School Graduates Given Diplomas At Final Exercises

Simplicity and brevity marked the graduating exercises of the Tahoka High School held in the school auditorium last Friday night. The printed program was followed without deviation. No remarks by superintendent or principal or other person intervened between numbers.

Immediately following the procession played by Mrs. Marcus Edwards, the salutatory address was given by Peggy Fenton, the valedictory by Beth Shepherd, and Joann Edwards rendered a piano solo, Second Mazurka.

In a few appropriate words, Supt. W. T. Hanes introduced Dr. J. A. Hill of Canyon, president of West Texas State Teachers College, who addressed the graduating class.

His address was unique, in that it consisted almost entirely of a few of the quotations expressing noble thoughts, high purpose, and sound advice which he had entered on his calendar day by day since January 1 of this year, and his comments thereon.

His address was well received and much enjoyed not only by the class but also by the other auditors.

Prentice Walker, chairman of the school board, presented the diplomas to the thirty-six graduates as certified by Principal Hope Haynes, and both he and Supt. W. T. Hanes congratulated them as they bore their diplomas away.

Happily they marched out of the auditorium to the strains of the recessional played by Mrs. Edwards, and the school session of 1942-43 had come to a close.

Lt. Hiram Snowden Flying In India

H. M. Snowden, father of three sons and one daughter, has reason to be proud of the services his children are rendering their country.

His son, Hiram, enlisted in the Army before the Pearl Harbor attack, and he is now 1st Lieutenant in the Air Corps. For sometime now he has been pilot of a big transport plane, which transports troops or supplies as the circumstances may demand. Recently he piloted his plane from Florida to India, a distance of 15,000 miles, and he is operating in India today. Specifically, he is transporting war supplies from India into China, according to the best information available. But he has operated in other parts of the world too, and undoubtedly is a very proficient pilot.

Mr. Snowden's oldest son, Harold, enlisted in the air forces last October and he is taking his training at the King City Flying School in California, under the same instructor that gave his younger brother, Hiram, his first training in aviation.

Rudolph, the youngest son, enlisted in September or October last year, and he is serving as a mechanic in the Army Flying Field at Garden City, Kansas.

Mr. Snowden's son-in-law, Ensign Clarence Lee Howard, husband of the former Julia Snowden, is doing service on a destroyer in the U. S. Navy somewhere in the Pacific. As ensign, he has charge of forty men, and it is believed by the home folks that he is somewhere in the vicinity of the western Aleutians.

For long years Mr. Snowden was a business man in Tahoka and the sons and daughter were all reared here. For the past year he has been driving a bus for the Garbolia school district while his wife has been principal of the school. They are preparing to move back into Tahoka for the summer.

Former Resident Of Wilson Dies

Mrs. Verna Holloway, 28, former resident of Wilson but recently employed in the All-church orphanage in Fort Worth, died in the Methodist Hospital in Fort Worth Saturday afternoon after a week's illness. Funeral services were conducted at Joe Stokes Monday afternoon and the body was buried in the cemetery at Wilson. Among the survivors is a brother, R. V. Eason, of the Joe Stokes community.

Weather Damp, But Rain Light

A fifth of an inch of moisture is all that Lynn county got out of the three days of damp, cool weather that prevailed this week. A wet norther hit Monday night bringing a small moisture content, which had been increased to .16 of an inch Tuesday night by the mist and a few sprinkles of rain that fell during the day. By Wednesday noon this had been increased to .20.

The weather was cool throughout the entire period, the temperature not rising above 56 degrees either Tuesday or Wednesday.

The damp cool weather has delayed the planting of cotton. Most of the seed are to be put into the soil yet.

Tom Hale Jr. Tells Of North African Trip By Convoy

Midshipman Tom Hale Jr., U. S. Naval Reserve, serving in the Merchant Marines, just home this week from North Africa, was the speaker at the Thursday noon meeting of Tahoka Rotary Club.

Tom told many interesting experiences and observations in regard to the war, being careful not to divulge any information of value to the enemy.

He told of the great convoy in which his ship traveled, attacks by submarines and enemy aircraft, the arrival at Casablanca, but more particularly of Algiers, where he went ashore. He expressed high admiration for the British fighting men, but was not so complimentary of the French. He told of the hunger and squalor of the North African natives. In fact, his talk gave Rotarians a good insight to conditions in that country from an American sailor's viewpoint.

Tom also told of his service in the Pacific aboard tankers, though most of his service out there was in coastwise shipping, which reached from Alaska as far south as the Panama Canal.

Tom Jr. is enlisted as a student, though in active service, and on completion of his training, he will be a commissioned officer.

His father, Tom Hale Sr., was also a guest.

Map Reading Is Studied By TDG

Talks on military map reading by Pts. H. E. Mather and Carey May occupied the instruction period of the Texas Defense Guard company here Monday night. The two men gave much informative material on maps, map reading and map making.

Preceding the instruction period, the company engaged in about an hour of close order drill by squads and by platoons. Each enlisted man is being given practice in giving commands in squad drill.

Only about 45 men were present Monday night due to the fact that many were busy with planting, and others were out of town.

Lt. Homan Edwards Is Awarded Wings

Mrs. Marcus Edwards and children, Joann and Jerry, and Mrs. Irene Gallagher and Mrs. Wade Holland left Wednesday afternoon for Marfa to attend the graduating exercises at the flying field there the next day when Mrs. Edwards's son, Homan received his wings.

Lt. Edwards has long been in the service but he re-enlisted and began training in the Air Corps last summer. He is now a first lieutenant.

Lt. Robert Spikes In African War

Lieut. Robert Spikes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Spikes of Slaton but formerly of Tahoka, has been in combat flying ever since he landed in North Africa, according to his parents who were here Friday for the Tahoka High School graduation exercises.

Robert landed in North Africa on February 23, and immediately was sent into action, he writes. Since that time, he has been making many sorties over enemy targets as the pilot of a B-25. Billy Mitchell bomber. Their latest letters from him, however, are now nearly a month old, April 7 and 9, but no doubt he has had a part in the recent rout of the Axis from that continent and in bombing Sicily and Italy.

They moved to Arcadia from San Luis Obispo.

T. V. McAllister Is Missing; Boydston, Macha Wounded

Telegrams came to Tahoka from the War Department Tuesday morning bringing the sad news that one Lynn county man was missing and two others slightly wounded in the service of their country.

A telegram addressed to W. N. McAllister of Draw informed him that his grandson, Troy V. McAllister, A. O. M. 3/c., was missing since May 14 in an operational flight over Puget Sound, Washington. The presumption is that his plane was forced down into the sound or the ocean and that he was killed or drowned.

Further information as to McAllister's service is not immediately available. He was reared in Lynn county, and his father was a casualty of the first World War, having been gassed or shell-shocked, his nerves shattered and his health impaired, dying some time ago as a result, largely, of those injuries.

John J. Boydston of Tahoka also received a telegram to the effect that his son, S/Sgt. William J. Boydston, had been slightly wounded in action in North Africa on April 26. The nature of the wound was not given nor any of the circumstances of his injury nor any of the details as to his condition. It is presumed that the injury was not at all serious.

On the same day H. A. Macha received a telegram that his son, Pvt. Edmund V. Macha, was also slightly wounded in action in Africa on April 13. No further information as to his injury was given, and it is presumed likewise that he is recovering satisfactorily.

Mr. and Boydston have three other sons in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McPadden also received a communication from the War Department Monday repeating the information given many months ago that their son, Cpl. William T. McPadden, had been missing since the fall of Corregidor on May 7, 1942, and was still presumed to be a prisoner of the Japs, though no additional information as to him had been obtained. Mrs. McPadden expressed the confident belief that he is back in the mountains of Luzon somewhere carrying on guerrilla warfare instead of being a prisoner of the Japs.

Gagnats Attending Two Graduations, Marriage of Son

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gagnat left last Friday on one of the most unusual trips of a life time. They will attend the graduation of their daughter from high school, the graduation from West Point, commissioning, and wedding of their son.

On June 1, Charles A. Gagnat will be graduated from United States Military Academy, where he has been a cadet for three years, and will receive a commission in the U. S. Army as second lieutenant.

Following the graduation ceremony, and on the same day, Charles will be married in the traditional West Point ceremony to Miss Ann Patricia Kane of New York City.

Miss Kane is the daughter of Mrs. Francis X. Kane and the late Mr. Kane, 250 Bedford Park Blvd., N. Y. She is a graduate of Academy of Mount Saint Ursula.

Both Charles and Myrna Dean were reared in Tahoka, and many friends here congratulate them and their parents on their achievements.

CRISIS IN MANPOWER

Today's problem of manpower means as much to the farmer with one hired hand, or the merchant with a single clerk, as it does to the industrialist who employs a thousand persons. It is all a matter of proportion.

The war program has reached such a stupendous size that the proper distribution of manpower assumes as much importance as the right use of steel, oil, rubber, or any other essential material or product.

It has been such a short time since there was more manpower than industry and agriculture could absorb that we may be a bit slow in waking up to the fact that today each man and woman who can be used to help in the battle of production is needed, and needed badly.

For the benefit, then, of farmers whose crops and livestock will suffer this year if manpower is not replenished; for the benefit of the armed services which have set their sights at possibly 10 million in uniform before 1944; for the benefit of the factories which must turn out ammunition, shoes, clothing, supplies and processed foods in ever-increasing quantities for fighters, civilians and allied nations, a careful stock-taking of manpower is required.

Where Manpower is Wasted
Our new Congress must make sure that those in charge of this task, in Washington, cast about to see where able-bodied people are being needlessly employed. And in that city of Washington these authorities are now rubbing elbows with thousands of clerks, auditors, stenographers and others who could be used elsewhere without interfering with the war effort in any measure.

Recent figures showed that there were 2,606,300 persons on the civilian payroll of the federal government. This is not only a million more than were in our armed forces in foreign lands at the time the President made his address at the opening of the present Congress, but it is three times as many as were on the government's civilian payroll during the first World War. Of course this is a bigger war, but that only furnishes an even greater reason why the government should lead in conserving manpower for our farms and factories.

The "Renegotiation" Law
A single measure, introduced in Congress last year, would require thousands of new payrollers to carry out its provisions. This was the act providing that the Army, Navy and Maritime commission should each check its war contracts so that renegotiation could be demanded in cases of excessive charges.

The purpose of this legislation—to make sure that the government was not paying too much for its materials and supplies—was not questioned. But the proposed method of rechecking all war contracts called for the hiring of such a large number of new federal employees that amendments to the bill were quickly demanded.

Although the bill has been rewritten and amended, it still places upon the Army, Navy and Maritime commission so much of the responsibility for re-examining their contracts that thousands of new auditors and accountants would be needed. This violates the principle that united war effort calls for the placing of every available man and woman in productive work, at the same time helping to keep the taxpayers' federal load as light as possible, consistent with wartime demands.

An acceptable amendment to this law—not yet adopted—would leave it to the Department of Internal Revenue to uncover instances of excess profit. By using this established checking system, the other departments would not have to hire extra people to wade through the 99 per cent or more of war contracts which are honestly and conscientiously executed.

Here is but one example of how manpower can be conserved in these days when the efforts of all must be directed toward winning the war.

Frank Liddell Is Hunting Knives For Use By Marines

Frank Liddell of O'Donnell, who returned on Thursday of last week from a visit to his son, Pvt. Gwyn Liddell at Camp Pendleton, Ocean-side, California, dropped into The News office Wednesday to get information by which he might get in touch with the man who made those vicious-looking knives, pictures of which appeared in The News a few weeks ago. His son is in the Marines and he says some of his pals are interested in obtaining some weapons of that character.

Mrs. Liddell and Miss Jessie Jean Long, also of O'Donnell, accompanied Mr. Liddell to the West Coast.

Pvt. Gwyn Liddell is a radio operator in the Medium Tank Battalion of the Marines. Just now he is operating from a jeep. Mr. Liddell says that his son had grown so much that he hardly recognized the lad. Only 20 years of age, he weighed 148 pounds, stripped, when he entered the service six months ago. Now he weighs 185.

With young Liddell and in the same company are two other O'Donnell boys, Buddy Shook and a youth whose name Mr. Liddell could not recall at the moment.

Plenty of evidences out on the West Coast that a war is on, Mr. Liddell says.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reed have received word that their son, Willis Ray (Skeeter), who is in training at San Diego, Calif., is in the Naval Hospital with an injured back.

Mrs. Deck Dunagan has accepted a position in R. W. Fenton Jr.'s insurance office.

Mrs. A. C. Hardin has been ill for several days but is up again.

New Home Church Dedication May 30

New Home Methodist Church will be dedicated Sunday, May 30, when an all-day service will be held, with Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum of Clarendon bringing the dedication sermon.

The formal dedication will be during the 11 o'clock service. Dinner will be served "on the ground" at noon, and there will be other services at 2:30 in the afternoon and at 9 o'clock in the evening.

The church building was erected two years ago in April at a cost of $3,000, and is of frame and stucco construction. Recently the building has been further improved.

All members and former members of the church and friends are being invited to attend the programs, according to Mrs. Wilmer Smith, of that community.

Rev. O. M. Addison is pastor of the New Home Methodist Church, and Mr. Gene Roper is Sunday School superintendent. The latter is in charge of arrangements for the dedication day program.

Rev. F. Thomas Is Moving To Enochs

Rev. Frank Thomas, who has been pastor of the Central Baptist Church eleven miles east of Tahoka for about two years, has accepted the call of the Church at Enochs in Bailey county, and he stated to a representative of The News Tuesday that he expected to move onto the field Thursday.

Rev. Thomas recently conducted a very successful revival meeting at Enochs, after which the church promptly called him as pastor. He thinks a splendid opportunity awaits him there.

Rev. Thomas has done a constructive work at Central. The church has prospered under his leadership, and just recently he led in a building campaign which resulted in the addition of several Sunday school rooms to the church building.

Noah Smith, brother of R. L. Smith, of New Home and well known in this section, died at his home in Levelland Sunday and was buried Monday.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The work on the basement is progressing in a fine way. The dirt has been removed and work has begun on the walls.

We had a splendid day last Lord's day at all services and we feel sure that next Lord's day will be as good or better. It is going to be a very busy time—for awhile but remember that the first day of the week belongs to the Lord. Six days have you to labor for yourself. Will you not lay everything aside and worship the Giver of all things throughout the day that he has set aside for that purpose?

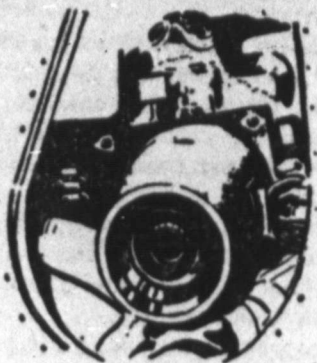

We invite the entire public to attend our services. Regardless of the clothes you may have to wear or the car you have to ride in, the latch string hangs on the outside at the Church of Christ meeting house. Come, we will be glad to greet you.—Garnie Atkinson.

MANN-CONNELL

Last Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Church of Christ building, Garnie Atkinson spoke the words that united Mr. William Leo Mann and Miss Lillie Fay Connell in marriage. The young couple live at O'Donnell. They were attended by some of their close friends.

There are some in this county who are clamoring for a change of our war policies while we are right in the middle of the stream. They insist that we defer or abandon if necessary our planned invasion of Europe and turn our full strength on Japan. While we do not know much about conducting a war, it does seem to us that to do this would be foolish in the extreme. Now, it seems to us, is the opportune time to push our fight against the Nazis. We have won a great victory in North Africa. We have thrown the Germans and the Italians into great consternation and confusion. We have been blasting their war industries with ever-increasing fury and effectiveness. We have strained their morale almost to the breaking point. For us to let up in that area now, it seems to us, would be throwing away the best opportunity we could have to whip the Axis powers. All of us are eager to get at the throats of the Japs. But since we started out to whip Hitler first, it seems to us we had better stick to our purpose. Let us not listen to the voices of civilians or Senators who would have us face about at this stage of the game. Let's leave the war strategy to the President, the War and the Navy Departments, and to the Admirals and the Generals.

Another staggering blow to Germany's power plants and war production programs was struck Monday by the British RAF when two of Germany's largest dams were blasted and countless thousands of tons of water needed to turn the wheels of industry were released, flooding the Ruhr and Weser River valleys and carrying destruction in their wake. Germany began this bombing business, and in 1940 and 1941, when Britain like America was woefully unprepared, her airmen dropped their bombs on public buildings, churches, schools, hospitals, and homes in London and other English cities until it looked as if the country could never recover. But the courage of the English people. Now, with the aid of America, who also has a warm heart and an unquenchable spirit, the British are carrying the war into the heart of Germany. Her industries and her public buildings and her power plants and her railway stations and her docks are now being blown to atoms by British and American bombers. The chickens are coming home to roost.

The deliberate sinking by the Japs of that hospital ship carrying about 60 physicians and nurses near the east coast of Australia the first of this week demonstrates anew that we are fighting not a civilized nation on the Pacific but a nation of savages. When the savage Indians a hundred years ago used to stealthily attack families of whites in their homes and brutally murder men, women, and children, their crimes were no blacker than the crime of deliberately attacking and murdering today unarmed men and women going on missions of mercy to the sick and the wounded, with no intent whatever to do personal injury to a single human being on earth. The Japs must be thoroughly whipped in this war, disarmed at the close of it, and then civilized during the following century, if they are capable of being civilized.

As far as we are informed and are able to judge, the legislature which recently adjourned did a very good job of it with one exception. As usual, it failed to pass a redistricting bill, giving West Texas fair representation in the legislature. We have one representative out here for eight or ten counties. They have two or three representatives for each county down in East Texas. Of course those boys are not going to agree to any bill that would equalize representation, for that would put about two-thirds of them out of a job. West Texas is going to have to make its appeal to the large cities of the state and to the black land counties of North and Central Texas for a just and fair redistricting bill before those East Texas boys can be made to take their snouts out of the legislative swill bucket.

ODDS and ENDS

by E. E. Eyo, the Elder

Well, those American boys have been dropping bombs on the slopes of old Mount Etna but so far she has not fought back. Guess they will be bombing old Vesuvius next. They have almost poured the life out of Naples near by already.

It may not be necessary to do much more bombing in Italy, however, for if Hitler has abandoned her to her fate she will probably surrender or collapse some time soon. If she doesn't, then American and British forces will keep up their good work until they get the job done, and Sicily will probably be the first to fall into the hands of the Allies. Palermo, Catania, and other places already have been reduced to pieces almost.

About forty miles south of Catania, right on the seacoast is the little city of Syracuse, which now has a population of about 50,000. It is said, but Syracuse now is mostly ruins. Once it was a great city, one of the greatest of the ancient world, the rival of Carthage and of Rome.

It had its Hitler too. It was founded by Greek colonists from Corinth more than 700 years B. C. It is said, about 400 years B. C., there was a young fellow working as a clerk in Syracuse, who apparently came from the lower stratum of society and seemingly had no political future, but he had brains and ambition, and by some means he climbed rapidly, and before anybody scarcely knew what was happening he had made himself dictator of all Syracuse.

That young fellow bore the name of Dionysius, and as he grew older he came to be known as Dionysius the Elder. As a tyrant, he was tops. If he had been living in these days he probably would have beat Hitler to the draw. He decided he would subdue all the neighboring towns and cities one at a time. As he conquered them he burnt them and made slaves of their inhabitants—put them to work in his fields and factories.

But "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," and Dionysius was not happy. He was suspicious of everybody. He trusted nobody. And he was insanely jealous.

One of his subjects was a poor laborer, who imagined that Dionysius, being a king, wealthy and powerful, must be a very happy man. One day he expressed the wish that he were in Dionysius' place. He talked of it more and more, and reports of his discontent finally reached Dionysius himself.

The king summoned Damocles, for that was the poor laborer's name, to appear before him. Damocles came with much fear and trembling.

"Damocles, I understand that you wish that you were in my place," Dionysius said.

Damocles was loath to admit it but finally did venture to say that if he could occupy Dionysius' throne one day, he would live happily ever afterward and die content.

"Your wish shall be granted; you may sit on my throne tomorrow," Dionysius replied.

Bewildered but overjoyed, Damocles appeared bright and early the next morning. He took his place upon the throne. It was wonderful! Servants came and went at his beck and call. He had the best of everything. Nobles and richly-attired ladies bowed before him. Magnificent was the gilded palace. He admired the highly ornamented walls, and then he looked up at the ceiling. Horrors! A sword, with keen edge, hanging directly over his head! And suspended only by a thread!

"Take it away!" he shouted sternly. It was removed, but another sword promptly appeared in its place.

"Move the throne," he ordered. The throne was moved, but still there was the sword hanging directly above it, still hanging by a mere thread. Damocles could not get away from it.

For hours he sat trying to ignore and forget that sword, but he could not. He sent for the prime minister. He demanded an explanation as to why the sword had been suspended above his throne.

"Great power and great wealth go with the throne," the prime minister explained, "but for the same reason there is great danger also."

Looking up again Damocles imagined the thread was about to break. "I want to be king no longer," he exclaimed, and leaped from the throne.

And so that is the origin of the expression still frequently used, "The sword of Damocles."

Charley Guy devoted his column one day recently to the poets, explaining why he could not print their stuff. He tried it once, he said, and if he refused one, that poet and his family ran him ragged for the next six months.

Well, if old Dionysius, king of Syracuse, had been living in Lubbock while Charley was running his "Poet's Corner," he would have been a thorn in the flesh for Charley. For old Dionysius imagined that he was a great poet.

There was a great philosopher named Philoxenus living in Syracuse whom old Dionysius greatly admired. So he wrote a "poem" and submitted it to Philoxenus expecting to receive great praise. But old Philoxenus scoffed at it. Enraged Dionysius threw the old philosopher into jail.

Time passed, and then old Dionysius wrote another poem which he thought was much better than the first one. He had old Philoxenus brought out of the prison, believing that this time surely the old philosopher would approve. So he read the poem to Philoxenus most impressively, and then waited for a compliment. After an equally impressive wait, Philoxenus turned to his guard and merely muttered, "Carry me back to prison."

For one time, Old Dionysius, though disappointed, had to laugh.

You have heard the story of Damon and Pythias—how Pythias was thrown into prison and condemned to death because he had offended Dionysius in some way, how Pythias asked to be released from prison long enough to wind up his earthly affairs and how Damon took his place in jail to assure old Dionysius of Pythias' return, and how Pythias did return in time for the execution, thus providing material for the most beautiful story of friendship to be found in all literature, with possible exception of the story of David and Jonathan. Well, that Damon and Pythias incident happened in Syracuse, now just a little city of Sicily in which some of our American soldiers may soon be flirting with beautiful Sicilian girls.

Archimedes, the greatest mathematician of ancient times, the fellow who leaped from the bath-tub exclaiming "Eureka! Eureka!" meaning "I have found it, I have found it," when he had discovered a great mathematical truth, he was an inhabitant of Syracuse. He was strictly for his home town too. One time when the Romans were besieging Syracuse, their fleet caught fire and burned up. It was afterward discovered that Archimedes had set it afire by focusing rays of light upon a ship by the use of mirrors. At least that is the story.

It will probably not be necessary for our aviators to bomb Syracuse or otherwise destroy it, but when our Lynn county aviators come back home it will be interesting to learn whether or not they met up with any of the female descendants of old Dionysius, or any of the other gentlemen mentioned above.

Dionysius the Elder, by the way.

Southland News

(By Mrs. Marvin Truelock)

Ben Etta Mining was valedictorian of the Class of '43. Billy White won a scholarship as best student among the boys, and Virginia Lee Ward was salutatorian. Ben Etta was absent from the candle-lit graduation exercises Tuesday evening, but she will graduate this Friday night from the Bell Telephone School in Springfield, Missouri, with a grade of 95. Her instructor gave her choice of immediate employment in three towns, Lubbock, Clovis, or Dallas, but she chose the one nearest home.

Le Roy Voigt began work last week with the Dalby Truck Line in Lubbock.

Mrs. Ed Martin's letter last week from her son, Ding, was four months from the last one. This seaman wrote that he had seen some awful sights but couldn't relate them until he came home. He hopes to be on Treasure Island, San Francisco, long enough to have some dental work done. Leon King is also stationed at Treasure Island, and their mothers hope the boys can get together.

Sgt. Calvin Klaus and James R. King recently learned that Otis Browning is also somewhere near London, England. The three may get to spend a week-end in the city together soon.

Last Tuesday, the H. R. Stotts family moved from near Post to the Anderson house across the street from the school. Mrs. Stotts has been employed as a teacher here for next fall. She attended North Texas Teachers College at Denton and has eight years of teaching experience, the last year and a half at Barnum Springs.

Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Morris and daughter, Ruth, left for their home in Dallas, after attending the funeral of his father, Albert Morris. Another of the sons, S. N. Morris, and wife and son left Wednesday afternoon for Winters. The elder son, Wayne Morris, left Thursday morning for Cleveland, Ohio.

The grandchildren attending were: Cadet Ralph Landers of Pine Bluff, Ark., who left Friday after spending two days here; Ruth Landers of San Diego, who left Saturday; Mrs. Herman Whitte and family of Odessa, Mrs. Lura Mae Johnson of Matador. Also attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wood of Wingate.

Monday night of last week, the Senior Class enjoyed a theatre party and picnic at Lubbock. They saw "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday" at the Tower Theatre, then went for a picnic lunch by light of campfire and carlight at the Mackenzie Park. Those attending were: Lee Roy Voigt, Clyde King, James Field, Billy White, Betty Sue Basinger, Virginia Lee Ward, Viola Bruedigam, their sponsor, Miss Frances Caffey, and the two class mothers, Mrs. Walter Voigt and Mrs. Mrs. H. C. White. Mr. and Mrs. Carl McNeece and son went to Slaton last Sunday to spend two days with her parents. Her brother, Pfc. J. R. Childress, was there also. He is flight engineer in Denver, Colo.

Staff Sgt. Herman Irwin, accompanied by Tech. Sgt. Louis Cabron of Station C, Dallas, visited his wife and his parents Thursday night. They were en route from Roswell, New Mexico, where they have been for four and one-half months, to Dallas.

Henry Martin returned Wednesday after spending two days in San Angelo with his son, Myrt.

Word was received of the wedding of Miss Doris Gray at the First Methodist Church in Fresno, Calif. The groom is a soldier whose home is in San Saba and who was formerly stationed at Lubbock Flying School. The bride moved to Southland when she was a baby and this has been her home until several years ago. She is a graduate of our high school, Draughtons Business College, and was employed at LAWS until she and her mother moved to California recently.

Robert Hart, who is stationed at Fort Bliss, arrived last Tuesday and returned to camp Monday.

Miss Margaret Tate spent the week end here with Mrs. O. J. Harmonson and family. Miss Tate, who is staying with Mrs. B. R. Arthur, reports that her patient was almost helpless for several days, but was much improved Saturday when relatives arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Lewis and children of Portales, New Mexico, visited her aunt, Mrs. H. C. White Thursday night.

Melvin Bruster hears from his brother, Norman, occasionally. So, the report that he hadn't been heard from since the capture of Wake Island (where he was a civilian employee) is a mistake. Melvin reports that his brother is still riding the high seas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker returned last week, after spending four months on the coast, where fishing is fishing.

Mrs. John Irwin and her sister, Mrs. Gus Pollard of Brownwood, visited relatives in Snyder last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis of Fort Worth arrived Saturday night to visit their parents, Mrs. G. W. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Davies. Their daughter, Carol, who has been visiting relatives here, returned home with them Monday.

Sunday afternoon, May 23, at 3:00 the Sunbeams will give a program at the Southland Baptist Church for Negro children. Then the pastor, Rev. O. E. McGaw, will preach to the colored adults.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Sunbeams went wading in the bar ditches on the highway west of town, followed by a picnic lunch.

Cpl. James Foster Is In Northern Africa

Mrs. L. F. Craft received a letter Monday, the first in many weeks, from her foster-son, Cpl. James A. Foster from somewhere in "the Dark Continent." She had been certain for some time that he was in Africa, but this was the first direct word she had had from him.

"Needless to say, I have followed a stringent schedule since arriving," he writes, in part. "I can't say what, where or how my activities have been except that I have never pushed my body through such a program before. It's a miracle the feats one can perform if need be."

"However, despite the course of events, despite the sweat and tired bones, I feel much better than I have in a long time."

James says, believe it or not, they have even had a little time for baseball. He also tells of attending Easter services in his "fresh-pressed fatigues."

"The money order you sent me," he writes Mrs. Craft, "under the impression that I had not vacated the U. S. is of no value to me now, so I am returning same. Money in Africa is as hard to spend as it is easy to vanish at home."

James was home on furlough a few months ago and described some of the American Army commando training in a talk at the Rotary Club.

The News overlooked mentioning last week the visit of Elmo A. Schaffner, aerial gunner third class, of the U. S. Navy, who was here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Schaffner of West Point. He was accompanied by his buddy, Ernest Jones of Washington state, and the two were en route from Florida, where they had just finished an aerial gunnery course, to San Francisco, Calif., where they will take more advanced training.

New Home Shop Open To Farmers

Since many of our farm shops have been closed, it is a problem for farmers to get some of the equipment repaired. In many cases, they have to wait days for the completed jobs. Many of these jobs could be done by the farmer himself with the aid of someone and by the use of the proper tools.

N. S. Abbott, vocational agricultural teacher at New Home, has set up plans whereby the school shop there will be open Monday and Tuesday of each week throughout the summer months for farmers to bring their repair jobs and do them. Mr. Abbott will be in the shop to do the job or assist any farmer who wants to and will take advantage of this opportunity.

The shop is equipped with the following available tools for most any farm job: Wood working tools, welding, arc and oxy-acetylene, motor mechanics; metal work, soldering, forging hot metal, bolt threading and tapping; and pipe cutting and threading.

Mr. Abbott would like for every farmer to take advantage of the use of these fine tools and this shop.

BILLIE ROWLAND WEDS LT. EDWARD PRATI

In an all-white setting Saturday night in the 359th Infantry chapel at Camp Berkeley, Abilene, Miss Billie Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Rowland of New Lynn, this county, became the bride of 1st. Lieut. Edward V. Prati, son of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Prati of Asti, California.

Nuptial mass was read by the Rev. Fr. Ray Kerns, 359th Inf. chaplain. Carnations formed an arch over the altar and were arranged in baskets on either side. White tapers burned in tall candelabra and palms added a green note to the chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Spikes of Monahans. Among the many witnesses to the event was the bride's mother.

The groom's best man was Lt. Askegaard of Fargo, N. D. Lt. John Fish of Oregon, Lt. Hobby McCall of Dallas, and Lt. Jack Chisholm of Los Angeles were ushers.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a trip to San Francisco and Asti, Calif.

Mrs. Prati was reared at Loraine and finished high school there, but for a number of years she has regarded Lynn county as her home, since her parents have lived here. She was graduated in 1941 from McMurry College, where she majored in business administration. In college she was a member of the Wah Wah-taysee Drum and Bugle Corps and the T. I. P. social club and is a member of Beta Sigma Phi international sorority. Before her marriage she was employed in the Camp Berkeley quartermaster office.

Lt. Prati was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1938. Before entering the Army he was engaged in business with his father. He has been stationed at Camp Berkeley since April, 1942.

LaVerne Reddell has been visiting her grandmother at Idalou this week.

WALTERS AT CHARLOTTE

Pfc. Clyde M. Walters, who visited his relatives at Draw recently, wrote to The News last week that his address had been changed to Morris Field, Charlotte, North Carolina. "This is a nice place," he writes. "I nearly got lost in the field. There is a lot of pretty trees and grass here."

He was here on a 10-days furlough and says that the time surely did pass away quickly. "But I knew it would before I went," he observed. "I went through ten states in five days and I was ready to quit when I got here. . . . I sure like to get the Lynn County News, as I can see where the boys are that I knew."

Mrs. Dan Yandell, the former Miss Polly Jenkins, and Hazel Jenkins, who are employed in a defense plant at Fort Worth, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Jenkins here last Saturday and Sunday. They were accompanied by Miss Mickey Grubbs and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nowell and little daughter, Freddie Sue. Mrs. Nowell being Mr. Jenkins' sister. Grandma Jenkins returned with them to spend a few weeks. Incidentally, they reported lots of rain in Fort Worth.

Sgt. R. C. Wells Jr. and one of his pals from the Pampa Flying Field were here last week end visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wells. They returned to Pampa Saturday. If Sgt. Wells passes the tests, he expects to "go across" soon as a radio operator.

Misses Lorene Reese and Robbie Milliken spent the week end at Lubbock with Rev. and Mrs. Geo. A. Dale.

HAVE FAMILY REUNION

Four sisters and one brother of Mrs. W. R. Traweck together with their families filled their dinner baskets and went down to the Traweck home near Redwine last Sunday and spent the day.

Two brothers and families, W. T. Luttrell of Draw and S. G. Luttrell of Portales, New Mexico, could not attend.

Those enjoying the family reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henry and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. King, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Nurdyke and daughter, Faye, and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Luttrell, all of this county.

Mrs. Letha Sanders of Dallas came last Friday to spend a couple of weeks with her mother, Mrs. Cornelia Kelly, and with her sister, Mrs. R. C. Wells. She will proceed from here to Virginia to join her husband, who is in the Navy, until he is called for service overseas and will then return to Tahoka for the duration.

Mrs. V. V. Laws of Grassland has a letter from her son, Kelly Laws, who is in the Army glider infantry, stationed at Camp Mackall, N. C., stating that he had won the sharpshooter medal with the rifle and he lacked only two points qualifying for the expert award, which is the highest in rifle fire.

T. A. McNeely of Houston is here this week visiting his cousin, J. H. McNeely. The two men feel more like brothers, however, since J. H. as a boy grew up in the home of T. A. McNeely parents. The two became separated about the time they were reaching manhood's estate and had not seen each other for more than forty years until T. A. came Tuesday.

Four Charged In Chicken Thefts

Four Tahoka boys ranging in age from thirteen to eighteen years were landed in jail Wednesday night and Thursday morning charged with a number of thefts committed in and near Tahoka. Two of the boys, it is said, have made confessions.

The boys seem to have specialized on chickens and eggs. They would drive up to a house, if in the country, knock on the door, and if they could get no response and were sure the occupants were away from home, they would proceed to catch all the chickens they could and would also gather up the eggs, and then bring their loot to town and sell it. At least one poultry yard in Tahoka was raided in the same way.

Two of the boys are eighteen years of age, and the charges against them constitute felony. The other two are 16 and 13 respectively and can be tried only as juvenile offenders.

Congratulations . .

To Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gurley upon the birth of a son weighing six pounds and two ounces at 2 o'clock Sunday morning in the Lubbock General Hospital. The little fellow will be christened Michael Lee.

Pfc. Roger M. Turner, who is stationed at Bryan, has been visiting friends and relatives here and along the east line of the county the past two weeks during a fifteen-day furlough. Pfc. Turner who was formerly stationed at Lubbock Army Flying School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Turner of Post, Rt. 2.

Mrs. L. O. Mitchell reports that they had a letter Wednesday from their son, Leland O. Mitchell, who left for San Diego on Monday of last week to do service in the U. S. Marines. He indicated that he was very much pleased so far, and said that he found a fine group of boys there. Leland had been employed at Colb's store before going into the armed service.

Mrs. Gladys Howard, primary teacher in the local school, left last week end for Wichita Falls to be near her husband, Grady Howard, who is in Sheppard Field.

Mrs. John Donaldson was sick several days but is now able to be up again.

Too, they will know exactly what work they will do in the Navy and what pay they will draw before their enlistment.

Furlow Infant Is Buried At Draw

Funeral services for Freddie Hall Furlow, little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Furlow of the Harmony community in Dawson county near O'Donnell, were conducted in the Methodist Church at Draw by Rev. McDonald, pastor at O'Donnell, on Tuesday afternoon of last week, and the body was buried in the Draw cemetery.

The infant had died of whooping cough in a Lamesa hospital on Monday, May 10, being three months and 10 days old. It had been taken to the hospital on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Furlow was reared at Draw and the remains were taken to that place for burial. The mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Atkins, still reside at Draw, while the father's parents reside in the Harmony community.

Pall bearers were brothers of the father, Oscar, Joe, and Lance Furlow, and a brother-in-law, Weldon Blair. Sisters of the mother and her classmates, Mildred Gilles, Patsy Montgomery, Frances Martin, El Wanda Stalleup, Faye Mensch, and Louise Pierce, served as flower girls. The bereaved parents have the deepest sympathy of many friends.

Buster Driver of Sheppard Field came on a three-day pass last Friday to spend the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Driver. It was his first visit home since he was inducted into the Army seven or eight weeks ago.

LT. GILES PROMOTED

Mrs. J. A. Giles of the Bethel community reports that her son Donald, who is with the American Armed forces in England, was recently promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant. He had made an application for aviation cadet but had been turned down on account of the fact that he was needed right where he was, his superior officers said.

Pvt. K. H. Harter is here on a 15-days furlough from the Army Flying Field at San Marcos visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harter, and his little son, Jimmy Harter.

Flight Officer C. B. (Boots) King, glider pilot in the Army Air Forces, now is stationed at Maxton, North Carolina.
