SEVERE NORTHER IS ALMOST HERE

FURIOUS SNOW STORM RAGING AT AMARILLO AND OTHER PANHANDLE POINTS.

WIND DISAGREEABLE HERE

After Several Days of "Shirt-Sleeve Weather High Winds and Dust Here.

Following several days of shirt sleeve weather a frigid norther is rapidly sweeping down upon Wichita Falls from the Panhandle this afternoon and will probably have reached here before The Times is distributed tonight. Reports received at the Fort Worth and Denver offices here early this afternoon said that a fierce snow storm was raging at Amarillo and at stations above that place in the Panhandle. At one o'clock however, there had been no apreciable drop in temperature at Childress and points south of that place.

A high wind from the south carrying blinding clouds of dust made the morning a very disagreeable one in Wichita Falls. Toward noon this wind veered to the west and early this afternoon was blowing from a more northerly direction.

The weather forecast this morning indicated colder weather and freezing in Wienita Falls tonight and still colder weather tomorrow.

The gale which had been blowing all day reached a climax shortly after three o'clock this afternoon when the wind suddenly increased in velocity and the air thickened with bits of gravel that rattled like hail against windows and buildings. When the wind was at its heighth the air suddenly chilled and within a few minutes the temperature had dropped more than ten degrees.

A drop of 25 degrees in temperature was recorded on the automatic registering thermometer at Fonville's in fifteen minutes this afternoon. The drop was from 84 to 59 degrees.

The plate glass window on the 7th street side of C. J. Barnard's Dry Goods store was blown out this afternoon by the stiff wind, which has been blowing here all day, and the corner window on the Indiana avenue side was cracked.

EMPEROR REPROVES FREDERICK WILLIAM

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—A public and semi-official rebuke has been administered to Crown Prince Frederick William through an inspired telegram from Berlin published in the Cologne Gazette today which fully confirms the report that Emperor William has reprimanded his son for his open demonstration in favor of attacks on the government's Moroccan policy and the bellicose uterances in the Reichstag Thursday. The despatch to the Cologne Gazette says:

"We believe it to be the right and duty of the heir of the throne to take an interest in politics. He cannot be reproached for forming his own opinion even if it is not consonant with the Imperial policy. We further do not desire that the crown price be prevented from expressing his opinion in a fitting manner and place; not however in the way chosen in the Reichstag, the effect of which, we consider extremely grave."

"It goes without question that the episode and the press comments therupon were reported to the Emperor and the absence of the crown prince at Fridays sitting was due to the Emperor to whom Thursday's events and the considerations involved therein cannot be agreeable."

BURNING FLUE CAUSES AN ALARM OF FIRE

The fire department was called out this afternoon about 3 o'clock by an alarm turned in from 1306 13th street where a brick flue had become unmanageable, and threatened to set the house afire. However, before the department arrived on the scene the fire was brought under control with the aid of a small garden hose, and not much damage was done.

Upon hearing the alarm, many people thought that a dangerous fire was in progress, on account of the fact that at the time the alarm was turned in a very high wind prevailed, and under such conditions, it would have been very hard to bring even a small fire under control.

Y. M. C. A. TO PLAY DENTON HIGH SCHOOL

Manager William Huff of the Y. M. C. A. football team this afternoon closed arrangements for a game with the Denton high school team here next Saturday afternoon. The Denton team is one of the strongest high school teams in North Texas, having been defeated only once this season. This defeat was by the Sherman team and the score was five to six. The game will be played at the city ball park and the crowd will be roped off the gridiron.

A. AND M. COLLEGE MESS HALL BURNED

By Associated Press.

College Station, Texas, Nov. 11.—The dining hall of the Agricultural & Mechanical College was destroyed by fire early this morning. It was the largest mess hall in the South. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The offices of the board of directors were also destroyed with many records. L. B. McMillen, a student was badly burned on his arms and shoulders and several others were slightly hurt.

FIND IT EASY TO SPEND $2.60 IN TIPS

Philadelphia, Nov. 9—At a meeting of the members of the Philadelphia Hotel Association yesterday the members of which are the managers of the leading hotels of the city, it was agreed to act in conjunction to do away with the "tipping" system.

The action taken by the local hotel men is the direct outcome of an appeal by the Commercial Travelers' National League, and by C. C. Hunt, President of the Garment Salesmen's Association. Mr. Hunt appeared before the hotel men and showed them how the ordinary commercial traveler will spend $2.60 a day in tips and still not be lavish in the giving away of his money.

Here is a list of tips he submitted to the hotel men.

Pullman porter, twenty-five cents.

Man from transfer company who gets checks on train, ten cents.

Driver of taxicab, fifteen cents.

Bell boy at hotel for taking to room, ten cents.

Waiter for breakfast, ten cents.

Checker at hat rack, ten cents.

For the barber, after shave, ten cents.

Elevator man who handles sample trunks, twenty-five cents.

Porter for setting up sample tables, twenty-five cents.

Boy in wash room before lunch, ten cents.

Tip at lunch, if customer is entertained, twenty-five cents.

To get hat again, ten cents.

Ring for ice water, ten cents.

Supper and another tip, fifteen cents.

Hat again, ten cents.

Head porter, for taking trunk away, twenty-five cents.

Taxi again, fifteen cents.

WHITE SOX WANT TO PLAY GAMES HERE

F. P. St. Clair, president of the Texas-Oklahoma League is in receipt of a letter from Charles Cominskey, of the Chicago White Sox, asking for games here during the latter part of next March, when the White Sox will be in training in Texas. March is a little early for getting the local team together, but Mr. St. Clair will try to arrange for games with the Chicago team.

J. Manpin of Electra has been visiting friends and attending to business in Tulsa, Okla., and passed through here this afternoon en route back to Electra, having been gone several days.

CONVINCING SERMON BY THE EVANGELIST

WORKS OF GREAT HISTORIAN QUOTED TO SHOW BIBLE PROPHECIES FULFILLED.

THE BIBLE ABLY DEFENDED

Many Turned Away From the Revival Tent Last Night—Because of Lack of Room.

The big tent was packed last night and many turned away because they couldn't get a seat. Evangelist Ham preached what is generally conceded to be a remarkable sermon in defense of God as a being, the Bible as His book and Jesus as His only begotten Son. Rev. Ham said in part:

"I desire to take two texts. First Ps. 14:1, 'The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God; and second Romans 1:20, 'For the invisible things of Him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made even his eternal power and Godhead.'

"The man who says there is no God violates every known rule of reason. I stand and admire a railroad engine and inquire how it runs and where it gets its power and marvel at the perfection of it. I ask—how did that happen? Didn't some pieces of iron and steel just get to jumping around in a scrap pile one day and this thing just come into existence? Certainly not; there's brains behind its manufacture.

"I stood at the Franco-British exposition and watched the printing press of the London Times as the paper came off of a spool, passed through the press and came out a printed, folded paper. I suggest that it evolved itself from the junk pile by mysterious whirling and you wonder if I haven't gone crazy. No, brother, I've just applied the reasoning of the infidel. Truly there are brains back of such machinery.

"I stand on the seashore and watch the water as it evaporates, is carried over the land, comes in contact with a current of cold air, is condensed and falls as rain, watering the earth and flowing through the brooks, creeks, and rivers, back to the ocean again. I ask the infidel to explain and he says, 'Oh, it just happened.' No, there's an intelligence back of it all.

"I examine a watch that keeps perfect time, marvel at its exactness and realize that some mind planned it. So some mind must have planned for the earth to turn upon its axis, the moon to revolve around it and both these around the sun with such absolute precision that there is never the slightest variance. At Washington there is a sun dial from which we get out time—at Athens I saw the dial that performed the same function in 550 B. C.

Nature proves the existence of a God. Go out on a snowy day and examine the snow flakes with a microscope. No centerpiece was ever more beautiful in its design and structure, all of them symetrically similar and yet no two alike. Go into the forests and examine all the leaves you will and you will find no two of them exactly alike—no two on the same tree even.

"Go into an orchard and study the leaves on various trees and vines. All of them are arranged in spiral groups in such a manner that no one shades the other and the top of the first just reaches the stem of the last. The apple and cherry leaves are arranged in groups of five, the quince and raspberry in fours and the peach and pear in sixes. An ear of corn has always an even number of rows of grains and never an odd number. Brother, who counts all these? Surely there is an impotent God in it all.

"The existence of God is an inbred conviction in man. Even the heathen realize that there is a supreme power or being.

"Where did the Bible come from? It was written by about forty men representing all classes and professions who lived from 1400 B. C. to 98 A. D., and yet is perfectly harmonious throughout. They are building a great temple with stones that were quarried in different parts of the world and hewn to shape before they were shipped. They all fit together perfectly and the building is erected without the sound of a hammer. There are just stones enough, none lacking and not one left. Could you believe the men in the quarries just happened to get out the right number in the right shape? No, one mind, the architect, planned the whole thing and all was done under his instruction. So with the Bible. Different men under different environments and sometimes without a knowledge of the writings of the others could never have produced such a perfectly harmonious book unless they had acted under the orders of one person—God.

"Men could not have written such a book if they had desired to and would not have written the Bible if they could have done so. All through the ages men have tried to destroy it. Rome tried it. An edict was issued

Eleventh Day Eleventh Month Eleventh Year

Perhaps the wiseacres can find food for thought in the strange coincidence that this the 11th day, the 11th month and the 11th year. Prognosticators may be able to find some significance in this bunch of 11's. We are sure, if "crap shooters" could mix up a 7 with the bunch it would be their lucky day.

the churches should be torn down all the Bibles burned and every Christian killed unless he refuted his belief, but the Bible stood the test and remainded. All great educators acknowledged it to be the best class of literature extant.

"No man can understand all of it. Any work of man can be mastered by another man in two or three readings, but you may read the same chapter a dozen, fifty or even a hundred times and each time light will be revealed.

"But the one unanswerable argument is that the Bible has fortold future events with minute exactness. No man can tell the future. Tell me where you and your family will be ten years from now if you can. Geo. A. Sala said in the spring of 1866, 'The freedom of Venice is remote.' It was freed that summer.

"Let us notice some of the fulfilled prophecies reading from the Bible and from Myer's General History, a book taught in your schools.

Tyre.

Behold I will bring upon Tyre Neubchadnezzar, king of Babylon.—Ezik. 26:7.

"With Jerusalem subdued, Nebuchadnezzar pushed with all his forces the seige of the Phonician city of Tyre. After a seize of thirteen years the city seems to have fallen into the hands of the Babylonian king.—Myers p. 59.

"I will also scrape her dust from her and make her like the top of a rock. It shall be a place for the spreading of nets.—Ezek. 26:45.

"Alexander the Great, after a most memorable siege captured the city of Tyre and reduced it to ruins (332 B. C.). The city never recovered from this blow. The site of the once brilliant maritime capital is now bare as the top of a rock, a place a few fishermen that still frequent the spot spread their nets to dry.—Myers p. 71.

"They shall lay thy stones and thy timber and thy dust in the midst of the water.—Ezek. 26:12.

"The island—city of Tyre, after a memorable siege was taken by means of a mole, or causeway, built with incredible labor through the sea to the city.—Myers p. 163.

"Thou shalt be built no more.—Ezek. 26:14.

"Five years ago I was on the site and saw nothing but the flat rock and the nets of fishermen.

Sidon.

"And they shall know that I am the Lord when I shall have executed judgment in her. For I will send into her pestilence and blood into her streets.—Ezek. 28: 22, 23.

"Artaxerxes took the city and forty thousand were slain in its streets. The crusaders pillaged it several times. Dibarus, sutton of Egypt and Syria came upon it in 1229 A. D. English, Austria and Turkey under Adm. Napier pillaged it in 1840. God said through Ezekill that Tyre should be destroyed but that Sidon should be judged and remain. Sidon stands today.

Alexander and His Kingdom.

And the rough goat is the king of Grecia: and the great horn that is between his eyes is the first king. Now that being broken whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.—Daniel 8:21, 22.

"Perdiccas was not strong enough to master the difficulties of the situation. Consequently the vast empire created by Alexander's unparalleled conquests became broken into many fragments. Four well-defined and important monarchies arose out of the ruins. Their rulers were Lysimachus, Selencus, Nicator, Ptolemy and Cassander.—Myers p. 170.

Egypt.

"Egypt was to remain the barest of kingdoms (Ezek. 29:14) with no healing (Jer. 46:11). The canal recently built there was dug by forced labor without the use of tools and the workmen were not fed or given any rest, or sleep except such as they could get in the ditch. When one died he was simply thrown along the bank and the dirt put on him.

"It was to have no more a native prince (Ezek. 30:13) and it has not had since 350 B. C. Its rivers and canals were to dry up, the reeds and flags and the Popyrus reed from which they made paper were to disappear (Is. 19, 5-7) and its cities become desolate in the midst of a country that is desolate (Ezek. 30:77) all of which has come true literally.

ALTERNATE BETWEEN HOPE AND DISPAIR

THE OUTLOOK AT PEKIN FOR THE GOVERNMENT IS DECIDEDLY GLOOMY TODAY.

FOO CHOW IS CAPTURED

At Pekin the Populace Is Preparing White Flags, the Insignia of the Revolution.

By Associated Press

Pekin, Nov. 11.—The throne and the government alternated between hope and despair today. A telegram was received this morning from Yuan Shi Kai, in which he stated he would be unable to come to Pekin, and expressed a pessimistic view of the situation. A second message struck a more cheerful note. He said:

"The outlook is decidedly gloomy. I do not expect to be able to effect the desired pacification. Moreover my health is so feeble that I am unable to come to Pekin to assume the post of premier." Yuan's second message informed the foreign board that the negotiations with the republicans had taken turn for the better.

The Chinese here are preparing white flags and arm badges, the insignia of the revolutionaries. Some of them sympathize with the revolutionists, while others are ready to display loyalty to either side. Reports from Pao Ting Fu say that General Tuan with two thousand troops from the third division is moving southward of that city in province of Chi Li.

Foo Chow Captured.

Amoy, Nov. 11.—Reports from Foo Chow state that the fighting there ceased this evening when the Manchus surrendered.

The water patrol captured a practical junk with a crew of sixteen who will be deported. Tao Tai Chang assumed office today. The local officials and members of the conservative party propose to establish the temporary independence of the city and are adopting a neutral attitude toward the revolution, but the radicals favor the surrendering city to revolutionaries and this policy will probably prevail. Chang Chow, a city with about one million people, twenty-four miles northwest of Amoy, reports that the rebels announce that that city will be occupied November 20. The people are fleeing from the place fearing a repetition experince of the Tai Ping rebellion. The foreigners are in no danger.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE 1ST M. E. CHURCH SOUTH

At the Fourth Quarterly Conference held at the First M. E. Church, South Wednesday evening, some items of important business were transacted. The Board of Stewards was elected for the coming new year The following are the names: R. M. Moore, C. W. Snider, L. H. Mathis, T. B. Noble, G. W. Eagle, P. C. Maricle, T. T. T. Reese, J. A. Deaton, J. C. A. Guest, S. E. Trevathan, L. C. Hinckley, J. T. Waggoner, J. J. Perkins, C. C. Knight, B. M. Bullard, W. H. Downing, Job Barnett, Mack Thomas, Fred Householder, M. P. Kelly, A. J. Miller. These were nominated by the pastor, Rev. O. T. Cooper, and were elected by the Quarterly Conference.

The Sunday school superintendents were elected as follows: J. M. Bland, T. A. Baggett, and Ambrose Yeager. The Board of Trustees is composed of the following members: W. H. Downing, Dr. J. A. Jones, J. P. Jones, Geo. Simmons, R. M. Moore, T. B. Noble, T. J. Waggoner, N. H. Redding and L. H. Mathis.

The conference voted to ask that the district parsonage be moved to Wichita Falls, and that the new district to be created be called the Wichita Falls District of the North Texas Conference.

If the Annual Conference votes to accept the Wichita proposition it means that the presiding elder will make this city his residence. The church will provide the parsonage, and Wichita will be recognized as headquarters for the Methodism of the district.

One of the pleasing incidents of the Quarterly Conference were the resolutions of appreciation for the service rendered to the district, and especially to the local congregation by the outgoing Presiding Elder, Rev. Jno. E. Roach. Supplementing the resolutions the board presented to Rev. Roach a handsome overcoat. Judge Mathis made the felicitous speech of presentation and Mr. Roach responded feelingly and appropriately. Mr. Roach has served the time limit—four years—and will accordingly be assigned to another appointment at the Gainesville Annual Conference, which convenes November 15 to 21st.

PLANS TO SMASH THE PAPER TRUST

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Representatives Stanley of Kentucky, chairman of the House Steel investigation committee in an interview here, today, stated he favors the breaking of the so-called "paper trust" by permitting free importation of wood pulp and print paper from Germany, Norway and Sweden. He said he did not believe this action would make much difference in revennes, that the ways and means committee could not recoupe and that the people would welcome both the reduction of taxation and the smashing of the trust.

WESTERN UNION TO COVER NORTHWESTERN

Frank Kell has returned from Oklahoma City, where he closed arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph Company to take over the maintenance of the telegraph system over the Wichita Falls Route lines. Telegraph offices will soon be opened in the towns on these lines as a result of this arrangement.

GEN. REYES SON IS DECLARED AN INGRATE

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 11.—According to Otto Winter, of this city, a soldier of fortune and hydraulic engineer, Rudolfo Reyes, the son of General Bernando Reyes instead of criticising Madero and the conditions in Mexico should return thanks for the consideration Madero had for General Reyes. Winter says that when Diaz practically exiled General Reyes to France, Madero purchased some property at that time, owned by Reyes, which prevented Reyes going abroad penniless and permitted him to live in the style befitting a Mexican general. In Winter's statement today it was learned for the first time that Madero and his son, Raoul were in Dallas during last February, while a reward was offered for their arrest for violation of the neutrality laws.

STOCK COMPANY COMING TO COLONIAL

Stock company of farce and comedy will take the place of vaudeville at the Colonial Theatre next week. The offering is the Bush & Loaders merry company, who will present for the opening Monday night, "Hotel Castoria," a roaring bit of jollity, replete with musical numbers, singing and dancing. The company is said to be a most meritorious one, with a good clean bill and a lot of clever specialties. The bill will be changed each night, and in addition to the big comedy program, two reels of pictures will be given. For the engagement Manager Jones announces the prices will be ten and twenty cents, and two performances will be given each night.

Bois d' Arc Apples to Make Rubber.

Lawrence, Kansas, Nov. 11.—The heretofore worthless Osage orange, the hard, green fruit of the common roadside hedge, may be used by replenish the world's rubber stock, according to announcement made today by Professor H. W. Emerson and C. L. Roese, a fellow in chemistry at the University of Kansas.

"Our experiments have not gone so far as to show that Osage oranges will take the place of rubber," Professor Emerson said. "There is no doubt, however, that the elements of rubber are present and the material we are experimenting with may displace rubber or it may be mixed with rubber to improve its quality."

It is the milky substance exuding from the hedge balls that has had the attention of the chemists. This sap, they say, has characteristics similar to those of rubber tree sap. By the addition of other components during the manufacture the chemists believe a very good substitute for rubber can be obtained dfdrom the Osage orange.

NEW YORK FACES TEAMSTERS' STRIKE

STRIKE OF CITY TEAMSTERS THREATEN TO SPREAD TO DEPARTMENT STORE.

RUBBISH ACCUMULATES

Heaps of Garbage Menace Public Health—Strike Has Already Cost One Life.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 11.—The most dreadful of all labor troubles, a general teamsters strike, threatens New York unless the city speedily settles its difficulties with several thousand laborers in the street cleaning department. The strike of the cartmen who collect the city's ashes and garbage has extended to the street sweepers today and tonight the department store drivers and others will meet to consider quitting work in sympathy with the city employees.

Meanwhile the city is suffering from the accumulation of rubbish and garbage. Ordinarily nine thousand cartloads are removed daily. The strike since Wednesday has permitted the rubbish to pile up until now it is a menace to public health.

In apartment houses the bewildered janitors are dumping trash in the streets making some of the thoroughfares almost impassable.

The street cleaning department began work today with several hundred strike-breakers but the men were green and under constant annoyance of strikers and their friends. They made little headway. The strike-breakers guarded by nearly five thousand policemen and every member of the reserves is on duty in anticipation of riots. The disturbances have already cost the life of one strike-breaker and several have been sent to hospitals.

Body Hung to a Rafter.

By Associated Press.

Sherman, Texas, Nov. 11.—The body of Cecil Kidd, aged 19, was found hanging from a rafter in a barn at his home 15 miles east of Sherman last night. The boy left a note saying he was tired of life.

SUB-IRRIGATION TILE PLANT MAY LOCATE HERE

L. B. Holloway, manager of the Panhandle Sub-irrigation Company is in the city looking for a location for a porus tile factory. Partial arrangements have been made with J. A. Kemp to locate the factory somewhere on the local tracks of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern.

The composition used in the manufacture of the tile is crushed rock, cement, cinders and sawdust.

If this factory is located in this city the tonage of material shipped in will be greater than any other enterprise.

The exports of the manufactured tile will be correspondingly great.

This promises to be the greatest business proposition ever presented to our people.

Its possibilitie are only limited by the acreage of land and the supply of water, and as the farmers can furnish the land, the management of the big lake can supply unlimited water, consequently here is hoping that Mr. Holloway will perfect his arrangements to establish his factory here.

Poisoned From Canned Goods.

By Associated Press.

McAlester, Okla., Nov. 11.—It is now believed that poisoning of Lieut. Governor MacAlester, wife and son, who are recovering was due to eating canned goods and not from a poisoned well. No arrests will be made.

REVIVAL TENT DEMOLISHED BY STORM

During the severe wind storm late this afternoon the revival tent was blown down and badly damaged. On this account all services announced for the tent tomorrow will be held at the Baptist church.

Signs were blown down in the business district and in some instances window panes were broken.

News Forecast for the Coming Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—The return of President Taft to Washington after an absence of two months will be the signal for a reawakening of official life and political activity in the national capital. Though Congress will not meet for several weeks many of the members will be here for meetings of various commissions and official investigations. The President will begin work in earnest on his annual message and political leaders will drop in to consult with him concerning the preliminary work of the approaching campaign, which it is generally agreed is to have an earlier beginning next year than is usually the case.

The progress of events in Tripoli and of the revolutionary movement in China together with the McNamara trial at Los Angeles, may all be counted on to furnish first-page stories.

The first session of Canada's newly elected twelfth Parliament will open Wednesday. The proceedings on the first day will be purely formal and of a routine character. The ceremonial opening by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will take place Thursday and promises to be an event of exceptional brilliancy. The duration of the parliamentary session and the extent and character of the business to be transacted are largely problematical.

Among the important gatherings of the week will be the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, at Atlanta; the annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association, at Rochester; the meeting of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, at Kansas City; the convention of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, at Chicago, and the convention and exhibition of the American Apple Congress, in Denver.

tOher events of more or less interest and importance will be the annual banquet of the Canadian Club of New York the dedication of the Massachusetts monuments on Petersburg battefield and at Valley Forge, the United States Land and Irrigation Exposition in Chicago, the opening of the National Horse Show in New York, and the football games between Yale and Princeton, Michigan and Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin and Minnesota universities.

CAN'T CURE CATARRH.

Stomach Dosing, Sprays and Douches Have All Failed.

There is only one way to cure catarrh.

Reach the raw, tender, inflamed membrane that is infested with catarrh germs and destroy those germs.

You can't reach the nooks and crevices with liquid preparations—there is only one way—breathe the antiseptic germ-killing air of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) directly over the infested parts.

HYOMEI contains no opium, cocaine or other harmful drugs, it is made of Australian eucalyptus, thymol and other Listerian antiseptics. It is guaranteed to end the misery of catarrh, asthma, croup and bronchitis, or money back.

Ask O. F. Marchman about the HYOMEI outfit today. He sells it for only $1.00 and guarantees it.

Ben McCullough Centenary.

Murphreesboro, Tenn., Nov. 11—One hundred years ago today saw the birth in this county of the redoubtable Ben McCullough, whose exploits as an Indian fighter and soldier of fortune rivaled the stirring deeds of Davy Crockett and other noted Western pioneers. McCullough fought under three flags. In his youth he followed the stars and stripes into battle against the Indians. Later, at the battle of San Jacinto, he fought side by side with Sam Houston for the "Lone Star" flag of the Texas republic. At the outbreak of the Civil War he joined the Confederates. He was commissioned brigadier general and was killed while fighting under the stars and bars at the battle of Pea Ridge.

ENGLISH NEWS LETTER

Heavy Rains That Have Broken Exceptional Drouth Have Caused More Damage Than Good

London, Nov. 11—The heavy rains which have broken the exceptional drouth which has prevailed this year in England may have done more damage than good according to numerous reports from landlords.

They say that the long drouth has played the part of a long sustained earthquake with the heavy rains acting as the final shake. So severe has the drouth been on many buildings that the repair bill will equal the rentals for the next two years.

The shrinkage of the clay and other subsoils have been so great that in many places whole streets of houses have developed threatening cracks, drainage systems have been disorganized, and building inspectors having the busiest times of their careers. The damage to the London Suburbs has been especially severe. There has been a wholesale subsidence in a number of Herefordshire villages, and some of the finest old homes in the clay districts of the Midlands are threatened with destruction. Architects and builders attribute the disturbances solely to the shrinkage of the subsoil, which is much worse on the clay soils which normally hold the most water.

General regret is felt that Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture was not able to accept the invitation of the council of the Pure Food and Health Society of Great Britain to preside at their National Congress to be held here next March. Dr. Wiley is well known in England, both for his advocacy of the pure food laws at home and for his attendances here at numerous congresses held in connection with applied chemistry and food adulteration.

It is hoped at the coming Congress to formulate practical proposals for the standardizing of foodstuffs, for the definition of what are legitimate and illegitimati manufacturing processes, for the proper distribution of food for sale, for the codification of existing laws, and for the centralization of the work of inspection in the Local Government Board.

The society will endeavor to present a strong legislative program to the government, the chief feature of which will seek to correct the abuses alleged to have grown up on account of the food and drug inspectors working only under local authority. So lax have some of the local authorities become that it is said the law is a dead letter in several places.

An age limit and not the length of residence at the college or university from which they register may be the rule which regulate the elegibility of Rhodes scholars for Oxford athletic teams.

At present it is the rule that no athlete is qualified to gain the coveted half or full blue by representing Oxford on the playing field, after he has completed four years residence. Some Rhodes scholars have already completed three or four years at some foreign or colonial university before reaching Oxford and through them inter-varsity play tends to develop into a case of men versus boys. In considering this evil the authorities at first thought of ruling that in the future the four year rule would apply to any university at which the scholars were in attendance, so a Rhodes man who had been in college three years before reaching Oxford would only be elegible for one year's play there. Owing to determining what constitutes a school of university standing this question has been dropped. The plan most favored now is the substitution of an age limit and it is believed that before long a rule will be adopted that no man more than twenty-five years of age may represent either Oxford or Cambridge. This ruling would still give the Rhode scholars an advantage of two years over the students matrjculating from United Kingdom schools.

The new submarine cable telephone which the British Postoffice is laying between this country and Belgium is said to possess speaking properties markedly superior to any now in existence.

Eighteen months ago considerable attention was attracted to the new Anglo-French cable which was the first submarine cable telephone to be fitted with what are known technically as "loading" coils. In this cable at intervals of one nautical mile, there are inserted series of four coils, two above each other, the electrical effect of which is to increase the capacity of the cables by anything from 250 to 270 per cent. This cable, which has two circuits was of an experimental character, and so much doubt having been expressed as to the feasibility of the coils, was designed so that the loaded coils could be cut out of use altogether, leaving it an ordinary telephone cable.

So successful has it proven, however, that the designers of the new Anglo-Belgian cable have provided that the "loaded" coils must be essential for its use. By doing this it has been possible to reduce the weight of the insulation from 300 to 150 pounds per mile, and as gutta-percha is used exclusively, a considerable saving over the cost of the Anglo-French cable will be made.

POET OF SIERRAS SEVENTY YEARS OLD

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 10.—Receiving congratulations from distinguished friends in this country, and also from abroad, "Joaquin" Miller, the "Poet of the Sierras," quietly celebrated his seventieth birthday anniversary today. Notwithstanding his advanced years the poet is still enjoying good health and is mentally fresh and full of energy.

Cincinnatus Heine Miller was the name which the poet received in baptism shortly after the day of his birth, November 10, 1841, and under this name was he known before he assumed the pen name of "Joaquin" Miller at the beginning of his literary career. In the three score and ten years of his life Miller has crowded a greater number of adventures and experiences than half a dozen average men of the same age could master in the aggregate.

He was born from Scotch-American parents in the Wabash district of Indiana and was scarcely ten years old when his father emigrated to Oregon, then a wild and sparsely settled country. He received but little education, but became thoroughly acquainted with everything pertaining to woodcraft and the adventurous life of the trappers, hunters and prospectors in that region. He was only thirteen years old when he left home to try his fortunes in California.

For seven years he aimlessly roamed through the wilds of northern California and southern Oregon, sharing the life and dangers of gold-diggers, lumbermen and trappers and finally casting his lot with a tribe of Indians, becoming a "squaw man" and losing caste with the white men altogether by this step. He was treated with contempt, like all squaw men and retaliated by leading the Indians in their attacks upon the white settlers.

After seven years of this life young Miller returned to his home in Oregon and began to study law in the office of George H. Williams at Eugene, Ore., who afterward became attorney general of the United States. The following year Miller became express messenger in the gold mining district of Idaho, which position he resigned to become editor of a weekly newspaper in Eugene, Ore. The paper was shortly afterwards suppressed by the authorities because of the seditious character of its editorials.

It was while he was editor of that paper that Miller became acquainted with Minnie Myrtle, a frequent contributor of poetry to the paper. A brief courtship was followed by their marriage and two children were the result of that union. Their married life was not happy, however. His wife soon separated from Miller and took the youngest child, a boy, with her, while the daughter, Maud Miller, in later years well known as an actress, remained with her father.

In 1862 Miller opened a law office in Canon City, Ore. While living in that young and struggling town he distinguished himself by leading an expedition against the hostile Indians, who had attacked the settlement. In 1866 Miller was made county judge of Grant county, which post he held until 1870. His literary activity began about 1864 or 1865. He began to write poems, dealing mostly with the adventurous life of the West and published first a collection of poems in paper covers, called "Specimens" and next a volume with the title "Joaquin et al," which contained a defence of Joaquin Murietta, the famous Spanish-American outlaw, who had been the terror of California for ten years. From this Miller took his pen name Joaquin under which he published all his subsequent works.

In 1870 Miller went to London, where he published, in the following year, his "Songs of the Sierras" and "Pacific Dreams," which quickly established his literary reputation and made him a much sought after lion of British social and literary circles. After his return from England Miller found himself a celebrity in his own country. His literary reputation was established and he had no difficulty in finding papers or magazines eager to print and liberally pay for his prose and poetry.

It was decided several weeks ago by the officials of the company that they would replace the curbing where they had been ruined by the swelling of the blocks and Mr Roberts will begin work on the job in the next few days.

HENRIETTA WILL PLAY HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Although the members of the Henrietta football team do not seem to be willing to play a return game with the Y. M. C. A. team, they are not at all doubtful about taking on a game with the High School football team, and after being challenged this team has consented to allow the Henrietta team to come here for a game to be played next Friday, Nov 17th, on the grounds at the Thirteenth street school building, in the afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock.

Since their last defeat at the hands of Henrietta, the High School boys have been practicing hard and diligently, and Karl Hammond, their captain, now states that he and every member of his team, believes that Henrietta will go down in defeat before them next Friday.

If such should really be the case it would be a proud event for the High School as Henrietta has defeated them in almost every game played between the two teams for the last several years. The weight of the two teams is about the same and with an equal amount of training, the game next Friday will be a hotly contested one, and the High School will enter it with as good a chance for victory as has the Henrietta eleven.

Meanwhile, both Henrietta and the High School are leaving nothing to be desired in the way of hard practice, and the defeat of either can not be attributed to lack of training. Both are anticipating victory.

OSLER THEORY IS REFUTED

HISTORY EXPLODES THEORY THAT MAN IS USELESS AFTER AGE OF FORTY YEARS.

NOTABLE EXCEPTIONS

Highest Achievements of This and Former Generations Show That Man's Best Work Is Done After Forty.

The old question of the age at which man's usefulness begins to decline has bobbed up again, this time at a meeting in New York of the commission on employer's liability and workmen's compensation. That a man is a "has been" after he has reached the age of forty was asserted at that meeting by a representative of the American Federation of Labor.

That opinion practically was a repetition of the statement of William Osler, distinguished man of medicine in 1904, that the world's best work was performed by men under forty, and that men past sixty were useless and a detriment to the race, a theory that caused a multitude of elderly persons the world over to sit up and manifest a degree of resentful activity that effectually disproved the "has been" idea and gave origin to the "come back" principle. Since his famous declaration of seven years ago Dr. Osler himself has passed the sixty mark, but so far there has been no necessity of resorting to violence to restrain him from resorting to his suggested chloriform method to make room in the world for the "young and useful."

Contradicting the Osler Theory

In contradiction of the Osler theory is the feminine saying that "a man has no sense until he is past 35" and that 'a man is at his best, intellectually at 50." As a matter of fact there seems to have been a large number of persons, both men and women who never heard of the Osler line of speculation, and went right on doing things after reaching the age of 40, 50, 60, 70, or 80. Many of them had been so little heard of before the age of forty that when fame first started in quest of them there was no record of their names except in the list of uncalled for letters in the postoffice lobby.

A few of the persons who did not realize that they had lost their grip at forty, or were necessarily due to submit to an overdose of anesthetic at 60 might be mentioned.

In Literature—Milton, who was 57 and blind when "Paradise Lost" was published. Sophocles wrote "Oedipus" after he had passed 80. Theophrastus began his 'Characters of Men" at the age of 90. Cato learned Greek at 80. Homer's "Iliad" was written after he was 60. Soloman collected the Proverbs at 56. Chaucer at 60 wrote the "Canterbury Tales." Goethe completed "Faust" after he had passed 80 Bunyan was 50 when he wrote "Pilgrim's Progress." Sir Thomas More was 73 when he wrote "Utopia." Robert Browning was 57 when he wrote "The Ring and The Book." Whittier wrote "Snowbound" and other poems near 60. Moliere, not realizing that it was too late, began writing his plays at 40. Ruskin, Emerson, Bacon, Tennyson, Longfellow, Scott Thackery, Goldsmith, John Burroughs, Louisa M. Alcott, George Elliott, William D. Morgan and hundreds of others beloved by all readers of books produced all or the greater part of their best work after 40.

Creative Faculties Best After 60.

In Music—Verdi was still composing Grand Opera themes at 80, and Richard Wagner composed "Lohengrin" and the "Meistersinger" after he had passed 51 and when he was a fugitive from his creditors. Much of the world's best music was written by men of middle age or past, who found their creative faculties best at the age of 40.

In Science—Agassiz, the greatest naturalist America ever has known did not come to this country until he was 40, and when he died at 60 he still was writing, lecturing and studying. Edison had no idea that it was time to quit when he reached 40 and still is sailing serenely on inventing something each year. The greater part of Darwin's writing was done after 40. Watt, Newton, Franklin Krupp—an army of heavy thinkers neglected to pass to the discard after living two-score years.

Cut off in His Prime at 107.

In War—With the exception of Napoleon the greatest men in history have been men past 40. Cromwell never heard a gun fired in battle until he was past that age. Wellington was 41 when he defeated Napoleon. Washington was 44 when he became commander-in-chief of the American Revolutionary Army. Grant at 40 gave up a job as clerk in a hardware store and set out to become a great commander in the Civil War. Von Moltke and Bismark, Germany's great soldiers, both were old men when their greatest honors were acquired. Dewey, Sampson and Schley, Naval heroes of the Spanish American war, long had passed the 40 mark when they destroyed the Spanish navy. Togo, Oku, Nogzu, Nogi, and Kuroki, commanders in the Russian-Japanese war, all were past 60. The king of Numedia led his cavalry in the field at 90. The Roman general, Bessus was the first of six thousand to scale the ladders at the siege of Petra, A. D. 551, and Seljuk, founder of the Tartar dynasty, was stopped in a promising military career by being killed in a skirmish on the frontier of Samarkand at the age of 107.

7T-karmyc44Ulhowrf9y taqi tao tao a

In Finance—The shrewdest, most daring most successful financiers of history have been men of middle age or past. The greatest money power in the world today, J. P. Morgan, attained no particular prominence until after he was 50, and the greatest feat of his career, the orgaization of the steel trust, was accomplished when he was 65. John D. Rockefeller's first successful organization of Standard Oil was made when he was 43, and now at 72 he still is planning to outgeneral his enemies and is the active head of many powerful corporations. Cornelius Vanderbilt, founder of the family fortune, was 69 when he engaged in his first important railway adventure, and Harriman was known only as a very ordinary sort of a curb-stone broker until after he was 40. He obtained control of the Union Pacific railroad, his start as a railway king, when he was 50, and at the time of his death at 61 he was preparing to spend 300 million dollars on the Harriman system. Russel Sage did not enter Wall Street until he was 45, and still was busy at the age of 90, when he died, leaving an income of 4 million dollars a year.

All the Presidents Over 40.

The list might be carried on indefinitely and a little research would show that the great events in human progress have been under the direction of men past 40. All the Presidents of the United States have been past that age. Lincoln was an unknown country lawyer until he engaged in the Lincoln-Douglas debates at the age of 49.

Looking the truth squarely in the face, it appears that America might not have been discovered and none of us ever heard of it if it hadn't been for men past 40. Amerigo Vespucci was past 48 when he set out on his first voyage of discovery, and Christopher Columbus, formerly an unknown sailor of no accomplishments, discovered America when he was 56.

The Week In Oil and Gas Circles.

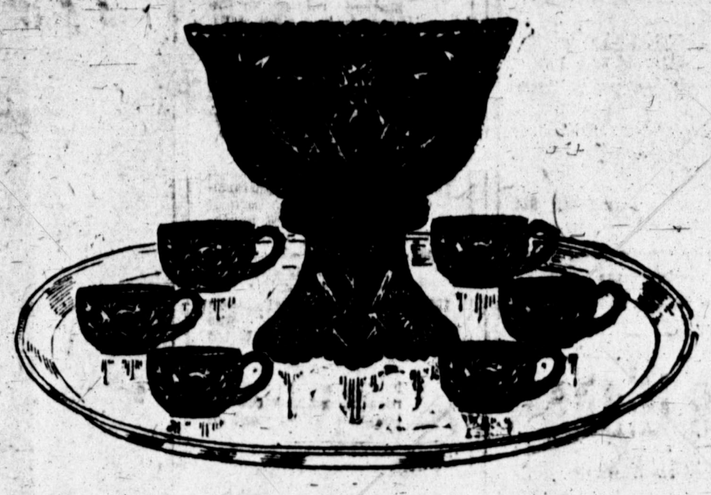

Little has developed in the oil and gas fields the past week with the exception of an extension to the Electra, Texas, field, which is now attracting much attention. The field was extended a mile and three-quarters to the southeast and a mile west of the proven pool. The Henson Oil Company got a well flood for about 100 barrels southeast of the Corsicana Petroleum Company's production and it makes the prospects for a more extensive pool much brighter. The sand was found at 964 feet and the well was only drilled 11 feet in. The Electra field is the most prominent on the map at the present time, and although it is not extensive, enough development work is under way to determine its true worth within a month or so. In the Gulf Coast region the completions were light, only four wells being reported from that district with a production totalling 45 barrels. Two dry holes were drilled during the week. The Oklahoma field furnished nothing new, the wells being drilled for the most part within the defined limits. The Caddo field in Louisiana is not doing as well as the prospects would indicate a short time ago, the production now being about 22,000 barrels a day. A number of light wells were drilled in the past week, but had no bearing as far as an extension to the field was concerned. In the eastern fields development work is being carried on at about the same old rate, a few wells above the average being finished up occasionaly. The deep sand territory in southeastern Ohio is attracting the most attention and a number of good payers have been completed in the field lately. There was little trading during the week in gas stocks, a nominal price being offered for most of the shares. The export petroleum market shows a healthy condition, and unabated firmness was shown in crude oil. The prices in refined oil remain steady and there is a good demand for future deliveries.—Oil and Gas Journal.

OIL LOTS FOR SALE
ELECTRA OIL FIELD
$10.00 EACH

The Powell Oil and Development Company owns in fee simple 311 acres of land situated about three miles south, 62 degrees east from the Electra Oil Fields. This company is putting 87 acres of this land on the market for the purpose of developing holdings.

The land is a part of the H. & G. N. R. R. Survey of land located in Wichita County, Texas, Survey No. 21, Abstract No. 142.

Oil men of experience consider holdings as being in the heart of the oil bearing territory for the reason that the geological survey marked by the government shows that the oil strata runs northwest and southeast from the town of Electra.

The first shallow oil encountered is about three and a half miles southeast from our holdings. This 87 acres of land is near enough the railroad to afford shipping facilities. It is also within one mile of a two hundred acre tract bought by the Fordyce Oil Company for tankage purposes.

OUR PLAN.

There are 6188 oil lots as shown by plat on file with the county clerk of Wichita County. Each lot contains 600 square feet. The purchaser of each lot is entitled to one share of capital stock of the company, when same is finally organized. When one half of the lots are sold we will at once begin operations on a deep well to be put down to a depth of 2,000 feet, unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a less depth, and when well is completed it will be turned over to the stockholdrs to be managed by a Board of Directors. 100 lots in the center of the field will be reserved for the deep well. The price of these lots is $10 cash in hand.

Contracts for the purchase of these lots can be had from C. W. Snider, cashier of the City National Bank, who has authority to draw up all necessary papers conveying title, etc.

505 UNION PLATE 505

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 11th, 1911.

Last Saturday the Times reprinted an editorial from a Memphis, Texas, paper suggesting a great Northwest Texas fair and nominating Wichita Falls as the place for holding the same. The Times believes that such a fair is a feasible proposition and would be of great benefit if properly carried out. Any way the suggestion is one that deserves serious consideration from the Chamber of Commerce. There is reason to believe that all of the counties of Northwest Texas will lend their co-operation to the enterprise and that once launched the fair would be a success that would reflect credit upon the city.

A year or so ago we heard a great deal of what Gov. Colquitt would do if he should be elected governor, and among his many reforms promised was that the Ranger force would be cut down or at least greatly reduced. But what do we find has been done along that line since Gov. Colquitt has been inaugurated: The Ranger force has not been reduced. On the contray it has been increased from an even one dozen to fifty, and the new recruits are said to be picked from a bunch of jobless fellows who have been hanging around Austin, and just about as fit for such service as the ordinary tenderfoot can be. Doubtless they were selected with the idea that they were not expected to perform any service other than draw their pay.

If building activity is not quite so active in Wichita Falls as some think it should be the cause is attributable in the main to the severe drouth, but there are other reasons. The contractor who has the contract to put a second story on a building in this city, informs the Times that he is compelled to pay more for brick here in Wichita Falls than the same brick has been offered him delivered at Electra. If there is any good reason why Wichita Falls contractors should be discriminated against in this manner, the Times would like to know it. The Times wants to see Wichita Falls grow and prosper, but she can't make much headway if the people who come heer to live are compelled to pay a royalty for that privilege. This is a matter for our Chamber of Commerce to take up. The Times stands by what it has said, and can produce the contractar from whom it secured its information.

Real Sioux Brave Fights Wooden Indian on Street.

Joe Mexicana, a Sioux Indian, seeing the sights along State street, Chicago, imagined he had been insulted by a man in front of a cigar store.

He crept up behind his "enemy," jumped on his back, and after pummeling him until his kunckles were sore, discovered he was fighting a wooden Indian.

Joe was shipped back to South Dakota by the police.

There is considerable unrest in the engineering trade of Hungary which may lead to a general strike or lock-out in this industry.

The International Association of Bill Posters will hold its next annual convention in St. Louis during the week beginning December 4.

Pittsburg, Pa., will be the first eastern city to have a bakery conducted by the International Union of Bakery and Confectionery Workers.

The number of trade disputes reported in Canada during September was eleven, a decrease of three compared with August, and a decrease of three compared with Sept. 1910.

In Austria the legal maximum of labor is eleven hours a day, but it is exceeded under permit by a large number of working people, particularly in the textile trades.

In Thuriginia, Germany owing to the increase in the cost of living, wages have been raised in many of the factories during the last year or two. The daily working times has been reduced fro nten to nine hours in the glass factories.

Consular reports show that, according to statistics based on passports, 588,354 foreign workmen were employed in Germany last year. Of these 350 engaged in farming. There were 323,326 Poles, 82,092 Ruthenians, 26,209 Hungarians and 39,672 Russians and Austrians.

The recent convention of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway Men and Car Men decided to create an internal fund for the bonding of officers of all unions instead of paying the premium amounting to about $15,000 a year to fidelity companies, as heretofore.

The Pacific States Company, a San Francisco organization composed of journeymen cigar makers working on their own account and of small dealers, has been organized for the purpose of fighting American tobacco trust products and of advancing the consumption of home products in California.

From Sao Paulo, the center of the coffee district of Brazil, comes news of strikes in the plantations. The wages of the pickers have been stationary for fifteen years. These men are very badly paid, considering the nature of the work, but as they are entirely unorganized no concerted movement has been possible.

The New York Women's Trade Union League in its report for the past year stated that its membership through union affiliation has reached 53,184, of which number 20,129 are women. Among the new features of the past year has been the organization of a strike council, incorporated with a fund of $10,000 to be used for emergency strike purposes during strikes for women workers.

were 100 gates to it. It could muster 700,000 armed men, according to Tacitus. A wall 134 miles in circumference, 24 feet thick and 60 feet high surrounded one of her four temples.

"God said he would execute judgment on No, would cut off its multitude and it should be broken up (Ezek. 30:14, 15). In 525 B. C. Cambyses pillaged the city. in 89 B. C. Ptolemy effected a wholesale slaughter of its inhabitants and since 29 B. C. it has been divided into nine hamlets, thus fulfilling all the prophecy.

Memphis.

"This city was to be obliterated and its idols and images destroyed (Ezek. 30:13). It was still standing in 1200 A. D., but today the former site of it can scarcely be found.

Edon.

"Edon was to become desolate (Ezek. 35:15), was swept off the map in 603 to 636 A. D., and today there are 30 ruined cities in three days journey. The race was to become extinct (Obadiah 18. They were represented in the siege of Jerusalem in 70 A. D., but today there is not an Edomite on the face of the earth.

Philistia.

"The people were to be destroyed out of the land which was to remain fertile and again be a pasture for flocks (Zeph. 2:5-6). Ashdod the King withstood Egypt 29 years in sthe longest siege on record. Part of this prophecy was unfulfilled until the twelfth century, but now flocks and herds are about all that can be seen on this land.

Askelon.

"Askelon was to be depopulated but again inhabited (Zech. 9:5; Zeph. 2:4,7). It was destroyed in the thirteenth century by Sultan Bibars. In 1840, 20 wells of water were discovered which is leading to its being again inhabited.

"Ekon was to be rooted up(Zeph 2:4) and at its site today there is no mound, but on the contrary a noticeable depression.

Samaria.

"Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field and as plantings of a vineyard; and I will pour down the stones thereof into the valley, and will discover the foundations thereof.—Mich 1:6.

"I stood on the site of this city with a skeptic who was astonished as I read this verse and we could see the cultivated fields all about us and the vineyards, too, while the stones of the ruins had literally rolled down the hillside laying bare the foundations of the former buildings.

Jerusalem.

"The prophecy in Micah 3:12 has been literally fulfilled, but of an attempt to override the prophecy (Rev. 26:30) that the temple was not to be rebuilt, Myers says p. 334: 'Julian determined to rebuild the Temple at Jerusalem which the Christians contended could not be restored because of the prophecies against it. He actually began excavations, but his workmen were driven in great panic from the spot by terrific explosions and bursts of flame.

Christ.

"There predictions were all sealed and in a book over 300 years B. C. and were translated into Greek about 280 B. C., in the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus.

"Eve, not Adam, a man not an angel (Dent. 18:15) the seed of Abraham (Gen. 12:3), a Hebrew, not a Gentile; of the line of Isaac (Gen. 17:19) and Jacob, (Gen. 28:13,14), not an Ishmaelite nor an Edonite; of the tribe of Judah (Gen. 49:8, 10), a Jew; of the royal family of David (Jer. 23:5); miraculously born of a virgin mother (Is. 7:13-14) and called Immanuel—God with us, a God-man (Is. 9:6, 7).

"In Daniel 9:21, the time of his crucifixion is foretold, both the year and the month. He was to be born in Bethlehem (Micah 5:2), was to be rejected by his own brothers (Ps. 69:8 with Jno. 7:5), was to ride into Jerusalem on a mule colt (Zech 9:9) to be sold for thirty pieces of silver and the potter's field bought with the money (Zech. 11:12, 13) scouraged, smitten and spit upon (Is. 50:6), nailed to the cross (Ps. 22:16), was to drink vinegar and gall (Ps. 69:21), the soldiers were to cast lots for his garments (Ps. 22:18), was to be pierced with a spear (Zech. 12:10), but no bones broken (Ps. 34:20) forsaken His disciples (Zech 13:7), betrayed by a friend (Ps. 41:9), called out of Egypt (Hosea 11.1), the infants were to be slain (Jer. 31:15) and he was to be buried with the rich (Is. 53:9).

As his third text Evangelist Ham read Matthew 28:18: "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.'

"Jesus has power to make friends," he continued. "These words were spoken to eleven poor, uneducated fishermen to whom he committed the task of telling all the world of Him. The number of His friends has been ever increasing from that day till this and now there are multiplied thousands who would dare to die for Him.

"Jesus has power to make His words remembered. He took no stenographer along with Him to take down what he said and yet we have preserved today many of his words while here upon earth—the New Testament which has been marvelously preserved through all the attacks upon it.

"Jesus has power to make His words obeyed. All over the world today men's hearts are touched and quickened by the words of Christ, thousands gladly march at His command even though dangerous paths. Will you have this man to reign in your heart tonight?"

Several responded to the proposition, and accepted Christ as their Savior and were saved, one who confessed Him publicly for the first time last night, being one of the most prominent men in the city.

Each of the churches will hold their regular morning services at which time members will be received.

There will be a mass meeting for men Sunday afternoon at the tent, the weather permitting. Evangelist Ham will speak on manhood, under the divisions of the measure of manhood, the destruction of manhood, the restoration of manhood and the triumph of manhood.

The usual union service will be held Sunday night at the tent unless the weather is bad, in which case it will go to a church building.

Simultaneously with the men's meeting there will be a mass meeting for ladies at the Presbyterian church.

Extra Copies at Meeting.

The committee has ordered a large number of extra copies of this paper and they will be on sale at the meeting Sunday night at the following prices: Single copy, 5 cents; 3 for 10 cents; more at the same rate.

"THIS IS MY 64th BIRTHDAY."
Adam C. Bell

Adam C. Bell, of New Glasgow, N. C., who has been appointed a member of the senate of Canada, was born in Pictou, N. S. November 11, 1847. His education was received in the public schools of his home town and at the university of Glasgow, Scotland. His first public office was that of Mayor of New Glasgow, which he was elected in 1876 and again in 1884. In 1878 he was elected a member of the legislature assembly of Nova Scotia and for many years was the leader of the opposition in that body. In 1882 he served for a brief time as providential secretary of Nova Scotia. He was defeated for the dominion house of commons in 1889, and in 1904, but was elected in 1896, and again in 1900.

Waldorf Guest's Dog Dumped In Laundry Tub With Linen.

Fedora, a Spitz dog belonging to Colonel Frederick Cody of Detroit, was left for a nap on the bed while the colonel went for breakfast at the Waldorf Hotel, New York. Fedora mysteriously disappeared before he returned.

After the hotel had been searched Fedora was found in the laundry. He had been gathered up in the bedclothes, taken down on an elevator, dumped into a vat of water with sheets, when he came to the surface and was rescued.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that you summon, by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the county of Wichita for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, Jos. Rinefeldt, whose residence is unknown to be and appear before the Hon. County Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Wichita at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the 4th day of December, A. D. 1911, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 26th day of Oct. A.D.,1911, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1493, wherein J. R. McMullen is plaintiff and Jos. Rinefeldt is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Suit upon two certain promissory notes for the sum of $350.00 each, executed by defendant, on Sept. 26th, 1910, to M. J. Moran, bearing date on the day and year last aforesaid, and payable to order of said Moran at Wichita Falls, Texas, due 60 days after date and January 1st, 1911, respectively, bearing 10 per cent per annum interest until paid, and providing for usual 10 per cent additional for attorney's fees if collected by law, or placed with attorney for collection.

Plaintiff alleges that said M. J. Moran transferred said notes and lien to plaintiff, who is now the legal owner thereof, and that plaintiff has placed said notes in the hands of an attorney for collection; that said notes are entitled to following credits, to-wit: the 60 day note, Sept. 30, 1910, $50.00; Nov. 3, 1910, $100.00; Feb. 1, 1911, $50.00; Feb. 13, $150.00, and note due Jan. 1st, 1911, $200.00, making total amount paid on said notes $550.00, leaving a balance of principal of $150.00, besides interest and attorney's fees; that said notes are past due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, refuses to pay same or any part thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $300.00; that defendant, for purpose of securing said notes, did on Sept. 26, 1910, convey to M. J. Moran, who transferred said lien to plaintiff, the following described personal property, to-wit: one 38 Overland Automobile, 25 horse power, No. 68, being same car purchased from M. J. Morgan; 1 John Deere Lister and Planter combined; 1 Poland China sow with 6 shoats, each weighing about 100 pounds, and sow about 350 pounds, 1 dark brown mare, 7 years old marked O K on left hip, 16 hands high; 1 black mare, four years old, named Doll, unbranded, little star in forehead, about 16 hands high; 1 surrey, two seats and buggy harness; 1 heavy britchen and harness; 1 lumber wagon 3 1-4 inch; 1 Jersey cow, 6 years old, unbranded; 1 red cow, 3 years old unbranded; that said conveyance is described and set forth in a certain Chattel Mortgage filed September 26, 1910 in Chattel Mortgage records Wichita County, Book 14, Page 154; that on March 11, 1911, and other dates plaintiff, at special instance of defendant, repaired and furnished material on said Overland Automobile at various times to the value of $91 for which defendant agreed to pay; that said Automobile is in possession and has remained in possession of plaintiff for the charges last aforesaid, and upon which he asserts his lien for labor and material furnished, and that defendant has failed to pay said account, although same is past due and unpaid, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $100.00.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for judgment for his debts, interest, attorney's fees, costs of suit, for foreclosure of his Chattel Mortgage Lien on above described personal property and for foreclosure of his lien for labor and material on said Automobile furnished and performed and that same be decreed to be sold according to law, and for general and special relief.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, And have you before said court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls this, the 4th day of November, A. D., 1911. W. A. REID,
Clerk County Court, Wichita County, Texas.
By Carl Yeager, Deputy.

Mrs. Moriarity owns a goat, for which she has a warm affection. All the neighbors regard Nanny as quite as much a member of the Moriarity family as is Michael or Kathleen.

One fine morning Mrs. Riordan came running across the street with her shawl over her head and said: "Mrs. Moriarity, what is the matter wid Nannay? Is she sick? I seen her l'anin' agin the corenr of the house, and she was lookin' ill!"

"The saints bless you. Mary Ann," replied Mrs. Moriarity. "Nanny ain't sick! She climbed up on the cintre table last night and ate the mistletoe, and it made her sentimental, that's all!"—Youth's Companion.

Autoists Mistake Grizzly Bear in Road for a Log.

"There's a log," said Frank Short to Harvey Adams, when something loomed in the road ahead of their automobile near Anaconda, Mont., on a dark night.

"Let's shove it away," said Adams.

But the "log" sniffed and grunted and trotted off. By the light of their auto lamps they saw it was a sleepy grizzly bear.

LAST WHITE MAN KILLED BY INDIANS

A roving band of Kiowa Indians were responsible for the first burial in what is now Quanah, the victim being Joe Earl. Mr. J. H. Estes, of Corpus Christi, writes the Quanah Tribune-Chief concerning the event as follows:

Fred Estes (my brother) and I left Cooke county in 1879 to go to Leadville, Colo., and fell in with Joe Earl at or near where Harrold is now. We were in a two horse wagon and he on horseback. He made the proposition that we let him go with us and he pay us if he made any thing when he got to Leadville, as he had only about two or three dollars in money. We traveled along till we reached the R2 ranch, at where Chillicothe now is. The ranch was then owned by Belcher and Easly, but was sold in a few days to Worsham & Company. We camped there on Wanderer's Creek Thursday night, the 12th of April, 1879, and got to where Quanah now has its cemetery the next day about 12 o'clock. Earl was some 300 or 400 yards ahead of us when we discovered the Indians. He saw them at the same time, dismounted and squatted down in the road. The chief of the band came up to us in the wagon and saw that we couldn't get away, so gave orders to rush on to Earl and get him. As soon as they reached him, they secured his horse and proceeded to kill him by shooting with pistols and bows and arrows. While this was taking place Fred and myself got busy by getting our horses out from the wagon and mounting. We made in the direction of the mouth of Wanderer's Creek, the Indians following and shooting at us for probably 6 or 8 miles. My horse threw me before we had made the first mile, but Fred caught him and I mounted again and rode merrily away. When we go to the creek we turned up to the R2 ranch and got four other men and returned to the wagon and dead body of Earl. We found that they had saturated his clothes with coal oil and burned him all that one gallon of oil would. His entire scalp including both ears was torn off, the head split open and the brains emptied from the skull, the fore finger of the right hand was cut off, an arrow shot through the hand about ten inches long left sticking there; five or six bullets and three or four arrows had penetrated the breast. We left him lying there till the next day, when he was wrapped in a blanket and buried as good as could be without tools to dig with. His grave is in the Quanah cemetery with a lot of rocks piled on it. I visited the cemetery after the town had built up and pointed his grave out to some parties.

The Indians were a roving band of Kiowas headed by a son of the old chief, Sun Bow. I afterward met him at Fort Sill and we had a short talk about it. He of course, denied it.

J. H. ESTES.

It is stated that Joe Earl was an ex-Confederate soldier, and a movement to erect a monument over his grave has been started.—Vernon Call.

Valentine Bieganowski's Faith In Mattress Shattered When Hoard Disappears.

TELLS OF $990 NOW LOST

Hoarding for three years, fearful of intrusting his savings to banks, and having implicit confidence in the safety of mattresses, Valentine Bieganowski, 730 Garden street, has come to grief. Bieganoswksi had saved $990, $600 in gold and $390 in bills, and had it hidden in his house. When he went to count his shining yellow pieces and the bright new bills Sunday morning, he found them all missing, he says. The police are investigating.—Milwaukee, Wis., Sentinel.

INDIANA GIRL'S FIGHT FOR FATHER

SHE ALONE OF THE MEMBERS OF HIS FAMILY FIGHTING TO SAVE HIM FROM GALLOWS

HIS SON AN ACCUSER

About to Lose Position as School Teacher Because of Fathers' Alleged Act—She Won Out.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11.—Not for many years has a murder trial caused so great a sensation and attracted such geperal interest in this section of the State as the trial to begin here in the Tippecanoe circuit court next Monday, of John W. Poole, a prosperous Benton county farmer, who is charged with having murdered Joseph Kemper, one of his German farm hands, in December 1909. It is not morbid curiosity alone or a desire to have an opportunity to listen to the revolting details of a brutal crime that cause this general interest. The feature which more than any other appeals to the heart and sympathy of the people is the brave fight which Grace Poole, the daughter of the accused man is making, to save her father from the gallows.

Grace Poole alone of all the members of the Poole family faithfully stands by her father and, out of her meager earnings as teacher in the Wheatfield public school, defrays the cost of defending her father in the coming trial. Poole's wife and his other daughter have turned against him and have absolutely refused to contribute to the fund for Poole's defense. His son, Emory Poole, who has been the prime accuser of his father and has left literally no stone unturned to find evidence against the old man, continues to maintain his attitude of extreme hostility and has openly declared that he would not rest until his father had been hanged.

John W. Poole was one of the most substantial men in Benton county. He owned several prosperous farms but, owing to some financial trouble a few years ago, he transferred the title to his property to his wife. Joseph Kemper, with whose murder Poole is charged, worked for Poole during the summer and fall of 1909. He was last seen alive on December 10 or 12, 1909 and since then every trace of him was lost. It was supposed that he had left the farm to find work in the lumber camps of Michigan.

Nobody suspected that Kemper had been murdered until Poole's son Emory, informed the authorities of his belief that his father had killed Kemper and buried his body somewhere on the farm. The elder Poole was arrested on March 18, 1911 and charged with the murder of Kemper but he was discharged on the same day because there was absolutely no evidence against him at that time beyond the mere accusation of Emory Poole.

Young Poole, apparently convinced that his suspicion was well founded and determined to find the necessary proofs for the guilt of his father, continued to search for Kemper's body exploring every part of the ground with that object in view. His perseverance was apparently rewarded in the middle of a big corn field, about half a mile from the Poole home. Here, young Poole found the decomposed remains of a human body mingled with the remains of a hog's carcass. He notified the authorities and although the remains of the human body were far beyond identification, insisted upon his charge that the body was that of Joseph Kemper whom he accused his father, of having murdered.

John W. Poole was again arrested and brought to Fowler, Ind., where he was arranged before Justice I. D. Stevenson on May 4 last. The charge was submitted by Emory Poole who submitted practically all the evidence. Poole pleaded not guilty and was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder. In due course of time he was indicted and his trial was set for next Monday.

Although Poole maintained his innocence of having committed intentional murder, he is said to have confessed that he accidentally shot and killed Kemper, and then buried his body for fear of the consequences of his deed. Poole, it is said, claimed that while he climed over the fence of his orchard to hunt rabbits, his shot gun was accidentally discharged and the full load struck Kemper in the head at close range killing him instantly.

Elmore Barce has been engaged to defend Poole and it is believed that he will make a plea of insanity for his client. Fifteen years ago Poole was tried for having tried to shoot a man near Quigley. The jury decided however that Poole was insane and he was sent to an asylum in Indianapolis, where he remained several years.

Grace Poole the prisoner's younger daughter, came near losing her position as teacher in the Wheatfield Public School, where she has been doing good work for several years. Many of the parents objected to her because her father had been accused of murder. But the brave girl called a meeting of the parents and won their sympathy when she explained to them that it would be impossible for her to help her father should she be deprived of her position.

PROF. JONES PLAN TO REDUCE TARDIES

A system was recently inaugurated at the high school by Prof. J B Jones, principal, by means of which it is hoped to do away with all of the unnecessary absences which have been spoiling the attendance record of that school. Prof. Jones' plan requires each teacher, upon an absence being discovered, to notify him, whereupon, he at once begins an investigation to find out the cause of the student's non appearance.

If the parents of that particular student do not happen to have a telephone, a special messenger is at once dispatched to the family residence to find out why the student is not at school, and by this means, it is almost impossible for a successful case of truancy to escape the notice of the principal, and remain long undiscovered, while at the same time if there is really any excuse for an absence the teacher is properly notified concerning the cause of it, a feature which had not heretofore existed.

A list of the names of those absent and trady is also published daily on a bulletin board placed in a prominent place at the high school building, so that the names of the offenders may be read every day by the school, and who ever else may happen to look at them.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From a Wichita Falls Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful.

Does it ache, especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms indicate weak kidneys.

There is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys fast get weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

They strengthen weak kidneys.

Read this Wichita Falls testimony.

R. P. Cummins, Sixth and Indiana avenue, Wichita Falls says: "I can vouch for Doan's Kidney Pills being alright. They cured me of a lame back that had failed to yield to other medicines and which was often so bad that I was unable to attend to my daily work. Doan's Kidney Pills also corrected a kidney weakness that had bothered me and this trouble has not returned."

To College Under a Tent.

The buildings of the University of Texas have become so crowded with students that the Regents have ordered the erection of two temporary structures, which will probably be made largely of canvas and paper. One building will be utilized by classes in Domestic Economy and Education and the other for a class room and laboratory in Chemistry. Class rooms under canvas will be as novel and unusual in an institution of higher learning, as are the tents at the A. & M. College, in which cadets are yet forced to sleep because of lack of dormitory quarters.

Texas is the biggest and among the wealthiest of the states; it is also one of the most progressive. As yet, however, it is growing so fast that its schools are inadequately provided for. The Houston Chronicle says that "It has been necessary to erect small buildings — mere shacks on the campus to properly house the students and teachers of the University."

The Way to Do It.

At the bedside of a patient who was a noted humorist, five doctors were in consultation as to the best means of producing perspiration.

The sick man overhead the discussion, and after listening for a few moments, he turned his head toward the group and whispered with a dry chuckle:

"Just send in your bills, gentlemen that will bring it on at once."

HIS TROUBLE NOT OF HEART

Real Facts In Regard To F. R. Huffman's Iliness. Relief Obtained By Curing His Stomach Ailments.

Waynesville, N. C.—Mr. F. R. Huffman, of this city, says: "I suffered dreadfully with what I thought was heart trouble, and tried various medicines in vain.

After other remedies had failed, Thedford's Black-Draught restored me to health. I would not feel safe without Black-Draught in the house. I consider it worth its weight in gold.

It cured my indigestion, and by this means I was restored to health. I can not express my gratitude for its benefits."

Good health depends on the condition of your digestion. Poor digestion and good health do not go together.

Thedford's Black-Draught will thoroughly cleanse and set in order your digestive system.

It has done this for others, during the past 70 years, and is today the most popular vegetable liver remedy on the market. Try it.

Insist on Thedford's. Price 25c.

Unity Club.

Miss Esther Gorsline was hostess to the Unity Club Friday afternon and played a beautiful Venetian selection which was greatly appreciated by all. Illness in the homes of several members prevented a full attendance, and the president, Mrs. Patterson, conducted the lesson in the absence of Mrs. Anderson the regular leader. Virgil was the topic for discussion and much pleasure and profit was derived from the study of the Aeneid and life and customs of his time. After delliving in ancient lore we were regalded in a very modern way with the "cup that cheers, but not inebriates," accompanied with chicken a la Newburg, mushroom sauce, pickles and hot rolls. Mrs Patterson will be hostess next week instead of Mrs. Hunt.

For Miss Taylor.

Mrs. John Parks entertained a number of her friends on Monday evening from 8 to 11 in honor of Miss Esther Taylor, who will soon leave for her new home in Wichita Falls. Several contests were given during the evening. Miss Elsie Davis won the prize, a beautiful vase, in the word contest; Mr. Glen Medlock was winner in article contest, the prize being a handsome and useful cork screw; in the mule-ear contest Mr. Cleatis Boyd was awarded the prize, a box of popcorn. Miss Agnes Smith favored the guests with a number of piano selections. Refreshments of chicken sandwiches, pickles, olives and chocolates were served to the following: Misses Mamie Thompson, Florence Baylor, Elsie Davis, Fleeta Teeter, Zora McCracken, Agnes Smith Lenna Belle Tant, Wanda Mageehon, Esther Taylor, Edith Perry, Emma Bickford, Daisy Pruet, and Mrs. Fannie Scott. Mrs. Toney Entertains.

Mrs. C. B. Toney gave an entertainment yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Joe Cobb, of Shawnee, and Miss Shackelford, of Mississippi. Five Hundred was the feature of the afternoon, there being six tables around which the ladies played this most fascinating game. After the final score was counted up, it was announced that the prize, a souvenir cook book, had been won by Mrs Binford, she having captured the largest number of individual games during the afternoon.

After the prize had been awarded, a salad course was served and conversation on interesting topics was indulged in, after which all dispersed for their homes, declaring that they had spent a most pleasant afternoon.

Those present were Mrs. Cobb and Miss Shaleford, and the Mesdames Marchman, Myers, Duke, Collier Rhodes, Bruce Smith, Smith, Ruse Murray, Binford, Lee Smith, Richolt McGregor, Allen, Woods, Sherman, Schoval, and Marcus and the Misses Lutie Orth, Miss Sherrod and the hostess.

Her Fifth Birthday.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nolen was the scene of a delightful children's party Monday afternoon in celebration of the fifth birthday of their daughter, Dorothy. The hours were from three to five o'clock. The house was decorated in red and on the dining room table where ice cream and cake was served was a huge birthday cake around which were arranged five red candles. Little Miss Emma Elizabeth Miller was the fortunate finder of the lucky dime hidden in the cake. The time passed all too quickly in playing games in which children delight. Miss Grace Nolen who gave the party for her sister was assisted by Miss Theressa Smith and Mrs. Nolen was assisted in serving the refreshments by Mesdames Hine and Payton and Miss Gibson. Those present were: Charles Hine, Rodney Lee, William Wallace Little, Leone Maricle, Nolen Bullock, Annie Ruth Little, Mary Joe Kemp, Anderson Kemp, Rose Williams, Elizabeth Carrigan, Robert Campbell, Field Scovell, Verne Bentley, Elton Felder, Maggie and Clyde Cunnings, Grace Brightwell, Helen Snider, Francis Frith, and Virginia and Emma Elizabeth Miller.

Delightful Birthday Party.

A birthday party enjoyed by young and old alike, was held yesterday afternoon in celebration of Joe Marlow's 12th birthday, at the Marlow family residence in Floral Heights.

At the hour of 12 o'clock, one of the best dinners ever served in Wichita Falls, was placed on the table, and a number of grown up folks gathered around the board to partake of what all agreed was one of the best meals which it had ever been their good fortune to enjoy. After inner the elder folks dispersed, and at about four o'clock the young ones began to arrive, until at last there were almost twenty-five gathered.

A series of games in which the Marlow Indian must be included, were then indulged in by all present, and every game which is entertaining to small children, was played, so that when at last the time came to leave for home, all were reluctant to bid farewell to little Joe, and all wished that they could remain longer.

Just as the party was breaking up the announcement was made that Jim Marlow was coming in his automobile and upon his arrival, all of the young folks immediately crowded into the machine, and began to demand that he take them home, to which he laughingly consented.

A regular automobile party was then enjoyed, there bting almost 15 small children who were riding in or upon the car and enjoying themselves to the limit. At last all were delivered in safety, and without exception, each and every one expressed themselves as wishing that Joe's birthday came more often.

Those present at the birthday party were: Mable Jones, Robert Allen Stone, Ellen Jones, Audrey Bloom, Jaunice Whittaker, Gose Waggoner, T. J. Wagogner, Jewel Lesmonal, Walter Bean, Sybal Thornberry, Gerturde Davidson, James Noble, Agnes Nailor, Irene Nailor.

TEXAS MOTHERS CONGRESS CLOSES AT WACO

Waco, Texas, Nov. 10.—The Texas Mothers' Congress took steps at the sessions of the convention yesterday to have the state districted so as to enable the congress to get over it with greater dispatch. This action followed the report of the executive committee, a clause of which read:

"Because of the marvelous growth of the Mothers' Congress and Parent-Teachers' association and because of the vast distances between the extreme borders of our great state, we recommend the appointment by the chair of a committee to divide the state into districts and that the executive committee appoint temporary chairmen to take charge of the work in the districts until district organizations can be effected."

Under the head of unfinished business, the report of the legislative committee was resumed by the chairman, Miss Eleanor Brackenridge of San Antonio. Miss Brackenridge in her preliminary remarks said State Pure Food Commissioner J. S. Abbott was entitled to the fullest measure of support from the Mothers' Congress in his efforts to give the people of Texas pure food and pure drugs.

Resolutions prepared by Mrs. McAlister of San Antonio, providing for properly ventilated school rooms, etc.; by Mrs. Howell of Georgetown, refering to the prevention of marriage between persons physically unfit; by Mrs. N. D. Lands of Lufkin, bearing on devotional exercises in the public schools; by Mrs. J. S. Turner, of Dallas, expressing appreciation of a concurrent resolution voted by the Texas legislature, prohibiting polygamy, were referred to the committee on resolutions.

An invitation to have the next Congress of Mothers in Houston was extended by Mrs. G. E. Zimmer of that city. It was supplemented by telegrams from the Houston Cotton Exchange, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations in the Bayou City. The invitation was referred to the executive committee.

A verbal invitation to select San Antonio as the next meeting place was presented by Mrs. F. W. McAllister of that city.

Mrs. J. S. Turner of Dallas asked that the 1912 Texas Congress of Mothers be held in Dallas.

The nominating committee reported the following officers and recommended their election: President, Mrs. J. N. Porter, Dallas; first vice president, Mrs. F. W. McAllister, of San Antonio; second vice president, Mrs. William Capps, of Fort Worth; third vice president, Mrs. E. R. Owen, of Waco; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Turner, of Dallas, treasurer, Mrs. George E. Rutledge, El Paso; auditor, Mrs. J. F. Possey, of Haskell.

The report was adopted and these officers were elected. The next place of meeting will be selected by the executive committee.

Resolutions were adopted recommending laws for the better control and protection of children in and out of schools through juvenile courts and probation systems, raising the age of consent to that of legal majority, and restrictions upon marriage.

After adjournment the mothers visited the ction palace and heard an address by State Pure Food Commissioner Abbott of Austin.

Miss Daniel With the Common Law.

Miss Irene Daniel, leading woman of the "Common Law," which comes to the Wichita Theatre on Tuesday night, is one of the few women of the stage, who has the distinction of living almost half her life among the Indians. Having been born in the South, she of course considers herself a Southerner. Her mother was a Southern Belle, and a daughter of the late E. M. Kells, Judge of the Supreme Court of Alabama. The Kells are one of the best known and most highly respected families of the South, and their history dates back to a period many years before the war of the Rebellion. When but an infant, Miss Daniel accompanied her parents north. Her father at that time was a surgeon in the United States Army, and was ordered by the War Department to report to the commanding officer of the Department of the Dakotas, to act as surgeon general, with headquarters at Yankton Agency, on the Sioux reservation. Miss Daniel remained on the reservation with her parents until about the age of fourteen, and during this time learned to speak the Sioux language, which she now speaks fluently. Between the ages of fourteen and fifteen Miss Daniel entered the Convent of the Visitation at St. Paul, Minn., where she graduated with highest honors, three years later. While in the Convent, Miss Daniel's father was ordered by the Secretary of War to Washington, D. C., where he was appointed Chief of the Medical Staff of the U. S. Army. After her graduation, Miss Daniel went to Washington, where her parents had taken up residence, and soon was a prime favorite in the younger set of Washington society, and no society function was thought complete without her presence. Miss Daniel informed the (and seemed greatly amused in telling) she had received proposals from a Russian Count, an English Lord, an Austrian Count and a Japanese Prince, all of which she "turned down" and then added (with a curt toss of her head) I would rather marry any poor, honorable self-made American man, than all of these foreign noblemen together in one, even though I got a title that sounded like "Countess Irene Constantine Muzseppas de la Souboulouskis." Since choosing the stage as a profession, Miss Daniel has shown a marked degree of ability in creating parts, and in each case has been rewarded with success. Miss Daniel was especially selected to create the part of "Jane Adams" in the "Common Law," which is one of the strongest dramatic parts written in years. In every city where the play has been played, the press has been unanimous in saying that the day is not far distant when Miss Daniel would be starred, as no other woman has ever been starred, outside of Bernhardt, in a play built especially for her.

Goes to Rome to Receive the Red Hat.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 11—A great crowd of representative Catholics of New England assembled at the Cunard line dock today to bid adieu to Archbishop O'Connell, who was among the passengers sailing for Europe on the Canopic. The Archbishop is going to Rome to attend the special consistory the latter part of this month, at which time he and a number of other eminent churchmen will be made Cardinals. Soon after his return to Boston in December the ceremony of conferring the Cardinal's beretta will take place in this city.

TEXAN TOPS PITCHERS' LIST IN AMERICAN

Star-Telegram.

The official technical leadership among American League pitchers has fallen to an ex-Texas Leaguer, Covington.

Several years ago when the North east Texas League was on the map, Covington made hi sdebut in Texas baseball at Paris. At that time Jimmy Vaughan, now of the New York Highlanders, was playing with Corsicana, in the same league. Vaughan's rise has been a little more rapid than Covington's but still both are in the big show.

Coving ton is with the Jennings tribe of Detroit, going there from the Evansville, Ind., team of the Central League at the close of the 1910 season. The Evansville team finished fourth and Covington and Grady were the only members of the club to go to the majors. Before going to Evansville Covington was a mound artist for Doal Roberts' Houston club.

The young Texan won seven games lost one, was taken out of six battles and finished up three, giving a percentage of games won, .875. They were 317 batters to face him in eighty-three and two-thirds innings pitched He gave up ninety-four hits, out of which forty-three runs were scored He hit ten batters, gave thirty-three bases on balls, struck out twenty-nine, heaved two wild pitches and balked once.

Chief Bender takes second place having pitched twenty-two games, won seventeen, finished with a percentage of .773. Vean Gregg, the young Cleveland pitcher and the sensation of the league, comes in for third honors, participating in thirty-one games, winning twenty-three, losing seven and tieing one. Gregg's official standing is .767. Plank and Coombs of the Philadelphia Athletics take fourth and fifth honors. Plank won twenty-two and lost eight, giving a .773 standing. Coombs won twenty-eight and lost twelve, finishing even 700.

But perhaps the greatest pitcher of them all is Walter Johnson of the Washington team. Twirling for a team that tried its very best to beat the St. Louis Browns out of the bottom position, Johnson pitched thirty-eight games, winning twenty-three and losing fifteen.

Walsh for the White Sox, went to the mound oftener than any other slabster in the league. He took forty-five chances, got away with twenty-seven and lost eighteen. Johnson and Walsh have a standing of .600, tieing for twelfth position.

South bound Denver passenger train number two was one hour and thirty minutes late this afternoon.

SOME DIFFERENCE

There is some difference between the flavor of a Ben Davis and a Jonathan or Spitzenburg. There is a difference between a blend of the fine mild growths of coffee and a No. 7 Rio. Some difference between skim milk and rich Cream---Same thing in Cranberries. Our Fancy Cultivated Jumbo Cranberries make as great a contrast when compared to the common wild berry. Just received the first barrel of the season. To those who know them the announcement is sufficient---to others, we say try them. 20c quart.
