designing the multisports complex has not been discussed, Decell said. A memorandum will be sent to the City Council recommending they authorize contract negotiations with the companies at the next regular council meeting May 13, Decell said.

The two sides will hammer out a contract "once we have them aboard," he said.

If price negotiations break down, the city is free to interview other engineers.

Input will be sought from representatives of soccer, football and softball teams in designing the complex, Decell said.

Also, Decell said plans will be drawn to accommodate a phased development of the complex with an overall scheme in mind.

Building the project this way "is more cost effective," he explained. With primary utility components in place, additions to the facility can be made in an orderly sequence. Spending a little more up front can blunt costs later on, Decell said.

Motels report thefts of TVs

Two local motels reported the theft of color televisions Tuesday. D.D. Patel, owner of the Ocean Plaza Motel, 1106 W. Third St., told police Tuesday morning that someone stole a $350 television after breaking into a motel room between 11 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Carl Downs, manager of the Motel 6, told police Tuesday afternoon that someone stole a $500 color television, two bed sheets valued at $15 and a $1 room key between Monday afternoon and 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Ruth Alice Jamison, 36, of 1515 Kentucky Way was arrested on suspicion of possessing 1½ grams of a controlled substance believed to be amphetamines and a large quantity of assorted pills of undetermined kind.

Ronald Hinklin, 25, of 800 Marcy Drive was arrested Tuesday morning at 1500 Sycamore St. on suspicion of driving with a suspended license and warrants from Stanton.

Dennis Edward Ausbie, 25, of 2911 W. Highway 80 was arrested Tuesday afternoon on an assault warrant.

Becky Brooks of 2505 Langley Drive told police Tuesday morning that someone broke into her home through a bedroom window late Monday night. The window was damaged, but nothing was determined missing, according to the complaint.

C.C. Cline of 1400 Benton St. told police Tuesday morning that someone stole two lawnmowers valued at $600 from a building he owns.

Perry McMillan, owner of a business at 2105 W. Third St., told police Tuesday morning that someone caused $350 damage to a large plate glass window at the business between 11 p.m. Monday and 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Verna Hodnett of 1315 E. 11th Place told police Tuesday morning that someone damaged a window at her home between 7 p.m. Monday and 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Harold Kemery of 1603 Sycamore St. told police Tuesday afternoon that someone removed two sections of grill from his pickup while it was parked at his residence between 8:30 p.m. Monday and 7:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Cash totaling $60 was stolen from the home of B.W. Sipes of 3304 W. Highway 80 Apt. 4 at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to a police report.

Samuel DeLeon of 2501 Chanute Drive told police Tuesday night that a group of juveniles caused $100 damage to a window at his home Tuesday evening.

Joe Don Musgrove of 1606 Runnels St. told police Tuesday afternoon that someone damaged the windshield and the left quarter panel of his 1985 pickup while it was parked in front of his residence between Saturday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Coahoma may settle water rates dispute

COAHOMA — The Coahoma City Council will have a special meeting Thursday night with the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 to settle a water rates feud that has been going on for more than 10 years.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. at the Coahoma Community Center.

The water district has a pending lawsuit against the city for some $34,000 it claims the city owes it in back water payments since last June, said city clerk Karen Bell.

The feud began about 10 years ago when the district raised its water rates 20 percent, she said, and Coahoma refused to pay the extra. Since then, the district has been charging the city 10 percent per month on the outstanding money plus 1½ percent delinquent charge.

The city of Coahoma has been putting the money into an escrow account pending settlement of the suit, she said.

penalties. While the actual onsite repair work has been wrapped up, the case of the ruptured pipes is not yet closed.

Decell said some major discrepancies exist between the design specifications of the pipe and what was actually unearthed during the repairs.

An investigation will be conducted into why engineer plans called for a much larger line than was actually installed in 1976, he said. The specifications show a 21-inch line, but the actual line is only 12 inches, he said.

Moreover, Decell said approximately 400 feet of plastic sewage line had been installed without benefit of clay tile outer casing.

that Western media was "spreading falsehoods as confirmed facts." The English language broadcast, monitored in London, said the reports were designed to question the reliability of the Soviet nuclear power industry.

Dutch amateur radio operator Annis Kofman said he picked up a broadcast late Tuesday that appeared to come from near the crippled plant in which an unidentified ham radio operator said two reactors were on fire and "many hundreds dead and wounded."

An American professor, in a telephone interview from Kiev on the NBC-TV "Today" show, said she was told of hundreds of casualties.

Intourist guides "told us that their information indicated something like 300 casualties," said Karen Black, a language and literature professor from Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. "We were given the information that the city water supply ... has been now cut off to the city and they are using alternate water supplies."

She said Kiev appeared normal. "You would not know anything has happened at all."

Kofman quoted the Soviet ham radio operator as saying in emotional tones: "We heard heavy explosions ... you can't imagine what's happening here (with) all the death and the fire."

Blaze damages library

LOS ANGELES — A blaze that roared through the city's 60-year-old Central Library, the third-largest in the nation, may have destroyed thousands of valuable books including a 1695 Shakespeare portfolio, officials say.

More than 2 million books, periodicals, photographs, maps, patents, manuscripts and exhibits were housed in the library, whose collection was estimated four years ago at worth $69 million, director Betty Gay said.

Skid Row denizens from a nearby shelter joined library workers to grab charred and water-soaked books after the fire began Tuesday morning in the landmark building's central book stacks.

FHA runs out of money

WASHINGTON — The Federal Housing Administration has stopped taking applications for new government-insured mortgages because the home-sales boom exhausted the FHA's credit authority for the first time in its history.

Homebuyers who do not already have commitments for the low down payment mortgages will have to wait until Congress completes action on legislation to raise the agency's $57.4 billion credit ceiling or find other financing, acting FHA chief Silvio DeBartolomeis said Tuesday.

Tests show improvement

WASHINGTON — American elementary school children's performance on achievement tests began rebounding in the mid-1970s and now stands at its highest level in 30 years on some tests, a government study says.

The turnaround started with children born in 1962 and 1963 who entered school at the end of the 1960s, according to the report by the Congressional Budget Office.

The improvement first became evident on tests such as the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills that those youngsters were taking in the mid-1970s in the upper elementary grades, it said. The upward trend "moved into the higher grades at a rate of roughly a grade per year ... reaching the senior high school grades in the late 1970s," the survey said.

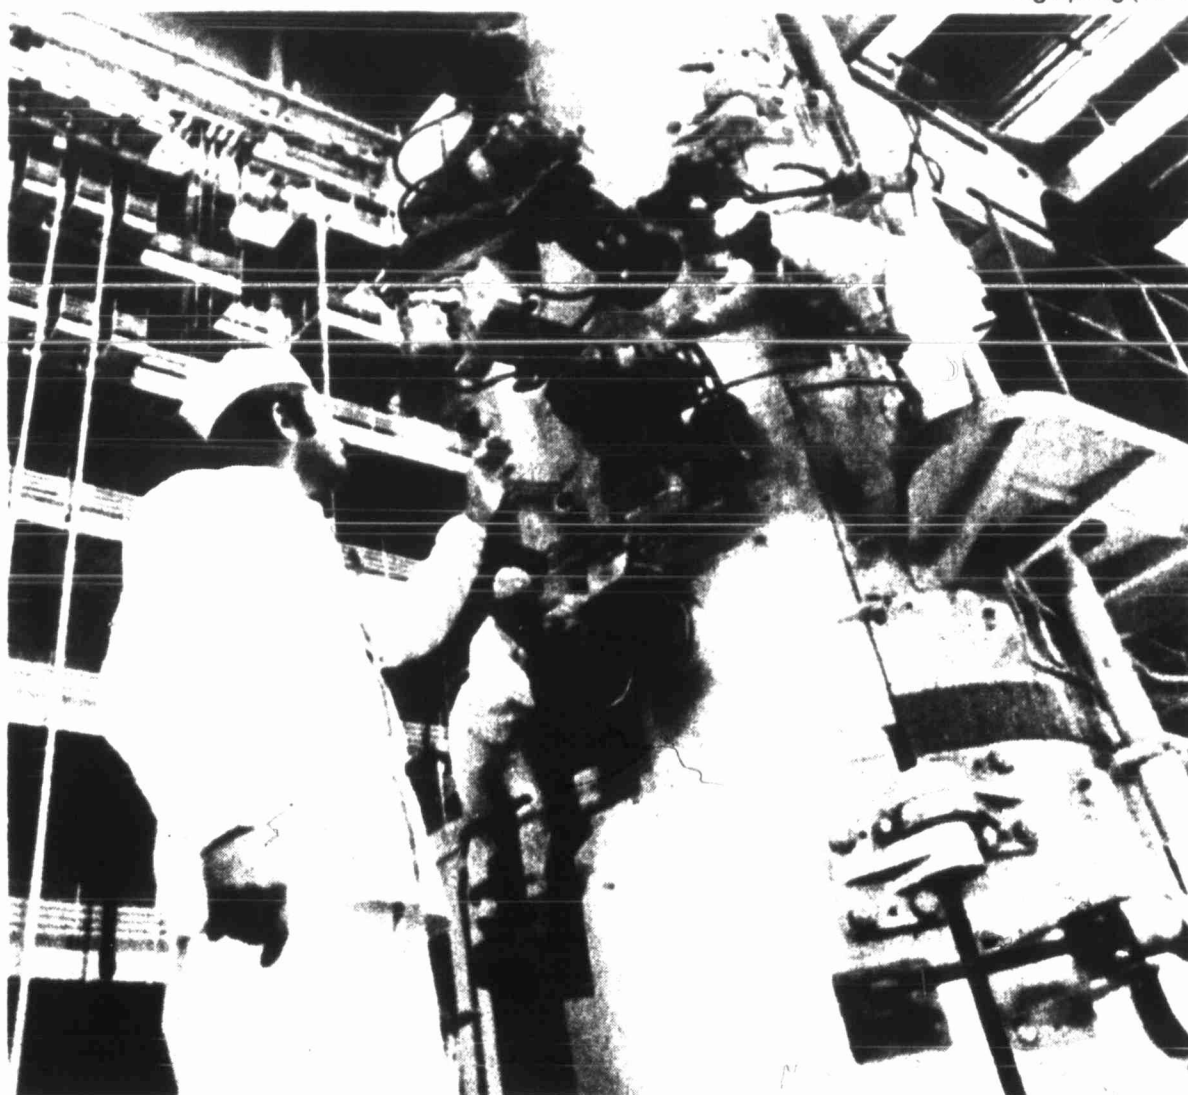

Nelson concert planned

AUSTIN — Country music star Willie Nelson says "all the folks on my side of the music field" will turn out July 4 for FarmAid II in Memorial Stadium on the University of Texas campus.

"We have no goals money-wise — $100 billion would be nice but we'll take anything up to that," Nelson said Monday.

FarmAid I, with 58 musical acts, was held Sept. 22 on the University of Illinois campus at Champaign, Ill., and raised approximately $9 million for farmers and ranchers.

Nelson said a crowd of nearly 90,000 is expected for the Austin concert and all the acts from FarmAid I have been invited to return.

Operators prepare one of four nuclear power plants at the Chernobyl site in this December 1980 photo. The Soviet government announced Monday a nuclear accident at one of the plants and said "affected personnel" were being treated.

Nuke accident

Soviet information comes only in trickles

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow residents interviewed on city streets today expressed confidence the Soviet government could handle the accident at the Chernobyl nuclear plant.

Some said they had not even heard of the accident, and refused to comment when shown a brief government statement that appeared in the morning editions of national newspapers.

Soviet citizens have learned very little about the accident from the official media, which has released only a trickle of information.

The government statement, distributed Tuesday by the Tass news agency and read on evening radio and television news programs, said two people were killed in the accident and people near the nuclear power plant north of Kiev were evacuated.

It said a government commission was appointed to investigate.

"Of course, as any Soviet citizen, I am concerned," said a young woman at a bus stop near the Ukraine Hotel in central Moscow. "But I'm quite sure that everything will be taken care of, and the Soviet government will do all that is necessary."

Like others interviewed, she refused to give her name.

"It's a big misfortune," said a retired electrical engineer. When asked how well he thought the government was handling the incident, he said, "Of course, I am not an expert. I know that the population has been evacuated and everything will be done in a necessary way, and as I understand it, cooperation with other countries has been established."

The Soviet media has not carried Western reports that Moscow asked Sweden and West Germany for advice on how to fight a nuclear plant fire. When asked how he knew about these reports, the retired engineer said only that he thought he had read it in a newspaper.

A woman who identified herself as an economist said she thought the accident was serious enough to warrant concern. But she expressed confidence in the Soviet nuclear power program and said it is necessary because of dwindling resources such as oil and gas.

"Everything will be done in order that the consequences (of the accident) will have the minimum effect on the health of people and on their working conditions," she said.

ASEAN leaders meet

BALI, Indonesia — Foreign ministers from non-communist Southeast Asia — the dominoes that did not fall — gather Thursday to meet President Reagan and celebrate a decade of growing importance of their regional organization.

The communist takeover of Indochina in 1975 was supposed to start a whole row of dominoes toppling in chain reaction. That "falling domino principle" was espoused 32 years ago by then-President Eisenhower to demonstrate the region's strategic importance and the need for American intervention.

Foreign affairs chiefs from six of the domino countries — still erect and determinedly non-communist — gathered here to confer with Reagan during his 64-hour stopover en route to Tokyo for this year's economic summit meeting.

Norway cabinet ousted

OSLO, Norway — The coalition government and Prime Minister Kaare Willoch were ousted early today after being defeated in a vote of confidence by the Storting, Norway's parliament.

Willoch, 57, said he would recommend that King Olav V ask the main opposition leader, Gro Harlem Brundtland, to form a new government. She leads the Labor Party and was toppled as prime minister by Willoch five years ago.

The loss of confidence vote by a 79-78 margin made Willoch's minority government the first Norwegian government to fall from power without an election in 23 years.

Duke's wish carried out

WINDSOR, England — The Duchess of Windsor has been buried beside the king who gave up the British throne for her love but controversy still surrounds her fortune and her place in history.

The royal family, which shunned the duchess in life, turned out Tuesday for her funeral, which fulfilled the Duke of Windsor's last wish that they should be together forever in Britain. But there were no tears for twice-divorced Baltimore socialite Wallis Warfield Simpson, who stole the heart of a king and rocked the British monarchy in the 1930s.

Gas leak sparks blast

NEW DELHI, India — A hydrogen leak triggered an explosion and fire at a heavy water factory in eastern India, the United News of India reported today. It said serious damage was reported but no casualties.

The news agency, quoting unidentified plant sources, said the explosion occurred Tuesday night at the facility at Talchar in Orissa state, 220 miles southwest of Calcutta.

It took three hours for firefighters to bring the blaze under control, United News of India said. It said plant workers apparently escaped safely.

No big damage reported in Mexico City quake

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A major earthquake shook Mexico City for 65 seconds early today, sending terrified residents of areas damaged in last September's major quake fleeing into the streets in pajamas and bathrobes.

Initial reports from the Red Cross, police, firefighters and rescue crews indicated no major damage to buildings and no reported injuries in Mexico City.

The quake was recorded at 1:07 a.m. (3:07 a.m. EDT) and set buildings swaying in the downtown area and in the Roma neighborhood, one of the hardest hit during the Sept. 19 quake, in which thousands died.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., said the earthquake registered 7.0 on the Richter scale and was centered in the Pacific Ocean about 250 miles southwest of Mexico City.

However, the National Autonomous University of Mexico's seismological center said it measured the quake at 6.5 on the Richter scale and was centered 380 miles southwest of Mexico City.

There had been similar discrepancies in Richter readings immediately after the September quake, which measured 8.1 on the Richter scale, and following an aftershock the next day which measured 7.3 on the Richter scale.

"Things are fairly normal. The people were out in the street but it was because they were panicked," said Red Cross Capt. Enrique Mejia. "It was principally people panicked and nervous."

A tour of downtown and surrounding neighborhoods by Associated Press reporters showed no apparent structural damage and only scattered power outages.

But in the Roma neighborhood near downtown, where hundreds of the estimated 9,500 victims of the September earthquake died, people huddled along curbs or in grassy median strips, reluctant to go back indoors despite the apparent lack of structural damage to their homes.

In The Word Seminar With Milton Green

Milton Green is proclaiming a message of righteousness, holiness, and truth to the church today — calling the church to repentance. Many know Milton as the carpet cleaner who prayed for James Robison when he was set free from the bondages which had plagued him for years.

— James Robison

I recommend his ministry without reservations. Every true believer, every God-hungry minister in this nation needs to hear what he is saying. You can listen to him in confidence. I promise you that a spiritual revelation will happen in your life; every idol will come down; and you will turn to Jesus Christ with the greatest love and adoration you've ever experienced. It happened to me!

Gun lobby aids political charity

It was Happy Hour at the OK Corral Saloon on Capitol Hill. The place was jammed with its usual 5 o'clock crowd when the tall lobbyist with the white hat strode to the bar and said, "Drinks on the house for everybody."

We filled up and then turned to the stranger. "And what victory might we be toasting?" someone asked.

"Congress just said goodbye to the 1968 Gun Control Act. I'm with the National Hair-Trigger Association, and this is a great day for my people."

"I didn't know the hair-trigger manufacturers had their own lobby."

"Ah yes. We've always had a strong interest in a weak gun law. The easier it is to buy guns the more hair-triggers we're going to sell. I was given a million dollars to make sure the people's representatives would vote the American way. Fill up, everybody. This is the last of my money."

He started to sing. "A gun for me and a gun for you. And a gun to shoot your neighbor, too."

All of us have seen lobbyists celebrate when they got a bill through, but it was nothing compared to this.

"How come the police departments were against you people weakening the gun bill?" Tom the bartender asked.

"The stranger said, 'Cops don't know anything about guns. All they run up against are the criminal elements who use weapons to commit crimes. They never see the law-abiding people who buy their handguns to hunt and fish.'"

"Fish?"

"Don't tell me you never shot a fish with a .38? The important thing to remember is that under the old law you couldn't even bring a gun from one state to another. Dealers were responsible for keeping records of who bought handguns and ammunition. Do you know what this meant for thousands of gun shop owners?"

"What?"

"It meant PAPERWORK. These good merchants used to have to stay up all night long trying to remember who bought a gun and who bought ammunition. We got all that red tape eliminated and from here on out you're going to see a boom in the sale of every type of firearm. Drink up, friends, the Constitution is alive and well in the hair-trigger lobby."

"How did you get Congress to knuckle under to a weak gun control law?"

The stranger winked. "Let's say we just sent the legislators a message. If they didn't vote to reform the 1968 act we would send our people into their districts and riddle them with innuendos. On the other hand, if they promised to be good boys and support us we would make a donation to their favorite political charity. One more for the road, men. Then I must make the rounds of the halls of Congress to drop some goodies on those who backed our bill, and mark a red X on the doors of those who lost their nerve."

The man plunked $1,000 on the bar. I raised my glass. "To good sport," I said.

We drank.

Someone shouted, "Death to all gun laws."

The stranger wasn't drinking. He said, "We can't have that. The threat of stronger gun control bills keeps the National Hair-Trigger Association alive. Our members would refuse to provide us with money if they thought the battle was all over."

"And how do you keep the threat going?" I asked.

"By putting out the word to our members that the law enforcement people are mad as hell at us and aren't going to take it anymore."

The man exited through the swinging doors.

"Who was that stranger who was just here?" someone asked.

"That was no stranger," the bartender replied. "That was the leader of the PAC."

It is difficult to tighten lid on Reagan-Carter hostility

By JACK ANDERSON and DALE VAN ATTA
WASHINGTON — Animosity between successive occupants of the Oval Office is a fairly common feature of Washington life. The hostility between President Reagan and former President Jimmy Carter may be more acerbic than most because of the deep differences in political philosophy that divide the two men.

Occasionally, the barely submerged antipathy bobs to the surface — usually when Reagan charges that Carter had failed to do something during his term and Carter denies the charge. There was great bickering in October 1983, for example, when Reagan blamed the suicide bombing of the Marine barracks in Beirut on Carter policies that Reagan claimed had weakened the CIA and other intelligence-gathering agencies.

In typewritten notes given to us by Carter's office recently, the former president indignantly recalled "when President Reagan attempted to blame the tragic loss of more than 200 U.S. Marines in Lebanon on Presidents Nixon, Ford and me, claiming that we had weakened the intelligence agencies so badly that he could not obtain adequate information."

Carter added in his notes: "When I made a public statement denying the truth of this allegation, he called me to say that his explanation had been misinterpreted by the press. I replied that I had observed his statement on television and had not relied on press interpretations."

Carter continued: "I asked him to check the Pentagon records and he would ascertain the error of his frequent statement that only he had increased defense spending. He admitted his mistake and promised not to make it again. However, he has continued to make this claim, obviously knowing that it is not true."

In fact, Reagan criticized Carter's defense decisions as recently as February in a television speech — and again drew a protest from Carter.

With this background in mind, we asked the president recently if he had softened any of his opinions on his predecessor. The short answer is that he has not.

Reagan's normally pleasant face hardened noticeably when we asked — remembering his harsh criticism of Carter in the 1980 campaign: "Has there been an evolution in your thinking about him as you've faced ... some of the same problems?"

Reagan prefaced his reply by explaining why he had not criticized Carter on some national security issues and other sensitive areas: "I have said that there are some things that you have to realize only the president knows. He's the only one that has all the information on something. Therefore, you can't criticize him on those things unless and until you know what that information is."

One reason he said he wasn't surprised by the burdens of the presidency — and thus more sympathetic to Carter — was that there isn't such a vast difference between his job as governor of California and as president.

"Over the years we've forgotten that once upon a time the ranks of the governors were where you found presidents," Reagan went on. "Because the governors, the 50 governors, have the jobs that are closest to approximating this job of any position in the country. Certainly much more so than anyone from a legislative branch."

Bringing him back to his views toward Carter since 1980, we asked: "So there hasn't necessarily been an evolution in your thinking?"

"No," the president replied.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: U.S. intelligence analysts have picked up signs of dissent within the Soviet Union about the long and bloody war in Afghanistan. Even the strictly controlled Russian press has been reporting Soviet casualties on a more frequent basis, though it tends to stress awards of medals for battlefield valor. The real clue to growing unpopularity with the war is the "samizdat," or underground press. These privately written, unauthorized manuscripts, passed from hand to hand despite the KGB's vigilance, are showing increased criticism of the war and sympathy with the Afghan rebels. War veterans are sometimes quoted.

Billy Graham

Prayer leads way to heaven

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think the Bible teaches that we go to Heaven as soon as we die? My friend and I are having a disagreement about this. There is a lot about Heaven I don't understand, and I wonder what it will be like if I go there. — H.K.

DEAR H.K.: God has not chosen to answer every question we might have about Heaven; after all, Heaven is so much more glorious and awesome than anything we could ever imagine that words alone can only begin to hint at its splendor. The Bible reminds us that "what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2).

But the Bible does emphasize the reality and glory of Heaven, and that we will go there if we know Christ. Yes, the Bible indicates we will go directly into the presence of God when we die. Paul said, "I desire to depart and be with Christ, which is better by far" (Philippians 1:23). He also declared that "as long as we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord. We ... would prefer to be away from the body and at home with the Lord" (2 Corinthians 5: 6-8).

More important, however, is this question: If you were to die today, do you know for certain that you would go to Heaven? Your letter suggests you are not sure about your salvation — but you can be, if you will invite Christ into your life as your Lord and Savior. There is only one thing that will keep you out of Heaven, and that is your sin. But Christ came to forgive you and take away your sin. He offers you salvation as a free gift, if you will but accept it. "God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He who has the Son has life" (1 John 5:11-12). By a simple prayer of faith invite Christ into your life today. Then you, too, will have the hope of eternal life with Him in Heaven.

Valdes should run for Congress

To the editor:

With so many seeking election to only a few posts, it's hard to know for whom to vote unless the voter knows the candidate personally, and knows what he is capable of doing. That's the way I feel about Al Valdes, candidate for county commissioner, Precinct 4.

I have known Mr. Valdes for many years while he served faithfully on the Big Spring school board. While attending many of those meetings over the past 12 years, I've witnessed Mr. Valdes voice genuine concern over many issues — even when other members voiced no concern at all. While I have nothing against the others seeking the same post, I know Mr. Valdes will stand up for what's right, and have the courage to carry through with his convictions — a rare trait in today's politicians. He listens to his constituents, and votes the way the majority wants.

Unfortunately I can't vote for Mr. Valdes — I live in a different precinct, and I regret that. The only other regret I have is that Mr. Valdes is not running for Congress. No, I'm not on his campaign staff — I just believe Mr. Valdes is a caring individual.

To the editor:

I would like to commend George Hudson for recommending Al Valdes for county commissioner of Precinct 4. Al Valdes worked under me while I was Assistant Superintendent and Superintendent of Cosden Refinery for years and was a loyal and honest employee of Cosden and did his job well and was fair to everyone. I think as county commissioner of precinct 4 he will continue to do a good job and be fair to everyone.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, April 30, the 120th day of 1986. There are 245 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On April 30, 1945, with Russian forces approaching his bunker in Berlin, Adolf Hitler committed suicide along with his wife, Eva Braun, whom he had married the day before. One week later, Germany agreed to unconditional surrender, ending Hitler's Third Reich.

On this date:
In 1789, George Washington took office in New York as the first president of the United States.

In 1803, the United States purchased the Louisiana Territory from France.

In 1812, Louisiana entered the Union as the 18th state.

An old love affair rekindles debate

By MAUREEN JOHNSON

LONDON (AP) — Fifty years later, the love affair between Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson and King Edward VIII, for whom he gave up the throne, stirs deep emotions in England.

The death last Thursday of the 89-year-old Duchess of Windsor has resulted in a new national debate.

Should they have been permitted to marry? Would the same thing happen today?

"Never underestimate the hypocrisy of the English," commented London's liberal Guardian newspaper the other day.

"If an unmarried king came to the throne today intending to marry a divorcee, it is a racing certainty that there would be serious problems which might end in abdication once again."

The death of the Duchess has started the presses of book publishers rolling; brought out old-timers to air reminiscences, and kept the bells ringing in popular phone-in radio shows — even from those not born when Edward abdicated in 1936 for the love of the twice-divorced American; married her and lived ever after in foreign lands as the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

"I didn't really know about her before but I've watched everything on television now. It was terribly sad — I nearly cried. They should have let him be king," said Elizabeth Kenley, a 17-year-old hairdressing apprentice.

Historians and commentators have politely mulled over the refusal of then Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, the parliamentary opposition and the established Church of England to let the monarch, the church's temporal head, marry a divorcee.

And a good number concluded that even in the permissive Britain of the 1980s, where one in three marriages ends in divorce and where only 10 percent of people are regular churchgoers, there would still be the big difficulties if the same question arose now.

Taboos and sentiments that may seem archaic to a teen-ager have been expressed in outraged tones by some elderly callers to radio phone-ins.

"That woman, that American," said a 76-year-old caller. "It was disgusting. How could our king have wanted such a person?" She spoke with such a vehemence that it might have happened yesterday.

Some publishing houses are dusting off out-of-print books about the Windsors, while the newspaper serialization of the couple's 1930-37 love letters began within days of her death.

"We're rushing the book out," said Rose Scott, spokeswoman for Weidenfeld and Nicolson, London publishers with the British hardback and paperback rights to the letters. The duchess authorized publication of the letters after her death.

Despite the sale of the serialization rights for an undisclosed sum, the publishers believe the book will sell well and have a scheduled initial 85,000-copy run coming out May 15.

The company is also planning a reprint of a little-known 1964 Windsor book, "Operation Willy," about an alleged attempt by the Germans to kidnap the Duke of Windsor in World War II.

Hatchards, a top London bookseller, reported a surge in demand for the duchess' 1956 autobiography, "The Heart Has Its Reasons."

In the huge coverage of the Windsor story since the duchess' death, the accent has been on romance, poignancy, pathos and glamor.

It is all in great contrast to 1936 when, after years of self-censorship on the matter, the British press broke a story that had been running in foreign newspapers for months.

"The orthodox view, more or less imposed on all right-thinking people, was that the duke had betrayed his trust and threatened the very existence of the monarchy by giving up his throne for the sake of a third-rate American adventuress," historian John Grigg recalled.

Prominent in the current British revival of a story that surpassed the imaginations of romantic fiction writers are the elderly, upper-class survivors of the original cast.

Lady Diana Mosley, widow of British pre-World War II fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley, and friend and Paris neighbor of the Windsors for 20 years, recalled a love that never died or altered.

"He never took his eyes off her. He loved and adored her to his dying day," Lady Mosley said in an interview with London's Daily Express. The duke died in 1972.

Lady Diana Cooper, widow of diplomat and politician Sir Gordon Duff Cooper, and a confidante and lifelong friend of the Windsors, looked back with a rather less romantic view.

Lady Cooper, now 93, recalled a passion by the duke that was too great to last — and inevitably cooled as the years wore on. "Nobody could possibly go on being in love the way he was in love with her," she said. But she added, "She always made him laugh."

Dear Abby

Blood test is the piece to solve paternity puzzle

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 1-year-old baby girl and I am not sure who her father is. There are only two possibilities of paternity. One I am engaged to. He is willing to cooperate in finding out who my daughter's father is. The other man is around, and says he will cooperate only if it is absolutely necessary, for he is now married.

I have heard that there is a blood test that can positively determine paternity. If so, please tell me where these men would have to go to take this test, who else would have to participate, and how much it costs.

WAITING TO HEAR
DEAR WAITING: According to the Long Beach (Calif.) Memorial Hospital (Paternity Lab), the test is called HLA, and it involves the mother, the possible mother and the child. It must be ordered by a physician and the approximate cost is $150.

It is 99.9 percent accurate. (No test claims to be 100 percent accurate, so this comes closest.)

Have your fiancé take the test. If he is found to be the child's father, the other man is off the hook. However, if your fiancé is not the father, that means the other man is, in which case he may want to take the test because of the legal implications.

DEAR ABBY: You often publish complaints from folks who are miffed because their gifts were not appropriately acknowledged. But you've never given equal space to the other side.

My shelves and closets are overflowing with an accumulation of neckties, watches, cuff links, silly T-shirts I'll never wear, books I'll never read and gadgets I'll never use. And if I get one more pewter ashtray, I'm going to give it to my dog and ask him to buy it. One day some archeologist will probably dig it up and write a dissertation on the rituals and artifacts of primitive homo yuppies.

A cousin of mine and I have an ideal arrangement. Every year he sends me two $20 bills for Christmas, and I send him the same. Then we both write a note saying, "Thank you for the most thoughtful gift I have ever received. I'll never have to wash it, repair it, feed it, wind it or frame it." Sign me...

ENOUGH ALREADY
DEAR ENOUGH: Nice arrangement you have with your cousin, but there is no excuse for failing to acknowledge a gift — however useless. How about giving those white elephants away? One man's leftovers are another man's banquet.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading the letter from the woman who was helping her mother-in-law clean out her attic when they came across some souvenirs her father-in-law (now deceased) had brought home from World War II. One was a hand grenade — still intact.

She asked if it would be safe to keep around since after 40 years it had not exploded. You were right to tell her to call the police immediately and have the bomb squad come and remove it.

We live on some land that was formerly a military training center during World War II. This area was used for target practice. Not long ago, three children were playing behind their home when they found an unexploded shell. Not recognizing its danger, they used the sharp point for digging. The shell exploded, killing two children and seriously wounding the third.

The military now inspects this area regularly, and they keep finding live ammunition. We have learned that due to erosion and soil movement, shells and grenades surface even after the most careful search. We've also learned that unexploded shells are not less dangerous as the years pass, but more dangerous because they can explode with changes in atmospheric pressure, temperature or subtle movement.

I pray that your readers follow your advice. Old munitions are not safe anywhere. Just because they haven't exploded yet doesn't mean they never will.

FARRAH FAWCETT'S
CHICKEN MARENGO

3 tbsp. oil
One 3½ pound chicken, cut into serving pieces
1 medium onion, chopped
½ cup tomato puree
1 tsp. flour
2 cups chicken stock (approx.)
1 cup dry white wine
1 clove garlic, crushed with 1 tsp. salt
2 bay leaves
1 tsp. dried thyme
Salt and pepper to taste
12 small white onions
¼ pound mushrooms
3 tomatoes
Finely chopped parsley

Heat oil in a heavy casserole with a cover. Add chicken and brown evenly all over. Add chopped onion to chicken and cook 3 minutes.

Stir in tomato puree and flour. Mix thoroughly. Gradually pour in chicken stock and wine. Add the garlic, bay leaves, thyme, salt and pepper. Cover the casserole and place in a preheated 350 degree oven for 15 minutes.

Slip white onions out of their skins. To do this easily, put them in boiling water for 2 minutes, then slip off the skins between finger and thumb. Cook the onions in a saucepan until tender and add to casserole.

Wipe the mushrooms clean with a damp cloth, then slice. Peel and quarter the tomatoes. Add mushrooms and tomatoes to the casserole and cook, covered, another 30 minutes, until chicken is tender. Just before serving, sprinkle the surface with parsley. Serves 6.

FARRAH FAWCETT

LEMON YOGURT CAKE

By Ann Richards, state treasurer

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
6 eggs, separated
2 tsp. grated lemon peel
½ tsp. lemon extract
3 cups cake flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup yogurt

Beat yogurt and ½ cups of sugar with electric mixer until creamy. Add egg yolks, lemon peel, lemon extract and beat until thick and pale yellow. Sift the flour, measure, and sift again with the soda and salt. Alternately mix flour and yogurt into the creamed butter mixture. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; then gradually add the remaining ½ cups sugar, beating until glossy. Fold batter into beaten egg whites and pour into a greased 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until done. Cool 15 minutes in pan, then turn out on a rack. Makes 12-15 servings.

EGGS RANCHERO
By Richard "Racehorse" Haynes

1 stick of butter or margarine
½ cup onion, finely chopped
1 cup tomatoes, peeled and chopped

¼ cup green chili peppers, chopped
1 dozen eggs

Melt butter in large frying pan, add onions, tomatoes and chili peppers. Cook over medium heat for about 30 minutes, stirring periodically to keep from sticking. In a large bowl, beat the eggs and pour into pan with tomato mixture. Stir until eggs are firm. Top with sliced jalapeno peppers. Serve with sausage and flour tortillas.

AUNT MARY ANN MCCOLPIN'S
STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

"We are celebrating a great event and a great tradition in 1986 — the 150th anniversary of Texas' independence as a republic and its progress to become one of the truly great states in our nation. Food has always played a part in the celebration of any event. As proud Texans who have grown up and been educated in this state, we are pleased to share with our fellow citizens a favorite family recipe which has helped to make many celebrations in the White home truly special. Here's to an outstanding sesquicentennial!"

— Governor and Mrs. Mark White

Pastry:
4 cups all-purpose flour
2 tsp. salt
1½ cups shortening, chilled
4 tbsp. butter, chilled
8 tbsp. ice water
2 tsp. sugar

Sift flour and salt together into mixing bowl. Combine shortening with butter and cut into flour mixture with a pastry blender. Work it until it has the grain of coarse cornmeal. Sprinkle the dough with water and toss lightly using a fork.

If needed to hold the ingredients together, add 1 tsp. to 1 tbsp. water. Form dough into 2 balls; wrap with waxed paper and refrigerate for at least 2 hours. Roll dough out on a lightly floured board to ¼ inch thickness. Cut 10 3-inch rounds out of each ball. Place rounds on cookie sheet, sprinkle with sugar and prick entire surface of each round with a fork. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on rack.

Fruit Glaze:

½ pint strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tsp. arrowroot
1 tsp. cold water
1 tsp. lemon zest
1 tsp. kirsch

Hull berries. Combine with sugar and water in a saucepan. Bring mixture to boil, simmer for 5 minutes, and then strain. Return to saucepan and bring to a boil. Stir in arrowroot that has been dissolved in cold water. Remove mixture from heat. Stir in lemon zest and kirsch. Cool before using.

Fresh Fruit:

2 pints strawberries

Remove stems and cut berries into halves. These are to be used in assembling the shortcake.

GOVERNOR AND MRS. MARK WHITE

Whipped Cream Topping:

1 pint whipping cream
2 tbsp. confectioners' sugar

Combine whipping cream and sugar and beat until stiff.

Assembling the shortcake

Fresh mint sprigs, to garnish

Line 10 pastry rounds with 1 layer of strawberries. Drizzle with glaze. On the bottom side of second set of pastry rounds, spread ¼-inch layer of whipped cream. Place second pastry round, cream side down, over strawberries. Repeat procedure in step 1. Garnish top of each shortcake with remaining whipped cream and a sprig of fresh mint.

Cleanup to focus on Area 3

The Chamber of Commerce's semi-annual CLEAN campaign will continue Saturday with Area 3, said Tom Decell, city director of public works.

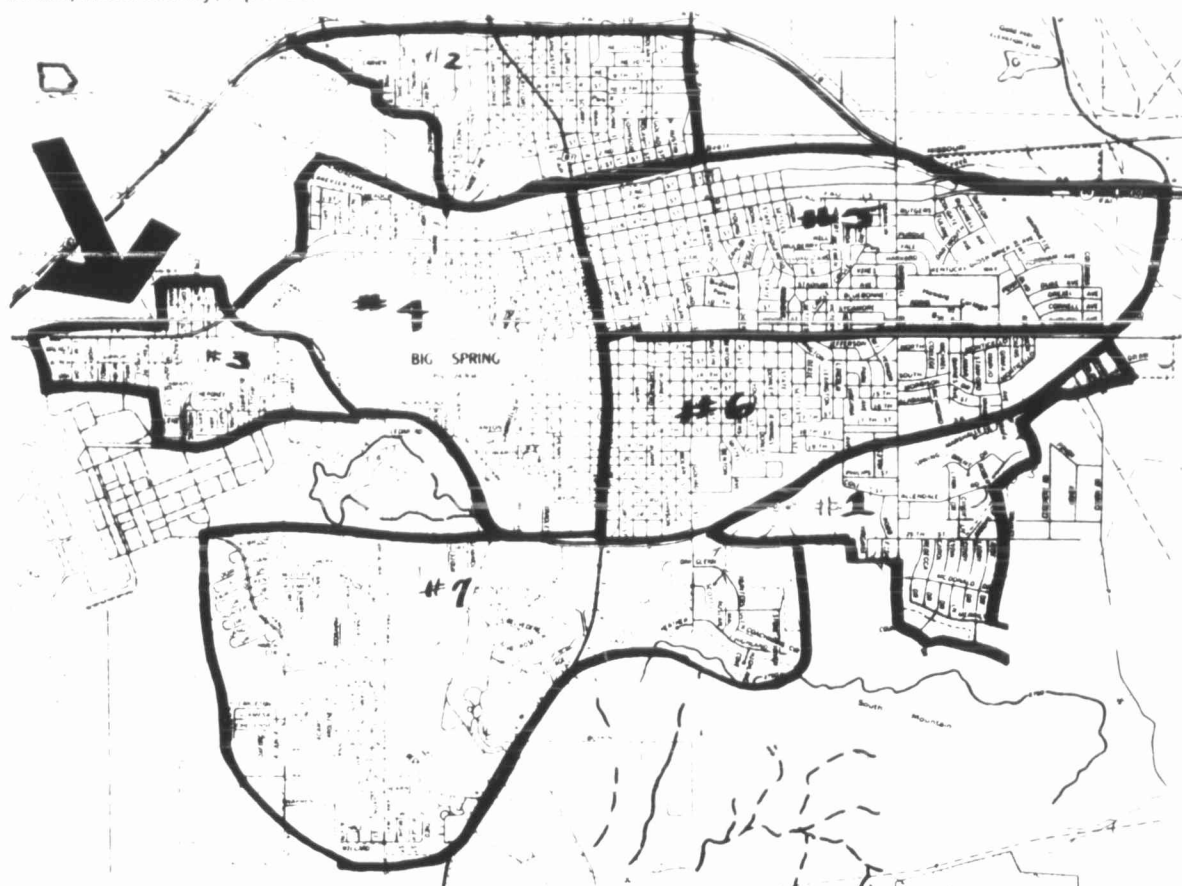

The area is bounded on the north and west by the city limits, south by the state park and east by FM 700.

Crews will collect trash items such as tree branches, furniture pieces and appliances that are too large to place in dumpsters, said Decell. Items to be discarded should be placed at the curb in front of residences and not in alleys.

The citywide cleanup is done in coordination with the chamber and the city of Big Spring, and will continue on Saturdays until all areas are covered.

The schedule for pick-up is:

• Area 4 — north railroad, south and west FM 700 and east Gregg Street, May 10.

• Area 5 — north railroad, south 11th Place, west Gregg Street, east FM 700, May 17.

New NJCAA rule hurts students

What will junior college administrators think of next? The National Junior College Athletic Association's recent vote to lower its required academic standards has raised the ire of this sports writer.

The NJCAA has decided, as it puts it, to "open new doors to junior college athletes". It has extended the athletic eligibility to students for a full year without requiring a minimal grade point average and allowing some part-time students to participate in athletic events.

The previous NJCAA standard called for an athlete to achieve a 1.75 GPA for a minimal class load of 12 hours to earn eligibility for the following semester.

The new rules state that even if a student doesn't have a 1.75 GPA after the first semester, he can still compete, as long as his GPA is 1.75 at the end of the second year.

In reality a student can flunk the entire year, take a couple of easy summer classes to get his grades up, and be eligible for the start of next season.

I liked it much better the previous way when a student had to earn a 1.75 GPA the first semester in order to participate the next semester.

Part-time students will be allowed to participate in sports also, which was a taboo by old NJCAA guidelines. A part-time student can pass six hours in the spring, six hours in the fall and be eligible to participate in athletics the next year, still on a part-time basis.

This will further enhance coaches to recruit athletes for their programs, regardless if they are poor students are not. New student-athletes can insure their eligibility by passing Basket Weaving I and II for two successive semesters.

Sound far-fetched? Not really. You'd be surprised to see the extremes people go through for the sake of a strong athletic program. Though it's academically legal to pad a poor student-athlete's class schedule, it's morally wrong.

Because the only one that suffers is the student-athlete. Sure he or she may insure a conference, regional or national championship, but what four-year school will accept a student with prior credits earned in basket weaving?

It's a shame that junior colleges are lowering their standards when public schools and universities are raising them. Instead of diluting requirements the NJCAA should adopt rules which will bring academic respectability to its programs.

I think it will all boil down to the junior colleges themselves. They can take the new open door policy or make it their school policy of requiring a 1.75 GPA for a minimal 12 hours per semester to maintain eligibility.

A junior college's sports program may turn into a winner, because of the new open door policy. Student-athletes, however, may turn into real losers.

Region I-AA golf

Stanton boys take lead

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

The Stanton Buffaloes made a strong bid for a return trip to the state tourney as they took the opening round lead in the Region I-AA golf tournament Tuesday at Comanche Trail Golf Course.

The Buffaloes, who finished second at the tourney last year, shot a 318 to take a eight stroke lead over second place Shamrock, who shot a 326.

The Buffaloes were led by senior Mark Gonzales' 71. This gives him a six-stroke lead over the nearest medalist. Teammate Skip Hopkins' 79 followed Gonzales, who finished as fourth medalist here last year. Other Stanton scores were: Kevin Glaspie (83), Greg Avery (85) and Stan Young (85).

Gonzales shot a 35 for the first nine holes and finished it off with a 36 on the back nine. Hopkins shot a 37 for the first nine and ended with a 42 of the final nine holes.

The Reagan County Owls finished the first day in third place with a 333, three strokes ahead of Panhandle.

The Stanton girls are sitting in third place behind front runner Memphis and second place Reagan County. Memphis shot a 405, nine strokes ahead of Reagan County, who shot a 414. The Lady Buffaloes are four strokes behind Reagan County with a 418. The only other team within striking distance of the top three is Paducah, with a 426.

The Lady Buffaloes were led Yvette Valles' 94. She shot a 47 for both nines. Lee Ann Tom shot a 104, Kaki Elmore, 108 and Leslie Blair,

Favorite Leslie Gooch of Reagan County fired a 40 on the front nine to go along with her 44 on the back nine, to lead the medalist race with a 84. Gooch was second medalist at the tournament last year.

Shelly Harrington of Sanford Fritch follows with a 85 while Robin Merrett of Hamlin shot a 95.

The boys kicked off action today with a 8 a.m. tee-off. The girls will follow. The tourney is expected to conclude at approximately 7 p.m.

Bosox hurler sets strikeout mark

By The Associated Press

If setting the major-league record for strikeouts in a game is any measure of a career, Boston right-hander Roger Clemens is heading for the Hall of Fame.

Clemens fanned 20 Seattle batters Tuesday night en route to a 3-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners at Fenway Park. He allowed three hits and did not walk a batter in gaining his fourth victory without a loss.

Clemens broke the record of 19 accomplished in a nine-inning game by the St. Louis Cardinals'

Steve Carlton in 1969; Tom Seaver of the New York Mets in 1970; and Nolan Ryan pitching for the California Angels in 1974.

Washington's Tom Cheney struck out 21 in 16 innings against Baltimore in 1962.

Indians 6, Rangers 5

At Arlington, Texas, Julio Franco doubled home Andy Allanson in the ninth inning as Cleveland rallied from a three-run deficit in the final two innings to defeat Texas.

The Indians tied the game 5-5 in the eighth when Mel Hall hitting for Carmen Castillo, hit a two-out, three-run homer.

Phillies 12, Astros 4

At Philadelphia the game shaped up as a pitchers' duel between the immortal Nolan Ryan and a hot Shane Rawley, but Mike Schmidt and Luis Aguayo made short work of that idea.

Schmidt hit a three-run homer, his fifth, in the first inning Tuesday night and Aguayo homered after that for two more runs as the Phillies set out toward a 12-4 victory over the Houston Astros.

Schmidt's homer in the first inning off Nolan Ryan was his fifth career hit off the Houston pitcher. All have been home runs.

Ryan, 3-3, touched for six Phillies runs in the first inning, left for a pinch-hitter in the second.

Rawley, who went 6 1-3 innings and was tagged for 12 hits, gained his third victory against one loss.

Kent Tekulve pitched the final 2 2-3 innings for the Phillies.

Milt Thompson opened the first inning with a walk and stole second. After Rick Schu walked, Thompson moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on Von Hayes' grounder.

Changes get weightman to regional

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

FORSAN — One can call Bruce Strickland a changed man.

The Forsan High School senior has undergone alot of changes while on his way to the Region I-A track meet in Levelland this weekend.

The 6-2, 205-pound weightman will try to keep alive a banner season by finishing in the top two in the shot put and discus. At stake is a trip to the State Track Meet in Austin one week later.

The key to success has been the number of changes this hard-working youngster, who will play linebacker in the Texas Coaches All-Star Football game, has gone through in his final prep year. A few minor changes has transformed Strickland into one of the top weightmen around. His season bests of 50-11 in the shot and 143-9 in the discus puts him in the top five in both events at the regional meet.

The first change Strickland underwent was transferring from Ira to Forsan. After going through banners season in football and basketball, he settled back to for his favorite track event, the shot.

He has been throwing the shot since the eighth grade, explaining why it's his favorite. He is relatively new to the discus since he has been throwing it for only two years.

That's where another change took place.

"In the past I worked mainly on the shot and didn't devote much time to the discus," he said. "I really never had much desire to throw the discus. This year I started to get the hang of it and I've started to work on it alot more. Now I spend about equal time working on each."

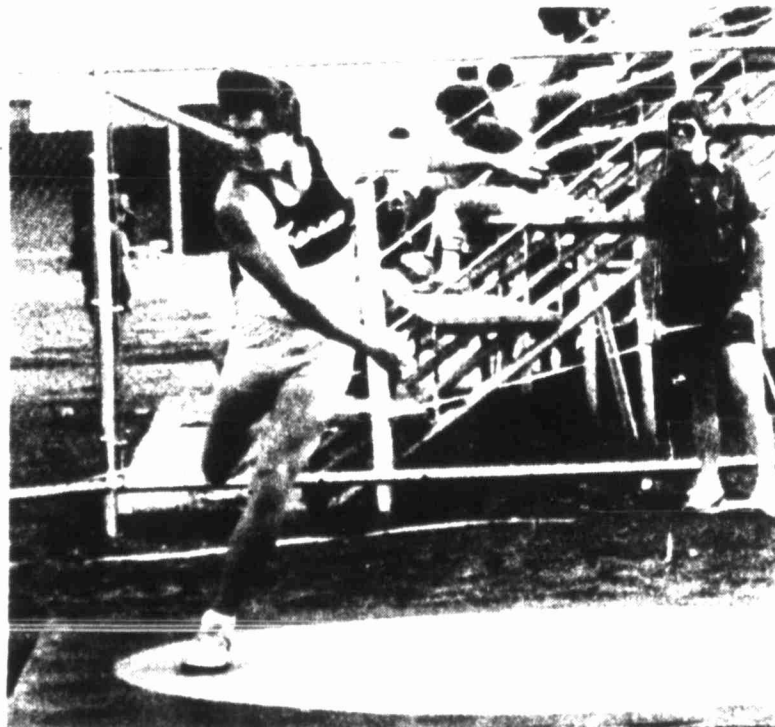

His extra work on the discus has payed off. He improved a 115-0 foot throw at the first of the year, almost 30-feet.

With those throws has come consistency. Now he always throws in the 140-foot range. A throw of 150-feet has a good chance of getting to the state meet.

Another change Strickland has made is hitting the weights at a more intense level. In return he has raised his bench press 35 pounds to a hefty 310. He credits Forsan track coach Steve Parks for that success.

"We worked out on weights at Ira, but here the weight workouts are more organized. Everyone works hard and pushes each other."

Another pleasant change for the Forsan strongman is technique coaching, due mainly to R.L. Coats. "I'd say that's my biggest improvement. Coach Coats has really helped with my form. He works with me everyday. At Ira we just had one track coach and he worked with me whenever he could, but he couldn't do it everyday."

Forsan senior weightman Bruce Strickland, shown here competing in the discus at the District 6-A track meet, will be shooting for a berth in the state meet as he competes in regional this weekend.

Strickland has high standards for his regional debut. He would like to throw 53-0 in the shot and 150-0 in the discus.

"I always wanted to compete in the state meet and I realize this is the one chance I have of doing it. But I'm not going to let that bother me. I'll just go out there and do the best I can and hope for the best."

76ers rally past Bucks in second round opener, 118-112

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers have seen too much in the NBA playoffs to fold up when they face an 18-point deficit on the opposition's home court.

"We felt that we had to play hard to get back in the game," said Maurice Cheeks, who scored 13 of his 27 points in the third quarter when the 76ers wiped out most of an 83-65 deficit and went on to defeat the Milwaukee Bucks 118-112 in their second-round opener Tuesday night. "We just never gave up. The shots started falling and we were able to increase the defensive pressure and cause some turnovers."

Philadelphia outscored the Bucks 32-13 to take a 97-96 lead with nine minutes left in the game. After the lead seasawed in the final minutes, a 16-7 streak gave the 76ers the lead for good.

Charles Barkley, who led the 76ers with 31 points and 20 rebounds, said Philadelphia was determined to win despite the loss of center Moses Malone, who has a broken bone under his right eye.

Forward Terry Cummings scored 23 points to lead the Bucks, who played without all-star Sidney Moncrief because of an injured foot.

After the 76ers took a 97-96 lead with nine minutes left, the Bucks came back to take a 101-97 lead when Alton Lister scored on a layup. But Julius Erving, who scored 18 points, led the 76ers back for a 113-108 advantage with 51 seconds left.

Two free throws each by Barkley and Clemon Johnson sealed the outcome.

Celtics 119, Hawks 108

Atlanta also had a furious second-half rally from an 18-point deficit, but it fell short when Boston scored the last 10 points of the game.

Larry Bird scored 36 points, including eight of those last 10 after the Hawks cut an 87-69 lead to 109-108.

Boston, which now has won 35 straight home games, appeared to be on the way to an easy victory when a tussle between Celtics guard Danny Ainge and Atlanta's Scott Hastings ignited the Hawks in the third period.

Kevin McHale had 22 points for Boston, while Kevin Willis led the Hawks with 23. Randy Wittman had 21 and NBA scoring champion Dominique Wilkins 19 for Atlanta. Rockets 119, Nuggets 101.

Houston again used the third quarter as the turning point of the game, just as it did in the first meeting with Denver.

The Rockets led 53-43 lead at halftime, then outscored the Nuggets 8-0 to start the third quarter. Calvin Natt scored the Nuggets' first points 2:35 into the period.

Lewis Lloyd scored 13 of his 23 points in the third period as Houston opened an 88-71 advantage. Ralph Sampson led the Rockets with 27 points.

CHRISTA'S CHALLENGE

Christa McAuliffe, teacher-astronaut, American hero. Something wonderful glowed deep within her.

She was a dreamer whose passion was to reach for the stars. Her imagination knew no boundaries.

Today, our future dreams can be found in America's classrooms. It was in the classroom that Christa taught and where she hoped her achievements would one day inspire her students to return—as teachers.

That is why the American Federation of Teachers has established a special fund entitled "Christa's Challenge."

This education and scholarship fund will help encourage more of our nation's brightest students to dedicate their lives to the challenge Christa loved most—teaching.

All contributions to this fund will go directly for scholarships and grants.

Help keep Christa's dream alive. Send your tax-deductible contribution to Christa's Challenge at the address on the coupon below.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1986

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Delays occurring early in the day are soon replaced by a number of benefits that come to you both by accepting conventional and conservative methods and exploring the modern.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Fascinating allies will give you backing you need if you ask for it tactfully and then get your obligations met quickly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A bigwig could be demanding in the morning, but later you can handle financial and property interests as well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get important duties handled early since later you can get into new activities for greater expansion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) First perfect a talent you possess, then bring it to the attention of some bigwig who can help you with it.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Handle a problem at home early, then get in touch with some unusual individual for support for a pet project.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle a pressing matter early in the day and success can come to you very quickly. A co-worker is helpful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Handle a financial matter of importance early in the day, and then you can make time for amusements later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is important to first handle a personal affair, since later, some fray at home will require original handling.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Rid yourself of a secret worry in the morning, and then you can handle your correspondence brilliantly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A personal desire has to be attained in the morning, and then get your home modernized. Start a better budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take care of an outside affair early, then you can pursue some unusual goals you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) An affair from a distance requires your attention in the morning, but later, be concerned with private wishes.

IF YOU'VE CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have a different perspective from others and will have some difficulty learning lessons in normal ways, but as the years go by, your progeny will come up with some very fine original ideas.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
