'SUNDOWNERS'

SQUARE DANCE CLUB
OF BURKBURNETT

The newly elected officers and the officers whose term has just expired, met Tuesday evening in the home of Rosy and Ina Roark, past president of the Sundowners.

The newly elected officers are: President, Cloyd and Patsy Adams; vice president, Jack and Peggy Bruno; Secretary, Jim and Shirley Taylor; Treasurer, Jimmy and Donna Caldwell.

The main topic of discussion was the lessons now being offered each Thursday evening at the Youth Center. Cecil Curtis, caller for the Sundowners, is teaching the class starting with basic and when the students finish the classes they will be ready to Square dance and have their share of the best fun there is. Square dancing is good, clean fun.

The Sundowners dance each 2nd and 4th Saturday nights at the American Legion building at 8:00 p. m. Visitors are always welcome.

My personal appreciation to the officers and delegates who served with Ina and I during our term in office. We wish those new officers all the success possible for a good season of square dancing.

Anyone who wants to join the Sundowners, come to one of our dances and let it be known.

See ya in a Square.
Rosy and Ina Roark.

This is LIFE

In SPACE our country has already been effected—to an amazing extent—by the space revolution. We're already enjoying the benefits of communication satellites, weather predictions and other "information" from space. Space is the frontier of the 1960s, a field rich in romance and promise.

On the MOON

The moon is the current target for our spacemen. While they're making use of wild new training devices in preparation for future flights, researchers are urgently involved with bioastronautics—the effects of space on the human body. The entire, widely-ranging field of space is reviewed, in words and pictures, in Life magazine's two special space issues.

In the FUTURE

To a number of Americans, space is not only today's frontier, but also today's Klondike. They've jumped into the space field for adventure, excitement and the chance to strike it rich. Meet one of these men in Life's space issues. And read Astronaut Pete Conrad discussing our most interesting on-hand piece of space equipment, for use in the very near future.

URBAN RENEWAL THE FEDERAL BULLDOZER

Not long ago after undertaking a study of the federal urban renewal program, professor Martin Anderson received a series of surprises.

He found that most public impressions of this program were seriously in error. By the time he was ready to publish his book on the subject he had come to the conclusion that the federal urban renewal program is very costly, destructive of personal liberty, and is not capable of achieving the goals put forth by Congress.

Professor Anderson's findings have been released in a new book "The Federal Bulldozer" (published by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Press Cambridge 42, Mass.; $5.95). He feels that the only conclusion to be drawn from the evidence is that the urban renewal program should be repealed in its entirety.

Statistical Evidence
With the aid of a computer, and with tireless research, the author has compiled a mountain of evidence to refute virtually every claim put forth by the bureaucrats in support of this pet project. He demonstrates that its "benefits" have been almost nil and its costs exceedingly high.

By 1962, over one million persons had been forcibly removed from their homes by the program. The net effect of this confiscation of property has been to permit a few private developers to purchase valuable land at below market prices—with the taxpayers making up the difference.

Although the program is justified for its "slum clearance" benefit, the author points out: "It is much more likely that the federal urban renewal program shifts slums instead of removing them, and in so doing may actually encourage the spread of slums and blight. The people who move from the urban renewal area are not really helped by the operation of the program. The only basic change is that they are now living in some other part of the city."

Low Income Housing
Backing his statement with statistical evidence, Professor Anderson refutes another claim: "The federal urban renewal program has actually made it more difficult for low income and middle income groups to obtain housing. It has done this by destroying much more of this kind of housing than it has created. Its net results has been to aggravate the housing shortage for those who have the most trouble finding suitable accommodation."

The author makes an excellent case for the fact that the free enterprise system is inherently capable of providing housing much more efficiently than any bureaucratically-administered agency. He even took his manuscript to the bureaucrats themselves, non of whom could refute his findings. However, at last report, none had offered to abdicate.

The accomplishments of the Clara Fairview Community members were reviewed by Mr. Adams as he showed several plaques won in recent years.

The FFA took their annual trip to the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, Saturday, Oct. 16th. Seventeen boys left Burk Burnett at approximately 4:30 a. m. to spend the day studying livestock and exhibits at the fair.

At 7:30 Mr. Farris unleashed his crew to invade the fair grounds. After a long tiring day at the fair grounds, the bus was reloaded with 17 exhausted boys and Mr. Farris began the long drive home.

The grass team entered competition among 40 teams. They did excellent but failed to place in top five.

Football is a game of breaks. The Burk Burnett Bulldogs will be the last to argue that point, as they saw their frustrating bad breaks turn into points for Vernon here Friday night as they went down 21-0 to the Lions from Wilbarger County.

Needless to say, when one views the statistics, the score should have been closer. The Bulldogs trailed by only eight in total yardage, picking up 130 yards on the ground and 27 yards via the airways. The Lions had 83 yards rushing and 82 yards passing. The Lions' fine quarterback, Richard McCustion, accounted for all three of Vernon's touchdowns, passing for one and running the other two over. Picking up only 42 yards in 17 carries, McCustion passed for their 82 yards. Dean Thompson, the Bulldogs' hard running junior fullback, was the night's leading ground gainer with 70 yards in 17 carries.

The first streak of bad luck began for Burk when they took the first Vernon punt. Having held the Lions on their first series, the Bulldogs fumbled the punt and Vernon recovered on the Burk 30. The Lions mounted a drive which carried all the way. McCustion capped it off by tossing an eleven yard strike to Larry Lindsay. Bill Copelin booted the extra point to make it 7-0, with 5:42 to go in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs then drove to the Vernon 15 before being turned back. On a fourth down play, Rusty Kinnett passed to Bob Hubble who loped about 12 yards to the three, but to no avail, as a penalty killed the play.

Vernon's second touchdown came after a pass interception on the Burk 35. The Lions drove it across from 10 yards out, with McCustion going the distance. Copelin was called on to kick the point after, making the board read 14-0, with 8:19 left in the first half.

The Bulldogs came roaring back driving down to the Vernon 14, where a fumble stymied the march.

The third quarter saw an exchange of punts, with neither team really threatening. The fourth quarter saw the Lions rack up one more tally for the night.

This score came as the direct result of a blocked punt. The punt was blocked by Vernon on the Bulldogs 14 and recovered there.

Two plays later, McCustion galloped 12 yards for the final score of the night. Copelin's kicking aim was good once more, and the final score was 21-0.

The Bulldogs were impressive on the ground with powerful drives by Thompson and the "jack-rabbit" running of sophomore speedster, Rod Turner. Tommy Olds ran extremely well in the early stages of the game. Several sophomores saw action in the game.

Pete Glover was the defensive stalwart of the game, with eleven tackles, two unassisted. Jerry Bingham, David Salter, Dean Thompson and John Carrah were also impressive on defense.

Food Prices And Your IncomeAsk anyone what has happened to food prices during the last decade and you'll be told that they've gone up — just as have the prices of practically everything else.But there's much more to the food price story than that. Here, for instance, is what a bulletin issued by a chain store organization says: "In 1963 each person spent for food 16.3 per cent of his total (before taxes) income; 18.8 per cent of his disposal (after taxes) income; 20.2 per cent of this actual expenditures (doesn't include savings). Ten years earlier in 1953, these three comparable figures were: 19.2 per cent, 22.4 per cent; and 24.3 per cent."During those 10 years, it can be added, there has been a great increase in the consumption of what are called convenience foods — those which demand a minimum of time and work on the part of the housewife.
They are expensive to prepare for market, largely because of the labor involved. That makes it all the more remarkable that the average family, which eats a better and more varied diet than ever before, spends less of its income on food.The credit for this achievement must be divided. Part goes to the American farmer and his highly efficient production methods. And another part goes to modern mass merchandisers who have found ways to constantly cut costs even while vastly improving the quality and quantity of services.CONSTRUCTIVE TAXATIONTaxation is a matter where one man's meat may be another man's poison. In other words, a tax that is fair for some or most enterprises could be destructive and even unbearable for others.That is why Congress has long authorized and supported certain deviations from the general tax system in certain special cases. The application of the capital gains tax (which is lower than the corporate income tax) to timberlands is a prime example.A top ranking forester, speaking to the Western Governor's Conference, said: "It was after the war and the passage of the timber capital gains tax that the tempo of real forest management quickened . . . for the firstLESSON IN 'LOWER' MATH*TODAY'S PROBLEM:Figure out drop in Federal employment over last yeartime it became possible to seriously consider privately owned timberlands as an economic base for sustained yield forestry . . ." Another authority, appearing before the Association of State Foresters, remarked: "To my mind it would be tragic to eliminate . . . timber capital gains treatment."The reason for this is plain. It lies in what is known as tree farming, whose purpose — which has been dramatically achieved — is to make certain that new tree growth will equal or exceed the cut. Many years — as many as 100 or more in some instances — must pass before those new trees reach marketable size. Meanwhile, taxes must be paid on the land and the trees must be protected from fire, insects, and other dangers. If such long-range ventures are to be encouraged, an inducement in the form of good ultimate profit must be offered. That is what the capital gains provision does.So, here is a case where a constructive and essential tax policy assures the nation that one of its vital natural resources will be available for future generations.Classifieds In The NEWS Get Results

Perfect Partner for Steak

Families in the rice producing states (Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas) like big, thick, juicy steaks just as much as families in other parts of the country. But what they like to eat with their steak may differ from the steak accompaniments served elsewhere.

As you may have guessed, rice is a frequent partner for steak in the southern states which produce most of the rice used in this country. For example, Mushroom-Almond Rice, a favorite recipe from the files of a Texas homemaker, is often served with steak, and with roast beef, too. It is a savory mixture of rice, sautéed mushrooms, and almonds, and it takes lots less time to prepare than it does to broil a thick beef steak.

Indeed, families of the men who produce rice in this country like to eat rice in every conceivable way and rice is kept on hand at all times, uncooked and cooked — the latter stored in their refrigerators and home freezers. They know how easy it is to cook rice and how simple it is to reheat refrigerated and frozen rice. The magic 1-2-1 method of cooking rice, originated in the rice belt, is as follows: Combine 1 cup regular milled white rice, 2 cups water, and 1 teaspoon salt in a saucepan. Heat to boiling, then cover, lower heat. Simmer 14 minutes. Do not peek. To reheat cooked rice, add 2 tablespoons liquid to each cup of rice, covered, for 4 to 5 minutes.

Mushroom Almond Rice

1 cup chopped onions
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup uncooked rice
2 cups beef bouillon
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup sliced almonds
1 can (4 1/2 oz.) sliced mushrooms

Cook onions in 2 tablespoons butter until tender. Add rice and continue cooking until golden. Add bouillon and pepper. Stir well. Heat to boiling. Cover pan, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes or until liquid is absorbed. Sauté almonds and mushrooms in remaining butter. When rice is tender, add almonds and mushrooms and toss lightly. Makes 6 servings.

Time-Saving Tips For Holiday Cooks

by LOUISE ALLEN

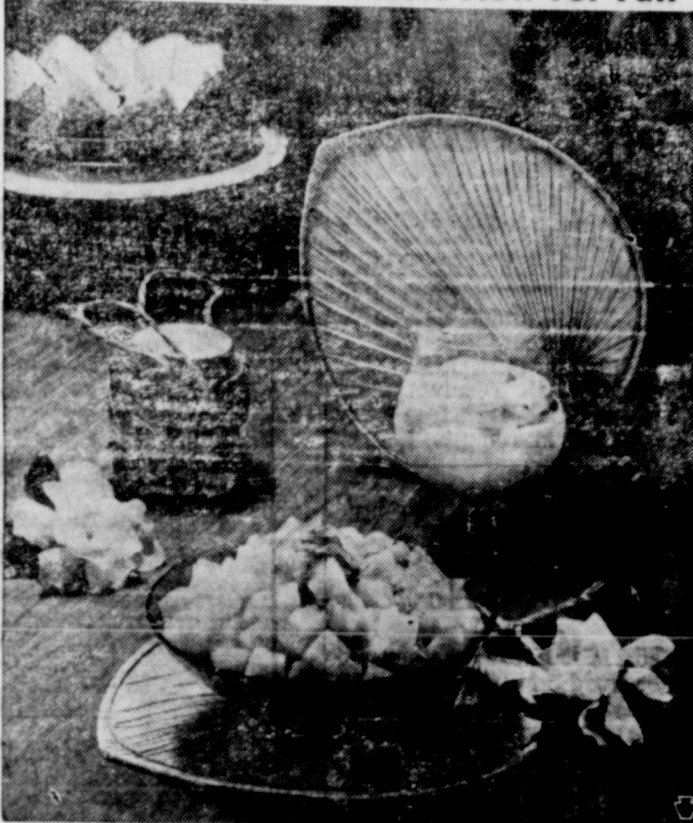

Do all these holiday dinners, starting with Thanksgiving, turn you into a Cinderella—working overtime in the kitchen while the rest of the family has a ball? You can cook your feast and enjoy it, too, with just a little before-dinner planning. You're off to a head start when all the right tools (utensils) are at hand. Deciding in advance how you'll cook each "selection" in the menu also will speed up work—and assure more tender results.

Colorful holiday vegetables become tasty morsels if cooked in Club Aluminum's "waterless" pans, thus preserving all their natural flavor. The slow, even heat provided by heavy aluminum cookware eliminates "pot-watching," and keeps you and the room temperature cool.

Don't hesitate to reserve a place on the "festive board" for the favorite candied yams or squash—when cooked to new perfection in a pan coated with "Black Magic" Teflon. Truly magical is the way the specially coated bottom refuses to stick to even the most sticky foods—and cooks them without fat. The non-stick nature of this cookware cuts clean-up time in half—so you can escape from the kitchen early enough to enjoy after-the-feast relaxing.

Exotic Pineapple Dessert New For Fall

Beautiful canned pineapple chunks, exotically accented with rum and ginger, are used as a very special topping for angel cake slices in this elegant new dessert. Be generous with the pineapple so that it covers every bit of the cake, then top with sweet or sour cream — as much as you like. It's an excellent choice for a fall dinner dessert.

Keep a supply of canned pineapple chunks, tidbits, slices and crushed on hand for last minute desserts. Many pineapple admirers say that the simple combination of ice cream with canned crushed pineapple makes the best of all possible sundaes.

PINEAPPLE TROPICAL DELIGHT

1 (1-pound 14-ounce) can pineapple chunks
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 cup slivered preserved ginger
1/4 cup dark Jamaica rum
1 cup whipping cream or dairy sour cream
Angel food or chiffon cake

To drained pineapple add brown sugar, ginger and rum. Cover and let stand several hours or overnight in refrigerator. Whip sweet cream until thick enough to mound. For each serving put wedge of cake on dessert plate. Top with generous scoop of pineapple mixture. Spoon on as much whipped cream or sour cream as you like. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

*Candied ginger may be used but the preserved type with a little of the syrup included gives better flavor.

Best Formula for Clean Carpets

Who shampoos carpets best? You! Thanks to new techniques and methods, you can shampoo your carpets in the home safely, easily, effectively, without bringing in outsiders and at an extremely low cost. This means your carpets will wear longer.

Regular care makes the shampooing task easier in the long run. The trick is in understanding the kinds of dirt, for carpet dirt isn't just dirt. There's surface dirt—things like hair, ravelings and paper that stay on top. A carpet sweeper is best for picking them up. Then there's dust. And gritty dirt, like sand and mud. A good vacuum cleaner will remove this kind of dirt. "Carpet grease" is the worst kind of dirt. It is left on the surface fibres by cooking, tobacco fumes and impurities from the outside. It holds in the underlying dirt and forces the pile down. Nothing will remove it but a good shampooing.

There's a simple three step formula for carpet cleaning that will make the shampooing task easier:

Sweep daily. A quick brush-up with a carpet sweeper, especially in traffic areas, removes dirt before it has a chance to penetrate.

Vacuum clean weekly. Dust and gritty dirt seep down into the fibres. The longer it is there, the deeper it settles, the harder it is to remove, and the more it cuts the fibres.

Shampoo twice a year. "Carpet grease" adheres to the surface, dimming the color, holding in the dirt. Vacuum first, then shampoo.

Use a detergent shampoo in the new applicators or foam generating system that eliminates soaking the carpet. Shampoo over a four-foot area at a time. Let the shampoo do the work; don't rub and scrub. It's easier on you and the carpet, too. Let the shampoo set—then vacuum dry.

Be kind to your carpet always. You'll find it most rewarding, not only to your purse, but to your peace of mind. You'll see your reward in the brightness of your carpet. You'll know it pays, because your carpet will wear longer.

SALMON WAFFLES

Quick luncheon idea adds flaked canned salmon to a basic recipe for plain waffle. (Use a mix if desired.) It's a delicious flavor combination.

If you've never tasted salmon waffles, you don't know what you're missing, especially when they are served with a delicious sour cream sauce flavored with dill.

Adding salmon to a basic waffle mixture transforms this popular breakfast dish to more substantial fare, suitable for lunch or supper. Served with a tossed green salad, the waffles and sauce make a quick, economical and nutritious meal—pretty too. It's the salmon, of course, that adds not only flavor and color, but protein to the otherwise bland waffle. Try it, and you'll have another family favorite to count on when time is limited.

SALMON WAFFLES

2 eggs, separated
A 1-pound can salmon
1½ cups milk
½ cup melted butter
2 cups all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Drain liquid from can of salmon into a mixing bowl. Add egg yolks, milk and butter and beat until well blended. Combine flour, salt and baking powder. Add to egg yolk mixture and beat until well blended. Flake and stir in salmon. Fold in beaten egg whites.

Preheat waffle baker to medium. Pour about 1 cup of the batter evenly over the grids. Bake until light goes out and waffle stops steaming. Carefully remove waffle, and continue to bake remaining batter. Makes four 4-section waffles, or 16 sections.

SOUR CREAM SAUCE

Combine 1 cup commercial sour cream and 1 teaspoon dry dill weed, or 1 tablespoon chopped fresh dill. Heat over simmering water.

"Food Is A Bargain" Being Conducted Campaign Is Now

"Food Is A Bargain" time will be observed in Texas, Oct. 19 through 31st by official proclamation of Governor John B. Connally.

Leslie L. Speir of Groves, president of Texas Retail Grocers Association, said the Governor's proclamation recognizes the achievements of food producers, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers during the past two decades.

The "Food Is A Bargain" campaign is being conducted on a nationwide basis by the food industry.

The Governor's proclamation cited the fact that "consumers in 1964 spend only 19 cents of the after-tax dollar for food, the lowest percentage required for adequate food in history."

The food industry has worked diligently to bring the consumers better foods and fairer prices and in so doing has rendered the highest degree of service and provided for the welfare and well-being of all our people," Connally said.

Robert E. Crozier, executive vice president of the 6,000 member Texas Retail Grocers Association headquartered in Waco, expressed "sincere appreciation and gratitude for this recognition of our industry."

Big Pasture FFA Attends National FFA Convention

This past week the officers of the Big Pasture FFA Chapter attended the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo.

Those who went were Roy Lee Russell, Loran Zwiackier, Ronnie Holt, Donnie Horton, Donald Baber, Buck Pruett and Walton Holt, the Advisor.

While there the boys attended meetings and went on tours. They learned much about Parliamentary Procedure and how to carry on a meeting. The boys were impressed at the efficiency of the national officers to carry on business. They went on a tour through the International Harvester Parts Distribution Center and a warehouse where they store assembled machinery. On another tour they went through the American Hereford Association and saw a little of how they kept records and did business.

On a trip to Independence, Mo., they saw the Truman Library and his home, Fort Osage, where all the wagon trains formed to go west, and best of all where Roger Maris lives. On the last day there they went to the American Royal Livestock Show. It was a worthwhile and an educational trip and we plan to send boys next year.

Christmas Cards Of 1964 Will Be Informal, With Catchy Sayings

Millions of Christmas cards will be sent this year. Each year Americans are enlarging their list of names, especially to new friends abroad. Last year two million people traveled overseas. Postoffice officials say to send surface mail cards abroad by November 15; to Armed Services Personnel not later than November 20. Norcross, one of the largest greeting card publishers, indicates the trend this year is for whimsical informal cards that bridge traditional and brash humor. The above "jolly monk" card is typical and its cute inside caption is reproduced in the inset.

GETTING OUT... the Vote

Mrs. Jones is active in all types of community work. She is active in politics at the local level. From a list of voters at her elbow she telephones to see if any local residents need the services of the various car pools. Because of this service many who could not otherwise do so, get to the polls and vote.

But more than this, Mrs. Jones is a friend and servant of God. She supports her church and its services because she knows it is the center of all that is good and worthwhile in the Community. It is a place where the souls of men are uplifted and saved.

We, ourselves, would do well to emulate Mrs. Jones. May we urge that you, also, not only vote, but help get out the vote — that you not only attend church, but support it actively with your service.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

While the Kennedy half dollar is a nice memento, you're not likely to make a profit investing in rolls of the new coin. In fact, you'd be better off putting your money into Series "E" Kennedy U.S. Savings Bonds.

That's the advice to investors from Richard S. Yeoman, one of the nation's leading numismatic experts.

Yeoman, who is Vice President of the Coin Division, Whitman Publishing Company, Racine, Wisconsin, explains that large quantities of the new half being minted nullify any extra value it would have as a rarity.

"It is true that an unprecedented demand has made the Kennedy half the most popular first-year coin in American history," he commented, "and the rush to obtain specimens by speculators, souvenir hunters and some collectors has created artificial and temporary scarcities."

But the U.S. Mint has increased production, with around 120,000,000 of the new 50-cent pieces being placed in circulation by late summer. Mint officials estimate there will be about 200,000,000 in circulation by the end of the year.

As supply catches up with demand, increasing amounts of Kennedy halves will start turning up in pocket change, and premium prices being charged by coin dealers will inevitably drop, he continued. The half dollar, historically, has never been in great demand in change.

Good supplies of this and other new coins will not hamper either the beginning collector or the advanced numismatist, he pointed out.

Yeoman, who edits Whitman's "Guide Book of United States Coins," authoritative reference establishing average retail values of American coins, said the new $75.00 Kennedy bonds are a better investment than the half dollar.

"The Kennedy bond sells for $56.25 and is worth $75.00 when it matures in just 7 years, 9 months," he said. Chances are the average person will get a much better return on his investment dollar with bonds than Kennedy half dollars, he concluded.

SAKE — Japan's Drink of Prosperity

Way back in the 8th century, the ancients who wrote Japan's famous Kojiki chronicles mentioned "Saka-mizu" — "Water of Prosperity." This is believed to be the first written mention of Japan's national drink, Sake.

In the tradition of 1200 years, Sake is still brewed principally of rice and water—a most particular rice, and a most particular water.

The rice that forms its primary ingredient must be newly harvested in the first crisp cool of Autumn. And it must be used immediately after it is brought in from the fields.

Special Japanese waters, renowned for their purity, are blended with the selected rice for the brewing. And, most important of all, only the "Toji," skilled brew masters born to their art and its practice through their entire lifetime, are allowed to supervise the process from start to finish.

In recent years, Sake has caught the imagination and taste of many Americans. They drink it in scores of different ways—in long drinks and short ones, at the cocktail hour, with dinner, as an aperitif, or as a night cap. Clear, jewel-toned Sake is a magnificent mixer.

Cure Aggravating Habit
Some bird dogs have the aggravating habit of refusing to relinquish birds retrieved. When your dog does this, lift up an ear flap and blow hard in his ear. His mouth will instantly open and the bird will drop into your other hand.

Our program on care of wash and wear garments was brought by Mrs. Newt Crane. There are ten commandments to follow in the care of wash and wear garments. These are: Wash frequently, watch the items washed together, do small loads, choose correct water temperature, shorten handling or machine agitation, rinse in lukewarm or cold water, if dryer is not available remove garments from final rinse and hang to drip dry, drip dry carefully, don't overdry, touch up when necessary. She also gave us hints in making or altering wash and wear, and the economics of owning wash and wear garments.

Mrs. Elmer Klinkerman won the game prize and also the door prize.
Refreshments were served to Mesdames Mary Blann, R. C. Gilbow, Ed Gellner, Elmer Klinkerman, Newt Crane, Joe Slama, Ray Stimpson, Frank Kelley, Ann Vogel, E. J. Simons and J. H. Bentley and Joy and Jan Klinkerman. Next meeting will be Nov. 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Frank Kelley.
