HST Opens Throttle On Aid

BACHELORS TIRE OF CARING FOR HER—An 18-month-old baby girl, above, looks a bit uncertain in a Chicago police station after two bachelors brought the tot to police. They said they had shared baby-sitting for the child for three days. Eugene Everette, 22, said the tot was left in his hotel room by the baby's mother, whom he met shortly beforehand. Everette worked nights so he enlisted the aid of a friend who worked days. Police turned the child over to an orphanage and sought the mother. (AP Photo).

HST Rejects Plan To Invite Chiang To U.S.

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 — President Truman turned down today a suggestion that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek be invited to Washington because he does not think it practical for the Chinese leader to leave his Communist-threatened country.

At the same time, the State department announced that Madame Chiang will visit the United States, unquestionably to appeal for more aid for her country.

Rep. Bloom (D-N.Y.), who will be chairman of the House Foreign Affairs committee in the 81st Congress convening Jan. 3, placed the suggestion before the President that Chiang be invited to Washington to confer with top military, government and Congressional officials.

Informed of Plans

Bloom told newsmen after a White House conference with Mr. Truman that the Chief Executive felt it would be unwise for Chiang to leave his country while the situation is critical there. Bloom added:

"What we want are facts and we believe we could get them from the generalissimo better than from persons we send to China to get information because they stay there only a short time."

State department spokesman Michal J. McDermott said the department had been informed of Madame Chiang's impending visit but as yet was without details as to how or when she would arrive. He declined further comment.

Situation Canvassed

Meanwhile, in the course of an hour-long cabinet meeting, President Truman and his top aides canvassed the international situation, including the Communist threat to China, the continuing Berlin blockade, Palestine and other pressing issues.

Although domestic affairs were discussed, the session was devoted largely to an up-to-the-minute review of foreign problems. Secretary of State Marshall, thoroughly briefed on Asiatic affairs since his return from Paris last Monday, held the floor for the greater part of the hour. He, of course, reported on his findings at the

Woman Willing To Let Hubby Go To Moon With 'Maria'

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Thelma Tapscott obtained a divorce from Robert A. Tapscott of Decatur, Ill., today on the ground he wrote love letters to a German girl.

Mrs. Tapscott told the court her hubby was even so bold as to have her mail the letters, which were directed through a former fellow officer in the American army of occupation. She said she opened one that bespoke ardent love for one "Maria," and contained this declaration:

"Maria, I want to go with you to the moon—not for some months, but for always."

And that, said Mrs. Tapscott, is all right with her.

Officers Find Getaway Car

(Special To The Avalanche)

BIG SPRING, Nov. 26 — The stolen 1941 Pontiac in which five men escaped last night after a $20,000 robbery of a T. J. Tidwell Carnival warehouse was found today about a half mile from the scene of the holdup, Chief of Police Pete Green said.

The car was parked near a government housing project located between the Big Spring municipal air port and town, where a young girl said she saw several men abandon it last night. They then got into another car ond drove off, she said.

Fingerprints Taken

Two men burst into winter quarters of the carnival at the airport about 8:50 p.m. Thursday and held guns on two women and four men employes, while two more men hammered apart two safes, with sledgehammers. The fifth man remained outside the building and directed operations through the door.

Green said law enforcement officers were checking today into the whereabouts of several former carnival employes said to fit the descriptions of the holdup men, and fingerprints were taken of at least eight persons. Several others, mostly carnival personnel, were questioned.

Mrs. Everett Morris, wife of the ride superintendent of the carnival, said that the show went into winter quarters about four weeks ago. She stated that she understood it was not "unusual" for large sums of money to be in the safes. Most of the money taken was believed to be in bills. The small change was in paper rolls.

It was believed that the quick abandonment of the stolen car explained failure of road blocks to halt the suspects. Road blocks were set up within 20 minutes after the robbery on highways leading from Big Spring to Midland, Lamesa, Colorado City and Sterling City, Chief Green said.

At the same time officers were alerted over a wide area by short-wave radio to be on the lookout for the fleeing bandits.

Speed-Up In Spending For Europe Set

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—President Truman today ordered full speed ahead on European recovery. He authorized use of the full $4,000,000,000 in Marshall plan grants by next April 2.

The action shortens by three months the period for which the money was appropriated.

It means that the new Congress will be asked for a supplemental appropriation —about $1,250,000,000, by estimate of Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul G. Hoffman—to carry ECA through June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Big Push Urged

Hoffman has stated ECA will spend at a slower rate in the next fiscal year, but so far has given no estimate.

The ECA administrator disclosed last month he would seek the speed-up and, in fact, has geared his spending to that expectation.

Hoffman told reporters that "substantial" progress now is being made in boosting European production and exports, and that "now is the time to hit and hit hard for recovery."

Congress last April 3 voted the $4,000,000,000 for recovery grants plus another $1,000,000,000 for repayable loans. It specified that up to next July 1—or 15 months—the money should cover costs except that the President might authorize its use in 12 months if he deemed it necessary.

HST Okays Request

The White House disclosed that Hoffman asked for the speed-up on October 29. His letter declared it to be ECA's judgement that only such action would meet "the pressing minimum needs" of the 16 Marshall plan countries, the Allied zones of Germany, and Trieste.

Mr. Truman's reply was dated today. It said:

"After considering your recommendation, I deem it necessary, in order to carry out the purposes of the Economic Cooperation act of 1948, that the entire $4,000,000,000 be made available as recommended by you."

Charles G. Ross, Mr. Truman's press secretary, said the speed-up did not apply to the $275,000,000 China aid program, separately administered by ECA.

The Chinese appropriation was

Beach Area Marked By Heavy Fighting

THE first report came from the airborne units I had visited only a few hours earlier and was most encouraging in tone. As the morning wore on it became apparent that the landing was going fairly well. Montgomery took off in a destroyer to visit the beaches and to find a place in which to set up his own advanced headquarters. I promised to visit him on the following day.

Operations in the Utah area which involved the co-ordination of the amphibious landing with the American airborne operation, proceeded satisfactorily, as did those on the extreme left flank. The day's reports, however, showed that extremely fierce fighting had developed in the Omaha sector. That was the spot, I decided, to which I would proceed the next morning.

Made Visit To Area

During the course of the day I made a tour along all the beaches, finding opportunities to confer with principal commanders, including Montgomery. Toward evening and while proceeding at high speed along the coast, our destroyer ran aground and was so badly damaged that we had to change to another ship for the return to Portsmouth.

The next few days thoroughly taxed the soundness of the build-up plan that had been so patiently devised over many months. On the whole it stood the strain exceedingly well, but here and there emergency conditions of the battlefield demanded minor changes in plan and my location at Portsmouth enabled these to be executed swiftly and smoothly.

WE soon learned that strain had also been developing in Washington during the long pre-invasion period of preparation. We were scarcely well on the beaches when General Marshall, Admiral King, General Arnold and a group from their respective staffs arrived in England.

I arranged to take them into the beachhead during the day of June 12. Their presence, as they roamed around the areas with every indication of keen satisfaction, was heartening to the troops. The importance of such visits by the high command, including, at

Reds Score U.S. Aid To Greece

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 26—Russian bloc delegates charged today that the United States "is waging war against the Greek people" and conducting an economic cold war on eastern Europe. Some of the other delegates in the United Nations Assembly slept through the harangues.

The assembly sided with the United States on the economic aid issue. It voted 33 to 6 against a Polish resolution which western delegates said looked innocent but actually was a condemnation of American support of the European recovery program (ERP).

Hector McNeil, Britain's acting foreign secretary, was among those who dozed off when Ales Bebler of Yugoslavia began an attack on American policies in Greece. Speaking loudly in French Bebler declared:

Aid To Greece Hit

"I.. short, the United States of America is waging war against the Greek people. They (the U.S.) are doing it openly before the eyes of the whole world." He took the view that the present anti-Communist Greek government does not represent the Greek people.

Lt. Gen. James Van Fleet, head of the American military mission, is present at all meetings of the Greek defense council, the Yugoslav continued. The national Greek army is "teeming" with U. S. officers known as liaison officers and war is being waged with the tacit approval of the United Nations, Bebler said.

He called on the assembly to reject a political committee resolution which condemns Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria for helping the Communist rebels in Greece.

The assembly also has before it a Russian proposal intended to directly counter the political com-

Jews Insist On Armistice Before Freeing Egyptians

PARIS, Nov. 26. (AP)—Israel insisted tonight that Egypt must agree to armistice talks before the Jews free 1,200 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja in the Negev.

Aubrey S. Eban of Israel told the Security Council's seven-nation Palestine committee that his government was willing to review the entire Negev situation. But first, he said, Egypt must accept the council's November 16 resolution asking Arabs and Jews to negotiate on an armistice throughout the Holy Land.

Israel formally accepted the call for armistice talks today. There have been no replies from the Arab states.

Opposition Rises To Coastal Pact

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Opposition to a new tentative wage agreement to end the paralyzing East Coast waterfront tie-up arose here tonight and was reported developing in three other major Atlantic ports.

The first organized opposition to the pact developed in Brooklyn where a police-reported 2,000 AFL longshoremen decided at a meeting to reject the proposed contract when they vote tomorrow, the official date for balloting among East Coast dock workers.

They represented some 13,000 dock workers in 13 Brooklyn locals.

Hope For Approval

Their action came as the nation's strike-bound shipping industry hoped for an affirmative vote from East and West Coast maritime unions to begin early normal operations.

A "yes" vote by some 92,000 union members on proposed wage pacts was needed to bring an end to the East and West Coast dock workers' strikes and free some 500 vessels from their piers.

A previous East Coast contract, which called for a 10-cent hourly wage boost, was rejected earlier this month, setting off the current waterfront tieup.

Ending of the strikes would re-

Blind Austin Woman Found Burned To Death In Home

AUSTIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—A blind, elderly Austin woman was burned to death in her home here today.

Mrs. Joe Mayfield, about 70, was found dead on her kitchen floor beside a sink that had evidently fallen from its bracket as she tried to extinguish her flaming clothes.

City Detective Marion M. Lee said that Mrs. Mayfield had evidently been using the telephone when a nearby gas heater ignited her clothes.

Cool Front Due To Strike Area Today

A mild cool front, bearing strong winds and dust, is expected to hit the Lubbock area at 8 or 9 a. m. today, the weather station north of the city, forecast Friday night.

The weatherman said, however, the temperature would drop very little during the day, and forecast a maximum reading this afternoon of 55 or 60 degrees. The minimum Sunday morning is expected to be 26 degrees. A maximum of 60 to 65 is forecast for Sunday afternoon. Partly cloudy skies are expected today and tomorrow.

The minimum reading Friday morning was 27 degrees, and the maximum 61 degrees.

The Associated Press reported most of Texas enjoyed Indian summer weather yesterday as fair skies and rising temperatures let most overcoats spend the day in the hall closet.

A few showers in widely scattered areas offered but temporary threats of wet weather.

The high for the day was 92 degrees in Brownsville—a record there—compared with a maximum of only 55 degrees in Clarendon.

Other maximums included Amarillo with 57 degrees, Big Spring 68, El Paso 65, San Antonio 80, Laredo 84, Del Rio 79, Corpus Christi 88, Houston 78, and Tyler 74.

Houston reported .17 inches of rain and Galveston had .13. Beaumont reported an afternoon shower totaling .06 inches. Dallas had .01, Waco .03, Lufkin .03, and Tyler .01.

"OLDS" PRICES BOOSTED

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 26 (AP) — General Motors corporation tonight boosted prices on some of its 1949 Oldsmobile cars and announced that production of two "Olds" series—the '66' and '68'—would be discontinued for 1949.

Additional Mail Service Okayed

Mounted mail deliveries in several additions outside of the Lubbock city limits is expected to begin shortly after the first of the year. Postmaster Amos H. Howard said Friday approval of the service had been given by the first assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C.

The next step is to get streets and houses in the areas properly numbered, said the postmaster, who urged that residents of the areas wait until they are notified officially of opening of the service before they begin giving street and house numbers for use on mail.

Areas To Be Included

Representatives of both the postoffice department and the City of Lubbock expressed interest in the naming of streets and numbering of houses in accordance with streets and numbers within the city limits.

The areas for which mounted service has been approved are Clayton-Carter addition and Carter-Coffee development, Flake subdivision, Edwards and Moore tracts, Simpson tracts, Whitehead subdivision, Morrow subdivision, Putty tracts, Stratton subdivision, Butler Estates subdivision and Suburban Homes development.

Postmaster Howard estimated that approximately 923 families live in those areas. The families now are receiving mail under different arrangements, including rural routes, by general delivery and in boxes at the postoffice.

Under the new plan, postmen in cars or trucks would deliver mail

WACO, Nov. 26. (AP)—A search for a plane with three passengers, missing since Nov. 18, centered today in a 30-mile flying strip between here and Houston.

The single-engine plane was last heard from when it established radio contact with the Waco airport while enroute to New Orleans via Houston from Mineral Wells, a health resort.

Teachers Back New Program

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 26—Texas teachers today commended the Gilmer-Aiken committee for its study and recommendations for reform in the state's public schools.

Without a dissenting vote they approved the committee's work in general, but withheld opinions on each of the report's 33 points until they could study them more.

The action was made at a house of delegates meeting of the Texas State Teachers association.

Humphrey Named Head

Joe Humphrey, principal from Abilene, was named as president of the organization, following a count of ballots the members cast several weeks ago. He succeeds Miss Emma Mae Brotze of Marshall.

Miss Waurine Walker of Waco was elected first vice-president; Luther Burkett of Wichita Falls was named second vice-president; and Mrs. Haydon Sypert of Pasadena was elected third vice-president.

The Gilmer-Aiken commendation resolution was strengthened by an amendment offered by W. T. White, superintendent of Dallas schools.

"I approve of everything that resolution offered," said White in adding his amendment to the resolution. "But we need to be more positive in our approval of the Gilmer-Aiken committee. I don't mean we have to approve everything in it, because each point will have to be interpreted before it is presented to the legislature. But the proposals are in line with what we would like to see achieved."

He then added this to the resolution: "We recommend that the house of delegates of the Texas State Teachers association endorse in general the Gilmer-Aiken committee reserving for further and more exhaustive study the detail with respect to methods and procedures through which the gener-

Suits Filed To Block Oil Field Shutdowns

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 26—Seven suits were in 98th district court tonight seeking to block the railroad commission from shutting in certain Texas oil fields for alleged wasteful flaring of gas.

The clerk's office was kept open after regular hours to admit three of the suits.

They were brought by Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company and others to halt the shut-in of the Fullerton field, Andrews county; the Honolulu Oil and Gas corporation and others, for the Slaughter field, Hockley and Terry counties; and Stanolind Oil and Gas corporation and others, for the Levelland field, Hockley field.

Others Filed Earlier

Other suits filed earlier included one by the Flour Bluff Oil corporation and others for the Flour Bluff oil field in Nueces county, one by the Humble company for the Tijernia-Canales-Blucher oil field in Kleberg and Jim Wells counties, one by the Magnolia Petroleum company and others for the La Gloria oil field in Jim Wells and Brooks counties, and one which had been filed Wednesday by Sterling Oil company and others for the Heyser field in Calhoun and Victoria counties.

The Fullerton field suit alleged present plans to construct a plant to permit sale of the presently flared gas. Completion was estimated by March 1, 1950.

Gas Sale Contract Signed

The Slaughter field suit petition said a plant to process the gas is under construction and a contract signed for the sale of the gas to the El Paso Natural Gas corporation. The Levelland suit said a contract has been let in an effort to secure the erection of a gas processing plant.

Hearing in the Heyser field suit, the Flour Bluff suit, and the Tijernia - Canales - Blucher suit were set by Judge Charles O. Betts for Nov. 30. Hearing on all other suits were set for Dec. 1.

Chu Fong Laughs As Bandit Flees With Jap Money

Bond Posted By Shooting Suspect

Ray Cisnero, 18, a Mexican, charged with assault with intent to murder Alfonso (Pancho) Urtado, 20, of 123 Ave. M, Friday posted $2,500 examining trial bond set by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

Urtado was critically shot about 9 p. m. Thursday at the Llanos theater at Fifteenth and Ave. G, two slugs from a .32 caliber pistol entering his body. One bullet had gone completely through the chest from one side to the other, and the other slug entered his back.

The shooting victim was reported in fair but still critical condition last night at Lubbock Memorial hospital where he had undergone surgery shortly before midnight Thursday.

Arrested At Farm Home

Cisnero, who declined to press charges against Urtado after having been cut with a knife September 17 at a fiesta here, was arrested by Texas Ranger Razz Renfrow and Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson, both of Lubbock, at the Garza county farm residence of Cisnero's father.

Urtado was jailed in connection with the September 17 knife assault on Cisnero, and served 45 days in county jail on a reduced charge of aggravated assault. He

New Premier Takes Office In China

NANKING, Nov. 26. (AP) — As Communist armies edged closer to Nanking's Yangtze river barrier today, Sun Fo became premier of the uneasy Chinese government.

Elevation of this son of Sun Yat Sen, "father" of the Chinese republic, might be the first step towards creation of a "war cabinet" to try to cope with the critical military situation.

Some observers, however, said Sun apparently took the job because President Chiang Kai-Shek could not get anybody else to do so. This was the case when the outgoing Premier Wong Wen-Hao was chosen six months ago.

Sun Fo has been president of the legislative Yuan since 1932. He has close support of the rightist clique, but is not generally regarded as a "strong man." The legislative Yuan approved his appointment, 228 to 44.

The legislative Yuan also voted to send an appeal to the United States Congress for military and economic aid, dubbing the Communists the instruments of an "international aggressive bloc."

UNION CHIEF TO FIGHT REDS

Murray Re-Elected CIO Head By Parading, Cheering Delegates

By MATT KRAMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 26—Parading, cheering CIO delegates today re-elected as president a stern Philip Murray who asserted he would never "permit Communistic infiltration into the national CIO."

Gone was Murray's former peace-making role as the 600-odd delegates wound up their annual convention by re-electing all officers by acclamation. For Murray, it is the start of his ninth year.

Murray warned what Communists remain in the CIO to "cease and desist" their Communistic propaganda, and then appealed to all CIO unions to take care of any violators.

The final day of the week-long convention also saw Murray make a friendly gesture toward the AFL. He reiterated his invitation to the AFL to confer on economic and political problems, but this time in conciliatory terms without any of the sarcasm that sometimes accompanied previous invitations. It was clear, though, that he was not accepting an AFL invitation to merge.

Murray also announced he intended to push at once an inten-

Truman, Housing Chief Discuss Plans To Boost Home Building

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—President Truman and the government housing chief today talked over plans to get more roofs over American heads as quickly and cheaply as possible.

Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley said after the White House conference that they had discussed ways to get quick aid from both Congress and private industry to boost production and cut prices.

Later, the government's housing and home finance agency said it was making progress in a plan to standardize building codes and materials.

This plan, Foley explained, is to help private industry by making available to it technical know-how worked up through government research.

Foley's talk with Mr. Truman today centered around a four-point program which is to be offered to Congress probably in January:

1. Federal aid for low-rent housing projects for low-income families.

2. Federal loans and grants for slum clearance.

3. Federal aid to farmers for

Three Slightly Hurt In Highway Accident

An automobile collision about a mile outside Lubbock on the Littlefield highway at 7:45 a.m. Friday resulted in non-critical injuries to three persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Whitley of Grady, N. M., and George F. Jackson of Anton were taken by Plains Funeral home ambulance to West Texas hospital, where a physician reported Whitley to have suffered a broken knee cap and contusions of the chest. Mrs. Whitley and Jackson were less seriously hurt, both suffering contusions and abrasions.

Whitley was driver of a 1946 Ford in which Mrs. Whitley and Jackson were passengers at the time of the accident, highway patrolmen reported. The car was going toward Lubbock when a 1937 Chevrolet, driven by Barney James Mecasky, which was going toward Littlefield, turned left into the path of the Ford.

Whitley swerved his car toward the bar ditch, where it collided with the Chevrolet just off the pavement, patrolmen said. Mecasky, listed as an itierant laborer, and two companions escaped injury.

Patrolmen estimated damage to the front of the Whitley-driven car, said to be owned by J. M. Jackson of Anton, at $500, and damage to the rear of Mecasky's vehicle at $300.

Mecasky, who had been charged by highway patrolmen with making a left turn when such action could not be safely accomplished, was acquitted of the charge late Friday by a jury which heard the case in justice court of C. E. Lynn.

Mecaskey pleaded his own case before the jury. Presecution was by Winston Brummett, assistant county attorney.

SPEAKS HERE THIS WEEK-END — R. G. Le Tourneau above, of Longview, the industrialist who spends a major portion of his time talking before religious groups over the nation, is scheduled for three talks in Lubbock this weekend. Two of the talks, tonight at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m., both at the First Baptist church, are open to the general public. Mr. Le Tourneau will also speak Sunday morning at the church. His appearances here are sponsored by the Baptist Brotherhood. He is scheduled to arrive here this afternoon by private plane. The Wayland College choir will sing at tonight's program.

Man, Woman Sought For Giving Levelland Merchants Bad Checks

LEVELLAND, Nov. 26 (Special)—A man and his woman companion who Thursday "flooded" Levelland with bad checks had not been apprehended late tonight.

Police and county officials outside Hockley county Friday were asked to broadcast a description of the suspect pair. The man was believed to be about 35, 6 feet tall and 160 pounds. The woman was described as about 30, stockily built and having light complexion. They were believed to be in a 1946 blue Plymouth automobile.

City Marshal Ed Hofacket was informed that the man represented himself to be owner of two drilling rigs that "have just moved into the county," and the checks were given at service stations, grocery stores and at least one jewelry store, it was reported.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

McKINNEY, Nov. 26 (U.P) — A pre-dawn fire, believed caused by defective electrical wiring, today destroyed the Aunt Betty bakery plant on the north edge of McKinney city limits. Damage was estimated at $135,000 by owner Bill Finney, who said the plant would be rebuilt.

Federal Court Hears Compensation Suit

Trial of a workmen's compensation suit brought by Joe Bailey of Odessa against the Associated Indemnity company was started in U. S. District court before District Judge Joe B. Dooley and a jury Friday afternoon. The hearing is expected to continue through this morning.

Suit was brought by Bailey, a tank company employee, claiming total and permanent disabilities because of an accident suffered in a fall in Gaines county, March 17, 1947.

John Watts of Odessa is representing Bailey. Crenshaw, Dupree Milam and Crenshaw are defense counsel.

Although a jury answered two special issues in favor of the plaintiff in the $177,000 damage action of A. E. Gibson against the Lamesa Cotton Oil company, Judge Dooley sustained a previous motion for an instructed verdict and ordered the jury to return a verdict by direction of the court.

"There are certain points in litigation that from the standpoint of law require that a verdict be rendered for the defendant," Judge Dooley declared in open court.

Gibson, who suffered the loss of his left leg in an accident in the oil mill plant, was represented by Bob Huff, Lamesa attorney. James Little, Big Spring attorney, and Dupree, represented the cotton oil concern.

Huff said an appeal would be filed with the circuit court.

Chest Fund Total Is Reported At $73,944

A Friday count showed that $73,944.03 had been submitted to the Community Chest drive, leaving $23,555.97 still to be raised if the chest is to meet its goal of $97,500

Meeting earlier this week, the board of directors of the Community Chest postponed a decision on whether to reorganize the campaign and make more extensive solicitation among those who have not contributed, or scale down budgets of participating agencies. The directors probably will meet again early next week to make their decision, it was announced at the Community Chest office.

In the meantime, any business firm which has never received a kit containing supplies for conducting a drive among its employes was asked to telephone the Community Chest office, 6864. Business firms which have raised funds for the chest also were asked to telephone 6864, if a worker has not called to collect the funds.

For a night or morning cleansing, apply Pearls in Wine (Transforming) Combination Cream liberally. Massage for a minute or two. Wash off with plain cold water. Dry. Use no soap while making this test.

For lubricating the skin at night, after cleansing apply a small amount of cream and allow it to remain. In the morning apply a small amount of cream and remove for a powder base.

One remarkable ingredient in Pearls in Wine Combination Cream gives it its unusual cleansing properties, far beyond that of soap and water. Another ingredient helps to velvetize the skin surface.

Raiders Travel To Abilene For Clash With H-SU Today

College Grid Season Slated To End Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — With scattered Thanksgiving Day contests out of the way, the '48 college football campaign reaches a rousing conclusion tomorrow, headlined by the annual Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia.

After that they will close down the training tables except at those favored institutions whose sons have been tapped for special honor and glory on New Year's day.

From the standpoint of uncertainty of the result and richness of the prize at stake, a battle at Athens between Georgia Tech and Georgia probably is the day's outstanding event Georgia, unbeaten in the Southeastern Conference, has a good chance for a bid to the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans if it can overcome the Engineers.

The North Carolina Tarheels, who trimmed Georgia in an early-season game and are said to be regarded with favor by both Sugar Bowl and Cotton Bowl officials, appear to have a romp against Virginia at Charlottesville.

Oklahoma's galloping Sooners, already champions of the Big Seven and apparently bound for a Jan. 1 appearance either in the Sugar Bowl or the Orange Bowl at Miami—probably the latter—are solid favorites to plant the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater.

Michigan, acclaimed the nation s No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll of sports writers, finished up last week, but Notre Dame, the undefeated No. 2, has a Saturday date with the Washington Huskies at South Bend. It looks easy for the Irish, who still have a Dec. 4 date to fill against Southern California at Los Angeles.

Michigan State's supercharged Spartans, who have not scored fewer than 40 points in their last four games, face the nation's top "spoilers" in the Santa Clara Bronchos out on the coast. The Bronchos handed both Oklahoma and Nevada their only defeats this season but it is doubtful they can handle the Spartans, who have their ears cocked for a bowl bid.

Penn State, whose bowl stock plummeted after last week's loss to Pittsburgh, also is out west to play Washington State, while Nebraska invades Oregon State. California and Northwestern, matched to meet in the bowl game which spawned all the others, finished their schedules last week.

Unbeaten Clemson, winner of the Southern Conference crown, is expected to wind up in a blaze of touchdowns against Auburn and then accept an invitation to play somewhere on New Year's Day.

Other games include: Tulane at Louisiana State, Mississippi State at Mississippi, Florida at Alabama, Villanova at North Carolina State, Tennessee at Vanderbilt, Virginia Military at Virginia Tech, William and Mary vs Arkansas at Little Rock, Texas Tech at Hardin-Simmons, Detroit at Tulsa, Maryland at West Virginia, Holy Cross at Boston College, Fordham at N. Y. U., and Marquette vs Arizona at Phoenix.

15,000 Homecomers Expected To See Game Of The Year In West Texas; Tech Slight Favorite

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

ABILENE, Nov. 26—The irrestible force of Hardin-Simmons tonight was poised for the meeting with the immovable force of Texas Tech here tomorrow afternoon at 2 on the Fair Ground stadium turf in a game that has no bearing on the Border Conference race, but which will attract 15,000 Homecoming fans to the game of the year in West Texas.

The Red Raiders from Lubbock enter the game with a strong defense, a light offense and the mantle of favorites in this 15th clash between the two colleges. The Raiders hold the edge in the series started in 1926, when the teams played a scoreless tie, Tech taking seven victories, Hardin-Simmons five and two ending in deadlocks.

Off the season's records, Tech deserves the favorite's role tomorrow. They beat badly a Texas Mines eleven that was tied by the Cowboys and they whitewashed an Arizona crew that scored a one-touchdown victory over Hardin-Simmons. The Cowboys could be favored on scores against WTSTC and New Mexico, both of whom were beaten worse by the Cowboys. But this is a traditional game and past scores mean nothing.

Teams In Fair Shape

Both teams will be without the services of at least one player. Tech lost Guard Milburn Haydon, while Fullback Bud Conley retains a sore right heel. Tackle John Andrews and End Luke Thompson have cracked ribs and Tackle Don Williams has a sprained ankle.

Hardin-Simmons definitely has lost Nolan Harvey, their great halfback, but otherwise the Cowboys are in top physical condition.

Tomorrow's battle definitely will be one between a team with a great offensive record—Hardin-Simmons—and one with equally as fine a defensive mark—Texas Tech. The Cowboys have amassed a total of 201 points in seven games, while giving up 125. The Raiders have scored only 184 points in nine games, while allowing the opposition 115.

Cowboys Offense-Minded

In conference play, the figures are a little different. The Cowboys have scored 160 points in five loop games and have allowed 97 points. Tech has scored only 110 points in four games, but the Raiders have held the opposition to 13 points.

Comparative scores, which mean nothing come 2 p.m. tomorrow, give Tech the edge in two games and the edge to the Cowboys in two. Tech beat Arizona, which beat Hardin-Simmons and the Raiders beat Texas Mines, which gave up two last quarter touchdowns to the Cowboys for a 27-27 tie.

A truer estimate of Cowboy strength can be found in the comparative scores of Cincinnati and Tulane. The Hardin-Simmons crew held Cincinnati to a 7-7 tie and Tulane, the great Southern power, was able to beat Cincinnati only 6-0.

Coach Warren B. Woodson will attempt to steer the Cowboys to victory tomorrow, not only to protect an unbeaten home record that runs to seven years, but also to keep his winning percentage high. Since he went to the Abilene school, Woodson's teams have won 83 per cent of their games with 34 victories, six defeats and two ties.

Coach Dell Morgan, the old master of the T formation, will seek to avenge the 1946 licking by Hardin-Simmons when he took a heavily favored Raider eleven to Abilene for a 21-6 defeat, one of the worst in the series.

Regardless of pre-game dope, the fans today expect to see a high-scoring battle, with both teams geared to a high pitch for this traditional meeting.

Boxing Commission Suspends Graziano

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 26. (AP)—Rocky Graziano has been suspended indefinitely from boxing in California, Joe Genshlea, secretary of the State Boxing Commission, said today.

Genshlea said the Commission took the action as the result of Graziano's "running out" on a fight Dec. 1 in Oakland with Fred Apostoli.

The Commission also asked the National Boxing Association to bar Graziano from fighting anywhere in the United States.

The boxer will be given a hearing Dec. 8 in Los Angeles if he desires, to make any statements as to why the California ban should not be made permanent, Genshlea said.

Earl Turner has been substituted to battle Apostoli.

Winless Navy Faces Cadet Eleven Today

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26—America's newly-pledged equality of its armed forces will be suspended for 60 minutes tomorrow in Philadelphia's municipal stadium while Army gives Navy a solid trouncing in football.

At least that's what the gambler's and 102,000 expected witnesses—with the exception of the Navy rooters—think will happen when the unbeaten Badets collide with an Annapolis squad that hasn't won a game since early last season. Navy has lost 13 in a row.

Brass Hats On Display

President Truman, who may secretly like the underdog, and a good percentage of the military and diplomatic brass of the U.S. will be on hand for this 59th meeting of the service academies. Army has won 26 of the games, Navy 19 and 3 ended in ties.

Red Blaik, of Army, has been concentrating this week on puncturing what he believes is a dangerous case of over-confidence within his countless teams. He told his future college presidents last Tuesday that that would be their final scrimmage before the test. But the following day he had them swatting each other around again because of what he called their dull performance in the scheduled final pre-game brawl.

Navy Teams In Rut

Navy took some heart this week with the announcement, from its clinic, that Bill Hawkins will be ready. He and Pistol Pete Williams, Ribs Baysinger and Al McCully also are expected to give restless moments to those who are laying the 20 points which favor Army.

The last Navy victory came in 1943, by a score of 13-0. That happened to be Navy's fourth straight victory. Something happened to the Navy squad after that, and although there have been changes in personnel and in the coaching department, nobody has since found the correct answer.

Three Games To End SWC Football Season

Arkansas To Meet William And Mary

(By The Associated Press)

The Southwest Conference football campaign reaches its close Saturday with three games—none of them meaning anything in the championship race.

Southern Methodist already has the title and will be playing Texas Christian at Dallas just to settle a bitter rivalry for another year.

Rice and Baylor get together at Houston to see which occupies third place in the final standings.

Southern Methodist faces the prospect of meeting tough Texas Christian without its All-America back, Doak Walker. Walker still is favoring a bruised leg suffered in the game with Arkansas last week and hasn't worked out a single time since then.

Texas Christian can wind up in a tie for fifth place in the Conference standings by upsetting Southern Methodist.

Crowds totaling better than 90,000 will see the two conference games, with 67,000 expected at Dallas and 25,000 at Houston.

Arkansas, which has finished its Conference slate, winds up the season at Little Rock against William and Mary in an intersectional game.

Notre Dame May Set New Records Today

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 26. (INS)—Notre Dame tonight sighted the two great new records that will come automatically tomorrow if the fighting Irish defeat the University of Washington.

The Irish are prohibitively favored to do just that, and thereby run their winning streak to 21 games and their unbeaten string to 27. In beating Northwestern its last time out, Notre Dame tied the old marks of 20 and 26 set by Irish elevens of 1929-30-31.

Barring unfortunate weather, Notre Dame also will be playing before its 23rd consecutive sellout crowd.

Miami Gets Bids To Basin, Cigar Bowls

OXFORD, O., Nov. 26 (AP)—The Miami university football team has been invited to play both at the Cigar Bowl, Tampa, Fla., and the Basin Bowl at Odessa, Texas, New Year's Day.

No decision on the invitations will be made until next Monday, when the players return from their Thanksgiving holiday, it was stated They will make the decision.

Miami officials did not know who might be the opponent at the Cigar Bowl, but understood Hardin-Simmons would be the opponent at the Basin Bowl, which will have its inaugural game come Jan. 1.

Miami won seven games, lost to Dayton university, 7-0, and tied with the University of Virginia this season.

Oregon Gets Cotton Bowl Invitation

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 27. (AP)—Dan Garza, left end on the University of Oregon football team, said tonight Oregon had received an invitation to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on New Year's Day.

"We have the invitation," Garza said, "but we're waiting for the conference vote."

He was referring to the ten member schools of the Pacific Coast Conference, who must authorize a New Year's Day Bowl appearance.

Garza—co-captain of the team and the only Texan on the Webfoot squad—said the team voted unanimously yesterday to accept the Cotton Bowl invitation, if the Conference schools approve it.

University of Oregon officials, apparently disliking to make any statement on a question which the conference as a whole must approve, declined to confirm or deny the Cotton Bown invitation.

"No comment" was Athletic Director Leo Harris' remark when asked if the team had received the Bowl bid.

Monahans Lobos Win Victory Over Rotan

SWEETWATER, Nov. 26. (Special.)—Monahans' brilliant halfback, swivel-hipped Waldo Young, scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns to give the Lobos a 13-0 bi-district Class A victory over the Rotan Yellowhammers here tonight.

The undefeated, untied Monahans eleven represented District 5-A, while the Rotan gridders represented 6-A. The win gave Monahans the right to battle Ballinger in the regional tilt of the playoff to a Class A state championship.

Rotan, defeated earlier this season by the Lobos in a non-conference game, played Monahans on even terms for three quarters. But on the second play of the final stanza Young climaxed a long march with a three-yard line plunge to paydirt.

Late in the period the green-clad Lobo powerhouse started another drive deep into Rotan territory, and Young smashed five yards for the tally with only five seconds remaining in the game.

Missouri Accepts Bid To Play In Third Annual 'Gator Bowl

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP)—The University of Missouri today accepted a bid to play in the third annual 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., January 1.

The announcement was made by Prof. Sam Shirky, faculty representative, after a meeting of the university's committee on intercollegiate athletics.

Opponent of the Big Seven Conference runner-up is not known.

REDS SELL WILLIAMS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26. (AP)—Dewey Williams, catcher, was sold outright today by the Cincinnati Reds to the Tulsa club in the Texas league.

WALKER HAS BADLY BRUISED LEG

SMU Goes After Undefeated SWC Season In Tilt With TCU Today

DALLAS, Nov. 26. (AP)—Southern Methodist goes after an undefeated Southwest Conference season tomorrow against a bitter rival, Texas Christian's downtrodden but dangerous Horned Frogs.

The windup of the Methodist's second straight championship drive may find their greatest star sitting on the bench. Doak Walker, All-America back, has a badly bruised leg that has prevented his working out all week.

Coach Matty Bell said today that it would not be kown whether Walker could play until game time tomorrow in the Cotton Bowl when the great back tests the injured leg. He was hurt in the Arkansas game last week.

It was Walker who brought Southern Methodist its thrilling 19-19 tie with Texas Christian last year and gave SMU the championship.

It has been five years since Texas Christian was able to beat SMU but the Horned Frogs always have been toughest when down in the standings. This time they are next to last.

A sell-out crowd of over 67,000 is predicted for the game. Almost 66,000 tickets had been sold today and it was anticipated that the remainder would go before game time.

Southern Methodist won the Conference championship yesterday when Texas was tied by Texas A. and M. 14-14. The Methodists could lose tomorrow and still be kings.

BOTH CLUBS BOTHERED BY INJURIES

Rice, Baylor Tangle Today To Determine Third Place In SWC

HOUSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Third place in final Southwest Conference standings will be at stake tomorrow as Rice and Baylor close their campaigns before an anticipated 25,000 fans.

Conference records of the two teams are the same, three victories and two defeats, but they were compiled in opposite manners.

Baylor won over Arkansas, Texas A. & M. and Texas Christian before bowing to Texas and Southern Methodist, while Rice began by losing to Southern Methodist and Texas before winning convincingly from Arkansas, Texas A. & M. and Texas Christian.

Heavy rain fell in Houston last night and today but the sky began to clear in the afternoon. The field has been covered since Wednesday.

Both clubs have been bothered by injuries in recent weeks, but neither coach today listed players who definitely will not play.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice said Gerald Weatherly, named the Conference's outstanding lineman last week, will replace All-Conference Center Joe Watson, who has had leg ailment several weeks.

John Kelly, regular right halfback, missed contact work in practice this week because of a leg injury.

Coach Bob Woodruff of Baylor said Guard Bentley Jones and reserve Fullback Frank Boydstun received minor injuries against S.M.U. last Saturday but probably will play.

Trade With Russia

MANY Americans in all walks of life doubtless share in some degree the contention of the American Federation of Labor that the United States and all democratic powers should halt trading with Russia until the Berlin blockade is lifted.

Majority opinion probably does not go as far as the A. F. of L. "demand" for a total embargo. Most people recognize, and are restrained by the possibility that a step so drastic might bring war nearer, if not precipitate it. They recognize, too, that limited trade with Russia may be important to many of the democracies which are striving to become self-supporting once more. In fact, some have made clear they would not join in such an embargo, regardless of what the U. S. might do.

No one denies apparently that most materials going to Russia could be put to vital war uses. Probably the trading includes commodities which should not be allowed a potential enemy under any consideration.

But logic compels the supposition that the trading is done with knowledge of the risks involved and in the conviction they are justified. It must be supposed, also, the traders are getting materials in exchange which would be useful, if not vital, to them in the event of war.

Conservative opinion thus may be hesitant to urge a total embargo of unpredictable consequences. But a thorough study of the whole trade picture may be highly desirable to the end of checking the flow into Russia of any materials which obviously are being accumulated by the Soviet for wartime, rather than peacetime, purposes.

Bribes For Voting

THE proposal of Rep. Arthur G. Klein of New York, that tax reductions be granted persons who cast their ballots on election days undoubtedly would stimulate voting. Even more effective would be some scheme under which each voter would be handed a government check when he deposits his ballot.

The trouble with both schemes is they would cost so much neither has the slightest chance of adoption. Just the same, Klein says he intends to propose his idea for enactment into law by Congress.

However, there is another method which would cost little, if anything, and would be a sure fire vote bringer-outer. Just enact a law which would require a popular vote on liquor prohibition at every election and most of the polling places would be swamped.

True enough, if such a law should be proposed, which is most unlikely, it would not have the slightest chance of passage. Nothing of the kind ever should be approved. Neither should anything in the nature of a bribe to get people to vote ever be given an instant's consideration.

But a matter of concern to every American is the fact that, even in the most heated elections, only a few more than half the eligible voters have exercised their right of ballot. Strenuous efforts are needed to awaken those who stay away from the polls to consciousness of the high privilege which is theirs for the taking.

If they can be persuaded in this way to exercise the duty and responsibility of citizenship, their votes will signify much that is splendidly worthwhile. Votes cast for the sake of bribes or because of inflamed bias or prejudice would signify nothing to justify pride.

When the meek comes into control of the earth, we wonder how they will pay the inheritance taxes?

And Where She Stops Nobody Knows

Waltz Into Darkness

By WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY

Time, 1880. Place, New Orleans. (Louis Durand, 37, a well-to-do bachelor, has been corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis. He is dumfounded when an exquisite young blond creature introduces herself as Julia. She explains her little deceit by saying she didn't want him to fall for just a pretty face. Durand is enchanted with her and they are married. Certain things puzzle him, however, during their first days together. Among them is the fact Julia has never opened her trunk. When a letter arrives from her sister chiding her with not writing, he insists she reply, takes her letter to mail himself. Returning from the bank, where he has arranged to let Julia share his account, he finds a letter addressed to him from Julia's sister. It says she has received a communication signed with Julia's name but in a stranger's writing. She demands an explanation.)

HOW long he sat and stared at the letter he did not know. Time lost its meaning. Reading over and over the same words. "The handwriting of an unknown person. Of an unknown person. An unknown person."

Then suddenly hypnosis ended, panic began. He flung himself out of his swivel-backed chair, so that it fell over behind him with a loud clatter. He crushed the letter into his pocket, in such stabbing haste as if it were living fire and burned his fingers at touch.

He ran for the door, forgetting his hat. Then ran back for it, then ran for the door a second time.

In the street he frantically hailed a coach.

"St. Louis Street, and quickly! I must get there without delay!"

When the careening vehicle finally came to a stop in front of his house, he jumped out, slapped coins into the driver's palm, ran for his own door as if he meant to crash it down.

Aunt Sarah opened it with surprising immediacy.

"Is she in?" he flung into her face. "Is she here in the house?"

"Who?" She drew back, frightened by the violence of the question. But then answered it, for it could refer to only one person. "Miss Julia? She been gone all afternoon. She tole me she going shopping, she be back in no time. That was 'bout 1 o'clock, I reckon. She ain't come back since."

He ran up the stairs full tilt.

HE stood there in their bedroom, breathing hard from the violence of his ascent but otherwise immobile for a moment, looking about in mute helplessness. His eye fell on the trunk. The trunk that had never been opened. Draped deceptively, but he knew it now, since that Sunday, for what it was. He wrenched off the slip cover and the initials came to view again. "J. R.," in paint like blood.

He turned, bolted out again, ran down the stairs once more. Only part of the way this time, stopping halfway to the bottom.

"Run and fetch me a locksmith!" he exploded to Aunt Sarah. Then he changed his mind. "No, wait! That would take too long. Bring me a hammer and a chisel. Have we those?"

"I reckon so." She scurried for the back.

When she'd handed them to him, he sped upward from sight again. He dropped to his knees, launched himself at the trunk with vicious energy, his mouth a white scar: he inserted the chisel in the crevice about the lock, began to pound at it mercilessly. In a moment or two the lock had sprung.

He plucked down the side-latchpieces, unbuckled the ancient leather strap that had bound it about the middle, rose and heaved as he rose and the slightly domed lid came up and swung rearward with a shudder.

There was an exhalation of mothballs, as if an ective breath had blown in his face.

IT was the trunk of a neat, a fastidious, a prissy person. Symmetrical stacks of belongings, each one not so much as a hairsbreath out of line.

The top tray held only intimate undergarments, of both day- and night-year; all of them utilitarian rather than beautiful.

In a moment his hands had ravaged it beyond recognition.

He shifted the upper section aside, and found neatly spread layers of dresses beneath that. Of a more sober nature than any she had bought since coming here; browns and grays, with prim little rounded white collars, black alpacas, an occasional staid plaid of dark blue or green.

He picked the topmost one out at random, then added a second one.

He stood there, full length like that, between them, helplessly holding one up in each hand, looking from one to the other.

Suddenly his gaze caught his own reflection, in the full-length mirrowed panel facing her wardrobe door. Something struck his eye as being wrong. He couldn't tell what it was.

He drew a step back with the two trophies, to gain added perspective. Then suddenly, at the shift, it exploded into recognition. There was too much of each dress. He was holding his hands, the hands that held them, at his own shoulder level. They fell away straight to the floor, and, touching it, even folded over in excess.

In memory he saw her stand beside him again, in the mirror. She appeared there for a moment, in brief recapture. The top of her head just rising over the turn of his shoulder: with her hair up.

He dropped the two wraithlike rags, almost in fright. Stepped to the wardrobe, flung both panels of it wide, with two hands at once. Empty; a naked wooden bar running barren across its upper part. A little puff of ghostly violet scent, and that was all.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ONE of the readers of this column is worried.

She lives in Michigan. She is well educated, well-to-do, middle-aged and a widow.

She has never been in New York and now, for the first time in her life, has time and leisure to take a prolonged trip.

BRANDEIS

She wants to see the shows. She would like to visit some of the better night clubs and restaurants.

In other words, she wants to do what, in her opinion and the opinion of thousands of others, most New Yorkers do every evening.

But the lady is afraid.

Don't they have robberies in the best hotels as a regular occurrence?

Doesn't she read about murders and holdups and rape and mayhem every time she looks at her newspaper?

Is it safe to go to New York?

It is probably that she will get back to Michigan unharmed, or is it more likely that she will be murdered?

She doesn't care so much about herself, she writes, but she wants to bring her nephew along to act as her escort, and she is worried about him because of that Toronto executive and churchgoer who was murdered at the Waldorf Astoria a while ago.

Might that not also happen to her nephew (who, according to the lady's letter, is about forty years old and able-bodied and able-brained)?

I would have answered her letter individually and let it go at that, if so many people didn't have that same idea about New York and, as far as that is concerned, about almost every big city.

Of course there are murders and thefts and holdups in any city where the murdering and the holding-up and the thieving promise to be lucrative.

So what do the criminals do?

They go where they expect to find fools and degenerates.

They watch for those show-offs who must let everybody know that they have a lot of money in their pockets or who must make jewelers' showcases out of themselves.

IF YOU want to catch fish you go where you think the fishing is good, don't you?

Well, so do the crooks.

Those crooks are excellent fishermen—and fisherwomen.

They know exactly where to go. They use exactly the right kind of bait.

They set our their lines and troll. They follow the fish right out of the pond to their very hotel rooms.

There are two kinds of bait that have been found most effective: Liquor and sex appeal.

Both are guaranteed to catch the full illegal limit.

Of course, come to New York, dear lady.

Enjoy yourself, but don't make a fool of yourself.

And as far as your nephew is concerned, I can almost guarantee him a safe return home.

He won't get hurt if he keeps out of the ponds where the sharks do the fishing and where the most delicious fish is the sucker.

Compromise Program

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A compromise legislative program hammered out on a give-and-take basis has become the objective of several key Administration spokesmen on Capitol Hill and their Republican friends across the aisle, as the two parties' representatives prepare for a possibly fateful session of the Eighty-First Congress.

TUCKER

While the G. O. P. would not surrender any of the opposition's prerogatives under the proposed arrangement, general approval of these plans would amount to a replica of the bipartisan agreement which has been achieved in the field of foreign affairs. It would also assure enactment of many major Truman campaign pledges on a modified scale.

ACCEPTANCE: Although the Republicans engaged in "Operation Compromise" prefer to soft-pedal this angle, it would signify the Grand Old Party's final acceptance of the Roosevelt-Truman New Deal's basic reforms, but to a greater extent than Wilkie in 1940, and Dewey in 1944 and 1948, approved them.

It is pointed out by the moderators on both sides that their last two nominees endorsed most of the 1932-1948 revisions, simply promising to administer them more efficiently and economically. There would also have to be a withdrawal from the President's extreme stand during the recent election unpleasantness.

When a tentative agreement has been reached shortly before the Christmas holidays, it will be submitted to the White House and also to whatever leadership the opposition sets up on Capitol Hill.

ISSUES: Here are the major controversial issues, as expressed and advanced by 1940, 1944 and 1948 presidential protagonists, and here is a general outline of the manner in which they would be disposed of under "Operation Compromise":

Taxes: The Democrats would waive their demand for reimposition of a heavy excess profits tax, while the Republicans would agree to an increase in corporate rates, based on recent evidence of rising profits. The present scale of income levies would be continued, although with slight amendments to benefit the low-income group.

Both sides are inclined to such a settlement because of the official report that national production for the third quarter reached $256,000,000,000 and that federal revenue based on such peak activity may be sufficient for all government costs. Moreover, nobody wants to tamper with a productive machine that is operating so extraordinarily well.

LABOR: Taft-Hartley Act: The Democrats would drop their demand for outright repeal, and agree to modification after labor-management conferences on the subject. Principal provisions to be revised or eliminated would be those barring a closed shop and requiring union heads to take an anti-Communist oath.

The present longshoremen's strike, which cripples the Marshall Plan and jeopardizes our general foreign policy, has impressed Administration leaders with the need of retaining power to prevent such stoppages of work. The unions' fairly successful attempt to drive Commies from posts of influence, with the exception of furriers, electricians, longshoremen etc., is responsible for the proposal to get rid of the anti-Rec. ban.

Bureaucracy: Despite his defense of the size of the federal establishment, President Truman has surprised his extremist friends by showing deep interest in the forthcoming Hoover report on government reorganization. Mr. Truman believes that numerous scattered activities can be concentrated, perhaps in such new department as Social Security and Public Works, with economy of money and personnel.

OUT: Civil Rights: Southern Democrats would agree not to filibuster against any legislation that simply provided for an end to poll tax, and which authorized the federal government to intervene if state authorities failed to detect and prosecute those guilty of lynching.

Dixie spokesmen have always argued that they are remedying these evils, but they might approve a law which would amount only to Congressional condemnation of both practices.

Recognizing that questions of segregation and employment are local matters, Civil Rights advocates would concur in a statement to the effect that these problems, although of national concern, can best be solved on the local level.

It is hoped that Mr. Truman would sign such a measure with an accompanying explanation that he took it because it was the best he could get. He has used that "out" before, as have many of his predecessors.

WATCH: Un-American Activities: New plan contemplates a sort of National Security Council, composed of members of Senate and House and representatives of the State, Justice and National Defense Establishment. It would be vested, however, with all the authority of a Congressional committee, together with sufficient appropriations.

The Republicans figure that they have squeezed all the political juice possible out of this issue, especially as it provided no vitamins in the recent election.

Neither side wants such an important body to fall under the control of the racially bigoted John E. Rankin of Mississippi. In view of possible trouble with Russia, the compromisers think that a serious, non-political agency to keep watch on domestic trouble-makers is essential.

Low-cost housing and slum clearance: Both measures, which got through the Senate at the last session, would be enacted, but on a less elaborate scale than was originally proposed. The need for federal economy, together with an estimated $25,000,000,000 of private expenditures for building and repair in 1946 has inclined both sides to this kind of agreement. But the philosophy that the government should give aid in this field would be preserved.

The average trouble-maker is in love with his work.

There are two kinds. One is a fool with money and the other is the one who permits money to make a fool out of him.

It didn't cost so much to live in the old days. A pioneer didn't have to retain a lawyer to keep him out of trouble.

You can tell the woman who is ashamed of her weight. She is the one who refuses to weigh while a friend is present.

A small town merchant has a hard time firing some of his clerks as most of them are related to him.

A writer says that he knows over 100 swear words. He will have to increase his vocabulary in order to turn out a best seller.

CONGRESS LIKELY TO INVESTIGATE

Study Of Monopolies Is Seen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — During his campaign President Truman had much to say about big business and its monopolistic tendencies.

He spoke during those trying days from personal knowledge. Not only was he constantly conscious of the power of big industry and finance from the efforts made to defeat him and what he stood for—for it was concentrated against him—but he also knew, as he said so often, that this influence had become dominant in the 80th Congress which he castigated from stump to stump and all around every stump.

In the new 81st Congress with its comfortable Democratic majorities, the process will be reversed, so to speak. While there is no intention of any sort of punitive action against big business, as Democratic spokesmen have been so careful to reiterate in recent weeks since the election, it is the intention to try to break the strength of monopolistic big business in Congress, to expose the alarming growth of monopoly and its effect on the individual citizen, and to do certain things to check that extension of monopoly and to bring it under control.

STOKES

Economy At Stake

This is a matter that affects not only the entire domestic economy and its continued health, but also the peace and prosperity of the whole world, for it reaches directly into the field of foreign affairs through the still great influence of international business and finance in international politics.

The instrument is at hand in Congress in the joint committee on the economic report which was created by the 1945 Employment act. Its assigned task is to keep a constant watch on economic conditions, to receive periodic reports from the President's Council of Economic advisors also set up in that act, and to propose such legislative action as it deems necessary from a study of those reports and their recommendations and its own independent findings.

It did little in the 80th Congress under the chairmanship of Senator Taft (R., O.), who is not one to disturb the status quo. It is likely to be very busy in the 81st Congress under the chairmanship of Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), the recognized authority in Congress on monopoly, its growth and consequences and a veritable Jeremiah in proclaiming the dangers of monopoly to free Democratic government.

Already the committee staff is at work on several projects. The committee will become a laboratory on the economy as well as a sounding board for the ideas of the senator and the administration. A pattern of approach is forming in the senator's plan to inquire into the practice of great industrial enterprises in setting prices for a whole industry and to investigate the field of investment capital to find out what can be done to make it easier for small business to finance itself, and likewise in his advocacy of an excess profits tax and of compulsory allocation of scarce materials so that all industry, small and big, will get a share. Voluntary allocation imposed by the last Congress has failed.

To Study Monopolies

"The chief mission of the 81st Congress," he said, "is the development of formulas to make industrial organizations serve a free economy."

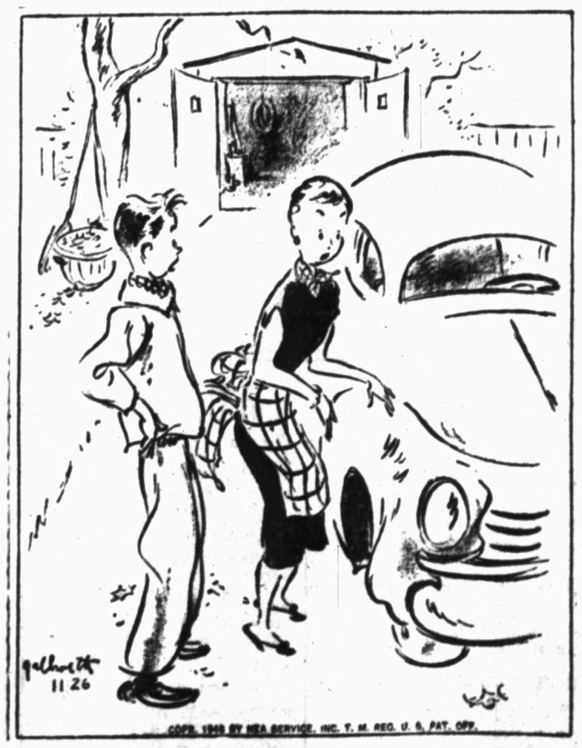

He intends also to go into the field of international monopolies, or cartels as they are called, which are part of the same problem, by pushing his bill requiring that all contracts made by American business abroad be registered at the State Department. This has become a lively subject because of the timidity of our State Department and our military government in Germany in proceeding with the break-up of German monopolies as decreed by act of Congress, obviously because of the influence of American big business which has interlocking relationships there of its own.

"We can't build up a cartel system in Europe and hope to win the peace," the senator declared. "The achievement of international peace depends upon breaking down the cartel system. You can't have a totalitarian industrial system and free government. I don't believe we should allow managers of international business to establish conditions throughout the world so that we have to send our boys out as soldiers to protect their interests."

Early in the new Congress the senator expects to have something to say about our soft policy toward German monopolies.

Moderate activity developed. Turnover amounted to 1,040,000 shares, compared with 1,290,000 Wednesday.
More and more Wall Street discussions were given over to the question of an imminent recession.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (AP) — After starting out with much gusto, the grain market weakened today. The market simply couldn't follow through on an opening advance which ran to more than 2 cents in corn.
After the first 15 minutes, the market's trend was down. The opening gains were given up slowly, but before the close practically all contracts had slipped below the previous close at least for a short time.
Heavy buying at the start was based on agreement between union leaders and shipping interests to settle the Atlantic and Pacific coast martime strikes. Hedging pressure from the southwest in wheat and failure of aggressive demand to develop for cash corn brought about the reaction.
Wheat closed 1⅛-1½ lower, December $2.37⅛-⅜; corn was ⅛-1⅜ lower, December $1.44¾-½; oats were ¼-⅝ lower, December .84⅝.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady today in moderate dealings. Reports that mill buying of spot cotton had improved and that supplies of good quality cotton was scarce influenced the upturn.
Cotton futures reversed earlier gains when New Orleans and local selling came into the market in late dealings. Profit taking was one reason for the decline.
Futures closed 40 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Allied Invasion Forces Faced Heavy Opposition In Early Days; German V-2s Posed Major Threat

times, the highest officials of government, can scarcely be overestimated in terms of their value to soldiers' morale. The soldier has a sense of gratification whenever he sees very high rank in his particular vicinity, possibly on the theory that the area is a safe one or the rank wouldn't be there.

Battle of Beachhead

The period from D-Day to our decisive breakout on July 25 was a definite phase of the Allied operation and has received the name "Battle of the Beachhead."

Interest in battles of the past, for soldier and civilian alike, often centers around points that were either of no great moment at the time of their happening or did not impress the actors as being so. An extraordinary amount of research and analysis, to say nothing of charge and countercharge, frequently concerns the originator of an idea; the detail in which developments conformed to preconceived plans; the inspiration for given decisions and the influence of particular individuals upon particular actions.

THE Battle of the Normandy Beachhead proved no exception to this rule. A deal of froth and fury, as well as much painstaking and objective research, has been devoted to the support of individual theories concerning matters which, had they been recognized at the time as of special later value, might have been settled for all time by the maintenance of written record.

Concerning the origination of plans and decisions: it is my conviction that no commander could normally take oath that a particular plan or conception originated within his own mind. Preoccupation with the concerns of his command are such that it is impossible for any person later to say whether the first gleam of an idea that may eventually have developed into a great plan came from within his own brain or from some outside suggestion. One of his problems is to keep his mind open, to avoid confusing necessary firmness with stubborn preconception or unreasoning prejudice.

The Battle of the Beachhead was a period of incessant and heavy fighting and one which, except for the capture of Cherbourg, showed few geographical gains. Yet it was during this period that the stage was set for the later, spectacular liberation of France and Belgium. The struggle in the beachhead was responsible for many developments, both material and doctrinal, that stood us in good stead throughout the remainder of the war.

Faced Tough Opposition

From the day we landed the battle never settled down, except in isolated spots, to anything resembling the trench warfare of the first World War. But it was the possibility of such an eventuality that we could never forget, particularly our British comrades with their memories of Vimy Ridge and Passchendaele.

On the eastward flank, the city of Caen did not fall to our initial rush as we had hoped and we were consequently unable to gain and ground south and southeast of that city where we had planned to make early exploitation of our tank and combat air strength.

To support the divisions in the attack area the enemy first drew into the battle zone all the troops he could spare from the Brittany Peninsula. Next he brought up divisions from the south of France and others from the Low Countries. His only remaining major reserves in northwest Europe not committed to the fighting were in and about Calais, in the German Fifteenth Army. To maintain connection with these troops he had to hold Caen.

Our frustration in the attainment of our immediate tactical goals in the eastern sector involved no change in the broad purposes of the operational plan. It was merely another example of the age-old truth that every battle plan comprises merely an orderly commitment of troops to battle under the commander's calculations of desirable objectives and necessary resources, but always with the certainty that enemy reaction will require constant tactical adjustment to the requirements of the moment.

ON JUNE 12, 1944, the first flying bomb, known as V-1, reached London. The V-1 was a small pilotless airplane which flew at high speed on a predetermined course and terminated its flight by means of settings in its mechanism. It contained a large amount of explosive which detonated upon contact, and the blast effect was terrific.

The first V-2 was not used until early August. The V-2 bomb was particularly destructive when it fell directly into a structure of some kind. Owing to its speed, it penetrated deeply into the ground and its great explosive effect was exerted directly upward.

It seemed likely that, if the German had succeeded in perfecting and using these new weapons six months earlier than he did, our invasion of Europe would have proved exceedingly difficult, perhaps impossible. I feel sure that if he had succeeded in using these weapons over a six-month period, and particularly if he had made the Portsmouth-Southampton area one of his principal targets, Overlord might have been written off.

Enemy Bases Battered

Defensive measures against the V-1 soon attained a very high degree of efficiency, but ever so, the threat of their arrival was always present at all hours of the day and night and in all kinds of weather. We in the field wanted to capture the areas from which these weapons were fired against southern England.

On the left the German armor and defensive strength continued to defeat our intentions, but the port of Cherbourg fell on June 26, just twenty days after the landing. General Collins had conducted against it a relentless offensive and as a result of the operation justified his nickname, "Lightning Joe."

Our bad luck was in the hurricane that struck us on June 19. It stopped for a period of four days nearly all landing activity on the beaches and therefore interfered seriously with every operation; it was so fierce in character as to render offensive fighting extremely difficult.

On the day of the storm's ending I flew from one end of our beach line to the other and counted more than 300 wrecked vessels above small-boat size, some so badly damaged they could not be salvaged.

There was no sight in the war that so impressed me with the industrial might of America as the wreckage on the landing beaches. To any other nation the disaster would have been almost decisive; but so great was America's productive capacity that the great storm occasioned little more than a ripple in the development of our build-up.

One incident, pleasing to me personally and indicative of General Marshall's constant thoughtfulness for his subordinates, was the arrival of my son in the theater about the middle of June. He graduated from West Point on D-Day and, with General Marshall's approval, was given authority to spend his short graduation leave with me in the battle area, subject only to the proviso that he return to the United States in time to enter upon his advanced training by July 1.

He traveled with me everywhere, and his sole disappointment was my refusal to interfere in the normal routine for a young graduate and assign him to one of the infantry divisions then in Europe.

Faced Short Delay

Late June was a difficult period for all of us. More than one of our high-ranking visitors began to express the fear that we were stalemated and that those who had prophesied a gloomy fate for Overlord were being proved correct. A grave risk that always accompanies an amphibious undertaking against a continental land mass is finding itself sealed off in a beachhead. Adequate elbow room is a prerequisite to the build-up of troops and supplies necessary to a decisive, mobile battle.

I spent much time in France, conferring frequently with General Bradley and General Montgomery concerning timing and strength of projected battle operations. Such visits with Bradley were always enjoyable because he shared my liking for roaming through the forward areas to talk to the men actually bearing the burden of battle.

In temporary stalemates there always exists the problem of maintaining morale among fighting men while they are suffering losses and are meanwhile hearing their commanders criticized. The commentators' voices came into every squad and platoon over the tiny radios that soldiers would never abandon.

THE effect of carping becomes more serious when soldiers find it also in letters from relatives at home who have been led to expect the impossible. Among green troops the problem is much more serious than among veterans.

The attitude of the latter was well expressed in a remark made to me one day by a sergeant, who with his railway unit was waiting to go farther to the front in order to start some needed construction. He said, "General, on the map this job looked easy, but now the Heinies seem to have something to say about it. But there is nothing wrong with us that a good, rousing victory won't cure."

(General Omar Bradley's break-out from the bocage country of Normandy into the flat plains of northern France was one of the clean, decisive battles of the war. It was also one of history's first experiments as an integral part of an infantry offensive. It clinched General Eisenhower's personal conviction that World War II would not bog into trench fighting, and it opened the way for the great pursuit of the Nazi armies across Europe to the Rhine.

This is the subject of tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published in this newspaper. In it, General Eisenhower explains for the first time the strategy of the enormous wheel which all but surrounded the enemy forces and which materially shortened the war in Europe.)

rural homes and repairs.

4. Federal sponsorship of a long-range housing research program to help private industry.

Cooperation Sought

Foley said that in addition to the legislative program, the government will make a nationwide effort to win cooperation of builders, lenders, labor and other interested groups to stimulate more home construction at lower costs and rents.

The housing legislation being planned is similar to the twice-beaten Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, named for Senators Taft (R., Ohio), Ellender (D., La.), and Wagner (D., N. Y.).

Ellender has announced he will revive such a bill as soon as Congress meets.

The government's standardization program depends on cooperation among technicians of private industry, contractors, builders, and even universities, Foley said.

One specific problem already attacked is the uniform plumbing code. A committee composed of representatives of the National Association of Master Plumbers, the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, the U. S. Public Health service and the National Bureau of Standards has developed a uniform plumbing code for housing.

The housing and home finance agency is preparing three educational booklets" explaining the standardization program. One will go to home buyers, the second to architects and designers, and the third to contractors and builders.

Also, model building codes will be worked up for communities to adopt.

CBS GETS BENNY SHOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (INS) — The Columbia Broadcasting system anounced late today that the Jack Benny radio program will move from the National Broadcasting company network to CBS effective Jan. 2, 1949. No announcement was made of the money involved but reports said Benny stands to gain $2,500,000 from the deal—latest move in what has been regarded as an all-out "talent war" between the two titans of the networks. CBS said the Benny program, for years a Sunday night feature, will remain unchanged as to sponsor and time.

had been released November 1.

The district attorney's department studied conflicting statements of witnesses in the case.

Urtado gave what he considered a "dying declaration" to Croslin, in the hospital.

Account Is Given

Cisnero gave this version:

He and three friends—Ignacio Sierra of Lubbock and Regario and Gaciento Rimera, both of the Garza farm where Cisnero works—went to the theater.

Pancho Urtado was outside with another Mexican, he said, "and walked over to me and asked me if I remembered what happened at the fiesta, and I told him I did."

Urtado had his hand in his pocket and "I thought he was going to cut me," Cisnero said. "I pulled the pistol and shot at Pancho twice." Cisnero said Urtado went inside the theater and that he, the defendant, walked to the door and shot again.

Heard Two Shots

Teodolo Lara, 20, of 102 Ave. O, identified himself as the person standing with Urtado. He said he "heard this boy (Cisnero) say 'Pancho,' then two shots quick." He said he ran from the theater, and Urtado went back into the building.

Cisnero made no resistance when the arresting officers arrived at his father's Garza county residence for him.

"He was expecting officers," it was announced.

He was jailed at 1:57 a. m., five hours after news of the shooting had been telephoned to police.

Drunk and disturbance charges were filed against Alfonso Smith, 40, a negro, after he had been treated for two slight wounds. Pellets from a shotgun had struck him in the left forearm and left cheek, officials said. They quoted Nodie Lockett, another negro, as saying a shotgun went off accidentally after Lockett had demanded that Smith leave Mickey Mouse cafe in the negro quarters. Lockett said Smith had been causing trouble there.

O. L. Brownlow of Lubbock route 3 complained that almost two cases of oil had been taken in a burglary of his irrigation wellhouse.

From 12 to 16 cases of a permanent type of anti-freeze were taken from Truman Jones' truck in a burglary of a shed of Wilke Iron and Metal company, at 2501 Ave. F. Jones several days ago charged theft of several cases of anti-freeze from the truck, in 300-block Ave. H.

C. R. Rouse of Thirty-eighth and Dagley road said a battery had been stolen from his truck in 4000-block Ave. H.

A $7.50 radiator ornament was reported stolen from the car of George Sheidor, from 1710 Main.

In county court, Judge Walter Davies assessed three fines: $100 and costs against J. C. Johnson, 22, a Lubbock negro, for carrying an unlawful knife, and $50 and costs against Willie B. Hickman, 26, of Lubbock, on a charge of drunk driving. Hickman's driver's license was revoked, as is mandatory in such cases. T. P. Crowson was fined $5 and costs on a charge of liquor law violation.

The Texas Highway patrol from Amarillo informed local officers last night that a 1949 maroon Ford sedan, bearing 1948 Missouri license number D-3434-C had been stolen while en route to Lubbock in convoy. The car was last seen in the convoy at Elk City, Okla.

The sheriff's department, checking on a call from Sheriff Robert E. Dunn of Crowell advising that a 1942 light automobile had been abandoned in a pasture near there, learned that the machine had been reported by the Plainview sheriff's office to have been stolen from Petersburg.

Seven Suits Filed

Other hearings were still pending.

The flurry of suits followed the commission's crack-down Wednesday on gas flaring.

Orders were issued calling for 16 oil fields to stop gas flaring by Dec. 1. It was estimated that resulting shutdowns would slash Texas crude production between 200,000 and 400,000 barrels daily.

The suits alleged that "it is physically impossible" to stop the flaring by the date set without shutting down many of the wells and cutting off production of crude oil said in "great public demand."

A $2,500,000 plant designed to return to the horizon all casinghead or residue gas, produced incidentally with oil, was said under construction in the La Gloria field. Completion, the suit's petition said, is expected in April or May, when it will be possible to stop all flaring.

TO WITHDRAW REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (INS)—Defense Secretary Forrestal announced today that he advised President Truman to suppress publication of a 16-month-old report on the Bikini atom bomb tests for "security reasons." Earlier today, a member of the evaluation board appointed to study the Bikini tests criticized Mr. Truman for withholding the document from publication.

CRUDE PRICES BOOSTED

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Nov. 26. (AP)—K. S. Adams, president of Phillips Petroleum Co., announced today that the company has increased its crude oil prices 35 cents a barrel at all points in Montana where it purchases. The increase was made effective retroactively to 7 a. m. Nov. 24.

Both President Truman and Marshall have indicated clearly that the problem of additional aid to China is one which cannot be solved immediately. Both men have pointed out that nothing can be done until the new Congress convenes.

Marshall also has called attention to the difficulties involved in getting supplies and equipment to China with any assurance they would not fall into the hands of the Communists.

The A Capella chorus of Abilene Christian college is to present a one-hour program at the Broadway Church of Christ, beginning at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister, who extended an invitation to the public to hear the group. The program is free. Leonard Burford is director of the chorus. The group is on a tour that will include concerts also at Plainview, Amarillo, and Carlsbad.

No one was injured in a four-car collision at about 8 a.m. Friday just outside the city limits on North College avenue, the highway patrol reported. The mishap occurred when P. A. Studer slowed his vehicle because of a gas-line ditch across the highway ahead. A car driven by E. P. Lee smashed into Studer's vehicle, and in turn two other cars behind, driven by E. A. Cook and R. B. Flowers, became involved in the chain-type collision. Lee's car was thought to have been the most seriously damaged, with damage estimated at about $100.

Approximately 500 persons attended the closing service of the three-day Christ's Ambassadors district youth convention of the Assemblies of God, held last night at Asbury Methodist church. Rev. George Dale, Houston evangelist who was featured speaker at the convention, chose for his sermon topic at the service "Put Not Thy Hand to Thy Mouth." At Thursday night's service, aproximately 700 persons were in attendance. A total of 62 churches were represented during the three-day meeting, and church officials termed it "an outstanding success."

New officers were installed at a meeting of the Camera club at Reeves studio last night. Those taking office were K. O. Peterson, president; R. L. Fletcher, vice president; J. I. Kilpatrick, treasurer; and Anita Lomax, secretary. A program of color slides was shown by Jimmy Roberts who spent about five weeks in and near Mexico City the past summer.

Bobby Brown, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brown of Lubbock route 4, was reported Friday night by attendants at West Texas hospital to be "resting just fine." He underwent an operation there Thursday for treatment of a broken leg suffered in a highway accident near Wolfforth Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Emmett Burford, 45, who lives near the Ed Moore gin on the Lubbock-Idalou highway, last night was reported to be "resting fairly well" and in satisfactory condition by an attendant at Lubbock Memorial hospital. She has undergone treatment for injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile Thursday night on Broadway a short distance from the hospital entrance.

Barry Wickliffe, 13, of 1506 Twenty-seventh street, was treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon for bruises of the right leg suffered when his Cushman motor scooter struck an automobile at Nineteenth and Dixie drive. The scooter was going east on Nineteenth and struck the right rear of the auto as its driver was making a left turn onto Dixie drive. The car had been going west.

Teachers Okay Plan

al objectives of the report are to be attained as these are set out in the various bills which must be submitted to the 51st Legislature for enactment into law."

At this point, Ernest H. Moore, superintendent of schools at Troy, Bell county, and member of the Department of Rural Education, asked the group to withhold action on the resolution until they could study the Gilmer-Aiken report.

Terrell Ogg of Freeport then rose to his feet, and shaking his finger toward the platform, said:

"That's exactly what the groups who oppose this committee want us to do. I'm for the child. That's why I'm in this profession. It's about time we forgot our pettiness. If we do not go on record approving this report that took several thousand persons to prepare, then we are failing to approve Texas' greatest opportunity for education."

Other Proposals approved

When a rising vote was requested, not one person stood to oppose the resolution as amended by White.

The delegates approved a resolution for the association to request the 51st Legislature to provide a minimum salary schedule of $2,400 for all teachers who have bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degrees.

They favored a uniform contract bill for teachers with academic degrees. Under the bill, the teacher would enter his first contract with a school for one year, his second for two years, his other contracts for five years.

Mail Service Okayed

to boxes located in front of houses along one side of streets once a day in those areas.

Application has been made to fourth assistant postmaster general for two light trucks or cars for use on the routes. Postmaster Howard said that in any case, the service would not be started until after Christmas because it would result in confusion in the holiday mailing rush. Residents will be notified a week to two weeks before the new service goes into effect, he said.

Although the postoffice department is not responsible for naming of streets, it has considerable interest because naming of streets in such manner that they can be located easily and numbering of houses in proper sequence will promote correct delivery of mail, said the postmaster.

Street Naming Urged

City Engineer R. L. Oldham said he believed it would be to the interest of property owners within the outlying additions, to the city of Lubbock, the postoffice and everyone concerned to get the streets named so that they can be found easily.

Oldham suggested that the "quickest and best procedure" would be to make a plat and show the relation of the outlying areas to the areas within the city limits. The quickest way would be for persons interested to have the areas surveyed. "It wouldn't cost anyone very much," he said.

Since the areas are outside the city limits, the city is limited in expense it can go to in expediting the proper naming, but will cooperate with the areas, he said. He suggested anyone interested communicate with the city engineer's office for information and cooperation in working out a plan. The plan worked out probably would be presented to the City Planning commission.

European Aid

for 12 months. It therefore will run out simultaneously with the present European funds. Another $125,000,000 in a military aid fund for China is virtually exhausted. ECA does not control its spending.

ECA has been footing the bill for European purchases at an average rate of about $1,000,000,000 a quarter, without counting loans to 13 countries which now total $837,000,000.

In his midyear budget review in August, Mr. Truman anticipated more foreign aid money would be needed for fiscal 1949. He estimated the sum at $1,500,000,000—exactly the amount of his estimate of the treasury deficit for the fiscal year.

Hoffman since has told reporters the result will be about $250,000,000 smaller. Unless Congress votes other foreign aid funds — such, possibly, as more help for hard-pressed China—the government's fiscal picture will be improved by that amount.
