VOLUMN 38 JUNCTION, KIMBLE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1922. No. 38.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT SIGNED WEDNESDAY

Representatives from the McCall-Moore Engineering Company of Waco met Wednesday with the County Commissioners, Judge Lee Wallace and the Commission of Road District No. 1, composed of H. Remschel, Gus F. Schreiner and Tom Duderstadt, to sign the construction contract.

County Engineer Simpson was present and went over the profiles, maps and all of the detailed information he and his corps of assistants have gathered relative to the road from the Kimble County line to Kerrville.

As soon as County Clerk Leavell furnishes the transcript of the bond issue, which will be finished at once, the McCall-Moore Engineering Company will then have their attorneys to inspect the bonds and if approved, the money will forthwith be brought to Kerrville for the bonds at par and accrued interest.

The McCall-Moore Engineering Company have their money arrangements completed to take care of the bonds, which they secured in the recent bidding. This company were also the lowest bidders for the road construction. They have done considerable road work in Texas and stand well with the State Highway Department as having given satisfactory service, so Kerr County is to be congratulated upon this company securing our contract.

The construction of this road will put nearly a quarter of a million dollars into circulation in Kerr County, so will aid materially in making better business conditions. It will also give work to many of our citizens as well as a chance for those owning teams to use them.—Mountain Sun.

The editor and J. D. Motley were in Kerrville Sunday and learned that what we have been hoping for was to happen, viz: that the construction was to begin at the Kimble County line and be completed toward Kerrville. Obviously, this will be a great advantage to Junction. The camps are already being established and work will soon begin, and doubtless by summer the worst of the divide and Johnson Fork valley road will be completed, thus providing an excellent road from San Antonio to this section.

LET HIM GO, BOYS

(To the American Legion.)

Let him go, boys! Let the miserable old traitor go in peace. Let him get out where true patriots can point the finger of scorn at him and say: "There goes Debs, the man who tried to turn America and all that was in it over to the Kaiser by using every means in his power to impede the progress of American resistance."

Let him go, boys. Let him go, even though while you were in the camps, on the battlefields and in the trenches with your lives upon your country's altar, ready to make the supreme sacrifice—while your buddies were bleeding and dying and needing succor, this same Debs was at home using all the influence of a traitor's logic to prevent others from going to your relief and to the relief of your sick and dying buddies.

Let him go, boys; let this shameful scion of Judas go, that the lashes of contempt and disdain of all one hundred per cent Americans may fall so fast and thick upon him that he will hide in oblivion and his name will not be spoken among true Americans except to express the term of traitor.

Let the traitorous rabble howl, boys, let them howl their delight at seeing their chief once more freed from a felon's cell, where in mercy he was sent instead of the hangman's scaffold. Even the wolf has a right to howl and a time to howl.

Let him go, boys; let him who strove against your country's wealth while you were over yonder enduring hell that she might live, go, that all who love Old Glory may see his naked shame. Let him go, boys; let him who wore the prison stripes instead of a tie of hempen rope around his neck, while you wore the glorious kakhi and performed the deeds that proved you heroes, see how great and glorious their countries call and how pucillanimously and dispicable it is for such as he to shirk it.

Let him go, boys; let our President take comfort in this deed of mercy in the thought that the prison which held this distinguished enemy of American ideals needed purging, and that when he let Debs out it would be cleaner and purer. Let the old reprobate go, and may shame, armed with a whip of scorpion stings, pursue his going.

W. F. Kellis, in The Sterling City News.

ANOTHER NEW JUNCTION BUSINESS.

Sergeant Geo. W. Cousins, who became well-known here last fall for his excellent work in coaching the High School Foot Ball Team, is now in Junction, and will make his home here. Mrs. Cousins and son have gone to Houston to visit her parents and will come back here in a few weeks. Mr. Cousins recently bought equipment in the building south of the Junction State Bank, formerly occupied by the City Market, and will be open for business by the last of next week. A first class bakery has been needed in Junction for a long time, and this new business will be a valuable asset to the town and community, as it will be no longer necessary to send money out of the town and county for bread baked elsewhere.

EDWARDS COUNTY BONDS NOT DEFEATED

In the election held in Edwards County last Saturday to decide whether the unsold portion of the bonds of that county would be voted off. The necessary two-thirds majority was not cast, so the bonds will stand. We do not have the accurate returns, but understand that those in favor of voting off the bonds were in the majority by 26.

A SURPRISE

Friday, Dec 30th, Miss Odessa Ledbetter was taken by surprise when a number of her friends came to her home for a party. This was a farewell party for her, as she is leaving for her former home at Roscoe.

While here Miss Ledbetter made many friends and we are all sorry to note her departure.

The evening was spent playing games and the girls of her crowd gave her a handkerchief shower. All reported a good time and cake and hot chocolate was served to the following: Odessa Ledbetter, Audrey Black Burn, Marjorie Rayland, Lura B. Taylor, Mary Martin, Alexa Browning, Minnie Jo Quick, Madeline Taylor, Johnny Bell Duderstadt, Bernice Chenault, Roy Hoggett, Fred Coleman, Norman Farmer, Sidney Randle, Ernest Randle, Joe Taylor, Durst Farmer, Lanan Bissett, Astor Wallace, Dennis Wallace, Homan Johnson, Sy Foley, Herman Ledbetter, Mrs. Martin Baze and Mr. and Mrs. Ledbetter.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

Since people often ask, we announce again that there is preaching at the Baptist Church every Sunday except the 4th Sunday.

This week Bro. Ledbetter, pastor of the Christian Church, returns to his former charge at Roscoe. It has never been this pastor's privilege to hear Bro. Ledbetter preach, but during his brief stay in Junction he has given us all the impression of being a highminded Christian gentleman.

For weeks our Sunday School attendance has been nearly the same every Sunday. That is fine in one way and in another way it is bad because so many more could be coming.

The two Bible classes led by the pastor have made him a present of a beautiful little typewriter. A boy with a pop gun could not be better pleased.

Our B. Y. P. U. was organized with a full corps of officers. Installation services will be held next Sunday night.

More members of the Church than is usual were present for the observance of the Lord's supped last Sunday. It was a good hour for us.

Several sermons have been preached at our church recently with reference to the evils of drinking and drunkenness. The pastor feels that his is the great responsibility of arousing public sentiment against the poison that threatens the health and morals of so many of our people.

S. F. Marsh.

JUNCTION GROCERY STORE BURGLARIZED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Lawler Grocery store was entered sometime late Wednesday night, and what small change had been left in the cash drawer was taken. Evidently the same person took on a good meal also, as there were a number of empty salmon, peanut butter, pineapple, and preserve cans, by the stove in the rear of the store. A bottle of bluing and several packages of cakes were also there. Doubtless the bluing had been mistaken for vinegar, as it had been opened but not used.

Wednesday afternoon, Sheriff Taylor received a telephone message from the Menard County Sheriff, describing a man that he had reason to believe had burglarized the Wal Mains store the night before. A man fitting the description came from Menard on a truck and stopped here about sundown Wednesday evening, previous to the receipt of the telephone message. Sheriff Taylor kept a sharp lookout for the man during Wednesday night, but he was not to be found. Just about daylight Thursday morning a man fitting the description of the man wanted, was taken in charge by Sheriff Taylor just as he had finished breakfast at the Fritz Hotel. He was inquiring for a way to get to Kerrville. Some three or four dollars in small charge, a few cigars, a dozen pencils and a 38 target Model Iver Johnson revolver with a fine leather scabbord were taken off his person. The man was immediately placed in jail. Further search of his clothing found a number of maps, a note book, several newspaper clippings and a card of Wilkinson and McGaugh, Brownwood attorneys. He is apparently about 25 years old, about 5 feet six inches tall, dark hair and complexion and gave his name as Phillip Lawrence. He wore a dark gray suit of good material, and was wearing an extra pair of trousers, which were rather ragged, over the ones matching his suit.

Sheriff Taylor is holding the man for identification by parties wanting a man of this description, elsewhere.

Honesty is the best policy, but not always the most profitable.

A Savings Account at the First National Bank

For several years we have constantly kept before our customers the importance of keeping a SAVINGS ACCOUNT.

A great many of them have followed our advice and are now on easy street. They don't have to borrow money. They haven't got loans out to their friends which they can't collect. All they have to do is come to the bank and draw on their savings account.

The past financial stringency has demonstrated the wisdom of keeping your money where you can use it when you need it. A bank account is your best friend. You don't have to press a friend or neighbor to pay you something. You only have to give your check for it.

Then your money earns something while it is waiting for you to use it.

We pay 5 per cent on savings and $1 will start an account. You can add to it every month, every week or every day as you like.

DAWES URGES CO-ORDINATION IN GOVERNMENT ECONOMIC PLAN

San Antonio, Jan. 8.—An urgent plea for co-ordination in the conduct of all departments of the national Government, similar to that practiced by all successful business organizations, in order that the Government may be conducted on the most economical basis, was voiced by Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, director of the national budget, at a gathering of Government employees, Army officers and business men at the Federal building Saturday night.

Gen. John J. Pershing, speaking at the same meeting, supported the plea of Gen. Dawes, and declared that the budget had "Saved the country from bankruptcy." Both speakers highly commended officers of the Eighth Corps area and local Government employes for the hearty co-operation they have given the Government.

Prominent Men Present

The meeting, which was the first to be held in this section of the country, was attended by about a hundred prominent business men, high ranking Army officers and employes of the Government in San Antonio. At the conclusion of the meeting a telegram was drafted to the President, assuring him of the loyal and hearty co-operation of all present, in his efforts to put the national Government on a business basis.

General Dawes in the course of his speech declared that the Government, under the present system, will save from $50,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 above the estimate of expenditures already made.

In explaining the President's purpose in establishing the budget system, Gen. Dawes explained that heretofore the Government has been run as if composed of hundreds of units, with the result that "chaos has existed."

President Harding, he asserted, looks upon the national Government as a business organization.

Points Out War Losses.

In pointing out the fallacies of the old system, he called attention to the tremendous loss which was occasioned by duplication, particularly as related to the accumulation of supplies during the war. He also reffered to the manner in which the Government handled its transportation during the war as a "disgrace," asserting that it lost $200,000,000 through failure to properly consider classification, routing, etc, of its freight.

In exploiting the advantages of the co-ordinating system, he pointed to the fact that the Government saved $10,000,000 in turning over forty-nine mine sweepers to the Geodetic Survey at the small cost of $10,000. This was done, he explained, without reffering the matter to the President. In passing he declares that the Government is getting the very best of co-ordination, both national and district.

He declared at this juncture that while President Harding is desirous in conducting the Government on an economic basis, he does not seek any deficiency of appropriation. He reffered to the handling of Christmas mails as an example of the co-ordination between two branches of the national Government and urged that more co-ordination of this sort be practiced.

TO THE VOTERS OF KIMBLE COUNTY

I wish to announce to the voters of Kimble County that I am a candidate for the office of District and County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries to be held in July, 1922. I was born and raised in Kimble County and have received the most of my education in the schools of this county.

I have the pleasure of knowing a large portion of the voters but to those of whom I do not know I wish to say that you will knw me before the race is over, as I intend to see every voter personally, and make an appeal for his support and influence.

In submitting to you my candidacy for your consideration I do so fully confident that I am qualified and capable of filling the office to which I aspire. I am a young man and I am going to make this race on my own merits. It has always been my aspiration since a small boy to be Clerk of Kimble County and to serve the people in this way. And to that desire and aim I am going to do my utmost to win the office for which I am a candidate. I enter the race with my heart and soul set on winning, and if I win I promise to make you an efficient officer, and to always be at my post of duty in a determined effort to discharge the duties of the office in a creditable manner to the people whom I am serving.

I am asking that you give my candidacy your careful consideration and if you see fit to put a vote my way in the coming primaries, it will be greatly appreciated.

Thanking you for anything you may do for me that might assist me in any way, I am,

Very truly yours
Everett Stewart.

KERRVILLE FINANCIER SAYS WORLD GETTING OVER DRUNK OF FALSE PROSPERITY.

A review of business conditions in Southwest Texas for the twelve-month just passed, must begin with the statement that is was the most trying like period in the history of the country. More than that mere statement is not really necessary. Bankers and patrons alike will agree that this true. In more than half a century that this bank has done an uninterupted business at Kerrville, there have, of course, been many financial crises, panics, money stringencies, and the like, but never anything like this. It was not so much the generalness of the debt, but the magnitude of debt. In past times of financial depression, the people knew what they might expect to realize for their product, in the event markets should open. They could at least approximate to what extent their holdings would liquidate their indebtedness, in the event of a market offering. In this instance no human mind could conceive what the outcome would be. The currency of the country was inflated, until the rank and file of the people had become profligate spenders, and even erstwhile conservative banking concerns had become reckless in the matter of loans. All values were ficticious and unstable in the extreme.

World Drunk on Prosperity

It was not really a fault, at least not to the extent of moral turpitude, that the standard of living in this country was raised far and away above anything it had ever seen before, even in the most prosperous times. It was, indeed, but the seeming achievemnet of the thing that the average American family had long hoped for. The people had never known anything like the ease with which money could be got. Merchants and business men had never known anything like the ease with which profits could be made. In a word, the whole country was drunk on prosperity—false prosperity though it was.

True, there was an element of conservative bankers and business men in the country who began to cry warnings to the people many months before the crash came, but they were not heeded. Indeed, the warnings were never heeded, and the general public went right on with prodigal spending and many banks with prodigal lending. At last, like the guests of Belshzzar's feast, they were confronted, not only with the undeniable handwriting on the wall, but the very palace in which they were feasting was rocking on its foundation.

In this dire distress, with inflated values dropping hourly, and with their supposed fortunes melting and vanishing before their eyes, business men, merchants, ranchers, speculators, and the whole army of money users, rushed to their bankers as to cities of refuge. Even the wisest and most thoughtful bankers and financiers of the country were staggered at the enormity of the cataclysm that had befallen American busfness. For a time there seemed to be danger that the entire actual currency of the country woud seek a hiding place until the storm was over. Money, the circulating medium of commerce, seemed to have coagulated in the arteries and veins of trade and thrown the entire economic structure of the country into financial thrombosis. Much of the currency of the country, no doubt, did seek a hiding place until values became more stable.

1922 Finds Conditions Better

Such was the financial condition in the territory tributary to this bank, which means practically all of Southwest Texas, at the beginning of 1921. It is with much gratification that we find at the threshold of the New Year, a decided change for the better. Not a return to conditions that prevailed thru out the country two years ago. Nothing like that. Indeed, I question seriously if the ordinary business man would consent to a return of such dangerous business conditions, bad as the outlook still is. The improvement consists in a measure of recovery from riches to poverty almost over night in many instances. In getting our bearings, and making the determination to go steadfastly on and recoup our fallen fortunes so far as may be possible. Inconvenient, and unpleasant as it may be, the people have largely determined to lower the standard of living to comport with their earnings. Meantime, values have made a noticeable step toward stability. Since the days of "no market" for wool and mohair, in the early part of this year, there has developed a fairly stable market for those products, at a better price than was being received in 1913, before the world was shaken from its mooring by the great war. Cattle, it is true, have not yet come back to stability, but we are hopeful that a few more months will see an upward trend, and the general resumption of trading.

Kerrville, and the country immediately surrounding the town, that is several counties known as the Hill Country, is a small section of wonderful diversity. The small holders were losers, and the variety of resource, and ready markets at fair prices for their product, is rapidly bringing the small stock farmers, and exclusive agriculturists out of their misfortunes. Just at this time, the drouth in this section of Texas is doing more to retard business than the after effects of the financial upheaval. With seasonable weather( another 12 months will have almost obliterated all signs of the great depression. It will be as if one visited a battlefieid two years after the battle. Flowers may be growing where once were trenches and the scenes of struggle. Here and there will perhaps be a skull or some broken implements of war, but in the main, all traces of the battle are gone. Likewise, in the business world, after another year, there may be a factory here and there that never resume its industry again after the financial storm, or some other landmark to remind us of the great upheaval, but in the main, the country will be back in harness, working hard, living frugally, and gradually returning to that safe, conservative prosperity that always has, and always will win in the end.

Banks' Foundations Shaken

During the parlous times when the very foundations of American financial institutions were being shaken, every bank in the country that is worthy of the name, was doing its best to stand as a bulwark between its customers and defeat, in irreparable loss. Such banks strained their credit to the utmost, in keeping with conservative, safe, sane banking principles. For months it was a dead load they must carry. It is beginning to move a little more readily, and after the usual quiet season of readjustment at the beginning of the new year, I confidently expect to see a decided improvement over present conditions.

In the midst of all the turmoil, in the early part of this year, there were all sorts of suggestions from al sorts of peple, as a panacea for the financial ills of the country. Limited space forbids an account of them. You know them as well as I do. No man's funding scheme served to bring about better conditions in this immediate section of the country, so much as the indomitable will of the people, their confidence ineach other, in the banking institutions that were doing their utmost to help them thru the difficulty, and in their own ability to ultimately win out.

In a word, in this section of Texas, and I am persuaded, all over America, the thing that is doing most good toward re-establishment of bearable financial conditions, and a spirit of courage among all the people, is the literal application of two lines of a homely old song:

"Better quit yo' gamblin' and save up yo' rocks,
If you want to have tobacco in yo' old tobacco box."

We have for several years been a nation of gamblers. In every serious game of chance, played for money, some one will lose. Ultimately, all who play will lose, because no one is producing anything in a game of chance. We are getting back to first principles. We will again become the greatest nation of producers on earth and prices for our products will become fair and stable. A decided step has already been made in that direction in the territory of this bank, and I am confident that it will continue, and rapidly return to the prosperous, stable conditions that has made this a great country.

RELEASE OF DEBS BEING DENOUNCED BY AMERICAN LEGION

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 28.—Disapproval of the release of Eugene V. Debs was expressed in a statement by Col. Wayne Davis, departmental commander of the Texas American Legion today. The announcement read: "The American Legion of Texas feels the release of Eugene V. Debs after serving only a small portion of a ten year sentence in federal prison following conviction on charges of obstructing the draft in the World's war, is an insult to those who died as well as those who wore the uniform in the war regardless of the fact that his release is camouflaged with sentiments of mercy as well as hedged about by political reasons."

A copy of resolutions was telegraphed to President Harding and said, "To let your official action go unchallenged by us would be to break faith with our fallen buddies."

Denton, Texas, Dec. 28.—Resolutions condemning the release from federal prison of Eugene Debs was adopted last night by a called session of the local American Legion Post.

Subscription....$1.50 per year

Some people have amusing ideas of economy. During our four months in Junction two people have told us they were so economical they could not afford $1.50 for their home paper. That's alright. Its their business, but we are just wondering what this particular brand of economy would be worth to a man if it were carried to its final analysis. Stop the magazines and newspapers of the country and where would economy count?

In this issue we reprint from The Express, a most excellent and timely article by Mr. Chas. Schreiner, President of The Chas. Schreiner Bank of Kerrville. There is much in this article to command careful attention of our readers. It should be all the more interesting because it comes from a man living among us, interested in the progress and development of this particular section, and perhaps knowing its present condition and needs better than any other man.

The wise man realizes his imperfections until a silly girl gets hold of him.

A GATHERING

A farewell gathering to show our appreciation of the work of Bro. R. C. Ledbetter, during his stay of four months with us was held at the residence of Elder John S. Durst in Junction on the evening of the 9th of January 1922.

The following persons were in attendance. Mrs. Dora Boon, Miss Emma Winslett, Mrs. Opie Taylor and daughters Laura B. Kalita, Mrs Stella Martin and daughters Mary and Elsie, Mrs. Frowning and daughter Laexa, Miss Agnes Schrier, Mrs. Phelps Mrs. A. G. Farmer and daughter Maurine, Mrs. Geo. May, Mr. Dee Gibbs and wife, Mr. Earnest Amon and wife, Mr. William Amon and wife, Mr. Martin Baze, wife and Junior, Durst Farmer, Norman Farmer, Astor and Dennis Wallace, Mrs. Amelia Jetton and son Lewis, Sidney Ranale and brother, R. C. Ledbetter and family. This was indeed an enjoyable voluntary gathering, mingled with regrets over our loss of the highly appreciated work of our preacher, made necessary by circumstances over which he had no control.

The ladies brought refreshments that were enjoyed by all. Lord's blessings attend our Bro. and his family through life, is our prayer.

On Thursday of last week we were pleased to have editor H. G. Perry of the Junction Eagle pay us a fraterna call. Like us he did not print any paper last week. But unlike us he found time to make a visit with his mother at Dublin, Texas, where mother at Dublin, Texas, where he spent one of those delightful Christmases such as mothers can preside over. While Mr. Perry is new in the newspaper business he is getting out a good paper and is beginning to show the "colar marks." He to show the "colar marks." He is also interested in The Southwest Land Exchange and is boosting the Kimble Klimes Konsiderably.—Eden Echo.

Break a dollar bill and what happens to the change

It dissapears, that's a cinch, but you don't know where. Just a nickle spent here, a dime there, a quarter or so somewhere else—and the dollar is shot—you know how it happens with you.

And the mysterious habit of dollars to vanish by dimes can be reversed into a magical way of making dimes bring dollars to you, if you will begin the New Year right, by trading with a house that you can always depend upon in selling you merchandise you will need throughout the year at a fair and legitimate profit.

Our buying is done with the utmost care. Quality is always taken in consideration first—then the price. So when you buy from us you are assured of correct prices and clean, wholesome, Standard Brand merchandise at all times.

We buy your produce at highest market value at all times, and sell you merchandise of Quality, at the smallest profit that is consistent with sound business principles.

We will not sacrifice Quality for Price

S. S. CLUB ENTERTAINED

Misses Anderson and Leslie are most capable hostesses, as was proven by a week-end of pleasure provided by them for the members of the S. S. Club, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. H. Baze.

On Saturday evening after partaking of a sumptuous supper prepared by their hands, attention was turned toward the rendition of a standard play, when suddenly it was interrupted by mysterious noises at the rear of the house. These were were soon allayed, however, by the use of an empty gun (brave burglars.)

The house party ended on Sunday with a hike to the four-mile dam, where the hikers "fell on to" a lunch of broiled bacon, pickles, bread, cakes, candy, fruit and coffee. It was MORE FUN!

Messrs. Munsell and Kavenaugh of the Menard Messenger were in Junction for a short time Wednesday. These gentlemen have recently come to Menard, and the paper is growing bigger and better under their management. We are very glad to meet them and have them in our town for the first time, and hope they may visit us again.

BROWN COUNTY TURKEY CROP.

The magnitude of the turkey industry in Brown County is brought to light in totaling the volume of business done by Brownwood poultry dealers for the season just closed, extending from Thanksgiving to Christmas. During this period of approximately thirty days, twenty-seven carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped out of Brownwood. The average car requires 20,000 pounds, or about 2,000 turkeys, and for the 27 carloads there were some 54,000 turkeys, and figured at an average price of 30c per pound which was paid to the producers, turkeys alone brought into this couty during the brief period of about thirty days $162,000.— Brownwood Bulletin.

TO FRIENDS OF INMATES OF THE AMERICAN LEGION MEMORIAL SANATORIUM

The management, together with the inmates of this institution, desire to express their sincere thanks to all who contributed so generously to the Christmas pleasure of our "shut-ins." We had a beautiful tree laden with presents, which went to every patient here. The local Auxiliary deserves much credit for the successful execution of this Yuletide event. Again we thank you, one and all.

Now that Christmas is over, we ask that no one, neither friend, relative or organization, send anything in the way of "eats," except good fresh fruits (and that to the institution and not the individual.) You ask why? Because all patients are bountifully fed, and the "knick-knacks" are hard to digest and often "upset" the stomach. A good stomach is the sheet anchor of a tubercular person, therefore we must use every precaution to preserve its normal function.

Should any individual or organization desire to give anything that would lessen the expense of the inmates and add to their comfort and convenience we would suggest fever thermometers, pajamas, bath robes, house slippers, hot water bottles, thermos bottles or white laundry bags.

Asking that the public cooperate with us in trying to make sick people well, instead of sick people sicker, we are,

Very truly yours,

J. W. CAREY, Supt.

Wanted His Money

IT SEEMS THAT EVERY BODY WANTS MY MONEY," said a patron of ours the other day.

"Everywhere I go I find somebody ready to sell me things I should not buy. Some of them would cheat me if they got half a chance. Some would steal from me.

"I've been thinking about it and I have decided to keep my money—it must be pretty good stuff when so many others want it."

That man has made a fine decision. He is careful when he makes investments. He buys only what he really wants.

There is a fortune lost in this country every month because people insist upon "spending money they WANT for things they do not NEED." Wise spending is the first step toward success.

Has not this been your experience?

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad T. Hole-Kamp and Mrs. Weaver H. Baker were chaperons for a merry crowd of young people last Sunday evening for a camp dinner party. Early in the evening they all drove to the Mason crossing on the Main Llano, where the cars were releived of their heavy loads of good things to eat and a temporary camp established. Dinner was prepared shortly after arrival, and was very much enjoyed as is the case where meals are served in the open, and formality and etiquette temporarily forgotten. Those present were Misses Cecil Martin, Annie Taylor, Lois and Blix Hankins, Fae Del Taylor. Messrs. Seaton Prentice, Bill Hamer, Brown King, Doeboy Taylor, Slator Fleming and Lewis Jetton.

Thousands of other women have found Cardui just as Mrs. Burnett did. It should help you.
