2 Candidates File

Waldrip, Taylor File - Anderson Out

Wm. J. (Dub) Waldrip and Jeff E. Taylor filed Friday for ballot places in the April 6 Colorado Independent School District trustee election.

They joined O. B. Trulock Jr. and Tom Rees in the list of definite candidates for four board of trustee places which will be decided by the voting. Deadline for filing comes this week.

At the same time Warren Anderson joined Bill F. Carter on the sidelines. Carter Wednesday announced he would not be a candidate for re-election and Anderson Friday stated that he also definitely had decided not to seek re-election.

Waldrip, Taylor and Trulock, who will be seeking a second term on the board, are candidates for usual three-year terms. Rees, appointed to fill a vacancy created by resignation last year of Benny Franks, will be candidate for the remaining year of Franks' unexpired term.

Waldrip, an outstanding educator in his own right with a doctorate degree, is coordinator for projects at Renderbrook - Spade Ranch south of Colorado City and Chappell-Spade Ranch near Tucumcari, N.M.

Taylor, owner of Jeff Taylor Enco Service, is one of the community's most active civic leaders, formerly serving several terms as city councilman.

Waldrip, who has five children and moved here after being named to the ranch position March 1, 1967, is serving also as adjunct in Texas Tech's School of Agriculture in Lubbock, advising Tech's range management faculty and graduate students working on cooperative research on Renderbrook-Spade Ranch.

He earned the PhD degree from Texas A&M in 1962 after previously being awarded bachelor and master of science degrees there in 1949 and 1950.

He was project leader at Texas Experimental Ranch before moving to Colorado City and earlier was on the staff of Texas A&M University Range and Forestry Department.

Waldrip also served as advisor in research, teaching and extension at State University of Agriculture, Saltillo, Mexico.

In 1967 he was selected as "Range Man of Texas."

Taylor has served as city councilman, president of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, president of Lions Club, head of Mitchell County United Fund and numerous other civic, club and church programs.

He also for 20 years has been one of the leading supporters for school projects and sports endeavors.

He is the father of a son, a graduate of Colorado High now a student at Texas Tech.

Wolves Win 66-55 To Capture Regional Crown

LUBBOCK — Colorado High came from behind in the fourth quarter Saturday night in the splendor of Lubbock coliseum, beating Midland Carver, 66 to 55, to claim its first Class AA regional basketball championship.

The spirited Wolves of Coach Caddo Matthews lifted themselves up after trailing throughout most of the game.

They had to shake off a "cold" first half when they hit less than 28 per cent of their shots.

But they accomplished their feat before 2,100 screaming spectators and won the right to journey next weekend to Austin for Texas high school finals.

Colorado, champion of District 5-AA and winner over Crane in bi-district, moved into the Regional championship contest with a Saturday noon triumph over Quanah, 73-57.

Midland Carver, titlists of District 4-AA, defeated Brady, 73-68 in their afternoon opener.

Just as they had to do against Crane and Quanah the Wolves overcame heighth and experience when they knocked over Coach Willie James' Midland Hornets.

Big Harvey Clay, who was held to a meager 5 points, towered 6-10 and his sharpshooting Hornet teammate Earl Carter who scored 25, touched 6-5.

But the Wolves with their pressurized attack crashed in on the all-around play of seven stalwarts — Kerry Campbell, Randy Parker, Robert Bender, Lyneal James, Kenneth Johnson, Billy Williams and Johnny Mathews. They also did the best work on rebounds.

James, who continued his fine play although having to sit out a good part of the second half because of 3 fouls, scored seven field goals and 4 free tosses to lead C-City with 18 points.

Kenneth Jones was right behind with 17 and Randy Parker, who scored when it was needed the most in the fourth, tallied 11.

The Wolves twice moved into the lead in the third quarter, only to trail 43-41 as the period ended.

Then with 6:49 remaining in the fourth, Williams sank a field goal to send CCity into 47-46 lead. After that they were never behind.

Johnson and Williams made it 51-47 and James added another 2-pointer to make it 53-47 at 5:15. Before Midland could recover, Parker and James scored with rebounds for a 57-47 advantage.

Midland attempted to recoup with full court press but the game ended with Parker hittin a two-pointer and James missing a gratis shot.

were named to the All-Regional team.

Colorado High moved quickly into the lead kept a blistering pace and outplayed a taller, more experienced Quanah team in every department for a 74-57 triumph in the AA Regional opener in Lubbock at noon Saturday.

It was a convincing performance by the Wolves in their first regional basketball appearance.

Ken Johnson, Hustling 5-11 sophomore so valuable in the bi-district victory over Crane, scored 28 points to lead the Wolves.

Fourteen of his total were from the free throw line as the Wolves, almost as hot as when they scored 25 of 27 against Crane, hit 20 out of 24 gratis tries.

Lyneal James and Kerry Campbell divided 24 points between themselves each with 12. Parker hit six field goals while James contributed 4 free tosses with four field goals.

With Robert Bender, Parker, and James hitting successfully, the Wolves hurried to a 13-8 lead in the opening moments of the contest. They were never behind.

Two more field goals by Campbell and one by James made it 24 to 12 with 1:22 remaining in the opening quarter. With the Wolves controlling the ball, except for one unsuccessful thrust by Quanah, that's the way it was at quarter's end.

Joe Payne and Monty Ford scored for Quanah as the second quarter opened, pulling Quanah up to 23-16 deficit, but James, Campbell, Johnson retaliated to stretch C-City lead to 12 points.

Li'l Abner Opening Show Friday Night

Biggest cast, most musical numbers, and by far the most ambitious setting is in store for Colorado City when Li'l Abner is presented here March 8 and 9 and again March 15 and 16 in Colorado High School auditorium.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. for the four evening performances planned by Colorado City Playhouse, amateur theater group staging the musical.

High comedy in the colorful, wholesome mood of Al Capp's Li'l Abner comic strip (on which the show is based) offers two acts of amusement to play-goers.

Statistics for the Li'l Abner musical, giant step for Playhouse, would have to include 80 people involved in the production; a pit orchestra of 16 musicians; 12 scenes in act one, eight scenes in act two; 15 songs with lyrics and music by Johnny Mercer and Gene de Paul.

Book is by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank. Direction for the Playhouse version is by Curtis Baker and George Womack with choreography by Addie V. Payne, staging by Porter Richardson, makeup by Charlotte Northcutt, costuming by Shirley DeLaney.

Scenes designed by Richardson include Dogpatch U.S.A., familiar to all Al Capp's Li'l Abner fans, the Yokum cabin, the fishin' hole, cornpone square, Washington D. C., the President's office, General Bullmoose's office, a ballroom, Dogpatch Road, and a government testing laboratory.

Cast, in rehearsal for many weeks, will have Don Richard of Loraine and Marilynn Hicks of Colorado City in the lead roles of Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae.

Mammy Yokum, pipe-smoking matriarch, will be played "to the hilt" by Betty Bills. Pat Reily is cast as Romeo Scragg, David Benson as Clem Scragg, Jesse Rocha as Al Scragg.

Bob Reily plays the role of Earthquake McGoon, Bruno Kaulfus, Pappy Yokum. One of the show's most delightfully funny twosomes will be seen in Ronnie Arispo as Lonesome Polecat and

Smith Urges Care

Asks For Vote Of Confidence

Lt. Governor Preston Smith candidate for the office of governor of Texas, greeted guests at an informal reception in Civic House here Friday afternoon.

He also spoke briefly to the 60 citizens present, before leaving for a similar meeting in Snyder. His was the first public appearance of a 1968 gubernatorial candidate in Colorado City.

"I do want to express to each of you my gratitude for taking time and interest in this campaign. Your vote counts," he said. "Be careful when you choose one of the 14 candidates as your candidate. Be familiar with his background. Be sure."

Lt. Governor Smith then launched into a resume' of his 18-year-long experience in Texas State Government as a representative in the House, a senator, lieutenant governor and speaker of the Senate.

"I ask for your vote of confidence," said Smith, "your vote of confidence and trust. Be assured I can do a good job for you."

He also referred to his boyhood as one of 13 children and called his having had to work hard for both a high school and college education as "A blessing in disguise. I learned to earn a dollar and to value and squeeze that dollar."

The governor's office belongs to the people of Texas, the lieutenant governor told reception guests.

"You ought to be concerned," he urged, "and if you believe in the kind of government I represent, be for me. If elected governor I will keep the same open door policy I have had as lieutenant governor.

"If you need to see me, you'll see me, talk to me, you'll talk to me, write to me, and your letters will be answered. I pledge my time, talent, experience and cooperation to make Texas a better place to live."

In summarizing his platform in brief Smith chiefly stressed public education pointing out that "Texas is rich and big and proud," as he called for progress in elementary, secondary, and vocational levels.

He touched briefly on industrial development with emphasis on training more people for industry; parks and wildlife; good roads.

"Someone will be elected governor this year," Smith concluded after saying the decision to run had been solely that of him and his wife. "As long as you and I are the government, whoever is elected will affect the economic climate, the laws under which you and your children live. It is a time for you to be informed, to be concerned."

Standefer's Mother Told

Death of Sgt. Glenn Standefer in combat in Vietnam was confirmed Saturday by the Army.

At start of the fourth quarter, the Wolves were in command, 54-37, a lead quickly stretched to 58-37.

CONVERSATION CORNER

SOONER OR LATER practically every experience and every emotion known to the human race gets put into a song title.

That's true if you'll just think about it. One can piece together the whole story of a lifetime just by recalling titles of songs beloved "back when."

If Berlin hasn't said it, Jerome Kern or Cole Porter or Johnny Mercer or Gershwin or Ed Ames or Eddie Arnold or maybe even the Beatles may have said it . . . as in "I Wanta Hold Your Hand."

People progress from that feeling to "The Bells Are Ringing . . . Baby Face . . . Love Nest . . . Blue Heaven . . . Smoke Gets in Your Eyes . . . Stormy Weather . . . That Old Feelin' . . . Your Cheatin' Heart . . . Tears On My Pillow . . . Yesterday . . . Where Have All the Flowers Gone . . . Who Will Answer."

NOTE that one of the songs coming up in the Playhouse production "Li'l Abner," has the title "I'm Past My Prime."

Now, there's a catchy title . . . particularly in the light of the fact that between columns there has been another birthday.

In "Li'l Abner," the song is sung by Daisy Mae who is all of 17-years-old so the words would not exactly fit here.

It's only the title that grabs you if you're over 39.

A gal is past her prime when a birthday gets to be just one thing too many . . . and candles on the cake would begin to look like a prairie fire.

Past her prime when she'll settle for being cozy and comfortable instead of charming and chic.

Past her prime when additions to the supply of lingerie seem suddenly to jump from small to medium . . . and she tries on shoes for feel instead of fashion.

THERE ARE all kinds of ways to tell.

A woman is past her prime when she stops trying to marry off all her single acquaintances.

Past her prime when she'd rather take off the girdle than take off the pounds — or put on tight belts again.

Past her prime when she stops running to answer the phone . . . and when she starts reading the obituaries clear through.

Past her prime when she can eat lunch and plumb forget to freshen the lipstick right after the last sip and swallow.

Past her prime when stooping gets to be a real work out . . . and the couch just sitting as one of life's finest unchallenged joys.

Past her prime?

That's what I'm.

AT COURTHOUSE

Seventy-five Attend Marker Unveiling

Approximately 75 persons Sunday attended the dedication of the founding of Colorado City marker on the Mitchell County Courthouse lawn.

Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, president emeritus of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, was principal speaker for unveiling of the marker.

Dr. Richardson, West Texas author and historian, traced the penetration of the white man into what was Comanche country in the 1800's, pointing out that the Comanches had pushed the Apaches out of the area earlier.

He said that the real exploration of the area was by Army Capt. R. B. March, who crossed the Colorado River in 1849 west of the present site of Colorado City and lost one of his men in an Indian fight at the crossing.

The man, who was grandson of former President William Henry Harrison, lies in an unmarked grave in the general area of the Colorado River bridge on Highway 350.

He said that Colorado City was established and grew rapidly after the railroad came.

District Judge Austin McCloud was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Bryan Yarbrough of Robert Lee spoke on the importance of preserving our heritage, noting that much of our early history has been lost.

Mrs. Witt Hines of Colorado City, Mitchell County Historical Committee chairman, presented the marker to Mitchell County and it was formally accepted by County Judge Elmer Martin

Pistol Display Fines

Pair Arrested On Highway

Brandishing of a pistol at motorists on Interstate 20 Tuesday resulted in $200 in fines in Justice of Peace Leonard Henderson's Precinct 1 Court.

Fined were two young men, 25 and 19 years of age, who were traveling east on Interstate 20 to their homes in Graham.

They were arrested by State Highway Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger, Assistant Police Chief Bill Henderson and Constable Delmer Lowe at the north city limits.

The 23-year-old, a former Marine who has been living in California, was fined $50 for being drunk on a public highway and $100 for displaying a deadly weapon on a public road. He put up a struggle when arrested and sat out a night in jail to sober up before appearing in court with his buddy.

The 19-year-old, who was sober and driving, was fined for aiding and abetting his companion.

In the car were an old model double action .22 caliber and .25 caliber weapons.

The pair had been to Big Spring and were reported to officers after motorists notified police that a man in a car was pointing a pistol at other motorists.

Hertenberger, who was alerted at Westbrook, caught up with the car as Henderson and Lowe met the pair.

It was necessary to handcuff the older man after his arrest.

Judge Henderson, in addition to imposing the fines, lectured sternly to the pair who said the incident would not have happened if the 25-year-old had not been drunk.

place with his piano solo, "Climb Every Mountain."

Thirteen selections were entered in the all-school show. They included dance routines, vocal selections, piano numbers and combo presentations.

Surprise guests for the evening's entertainment were two Colorado High School teachers. Eugene (Bo) Merket, math instructor, played the piano and sang. Davis Woods, teacher for English, played the guitar and sang an original song.

Another highlight for the evening was the leg contest in which four high school teachers were entered. Competing in that contest were Mrs. Bass Hines, a student council sponsor; Mrs. H. H. Bodine, study hall teacher; Coach Dell Riley, who also teaches general business, and Coach Doug Chitsey.

Winner for that contest was Coach Chitsey.

A combo, directed by W. H. Ezell, presented music during intermission. Approximately 500 attended the program.

SAYS WOMACK

Easter Seal Appeal Letters Coming Up

Easter Seal Appeal letters were delivered this week in Mitchell County according to George Womack, Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

As representative, Womack serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Mitchell County.

Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Womack pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1967 the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services to 17,622 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation services. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, Womack added.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 14.
