Solons Argue Treaty Phase Of World Pact

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 25—Powerful support developed in the Senate today for the argument that United Nations pact assigning American troops to keep the peace will be treaties subject to two-thirds approval of the Senate.

Another group of senators, fearing that this might spell defeat of the pacts to be submitted long after the basic United Nations charter is ratified, hotly argued that the documents will be agreements requiring only majority approval by Senate and House.

Set Off By Wheeler

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), a critic of the United Nations charter, took the position yesterday that the later pacts will be treaties. Senator Connally (D-Tex), one of the foremost supporters of the charter, said today that in his view, they will be treaties. The same position was taken by Senator White (R-Me) and Taft (R-Ohio).

The question of these pacts, which will determine how many American troops will be assigned to the peace-keeping role and where they were to serve, came up during debate on the basic charter.

Disagreeing sharply with the Wheeler view, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) referred to the failure of the old League of Nations to gain two-thirds approval of the Senate.

"I want to take my chances with Congress, not with one-third of the United States Senate for I've seen what has happened here before," Lucas said.

Warning On Ambush

Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky sided with Lucas, and he warned against anyone "lying in ambush to nullify our solemn agreement" when the impending legislation comes up.

Wheeler took this personally and retorted that he didn't think "anyone is lying in ambush."

He referred again to John Foster Dulles, chief adviser to the American delegation at San Francisco, who testified at the Senate committee hearings he thought the later agreements would be treaties. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) jumped into the debate, observing there had been a good deal of discussion about what Dulles meant so he took the "unique" course of calling him today to find out. Said Vandenberg:

Question As Presented

"The sole question presented to him was the choice between a treaty on the one hand and a presidential executive order on the other. It is Mr. Dulles' view that

U. S. Warned By Retired Admiral

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP) — Senator Hart (R-Conn), the retired admiral, declared today that the U. S. has failed to use its "bargaining power" with Britain and other Allies and may wind up badly "depleted" in natural resources if the Japanese war continues long.

The ex-chief of the Asiatic fleet, in a Senate speech endorsing the United Nations charter, developed a pointed critique of the war effort which hit at Britain, at U. S. war expenditures and political leadership.

Must Remain Strong

"We shall ratify the charter and loyally fulfill our commitments thereunder," the spare, gray Hart said, "but we must above all remain a strong America. We must not break the back America in ill-judged attempts to carry the burdens of all the rest of the world."

Going into the Pacific war situation, Hart asserted:

It is America's fight, Britain's will has been greatly affected by "the exhaustion of nearly six years of war."

Admiral Nimitz doesn't need British help against the Japanese now "because by the time they had joined he had already beaten the Japanese Navy at sea and in the air."

British Too Late

The British Navy should have brought amphibious power into action from the Indian ocean "many months ago and thus driven into the Netherlands East Indies" to relieve the supply situation. They didn't because "they were tired from the long years of war."

Heavy expenditures on the Canol project to get oil out of Canada, the Alcan (Alaskan) highway and the Pan-American highway "are scarcely defensible — turned out to be virtually useless."

Truman Plans Radio Report When He Returns From Big Three Meet

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

POTSDAM, July 25—President Truman is expected to report to the nation by radio on results of the Big Three conference immediately after he returns to Washington, it was announced tonight.

The disclosure of the President's plans for a heart-to-heart talk with the people at home was made at "the Little White House" as Truman prepared to go to Frankfurt-on-Main tomorrow to review U. S. troops during a lapse in the Big Three discussions.

The lapse was caused by the return to England of Prime Minister Churchill. The prime minister flew home today to be present for the announcement tomorrow of the results of the July 5 British election.

The announcement concerning the President's plans for a broadcast said:

"If the President returns to the United States from the inter-Allied conference in Berlin after Congress has recessed it is believed he will make a radio report to the nation."

Truman's original plan was to report to Congress immediately after returning to the United States, but in view of expectations that Congress will recess about Aug. 1 the President apparently thinks the country would like him to discuss the results of the conference with the whole people rather than to delay his report until Congress reconvenes.

His aim from the beginning, associates have said, has been to acquaint the people of the United States and the world of the position of the American government on vital issues.

He is known to have advocated that communiques be issued here whenever the progress of the conference warranted disclosures.

Truman, in a one-day round-trip, will fly to Frankfurt, U. S. Army occupation headquarters, lunch with Gen. Eisenhower, and inspect the 84th Infantry and Third Armored divisions, it was announced officially. He plans to return early Thursday evening.

Churchill, Foreign Secretary Eden, and Clement Attlee, labor party leader and Churchill's election opponent, flew to London today. The British delegation—headed either by Churchill or Attlee—is expected back Friday.

Premier Stalin's plans for tomorrow were not disclosed.

The Big Three held their ninth formal session this morning, again with no details announced. (Turn to Page 9, Column 1, Please)

Petain Stolidly Remains Silent While Storm Breaks About Him At His Trial

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, July 25.—Aged Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, his face like an image, bluntly refused at his treason trial today to answer questions whether he had congratulated Adolf Hitler on the British defeat at Dieppe and asked Hitler's permission for French troops to fight alongside the Germans.

"The marshal's honor is at stake," a juror shouted across the jammed and overheated courtroom in the palace of justice, and mutterings and protests from jurors and spectators met Petain's refusal.

But the 89-year-old former chief of the Vichy state remained adamant. He said through his lawyers that he would not reply.

The dramatic issue was raised during the third day of Petain's trial on charges of intelligence with Germany and of plotting the security of the French state — a day in which former French Premier Edouard Daladier and Albert Lebrun, last president of the Third Republic, testified against the old soldier.

Appears Uninterested

Much of the day Petain appeared uninterested. Once he said he hadn't heard a question. He saw Lebrun near tears as the former French president said he could hardly express his "profound distress" at the sight before him of "a man, a warrior of France, who has risen so high to have fallen so low."

Both Daladier and Lebrun sidestepped questions whether they thought Petain guilty of treason, saying there were many different definitions. Daladier said: "He betrayed his duties as a Frenchman." Lebrun said: "I reserve my judgment on that."

Only once did Petain break his self-imposed silence. That was to answer a juror's question as to when the marshal began organizing what later became the Vichy government. It was another of the 24 jurors hearing the testimony who brought up the alleged messages to Hitler.

Chest-Thumping Speech

Daladier, who went to Munich with Neville Chamberlain, had just ended a gesticulating, chest-thumping and chair - banging speech and was being questioned by lawyers when the juror asked Daladier if he knew of two telegrams sent to Hitler by Petain in 1942.

"Of his intelligence with Hitler I know nothing, Daladier said. Presiding Judge Paul Mongibeaux promptly read aloud a telegram asking Hitler's permission for the French to conduct their own defense against the Allies, and a bitter argument broke out between lawyers and the judge over the latter's intervention.

"It would be preferable for Marshal Petain to answer himself," the judge said. Petain refused. The court then announced that telegraphers who transmitted the messages would be called to testify against Petain.

Speaks In His Defense

Later during the cross-examination of Lebrun, Petain spoke in his own defense. After the resignation of Premier Paul Reynaud on June 16, 1940, Lebrun said, he asked Petain to form a new government. The marshal, Lebrun said, instantly showed him a list and said: "Here's my government."

Lebrun said he was astonished. It usually took three or four days to form a cabinet in France, he said.

Springing to his feet a juror cried: "I now feel we have come (Turn to Page 9, Column 1, Please)

Cotton Warehouse Fire Damage Heavy

Fire Wednesday afternoon scorched 1,681 bales of cotton, or the entire contents, at a warehouse of Lubbock Compress company No. 2, at Fourth and Texas Ave., and damaged the building beyond repair.

Quick and effective action by the fire department prevented a total loss and possible destruction of another cotton-jammed warehouse nearby, according to Charles Stillwell, plant superintendent.

Had Much Headway

The blaze had gained much headway, apparently in a matter of minutes, when it was discovered shortly after 2:30 o'clock by the watchman.

Stillwell said an average of 50 or 60 pounds a bale was damaged. The rest of the bale can be salvaged, he said. All bales were intact, he said; none of the ties had come apart.

Small fires were still smouldering between bales early last night. A group of firemen was to remain at the scene all night.

Origin Not Known

Origin of the fire was not definitely known. Stillwell said it was his "guess" that it might have been started accidentally by small boys. They could have entered the warehouse through an entrance near the alley, he said.

The watchman had just completed one tour of the building and had started on another when smoke was detected, Stillwell reported.

The adjacent warehouse, which was undamaged, held 1,331 bales, Stillwell said. The two warehouses are operated as one unit.

EXPECTED TODAY: Judge Marvin Jones, above, member of the U. S. Court of Claims in Washington and a former congressman from this district, is expected in Lubbock today to visit for the rest of the week with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Jones, 2114 Thirteenth. Formerly a resident of Amarillo, Judge Jones recently has completed a tour of duty as War Foods administrator. When in the Congress, from which he voluntarily retired a half dozen years ago, he was chairman of the powerful House Agriculture committee.

Heart Ailment Fatal To Noted Novelist

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 25. (AP) — Charles Gilman Norris, 64, noted novelist and husband of authoress Kathleen Norris, died today in Palo Alto hospital of a heart ailment.

Norris was stricken in New York last summer and had returned to his Saratoga, Calif., retreat to recuperate.

"Bricks Without Straw," published in 1933, was his last popular novel.

Government Seizure Of Plants Ordered

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — The White House directed the Secretary of War today to seize and operate the plants of the Springfield Plywood corporation at Springfield, Oregon, where a strike had interrupted the production of war essential products since July 21.

The acting secretary of war had reported that the strike was seriously interfering with the procurement of plywood by the armed forces. He urged that the War department be authorized to take possession and operate the plant.

The strike was said to have necessitated a shutdown of the entire plant employing approximately 300 workers. The walkout was said to have resulted from the discharge by the company of two employes under a closed shop agreement with the Plywood and Veneer Workers local union 233, CIO, the certified bargaining agent for the employes. Officials said the strikers are members of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers local union 2787, affiliate of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, AFL.

GENERAL MALIN CRAIG

Former Chief Of Staff Dies

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP) — General Malin Craig, former Army chief of staff and head of a War department board which has passed on all general officer promotions in the present war, died today.

Craig, 69, succumbed in Walter Reed General hospital where he had been under treatment since suffering a heart attack a year ago. His death was announced "with deep regret" by acting Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Succeeded MacArthur

General Craig succeeded General Douglas MacArthur as chief of staff in October, 1935. He served almost four years before retirement in August, 1939, to be succeeded by the present Army chief, General George C. Marshall.

Returning to active duty just before the United States entered the present war, Craig became president of the War department's personnel board. In September, 1941. In that capacity he has passed on all Army officer promotions.

Private Funeral

General Craig would have been 70 Aug. 5.

Patterson said that at the general's request funeral and burial services will be private. Interment will be in Arlington National cemetery. The time was not immediately set.

Survivors are a son, Col. Malin Craig, jr., on duty with the 106th Infantry division in Germany, and a brother, Maj. Gen. Louis A. Craig, commanding general of the 20th corps in Germany.

REA Projects In Area Approved

Approval of two Rural Electrification administration projects in his district was announced Wednesday afternoon in a telegram from the REA to Rep. George Mahon of the 19th congressional district.

The congressman, in Lubbock, said the projects were:

For Floyd County Rural Electric cooperative, at Floydada, $50,000, of which $18,000 would be for a sub-station, the rest for line construction.

For Lamb County Electric, at Littlefield, $175,000, for line construction.

Materials Short

The appropriations committee of the House, of which Congressman Mahon is a member, had approved more assistance to REA than ever before, but critical shortages in transformers, wire and other materials necessary to extension of REA facilities had slowed approval of definite projects. More equipment slowly is being made available, however, the congressman said.

Committee action constituted authorization of loans through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Mahon arrived in Lubbock yesterday and will spend several weeks here during the current period while the House is in recess.

32 Merchant Ships Also Sunk, Damaged

Two-Day Plane Toll Mounts To 209; Ground Installations Also Wrecked

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Thursday, July 26—Twenty Japanese warships, including three battleships, six aircraft carriers and five cruisers, were damaged by American and British carrier pilots in Admiral Halsey's great 1,200 plane strike against inland sea bases Tuesday.

One of the ships, an escort aircraft carrier, probably was sunk by British pilots, who also damaged an old destroyer, Admiral Nimitz reported in today's communique.

Yank fliers damaged the other 18 warships at the great Kure naval base.

Plane Toll Is 209

American and British pilots destroyed or damaged 170 Japanese aircraft and added 39 more yesterday morning for a total of 209. Nineteen enemy planes were shot out of the air, the remainder caught on the ground.

British and Yank fliers also sank or damaged 32 Japanese merchant ships and damaged 53 small craft.

All of Nimitz's figures, except the 39 aircraft wrecked yesterday, were for Tuesday's attack which wrought destruction and damage along a 325-mile sweep of southern Japan and centered on shipping in the inland sea.

Joining in the concentrated blasting of the enemy homeland, nearly 100 Superforts attacked oil refineries south of Tokyo last midnight. The twelfth B-29 attack on Japan's vital fuel centers followed by less than 36 hours a 625-plane B-29 raid on the Osaka-Nagoya area.

Weather Turns Bad

Announcement of the heavy damage to the Japanese fleet came as heavy weather hampered renewal of the strike on inland sea bases centered around Kure naval base and Kobe yesterday. There were only meager reports of that strike.

Halsey's report, radioed from his flagship off the coast of Japan, carefully listed the warships as "heavily," "moderately" or "slightly" damaged.

In the latter class was the battleship Haruna, which was reported sunk in the early days of the war and for which Capt. Colin Kelly of the Army Air force posthumously was given a Congressional Medal of Honor. Last October the Haruna escaped, damaged, from the battle of Leyte gulf.

The converted battleships Hyuga and Ise—the only ones of their type left to the enemy — were heavily and moderately damaged, respectively. Each was equipped with a small flight deck aft, from which airplanes could be catapulted.

Others Not Listed

Among ships damaged but not listed in the Nimitz report yesterday were two large aircraft carriers, the Amagi and Katsuragi, the light carrier Hosho and the escort carrier Kaiko. The large carrier reported previously as damaged was identified as the Aso.

Assessment of these new reports made it obvious that the Japanese fleet no longer could be considered an important factor in the Pacific war. On the basis of accurate reports, they now have only a few warships remaining undamaged and these mostly are cruisers and destroyers.

The greatest portion of the shipping attacked was in the vicinity of Kure naval base.

Kenney Says Invasion Would Meet No Jap Opposition On Beaches; Air War Mounts

By RICHARD BEGHOLZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, July 25 — Invasion of Japan will meet almost no opposition on the beaches, Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Far East Air forces, predicted today in announcing that American airmen are about ready to smack Japan with 5,000-ton bombing raids.

"I'm conservative when I say we could hit them with 5,000 tons in a single attack, something the world never dreamed of," said the veteran commander whose armada includes the Fifth, Seventh and 13th Air forces.

Nothing Is Immune

"We'll have enough stuff so that the Japs won't have a bridge or a sizable road that will help them for future operations. They'll be completely immobilized as regards any mass movement.

"I confidently expect that when we go ashore anywhere we want, we'll find almost a total lack of opposition on the beaches, the same as we've found it all through New Guinea and the Philippines."

More than 5,000 planes soon will be available for aerial leveling of Nippon's defenses and factories, said the aggressive officer who was General MacArthur's air commander in the American drive from New Guinea to the Philippines.

"There's no place in the entire Japanese empire that can't be reached by Allied power, and there's nothing out of bounds for American airmen," Kenney declared.

"And that goes for the emperor's palace as far as I'm concerned."

If the Japanese air force continues its refusal to fight — and Kenney said it can't fight because it lacks sufficient trained pilots and fuel—"we'll go down and pick them off the ground," he asserted.

Kenney's air forces operate from bases on Okinawa, where Lt. Gen. Doolittle's powerful Eighth Air force also will be based next month. Superfort and Liberator heavy bombers will be in the striking squadrons, as well as medium bombers and fighters.

"The Pacific fleet has opened a new phase of naval warfare—the final plunge into the heart of Japan . . . My only regret is that the ships do not have wheels so we could chase them inland after we drive them from the coast," Adm. William F. Halsey said a few hours earlier. He made his comment in a broadcast from his flagship off Japan as his carrier planes slashed at the Kobe-Kure naval base area.

Henry Kaiser Enters Automobile Industry

DETROIT, July 25 (AP)—Joseph W. Frazer, president of Graham-Paige Motors corporation, announced tonight that he and Henry J. Kaiser, west coast ship builder, had entered into a partnership for the production of a new lightweight, low-priced automobile.

The new corporation, to be owned jointly by Kaiser interests and Graham-Paige Motors corp, will be known as the Kaiser-Frazer corporation. It will produce on the Pacific coast a full-size, lightweight, low-cost car to be known as the "Kaiser." Another, larger automobile in the medium price bracket will be built by Graham-Paige in Detroit, to be known as the "Frazer."

Authorized capitalization of the new corporation will be 5,000,000 shares at a value of $1.00 per share.

Kaiser is to be chairman of the board and Frazer president and general manager. Present plans call for the manufacture and delivery of the "Kaiser" car on the west coast early next year.

Frazer took over the presidency of Graham-Paige today following the resignation of Ray J. Hodgson, who had been president since 1942.

Japanese Make Dire Threats To America

MOSCOW, July 25 (AP) — The Japanese news agency Domei was quoted in Red Star today as saying that Japan soon would direct balloons piloted by suicide fliers across the Pacific to bomb the United States.

Domei said these devices, flying at a height of more than 50,000 feet, would reach the United States in a little more than 100 hours, Red Star reported.

Tokyo Whines To Americans For Leniency

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 — Radio Tokyo tonight urged the United States to adopt a more lenient attitude toward Japan with regard to peace.

"Should America show any sincerity of putting into practice what she preaches, as for instance in the Atlantic charter, excepting its punitive clause, the Japanese nation, in fact the Japanese military, would automatically, if not willingly, (several words missing) follow in the stopping of the conflict and then and then only will sabers cease to rattle both in the East and in the West," said the broadcast.

JAP "PEACE TERMS"

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Newsweek magazine says Generalissimo Stalin took to the Big Three meeting a Japanese peace offer with the proviso that the Japanese home islands remain free of American invasion and occupation.

The magazine says also, without giving the source of the information, that Widar Baggs, retiring Swedish minister to Japan, transmitted to the United States early last May a "Japanese request for clarification of the American 'unconditional surrender' formula."

They See No Problems

There are no problems between a "liberal America" and Japan, said the broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications commission. "A liberal America has never given occasion for Japanese militarists to rise, but America now talks of unconditional surrender for Japan.

"Though its official quarters keep relative silence, its official publicists declare that Japan should be stripped of this, or that.

"In short, they intend to mete out such a hard retribution that the Japanese people are more determined than ever to unite and resist as a united mass of 100,000,000 souls and will so continue as long as American minds remain dictatorial and oppressive."

At Decisive Stage

The Japanese declared also that the "audacious" attacks by Allied warships signalled the opening of a "gigantic offensive" against the home islands which "has now entered upon its most decisive stage."

One broadcast recorded by the Associated Press in New York speculated that the first landings might come in Chiba prefecture, whose plain stretches from Tokyo bay eastward to the sea.

Wide Territory Lashed From Air

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, July 26—Allied airmen ranged from Japan to southern Malaya and Java Monday in attacks on Japanese airdromes and shipping, American headquarters announced today.

Four Liberator heavy bombers of the Seventh Air force dropped 1,000-pound explosives on Miho airdrome on Honshu island, Japan, for the second consecutive day of attacks on this field. Miho is near the town of Yonago on the Sea of Japan.

Airfield Battered

A single Liberator roamed southward of Kyushu island, southern Japan, to bomb an airfield on Tanega island in the Osumi group.

Another lone Liberator from Okinawa returned to Shanghai, bombing the Tinghai airdrome, which was one of the targets in the previous day's heavy assault by American planes on this principal Nipponese war center in China.

U. S. Seventh Fleet bombers Tuesday attacked and damaged shipyards at Trengganu on the southeastern Malaya coast. The planes set a small freighter afire and strafed shipping 35 miles south of Singapore.

Cover Singapore Area

A headquarters spokesman said search planes were constantly covering the Singapore sector of Malaya, but the attack on Trengganu was one of the comparatively few instances where ground installations have been attacked.

Four Australian Catalinas staged the second consecutive day of raids on Semarang, third largest commercial city of Java, in a predawn attack Monday. They set (Turn to Page 9, Column 4, Please)

Mystery Of Missing Witness Deepens; Wild Ride Recounted

TRAIL of a missing state's witness in a burglary case here grew hot Wednesday night with the unfolding of a story by a Tahoka man that he and a woman friend were forced, at least part of the way, to drive two men and two women from Big Spring to Lubbock yesterday afternoon.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks said description of one of the women fitted that of Eleene

GIRL IS LOCATED

Eleene Mayfield, 17, state's witness in the Weldon Webb burglary trial who "disappeared" from Lubbock Monday night, and an 18-year-old woman, sought for investigation, were located by officers early today at a tourist camp on north Ave. H, police announced.

Mayfield, 17, who failed to appear Tuesday as a key state's witness in the trial of Weldon Webb, charged with burglary of Lubbock Sheet Iron and Metal company.

J. F. (Buster) Millman, jr., 28-year-old Tahoka mechanic, and Earline Landers, 22, of Big Spring, said in signed statements that they were threatened at various times along the route. When he hesitated near Tahoka to drive his passengers on to Lubbock, one of the men grabbed Millman around the neck and threatened to kill him with a quart whiskey bottle, he said.

Assistant Chief of Police Bill Mabray said both Millman and the woman identified rogue's gallery photographs as those of the men and one of the girls, not Miss Mayfield, who rode to Lubbock with them. Pictures of men they examined were of Frank Trim and L. T. Crawford, both of Lubbock.

Trim and Crawford earlier had been mentioned in connection with the disappearance of Miss Mayfield. An inquiry of 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue into her failure to report to his court disclosed that two men appeared Monday night at the residence of Mrs. Lawrence Mayfield, a sister-in-law of the witness. They, according to Mrs. Mayfield and the girl's mother, Mrs. Zena Mae Mayfield, asked the girl to go to the car "and meet a fellow who wants to be introduced to you." The car was driven off and since that time, relatives said, she had not been seen or heard from. Mrs. Zena Mae Mayfield and her daughter had come to Lubbock from Hereford for the trial.

Irrigated Pastures Are Popular; Survey Of Best Grasses Conducted

Demand has risen sharply on the Plains this year for irrigated pastures and H. E. Mather, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation service, has made a survey to discover the best grasses for irrigated pasturage.

Mather said that "the spring and early summer drouth produced a great demand for irrigated pastures and many farmers have said they could miss the cotton crop, but when there is no pasture and no feed for cattle and hogs, then its a serious business."

Mather added that almost every irrigation farmer who does not already have adequate pasture is planning on establishing an irrigated pasture this fall.

Owen W. McWhorter and L. A. Howard, district cooperators with the Lubbock district, have long experience in irrigated pastures. They have a herd of 150 head of pure bred shorthorns, Mather said and Howard reports no bloat from alfalfa. He attributes this lack of trouble to his cattle being constantly on alfalfa.

Howard Uses Pastures

Howard had one 20-acre pasture on which he grazes 50 head of cows constantly. Another pasture of 16 acres holds 35 cows, and in addition, he has cut 400 bales of alfalfa this season. He prefers a mixture of grasses and alfalfa for grazing. One pasture of perennial rye and alfalfa, 2.6 acres, has carried 10 head of yearling bulls since February 15 with twice that number in the pasture at various times. Howard keeps dry hay before the stock at all times and is beginning experiments with commercial fertilizer which he says should "certainly pay."

Cecil McFarland, district cooperator who lives northeast of Idalou, plowed up a small native pasture last fall and seeded it to a mixture of perennial rye, crested wheat, brome grass and alfalfa. McFarland said the "pastured two cows, four yearlings and two calves on 2.2 acres from early spring." He added that the stock was removed two weeks ago and placed on sudan, and that the improved pasture is now ready to cut for hay.

Earl Weaver, south of Idalou, planted five and a half acres of alfalfa, perennial rye and brome grass last fall. He has pastured six cows, two calves and 50 hogs since April 1. "With present grain prices, I would have been out of the hog business without my pasture," he said.

C. N. Fulfur, a district cooperator, planted four acres of alfalfa nad brome grass last fall and had one horre and 63 hogs on it from early spring and "I believe I could double the number of hogs," he said, "yet I wouldn't have hogs now if they had to be kept in a dry lot."

Some Varieties Scarce

The Lubbock County Soil Conservation district has worked with about 200 farmers during the past year, Mather, says, and more than half of these farmers plan to plant improved pastures this fall. He added that it is time now to begin seed bed preparation for late August and early September seeding.

Mather said that all recommended grass seed must be shipped to Lubbock, some varieties are scarce and urged that farmers place their orders immediately. The recommended varieties for irrigated pasture are perennial rye, brome, orchard, meadow fescue, buffalo grass, ladino clover and alfalfa.

Mather collected the given data in his work over the district through personal interviews and studying of conditions.

Pudgy, Sweetheart Of Okinawa Boys, Knows Way About

OKINAWA (AP)—Sweetheart of the Fifth Air forces' 308th bombardment wing is no Hollywood pin-up girl but a sad-eyed little black and white cocker spaniel named Pudgy.

A most remarkable dog, Pudgy—no doubt the most remarkable on this dusty war-pocked island.

Pudgy is 11 months old and devoted to her rather notable master, Maj. William A. Shomo of Huff, Pa.

Shomo made news last Jan. 11 when he shot down six Japanese fighters and a bomber over northern Luzon, polishing off the Nipponese in 15 minutes flat. That neat job gained him the Congressional Medal of Honor.

But back to Pudgy. Shomo bought her as a pup in Sydney, Australia. They have been stationed at Biak, Morotai, Mindoro, Luzon—and now Okinawa.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about Pudgy is her intense interest in the simple diversions enjoyed by the fliers in her group. She never misses a motion picture show. She watches her master's plays in every card game. And at chow time Pudgy is right there at the head of the line.

"She's a real chow hound," says Shomo.

Noted Black Hawk Division Opens Training To Take Up War On Japs

CAMP GRUBER, Okla., July 25 (U.P.)—It was "on to Japan" today for the 86th (Black Hawk) division, as several trainloads of its troops arrived here after redeployment furloughs to begin training for the shift to the Pacific.

Refreshed and smiling, the men piled into their barracks at the huge Cookson Hills encampment, pinned up their pin-ups and settled down with a minimum of confusion.

Welcomed By Colonel

Their first step in learning how the Japanese can be whipped was to listen to a speech of welcome by Lt. Col. Jasper K. Wright, Houma, La. Wright described plans for their training in a mass meeting at the Camp Gruber fieldhouse.

Afterwards, the first of the 15,000 Black Hawks expected here during the next seven days got a glimpse of a new training area set up on the 70,000-acre Gruber reservation. It includes a simulated Oriental village, resembling a movie set and complete with Japanese road markings and Shinto shrine.

Maj. Gen. Harris M. Melasky, commanding general of the division which fought with four different armies on the Western front, said the unit should be ready for embarkation at the west coast "by November at least." The 86th was the first division to be redeployed through the United States. Melasky, a native of Austin, Tex., came here several days ago to see that facilities were in order.

Readied By POW

German prisoners of war had readied the barracks for the battle veterans whose arrival in New York a little over a month ago received wide publicity. The troops had gathered at assembly points throughout the nation after their furloughs to travel here in groups.

The 86th was activated two years ago at Camp Howze, Tex., about 100 miles south of its new home. Its troops came from all sections of the country, although in World War I it was considered a Wisconsin-Illinois division. Other officers on hand here to direct the initial redeployment training on U. S. soil included Brig. Gen. E. B. Gjelsteen, division artillery commander whose home is Menominee, Mich.

"Yes!"—General Lewis B. Hershey (Director of Selective Service)

Should a war veteran who has risked his life in battle be given his old job back—even if a man with greater seniority, more experience, has to be pushed out? Your job—or your son's, your brother's, or your husband's—may depend on the answer. Get both sides of this crucial question! World Charter Will Require Work By All If Peace Becomes Real, Public Thinks

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—While public opinion is strongly in favor of adopting the United Nations charter, the American public does not think the charter will solve all international problems or automatically guarantee peace.

In short, the country does not think that because the charter is well on its way to adoption the United States can sit back and relax in the comfortable assurance that there will never be another war. A sizable number of people actually think the charter will not prevent future wars. Many others say it will prevent war only if the leading nations put a great deal of thought and effort into the carrying out of the charter provisions. These people look upon the chater as merely a small beginning in the program for peace.

GALLUP

The extent to which people think the world is going to have to work on the problem of outlawing war is shown in the questioning of voters from coast to coast. They were asked first whether the United States should approve the United Nations charter as adopted at San Francisco. The vote among those expressing an opinion was, as reported earlied this week, approximately 20-to-1 in favor of adopting the charter.

The next question put to the country in the survey was:

'Do you think the charter worked out at San Francisco will prevent future wars?"

The replies fell into the following categories:

15% said they thought it would prevent future wars
27% said it would prevent war if the countries take certain specified precautions
36% said the charter would not prevent war
22% expressed no opinion

The group answering with a qualified "yes," or a "yes if—," stipulated many different things that would have to be done to insure permanent peace. The chief qualifications:

"If all nations obey the charter rules . . . if we work in accord . . . if political leaders aren't cynical but really put their minds and souls into maintaining a world peace organization . . . if the Big Five stick together . . . if the big nations are willing to fight to stop aggressive countries . . . if the United States takes the lead in keeping peace . . . if we don't go back to isolationism."

The study reveals that Republican voters are less optimistic than Democratic voters about the efficacy of the charter as a peace measure. Forty-three per cent of the Republicans questioned said they did not think the charter would prevent future wars, as compared to 29 per cent among Democrats.

War I Vet Held For Draft Irregularities

HOUSTON, July 25 (AP)—Marine Sgt. William M. Fiegle, 46, a much-decorated hero of World war I, an Army sergeant and a draftee were under bond today on federal charges of irregularities in the rejection of inductees.

Fiegle, Sgt. Thomas Gunter Redwine, 26, of Little Rock, Ark., and Albert W. Charpiot, garage operator, were charged yesterday with abetting a draftee in evading the Selective Service act.

Sgt. Feigle, whose home is at Galveston, holds the Distinguished Service Cross; the Silver Cross with two Oak Leaves; the French Croix De Guerre with star, which was pinned on him by Gen. Petain; the Purple Heart and the Marine Good Conduct medal.

Bond for the sergeants was set at $1,060 each, and that of Charpiot at $2,000.

G. R. McSwain, special agent in charge of the Houston office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the two noncommissioned officers were questioned after an inductee reported to the FBI that he had been approached with a proposition that for a small sum he could be rejected for medical reasons.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 (AP)—All of Britain's greatest battleships, cruisers and carriers now are fighting in the Pacific with American fleet units, Admiral Sir James F. Somerville, one of England's three active "five star" admirals, announced at a press conference here.

"Our 'second eleven' is in the Burma waters, fighting a war much bigger than most people think," he said. Somerville is head of the British Admiralty delegation in Washington, and a member of the Allied combined chiefs of staff.

Sale Of Property To Humble Held Taxable

NEW ORLEANS, July 25. (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals held here today that profits from a transfer of surface lands by the West Foundation in Texas to the Humble Oil and Refiing company was a sale, instead of a lease, and was taxable under the capital-gains provision of the revenue act of 1938.

The decision was given in consolidated cases of Wesley W. West and others, against the commissioner of internal revenue, and involved claimed income tax deficiencies for the year 1938.

The record showed that on Dec. 28, 1938, J. M. West and wife, two sons and others, acting as trustees for the West Foundation conveyed to Humble, subject to certain royalties reserved, title to 23,155.60 acres of land and minerals from 70.67 acres.

The Woman's Angle

By GEM BOB CALLEY
(Pinch-Hitting for Margaret Turner, Now On Vacation)

MUCH has been written on how civilians should treat combat returnees, but persons have rather shied away from the thought of how these same men might possibly react to sympathetic sweetness of certain wives—ones who haven't been what you might call exactly true blue.

Possibly this type of woman is in the minority, but that old adage of "when the cat's away the mice will play" has run pretty true since Pearl Harbor. There's always been infidelity, there always will be, but not since Epicurean era has it been so openly flaunted.

Wives of men overseas have been highly praised for their ability to carry on — alone. It's usually ignored if she doesn't. Probably that is the way it should be because these women's actions are an indirect reflection on loyal wives and give rise to the childish attitude, "Well, she gets away with it, why can't I?"

Maybe we're judging the weight on the sagging scales from cases we know about, but surveys in metropolitan cities have revealed that the majority of wives waiting there have become impatient, and they aren't sitting this one out. They're stepping out—that is until Johnny comes marching home whereupon they expect to take up where he was required to take off.

THIS is the type of wife who wins the palm. She's madly in love with her husband, she says, and she is counting the minutes until he returns. Then they can be together again, forever. She anticipates no question, believes no explanations will be necessary. The interval has been a complete blank so far as her social life is concerned. Here's a household hint—most men are profoundly curious.

This is accepted in certain circles: When a woman's husband is "across" she is free to resume her pre-marriage status. After she has scribbled the daily letter about "nothing new ever happens here," she's off for a gala evening.

We're not suggesting that wives become hermits just because they are temporarily husbandless. Far from that. No matter how loyal a wife is to her husband, during the time he is away she is forced to build up an independant life, apart from him. She has been forced to find for herself interests and occupations in which he had no part.

If she's fair to herself, her husband and others she works out this arrangement. True, it requires effort, sacrifices and a certain amount of concentration. Most of all it requires respect for herself and her marriage.

SOME wives have done a beautiful job in preserving their marriage and we believe they are the ones for whom the admirable stories have been written. They are the ones for whom it will indeed be a pleasure when time comes for a face-to-face meeting with their long-absent husband.

Others, ones who have committed little indiscretions, we wonder about. It's occurred to us they may suffer some of the untold agony and fear that psychologists and doctors have described in their analysis of men suffering from combat fatigue.

We aren't qualified to sit in judgment on these women. No one is. It's just that we can't condone their actions, their way of thinking. We believe they are jeopardizing their future happiness for fleeting pleasures, are robbing themselves and their men overseas of the finer things of life.

So—to the faithful wife, orchids! To the cheat, a bunch of stinkweeds.

Big National Problem For Great Britain Posed By Crisis In Coal

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press War Analyst

The coal crisis in Europe poses a big national problem for Great Britain. The results of the recent British election to be announced tomorrow will determine whether Winston Churchill or Clement Attlee will help shape the policy that is to settle it.

Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes' proposal to send 6,000,000 tons of coal from the United States to Europe in the next six months was prompted not merely by humanitarian reasons, but because America, like Britain, knows that unless Europe has coal this winter there is grave danger of revolution and social disorders.

Probable Shortage

Western Europe's coal needs for the "coal year" ending next April have been set at 60,000,000 tons. Against that need, the best that can be expected from Europe's own production is 40,000,000 tons. Unless Britain and America make up the difference, Russia will have to give it from the Silesian and Polish-Teschen mines in the zone of Russian influence.

German mines are now producing barely 15 per cent of their capacity Belgian and Dutch mines are still well below half of their capacity production. French mines are slowly being built up but even when France produced her capacity of 44,000,000 tons of coal a year she still imported 22,000,000 tons—much of it from as far away as Indo-China.

French Non-Productive

French miners are notoriously non-productive. In modern British mines production is said to attain an average of 1.10 tons per man-shift. In France it takes one miner 17 days work to produce one ton. Most French miners are obliged to divide their time—three days below ground in the mines and three days a week working their gardens or scouring the countryside for food.

The Big Three studied in Potsdam a plan to revive the Ruhr, start the mine pumps, rebuild the power houses and bring back the miners from prisoner of war camps. Once the Ruhr gets production back nearer normal the immediate coal problems of Europe will be solved, because the Big Three has, reportedly, approved a schedule for distribution of Ruhr coal. France would get the greater share but Belgium, Holland and Italy would all get their parts.

Menace To Britain

That contains a menace to Britain which wants the Ruhr coal program definitely limited to a few years, because for decades Britain has been the principal dealer in hard coal for the continent and without those markets the British coal industry—the backbone of British labor and income—would suffer a terrible loss.

Before this war there were 781,000 miners employed in British coal mines and they produced about 200,000,000 tons of coal a year. At the peak of its coal trade, Britain, before World war I, exported 78,000,000 tons annually. By 1938, this export trade had been cut by German interference to 35,000,000 tons a year. There was much unemployment in the British mines and the political implications were many.

No Reserve Stocks

Now there are more than 700,000 miners back in Britain's mines. By the winter of 1946, British production is expected to be back at the 200 million tons-a-year normal. Right now Britain has no coal-piles and coal is consumed as fast as it is mined. The British railways have only 7-days reserve stocks.

But the day is coming when Britain's home needs will be satisfied and the exportable surplus will accumulate. Britain needs foreign exchange. That always has been the source of British wealth. And when that time of a coal surplus comes, Britain does not want to find all her continental markets filled by Ruhr coal mined as German reparations under United Nations control and distributed by the same body to all of Britain's former customers.

Army Fliers Are Rescued At Sea

By RICHARD G. HARRIS
United Press War Writer

OKINAWA, July 21. — Seven Army fliers who spent 20 hours in the Japanese and shark-infested waters of the Yellow sea last Tuesday credited their rescue today to a Navy search plane and an Army manual on "Survival At Sea."

No one read the manual during their perilous swim. They tore it to shreds and thew the pieces at the sharks to scare them off.

Hit By Flak Burst

The fliers were the sole survivors of a B-24 Liberator bomber that crashed into the sea shortly after unloading its bombs on Shanghai.

The plane was hit by a burst of flak just as it headed out to sea and three engines conked. Five crew members were lost, but the rest bailed out and landed in a four-mile area of the Yellow sea.

Spotted By Navy Planes

Supported only by their Mae West life jackets, the seven survivors finally managed to get together, and were struggling to hold each other up in the choppy seas when they were spotted by Navy search planes.

A rescue plane piloted by Lt. (J.G.) Robert N. Sudlow, Holton, Kans., made a dangerous water landing nearby while Army Mustang fighters circled overhead to cover them against possible Japanese interference.

Tore Book Into Scraps

The first two fliers to join up in the water were Sgts. Arthur T. Stanford, Galveston, Tex., and Fred R. Cianfrini, North Tonawanda, N. Y., nose and waist gunners, respectively.

Just as they met, they spotted shark fins circling around them. Stanford suddenly remembered the survival manual he had stuffed into his pocket before bailing out.

The sergeant wasted no time looking up the chapter on sharks. Instead, he ripped up the book and began throwing scraps of paper at the scavengers. That, plus a lot of kicking, finally drove the sharks away.

WLB Settles Dispute Over Veterans' Rights

WASHINGTON, July 25. (U.P.)—The War Labor board has settled a dispute over veterans' reemployment rights but without the hoped-for clarification of seniority provisions of the Selective Service act.

The WLB refused to order Phillips Petroleum Co., Haskell, N. J., and Philgas Employes association, an independent union, to sign a contract including a clause which the WLB said goes beyod the conditions granted returning soldiers by the Selective Service act. The union had objected to it.

The company proposed that "a returning employe-veteran who has been on military leave of absence from the company shall be eligible for any position which, in the judgment of the company, he is capable of filling."

The company said his eligibility should be determined "without regard to the location of former employment; provided, however, that any such returning employe-veteran taking a position other than his old job, or one of like seniority, status and pay, shall not displace any employe with greater company seniority."

The WLB pointed out that under the Selective Service act a returning veteran is entitled to reinstatement in his former position or to a position of like seniority, status and pay.

It said its decision was not a bar to further collective bargaining.

The WLB and other government agencies are now awaiting a Justice department opinion on veteran's job rights. The opinion will be tested by the administration all the way to the Supreme court in an effort ot settle the problem uniformly.

Strike Vote At North American Plant Set By NLRB For Aug. 15

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP) — A strike vote for Aug. 15 at North American Aviation's Grand Prairie, Tex., plant will be held "unless the matter has been adjusted or withdrawn," Dr. Edwin C. Elliott, regional director of the National Labor Relations board, said today.

The national board said the CIO Auto Workers Local 645, employes' bargaining agent at the plant, had filed notice of a dispute, which notice made the board automatically call a strike vote.

Employes Under 17,000

Slightly less than 17,000 persons are employed at the North American plant, which at its peak had a payroll of nearly 40,000. The plant now is engaged on contracts for the C-82 Flying Boxcar, AT-6 Texan trainers, and P-51 Mustangs.

Elliott said a meeting had been scheduled in NAA offices Aug. 1 between company and union representatives and NLRB Field Examiner H. Carnie Russell to consider issues and arrange facilities for the balloting. The North American public relations office said that the company had received notice of, and was preparing for the meeting.

Olin H. Jones, president of the local, said he had written the NLRB, War Labor board, and department of labor July 10 that disputed issues existed at the North American plant which threatened to interrupt war production, but also that the UAW-CIO "does not desire a strike vote to be taken."

Board Has No Discretion

Under the Smith-Connally act, the NLRB, which holds strike elections, has no discretion when notice of a dispute is filed, being automatically required to order a strike vote in 30 days, which NLRB said it did in the North American case.

The board said the union contended the company was reducing wages by arbitrary down-grading of jobs, that the company was bargaining in bad faith, and that it was improperly interpreting the Dallas application of the southern California airframe industry wage schedules.

In Washington, the National Airframes commission said it still had under consideration the question of what action would be taken on the principle of reclassification involved in the North American dispute.

Home Task Ends, Sub Officer Back On Job

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., July 25 (U.P.)—Petty Officer 2/c Charles Wittenborn today was back on duty aboard a submarine in the Pacific after a 30-day leave spent here in attempting to comfort the parents of buddies who were aboard the now missing vessel on which he once served.

More than a year ago, Wittenborn left the submarine Harder, since reported missing, for a leave at home. Before his departure his shipmates gave him letters and souvenirs to send their relatives. A transfer delayed the anticipated leave almost a year. When it finally came he devoted most of it to fulfilling his promise to the men now presumed dead.

Tech Short Course Closes Today; Proper Stock Feeding Stressed

By BILL BARNETT
Avalanche Staff Writer

With J. D. Strickland, assistant professor of animal husbandry at Tech, presiding, the livestock feeding short course, fifth to be held here, at Texas Technological college moved through its third day of lectures, and will enter the final stages this morning at 9 o'clock before closing at noon.

The meeting opened Monday morning with the largest group ever to attend the short course sitting through the sessions twice daily. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, will preside at the closing session today.

Delayed Cattle Fattening

On the Wednesday program Stangel opened the series of talks with a lecture on the "Delayed fattening of Cattle." He said that the present rate of exchange a person must be able to buy higher than he can sell, and still make a profit. This is done, he said, through cheap yet sufficient feeding.

The veteran livestock expert said that it is his belief that good cattle give the best results, rather than buying cheaper stock.

Stangel's talk was built around the second trial of a test conducted by his department in cooperation with the Texas Experiment station. The report said that farmers of the South Plains area grow and can grow sorghum roughages in abundance, economically. Many acres are grown to combine-type sorghum and after the grain is combined there are always heads remaining in the field as well as stubble. The trial, Stangel said, was to prove there is a possible income from field waste when supplemented by winter dry-lot stocking and summer and early fall native grass and sudan pasture grazing.

Nice Profit Shown

His talk then went into statistical stages, explaining the number of cattle grazed upon what type pastures, etc. Stangel closed the lecture with the amazing revelation that his cattle had yielded up to a $60 gross profit on the market, allowing for a 6 per cent shrinkage. He sold them on the Ft. Worth market.

Strickland gave the day's second talk, using the subject "Feeding and Care of Dairy Bulls." He said that "you can take a good animal and get poor production through poor feeding and management." A sire with poor qualities will not give the correct influence on the offspring which he influences about 50 per cent Strickland said.

He noted that 130 per cent increase in milk production and 109 per cent increase in butterfat production had been recorded through good breeding, although this will not hold true every time.

Good Breeding Counts

A well bred bull does not necessarily give a very good offspring every time, Strickland said, but "your chances are much higher and more likely the result will be favorable." He said that it took three years before the owner was certain of the results the bull would give through breeding so it was necessary to weigh all the good points of the bull before buying, and that good translating ability should be considered, if records were available. He also warned that prospective buyers should not be misled by too much pedigree and ancestry and not enough factual results. This might lead the buyer wrong, he said, as all products of the bull could not be seen and studied.

He noted many other "musts" in raising a good bull such as not playing with him which might add to the danger of getting hurt, providing green feed that would combat other deficiencies in his feed, dehorning unless planning to show the animal, carrying extra flesh during breeding season, and all the exercise the bull might want and need.

Milk Production

Glenn T. Hackney, Lubbock dairy farmer, closed the morning meeting with a talk on "Feeding for Milk Production on the Farm." He said that the feed problem is now most critical and economic yet balanced rations was even more important.

"It is best to consider what you have, what goes into it, and the results you get," Hackney said.

He said that farmers should plan their feed program correctly to give proper feeding with plenty of roughage, keeping cows full. He advised that during the present season feeders should continue to feed silage, which will provide much of the roughage needed, along with light grazing to save pasture.

Protein Feeding

He touched on how production will be lost through neglegent protein feeding and advised a consistent medium of this feed. Sufficient water and concentrates as well as suggested feeding after milking also were topics in his speech.

After lunch J. R. Gillham, vocational agriculture teacher at Clarendon and raiser of many fine show hogs, spoke on "Feeding Swine Winners."

Gillham said that if "you are going to feed, feed good feed." This was the basis of his lecture in which he said that the swine should not be crowded too much, given the correct amount of exercise—two main problems swine raiser encounter. He said that if the "animal is filled he will do much better in showing."

M. U. May, Castro County Agent from Dimmitt, concluded the day's work with his talk on the "Sears-Roebuck Swine Program." He said this work had done more for the farm boys and the hogs in Texas than in other move ever made."

Started In 1936

Sponsored by the Sears foundation and begun in 1936 in this state the program now covers 157 counties for whites and 30 for negroes. The county agent explained the details of the program, in its fullest, said the pigs were awarded each year on a competitive basis to club winners, and that the future of Texas as a hog state would be improved much through this medium. He said the program was changing the face of the swine industry in Texas.

A round table discussion was held and then Ray Mowery, Tech professor and John White, senior student demonstrated dairy cattle judging.

This morning's session will include speeches by C. B. Spencer on "How to Keep the Soil Productive in West Texas"; Don Jones on "Cotton Production in West Texas"; and R. E. Karper on "The Grain Sorghums." Adjournment of the three-and-a-half-day meeting will be at noon by Stangel.

Figures Are Released On Cotton Exports

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The Commerce department, releasing hitherto confidential cotton export figures today, said exports from Pearl Harbor day to the end of last April averaged about 105,000 bales a month.

This was only one-fourth of the monthly exports in five years before the war, which averaged 419,000 bales.

Since the liberation of countries occupied by Germany, U. S. cotton exports had shown a slight increase. Monthly shipment from August 1, 1944, to April 30, 1945, averaged 125,000 bales.

For the last 45 months, 61.9 per cent of cotton exports have been lend-lease shipments. The highest proportion of lend-lease exports was in the "cotton year" 1942-43 when they represented 69.3 per cent of the total. A cotton year begins August 1 and end July 31.

CISCO MAN DIES

CISCO, July 25. (UP)—Funeral arrangements were pending today for Frank I. Harrell, 61, who died at his home here yesterday. Harrell, manager of the Rockwell Lumber Co., for 41 years, also had ranching interests, and had been active in civic affairs.

Poor Digestion? YES ☐ NO ☐
Headachy? ☐ ☐
Sour or Upset? ☐ ☐
Tired-Listless? ☐ ☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25c. Adv.

Armed Forces Cut Claim On Beef Supply

WASHINGTON, July 25. (UP)—The armed forces today reduced their claim on the nation's beef supply. This will leave a somewhat larger share available for civilians.

The War department announced that it had asked that the percentage of choice, good and commercial grade beef set aside for the armed forces be reduced from 25 to 20 per cent. The military set-aside of utility, canner and cutter grades would be reduced from 65 to 55 per cent.

The order, which will be put into effect by the department of agriculture July 30, applies to beef processed in federally-inspected plants.

Work Started On Power Plant Unit

Announcement that construction work on the new $71,434, municipal power plant building had been started by John T. Glover, Lubbock contractor, was made yesterday by City Manager M. R. Smith, jr.

The plant, which will be designed to house nine engines, will be constructed of brick, concrete and tile. It will be located on city-owned property northeast of Lubbock, on the Plainview highway, opposite Mackenzie State park.

Bids for a new engine and generating unit will be opened on August 14. The building will be 83 by 84 feet with a roof 43 feet and four inches above the ground level.

Yesterday's preliminary work consisted of setting stakes and starting of excavation for foundations.

Morgenthau Says He Wasn't Asked To Quit

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — Henry Morgenthau, jr., said flatly today that President Truman had not asked him to resign as Secretary of the Treasury.

He told a reporter he failed to make himself clear in New York yesterday when he said his leaving was "not of my own choosing."

It had been generally understood in Washington that Morgenthau himself forced the issue, resigning on July 5 when he became convinced that the President was planning to replace him with Fred M. Vinson in a few months.

Area Gains Cited In Redistricting

Redistricting of Texas would give West Texas approximately 16 additional representatives, Preston E. Smith, state representative from the 119th district, told the Rotary club and its guests yesterday at the club's regular weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

The state constitution authorizes the redistricting of the state after each federal census, Rep. Smith declared. He said that in his opinion the state would not be redistricted, however, until a governor is elected who favors redistricting.

Explains Fund-Sharing

Rep. Smith also explained the bill he introduced at the last session of the legislature, providing that all state-owned colleges share on a scholastic basis in the Texas University's permanent fund. He predicted that West Texas would face difficulties next year unless the area "gets an even break" with other sections of the state. Dr. A. G. Barsh, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Out of town guests were Hiram Parks of Brownfield, A. J. Payne of Slaton, Elton D. Cook of Richardson, C. S. Edmonds of Fort Worth, Bill Blakney of Abilene, C. H. Williams of Perryton, Jerry Hardwick of Odessa, Elwin Matthews of Littlefield, A. B. Shaw of Childress, H. N. Stone and W. E. Cox, jr., both of Seminole.

Lubbock Takes Opener Over Wichita Falls Club, 17-5

Lubbock's American Legion junior baseball nine was "half way over the hump" today, taking the opening game of the American Legion regional playoff from Wichita Falls' Pat Carrigan Post, 17 to 5.

The Wichita Falls nine started off rather jittery, and Lubbock took a quick early lead, then coasted in with the win. Skipper Stoney Wall used four pitchers in the ball game, using everyone on the staff, except Jack Vaughn, who is scheduled to pitch the second game of today's double header against the San Angelo nine.

Two Games Today

The visitors take over the spotlight in today's first game, Wichita Falls meeting San Angelo at 2 o'clock. Lubbock plays San Angelo in the finale at 5:30 o'clock.

Bob Galey started on the hill for Lubbock, and worked three innings. He hurled hitless ball, but the visitors took advantage of a streak of wildness in the third inning to score a run.

Charles Presley then took over on the hill for Lubbock, and hurled into the eighth inning. Presley gave up one hit in the fourth, another in the fifth, but came out of both holes unscratched, and blanked the Wichitans through the seventh.

Presley retired the first hitter in the eighth, then handed the job over to little Denny Davidson. Davidson fanned the first batter to face him, then Allison singled to left, and Frame doubled to right to score Allison. Davidson then threw out Mahaffey.

An error, McCulley's single and a walk filled the bases for Wichita Falls in the ninth. A fielders choice let in one run, then Davidson went out in favor of Walter Higginbotham. An infield out and a wild pitch let in two more runs before Higginbotham could put out the fire.

Lubbock Starts Early

A hit batsman, then two sharp singles by Arrington and Wall, sandwiched in with an error by Rogers, gave Lubbock two runs in the first inning.

After one was out in the second, Vaughn dropped a Texas Leaguer over second, and Cole, Wichita Falls outfielder kicked the ball into right field, and Vaughn stopped at third. Petree lashed a single past short and Vaughn scored.

Gallegos flied to center, and Cole dropped the ball when Frame, the left fielder ran into him on the play. Gallegos stopped at second and Petree took third. Jack Alderson smashed a hit back through the box, to score Petree and Gallegos. Alderson moved to third on two passed balls while Arrington was walking.

Walt flied to left, and Alderson scored after the catch. Galey was safe on an error. Arrington scored on a passed ball. Folsom singled to left, and Galey moved around to third, and scored on Deal's balk.

Lubbock broke loose again in the sixth with four runs, and added four more in the seventh, then pushed over the finale in the ninth.

Galey and Vaughn led the hitting with three hits each, while Presley collected the only extra base blow for Lubbock, his lusty triple that started the four run sixth inning outbreak.

Lubbock	260	004	401	—17 18 3
Wichita Falls	001	000	013	— 5 5 7

Galey, Presley, Davidson, Higginbotham and Jones; Deal, McCulley and Rogers.

Finis Vaughn To Coach Sherman

Finis Vaughn, who was connected with the Plainview schools as athletic coach for 14 years, has accepted the position as head coach at Sherman High school, and will take over at his new post this fall.

Vaughn informed Supt. R. L. Speer today of his acceptance of the position, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

He will take the position left vacant by Truett L. Owen, former Texas Tech grid star, who recently resigned at Sherman to take a similar position with Arlington Heights at Fort Worth.

ALEXANDER RESIGNS

SWEETWATER, July 25 (AP)—Mack Alexander has resigned as head football coach of Sweetwater High school to become Boy Scout executive for the Sweetwater area.

Vaughn resigned at the end of last football season at Plainview, and moved to Lubbock. In Lubbock, he took a position with Purina Mills, and has been working at this position since that time.

He managed the Purina Mills junior baseball team in Lubbock up to the time he left here on his annual vacation.

Coach W. C. O. Harris, former coach at Amon Carter-Riverside High school in Fort Worth, took Vaughn's position at Plainview.

Laredo Knocks Out State Legion Champs

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—The Laredo All-Stars ousted Austin's Buddies from a place in the state American Legion junior baseball tournament here last night by taking the last game of a double header, 5 to 3.

Austin copped the first game, 15 to 1, but Laredo's second game victory gave it the district title by virtue of a 4 to 3 victory won at Laredo Sunday.

Laredo meets the Houston Mustangs for the division four title and a place in the four-team playoff state tournament in Austin, Aug. 2 to 5.

Three Favored For Pikes Peak Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 25. (AP) — Lee Griffith of Albuquerque, N. M., Pfc. Bob Swanson of Fort Riley, Kan., and Dick Knight of Omaha, Neb., loomed today as the men to beat in the handicap division of the Pikes Peak Open golf tournament.

Griffith carded a two under par 70 in sending Jimmy Wynee, 17-year-old Tyler, Tex., favorite, into the consolations. The Albuquerque city champion, won 4 and 3.

Returning Stars May Alter Race

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP) — Imminent return to the lineups of Washington's Buddy Lewis, New York's Red Ruffing and St. Louis' Chet Laabs promised today to alter the course of the tightened American League pennant chase.

With all clubs of both majors enjoying an open date, the junior league standings show only a seven-game spread from Cleveland in seventh place to Detroit on top of the heap. Return to form of any one of the trio of ex-stars could make the difference between a World Series cut and an also ran finish.

Detroit, bolstered by the return of Hank Greenberg and Al Benton, still holds first position but the Tigers missed a golden opportunity to pile up a commanding lead when they floundered through the East winning only four of 12 starts.

Washington, one of the major surprises of the season, struck in the runnerup spot although the Senators failed to play .500 ball at home. Nevertheless the Nats are only three lengths back of the Bengals and very much in the running.

With Lewis, a recently discharged captain in the Army Air force, due to step back into the Washington infield, the Senators will command more respect. Hitting has not been one of the bright features about Ossie Bluege's gang and addition of Lewis, who had a .304 lifetime batting average before he entered the Army in November, 1941 should add power.

Ruffing at 40 hardly figures to duplicate his old feats with the Yankees after two and a half years in the Army. However Acting Manager Art Fletcher has nominated him to pitch tomorrow's game against Philadelphia and more will be known then.

Laabs hardly rates with Lewis and Ruffing as stars of yesteryear but his home run slugging in the final days of the 1944 campaign was one big reason for the Browns' success. The St. Louis outfielder hit 27 roun trippers in 1942 but only five last year. Released from a Detroit defense plant, Laabs is expected to go back into the regular lineup in August.

New Rules To Speed College Grid Games

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP) — College football this fall will specialize in deception and speed, Comdr. Oscar Hagberg, head coach of the Navy eleven, said today.

"The new rules, especially the one which permits passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, will bring a lot of deception to the college game," he explained.

Hagberg, whose team lost three games last fall in his first year at the helm, said the rule was brought over from the pro rule book but never had been fully exploited by the pros.

"Every time a pro gets the ball he tries to throw a touchdown strike. I think the collegians will be tossing for five yards and first down instead and that a lot of trick plays will be used," he added.

Womens Open Meet Enters Semi-Finals

Both medalists, and co-favorites, Mrs. George Soash and Mrs. Charles Akey were among the four women golfers to move into the semi-finals of the Lubbock Country Club Womens Open tournament Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Soash won a 2 and 1 decision over Mrs. Morley Jennings for one of the closer matches of the day. In another by the same margin, Mrs. Foster defeated Mrs. Fenner Tubbs.

The other upper bracket match resulted in a 5 and 4 victory for Mrs. Wagenfeuhr over Mrs. F. L. McRee. Mrs. Akey defeated Mrs. J. H. Stiles, 4 and 2.

The consolation brackets will pair the losers in all divisions, pairing in the same order as the winners.

In the first flight matches, Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg defeated Miss Mary Jarrott, 7 and 6, and will play Mrs. W. F. Helwig in the semi-finals. Mrs. Charles Young nosed out Mrs. M. K. Dean, 3 and 2, and will play Mrs. Roy Autry. Helwig and Autry drew byes.

In the nine hole flight, Medalist Mrs. P. S. Hallman defeated Mrs. J. B. McCauley, 3 and 2, and Mrs. F. M. Curtis won over Mrs. J. C. Young, 4 and 2, in the upper bracket. In the lower bracket, Mrs. J. F. Pattok won from Mrs. Lewis Kerr, and Mrs. H. W. Schroeder won from Mrs. R. M. Jenkins, both by 3 and 2 margins.

Fort Worth Tourney Draws Large Field

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP) — Some of the best golfers in the Southwest will tee off here tomorrow in the qualifying round of the annual Glen Garden golf tournament and the battle for medalist honors is expected to be a heated one.

Entries reached the 95 mark Wednesday and officials predicted that a total of 150 contestants would compete. Topnotch players from West Texas were among those arriving Wednesday.

They included Jack Powell, Wichita Falls; Jack Parr, L. C. McLaughlin, and Johnnie Garrison, Electra; J. J. Neil, Sweetwater; Bill Maxwell, Abilene; P. J. Burton, San Angelo; T. S. Haney and Roy Cruze, Crowell, and P. D. Oswald, Vernon.

Rated as tops in the tournament are such players as T. J. Hammett of Abilene; Spud Cason, Fort Worth; Dick Martin, Dallas; R. V. Cole, Ranger and L. D. Harding, Fort Worth. Cason, now in the armed services, won the tournament in 1943.

Small Sandlotters Compete In Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, July 25. (AP) —The small fry sandlotters go into action tomorrow with Death Valley A. C.'s sister-brother act pitted against the Tinicum Midgets' 13-year-old strikeout king.

They will furnish the feature attraction of the three-week Herb Pennock tournament, open to eight to 13 year old future major leaguers.

Francine Tomlin, 10-year-old pigtailed Death Valley shortstop is peeved because she didn't play yesterday. Death Valley's opponents, the Mudhens, failed to appear and Francine's team won by default.

While Francine fretted, the Midgets defeated the Philly Ravens, 5-1, with 13-year-old Jim Kryszto'orski fanning 13 and yielding only one hit.

Pint-sized players of 32 teams are competing in the tournament. Each player contributes 25 cents to a picnic fund. They bring their own equipment—but it's scarce.

The Midgets and the Ravens played with a taped ball. Catchers played without masks. Wounded soldiers are umpires.

Payton Shines In All-American

CHICAGO, July 25. (AP)—A slim, fledgling pro—136-pound George Payton of Hampton, Va.—held the spotlight in the $60,000 All-American golf tournament today as a 126-player field was completed for the lush 72-hole open which starts tomorrow.

Payton, with a four-under-par 33-35—68, led 92 pros from outside Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin in a showdown for 40 berths in the Open, feature of a gala three-ply competition among the nation's top pro, amateur and women players.

When the three-in-one carnival gets under way tomorrow, Payton —playing only his fourth tournament as a pro—undoubtedly will yield the stage to Defending Champion Byron Nelson, Lt. Ben Hogan, and other stars exempted from qualifying competition.

The 40 qualifiers headed by Payton, who bagged five birdies and was over standard only once, joined some 46 exempted players and 40 play-for-pay lads from four surrounding states who qualified June 25 for a $13,600 (war bond) winner's purse.

Tomorrow's field also will include approximately 32 golfers gals shooting for the All-American women's title held by Betty Hicks of Chicago, and 27 amateurs seeking the All-American simon-pure crown left undefended when Ed Furgol of Detroit recently turned pro.

Payton, who banged five birdies and was over par only once, finished two strokes ahead of four players—Clarence Doser of Hartsdale, N. Y.; Sam Schneider of Corpus Christi, Tex.; Joe Kirkwood, trick shot star from Abington, Pa.; and Pfc. Leland Gibson of Randolph Field, Tex.

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Earl Caldwell, 40-year-old pitcher with the Chicago White Sox, said today he had his post-war plans all made. Caldwell said he would like to manage a baseball club somewhere in Texas so he could be near McAllen and a never-ending supply of Rio Grande valley grapefruit. In the off season, Caldwell is an inspector at a citrus fruit packing plant.

SAFEGUARDING THE EYES OF TEXAS
Are your eyes less important than your watch?

The human eye is an organ infinitely more complex and delicate than the finest watch ever made. Yet it's a curious fact that some people are more careful about their watches, which are replaceable, than they are about their eyes, which can never be replaced. The owner of a good watch would never attempt to repair it himself, or entrust its repair to anyone but a qualified expert. Yet the same man may think that he can correct his faulty vision simply by "buying a pair of glasses." Sometimes he is lured by an offer of "free examination" with bargain glasses. The fact is that glasses alone, without professional services and technical skill, cannot correct faulty vision. These services include a careful examination and other technical steps which are essential to finding the exact cause of the defect and the right correction for it. Don't risk your precious sight on a bargain counter. Seek the professional help of a properly qualified person.

Sportsmen Urge Governor To End Dissension In Game Department

AUSTIN, July 25. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today heard a request of Texas sportsmen for him to bring an end to disruptions in the game, fish and oyster department, regardless of the effect on personalities.

The governor, closeted with the delegation for more than an hour, told members he agreed with their principle of clearing away difficulties within the department and preserving the game and fish program.

Corrections Necessary

Henry W. Flagg of Galveston, chairman of the Texas Wildlife federation, said following the conference:

"We feel that besides the question of possible injustices to individuals that the methods employed by some members of the game commission were entirely out of order and improper. We feel that necessary corrections should be made."

He was referring to recent personnel changes in the department including the resignation of Will J. Tucker as executive secretary and his subsequent appointment as director of lakes, a job from which he was fired a week later.

Presumably Tucker resigned and accepted the subordinate position by agreement of the game commission; an agreement which the governor negotiated. His dismissal by Howard Dodgen, his successor as executive secretary, has not been explained publicly.

Reason Not Learned

Flagg said the governor gave the delegation "the whole story as far as he knew it," but that the delegation, like the governor, had not learned why the agreement had been ignored.

"We found ourselves not with complete understanding of all the disruptions that have come about recently in the department," Flagg added.

"We are of the opinion that no selfishness, mercenary interests or personality conflicts should be indulged in nor permitted.

"We appealed to the governor to straighten out the situation as qiuckly as possible and offered our assistance."

Program Endangered

He said that unless "corrections" were made sportsmen feel that the game and fish program is in danger.

Asked specifically if the group favored Tuckers' retention one member, Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls, answered:

We expressed (to the governor) the opinion that if the agreement had been carried out it would have been to the best interest of the game program and would have ended other involvements in the game department."

Express Amazement

Grady Hill of San Angelo said the delegation did not presume to tell the commission how to run its business but had expressed to the governor amazement that the compromise agreement had not been carried out."

Besides Flagg, O'Neal and Hill, the delegation included: Doc St. Clair, Ed Cromer, Dick Wiley and Raymond Bond of the Worth Anglers' club; Orval W. Shire of Mineral Wells, president of the Possum Kingdom Fish association; Floyd Davidson and Jim McNeese of the same group; Kenneth W. Brown of San Angelo, director of the West Texas Game and Fish association; Herbert Mears, Fort McKavett ranchman; F. L. Huey and Ted Davis of Beaumont, directors of the Gulf Coast Rod, Reed and Gun club.

Big Three Parley

morrow the work of the conference will be carried on by foreign office representatives of each nation.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes also will go to Frankfurt, probably in a separate plane. This precedure has been followed on other flights in case of mishap to the President and the man who would be his successor.

This will be Truman's first flying sidetrip since his arrival in Potsdam July 15. He motored into Berlin for a tour of the battered capital on his second day here, and later again went into the city for a flag-raising ceremony and a brief speech.

At dinner tonight, the President entertained Jefferson Caffery, U. S. ambassador to France; Robert Murphy, advisor to Eisenhower, and Gen. Brehon Sovervell, chief of U. S. Army Service forces.

A Soviet-sponsored editorial in the Berlin Zietung declared "the Allied fight against Japan is currently in its final phase, and its result will be the same as against the Hitlerite Germany of Europe."

The editorial was considered especially timely in view of the prevailing belief that the Big Three conferees had reached a substantial agreement on coordinated action to vanquish Japan.

Trial Of Petain

to the heart of this trial—to the core of accusations of a plot against the republic."

He demanded to know from Petain when the list the marshal withdrew from his pocket was prepared. The implication in the juror's question was that Petain had completed plans for a new government of France well before Reynaud resigned "under pressure from Petain and others for an armistice with Germany."

Every eye in the courtroom was rivetted on Petain's face. He sat with his head resting in one cupped hand and his eyes were closed. He sat still, apparently unhearing. Judge Mongibeaux called on him to rise. He still sat. A policeman touched him. His lawyers then explained what the question was. Scowling, Petain replied in a frosty voice:

"That list—well, I had considered some names, but the list I took from my pocket was not the one that came into effect. There were several lists."

The juror said the marshal had not answered the question, but Mongibeaux did not press the point, despite an outbreak of mumbling through the court.

Jap Toll Mounts

great difficulty locating Japanese warships which had been tied up at their berths under camouflage. As a result, it was necessary to hit targets of opportunity.

Fleet Still Bristles

While correspondents awaited further reports from yesterday's raids, there still was no indication that the fleet had pulled back from Japanese waters.

There were no reports of American losses. Nimitz said, but the British lost eight planes and 12 pilot and aircrewmen in their attacks, which were in the east Shikoku-Okayama-Fukuyama area.

It is difficult to attempt to assess the size of the Japanese fleet which could be used against the Allies at present. Their converted Ise and Hyuga battleships are both out of commission. Still afloat but heavily damaged at Yokoshuka naval base a few days ago is the battleship Nagato. Reports on June 29 said the Japanese had two other old battleships, but the Haruna, now slightly damaged, may have been included in those two.

It is believed their aircraft carrier force virtually is out of commission. As of June 29, they were reported to have two or three large carriers and today's report lists two damaged, leaving the enemy possibly one.

Cruiser Force Whittled

Their cruiser force has been whittled down over a period of time. Five cruisers, three of them heavies, were damaged Tuesday. They had about 30 destroyers and four of these were damaged.

Reports of Japanese defenses against these great strikes are meager but 19 of their aircraft were shot down—16 over targets and three in attempts to attack the Third Fleet.

There was no report of anti-aircraft fire from the berthed ships, but previously it had been extremely heavy, particularly in the vicinity of Kure.

Nimitz listed the warships as damaged in the combined sea and air attack.

Combat ships:

Heavily damaged: converted battleship Hyuga, heavy cruiser Tone, light cruiser of Kuma class, aircraft carrier Amagi, one destroyer.

Moderately damaged: converted battleship Ise, heavy cruiser Aoba, light cruiser Oyodo, aircraft carrier Katsuragi, one gunboat.

Slightly damaged: battleship Haruna, one old heavy cruiser, aircraft carrier Aso, light aircraft carrier Hosho, escort carrier Kaiyo, two destroyers, one midget submarine.

Aircraft: 18 shot down, 21 destroyed aground, 53 damaged aground.

Merchant Shipping

The communique made this report of merchant shipping sunk or damaged:

Sunk: one medium cargo vessel, one medium oiler, three small cargo vessels, one tug, five luggers.

Damaged: three medium cargo vessels, seven small cargo vessels, many luggers.

Nimitz reported this additional damage.

Ground installations:

Destroyed — Nine locomotives, one small factory and two radio stations near Hamamatsu.

Damaged — five locomotives, three warehouses, one power plant, one roundhouse, one oil farm, hangars, storage buildings, ship buildings and factories.

Nimitz said no report of American losses is yet available.

Nimitz credited British carrier airmen with this destruction or damage:

Aircraft: 21 destroyed aground, 57 damaged aground.

Shipping:

Sunk: one medium cargo vessel, four small cargo vessels, five junks.

Probably sunk: one escort aircraft carrier of the Kobe class, one small freighter, one junk.

Damaged: one old destroyer, one train ferry, one large cargo ship, three medium cargo ships, four small cargo ships, 16 junks, 12 luggers, 11 barges, one speedboat, two ships on the ways.

Ground installations:

Damaged: Hangars, buildings, airfield installations, radio and radar stations, and an aircraft factory.

Eight British planes and 12 pilots and aircrewmen were lost.

All targets of the British aircraft were in the east Shikoku-Okayama-Fukuyama area.

Vandenberg said he had a "preference" for the treaty method but he could see that there was a choice.

WINFIELD SHEEHAN

Pioneer Movie Producer Dies

HOLLYWOOD, July 25. (AP) — Winfield Sheehan, 61, pioneer motion picture producer, died today after suffering a relapse from an operation performed several months ago.

He recently completed the film, "Captain Eddie," based on the life of Eddie Rickenbacker. Sheehan is survived by his widow, Maria Jeritza, form opera singer.

Among Most Colorful

Sheehan, one of Hollywood's most colorful characters, was a newspaperman and in politics in New York before he joined the Fox Film company in 1914. He organized European film exchanges, reorganized the Fox newsreel setup and became vice president and general manager of Fox in New York. In 1926, he came to Hollywood to take charge of all Fox production.

He produced the first outdoor talkie, "In Old Arizona," which brought Warner Baxter back to prominence. "Seventh Heaven," "What Price Glory?" "Sunrise," "Four Sons" and "Cavalcade" were other film highlights of his career.

Built Many Stars

Innumerable stars were built up by Sheehan. Among them are Shirley Temple, Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Edmund Lowe, Paul Muni, Spencer Tracy, Alice Faye Rita Hayworth, Tom Mix and Victor McLaglen.

Sheehan also is survived by three brothers, Howard, of Hollywood, Clayton of New York, another in Buffalo as well as a sister in Buffalo. Sheehan was born in Buffalo.

Tokyo Whines

said the Tokyo radio, had been "converted into a hurly-burly thoroughfare for Superforts, Liberators and Mustang fighters" with air raid sirens howling every day since late June.

Farmers Are Chased

It declared that even farmers in the fields and small fishing boats at sea were being chased by machine-gunning Mustangs.

A Tokyo radio correspondent, back from watching workers rushing coastal defenses, declared the Japanese people should expect that "all the cities and villages would be virtually burned down and all the transportation network practically cut off" but should still keep faith in the fortifications.

"And if the enemy should refrain from landing in fear of the Japanese defense system and continue solely to tighten the blockade, we shall wait 20 years, 30 years and even 50 years."

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi presaged "the enemy's landing on our mainland" and "the present military situation is by no means favorable to us."

Refusal To Fight

The refusal of the Japanese fleet and air force to fight now, Asahi insisted, was necessary because "in the showdown battle to be fought with our total strength, the momentous decision as to when and where to fight such a battle should be of our own choosing."

Premier Suzuki, who spent the day discussing the war situation with his cabinet, privy council and military leaders, was quoted as follows:

"The Japanese people are different from the German nation. I am sure the Japanese people have not yet given out their full strength. . . ."

Allied Soldiers Arrive In Vienna

By WILLIAM HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 25.—Two sources indicated today that American, British and French troops, as well as administrative authorities, have joined the Russians in Vienna.

The exact time of entry was not clear, but it appeared to have been either yesterday or early today.

Rome reports said that American correspondents had left there for Vienna.

French Troops Arrive

A Paris radio dispatch said that under an Allied agreement a French detachment had marched into Vienna yesterday.

(The United Press reported from Paris that a French foreign office spokesman had revealed that the Russians and French had held their first discussions in Vienna concerning the French taking over part of the Austraian zone.

(Civilian authorities at Innsbruck have asked the French to consider the German Tyrol as part of Austria and the French government was understood to have reacted favorably.)

Agreement On Zones

Some time ago British and American missions visited Vienna and returned to report that an agreement had been reached on various control zones.

In London it was considered quite possible that the Vienna development was the first fruit of the Potsdam conference.

The Vienna question has been a ticklish one since the original agreement among the Allies for combined control, similar to that exercised in Berlin.

Provisional Regime Allowed

After the Russians took over Vienna they allowed the Austrians to set up a provisional government —something not attempted in Germany.

The Paris radio dispatch said however that "the Austrian problem in general has not been solved."

The Paris dispatch reported the British government was insisting that the Russian-established government in Austria should give way to a new government under which all Austrian provinces and the capital would be represented.

According to first reports, printed months ago, the Allies had trained and appointed an entire force for governmental work in Austria.

This plan disappeared without explanation.

Details of any new agreement, referred to by Radio Paris, have not been made public.

Missing Witness

about 9 o'clock last night in the vicinity of Twentieth and Ave. V. There the two women took a case of whisky out of the car and started walking north. Later the men followed.

Millman said he picked the four up about 12 noon while driving around at the outskirts of Big Spring to kill time until Earline Landers had some work done at a beauty shop. They were attempting to hitch a ride, he said. After a while they drove around for his woman friend, later toward Lubbock.

The woman alleged that on two occasions one of the men slapped her. She kept protesting the presence of the quartet, she said. She said she asked and got Millman's bill fold which contained $213. She took all but $17 and hid it in her dress, she said.

No money was taken from the couple.

Near Tahoka one of the men took over the wheel of the car. From there to Lubbock two tires on the car were blown out, Millman said, but the driver did not stop. Some of his passengers partook freely of the whisky, which Millman said belonged to him.

Meanwhile, a search was on for a missing defendant, John Troy Lawson, 41, whose trial was called yesterday on a charge of murder while driving an automobile on a public highway while intoxicated. Upon application of District Attorney Burks, Judge Pardue ordered the district clerk to issue an alias capias calling for Lawson's rearrest, and ordered his appearance bond be raised from $1,000 to $10,000. He ordered the case passed to Aug. 7.

Liberators of the 13th Air force attacked shipping off Hatien, Indo-China port on the gulf of Siam, sinking a small freighter and some barges and a tug. The Yanks also strafed river steamers.

Oil Barge Explodes

One of the Liberators making a low-level assault was destroyed by the explosion of an oil barge it had hit. All the plane's crewmen presumably were lost.

The 13th AF also sent 20 Liberators to strike the Japanese radio outpost island of Itu Aba in the South China sea. The island is in a group known to the fliers as "dangerous ground" westward of Palawan island in the Philippines.

Amnesia Victim Not Daughter Of Ward

Although an amnesia victim at Ranger, Tex., possessed several physical characteristics which matched his daughter, Thomas A. Ward, of 2801 Locust, told Ranger officials Wednesday that the woman was not his daughter.

Ward had gone to Ranger Tuesday night after reading a newspaper account of a young woman fainting in a drug store there and subsequent efforts of authorities to identif her.

Ward said his daughter was Mrs. Marjorie Nell Vick, 21, of Tucumcari and Grady, N. M. She had visited here recently, he said.

Meanwhile, Ranger officials sought to trace the victim's identity through a key found in her possession, the Associated Press said. Ranger Postmaster A. E. Crawley said it appeared to be a postoffice box key. It is a Yale make with the number 16,141 and 9,289 stamped on it.

The woman remained in a hospital.

Japs Divulge Partial List Of Ship Victims

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—The War department disclosed tonight this government has received from Japan a partial list of 1,001 Americans who lost their lives in the December, 1944, torpedoing of a Japanese prison ship.

Notices sent to next of kin said that of more than 1600 American prisoners of war on the ship 942 were killed outright, 59 died later, two survived and evaded capture, and 618 survived and presumably were taken on to Japan.

The name of the ship was not given in casualty notices. These notices said the ship left Manila December 13, 1944, apparently for Japan and was torpedoed two days later in Subic bay. Relatives of a total 616 dead—Army personnel or war department civilian employes—have been notified of their death by the Army.

Of 618 survivors the names of 482 have been received from Japan, the notices said, adding that names of the other 136 are "expected."

Trucks Allocated To 32 Texas Counties

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP) — The surplus property board has allocated 101 heavy-duty trucks to be sold to Texas farmers and farm cooperatives in 32 counties.

Aides of Senator Connally (D-Tex) were advised that those needing trucks should apply immediately to their county agricultural agent for purchase certificates. The counties are Camp, Franklin, Wood, Nacogdoches, Cass, Rusk, Smith, Shelby, Upshur, Marion, Harrison, Titus, Panola, Gregg, Morris, Cherokee, Collin, Hunt, Denton, Delta, Hopkins, Grayson, Cooke, Rains, Fannin, Lamar, Red River, Bowie, Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr, and Willacy.

Predatory Animal Drive Bags 1,275

Predatory animals caught during April, May and June in northwest Texas counties totaled 1,275, according to E. G. Pope, assistant district agent for the Fish and Wildlife service. Of this number, 304 were credited to hunters in South Plains counties as follows:

Johnny L. Beechly, Dickens county, 81; A. P. Cox of Lynn county, 12; William DeLong, Crosby county, 25; Claude Drennan, Garza, 41; Arthur Findt, Crosby and Lynn, 36; Paul J. Ivie of Cottle and Motley counties, 24; and Thomas J. Sparks, Floyd county, 85.

This Cowpoke's Face Must Be Crimson

GALLUP, N. M., July 25 (AP) — The cowboy approached the lady clerk and whispered: "Some lace pants, please."

Mindful of the shortage of men's underwear, the clerk didn't blink an eye as she produced a pair of ladies' panties, snow white and edged with frothy lace.

The cowboy blushed painfully and explained that what he had in mind was a pair of riding pants with lacing at the bottom of the legs.

News Briefs

Three boys—two of them 10 and the other 13—admitted to police Wednesday afternoon their complicity in eight burglaries, and officials announced they had recovered a variety of loot, including whisky, golf clubs, golf bags, golf balls, an electric razor and trinkets. The incomplete list of places entered, pending a further comparison of stories of suspects, included construction, frozen food and hatchery businesses, officials said. The burglaries were some of those reported the last 10 days.

Subways In Berlin Clogged By Corpses

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—German divers have found hundreds of corpses still clogging a flooded three-mile section of Berlin's subway in the heart of the city, and have refused to continue work there, officials disclosed today.

The stretch of subway, running under Unter Den Linden from Anhalter, was being used as a hospital during the fighting for Berlin. Nazi S. S. leaders are reported to have flooded it when those in the tunnel signified a wish to surrender just before the city fell.

A British member of the Allied Transport commission said the bodies were those of wounded soldiers and hospital workers with Red Cross arm brassards.

Point Value Cuts To Average 21 Per Cent

DENVER, July 25 (AP)—Point values on all cuts of beef, lamb and veal will be reduced an average of 21 per cent, effective next Sunday, district OPA Director James R. Sledge announced today.

(The cut has been anticipated but has not been formally announced by OPA in Washington.)

The reduction will be based upon the average quantities available, Sledge said. While the number of red points allotted remains unchanged, the reduction will have about the same effect as an addition of 10 points to the validated coupons for each ration book holder.

Sledge added the reduction would not apply to pork.

Evacuation Of Jap Colony Starts Today

ROHWER, Ark., July 25 (AP) — Approximately 440 Japanese-American evacuees will be transferred from the Rohwer relocation center tomorrow to their homes in California, Colorado and Utah.

Ray Johnston, director of the Rohwer colony, said transfer of the evacuees was authorized by the department of the interior and that all evacuees leaving tomorrow have been cleared by the Army.

The group, representing about 125 Japanese-American families, is the first mass movement to the west in preparation for discontinuance of the colony Dec. 15, Johnston said.

CITY RAISES WAGES

DALLAS, July 25 (AP) — Wage increases of 5 per cent for policemen, firemen and laborers were approved today by the city council. The increases become effective Aug. 1 and represent a total of $191,075 annually.

SLAV AID INCREASES

BELGRADE, July 25 (AP)—Herbert H. Lehman, UNRRA director, in personal talks with Marshal Tito today said the relief agency had succeeded in obtaining additional and unexpected shipments to be delivered to Yugoslavia next month.

Cut In Clothing Prices Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP)—A six to seven per cent reduction in "inflated clothing prices" for which OPA and WPB began to plan last January will have to be postponed at least until next year, OPA said today.

The reason, OPA spokesman said, is that the proposed rollback would have been too abrupt for an industry that must make its plans a long time in advance of execution.

Started Last January

The rollback program, first projected last Jan. 23 was scheduled to take effect this month.

It was in the manufacture of woolen and worsted fabrics, rather than in garment production, that the difficulties arose which forced postponement of the clothing price rollback, it was said.

In announcing last June a maximum average price program to go into effect July 1, Price Administrator Chester Bowles promised that some form of relief would be worked out for mills faced with hardships as a result of the order.

Discussions with a "task group", of the fabric industry disclosed subsequently that it would be advisable to change the pricing regulations for the third and fourth quarters of the year, Bowles said.

Grant Price Increase

As a result, woolen and worsted fabric manufacturers will be given what amounts to a paper price increase for these periods, effected by a change in the basing system.

Over the six months, however, the change will mean practically no change in average prices now in effect, it was said. The so-called increases, for practical purposes, amount rather to a cancellation of projected reductions.

13 Feared Killed In Crash Of Giant C-47

MONROE, La., July 25. (AP) — The Selma field public relations office announced that 13 Army men, including four officers, two enlisted men and seven cadets, were believed killed today in the crash of a giant C-47 training plane 20 miles northeast of Tampa, Fla.

The public relations office said the names of the casualties probably would not be announced until tomorrow.

Schewellenbach Seeks Knowledge

ONE of the best ways to obtain information is to adopt an attitude of receptive humility and ask questions.

When Lewis B. Schwellenbach, the new Secretary of Labor, followed this unexpected procedure upon taking office recently, he not only surprised Washington newsmen, but also gained an enthusiastic following among them.

Correspondents, who have been covering Washington for the past thirty years, said it was the first time that a cabinet officer had called them in and asked:

"What do you think I can do to improve this department?"

Then he listened respectfully to the suggestions offered by the newsmen and without offering any arguments, began making notes.

Perhaps, Secretary Schwellenbach did not receive a great many valuable ideas, but he did accomplish something of value to every public official. He won the confidence of the newspapermen and assured himself of excellent press relations.

Since the Labor department has been subjected to considerable criticism because of inefficiency under "Miss Frances Perkins" and because there are now more than 25 agencies handling labor matters, the press' cooperation will be needed in solving the problems facing the new executive.

One problem that threatens to cause considerable trouble on the labor front is the right of a returning veteran to his old job. This question of seniority, as it affects such veterans, will continue to be a disturbing factor until definite rules are established.

But difficult and troublesome as this and other labor problems are, Schwellenbach has demonstrated that he knows how to obtain cooperation and get things done. His appointment promises to be a progressive step toward labor-management peace in the United States. President Truman is to be commended for his appointment.

Texas Moves On The Pests

WITH plans now under consideration for the spraying of Lubbock and other Texas counties with DDT, the miraculous war-developed insecticide, as a means of eradicating disease-bearing insects, scientists are trying to determine what the ultimate effect will be.

Will the large-scale use of the insecticide be beneficial or harmful? That is the question that the scientists wish to investigate before proceeding on too large a program.

For in addition to killing fleas and harmful insects, the spray will destroy honey bees, which in addition to making honey, carry pollen and aid in fertilizing numerous plants. The effect of the spray on birds, fish and other wild life is also a matter of concern.

Since Texas was one of the first states to develop the "dusting" of cotton fields from airplanes, it is possible that this state may be the first to perfect the use of this powerful new insecticide. With proper control and safeguards, it promises to end the locust and grasshopper blights that once swept the nation.

Diminishing Dairy Herds

REPORTS that the drouth, high feed prices and shortage of skilled dairy hands are causing many South Plains farmers to sell their dairy herds is bad news for Lubbock, which has long been noted as one of the state's leading butter production centers.

It is unfortunate that these farmers could not have retained their herds, since some of the difficulties are only temporary. The chances are that the South Plains will get plenty of rain next season and that many of potential dairy hands now helping finish off Japan will be returning home before many months.

With the country already faced with a diminished milk supply, it is possible that the government may act to relieve the price squeezes now troubling the milk and butter industry. In fact the future outlook for the dairy industry is good, despite the temporary set backs.

Like the man who killed the goose that laid the golden eggs, the farmer who sells his cows now may live to regret his haste.

A department store writes us it has on sale straw hats made of milk. We're not interested. We're afraid a milk straw hat might sour during a thunderstorm.

It is our notion that there is a much better way to kill a bottle of champagne than by breaking it on the nose of a ship being launched.

We have never known news to age so rapidly as it does today. Something that happened six months ago seems like ancient history.

TONEY'S CHANEL NUMBER 5

VI

Al Gingiss and I managed to get our first relief visit to Calcutta at the same time, and it was on that trip that we met "the Great White Trader of the East," Tony Mercede, of Blue Island, Ill.

How Tony came by the imposing title was a mystery for a little less than 10 minutes, at which point, as we stood at the bar of the 300 Club on Wood Street, he furtively pulled a tiny package from his trousers' pocket. With thick but amazingly deft fingers the 240-pound, black-haired little giant opened the package and revealed a sparkling bottle of Chanel Number 5, a female luxury which we later found was about as rare in Calcutta as a snowdrift.

"With this little prize, boys," Tony said, "you can make a hit with any girl in all of India. It's yours for 100 bucks."

Gingiss and I stared at the man. Then Gingiss turned to me. "He's crazy," Al said.

"Crazy as a loon," I agreed.

"Crazy like a fox," Tony said, laughing boisterously.

His laugh attracted the startled attention of the tall and dignified Englishman standing next to him. And then, as Tony much less furtively started to put the perfume back in his pocket, the Britisher touched him on the arm. "I beg your pardon," the fellow said, "but is that a bottle of Chanel Number 5 that I—ahh—saw in your hand?" The man's face was flushed, but his eagerness overrode his embarrassment. "Rude of me, I know," he said, "but—well, after all, sir—Chanel Number 5!"

Tony winked at Gingiss and me as he gave his attention to the Englishman. "It cost me a fortune. I don't know why I ever bought it. But that's what it is—Chanel Number 5. Maybe you know someone who'd like to take it off my hands—for $150."

The Englishman looked around nervously as if to ward off any further bids as he dug into his pocket. Then quickly he turned over the money, pocketed the perfume, and after gulping down his Scotch and soda dashed out of the bar.

"Amazing!" Gingiss exclaimed, staring at Tony.

Tony Mercede has been one of my best friends from the first day we met. He is back in the States now, a traffic expert with a nationwide trucking concern, but how he can reconcile himself to such an uneventful life as that after what he went through in China and India for two years is a mystery to me. He started in the trucking business as a greaser and mechanic when he was 16, coming up the hard way to the point where, in 1941, he was loaned to the United States government by his employer. The government having received the Arnstein report on the inefficient use and handling of Lend-Lease trucking equipment on the Burma Road, immediately sent Tony to China as a transportation adviser to the Chinese government.

Tony was well on his way when the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor; he cleared Manila 12 hours before the city fell. He was a transportation engineer on the Burma Road when the Japs invaded Burma in the spring of 1942, and he was working with the Chinese troops dynamiting bridges and fighting off guerilla attacks throughout the long campaign which finally left the road a useless ribbon of bomb craters and rubble as far north as Lashio on the Chinese border. After that he still worked to keep the road clear and traffic moving between Lashio and Kunming and on up to Chungking, and for many months before he returned to the States with Gingiss and me in the summer of 1943 he was in charge of a construction gang on the new Ledo Road — more commonly called the "Road to Tokyo."

Tony wasn't the only trinket trader among the American lads in China and India, but he was by far the most famous of them. Most of the trading among our officers and engineers and ground crews and pilots was done haphazardly. A fellow newly arrived would have an extra cigaret lighter in his baggage, and he would soon find a purchaser willing to pay 10 times its original cost because cigaret lighters are unobtainable. Another would have some fancy lipstick, or a bottle of perfume, or a pair of nylon stockings. Such stuff would be brought along for very obvious reasons, but when the boys discovered there was a good cash market for it, they would try to sell their little prizes.

At that point, Tony would usually be on hand. And because his job took him all around the country—from Chungking in the north all the way to Calcutta in the south—he could usually find a market for anything he picked up. He would take along a bag full of female trinkets when he went to Calcutta and sell them—as he did the Chanel Number 5—to some anxious swain in the city of high-priced romance. Then he would shop around among the native stores and shops, picking up some liquor or tobacco or knives to take back with him.

He was a gambler of great ability and infinite nerve. He got into a 10-day poker game at Kunming on one occasion with a bunch of Flying Tigers and was over $5000 in the hole when his luck changed on the last day. He lost 16 pounds during that session, but when the game was over and the chips were counted Tony was $12,000 ahead.

Illegal Entries Into Texas Not Decreased

DALHAS, July 25. (AP)—Charles Kirk, assistant chief patrol inspector at Laredo, said here today that illegal entry of common labor from Mexico along the Texas border has not been decreased by the shortage of labor in Mexico.

Here to interview applicants for immigration positions along the border, Kirk said illegal traffic from across the Rio Grande still was heavy.

JOYRIDING TO STOP

PARIS, July 25 (AP)—More than 300 jeeps and United States Army staff cars have been impounded in a two-day anti-joyriding campaign staged by Paris and military police. At least three generals' cars were whistled over to the curb to the cheers of onlooking G-I's and civilians.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

BRANDEIS

WHEN I took Duece for his walk this morning (he chases cars so we can't let him run around loose, and I am the official dog walker), I passed the little gas station down the road, which is run by old man Williams.

It was a hot and humid morning and I was pretty well in. But there was old man Williams, out in the heat, sweeping the driveway in front of his station and looking as fresh as a daisy.

Mr. Williams is 86, more than six feet tall and as erect as an old maple tree.

In winter he is the first one out with the snow shovel, and in summer he takes care not only of his station but of his garden and his little store where he sells ice cream and peanuts and lollypops to the kids, and cigarets when he has them.

I go into that little store quite often and talk to Mr. Williams as he sits in his old rocker with Pitter Patter, a nondescript and very old dog at his feet.

Mr. Williams doesn't mind old age.

He doesn't even think of it. He is too busy.

Getting old is just a natural thing to him—just like winter and summer and spring and fall are natural.

Mr. Williams has enough money to retire. His children and grandchildren want him to go to Florida and take it easy.

Taking it easy is like dying while you are still alive, he says.

Taking it easy is drying up.

He doesn't want eternal sunshine. He likes his winters and the springs that some after them.

Hardships, says Mr. Williams, are part of life. It isn't good for people to have nothing but ease.

How could you enjoy spring if it weren't for winter?

* * *

MR. WILLIAMS thinks that it's nice to get old. But you've got to keep busy, he says.

No, he wouldn't want to be young again.

You'd only make the same mistakes over again.

The only reason old people seem to be wiser and more dignified, he thinks, is because they can't be as foolish as the young ones.

Rheumatism and rhumba don't mix.

And, thinks Mr. Williams, there is just as much pleasure in looking back as in looking ahead.

Young folks never have time for anything. Old people have lots of time.

And it takes times to enjoy life.

I don't know yet whether Mr. Williams is right. And I am in no great hurry to find out.

But I'm going to remember what he said.

And you may want to keep this to read over again when the time comes.

Air Power May Defeat Japs Soon

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

AN AAF chart giving a chronological comparison of American bombing effectiveness against Germany and Japan leads our military experts to believe that Hirohito will be forced to toss in the sponge of defeat before next Christmas. The document contains information on the results of our aerial warfare that was never vouchsafed to the general public.

Official and unofficial pessimists have forecast a two-or three-year conflict in the Pacific on the basis of Nazi resistance to our bombardment of their factories, railroads, bridges, homes and shipyards. They point out that the Reich continued to put up a stiff battle for more than two years after Allied planes began to stage their blitz from the skies.

TUCKER

These Cassandras seem to have a strong case. They ground their argument on the belief that Anglo-American airmen began to destroy the enemy's war-making will and facilities as early as the Spring of 1942. The official communiques appear to warrant that contention.

With that kind of reasoning they insist that Japan can withstand our aerial bombardments for a like period, and still have the strength to oppose invasion of her mainland or Manchuria for many months thereafter.

BEATEN: The American and British high commands are responsible for these erroneous impressions, as they now admit privately. The truth is that the glowing reports of aerial devastation of the Reich in those early days were highly fictitious.

The communiques were doctored in order to maintain United Nations morale and to affect neutrals at a time when Allied forces were reeling backward in Europe, Egypt and Asia. Those early raids that were so highly publicized were only paper victories, for enemy damage was slight and our losses of men and machines were two and three times heavier than the official tabulations recorded.

When our Eighth Air Force lost 60 bombers over the Schweinfurt ball-bearing plant in mid-October of 1943, the domestic reaction was so adverse that Gen. Hap Arnold held a special press conference to allay criticism. He admitted the losses, but declared that they were justified by the results. The fact now known is that we lost more than 100 of our big ships, not 60.

The inside story is that the British and Americans were not ready to deliver a real rain of bombs upon strategic and tactical targets until February of 1944. All before that date was just the prelude.

During the next six months our planes smashed the Luftwaffe, broke up von Rundstedt's rear lines of supply and pulverized munitions plants far into the Reich. Within a few months the German General Staff was begging Hitler to surrender, and plots were instigated against Der Fuehrer's life.

Thus it appears that the Nazis were able to withstand the full concentration of Allied aerial power for only 15 months—from February of 1944 until the first week of May of 1945. As a matter of fact, the Germans were a beaten people in January of this year, but Hitler refused to admit it.

DEADLY: Allied air power can now hurl against Japan the same weight of bombs and fire that it dropped from the skies over central Europe in February of 1944. Indeed, for various reasons we will soon be in a position to triple the tonnage of destruction.

The planes prepared for the final aerial assault against the Nips are far more deadly than those the Luftwaffe met. It is not generally known, but such erstwhile fine fighting ships as the Marauders (B-26) and the Mitchells (B-25) are regarded as obsolete for the Far Eastern theater. These two-engine bombers scourged Germany and Italy, but they are so outmoded that we are turning the surplus over to the French for patrolling the Reich and building up an air force.

Despite the brilliant performance of the B-29 Superforts, the first batch shipped to our Pacific fliers were still full of "bugs," as the many forced descents on Iwo Jima demonstrate. But they have been perfected, and thousands will soon be on their way to Okinawa and other bases. Liberators (B-24) and the Fortresses (B-17) will still be used, but even these once formidable machines are a bit old-fashioned now.

LIQUIDATED: The Mustang (P-51) has only recently made its appearance over Japan. This is the plane which, in response to the desperate pleas of the British, we revised in an attempt to whip the marvelous Focke-Wulfes and Messerschmitts. It drove those fighters from the skies in no time flat.

It packs eight .50-caliber guns, rocket cannons and carry a 1000-pound bomb. It is highly effective against ground installations or troops. It also furnishes protection for the carriers and warships now hovering a few miles off the enemy's coasts in the worst insult ever offered to a major power. The A-26 provides another weapon which Hirohito cannot match.

Now that we have settled upon the five types of ships ideally equipped for destroying the Japs, they can be produced in great volume. Current raids of from 500 to 2000 planes can be stepped up until 5,000 bombers and fighters swarm over Honshu and Hokkaido every hour of the day.

Thus, if it took only 15 months to knock out Germany, there is every reason to believe that Japan can be liquidated in a third of that time.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

FOOD shortages are causing unexpected dislocations which may have serious and perhaps permanent effects on agriculture, the grocery business and the American dinner table.

The new Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson, wants to import from foreign countries, especially Latin America, to make up for domestic scarcities. This policy may relieve us to some extent, but New York food trade executives warn that the over-all result may be detrimental to certain industries here.

LEMAN

For instance, the WFA has allotted shipping space for the importation of Turkish figs. California growers are not particularly bothered by such competition providing the fruit is carefully inspected and meets United States government standards.

But instead of sending Mediterranean figs, olives, nuts, dates and raisins here, if those in authority distributed these fruits in Europe where famine conditions prevail, they would alleviate hunger, save vessels and not raise needless competition for local concerns.

The more intelligence that Washington shows in overseas relief measures, the quicker the needy will be helped and the less will be the drain on our agricultural and shipping resources.

FARMERS: The Australian drought and Argentine political troubles have indirectly aided the American farmer. Even more effective is the dearth of shipping.

This curtails the long haul to Europe from Australia and Argentina in favor of the short haul from the Eastern seaboard. The arrangement may seem so advantageous to customers on the continent that they will keep it after the war.

The blockaded Swedes tried out and found satisfactory a yeast made from the waste waters of paper pulp factories. A New York food specialist who studied the development asserts that a ton of this seed yeast in a pool can grow overnight to 100 tons of food yeast as rich in protein as beef stock at a cost on a dry basis of five cents a pound instead of $1 a pound for meat proteins.

No one today, perhaps, can visualize anyone indifferent enough to pass up a juicy steak if it were offered to him. But beef experts say that a widespread acceptance of this yeast in Europe could jolt American cattle raisers.

Fight On Over Control Of German Industry

Washington Philosophies Clash

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There's a philosophy prevalent in Washington about the use of certain types of businessmen in government service which should be pointed out because it disturbs some people, both in and out of government.

It is not a new attitude. But it is more important now because of the peculiar nature of problems facing government, at home and abroad.

STOKES

Currently, for instance, there is criticism about the appointment to key positions in agencies concerned with the control of German industry, both here and abroad, of men connected with big corporations that formerly had contracts with German industries, or had large investments in Germany. Therefore they would be interested in a revival of German industry.

The control of German industry is vital because it is the potential that started and carried on two world wars.

Reasons Are Cited

The inquirer gets a series of reasons for this appointment policy. It is said, for instance, that these particular businessmen and industrialists have been selected because of their familiarity with the problems in the industries with which they will deal in Germany.

It is said, also, that giving those men such jobs will make them lean over backwards. It will "put them on the spot" and they will become champions of the control philosophy and will help in its acceptance and enforcement.

A third reason advanced, which has to do with practical government as it exists, is that Congress is more impressed with policies that have the backing of businessmen and industrialists than it is with policies evolved by men in government bureaus dealing with economics and finance.

VIGOROUS exception to this attitude has been taken publicly by Rep. Jerry Voorhis (D., Calif.), recognized as one of the most conscientious of public officials, who revealed the presence in key places on the so-called group control council operating in Germany of men connected with corporations that had investments in Germany.

Mr. Voorhis argues that while he does not question the motives of these men, it will be hard for them not to consider the vested interests of their own corporations, since this is a human reaction. Further, he points out that this country has available thousands of able men connected with corporations which never had any German tieups and are informed of the problems involved.

Why, therefore, out of all businessmen were those selected who did have special interests?

There is also, among those who know Washington, a feeling that government business should be conducted by disinterested government officials long trained in problems of government. The government is full of such men, not always known to the public, who are able and have a devotion to the public interest. They have standing, too, with Congress. Some are being used in special jobs. More could be used.

Philosophy Questioned

The present emphasis on businessmen in government is a natural development from the war need. Top business and industrial leaders were drafted to come here and help with the war. This was a compromise which the late President Roosevelt decided was necessary. This sacrifice naturally has thrown a glamor about them.

They have done a good job. But, after all, they represent a certain philosophy, and it is a question how long and in what quarters they should be utilized for problems not directly connected with the actual war program and in which there is a vital public interest that requires completely disinterested service.

BUSINESSMEN have been selected for important ports other than in agencies dealing with control of Germany, and the same defense is used. Some have past connections that would seem to raise the same questions propounded by Mr. Voorhis as to disinterestedness.

Mr. Voorhis' standards are impressive to anyone who has watched government for a long time and hark back to the times when there was more than a single voice raised in Congress, back to the days of George W. Norris of Nebraska and Tom Walsh of Montana and others.

Have we lowered our standards?

'The Stomach' Just Piker To This Chap

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif., July 25 (U.P.)—Buddies of Marine Pvt. Earl R. Wolfe, 18, Ellettsville, Ind., who shelled out hard cash in a rash attempt to see how much Wolfe could eat, today claimed for him the title of armed forces' chow champion.

Army Pfc. Chester J. Salvator of Southbridge, Mass., who Army doctors described as an exhibitionist when he downed an inordinate amount of food, is just a piker, the Marines said.

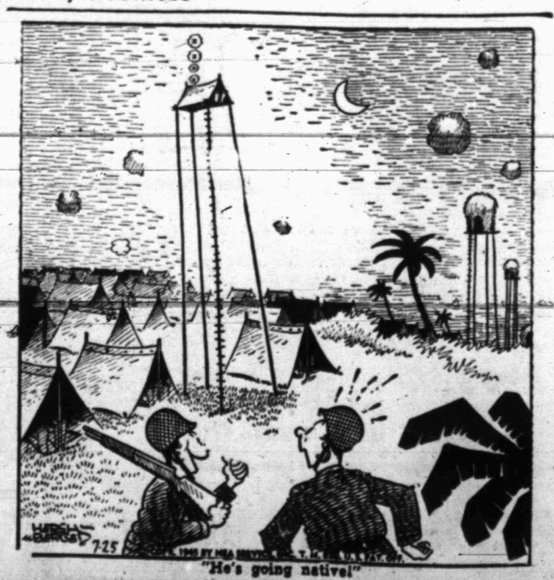

Wolfe, "really hungry," devoured at one sitting:

Twelve fish dinners, each with an order of french fries, combination salad and jello, four quarts of milk, six pints of ice cream, three malts, five cherry pies, six sandwiches, five tomato salads and four glasses of orange juice.

Oh yes, the check: $28.45.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

PRICES RALLY BROADLY

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Steels, rails, motors and assorted "blue chips" led the stock market on a general recovery shift today with gains of a point or so well distributed and a few wider jumps in evidence.

The comeback was attributed partly to the idea reconversion selling on thoughts of a short Japanese war had been overdone. Earnings, dividends, refundings and split-up talk inspired reintatement of commitments here and there.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .7 of a point at 64.9, due largely to the fact that Allied Chemical, which is in this composite, climbed four full points on sales of 600 shares.

Johns-Manville was ahead 3⅝ and American Can 2¼. Gainers of a point or more included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Lockheed, American Telephone, Du Pont, Santa F, and Northern Pacific. Pacific Tin touched a 1945 peak by ¼ of a point, further reflecting rising hopes for the company's Far Eastern properties.

Secondary railway bonds pushed to the fore.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Cotton future turned active and easy in late trading today on a flurry of mill buying against textile losses which met only scale-up hedging and liquidation. Final prices were 20 cents a bale higher in all active positions.

A rather unfavorable weekly weather report and prediction of a sharp increase in cotton exports next season were steadying influences.

Easiness in spot prices at the primary markets tended to discourage aggressive demand for futures.

The weekly weather report again stressed the fact that conditions are generally favorable for weevil activity throughout most of the cotton belt.

Strategic Pattern Of Offensive In China Is Based On Attrition

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The strategic pattern of the major offensive in China forecast for weeks from Chungking, and to press which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek turned over his premiership to T. V. Soong, is becoming clearer every day.

SIMPSON

It is based on attrition, with inexhaustible Chinese manpower whittling down Japanese strength without risking a decisive engagement until the foe is sufficiently weakened to make the outcome certain.

Chinese pressure from the west is steadily narrowing the Japanese corridor linking the Yangtse and the north with Canton and Hong Kong in the south. It already has snapped the corridor stem branching southwestward to Indo-China. A 50-mile wide strip of the Tonkin gulf coast at the Indo-China border section is now in Chinese hands to complete the rift in enemy north-south communications.

Determined Resistance

The most determined enemy resistance to the Chinese squeeze continues to be on the western face of the Hankow-Changsha sector of the corridor, however, little progress has been made by the Chinese forces there recently although severance of that communications link south of Lake Tungting would isolate all Japanese forces in southeastern China as well as those in Indo-China, south Burma, Thailand and Malaya except for ineffective air contacts.

Within the last few days the pattern of American 14th Air force bombing operations in support of Chinese troops has begun to widen, indicating a developing coordinated Sino-American strategic design. Fourteenth Air force planes have been ranging almost the whole length of the Peiping-Hankow railroad and its southern road and rail extensions from Honan province to the region of the 14th's former base at Kweilin on which the Chinese are slowly closing a triple-jawed vise.

McConnell Hopes For Speedy Lifting Of Texas U. Probation

DENTON, July 25 (AP)—Dr. W. J. McConnell, president of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, hopes his association's order placing the University of Texas on probation can be lifted soon.

The North Texas State college president, commenting today on the order, said the University of Texas, by virtue of its membership in the association, shares as do all other members a measure of responsibility for its standards.

"The action of the association in placing the university on probation was taken by its friends," he said. "In placing it on probation, the association endeavored to render it a service rather than an injustice."

Speedy Restoration Hoped

He explained that the executive council of the commission on institutions of higher education of the association "not only hopes earnestly for a speedy restoration of the University of Texas to its former status, but it stands ready, through its chairman, Rufus C. Harris, president of Tulane university, and its executive secretary, Mike C. Huntley, dean of the University of Alabama, to aid in effecting such restoration."

McConnell pointed out that there is no barrier known to him which a serious, cooperative effort on the part of the administration and the government board of the university cannot surmount.

"In the meantime," he said, "the credits of the students of the university are secure."

Charges Filed In Shooting Of Deputy

ALBANY, Tex., July 25. (AP) — Charged with robbery with firearms and kidnaping, Frank Burt, an ex-convict, was held in jail here today while Deputy Sheriff E. W. Morris, whom he is accused of shooting, lies dangerously wounded in a Graham hospital.

District Attorney Thomas E. Hayden of Abilene, who came here to investigate the affair, said charges of assault with intent to murder also would be filed at Graham, which is in the county where the shooting occurred.

Morris was kidnapped when he went to an Albany cafe to arrest a man who had been in the place carrying a pistol and a quart of whiskey and who had gone outside and laid down on the ground when told by the proprietor to leave.

Morris put the man in his car and started for the jail but said he was threatened with a gun and forced to drive to Eliasville. Near there, Morris leaped from the car and ran but was shot in the leg and side. The man couldn't start the car and abandoned it.

Sheriff Charles H. Arendt of Albany arrested Burt yesterday. Hayden said Burt had been in prison several times.

Dozen Objectors To Combat Taking Tests On Fatigue

PASADENA, Calif., July 25 (U.P.) —Twelve yawning conscientious objectors today were in the third day of a combat fatigue experiment at California Institute of Technology, trying to keep awake for 112 straight hours.

The dozen anonymous "guinea pigs" — all volunteers — are fed four times a day and are kept constantly on the move—hiking, participating in athletics and working on the campus. At night they stroll Pasadena streets as a group.

They awakened at 5:45 a. m. Monday and will try to stay awake until 10 p. m. Friday, with their actions recorded by medical supervisors during the four and a half day period.

Results of the experiment will be used by the armed forces in research on the effects of sustained activity on fighting men.

In similar tests conducted by Caltech at conscientious objector camps, some men were marched constantly for 48 hours and those still on their feet put to work to learn how much fatigue they could stand.

Older Navy Officers May Ask Discharges

WASHINGTON, July 25. (AP) — Older Navy officers and men now may apply for discharge—if they have the points.

The Navy's previously announced point system was placed in operation yesterday, but some releases may be months coming through. The plan provides one credit for each year of age at the nearest birthday plus another for each four months of active duty since Sept. 1, 1939.

Requirements are 53 points for reserve line officers, enlisted reservists, inductees and enlisted regulars serving under expired enlistments; 55 points for reserve officers of the supply corps and 57 for reserve officers of the civil engineers corps.

Correlation Of Policy Sought

WASHINGTON, July 25 (U.P.)— Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' reorganization of the State department is expected to be accompanied by broad steps for correlating future plans for national defense with American foreign policy.

Byrnes was represented today by authoritative sources as feeling that defense plans and foreign policy have not been correlated in the past, and are not well coordinated even now. He wants diplomats, generals and admirals to pull in the same direction in the future.

Growing Concern

There has been growing concern here that the Army is "formulating" foreign policy in Europe and that the Navy is doing likewise in the Pacific, while the State department sits on the sidelines and carries out that policy. Byrnes' aim will be to recover for the department the major voice in formulation of foreign policy.

Byrnes is one of the oldest and strongest advocates of drastic reorganization of the executive and congressional branches of the government. He has served in both, as well as in the Supreme court, and knows well how much of the government still operates in a horse-and-buggy atmosphere.

Details of Byrnes' plans for the State department are not known.

But they are closely interwoven with his ideas on how the armed services should be reorganized.

Navy Starts Daily Paper On Okinawa

GUAM, July 25 (U.P.)—The first edition of the "Navy News," a daily newspaper for service personnel, was published at advance headquarters of the U. S. Pacific fleet today with the prediction from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz that future editions would bring "a lot of good news."

The United Press transpacific news report was featured in the four page, tabloid-size edition, which is a fulfillment of Navy Secretary James Forrestal's directive that adequate daily newspaper service be provided in the far Pacific.

The first Guam edition ran about 8,500 copies. Other Navy dailies will be published later in the Philippines and on Okinawa.

New Record Set In Moving Of Troops

CHICAGO, July 25 (U.P.)—Col. I. Sewell Morris, chairman of the western railroad urgency committee, said today that 54,814 soldiers, the largest number ever carried by rail in this country on a single day, were transported on July 11.

This figure broke the previous record, set on July 6, when 54,554 soldiers were railroad passengers, Morris said.

He said nearly 1,000,000 soldiers will have traveled by rail during this month. This would be a 15 per cent increase over June, when 840,000 men were moved, he added.

The official predicted that the transportation burden would increase in August and in each succeeding month until redeployment has been completed.
