Ask Us

Q—If you want to vote a straight party ticket, Democrat or Republican, in the November election, but don't like one specific candidate, can you vote for his or her opponent?

A—Yes, you can punch a straight party ticket, say Democrat, then go back and vote for his or her Republican, Libertarian or independent opponent. The machine will cancel the vote in that specific race for the Democrat, and tabulate the vote for the Republican, Libertarian or independent.

Mideast leaders exploring peace through business

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — Lofty words of praise for Mideast peace gave way to the nuts and bolts of foreign investment today as government and business leaders from 65 countries sought ways to boost the region's economies.

More than 2,500 government and business leaders are taking part in the inaugural Middle East-North Africa Economic Summit. It aims to unite the fractious region by creating interdependent economies, and also hopes to raise the standard of living in some of the world's poorest countries.

"The money is available. It's a matter of creating the proper environment for stability and profitability," Percy Barnevik, head of the Swiss-Swedish engineering company Asea Brown Boveri, told this morning's session.

Use of scarce water is high on the list of problems that the region could solve through greater cooperation among Israel and the Arab nations.

The summit is the first time Israeli and Arab officials and investors have met to formulate specific investment and cooperation projects.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat, who met Sunday before the opening of the conference, called for international aid and investment to enhance peace in the region.

WTC bonfire to tip off cage season

Western Texas College will host a "Roast Howard" bonfire this evening to tip off the 1994-95 Lady Westerners basketball season.

The public is invited.

The fire will be lit at 7:30 p.m. on the southern edge of the campus, adjacent to the WTC sign.

The Lady Westerners open their season at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday by entertaining Howard College.

Teens identified in burglary

Local peace officers note plenty of weekend activity

Snyder police officers arrested one juvenile and identified a second suspect in an attempted burglary which occurred early this morning at Kmart.

Officers arrested one 16-year-old male at the scene after an alert citizen and an alarm alerted law enforcement officials to the store shortly after 3 a.m. Store manager Bill Edwards said the suspects had attempted to remove some $700 in merchandise from the store.

A 17-year-old male has also been identified as being involved. He was not immediately arrested and the case will be forwarded to the district attorney's office. The juvenile has been released to the custody of his father.

According to police, a citizen contacted a dispatcher at the Law Enforcement Center after seeing a suspicious vehicle near the garden shop area of the store. Before po-

Fall Festival of Fun planned this evening

Children ages birth through the 6th grade are invited to the Fall Festival of Fun in the First Baptist Church multi-purpose center this evening.

All games and activities will be free and door prizes will be given away at the festival, which will be held from 6 until 8 o'clock.

Door prizes will be awarded and each child will be given a treat bag to take home. A concession stand will be open with refreshments available at a minimum charge.

Games and activities will include a treasure chest, miniature golf, an obstacle course, basketball toss, ducks in a pond, hidden treasure and "sucker suprise."

Others will be helium balloons, door of wonders, kangaroo hop, ring toss, fishing game, candle shoot, Wheel of Fortune, and a dart throw.

Still others will include water pistols, bowling, needle in the haystack, slingshots, rope a steer, wet sponge toss, cake walk, face painting and bobbing for apples.

Halloween activities

SNYDER OAKS will host trick or treaters this evening from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

SNYDER HEALTH CARE will entertain youngsters with candy and a spook house from 6 until 7:30 this evening.

SNYDER POLICE DEPARTMENT invites trick or treaters to visit McGruff and get a special treat at the east parking lot of the Law Enforcement Center from 5:30-8:30 this evening.

THE WTC 'SPOOK MANOR' will open its doors to kindergarten through 6th grade students at 6:15 this evening. There is no charge for the tour and parents can bring their "little creatures" to the college dorm's main lobby and wait while the child tours the two spooky floors, filled with spooks and goblins. Refreshments will be served by the lord of the manor. Doors will close at 7:15 p.m.

United Way at 44 percent

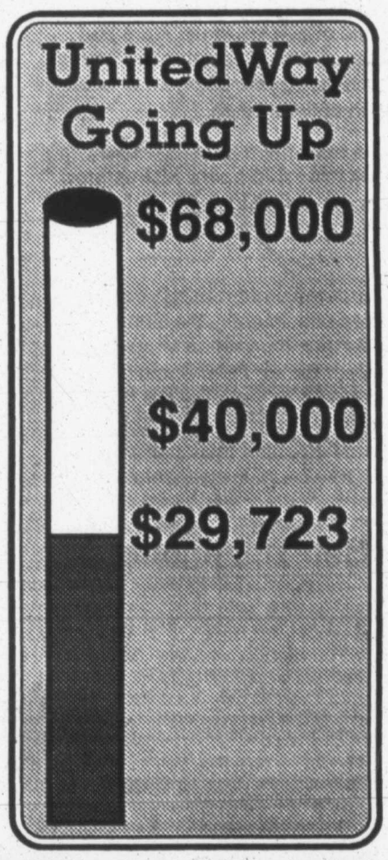

Scurry County United Way fund drive has reached 44 percent of its goal, Connie Thompson, drive coordinator, reported today.

Donations during the past week brought the total to $29,723.96 toward the goal of $68,000.

United Way donations are being accepted at the chamber of commerce or by mail at P.O. Box 1411.

Allocations are $21,000 to Scurry County Boys & Girls Club; $10,000 to Snyder Child Day Care Center; $8,900 to Noah Project; $6,000 each to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts; $5,000 to Oil Patch Foster Parents; $2,600 to Snyder Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse; and $500 to Red Cross. In addition, the total includes $8,000 in local United Way expenses.

The theme for this year's drive is "Open Your Heart."

County adds vendor

Banker's United Life Insurance Co., of Little Rock, Ark., was added to the county's list of cafeteria plan vendors on a unanimous vote of the commissioners this morning.

This will give county employees four companies from which to choose in selecting supplemental insurance policies. The county will deduct the premium cost from the employee's paycheck.

Commissioner C. D. Gray, Jr., questioned whether the county should limit the number of companies that offer such plans to county employees and added "we may need to adopt a policy on how many companies may offer this to the employees."

In accepting the proposal from the company's representative, commissioners emphasized that the employees could be contacted only after working hours in regards to signing up for the insurance.

The commissioners also approved six line item transfers including $6,800 from permanent improvements in the jail to $3,300 for a new dishwasher and $3,500 for supplies. Also approved was $350 from part-time help in the County Judge's office to communication expenses and $250 from maintenance agreements in the auditor's office to travel expense. Two thousand dollars was approved to purchase materials for repairing cracks in the runways at the airport and the funds were moved from permanent improvements to repairs. The court also approved transferring $2,300 from community center expenses to the Boys and Girls Club and moved $200 from non-departmental expenses to copier supplies.

Judge Bob Doolittle presided and commissioners present were Gray, Roy Idom, Ralph Trevey and Jerry Gannaway.

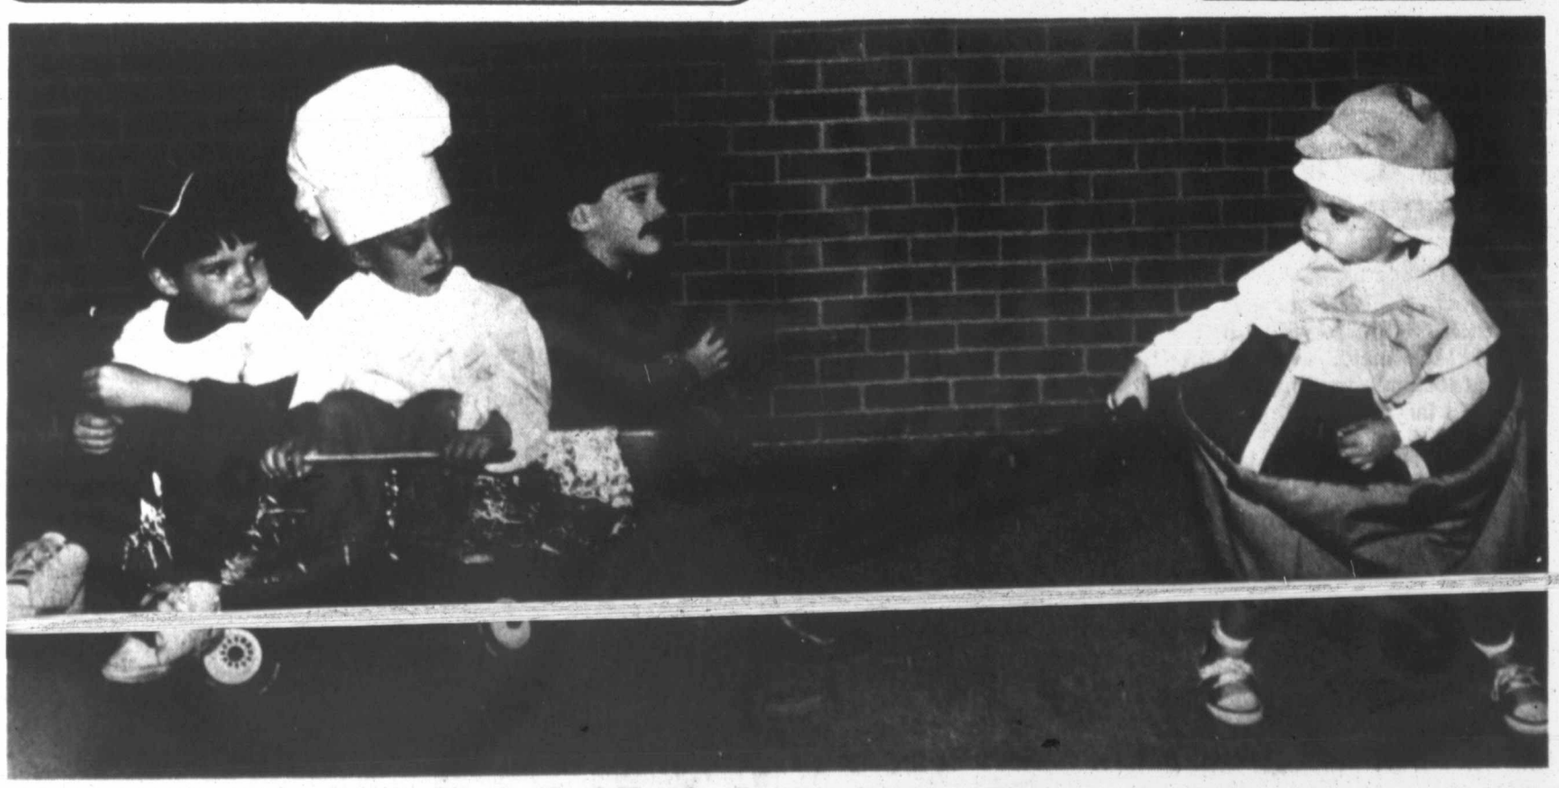

Guitar concert slated Tuesday

The public is invited to attend a free classical guitar concert Tuesday evening in the Fine Arts Theatre on the Western Texas College campus.

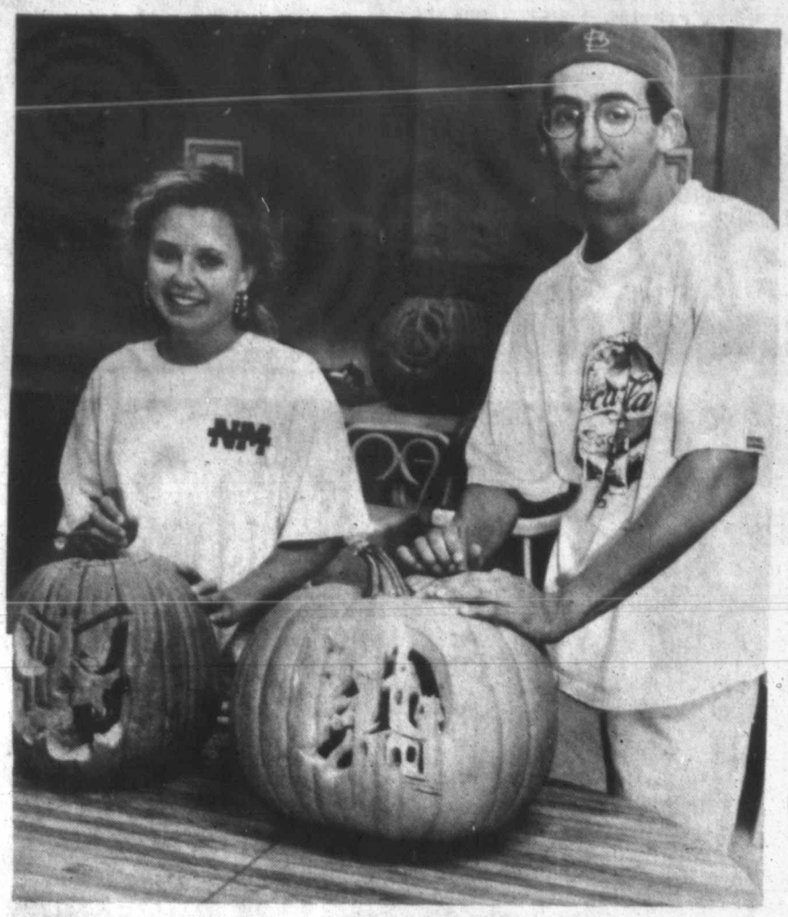

There is no admission charge for the 8:15 p.m. performance; however, donations for the WTC Music Scholarship Fund will be accepted.

Performing will be James Bogle, director of the guitar program at Texas Tech University; Uros Dojchinovic, considered to be the premier guitarist of Yugoslavia; and Gilbert Soto, a native of Mexico who is in charge of the guitar program at Laredo College.

The trio will play selections from such well-known composers as Mozart and Boccherini. The concert will conclude with the famous guitar piece, "Malaguena."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) has filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) to restructure the current PLEXAR I and II service offerings. This restructure will significantly change PLEXAR I and II services.

The restructuring of PLEXAR I will, among other things: (1) reduce the maximum line size from 30 to 9; (2) obsolete and grandfather certain optional features; (3) eliminate the requirement to subscribe to Feature Package Two in order to subscribe to certain optional features; (4) reduce the nonrecurring and monthly rates of certain features; and (5) increase the nonrecurring charges for the PLEXAR I System Charge ($2.10 to $8.00), Call Transfer Disconnect feature ($3.00 to $8.00), and Convenience Dialing I feature ($6.35 to $8.00). All current PLEXAR I customers will have the option of keeping their current PLEXAR I service, switching to the new restructured PLEXAR I service, or switching to PLEXAR II service with ten or more lines.

The proposed PLEXAR II restructure will, among other things: (1) change the tariffed offering to serve the market segment of 10-74 stations; (2) create two station pricing structures, one for customers with 10-29 stations, and one for customers with 30-74 stations; (3) reduce the sensitivity for the loop portion of the rate to two price bands: 0-2 miles, and beyond 2 miles; (4) offer a PLEXAR II basic station that can be flexibly configured, from a number of standard features, to meet the individual customer requirements; (5) change the way the termination liability is calculated so the customer is responsible for 65% rather than 56% of the present worth of the remaining monthly payments in the contract; (6) create an option that allows month-to-month customers to convert to long term contracts of at least three years and receive a credit or "contract signing bonus"; and (7) establish a System Subsequent Change Charge which applies per serving central office when changes are made that affect the entire system.

Current PLEXAR II customers will also have the option of keeping their current PLEXAR II service, or switching to the new restructured PLEXAR II service. PLEXAR II customers with at least 75 stations also have the option of switching to PLEXAR Custom service in certain situations.

This application has been assigned Docket Number 13210. Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by November 28, 1994. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf. For more information about this application, please call your local Southwestern Bell Account Representative.

Ag trade balance said up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agricultural trade surplus rose to $1.3 billion in August, an increase of $65 million over the previous month, the Agriculture Department says.

For fiscal 1994, which began in October 1993, the surplus now totals $15.9 billion, down $1 billion from the previous year.

Exports increased 12 percent in August to $3.5 billion, up 19 percent from a year earlier. However, on the strength of higher coffee prices, imports rose to $2.2 billion, an increase of 13 percent from July and 17 percent over 1993.

For the fiscal year to date, exports are up 1 percent from the previous year at $40 billion, while imports have gained 7 percent for total of $24 billion.

Vegetable exports for the fiscal year through August climbed 7 percent to $3.2 billion. Increased export value for prepared vegetables, up 18 percent, and frozen vegetables, up 14 percent, offset the 5 percent decline for fresh vegetables. Potatoes and sweet corn, mostly bound for Japan, topped the frozen vegetable export list.

Fruit exports also rose for the fiscal year to date, up 10 percent to $2.3 billion. Both apple and grape exports posted major gains.

Marking a 3 percent rise over the previous year, wheat exports totaled 2.8 million tons in August. The year-to-date amount of 27.9 million tons is down 16 percent from fiscal 1993. Top buyers in August included Japan, China and Egypt.

August corn exports rose 8 percent over the previous year to 2.9 million tons. However, the October-August total of 30.1 million tons still lags behind 1993 by 21 percent.

Lotto Texas

by The Associated Press

No tickets correctly matched all six numbers drawn Saturday night for the twice-weekly Lotto Texas game, state lottery officials said. The jackpot was worth $3 million.

The numbers drawn Saturday night from a field of 50 were: 3, 4, 8, 27, 43, and 46.

There were 98 tickets sold with five of the six numbers, with each ticket worth $1,697. There were 5,925 tickets with four of six numbers, with each winning $103. And there were 116,301 tickets sold with three of six numbers, with each worth an automatic $3.

Lottery officials estimate the jackpot for Wednesday night's game will be $10 million.

FORT, FORTS, AND MORE FORTS — Tim Mebane's Texas history class at Ira recently made forts. The project grew out of a visit to the Autry Ranch to look at buffalo tracks. What's new in diabetes research?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an insulin-dependent diabetic with a family history of the disease. I have four children and figure that at least one of the four will have it some time in the future. Is there any new research going on today that might make this condition a thing of the past?

DEAR READER: Researchers in many medical centers are actively working to discover a cure for diabetes, an inherited inability of the body to metabolize sugar efficiently because not enough effective insulin is produced in the pancreas. As yet, there has been no breakthrough, although pancreatic transplants do show promise.

To date, most diabetics must rely on traditional therapy: a low-sugar diet, weight loss (if the patient is obese), pills to stimulate the pancreas to produce more insulin, or insulin injections, depending on whether the disease requires insulin or can be controlled without it.

Many authorities consider diabetes to be an auto-immune disease, which causes people to become allergic to their own normal pancreatic cells. This is probably accentuated by a genetic tendency.

Therefore, any real advance in curing diabetes may well depend on new knowledge related to the diagnosis and prevention of auto-immunity. New evidence implicating a virus infection in children who develop diabetes is being aggressively studied.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diabetes Mellitus." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Surgical repair of a left rotator cuff tear led to infection at the point of surgery. Intravenous medication, daily dressing changes and all precautions were taken. Three and a half months have gone by and the wound will not heal. There is a fluid discharge and my doctor cannot say how long the condition will last. What is your experience with such problems and what is the cause?

DEAR READER: Most simple postoperative infections can be cured by the methods you describe. In the presence of a chronically draining wound, however, one must consider the possibility of a foreign substance.

For example, perhaps the surgeon used wire sutures to repair your shoulder and the stitches are causing a continuing source of inflammation.

In my view, three and a half months is too long to put up with a persisting wound. Seek a second opinion from another orthopedic surgeon.

Although patience and the additional use of antibiotics may eventually solve the problem, some patients require a second operation to remove the offending material and allow healing to be completed.

California's illegal nannies highlight conflicts in debate

SAN DIEGO (AP) — He's deeply worried about illegal aliens, the banker says. "We've got to stop so many people from coming. It's one of the biggest problems we face."

And what of his own housekeeper, the sweet young Salvadoran woman who cares for his two toddlers while he and his wife work? Well, that's a different story.

"I know it sounds like an excuse, like we're saying one thing and doing another," the banker says wryly. "But I mean, she was escaping a right-wing dictatorship where there was no way to make money. And we needed somebody to care for our children ... It just seemed we were helping each other."

The banker isn't alone: many Californians say they're mad about illegal immigration but continue to hire illegals to clean their houses or watch their kids. It has long been a key contradiction in debates about immigration. Now, it may determine a U.S. Senate race.

"The truth is, that despite what a lot of people say, they are dependent on all this cheap, good labor," says Carlos Vaquerano of the Central American Refugee Center in Los Angeles.

Last week, Senate candidate Michael Huffington admitted he and his wife had paid an illegal immigrant to care for their two young daughters. In a speech just days before, the Republican congressman had lambasted "the weakness of political leaders to enforce the immigration laws already on the books."

Democrats predict Huffington's situation will sink him. But the banker from Pasadena says he feels sympathy for Huffington and especially for his wife, who told reporters she kept the illegal nanny because her daughters loved her.

"The thing is, what you're most concerned with is your children. And if you've got this loving woman who is wonderful with the kids, you want to keep her," the Pasadena banker says.

His housekeeper is now legal.

Character refers to moral qualities; reputation refers to the way a person is regarded by others.

OSHA prepares for inspections

HOUSTON (AP) — The Occupational Safety and Health Administration is prepared for surprise inspections at up to eight Houston-area refineries and chemical plants during the next year, the Houston Chronicle reported Sunday.

Ray Skinner, director of OSHA's Houston South Area Office, said he has received permission from the Dallas regional headquarters to start a "local emphasis" program for the region's sprawling petrochemical industry.

Teams of specially trained regulators are preparing to enter two plants simultaneously in each of the next four quarters, Skinner said in newspaper's Sunday editions.

"We have a large segment of this industry in our territory and we have a fairly new Process Safety Management standard," Skinner said.

"We are going to make sure these plants are aware that OSHA is enforcing the standard and make sure these plants are developing safety programs that are actually in effect and aren't just 'paper' programs."

The inspection sites will be chosen randomly by computer from a master list — with no advance notice — to look for hazards that can cause everything from explosions to asphyxia, he said.

Skinner added that the inspection program will enable OSHA to "control where we go rather than being controlled by events such as releases, fires and explosions."

The surprise inspections could begin next month, but several recent industrial accidents that have kept inspectors busy could delay the startup, Skinner said.

Two of the most serious recent accidents occurred at the Rohm and Haas Texas Inc. chemical plant in Deer Park.

On Sept. 15, contract worker Doug Tacy, 32, fell ill at the plant, apparently after being exposed to an unidentified chemical. Tacy died two days later, and his cause of death was ruled "asphyxia due to cyanide toxicity."

Police shoot and kill sniper at dam

KERRVILLE (AP) — A high school student who reportedly climbed the Upper Guadalupe River dam with a gun and fired shots at passing motorists and police officers died after he was shot by police.

Eddie Gonzales, 18, was shooting from the dam at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday when police arrived to try to talk him down, officials said.

Gonzales was taken to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville, where he was pronounced dead Saturday night.

Do it, except when wrong

Bridge is full of guidelines — or rules of thumb, if you prefer. However, as the English author Robert Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," wrote: "No rule is so general, which admits not some exception."

Which is the exception in today's deal? South plays in three no-trump and West leads a spade. How many tricks should declarer win?

South is right to open two no-trump despite the low tripleton in diamonds. He has a balanced hand with 20-22 points; no other sequence would describe this so accurately.

South saw that he had seven top tricks. Even if the clubs split 3-3, which happens only about one-third of the time, South still needed two tricks from the diamond suit. So, after winning the first trick with the spade king, South led a diamond and finessed dummy's 10. East won with the queen and returned a spade to South's ace. Declarer led a second diamond, winning West's king with dummy's ace. A moment later South was claiming 10 tricks: two spades, one heart, four diamonds and three clubs.

"Why didn't you play the diamond king at trick two?" asked East.

"Because my textbook says second hand low," replied West.

"Yes, that is right most of the time," observed East. "However, here, with South trying to establish dummy's suit, you must disobey the rule. If you play the diamond king, dummy's suit is dead and we can defeat the contract."

"But what if South has the diamond queen?" asked West.

"Then your king is dead anyway," explained East.

Watch out for the suit-killing second-hand-high play.

Snyder falls in district playoff

Lamesa wins 14-16, 15-11, 15-10

LUBBOCK — The Snyder Lady Tigers played a close match, but they could not pull out the victory, as they fell in three games to rival Lamesa in the District 5-4A playoff.

Lamesa's victory gives them sole possession of second place in the district behind first place finisher, Levelland.

Snyder came out with a flurry of super spikes and outstanding defensive play as they stole the first game 16-14, but inconsistent hitting in games two and three spelled doom for the Lady Tigers.

"They (the Lady Tigers) just quit hitting hard," Snyder head coach Patty Grimmett said. "They were playing too cautious.

"I think they were thinking too much about doing things, instead of just reacting. I kept telling them to go out there and hit like they did in the first game, but they just weren't putting the ball away."

Coach Grimmett lamented the loss at a chance to go to the playoffs, but she felt that losing to Lamesa was even harder.

"Anytime you lose a game like this, with a chance to go to the playoffs, is hard," she said. "But to lose to Lamesa just intensifies that feeling."

There is a reason to be positive about the season-ending loss, according to Grimmett.

"We are only losing three players this year," she said. "They were great players and they really played a big part in holding this team together, but we have a strong nucleus returning for next season.

"We had a really young team this year. After the game, a lot of them were already talking about next year and how they were going to take care of buisness during the season."

Dallas avoids Blake, Cincinnati, 23-20

CINCINNATI (AP) — Everyone expected Jeff Blake to throw a few interceptions, take a few nasty hits, then fade back into obscurity after his first NFL start.

Blake isn't going to fade — not in the Dallas Cowboys' minds, anyway.

The unheralded third-year pro gave the two-time Super Bowl champions a tough time Sunday while nearly pulling off the biggest upset of the NFL season. They were still talking about him after the Cowboys rallied for a 23-20 victory over the winless Cincinnati Bengals.

"I know how hard it is for a young quarterback," said Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman. "Nobody expects this from a young guy. He was a very poised quarterback today."

Of course, nobody expected the Cowboys (7-1) to let a quarterback with virtually no NFL game experience work them over like that. They had the NFL's top-ranked defense and its best passing defense heading into the game. They had allowed just four passes of more than 25 yards all season, the longest a 50-yarder.

Blake caught them flat-footed on his third pass of the game, hitting Darnay Scott down the middle for a 67-yard touchdown. Then he found Scott uncovered behind the secondary for a 55-yard touchdown and a 14-0 lead on the first play of the second quarter.

Everyone on the Cowboys' sideline was saying, in various words and inflections: What's going on here?

"I thought our secondary would play better," coach Barry Switzer said. "I thought we wouldn't bust coverages (and) let people run wide open and put us in the situation we did."

The Bengals (0-8) were thinking they'd finally found some magic.

"Everybody's eyes were big," Scott said. "We were like, 'C'mon, we can't let up now. Beat 'em bad.' That's pretty much what everybody was thinking about."

"I think people were looking for something new," Blake said.

There was a lot of newness with Blake starting because of injuries to David Klingler and Don Hollas. Blake, picked up off waivers from the New York Jets on Aug. 29, was hard to run down (he was an option quarterback at East Carolina) and hard to rattle.

He completed 14-of-32 for 247 yards — the second-highest total by a Bengal quarterback this season. By comparison, Klingler has just one better game in his career. And Blake was going against the league's best.

"I don't know if I've earned (another) start," Blake said. "I think I've earned a secure job with this team. That's all I was looking for."

All the Cowboys were looking for in this best-vs.-worst matchup was a win, and they got that behind an efficient game from Aikman and three second-half field goals by Chris Boniol.

Aikman threw touchdowns of 27 yards to Alvin Harper and 10 yards to Michael Irvin to cut it to 17-14 at halftime. He also took a hit to the chin on the second touchdown drive, but wasn't affected. Linebacker James Francis hit Aikman with his forearm just as he released a fourth-down incompletion. The penalty kept the drive alive.

Aikman was hit in the chin last week in a win over Arizona and left the game with a gash and a concussion. Francis said he wasn't going after Aikman's head.

Halfway through the season, five teams still have shot at Cotton

DALLAS (AP) — For the first time since 1984 and only the second time in Southwest Conference history, the league's football champion will have two losses. At least.

After the unexpected turn of events Saturday, there's no telling what might happen.

It should've been obvious earlier this week that this 80th and second-to-last SWC season was bound to be a bit kooky when Rice had a clear path to its first title since 1957.

But the Owls lost their front-runner status Saturday by falling 27-25 to Texas Christian, dropping both teams into a pack of five schools with two losses. Rice is 3-4 and 2-2 in the SWC. TCU is 5-3, 2-2.

Other members of the two-loss club are Texas Tech, Baylor and Texas. Houston is 1-3 and Southern Methodist is 0-4-1 after a 21-21 tie with No. 11 Texas A&M.

Tech (4-4, 3-2) dropped Texas (5-3, 2-2) into that group with a 33-9 pounding in Lubbock, and Baylor (6-3, 3-2) pummeled Houston 52-13.

The Cougars, by the way, were the survivor of that brutal 1984 race. They were tied at 6-2 with SMU and UH beat the Mustangs. Houston ended up losing 45-28 to Doug Flutie's Boston College team in the Cotton Bowl.

As for this year's race, the Aggies (7-0-1, 4-0-1) are ineligible for the title because of NCAA violations, or else none of this mess would matter.

Pay attention:

—Texas Tech is the slight front-runner now, in part because the Red Raiders have never gone to the Cotton Bowl as the Southwest Conference's representative, and their last appearance in the game was in 1939.

Tech's final two SWC games are against Houston and TCU.

But the suspense will build, as the Red Raiders are off next Saturday, then play a nonconference game against Southwestern Louisiana Nov. 12.

Should they win out, the Red Raiders have the edge on tiebreakers with Texas and Baylor and because they've won head-to-head games.

—Rice, however, stands slightly in Tech's way. The Owls beat the Red Raiders, so a two-way tie between those two means Rice would be in Dallas on New Year's Day for the first time since Jan. 1, 1958.

Yet, if there's a three-way tie involving Rice and Tech, the Red Raiders get the nod because the second tie-breaker is the last-appearance rule. The SWC has said that Tech gets the nod over anyone on that point.

Before any of that can happen, though, the Owls must get past SMU, Baylor and Houston.

Judging by the level of competition, Tech has the better chance.

—Baylor is held back because of its loss to Tech. After an upcoming off week, the Bears play Rice on Nov. 12, take another week off, then play Texas on Thanksgiving.

A loss by the Red Raiders is a must for Baylor to be in the Cotton Bowl for the first time since 1981.

—TCU could wield plenty of power because of its season finale Nov. 25 against the Red Raiders, which already is scheduled to be televised regionally by ABC.

But for that game to have meaning to the Horned Frogs, they must use their upcoming off week to prepare successfully for SMU and A&M.

If TCU wins those three and winds up tied with Rice, the Horned Frogs win the SWC because of Saturday's victory.

However, if they end up tied with Baylor, the Bears would get the nod because they beat the Horned Frogs earlier this season.

—Texas is in bad shape because it has lost to Rice and Tech. Both those teams would have to be out of the way for the Longhorns to win their first SWC title since 1990.

UT's remaining games are against A&M, Houston and Baylor. That's the toughest schedule of the five teams still in contention and the Longhorns have the most obstacles to overcome, making their bid unlikely.

Let's just hope there are no ties.

Raiders nip Oilers 17-14

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A subpar performance didn't keep Jeff Hostetler from coming through when the Los Angeles Raiders needed him most on Sunday.

Hostetler threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to Tim Brown with 1:50 remaining, then the Raiders survived a last-second field goal attempt that slammed against the crossbar for a 17-14 victory over the Houston Oilers. The win enabled them to reach .500 for the first time this season.

Hostetler completed 4 of 5 passes for 59 yards on the winning 67-yard drive, which came after the Oilers took a 14-10 lead on Billy Joe Tolliver's 7-yard pass to Haywood Jeffires with 3:19 left.

Tolliver, informed shortly before the game he would fill in for injured Cody Carlson at quarterback, guided the Oilers (1-7) from their 15-yard line to the Los Angeles 34. Al Del Greco's 52-yard field goal try as time expired was right on line, but hit the crossbar and bounced back onto the playing field as the Raiders (4-4) celebrated.

Both quarterbacks were superb on the marches to fourth-quarter TDs.

Hostetler, who threw for 92 yards before the winning drive, finished with 15 completions in 29 attempts for 151 yards and two interceptions.

8th graders split with Big Spring

Snyder's eighth grade teams earned a split in Saturday's play against the Big Spring Steers.

The eighth grade "Gold" team jumped ahead early in the second quarter with a 45-yard touchdown run by Juan Arismendi and a two-point conversion pass from Justin McNair to Jacob Hodges, but was unable to fend off the potent Big Spring offensive attack, as the Steers won 39-8.

Nathan Sorrels scored on a 16-yard touchdown pass from Justin Parker and the "Black" team got two defensive scores as the Tigers raced past the Steers 18-6.

Nickolas Barboza blocked a Big Spring punt to give the Tigers a safety and David Herrera returned an interception 55 yards for a touchdown in the win.

010 LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

In accordance with the provisions of the Texas Agriculture Code, Chapter 74, Subchapter D and 4 Tex. Admin. Code, Chapter 3, Subchapter A, the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation will conduct a referendum on the proposition of whether or not cotton growers shall establish the Central Rolling Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone to include: Baylor, Callahan, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Throckmorton, and Young counties, and all land in Archer County south of a line following FM 422 commencing at the Baylor County line running east to the intersection on FM Road 210 continuing east to the intersection of State Highway 25 continuing east to the Clay County Line; all land in Borden County east of a line seven miles west of the Scurry County line running south from the Garza County line to the Howard County line; and all land in Taylor County east of US Hwy 83 from a point commencing at the intersection of US Hwy 83 and the south Taylor County line, north to the town of Bradshaw, thence north of FM Road 1086 as said FM Road proceeds west and north to the intersection of said FM Road 1086 and US Hwy 277, being all that land lying north of said FM Road and west of said US Hwy 277 intersects the south boundary line of Taylor County, and on the proposition of whether cotton producers in that zone will participate in cost sharing for a boll weevil eradication program in that zone by payment of maximum assessment of $5 per land acre planted in cotton in 1995 and $5 per land acre planted in cotton in 1996, and a maximum assessment of $10 per land acre planted in cotton each year thereafter until the costs of the eradication program are paid off, and a nominal maintenance fee thereafter. The assessments will not exceed the total costs of the eradication program, which is estimated to be and cannot exceed $74.28 per land acre planted in cotton, plus finance charges and a nominal maintenance fee. Any federal cost sharing funds or other savings will reduce the total amount assessed. Such assessment is to be collected each year at the county ASCS offices at the time of certification. Landlords and tenants will pay their pro-rata share as determined by their lease agreements.

During the referendum, a representative of the above referenced zone will be elected to serve on the 9 member Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board of Directors. The board is charged with administering the boll weevil eradication program in Texas.

The referendum and board election will be held by mail balloting. An eligible voter may, however, vote in person before the deadline for voting at the office of the county extension agent in the county within the zone in which the voter resides. Voters will be receiving their ballots by mail approximately two weeks prior to the election date. All ballots cast by mail must be postmarked no later than December 1, 1994, in order to be valid.

Any cotton grower having cotton production on calendar year 1994 within the counties listed above is elegible to vote and, if he or she resides in the proposed Central Rolling Plains zone, to have his or her name placed on the ballot as a candidate in the board election. A cotton grower is defined as an individual, entity or joint operator who, as owner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper is entitled to share in the cotton available to marketing from the farm, or share in the proceeds thereof, as determined in accordance with 7 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 1413.

Any person elegible to vote in the referendum or board election and that resides in the proposed Central Rolling Plains Zone may place their name in nomination for election to the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board by written application to the Foundation at the address below. The application shall be on a nomination form provided by the Foundation and must be signed by the applicant and at least ten other eligible voters. The nomination form must be filed by November 1 and must provide the legal residence of the applicant. A nomination form may be obtained by contacting the Foundation office or any county agent located in the voting area. For more informatiom regarding the referendum and election, or if you are a cotton grower in the above-reference area and do not receive a ballot, please call: Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, telephone 1-800-687-1212, P.O. Box 5089, Abilene, Texas 79608-5089.

Horseback riders, hunters seek clues in search for boys

UNION, S.C. (AP) — Searchers on horseback scoured woods and red clay fields Sunday in the search for two missing boys after several thousand deer hunters turned up nothing.

"Not a lot has changed," Union County Sheriff Howard Wells said, five days after the boys' mother reported they were taken by a man who commandeered her car, then ordered her out at gunpoint.

A few dozen volunteers on horseback searched near where Susan Smith reported she was forced from the car at a traffic light.

"I got two kids of my own, and I know some of the family," said Wayne Bishop, riding a dark horse named Dolly.

Searchers on foot covered part of the same area last week.

"We're looking for a needle in a haystack, really. Only this needle is two little kids," said Jeff Lillard, another volunteer who led his tracking dog Sam along lake and river banks.

Several tips came in after the TV show "America's Most Wanted" featured the case Saturday, but those leads and new reports of sightings as far away as Newport News, Va., yielded no evidence.

Mrs. Smith's sons — 3-year-old Michael Smith and 14-month-old Alex — have been missing since Tuesday night. She said the children were still strapped in safety seats when the carjacker drove away.

Authorities were clearly disappointed that people out to shoot deer Saturday, the first weekend day since the boys' disappearance, also came up empty.

"We had a lot of hope in the hunters because of their sheer number, their willingness to go deep into the woods and follow every roadway," Wells said, adding that the sole tip from a hunter proved negative.

First Sgt. Wayne Hutcherson of the state natural resources department estimated there were several thousand hunters out Saturday in Union County alone and thousands more in the surrounding Piedmont region woods.

"There was somebody at just about every pulloff that you could get in," he said. "Every time I checked a license, the first thing the people'd ask me was: 'Heard anything about the kids?'"

In other developments:

— Investigators checked out a gas station robbery in Sumter that occurred at 4 a.m. Sunday. Earlier, in Jackson County, Fla., the suspected robber had allegedly carjacked a vehicle with a woman and an infant in it but released them unharmed, Wells said.

The suspect shot and critically wounded himself when cornered by police, said Sumter Police Chief Harold Johnson. The investigation so far, he said, gave "no indication ... that would tie this case to Union."

— Although "a sizable amount" has been offered in reward money, officials discouraged payments as a way of moving the case forward. The motivation for giving information, Wells said, should be "the goodwill of the person."

Endorsements show governor's race still remains tight in state

DALLAS (AP) — If polls and newspaper endorsements are a sound indication, the governor's race remains too close to call while U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison is on an easy road back to Washington.

Gov. Ann Richards has won the majority of endorsements from Texas newspapers, but Republican George W. Bush boasts a strong showing, capturing support by the two dailies with the largest circulations — The Dallas Morning News and the Houston Chronicle.

Polls show Richards and Bush are in a dead heat.

Bush also won support from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Victoria Advocate, Wichita Falls Times Record News, Gainesville Daily Register, Bryan-College Station Eagle, Denton Record-Chronicle and Midland Reporter-Telegram.

"In elections in the past ... the challengers do not typically receive as many major newspaper endorsements as the incumbent," Bush spokesman Reggie Bashur said.

"I think one of the reasons why George W. Bush is doing well in newspaper endorsements is he is offering specific proposals and plans," Bashur said. "He is talking specifics and offering details."

Among the newspapers backing Richards are the San Antonio Express-News, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Austin American-Statesman, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Waco Tribune-Herald, Temple Daily Telegram, Amarillo Sunday News-Globe, San Angelo Standard-Times, Galveston Daily News, Killeen Daily Herald, Longview News-Journal and Marshall News Messenger.

"We're pleased with the endorsements because they represent a cross-section of Texas," said Richards spokeswoman Cindy Rugeley. "We are particularly pleased that we received endorsements from papers that traditionally endorse Republicans, like Amarillo and Longview."

The endorsements in the governor's race are as contradictory as the campaigns themselves.

The Houston Chronicle calls Richards' performance "inconsequential and uninspiring," while touting Bush's history of "conservative, fiscally responsible business success."

The Houston Post counters, "Bush is touting a business background that is tenuous at best." Richards, it says, has a "solid record of public accomplishment."

Newspaper endorsements mirror opinion polls on the Senate race.

Recent polls have shown Mrs. Hutchison, a Republican, with a strong lead over Democratic challenger Richard Fisher, a millionaire Dallas businessman. Texas newspapers also have given the senator overwhelming endorsement.

Mrs. Hutchison's spokesman, David Beckwith, called her sweep of editorial board support "unprecedented, especially for a Republican in Texas."

"I think it's a recognition of her hard work," he said Sunday. "There are three things: That she's worked hard, that she's represented the state well as far as her votes ... and she's done a good job for the state as far as Texas projects."

The endorsements carry one theme: Mrs. Hutchison has earned a full term after winning the unexpired seat of now-Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen.

Fisher downplayed his lack of endorsements. He claims the support of only the Texas Publishers Association, an association of black community newspapers, and The Greenville Herald Banner.

"What I care about is being endorsed by the people of Texas," Fisher said. "I think the clear difference between us is that Kay Hutchison is ... just shallow rhetoric, saying things but not following through."

Happy Halloween: arsonists hit Detroit

by The Associated Press

Halloween celebrations got off to an ominous start when a man hit by an egg stabbed a 12-year-old boy to death in New York City and about 2,000 people stampeded in an Illinois college town.

Later Sunday, Detroit firefighters struggled to respond to arsonists starting fires in a criminal tradition known as "Devil's Night," and volunteers kept watch against similar arsons in Camden, N.J.

Six youths were playing a Halloween egg-throwing game Saturday night when two passers-by were inadvertently hit, police said. They beat and stabbed Pedro Ramos to death.

Robert Delgado, 20, was arrested on an assault charge. Police sought a second man for the stabbing.

In Carbondale, Ill., a crowd was trying to make its way to the Southern Illinois University football stadium during a street party late Saturday and when police blocked the way and threatened to use tear gas unless revelers dispersed.

After a five-minute standoff, the crowd ran downtown and divided into smaller mobs that ran through alleys as police officers chased them, spraying tear gas and swinging billy clubs.

Nearly 60 people were arrested, most on charges of illegal possession or consumption of alcohol, and two cars were overturned.

Crowds have gathered in the city's streets to celebrate Halloween for years. The city has responded by closing bars early and the university has banned campus parties.

"What's the fun?" university President John Guyon said. "I've been looking at this for 20 years, and there is nothing positive about this event."

Some students said they were left with nothing else to do but hit the streets.

"It started because of all the restrictions," said Mac Middleton, a junior. "If you keep telling people, 'No, no no,' they're going to do it."

At Halloween street celebrations in Athens, Ohio, police issued 107 tickets for underage drinking and made 210 arrests, many for disorderly conduct late Saturday and early Sunday. The city closed off three blocks downtown. Nice weather contributed to a crowd exceeding 30,000, police said.

Detroit, the site of some of the worst Devil's Night fires in the early 1980s, has been relatively calm in recent years as volunteers have patrolled the streets and watched over abandoned buildings.

The city had a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew Sunday and there were no immediate reports of more fires than the 60 the city averages each night.

About 800 volunteers in Camden, N.J., another victim of Halloween fires every year, helped police keep trouble-makers off the streets.

Bosnia Serb leader promises that fighting will continue

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Bosnian government forces, flush from their biggest victory in 21/2 years of war, pushed back Serb troops in northwest Bosnia and threatened a strategic Serb supply road near Sarajevo, U.N. peacekeepers said today.

In apparent retaliation, the Serbs unleashed the deadliest shelling attack on Sarajevo-area civilians since February, killing two people and wounding at least seven in the suburb of Hrasnica late Saturday, the United Nations said.

Radovan Karadic, leader of the Bosnian Serbs, vowed Sunday night to launch a counteroffensive against the Muslim-led government within days.

"Our enemy wants war, and he shall have it," Karadzic said at a front-line rally. "This is our land and will remain so."

The Serb barrage of mortar fire violates a ban on heavy weapons around Sarajevo, and could provoke NATO airstrikes. But because it is hard for U.N. planes to knock out mortars hidden in woods, peacekeepers might use other weapons to enforce the ban if the shelling continues, Lt. Col. Tim Spicer said.

"A strong protest has been lodged," Spicer said of the shelling. "If it continues ... we will take appropriate military action."

In the mountains south of Sarajevo, Spicer said, government troops advanced about two miles over the weekend toward Trnovo, a town astride a vital supply route linking the main portion of Serb-held territory with a section in southernmost Bosnia.

Spicer said the government army had moved closed enough to the road to disrupt traffic with shelling or gunfire.

The fiercest combat raged in northwest Bosnia, where the government army continued an offensive in the Bihac region that has gained some 100 square miles, the biggest government victory of the war.

One prong of the attack had reached Kulen Vakuf, 20 miles south of Bihac.

Mark Thatcher denies he made weapons deal

LONDON (AP) — Mark Thatcher says he's worth no more than $8 million, less than half what media reports claim, and he denies that he made an arms deal while his mother was prime minister.

Margaret Thatcher's son, who lives in Dallas, told the Financial Times in an interview published Monday that the idea he has enjoyed tremendous success in business is a myth. He also denied media reports that he and his American wife, Diane, are about to divorce.

Britain's leading business daily printed the interview together with details of its examination of company filings and court documents in the United States and Britain. It said it also interviewed Thatcher's business associates.

It said the picture that emerged differed sharply from Thatcher's image as an arms industry fixer with a reputed fortune of $64 million, although there could be little doubt he had exploited his mother's connections.

"Far from being a super-rich Mr. Big of the arms world Mr. Thatcher appears to be a relatively small-time wheeler-dealer ... who has attempted investments in a wide range of industries with limited financial success," the newspaper said.

It quoted him as saying: "It would be significantly wrong to conclude that I am worth more than $8 million. ... This whole idea that I have had tremendous success is just a myth." The newspaper called his wealth estimation highly plausible.

The Times of London on Oct. 13 spoke of reports that Thatcher, a 41-year-old former racing driver, and his wife, the 33-year-old daughter of a Texas car salesman, are to separate. "It is understood that Mr. Thatcher has discussed the possibility of a divorce with his wife," The Times said.

Weekend arrests

JOEL GRIFFIN

Joel Griffin

1920-1994

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for Joel Wayne Griffin Sr., 74, retired Snyder educator who died this morning in Vencor Hospital in Mansfield after a lengthy illness.

Born on Jan. 13, 1920 in Callahan County, he married Shine Henry on May 17, 1946 in Abilene.

He was a World War II veteran, having served as a B-17 tailgunner in the 43rd Squadron, 403rd Bomb Group. He was a member of the Disabled American Veterans, VFW and the American Ex-POW organization.

Mr. Griffin earned his bachelor of science and master of education degrees from Hardin Simmons University. He was employed by Snyder ISD from 1951-79 and served as principal at East, Central and West. He was principal at Stanfield Elementary for 14 years prior to his retirement. He was active in school reading programs and worked to establish libraries in each elementary school.

A past-president of the Snyder Lions Club, he was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Shine Griffin of Snyder; a son and daughter-in-law, Joel Wayne and Margie Griffin of Snyder; a daughter, Julia Griffin of Abilene; two brothers, Bill Griffin of Clyde and Bob Griffin of Thief River Falls, Minn.; three sisters, Ava Foy of Brownwood, Thelma Smedley of Clyde and Mildred Jones of Abilene; and one step-grandchild.

Chan Moore

1903-1994

Services are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church Chapel for Chan Moore, 91, of Snyder. The Rev. Marty Akins, pastor, will officiate. Burial will follow in the Snyder Cemetery.

Mrs. Moore died Sunday in the Snyder Health Care Center.

She was born on Oct. 6, 1903, in Alba, and married Wren O. Moore on Jan. 6, 1924, in Snyder. He died in October of 1967. Mrs. Moore came back to Snyder in 1975 from Laredo. She was an active member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors are three nieces, Jean Jones of Snyder, Marilu Gerik of Pep, and Edith Nabers of Spade.

She was preceded in death by two brothers and four sisters.

The family suggests memorials to First Baptist Church or a favorite charity.

Dracula museum quenches thirst for blood-curdling fun

NEW YORK (AP) — Forget Michelangelo and Monet; think Bela Lugosi and Bram Stoker instead. This is the Dracula Museum.

Walk into the two-room apartment-turned-museum and come face to face with a 12-inch wax replica of the wicked Vlad Tepes, a k a Count Dracula.

The glass-covered tyrant is nestled among paintings, stamps, coins and candles of the 15th-century Romanian count who, historians claim, impaled 10,000 Turks, earning him the nickname "Sir Stake."

There's the Stoker memorial wall, filled with pictures of the Irish author who brought the literary Dracula to life, an invitation to Lugosi's funeral and a packet of soil marked: "From Bela Lugosi's grave."

The museum is the brainchild of Jeanne Keyes Youngson, who was a successful, free-lance filmmaker until a fateful trip to Transylvania 29 years ago. After that, her interest in vampirism became an obsession.

"The Dracula biz just sort of took over my life," she says.

The result: The Count Dracula Fan Club, founded in 1965, and the museum, which opened in 1990.

Youngson says the club has 2,500 members in 26 countries and operates 15 offshoot divisions, including a junior fan club called Vampires 'R Us.

The club provides information on all legends and facts related to Dracula. Only members are allowed into the museum, although accredited authors may use its extensive library of 24,000 books for a nominal donation.

Fan club members pay an intial fee of $50 and an annual $35 renewal fee to get monthly newsletters telling them about upcoming vampire movies, books and events like the World Dracula Congress, to be held in Bucharest, Romania, in May.

Membership fees also cover the cost of running the museum and paying for the assortment of Dracula and vampire knickknacks that fill the unmuseumlike, shag-carpeted apartment.

Some of the objects were donated by Dracula fans; others were purchased by Youngson during her several trips each year to Europe to search for Dracula memorabilia.

Exhibits range from the serious — like a rare first edition, signed copy of Stoker's "Under The Sunset" and the cape worn by Frank Langella in the Broadway version of "Dracula" — to tchotchkes including a Dracula Ninja Turtle, plastic Halloween masks and a Dracula-in-a-coffin ice bucket.

In honor of Halloween, Youngson also has an exhibit called "Dracula's Sweet Tooth," featuring vampire and Dracula candies from around the world. Items include "Dracula Bad Blood Bubblegum" and "Drac Snax" from Romania.

Interest in the genre has sharpened recently with the upcoming release of the movie version of Ann Rice's "Interview With The Vampire," starring Tom Cruise as Vampire Lestat.

"It's just unbelievable the way it's captured the public's attention," Youngson says.

Not everyone who applies for club membership is accepted. There's a waiting list in the New York area because she limits local members to 50 so others around the world have equal access. And Youngson routinely turns away "vampire wannabes," those who claim they are or want to be practicing, blood-sucking members of the undead.

"Most of the time they're sickos or troubled teens just looking for some way to be different," she says.

She rejects their applications with this advice: "Get out in the sunshine more and you'll feel better."

Vandals damage memorial to crash victims

McALLEN (AP) — Firefighters have repaired a vandalized memorial in Alton commemorating Texas' deadliest school bus accident.

Ceramic flower holders and markers were overturned, while crosses hanging from a fence were twisted at the memorial to 21 students who died in the bus crash more than five years ago.

In the early morning of Sept. 21, 1989, a Dr Pepper tractor-trailer passed through a stop sign and collided with the bus carrying 81 children to school. The bus plunged 40 feet over the edge of an unfenced gravel pit, filling with water in seconds.

Sixty children and the driver escaped.

PUMPKINS — Mrs. Tammy Shirley's foods and nutrition students at Ira recently carved pumpkins as they learned how to use garnishing tools. The pumpkins shown were all carved by different students. Some of the designs are original and all are lighted inside. They include from left, bottom row, Wesley Haddox, Susan Shoults, Stacey Taylor, Jennifer Northcott and Rebecca Johnston; top row, Machea Chaney, Ricky Stroud, Brandi Gilbreth, Dayna Broker and Brian Garmer. G.W. Bush campaigns at Houston churches

HOUSTON (AP) — GOP gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush says he has shown dedication and heart in efforts to help Texas minorities, despite continuing criticism from Democratic Gov. Ann Richards.

Bush took his campaign to solid Democratic territory Sunday, stumping at two predominantly black churches.

He asked churchgoers to consider his volunteer work in low-income Houston neighborhoods in the 1960s and touted his role in recruiting Comer Cottrell, who is black, as a part-owner in the Texas Rangers baseball team.

Bush is the Rangers' managing general partner. Cottrell owns about 2 percent of the team.

Richards, who spent Sunday campaigning in Dallas black churches, has criticized Bush for ignoring minority issues and over his minority hiring record.

Speaking at the Brentwood Baptist Church, Bush asked those gathered to disregard Richards' assertions.

"When people try to disparage or discourage, I want you to remember that a man's record speaks a lot louder than his words," Bush said.

Bush was applauded when he discussed his goal of restricting the Texas Education Agency to give more power to local administrators such as Houston Independent School District Superintendent Rod Paige, who attends the church.

He also repeated his intent to punish criminals with more severe prison terms, a frequent campaign theme.

A cadre of Democrats — former Congresswoman Barbara Jordan, Attorney General Dan Morales, state Sen. Rodney Ellis and congressional candidate Sheila Jackson Lee — showed up for Bush's appearance at Brentwood.

Ms. Jordan, speaking just before Bush stepped to the pulpit, gave an endorsement of Richards that drew enthusiastic applause.

Bush later expressed admiration for Ms. Jordan, adding that he "kind of felt honored they would send in the big guns behind me."

Bush didn't even get inside the church before running into Democratic officials. Ellis and Ms. Jackson Lee, a virtual shoo-in for Ms. Jordan's old 18th District congressional seat, greeted him on the sidewalk.

"It's nice to see him," Ellis said. "We're open and loving people, but he's never been here before. I don't think he's going to fool anybody. We're going to pray with him in this church today and pray that he loses."

Bush rebutted Ellis' assertion that he draws essentially no support among blacks.

"Sen. Ellis is absolutely wrong," he said. "I've got good, strong support amongst some leaders here in the African-American community. Will I carry it? Probably not. But will I work hard to make sure people know what George W. Bush is about? You bet I will."

He also lashed out at Richards for raising race in the campaign.

Bush campaign spokeswoman Karen Hughes said Brentwood was chosen for the campaign stop because a Bush staff member regularly attends services there.

Some Good Marriages Began as Bad Weddings

DEAR ABBY: I think our son's worst-wedding scenario can top the one you printed.

It was 1970, when long, flowing chiffon gowns were in style. Two days before the big day, the manager of the country club where the reception was to be held telephoned the bride's mother to tell her the plumbing had gone bad, and she couldn't use the hall!

The bride's mother was frantic. She called several halls, but could find none available. She threatened to sue the country club, so they OK'd the use of the hall, and set portable potties outside the building!

Theirs was a July wedding, and it turned out to be the hottest day of the season — 100 degrees. At the reception, the air conditioner broke down, and a small electric fan was the only source of circulation.

The band played with towels around their heads, and it was too hot to dance.

Guests congregated at the picnic tables outdoors. In our long, flowing gowns, we backed gingerly into the portable potties. Yet everyone had a wonderful time. This was to be a never-to-be-forgotten wedding!

J.J. SCHWARTZ,
GERMANTOWN, WIS.

DEAR J.J. SCHWARTZ: Thank you for a picturesque recollection that brought tears (of laughter) to my eyes. Read on for another one:

DEAR ABBY: "Wedding Ruined" got off easy compared to my wedding. The saga began four days prior to the event. I was living in Texas, and my husband-to-be was stationed in Germany. This is how it went:

Four days prior to wedding: Bride's car breaks down, and it takes two days to repair it.

Three days prior: Groom arrives East Coast on a military flight; he's unable to continue to Texas due to mechanical problems. No outgoing flights available. Groom loses wallet en route to local base. (The wedding rings — his and hers — were in his wallet for safekeeping.)

Two days prior: Groom scheduled to arrive in Texas by noon. Severe thunderstorms close down airport; the flight is diverted.

One day prior: Groom arrives at 6:30 — without luggage — 18 hours before the wedding.

THE WEDDING DAY: Bride and groom go to local post to get groom ID card. Bride and groom get marriage certificate.

Bride and groom attend wedding rehearsal. (This is the first time groom meets chaplain.)

Groom and father of the bride buy new wedding rings, and go to check on luggage.

Groom must rent a tuxedo because his dress uniform (which he had planned to wear) was in his luggage, which was lost.

A Texas flash flood begins. Wedding starts, but most guests are unable to attend due to the flash flood.

Bride and groom are married and are living happily ever after.

Please do not include our names because it was bad enough to live through it once.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DOE

DEAR READERS: Tomorrow — more on wedding mishaps.

Astro-graphs

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Tuesday, Nov. 1, 1994

Substantial material improvements are indicated for the year ahead. Your gains might not come in rapid succession, but they will be consistent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In your own magnetic manner, you'll be the focus of attention today. You will draw your significant others to you because of your genuine concern for them. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your philosophical attitude and outlook make you a standout today. In your discussions with associates, you'll effectively acquire and disseminate knowledge.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even your opponents will admire the way you handle challenges today. While others scurry for cover, you'll be busy seeking effective solutions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your chart indicates you might establish a temporary partnership for mutual benefits. Once its purpose is served, you'll each go your separate ways.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There isn't apt to be anything selfish about your outlook today. Your primary concern will be for your associates to succeed, which could result in making you the real winner.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Dan Cupid might be sitting on your shoulder at this time, looking to revitalize an old romance or casing the traffic for a new target. Things look good in both directions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Doing something that will produce a visible end result could be extremely gratifying for you today. You need evidence that your time is used productively.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who speeds your pulse might show more than just a platonic interest in you today. Let him/her know the overture is welcome.

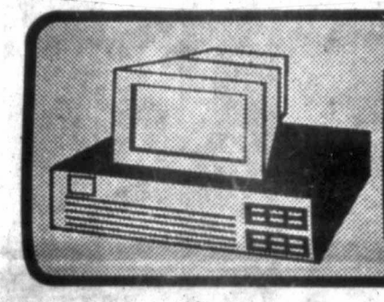

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Different persons you've helped in the past might be inclined to do something special for you today. They will all act independently without consulting each other beforehand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Verbalize your desires and expectations today with someone who might bring them to fruition. Even those closest to you don't know what you want if they're not told at times.

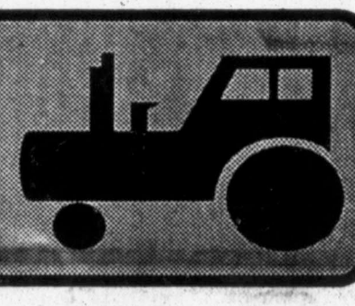

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today your biggest breaks might come from strangers. It's possible you may never be aware of those who made your success a reality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Group activities could be exactly what you'll be needing today. If you don't already have plans, get on the horn and do something to bring your clique together.

THE BEAUTIFUL HILLSIDE MEMORIAL GARDENS, Snyder's perpetual care cemetery, is located on the Colorado City Highway. (SDN Staff Photo)

Hillside Memorial Gardens, located on the Colorado City Highway, has been serving Snyder and the Scurry County area for many years.

Hillside Memorial Gardens is a perpetual care cemetery governed by the State Banking Department. The one price you pay for perpetual care is the only one you ever have to pay. There are no yearly dues necessary for the upkeep of the property.

The staff at Hillside Memorial Gardens is committed to serving your best interests. W.C. and Greg Graves will be glad to help you with any of your pre-need planning. Everyone plans for the future in one way or another whether with savings or insurance to take care of something that might happen. Why not prepare for the inevitable? Making the decision to purchase a Family Memorial Estate plan now insures that the decision is made together and one is not left to make it alone. Statistics show that these decisions are made 67 percent of the time by widows and children and 33 percent of the time by husbands. The purchase of a Family Memorial Estate plan can also be a savings plan because the deed is the equivalent of a paid up insurance policy.

Lots at Hillside Memorial Gardens are reasonably priced and they offer a Pre-Need Financial Plan of only 20 percent down and small monthly paments without interest or carrying charges. If the only time you have is on the weekends, Greg can be contacted at 573-5864 and will be glad to help you any time.

Granite and bronze memorials are available at Hillside Monument Works and Greg goes to great lengths to see that the finished product is one that pleases the family members and reflects the individualism of the loved one for whom the monument has been created.

The staff at Hillside realizes that they provide an important service to the community and work hard to maintain the trust and confidence of the people. They will be happy to counsel with anyone at anytime concerning their present or future needs. Give them a call at 573-5251 or go by and visit with them at Hillside Memorial Gardens and Monument Works on the Colorado City Highway.

Judge releases teen-ager

FORT WORTH (AP) — A teen-age girl who was charged with fatally poisoning her father with barium she obtained from a high school chemistry lab has been released from the Tarrant County Juvenile Detention Center.

Marie Robards, an 18-year-old freshman at the University of Texas, was released pending a hearing next month, her attorney, Bill Magnussen, said Saturday.

A judge ruled Friday that Ms. Robards could be released into the custody of her mother and stepfather under the condition that they monitor her closely.

She was scheduled to appear at a Nov. 8 hearing to determine whether she'll be tried as an adult.

Ms. Robards was arrested Oct. 18 in Austin and taken to the Tarrant County juvenile facility, where she was being held because she was a juvenile at the time of her father's death.
