Sen. Gramm lauds Bush's decisiveness in dealing with Iraq

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, campaigning in Snyder Monday, praised the decisiveness of President Bush in deterring further aggression by Iraq's President Saddam Hussein.

Gramm, speaking to a luncheon and fund-raiser of about 50 people at Willow Park Inn, said the U.S. government's quick decision to send in military personnel has avoided bloodshed.

Gramm said the economic embargo leveled at Iraq would be sufficient to settle the Persian Gulf crisis which began 16 days ago with the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

Gramm said that two days before the invasion, he viewed satellite photos showing a military buildup of Iraqi troops along the Kuwait border.

The same situation, he said, appeared on surveillance photos near the border of Saudi Arabia. The U.S. has quickly deployed 60,000 troops to thwart a possible Iraqi invasion of Saudi Arabia. Gramm says the naval embargo will force Iraq to deal more rationally with those in the outside world from whom they depend on basics such as food.

Gramm said he did not believe Saddam would be foolish enough to order an invasion of Saudi Arabia, but he quickly noted that Iraqis are not known to be the most rational people in the Arab world.

Asked if he thought the U.S. would respond with force to protect the citizens being "detained" in Iraq and Kuwait, Gramm said he believes the U.S. and other western countries would respond with force if necessary.

"If shooting breaks out, it will be fast and furious and we'll (the U.S.) be doing most of the shooting since we have most of the firepower."

Gramm said he expected the embargo to have a lasting effect (see GRAMM, page 8)

Prison dog training method to be reviewed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' top prison official wants a review of the use of inmates to train tracking dogs, but he said the practice has helped law authorities catch violent criminals and locate missing children.

"Both public concern and the media's attention to this subject warrant a serious review of the practices," Texas Board of Criminal Justice Chairman Charles Terrell of Dallas said Monday.

Terrell chose a panel to look at the training exercise after a prison official admitted taking two friends to a manhunt last year.

Board of Criminal Justice Vice Chairman Jerry Hodge of Amarillo drew national attention for participating in the hunt and giving his friends jackets stitched with the words "The Ultimate Hunt."

Hodge has apologized for the jackets but defended his participation in the hunt, saying the inmates were volunteers and not in danger. Prison officials say they need to use inmates to teach the dogs to track prison escapees.

Terrell is resigning as chairman Sept. 11. Sources told The Associated Press that Hodge's appointment was to be announced Aug. 14, the same day news of the incident became public.

Gov. Bill Clements, who called Hodge's actions inappropriate, denied he had chosen Hodge to replace Terrell. Clements said he (see DOG, page 8)

Q—What are the hourly wages paid to bus drivers and substitute teachers of the Snyder Independent School District?

A—SISD bus drivers are paid an hourly wage of $7 with a $21 day minimum paid to each driver. Substitute teachers are paid on a scale of $40 a day for those with degrees and $34 daily for non-degree substitutes.

Local

Tiger Lair here

The 1989-1990 Tiger's Lair, Snyder High School's yearbook, has arrived and will be distributed from 1-4 p.m. on Wednesday and from 1-6 p.m. on Thursday. The books will be in the high school auditorium foyer. All balances must be paid in full before delivery to purchaser.

Orientation

Orientation at Snyder Junior High School will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday on the school patio.

All incoming seventh graders as well as eighth grade students new to Snyder and their parents are encouraged to attend. Dress code, attendance and instructions for the first day of school will be discussed.

DARE party

A DARE "Back to School Swim Party" will be held Friday from 6-8:30 p.m. at Towle Park Pool.

Sheriff Keith Collier and Deputy Sheriff Charlie Reynolds are sponsoring the party for all of last year's Snyder seventh graders and Ira and Hermleigh sixth graders who are graduates of the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program.

Students will need to bring money for refreshments.

Conservation

Scurry County ASCS and SCS representatives will be conducting a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to discuss conservation reserve program provisions.

The meeting will be held in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College. Emphasis will be on weed control methods.

United Way

Scurry County United Way will meet at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, not Wednesday, as was reported in an earlier edition of The Snyder Daily News.

The meeting will be held at the senior center.

Hermleigh

Hermleigh kindergarten begins Friday at 1 p.m. in the kindergarten room at the elementary school building.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Monday, 96 degrees; low, 69 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Tuesday, 70 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1990 to date, 20.52 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, isolated evening thunderstorms, otherwise mostly fair. Low near 70. Southeast wind 5 to 15 mph. Chance of rain less than 20 percent. Wednesday, fair and very warm with a high in the mid 90s. South wind 10 to 15 mph.

Iraq says it is 'ready to talk'

But no mention of withdrawal from Kuwait

by The Associated Press
Iraq said today it is willing to negotiate a settlement to the Persian Gulf crisis but did not offer to withdraw its troops from Kuwait and said that if a war breaks out, "America will lose and be humiliated."

"We are ready to talk," Iraq's foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, said at a news conference in Jordan. "My president made proposals that we are ready to put all the cards on the table" at a U.N. Security Council meeting.

However, Aziz said all regional issues, including Israel's occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip, must be settled according to the same principles.

When a reporter asked Aziz if Iraq was prepared to discuss withdrawing from Kuwait, he did not directly reply, saying only that all issues in the Persian Gulf will be discussed.

In a statement on Iraqi television directed to President Bush, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said today that the foreigner detainees are being treated well and are only being held to prevent an attack by U.S.-led forces.

The detention of the foreigners is a "product of aggression against the Arab nation and Iraq," Saddam said. "President (see IRAQ, page 8)

Hobbs CAP to give dropouts another chance at education

Scurry County public school officials say about 14 to 16 students from the county are planning to attend the Hobbs Cooperative Alternative Program, which will open its doors Aug. 28.

Also called the HOBBS school (Helping Others Be Better Students), the school is designed to give dropouts and others a second chance at a high school education. Hobbs students are able to earn credits needed for a high school diploma or for a GED, and at the same time learn job-specific vocations in several fields.

Members of the Hobbs School are school districts of Snyder, Ira, Hermleigh, Colorado City, Blackwell, Lorraine, Roscoe, Rotan and Sweetwater.

Local school officials have estimated that about 14 to 15 individuals residing in Snyder ISD are planning on attending the school. Hermleigh is expecting at least one student from its district to enroll, while Ira does not have any at this time.

"We may have some when school starts. We'd certainly like to get the word out because this is an excellent opportunity for someone to finish getting their high school education," said Ted Bedwell, Ira superintendent.

Anyone interested in enrolling should contact the administration office or school counselor within the public school district in which they reside.

There is no charge for attending the Hobbs Cooperative Alternative Program (CAP) and free transportation will be provided for students. School of (see HOBBS, page 8)

WTC board adopts tax rate for 1990-91

Western Texas College board of trustees approved a resolution adopting a 1990-91 tax rate of $.1887 per $100 valuation during a brief special meeting Monday.

Trustees had adopted a $.59 million budget the previous Monday. The tax rate is calculated to generate $1,797,613 towards that budget.

Other revenue comes from the state, student fees and tuition.

The rate of .1887 is eight percent over the effective tax rate of .1705 but less than the 1989-90 tax rate of .1964.

The resolution approved by trustees also dictates a three percent discount for county taxpayers who pay their taxes by or in October, a two percent discount for taxes paid in November and a one-percent discount for taxes paid in December.

WTC's 1990-91 budget of $5,929,867 includes a three percent cost-of-living raise and a one percent merit raise for faculty and staff. Trustees also approved a student housing system fund budget of $625,272 and a student services fee fund of $42,012 in an earlier meeting.

Present for Monday's meeting, which lasted less than five minutes and drew no opposition, were trustees Bob Hargrove, R.C. Patton, John Fagin, John Gayle and Carl Williams. Absent were Howard Sterling and Bill Wilson Jr.

The resolution was unanimously approved by board members present.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with being young is you're not old enough to enjoy it."

Everybody has a pet peeve, and a pollster set out to find what bothered Americans the most. The answer was found with unmistakable clarity. Americans detest anything that wastes their time.

Almost 4 out of 10 persons who participated in the survey said that among their top peeves is waiting in long lines while other service windows or cash registers are closed.

A total of 36 listed waiting in line as their number one complaint about business firms. Solicitations using pre-recorded messages were a bother to 31 percent. Being quoted one price, then learning that the price is actually higher got the dandruff of 24 percent.

Twenty-one percent were hacked by getting a sales call at home during dinner. Another 20 percent were ticked off about advertised sales items that aren't in stock.

Dealing with complicated health insurance forms made 18 percent hot while "urgent" mail that really is only a sales pitch angers 17 percent.

Consumers' biggest complaints about service included 40 percent who griped about staying home for delivery or sales people who then fail to show.

Poorly informed sales people irritated 37 percent and 25 percent were miffed by sales clerks who remain on the telephone while waiting on a customer.

A statement such as "It's not my department," is an irritation to another 25 percent of those polled and 21 percent don't like clerks who talk down to you. Another 16 percent are annoyed by clerks who don't know their product and can't explain how it works.

Sometimes it is important to be reminded that the customer still has to be the boss.

Applications accepted for leadership course

Applications are being accepted for Century II: Leadership Scurry County, a program designed to acquaint community leaders and potential leaders with the area's continuing needs and problems.

The program, sponsored by the chamber of commerce and Western Texas College, is aimed at developing and maintaining a poll of well-informed men and women qualified to assume present and future leadership roles in Scurry County. The program seeks to develop community knowledge and leadership skills through 16 sessions. Included are programs on the local economy, government, education, health care and quality of life. Program resources come from citizen leaders and specialists in various fields.

Anyone may apply or nominate someone for the program. Official Century II: Leadership Scurry County application forms must be used. A selections committee will select a maximum of 15 individuals from all segments of the community to participate.

Applications may be obtained at the chamber and must be returned by Sept. 13.

Tuition for each participant is $225, which covers all materials and program expenses.

Tough cop named police chief in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — A bust-heads, tell-it-to-the-judge cop survived two demotions to become police chief in the city with the nation's highest crime rate.

Mayor Maynard Jackson appointed Eldrin Bell on Monday, declaring, "Eldrin Bell is exactly what the doctor ordered."

Despite reservations by some city officials about Bell's alleged lack of respect for the law, the City Council, meeting minutes later, dispensed with the usual confirmation process and unanimously approved the appointment.

"We don't need to be messing around," said Council President

Marvin S. Arrington. "We need to put him on the job."

Bell, one of three deputy chiefs on the 1,600-member force, takes over a police department with a big job in this city of about 445,000.

In 1989, Atlanta reported 210 serious crimes for each 1,000 residents — worst among U.S. cities with a population of 300,000 or more, according to the FBI. It was the second straight year Atlanta posted the worst crime rate.

"Let the word go forth," the 54-year-old Bell said at a news conference. "Lawlessness and drug trafficking and gangs are not welcome in Atlanta. Atlanta will not tolerate this kind of lawlessness."

Bell, who succeeds retiring Chief Morris Redding, stands to become the city's most powerful police chief in nearly 16 years. The mayor eliminated a commissioner post superior to the police and fire chiefs earlier this year.

Bell, who has what the mayor called "a well-deserved reputation as a tough cop," got little support from the man he replaced.

Redding, who served eight years as chief, rated Bell's "dependability and moral standards as low," although he said Bell is a hard worker.

Randolph W. Thrower, who heads the city Ethics Board, said Bell "does not reflect great respect for ethical considerations."

Hilary L. Chiz, executive director for the Georgia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said she had some concerns, but the ACLU wanted to work with the new chief "on developing ways to deal with the very serious issues of crime without encroaching further on individual freedom."

Bell, 54, has served on the force for 29 years and twice was demoted from deputy chief.

In 1979, he was busted to major because of an investigation of police protection for gamblers at fairgrounds where Bell did security work. No charges were filed and he was reinstated.

In 1985, he was again demoted, to lieutenant, after he was among patrons at an Italian restaurant where invited guests were targets of an FBI drug sting. It was determined that Bell hadn't been invited and wasn't under investigation.

Bell once reportedly picked up a billy club, phoned for an ambulance, entered a crowded bar and fought seven suspects into submission. He was investigated in 1984 for pistol-whipping a motorist he had stopped, but a civilian panel, police board and a federal court cleared him of using excessive force.

As commander of a crime-ridden section of the city, he was known for patrolling streets himself in the middle of the night and popping in unannounced at headquarters to make sure the night shift was answering calls promptly.

Bell also was questioned in a 1975 promotion exam cheating scandal. Investigators concluded he wasn't involved but may have known about the cheating.

Thrower, who headed the investigation, said Bell's evasiveness and failure to cooperate "thwarted justice."

Soldiers swamp stores for goods

By The Associated Press

While waiting to ship out for duty in the Persian Gulf, Fort Hood soldiers are swamping local stores for things the Army hasn't been able to give them, merchants said.

Handgun sales are booming. There's been a run on bandannas. And moist towelettes are a big item at stores near the Central Texas base.

Todd Maxon, manager of Sporting Arms gun shop in Killeen, says handgun and ammunition sales are booming. The same is true for Brock's Guns and Ammunition.

"I had a lot of requests for knives, handguns and ammunition, and the store doesn't have handguns," Bertha Cuffie, a K mart store manager, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"I think they're pretty scared," she said. "They said they just want to be safe."

The store owners say soldiers like to carry handguns with their military issue because the handguns are better for close combat. They also are buying ammunition rather than battling Army red tape to get it, store owners said.

Maxon says his store also racked up sales of lip balm, sunscreen, pup tents and ammunition — .38-, .357- and .22-caliber bullets and 12-gauge shotgun shells.

Fort Hood is home to the 1st Cavalry Division and the 2nd Armored Division. Post officials won't say when the troops are scheduled to move out. The 3rd Armored Cavalry Division at Fort Bliss near El Paso also is expected to join troops in the Middle East.

Several businesses with signs reading, "We Support Our Soldiers," are reporting big sales of canned pudding, shoestring potatoes, stationery, deodorant, adhesive bandages, toothbrushes, salt pills, foot powder and scented towelettes.

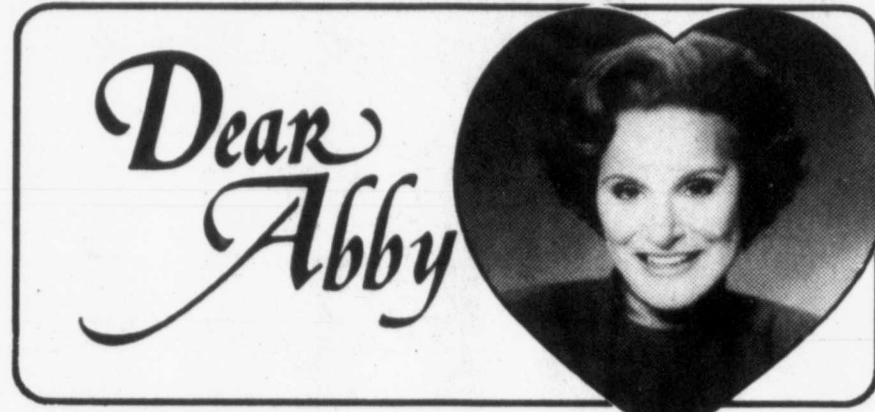

Broadcast gives hope to family

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The family of a missing 11-year-old girl renewed its hope of finding her with the brief airing of her story on a nationally televised crime program.

But by Monday those involved in the search for Heidi Seeman said they hadn't received any solid clues that might help locate her.

Fox Broadcasting Co. aired a brief segment Sunday during its "America's Most Wanted" program urging viewers with information about Heidi to call a toll-free number.

Her Aug. 4 disappearance generated a huge outpouring of support in San Antonio. Hundreds of volunteers have searched for her, and companies and individuals have donated thousands of dollars of reward money.

Bachelor With Money in Bank Worries He's Past His Prime

The Best of Dear Abby by Abigail Van Buren

EDITOR'S NOTE: Abby is on a two-week vacation. Following is a selection of some of her favorite past letters.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 61-year-old bachelor who never married because I took care of my widowed mother, who just died at the age of 93.

I am somewhat withdrawn and never had any girlfriends, although I'm told I'm above average in looks.

I am acquainted with a gal who looks about 30 and used to work in my bank. We were both invited to the same party last Christmas, and I haven't seen her since because she's not at the bank anymore.

I sent her some flowers for Valentine's Day and she wrote me a very nice letter thanking me. (I'm enclosing a copy of it.) Should I call or write to her to thank her for the note and ask her to dinner?

I have about $140,000 in the bank, so I could probably afford a wife if I could get one. Or do you think I'm too old to be considered eligible?

BASHFUL IN ARIZONA

DEAR BASHFUL: I think you're too eligible to be considered old. From her note I would say she is panting to date you. Don't waste any more precious time. Call and ask her to dinner!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I do not get along very well. In fact, if it weren't for the kids, I wouldn't live within 1,000 miles of this idiot. We are both artists, and my husband specializes in Western art now, and he has been selling his paintings before the oil is dry on the canvas. I don't mean to put him down, but my work is much better than his even if it doesn't sell half as well. The public just happens to be going for gimmick art.

I can hardly stand it when my husband sells a painting. For one thing, he has a way of gloating that makes me want to put my fist right through his face. I wish I knew how to get over this envious attitude. Can you help me?

ENVOIOUS IN MONTANA

DEAR ENVOIOUS: Of all the emotions, envy is the most difficult to control. Since you don't even like your husband, and are competing with him professionally to boot, it will be doubly difficult to curb your envy. Keep telling yourself that envy is an "acid" which does more damage to the container (you) than to the object of your envy (him).

DEAR ABBY: The clan gathered at my sister-in-law's house for a holiday dinner. Everyone was nice and friendly until Sis turned to me and in a very loud voice said, "Say, what color would your hair really be if you didn't dye it? Gray?"

Taken completely by surprise, I said the first thing that came to mind: "I'll tell you what color my hair really is if you tell me how much you really weigh." (Sis is very fat. She claims she has a thyroid condition, but she eats constantly.)

Well, things got pretty hot around there, and now the whole family — including my husband — is furious with me for insulting the hostess.

I don't see why her privacy is any more sacred than mine, but if you think I should apologize, I will.

NOT IRISH FOR NOTHING

DEAR IRISH: Even though she struck the first blow, you were childish and unkind to have struck a lower one. If it will restore peace in the family, apologize.

"How to Be Popular" is for everyone who feels left out and wants an improved social life. It's an excellent guide to becoming a better conversationalist and a more attractive person. To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Test is protested by group

AUSTIN (AP) — Deaf educators say their lawsuit against the Texas teacher certification test is the first challenge in the nation by deaf people of such an exam.

The groups filed a lawsuit Monday in Travis County state district court, saying the certification test discriminates against deaf instructors.

One of the plaintiffs, Nancy Mumme, 32, said the test asks questions on how to instruct students on the differences in the sound of certain letters.

"How am I supposed to be identifying a sound?" Ms. Mumme said in sign language through an interpreter.

The lawsuit against the Texas Education Agency and State Board of Education says deaf people wanting to become teachers should not have to take the test until it has been adjusted.

Jorjanna Price, a spokeswoman for the TEA, said lawyers for the agency had not yet seen the lawsuit filed by the Texas Association of the Deaf and Ms. Mumme.

She said Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby has met with deaf educators. "He said he wanted to look into the test matter," Ms. Price said.

Neighbors rebuild dwelling

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Neighbors wouldn't let William Stoneman feel sorry for himself after a fire ravaged the 83-year-old man's house more than a year ago.

Life didn't seem worth living after Stoneman lost the home he had occupied for 36 years, so the neighbors pitched in to help him fix the house.

"If it were left up to me, I would have given up," said Stoneman. Now, he said, "I feel like I have my friends here, people I know."

He has been living in a rented garage apartment since the July 1989 fire.

The fire started when the water heater ignited gasoline from a mini-bike. It caused extensive damage to a utility area and severe smoke damage throughout the house.

"I wanted to try to help him," neighbor Sheryl Jones told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. "We consider him a part of our family."

President Ronald Reagan and three other men were shot and wounded by John W. Hinckley Jr. outside a Washington hotel on March 30, 1981.

The United States, Australia and New Zealand signed a mutual defense pact in 1951 that came to be known as the ANZUS treaty.

In 1961, the Soviet Union ended a moratorium on atomic testing with an above-ground nuclear explosion in central Asia.

Family cookbook sold at Martin 50th reunion

Sixty nine descendants of Enoch and Jap Martin recently gathered at the Towle Park Barn to celebrate their 50th reunion.

A 50th reunion cookbook, compiled by Jennifer Fisher, Becky Winkler and Cory Fisher, was sold at the reunion. It featured recipes from all generations of the Martin family.

A drawing was held for a generation quilt that had been pieced together by Allie Martin and Kathryn Martin. Each family had supplied a name piece on a patch for the quilt. Delbert Martin was the lucky winner.

A business meeting was held on Sunday morning and new officers for the coming year were elected. The time for the next reunion was set for June 22 and 23, 1991 at the same place.

Fines Martin was recognized as the oldest member attending and Colby James Ferard was the youngest at one month of age. Al Martin had traveled the farthest. Other presentations of recognition were also presented to various family members.

Afterwards, a meal catered by The Shack was served.

Those attending from Snyder were Joe and Juanita Ellington; Dale and Virginia Johnston; Jay, Tiffany and Chad Martin; Jennifer and Cory Fisher; O.M. and Dorris Martin; Becky, Banyan and Bryce Winkler; Randy, Deborah and Scott Rodgers; Robin and Colby Ferard; Lowell and Sue Martin; and Carolyn and Reese Martin.

Attending from Midland were Randy, Anita and Christopher Martin; Florine Martin; Mark, Janene, Jarred and Ryan Martin; Fines and Kathryn Martin; Belvin Redus; Wayne, Tonya, Tasha and Shelly Helms; Elmer and Allie Martin; Bobby and Rosita Love and Michael Love.

Others attending were Warrin, Carla and Scott Crow and Marcia Hite of Odessa; Allen and Connie Keaton with Kim and Jamie Swaim of Abilene; Gary, Stephanie, Amanda, Jonathan and Ben Martin of Lancaster; Butch Martin of Aurora, Colo.; Ray and Mary Martin of Henderson; Marshall and Fay Martin of Lubbock; Delbert and Corine Martin of Tyler; Oscar Martin of Paris; Al Martin of Morgan Hill, Calif.; Gary and Raylene Gussler of Corpus Christi; and Mary Hurst.

Guests attending were Revis Groves, Summer Groves and Buddy Mercer.

Gen. James Tucker (ret.) of Abilene, Texas, has won several regional titles in the course of a bridge career that was interrupted not only by military service but also by a busy medical practice. Playing against top-level opponents, he laid a clever trap by apparently allowing his side to be forced to a high level.

When Tucker's partner (South) made a one-diamond overcall and West bid one heart, Tucker quietly raised to two diamonds. East raised hearts, South competed further with three diamonds, and West bid three hearts. North now bid again, although South was probably hoping to have a chance to defend against hearts. When four diamonds was passed around to West, he doubled, expecting his two aces opposite partner's opening bid to easily produce a set.

West led the club ace and continued clubs. Declarer ruffed, played a heart to dummy's ace, and cashed the king and ace of diamonds. He cashed the heart king, throwing a spade from dummy, and ruffed a heart. When East's heart queen fell, South discarded another spade from dummy on his good heart jack. He then conceded a spade, making an overtrick.

For East-West, there were two serious errors. First, West should have made a negative double after South's diamond overcall. That would have shown four spades as well as a heart suit and would have left East better placed to participate in any competitive decision. Second, the double was dangerous. A one-trick set would net East-West only 100 as opposed to 50 — not an important difference — and a two-trick set was not very likely.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

SHS Lady Tigers host Brownfield in debut

Snyder's girls volleyball schedule begins today at 5 p.m. with the freshmen, junior varsity and varsity facing Brownfield.

Coach Patty Grimmitt's Lady Tigers played in a four-team controlled scrimmage Monday in Seminole.

Snyder faced seminole, Denver City and Class 3A state qualifier in 1989, Lamesa.

"They did an excellent job," she reported.

"I was really pleased with the way they played together. The girls played good offense, they did a lot of blocking and played good defense."

No score was kept in the scrimmages.

"We blocked their big hitter, their star, and picked up a lot of hits off their other girls."

The SHS roster boasts 10 seniors, four of which are return-

The 6:30 p.m. gathering is open to anyone interested.

TKD students place in event

DALLAS — Four Snyder Taekwondo students placed in the recent 3rd Annual Dallas Invitational.

Jared Thornhill, Greg McAnaw, Gary Hays and Rusty Radican each finished in the top three during the martial arts competition.

Thornhill, a double winner, took first in blue-belt freesparring and third in forms.

McAnaw, a red belt, captured third place in forms while Gary Hays claimed first place in junior black-belt forms.

Radican placed third in adult black-belt middle-weight freesparring.

The students are all taught by Greg and Donna Gafford at West Texas TKD Academy.

Katina Brandon, Camille Thompson, Liz Greathouse and Robbie Brazier are the upper classmen coming back.

The rest of the senior class spikers include Monica Garcia, who played volleyball in Spain last season, Michelle Tippins, Freida Clay, Vinnie Clay, Dayla Church and Angie Crawford.

Juniors on the squad are Amber Bowlin and Daisy Brazier.

The Lady Tigers will compete in 1990 in the newly created District 2-4A against Lamesa, Lubbock Dunbar, Lubbock

SWC athletic directors initiated talks

HOUSTON (AP) — If Texas, Texas A&M or Houston — or some combination thereof — wind up leaving the Southwest Conference for the Southeastern Conference, it isn't because of SEC piracy, Louisiana State athletic director Joe Dean said.

In a story in today's editions, the Houston Post quoted Dean as saying he was approached by University of Texas athletic director DeLoss Dodds, Texas A&M athletic director John David Crow and University of Houston athletic director Rudy Davalos concerning their interest in switching leagues.

Dean said when Dodds contacted him recently about the possibility of Texas and Texas A&M joining the SEC, he told Dodds: "If you're happy where you are, stay put. But if you're not, let's talk."

Dean said the three schools "obviously ... are looking to get out (of the Southwest Conference) and they are looking at their options. Houston might go (to the SEC) even without Texas and A&M. We're definitely interested in them, and they have been receptive to us."

Dean added: "I talk to Rudy every day. DeLoss and John David and I have talked informally over the phone a lot lately."

"Everything has been totally informal. We weren't making deals or anything. It was strictly

Bailey faces arrest if fines aren't paid

HOUSTON (AP) — If rookie Chicago Bears running back Johnny Bailey does not resolve outstanding fines and fees stemming from a 1986 drug conviction he could be arrested, a Harris County prosecutor warned.

Bob Stabe, a Harris County assistant district attorney, told Houston television station KRIV on Monday that he advised Bailey's attorney, Bob Bennett, to have Bailey in Houston by Friday.

"If not, I was going to have our local authorities contact the authorities up in Illinois to have him arrested," Stabe said.

Bailey, a ninth-round draft pick by the Bears after starring at NCAA Division II Texas A&I University, is accused of failing to pay about $1,400 in probation fines and fees over the past four years.

Bailey, college football's all-time leading rusher, also has failed to report to a probation officer seven times in the past three years, violating terms of a deferred adjudication agreement following a cocaine arrest in 1986, authorities said.

Stabe said payment of the fees could resolve any question of jail time. Bailey's probation expires next year.

Bennett did not return telephone calls to his office.

Bailey, a former Houston high school football standout, gained 86 yards on six carries last weekend as the Bears defeated Phoenix 17-9 in a preseason game.

49ers edge Broncos

DENVER (AP) — Thanks to what John Elway called "one of the most bizarre plays I have ever seen," his Denver Broncos found a new way to lose to the San Francisco 49ers.

The Broncos, seeking a measure of revenge for their 55-10 blowout loss to the 49ers in last January's Super Bowl, won the battle of the first-teamers in Monday night's exhibition game. Elway threw two touchdown passes and ran for another to stake Denver to a 24-7 lead early in the third quarter.

But the 49ers — and backup quarterback Steve Young in particular — were clearly the superior subs. Young fired two second-half TD passes and 290-pound rookie defensive lineman Dennis Brown had a key interception that set up the winning field goal to rally the 49ers to a 27-24 victory.

Brown plucked off a bobbled pass and rumbled 23 yards to the Denver 4, and Mike Cofer kicked the winning field goal, a 22-yarder with 14 seconds left, to account for the winning margin.

The 49ers, under second-year coach George Seifert, now have beaten Denver three straight times, counting the Super Bowl and exhibition games last year and this. Ironically, for all his supposed genius, Bill Walsh, Seifert's predecessor, never beat Denver in nine tries.

San Francisco squared its preseason record at 1-1 while Denver fell to 2-1 as Young completed 16 of 27 passes for 203 yards.

He threw a 46-yard TD pass to rookie Ronald Lewis when defender Elliott Smith misjudged an apparent interception, cutting Denver's lead to 24-17 late in the third quarter.

With less than two minutes to play, Dexter Carter returned a punt 25 yards and Young scrambled for 25 more to set up Young's 4-yard flip to tight end Jamie Williams for the tying score with 40 seconds left.

Two plays later, Brown played look-what-I-found.

Denver's backup quarterback, Gary Kubiak, threw a screen pass to fullback Melvin Bratton, who juggled the ball and then apparently hit it with his knee — popping it into the air and directly into the hands of Brown. Only Kubiak's tackle prevented a touchdown, but Cofer converted on the next play.

RB to enroll in fall classes

DALLAS (AP) — Emmitt Smith, maintaining that he will not accept the Dallas Cowboys' $3.2 million offer, instead will enroll today at the University of Florida as a 15-hour-a-week student. He says it's no ploy.

Smith, whose father drives a city bus in Pensacola, Fla., said Monday he will drive five hours to Gainesville to enroll for the university's fall semester.

The Cowboys' first-round draft choice said if he doesn't sign a contract he likes with the team, he will work toward his degree.

"And if I didn't play a down this year with the Cowboys, I'd go back to school (in the spring), train, and go back into the draft next year," said Smith, who needs 42 credit hours for a degree.

"I'm hoping that doesn't happen because I'd love to play football for the Cowboys. But that's a possibility that could very well happen."

Government says some toys unsafe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Toys R Us and six other major distributors continue to sell unsafe imported toys despite warnings by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the government alleges in lawsuits aimed at halting the sales.

Toys R Us, which operates 411 discount toy stores, and the other companies were named in civil suits filed Monday by the Justice Department and the CPSC.

The complaints charged that the companies sold baby rattles, dolls, stuffed animals and crib toys that either had small parts that could choke young children or contained excessive amounts of lead paint.

CPSC spokesman Dan Rumelt said most of the toys come from Taiwan, with the rest from Hong Kong, China and South Korea.

Government officials said the two agencies knew of no deaths or injuries from the toys. Some of the items have been seized from store shelves and some others already sold have been recalled by distributors.

"These cases emphasize the need for American companies to ensure that foreign-made toys are of the same legally-required standards as U.S.-manufactured toys," Leslie Southwick, a deputy assistant attorney general, said in a statement.

But a spokesman for one of the companies sued, Value Merchants, Inc., of Milwaukee, said the problem will not be solved until the Customs Service is given enough inspectors to check imported products.

Mike Mervis, a spokesman for Value Merchants, said the company had recalled all nine items CPSC cited as unsafe. Value Merchants thought the toys met government standards but "the product bought and the product that was shipped may have been different things," he said.

Pilots' judgment called impaired

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The jury that convicted three former pilots of flying a jetliner while under the influence of alcohol reasoned they were drunk because they didn't have the sense to heed a federal inspector's warning not to fly.

"If they weren't concerned about the passengers' lives, they should have at least been thinking about their own careers," said jury forewoman Ruth Boylan.

The jury deliberated three days before finding the former Northwest Airlines pilots guilty Monday in the first test of a 1986 federal law aimed at cracking down on alcohol and drug use on commercial transportation.

The pilots flew a Boeing 727 with 91 passengers from Fargo, N.D., to Minneapolis after Federal Aviation Administration inspector Verle Addison, tipped off to their heavy drinking the night before, met them at the Fargo departure gate and warned them not to fly.

Trades Day is successful

Chamber of commerce secretary Jackie Hall told directors Monday afternoon that the chamber's Trades Day, held Aug. 11, was an overall success. The possibility of expanding the event next year was discussed.

Chamber President Fran Farmer read a letter from the AJRA National Committee notifying the chamber that the AJRA is accepting bids from other towns for its national finals rodeo. Hall said that it would be the last part of the month before the bids will be in.

The board is in the process of choosing a nominating committee to nominate new board members for those whose terms expire in December.

Members were reminded of the breakfast reception for Snyder school teachers Aug. 23.

The board then met in executive session.

Officials also stress that free day care will be available at the school for young parents.

Students who reside in the Snyder district will be picked up at the northwest corner of the junior high school parking area, behind the gymnasium, at 7:45 a.m. Hermleigh students are tentatively expected to leave from Hermleigh at about 8 a.m. Ira has an arrangement worked out where its CAP students will be taken to Snyder in time to ride with Snyder students.

Hobbs school is located three miles north of Highway 180 on Farm Road 611 between Roby and Snyder.

Classes at the school will run from 8:25 a.m. until 2:55 p.m.

Vocational courses at Hobbs will include small engines, drafting, building maintenance, home economics, child care and food service.

The students will be maintaining all buildings and handle food service as part of the vocational training.

Principal for Hobbs CAP will be Frank Cockrell. Frank Davis will serve as counselor.

Teachers include Vi Cockrell, part-time language arts; George Scott, social studies; Jerry Creager, science; Susan Bolen, home economics; Richard Hester, math; Bruce Evans, small engines and drafting; John Sanderson, building maintenance and trades; and Ellen St. Clair, food service.

The remaining staff members are Donna Kennedy, early childhood and nursery; Lilith McArthur, secretary/aide; and Barbara Gruben, secretary/aide.

Scurry County assists in manhunt

Scurry County sheriff deputies assisted Howard County Monday afternoon in the search for a suspect in a house burglary in Howard County.

Law enforcement officers in Howard County had chased the suspect into Scurry County. The suspect turned off Highway 350 near the Colorado River. A tire on his vehicle blew, and the suspect fled on foot.

Dogs from the Price Daniel Unit were brought in to assist in the manhunt, but were unsuccessful. Howard County has identified the suspect and has issued a warrant.

Pickup fire

Snyder firemen were called to a pickup fire shortly after 8 a.m. Monday at the intersection of 35th and El Paso. Damage was minor and the pickup was owned by Circle C Tools.

Alaska was rocked by a powerful earthquake in 1964 that killed 114 people.

Iraq 'ready to talk'

Bush is the one carrying out that aggression along with his allies."

Iraq has begun rounding up the thousands of foreigners in Iraq and Kuwait and placing them at military installations, but Saddam insisted that "what happened to the Americans so far is the lightest possible treatment that is dictated by necessity."

His statement was read on television by an unidentified announcer and was translated by Cable News Network.

Aziz, who said he had carried a message from Saddam to Jordanian officials, denied that the foreigners were hostages, calling them "guests," and warned against any attack on Iraq or Kuwait, which Baghdad invaded on Aug. 2.

"The Americans have prepared the ground for a war of aggression. If the Americans think this is a vacation like they had in Panama and Grenada, this will be a bloody conflict and America will lose and be humiliated."

Earlier today, Egypt urged Saddam to withdraw Iraqi troops from Kuwait or face a war "that will devour everything," and Britain said the West must strangle Iraq economically despite its threats against foreign hostages.

would take the information into consideration in making his decision, but said he didn't feel it disqualified Hodge.

One state lawmaker called the practice "slave sport" and has demanded that Hodge resign.

Terrell has defended the use of inmates to train the dogs and in his written statement said he has not heard of any previous complaints.

Terrell appointed Criminal Justice board members Allan Polunsky of San Antonio; Mamie Moore Proctor of Houston and James Eller of Bryan-College Station to review the practice.

Questions about the practice

Burglary of home, business reported to police Monday

Two burglaries were reported to police Monday morning, and a suspect has been identified in one and the case forwarded to the district attorney for prosecution.

At 9:47 a.m., Jeff Pippen reported that his apartment at the Bunkhouse at 2603 Ave. F had been burglarized. Taken were video tapes, bar weights, boots and a fan. Total value was $423.

A felony case of burglary of a residence has been sent to the district attorney's office.

A business burglary was reported at 10:03 a.m. Monday by Lawrence Jaramillo of Jarmillo's Restaurant on East Highway. Taken was an undetermined amount of cash.

In other police activity Monday, Snyder police investigated two minor wrecks. The first occurred at 5:08 p.m. in the Kmart parking lot. Involved was a 1978 Oldsmobile driven by Ella Withers of 2107 42nd St. and a 1989 Honda driven by Vicky Whisenaut of 2703 37th St. There were no injuries and damage was minor.

There were also no injuries in a mishap at 7:10 p.m. in the 3000 Block of El Paso. Involved was a 1990 Ford pickup driven by Otis Webb of 3014 El Paso and a 1983 Toyota driven by Amy Cantrell of Midland.

At 3:20 p.m., a woman in the 1000 Block of 26th St. reported a Class A assault. The woman told police she had been assaulted by her husband.

At 12:16 p.m., Robert Cantu of 2810 Ave. W reported that his home had been broken into. Police took a report for Class B criminal mischief.

Gramm

because of the fragile condition of Iraq's economy and its dependency on other countries for many basic items.

Gramm said most embargos have worked only a short period, but that for the first time the U.S. knows where the Soviet Union stands. "With the exception of Libya, Iraq is standing alone."

Gramm said he does not envision a long-term presence of U.S. military personnel in the Persian Gulf. "We won't be there a year from now, but we'll have fewer casualties trying to save Saudi Arabia than trying to retake it."

Gramm also predicted that President Bush's nominee to the Supreme Court, David Souter, would be confirmed. "Nominees should be questioned on the basis of character and competence, not on philosophy."

Gramm also said he is dedicated to running hard for reelection to the U.S. Senate. In addition, he has pledged to help "Republican candidates up and down the ballot."

Gramm said recent swipes made at GOP gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams are proof that Democrat Ann Richards is "out of touch."

When Congress returns Sept. 14, it will have 19 days to deal with the budget and deficits before Gramm-Rudman cuts become automatic.

Bush, he said, has summoned 14 key congressional leaders to a summit seven days before Congress comes back in an effort to reach a budget accord.

Roy Baze introduced Gramm and noted it was the senator's third visit to Snyder this year, and Gramm responded it was important to "stay in touch with citizens back home."

Gramm's Democratic opponent in November is former State Sen. Hugh Farmer of Fort Worth.

Twenty civilian airliners diverted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commercial airlines have yet to feel the pinch of a diversion of jets for the military airlift to Saudi Arabia, but an industry official says service could be disrupted under a prolonged airlift.

"We're operating routinely," Don Morrison of Trans World Airlines said Monday, three days after the Pentagon activated the Civil Reserve Fleet.

On Friday, the Pentagon mobilized 38 of the 508 commercial jets available for diversion. About 20 large jets from the 16 airlines under the program are being used each day, according to the Military Airlift Command.

Airline officials say they are under Pentagon instructions not to disclose details of their participation.

Pan Am said Monday it has had to cancel a small number of flights and put smaller planes on others, but spokesman Jeff Kriendler said the impact has been minimal.

Northwest Airlines spokesman Bob Gibbons would not rule out the possibility of future disruptions, but said that as of Monday afternoon there had been no disruptions in the carrier's regular passenger flights.

"A lot depends on when they call for the airplanes," he said.

2nd Armored Division gets reprieve

AUSTIN (AP) — The U.S. Army has halted the deactivation of the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood as soldiers there prepare to head for the Persian Gulf, a base spokeswoman said Monday.

"As the situation in the Middle East develops, the Department of the Army is going to review the 2nd Armored Division and make a decision regarding any further deactivation," said Fort Hood spokeswoman Liz Crossan.

The Army announced in June that it planned to deactivate the 12,000-member 2nd Armored Division in light of European troop cutbacks and warming superpower relations.

Approximately 500 soldiers were deactivated in June, 800 in July and 900 last week, Ms. Crossan said. The rest were scheduled to be deactivated by September 1991.

Although the crisis in the Middle East has prompted the Army to reconsider eliminating the division, it has not decided to restore it to full force, said Army spokesman Capt. David Roth in Washington. "It's being put on hold," he said.

Pentagon officials have said they will not release official troop strengths or destinations about any units of any service, but last week they did confirm that elements of the 2nd Armored Division and the 1st Cavalry Division from Fort Hood will soon join the thousands of military personnel deployed for Operation Desert Shield.

Iraqi freighter heading for Jordan

LONDON (AP) — An Iraqi freighter is heading to Jordan with 17 armored bridgelayers that enable tanks to cross difficult terrain, Jane's Defense Weekly reported Monday night.

Jane's publisher Paul Beaver said it was a clear indication the Iraqis were trying to obtain offensive military equipment by gaining access to the East German BLG-60 tracked vehicles. The vehicles have scissor-like bridges that are capable of spanning a gap of 66 feet.

Iraq received seven in a deal last year with the former Communist East German regime, the magazine said.

Seventeen more were reported to have left the Polish harbor of Gdynia on July 31, en route for the Jordanian port of Aqaba after making several other stops, the magazine said.

The new East German regime only became aware of the latest delivery Aug. 10 and requested the four allied powers — the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union — to stop the vessel, according to the report.

Its whereabouts are not known, Jane's said.

The Foreign Office said Monday night it was aware of the vessel. The Ministry of Defense said it would take any necessary action to enforce the United Nations embargo against Iraq.

Gasoline prices continue to go up

NEW YORK (AP) — Wholesale unleaded gasoline prices hit an all-time high at more than $1 a gallon, and a nationwide survey showed prices continuing to climb at the pump.

"More players think the crisis is going to last longer," said Ann-Louise Hittle, a senior oil analyst with Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc.

Unleaded gasoline for September delivery settled for the day Monday at a record $1.003 per gallon on the New York Mercantile Exchange, an increase of 4.28 cents over Friday's late price, which also had been a record.

West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude, dipped 7 cents per barrel to $28.56 for September delivery. But prices for later months were all up, most by more than 50 cents a barrel.

The market was responding partly to President Bush's declaration on Monday that Americans held in Iraq and Kuwait are "hostages" and that the United States holds Iraq responsible, Hittle said.

At the pump, unleaded self-serve regular gasoline averaged $1.237 a gallon Monday, up 2.1 cents from a week earlier, the American Automobile Association said.

Families held 'hostage' also

By The Associated Press

Americans held by Iraq aren't the only hostages.

Mothers and fathers, sons and daughters, and husbands and wives seeking word from those trapped overseas are captives in a waiting game that began when Iraq invaded Kuwait early this month.

President Bush's decision Monday to label the estimated 3,000 Americans in Iraq and Kuwait hostages confirmed waiting families' worst fears.

"I've felt all the time that they were hostages," said Marjorie Walterscheid of Jacksboro, Texas. Her husband, Rainard, 52, is among 35 Americans moved from a Baghdad hotel to an undisclosed location.

Iraq announced that some Westerners have been placed near military targets as shields against U.S. attack, heightening fears among relatives.

"What happens if there's a shooting war?" asked the Rev. Edwin Davis of Koran, La. "I'd like to be over there with them ... hold my daughter's hand."

The 68-year-old minister said he's haunted by visions of the ordeal facing his daughter, Kuwaiti son-in-law and their two teen-age children.

When he tries to sleep, he imagines the Middle East heat and hears the helicopters that buzzed in the background the last time his daughter called home, the night Iraqi tanks swarmed into Kuwait.

Since the invasion, little news has reached relatives in the United States. State Department officials have contacted some families. Others simply wait.

"It scares me to death ... that (the Iraqis) would try and use them as bargaining chips," said Kitty Dooley of Hopkinsville, Ky. She last heard from her 40-year-old son hours after Iraqi troops arrived in Kuwait City, where he managed several fast-food restaurants.

Communist leader eulogized 50 years later

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Half a century ago, Soviet revolutionary leader Leon Trotsky foresaw the reforms of today's perestroika in the Soviet Union, a historian at a 50th anniversary observance of Trotsky's assassination said.

Trotsky died on Aug. 22, 1940, 26 hours after his political rival Josef Stalin had him assassinated at his home-in-exile in the Mexico City neighborhood of Coyoacan. The anniversary observance was Monday.

The assassin, who buried a mountaineer's ice axe in Trotsky's skull after the Soviet exile returned from a still-fashionable seafood restaurant, spent 20 years in prison. His identity was a mystery but he was thought to be a Spaniard, Ramon del Rio Mercader, also known as Jacques Mornard and Frank Jackson.

"What Trotsky predicted — the end of the system that persecuted him — is today being achieved," said political historian Adolfo Sanchez Vazquez.

Sanchez Vazquez spoke in a ceremony inaugurating a center for asylum rights and the restored Trotsky house as a city-run museum.

A brigade of city workers finished work on the remodeled complex as Mexico City mayor Manuel Camacho Solis opened the ceremony.

"In current times, the most profound significance of this house is in communicating that what happened here should never again recur: harassing and taking the life of someone who thinks differently," Camacho said.

The city pumped more than $230,000 into refurbishing the Trotsky house and erecting the adjacent Asylum Rights and Public Freedom Institute inaugurated Monday.

The institute reaffirms Mexico's policy of providing political asylum to exiles, regardless of their ideological persuasions, officials at the opening said.

It is a reconditioned indoor squash court, housing a library, exhibit room, conference room, and an asylum rights study center.

"It is a transformation of history into an instrument of rights," institute board member Javier Wimer told about 200 people gathered at the anniversary event.

The museum-home, formerly maintained on meager public donations by Trotsky's grandson Esteban Volkow and members of the Trotskyist Revolutionary Workers Party, was given a meticulous facelift with city funds.

Trotsky and his wife Natalia Sedova arrived in Mexico in January 1937, after Stalin ordered Trotsky's exile and execution. The two leaders of the 1917 October Revolution in Russia were locked in a power struggle as the health of revolutionary leader Vladimir Lenin waned.

"Trotsky's exile in Mexico is a paradigmatic example of (Mexico's) international and internal policy," Camacho said.

Christian group sees Gulf crisis as the fulfillment of end-of-time prophecies

AUSTIN (AP) — Another military occupation — or impending apocalypse?

An economic crisis — or the end of the world?

The Middle East conflict may be a cause of concern to the rest of the world, but to at least one group of Christians it signals glorious salvation.

For centuries, various religious leaders have tied current events to Bible prophecies detailing the end of the world and the coming of the kingdom of God.

Wars, famines, earthquakes and political movements have inspired Christians to quote the Book of Revelation while warning of a second coming of the Messiah.

It hasn't happened.

But now a small group of Christians is pointing to the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait and other Middle East developments as the latest — make that last — warning for wayward sinners to get their lives together.

For believers like Carolyn Wrobel, "It's a magnificent, wonderful thing. We're thrilled, only in the fact that we truly believe we are that much closer to the second return of Jesus."

Ms. Wrobel is a Christadelphian, an evangelical religious group with about 100 adherents in Austin and about 12,000 nationwide.

An estimated 50 million Americans who are fundamentalist Christians also believe the end is near — though not necessarily as near as the Christadelphians are saying.

"People are looking (for signs of the second coming), but they're not jumping," says Randy Schmidt, a member of the Central Assembly of God.

"I don't personally see it myself," says the Rev. Jackson Boyett of the Dayspring Fellowship Church. "I'm not one of the ones saying 'Aha!'"

But George Booker, a certified

"Everyone was against Trotsky and the president of the republic received him in Mexico," he said.

Mexico has given asylum to the Shah of Iran, exiles of the Spanish Civil War and exiles of the Agusto Pinochet dictatorship in Chile.

Revolutionary Workers Party spokesman Edgar Sanchez, who attended the Monday ceremony with more than a dozen party members waving red and white party flags, said the city's refurbishing of the Trotsky house was a demand of party members.

"It's very positive what is happening here now," he said in an interview. He lauded the government's policy on political asylum.

But he added, "Just because Camacho is here doesn't change the fact that there are other rights that are not respected by the government of the Institutional Revolutionary Party."

Members of two other Trotskyist groups gave the Soviet Union's Mexican ambassador a petition with 500 signatures demanding that Trotsky's true history be taught in the Soviet Union, said Enrique Gomez, spokesman for the Mexican Com-public accountant who is a Christadelphian, sees plenty of evidence the end is imminent — signs spelled out in the Bible that are being played out in the Middle East.

In what Booker calls a geographical interpretation, Christadelphians read Biblical prophecy about a battle raging between Babylon and Jerusalem as foreseeing a final showdown between an Iraqi-led Arab confederacy of nations and Israel.

Iraq is the site of ancient Babylon, which a Bible prophet says is recreated in the last days to ultimately be destroyed by God. Booker points to Iraqi government efforts to rebuild ancient Babylon at an archeological site. He notes President Saddam Hussein is being compared to the ancient king of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar, who sacked Jerusalem.

In the final conflict outlined in the Bible, Israel is invaded by a confederacy of Arab nations and stands alone against its enemies; Booker notes that Saddam aspires to be a leader of Arab nations and speculates that the U.S. will have to withdraw from the armed conflict, leaving Saddam to lead this holy war against Israel.

There's much more to the Christadelphians' apocalyptic vision — an elaborate confluence of Bible verses and modern events.

In the final scene, Israeli Jews who come to believe in Christ, "through their prayers and faith, will eventually bring the Messiah to deliver them from their trials," Booker says. Believers from all over the world and believers who have been raised from the dead then gather in Israel to inhabit a holy kingdom on Earth.

Christadelphians follow a long line of religious groups that have predicted the imminent end of the world in the wake of wars and other world crises, says Craig Blaising.

mittee for the Rehabilitation of Leon Trotsky.

"We want them to remove the accumulation of falsities that they say," Gomez said in an interview. Only one of Trotsky's books is available in the Soviet Union, he said.

The institute received a donation of books by and about Trotsky from the personal collection Rafael Galvan, during the ceremony. The institute's collection includes 5,000 volumes by and about Trotsky and other exiles, museum coordinator Jose Enrique Ortiz said in an interview.

Harvard University donated a catalog of the complete works of Trotsky contained in its library.

The institute's exposition hall opened with works by Chileans and Spaniards in exile in Mexico. Two wall-sized paintings by Russian painter Vlady depicting the assassination of Trotsky dominate the exhibit.

Museum specialists restored the Trotsky house and gardens where Trotsky's ashes are entombed, using documents and photos to return it to its condition at the time of Trotsky's death, Ortiz said.

The bloodstains from the fatal attack still exist in the house, as do bullet holes in bedroom walls from a previous assassination attempt.

Tour cancelled

LENOX, Mass. (AP) — Poor health has led conductor Leonard Bernstein to cancel a six-city European tour.

Bernstein hasn't fully recovered from respiratory ailments that plagued him last winter and spring, Harry Kraut, Bernstein's manager, said Monday.

"Maestro Bernstein deeply regrets that he must follow his doctor's instructions and cancel his participation," Kraut said.

Galveston family readies triplets for first days of school

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Early in the morning of next Monday, Aug. 27, three pairs of boys' size 12 sneakers, three pairs of size 6 slim blue jeans and three T-shirts will be neatly laid out at the Bordelon house.

Barbara Bordelon will have carefully selected the clothes for the first day of school for her triplet sons, Kevin, Karl and Kristen.

It will be the first day of kindergarten for the boys and the first day for triplets at Rosenberg Elementary School.

Before the boys registered for school last week, school teachers had a meeting about their new students. Principal Patricia Williams discussed with Mrs. Bordelon whether it would be best to keep the brothers together in one class or to split them up.

"We thought it would benefit them to try to separate them, but the teachers will work with me so everyone will be on the same level," Mrs. Bordelon said.

The brothers, who have stayed home with a baby sitter and have spent a lot of time together since they were born, are excited about going to school. Like most boys their age, they can quickly rattle off all of the Teen-age Mutant Ninja Turtles, but they didn't remember the names of their teachers.

In addition to the preparation their mom has given them, their big brother, Michael, age 6, has helped fill them in on school etiquette. Michael will enter first grade at Rosenberg this fall.

In getting the boys ready for school, Mrs. Bordelon said the toughest task has been the shopping. She started in July and shopped as many sales as possible to save money on school clothes. She was proud of the buy, she got on their school shoes — buy one pair, get a second pair free.

When buying in triplicate, every little bit helps.

Mrs. Bordelon said she isn't really anxious about getting all of the boys dressed and ready for their first day of school.

"We've worked out a system. I lay out their clothes and fix their lunches because I have to be at work at 6:45 a.m.," she said. "Then my husband will get them dressed."

She said each of the triplets has his own distinct personality and preferences. Those differences are reflected in their choices of sandwiches for lunch.

"Karl likes peanut butter and jelly, Kristen likes just peanut butter and Kevin likes just jelly," she said.

RTC plans to move to humbler location

HOUSTON (AP) — The federal Resolution Trust Corp. is moving to less plush digs, partly because its current quarters are too fancy for a government agency charged with the nation's savings-and-loan cleanup, an official said.

The agency's Gulf Coast office is located in the Plush Park Laureate One building, which has a marble, granite and brass decor, fountains and a baby grand piano in the lobby.

But while the agency remains in the Park Laureate One, steps have been taken to "downgrade" the office's appearance, the RTC's Gulf Coast Consolidated Office director said.

"The downgrading is to eliminate the obvious criticism," John H. Lomax said.

Carpet has been installed to cover up expensive wood parquet flooring, Lomax said. The carpet will protect the flooring and help ease the perception that the federal agency's offices are too plush, he said.

If the agency moves to the MeritBanc buildings in September as planned, steps will be taken there also to eliminate amenities that are deemed too rich for the government: Some offices will be made smaller, and oil paintings will be sold, Lomax said.

"The building will be downgraded to government standards," he said.

The Park Laureate One building is owned by Commonwealth Federal Savings, an institution controlled by the RTC in its conservatorship program.

The RTC occupies about a third of the 150,000-square-foot building, said Lomax. The agency, which handles the sale of foreclosed properties from failed thrifts, moved into the building earlier this year.

The RTC expects to move to the MeritBanc Savings Association buildings, also controlled by the RTC. If RTC officials in Washington approve, the agency will occupy 75,000 square feet in the MeritBanc buildings, Lomax said.

The agency now has employees at a dozen locations around the city, he said.

"We are attempting to get all of our people in one place in a government-type building," Lomax said.

The agency's move may also clear the way for the sale of the Park Laureate building.

The nine-story building is posted for foreclosure by Commonwealth. Deed records show Park Laureate Ltd. borrowed $19.5 million on the property. About 10 acres of adjacent vacant land also are posted for foreclosure.

Lomax said the foreclosure, which is set to occur Sept. 4, should clear up the title of the building and enable the RTC to sell it. A number of investors have inquired about buying the property, RTC officials said.

Study says Dallas does more lobbying

DALLAS (AP) — Of the seven metropolitan transit authorities in Texas, the one in Dallas has spent more money than other major cities to lobby the Legislature in Austin, according to a published report.

A survey by The Dallas Morning News says Dallas Area Rapid Transit has spent $266,000 in the past five years for the services of an Austin lobbyist.

The amount is more than any other transit authority in the state, including Houston's, which serves nearly twice as many bus riders, the newspaper said.

DART spends more money each year for state level lobbying than transit authorities in Pittsburgh, Denver, San Diego, Minneapolis and St. Louis, The News reported.

Most of the state's seven metropolitan transit authorities rely on staff members, a state transit trade association or part-time contract labor for lobbying. DART has a full-time lobbyist on retainer — former Dallas Assistant City Attorney Galt Graydon, the newspaper said.

DART officials say lobbying preserves the authority's 1 percent sales tax. Graydon was instrumental in getting legislation passed that allowed sales tax-supported transit authorities in Texas.

Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth, El Paso and Corpus Christi each have staff members whose duties include monitoring transit-related legislation.

But Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi also have hired a professional lobbyist to track events at the state

Tom Selck says he was very shy

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Selleck, best-known for his TV hunk role on "Magnum P.I.," says he was a shy teen-ager who graduated from high school still a novice in the field of romance.

"The idea of saving yourself was something noble in the back of your head, no matter how hard your glands were pushing," Selleck said in the September issue of Fame magazine. "I left high school a virgin."

Selleck said he was "very shy" before he eventually got a steady girlfriend.

"I didn't have many dates," he said. "I didn't have trouble getting dates if I got up the nerve to ask. But I had a tendency to run through a whole relationship before I asked."

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A relative recently died from a rare blood disease called TTP, or hemolytic uremic syndrome. Is this hereditary? Can it lie dormant for years? He was told he had leukemia 20 years ago with only two weeks to live. His previous recovery amazed his doctors, yet has us puzzled.

DEAR READER: Your relative died from thrombotic thrombocytopenic purpura, a disorder of platelets, the tiny blood cells required for clotting. In some people, for unknown reasons, platelets clump together to block capillary blood vessels. This depletes the number of circulating platelets, leading to uncontrolled bleeding (into the skin and internal organs) and, eventually, death.

TTP is also marked by anemia, fever, headache, agitation, seizures, coma and renal failure. Thus, the hemolytic uremic syndrome (anemia and kidney failure) is often a major constituent of TTP.

Untreated TTP has a 60 to 80 percent mortality rate. Therapy consists of cortisone, aspirin (to block platelet aggregation) and plasma exchange (during which the fluid portion of the blood is replaced with a fresh supply from a healthy donor).

Also, fresh platelets must be infused to compensate for the deficiency in TTP. This treatment can often seem miraculous; patients quickly recover and soon return to normal. However, a small percentage of them experience relapses, which add to the mortality of the disease.

I do not know if TTP can exist undiagnosed for years. It is usually an acute illness. Although it is not hereditary, TTP is sometimes associated with various forms of leukemia (cancer of the blood cells), so I assume your relative's leukemia was successfully treated years ago, only to recur, cause TTP and result in death.

Since your relative had an unusual blood disorder that should have been treated by a hematologist, I suggest you ask the blood specialist to answer your specific questions. In particular, the doctor can describe the relation between TTP and your relative's leukemia and why original therapy enabled him to live beyond what was predicted.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a mother of three young children and have heard that honey can be harmful to youngsters under age 2. Do you have any information on this?

DEAR READER: Some types of honey have been found to contain spores from bacteria called clostridium botulinum. Although these spores rarely cause disease in adults, they can grow in the intestinal tracts of very young infants (less than 3 months old), producing a toxin. This toxin causes a disease (called infant botulism) that is characterized by constipation, followed by progressive paralysis that is permanent unless treated.

The diagnosis is established by the presence of toxin or botulinum organisms in the stool. Treatment with anti-toxin injections carries risks (because it is made from horse serum) and should be administered only by physicians familiar with its use.

The best treatment is prevention. Therefore, most pediatricians recommend that infants younger than 1 year not be fed honey.

Local deployed to Middle East

Sterling Kyle Burleson, a corporal in the United States Marine Corps, has departed for duties in the Middle East. He is a member of the 7th Marine 2nd Battalion, Echo Company, 3rd Platoon.

His home base is 29 Palms, Calif., Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center. He joined the service in 1989 after graduating from Snyder High School.

Burleson is the son of Carl and Gayle Burleson of Snyder; and the grandson of Mrs. Laura Greenfield of Snyder and Travis Burleson and Lorena Burleson, both of Hermleigh.

Lawyers find gold working on suits against railroads

HOUSTON (AP) — Working on the railroad historically hasn't been a very lucrative occupation, but lawyers here who are dividing up $100 million in fees today say it's the largest amount their firm has collected on one case.

Lawyers at Vinson & Elkins said they spent almost six years and 200,000 working hours pursuing an antitrust case against five railroad companies to earn the jackpot.

"This is the end of a long haul," J. Evans Attwell, managing partner for Vinson & Elkins, said. "We went down a long road for this one."

The sum is the latest, and largest, part of more than $200 million in fees paid to the victorious attorneys in the case.

Attwell said all of the 73-year-old firm's employees, including those in the mail room, will benefit from the windfall. The largest law firm in Houston, Vincent & Elkins has 201 partners.

The settlement would amount to more than $900,000 for each partner if the total sum were divided evenly, lawyers said. But senior partners will collect more than the junior members of the firm, possibly creating several instant millionaires.
