Senate Opens Discussion Of World Charter

WASHINGTON —(P)— Senator Connally (D-Texas) opened Senate debate on the United Nations charter Monday with the declaration that this country's best assurance of peace lies in wholehearted international cooperation.

The Texan said party politics had played no part in establishing the united front he declared now is presented to the world.

With only a few voices raised to question its terms, the 50-nation agreement signed at San Francisco last month may emerge late this week with its most important endorsement—the Senatorial ratification expected to signal quick approval by other nations.

Leaders hope the debate will be short and to the point. They want a vote by Friday or Saturday.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the majority chief, has barred consideration of other matters.

For the advocates, the debate will be largely a series of statements by senators who want to be certain that history will record their support of the most ambitious undertaking of its kind. Senators Connally (D-Texas), Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Barkley and others will be ready, however, to defend the charter provisions at every point.

There are indications that some explaining will have to be done before the final vote comes, despite supporters' confidence that only two or three members will oppose ratification in that test.

Senator Revercomb (R-W. Va.) has said he wants leaders to spell out just how much authority will be lodged in the American representative on the proposed World Security Council to vote for use of this country's armed forces without first consulting Congress.

2,100 Feet Oil In Devonian DST Of M & H Cowden

By JAMES C. WATSON

Oil Editor

Magnolia Petroleum Company and Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Cowden, Southwest Andrews County exploration in section 7, block A-55, psi survey, appears to have proven commercial production from the Devonian.

In a one-hour drillstem test, late Saturday, at 7,995-7,914 feet, the well had gas at surface in 52 minutes. Recovery was the 1,350-foot water blanket and 2,100 feet of clean oil, and when that fluid had been taken out by breaking down drill-pipe the well unloaded and cleaned itself. The oil was high-gravity.

Will Check Again

Following the test the well cored to 7,932 feet and another drillstem test was to be taken. Information from informed sources was that section at 7,899-7,914 feet was horizon from which the oil came in the Saturday test.

Humble has filed application to drill a one-mile south outpost to the Anton field in Northeast Lamb County.

The prospector will be Humble's No. 1 Mrs. C. L. Campbell et al, and is 660 feet out of northeast corner of west-half of section 116, block A. R. M. Thompson survey. It is to drill to around 6,500 feet and will start by July 28. The location is one mile due south of Humble's No. 1 Jackson, discovery for lower Permian production in that region.

More Shows For Penrose

Neville G. Penrose, Inc., No. 1 376e, Ellenburger discovery in section 9-22S-37E, Ellenburger discovery two miles southeast of Eunice in Southeast Lea County, New Mexico, was making hole under 8,180 feet, in Ellenburger.

A drillstem test at 8,118-80 feet was open one hour and 30 minutes. Recovery was 300 feet of gas cut drilling mud, and 120 feet of heavily oil cut mud. Flowing bottom-hole pressure during test was 300 pounds. After well had been shut-in for 35 minutes the pressure was 500 pounds.

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A University, Devonian discovery in East-Central Crane County, and in section 33, block 31, University survey, had progressed under 9,175 feet, in Silurian lime, and was continuing.

Atlantic No. 1-B TXL, outpost to production from the Devonian in the TXL area of West Ector County, was to take a drillstem test on a lower zone at 7,385-7,475 feet.

Skelley Oil Company No. 1 Sugg, Irion County wildcat in section 45, block 1, H&TC survey, was coring below 7,882 feet in lime of an unidentified formation.

Hordes Of Flies Strike Midland; Cleanup Needed

Efforts are being made by the Midland County Health Unit to obtain some DDT for use in fighting the swarms of flies infesting Midland, Dr. J. A. Olean said Monday.

Dr. Olean said some of the preparation has been promised but has not arrived. DDT is being used by the Army in the jungles to battle insects and is an insecticide developed during war research.

Immediate cleaning of premises in both the business district and the residential section was suggested by Dr. Olean as an effective way to help eliminate the flies.

Where it is necessary to place garbage on sidewalks the sidewalks should be cleaned regularly. Citizens should see that the area around where they place garbage is kept clean. Cow lots also should be cleaned regularly.

All Citizens Must Cooperate

Since flies travel by odor, citizens should eliminate all odors which might draw flies.

"While the DDT will eliminate flies where it is used, we will only be able to obtain enough to treat some food handling establishments," Dr. Olean said. "If the city is to be rid of the swarms of flies everyone must cooperate," the health unit director said.

Carl Peay, chairman of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce, said he would call all members of the committee Monday and set a date for a meeting of the group so plans can be put into effect immediately for a clean-up drive.

"The number of flies here is proof of the need for such a campaign," Peay said.

City To Advertise For Bids Promptly On Water Project

The City of Midland will advertise for bids immediately on its $400,000 water and sewer improvement program, Mayor A. N. Hendrickson said Monday.

As plans for the projects are already drawn, little time should be lost in getting the work started, he predicted.

Priorities have been obtained, and the mayor has been promised fourth quarter delivery of steel for the large water storage tank which will be built on a site west of the city limits.

A great amount of interest is being shown in the city's paving program, which will tie in with the drainage improvement program. A number of citizens have called at the City Hall and obtained paving application blanks to have residents of their streets sign, the mayor said.

Japs May Allow Swiss To Inspect War Prisons

WASHINGTON —(P)— This country may get a better insight into conditions in Japanese prisoner of war camps.

A State Department announcement said Japan had "agreed in principle" to a Swiss stipulation that their observers be permitted to visit all camps under Japanese control where Americans are held.

Switzerland made the stipulation after Tokyo asked that government to take over representation of Japanese interests in the United States. Switzerland also represents United States interests in Japan.

Cowden's Condition Is Reported 'Fair'

The condition of E. P. Cowden, injured Saturday in an accident on his ranch near Jal, N. M., was described by hospital attendants Monday as "fair."

The pioneer rancher suffered five broken ribs and fractures of the collar bone and a shoulder when his horse stumbled and pitched him.

Ultimatum Is Warning Reds May Hit Japs

POTSDAM —(P)— A broadcast U. S. surrender ultimatum to Japan was viewed by many competent observers here Monday as a thinly veiled warning to the enemy that Soviet participation—at least to some extent—in the Pacific War is imminent.

It was known here that the Saturday night short-wave broadcast from Washington was authorized by President Truman and was cleared in Potsdam at the little White House. Significance was attached to the warning to Japanese leaders that they would not be able to deal with the United States alone unless they surrendered promptly.

Meanwhile, as the President met daily with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, unofficial reports emanating from the conference area indicated that satisfactory progress was being made toward settlement of many issues such as the feeding of Germany, reparations, boundaries and other problems.

Work on Peace Problems

The Big Three held a Sunday session, the sixth meeting since the opening of the conference, and it was devoted to work on problems of peace, the American delegation announced.

Whether the conference could be concluded this week was anybody's guess. The President is anxious to return to the United States promptly to report to Congress.

(In London it was expected that Churchill, leader of the Conservative Party, and Clement Attlee, Labor Party leader, would return Wednesday night from Potsdam. It was believed that should the Churchill government get a working majority in the national British elections the prime minister, now head of Britain's caretaker government, would return to Potsdam quickly. Should his party be defeated, an interruption in the work of the conference would seem inevitable.)

ODT Charges Army Redeployment Will Congest Railroads

WASHINGTON —(P)— Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of defense transportation, said Monday the Army's redeployment program cannot be met by the American railroads if vital war freight is to move.

He told the Senate War Investigating Committee that the Army drafted a 10-month program without consulting him and since has stepped up the return of troops from Europe without notifying ODT.

Saying the effect of redeployment has not yet fully hit the western railroads, Johnson added:

"With the railroads now congested and with additional war production to move transcontinentally, it will be impossible for the western railroads to redeploy the troops and move the freight loads."

The Strike Weapon

Harry Bridges, the powerful and unpredictable West Coast labor leader, is quoted as saying that the strike weapon is no longer effective in the United States.

Probably Bridges is not the only high-up unionist who has reached that conclusion, though no others have expressed themselves with such flat finality. And, whether or not the Australian head of the longshoremen's union made his statement with mental reservations, there is abundant evidence to support it.

It was inevitable that public opinion should turn against strikes and strikers in war industries. Responsibility for work stoppages which cost time and lives was usually fixed on local officials and local membership. Most of the top union officials condemned strikes in their own domains.

Nevertheless, the whole union movement has suffered some loss of public esteem. And the result of these violations of the wartime no-strike pledge may be evident in the days of peace to come.

Some weapons should be handled carefully and used only on the strongest provocation. The strike is one of them. It is a legitimate weapon in the hands of responsible persons who use it as a last resort in enforcing just demands. No fair-minded person would deny labor the use of it under such circumstances.

But too many war-work stoppages have seemed to be strikes for strikes' sake. Too many have arisen from impatience, not from intolerable and insoluble situations. Too many have betrayed a lack of sympathy with the orderly, civilized processes of discussion, arbitration and compromise. Too many have smacked of senseless class war in the midst of tragic conflict.

There is little doubt that the strikers' short-sighted impatience has led the foes of unionism to provoke further stoppages in an attempt to inflame public indignation. This bating and goading has worked, even though wise labor leaders have urged their membership to endure these provocations calmly and present them for public judgment in a dignified manner.

Thus wartime strikers have not so much destroyed the weapon's effectiveness as they have turned the weapon against labor itself. They have caused themselves loss of time and wages and public respect. By flourishing the weapon indiscriminately they have succeeded in boring or angering a great many, and frightening no one.

Bridges counsels labor that a newer and better weapon is political action. This advice comes from a man who has tried both violence and suavity, and has noted the results.

A Difficult Job Well Done

Most Americans are prepared to join enthusiastically now in seconding the statement that the Women's Army Corps has made an outstanding contribution to the victory already gained, as well as to the victory still to be gained, in the global war.

This attitude has not always prevailed. More than a little skepticism existed when the organization was in the formative stages. More than a few people didn't like the idea of trying to make soldiers out of women. Ridicule was not uncommon. The WAC—or the WAAC, as officially designated originally—definitely was in the position of having to prove its value.

Most people are now ready to agree that the organization has done just that. It has proved itself very much worthwhile. Some of the most lavish praise for the organization has come from "hard-bitten" Army men who, in many cases, made no secret of prejudice at the outset.

If the WAC has proved itself—as we think it has—then no one can deny that a large share of the credit for whatever the Corps may be, and for what it has done, must go to Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, who resigned recently as WAC director after having been in command since the earliest organizational stages. Anyone prepared to say—as nearly all Americans do say—that the WAC has done a splendid job, automatically says, at the same time, that Colonel Hobby likewise has discharged, splendidly, the difficult task assigned to her.

Another Bottleneck

Since reconversion has been under discussion it has been assumed that the steel industry, at least, could switch from military to civilian production with no trouble or delay. But now the industry periodical, Steel Facts, reveals that the country's steelmakers have $200,000,000 worth of work to do when their military contracts are finished.

For one thing, says Steel Facts, wide-sheet mills will have to be shifted back to peacetime ways. A lot of furnaces with emergency patching jobs will need thorough repairing, and so on.

Nobody is worrying about the steel industry being able to raise the money for this job. But a $200,000,000 reconversion job will take time. And that delay will be reflected and magnified in other industries whose products the public is eagerly awaiting.

All of which is just another reminder not to get too hopeful of a lot of needed civilian goods appearing quickly.

It's fine to write to that boy overseas—and finer to add a P. S.—"I'm buying all the War Bonds I can."

Air Corps Members Inaugurate Chapel Built On Okinawa

By RICHARD CUSHING

OKINAWA — (AP) — A shrieking wind—the edge of a tropical typhoon—whipped through the open sides of the tent as the chaplain's voice lifted in prayer: "O Lord, that we may be strong in the tasks ahead."

Driven rain and sand stung faces and bare heads of the 60 U. S. Army Air Corps men standing reverently in rough pews, fashioned from pickup lumber.

A chugging bulldozer clanked by on the coral road outside as the chaplain finished and announced "hymn 54." The wind shrilled in rising fury. A Seabee dynamite blast shook the ground.

Above it all the air men sang, accompanied by the chords of an old upright piano—"Hear Then the Prayer I Make on Bended Knee." The hymn ended, they knelt and prayed for strength, for their loved ones and for their country. They prayed for peace.

Thus was inaugurated the new chapel of a bombardment group on Okinawa. Protestant Chaplain Capt. Marion O. Smith of Galesburg, Ill., was filling in for Maj. Howard J. Johnson of Fort Worth, Ill. with yellow jaundice caught while preaching at the front lines on Luzon in the Philippines.

At the piano was Pvt. Tom Snook of Fort Wayne, Ind. Before the war he studied classical piano in Chicago.

About 50 feet long and 20 wide, the chapel stands among three grey stone Okinawa tombs. It was built in six days, largely under the direction of Pfc. Don Lence of Carbondale, Ill., a radio operator who doubles as Major Johnson's assistant. The floor is dirt. A small altar holds a golden cross and two candles, placed upon red felt covering two stacks of "C" rations. Over the altar billows a white silk parachute.

Protestant services are held Sunday mornings. Catholic services are held Sunday evenings. Jewish services are read on Friday nights.

Men at the front seek solace in religion, says Chaplain Smith. They often ask shyly how he, a man of God, can condone war, even participate in it.

To this Chaplain Smith answers, in effect: "You are fighting to place your life as a dike against the flood of worldwide destruction. Christ died willing to stop sin. The New Testament says others may give their lives as the ransom for man. We come over here to help free the world from recurring war and devastation and suffering. We can fight, with our soul at peace."

engagement Monday between American submarines and Japanese destroyers off Chichi Island a few hours before Yank destroyers opened up on coastal defenses.

Other unconfirmed Nipponese reports told of B-29 minelaying operations in the inland sea and off Korea. This was the first report of the giant planes mining Korean waters.

Tokyo worried about invasion of both areas. Broadcasts said the Yanks were "rushing preparations for landing operations on the China Coast side by side" with plans to invade Japan.

Amphibious Operations Planned
And U. S. Marine Maj. Gen. Allen Turnage added that "the greatest of all amphibious operations now are in the making."

Tokyo again explained that the Japanese were saving all of their strength to meet these invasions. Because of our inferior status in quantity," a Nipponese apologist said, "we are enduring the enemy attacks, evading futile exhaustion." Vice-Adm. John S. McCain, commander of the U. S. plane carrying Task Force 38, said this was probably a correct explanation.

The story was equally bad for Tokyo on the ground. Four Chinese columns tightened their noose one Kweilin, sometime U. S. air base in Southeast Asia. Australians leap-frogged six miles up Balikpapan Bay to seize another South-east Borneo village without opposition. Tank-led British troops, supported by planes and artillery, attacked Japanese concentrations trying to break out of Southern Burma. Chinese forces tightening a noose on Kweilin reported these successes: Paishou, once important enemy stronghold 25 miles west of Kweilin, was captured. So was Ining, highway center 11 miles northwest of Kweilin. Other Chinese pushed to within eight miles southwest of Kweilin. A fourth column, 45 miles south of Kweilin, approached Yangsa, described as a former U. S. 14th Air Force Base.

Scientists say Japan has four slight earthquakes a day and a serious tremor every six or seven years.

'Not Home To Play Marbles' Declares General Of 104th

DALLAS — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Terry Allen, head of the 104th (Timberwolf) Infantry Division, said here he and the division "didn't come home to play marbles," when asked about their training in the United States.

The general, his wife, and son, Terry Allen, Jr., 16, were in Dallas en route to El Paso where they will spend several weeks. "Part of the division landed in the States on July 3 and part on July 11," General Allen said. "All enlisted men and officers were given furloughs and leaves, at the expiration of which they are to be re-assembled at a training area."

The division was made up initially and largely of men from Texas, Oregon, Washington, California, New Mexico, Arizona and Louisiana. It first entered combat under the British command in Holland as part of General Montgomery's command. Allen refused comment on the accomplishment of the division. "Let the record speak for itself," he continued proudly. The division saw six months and 15 days of continuous combat in Europe.

Lower Point Values On Meat Expected

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Lower point values on some cuts of beef, lamb and mutton may be possible for the August rationing period beginning July 29.

Despite an improved meat supply situation, however, the reduction could not be great—possibly one or two points a pound on beef and perhaps more on lamb and mutton. There can be no reduction in pork due to a low level of hog marketings.

Reports from various parts of the country tell of increasing meat supplies in civilian distribution channels and prospects of further increases in the weeks ahead. In some areas consumers are said to be complaining of a shortage of red points in relation to the meat available.

Three factors are reflected in the improved meat supply:

- (1) A slightly larger level of livestock marketings and slaughtering than had been anticipated by rationing officials.
- (2) A reduction in military purchases due to the re-deployment program and a gradual release of some prisoners of war.
- (3) Better distribution of civilian supplies between surplus and deficit meat producing areas.

New Buses To Be Put In Service

New 27-passenger buses ordered by the Midland Bus Lines, Inc., are expected to arrive in time for the start of school, E. H. Farley, manager, announced Monday.

The new Ford transit buses will have all steel bodies, be equipped with air brakes and have side door entrances.

In the first week of operations of the buses here 13,364 passengers were carried. Farley said owners of the concern were well pleased and were confident enough of the concern's future here to order the new buses.

Company owners and officials spent last week breaking in drivers who will operate the buses.

After a week of operation the bus line owners have found there is extremely little demand for bus service before 7 a. m., so have decided to start the service each day at 7 a. m. The last bus will leave the post office at 10:45 p. m.

Deputy Sheriff Is Shot In Shackelford County

GRAHAM — (AP) — A search was underway Monday for an assailant who shot Shackelford County Deputy Sheriff Emory Morris Sunday as Morris escaped from the man who had forced him to "drive north."

Morris was shot in the hip and in the side. He was taken to a Graham hospital where attendants said his condition was not serious.

Sheriff Charles Arendt of Shackelford County said Morris had arrested the man Sunday in an Albany cafe after the man had been reported drunk.

According to a filling station attendant near the cafe, the man got into the deputy sheriff's car, pulled a gun on him and ordered him to "drive north."

Sheriff C. C. Bunnell of Graham reported Morris escaped from the car near Graham and the man followed, firing at the deputy sheriff.

Kiss and Tell

by F. HUGH HERBERT

An Actual Movie Shooting Script

THE STORY: Mrs. Pringle stalks into the Archer home to announce that—since gossip has it Mrs. Archer called Mildred Pringle a “tramp”—she will forbid her children to set foot in the Archer house again and the Archer children are no longer welcome in here.

EXT. STREET—NIGHT
MED. SHOT
It's several hours later and darkness has fallen. The Archer sedan is pulling up at the intersection of a street and an alley. Mildred is just hopping out, while Lenny keeps the motor idling. Mildred glances around furtively to see that no one's in sight and then, running around the car, steps on the running board for a moment to kiss Lenny goodbye.

Lenny: (whispering) Perfect—not a soul in sight.
MILDRED: (Phone me later, Lenny—and in the meantime I won't say a word.)
Lenny: Atta girl. You leave it to me.
They both kiss at each other and then Mildred scuttles up the alley. Lenny puts the car into gear and pulls out of the shot.

WIPE OFF TO:
INT. ARCHER PORCH
CLOSE SHOT—CORLISS
She is alone on the porch in a somewhat depressed mood. Suddenly she hears the car in the driveway and, jumping up, dashes to the screen door.
CORLISS: (yelling) Lenny, is that you?
We hear footsteps for a moment and then Lenny appears at the screen door, a cryptic smile on his face.

CORLISS: (excitedly) Oh, Lenny, we had the most grisly row with the Pringles!
Lenny: (startled) What?
CORLISS: Yes, it was simply—Lenny: (startled) Again?
CORLISS: I'm afraid so, Lenny. Only, this time it was much worse! Mrs. Pringle was over here, and she actually hit Mother!
Lenny: (savagely) Oh, for Pete's sake! (turning on his sister; very angry) This is all your fault. You and that silly bazaar! I suppose you've gummed things up again!
CORLISS: (tearfully) Lenny, don't! I didn't do anything! It was that little stinker Raymond!
DIFFERENT ANGLE
At this precise moment the little stinker, somewhat breathless, enters from the garden unbidden.
CORLISS: (sobbing) Get out of here, you filthy, sneaking, little spy!
She flops in a chair and sobs dolefully. Raymond strolls over to observe her.
RAYMOND: (blandly) You're quite emotional, aren't you? (philosophically) Most women are. I think it's dumb. Mildred's having hysterics, too.
Lenny: (grimly) Why? What's the matter?
RAYMOND: Oh, they're picking on her.
Lenny: What about?
RAYMOND: (amused) Well, it's really very funny. She just got back after being out all day and she won't say where she was—and now Pop's beginning to think maybe she is a little tramp, after all.
Lenny: (savage yell) Get out of here!
Raymond is startled, but obeys the injunction promptly.
RAYMOND: (as he beats it) Okay, okay.
CORLISS, who has controlled her sobs, is watching Lenny, who is pacing up and down, obviously somewhat distraught.
Lenny: (urgently) Look—you've got to help me. Can you keep a secret?
CORLISS: (devoutly) Cross my heart.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

It looks as if I stirred up a hornet's nest with the hand I gave you recently, the one about whether you should bid one club or one spade. Now along comes this hand. The questions, what should you do over East's bid of two hearts? Now please don't bid two no trump, even though the opponents are vulnerable. If you can take eight tricks at no trump with this hand, you certainly are going to beat them badly. The question is: should you double or should you pass?
It is agreed by most of the experts that in duplicate match point scoring you should double, but there is a question whether you should double at rubber bridge.

Lenny: (distracted) I don't know. (brief pause) I'm afraid now that maybe the Pringles might move heaven and earth to get it annulled.
CORLISS: Could they?
Lenny: I guess they could. She lied about her age on the license.
CORLISS: (gently) It oughtn't to be a secret, Lenny. Mum and Daddy ought to know. Oh, they'd forget all about this row.
Lenny: (troubled) I don't know. They're so—
CORLISS: (pensively) Golly, loving people makes life frightfully complicated, doesn't it? Somewhat touched, Lenny sits down next to her and gives her an affectionate hug.
Lenny: Well, maybe I'll take a chance and tell 'em.
For a moment they sit in silent communion, and then they are both startled by noisy footsteps and voices from the hall.
MR. ARCHER'S VOICE: (raging) He's a paranoiac, a menace.
MRS. ARCHER'S VOICE: (anxiously) Keep the handkerchief to your nose, dear.
MR. ARCHER'S VOICE: (yelling) I'll sue him that's what I'll do. I'll have him arrested.

Helen Sobel, Waldemar von Zedtwitz and Lee Hazen all agree that if you are playing with a good partner, you can safely double even at rubber bridge, because the partner will take the double out if he has made a weak one-spade response.
Hazen said he would be willing to wager four to one that if his partner passed the two-heart double, he could set the hand. However, von Zedtwitz was not sure that it was a good double at rubber bridge. If you double and they make it, you have lost a terrific amount, while if you double and your partner does take you out in two spades, you probably won't make it. If you don't double, it may be very difficult for East to place the cards correctly, and thus you may defeat the contract that could be made if doubled.

Tractor Furnishes Power As Water Pumps Flooded

NORTH KANSAS CITY —(AP)—
It was awfully dry during the flood here but now that it's over there's plenty of water for the citizenry.
One of the settling basins overflowed and flooded the city's water station, drowning out the motors that drive the pumps.
For almost an entire day there was no water in the mains and the mercury was near the 100 mark but relief came Sunday when a tractor furnished a makeshift power plant for the pumps.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

That was a blunt but logically phrased warning Washington gave Tokyo at the week-end through the medium of Japanese-speaking Captain E. C. Zacharias, U. S. N.—to surrender unconditionally or take the consequences—and it should clear the atmosphere of any idea that the Allies might weaken in their peace terms.

As a matter of fact, this broadcast was in effect an ultimatum. It acquires special force from the fact that the Big Three are meeting in Potsdam, and that in all probability the question of whether Russia will come into the war against Japan is being discussed—possibly even has been settled. Apropos of this thought, one of the most striking passages in Captain Zacharias' broadcast was:
"If Japan should initiate the cessation of hostilities without further delay it may be assumed that it will be the United States which will enforce the formula and ensure peace. x x x are the leaders of Japan really so short-sighted that they cannot see the possible complications which they may have to face if they fail to act, and act promptly?"
What "possible complications?" Well, there are quite a number but I dare say the first thing that comes to most minds is the contingency of Russia entering the conflict.
Japan knows full well, and long has shown signs of anxiety about the disposition of her powerful neighbor.
Thus far Tokyo hasn't made any direct answer to Captain Zacharias, though an official spokesman would seem to have had it in mind when he said in a radio talk:
"The Japanese are reasonable people who are amenable to fair argument, but they also are a firm people who cannot be intimidated." If that is an answer, it's a soft one which is calculated to turn away wrath. It clearly means that Nippon would like to discuss peace terms if she got the chance. However, the verdict is that she won't be permitted any argument. It's unconditional surrender—or a knock-out by force.

Marshal Petain Goes On Trial In French Tribunal

PARIS—(AP)—Disorder broke out Monday in a courtroom where Marshal Petain was making a plea before a special court trying him for his life. French police cleared the court and made arrests among the spectators.

PARIS—(AP)—Henri Philippe Petain went to trial before a special French tribunal Monday on charges of plotting against the security of France, both before and after he became the Vichy Chief of State, and having intelligence with the enemy.

Andre Mornet, the prosecutor, has announced that he will ask the death penalty for the 89-year-old marshal.

The historic hearing got under way when three judges headed by the grizzled Paul Mongbeaux, in scarlet and ermine robes, filed into the packed courtroom of the Paris Palace of Justice.

As the magistrates took their places the court clerk called out: "The accused Petain, rise."

Petaire rose and faced the judges. He wore his marshal's insignia and the medals he won during a long career in the French army.

Then Mornet, who said he had been preparing for the trial since shortly after Petain assumed power a little more than five years ago, began reading a seven-page indictment.

The start of Petain's personal, authoritarian rule over France on July 10, 1940, Mornet charged, was "the final realization of a long prepared plot against the republican regime of France." Petain's role in this plot in the prewar period, he said, appears to have "been that of a figurehead."

The indictment was based mainly on public acts of the Vichy government. One of the most important documents presented by the prosecution was an interrogation of Vichy's ex-minister of justice, Raphael Alibert, now believed in hiding.

"Negotiated With Hitler"

The prosecution quoted Alibert as saying armistice terms signed by the French from the Germans were drawn up by Petain and Hitler early in the war with Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain as an "intermediary."

After the French defeat however, Alibert said, Hitler did not keep his "promises."

Mornet attacked what was believed would be Petain's line of defense—that he was not responsible for the acts of his government, that he signed the armistice to spare further bloodshed, and he was in reality playing a double game with the Germans, paying them lip service while he really was in sympathy with the Allies.

The marshal appeared completely calm as his attorney opened with an attack on the competence of the high court. The lawyer, Fernand Payen, contended that Petain never had denounced the French Republic and that, under the constitution of 1875, only the Chamber of Deputies was competent to judge him.

"The direction of the defense was a complete surprise because the marshal had been expected to contend that his authoritarian 'French state,' which superseded the Third Republic, was acting in cooperation with the United States and Great Britain against Germany."

The judges, after a brief deliberation, overruled the challenge and ordered the trial to proceed.

Petaire Offers Defense

Petaire has insisted that he "saved" France by signing an armistice when her army had been shattered, and that the formation of the Vichy government enabled him to work secretly with the United States and Great Britain against the Germans.

Petaire's fate will be decided by a 24-man jury drawn from the National Assembly.

Mornet, one of France's most famous criminal lawyers, convicted Mata Hari, World War One woman spy.

Dave Ferriss May Grab Honors For Freshmen Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave (Boo) Ferriss may not pitch the Boston Red Sox to their first pennant in 28 years, but he is a definite threat to become the major leagues' all-time freshman winner.

The Army Air Force veteran earned his seventeenth triumph of the season Sunday against two defeats, to give the Sox a 3-2 first game win and an even split with the St. Louis Browns, who won the nightcap 5-1.

Ferriss now needs only seven more victories to tie the American League rookie record of 24 established by Oren Summers of the 1908 pennant winning Detroit Tigers. With 80 games of the Red Sox schedule still unplayed, the big show's biggest winner can better even Grover Alexander's major league standard of 26 victories in the latter's first year with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The split left the two teams in a virtual tie for fourth place.

Dodgers Win Two Games

Brooklyn's Dodgers moved into a tie with St. Louis for second place in the National League by knocking off the Cardinals twice 3-1 and 8-7. The double triumph gave the Flatbush bums a virtual 500 record for their second western invasion.

A crowd of 33,073 saw the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies divide a twin bill. The Cubs won the opener 8-5 despite two homers by Vince Dimaggio of the Phils. The cellarites rose up with 10 runs in the seventh frame of the nightcap to snap Hank Wyse's seven game winning streak and defeat the Bruins 11-6.

Hal Newhouser gained his fifteenth victory as the Tigers split with Philadelphia's Athletics, the Bengals winning the first 9-1, and the As the second, 2-1. Newhouser gave up four hits.

Rain Ends Game

In the afterpiece, Don Black gained the nod over Alton Benton in a rain-ended six inning affair.

Washington and Cleveland split.

After Pitches Mickey Haefner won his own game for the Senators in the opener 5-4 with a run-scoring single in the ninth, Jim Bagley bagged his fourth win for the Indians in the nightcap 9-3. Chicago's White Sox defeated the New York Yankees, run by Coach Artie Fletcher in the absence of Manager Joe McCarthy, 6-5 in 12 innings in the opener of a scheduled double header before 43,246 fans.

Pittsburgh moved back into fourth place, displacing the New York Giants, by winning two from Boston 2-1 and 3-1. A pinch single by Jack Saltzgraver scored the winning run for the Bucs in the ninth of the opener. Jack Barrett drove in all the Pirates runs in the second clash with a three-run homer. Cincinnati jumped into sixth place, ahead of the Braves by winning two from the Giants 2-1 in 13 innings and 11-5.

Major And Minor League Committees Meet Monday

CHICAGO—(AP)—That old argument concerning the worth of a class AA baseball player to a major league team—is he worth $7,500 or $15,000 or some figure in between in the annual draft—may be officially thrashed out here Monday at the sessions of major and minor leagues committees. Possible revisions in the major-minor league agreement are the official topics.

No Ban Here

Sara Dean Jordan wasn't bothered by the ODT ban, on transportation of horses from state to state. She figured sitting on a saddle atop her horse Dianne had sitting on her suitcase in a crowded coach beaten all hollow. So she rode Dianne from Aliquippa, Pa., to Cherry Creek, N.Y., covering the 200 miles in eight days. "That's the way my Grandpappy would have traveled," she said. "What was good enough for him is good enough for me."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Book Review Dept. . . . The Thoroughbred Racing Association, Inc., recently put out a book titled "Thoroughbred Racing and Breeding," which was intended to guide news writers along the path of treating horse racing as a sport instead of just a betting proposition. . . . The volume may be issued to the general public before long, and any race follower might find it worth while to read it and learn, for instance, the year-round tasks of a trainer in bringing a horse to the races in good condition, what are the duties of a jockey's agent and what part the blacksmith can play in developing winning form. . . . Did you know that the average smith can shoe 14 race horses a day, making a careful study of each to learn just what kind of shoes he should wear?

Rookie's Reward

Hal Outler, assistant pro at Detroit's Red Run Golf Club, likes to tell about his tryout as a pitcher with the Athletics a dozen years ago. . . . Hal drove to the A's Florida camp and found he was the only player who had a car there. . . . "Mickey Cochrane would use it in the morning, Lefty Grove would use it in the afternoon and somebody else at night," Outler explained. . . . When the club broke camp, Hal received a contract, a $20 gift from the athletes who had been using his car and a new set of tires. . . . "I don't remember which of the three I liked the best," Outler says, "but if I had my choice now I'd take the tires."

Southern Association Places University Of Texas On Probation

By The Associated Press

The University of Texas was on probation Monday as a result of action taken by the executive committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Memphis, Tenn., Sunday.

However, Dr. T. S. Painter, acting president of the university, said at Austin probation status does not "invalidate credit for any work done at the university."

The association, acting through its executive committee, announced the probationary period, effective Sunday, would continue "until such time as the association is assured of (the university's) full observance of its principles and standards."

Followed Recommendation

The action followed the recommendation of a special committee which last January investigated a controversy involving academic freedom and tenure between the university regents and former president, Homer P. Rainey. The controversy culminated in Rainey's dismissal last November.

Probationary status means the school must begin within one year to initiate reforms. Probationary status has seldom been over two years, with restoration or expulsion likely at the end of that time.

Dr. Painter said he had received formal notification in a brief telegram from J. R. Robinson, secretary of the association.

"It will of course be a matter of deep regret to all friends of the university that our colleagues of the Southern Association felt that we should be placed on probation," Dr. Painter said.

Dr. Rainey said he would have no comment until he has had better opportunity to study the report.

Sgt. Dutch Harrison Wins St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL—(AP)—A lanky, Arkansas-born golfer with a draw that softly caresses the ear, balanced the books Monday and considers himself avenged for a putt he missed that cost him the St. Paul open title three years ago.

For Sgt. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison it was the first time he has won the title which this year carried with it $2,000 in War Bonds.

Harrison turned the trick on the final 18 holes of play Sunday over the Keller Course, scoring four-under-par 32 for a 64, clinching earlier rounds of 70, 8 and 71, for a total score of 273.

That 64 was just one stroke away from the record set by Harry Cooper and Capt. Horton Smith.

In second place in the Sunday finale was Johnny Revolta, Evans-ton, Ill., who shot a 278 total—mainly because of a 66 on the final 18 holes—to win $1,400. Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the pre-tournament favorite, dropped into a tie with Johnny Bulla of Chicago at 280 and they got $900 each.

Martin Asks Scouts To Register For Camp

Midland Boy Scouts were reminded Monday by W. A. Martin, Scout executive, they should register Wednesday at the Boy Scout Hall if they want to leave Saturday to spend a week at Camp Philmont near Cimarron, N. M.

The Scouts will leave the Boy Scout Hall at 9 a. m. Saturday to spend a week camping at the Scout ranch.

A cargo of gifts from Elihu Yale during the first year of existence of the collegiate school at New Haven led the trustees to name the institution after its benefactor.

Fans Will Remember 24-Frame Tie That Set New Time Record

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—It's just history now that the Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers battled to a 24-inning 1-1 deadlock Saturday, but it will be a long time before fans stop talking about the marathon.

The game set a new American League endurance record of four hours and 48 minutes, shaving one minute off the mark set on Sept. 1, 1906, when the As defeated the Boston Red Sox, 4-1, in 24 frames. Saturday's contest tied the 39-year-old record for number of innings played.

Both managers, Connie Mack and Steve O'Neill, said they agreed that Umpire Bill Summers was right in calling off the game.

"I couldn't see Dizzy Trout's fast ball any more," Summers said. "I don't think anybody else could."

Pitched Good Game

When O'Neill went to the mound to remove-ex-GI Les Mueller from the box, Mueller said "Hell, Steve. The game ain't over yet, is it?"

It was for Mueller, who had walked two men in the 20th inning. He had pitched one of the most remarkable games on record, allowing 13 hits in 19 2/3 innings, longest American League pitching assignment since 1906. Dizzy Trout worked the last four and one-third innings for the Bengals.

Russ Christopher gave up after twirling 13 innings for the As in which he yielded five hits. Jittery Joe Berry took over and tossed six hit ball over the remaining 11 frames.

McCarthy May Retire After 1945 Season

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe McCarthy will finish the current season as manager of the New York Yankees but the man who led the Bronx Bombers to eight pennants and seven World Series victories probably will be out of baseball in 1946.

Indications that Marse Joe had contemplated resignation last winter because of ill health were brought to light for the first time Sunday when President Larry MacPhail and McCarthy denied reports he had quit.

In 14 years with the Yankees, Marse Joe is understood to have averaged at least $35,000 a year and his current contract, believed to call for $35,000, has another year to run.

70 Simon Pures Seek Tournament Berths

CHICAGO—(AP)—The $60,000 All-American Golf Championships, attracting the nation's top professional, amateur and women players, moved into low gear Monday as 70 simon pures fired an 18-hole qualifying round at Tam O'Shanter course for 12 tournament berths.

The three-ply tournament proper opens Thursday and continues through Sunday with the spotlight entering on the All-American Open. A field of 140 pros, headed by defending champion Byron Nelson, will shoot for a $13,600 (War Bond value) winner's purse. The Pros will slice a $57,733 prize melon down to 40th place.

Surprise Entries

Surprise entries in the feature event are Slammin' Sammy Sneed, scheduled to make his first tournament start since mid-June when he fractured his hand in a softball game, and Lt. Ben Hogan of the Army Air Force, whose military duties have kept him from professional competition this year.

Betty Hicks of Chicago will defend her women's open title against such stars as Dorothy Germain, runner-up in the recent Women's Western Open, and Lt. Patty Berg of the Marines, 1943 All-American champion.

Doolittle's Eighth Air Force Will Be In Action By Aug. 1

GUAM—(AP)—Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the first bombing raid on Tokyo, promised Monday that his Eighth Army Air Force would be attacking Japan within eight days.

Newly arrived in the Pacific, Doolittle said his airmen who helped flatten Germany would be taking off from Okinawa by Aug. 1 in Superforts to join Marianas-based B-29s and other air forces in softening up Nippon.

Asked if he expected to knock out the Japanese by bombing alone, Doolittle said there always is the possibility of "Japan folding, but we make no claims that we will do so."

Doolittle said the 8th Air Force would be comprised of Superforts and whatever P-47s are necessary to protect them against Japanese resistance. He said the first targets would be on Japan proper.

May Attack Manchuria

It is possible however, he added, that targets in China, Manchuria and even Mongolia may be attacked by his Superforts if necessary.

Doolittle disclosed that about half of his 8th Air Force veterans of the European theater, had been deployed. Some remained in Europe and others went to the United States for training preparatory to coming to the Pacific.

He termed Okinawa an excellent site for a powerful airbase with its abundant coral and good soil for airfields. He has already visited the area and supervised the establishment of his headquarters.

Doolittle was highly enthusiastic over his command. He said the B-29 is "the greatest airplane in the world—there is nothing comparable to it."

All aircraft control bearings not made of stainless steel must be cadmium plated to a thickness held between three-tenths and five-tenths thousandths of an inch to meet military specifications.
