66 Feared Dead In Hospital Blaze

Heavy Voting Reported In Some Areas

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

CITIES and towns over the South Plains Tuesday conducted municipal elections, at which time voters named councilmen and commissioners, depending upon a particular city's form of government. In addition, many of the towns also named mayors.

Most of the city officials elected Tuesday will serve two-year terms.

Although voting was light in many of the towns, heavy voting was reported in several communities, particularly in Abernathy, Slaton, and Floydada. The light vote in some other communities was attributed to the fact that candidates were unopposed in their races.

No Election In Lubbock

By and large, re-election of incumbents and election of new candidates seemed to be about evenly balanced, as reflected by voting over the area.

Lubbock was among several cities over the South Plains not holding elections this year. Several other points over the state conducted elections, voting interest varying according to the city and issues involved.

THREE CITY OFFICIALS AT POST RE-ELECTED

POST, April 5 (Special)—A total of 50 votes were cast in today's city election here. John T. Herd was elected mayor, and Dr. Glenn Kahler and Vachel Anderson were named commissioners. None was opposed, and all were up for re-election.

A tabulation of the voting was: Herd, 43; Kahler, 48; and Anderson, 46. There were several write-in votes for mayor and commissioners.

HAGAN IS RE-ELECTED MAYOR OF SPUR

SPUR, April 5 (Special)—Ned Hagan, unopposed in his candidacy for the mayorship here, received 148 votes in today's election. Edgar C. McGee, also unopposed, was named water commissioner with 147 votes. In the race for street commissioner, Bynum Britton won over his opponent, Fred Kinney, by 119 to 32.

One hundred fifty-one votes were cast today out of a possible 750, election officials here said.

MAYOR, 4 COMMISSIONERS ARE NAMED AT LEVELLAND

LEVELLAND, April 5 (Special)—Voters here today named a mayor and four commissioners. Voting was fairly light, election officials reported.

Kenneth Harper, who has been serving as commissioner, was unopposed for mayor of Levelland. He succeeds Ray Watson, mayor for the past two years, who did not seek re-election. Harper, who owns a drug store here in addition to other business interests, received 147 votes.

Homer Johnson, incumbent, was unopposed for commissioner from Place 1. He received 143 votes. In Place 2, B. N. Bills, incumbent,

Search Underway For Prisoners

NACOGDOCHES, April 5 (AP)—Search for two convicts who kidnapped two oil well rig workers after escaping from Clemens prison farm spread across East Texas today.

The escapees abandoned a stolen automobile seven miles west of Nacogdoches at 4:30 a.m. today after Cherokee county officers had fired bullets into one of the vehicle's tires.

Since then the search has been concentrated in the dense piney woods section in the Nacogdoches area, with police throughout East Texas on the lookout.

Bloodhounds Brought

Prison system bloodhounds were brought here to aid Texas Rangers, state highway patrolmen and county and local police in combing the wooded areas.

Prison officials at Huntsville identified the escapees as Walter Lamay, 41, and Willard Ward, 35.

Lamay is serving a life sentence for burglary, theft, robbery by fire arms and robbery by assault from Limestone, Eastland, Johnson, Comanche, Bosque and Hill counties. Ward is under 50-year sentence for robbery and forgery in Tarrant and Dallas counties.

The pair escaped from the Brazoria county prison farm around

EFFORTS TO FORCE QUICK ACTION ARE ABANDONED

Foreign Aid Vote Stalled

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—Administration leaders abandoned efforts to force a final vote tonight on the $5,580,000,000 European recovery program.

After threatening to hold an all-night session if necessary to dispose of the "second installment" of European aid authorization, Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois called for a recess at 9:04 p. m. (CST).

He did so after Senator Langer (R-ND) had first blocked an attempt to limit debate and then held the floor for nearly two hours with a desk-thumping attack on American policies in western Germany.

Langer Pounds Desk

In moving for a recess until 10 a. m. tomorrow, Lucas noted that yesterday when he called a night session he had promised his colleagues it would wind up about 9 o'clock.

A number of amendments still remain to be acted upon before the Senate can vote on passage of the bill.

Lucas and Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee again predicted that the Senate would complete passage tomorrow.

Langer, shouting and pounding a desk at times, said that this country's policies in western Germany are "such a secret" that no senator knows what they are.

Debate Curb Defeated

He blocked a proposal by Lucas to limit debate on the remaining amendments to the bill, which has been under debate for 10 days.

Earlier administration forces defeated a series of proposals to tighten the reins on the spending of American billions by the 16 Marshall plan countries of western Europe.

However, by voice vote, the Senate adopted an amendment directing that half of U. S. aid supplies be shipped abroad in American vessels.

With administration forces riding high, the Senate suddenly picked up speed after 10 days of lagging debate on President Truman's request for a $5,580,000,000 "second installment" of European recovery funds.

In rapid succession, the Senate rejected these proposals:

UN Assembly Opens Session On Surprise Note Of Amity

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., April 5—The United Nations General Assembly convened at Flushing Meadows today in a ceremonial opening marked by repeated handshakes between U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Chief Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko.

The surface display of amity between the representatives of opposite sides in the "cold war" continued into the meeting of the 14-nation "steering committee," where Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik made no move to raise the issue of the North Atlantic pact.

Another unexpected development was acceptance by both Gromyko and Malik of an invitation to Acheson's gala diplomatic reception tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Among the hundreds of invited guests are at least 10 of the foreign ministers who signed the Atlantic pact in Washington yesterday, including Britain's Ernest Bevin, Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak and France's Robert Schuman.

Two-Price Plan On Cotton Urged

DALLAS, April 5 (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald said today a two-price system is the way out of trouble for the cotton industry.

It is the only alternative, he said, to the difficult decision facing the federal government: whether to drop price supports or impose drastic acreage limitations.

McDonald addressed the Texas Cotton Ginners' association, in convention here.

Under the two-price system proposed by McDonald, farmers could "market at full parity price that cotton designated as their allocated portion of the domestic market."

"It would leave the farmer free to produce any amount in excess of his domestic allotment to sell in the world market at the world price," he explained.

McDonald said that farmers with high production costs would produce only for the American market, and at parity. The farmer with low production costs would produce for both markets.

For Congress to drop price supports or restrict acreage, he declared, "would be ruinous to the cotton industry, which holds the key to our entire economy."

He decried bitterness between farm and non-farm groups.

Another speaker, John W. Mann,

Soviet Invasion Of West Europe Feared

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Stanislaw Wojcik, self-exiled secretary general of the Polish Peasant party, said today he believes Russia plans to invade western Europe this year.

Wojcik arrived here last week from Warsaw by way of the underground. He spoke at a news conference arranged by Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, former Polish prime minister.

The peasant leader said underground leaders with whom he talked on his way out go even further than his prediction of an invasion this year. They believe it is coming quickly, he said, in retaliation for the Atlantic pact and because Soviet leaders feel that time is "running out" for them.

House Approves Appropriation Of $701,122,079 For Aid To Farmers

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 5 — The House approved $701,122,079 appropriation for the Agriculture department today, to help farmers produce food and fiber, fight pests, find markets, make a profit and conserve their soil.

Before passing the bill by a voice vote, the House heard warnings of growing price-depressing surpluses in agriculture and reminders that the city man's economic condition is tied in with the farmer's.

Farm state representatives shouted that the parity of income for the farmer must be protected. The bill provides $30,000,000 to make plans for production controls in cotton, corn, wheat and rice—if this is needed to maintain price supports of these basic crops.

The measure is the annual appropriation for the 1950 fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1949. The House vote sent it to the Senate, and opened a week in which the House may set a new peacetime record for handling money.

It is trying to clear all the big money bills before Easter. Other

Norris Denied Use Of School Auditorium

ABILENE, April 5 (AP) — Dr. J. Frank Norris spoke on the school ground here tonight after he was denied use of the Abilene High school auditorium. He promised to discuss the denial in a speech tomorrow night on the Taylor county court house lawn.

About 300 people came to hear Dr. Norris tonight. He told them he has had occasion to say "exactly what I think," and "tomorrow night will be one of them."

His speech was divided between denunciation of Communism and discussion of the Palestine situation. His announced subject was "Will Russia Rule the World?"

After Dr. Norris was denied use of the auditorium today, a court injunction was sought in his behalf. District Judge Owen Thomas ruled out a hearing on it because of insufficient time.

Supt. Nat Williams said permission for Dr. Norris to use the auditorium was cancelled because an assistant principal who granted the original request did not know of a school board policy of not renting it to religious groups.

Bradley Urges Military Aid For Europe

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 5 — Gen. Omar N. Bradley tonight called for a military aid program that would strengthen the "ramparts" of western Europe and stop an aggressor before he could overrun the continent.

In a major speech, the Army chief of staff unveiled some of the strategic thinking of the Army high command.

The idea has been widely held that it would be impossible to stop Russia from conquering all Europe if it chose. The best the United States could do, according to this argument, would be to strike back with air power and eventually lead a counterattack to liberate the continent.

Thinking Is Rejected

Bradley flatly rejected this thinking. He contended such strategy would breed despair among potential allies in Europe and render them impotent.

His remarks took on added significance when he explained that he had been requested by the State department "to comment publicly on the military security significance of the North Atlantic pact, and its implementation."

The defense pact, signed yesterday in Washington, will soon be up for Senate ratification. The administration plans to follow it up with a request for funds to rearm Europe. There have been predictions that this program might total $1,250,000,000 or more for the first year.

Urges Europe Stand

Referring to the defense treaty, Bradley said:

"Strategically, the pact would enable free nations of the old world and the new to funnel the great strength of our new world to the ramparts of the old, and thus challenge an enemy where he would transgress. At present the balance of military power is centered in the United States, 3,000 miles from the heart of Europe.

"It must be perfectly apparent to the people of the United States that we cannot count on friends in western Europe if our strategy in the event of war dictates that we shall first abandon them to the

Action On Pact May Be Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Early congressional action on the newly-signed Atlantic defense pact appeared unlikely today, but President Truman was expected to lose little time in submitting the treaty for Senate ratification.

Although the White House gave no inkling of when the historic document will be forwarded to Capital Hill, there was speculation that Mr. Truman may send it on tomorrow.

"High Priority" Urged

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee meanwhile urged that the treaty be given a "high priority" on the Senate calendar which now is jammed with domestic legislation.

He told reporters he believes the Senate can't "afford to wait too long" to let the rest of the world know definitely how this country stands.

All that Senator Lucas (D-Ill), the Democratic leader, would promise is that the 12-nation mutual aid treaty will reach the Senate floor "in this session of Congress." Lucas indicated yesterday that a special session may be

Freak Smog Causes Widespread Nausea In Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS)—An eerie "smog" caused by a weather freak today afflicted thousands of persons in the nation's capital and nearby Maryland with nausea and irritation of the eyes and nose.

Officials of the Weather bureau, National Institute of Health and the Bureau of Mines said "a temperature inversion" pinned fumes from coal and oil furnaces close to the ground.

They explained that a "temperature inversion" is created when ground temperature is lower than 100 to 200 feet above the ground.

This causes a fog which absorbs gases, smoke and dust particles.

No serious illnesses had been reported some time after the "smog" disappeared.

A similar condition occurred recently in Donora, Pa. there, however, more than a score of persons died from the unusual atmospheric condition.

EXPECTANT MOTHER SURVIVES

Woman Relates Story Of Escape From Death In Raging Flames

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the most dramatic stories of today's fire at St. Anthony's hospital in Effingham was that of a young expectant mother who escaped and gave birth to her baby at her home more than an hour later. In the following dispatch the mother, Mrs. June Adermann, 28, writes of the terror of the fire and her flight to safety.)

By MRS. JUNE ADERMANN
(As told to International News Service)

EFFINGHAM, Ill., April 5 Arnold, my husband, left me at the hospital about 11:45 o'clock last night after I had been taken to the delivery room.

We were awaiting our third child and were so happy because it was on its way.

Shortly after Arnold left I smelled something peculiar. It smelled like rubber burning and I told the nurse in the room about it. She just laughed and said I was a bit uneasy.

She seemed to become worried, though, and went out in the hall. She came back and said she found nothing wrong. But she was still worried. So was I.

Finally the nurse went out in the hall again. This time

GEORGIA TAX HIKE PLAN LOSES

Republicans Jubilant After Michigan Election Victories

(By The Associated Press)

GEORGIA voters turned thumbs down Tuesday on a plan to hike their taxes to pay for improved state services. Michigan Republicans meanwhile laid claim to a major victory after they captured key state offices at stake in Monday's balloting.

The Georgia contest was a referendum on a proposal to increase state levies $46,000,000 to finance expansion of educational facilities, highways, health and welfare programs. Early returns piled up an insurmountable margin of three to one against the program.

GOP Leaders Jubilant

The Republican national committee took especial delight in the trouncing administered to Michigan's labor - backed Democratic candidates. Chairman Hugh D. Scott, jr., issued a statement saying that the results "provide additional evidence that the people now realize they bought a gold brick last November and are not going to buy a second one."

"By their decision," Scott added," the voters of Michigan repudiated a Democratic administration which was elected only about five months ago, and in so doing they also took the first opportunity to express their disgust with the Truman administration's incompetence which is paraded before the world every day on Capitol Hill."

Governor "Surprised"

Michigan's Democratic Governor G. Menner Williams, conceded "surprise and disappointment" at the results. But he said he was convinced that "the people did not regard my program as an issue in the election."

Despite Democratic campaign pleas for the voters to rebuke the GOP-controlled state legislature for "stalling" on Williams' legislative program, the Republicans rolled up majorities of 90,000 in most races. The GOP candidates won the state highway commissioners race as well as the contest for state superintendent of public instruction. The Republicans thus retained their 5-3 margin on the administrative board which serves as a semi-official "cabinet" to the governor.

Rent Controls Lose In Straw Polls At Burkburnett, Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

The Citizens Charter association swept back into office by a 2 to 1 majority in Dallas' city council election Tuesday. At Fort Worth all candidates endorsed by the Committee for a greater Fort Worth were elected.

In those two cities and at Lufkin, there were good turnouts as Texans voted in municipal elections. But the vote was light in most places.

Straw Polls Taken

Voters at Dallas and Burkburnett, where straw polls were taken in connection with city elections, decided for removal of rent controls. The Dallas vote (much less than the 23,696 cast in its city council election) was 6,638 against rent controls and 5,242 for controls. Seventy-five Burkburnett voters were against controls and 37 were for them. The votes had no legal weight.

The Dallas vote was the heaviest ever cast in a city council election there. The largest individual vote, 15,257, was polled by J. B. Adboue, jr., banker and former mayor pro tem. His opponent, W. J. Harris, Dallas Voters association candidate and president of the State Federation of Labor, received only 6,620 votes.

Midland Gets New Mayor

Three incumbent city councilmen were defeated at Wichita Falls, and that city's zoning ordinance governing the type of building there was voted out.

The vote for councilmen (incumbent first): C. A. Spragins 2,303; L. R. Abbott, 2,900. Edward Kadane, 2,398; Lloyd C. Thomas, 2,799, E. J. Winninger, 2,269; Roy W. Parish, 2,934.

At Midland attorney William B. Neely defeated incumbent R. H. Gifford for mayor. He got 1,014 votes to 478 for Gifford. Frank Shriver, oil company tax commissioner, nosed out Jess Barber, building contractor, 753 to 718 for place one on the council. H. E. Chiles and W. E. Hejl were

Warm Temperatures To Continue In Area

South Plains was promised two days more of spring weather last night as an April cold spell suddenly broke under a blazing sun.

The mercury bounced to a high of 70 degrees yesterday afternoon from an early morning low of 31 degrees as clouds which had hovered over this area for four days disappeared.

Continued warm weather today and Thursday was forecast by the Lubbock weather station. A maximum reading of 70 to 75 degrees is predicted for this afternoon, with a low of 37 degrees expected this morning.

Thursday's readings will be in about the same range, the station said. A few scattered clouds will appear today and tomorrow, the forecaster said.

Plan To Tighten Laws Against Spies, Saboteurs Challenged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—A bill to arm the government with new powers against spies and saboteurs was challenged by senators today as a possible threat to individual rights and freedom of the press.

Hearings on the administration measure, worked out by intelligence experts, opened before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Senator Eastland (D-Miss).

Maj. General S. Leroy Irwin, the Army's director of intelligence, said all the armed services support the bill as means of plugging legal gaps that let persons obtain vital defense information "without fear of prosecution in our courts."

He testified the legislation "will substantially correct the deficiencies in our present laws without attempting in any way to invade the privileges and immunities of our citizens."

But Eastland promptly asked if one part of the bill "isn't a very rabid departure from our system of government?"

He referred to provisions for a year's imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for anyone who will-

Search To Be Resumed For Victims Today

By GENE ROGUSKI
INS Staff Correspondent

EFFINGHAM, Ill., April 5.—At least 38 persons including 10 infants perished today and 28 others were missing in a fire which destroyed Effingham's 62-year-old St. Anthony's hospital.

A spokesman for the Catholic Diocese governing the hospital said tonight the death toll might rise to 66.

Darkness tonight halted the search for the missing. Officials expressed fear all were dead. Fire Chief Frank Wilkins said the search would resume at daybreak tomorrow.

Many Are Trapped

The Catholic church spokesman said figures gathered by the chancery office staff of the Springfield Diocese showed a total of 126 persons known to be in the hospital at the time of the fire. Earlier figures said 114 persons were in the three-story brick building.

According to the diocese figures, only 62 persons have been found alive by searchers, leaving 63 dead or missing.

The early-morning blaze rolled through clothes chutes of the hospital, trapping patients and employes between the basement and the fourth floor, an attic-like top to the brick structure.

38 Bodies Recovered

The chancery staff reported that countless interviews with survivors of the holacaust were the foundation for the following breakdown on the 126 persons known to have been in the burning building, and (in parenthesis), those found alive:

Patients, 103 present, (50 alive); visitors, 2 (0); employes, 7 (1); nurses 4 (3); nuns, 4 (2); special nurses, 4 (4); a man who ran inside to save his wife and did not return, and a priest, who also died.

The disaster was the second most costly hospital fire in American history.

Thirty-eight bodies have been recovered thus far. In many cases the victims were charred beyond recognition. Only the hospital

Two Men Held In Burglary Case

Two negro men whose shoes fit the tracks leading from a window of a burglarized residence were arrested Tuesday and admitted the offense, police said.

Both were held in lieu of bonds set by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace. Both are under 5-year suspended sentence, city detectives said.

Informal charges of breaking and entering probably will be referred today to a 99th district grand jury, police indicated.

They named the men as Floyd Brown, 21, and Charles J. Jefferson, 26, both of Lubbock.

Residence Entered

A negro woman, R. T. Doss, reported her residence at 2314 East Ave. B had been broken and entered. She said a pair of glasses and a wrist watch, total value $55, had been taken.

Cecil Trull and B. L. Cummings, police patrolmen, found entrance had been made at a west window, the screen of which had been cut.

Studying tracks and following them, the officials knocked on the door of a residence next door and were invited in. The two men were asked for their shoes, which "fitted perfectly into the tracks."

Watch Was Pawned

Arrested, the two men admitted the burglary and said the watch had been pawned at a cafe for some meat, the glasses hidden inside a stove at the place of arrest. Both articles were recovered.

A search of almost four years for S. L. Rutherford, 45, was rewarded by the man's arrest in Oklahoma, it was announced by the sheriff's department. Rutherford is under two felony indict-

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS BEGIN

Chinese Communists Threaten To Push Across Yangtze River

By PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, April 5 — The Chinese Communists threatened tonight to cross the Yangtze river in force regardless of the outcome of formal peace negotiations which began in Communist-held Peiping today.

The threat was made in a radio broadcast from Peiping in which the Reds quoted the editorial carried by the semi-official Communist New China news agency. The broadcast declared:

"We will cross the Yangtze no matter whether peace talks result in any agreement."

Red armies have been deployed along the 100 mile front on the north bank of the great river which bisects the heart of China.

(Reuters reported that as the peace talks opened, the Reds withdrew some units which have been skirmishing with the remnants of Nationalist troops on the north bank for the last ten days.)

A Communist crossing of the river barrier in any strength would apparently result in the occupation of the Nanking-Shanghai-Hangchow triangle dominating the most productive areas of the rich Yangtze valley.

The Reds predicted that the drive might cause "some fighting but not very much," adding:

"The Kuomintang (Nationalist party) has only one million ill-disciplined troops left."

Peace Policy Hit

The Reds dashed more cold water on the hopes of the government for a satisfactory peace settlement by new attacks on Nationalist peace policy.

The Communist editorial warned that acting President Li Tsung-Jen and Premier Ho Ying-Chin must break with retired President Chiang Kai-Shek before they can hope for cooperation from the Reds.

The broadcast blamed student rioting in Nanking April 1 on the Nanking government's "continuing reliance upon Chiang and American imperialism."

The Reds called in the broadcast for the arrest of Chiang, Tang En-Po, garrison commander of troops in the area south of the Yangtze, and Chan Yao-Ming, garrison commander at Nanking.

The peace talks in Peiping began after four days of broad preliminary discussion. Officials in Nanking continued to express ignorance of whether a reported cease fire order would be discussed.

Yesterday, reliable sources in Shanghai reported that acting President Li Tsung-Jen would decree an armistice in a joint statement with a similar order by the Reds.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Seismology Lab At Tech Is Praised By Federal Official

Texas Tech's seismology laboratory is filling a vital gap in the record network of the United States Coast and Geodetic survey, Dr. Frank Neuman, chief of the seismology branch of the U.S. survey assured college officials during a day-long inspection of the seismograph facilities Tuesday.

Dr. Neuman, en route from his Washington, D. C. offices to the annual Seismology Society of America conference in Berkeley, Calif., and to inspect the survey sub-station at San Francisco, made the first official visit of the relatively new laboratory at Tech, established only last year.

Station Ranks "Tops"

He said the modern equipment and supervision of the Tech station rank tops among the upper 20 stations co-operating with the U.S. survey. The Tech station is the only complete station in the southwest between Tucson, Ariz., and Little Rock, Ark.

Interest of colleges and universities is steadily mounting in seismology laboratories, Dr. Neuman said, pointing out institutional interest is important because of the part seismology is playing in exploration for oil, the important relationship between normal earth vibration and the weather, and it forms a basis for engineering investigation of earthquake areas.

With the present service, the U.S. survey expects to report data on 250 tremors and quakes this year. Last year the total was 130.

Dr. Leroy T. Patton, professor of geology, set up the Tech laboratory and interprets the recorded information which is forwarded regularly to the Washington headquarters.

Drop In Texas Crude Output Helps Lower U.S. Production

TULSA, Okla., April 5 (AP)—A big drop in Texas production helped lower the nation's crude oil production by an average of 51,625 barrels daily during the week ended April 2, the Oil & Gas Journal reported today.

Extra Millions To Combat Subversive Activities In U. S., Build Up 'Voice Of America' Approved

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Extra millions of dollars to combat subversive activities in the United States and to build up the Voice of America abroad were recommended today by the House Appropriations committee.

It approved a $52,585,141 fund for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which is $8,865,141 more than the agency got this year and $1,596,141 more than President Truman recommended for the 1950 fiscal year which starts next July 1.

A $34,000,000 appropriation was recommended for the State department's information and educational programs at home and abroad including the "Voice of America" radio program. This is an increase of $2,900,000 over this year's total.

Debate Set This Week

These and many other items ranging from census takers' equipment to lawbooks for federal judges were included in a $747,216,102 appropriation bill to finance the activities of the State, Commerce and Justice departments, and the federal judiciary, during the new fiscal year. The bill will be debated in the House later this week, then sent over to the Senate for action there.

The total included $684,616,102 in cash and $62,600 000 in contract authority, was divided as follows:

State department—$271,405,656 in cash and $2,900,000 in contract authority.

Commerce department—$259,579,141 in cash and $900,000 in contract authority.

Federal courts—$20,703,700 cash.

The State department was the only one of these general agencies for which less money was recommended than in the current year. It took a cut of $11 538,434 in cash and $24,500,000 in contract authority.

Testimony at the committee hearings, made public when the bill was approved, showed that the State department proposed to step up its Voice of America time on the air from 23½ hours a week to 35 hours 55 minutes, and add broadcasts in Finnish, Ukrainian, Arabic, Turkish, Persian and Hebrew to its current programs in 20 languages.

Although the Russians are trying hard to jam the broadcasts, the department said the "voice" is getting through to an estimated 8,000 000 to 10,000,000 citizens of the Soviet.

One of the largest single allocations in the bill was $139,073,605 cash and $58,800,000 in contract authority for the Civil Aeronautics administration. Most of this is to be spent building airports and establishing air navigation facilities.

Blount Raps Attack By A&M Newspaper

University, Aggie Squabble Is Taken Up On House Floor

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 5—Those bitter football foes, Texas and Texas A.&M., got together on the floor of the House today while Communism lay groaning on the bench.

Rep. Peppy Blount of Big Spring, who played football for Texas last year, 'lowed he didn't like being called a "subsidized football player." Those, he said, were the words in an editorial in the Battalion, Texas A.&M. college newspaper.

Ex-Aggie Apologizes

Rep. C. P. McKnight, jr., of Quitman, who was graduated from A.&M. last year, interrupted Peppy to say: "I think you've been done an injustice, and as a former Aggie, I'd like to apologize for it."

Blount, a six-foot, four-inch pass - snatching end, said the editorial was headed: "Better than giving them convertibles."

It goes on, he said, with "Why hasn't A.&M. a subsidy program like T.U.? What other school subsidizes its players with seats in the legislature?"

"And this is about someone very dear to me," he declared,"—me."

The editorial talked about his outburst against Communism on the floor of the House last week he said.

"They have ways of taking care of Communists in A.&M.," Blount said. "They can beat it out of them."

"But we haven't got that latitude out at the University of Texas. We've got this Communist out there and it's going to be embarrassing if we don't do something about it."

But getting back to the subsidized football players business, Peppy said—"They're just a little bit hasty."

Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth suggested—"Let's give 'em a couple of members of the legislature for their football team on the condition that they'll use 'em—say Hanna and Spacek."

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas, white-haired, and Rep. R. B. Spacek of Fayetteville, grey-haired, laughed.

So did Blount and the rest of the House in good-natured humor, and they went on to the next business.

HOUSE BEAUTIFUL

The recent House Beautiful tour, sponsored by Lubbock Women's club, was so successful that the club plans another in the fall, spokesmen have disclosed.

A part of a long-range campaign to raise funds for a clubhouse here, the recent tour netted more than a thousand dollars, boosting the building fund to an estimated $18,600. The club has already secured a site on Thirty-fourth street for the house, and is making progress on the building fund.

The House Beautiful tour was the first event of its kind staged here to our knowledge, and those who worked to make it a success deserve thanks from all Lubbock women who were privileged to attend the open houses. Especially praiseworthy were the gracious and hospitable people who opened their homes for the event.

NOT INSPIRED

HILLBILLY and other folk music is selling in greater volume in America today than any other type, according to information of questionable accuracy that we picked up somewhere. True or not, if it is so popular that anyone would risk such a statement, it's rise in public favor in recent years is interesting.

While many of the new "folk" songs hitting the juke boxes and air waves leave us cringing, still there is a special place in our hearts for a few old classics like "Boll Weevil Song" and others that have stood the test of time.

But we'll never be so fond of any of it as to miss the totally unintended humor of the following publisher's blurb:

"It (folk music) is not created by an inspired composer, but rather it comes up virtually out of nowhere."

Today's Town Talk

Even the Lubbock Lions won't try to compete with 325 women, or perhaps it was in the cause of chivalry that the Lions club moved over to the Lubbock hotel to join the Optimist club for luncheon and left the Hilton hotel to the feminine throngs attending the Convention of the Seventh District of Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

Anyway, the ladies reigned supreme on the Hilton's mezzanine Tuesday and entertained each other with choruses of polite laughter, a minimum of silence, and a maximum of exclamations over everything from new spring costumes to future club plans.

Among the over 500 women attending the convention is Mrs. W. E. Davis of Childress.

The kindly faced octogenarian is a life member of the district, and has missed only three conventions in the past 37 years.

Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, Seventh District president, is attending the convention with her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Galey.

Both of the federation members are from Memphis.

Mrs. R. L. Kincaid of Crowell was awarded a life membership of the Seventh district by the district board Monday night.

She is the mother of Mrs. Harvey Turnbough of 1919 Twenty-fifth.

Featuring the unusual in decorations was the coffee staged Tuesday morning in the Lubbock Country club ballroom by Mrs. Maple Wilson and Mrs. W. S. Moss, sr. Approximately 150 guests called between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m.

In the background was a simulated open campfire, topped by a typical fisherman's fire blackened coffeepot, and surrounded by camp chairs. Arranged on the refreshment table was a centerpiece of desert spoon flowers, which were flown in from Tucson, and cacti, bear grass and miniature horses completed the table decorations.

Members of the houseparty were Mesdames Clarence E. Davis, W. B. Agee, G. W. Cochran, M. C. Butler, Val Williams, G. C. Turner, C. V. Harvey. C. C. Caldwell, P. W. Walker of Littlefield, Jorn McLarty, John Robert Moxley, Cliff Dean, Ray Farmer, Horace Humphries, Grady Lowe, David Morrison, James G. Morris, A. R. Golding, jr., William Stevens Moss, jr., Charles Bucy and L. G. Wilson.

Their corsages were made of four red carnations tied with green ribbon and attached to a Western style napkin tied to resemble a handkerchief.

Mesdames Moss and Wilson were also hostesses at an Easter motif luncheon held recently at 12:30 p.m. in the Country club. Covers were laid for 30 guests.

On the luncheon table were three identical centerpieces consisting of small white wheelbarrows filled with spring flowers and drawn by Easter bunnies. Blue and yellow primroses, imported from England were scattered through the floral arrangements, which were predominantly of tulips. Easter eggs were scattered over the table to carry out the colors of the flowers, and sprays of gladioli at other points in the room completed decorations.

The Lubbockites who still have visions of the homemade cakes, cookies and jellies featured at the bazaar sponsored by the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school P-TA in the O. L. Slaton Junior High school building last December may be glad to know that another fine food bazaar will be held Thursday in the new J. T. Hutchinson building.

Last time so many of the school children invested their nickles and dimes in the sweets that adults found most of the wares gone by the time the sale was well under way, so here is an early warning to the grown-ups. Foods are to be taken to the school after 1 p.m., and will be for sale between 2:30 and 5 o'clock.

Proceeds from the previous bazaar were used to purchase $100 worth of new books for the library, and a sturdy speaker's stand. Funds from Thursday's sale will be used for similar purposes.

Mrs. L. R. Rampy, 3207 Twentieth, and her daughter, Mrs. Robert R. Marquis, will leave today for a short stay in Beaumont.

Their main interest will be in the Beaumont baseball club of which Mr. Marquis is a member, and which is scheduled to play the Pirates, White Sox and Yankees on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, respectively, in Beaumont.

The Lubbockites will return home Tuesday.

Featured in the entertainment of the Lubbock Country club Tuesday night was a gin rummy tournament for members only.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC SUPPLY COMPANY

99 TAYLOR STREET AMARILLO, TEXAS

Projects Planned To Pump More Of Texas' Natural Gas To East

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP) — Texas burns "waste" gas in flaming torches above its oil fields. But more and more of its abundant natural gas is to be piped east, to cook the suppers in Brooklyn, maybe to bake the beans in Boston.

Pipeline companies are pushing plans how to bring more natural gas to the industrial Midwest and East. It is part of the battle between coal, oil, electricity and gas to power and heat the nation. Cities along the way are fighting for as big a share of the gas as possible.

Opposition Noted

Many in the Midwest oppose gas companies entering the coal and oil dominated East, before the Midwest's industries and homes are completely served with natural gas.

For years natural gas has been piped from Texas to Los Angeles. It has been burned in Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Detroit and Pittsburgh. Last year it reached Philadelphia. Plans are now completed to bring it to the New York area by next year. One company talks of piping it to Boston.

First-time visitors to the Texas oil fields are startled to see burning gas shooting into the air above the wells. Oilmen explain there is no market there for the escaping gas and it must be burned as it bursts from the earth pushing the oil up with it.

But other wells produce chiefly natural gas, and these are tied by an intricate network of pipelines, totalling 250,000 miles, into most sections of the nation.

Here are the plans of four pipeline companies for bringing more of this natural gas to serve the industrial Midwest and East's growing need for cheap fuel.

1. Texas Gas Transmission Corp. is just starting to build a $73,500,000 pipeline 800 miles from Texas to Middletown, Ohio. At that point between 235 and 255 million cubic feet daily will be pumped into other companies' lines, to be burned as far east as Philadelphia and Syracuse. Cities all along the way from Texas to Ohio will tap the lines for gas supplies.

More Lines Planned

2. Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line company plans to bring 340 million cubic feet daily from the Gulf of Mexico to Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York. The 1,840 mile 26-inch pipeline is slated to pour gas into Brooklyn by the fall of 1950.

3. Tennessee Gas Transmission company, now as far east as West Virginia, talks of going on to Buffalo and possibly Boston. Its present 2,500 mile system has a daily capacity of 660 million cubic feet. It wants to build more lines and bring the capacity to one billion cubic feet daily.

Capacity Increase Authorized

4. Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. has Federal Power commission authority to boost the daily capacity of the big inch and little big inch pipelines, which it operates, to a total of 508 million cubic feet. Then it will sell natural gas to Staten island, part of New York City. It also plans a third line, bigger than either of the others to run 1,020 miles from Texas to Pennsylvania to add 425 million cubic feet daily to the capacity of the distributing lines feeding the New York and New Jersey industrial areas.

How the use of natural gas is growing is shown by the American Gas association's report that last year natural gas sales totalled 2.8 trillion cubic feet, a gain of 300 billion cubic feet over 1947. Sales of manufactured gas in 1948 were 446 billion cubic feet, against 434 billion in 1947. Natural gas outsold manufactured by more than six to one.

New Pipe Laid

Since July, 1945, the industry has laid 6,238 miles of natural gas pipeline, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers association says. Within three years it will lay 8,599 miles more of lines, already authorized but still uncompleted.

And the Natural Security Resources board, surveying industry plans with an eye on what power sources the nation could draw upon in wartime, says the industry has a five-year expansion program that will bring annual capacity to 4.6 trillion cubic feet.

That will cook a lot of beans.

Death Of Chemical Firm Head Results In Shift Of Personnel

MIDLAND, Mich, April 5 (AP)—Dow Chemical company executive personnel was shifted today as a result of the plane crash death last Thursday of Dr. Willard H. Dow.

The board of directors elected Earl W. Bennett chairman and Leland I. Doan president. Bennett retains his old post of chairman of the finance committee. Doan had been director of sales.

A. P. Beutel and Russell L. Curtis were given newly-created posts as vice presidents. Dr. Mark E. Putnam was named general manager and a member of the executive committee.

Dr. Dow had served as chairman and general manager as well as president.

Calvin Campbell, sole survivor of the crash in which Dow, his wife, Martha, and three others were killed, was chosen secretary. He had been head of the company's legal department.

Carl A. Gerstecker was named treasurer.

House Money Bill Proposes $540,000 For Midway Airport

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The Commerce department appropriation bill recommended to the House today contains $540,000 for work next year on the greater Fort Worth, Tex., (Midway) international airport.

The money is provided in a lump sum appropriation for airport construction work to be carried on by the Civil Aeronautics administration during the year starting July 1.

Situated halfway between Fort Worth and Dallas, the Midway airfield has been the center of controversy between the two cities for years. Dallas interests opposed it on the grounds that it would hurt Love field, operated by that city.

U. S. Aviation Makes New Steps Toward World Air Superiority

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 5—The airplane business is getting out of hand, as any bloke can see if he happens to be near enough to New York, Fort Worth or Santa Monica to peer into what's happening.

The Curtiss-Wright people have opened a show in New York called "The Span of Flight." To give you some concept of the span in question, the exhibits range from a spare propellor which the Wright brothers carved for the world's first plane to the guarded design of C-W's peachy little 10,000 MPH satellite missile. There is a slight 9,930 MPH difference in the speed for which both objects were made.

The Consolidated Vultee people, down in Fort Worth, apparently unhappy about the lack of horsepower in their incredible B-36—which has six of the most overpowering reciprocating engines ever built—have added four jet engines to the monster. This gives the new '36 ten engines and enough power to reverse Niagara Falls.

At Santa Monica, Douglas is building something bigger than an office building. It is called C-124. It has the droopy lower jaw of a whale suffering from pituitary trouble and it can carry trucks, tanks up to 20-ton sizes, or 200 troops and all their spam. Passengers leave by the nose, or lip, in the approved method devised by Jonah.

Russians Also Rush Work

The satellite missile is something which all self-respecting world powers one day must own. Before he bowed out as Secretary of National Defense, Mr. Forrestal announced vaguely that we've been working on this gadget for some time. So have the British and the Russians, and they're said to be ahead of us.

Briefly, the rocket-propelled thing is meant to be shot up through the muggy atmosphere which enables earthlings to breathe. Finally, with the aid of its ginger little engine and liquid turnip fuel, or whatever, it rassles its way out of the gravity field of the earth.

Through methods which Curtiss-Wright isn't able to divulge, the thing then levels off and, without the help of fuel, begins rotating around the earth at 10,000 MPH. indefinitely.

What good is that, you ask, except for people who want to get away from it all? Well, the more peaceful dreamers in interstellar circles see the "Lonesome Polecat," as the first one inevitably will be called, as a kind of inter-space platform from which cosmic ray, weather reports and other gossip concerning the unknown outer space could be broadcast back to earth automatically.

As many as five years ago, however, the men who were making the A-bomb and feeling pretty conscience-stricken about the whole thing, saw such man-made satellites as potential carriers of the bomb.

Future Uses Seen

They saw them being used as untouchable Damocles Swords hanging over the heads of nations. An aggressor, wanting to wipe out a country, could simply wait until his missiles appeared over the land in question—matter of a few minutes, herr professor—and yank them down by radar or zap gun. At least, some of the A-bomb men thought this was a possibility, and a terrible one, and it probably is a possibility. Anything is in aviation today.

Pending the happy day of homemade moons playing ring-around-the rosie with the earth, the Curtiss-Wright people have come up with a jet engine that develops about 10,000 pounds thrust, twice as much stuff as the jets now in operation. It is on view in the New York show and it's startling to see it stacked up against the little Curtiss job that powered the Wright plane that started this whole thing at Kitty Hawk, N. C., or Admiral Byrd's feeble power plant for his first polar trip.

This huge new one, called the Typhoon, would have trouble fitting in a locomotive but it will snuggle into the wings of bombers and transports now on the boards—and prod them through the air at better than 500 MPH. Even that is peanuts, as the boys now figure. Other C-W engines, designed for single-place fighters and guided missiles are built for speeds between 1,000 and 2,000 MPH.

The propeller is still with us, however, the exhibit shows. And will be for a long time. To compensate for the additional power of the latest reciprocating, or old fashioned, types of engines—which are beginning to spin props faster than the speed of sound and therefore causing them to suffer the shakes—C-W has produced a blade something that looks like three scimitars welded together. Works, too.

The "pods" of jet engines on Convair's mammoth B-36 will enable it to run away from jet interceptors at lower altitudes. It has already proved that it can't be touched at 40,000 feet, where the jets begin to gasp for air. The 200-seat Douglas, like all other planes now in the building stage, will be obsolete the day it first flies—for Douglas will have something bigger and better back in the shop.

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Hilton hotel, Lubbock, Sunday and Monday only, April 10 and 11, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or and position the body may assume. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

Tractor Maintenance School To Be Conducted At Tech

A tractor maintenance school for the county agents and 4-H leaders of 16 South Plains counties will be held in the Agriculture Engineering building at Texas Tech, Thursday and Friday.

Tractors of various makes and all in need of repairs will be used to demonstrate the proper way to repair and maintain them for the most efficient operation. Service men and specialists from the tractor agencies will be on hand to illustrate the factory approved and tested procedures.

District Agent W. N. Williamson of the extension service, in charge of the two day school, said that if this school is satisfactory another one may be set for a later date to which the public will be invited.

Forrestal Enters Naval Hospital For 'Routine' Medical Study

WASHINGTON, April 5 (INS) — Former Defense Secretary Forrestal entered nearby Bethesda Naval hospital today for what hospital authorities termed a "routine medical study."

The hospital officials said Forrestal, who retired as first Defense secretary a week ago, had decided upon the check-up after his long and arduous public service.

They emphasized his condition was not serious.

Forrestal was succeeded by Louis A. Johnson, ending almost 10 years of service as presidential assistant, under secretary and secretary of the Navy, and Defense chieftain.

Hospital Fire One Of Nation's Worst

(By The United Press)

The St. Anthony's hospital fire at Effingham, Ill., today was one of the worst hospital fires in the nation's history. The last comparable hospital fire was on Jan. 31, 1943 when flames swept the Lake Forest sanitarium near Seattle.

In other major hospital and asylum fires, 26 aged and infirm persons died at the asylum of the Little Sisters of the Poor in Pittsburgh on July 25, 1931, while 22 patients and three guards were killed in a fire at a hospital for the mentally ill on Wards island, New York, on Feb. 18, 1923.

Other major fires in recent years and the death tolls were:

Dec. 7, 1946—Winecoff hotel, Atlanta, 120.

June 5, 1945—LaSalle hotel, Chicago, 62.

July 6, 1944—Circus fire, Hartford, Conn., 168.

Nov. 28, 1942—Cocoanut Grove night club, Boston, 488.

Giants Pound Out 8-4 Win Over Tribe At Rosenthal Field

6,871 See New Yorkers Club Papish And Garcia

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

National League supremacy, seldom witnessed in recent years, reared its ugly head at Rosenthal Field yesterday afternoon for the second consecutive year, the New York Giants pounding out an 8 to 4 victory over the Cleveland Indians, World Champions of baseball.

And the Giants did it the American League way, blasting nine doubles and two home runs off the offerings of a pair of Indian hurlers. When the carnage was removed from the field after two hours and ten minutes of struggling, few of the 6,871 fans were convinced the Indians will repeat in 1949.

Poat Shackles Tribe

Ray Poat, who won 11 while losing 10 last year for the Giants, shackled Indian bats in more than satisfactory measure. He weakened momentarily in the third inning, when he gave up a home run to Mickey Vernon on a three-two pitch, after he had him fanned. He followed with a walk to Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon nailed a two-one pitch over the centerfield fence.

That was the Indian's last gasp, to all intents and purposes, while the Giants continued their assault on Frank Papish. Papish, picked up in a winter deal with the Chicago White Sox, forgot that he was under contract to the champs. He gave up a brace of runs in the first and second innings, then doled out single runs in the third and fourth.

By the time Manager Boudreau got him out of there—and Mike Garcia in—Manager Leo Durocher's tribe was ready to catch the train. The Jints pounded Papish for six of their nine ground rules doubles and one of their two home runs. It was pretty bad.

Garcia Shows Up Good

Garcia, with Oklahoma City last season, came on in the fifth to give a homer to Bobby Thomson, first man to face him, then pitched tight ball. He fanned five, walked two and gave a pretty good imitation of a young man about to stick in the majors.

But Garcia arrived on the scene too late to help much, what with Poat having only one bad inning and Hansen not having any. Handy Andy gave up seven hits in five frames, but only one run trickled across the platter—and that in the dying gasp effort by the Indians in the ninth.

It was a hitter's paradise yesterday, with 14 doubles driven into the crowd, which was circling the outfield fences. But four blows that the crowd had nothing to do with were solid clouts.

Mickey Vernon and Joe Gordon slammed foremasters well over the fence tops, with Sid Gordon, who hit one here last year, and Thomson also getting four bases for the price of one.

Three fast double plays were turned in, with two of the really top grade work. Bob Hoffman started one in the first inning when he grabbed Boudreau's grounder, flipped it to Buddy Kerr, who made a beautiful evasive roll in tossing to Johnny Mize for the twin killing.

Durocher Enjoys Sunshine

In the fourth, Kerr started a double death, timing Al Rosen's low liner to his right to perfection. He palmed the ball and threw to Hoffman in time to double Larry Doby off the bag.

Lippy Durocher enjoyed the Texas sunshine from a private box, talking to Branch Rickey, jr., here on a trade that has the writers guessing. From all appearances, it will be a big one.

Goat of today's game was Rosen, the promising young third sacker, who replaced the injured Ken Keltner. Rosen played soccer with a grounder in the third inning, giving Walker Cooper life, then heaved wildly to first sending Cooper to second. In addition, Rosen lined into a double play.

Thurman Tucker of Gordon and Mineral Wells, failed to play, and neither did Clint Hartung of Hondo. They were the only Texans on the two squads.

Boys Club Nine To Meet Lubbock Today

Boys Club and Lubbock High school baseball teams square off today at 4:30 at Boys Club diamond in their second game of the season.

In their first encounter the Westerners defeated the club team 4-3, with the aid of numerous errors, but the two teams have improved since then and it will probably take base knocks to win the game.

Two Boys Club hurlers have settled down to hard work, and recently Jackie Martyn pitched a five inning no-hitter against Tech Independents, composed of Texas Tech students. Probable starter on the mound today, however, will be Joe Hall. If needed, Martyn and Carroll Walker will also be ready.

Likely to start as pitcher for the Westerners is Jimmy Hamilton. The young righthander has been doing very well in previous games and should hold the Boys Club in check. If he runs into trouble Sophomore Bennie Day or Mac Taylor can take over the mound duties.

Starters for the Westerners will be Hamilton, pitcher; Morris Turner, catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bobby Brown, shortstop; Jimmy Richards, left field; Garnet Reeves, center field; and James Burgess, right field.

Slated to start for Boys Club are Hall, pitcher; Jackie Cook or M. D. Stevens, catcher; Gerald Hise, first base; Jack Whitehead, second base; Mackie Lawrence, third base; Buddy Maynor, shortstop; and either Jack McLarty, Royce Jones, Wayne Noland, or Bennie Scott in the three outfield positions.

University Of Houston Eleven Schedules St. Bonaventure

HOUSTON, April 5 (AP) — The University of Houston football team will travel to New York this fall.

Athletic director Harry Fouke today announced the signing of a home and home agreement with St. Bonaventure college, the first game to be played at St. Bonaventure, N. Y., November 5.

The New York Brown Indians will play here next year.

Steers Sweep Double Bill From Rice Nine

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns swept a doubleheader from Rice here today, taking the opener, 15-7 via blustery hitting and winning the second game 5-0, behind Charlie Gorin's four-hit pitching.

Texas got four home runs during the twin bill. Ed Kneuper led the day's 18-hit assault with a homer, two doubles and two singles in six trips to the plate. He also batted in five runs.

Jim Ehrler held Rice to three hits and three runs in the first six innings of the opening game, but the Owls got to relief pitcher Frank Womack for four runs in the eighth and ninth innings.

Earlier, however, Texas had knocked out Johnny Finch with a seven-hit, nine-run assault in the first two innings. Both Kneuper and Bob Brock hit homers off Finch, and Ehrler himself poled one later off the second Rice pitcher, Bob Gunn. Rice's Bob Willard homered in the fifth off Ehrler.

Ben Brown Rolls Top Individual Game

Mission Orange Bowlers Gain First Place In City Tourney

The Mission Orange bowlers took over the first spot in the team bowling standings of the Men's City Bowling league tournament with a score of 2,894 pins.

Competition Tuesday was on a higher level than that of Monday when the Press Bulls of the College league started off in the lead of the week-long tournament with 2,780 pins for the team high. Only one team, McFarland-Maisen, failed to better that score, topling 2,701 pins.

Walton's Men store turned in the second best score for the night, just 10 pins behind Mission Orange, with 2,884. Third was Hub Clothiers with 2,871, just 10 pins ahead of Westerner Cafe, whose team rolled strikes and spares for 2,861. In fifth place was Hemphill-Wells with 2,849, and McFarland-Maisen finished last.

Top individual game for the night was rolled by Ben Brown, a sizzling 256 exhibition. Unfortunately his first two games were below par for the course and he did not register a 600 series.

Marvin Struve had the high series with 618, just two pins ahead of Mac McCallum, who finished with 616. Morris Cooper had 615 to toe with last night's individual high rolled by Jerry Henderson. Clyde Curlee came in with 613, and Jack Goodgion registered 609.

Tonight at Lubbock Bowling club City Employees, Sears, Hub Laundry, Carl Maxey, Household Supply, West Texas Gas, Reeves Insurance, and Cunningham's will take to the lanes in the third night of team bowling. Friday and Saturday singles and dougles will be rolled at Playmor lanes.

DIZ DEAN COULD BE ATHLETES MODEL

'Flawless' Athletes Usually Have Hole In Their Armor Somewhere

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 5 — One of the most common sayings in sport is: "The guy has everything."

This is said to denote an athlete without an apparent flaw in his make-up. Fellows like Joe DiMaggio, Eddie Arcaro, Bill Tilden, Benny Leonard, Bill Cook, Bill Carr, and Bronko Nagurski are samples of fellows who rated this accolade in baseball, riding, tennis, boxing, hockey, racing and football.

They could do everything in their particular sport and do it superlatively well. They had classic form in everything they did. So much so in fact, that movies of them in action could serve as all-time models to teach the youngsters.

But while watching lightweight champion Ike Williams drop a decision to welterweight Kid Gavilan the other night it occurred to us that an athlete doesn't have to be a master at everything in his particular field to be a champion.

Here was Gavilan, a perfect target for a good right hand uppercut. But Williams, a good champion in his own class, never once tried an uppercut. Apparently that punch is not in his repertoire. Instead he kept punching down at the head bobbing and weaving below him.

Other fellows have won titles with less equipment than Williams but invariably what they did have was more than enough.

For instance, Max Schmeling never had anything but a good right hand. And for all the use he made of it, Max Baer might just as well have left his left hand in the dressing room.

Yet both became heavyweight champions.

A fellow can have a glaring weakness and still be rated a great champion. Joe Louis is a good example. All his life he was a sucker for a straight right hand. Schmeling capitalized on this weakness to knock him out. Even a man like Tami Mauriello drove him across the ring with a similar punch but wasn't fast enough to capitalize on it.

Many rate Walter Johnson the greatest of all pitchers. He probably was the fastest. But for years Johnson had no curve at all. He had two superlative assets, however, a blazing fast ball and great control, and they were more than enough.

You couldn't very well use Johnson for a model for anything except his flawless delivery. But you could use Dizzy Dean as a model for everything, because he had everything, speed, control, change of pace and, when he cared to use them, all the curves in the book.

Southern Methodist Golfers Drop Tech Linksmen, 4 To 2

Linksmen from Southern Methodist university visited Lubbock country club Tuesday and repeated their performance of two weeks ago by defeating Texas Tech's golfers, four matches to two.

Johnny Trout of Tech won over King of SMU, 6-5. In the following match, Henry of SMU downed Cook of Tech, 5-4. Nail of SMU won over Carpenter of Tech, 6-4. SMU's Weaver then defeated Norman of Tech, 6-4.

Trout and Cook of Tech teamed up to beat King and Henry of SMU, one up. In the second foursome match, Nail and Weaver of SMU won over Carpenter and Norman of Tech, 5-4.

Tech's Trout and SMU's Weaver and Nail all shot par golf over the country club course.

Two weeks ago the Techsans journeyed to Dallas and lost all six matches to the Methodists.

Blackley To Meet Weaver

Three good bouts are on the wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena tonight, beginning at 8:15, and Buck Weaver tangles with Gene Blackley in the final event.

Returning to the local arena after a lengthy absence, Blackley has picked a rough boy for himself in Weaver. Buck has proven to be the top man around here of late, and Blackley seems to be the logical man to test him further. Combined with a "win by any means" attitude is plenty of skill and muscle in Blackley's makeup, and he should prove to be a tough customer.

But Weaver has been known to take the roughness in his stride, and a fast, rugged match is in prospect since he is the man to beat at present in the local arena. The hour limit, with two out of three falls, should give both wrestlers long enough to display their ability.

In the semi-final event Alex Kasaboski takes on Elmer Davis of El Paso. Hailing from Russia, the newcomer to this area has a reputation as one of the roughest men in the ring, and the facts back up the claims.

Davis is no unknown, although he has not appeared here for some time, and he is a hard man to beat himself. He may prove to be the man for the task of handling Kasaboski. Although Davis prefers to win by pure science and skill, he will most likely have to fight fire with fire.

In the preliminary another newcomer, Steve Nenoff, will takle Glen Detton. Nenoff is a veteran of the ring and may prove too tough for the young Amarillo grappler, but Detton has shown lots of hustle in his other bouts here and should put up a good fight.

Tickets are on sale at Wylies Drug store until 5 o'clock.

Intra-Squad Coaches Unperturbed

Layne Will Perform At Double T Show

Bobby Layne, former All-American at Texas and quarterback with the Chicago Bears, will give a demonstration of passing during the halves at the intra-squad game at Texas Tech Saturday night on the Double T Sports Parade show.

Layne, one of the greatest passers developed in the Lone Star State, has been assisting the Tech coaching staff this spring. He will use Red Raider wingmen to assist him during the passing demonstration.

Meanwhile, Coach Glenn Lewis of the Farmers is so unconcerned about Saturday night's game that he hardly has appeared on the practice field. Lewis can't even be reached for a statement. He turned the squad over to Coach Tipp Mooney and went off, possibly scouting for additional material.

Coach Bill Kelley of the Ranchers also feels no qualms about the game, using Coach G. B. Morris to tutor the line and Coach Dell Morgan for the backfield. Coach Kelley has been imparting wisdom to his squad and casting aspersions on the Farmers.

"The only reason Lewis isn't on the practice field is because he's scared," Kelley declared. "He knows that he doesn't have a chance against this team. Why, it won't even be close."

The Idalou player pointed to such outstanding men as Ernest Hawkins, Bud Conley, Cal Steveson, Walter Maloney, J. B. Mahler and a host of other fine players. He declared that Lewis' squad couldn't compare.

The Farmers won't be exactly weak, with such men as Dick and Hugh Jackson at ends, Bobby Williams at center, Dan Pursel at guard, John Moughan at quarterback and a raft of good backs.

It shapes up as a rough battle, with the two squads equally divided as to strength. It also shapes up as a scoring tilt, with wide open plays and plenty of action.

Tickets for the game are on sale daily at the Tech athletic office and in the Hilton hotel lobby. Prices are $1 for adults, 60 cents for students. Children, when accompanied by parents, will be admitted free. Approximately 1,500 tickets have been sold, with proceeds going into the dormitory fund.

Lone Star Play Opens

(By The Associated Press)

Lone Star Conference baseball teams will try again this week to open their conference schedules. The two conference games set for last week, between Sam Houston and the University of Houston and East Texas and Stephen F. Austin, had to be postponed because of rain.

Conference games this week will send the University of Houston against East Texas at Commerce Thursday and against Hardin at Wichita Falls Friday, Sam Houston against East Texas at Commerce Friday and against Hardin at Wichita Falls Saturday. Stephen F. Austin met Sam Houston at Huntsville Tuesday in the fifth conference game of the week.

East Texas will play Phillips university at Commerce Saturday in a non-conference tilt. Last week East Texas lost to the Sulphur Springs Independents at Sulphur Springs, 6 to 2. Hardin was defeated by Southwestern Tech at Weatherford, Okla., 13 to 3.

Sam Houston won four games during the week to take over first place. They defeated Rice, 11 to 4, St. Edwards, 6 to 0, Brooke Medical, 6 to 4, in 10 innings, and 3 to 2 in the second game.

Besides the two Conference games postponed because of rain, another game that will have to be played later is the Sam Houston-Rice tilt at Huntsville. Because of rain, the East Texas-Brooke Medical Center doubleheader and the Sam Houston-St. Mary's game were cancelled. The Hardin game with Austin college at Sherman was postponed until the grounds are ready at Sherman.

Conference pitchers who have one win and no losses, now include Jake Drummond, East Texas; Bobby Hollmann and Tommy Bush, University of Houston; and Bruce (Lefty) Faulk, Bill Williamson, and Charles Herd, Sam Houston.

DODGER CATCHER QUOTES RICKEY

Mickey Owen, Jorge Pasquel File Breach-Of-Contract Suits

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 5. (INS)—Former Brooklyn catcher Mickey Owen told a federal jury today that the reason he jumped to the outlaw Mexican league was the quoted statement of Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, that "There is no place on the Brooklyn club for Owen."

Owen's declaration came under cross-examination by attorney Victor Harris of St. Louis, representing Jorge Pasquel of Mexico in the cross breach-of-contract suits being filed by Pasquel and Owen, each against the other.

Pasquel Sues Owen

Pasquel has sued Owen for $127,500 allegedly because the catcher, in returning to the United States after joining the Mexican league three years ago, failed to live up to his contractual obligations.

Owen's counter-suit claims Pasquel had agreed to pay all expenses for himself and family, as well as income taxes on money advanced, and that severance of the agreement deprived him of $75,000 in potential earnings.

Owen was barred from organized baseball by Commissioner A. B. Chandler following his "jump" to the Mexican league.

Federal judge Albert Reeves opened the trial after a jury was empaneled and selected early today, and at day's end adjourned the hearing until tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Owen May Be Called

Although Pasquel was not in court, a deposition entered by him denied that he had failed to live up to the obligations of his contract with Owen.

Owen testified in turn that he had earned a $12,500 bonus by signing a five-year contract with Pasquel, but added that he would have returned the money had he not gone to Mexico in 1946.

Harry Feldman, former New York Giants catcher who also jumped to the Mexican league, and Owen's wife Gloria are expected to be called as witnesses for the catcher tomorrow.

Blue Peter Out Of Kentucky Derby Race

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Blue Peter, champion two-year-old of 1948 and winter book favorite at 3-to-1 to win the Kentucky Derby at Louisville May 7, was withdrawn from the classic "Run For The Roses" today because of an internal ailment.

Owner Joseph M. Raebling announced that the swift son of War Admiral was suffering from an impacted caecum, a malady similar to appendicitis in humans, and would not possibly be ready to race again before mid-June.

With the favorite out of the Derby, it appeared that Fred Hooper jr.'s Olympia and Greentree Stable's Capot might become equal choices to win the three-year-old classic at Churchill Downs.

Dr. O. M. Reed, Blue Peter's veterinarian, said the malady developed after the colt had been ill for several days with colic.

NBC Awards Baytown Sanctioned District Baseball Tournament

WICHITA, Kan., April 6 (U.P.)—Baytown, Tex., has been awarded a sanctioned district tournament by the National Baseball Congress, the NBC said today.

The tournament, with the winner qualifying for the state semi-pro tourney at San Antonio starting July 22, will be held July 7-10.

M. V. Berry of Baytown was named district commissioner.

Masters Play Set Thursday

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (INS)—A steady downpour today prevented most of the nation's top-flight linksmen from getting in practice rounds over the hazardous Augusta national golf course in preparation for the 13th annual renewal of the Masters Tournament Thursday.

None of the 56 players already on hand for the first event had a chance to tour the course. Officials closed it because of the heavy rain. Most of the linksmen confined their activities to the practice greens.

The weather forecaster, however, was encouraging. He promised the rain would end tonight, with tomorrow expected to be clear and and cool.

Tee Off Thursday

A field of about 60 players is expected to tee off Thursday in quest of one of American golfdom's most coveted titles.

As the golfers were forced from their divots, they turned digits, and came up with a prognostication that the winning score for the 72-hole medal tourney would be 280.

There were few—if any—that would predict the record of 279—jointly held by Ralph Guldahl and Claude Harmon—would be broken.

The task of selecting a winner for the 1949 meet was just as varying as the winning score. There were at least six given a better-than-event average chance.

Favorites Picked

Among those prominently mentioned as the men to watch, were such luminaries as Vic Ghezzi; Harmon, the 1948 victor; Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist; Frank Stranahan, the Ohio sparkplug heir; Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum.

In winning last year's event, Harmon established a record five-stroke winning margin, surpassing by one stroke the mark set by Demaret in 1940. In a practice round earlier, the champ fired a sizzling 67—five strokes better than par for the 6,750 yard layout.

The course record of 64 was established in 1940 by Mangrum.

Ghezzi, veteran of many links battles, jumped into prominence when he posted a four-under-par 68 in a practice round. To show this was no fluke, he went out again and came up with a 71.

Lanier, Martin To Get Hearing On Ruling Of Reinstatement

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Max Lanier and Fred Martin, suspended St. Louis Carlinal pitchers, were granted an early hearing today on their appeal for a reversal of a federal court order denying their request for immediate reinstatement in baseball.

But there were indications that the hearing would not be held until after their suit against organized baseball for damages totaling $2,500,000 comes up on April 23.

Suspended for five years for jumping to the Mexican league in 1946, the pitchers are suing organized baseball for triple damages on the ground that the officials of the game have denied them a livelihood.

Defendants are A. B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball; George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues; the presidents of both major leagues and all major league clubs.

The suits charge that professional baseball operates in violation of the anti-trust laws because of the reserve clause in all contracts. This clause binds a player to the club with which he signs until he is sold, traded or released.

As the test of the clause's legality moved slowly through the federal courts, the Congress of the United States stepped into the picture today with the introduction of legislation to exempt organized sports of all kinds from prosecution under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

If passed, the legislation would make baseball's reserve clause legal in the future but would have no effect on the suits now pending. It was introduced in the House by Reps. Mills (D-Ark) and Herlong (D-Fla), former president of the Florida State league.

H-SU Fish Get Cage Letters

ABILENE, April 5. (Special)—Numerals were awarded eight members of the Hardin-Simmons university freshman basketball squad that finished the season with 10 victories against only six defeats, Athletic Director Warren B. Woodson announced Monday.

The team, under Coach Bill Scott, lost only one game to junior college competition and five to freshman and "B" squads of other colleges and universities.

Three of the players receiving the awards were also among the freshman footballers who received recognition. They are Bobby Hart of Levelland, Chick Tiger of Altus, Okla., and Burl Troutman of Abilene.

Other basketball numeral winners are: John McMillan, Ft. Sumner, N. M.; Jack Ball, Denton; James Yancy, Morgan Mill; Don Smith, Wilson; and Billy Preston, Avoca. Preston was captain of the quintet.

All will be back next season to bolster the varsity five that finished third in the Border Conference cage race.

Woman Escapes

she saw flames enveloping the nursery down the hall.

She came back in and told us there was a fire, then she ran out in the hall again, and closed some double doors.

I became frightened and jumped from a table in the delivery room. I almost started to run but the nurse calmed me and another woman.

Climbs Onto Roof

The nurse, known to me as Mrs. Balcher, led us to a window which opens onto a two-story high roof. We climbed through the window. It seemed the flames were all around the hospital.

I wanted to jump. All of us were panicky. The nurse restrained me and the other woman for a while. We saw some of the patients lying on the ground, those who must have leaped from other windows on the second and third floors. It was terrible.

Some of their clothes were burned off. Most of them were moaning and crying. I still thought of jumping in the hope of saving myself but then people came around and told me not to jump.

Escapes Down Ladder

A man, I don't know if he was a fireman or just a man passing the hospital, put a ladder up along the building. I climbed down. So did the nurse and the other woman.

My husband was there waiting for me and picked me in his arms and carried me to our home, more than two blocks from the hospital.

Oh! I was never so glad in all my life to see Arnold. Just a few minutes before I had thought I would never see him again.

He put me in bed when we got home and called our doctor, Dr. J. C. R. Wettstein. The doctor came right away and our new baby—a son—was born at 1:22 a. m.

Dr. Wettstein say the baby and I are in good condition. The new son weighed eight pounds and four ounces.

UN Assembly Opens

fair grounds was Acheson's sudden invasion of Russia's bloc of seats. He reached his hand to an obviously startled Gromyko and smiled broadly.

The Soviet first deputy foreign minister stayed in his seat without rising but stuck out his hand slowly. Photographers who blazed away with flash bulbs claim that Gromyko was so surprised that his face reddened and he did not immediately find his voice.

Handshakes Delay Opening

"How are you. How are you," Acheson greeted his major "cold war" opponent heartily.

Gromyko nodded—some believe in embarrassment. The score of photographers called excitedly to Acheson to repeat the handshake. Obediently Acheson returned to the act three successive times, Gromyko finally offering a smile.

In the meantime, Bevin and Spaak arrived and took their seats almost unnoticed. The repeated handshakes of Acheson and Gromyko delayed the assembly opening some minutes but finally presiding officer Herbert Vere Evatt of Australia rapped his gavel.

Global Security Emphasized

At the end of a 20-minute speech by Evatt, the top-level group of diplomats quickly went to their cars and drove away without further incident.

Evatt, president of the 58-nation body, emphasized to the packed auditorium that global security can be found only in the UN.

He refrained from mentioning the Atlantic pact in his speech to an audience which included 10 of the 12 foreign ministers who signed the document yesterday in Washington.

Evatt reminded the delegates, however, that all are pledged to accept the UN charter as supreme above all other agreements. He struck out at the critics of UN and warned that "we must not allow ourselves to be deflected by the faint-hearted, the cynical or the mischievous." He said:

"The charter alone can give a common impetus and purpose to the efforts for peace made throughout the whole world. Worldwide security can only be found in a worldwide organization.

"We must not allow ourselves to be deflected by the faint-hearted or the cynical or the mischievous. We must support the United Nations and its ideals. 'Unfaltering support' for the United Nations must be our watchword.

"By so doing we will give effect to the heartfelt desires of the ordinary man and woman everywhere. They desire peace, justice and decent standards of living, especially for their children.

"The League of Nations failed to prevent World War II because certain governments failed to support it. The governments of the world must keep faith with their peoples, and the peoples of the world will certainly support the leaders who strive to help the United Nations and carry into effect its great objectives—international peace, international justice, and international welfare."

In the Soviet bloc sat Gromyko, flanked by Jacob Malik and Alexander Panyushkin.

In the U. S. block of seats were Warren R. Austin, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, John Foster Dulles and Francis B. Sayre. In the spectators' row sat Margaret Truman and Bernard M. Baruch among others.

Britain's Ernest Bevin and Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak arrived as Gromyko and Acheson were shaking hands and passed almost unnoticed to their seats.

Evatt's speech lasted 20 minutes. Then the major body adjourned for the day and the 14-nation "steering committee" began its work of discussing the agenda.

Former Congressman Shot Down In Front Of Office

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP) — Former Congressman Ellsworth B. Buck, 58, was shot down in front of his Staten island office today and seriously wounded. His assailant was captured moments later.

District Attorney Herman Methfessel, a witness to the shooting, said he was investigating the possibility that Van Newkirk sought revenge for the loss of a job during a congressional investigation.

Buck was struck by three bullets from a .38 caliber target revolver. They entered his back, left thigh and left hip.

At Staten Island hospital, physicians said Buck's condition was serious but that he was expected to live.

"Unless plans for common defense of the existing free world provide for the security of western Europe, these people cannot be expected to stake their lives on the common cause."

At another point, he said: "I know of no other expenditure that can produce greater security at a more reasonable cost than investment in a timely defense of the borders of western Europe."

The graying general, who led American ground forces in Europe in the last war, made his remarks in a speech prepared for a meeting of Jewish war veterans.

He reiterated that the the Atlantic pact, signed by the representatives of 12 nations in Washington yesterday, is a document of peace. He said that "out of an assortment of anxious members we have created a resolute body of nations, better equipped to work for peace through the United Nations."

Without mentioning Russia by name, Bradley referred to Russian criticism of the alliance in these words:

"If to be resolute is to be hostile—then we shall have to endure the slanders of those who call us hostile. For their slanders are the expressions of angry resentment from jackals denied their plunder."

Bradley said the signing of the Atlantic pact makes no longer necessary "the trumpet that sounded the warning phrase 'cold war.'"

$50,000 Grant For Airport Here Urged

A $50,000 federal grant for improvement of Lubbock Municipal airport — to be matched by an equal amount from local funds—was included in a $4,216,160 airport improvement program recommended Tuesday by the House Appropriations commitee, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Levelland, under the proposed program, would receive a grant of $25,000 to be matched with $26,000 by sponsors to improve the Hockley County airport.

The committee approved Civil Aeronautic administration tentative plans to allocate $1,981,780 in federal funds, to be matched by $2,234,380 from sponsors. Actually, the federal funds are covered in contract authorizations with the cash to cover them to be voted later.

Also, the AP announced from Washington that Lubbock is listed as one of the 12 cities in the country scheduled to receive airport towers under the House Appropriations committee's recommendation for funds totaling $536,160 for that purpose. Towers are constructed by local authorities, but equipped by the CAA at government expense of $44,680 each.

City officials and the airport management were unavailable last night for comment on further details on the proposed improvements for the Lubbock Municipal airport.

ments here charging swindling by worthless checks, officials further said. Sheriff Grady Harrist, who had dictated numerous letters since 1945 to peace officers in Texas and Oklahoma towns in his efforts to have Rutherford arrested, planned to leave to accept custody of the prisoner in Oklahoma City.

Rutherford has an FBI misdemeanor record dating back to 1937, officials said.

Harrist, en route home, will accept custody in Amarillo of a prisoner named in a misdemeanor charge.

Prisoners Transferred

Prison transfer agents accepted custody here Tuesday of five prisoners, three of whom had been delivered here Monday by Sheriff Hugh Freeman of Bailey county to be held for the transfer agents.

Those removed were: Louis Marvin (Jug) Simmons, 35, of Plainview, sentenced to two years for forgery; S. D. Dick, 41, of Lubbock, who violated terms of a conditional release; and three Muleshoe men: James William Lee, 34, William E. Speights, 32, and William Monroe Vinson, 41.

City Detectives Lee Rice, jr., and L. W. Forrester obtained forgery and passing confessions after questioning two juvenile boys. They referred the case to John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor, it was announced. Two checks, each for $8.50, were written and passed to start the investigation, officials said.

E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, said the officers had displayed "marked resourcefulness" in working out the case.

"This office asked Rice and Forrester three weeks ago if they could help us in the case," he said. "We had nothing to give them for a clue—had only a check which showed a sample of handwriting.

"The men reasoned from the well shaped characters that the suspects were young students. They confirmed this by matching the writing after inspection of hundreds of samples of writing, much of it examination papers in a city school.

"Once they had matched the writing, they telephoned a student who readily admitted his role. At the police station he telephoned the other boy and told him: "'Come on down; they got me'."

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Seventy-seven bills were passed by the House in one hour and 45 minutes this afternoon.

It was a warm spring day and two baseball games were on in Austin, but the registration board showed 131 representatives present. Nobody bothered to check up on whether the voting lights matched empty desks.

The bills were listed as local and uncontested.

Seventy-five were House measures and now go to the Senate. Two were Senate bills and now go to the governor for signature.

Those passed included:

Toll Rises In Hospital Blaze

walls were left standing.

The infant victims died in the second-floor maternity ward of the hospital. One baby was reported born dead after its mother leaped from an upper story window.

The flames, which roared through the hospital, destroyed all records. The list of patients and workers was compiled from memory by nurses and nuns who were on the hospital staff.

St. Anthony's was the only hospital in Effingham, a city of 8,000 population located in south central Illinois.

The most disastrous fire in American history occurred in 1929 when a fire, explosion and gas fumes killed 124 persons in the Cleveland, O., clinic-hosital of Dr. George W. Crile.

Flames Flash Upward

The St. Anthony fire was discovered at 11:50 p. m. last night. Officials said it apparently began in a basement, but an eye-witness said the flames originated in a clothes chute, then flashed upward into other chutes which open onto each floor.

The Red Cross set up an emergency shelter at the armory and said a check showed 57 of the patients had been accounted for. Those survivors were taken to their homes or to hospitals in nearby cities.

A company of the Illinois National Guard, state police, state physicians and nurses were ordered to the scene by Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Rescue Attempt Futile

The first persons to reach the scene after the flames were discovered told of nurses and nuns dragging mattresses to the sides of the building to break the fall of persons leaping from second and third floor windows.

Some of the patients missed the mattresses in their leaps for life. Five of the victims were rescued but died later of burns or injuries.

Miss Fern Riley, 21-year-old nurse, was one of those who perished. She was on duty in the maternity and vainly tried to rescue some of the infants.

Blaze Envelops Building

Other victims included the Rev. Charles Sandon, 50, hospital chaplain, and Sister Bertine and Sister Eustacia.

Fire Chief Wilkins of Effingham said the cause of the fire has not yet been determined. He said:

"It may never be known. When I arrived at the scene, within minutes after the first alarm was turned in, the whole building was burning. Flames were coming out of the windows, out of the doors, and were breaking through parts of the roof."

Jumping From Windows

Robert Arnold who lives a half-block from St. Anthony's rushed to the scene after being awakened by his wife. He said patients, most of them women, were jumping from windows. He related:

"They were screaming. The nuns couldn't get inside the building because of the flames. They rushed back to their quarters, some 15 yards away, and returned with mattresses."

Another victim was Frank Riess, the hospital engineer. He was at home when informed of the fire. He rushed to the scene and entered the blazing building to search for his wife, a nurse, who was on duty. She had leaped to safety and was seriously injured. The engineer never came out alive.

Driven Back By Fire

Mother Superior Cecelia Anne said three nurses and three sisters were on duty when the fire was discovered. She and other nuns tried to enter the building but were driven back by the flames.

The mother superior said:

"Those of us not on duty had just gone to bed. Suddenly we saw the area light up. It was fire. We rushed to the hospital but were unable to enter . . .

"I can't understand how the flames could spread so rapidly. When we left our quarters we saw what looked like a small blaze. Then suddenly, the entire north and east wings burst into flames."

Preliminary estimates placed damage to the hospital at $250,000.

Escaped Prisoners

10:30 o'clock last night. Farm Warden E. E. Moss said a bar in a window of an upstairs window apparently was cut with a hacksaw blade.

Shortly after escaping, the convicts appeared at an oil well drilling rig near Peace Point and threatened H. C. Hare, Lake Jackson, 33, boiler foreman on the rig, and D. Phillips, 28, Angleton, driller helper, with knives.

A half hour later the rig workers were released near Houston and they made their way to a telephone to notify the Harris county sheriff.

Hare said the convicts threatened several times to "kill both of you if you try anything."

Unusual Meteor Reported By Residents Of Utah, Idaho Areas

SALT LAKE CITY, April 5 (AP) — Residents of northern Utah and southeastern Idaho were startled today by a meteor described variously as a "ball of fire," "similar to ack ack," and "a shooting star as big as a football."

Peace officers and newspaper offices were swamped with telephone calls concerning the brilliant display and with questions as to what caused the explosions many persons said they heard shortly afterwards.

Most of the reports came about 10 a.m., but additional mystery was added to the case when peace officers reported in mid-afternoon they could see "puffs of smoke" resembling anti-aircraft fire over the Trenton, Utah, and Lewiston, Utah, area. These reports came from several northern Utah officers as well as from Preston, Idaho, sources.

1,220 Attend Tech Varsity Show; Final Production Tonight

The last night of the 1949 Varsity show will be staged in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium at 8 p. m. today. Tonight's show will be dedicated to the faculty sponsors of "Milestones in Melody," Dr. D. D. Jackson, professor of education and W. H. (Bill) Tenny, lecturer in the Dairy Manufacturing department.

Over 1,200 people attended the second night of the show last night in the Lubbock High school auditorium. The show, which is produced and directed by the students of Texas Tech, was closed with applause approval from the crowd.

Dedicated To Jones

At the end of the first act the show was dedicated to Dr. E. N. Jones, the first vice-president of the college. The cast had voted unanimously to dedicate this show to Dr. Jones.

The vice-president said that he could only say that it gave him pleasure to have the show dedicated to him.

The Charleston, a dance, in the second act was called back by the enthusiastic audience for two encores. Between the second and third act, the "Three Flat Notes" had three encores, and the original song written by the trio composed of Lamar Jackson, Lubbock; Bob "Porky" Parkinson, Pampa; and Bill Jackson, Houston, about "Nine More Years to Go," drew applause.

In the best tradition of show business Billie Hutchings, of Lubbock, filled the softshoe dance line when Kitten Mills was sent to the campus hospital. Billie is the dance director for "Milestones In Melody."

The three act musical comedy was written by Ruth Cook, a senior Home Economics Education major from Orchard, Texas, and Bill Parsley, Lubbock, is the director of the show.

The Texas Tech beauties were presented in the third act.

Pact Faces Delay

needed this summer or fall to dispose of the administration program.

Comment Favorable

Connally went over the pact informally with the foreign relations committee today. He said later that the group did not decide on a date to open public hearings which he previously had forecast would last about a month. He added that the committee will set the hearing dates after it receives the document from the White House.

Senators' comments were generally favorable toward the treaty signed yesterday. But the acid test will come on the actual ratification vote, requiring two-thirds approval of all senators voting.

The treaty itself will not become effective until it has been ratified by all seven of the original drafters—the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The security arrangements however includes these five other signatory nations: Norway, Denmark, Portugal, Iceland and Italy.

Arms Program Is Issue

One of the major issues due to be raised when the Foreign Relations committee begins hearings is the matter of American arms aid to the European members.

Mr. Truman is expected to send a separate request to Congress for authority and funds to finance the military aid program which State department officials say is essential if the pact is to have any effect.

The arms question already has been raised in the Senate, with Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee urging a year's delay on that proposal.

Although Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) is expected to take a leading role in the drive to win Senate approval of the Atlantic pact, he is said to feel that it would be a mistake for the treaty to be submitted without a simultaneous estimate of what the proposed arms program would cost.

House Okays Fund

appropriations this week may cover about one-half of President Truman's $41,858,000,000 budget for the next fiscal year.

The largest single cash allotment in the agriculture appropriation bill is $257,043,439 for soil conservation payments to farmers in the current crop year. The present limit of $750 for individual conservation payments would be boosted to $2,500. The House defeated 95 to 40 an effort to retain the $750 limit. The legislation suggest $262,500,000 in conservation payments next year.

Funds Are Allotted

For rural electrification, the bill sets up $350,000,000 in contract authority, with another $150,000,000 available if needed.

The Farmers Home administration would get $103,000,000 in cash for loans to farm tenants and for water facilities and production and subsistence loans.

The Forestry service gets $50,963,500, the Bureau of Animal Industry $22,097,000, the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine $10,398,000, the school lunch program $75,000,000, and the extension services $26,965,950.

The bill provides funds for the administrative expenses of the Commodity Credit corporation, which supports farm prices by making loans so that farmers can hold crops to prevent market gluts. The CCC already has authority to make $4,750,000,000 in such loans.

CITY UNFAVORABLY PICTURED

High Rate Of Crime Attributed To Lubbock By Iowa Newspaper

For eleven straight years Lubbock received nationwide publicity for being the cleanest city in Texas and the Southwest.

It finally got so monotonous that those in charge of entering the annual contest, decided not to enter it anymore.

Now comes evidence of more nationwide publicity Lubbock has been receiving the past few weeks, but it's of a far different variety.

It still pertains to clean-ups, however.

But we'll let you read a two-column article which appearfed March 25 in the Ottumwa, Ia., Courier.

Below we quote the article, but the bold-face type is our own idea. What if it had appeared that way in other papers?

The article follows:

WASHINGTON, D. C. — During 1948 a crime was committed every 27 or 28 hours in Ottumwa, and by the year's end the total reached 317 offenses, according to a summary just issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The FBI also reported that crimes are committed with greater frequency in Newark, Ohio, and Lubbock, Tex., cities of almost the same size as Ottumwa. According to the FBI's report, Newark police are informed of a serious crime on the average of once every 19 to 20 hours, while in Lubbock the crime frequency rate is an average of one every sixth or seventh hour.

And Here's The Story

FBI's data showed the following:

With passage of every 45th and 46th day in Ottumwa, someone was a victim of robbery, while in Newark, the average was once every 61st and 66th day, and in Lubbock once every 26th or 27th day.

There were six cases of aggravated assault in Ottumwa during the year, while in Newark there were two cases and in Lubbock there were 42 such cases.

Once every four or five days some place in Ottumwa was burglarized; in Newark the average was once every six or seven days and in Lubbock once every other day.

Larceny, You Bet

A larceny was committed in Ottumwa on an average of once every 52 or 53 hours and in Newark, once every 23 or 24 hours, in Lubbock on an average of once every 10 or 11 hours.

An automobile is stolen in Ottumwa on an average of once every seven or eight days, and in Newark once every 17 or 19 days, and in Lubbock once every two or three days.

There were no felonious killings in Ottumwa or in Newark, while in Lubbock four murders were reported.

While Ottuma was experiencing a year with less crime than its sister cities of approximately the same population, long-term crime trend data, the FBI reported, indicates that only negligent manslaughters and auto thefts have declined to points below the prewar average.

Aggravated assaults and rapes in larger communities reached peaks in 1948, well over the prewar averages, and larceny, while declining during the war years, more recently has shown increases and for 1948 was 4.6 per cent in excess of the prewar average, the FBI said. Other crimes, though showing some tendency to decline, still exceeded the pre-war average, the bureau reported.

Population of Ottumwa, Ia., was 44,280 and Newark, O., 62,279, according to the 1940 census quoted in the World Almanac.

Cameraman Runs As Elephant Stampede Gets Out Of Hand

GONZALES, April 5 (AP)—A herd of elephants—terrified by Texas cowboys' sixgun shots—stampeded and scattered wildly through a wooded ravine dressed up to look like a jungle near here today.

Some of the herd burst out of the ravine, knocked the porch off a house, tore down sections of fence and charged across a highway.

They were rounded up and back in their barns at Dailey Brothers circus winter quarters two and a half hours later. Two handlers were slightly injured in the melee.

Circus owner Ben Davenport told the cowboys to fire. He hoped the shots would spur the elephants into a good imitation stampede, to be recorded by Lee Orr, a newsreel cameraman from Dallas.

The first attempt at a movie stampede—without benefit of pistol shots—was too mild, Orr decided.

When the second attempt turned into the genuine article, the cameraman had to run for safety. But he got the stampede scene—better than he had hoped. His camera was set to operate automatically. It was buried by the charging herd, but the film was not damaged.

FBI INVESTIGATING ALL ALIENS

U. S. Could Control Subversive Activity In New War, Clark Says

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark has assured Congress that if war came now the nation would be "in pretty good shape" so far as subversives are concerned.

At the same time, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover reported that his agency s work on subversive activities has increased 230 percent in the past year.

Their statements were published in hearings made public by the House Appropriations committee as it approved a money bill to run the Justice department during the 12 months beginning July 1.

Clark told the committee his department is working out a system for keeping track of every alien in the country. A close check is not necessary in all cases, he said, but the government wants to know where all aliens are "at all times."

Hoover, in later testimony before the committee, said that as the year started the FBI had 18,679 security investigations pending.

Hoover explained:

"These projects are, of course, not local. For instance, the activities of the Communist party and its affiliates extend from coast to coast, as do the various espionage rings that have operated in this country."

The FBI investigates everybody who tries to get a job with the Atomic Energy commission, Hoover said.

Applicants Investigated

A leading biochemist who sought an important laboratory job was found to be a card-carrying member of the Communist party, Hoover related, adding: "obviously that man was not cleared for appointment."

He said the FBI found that a professor assigned to atomic energy research at a western university lived with Communist students, and was the son of a Communist organizer who had run for office as a Communist, and had been in charge of sales for the Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper.

He did not name the persons involved.

Rennebohm said, Wisconsin is determined to get it repaired.

U. S. Official Puts Vishinsky In Class With 'Racketeers'

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State Garrison Norton puts Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky in the "racketeer" class.

Norton, says too, that sooner or later the United States may have to use "retaliation" against Communists in Cuba, because of what he called flagrant discrimination against American shipping.

Spoke in February

Norton spoke up at hearings early in February on a bill appropriating money for State department expenses. The House Appropriations committee approved the bill today and made the testimony public.

Norton's crack at Vishinsky was short. He told of a United States policy of seeing to it that all countries have free access to seaports and international waterways, like the Danube river through the heart of Europe.

"That," he said, "was one of the arguments we used with Vishinsky, and that bunch of racketeers who were bulldozing the riparian (river-bordering) states into giving up their rights on the Danube. That was exactly what the Soviets did."

The reference was to an international conference on use of the river.

As for the Cuban situation, Norton said the department is trying to end "a tremendous amount of discriminations in Cuba against United States shipping." He said U. S. officials also are working on what Rep. Preston (D-Ga) called "outrageous charges they are making against our shippers for stevedoring."

Dean Acheson, newly installed secretary of state at the time of the hearings, went over American foreign policy in general terms.

Texas Youth Charged In Death Of Student At New York School

TROY, N. Y., April 5 (U.P.) — Richard Perry, 19-year-old Texan, was charged with second degree manslaughter today in the death of a fellow student at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute who was killed when a bullet from a .22 caliber target pistol went through a dormitory wall.

Perry, red-haired stepson of a Chilean Air Force officer, insisted that the pistol was discharged accidentally while he was cleaning it.

He said he knew nothing of the bullet going through the wall until fellow students found the body of Hanford Lowen of Stettin, Germany, former prisoner in a Nazi concentration camp, on the floor of the adjoining room.

Perry, who was born in Dallas, was charged with illegal possession of a pistol and manslaughter. He pleaded innocent to the pistol charge and asked for a hearing on the manslaughter count.

Lubbock Concert Dates Changed

Dates of the final concerts this season of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra have been changed from April 20 and 21 to May 6 and 7, it was announced Tuesday by officials of the symphony orchestra.

Miss Leona Gelin, business manager of the organization, said Tuesday that the change was made because of conflicting schedules of Amparo Iturbi, internationally-known pianist and sister of Jose Iturbi, who is to appear with the Lubbock Symphony in the final concerts of the 1948-49 season.

Miss Iturbi is booked for a number of performances in Great Britain, and the local orchestra relinquished the April dates, which were made last fall, in order that she would be able to finish her appearances in that country before flying to Lubbock for her concerts here. As the original booking was arranged, Miss Iturbi had dates for performances in London both before and after her dates with the Lubbock Symphony.

Miss Gelin said yesterday that all season tickets for the Lubbock Symphony subscription series will be honored on the night of Friday, May 6. Individual admission tickets will be sold for the concert Saturday night, May 7, in addition to the approximately 300 tickets available for Friday night.

She also announced that, since the concerts come on the closing days of National Music week, and, in honor of the number of music students in the South Plains area, student tickets for the concerts will be sold.

Marine Corps Makes Plans For Training Interviews

Eligible male students of Texas Tech will be given a two-day opportunity Thursday and Friday to avail themselves of training for Marine Corps commissions, M/Sgt. M. L. Ailes, in charge of the Lubbock Marine Corps recruiting office, announced Tuesday.

Marine Staff Sgt. W. R. Cross, formerly of Lubbock, is the representative of the Texas 1949 Platoon Leaders class procurement team from Dallas to interview prospects for the Leatherneck officer-preparatory program. The procurement team yearly offers this training to students of Texas colleges and universities.

Only those students can be considered who are studying for degrees that will not lead them to the medical, dental or theological fields. They must also be able to attend two six-week summer training periods at the Marine Corps schools, Quantico, Va. All travel expense is borne by the Marine Corps. During training PLC men receive pay in accordance with the rank they hold. Junior, or first year trainees are rated as corporals, senior or second-year men as sergeants.

Appointments for interview can be made by calling in advance of the two-day visit, Sgt. Ailes said.

Vet Bonus Plan Given New Life By House

Work In Senate Again Delayed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 5—The House decided today it might be a good thing to let the people vote on the veterans bonus proposition.

It voted 63-56 to send the proposed constitutional amendment to a committee which the author apparently thought more favorable than the one where it had been buried for several weeks.

"Let's let the people of Texas vote on this," said Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie. He estimated his proposal would cost $300,000,000.

Horseplay Slows Work

The Senate was spinning its wheels—and enjoying some horseplay on a warm spring day. The question was a bill by Senator Fred Harris of Dallas which would allow women to serve on juries.

But the question was lost in repartee about baby sitters, nursery maids, clothes lines and washing machines for the feminine jurors. That went on all morning, and the senators decided to come back after a noon recess to talk about it some more. A quorum failed to show up so the Senate recessed until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The House also scheduled an afternoon session. Before it was a three-page calendar listing seven bills of a local and uncontested nature—such things as county road districts, regulating squirrel killing in Cherokee county, appointment of court bailiffs.

Three Bills Passed

This morning the House passed three Senate bills.

One abolishes the industrial revolving fund of the Texas prison system. It goes to the governor for signature.

Another was sent to the governor to be signed. It appropriates $177,242 for the governor's deficiency fund.

The third measure was amended in the House and must go back to the Senate. It appropriates $800,000 to state eleemosynary institutions for the remainder of the fiscal year. The Senate had appropriated $960,000.

Opponents of Benton's bonus proposal fought to keep the measure buried. Rep. Jack F. Redegway of San Antonio said if the people approved the bonus, "the legislature two years from now will have the burden of trying to figure out how to pay it.

"We ought to ask the people if they want to be taxed to pay for the bonus."

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Wednesday, April 6, 1949

Many Visitors Expected To Attend Sessions Here

Poultry Meet To Open Friday

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

The South Plains Poultry conference, one of the most extensive ever planned in this area, will be held at Texas Tech, Friday and Saturday, April 8 and 9. Several hundred visitors are expected to attend.

Jack Creel, farm service expert for radio station KFYO and the Lubbock National Bank who is general chairman of the conference, said today that poultrymen from the entire South Plains and Panhandle area have been invited.

"If a farmer has as much as one chicken he will be interested in the poultry conference and exhibits this year," Creel said. He added that those who contemplated entering the poultry business or those who want to develop a profitable side-line will find a wealth of information made available to them during the two-day meeting.

"Poultry, for meat and for eggs, can become a major project in the Plains section," Creel said.

Recent reports from the office of country agent D. W. Sherrill indicated that egg consumption in the metropolitan Lubbock area alone exceeded 4,000,000 per week. Of this total only about 20 per cent were produced in Lubbock county and the balance were shipped in from as far away as Oklahoma and Kansas.

Program Is Announced

Sherrill will be chairman of the first morning's events which will begin with registration at 9 a.m. in the Agricultural auditorium. At 9:45 a.m. a welcome address will be given by W. L. Stangel, dean of the Texas Tech College of Agriculture.

At 10 a.m. a series of lectures will begin that have been designed to give poultrymen and prospective poultrymen a maximum of practical information in understandable terms. The talks will include: Brooding and Developing Pullets"—Kirk B. Turner; "Tests For Pullorum"—J. R. Grubbs; "Controlling Parasites"—L. H. McElroy; "Chicken Diseases"—Dr. W. C. Banks; "Breeding For High Production"—W. C. Homeyer.

11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. will be devoted to the lunch period and then the afternoon session will begin with N. J. Robnett, vocational agricultural teacher at Lubbock high school, acting as chairman. Addresses will be on the following subjects:

"Laying House Management"—George McCarthy; "Baby Chick Situation" — J. D. Strickland; "Give the Chicks a Good Start"—W. J. Moore; "High Energy Poultry Rations"—Prof. D. H. Reid; "Newcastle Disease"—A Film; "Shall We Vaccinate?"—Dr. W. C. Banks; "Selecting for Early Feathering"—H. L. Mathews; "Cross or Purebred Broiler"—Jerry Henshaw; Recess.

"Cost to Produce a Broiler"—W. C. Homeyer; "The Broiler Market"—Arthur Clary; "History of Tech Poultry Farm"—Ray Mowery.

Tour Is Scheduled

At 4 p.m. a tour of the Tech poultry farm will be made with Tech professors and instructors conducting the visitors.

Friday night, J. D. Strickland, Plainview hatcheryman, will be chairman when the meeting reconvenes at 8 p.m. at the pavilion. In addition to talks, a display of the latest developments in poultry housing and equipment will be open to the assembly.

"Improving Hatchability" — Prof. D. H. Reid; "A Good Breeding Program"—W. J. Moore;

TECH STUDENTS TO TAKE POLL

Lubbock Industrial Survey Is Expected To Reveal Vital Data

Facts of inestimable value to Lubbock are expected to be uncovered in an approaching industrial survey of the business firms of the city and county.

Approximately 100 senior students of Texas Technological college will participate in the survey, which is being sponsored by the Texas Employment commission.

Students Begin Study

At its completion, TEC will know—not approximately, but exactly—the answers to such questions as these: How many persons are employed in Lubbock county? How many men and how many women? What do they do? What months of the year do they work?

In classes this morning the college students, members of Dr. Vernon Clover's course in business research, will begin study of methods and instructions to be followed in conducting the survey among Lubbock businessmen.

Within a short time the actual process of contacting every business operator in the county will begin.

Will Have Other Value

The project has received the approval of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. The composite facts the survey reveals will be of value to other organizations than the TEC.

For example, Veterans administration officials plan to use the information as a basis for determining what classifications of on-the-job training can be made available to veterans in Lubbock county.

B. T. O'Connell, manager of the Lubbock district office of TEC, explained, "The results of the survey will give us a 'bench marker' by which we may anticipate local trends in employment, and will furnish a basis of comparisons in the future."

Totals To Be Revealed

O'Connell emphasized that the results of the survey will be confidential so far as the individual business firm is concerned. In other words, no information will get out regarding the number or types of workers an individual business employs. Only the composite total will be announced.

The questions, which probably would require five minutes to answer, call for these facts: Total number of employes, number of women employed, both full-time and regular part-time; a breakdown by occupations or job titles; and the number employed each month of the year.

O'Connell's original plans called for a question that would be

Braniff Hopes To Maintain Service

Officials of Braniff airlines still awaited clarification Tuesday of a Washington news report Monday that its certificate to serve Lubbock and Waco via Dallas has been suspended for five years by the Civil Aeronautics board.

But a spokesman for the airline told officials of the chamber of commerce that Braniff has not suspended and does not expect any interruption of service to Lubbock.

On the contrary, the line official was quoted as saying that Braniff expects and plans to improve service here.

The spokesman acknowledged, however, he has not seen the reported CAB order and emphasized that statements from the airline do not imply defiance of the official body. They do not believe, however, that the effects of the order will be as drastic as suggested by the dispatch from Washington, they said.

If the certificate to serve Lubbock has been suspended, they said, it cannot be put into effect without giving Braniff opportunity to show cause at a public hearing why the service should not be continued.

Line officials gave assurance that they will make every effort to maintain present service, and to improve. They were assured of chamber of commerce support to those ends.

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION—Fritz Toepperwein of Boerne, publisher and author of children's books, chats with 10-year-old Bob Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Parsons of 2503 Twenty-fourth, at a table in Miss Gertrude Herm's room at Roscoe Wilson school, while Mrs. Toepperwein and Miss Herm, extreme right, watch. Bob won the Toepperwein's annual Santa Claus letter contest last Christmas and they came to Lubbock to present him with the grand prize, an expenses-paid trip to the summer camp of his choosing. Jail Sentence Given In Liquor Case Here

A county court jury of which Clyde G. Tatum was foreman Tuesday afternoon adjudged B. D. Spencer, about 40, guilty of possession of beer for purpose of sale and fixed his punishment at a $100 fine and imprisonment 90 days in county jail. The jury was out about 40 minutes.

Notice of appeal was given by John Steele, attorney for Spencer.

Spencer, the state charged, had five cases of beer in his possession when raided recently.

County Attorney Waggoner Carr and assistant County Attorney Dudley Brummett asked the enhanced penalty for the defendant who, the stste charged, was convicted of a similar case in April of 1947.

Two of three inspectors of the Texas Liquor Control board recently transferred here were among state witnesses: Charles A. Talley and Fred Prestage. Leon Bowman, an inspector stationed at Plainview, was another witness.

County Judge Walter Davies presided.

Fish-Hook Removed From Eye Of U.S. Ambassador To England

SOUTHAMPTON, England April 5 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas was given injections tonight to ease the pain of having a two-inch fishhook removed from his left eye.

There was some fear his sight may be impaired.

"It will be 48 hours before we know how great the damage is," said an American embassy spokesman in London.

A gust of wind whipped Douglas' line and threw an artificial fly into his eye while he was fishing on the Test river near Southampton yesterday with Sir Richard Fairey, chairman of the Fairey Aviation company.

LUBBOCK BOY IS PRIZE WINNER

Authors Of Children's Books Visits Roscoe Wilson School

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

Tuesday was an eventful day for the fourth-graders in Miss Gertrude Herm's room at Roscoe Wilson school.

Emilie and Fritz Toepperwein of Boerne, authors and publishers of children's books, were honored guests of the class during most of the day—and very entertaining guests they were, too, as the children will testify.

Mr. and Mrs. Toepperwein came to Lubbock principally to present 10-year-old Bob Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Parsons of 2503 Twenty-fourth street, with the grand prize he won last Christmas in the Toepperwein's annual Santa Claus letter contest.

Author Good Story Teller

The prize will be an expenses-paid trip to any camp of his choosing this summer.

Fritz Toepperwein is as good at story-telling as he is at story-writing, the children found.

He told them about his career as an author and how he and Mrs. Toepperwein traveled 27,000 miles last year gathering materials for books.

Then he told them children's stories, and Mrs. Toepperwein illustrated them on the blackboard while he talked.

Toepperwein said he was especially pleased at Bob's winning the latest Christmas letter contest because Bob is from an urban area. The two previous winners were from rural areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Toepperwein operate the Highland Press at Boerne. Their Santa Claus letter contests result in an annual flood of letters into the Boerne post office. The postmaster, a kind and patient man, doesn't blink an eye any more when he receives letters addressed to "Santa Claus, North Pole, Boerne, Texas. Letters like that come in by the tons just before Christmas time.

The Toepperweins personally follow up their contests, just as they are doing now, by visiting the town where the prize winner lives and encouraging him in his writing. They travel a great deal in response to requests for autograph and library parties over the state.

Their publishing house sounds like a story-book place in itself. Situated among the hills and streams just west of Boerne, the 36-acre place has publishing equipment handed down five generations through the Toepperwein family and brought over originally in 1851 from Europe where the family followed the book-binding trade.

The Highland Press books are printed, bound and sewn by hand. Mrs. Toepperwein illustrates her husband's text with linoleum blocks.

They have two books soon to hit the market. One is called "Through the Window," with a release date in July. The other, "The Little Deputy," is a sequel to a popular book about Toppperwein's father who lives in Boerne. The first book was titled "Uncle Kris and His Pets."

The Toepperweins were favorably impressed with Lubbock's

Eleanor Parker To Stay With Warners For New Film; Cathy O'Donnel Goes To MGM

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—Gossip that Eleanor Parker and Warners are saying Adieu when her contract is up next month is as flat as a soprano off key. Eleanor returns to her home lot very soon to co-star with Humphrey Bogart in "Chained Lightning," the jet pilot thriller.

Eleanor, one of the real beauties of our town, is a neighbor of mine, and I happen to know that both MGM and 20th Century-Fox wanted her in case she and Warners failed to get together.

Twice in the past Eleanor has gone on suspension from the Burbank studio when she was not happy about her assignments. But she's very happy now about this one with Bogey.

Team To Take

Cathy O'Donnel and Farley Granger, hailed by Sam Goldwyn (before he and Cathy parted company) as the greatest love team since Vilma Banky and Ronald Colman, will be reunited. But not by Mr. Goldwyn.

Cathy has been borrowed by MGM from David Selznick to co-star in "Side Street" with Farley —and, incidentally, this is the first picture she has made since she quarreled with Mr. G. and signed with Mr. S.

These two young people were wonderful in "Your Red Wagon" —or whatever it is now called. For some reason this movie has not yet been released by RKO.

Firms Face Suit On Price Setup

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Three national manufacturers of automatic home washing machines and ironers were charged today with fixing the retail prices of their products in Texas.

A number of Texas concerns, distributors for the manufacturers, were named as co-defendants in the anti-trust suits filed in the 53rd district court here.

Injunction Is Asked

The national manufacturers named in Attorney General Price Daniel's petition were: Bendix Home Appliances of South Bend, Ind., Blackstone corporation of Jamestown, N. Y., and Easy Washing Machines company of Syracuse, N. Y.

"Retail dealers in Texas who have charged lower prices than those fixed by the manufacturer and distributors have in some instances been forced by the manufacturer to pay penalty fines," Daniel said. "In other instances they have been refused shipment of new products, and in still other instances they have been required by the manufacturer to increase their retail prices."

The state asked the court for an injunction against the defendants and penalties of from $50 to $1,500 per day for each and every day of violation.

Co-defendants named in the Bendix suit included: Straus-Frank Co., Houston; Lone Star Wholesalers, Dallas; South Texas Appliance Corp., San Antonio; W. G. Walz Co., El Paso; Sun Electric Co., Abilene; Consolidated Appliances, Amarillo; West Texas Utilities Co., Abilene, and the Telecoin Corp., of New York.

Named in the Blackstone suit were the Southwestern Co., Dallas; Coastal Equipment Co., Houston; Southern Equipment Co., San Antonio; Amarillo Hardware Co., Amarillo, and J. M. Igoe, sr., El Paso.

In the Easy Washing Co. suit, the state also sued Joe Thiele Inc., San Antonio; Straus-Bodenheimer, Houston; Radio City Distributing Co., Dallas; Momsen-Dunnegan-Ryan Co., El Paso, and Southwestern Appliance Co., Amarillo.

Cross-Country High Altitude Test Completed On Jet Engine

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 5 (AP)—A J-47 jet engine functioned "perfectly" during a high-altitude, cross-country test flight by a B-29 flying laboratory, the General Electric company says.

The jet was suspended from the bomb bay for a three-hour test during the seven hour and 40-minute, one-stop flight yesterday from Spokane, Wash.

Metal fragments were blown through the walls of a cafeteria four blocks away.

Two men suffered slight shock, but there were no other known injuries. Trottner, torn and bleeding, died at the hospital.

ON RENT CONTROL

Only Time Can Tell

ACCURATE appraisal of the quality of the revised and extended rent control legislation enacted under last minute pressure will be impossible until the results of its actual operation can be observed. This will take several weeks at least, and possibly several months.

Most of the opinions expressed thus far have been partisan. Therefore, they are of little value as a basis for reliable estimates of whether the new law is good or bad. Praise, or criticism, usually is accorded with the hope or fear of gain or loss—financially, politically, or otherwise — through the application of the new measure.

But the bill falls far short of satisfying nearly all of those to whom rent control holds a dollars-and-cents meaning. This could mean the new measure strikes a reasonably fair medium between extremes.

Or it might mean that Congress, after dillydallying for weeks, produced an unsatisfactory hodgepodge at the last minute because members did not dare to risk the political consequences of allowing controls to expire on March 31. If this is proved by experience to be the case, President Truman will be due a major share of the responsibility.

He stalled consideration of rent controls in the Senate by ordering priority for the anti-filibuster resolution in an effort to railroad his so-called civil rights program to passage. Rent control was urgent. Civil rights legislation was not and is not. Yet, with specific Presidential blessing, the Senate wasted so much time on the preliminary civil rights skirmish, which got exactly nowhere, that it had to throw together the rent control bill finally enacted.

Maybe it will prove a good bill. It is to be hoped that it will. If so, it will be due more to good luck rather than to the thought, time and effort devoted to its preparation.

Help For Others

FEW STORIES have appeared which will tug more powerfully at many heartstrings than that of "Mrs. Heart" of Oklahoma City. Her doctors say she has about another year to live. She has set aside $10,000 to spend within that time. "How should I spend it?" she has asked.

Various people doubtless would have various answers to her question, if they attempted to answer her at all.

But regardless of that, her problem suggests a question which every individual might ask himself, or herself, with benefit: "What would I do if my doctors told me I had no more than a year to live?"

No one not actually confronted with such a prospect actually knows what he or she would do. But it is a moral certainty that many things which seemed terribly important would become exceedingly trivial. And it is equally certain that nearly all such people really would live according to the Golden Rule during their final year.

We do not pretend to know the best answer to Mrs. Heart's question. But, in asking it, she has done a great good. Many unquestionably, will ask themselves, "What would I do?" And, in greater or less degree, they will be better men and women because of their meditations.

One thing can be said about the old ship of state. There is always someone fighting to steer it.

J. Gimarc, of the McKee Construction company of El Paso, arrived in the city yesterday to assume duties as superintendent of construction of the new twelve-story Hilton hotel, which is to be built on the old Merrill Hotel site, corner of Texas avenue and Main. A corps of workmen is engaged in tearing down the old two-story building to make way for the modern structure. The present building will be razed in about ten days, Mr. Gimarc said yesterday. Excavation for the new building will begin as soon as the site is cleared. A permit for the construction of the new hotel will be taken out sometime next week. It will be in the neighborhood of $500,000.

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, vacationing at a swank desert resort, are trying to extricate themselves from entangling circumstances surrounding a murder. Sin is nearly kidnaped by Gayner and Vernon, two employes of Mr. Barselou, the resort owner, and Johnny is drugged at a gambling ranch where he goes with Faye Jordan, a girl who figures in the mystery. When Johnny and Sin decide they've had enough and want to go home, Johnny finds his car keys have been stolen so they take Faye's car, which has its keys in it. They are pursued by Gayner and Vernon in another car and Johnny goes back to the gambling ranch where he expects to find Police Lieutenant Lay. He finds Mr. Barselou there instead.)

XXIV

"I DIDN'T expect you so soon," Barselou remarked. Unperturbed, he scooped up the quarters with one clench of his hand.

The pseudo waiter gestured shortly with the gun barrel "Come the rest of the way in. And close the door."

The stupefied Conovers obeyed. A metal panel swung open on the side of the slot machine Barselou dumped the jackpot back in closed the panel and locked it. He pulled the key from the lock and jerked his head at the fat man. "Better check the situation, Odell."

Odell advanced watchfully and patted John Henry's pockets and armpits and thighs with a questing hand. Then he looked at the girl and grinned lopsided. Sin shrank behind her husband and Conover clenched his fists.

"We won't cause bad feeling," Barselou told his henchman. Odell shrugged too late to be convincing. He moved away a few feet.

John Henry recovered his voice, though when he spoke it was scarcely better than a croak. "Lieutenant Lay?" he asked.

"Oh, were you expecting to meet him here?" Barselou asked suspiciously. When they didn't answer, he said, "It doesn't matter. He's been gone a good hour. Lay's a conscientious boy."

"Too conscientious," Odell put in.

"His bright idea was that we close down until the Anglin killing blows over. I didn't argue the point. Sidney and the boys deserve a couple days off."

John Henry mentally cursed himself for not heeding the warning of the empty parking lot.

BARSELOU waved them to the nearest circular table "We might as well be comfortable." As the Conovers took chairs at the green-shrouded board, he said "You see, the Bar C is more than a place of business to me. I like to know I can get up any time during the night and watch people making money for me. This is also my home."

John Henry couldn't suppress an audible groan.

Barselou sat in a chair opposite. Odell leaned against the slat machine, carefully inattentive.

"All right," said the big man. He was not deliberately unsmiling but, relaxed, his face was a cruel passionless block. "Now suppose we talk business."

"Okay," said John Henry, thinking fast, "we're willing to listen to a proposition."

Odell grunted. He was cleaning his nails with a matchstick. The gun had disappeared into a side coat pocket. Barselou looked more as if he were not smiling on purpose. "You don't catch on. You're in no position to bargain. We hold the cards, Conover."

"But not the Queen." Sin's small voice said from her chair.

"Don't let this room fool you," Barselou said coldly. "Gambling is for people who have to. This is my place—but it's not my way of life." From somewhere beneath the table, his hands came up with a deck of cards. They blurred in a shuffle and then he dealt the four top cards onto the green cloth, face up. Four queens.

"You see. I don't gamble," Barselou said. "You're right. I don't hold the big Queen. But I do hold you."

"That's a nice show," said John Henry. "I'm still listening."

"Then listen to this—I want to know everything that went on between you and Anglin."

"And if we don't feel like telling?"

* * *

BARSELOU nearly got up. Odell moved forward from the slot machine, his hand falling into his coat pocket. Sin grabbed her husband's tense arm and said quickly, "Wait! please wait a minute!" The men all looked at her. "Mr Barselou, we have a confession to make."

"You came to the right church," said Odell.

"We don't know what all this is about."

Barselou laughed incredulously. The harsh sound died somewhere in the unlit reaches of the casino. "That's right, Barselou," said John Henry with angry deliberation. "And furthermore, we don't want to know. All we want to do is get out of here and forget all about it. We were going home when we got sidetracked here."

Barselou shook his heavy head slowly. "That won't do. Not at all."

"Please, Mr. Barselou," Sin pleaded. "It's true. We're telling you the truth. We don't have anything you want. We don't know anything. Please believe us!"

A vision of a pencil in a desk drawer suddenly rose in John Henry's mind — Anglin's pencil contained the long safe combination. He sneaked a guilty look at his wife but her beseeching eyes were holding to their host. Either Sin had forgotten the pencil or she was using her feminine guile to throw Barselou a trifle off balance.

"So you don't know what it's all about," mocked Barselou, considering them with narrowed eyes. "I don't swallow that, Mrs. Conover. You yourself told Gayner —

"Please," Sin said earnestly.

A husband was ducking behind a big chair. Two loving cups just thrown were lying beside him. A third one came flying through the air tossed by his irate wife, a buxom woman with superfluous poundage.

BRANDEIS

The caption was "Your beauty contest cups of 1939' I'm glad THEY stayed the same size!" The second cartoon appeared in "Editor and Publisher," a weekly journal for newspaper people.

It was done by Trent and showed a city editor bawling out a cub reporter who had just turned in his first piece of copy.

The caption:

"In covering marriages, just stick to Who, What, Where and When . . . never mind Why!"

Either one of these panels, by itself, would have been amusing. Together they gave me food for thought.

Too many people who get married follow that city editor's formula for reporting.

They think of "Who, What, Where and When," but they forget all about the "Why."

The "Who" is important, of course. The "What" the 'Where" and "When" are unimportant.

But the "Why" is the most important factor of them all in marriage.

Why do they want to get married?

Because she is beautiful and young?

Because he is handsome and has a good position?

Because they are tired of living with the folks and being restricted by their elders?

Because she is weary of working and wants to have a home of her own?

Because he wants someone to cook for him, darn his socks, keep house and be on tap whenever he snaps his fingers?

* * *

THAT fellow who was being pelted with loving cups should have known that beauty-contest-winners don't stay young and beautiful forever.

Beauty alone is never a valid reason for marriage.

Nor are any of the above mentioned reasons by themselves alone, sufficient for the signing of a pact as solemn as the marriage contract.

Almost every divorce is poignant proof of the fact that the one absolutely necessary element of successful marriage was overlooked—the "WHY."

Too darn many people go into marriage along the lines of "theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do and die . . ."

. . . And, like the old saying, they just do and let the marriage die.

BLOC HOLDING POWER

Demo Coalition Seen

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The Senate coalition which threatens to sink the major portion of President Truman's legislative program does not consist of the overadvertised Southern "Dixiecrats" and Yankee Republicans at all.

Observers crediting and boosting this alignment for Administration setbacks past and prospective take only a superficial view of the Congressional scene.

TUCKER

The active, able and aggressive anti-Truman alliance, as an examination of cloture, rent control and Wallgren nomination votes reveals, is made up of two far more cohesive groups.

It is composed of conservative Democrats from below the Mason and Dixon Line and Western members from the Far West and Northwest, including leading Democrats as well as their Republican brethren.

THREATENING: This anti-Truman lineup is far more threatening from a long-range political and economic viewpoint because almost all talk of a new, conservative party in recent and ancient years has envisaged the community of interests between the South and the West.

* * *

NEEDS: While the South's is chiefly political and social the West's is economic. The old Confederate states want freedom from federal invasion of their way of life, whereas the Western commonwealths demand an important voice in obtaining vast sums from the federal government to develop their natural resources.

Each side needs the other's votes to gain their ends as against the wealthier and more industrialized states of the Northeast, the Atlantic Seaboard and the Middle West.

Moreover, the states rights question, insofar as it involves the colored issue, is not an explosive matter in the West because there are so few negroes in that territory.

STRATEGISTS: The Southern bloc, which is headed by such smart strategists as Senator Byrd of Virginia, Ellender of Louisiana (Huey Long's Speaker of the Louisiana House) and Eastland of Mississippi, have used a sharp, two-edged argument on the so-called cowboy clique.

"Listen!," they have said in effect. "You fellows had better team up with us. You represent poor states, and so do we. Besides, the way you handle your land and forests affects us.

"We suffer from annual floods because of how you graze your cattle, cut your forests and direct the flow of your water sources up there on the plains and in the mountains.

BLOC: "We need federal money for flood control projects. You need it for power and irrigation. You'll never get what you want without our twenty-odd votes, and we won't get what we want without yours. Between us, we can run the Senate on this and other questions.

"You can't depend on New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and the Middle West for a solid bloc of votes like ours. Besides, they are the wealthy states that pay the heaviest taxes.

"The time will come when they will try to block our requests for flood control funds, and yours for power and irrigation projects."

REVERSES: The Western group listened to this Southern siren song, and the first demonstration was the 46-41 vote that defeated the Administration forces in their attempt to obtain cloture on the basis of Vice President Barkley's ruling. That outcome virtually blocked any major Civil Rights legislation for the present session.

If the alliance holds for the considerations outlined above it will probably mean White House reverses on Taft-Hartley repeal, social welfare extension, higher taxes etc.

* * *

TEST: Only ten Westerners sided with the White House on the cloture test, and some of them will desert on other questions heading for a showdown: These were:

Hunt and O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Downey and Knowland of California, Johnson of Colorado, Magnuson of Washington, Morse of Oregon, Miller of Idaho, Thomas of Utah and Thomas of Oklahoma.

But five Democrats who have had high honor at the hands of the White House joined the South: Connally and Johnson of Texas, Hayden of Arizona, Kerr of Oklahoma and McCarran of Nevada. Had any three switched, Mr. Truman would have won his first major battle.

PAYOFF: The following Republican Westerners were listed in the bi-sectional alliance: Butler of Nebraska, Cain of Washington, Cordon of Oregon, Ecton of Montana, Gurney and Mundt of South Dakota, Thye of Minnesota, Watkins of Utah.

"Not voting" on this critical question were such Truman friends as Anderson of New Mexico, former Secretary of Agriculture, "Friend of Man" Murray of Montana and Gillette of Iowa.

As a sort of payoff, Senator Byrd cast the decisive committee vote against confirmation of Mon C. Wallgren for chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Almost all the Westerners thought him too incompetent to handle a post involving so many problems vital to their part of the country.

"A laborer is worthy of his hire," is an old saying. But that was before the days of the minimum wage scale.

By some people the national health insurance plan is being looked on as bad medicine.

"The telephone is an instrument of civilization," says a writer. But too many calls make a fellow want to turn savage.

An old-timer is the one who can recall when the average man was not internationally minded except when some one was trying to swim the English channel.

An American is the person who thinks you can correct any injustice by having a law passed.

There are many steps from the cradle to the grave, but it's only one step from the driver's seat to the funeral home.

President Truman sometimes refers to the White House as "the finest prison in the world." But there have been occupants who yearned for a life term.

A new model trailer features a two-story house on wheels. Thank goodness they are not going in for one of those ranch house styles.

Among the things that can go on forever is a juke box.

A 65-year-old Indiana man has entered college to "prove that the obstacle of old age may be overcome." We would like to see him turn a flip-flop along with the other cheer leaders.

It's a machine age, but no one has yet turned out a mechanical baby sitter.

BILLS SEEN AS BLOW AT FREEDOM

Fear Claimed Threat To U. S.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Fear can become a fifth column of itself, more deadly than an enemy fifth column, for it paralyzes the mind, stultifies the spirit, creates dissensions that weaken moral fiber, and stirs up primitive emotions that are blinding.

It is doubtful that whatever fifth column Soviet Russia has in this country can be as dangerous as the fifth column of fear that we are creating among ourselves. It exhibits itself in many ways, most recently in the excitement that boiled up in New York over the visit of a handful of Communist artists and scientists and in the decision of the State strictly in accord with the law, it is true, to keep these tourists from going elsewhere in our country.

STOKES

But the fear and suspicion that we work up against outlanders, while deplorable, are not near so corroding as that we seem determined to turn inward upon ourselves in an insidious fifth column of fear that manifests itself in many ways.

Claimed Blows At Democracy

Among others is the rash of bills being presented to Congress that are directed at us in our private lives and thinking, what we have come to know historically, from cruel experience, as sedition bills. Though they undoubtedly are honest and sincere in intent, they originate in fear, and conceal within their high-minded and legal terminology the weapons that can destroy Democracy as we know it if applied with wrong intent—and there is never any guarantee against the last in these times or, in fact, in any times.

They are not bills for ferreting out and punishing actual spies and foreign agents and treasonable persons, for which we have plenty of law on the books that is sufficient in any sort of case. They are bills directed theoretically at Communist and "Communist front" organizations which could be used, however, as a study of their broad provisions and definitions show, to strangle cherished American rights—freedom of assembly, of speech, of press, and to think as one pleases.

The injustices already done under our loyalty program, which is restricted to government employes, indicate to what lengths such statutes can go in a limited field; but the pending bills go beyond government employes into the wide domain of rank and file citizens.

One such passed the House last session, the so-called Mundt-Nixon bill, but it was stopped fortunately in the Senate, chiefly by Senator Taft (R-O.) a stalwart champion of civil liberties, who probably can be counted upon again to raise his voice against the new bills which go much further.

There is a new Mundt-Nixon bill, jointly sponsored by Senator Mundt (R-SD), former member of the House Un-American Activities committee, and Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), still a member, and a similar bill by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich). They set up a commission or board respectively, to determine what are Communist and Communist front organizations upon request by the attorney general or any organization or individual. Any organization so classified must register, publish its membership, its finances and contributors, and label itself as a communist or communist front organization on any mailing matter or on radio programs.

Could Put Tests To Bills

Among the numerous tests which might be applied or whether the organization in question holds secret meetings, whether it refuses to publish its list of members, whether its members refuse to admit membership, "the extent to which the position taken or advanced by it from time to time on matters of policy does not deviate from the position taken by any Communist political organization."

Experience of government loyalty boards shows that any one or more of a list of criteria may be used in judgment.

The scope of discretion and latitude is well-nigh infinite. As examples, to be very brief, it might be cited that labor unions when organizing a plant do not publish a list of members for fear of retaliation; that some of President Truman's social welfare measures are called "Communistic," especially his health insurance program; that Communists also advocate "peace," whether sincerely or not, as well as other things with which average Americans are in sympathy and for which they have a perfect right to work.

Other bills are even more dangerous in their implications, which show how far we have succumbed to the fifth column of fear.

MARKET IN SMALL ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Highly selected demand for stocks developed in today's market.

A hand-picked group of shares moved up to top prices for 1949 while the general run of the market showed an even mixture of fractional gains and losses.

Trading was fairly active with turnover of 900,000 shares.

Reports for March issued today by leading variety store and mail order concerns — including Montgomery Ward — showed declines from a year ago. The unfavorable comparison, however, appeared to be due mainly to the fact that last year Easter fell on March 26 and this year will come April 17.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2 of one point to 63.9. The utility component showed the largest gain and equalled the high point for the year.

Selling at 1949 highs during the day (not all closed at the best) were Consolidated Vultee, up ¼ at 12⅜; Du Pont, up 3⅜ at 194¾; Western Air Lines, up ⅝ at 7¼; Texas Pacific Land Trust, up ⅝ at 45⅞; United Cigar-Whelan, up ⅛ at 3½; and U. S. Lines, up ⅛ at 15⅛.

Texas Pacific dropped fractionally for a while during the day, despite the help of a favorable earnings statement, but later rallied.

Consolidated Vultee had the benefit of news that the government is diverting some funds from the purchase of B-84's from Boeing to Consolidated's long-range bombers.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP) — Cotton futures registered small declines today in slow dealings. Scattered hedging and liquidation were absorbed through mill buying and short covering. Switching operations between old crop May and July futures featured the market. Most traders awaited action by Congress on ECA funds and declaration views on farm price supports by Secretary of Agriculture.

Cotton futures turned steady in late dealings on increased trade covering for mill and export account, along with short covering.

Futures closed unchanged to 30 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Industrial Survey

of much value, the yearly payroll of each business firm.

Question Eliminated

However, he personally made a survey of a selected group of business firms and found most of them reluctant to release such information, even with the assurance that it would be kept confidential.

So the question was eliminated from the survey, although the resultant figure, Lubbock's total annual payroll, would undoubtedly be an impressive figure.

Plans drafted by O'Connell and Dr. Clover call for the county to be divided into a number of districts. Students will be assigned to each district and will personally interview the owner or manager of business in the district. The survey is expected to require about two weeks.

Upon completion of the interviewing, the college is expected to make available IBM machines upon which the results will be mechanically tabulated.

It is expected that total figures resulting from the survey will be ready for publication about the middle of May.

Quiet Army Day Observance Set

Army Day today in Lubbock will be observed quietly, a check with city officials and military and veterans organizations showed last night, but some activity in observance of the occasion will be carried out Thursday by the Reserve Officers Training corps of Texas Tech and the local National Guard unit.

Approximtely 567 student members of the Tech ROTC will parade through downtown Lubbock at 3:45 p. m. Thursday, joined by four vehicles and a number of members of the 132nd Field Artillery battalion, Lubbock National Guard unit.

Band To Take Part

The 15-minute parade, to be held during the ROTC's regular drill period, will form at Main and Ave. O, marching east on Main to Texas, and then south on Texas to Broadway. The main portion of the parade will be out Broadway to the college campus.

The 28-piece ROTC band will be featured prominently in the procession, along with Engineers, Signal corps, Infantry and Air Force personnel of the ROTC.

The Military Science department at Tech, representing an Army investment of $160,000 in buildings and equipment, will be open for inspection of the public all day today and Thursday. Lt. Col. L. C. Adams, commanding officer, announced.

Display Is Planned

Tours will be conducted through the military classrooms, basement rifle ranges and storerooms, it was announced, where many pieces of the latest military equipment may be seen. Included among the devices to be on display are the Norden bombsight and the gyrostabilizer, both extensively used by the Air Force during the last war.

Lt. Col. Ross Ayers, commanding officer of the National Guard here, will speak to the Kiwanis club luncheon meeting on Thursday on a military subject, but the title of his topic has not been announced.

The American Legion, which held its annual two-day district convention here Saturday and Sunday, will not observe Army Day with any special activities, Commander J. R. Eagan said, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, commanded by William Earl Creel, will also observe the day quietly.

SUBSTITUTE LABOR PLAN OFFERED

GOP-Demo Bloc Claims Strength To Stop Vote On T-H Repeal Bill

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 5 — Republicans and Southern Democrats claimed sufficient strength today to prevent the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill from reaching a House vote.

Members of the powerful coalition said it will be their strategy to force House consideration of a substitute bill instead. They claim 25 more votes than necessary to accomplish this.

Few Changes Proposed

President Truman campaigned on a promise to repeal the controversial Taft-Hartley labor act passed by the GOP - dominated 80th Congress. The administration's labor bill would repeal the "T-H" act and restore the old Wagner labor bill with modifications.

The substitute introduced by Rep. Wood (D-Ga) would make few changes in the "T-H" law.

House Democratic leaders announced today they will call up the administration's labor bill for debate April 26 after the lower chamber returns from an Easter recess.

Held In Committee

The "T-H" repeal bill still has to be given a "green light" by the rules committee. The unit has been slow to act. However, it is understood the committee will clear the bill to the floor but not in the way advocates of the outright repeal of "T-H" act want.

It is when the administration's labor bill reaches the House floor that opponents plan to apply their strategy.

Rep. Cox (D-Ga) explained the strategy in an interview. He said:

"I think that immediately after the first paragraph of the (administration) bill is read a motion will be made to substitute the Wood bill.

"The House then will proceed to amend the Wood bill. Debate will be on the substitute rather than on the repeal bill. The House will be acting as a committee. After the voting on amendments, the "committee" will have a showdown on the Wood bill. I think it will approve the Wood bill.

"The committee will report its action to the House. This is a formality but it will mean the end of the Taft-Hartley repeal bill which then cannot be voted upon."

A House GOP leader agreed that the strategy outlined by Cox will be followed. He said he felt certain that the administration's labor bill will never even formally come before the House at the crucial voting stage.

A House administration leader said he doubted Mr. Truman would get all he asked in the way of labor legislation. However, he said he still thought the House would pass "not too bad" a bill.
