CONDITIONS ARE BETTER THAN IN 1921, MEYER SAYS

STORAGE FACILITIES AMPLE AND SOUTHERN BANKS IN BETTER SHAPE

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Assurance of federal co-operation with the south in handling the record cotton crop was given today by the cotton committee appointed by President Coolidge.

Conditions Better Than 1921 Mr. Meyer said conditions were far better than in 1921 when the south faced a similar problem and he declared the committee is taking steps to co-operate with the movement now in course of organization throughout the south where the responsibility of leadership in handling the situation must necessarily rest.

Production of a record crop of cotton, the committee statement said, following last year's very large harvest presents a real, but not impossible problem, fortunately, the south is in a better position than it has been for many years to deal effectively with the situation, and it is gratifying to know that those who have the greatest interest and responsibility, namely, the growers, bankers and business men of the south as well as the public of the southern states, are attacking the problem in a vigorous way.

Storage Facilities Ample Larger and better storage facilities than in 1921 are available in connection with the marketing of cotton but occurred on an important scale.

There is and will be no lack of financial resources in connection with the orderly marketing of the crop, the banking structure of the south in the country districts, as well as in the important centers, is immeasurably stronger than it was five years ago, and steps already have been taken by the bankers and business men to bring about the intelligent use of the orderly marketing of the crop.

The federal government is assisting through the intermediate credit banks of the farm loan system and through the Federal Reserve system, working through its member banks. The department of agriculture and the department of commerce are giving their full co-operation.

Evangelist Discusses The Existence Of A Hell

Preaching on "Is There a Hell?" Rev. Trigg Thomas, who is conducting a revival at the First Presbyterian church, quoted at length from the Bible, passages referring to hell and to punishment after death for sins on earth, in his sermon Monday evening.

Hell is a necessity to make good the law and work of God for time and eternity since He has said that unless people abide by His law they shall perish, the evangelist said, explaining that after death there is no opportunity for redemption.

He condemned the preachers who say there is no hell, saying that this is one of the teachings of the Bible, but he could not answer the question as to the nature of the place. He said that "the scriptures plainly teach that there is an awful hell, prepared not for the people of Lubbock, but for the devil and his angels, and if any of the people in Lubbock choose hell instead of heaven, they will have no one to blame but themselves." He said hell and whiskey go together and talked at length on the evils of bootleggers and drunkards.

"If there is no hell, the dying of Jesus Christ on the cross was the biggest piece of foolishness that ever took place in the world. Christ's death proves the genuineness of God's love and the awful reality of hell. Those who leave the world unconquered to God remain forever in a state of alienation and therefore are forever sinful and miserable. The great gulf between torment and comfort in the future world is forever 'fixed' and cannot be removed. Even a chance for salvation after death would remove one of the greatest moral restraints of the human race in this world," he concluded.

Menu For Today

BREAKFAST—Cantaloupe balls, cooked wheat cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs, crisp rye toast, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Baked meat balls, celery, prune brand, baked apple dumplings with cream, milk, tea.

DINNER—Chili con carne, corn on the cob, tomato and cabbage salad, grape pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The recipe for chili con carne is given in reply to a request. This is a Mexican dish and should be quite "hot" as to seasoning. However, it's far better to sacrifice a little "color" of the dish for American personal tastes if too highly flavored dishes are not liked.

Chili powder can be used if chili peppers are not available,  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 1 tablespoonful according to taste being sufficient.

Chili Con Carne
Two pounds flank steak of beef, 3 chili peppers, 1 large onion, 3 table-spoons butter or drippings, 3 table-spoons flour, Mexican beans, 2 cups hot water, 2 teaspoons salt.

Remove seeds from peppers and let stand in hot but not boiling water until soft. Scrape pulp from the skin. Discard skin and add pulp to water. Melt butter and add meat cut in small pieces. Brown on all sides. Add onion minced and chili water. Cook until meat is tender, adding water necessary to keep two cups over meat. Stir flour up a smooth paste with a little cold water and add to boiling meat mixture, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes and serve with beans boiled until tender separately.

NEGRO STEVEDORE MEETS SHARKEY TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Harry Wills, huge negro stevedore, tonight climbs into the ring at Ebbets field to defend his ranking as foremost challenger for the heavyweight title against youthful Jack Sharkey of Boston. The bout, 15 rounds to a decision, will begin at 10 p. m., eastern time.

Almost a year has passed since the black panther, now 37 years old, fought his last match against Floyd Johnson of Des Moines, and battered the westerner to a helpless figure in a single round. During this same period Sharkey has surged to the front rank with decision over George Godfrey, giant negro, whom Wills failed to meet; Eddie Hoffman, sailor scrapper of California; King Solomon, of Panama, and Jim Maloney, Boston slugger.

During the months Sharkey spent in the ring improving his speed and clever defense while developing a right hand smash that is feared throughout the division, Wills devoted his efforts to gaining a title match with Dempsey. The drive brought him recognition by the New York boxing commission as leading contender for the crown, but the year's idleness has influenced the betting fraternity, chastened by the showing of Jack Dempsey after his long period of inactivity. Odds on the negro to win have fallen as low as six to five.

The latest edition of the Boston strong boy, who is 25 years old, has youth only in his favor in measuring physical qualifications with the husky negro. Wills, six feet two, has an advantage of two inches in height, and is also superior in weight and reach. In the clubbing right fist of the stevedore, that hammered Luis Firpo to a 12 round defeat in 1924, is seen the greatest menace to the hopes of the confident New England champion.

Hitting Sports Highspots With James R. Dow

Red Grange is all set for a big year, the papers say. Maybe so but the Journal predicts now that the "Gallop-ing Ghost" will find the sliding march tougher this year than he ever has before. And he might not get to first base unless a running mate of the defensive powers of his former side-kicker is found. Granger is good, all right, but there is no man, no matter how good who can consistently and sensationally gain (and Red has to do both in pro football) without the right kind of interference.

George Sisler has gotten the gate at St. Louis but regardless of the opinions of the dopsters it seems inconceivable that Ty Cobb will be ousted at Detroit. The veteran performer is too much of a fixture in the lair of the Bengala and still has too many base hits left in his hat bag to turn loose.

The world series just ended was outstanding in many ways. Many records were broken and all kinds of good and bad baseball was played. But, looking backward, have you ever seen two championship teams before, neither of which had a great short-stop? Thevenow, of course, arose to the heights during the series. Before the big games, however, he was a novelty, as short fielders go. Koenig, too, was of the in-and-out variety before and during the series. Feckel-paugh, Scott, Wright, Wagner, Fletcher, Jackson, Bancroft—all of the shortstops who have played on pennant winners in recent years were truly great ball players. This year seemed to be an off year in championship shortstopping.

A new and better brand of offense will be launched by the Matadors against Simmons at Abilene this week is the report current here. The Matadors appear to have good offensive material and with some seasoning should develop a good scoring combination. Defensively the team is a good one, as it was last year. The scoring problem is the one confronting Coaches Freeland and Higginbotham.

This has been an awful year on the so-called experts, who guessed New Orleans, New York and Tunney as winners in the three big classics. Lubbock high school's Westerners will entertain Clovis here Friday. The Von Tungen-Frka machine is showing well and is the best coached high school aggregation assembled here in recent years. Buddy Brothers, fullback and captain, is a high school star of the first water if early indications stand for anything and does everything but take tickets every time his team plays. He passes, punts, kicks off and runs with ball in mighty fine style.

The communist deputies hurled glasses of water, books and pamphlets at the deputies of the right party while cheers and the strains of "International" came from the gallery.

Outside the hall a crowd of unemployed shouted oaths against the Hohenzollerns.

MOTHER LOVE IS A BIG FACTOR IN STIRRING SCENE

The minister very beautifully portrayed the love of a wife for a drunken husband—told how far they would go for them—how they would crush their own happiness, suffer all the shame and privations known to a civilized race in an effort to salvage the soul of an erring mate.

A woman's love knows no end if only they feel they have a chance to win. All the tears of a thousand years will pass through their soul, but with stilled sob they will go on and on, hoping against hope that in the end they will win.

The man will be given a trial before Judge Goodman, after which he may return to his wife—the mother of his babe.

Brick Company Opens District Office Here

INTEREST RIFE IN WILDCATTER

Whicker No. 1 Hits Gas Vein And Water Is Blown Over Standard Rig Block

(Special to the Journal)
LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 12.—With roustabouts laboring to place casing in the hole, interest in the oil and gas test well, being drilled three miles southeast of Blodson, in Cochran county, is at high pitch today, officials of the Whicker Land company said here today. Drillers struck a vein of gas at the 200 foot depth yesterday, and the water, standing in the hole, was blown over the crown block of the standard rig.
J. C. Whicker, president of the Whicker Land company, the organization promoting the drilling of the well, is on the lease keeping in close touch with the situation, telling associates of progress over long-distance telephone. Cornelius Brothers and Taggart of Eastland are the drilling contractors.

R. J. Murray of Lubbock, head of the land department of the Santa Fe railway company here, told the Journal today that he is very optimistic concerning the outcome of the test, which, according to contract, must go at least 1,500 feet. Mr. Murray is firm in his belief, based upon reports of geologists and oil men, that there are petroleum products beneath the surface of Cochran county and he thinks they will be tapped by the Whicker well.

Lorenzo Schools To Dismiss For Farmer

In order to make up the time lost through cotton picking a period which is expected to carry over at least two weeks. The teachers will conduct their classes on Saturdays until students catch up with their work.

One League Agency Operates At Capital

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—An official agency of the League of Nations, the International Labor Office with headquarters at Geneva, is operating almost at the front door of the State Department.
Although the United States stays outside the League, recognition has been given to the Washington Branch of the International Labor Office, which is exempt from taxation and which is permitted to import duty free books and documents from the Geneva headquarters.

Interprets U. S. Labor

The office has been operating here quietly for some time and only recently came to public notice with the issuing of a series of public statements dealing with its activities and with the world-wide work of the Geneva office.
Leifur Magnusson, a former official of the American Labor Department, is director of the Washington Branch, the prime purpose of which is to interpret the industrial and labor situation in the United States for the central office. The Washington Branch collects federal and state government publications in the field of labor and industry and sees to it that they are regularly dispatched to Geneva," said Mr. Magnusson.

After 8-Hour Day

"It prepares memoranda in response to specific inquiries from the central office. Larger researches also have been undertaken, among which have been a study of the housing situation in the United States, the use of leisure time by industrial workers, the status of health insurance and old age pensions in this country. For associations and individuals in this country, the branch gives information concerning the work of the Geneva office."
Inquiries directed by members of congress, government departments and state officials to the Washington branch deal with such subjects as industrial conditions in Egypt, China, Japan and India, world unemployment and price movement, working women in industry in the different major countries, establishment of the eight-hour day and 48-hour week abroad.
The International Labor Office, has as its prime object the establishment of the eight-hour day and the 48-hour week among the laboring people in all countries.

"Variety" Features Program At Palace

If variety be the spice of life, as it is said to be, then the Palace Theatre offers for its last run this evening a very spicy program with the picture "Variety" as the feature.
This picture, as its name would imply, is "different." Made by Paramount upon the story taken from the world of the show, instead of from more common phase of life, and with the two foremost European stars, Emil Jannings and Lya de Putill, its difference makes it worthwhile.
The picture, which was shown both Monday and this afternoon, has been well attended, and the theatre-goers have been well pleased, according to the management of the theatre.

Corn Is Corn, But Some Is Superior

Corn is corn, but some corn is of a better grade than other varieties. Lubbock county corn is making 40 bushels to the acre this year, while out in New Mexico it is said some varieties are making "40 gallons."
The sample held by Sheriff Johnston is considered good corn, for it tests 49 per cent pure. At least that is the verdict of a chemistry professor at Tech College. The sample was captured early Monday by members of the sheriff's department, and will be used as evidence against Bery and Marvin Sooter when they are tried for illicit manufacture of liquor during the next term of district court.

San Antonio Policeman Regained Weight, Appetite and Old-time Energy Through Taking Nature's Remedy—Tanlac

You would not think to look at Police Officer A. E. Voight, of 313 Lancaster Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, today, that six years ago this rugged, alert guardian of the law was ill, run down, and suffering from indigestion.
"An accident of some months of stomach trouble," writes Officer Voight, "with loss of appetite and inability to digest my food properly, I got into a very run-down condition, and was considerably off in weight, and my old-time energy was missing. I was almost constantly troubled with constipation, also, and gas would form in my stomach making me feel very uncomfortable. My food seemed to do me more harm than good.
"I decided to try Tanlac, as I had heard so much about it from various sources. Five bottles put me back into first-class shape, and brought me relief, leaving me with a gain in weight in a few weeks' time of 15 or 20 lbs., and with all my old-time pep. I still take a bottle of Tanlac once in a while, and it helps keep me on top-toe and ready for any emergency." Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today!

If your food seems to do you more harm than good, if you experience distress or stomach pains or lack of energy with falling off in weight, try Tanlac. SAINT AND SINNER

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

CHERRY LANE, 18, beautiful and a conscientious flirt, is playing the love game with a dozen admirers, including BOB HATHAWAY, CHRIS WILEY, man of bad reputation, and ALBERT ETTLESON, a married traveling salesman.

FAITH LANE, 20, is in love with Hathaway.

GEORGE PRUITT, rich amateur artist, proposes to Faith and is rejected. When Faith returns home that evening she finds that Cherry and most of her clothes have disappeared, and that Mrs. Albert Ettleson has come to warn the Lane family that Cherry and her husband are eloping to New York.

Mrs. Lane is seized with a heart attack, and Bob and Faith break all speed laws in getting to Darrow, in an effort to save Cherry from her own folly. They find that Cherry and Ettleson have boarded the limited for New York. A porter leads them to Ettleson's stateroom, which they find locked. At Cherry's scream for help, Bob Hathaway forced Ettleson to open the door, and is confronted with a drawn automatic.

Faith takes the gun from Ettleson, who turns upon Cherry with a torrent of abuse. On the drive back to the town where the Lanes live, Bob shows clearly that he despises Cherry, but when Faith later asks him what is to be done with Cherry, so that she will not disgrace the family and kill her mother, Hathaway offers the sacrifice of himself in marriage.

Although she loves him, Faith realizes that he can save Cherry from herself.

JOY, 9, interrupts with the news that Mr. Lane is whipping Cherry in the wood shed, and Bob and Faith again go to her rescue. Bob tells Mr. Lane he is willing to marry the girl, but Cherry rudely and violently rejects his offer, saying she has other plans.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Faith, be an angel and sew some new shoulder straps on these teddies for me, won't you?" Cherry, rummaging in a fluttered dresser drawer, looked up with her most wheedling smile as Faith appeared at the door.

"Here's some orchid ribbon. Make those cunning little flat tailored bows to finish them off, darling. And a little bow in front. Thanks for tinting the teddies, honey. They are as nice as new."

Faith accepted the fluffy handful of orchid-tinted chiffon, with the bolt of satin ribbon, and obediently reached for Cherry's little hand-painted Japanese workbox. "Going out, Cherry? I wanted to talk with you."

"Talk away," Cherry commanded blithely. "Just going to dance over at the Warrens', Bill's coming for me at eight."

"Do you think Mr. Cluny would approve?" Faith asked stiffly, her eyes on her work.

"Mr. Cluny?" Cherry echoed. "What's he got to do with it? I'm not dead because I'm engaged. None of his business!"

"Does Mr. Cluny dance?" Faith could not keep the sarcasm out of her voice.

"Good Lord! How do I know?" Cherry laughed, as she slipped a Cinderella-sized slipper upon a high-arched, slim foot. "Probably does the waltz very, very solemnly and thinks the Charleston is immoral, because the 'younger generation' is crazy about it."

"Are you planning to teach him to dance or to give up dancing yourself?" Faith inquired evenly, but her fingers trembled a little as she fashioned the tiny flat bow that Cherry had ordered.

"Oh, don't be an old frozen-face!" Cherry cried with sudden petulance. "I'm not so dumb as I look. I know you came in here to hand me out, make me see the error of my ways, and all that sort of thing, but you're wasting your breath. I'm going to marry Mr. Cluny and you might as well get used to the idea."

"Why are you doing it, Cherry? You don't have to marry a doddering old man."

"He doesn't dodder." Cherry caught her up sharply.

"He's one of the most distinguished looking men in town, and he doesn't look a day over fifty-five or sixty, at the most. As for why—that's easy! He's worth a cool million. In other words, there are a million reasons why I'm going to marry him. Haven't you finished those straps yet? I guess I'll have time to put a fresh coat of liquid polish on my nails. Do you like this new shade?"

"I thought you told us last week that Mr. Cluny has some grown children and grandchildren." Faith scarcely looked at the little square bottle that Cherry was holding up for her inspection. "Don't you realize that he'll leave his money to his children?"

"The law allows the wife one-third." Cherry was frowningly intent upon the smooth application of the thick, red banana-smelling liquid. "I guess I could manage to was along on a mere three hundred thousand dollars. And there's no law that can keep him from leaving most of it to me. If his son and daughter make too much of a row about his marrying again, he'll cut 'em off with the least bit of allowance. They've got plenty themselves, and Ralph isn't too crazy about 'em lately."

"Ralph?" Faith raised her eye-brows, as she slipped the silk thread between her strong, even white teeth. "Here you are." She tossed the orchid chiffon garment to Cherry's lap.

"He asked me to call him Ralph," Cherry smiled. "You know, Faith, I honestly think that's one reason he's so set on getting married. He told me he'd gotten tired of being watched as if he were an invalid with one foot in the grave. He's tickled pink at the jolt he's going to give 'em. Oh, Lord! I'm sick to death of this old pink georgette. When I'm Mrs. Ralph Cluny I'll have a new dress every day in the week."

"You'll also have to put up with Mr. Ralph Cluny every day in the week," Faith pointed out. "What do you really feel, Cherry? Haven't you any heart? Don't you feel sorry for that poor old man, or for yourself at least? You're not quite nineteen, Cherry, and you talk and act like a hard-boiled woman of the world. What do you feel—down inside—about this outlandish engagement of yours?"

The little body whirled from the mirror, and two topaz eyes turned their blazing brilliance upon Faith.

"What do I feel?" she echoed passionately. "Have I got any heart? I feel sick as my stomach at the thought of that old man pawing me, but I'm going to marry him just the same! Don't you think I know what I'm letting myself in for? Ever since I was fourteen, years old I've been in love with two or three boys at the same time. Engaged six times. Now I'm crazy about two men, and I guess you know who they are." She struck a tiny clenched fist against her trembling lips, as if to force back the sobs that were rearing her throat.

Bob Hathaway and—who else? Faith backed away from the dramatic little figure, her own voice husky and strange in her ears.

"And Chris Wiley!" Cherry flung the words at her sister defiantly. "As for Bob Hathaway, I'm not marrying a man that doesn't really want me. But I swear I'll elope with Chris Wiley, if you and Dad don't let up on me about Mr. Cluny. Right now it's one or the other—Chris Wiley or Ralph Cluny. Chris Wiley makes me forget everything else in the world when I'm with him—drives me nuts, I tell you. It would kill Mugsy, and just about kill Dad, too, if I married Chris Wiley. That's the reason I snapped up old Cluny when he was half-way through proposing. I'm just trying to save myself from Chris. Heart? Feelings? You don't know the half of it, Dearie!" she concluded on a bitter note of sarcasm. "There's Bill's car now. Believe me, I'm going to step high, wide and handsome for the short time that's left to me."

dominant political parties the vote in most localities is quite evenly divided between them.

Says Selected by Minority "In such event the election of the candidate to be voted on at a future election is determined in each party by a majority or plurality, as the case may be, of only about 12 1/2 per cent of the qualified voters. Under such circumstances men who are elected to office, and thus selected by a small majority of around seven per cent of the qualified voters.

"We all realize that our national wealth and population increases and business broadens and becomes more diversified that there arises the necessity not only for the centralization of greater power in state, county and city government, but for its constant use in the carrying out of its legitimate projects.

Politicians at Work "Especially is this true in connection with state governments. Immense road building projects are being carried out by states, assisted by the national government. Our state and city administrations are accustomed not only to use public employes in getting out a primary vote to maintain an existing administration in power, but in many places all those interested in construction or other public contracts with their organization and employes are expected to perform active service in getting out the primary vote for the same purpose.

"At the same time, therefore, when owing to the indifference of the public to the franchise, the number of qualified voters necessary to control a primary election is lessening, the number of those having a business interest in the continuance of an existing administration and willing to work at the polls for it is rapidly increasing. While the general and impartial vote is decreasing, the controlled vote is steadily increasing. It is to be hoped that in most localities there is a scrupulous and proper use of centralized power, but it is not too much to say that in some states and cities the power of the administration is so exerted that the dominant party will always present candidates at the election selected by those having a business and personal interest in the continuance of the administration. Where this is the case we have changed from a representative government of the people into an oligarchy dominated by self-interest. As time goes on the evil increases.

"As long as our primary system exists there is but one remedy for the situation and that is to increase the number of impartial voters of both parties not only at primaries but at general elections. We have lost our free government if those interested in direct business relations with government, either as employes or through contracts, are the ones who control the nomination of candidates."

Aged Man Still Continues Search For Gold Streak

HILLSBORO, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP)—After 50 years of search for a "lost lead" of red ore said to have assayed $2,100 gold to the ton, Manuel Taylor, aged but active American-Mexican who says he is a descendant of General Zachary Taylor, still pokes about this section of the southwest with two burros, confident that he yet will "strike it rich."

His life and the faith that goes with it stamp him as one of the last of that picturesque type—the old-west gold prospector.

One More Grubstake Taylor now is eking out a living and saving toward one more grubstake by prospecting and placer mining near Gold Dust, N. M., with a primitive machine he calls "the poor man's concentrator." But he is reputed to have mined on a vast scale at various times in his life and to have made at least six big mineral strikes and spent as many fortunes.

For instance, in 1906-07, when an epidemic of influenza struck this part of the country, Taylor is credited with having bought 155 coffins and paid the funeral expenses of as many of the poor of his community.

Early in the seventies an Indian friend told young Taylor he could lead him to "heap much gold." They outfit and penetrated the wild San Matillo mountains country. Finally they reached a spot from where the Red-skin pointed to a streak of red earth, much like brick dust and grunted dramatically:

"Here heap much gold!"

Lost Gold's Location Taylor was disappointed to see no trace of gold in it. He was then ignorant of metallurgy. However, he wrapped some of the stuff in a handkerchief and threw it into one of his pack bags. They returned to Silver City, N. M.

One day months later Taylor was cleaning his bags and found some of the red dust. Itly rubbing it between his palms he suddenly noticed many particles of fine gold appearing as the coarser grains broke away. He went to an assayer to learn that the dust tested $2,100 gold to the ton.

In the meantime his Indian guide had died. And for 50 years Taylor has failed to relocate the treasure spot again.

280 Reported Slain In Mexican Clash

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Herald's correspondent at Magdalena today wider the newspaper that 200 Yaqui Indians and about 80 federal soldiers had been killed or wounded in an encounter near Coral station, Sonora, Mexico, the night of October 8.

The correspondent at Magdalena with a military convoy, based his estimate on official communique received by the commanding officer.

TWO MORE OIL WELLS IN UPTON COUNTY

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP)—Upton county today added two more oil wells to its long list. Dixie Oil Company's No. 7 Hughes was flowing through a pipe line, 1200 barrels daily from 2,648 feet, while its No. 6 Hughes, nearby, was reported flowing from below 2,158 feet but no gauge had been taken. Both wells are in section 4, Mm. Teer survey, in the midst of producers.

S. P. MAY PROTEST RAIL EXTENSION

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 12 (AP)—Conditional protest is being made by the Southern Pacific railroad against the application of the Missouri Pacific for permission from the interstate commerce commission to build a railroad extending between a point near San Benito to a connection with the Rio Grande Railway, northeast of Brownsville.

In answering the question which it is customary for the commission to send out in such cases to the railroads, the Southern Pacific said in substance: "If the proposed line is being built to serve the purpose, there will be no objection from us. However, if this is intended simply as a fence against further extensions of the Southern Pacific lines in the Rio Grande valley, we will object."

J. H. Tallchist, general attorney for the Southern Pacific, said testimony submitted by the Missouri Pacific in the present case appeared to be different from that which the Missouri Pacific advanced as an argument against the extension now being built by the Southern Pacific from Fairbairn into the valley and from Edinburg to Harlingen. He pointed out that when the Southern Pacific extension case was before the commission, the Missouri Pacific had contended that there was no necessity for another railroad in the valley—that the territory already was well served.

MERCY PLANE ENDS ITS LONG FLIGHT

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 12 (AP)—Bert Pidoche, pilot of an airplane belonging to W. L. Edwards of House, which sped through thunder storms and high winds across Texas and Oklahoma Sunday to the death bed of the mother of D. D. Alexander, of Galveston, in Frederick, Okla., has performed his mission of mercy and is on the way back to Houston.

About 1 a. m. Sunday, Mr. Alexander called the Houston police station and asked for assistance in securing a plane. His mother had died an hour before in Frederick, and it was feared that his father would collapse from grief, unless the son reached his bedside, Alexander said. Arrangements for the flight were made.

Mr. Alexander reached his bereaved father at 2 p. m. Sunday, exactly seven hours and forty minutes after the plane took off at Houston.

His father was in a state of collapse. However, it is believed that he will recover.

NEW ANGLE FOUND IN AIMEE'S CASE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Newly discovered evidence which officials disclosed partly closes a big gap in the case against Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, charged with criminal conspiracy, had the effect of disrupting the prosecution's program for presenting its evidence as the third week of the preliminary hearing got under way today.

Information said to have been gathered in the border country near Douglas, Ariz., where Mrs. McPherson reappeared June 23 after 35 days absence from Angelus Temple here, purported to account for the evangelist's whereabouts from May 29 to June 22.

The state charges that she remained in hiding at Carmel, Calif., with Kenneth G. Crumiston, her former radio operator, at Angelus Temple, for ten days following her disappearance May 18.

E. S. Hagmes, contractor of Yuma, Ariz., was in court before today's session began, expecting to be called as the first witness. Hagmes told investigators he saw the evangelist in Yuma on June 13 during the time she asserted she was held by kidnapers in a shack in Mexico.

HOW SHOCKING!

PARIS—A party of foreigners entered a box in one of the big music-halls. The women were elaborately gowned, the men in evening clothes. The theater was hot. Suddenly one of the men arose, removed his coat and hung it over the back of his chair.

District Court Is Congested; Needs Is Felt For Changes

In keeping with the prevailing thought that Lubbock county needs a new district court, records in the office of the District clerk show the large number of cases filed and the congested condition of the court. During the past ten years the court business has grown by leaps and bounds and the terms are filled with continual work. A total of 2258 cases, both civil and criminal cases, have been filed in the district clerk's office here during the past ten years.

A committee was appointed recently by the Lubbock Bar Association to work on the additional court plan and progress is being made along that line.

Below is the records of the cases filed during the past ten years:

Table with columns: Year, Civil Cases Filed, Criminal Suits Filed, Cases Filed. Data for years 1916-1926.

Business Man Has Idea He Can Beat City Traffic Law

One Lubbock business man has an idea that the city's traffic ordinance is unconstitutional and will not enter a plea of guilty for passing a stop signal. He got his red tag carried to the city hall and then informed the judge he didn't think he would pay off. He has five days to change his mind, and if at the end of this period he will be issued for him and his case will be tried in open court.

If he wins the case and his attorney doesn't charge for his services he will have saved two dollars. However, the Courts of Civil Appeals in this state have never ruled against similar city ordinances.

One speeder was asked to pay a $10 fine. He refused, but will likely change his mind before his 5-day period is up, officers say.

Patrolmen say there must be lots of sickness in Lubbock, for every time a person is arrested for speeding they claim exemption on an emergency declaring they were either at home and going to town after medicine, or in town and going home after it. Unless "health" conditions improve there will be many fines collected during the coming weeks. That's that.

Re-Hearing Denied In Barge Line Case

Needed Improvements In Postoffice Service Here Are Ordered; 35 Miles Of Rural Delivery Added In County

An expansion program in the Lubbock postoffice, covering as a result of an increase of more than one-third in the business of the present quarter as compared with that of the one just preceding, has been ordered and as soon as the additions to the system can be made patrons of the department in this city and territory will be much better served. John L. Vaughan, postmaster, announced this morning. Included in the improvements are addition of 35 miles more of rural delivery; four additional boxes in the business section of the city; an auxiliary service for these new boxes until nine o'clock; another wagon for parcel post service; a relay mail service and additional separations in the handling of the mail matter. Most of the improvements have already been ordered begun.

The additional rural service, will be the result of a favorable report which was turned into the department at Washington by R. R. Rance, special inspector who has been here frequently during the past quarter. The services will be placed on Route A, which will make 25 miles more territory, serving additionally more than a hundred families. No additional carrier will be placed on the route, Vaughan said. The route is made by motor and the morning trip is west and the afternoon trip is east.

Another Wagon
Another addition to the local service which was made yesterday morning, is the placing of one additional wagon on the parcel post work every Monday to relieve the congestion of the Saturday night and Sunday's mail, which stacks up. The one wagon is until Wednesday getting back to normal after the Sunday's run of packages. Vaughan stated. Yesterday afternoon both wagons were through with the Sunday parcels and ready for the regular run.

Relay Mail
The relaying of mail was established here yesterday, giving the city carriers double their amount of mail for the Monday run. A city carrier is assigned with a car at a certain point, on the route, an additional 50 pounds can be delivered by him. The relay service was established yesterday morning and like the wagon, had all the Saturday night mail cleared by the afternoon.

Get Separations
One hundred and eighty dispatch separations and 160 city separations were shipped for the office yesterday and will be installed as soon as they arrive. This will take care of the congested mail room.
Vaughan also ordered 3 additional wagons yesterday to take care of the that day rush, the wagons will be run for ten days during this period.

Four combination collection boxes were also ordered yesterday by Vaughan. The boxes to be placed in the bush west district.
The boxes will be placed at some of the busy corners in the city and will be worked by an auxiliary service until 9 o'clock p. m., allowing all of the business men's mail to be sent out.
The local office is back to regular work now after their expansion of vision space and the unit is complete with the exception of wall equipment, which is expected soon.

AUTO DEALERS HOLD MEETING

With President W. W. Royalty in the chair and laying plans for enlarging the organization both from the standpoint of members and territory, thirty members of the South Plains Auto Dealers association gathered in regular meeting last night at the Tech cafe.

The automotive men, who for more than a year have been banded together for the general improvement of their businesses and to benefit the auto-enthusiasts in their belief that the more members and the more territory which can be added to the club the better will be the service which they are able to render.
It was voted that the association was to meet on the first Monday night of each month and the Lubbock hotel was chosen as the regular meeting place.

Army's Pan-American Flight Starts Dec. 15

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The army's "pan-American" flight will start from San Antonio, Texas, "on or about the 15th of December," the war department announced today.
The official itinerary of the flight, also announced today, shows that Nicaragua and Ecuador will be the only countries in South and Central America which will not be visited by the flyers.

Another point of interest which will be passed by without a stop is Arica, former seat of the Pershing picturesque commission.
The flight will terminate at Washington and will cover at total of 18,124 miles. Seventy one stops will be made. The flight has been divided into six divisions, each of which will be surveyed in advance.

Burglar Is Killed By San Antonio Man

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 12 (AP)—After being wounded in the neck by a bullet early this morning when he disregarded the command of two intruders in his home to not move and engaging them in a hand to hand struggle, Otto A. Clauss grabbed a pistol from under his pillow, shot one of the intruders to death and possibly wounded the other, as a trail of blood was found leading from the house. The man killed is unidentified. Clauss' condition is not believed serious.

Whaling Is Granted Conditional Pardon

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—A conditional pardon has been granted C. Whaling, alias Laurence Calloway, by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, records in the secretary of state's office showed today.
Whaling with four others, including Tom Ross and Mill Good, escaped last fall from the Huntsville penitentiary. After spending some time in a Dallas hospital, Whaling recently was returned to the penitentiary. He was sentenced from Dallas county.
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Foster are visiting relatives in Plainview today.

FRENCH AGAIN ASK LEGION TO MEET IN PARIS

LETTERS OF INVITATION GIVEN CONVENTION BY FRENCH DEPUTY

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—France today renewed its invitation to the legionnaires to come again.
Invitations from Premier Poincare and Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs, for the American Legion to hold next year's convention in Paris came to the legion's convention.
Letters were brought by Colonel Yves Picot, member of the chamber of deputies.
The premier's letter read "Since the war, I have many times received from posts of the American Legion evidences of faithful friendship which have deeply touched my heart.
"I have done my best to maintain among my countrymen the memory of our brotherhood in arms, and I am certain that this brotherhood will continue in peace, as alive and as strong as ever, for the good of our two countries."

M. Briand's letter said "Your visit will be a great event in the history of the Franco-American friendship. This movement, inspired by the pious memory of your dead, which our soil guards sacredly, and by a sentiment of the highest courtesy, will profoundly move the French people. In coming to France you will renew the friendship that has existed from the dawn of your independence to the present day between our two countries."
Cheers are promised
Colonel Picot's own message was: "The cheers that greeted you in 1917 you will hear again when you come to France."
The legion and its auxiliary are here for a holiday as much as for business, as members indicate by impromptu and colorful parades behind the scores of bands and drum corps.
Today was the day of the big parade, with all the units having places in line and vying in originality of costume and float.
Ancient automobiles, horse drawn vehicles emblazoned with the wit of soldiers and even reproductions of the French box cars with the slogan "forty and right" added to the fun-making paraphernalia brought for the celebration.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes was the convention's principal guest today.

She Bites Burglar And Defeats Him

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP)—Rolling pins, brooms, flat irons and other feminine weapons have often proved very effective in routing burglars and other intruders, but Mrs. Tony Miltenberger of this city has discovered a more effective method—she bites 'em.
A husky sneak thief who entered her home last night, is now keeping out of sight and nursing a badly damaged hand as the result of a bite inflicted by Mrs. Miltenberger. He escaped.

Virtue's Reward

NEW YORK—Conversions by the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick seem to last. A somewhat cultured man of 79 who renounced his faith two years ago after hearing Dr. Fosdick preach has just brought him a wallet containing $1250 which he found. Dr. Fosdick is to see to it there is some reward for virtue besides itself.

URGES AMERICANS MAKE TIME PAYMENTS WISELY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12 (AP)—Regulating with wisdom the tendency of American people "to unwisely use the abundant credit now available," was urged by Alex Dunbar, president of the clearing house section, in an address today before the American Bankers Association.
"I refer to the enormous volume of 'unwise partial payment buying,' he said. "There is definite and proper use for partial payment buying in many directions—for the purchase of homes, the outfitting of homes, the buying of mechanical devices which pay their way and the purchase of necessities which contribute to the permanent welfare and happiness of our people. I can see only trouble ahead if the increasing tide of credit extension is not definitely checked against the purchase of luxuries, which not only digests earning capacity for long periods in advance, but imperils the moral fabric of the nation by pandering to unjustified appetites and standards on a false basis.
"I contend that if disaster, in any aspect, overtakes the people of America for their folly in over-purchasing on the time payment plan, the fault will largely be at the door of the bankers. We hold the key to the credit situation, for the bulk of time payment paper must ultimately rest in our portfolios, in some form or other. The danger is not in the use but the over use of the practice."
