Boy Shot In Foot In Group Scuffle

An Olton youth was shot in the foot early Sunday morning when he became involved in a fight with a group of Latin youths.

Police Chief Emmett Burrows said two groups of youths, one white and one Latin, were riding around in different cars when apparently an argument occurred, and the fight ensued.

Burrows said no charges had been filed in the shooting, since the person who fired the shot was not identified.

The officer said the injured youth was not wounded seriously.

Teen Girls Get Warning

"If a stranger wants directions, tell him to go to a filling station."

That was the warning issued to teenage girls this week by Police Chief Emmett Burrows. The warning came after a 15-year-old Latin girl and two companions reported a case of indecent exposure early last week.

Burrows said the girl told him a white man, about 40-years old, grey-haired and bald-headed, called the girls over to ask directions when the incident occurred.

The report came after Burrows said he had heard "indirectly" of other complaints of the same type. A similar incident was also reported this summer by two girls chopping cotton on a farm near Olton. Burrows said the girl told him the man was driving a "little, light blue car," but he said no license number was taken.

Burrows gave another warning, "Don't talk to strangers," adding, "that's the kind of person who might kill someone."

Priest Is Unanimous Pick In All-District Selections

Joe Priest nailed down first team spots on both the offensive and defensive units of the District-AA dream team to pace Olton selections for the two squads.

Coaches met last week to name the top players.

Three other Olton players made the second teams. They were Burney Hooper, picked for an end spot; Don Mitchell, named to a tackle position, and Curtis Hall, placed at guard.

All three were named to the offensive unit. Abernathy led the all district selections by placing eight players on the first teams and three on the second two.

Lockney and Friona both had 10 members, with Lockney putting five on the first two teams and five on the second, while Friona had seven on the first two, and three on the runner-up squads.

Dimmitt picked up one position on the first team and five on the second units to finish just ahead of the Mustangs.

The choice of Priest was the second year in a row for all-district honors for the senior quarterback.

Last year, he was a unanimous choice for the defensive secondary unit for the all-district squad.

Mitchell was also picked for

Roberson Heads New Gun Club

Richard Roberson was named president of the newly organized Olton Gun Club at a Monday night meeting at the Legion Hut.

George Brown Jr. was named vice-president of the group, and Elmer Houston was elected as secretary-treasurer.

Purpose of the organization, according to Houston, is to set up a regular trap shooting site for use by the club, and to provide a place to invite other clubs for matches.

Main objectives of the group now are to select a site for the trap and recruit more members.

Members of the club include residents of Hart, Spade and Earth, and the group hopes to recruit more members from Springlake and Edmonson.

Dues of the organization are $15 per year, and entitle the member and members of his family to use the trap shooting site to be set up.

The next meeting of the club is set for Dec. 13, 7:30 p.m., at the Legion Hut.

Council Votes To Buy Truck

In a short called meeting Tuesday night, City Council members approved funds to buy a new truck for the city maintenance department for use in picking up garbage.

Approval of funds for the truck by the council was unanimous, with costs not to exceed $1,350.

the second year in a row. Last year the senior tackle was a unanimous choice as first unit defensive tackle, and a second team pick on the offensive team.

Hall also received honorable mention for his defensive efforts, along with Jimmy Schreier.

Dale DeBerry received honorable mention for his offensive efforts.

Area Cotton Harvest Gaining Momentum

10,000 Bales Across Scales

Area spirits took a turn upward as thermometers headed in the opposite direction the first of the week.

Mother Nature finally started her annual defoliation as temperatures followed last week's freeze by obligingly dropping during the first part of the week.

But light rain Tuesday night and Wednesday brought the cotton harvest to a sudden halt before it had a chance to get completely started.

Before the rain, the prediction by most ginners and farmers was that the harvest would reach full stride by the first few days of next week.

One ginner said before the precipitation that, "Cotton is coming in pretty good now, and the harvest should be in full swing by the end of this week or the start of next week."

Another concurred, picking Sunday as the day for the harvesting "to really start."

Just how long the wet weather would continue was still in debate by weathermen, but some were predicting scattered showers through the weekend.

A check of area gins just before the rains began revealed that 10,945 bales had been weighed in so far this year.

That figure more than doubles last week's total, but is still far short of the 25,000 mark at this same time last year, when a record-breaking harvest was recorded.

Bill Smith, who farms the Len Irvin place southwest of town, managed to outwit the weather by getting his cotton harvested before the light rain came.

Irvin said many of the farmers in the area southwest of town had also finished pulling operations.

But elsewhere, farmers were either just beginning stripping operations, or were still waiting for cotton to dry out after the freeze and rain.

One ginner said, "The harvest is still kind of slow, it's better than it was, but it's still not like it should be at this time of year."

Harvesting machines weren't in the fields yet on the Wilson Williams farm, but Williams still held an optimistic note while discussing the crop.

Although no cotton had yet been pulled, Williams said he thought the crop, "will be better than last year."

Progress on the Walter Lewis farm southeast of town apparently was about the representative of most of the farmers in the area.

Lewis said harvesting had just started, and that they were hoping for the weather to remain cool and dry.

"We just started harvesting, and cotton looks real good."

Olton-Splits Pair With Sudan As Basketball Takes Spotlight

Sudan's cagers split a pair of varsity contests with Olton Tuesday, while Olton's boys' B-squad downed the Sudan reserves.

Sherry Caddel continued to pace Olton's Fillie basketball team as she led the squad to their third straight win with a 45-31 victory.

Lannie McClain poured 18 points through the basketball hoop Tuesday night, but it was all in vain as the Mustangs picked up their first loss from Sudan, 47-42.

The loss came after the cagers picked up a 54-45 win over Ralls last week in the opening game of the season for the group.

In a contest preceding the varsity girls' contest, the Olton B-squad downed Sudan's B-team, 22-11.

The Fillies opened up an 11-4 lead in the first quarter, moved it to 18-12 at half, then collected 20 points in the third quarter while limiting the Sudan fens to but seven points.

Miss Caddel hit for 21 points, while Susan Norfleet collected 18 and Karen Hipp had 16.

Kathy Kidd was the defensive standout for the girls, collecting four rebounds. Francine Struve had two, and Laura Akin and Renay Berry each had one.

The girls picked up their second win of the season last Tuesday in a rematch with the Ralls team.

Miss Caddel had eight field goals and the same number of free throws for 28 points, followed by Miss Norfleet and Miss Hipp, both with 10.

The B-team and Freshman girls preceded Tuesday night's win with a victory of their own over Hale Center Monday night.

The two squads joined forces to down the Hale Center B-team, 54-41.

Kathleen Carson was the high scorer for the two teams with 18 points. She was followed by the Olton squad by Kay Schultz with 13.

Next game for the varsity squad is against Quitaque today at 11 a.m. in the opening round of the Kress Tournament.

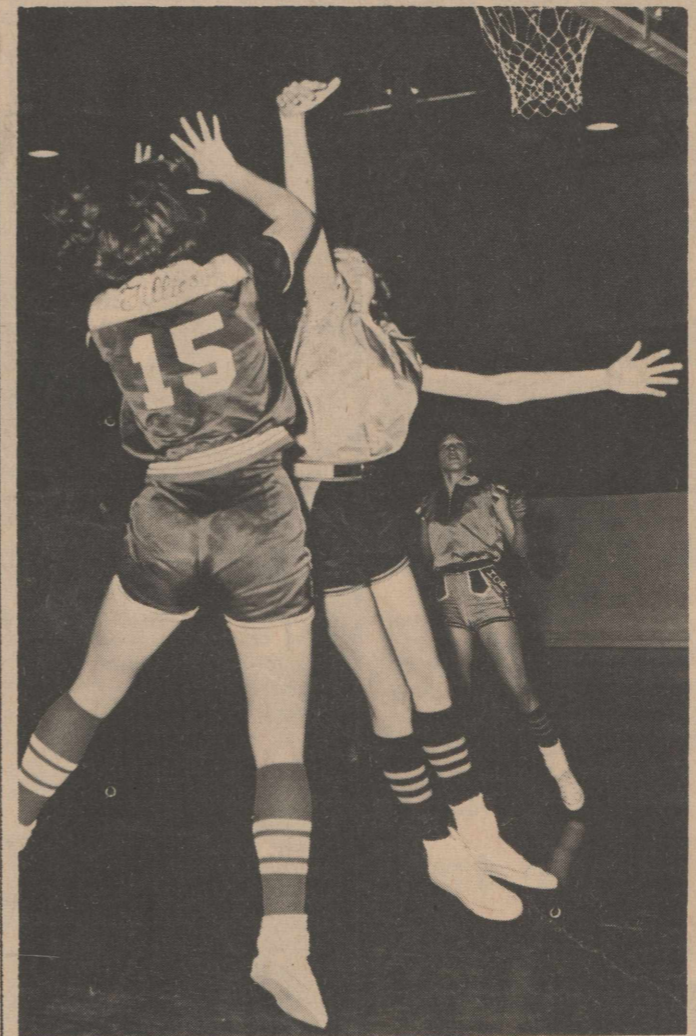

The B-team and freshman squad both play in Abernathy on the same day beginning at 6 p.m.

Varsity play resumes in Olton Dec. 6 when the fens take on the Kress girls.

Joe Priest was the second high scorer for the Olton boys, collecting eight points. Both Roger Thompson and Jim Smith connected for six points each, while Charles A. McClain had four.

Next contest for the varsity squad will be against Quitaque at 12:30 p.m. Thursday in the opening round of the Kress Tournament.

Dec. 5 the freshman host the Plainview frosh, and both varsity and B-team take on Kress here Dec. 6.

TWO POINTS FOR GIRLS--Karen Hipp sends the ball on its way towards two more points despite the efforts of a Sudan defender. Action came in the second half of the game, which the Fillies won, 45-31.

TWO POINTS FOR BOYS--Joe Priest drives in for a two-point layup shot earlier in the first half of action between the Mustangs and Sudan. Olton came out on the short end of a 47-42 score in the contest.

Can't Stand Kids Who Cheat!

(From the Chicago Sun-Times)

When Johnny was six years old, he was with his father when they were caught speeding. His father handed the officer a five dollar bill with his driver's license. "It's O.K. Son", his father said as he drove off. "Everybody does it."

When he was eight, he was permitted to a family council, presided over by Uncle George, on the surest means to shave points off the income tax return. "It's O.K., Kid," his uncle said. "Everybody does it."

When he was nine, his mother took him to his first theater production. The box office man couldn't find any seats until his mother discovered an extra two dollars in her purse. "It's O.K., Son," she said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 12, he broke his glasses on the way to school. His Aunt Francine persuaded the insurance company that they had been stolen and they collected $27. "It's O.K., Kid," she said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 15, he made right guard on the high school football team. His coach showed him how to block and at the same time grab the opposing end by the shirt so the official couldn't see it. "It's O.K., Kid," the coach said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 16, he took his first summer job at the big market. His assignment was to put the over-ripe tomatoes in the bottom of the boxes and the good ones on top where they would show. "It's O.K., Kid," the manager said. "Everybody does it."

When he was 18, Johnny and a neighbor applied for a college scholarship. Johnny was a marginal student. His neighbor was in the upper 3 percent of his class but he couldn't play right guard. Johnny got the scholarship. "It's O.K.," they told him. "Everybody does it."

When he was 19, he was approached by an upper classman who offered the test answers for three dollars. "It's O.K., Kid," he said. "Everybody does it."

Johnny was caught and sent home in disgrace. "How could you do this to your mother and me?" his father said. "You never learned anything like this at home." His aunt and uncle were also shocked.

If there's one thing the adult world can't stand, it's a kid who cheats.

Ask Amy
BY AMY ADAMS

DO THE MANLY THING, SON

Dear Amy:
I am a teenage boy with a problem. I hope you can set me straight but I think I probably need psychiatric counseling. I am considerably overweight and have tried diets and the whole bit but I still remain the same. I have finally realized why I stay so heavy. I feel that remaining a 'freak' I will not be drafted by the Army. Right or wrong, this is the best analysis I can give for my problem. I can't talk to my parents because they would be ashamed. My attitude needs some working on, but I'm not sure how to go about it. I can't afford a Psychiatrist's fee . . . and patriotic or unpatriotic. I can see that there is a fear which lies behind all this which I don't know how to erase.

I think is best . . . and whatever I want to do. He works nights but refuses to allow me to work nights and to come home at late hours while he's not home. Since we are only renting an apartment, I realize by working I could help save for a home some day. My husband brings home a good check each week to pay our bills and live on, but it only leaves a small portion to put away in the bank each week. But by my working, it would leave much less time for us to be together and perhaps make it considerably longer before we have children. I want to be a good wife very much and have our marriage last for a lifetime, but I'm not sure if my old-fashioned way of thinking is really best. Is it?

Dear Freddy:
Your attitude does need working on. I urge you to talk to your parents. They won't be ashamed, so don't be . . . and if you need help, physical or mental, they will see that you get it. Few young men who face the draft are heroes, but one must come to the realization that a job must be done and be man enough if called upon to do it.

Dear Mrs. W.J.D.:
Though there are pros and cons on the subject of 'working wives,' your thoughts are not old-fashioned, if they are practical. While it is true that you could amass more money if you took a position until your first child came along, if it would be detrimental to the good and welfare of your marriage, I wouldn't advise it. The only opinion on this matter that is important is your's and your husband's. Come to a conclusion . . . and be happy with it!

Dear Amy:
I'm 24 and my husband is 26. We have been married 15 months now, but although we want children very badly, we've had none yet.

Right after we were married. I quit my job and did what I had always thought most good wives should do: stayed home, took care of the house, made it a real home and gave all my attention and love to my husband so that I would never have to be afraid that he would look for it somewhere else . . . like some other men. However, all my married girlfriends and my mother-in-law kept asking me why I don't go back to work. I've had the remark dropped once or twice by my friends that since they work and bring in an income and help relieve some of the burden off their husbands, they are being appreciated more by their husbands and being better wives. My husband says he loves me and wants me to do whatever

My husband says he loves me and wants me to do whatever

Now his birthday is coming up in a couple of weeks and I'd like to know if it's proper for me to send him a birthday card? If that is not proper, please tell me what to do so he will know that I like him.

FIVE AND TEN YEARS AGO IN OLTON

FIVE YEARS AGO IN OLTON
Olton city councilmen Tuesday night awarded a contract for the city's paving program to Hodges and Tierney Co., a Lubbock paving firm. The Lubbock firm submitted a low dollar bid of $381,677.36 compared to a figure of $394,569.39 submitted by the next low bidder, E. D. Baker of Borger.

TEN YEARS AGO IN OLTON
It's beginning to look like Olton's cotton harvest will reach the 30,000 bale mark which many farmers predicted a couple of weeks ago it would never reach. A Wednesday afternoon survey showed that local signs have weighed in a total of 26,109 bales. Most ginner's estimate that the harvest is about 80-85 percent complete.

All telephone numbers in Olton will change when new dial equipment is put into effect here April 13, 1961, Bob Saunders, district manager, said Wednesday at Littlefield.

The Olton Mustangs, with football season barely behind them, laughed into full-scale basketball practice this week under the direction of Coach Turner.

Olton High School's Mustang Band has received for the first time since 1955, the Texas Interscholastic League's top rating in marching. The 82-member marching band was one of three Class AA aggregations in Region I to be rated "Division I" at contests in Brownfield Tuesday night, Nov. 22.

A box supper will be sponsored by the Olton Fire Department at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 6 in the high school gymnasium. Purpose of the affair is to raise money toward purchase of a second fire truck.

Parallel Terraces Are Good Way To Hold Water

BY PAUL E. LARSON
SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Rainfall records for the past 75 years show most of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District receives an average of 18 inches or less per year. As a farmer, what are you doing to hold the rainfall you receive? Much of the rain falls hard and suddenly, especially in the spring. Unless some provisions are made to hold this water on the land, most of it will run off. This causes erosion of rich topsoil and loss of soil moisture.

Paralleled terraces are the answer to this problem. Point rows are eliminated, erosion is halted and moisture is saved. The uniform distribution of water will lessen the chance of costly failure. Spacing the terraces to fit four-row or six-row equipment means less farming expense and a more efficient operation.

Paralleled terraces are valuable on any cropland that is as dryland or where sprinkler irrigation is used.

Many parallel terraces can be constructed from the lower side. This helps to decrease the slope of the field and eliminates the channel in front of the terrace. This allows the water to spread over a larger area and give better moisture distribution. High and low places between terraces are cut or filled to keep terraces parallel. Cost-share assistance is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program and the ACP. Cost-share assistance through the GPCP is generally 70-percent of the actual cost and ACP is generally 50 percent of the actual cost.

Paralleled terraces have eliminated most of the objections farmers formerly had against terracing. The benefits of eliminating point rows, controlling erosion, conserving moisture, and permitting a cheaper more efficient operation cannot be overlooked.

Take advantage of this opportunity by going by your Littlefield Soil Conservation Service Office. We are interested in your problems and will be happy to help you.

VISIT IN HALE CENTER

Mrs. L. G. Elkins and Mrs. Tom Smith visited with friends at Hale Center last Tuesday.

Legion Zone Meeting Set

Ells P. Schmid, 19th district commander of The American Legion, Department of Texas, has announced a meeting of Zone 4, of the 19th district at 2 p.m., Sunday Dec. 5 at the American Legion Hall in Lockney.

The Olton American Legion Post 263 is in the 4th Zone. There will be representatives from seven posts at this meeting, and all Legionnaires are urged to attend. At the latest report, the 19th district was leading the entire state in percentage of 1966 quota of membership.

Cotton Quotas Are Approved

Olton area farmers overwhelmingly approved the 1966 marketing quotas for cotton, with 88 voting for and 10 against.

The vote went with the county, and the cotton growing areas as a whole in approval of the measure. Fieldton, which includes Hart Camp, approved the measure, 30-8, while Lamb County voted 616-98 for the measure.

Another measure, that of allowing transfer or sale of cotton allotments across county lines within a state, failed to pick up the required two-thirds majority required for approval.

Both Olton and Fieldton had a majority of farmers who voted in favor of the transfer arrangement, although the necessary two-thirds vote wasn't reached in either case.

Olton's vote was 58-39 in favor, while Fieldton was 20-19 in favor.

In Lamb County, 283 voted for the measure, while 426 were against.

For the 23-county High Plains area, the vote was slightly in favor of the transfer arrangement, by a vote of 4926-3980.

4-H Club Adult Leaders Re-Elected For Next Year

The adult organizational leaders for the Olton 4-H Club for the year 1965, who have been unanimously re-elected by the club to serve through 1966, are Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wheeler.

When asked about their work in 4-H, Wheeler said, "I became interested in 4-H in 1958, by helping my hired hand's son with his sheep. The next year he and my daughter fed two calves. I have helped with all the 4-H calves at the Olton stockshows and county shows since that time."

"I served on the county show board of directors in 1963 and 1964. I have been one of the adult leaders of the Olton Club this year and have been re-elected for the coming year."

"I attended Scott Able Electric Camp in 1964, as one of the adult leaders for Lamb County."

"There is something to interest any boy or girl in 4-H work."

Mrs. Wheeler contributed, "I have been an adult leader for the Olton 4-H Club this year, and I am looking forward to another year."

"I have little time for activities outside our home, but this is one I thoroughly enjoy. Each 4-H meeting means more than simply a party with someone bringing the 'goodies.' Every meeting has a definite purpose. Parliamentary procedure is followed. Progress reports are given. There is an educational program each meeting, followed by fun and games."

"Everytime you help a young person discover the joy of achievement, he grows a bit in self confidence."

"To Make The Best Better"

is the 4-H motto. Everything that is being done now, can and will be done better! This challenge calls for initiative. 4-H competition induces the individual to make the best better.

"4-H is an active club; the parents are indispensable for sharing the work and the success of the club. I especially enjoy helping with the outside activities of our club, for example, helping with the 4-H signs that were made two years ago, which were put on the outskirts of Olton, also the 4-H encampment each summer at Palo Duro Canyon, helping at concession stands for the club, and helping with the 4-H float for the homecoming parade this year."

"The stockshow is of special interest to me as quite a few of our members show calves, sheep and pigs. This year we are planning on something new and exciting. We will have special exhibits at the Olton stockshow. Each 4-H member may select one or several projects to show, choosing from clothing, food, electricity, gardening, canning, entomology, etc."

"Children grow up so terribly fast now. They are pressured on all sides. I yearn for the old-fashioned 'square' ideals. I want so much for my children and all children in general. I want them to understand the value and the power of a dollar. I want them to be responsible. I want them to learn to plan, for their time and talents are too precious to be wasted. I want them to be considerate and kind all of their lives to everyone and everything."

"I can think of no other organization that helps children accomplish this so well as 4-H."

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler are also supporters of the county-wide Junior Leadership Club.

In this 4-H family there are three active club members and a future member.

Laura Wheeler's first project in 4-H was raising a calf and it has been her main one through seven years of club work. This year she is raising her sixth calf. She has other projects in clothing, entered county dress revue three years; foods, completed three units; electricity, received a special award at county achievement and attended Scott Able Electric Camp; and junior leadership. In junior leadership, she is a council delegate of the Lamb County Junior Leadership Club, she has served as one of the leaders for a first year cooking class, and she has attended Junior Leadership Camp.

Laura gives as her reasons for joining 4-H, the desire to learn about livestock and to show a calf. This desire has grown into the above projects. She is also second vice-chairman of the county council, secretary of the local electric group, girl promoter of the local club for 1965, which included the keeping of the club scrapbook, and she is secretary-elect of the local club for 1966.

"I have learned a lot from my projects and activities in the club, enjoyed the club programs, and also had fun. Any one who wants to learn should join 4-H, put out a little effort on his projects and he will receive many satisfactions and rewards. Projects in 4-H help one to prepare for his future life," Laura says.

Ted Wheeler has been a member of Olton 4-H Club six years. He has raised and shown nine calves, entering the County Livestock show and the Olton stockshow each year. Other projects he is interested in are electricity, cooking, and junior leadership.

As a result of his efforts, Ted has won several ribbons, a special beef award, a clean pen award at the Olton stockshow, a special award in electricity, and a trip to Scott Able Electric Camp.

Upon the resignation of the vice-president of the Olton Club, Ted was elected to complete the year of 1965 and has been elected vice-president for 1966.

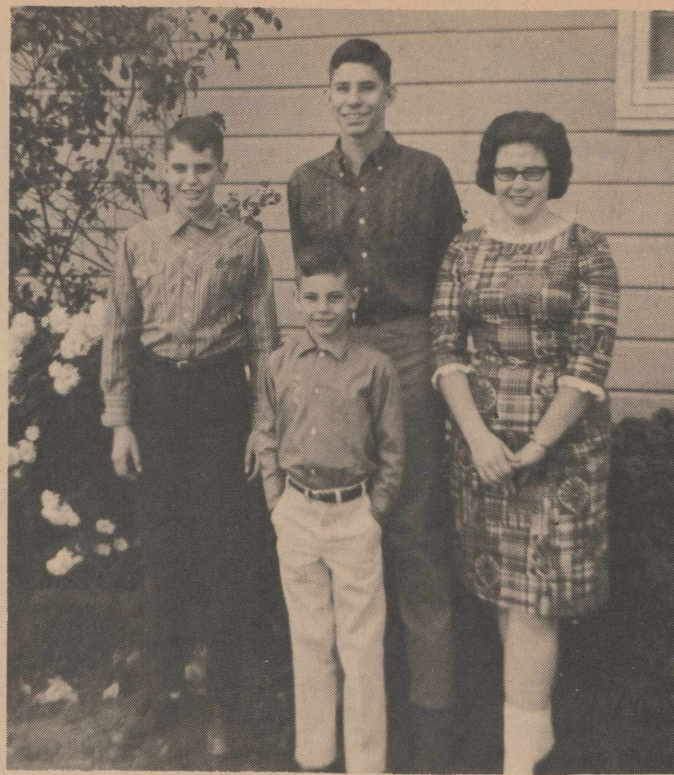

Ted and Laura were hosts at district elimination contests in Lubbock in May, 1965.

Kerry Wheeler joined 4-H because he thought he would enjoy working in a group. He has been in 4-H three years. During this time he has carried as projects, swine, electricity, and foods.

In 1963 he won a Sear's gilt and raised it. He showed it at Littlefield and won first place and then he showed it at Lubbock, winning sixth place. In 1965 Kerry won the Sear's board.

In electricity, he toured Plant X with the Olton 4-H electric group. He received a special award in electricity at the county achievement awards program.

Alan Wheeler enjoys attending all the 4-H meetings although he still lacks a year being old enough to join. He is probably storing up lots of ideas.

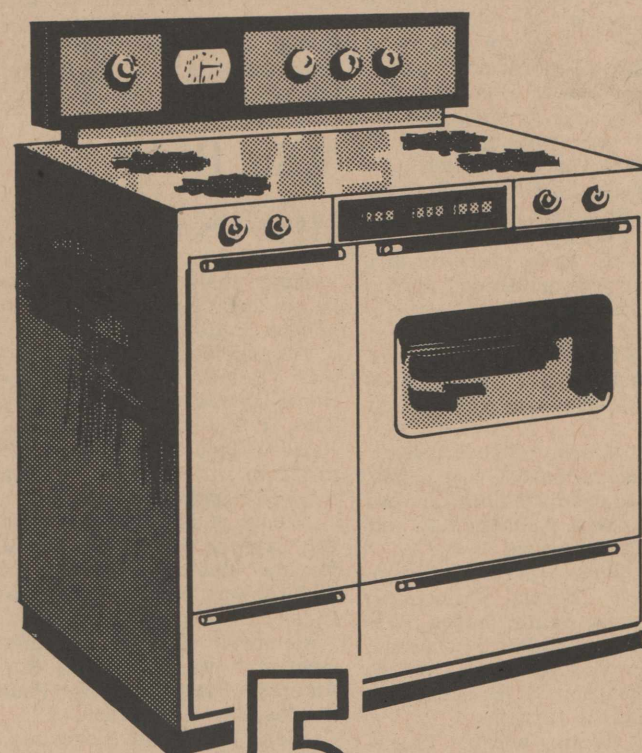

LIKE 4-H -- Kerry, Ted, Laura and Alan Wheeler, shown above, are all active Olton 4-H'ers.

4-H LEADERS shown above are Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wheeler, long active locally in 4-H Club work.

BY SANDEE GREGORY
AND JANE ANN DUNCAN

The noses of the Olton High students went back to the ole grindstone Monday morning. After a Thanksgiving holiday of four and a half days, it was rather hard to get up early and return to the good ole classes.

Visions of turkey and trimmings, and all of the fun over seen in the droopy eyes of the day-dreaming scholars. Most of the students spent Thursday celebrating the first holiday, and the rest were visiting Grandma and other relatives. Everyone was giving "Thanks" for the things with which we are blessed. At the dance Friday night, the Torquays kept everybody there a hoppin' and a twistin' the night away. Saturday was the day set aside, if possible, to recuperate from the past days. The final day, of the holiday, was spent getting almost forgotten homework and making preparations for the following day. Both of us had a great weekend and we hope everyone else did.

Wednesday was a busy day at school while everyone was preparing for the Thanksgiving holidays. Besides regular activities, we had our class meetings to receive our report cards. With the Thanksgiving spirit overcoming the student, we cast the cards aside -- that is, until we got home.

Wednesday afternoon the student body attended the one-act play, "It Could Have Been Worse".

The cast consisted of: Ellen Cramer, Sandee Gregory; Bud Cramer, Jimmy Williams; Mrs. Cramer, Valda Jones; Mr. Cramer, Phil Cox; Just Joy, Brenda Hyatt; and Messenger Boy, Billy Murrell.

The assembly ended with a poem, "Students' Thanksgiving," read by Sharon Busby.

We commend the speech class on a good performance!

WHO'S WHO IN OHS

We commend Bruce Hines, Curtis Hall, Harry Max Thomas, Butchie Hudgens and Dale DeBerry on their achievements in the regional choir contest. Bruce will go to Canyon Jan. 8 to compete for the state choir, Harry Max and Dale go as alternates. "GOOD LUCK!"

Jackie Burkhalter and Judy Miller won the title of Personality Pinups. We say congratulations to two well-deserving seniors! Also to be congratulated are Susan Norfleet and Joe Priest for their honor of being chosen Mr. and Miss OHS.

Two years in succession the Olton Mustang Band, under the direction of Leslie Ross, has brought back a 1 division at the University Interscholastic League marching contest. They are on the road, now, to achieve another sweepstakes.

CONGRATULATIONS BAND! KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK!

Basketball has gotten off with a good start this year. The student body is backing the teams all the way so let's keep the ball bouncing!

Olton basketball players left the gym Tuesday night, Nov. 23, with three victories. The Mustangs edged over Ralls, 50-47. The "B" team girls' score was 59 to 22. GO BIG TEAMS ALL THE WAY!

Daffynishion - School Board.. the principal's paddle.

A practical and exciting addition to our high school campus is the spanking new signboard, all dressed up in our school colors of blue and white.

We are indebted to the Olton Lions Club for this gift that will be enjoyed by the townspeople as well as the student body. Current news and special events will now be posted for everyone's viewing.

Incidentally, a side effect of this bulletin board will be to the advantage of the General Telephone Company -- there won't be so many calls going back and forth concerning the time of band concerts, basketball games, plays, etc.

Johnny Wilson -- When I get married, I know a lot of girls are going to be disappointed. Shirley Johnson -- Just how many are you planning to marry???

Letters To Santa

Dear Santa Clause, I would like to have a Baby First Step doll this Christmas. If you can't bring me this I would love to have a Teeny Weeny Tiny Tears doll. If you can, please bring my brother Patrick a Johnny Express truck. Please don't forget David and Kevin too but I don't know what they want.

Love,
Nancy Britton
5 years old

P.S. If you can't bring us these things, anything will be all right.
Nancy Pat.
