Vegetable Diet Cooking School's Third Lesson

MEATS TO BE CLASS TOPIC FOR THURSDAY

Mrs. Chitwood Turns Out Tempting Dishes For Wednesday Crowd

SICKNESS IN EATING

She Shows How Improper Foods Bring on Much Ill Health

Utilization of vegetables was the subject of the third lesson of the Record News cooking school Wednesday afternoon at the Kemp Hotel ballroom when Mrs. Ida L. Chitwod explained the reasons for vegetables in a diet.

"We must have vegetables with meats to maintain a well balanced diet, know the values and the part individuaul foods play in our health and in retaining our youth.

"There must be protein: the energy builder, carbohydrate, phosphorous, calcium and iron. Some people let wrinkles come into their faces and become sour because they do not take into the body some of the blood builders found in many of the common vegetables," Mrs. Chitwood told her several hundred hearers.

Eating Brings Disease.

Ninety per cent of the diseases are brought about by improper eating, she stated in her lecture, and then she showed how to prepare some of the common vegetables which are healthful and should be included on the regular menu. Because these foods are usually prepared after one fashion they are often neglected, she said.

Cabbage. Do you like it? Did you ever eat it except in salads, raw, or just cooked plain, boiled and seasoned with shortening? Mrs. Chitwood cooked cabbage au gratin, and from the comments of the women who tasted it, it was something out of the ordinary, and delicious.

The cabbage was cooked, then put in a pyrex dish and baked with white sauce; it was seasoned with grated cheese, bread crubs, ground meat, and more white sauce. When finished, there was a lovely dish, beautiful in its good tasting layers, and not just ordinary cabbage.

Tasty Asparagus.

Asparagus on toast is considered, too, a little in the light of being used too often, but to have tasted asparagus tips finished by the recipe Mrs. Chitwood used yesterday the old idea would have vanished.

Asparagus tips au gratin, that means asparagus with cheese, a delightful dish seasoned with grated cheese and pimola (sliced ripe olives) was another which 500 women learned to make in the school.

Just ordinary, common dry beans and are so often boiled or baked for a change, were made into something quite fancy for a vegetable dinner. A swift movement was made by Mrs. Chitwood, and she explained that the beans should be soaked over night before cooking; then an onion, some tomatoes, some gelatine, a little milk, was added, and the mixture placed in the Hotpoint electric stove. The lecture continued and in a short time when the oven was opened, there was an appetizing dish, and women in the audience voted that it was better than "plain beans."

"Of course every one of you women like onions," Mrs. Chitwood said, as she smiled at her audience that did not perfectly agree with her. And then came a lesson on how to prepare onions in a perfectly delectable manner.

Onions Good, Too.

They were stuffed with good things that every housewife has in her kitchen every day, and a nutritious food, appetizing and appealing, resulted. When finished, a white sauce was poured over the stuffed vegetable, a piece of crisp green parsley placed in top of the onion, and there—a tempting dish ready to serve was completed.

The dishes were passed through the audience and each woman was able to get a taste of the foods cooked during the Wednesday afternoon session.

Thursday is meat day. "I shall cook meats, prepare meat jellies, meat sauces and gravies to be served with the meats," Mrs. Chitwood announced. "With that, I am going to make a surprise pie. Most pies have to be baked, and the crust of this one will be baked, too, but the other part—that is the surprise."

Music was furnished by the Brunswick Panatrope of the Phonograph Shop. Many popular classical and popular numbers were played for "request day" as was announced Wednesday morning.

At the conclusion of the lecture, Maxwell House coffee was served to the class.

The fourth day of the Record News cooking school will open at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the ball room of the Kemp Hotel, and will continue until 4:30 o'clock.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Harvey Haver, 49, mail carrier of New Comerstown, near here filed suit for divorce from his wife, Katherine, six weeks after he said he cut her body down from the rafters of their home and stuffed it into an abandoned well.

Two weeks later, he said he paid a premium on her life insurance.

That was part of the story Haver told officials today after almost 24 hours of uninterrupted questioning in connection with the woman's death.

He has stocially maintained she committed suicide December 1, but an affidavit charging him with first degree murder has been sworn to by Coroner J. S. Lewis and will be field tomorrow, County Prosecutor James Patrick said.

Haver said he took all the steps he outlined because he was fearful he would be blamed for his wife's death. He declared he wanted to fortify the impression she deserted him.

He predicted a revolution in woman's millinery the small hat yielding to the large.

Expressing his ideas on the harmful effects of the universally popular small hat, Dr. Francis said:

RANGER'S VIEW OF STORY RANCH RAID UPHELD

Defense Loses in Effort To Have Certain Testimony Excluded

WARRANT UNDER FIRE

Jed Adams Says Sufficient Description of Property Lacking

DALLAS, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Exception to testimony by Ranger Captain Tom Hickman in the case of Yancy Story, charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup of the Krum bank last June 9, was made in court Wednesday by Jed Adams, defense attorney. Adams sought to exclude reference by Hickman to certain articles found on the Story farm when officers raided the place last year following the robbery of a number of banks in central and north Texas. Judge Charles Pippen, in whose court the case is on trial, said late today he would over-rule Adams' request.

Adams Addresses Court.

Adams addressed the court at length, after the jury had been excluded from the court room. He raised the question as to whether the testimony regarding the search of the Story farm was admissible, maintaining that the affidavit and search warrant used by Hickman and other officers was indefinite and not in accordance with the provisions of the revised criminal statutes. He stated also that the warrant failed to give sufficient description of the property searched. The question was raised for the first time in a case of this kind.

Judge Pippen asked counsel of both sides to present to him Thursday morning authority on the admission of evidence pertaining to property taken from some place other than the one in question, but found with property from the place in question at the time of the raid. This question is also mooted in law.

Fight Doggedly.

Attorneys for both sides fought doggedly today through the proceedings. Judge Pippen repeatedly was obliged to reprimand and instruct them.

Testimony damaging to Story was given this afternoon by Roy Smith, farmer living near Krum. He stated that he recognized Story as one of the men who was riding in a big car on the afternoon of the robbery. He said he saw a man get out of the car when it stopped near where he was chopping cotton, put on a green and white mask and drive into Krum shortly before the robbery occurred.

Club Man Settles Heart Balm Suit

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Clara Eola Shiras against George Brinton Caldwell, banker and club man, was settled out of court this afternoon after the case had been on trial since yesterday. Announcement of the settlement was made immediately after the jury had been discharged for the day. The terms were not made known.

The termination of the suit came suddenly, after Mr. Caldwell had been cross examined by counsel for Mrs. Shiras and letters written by him to her were introduced.

In one of the letters he wrote:

"I can not now pose as a gay lothario. I am too old and humble. I was traveling too fast for my years. And you are the principal cause."

He explained that he was then living a quiet life in the country "with a cat and two dogs and four canary birds."

This letter was written in may, 1923, about two months before he married Miss Marion Andrews, a school teacher. It concluded with the words: "I will remember you as a friend and a very good lover."

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino, motion picture star, who was recently divorced by his wife, the former Winifred Hudnet, returned from Europe today aboard the steamship Leviathan enjoying his "restoration to bachelorhood."

The sheik of the films deprecated the rumors which linked his name with that of Mae Murray, movie actress, as the principals in a possible matrimonial match. He said he wanted to have "a little vacation" from matrimoney, and asserted that it was mere coincidence which landed him and Mae Murray on the same train from Southern France to Paris and later to Berlin.

Mr. Valentino did not visit Italy while abroad, explaining that after the trouble at a Trieste theatre, where one of his pictures was being shown, and the subsequent trouble in Rome, he had not cared to make the trip. The agitation was due to his application for American citizenship papers, he said.

Accompanying Valentino was his brother, Alberto Guglielmi, the latter's wife and their nine year old son. The brother, who has been in the production end of the motion picture business in Italy expects to enter that field here. He will go with Valentino to Hollywood next week.

BITTER FIGHT TOWARD PEACE SUCCESSFUL

Ratification Supported By 40 Republicans and 36 Democrats

FINAL VOTE IS 76 TO 17

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Sees Upper House Approve German Protocol

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27, (AP)—American adherence to the world court was approved today by the senate.

The vote on ratification was 76 to 17.

This was 14 more than the necessary two-thirds vote.

Ratification was supported by forty republicans and thirty-six democrats, while fourteen republicans, two democrats and one farm-labor senator voted against it.

The Roll Call.

The roll call follows:

For adherence: Republicans: Bingham, Butler, Cameron, Capper Couzens, Cummins, Curtis, Dale, Deneen, Edge, Ernst, Fess, Gillett, Goff, McNary, Means, Ostcalf, Norbeck, Norris, Oddie, Pepper Phipps, Reed, Pennsylvania; Sackett, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren, Weller and Willis—total 40.

Democrats: Ashurst, Bayard, Bratton, Bronssard, Bruce, Caraway, Copeland, Edwards, Ferris, Fletcher, George, Gerry, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Heflin, Jones, New Mexico; Kendrick, King, McKellar, Mayfield, Neely, Overman, Pittman, Ransdell, Robinson, Arkansas; Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Stephens, Swanson, Trammel, Tyson, Underwood, Walsh and Wheeler—total 36.

Against the World Court.

Against adhesion: Republicans: Borah, Broochart, Fernald, Frazier, Harrel, Johnson, Lafolletta, Moses, Nye, Pine, Robinson, Indiana; Schall, Watson and Williams—14.

Democrats: Blease and Reed, Missourit—total two.

Farmer-labor: Shepstead—one.

The three absentees were Senators DuPont, Delaware and Greene, Vermont, republicans, and Dill, democrat, Washington. It was announced that Senator Dill was paired against the court, with te other two absent senatorsf or it.

While many of the reservations submitted were considered of minor importance at least three of those rejected were given outstanding recognition.

One proposed by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, which was rejected, 69 to 22, with several court supporters, voting for it, would have provided tha the judgment of the court could not be enforced by war "under any name or in any form whatever."

Pepper Plan Rejected.

The reservation known as the Moses substitute, which was the old Pepper plan reported by the foreign relations committee and would have called for the setting up of a new court without any connection with the league was rejected, 72 to 21.

By a vote of 73 to 20, the senate turned down the reservation proposed by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, under which the British Empire would have been given only one vote in the league council, for the purpose of electing court judges.

The ratification resolution as adopted contained the reservations drafted tha nation's sovereign rights and declaring by the court's supporters, reasserting ing it accepted no legal connection with the league of nations.

These reservations apparently are acceptable to President Coolidge, but they must be accepted also by the 48 nations already members of the court before American membership becomes effective. A score of other qualifications offered by the court's opponents were voted down by overwhelming majorities.

Ends Bitter Fight.

The vote brought to an end one of the bitterest fights the senate has had since the memorable struggle over the league of nations.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the war president sat in the crowded galleries with rapt attention as the senate cast the vote giving its "advice and consent" to American membership in the court set up under the covenant of the league which her husband brought back from Paris and which the senate rejected on March 19, 1920.

Operating under the drastic cloture rule limiting debate the senate worked far past its usual hour of adjournment in order to reach the final vote. There were five hours of debate and then a rapid fire of roll calls on overwhelming majorities.

The final roll call came suddenly after Senator Johnson, republican, California, had made a dramatic last minute appeal for rejection of the resolution of adhesion. Party lines disappeared in the voting.

CHILDRESS C.C. PLANS ROUSING ANNUAL MEET

Yearly Banquet and Booster Meet to Be Held Friday Night

CHILDRESS, Jan. 27.—Leaders of industry, railway men and those employed in other walks of business and professional life, interested in making Childress "the metropolis of the Texas plains country," will take off Friday night and attend the one big event of the year—the annual booster banquet of the chamber of commerce, to be held in the basement of the First Presbyterian church, beginning at 6:45 o'clock. At the banquet will be launched a drive for new members.

That this will be the greatest meeting of Childress boosters in the 15 years' history of the organization, is admitted by all who will attend. In the last year, Childress has grown more than in any other five years combined, it is claimed by Will P. Jones, mayor of the city, and vice president of the City National bank.

"Childress is like a growing boy tackling his first big job," says the mayor. "We have grown beyond all expectations during 1925 — more growth in one year than in any other five years combined."

Childress, the mayor points out, has cheap gas for the year of 1926, suitable for both manufacturing and domestic use in the city. With the extension of the Fort Worth Denver railway to the south plains country, Childress will become one of the main railway centers of the panhandle. The shops of the Fort Worth and Denver are located here. The city has an excellent supply of pure water suitable for drinking purposes. The climate is healthful and the soil of the farms is most productive.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use for only 75 cents. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Wholesome Fun Is Packed In Picture Now At Olympic

Lovers of clean, wholesome fun combined with stirring action and a pretty love story will find an evening of an afternoon of real entertainment in "The Pace That Thrills"—First National's latest feature picture which is showing at the Olympic theatre.

Ben Lyon and Mary Astor, as the featured players, head an admirable cast which contains Tully Marshall, Fritzi Brunette, Thomas Holding, Warner Richmond, Charles Beyer, Evelyn Walsh Hall, Wheeler Oakman and others. The picture was directed by Webster Campbell under the supervision of Earl Hudson, the man who made "The Lost World."

A Story in View.

Contrary to many motion pictures, "The Pace That Thrills" contains a gripping story which is never lost sight of from start to finish. It is the story of a movie hero who has acquired much undesirable publicity because he refuses to take chances, demanding a double for the most trivial danger. Even the girl in the case finally loses faith in her hero. But in the end all is cleared up happily.

Melody Reigns At Olympic Vaudeville

With the International Serenaders in "Melody Lane of Alohland" headlining the bill, the Olympic theatre's weekly vaudeville skits open today It is a bill replete with music, comedy and color.

The Serenaders, present a musical gem and petite revue of far off Hawaii. The musicians proffer a musical cycle intermingled with capable dancing by an attractive Miss who knows how and does step.

Hughie McLean is a happy-go-lucky sort of individual with constructive ideas in the way of humorous monologues. He calls himself "the funny dancing fellow" and has a world of talent.

Marco Brothers in "The Musical Wops" have a musical comedy offering that isn't. The pair speak not one word during the tenure of the stage, but their clever pantomine, mixed up with the music of two who are really capable performers, suffice to make a thoroughly satisfying number.

The title "A Little Rhyme, No Reason," describing Homburg and Lee who have a nut comedy built for laughing purposes only.

May June and company live up to their advance billing of "Unusual Surprises" with an act that is different and is as pleasing as it is good.

The picture for the day is "The Peace That Thrills," with Ben Lyon. A juvenile comedy film and Kinograms will also be presented.

REGIONAL I.C.C. BILL FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A senate interstate commerce committee today unanimously approved the bill of Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, providing for regional appointment of members of the interstate commerce commission and for increasing the membership of the commission to twelve.

The subcommittee amended the bill to increase the number of regions to six instead of four and to change the representation of each region from three to two.

Under the bill the United States would be divided regionally into the New England, middle Atlantic, lake, south Atlantic, gulf and mountain group.

Under the terms of the bill the south Atlantic group would be composed of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky and the gulf group of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Tennessee and New Mexico.

Thrills Galore In Mission Offering

"The Phantom Express," which opened today at the Mission theatre, is a picture you'll want to put away at the top of your list this week. It has everything that a picture should have, to be real entertainment: fast action, thrills and a good plot to carry them; an appealing love story and a smart kiddie that you warm right up to.

The story is about life in a little railroad town—a locale which is sure to be the scene of drama and the conflict of human emotions. And there is plenty of conflict. The boy, well portrayed by David Butler, has his troubles between love and duty but we can agree with him that it was worth it for so charming a heroine as Ethel Shannon. Little Frankie Darro as "Daddles," adds considerably to the human interest and appeal of the picture.

The gathering was preliminary to the meeting tomorrow of the house immigration committee to consider the advisability of admitting Mexican laborers at certain seasons of the year to help in harvesting crops.

It is predicted by some house members that the hearing by the committee tomorrow eventually will lead to a discussion of a bill by Representative Box, democrat, Texas, to place Canada, Mexico and Central American countries upon the quota basis.

MILLER SAYS CARAWAY BILL WOULD RUIN HIM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP) G. F. Ewe, a miller of Minneapolis, told the senate agriculture committee today that passage of the Caraway bill prohibiting trading in cotton and grain futures not only was uncalled for, but would be disastrous.

He declared that "grain marketing machinery had been in existence for a number of years, was under government supervision and worked to the advantage of both the producer and consumer."

SENATE NOW TO RESUME WORK REVENUE BILL

With World Court Out Of Way Tax Measure To Come Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The tax reduction bill was given the right of way by the senate tonight immediately after it had completed action on the world court.

After a wait of more than a week on the senate calendar, the revenue measure was unanimously made the order of business on the motion of Chairman Smoot of the finance committee in charge of the bill. He expects to hold the measure constantly before the senate in the hope of obtaining final early in February. Debate will start tomorrow.

Assault on the bill was formally opened today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, with the introduction of an amendment proposing to open income tax returns to public inspection a provision repeated in the pending bill.

This was the first of several amendments which will be proposed by the group opposing the compromise reached by republican and democratic members of the finance committee on the house bill, informal conference among the group also have developed serious opposition to the proposed repeal of the inheritance tax and to reductions in the surtax rates as now provided by the bill.

The Norris amendment would give wider publicity than is now permitted through publication of the amounts of income tax paid.

More Effective Arson Law Asked

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27.—(AP) Repeal of the "valued policy" law in Texas and a more effective arson law would do more to curb fire losses over the state than greater precautions against over-insurance, D. G. Foreman, secretary of the Fort Worth Underwriters association made this statement today in answer to the charge made yesterday by Fire Chief Ferguson that excessive losses are attributable largely to too much insurance coverage, which causes undue carelessness.

"Much has been said about over-insurance on dwellings," Foreman said, "but this is not the main cause of so many fires attributed to incindiary origin. Lack of a more effective arson law and the valued policy law of Texas which permits people to collect more than the actual value of their dwellings should rank first in the list of causes."

This compares with $5,508,437 or $4.72 a share on the common the year before.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips". Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

JIM FERGUSON SAYS MOODY IS HUNTING VOTES

"Thinks He Is Running For Governor," Executive's Husband Declares

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—(AP)—James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today denied the statements made by W. T. Montgomery of San Antonio in the Travis county 53rd district court room, Tuesday that Frank Lanham, resigned member of the state highway commission, told him (Montgomery) that James E. Ferguson was responsible for the award of the American Road company contract.

Mr. Ferguson, in a statement said in part:

"This is another infamous falsehood which is not true in whole or in part and Dan Moody (Attorney General) knew that it was not true when he offered it in court. Moody thinks he is running for governor and he has been spending more than half his time trying to reflect on me in this highway litigation. It is his whole scheme to build himself a campaign issue upon which he expects to be elected governor. As he has now injected my name into the litigation I owe it to myself to tell the people of this state just what is going on. Let me recite a few facts and the people will no longer be deceived.

Recalls Carter Incident.

"Beginning with Thanksgiving day, Amon Carter, a big Butte-ku klux, Butte defeated republican candidate for governor in 1924), in the presence of 20,000 people, while in a condition that the people have not forgotten, raised the cry of "Hurrah for Dan Moody." Just a few weeks later Sister Claybrook, one of the prominent ladies of the Butte-ku klux aggregation, raised a second cry for Mr. Moody. From that time down to this hour the Austin American, a Butte-ku klux organ, has been publishing articles regularly discussing favorably Moody's availability as a candidate for governor.

"It was only last week that Moody accepted an invitation extended by Mrs. J. O. Ross, a noted Butte supporter and ku klux sympathizer, to address a law enforcement meeting in Houston. At this meeting a prominent lecturer of the ku klux, Mrs. Parker, made a ku klux speech extolling the great virtues of one hundred per cent Americanism. Then Mortimer Lewis, representing the Houston Post-Dispatch, another Butte ku klux organ, arose and declared that Moody was the political "Moose to lead the people in this year's contest. Then a colored gentleman arose and expressed his sympathy with what has been said and then Moody got up and from the same platform with a negro, a ku klux and an aggregation of Butte-republicans stated that he was opposed to the ku klux.

Says Evans Was There.

"The question I want to ask is, if he is opposed to the ku klux what is he doing down there running with them and making speeches from the same platform? His miserable efforts will not deceive anybody. While he was making this speech the grand wizard, Hiram W. Evans, was in Houston and I am informed was in the audience. This is the same Evans who declared at Arlington a few months ago that the ku klux were going to have a candidate for governor this year who could hold the office in his own name. Only this week Moody was seen in close and earnest conversation with one of Evans' investigators.

"So it will be seen from these facts that Moody has been perfumed and they will soon have him straddle of the Evans horse, but thank God the people are on to him and he will not be allowed to ride the people's horse at the same time. If he wants to run for governor let him come out in the open and not be hiding behind political propaganda which he tries to inject into a civil proceeding in court in order to make headlines for these ku klux newspapers.

"So here is to you, Mr. Moody. It is up to you. Hop to it. Get in the game and play it fair. Lay on McDuff and d——n be he who hollers calf rope and says take him off."

Magnolia To Build 350-Mile Oil Line

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 27.—The Magnolia Petroleum company will build an eight-inch pipe line from the Eldorado, Ark., oil fields to Beaumont, Texas, a distance of more than 350 miles, it was learned by the Shreveport Journal in a long distance telephone conversation with an official of the Magnolia company in Eldorado today.

It is estimated the line will cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. There will be several pumping stations along the proposed route of the line.

Oil Gossip

Jess Miller of the Miller Drilling Co., Fort Worth, was in Wichita Falls Wednesday, making preparations for drilling a wildcat in Archer county. He is shipping a rotary rig. Miller et al drilled the discovery well in the Kimbrough-Miller district south of Holliday. Miller also drilled several wells in the northwest field during the bom days.

Guy Biggs, who has just finished a deep dry hole on a large block seven miles southwest of Altus, Okla., is in Wichita Falls. The Altus well was owned by Biggs, Shipp and Nash of Tulsa, and a number of others who hel dacreage close up. Biggs is shipping his tools to the Enid-Garber district and will drill a deep test.

Gwinnup's wildcat well in Coleman county southwest of Cross Plains, has resulted in additional play in the district extending from Brownwood northwest through Coleman, Howard and Mitchell counties, according to C. H. Fisher, of Abilene, who is in Wichita Falls, visiting relatives for a few days. Mr. Fisher is a pioneer operator in this district, also in the Healdton and Mexia oil fields. He says that there is at least ten interesting wildcat wells drilling in the vicinity of Abilene. A number of good producers have been brought in recently in the Westbrook and Itan pools, he says.

Henry Ford, of Vernon, who has been an operator in this district, and at Sayre since the boom days, was in Wichita Falls yesterday. He has just returned from a trip to the Louisiana-East Texas fields, where he reports considerable activity in drilling of wildcats.

Wilbarger County

Extending the producing area from the 2428-foot sand a half mile to the west, the Roxanna Petroleum corporation brought in a 70 barrel well in their No. 2-A, in block 4, section 43, Wilbarger county. At a depth of 2410-17, a lime was found. The drill was sent on to a depth of 2428-35, in getting the oil.

In this same section, the Roxanna Petroleum corporation in its No. 4-A, has cemented casing at 1916 feet just above a sandy lime which extends from 1916 to 1922 feet. The No. 5 has topped a sand at 1921. Casing has been cemented at 1920 feet. Both of these wells will be drilled in between now and the end of the week.

SPIRITUALIST ASSN. REFUSED PART IN ESTATE

Petition for Injunction Dismissed in Fort Worth Court

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27.—((AP) Federal litigation relative to the John L. Jackson will case, in which the National Spiritualist association sought a share in the esate, probably came to an end today when the association's petition for an injunction was dismissed by Judge James E. Wilson. The injunction would have restrained distribution of the estate among the heirs, whose attorneys obtained the dismissal.

The peition was filed by the association a few weeks after the state supreme court upheld the decision of the district court in which a motion filed by the association asking reopening of the case was denied. The petition in the district court was filed by the association two years after a settlement had been effected between it and the heirs. In requesting ropening of the case, the association alleged it had been induced to make the settlement by fradulent statements.

Jackson bequeathed the whole of his $650,000 estate to the association. Suit to break the will was filed by MMrs. Sarah Vestal Jackson, the widow, and a son, Robert Ingersoll Jackson.

Pre-War Economic Prosperity Back, Reserve Reports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The federal reserve board has found evidence in the commercial records of 1925 indicating that the economic stability of pre war days has been re-established.

In a survey of business conditions, made public tonight the board called attention to several factors supporting the belief that the rapid fluctuations of the war and post war days are gone mentioning among others, that the price levels had changed less in 1925 than in any year since 1915. In addition to this phase, which was regarded as encouraging to business, the board said that Christmas trade last month was the largest on record and indications were that retail stores were restocking as rapidly as vacancies on the shelves were shown.

The board's records indicated an advance in production of basic commodities from November to December when the level was the highest since last February. The increase has been almost continuous since August, when the volume of production was at the lowest point in the year.

December production of iron, steel and bituminous coal and the factory consumption of cotton increased measurably while the production of lumber, cement and copper was maintained at the previous high level.

The bank was held up twice last year, Oct. 6 and Nov. 27. Description of the second hold up was given yesterday by H. S. Wilkinson, the cashier. The mother handled the gun with cool desperation, threatening to kill him, he said, if he resisted, although protesting that she was not particularly anxious to take a life.

Hoffman Co. Has Inning In Trial

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Victorious in the most stubbornly contested legal bout thus far, the Hoffman Construction company today through oral deposition testimony of Joe Burkett, former highway commissioner, rebutted allegations of fraud in its highway contracts brought by the state.

The state contended offering of rebuttal testimony relating to the fraud charge would in effect be trying the case on its merits. Attorney General Dan Moody also argued defendant's plea of privilege was not sufficient pleading for rebuttal testimony.

After hearing arguments for three hours, Judge George Calhoun overruled objection of the state, holding defendants have the right to get into the record with their evidence controverting the state's charge.

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—Because his mother is a widow working to support her son and daughter, Judge Duval West this afternoon dismissed from further custody a 17-year-old youth who plead guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Eaton, Ill., to San Antonio. MILLIONS DIE OF INDIGESTION

Most Common, Yet Insidious of Fatal Diseases Strikes Like Lightning and When Least Expected.

Protect yourself by strengthening your digestive organs with Ferraline—then eat what you please without fear of trouble.

Nature, with Her infinte wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of the dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs or digestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness, and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of Indigestion, do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be mislead into believing that heart-burn, gas, bloating, constipation, bilibusness, sick-stomach heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. These are danger signals warning you that the dread disease, Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A ten-days treatment of Ferraline will cost you only One Dollar at your druggists.—Adv.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

January 28, 1925

Wichita Falls Independent school district bill passes house and goes to senate at Austin.

SUPPOSE WE BUY AT HOME

WICHITA FALLS is making a valiant and successful fight to take her place in the forefront of commercial leaders of the southwest. As a municipality manned by resourceful and capable business men she is battling hard and by all fair means to gain domination of the trade territory which is rightfully her own.

In doing it she is asking no particular quarter and is giving none.

It has been and will be a hard fight. Able and energetic business men in other cities, men who realize the value of established business in the rich northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma territory are affording a brand of competition that permits no let-down and demands constant alertness.

We of this city try not to take a picayunish or antiquated view of the situation and we are willing to accord every competitor his just deserts. Modern business has progressed past the stage where it is necessary to throw mud at the man across the street, belittle his tactics or assail his merchandise. If he is of the type who seeks to bilk the public that pays his bills, the public will find out soon enough that it is being bilked and distribute its trade accordingly.

That being true, it is in no spirit of antagonism that Wichita Falls business men view the incursions of Dallas, Fort Worth or Oklahoma City into this trade territory. Merchants here are prospering and progressing in the face of this competition because they give equal value at equal price, and with it give quicker and better service. Being on the ground in Wichita Falls, the geographic law sees to it that delivery is more prompt.

Merchant and consumer alike have recognized this fact now and the result is a still better merchandising service begot of confidence on the part of the seller and conviction on the part of the buyer that he can get as much for his money in Wichita Falls as in Dallas, Fort Worth or Oklahoma City. The merchant who advertises his goods in Wichita Falls does so with a clear conscience. He knows he is offering it at a fair price and that he can deliver the goods when the call comes.

Going still further, the Wichita Falls merchant has a right to expect that, with other things equal, he will have the support of the Wichita Falls buying public. It is no more than economic courtesy that this be accorded him, and the buying public, if it does not already realize this fact, will come to such a realization in due time. The man who wants to buy one or a dozen shirts will find that he can do as well in this city as he can by running down to Dallas; he will learn that a pair of shoes bought in Wichita Falls will be of as high grade and at as reasonable a price as a pair in Dallas or Fort Worth, notwithstanding the attractive advertising of the out of town business house.

Therefore, there is no logical reason for running away 140 miles to hunt for values available right out in the front yard; and as long as these values are obtainable here, there is no sensible excuse for overtures to out-of-town houses to come in and take away even the modicum of trade they will inevitably take out of the pockets of the ones who are offering equally worthwhile products in the city they are helping to build.

This applies as well to the wholesale business as well as to the retail. Wichita Falls is in a position to acquire domination in the wholesale line just as it is in the retail side of merchandising. It can educate itself and its territory to the fact that wholesaling is not a proposition which only Dallas or Oklahoma City or Fort Worth can handle effectively. We ought, through our own style shows and other publicity media, to build up a business of worth in this respect as well as in retailing; and campaigns of this sort will be of far more and lasting benefits to the city than open invitations to outside business houses to come in and do our selling for us.

MEN AND THEIR MONEY

TWO very shrewd and successful men lived and worked almost side by side in a great city.

One of them approaching the end of his days, began to worry about what to do with all the money he had left, and finally disposed of it—to the tune of many millions—to an institution which would have been delighted to have had a tenth of it.

That money will do some good, but not a tithe of the good it might have done.

The other man, while still living bestowed a part of his millions to found a fund for the better study of aviation.

That money ultimately will benefit everybody, for there is no form of transportation that is not or will become of use to the whole world.

Another man, said to be the richest in the world, has during his life-time, given the greater share of his money to educational institutions, and to an institution for the study of the causes of disease and the best ways to eliminate it.

Here again the whole world is benefitted. Already this institution has lowered the death rate from tuberculosis and has found means of curing other diseases which were devastating humanity.

There was a time when men gained power or built up fortunes only for their own glorification.

Louis the Fourteenth imposed terrific taxes on the people of France merely to support his own price.

Justice was never done him, because the seed that he had sown grew after his death.

What the very rich men of the day are doing for the future is partly the result of the spread of education, and partly the result of public opinion.

They have at last begun to realize that they cannot take it with them, and that they cannot leave it all with any security to those who co maefter them. For after the customary three generations it is spent, and the world at large is no better off.

But they can leave it to science and that is better than leaving it to charity.

Because the people who compose governments are still niggardly in paying the men who do the most important work for those who are here and those who will come after, it is necessary for great foundations to be established in order that the scientist am ydo his work under the best conditions, and be provided with all the apparatus he needs to do it.

That is why requests to science do such a great amount of good, and why men who have had the money making ability, and who want to be remembered, are more and more after making such bequests.

Leonardo da Vinci should have been endowed, and so should many other great men of the past who knew nothing whatever of making money for themselves, and who were dependent on the few crumbs that were thrown them from the tables of the great emn of their day.

Fortunately the artists of the past were appreciated and enabled to do their best work.

But science must have capital, and it will be still many years before governments are wise enough to supply it.

W. GREGORY SAYS—

STATE TREASURER W. GREGORY HATCHER says that Texas will not go on a deficiency basis this year, as for the first time in years Texans will have enough funds to operate on a cash basis.

State Treasurer W. Gregory admits that he is a financier extraordinary, and is of the opinion that it is possible to keep the state on a cash basis, by careful management next year and all other years.

This should be gratifying to the employees of the state who in other years had to discount their warrants in order to meet their pressing obligations.

Texans have millions in money, in special funds, all the time. Why should there be special funds unless the constitution calls for a special fund.

"Love Bound In Wichita Falls"

By the Author of 'The Flapper Wife'

READ THIS FIRST:

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. They work for the Dexter Automobile company.

Mary Rose is secertary to the sales manager, JOHN MANNERS, and is in love with him. But he's engaged to DORIS HINIG, an heiress. Because of her feeling for him, Mary Rose repeatedly refuses to marry DR. TOM FITZROY.

Flossie, a born vamp, does a very poor job of keeping the office files. She is carrying on a dangerous flirtation with HILARY DEXTER, the head of the company, although she is engaged to his secretary, SAM JESSUP. She accepts jewelry from Dexter, who's married, and goes joy-riding with him at all hours. The girls' mother can do nothing with her.

John Manners falls in love with Mary Rose as he never has been in love with Doris and tells her so. Then the sisters quarrel and to "get even" with Mary Rose Flossie tells John that Mary Rose is "just stringing him along" and really intends to marry Tom Fitzroy. John believes the convincing lie and Mary Rose is hurt and puzzled by his sudden coldness. She makes up her mind to leave the Dexter company.

But before she does leave, MRS. DEXTER finds out about Dexter's affair with Flossie and comes to the office to threaten him with divorce. She finds Mary Rose taking his dictation and mistakes her fro Flossie. Within the hearing of the whole office she gives her a terrific tongue-lashing, and Mary Rose silently takes the blame that should be Flossie's. For she knows that if Sam Jessup ever finds out the truth—that Flossie has been running around with Dexter—he'll never marry her. And she prayerfully hopes that they will marry.

One night Dexter goes too far in his love making, and Flossie learns how little respect a married man has for the girl who tries to "vamp" him. Next day she elopes with Sam. Almost from the beginning of the honeymoon they quarrel about money, and Flossie spends all of Sam's savings on furniture—and then cries because she hates married life and threatens to go back to work. Mary Rose leaves and gets a new job as secretary to JIM MORRELL, a steel man, whose wife is jealous of him, so he says.

(Now go on with the story)

It was queer. But not so queer that Mary Rose didn't understand it. She had had a long time to study that ageless creature—the Heartless Flirt—in the seductive person of her own little sister.

"No," she answered, shaking her dark head," it's just your nature to try to make men lose their heads over you—just as it's the nature of the tiger to roam at night, or the nature of the kingfisher to catch fish in its beak. You can't help it, I guess."

Flossie laughed scornfully. "Well, will you listen to our little nature lover?" she asked nobody in particular. "Talking about me as if I were a bird or a wild beast or something! You flatter me!"

"I'm sorry if I hurt your feelings," Mary Rose told her. "I didn't mean to. Now, tell me more about this job. Do you really think this Morrell man wants a woman secretary?"

* * *

He did. And he liked Mary Rose Middleton's quiet manner and quick deft way of doing things, so he hired her.

Her salary was $35 a week—$5 more than she had been paid when she worked for John Manners.

The place itself was much pleasanter than the old rooms down at the Dexter Automobile works. Mary Rose's own little office, with its taupe rug and mahogany desk, was as cozy as a sitting room.

And yet Mary Rose never felt at home there. When she had worked for Jim Morrel for a month she still felt herself an utter stranger in the place.

"No girl really loves to work in an office," she thought one day, as she looked around the plain buff walls, "unless there's some man in it whom she happens to be in love with. We all belong in houses, we women, cooking and baking and bringing up the babies. Waiting for the only man in the world to come at night—"

Her listless hands fell with a clatter on the keys of her typewriter.

She wondered how the love affair of the only man in the world for her was coming along. Was he glad that he was going to marry Doris Hinig in June?

A slight cough startled her. A woman had come into the office and was standing before her desk.

"Mr. Morrell busy?" she asked, lifting a chin that was just beginning to show signs of age.

She was a very pretty woman, probably forty-three or four years old. Twenty years ago she had undoubtedly looked a great deal like Flossie Middleton Jessup. Her eyes were large and blue and black-lashed.

And if her mouth was over-red, it was still softly curved. Her hair could never have come naturally by that baby gold, but the general effect of it was rather ravishing, nevertheless.

She was all in black, the very expensive kind of black, and around her bare throat she wore a choker of big pearls. The air all around her was subtly fragrant with the smell of violet perfume—the important kind.

Mary Rose took her in with one brief glance.

"Mr. Morrell's in conference, right now," she said, getting to her feet. "I'm sure you must be Mrs. Morrell. I'll tell him you're here, shall I?"

Mrs. Morerll nodded and smiled. Then just as Mary Rose turning the handle of the door to Jim Morrell's private office, she stopepd her

"No," she said. "No, don't bother him! I'll stop in later in the afternoon."

She went away, but she did not stop in later. At five when Mr. Morrell was starting home, Mary Rose told him of his wife's visit.

"She wanted to see you, but when I told her you were in conference with Mr. Baker she went away," she explained. "She said she'd be back later."

To her surprise, Mr. Morrell shook her head. There was a smile away back in his eyes—a wise, odd, calculating smile.

"No, she didn't want to see me," he said. "She wanted to see you. She came here to look you over. She always gets a line on my secretaries, and if they happen to be good looking she pops in often to keep tabs on them! Great little game the wives have with the office girls, eh? Pop in and pop out!"

"I don't understand you, Mr. Morrell," Mary told him with perfect honesty.

"You wil lafter you've worked here for a while," he explained cheerfully. "About twice a week my lady-wife will rush in unexpectedly to see what you and I are doing and saying down here together. Jealous? I tell you that woman's green-eyed!"

Mary Rose then and there conceived an enormous dislike of Mr. Morrell and his vulgar way of discussing the wife of his bosom.

"If that's the case, why don't you hire a man for this job?" she asked coldly.

Morrell looked down at her glowing face with its deep-set, serious blue eyes and the firm white chin, the red lips parted over shining teeth.

That odd gleam came back into his eyes. "Oh, I'd rather have a girl around the place!" was all he said. But after that Mary Rose was always uncomfortable when she felt him looking at her.

CHAPTER LVII

As the slow weeks dragged by, Mary Rose wondered more and more why Jim Morrell's wife was so jealous of him.

For he behaved himself perfectly. He never "got fresh" with Mary Rose.

eH treated her much as he might have treated a nice young man who was working for him—never trying to touch her hand when he took his letters from her, never patting her shoulders or calling her "Cutie."

As time went on she began almost to like him, and if it hadn't been for that odd, sneering smile in his eyes, she would have trusted him.

But Mrs. Morrell got on her nerves. She would come popping in at the office at odd times. And if Mary Rose happened to be taking Morrell's dictation in his private office, she would suddenly open the door as if she expected to find them making love to each other.

"Isn't it terrible?" he asked Mary Rose one rainy afternoon in mid-December, when his wife had just left after one of her surprise visits. "She expects me to be kissing you every time she pops in like this! She's been married to me for nineteen years and she's never caught me at anything yet, but she hasn't given up hope!" The odd twinkle in his eye became more pronounced.

He swung around in his sprivel chair, stuck his thumbs in his armpits and addressed her solemnly: "One of these days you'll be marrying, too, and I'm going to give you a word of advice—trust your husband! All of you women seem to think that all of us men are leading double lives. As a matter of fact, we're as decent as you are. Every bit. We never want but one woman and she's usually the woman we marry."

Mary Rose thought this over. Of all the dozens and dozens of business men she knew, Hilary Dexter was the only one who had left the Straight and Narrow road for the primrose path—lured there by Flossie.

"I guess that's true," she answered gravely. "But look here, Mr. Morrell, your wife's jealous of you because she loves you. She probably sits at home as long as she can stand it, wondering if you're making love to some girl down here at the office, and then she just has to come down and see if you are!"

The smile that Mary Rose hated almost faded out of Morrell's face, and he put his head a little to one side as he looked at her.

"Think that's it?" he asked, moving his elbows slowly along the edge of the desk—an irritating habit of his. "I always thought she was trying to get something on me. Do you think a woman who really loved her husband would spy on him all the time the way she does? Now, do you?"

Mary Rose tossed her head. "Of course, I do," she answered. "And if I were you, I'd end her misery. I'd hire a man for my secretary—"

"All right, you find me a smart young fellow, and I'll fire you and take him in your place. How will you like that?" he asked, and the twinkle came back in his eyes.

"I'll like that fine!" cried Mary Rose, joking. "Nothing cheers a girl up like losing her job."

But she honestly wouldn't have cared particularly if Jim Morrell had discharged her. There was no joy in this new job as there had been in every stroke of work that she had done for John Manners. She did her work now, like a well oiled machine. But her heart was not in it.

Her only exciting moment every day came at five-thirty, when she went into the washroom to dress to go home. She was very careful about her appearance these days—tucking her hair neatly around her ears and pinning a bunch of violets or an imitation gardenia to the fur collar of her coat.

For the Morrell Steel Plant and the Dexter Automobile Works were only a block from each other and there was always the chance that she might see John Manners some night on her way up the street!

"I might just happen to bump into him," she told herself every evening, when she walked out of the building, "and I'd want to look nice."

POEMS THAT LIVE

TO MARGUERITE

Yes, in the sea of life enisled,
With the echoing straits between us thrown.
Dotting the shoreless water wild,
We mortal millions live alone.
The islands feel the enclasping flow,
And then their endless bounds they know.

But when the moon their hallows light,
And they are swept by balms of spring,
And in their glens on starry nights,
The nightingales divinely sing.;
And lovely notes, from shore to shore,
Across the sounds and channels pour;

O then a longing like despair
Is to their farthest caverns sent!
For surely once they fell we were
Parts of a single continent.
Now round us spreads the watery plain,
O might our margest meet again!

Who order'd that their longing's fire
Should be as soon as kindled, cool'd?
Who render vain their deep desire?—
A God, a God their severance ruled;
And bade betwixt their shores to be
The unplumbed, salt, estranging sea.

Lyrics of Life

Skeezix Finds the Sun.

Skeezix may be wise or not
(Skeezix is a cat),
But Skeezix finds the sunny spot.
Wherever he is at.
The corners may be dark with gloom,
But there is somewhere in the room
The curtains part, the sun comes through,
And that's the spot he scampers to.

Skeezix looks at like like that—
For even cats have care,
And care will even kill a cat,
He's very well aware.
But Skeezix finds the spot of sun,
Because there's nearly always one,
And there he sits and softly sings
And tries to make the best of things.

He's just a cat, a kitten white,
And yet I think, at that,
That lots of other people might
Learn something from a cat.
The corners often may be dark,
But why in corners need we park!
The sun is somewhere coming through,
And that's the spot to scamper to!

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

By MRS FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE ANSWER

You could never tell what was going to happen next! That was what made visiting in Animal land such fun. Scarcely had the brown legs of the little Head Hunter twinkled out of sight—Peter had come out from cover when he was sure the fellow had gone too far to turn back—when the Boy heard something stirring behind the prickly bush.

It is doubtful that even Jack Rabbit himself could have reached the cave any quicker than did the Boy. Out of breath—and sight—Peter crouched in the dark doorway.

"There is nobody home, I am sure of that," muttered he, "so if the worst comes to the worst I can hide in a corner of Hyena's den, and I am sure no creature would go in there to find me, not if what Hyena said was true, that no Four-Foot could bear his scent. Whew! It certainly is strong! I hope I don't have to stay here long! It is not a pleasant place, but I am safer here than I should be out in the open. At least I can see what I have to fear before it overtakes me. Now, who or what do you suppose is behind that prickly bush?"

And at that very second out from behind that prickly bush stepped—the answer. Peter gave a shout, not of fear, but of delight, and ran out again into the open.

"Hello, Pussy! If I am not glad to see you! What are you doing here, anyhow? Where did you come from? And what is the matter? Why do you keep pawing at your nose like that?"

"P-s-s-t!"

Evidently the Cat, for Cat it was who had just appeared upon the scene, was not in a pleasant humor, for he growled and snarled, and even went so far as to spit at the Boy—a very rude thing for a Cat to do.

"I am no more Pussy than you are, stupid, and if I were only a year or so older than I am, you would know it. I came from home, if you must know, and I was looking for a juicy watermelon, and I am pawing at my nose because I ran a cactus needle into it! There, I hope your curiosity is satisfied, Two-Legs! Gr-r-r! How my poor nose smarts!"

Next: "Painfully Polite."

The Degenerate Philosopher

By Richard A. Danman

When the shades of night are falling,
And the world is growing still,
When, afar off, there is calling
Whippoorwill to whippoorwill,
That's the time I used to wander
Through familiar country scenes,
And it used to make me ponder
Over life, and what it means.

Now I'm living in the city
Far away from country joys,
And it sometimes seems a pity
That I cannot flee its noise;
But each night, when shades are falling,
I still take a good long stroll
And, despite all sounds appalling,
Have a fine time, on the whole.

For I'm very busy peeking
Into homes as I pass by;
I am, in a manner speaking,
Calling on folks on the sly;
And I like this kind of calling
For I see some funny stuff—
Often, when the shades are falling,
They don't fall quite soon enough!

Driven by Hunger and Cold, Russian Children Descend On Cities Like Wolves, Robbing and Destroying

Small Armies of Youngsters Terrorize Population By Raids on Houses; Armed Militia Called Out

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Driven by hunger and cold great flocks of vagrant children are descending upon the large cities from outlying sections like famished wolves, robbing pedestrians, pillaging homes and destroying property.

At Kharkov small armies of these children have terrorized the population for the last two days with their assaults on houses and thefts and it was only after the greatest difficulty and threats to shoot at them that armed militia restored order. Scores of the youthful marauders were arrested.

Madame Kalinin, wife of the chairman of the all-Russian central executive committee, visited the home in Moscow of one group of these parish urchins, which consisted of a huge tar cauldron. Remaining with the gnome-like inmates throughout the night she learned much about their habits and activities.

She found a special for mof communism existed among them. One of their number, for instance, specializes in stealing ladies' purses, another in snatching loaves of bread; a third, duel; a fourth, clothing, while a fifth does general scout work. At the end of the day the spoils are evenly apportioned. Those who refuse to work or steal are cast out, like drones from a hive of bees.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironol, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusinstically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironol and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironol is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. —Adv.

Head Of American Bar Takes Action In Archer Co. Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The supreme court was asked today by Former United States Senator Chester I. Long of Kansas for permission to file as a friend of the court a brief in the Archer county, Texas, road district case in which Attorney General Moody of Texas recently was granted permission to ask for a rehearing. Mr. Long, who is now president of the American Bar association, said he represented holders in Texas and adjoining states of bonds issued by road districts similarly constituted to that in Archer county which the supreme court held invalid.

After conference with other members of the court Chief Justice Taft suggested that Mr. Long should file with the court by March 1 a brief asking the court to accept it, but stating that he should in the meantime notify all parties in interest of his intention. Mr. Long advised the court that he anticipated no objection from the state to the filing of the brief, but that he was uncertain as to the position the other side would take. Chief Justice Taft stated that when the brief and motion was filed the court then would decide whether the brief would be accepted.

COL. MITCHELL QUITS THE ARMY

Resignation of Convicted Air Critic Likely to Be Accepted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Colonel William Mitchell resigned today from the army.

The convicted air officer under sentence of five years suspension from the army because of his criticism of government aviation policies put his resignation in this single sentence:

"I hereby tender my resignation as an officer of the United States army to take effect Feb. 1, 1926."

The letter was dated today and addressed to the adjutant general of the army through the commanding general of the district of Washington.

Whether the resignation will be accepted had not been fully developed. Some army precedents indicate that in such cases withdrawals should state directly that the resignation is submitted "for the good of the service."

SCORES HONOR EX-KAISER ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Black and White Hohenzollern Banner Afloat; Wilhelm Is 67

DOORN, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The black and white Hohenzollern banner floated over the turrets of the former kaiser's residence here today in honor of his sixty-seventh birthday and a constant stream of messengers entered bearing huge baskets of flowers tied with the Dutch and German colors.

A number of visitors arrived in automobiles to be received by the court marshal, who wore a gala uniform in honor of the occasion, and entered their names in the congratulatory register kept at the entrance to the lodge.

At 11 o'clock the ex-kaiser with his wife, the Princess Hermine, and her daughter emerged from the lodge for a walk through the village where they were snapped by a half dozen photographers.

A few passersby doffed their hats, but there was nothing in the shape of a demonstration and the village in general maintained its usual stolid aspect.

At noon the ex-kaiser received the congratulations of his personal entourage, the servitors dressing in their Sunday best for the occasion. At that time no word had been received as to whether the former crown prince would visit his father.

BERLIN FACIST PAPER DEMANDS A MONARCHY.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The former kaiser's sixty-seventh birthday today brings a bitter lament from the Deutsche Zeitung, fascist organ, that Von Hindenburg's presidency has not realized the hopes for a return of the monarchy.

In an editorial concluding "Hoch der kaiser," the paper says:

"The present head of the nation, in whom countless well intentioned people see a chair warmer for the monarchy, attempts to solve the problem of acting as a mediator and creating a true union of the people. This problem, judging by the lessons of the more recent history of our country, can not be solved."

The paper expresses hope that in view of these facts President Von Hindenburg will rid himself of his "false advisers."

The fascisti today are holding prokaiser meetings while the republican reichbanner organization is demonstrating in behalf of the republic.

The communists announce mass meetings throughout the city for tonight to adopt resolutions favoring expropriation of the property of the former German rulers.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Saved from the electric chair, William C. Cavalier, 15, now must spend his life in state prison for killing his grandmother for $50.

The boy said he was happy his life had been saved, but added "I am afraid it was just done with the idea of having me declared insane and sending me to an insane asylum." Assured by the warden of the Schuylkill county prison that such was not the case he said he was satisfied. During his trial he had joked about "the hot seat."

Helen Wills Sought As Blueblood Wife

CANNES, France, Jan. 27.—(AP) Rumors are going the rounds that Miss Helen Wills has received offers of marriage from a member of the British aristocracy and from a professional tennis player. Both offers were rejected.

Matrimony is not in the program of Miss Wills at present. She is declared to have conveyed knowledge of this fact to her suitors.

"I won't deny that I have had offers of marriage and I won't confirm the rumor," said the American champion today. "But,' she added, "if you are a betting man please lay odds that I shall return to California single, if not singles champion."

Dolly Madison Called Flapper

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Dolly Madison, wife of the fourth president, has been thrust into the spotlight which lately has been playing on the life and habits of George Washington.

Mrs. Madison, were she alive today, would be called a flapper, the Susan B. Anthony foundation was told last night by Mrs. Harry Atwell Colman.

"She was frivolous, used rouge, dipped snuff and played cards for high stakes," is the way Mrs. Colman described her. She also credited the president's wife with having greatly influenced her husband in political matters.

Contrasting Martha Washington and Dolly Madison, Mrs. Colman said the former was extremely quiet and demure, probably, she added, because it was not proper for women to talk much in those days.

Another defender of George Washington has arisen here in the person of Charles Sumner Lobengier, judge of the United States court in China. He suggested to the Society of Colonial Wars last night that if George Washington was fond of card playing, drinking and dancing as contended by Rupert Hughes, the novelist, he was simply indulging in the customs of the time.

STEAM TURNED ON CONVICT TO KILL HIM, CLAIM

Prison Inmates Say Poison Then Injected to Cover Up Crime

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Investigation of the death of James Knox, a convict, at Flat Top prison on August 15, 1924, was shifted today to the chemist's laboratory. Separate tests were under way to determine whether Knox died of poison self administered or whether he was scalded to death after a severe beating and poison then injected into his body.

The body of Knox was exhumed Monday night and an autopsy was performed.

The inquiry followed charges recently made by two former convicts and a former guard at Flat Top that Knox, who weighed 205 pounds and was of massive build, did not perform the usual tasks and that he was whipped and later steam was turned on him to hide the bruises caused by the beating. It is claimed that steam caused his death and that after death a poison was injected into the man's body.

The prison records show that the man died from poison self-administered.

"52 Days of Slavery Each Year Over a Washtub"

MRS. CHITWOOD

Women who do their own weekly washing will spend seven weeks of the year over a washtub. A washday every week—52 washdays during the year—one-seventh of their time given to health-wrecking labor that shows its effects in later years!

Millions of American women, however, have freed themselves from the slavery of washday by taking advantage of the service offered by the modern laundry. They not only protect their health, but gain a day every week to devote to other household duties—to their children, to church, or to civic activities.

We have a service that can be adapted to any family budget. A telephone call will bring our representative.

SOVIET TRADE UNIONS IN CHINA SUPPRESSED

New Troubles Between Manchuria and Russia Springs Up at Harbin

PEKING, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Telegrams received by the soviet embassy here from Harbin, Manchuria, scene of the recent Chinese Eastern railway controversy complain that the Chinese military authorities are continuing to suppress the soviet trade unions at Harbin, in spite of Marshal Chang Tso-Lins orders to the contrary. The messages assert that all union premises have been closed, property removed, archieves sealed and union officials arrested.

The Harbin Russians declare that the Chinese governor of that district, Chang Tso-Lin's subordinate, is determined to use the recent Chang TsoLin's soviet railway dispute as a pretext to annihilate all the unions. The Russian labor organizations demand the immediate release of their union officials, the re-opening and legal recognition of the unions and the cessation of all reprisals in accordance with the agreement reached between the soviet and Chang Tso-Lin.

Frisco Men Get On Rock Island Board

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Working control of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway recently acquired by the St. Louis-San Francisco railway was strengthened today when Frisco interests obtained representation on the Rock Island board through the election of three new directors.

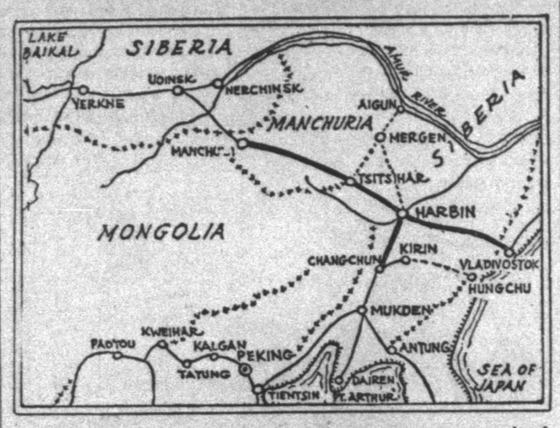

E. N. Brown, chairman of the Frisco; J. M. Kurn, president of the road, and Jesse Hirschman, a director and a representative of Speyer & Co., bankers for the Frisco, were placed on the Rock Island directorate. They succeed Henry Bruere, Carl Nysuist and A. J. Brosseau, who formerly represented scattered holdings lately absorbed by Frisco interests in the stock market. With A. A. Cook also representing Speyer & Co., the Frisco group now comprises about one-third of the total membership of the Rock Island board.

Railroad Dispute Threatens War Between Soviet Russia and China

Invasion of China by soviet troops is threatened as a result of seizure of Russian trains on the Manchurian railway south of Harbin by Chinese soldiers. Moscow is making strong representations to Peking, while Japan, whose sphere in Manchuria would be challenged by such a move on the soviet's part, is preparing to send more troops to the territory it controls. Map shows the Chinese Eastern railroad which forms the connecting link between Vladivostok and Russia's great Siberian line, which both Russia and Japan want to control.

Prohibition Led To Jazz, Says Sousa

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 27.—(AP) Prohibition brought on jazz and the Charleston, John Phillip Sousa, famous band master, believes.

Sousa, who is here on a concert tour, predicted the early demise of the "burlesque in music" and termed the Charleston "merely a temporary aberration."

"There has never been as poor ball room dancing as there is this year," Sousa said. "Many people don't dance at all. They are like so many eels wriggling in space."

Modern composers have been producing "harsh blobs of color and complete lack of melody," he said. And prohibition is responsible for it all, he asserted.

LIEUT. WOOD WANTED FOR HOT CHECKS

Sensational Son of Philippine Governor Sought By Florida Officials

HAVANA, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Osborne Wood, son of Major General Leonard Wood, at the Hotel Biltmore today said he knew nothing of charges against him of passing worthless checks in Florida and declared that he would go immediately to Palm Beach to straighten out matters.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Former Lieut. Osborne C. Wood, son of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippine Islands and whose meteoric financial and marital adventures are widely known, today was being sought by officers of Palm Beach county on charges of having passed worthless checks. Miami hotels were searched and a sharp lookout is being kept along the south coast of Florida.

The charges were filed by the Palm Beach National Detective Agency late yesterday with the sheriff. The agency said it had information that Wood left for Havana and that it has asked the police there to refuse him admittance to Cuba.

Sheriff Bob Baker said Charles Reed, head of the detective agency, would swear out formal warrants today fro Wood. The information came to the sheriff yesterday after the office of the prosecuting attorney for Palm Beach had closed for the day. Reed refused last night to make known the amounts of the checks or the names of the persons to whom they are alleged to have been given.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Col. E. M. House, who is soon to publish his memoirs, has been denied permission to print letters written to him by President Wilson, the New York World says in a dispatch from Washington today.

The dispatch suggests that denial of permission is a sequel to the mysterious break in relations between the colonel and the president. As a result the dispatch proceeds, comment has been caused in Washington because at least 100 Wilson letters have appeared in the memoirs of William Jesnings Bryan.

Governor And Wife To Visit Coolidges

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Governor John H. Trumbull and Mrs. Trumbull will be the guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge in Washington next week after which they will go to Florida for a few weeks. The governor and his wife will arrive at the White House on Wednesday and remain through the week end.

The invitation extended to the Trumbulls by the president recalls the friendship which has sprung up between Miss Jean Trumbull, the governor's daughter, and the president's son, John. Miss Trumbull is a student at Mount Holyoke college and John Coolidge is attending Amherst college educational institutions less than ten miles apart.

More Truth Than Poetry

NO TAKERS.

To princes of various courts
The hard riding couriers bring
Extremely authentic reports
That Hungary's hunting a King
Her folk, always cool to Republican ways
Are now growing cooler and cooler,
And want to be bossed for the rest of their days
By a regular Monarchical ruler.

You would think that this news would excite
The lads of imperial birth
Who lately were shorn of the right
To boss any part of the earth.
But somehow they see mmost reluctant to heed
The call of the King seeking nation.
And none of the number has shown any speed
In filing his own application.

The job of a King is a cinch
In England, or even Japan
Where armies don't come to a clinch
At some insult like "So's your old man!"
But down in the Balkans the head of a state
Who today a nice throne is adorning,
Is always afraid he'll be thrown in the grate
With the fire still lit, in the morning.

Though Hungary hungers, no doubt,
For a man who a sceptre can swing—
And will even concede two nights out
To a good and experienced King,
And although her future might be more secure
If she picked out an able and kind one,
While princes can still read the news, we are sure,
She will hunt a long time till she finds one.

ONCE UPON A TIME — LITTLE FREDDY WITH HIS FIDDLE—IV

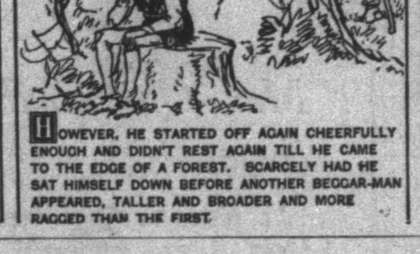

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

THE STORY UP TO NOW

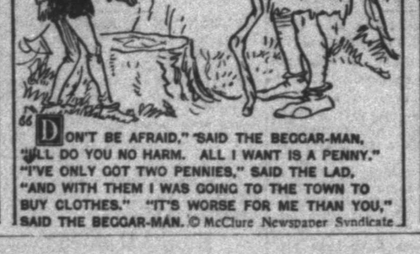

THERE ONCE WAS A POOR FARMER WHO HAD A LITTLE BOY NAMED FREDDY. HE WAS TOO SMALL TO WORK IN THE FIELDS, SO HE WENT TO WORK FOR THE SHERIFF, WHO AGREED TO PAY HIM A PENNY A YEAR. WHEN THE LAD HAD WORKED FAITHFULLY FOR THREE YEARS HE WANTED TO LEAVE AND THEN THE SHERIFF GAVE HIM ALL HIS WAGES AT ONE TIME. "IT COULDN'T BE LESS," HE SAID, AS HE COUNTED OUT THE THREE PENNIES. SO FREDDY SET OFF. FREDDY GAVE ONE PENNY TO A BEGGAR HE MET ON THE WAY.

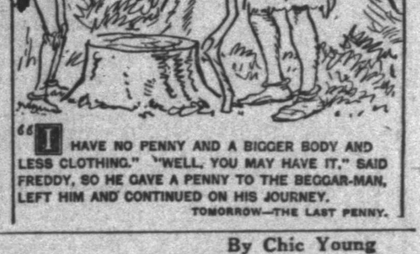

THE BEGGAR-MAN LEFT FREDDY, WHO THEN HAD BUT TWO PENNIES.

HOWEVER, HE STARTED OFF AGAIN CHEERFULLY ENOUGH AND DIDN'T REST AGAIN TILL HE CAME TO THE EDGE OF A FOREST. SCARCELY HAD HE SAT HIMSELF DOWN BEFORE ANOTHER BEGGAR-MAN APPEARED, TALLER AND BROADER AND MORE RAGGED THAN THE FIRST.

"DON'T BE AFRAID," SAID THE BEGGAR-MAN, "I'LL DO YOU NO HARM. ALL I WANT IS A PENNY." "I'VE ONLY GOT TWO PENNIES," SAID THE LAD, "AND WITH THEM I WAS GOING TO THE TOWN TO BUY CLOTHES." "IT'S WORSE FOR ME THAN YOU," SAID THE BEGGAR-MAN. © McClure Newspaper Syndicate

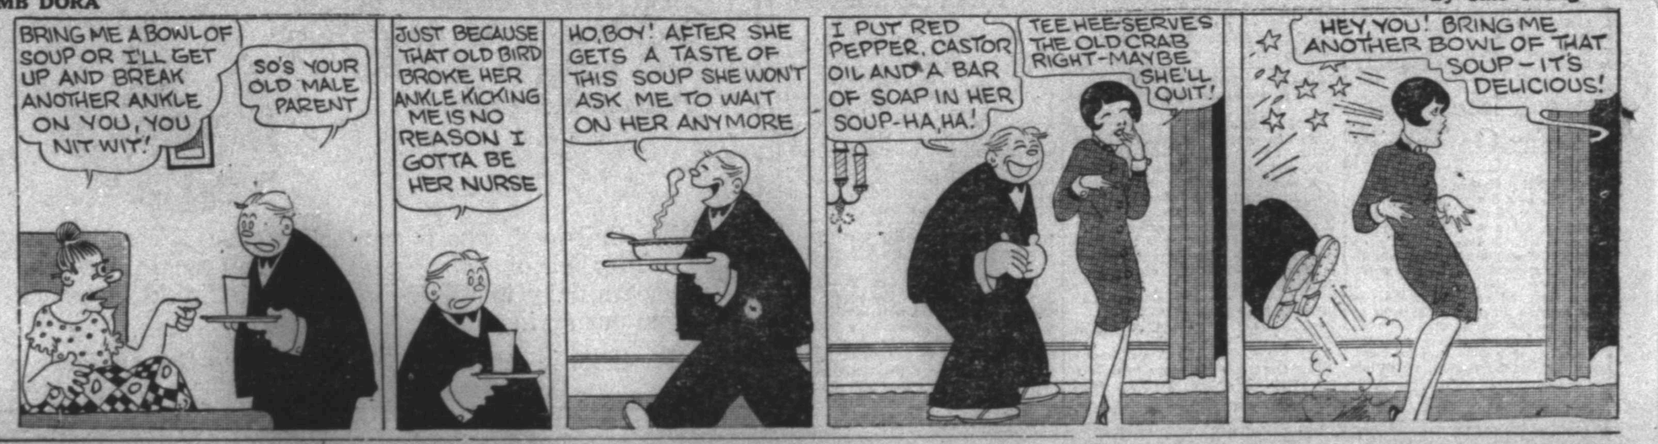

"I HAVE NO PENNY AND A BIGGER BODY AND LESS CLOTHING." "WELL, YOU MAY HAVE IT," SAID FREDDY, SO HE GAVE A PENNY TO THE BEGGAR-MAN, LEFT HIM AND CONTINUED ON HIS JOURNEY.

TOMORROW—THE LAST PENNY.

PETE RARIN'

Peter Turgeon's all bright-eyed, enthusiastic and happy. The dapper Spudder keystoner is in wonderful condish and on edge waiting for the training camp to open. That's why.

* * *

Incidently, a bit of over-exuberance and snappy display of life brought on by his fine physical shape the other day came near to making Pete lose house and home, they say. Pete's chunking arm, thanks to studious care and careful exercise, is all pepped up and full of ginger. He was going through a couple of wind-up demonstrations with an orange preparatory to pulling a take-off on heaving a fast one down the alley when the agate slipped from his clutch, zipped over for a prfect strike and splattered itself to shreds on Mrs. Pete's dining room wall paper. Our Peter came near to becoming an orphan child right then and there without any happy home at all.

* * *

While Turge's feeling so fine, Eulas Morgan is on his uppers. Big Dick, worried almost frantic with rheumatism in his souper and the training foray but a scant six weeks away, underwent an operation yesterday.

* * *

The ailment in the wing was traced to a pair of infected tonsils, so Dick had 'em clipped out. He's probably meeder than the proverbinl wet hen this morning just on general principles and maybe wanting to cuss everything in general too, for his present condition, but can't because the old throat is too sore to talk.

* * *

Jack Dempsey hasn't defended his pugilistic championship since September 1923. Joe Stecher goes to the mat with any and all challengers just as rapidly as they ask for a chance at his wrestling title. That's another reason why wrestling is crowding boxing into the background.

* * *

Charley Brill in Daily Oklahoman. Santel, Davis court, Velcoff and all other big time wrestlers who been through Wichita Falls the last few months agree to a man that Stecher is the greatest world's champion who ever lived.

* * *

Paul Jones down at Houston boasts loudly and at length expressing confidence he can beat Ed (Strangler) Lewis in match scheduled for February 2, but not so many months ago they couldn't run him onto the canvas with a machine gun to meet the light heavyweight, Ad Santel.

* * *

Somebody's done Bill Melhhorn dirty, avers Pop Boone, or words to that effect. The venerable Cowtown scribe took in the recent Dallas open. His comment follows: I went over to Dallas to take a look at MacDonald Smith and how he plays the bally old game of golluf. Also I hadda sorta curiosity to see how the lion and the lamb laid down together in the case of Bobby Cruikshank and Wild Bill Melhorn, who was quoted as havin' some unpleasantness down in Santone last week.

* * *

Remember how Bobby was about to make a 10-inch putt that meant some $250 more cash to him, when somebody made a loud remark—presumably Wild Bill who was occupying a point of vantage in a tree? How the incident was enlarged on! Sports writers commented on it even in the coast papers. I sorta hadda idee Bobby would give Bill pizen if he gotta good chanct. So I was surprised when the Dallas tourney starter put the two dudes in the same threesome yesterday.

* * *

Well Sir, everything was peaceful as Peaceful Valley on a Sunday mornin'. Bobby rimmed a cup onet for a much-needed stroke and Bill said: "Tough luck, Bob." And pretty soon Bill laid a long approach putt dead to the pin and Bobby said: "Nice one old chappie," or some such cheerful expression.

* * *

But the real neighborly sight came along about the fourteenth hole, when the two went down the fairway side by each conversing in the friendliest sort of tones. They walked the whole 250 yards from tee to ball and hell much converse in the meantime. Of course, Bobby mighta been tellin' Bill he hoped he'd break a leg in Hot Springs—but he looked like he was askin' Bill if he ever seen such a dog-goned bugger with a putter as Mac Smith.

* * *

Thus ends another sport feud that had been enlarged out of all proportions by colorful writers. The incident was colorful enough without added color. I'd expected to see a Tarzan of the Links in Bill. But came to understand he was called "Wild Bill" only because he's always taking chances with his brassie and slicing a close lie into the trees or sumpin.' He's just wild with his woods, that's all. Very peaceable, nice chap, Bill Melhorn.

FIGHT RACKET ALL WET RIGHT NOW, SAY WORMS

General sentiment of fight fans here and all over the country is that too much smoking has been going on in trying to lite a fire around Jack Dempsey. So many different stories have been sprung that nobody believes anything any more. The fans seem to have taken the attitude that nothing less than definite signing of contracts and setting of dates will make them flutter—and even then the splash won't be very noticeable.

Latest efforts to stir up excitement over Tex Rickard's war with the New York commish are failing to cause any excitement.

It'll take the real thing from now on out.

DEMAND IN OKLAHOMA FOR CLASS D LEAGUE

Oklahoma members of the Southwestern baseball league last season do not believe that circuit can be re-organized for the new campaign; but there is quite a demand for a class D league in Oklahoma.

A dozen possible members have been suggested, it being considered certain that eight live ones can be found willing to launch the new league.

They are: Enid, Blackwell, Tonkawa, Bartlesville, Ponca City, Pawhuska, Cushing, Bristow, Davenport, in Oklahoma, and Arkansas City, Kansas.

COYOTES PLAY ON MEGARGEL COURT TONIGHT

McCallum Takes Most Of His Squad—Team In Good Shape

Coach Bud McCullum hauls his Coyote basketeers to Megargel tonight for a heavy cake encounter, game lined up as a conditioner to take place of two contest originally planned for Wednesday night. The pack had been scheduled with Landon-Hill and Texhoma, Commercial league quints, but the games were called off through unavoidable circumstances.

Practically all the high school squad will be taken to Megargel.

The club is in wonderful condition, going at a pretty fast clip right now, and is being touted by many as the class of this section.

A snappy workout was indulged in yesterday followed with a 20 minute scrimmage session. The performances of Ray and Howard, forwards, Francis, center, and Powell and Mills at guards stood out. This quintet waged a pretty passing game and jerked off quite a bit of accurate goaling.

Suzanne Shows Helen Around

CANNES, France, Jan. 27.—(AP) Chaperoned officially by Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, Miss Helen Wills today visited the courts of the imperial club at Nice. Suzanne showed the California girl over the center court, where she defeated Mrs. Mallory in 1923. There were toasts in each other's honor and to one another's health. But all topics in the world excepting tennis were reviewed in the short 30 minutes of their companionship.

While officially Mlle. Lenglen acted as sponsor for Miss Wills, there was no lunch and no tea, just one plain glass of champagne, which, in France, amounts to drinking one cup of coffee in South America.

Miss Wills is certain to play at Nice on February 1 and the French champion will probably also play but whether they will meet in the singles in that tournament is not yet decided. The American girl is paired with C. F. Aeschlimann in the mixed doubles while the French champion is paired with Henri Cochet. On Saturday next Suzanne will make up her mind whether she will play in the singles.

Cardinals Cut Out Two-a-Day Practice

Spring baseball training at its best, is a long, tedious, wearisome drill, writes Sid Keener in Mid-February and runs until the second week in April. And when there are two frolics day after day there are many athletes who limp home to start the pennant race gasping for one solid day's rest. Thus, the announcement from Rogers Hornsby that there will be one daily scrimmage at the San Antonio camp will be greeted with loud applause by the 1926 Cardinals.

No truer saying than "All work and no play makes Jack a very dull boy." From early morning until late afternoon for seven weeks is enough to take the fine edge off any ball player. When the game starts to hang heavy, then you are losing ball players.

For years I have heard members of the Cardinals and the Browns complain about the two-a-day sessions. There is the hike to the park in the morning, back to the hotel, a nip of luncheon, a brief rest period, back to the park and through the same stuff.

They are fresh and frisky for the first two weeks. Then the grind becomes monotonous and they sigh.

The change arranged by Hornsby should keep the Cardinals steaming with interest. It is Rog's plan to prep the boys slowly and have them ready to answer the first bell on April 13.

It is not forgotten that the Cardinals of 1925 went through a dizzy pace. As early as March 15, the divided squad engaged in four ball games on one day, when a morning and afternoon game were played at Oakland and single contests at Fresno and Sonora. Too much, entirely too much.

No Need for More Baseball Regulation

A New York scribe had an interesting chat with John A. Heydler, National League president, concerning the advisability of plaiing all professional sports under state control, writes Ed Pollock in the Philadelphia Public Ledger. This move was suggested by Peter J. Brady at a testimonial dinner given in honor of Boxing Commissioner Farley of New York.

"Some sports may need more regulation but not baseball," said Heydler. "We pride ourselves on our ability to govern ourselves. We don't want to be in a class with boxing and wrestling. We have enough legislation and judicial machinery of our own to regulate baseball.

"But," he was told, "Mr. Brady thinks professional baseball ought to be taxed by the state. Don't you want to pay a tax to the state?"

"We pay income taxes," he replied "city taxes and a federal tax of ten per cent. How many more should we pay?"

"No, the trend today is toward less taxation, not more. I don't think Mr. Brady will make much of a hit with the fans by trying to find more taxes for them to pay."

"But Mr. Brady thinks—"

"Say," interrupted the National League president, "who is this Mr. Brady, anyhow?"

"He's a banker."

"Oh," said Heydler. And, diplomatically speaking, the incident was closed.

NEW KANSAS LOOP

Up in Kansas they are considering a two-or-three-days-a-week league consisting of Winfield, Wellington, Newton, Wichita, Anthony, Eldorado, Ponca City, Tonkawa, Arkansas City and Hutchinson. This, however, would be an independent circuit and not eligible to organized baseball ranks.

Balked in Deals, Yankees Build Comeback Hopes on Rookies

Balked in efforts to grab some strength for the Yanks via the trade and checkbook route, Miller Huggins is figuring on working four promising rookies into his creaky machine. Two of them are shown. Mike Gazella, with the team in 1923, is back after some seasoning in Southern League. Pat Collins, former Brown, comes to the Yanks for a wad of coin. Promising hurling rookies coming up are Herbie McQuaid, righthander from St. Paul; Ruel Love, another righthander from the Western League. Inset is Spencer Adams, the ex-Washington utility infielder the Yanks figure on using in a trade.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

WHAT IF HE'D WON?

One of the most interesting and at the same time most unusual sport incidents that has occurred in recent years, happened at the Fair Ground race track at New Orleans, a few days ago.

A certain race horse called Overall started in the feature race of the day and was not only strongly supported at the course but was heavily wagered on away from the track.

Imagine the consternation of the racing public both at the Crescent City and elsewhere, the next day when it was learned that the horse which started in the race and also ran, by the way, was not Overall at all but a runner called Token.

The stewards quite naturally called trainer Mose Goldblatt to the official pagoda and asked for an explanation of this most amazing situation. Surely a trainer with the years of experience that Goldblatt has had would know inimately all the thoroughbreds in his charge.

And this was his alibi: It seems that both Overall and Token, which are a portion of the eastern division of the Whitney stable, for whom Goldblatt trains, had been just shipped to him at New Orleans and that neither he nor any of his stable attaches were thoroughly familiar with the pair, which look very much alike.

When time came to bring the horse to the paddock for the big race, a groom brought out Token instead of Overall and Goldblatt claims to have saddled and sent to the post, quite innocently, Token.

The stewards then recommended that the jockey club refund the money wagered on Token, to those who had purchased certificates ostensibly on Overall. On checking up with the mutuel department it was found that more than $7,000 had been wagered on this horse, which amount Goldblatt himself promptly posted with the club for the redemption of the tickets. Inasmuch as the majority of them were torn up immediately after the race, it looks as though the club would not have to do much redeeming.

Florida, it seems, draws other things beside real estate salesmen, seekers after Ponce De Leon's fountain, motion picture companies, bathing beauties and the like. Ten of the sixteen major league clubs will do their spring training in this popular peninsula as follows: Giants, Sarasota; Dodgers, Clearwater; Braves and Yankees, St. Petersburg; Phillies, Bradentown; Reds, Orlando; Senators, Tampa; Athletics, Fort Myers; Browns, Tarpoon Springs and Indians, Lakeland.

Quite recently in a certain midwestern city, a sporting editor was asked to answer the following question: "Do nine men playing 18 holes of golf get more exercise than nine men playing a game of ball for full nine innings? The time required to play the ball game and the game of golf, is not taken into consideration." There is no doubt but what the publication of this question and the accompanying answer will create an almost nation wide discussion, but after all is said and done, it reminds us a lot of the old question, "why is a mouse when it runs?"

NATIONAL GOLF BATTLE JULY 8

Championship Tournament To Be Staged In Columbus

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The national golf championship, held last year at Worcester, Mass., the first week in June will be played more than a month later this season over the links of the Scioto club, Columbusu, Ohio. Selection of the three day period from July 8 to 10 by George Sargent, president of the professional golfer's association and instructor at Scioto was announced today.

Change in the date of the fixture will make it convenient for participation of professionals from this country in the British open, the final round of which has been fixed for June 21. Jim Barnes, who won the British title last year, expects to go over again, along with Gene Sarazan, Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Macdonald Smith and Johnny Farrell.

Dates and course for the qualifying tournaments for the American open have not been chosen.

WACO NINE AT WORK MARCH 1

Manager Del Pratt Wants Early Spring Training Start

WACO, Jan. 27.—Del Pratt, manager of the Waco Cubs of the Texas league, was in Waco this week and reported everything sitting pretty. He said he expected all the players to be on deck by March 1, as he wanted an early training start this season.

While Pratt did not seem entirely satisfied in the matter of pitchers, he said he still had hopes of landing one or two good ones and also believes one or two he had last year will be much better during the coming campaign.

Absence of Galloway leads the fans to believe Pratt will play first base during the 1926 campaign, where he will be at home. He had a great year at second, but wants a little faster man to work with the brilliant Andy Cohen.

Berlenbach Doesn't Want Mike Real Soon

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Paul Berlenbach, light heavyweight boxing champion, today informed Jess McMahon, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden that he will not fight the former title holder, Mike McTigue, before June 11, and that previous t othat date he will appear elsewhere than in New York state. Berlenbach's announcement follows a decision by the New York state athletic commission that the champion must accept the McTigue challenge before meeting any other boxer in this state. He received the customary six months in which to comply with the decision. As he met Jack Delaney on December 11 his period of grace ends in June.

Electra Loses To Archer City Team

ARCHER CITY, Jan. 27.—Archer City won a one-sided game from the Electra Tigers basketball team, by a score of 24 to 8. After the first five minutes of playing, the game was all in favor of Archer City. Larkin and Morrison of the home squad did wonderful playing, also Hodges, center.

Electra Cagers Develop Strong Defensive Team

ELECTRA, Jan. 27.—The Tiger cagers got down to work hard this week. The Tiger mentor, Jim Reese, continued to drill his men on the new defense which proved so effective against the Harold Hornets Friday night. In this game, the opponents found this defense almost unbreakable and the Hornets resorted to long shots almost entirely throughout the contest.

The locals are improving almost daily and promise to be a hard squad to sink when the tournament is staged at Iowa Park next month. The team has been considerably weak on the defense all season, but Lonnie Grisham and Silvan Cloninger have boosted the guard positions and the Tiger machine is now a strong defensive one.

The second stringers offers the regulars plenty of competition in the scrimmages, holding them to very close scores. Harry Preston, midget forward, ran wild in one contest chalking up basket after basket. Sylvan Cloninger, at forward in place of Louis Kent, who is on the injured list, also came through with a number of nice goals as did Willis Carnahan at center. Lonnie Grisham continues to wage a powerful guard game. Dennis Head, Mike Brown and Toots Gilger were the outstanding performers for the subs.

Louis Kent went on the injured list following the Friday fracas with Harold and will be out of the lineup indefinitely.

Gorman May Find Meyers More Than He Can Handle

THE CARD.

Joe Rogacki versus Nick Velcoff. Heavyweights, two falls to a finish.

Lee Meyers versus Jack Gorman. Catchweights, one hour limit.

Place—812 1-2 Scott gym. Time—8 o'clock tonight.

Rogacki has trained hard all week and declares himself in prime condition and ready to beat the tough Velcoff.

Both men are sturdy grapplers, clever and exceedingly rough. The mill is expected to prove a furious one.

The winner meets Ad Santel here Feb. 4, according to Matchmaker Ross. Each has been clamoring for a return go with Santel. The matter was settled temporarily when the promoter decided to stage tonight's elimination match. Both grapplers are determined to win tonight at all odds for the express purpose of getting another whack at Ad.

The popular Jack Gorman meets a tough one in Lee Meyers, the middleweight. In fact, it's expected to be the hardest match Jack has ever had. Meyers is one of the toughest in the game at his weight and unless something unlooked fr occurs to him to night in the way of accidental injury or anything similar he'll give Gorman the battle of his young life.

Jack has been away the past week, but he wrote in yesterday declaring himself in great shape, ready for Meyers and still rearing for a shot at Matty Matsuda. Jack's going to get his chance at the Jap sooner or later.

ODELL MAN AND WIFE REMANDED WITHOUT BOND

Were Indicted Jointly In Death of Arlie Crain, Gunshot Victim

VERNON, Texas, Jan. 27.—John Joiner and his wife, Ila B. Joiner, were ointly indicted for murder by the grand jury of the 46th district court Wednesday in connection with the fatal shooting of Arlie Crain at O'Dell Sunday morning. Shortly after the grand jury reported the indictment Joiner and his wife were arraigned before Judge Cole and plead not guilty. The trial was set for February 8, and the defendants were remanded to jail without bond.

Joiner, proprietor of a bowling alley at O'Dell, and his wife were arrested by the sheriff's force Sunday morning following the fatal shooting of Crain. Crain is alleged to have been shot just outside of the bowling alley. Ed Turner, witness of the affair, alleges that Joiner fired the fatal shot.

Mrs. Joiner is said to have made a statement to officers to the effect that she and her husband heard shots outside of the bowling alley about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, and running outside found Crain dying from a bullet wound in his right breast.

Crain's parents have employed the firm of Storey and Leak to assist District Attorney J. A. Storey in the prosecution.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The national radio manufacturing company, operating station KFJF in this city, was sued today for $20,000 damages by C. W. Friss, under sheriff of Oklahoma County, who alleges that the station had broadcast a libel against him.

The suit followed similar action yesterday for $55,000 damages against the Rev. Lincoln McConnell, pastor of a local church, in which it was alleged the minister in a sermon Sunday night had accused the under sheriff of accepting a bribe not to enforce the prohibition law.

The sermon was put on the air through KFJF.

Local attorneys said they did not know of any other previous action in which a radio broadcasting company had been sued for libel.

BROWN GETS 5 YEAR SENTENCE

Haskell, Okla., Youth Found Guilty of Transporting Stolen Auto

DALLAS, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Joe Brown, Haskell, Okla., youth under suspended sentence of five years for the slaying of Charles Swinney, aged Dallas night watchman in June, was found guilty in federal court here late yesterday of transporting a stolen automobile from Tulsa to Dallas. The verdict was returned in 10 minutes.

The district attorney announced today that when sentence is pronounced by Judge W. H. Atwell, next Saturday, he will file motion in district court that the suspended sentence in the Swinney slaying verdict be set aside and that Brown be required to serve the five years in the penitentiary. Under the Texas law the suspended sentence clause may be revoked if the defendant is convicted of a felony during the time of the suspended sentence.

It was through the attempt of Brown to sell a car believed by officers to have been stolen that the arrest of Brown and his companion, W. J. B. Goodman, Oklahoma college man resulted. Goodman was sentenced to five years for the killing. Swinney was shot to death when he accosted the pair at a late hour the night of June 9.

San Antonio Rum Runners Operate Just Like Dairymen

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 27.—(AP)—San Antonio's liquor supply is dispensed through a series of intermediate depots of delivery, which receive the liquor output of country distillers much in the manner in which dairies collect and distribute a metropolitan city's milk supply.

This information was given today by prohibition agents after they raided one of these alleged depots on "G" Street just before dawn. They captured ten gallons of whiskey already in packages for delivery to retail bootleggers behind the unsuspicious exterior of a truck, more like a milk wagon than a vehicle of liquor traffic. One man also was taken.

Ft. Worth Y. Drubs Indians 38 To 32 In Wednesday's Game

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27.—The Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. basketball five defeated the Wichita Falls Junior college Indians here by a 38 to 32 count in a fast game tonight.

The visitors had little trouble in hitting the basket when they got within range, but their passing game was not up to par and inability to handle the ball cleanly in mid-court and work it through the Y defense around the foul lines spelled defeat.

Owens, Fort Worth forward, was the principal cause of the Indians defeat. He got away for 20 points during the evening. Crites led the scoring for the invaders with 13 points.

At half time the score was 21 to 13 for Fort Worth but Wichita Falls came back in the second half and outscored their opponents. The lead, however, was too great to overcome.

Packard Develops New Air Engine

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Development of a new airplane engine by the Packard Motor company of Detroit, was announced today by the navy department as "one of the most striking engine developments of modern times.

Orders have been placed by the navy for the engine, which is said to be "one of the smoothest running, most dependable, high powered, light weight engines in existence today."

Described as a long advance over the Liberty motor, to the development of which the Packard company was an outstanding contributor, the navy announcement said "it develops half again as much power as the Liberty when subjected to tests that have in the past rendered Liberty engines unfit for further running."

Youthful Bandit Robs Hotel Clerk

HOUSTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Police were without a clue late today to the identity of the youthful bandit, who early this morning entered the Bristol hotel and forced the night clerk, H. A. Clayton, to turn over to him approximately $300 in cash.

Clayton was checking up the night's receipts when he suddenly looked up and found himself facing a pistol in the hands of a masked man, he told police. He also said that the holdup man appeared to be about 20 years old and wore a white mask.

Doctor Perfects Mechanical Cell

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A working model of a living cell, the unit of structure in all plant and animal life has been produced, according to the Scientific American. Dr. D. T. MacDougal, director of the Carnegie institution's laboratory for plant physioloby at Tucson, Ariz., is credited with the artificial production.

The man made cell, according to Dr. MacDougal, does many things a living cell does, taking up water and food material and growing and absorbing sodium and patashium selectively in a manner similar to the absorption by plants. It is the proucl of Dr. MacDougal's study of the phenomenon of life by experiments with chemical substances of the same nature as those occurring in living matter which were exposed to normal living conditions.

"It would be an exaggeration to say that Dr. MacDougal has created a living cell," said Orsen D. Munn, editor and publisher of the Scientific American. "He, however, succeeded in producing a good substitute for experimental and study progress. His cell does possess some om the properties of the living plant cell.

LUCAS, LUCILLE MAJESTIC HITS

Jimmy and His Nut Comedy Lead Patrons Merry Chase

They say there is no such thing as perpetual motion, but a live and merry gent on this week's vaudeville bill at the Majestic comes dangerously near disproving science on this score.

He is Jimmy Lucas, a foot-light favorite of long standing, who is back in Wichita Falls this season with the same old restless energy, expansive smile and rapid-fire line of chatter that has made him a headliner all over the country.

In "Vampires and Fools," he being the fool and a flashing brunette the vampire, he has just as much comedy, just as much entertainment value and just as much drawing power as ever. It is an act defying classification, for it combines fun primarily, but also includes some danceinf, some music, some pantomime, some mimickry and one seirous dramatic skit that is exceptionally good.

But while Lucas is something out of the ordinary, so are the rest of the numbers on this week's bill. Lucille Ballentine and "her four boys" for example, have a dancing act that concludes the evening in a burst of terpischorean art. The number is really remarkable for the rythm it introduces; for the synchronization of the steps of Miss Ballentine and her four partners and for the individual beauty and lithesome bounds of the star. Catchy music and colorful settings ad to the charm of the star.

To start the bill Little Pipifax, a clown-tumbler par excellence, has a comedy offering that furnishes a lively send off. Aided by two capable assistants, he falls, jumps, crawls and cackles through an amazingly clever slap-stick skit.

Double duty is done by Lona Stevens and Len D. Hollister who appeared as number two in "Back in Beverly Hills" and then later in "The Passing Parade." They have an excellent line of comedy, some good music and the ability to put both over.

Her Sister Knew

"ABOUT four years ago, I was in a dreadfully nervous state," says Mrs. John Schoonover, of Ames, Okla., whose picture is printed above. "The least thing would worry me so much that I would lose all self-control. I would jerk all over and at the end of such a spell I would be exhausted from weakness. I had no patience at all.

"At times I would get so irritated that I would go all to pieces. I became very anxious about myself, for I was growing steadily worse.

"One day my sister, who had been taking Cardui, asked me why I didn't try it. She knew from her own experience that Cardui would help me. I made up my mind to try it, so I got a bottle and began taking it.

"I can truthfully say that I began to improve almost immediately. When I had finished that first bottle, I was much better. I was so pleased with the way I was getting along that I kept up the medicine for several months. At that time I was quite well and did not need to take it any more."

Cardui is for sale at all drug stores.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The cotton market was dull today, although there was a brief spurt of activity near the close when early sellers covered rather freely. The trend of prices had been downward from the start. The market was steadier but quiet during most of the afternoon but in the final trading prices rallied sharply on covering by shorts, gaining 21 to 26 points from the lows and making new highs for the day. The close showed net gains for the day of six to eight points.

At the start Liverpool was not as good as due and first trades showed losses of one to five points. There was a rally of a few points during the call but the market started downward impelled by more or less selling due to the slack demand for spots, the decreasing exports and the character of cables. Prices reached the low points of the day before noon with March at 19.36, May at 18.77 and October at 17.43, or 7 to 15 points down compared with yesterday's close.

In the late trading ring shorts covered freely finding a scarcity of contracts and prices made new highs for the day at 19.62 for March, 19.02 for May and 17.64 for October, or 21 to 36 points up from the lows of the morning. The close was a little below the best.

The lack of demand for spots appeared to be the main bearish influence in the market. Southern markets reported little demand except for good grades which were scarce.

Exports for the day totaled 11,995 bales.

NEW YORK FUTURES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady at net advance of 5 to 11 points.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Further declines in the cotton market into today's early trading were followed by rallies. May contracts selling up from 19.37 to 19.63 and closing at 19.57, compared with 19.49 at the close of the previous day. The generally market closed steady at net advances of five to 11 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of four points. Late cables from Liverpool were steady, but failed to stimulate fresh buying here and the market worked gradually lower under near month liquidation and some southern, local and Wall Street selling. March declined to 19.31 and October to 18.04, net decrease of five to 14 points, while December sold off to 17.77, new low ground for the movement on that position.

Offerings were promoted by reports of an easier spot basis in the south and the falling off in the export movement, but no aggressive selling developed and the market steadied during the afternoon. It seemed the transactional position had improved on the decline and covering by local or Wall Street shorts in late trading may have been connected with the rally in the stock market. March sold up to 20.18 and October to 18.21 and the market closed within a few points of the best.

Business here was only moderately active, but showed improvement over the previous day, particularly on the late advance when the spurt of covering was said to be coupled with further price fixing or buying for trade account.

Exports for the day 11,995 bales making 5,258,947 so far this season against 5,301,018 last year. Port receipts today 22,250. U. S. port stocks 1,634,153 bales.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Speculative activity on the upside was resumed in today's stock market after an unsuccessful attempt of bear traders to unsettle the market at the opening by hammering U. S. Steel common because of widespread disappointment over the failure of the directors to increase the amount of the extra dividend. Steel closed ¾ lower at 133 after fluctuating between 132 and 134.

The resistance shown by the market to this early selling, prompted active short covering in other quarters, particularly in the motors, several of which scored extreme gains of one to seven points. Trading showed a substantial increase in volume, the day's sales running over 1,700,000 shares.

Trade and financial news was mixed in character. Money rates continued relatively easy with an abundance of funds available. Freight car loadings in the week ended January 16 were slightly above the corresponding week last year, and there was another sharp reduction in crude oil production last week. The weekly steel trade reviews stressed the easing price tendency but the copper trade heard predictions of substantially higher prices before summer.

The rally in stocks was led by General Motors, which was heavily bought on reports of unusually heavy automobile sales and predictions of another large extra cash dividend at the next meeting. General Motors showed a net gain of 6¾ points at 125⅝ after having touched 125¾; Houston touched 114 and then sagged to 113, where it was up 4½ points and Chrysler, Fisher Body, Mack Trucks, Moon, Murray Body, Page Detroit, Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Stewart-Warner, Studebaker, the Willys Overland issues and Yellow Truck all showed net gains of one to 3¼ points. DuPont, which owns a large block of General Motors, soared nine points to 231½.

The recovery in the general industrial list was the most impressive that has taken place this year. South Porto Rican Sugar soared over nin points to 133, the highest price on record, in reflection of the reported improvement in the sugar trade. American Brakeshoe, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, West Penn Power and Woolworth all sold six points above their previous closing quotations.

Speculative activity in the rails was confined to a few issues with Rock Island and Pittsburgh and West Virginia, each of which advanced over three points, standing out.

Foreign exchanges held steady in quiet trading. Demand sterling ruled slightly lower around $4.85¼ but French francs were firmer around 3.73 cents. Other changes were largely nominal, Japanese yen in which there has been world-wide speculation in anticipation of that country's return to the gold standard ruling around 45 cents.

LEVIATHAN ON STORMY TRIP

Captain Says Hurricane Is Worst He Has Seen In 33 Years at Sea

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—King Neptune scrawled a tempestuous dairy in the log of the steamship Leviathan, the biggest liner flying the American flag, during the voyage from Cherborug that ended today. Although gales of hurricane force, mountainous sea and violent squalls hounded the mammoth craft throughout the voyage and made it two days late, few marks were left by the fury of the storm.

Captain Herbert Hartley of the Leviathan said the hurricanes encountered were the worst he had experienced in 33 years on the sea. Yet the only damage to the Leviathan was a bent deck rail. There were no injuries reported among the 1,122 passengers. The passenger list was increased by one with the birth of a baby during the stormy voyage.

The worst weather was on Sunday when the liner made only 78 miles.

Market Gossip

Booth and Burmeister, brokers, basement Waggoner Bldg., today received the following market comment from J. S. Bache and company of Chicago and New York:

GRAINS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Wheat: Market gave a good account of itself, easing under general profit taking after an early advance. Taken as a whole the news today was more favorable to holders than for a number of weeks past, and there were unmistakable evidences that the long expected foreign demand had materialized. Liberal purchases of Argentina have been made by the United Kingdom, while Norway has been a buyer of Manitobas from the Pacific coast, and bids received by Canadian operators were much better than of late. The general under tone must be expected from time to time feel that wheat will work irregularly higher.

Coarse grains: Market unsettled and eased after showing early strength, profit taking being the main influence. No general increase in country offerings of corn noticeable and the spot basis was some what firmer with the lower grades working closer to the May. While sentiment has been decidedly bearish for some time past the market has shown stubborn resistance to pressure and is likely to continue to do so.

Rye: A little more interest is being taken in the cash rye with sales of 68,000 bushels made to exporters today, and with possibility of a very tight situation developing in wheat feel that rye is selling at a very low figure.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The market became somewhat steadier during the early afternoon session which brought about local short covering and this together with buying of May by a large spot house caused a sharp upturn of about 28 points from the low of the day.

The bulk of the business continues to be transferring of heighs by spot interests.

CLUB AGENT ILL

FREDERICK, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Eva M. Moseller, county home demonstration agent is ill, having been unable to work for the past week. L. H. Beaty, county farm agent, is caring for her work while she is out of the office.

Grain

CHICAGO CASH GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Wheat underwent something of a reaction today after the recent sharp advance. Profit taking sales on the part of holders became lively and new buying failed to provide a quick outlet. Wheat closed unsettled ⅛ to ½c net lower, May (new) $1.73¾ to $1.73¾, and July $1.50 to $1.50¼, with corn ¼ to ⅜c off; oats ¼ to ⅜ to ½c down and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 12c.

Corn and oats followed the price changes in wheat. A leading trader contended that corn at present is the same position as liberty bonds would be at $80 a hundred.

Provisions were slightly easier, influenced by the action of hog values and of corn.

ROAD MATTERS NOW MUST HAVE ENGINEER'S O.K.

Application For Aid And Designations Referred To Experts

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Reports of the hearings on applications for aid and designations to the state highway commission have been referred to the engineers in the state department and no action will be taken until their recommendations has been submitted, Hal Moseley, chairman, said today.

It was indicated at the department that this policy will be carried out from now on by the commission. It was also understood that when the county maintenance contracts expire late in the spring, that this plan of awarding contracts may be definitely abandoned.

Several hearings were held today, but no action was announced.

Conflicting contracts awarded in Fort Bend county by the county commissioners and highway commission several months ago were studied when delegates from the county appeared before the commission. Two contracting companies bid low on different materials on 15 miles of highway 15, and the dispute which arose between them is expected to be satisfactorily settled.

Judge Chester Bryan of Harris county told the commission that out of a $6,000 road bond issue to be submitted to a vote in his county, nearly $3,000,000 will be allotted state and federal highways. He asked almost $3,000,000 aid. Decision will be announced Tuesday, Moseley said.

Receiver Named for Rich Oil Lease of Empire Gas and Fuel Co. Near Electra

Luther Hoffman Appointed By Court and Bond Set At $50,000

An extraordinary situation requiring immediate action of some sort to prevent deterioration to property, rights to which are involved in another suit, was recognized by Judge Guy Rodgers in the 78th district court Wednesday morning when on the application of the Empire Gas and Fuel company he appointed a received for certain Electra oil lands, the Empire's title to which has been disputed by a former owner, the Pierce Petroleum corporation. The receivership was allowed by Judge Rodgers upon the sworn pleadings of the plaintiff alone, the representation being made it would take weeks to bring the defendant into court. Luther Hoffman, attorney of Wichita Falls, was made receiver and his bond fixed at $50,000.

Pleadings Are Read.

The pleadings as first read to Judge Rodgers by W. G. Chism, Fort Worth attorney, representing the Empire Gas and Fuel company, related lease agreement between the Empire and the odl Pirece Oil corporation on a 100-acre tract in the HT&BRRCO survey, abstract 135, near Electra, which had been made in 1922 with a division of the mineral rights on the land, one-eighth to the Pierce company and seven-eighths to the Empire, consideration involved being $30,000. Oil was subsequently discovered on the property, fifteen wells being drilled at an approximate cost of $170,000. Early in 1925 the directors of the Pierce Petroleum company, which had been formed to take over the assets of the Pierce Oil corporation, attempted to nullify the lease agreement on the ground that it had been made without proper authority and that its proper value at the time was $500,000. Notice was sent the Panhandle Refining company, which was running oil and paying for it, to discontinue the payment of the seven-eighths working interest out of the price paid for the oil to the Empire. Litigation resulted.

Refused at First.

As first read to Judge Rodgers the application for a receivership was refused, inasmuch as there were no representatives of the defendant company present to contest it, but with the insertion of a paragraph representing that officers of the company were all in New York and that it would take weeks to put the case before them and bring them to Wichita Falls, the application was granted. Judge Rodgers decreed that an extraordinary situation existed which made the appointment of a receiver without hearing the pleadings of the contestant allowable.

The property involved is producing some 400 barrels a day from deep sands.

THAW COMES WITH A ZEST

Warm Sun Wednesday Brings Rapid Melting Of Snow And Ice

The thaw, when it did come, came with all the persistence and avidity of the recent cold wave that broke most all exisiting records for frigid duration in Wichita Falls.

Wednesday was a case in point that brought still warmer weather and the flood of melting snow and ice that transformed down town streets into muddy and slush-soaked highways that were real problems to cross. The day dawned bright and warmer, and then kept up the good work until dark. The sky was cloudless, a balmy wind prevailed from the northeast and the thermometer soared again to spring heights, reaching a maximum of 62 degrees about 3 o'clock.

Mud-flecked snow still remained on the shady sides of the office buildings and where it had been raked down by heavy traffic, long ribbons of ice still clung tenaciously to the streets. This was disappearing, however, and indications were that with a continuation of the warm weather today, most of that would be gone.

A minimum temperature of 28 degrees was recorded for the day with the maximum reading at 62 and the 5 o'clock reading as 53.

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness colds, or sour, grassy stomach.?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

CHILDREN TAKE AN INTEREST IN GROWING PLANTS IN THE HOME

There is so much we can do for our children with so little effort. For instance what child does not take interest in the progress and development of a growing plant? This in itself develops an interest in the home and its appearance.
