MISSING CAFE MAN IS FOUND DEAD

HEAT WAVE IN EAST, MID-WEST FATAL TO MANY

WEEK-END TOLL IS 32 IN CHICAGO VICINITY AND 21 IN GOTHAM

CHICAGO, July 9.—Arctic and Equatorial heat phenomena and torridity to the midwest over Sunday.

Aurora Borealis streaked the night skies, while the daytime was a suggestion of blistering hours that claimed at least 32 lives and sent sweltering thousands to beaches for relief.

Chicago with its massed millions had 13 deaths directly attributable to heat. Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Kansas also reported fatalities either from drowning or heat prostration.

Out of the west last night there came relief, borne on the backs of thunder clouds which dumped cooling rains over much of the heat afflicted area. Throughout the night the mercury sagged slowly from marks as high as 100 degrees, and the readings were down to 76 in many places this morning.

An official estimate of the number of persons who crowded the Lake Michigan beaches in Chicago was 600,000. Several persons required first aid treatment at the principal north and south beaches, either because of heat prostration or through injury.

The Aurora Borealis, which was pronounced Saturday night, disrupted wire communication and hindered radio reception.

20 Or More Drown In Eastern Area

NEW YORK, July 9.—Eastern states today sweltered in the grip of a heat wave. Twenty one or more drownings occurred among the millions who sought relief Sunday in streams and at crowded bathing beaches. Two persons died from the heat in New York city.

In Washington the thermometer registered 98 and there were fire prostrations. The highest recorded in New York city was 91.

The hot wave struck the east after three days in the midwest, where it caused several deaths.

Ten persons were drowned in the metropolitan district, two deaths.

YOUTH KILLED IN DENVER ROW

THEATER MAN SHOTS BOY IN FUSS OVER HIS WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

DENVER, Colo., July 9.—A. E. (Dick) Dickson, Colorado theater man, was held without charge yesterday after he admitted killing Herbert B. Powell, when he found the 19 year old youth with his wife at the Dickson home.

Dickson told police he had been informed that Powell had visited Mrs. Dickson several times while he was out of town. He said after supping he was leaving town yesterday, and had been accompanied in the station by his wife, he returned to a point near his home where he waited until he saw Powell enter.

On entering the house, Dickson said he found Powell with his wife and that during a fight over a pistol he (Dickson) carried, they were fired. One bullet struck Powell in the shoulder and one pierced the youth's head. Dickson said he had no intention of shooting Powell.

Acquainted Some Time

The youth's mother, Mrs. B. Powell of Carthageville, Mo., said her son had known Mrs. Dickson for several months and that a sister of the boy had asked Dickson to try to "bring the case to a quiet ending." Powell told his sister he met Mrs. Dickson while delivering groceries at her home.

Dickson is vice president of the recently organized Consolidated Theaters, Inc., which controls properties in Utah, South Dakota and Colorado.

GIVEN PROMOTION

Rear Admiral Louis R. De Stiguer, former Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. battle fleet, has been made commander of the New York Navy Yard, succeeding Rear Admiral Charles P. Plumett, retired. De Stiguer received the Distinguished Service Medal in the World War when he commanded the battleship Arkansas.

ONLY FOUR OF PARTY ON SHIP SURVIVED STORM

300 FEARED VICTIMS OF SHIP WRECK ON CHILEAN COAST

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 9.—Of some 300 persons aboard the army transport Angamos only four were alive today to tell how the vessel had pounded to pieces on rocks. The catastrophe occurred at Punta Chumel, near the South Chilean coast town of Lota, Friday night.

The captain, unable to avert disaster, committed suicide on the bridge. Eighty bodies were found on the beach near Coronel but the exact number who perished probably will never be known since after leaving Punta Chumel with 291 persons aboard the vessel made several stops enroute picking up additional passengers.

Battered By Storm

The ship had been loading material for the Chilean navy in the Gulf of Amuro when a storm broke late in the afternoon. The vessel left the bay to ride it out. For several hours she struggled against wind and waves and was badly battered. Heavy seas smashed the rudder. The ship started to drift toward the breakers. Frantic appeals for help were sent out. None came. At 10 p. m. the vessel crashed on the rocks about 200 yards from shore.

Frantic attempts to launch life boats failed.

County Candidates Planning Busy Time

With the date of the first primary only a few days off, candidates for offices in Lubbock county will spend a busy time this week in making speeches over the county in the interest of their campaign. Five communities will hear the group in their co-operative speaking programs.

Tonight, they will be at the Caldwell community. Tomorrow night will find them at Barton while the schedule for the remainder of the week puts them at Idalia on Wednesday night, Liberty on Thursday night and Beeton on Friday night. Judge Clark M. Mullican will make a talk at Idalia on Saturday in the interest of his campaign.

The following week practically winds up their programs, one of which has been made in every community throughout the county. All district and county candidates and some state candidates are appearing in the programs.

COTTON DECLINES ALMOST $5

HEAVY SELLING ORGY FOLLOWS RECEIPT OF JULY 1ST REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—A decline of nearly $5 a bale featured the cotton market today in one of the most active trading sessions witnessed on the New Orleans exchange in some time. The primary influence behind the break was the bullish government report showing an increase in acreage under cultivation July 1st, which meant which was much more than was expected.

The market dropped 85 points immediately after publication of the report but prices recovered 30 points of the loss only to sag again under renewed liquidation. In the last half hour of trading the October delivery was selling around 21.05 and December 21.00 or 90 points under the day's high and 85 to 87 points below the previous close. The undertone continued weak.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Cotton prices broke more than $2.50 per bale today on the New York cotton exchange after the government report, estimating cotton acreage in cultivation showed an increase of 11.4 per cent over last year.

The reported estimated acreage at 60,685,000, far more than had been expected. Heavy liquidation immediately set in with resulting wide fluctuations.

October contracts, which previous to publication of the report had been selling at 22.25 cents a pound, dropped to 21.00 cents.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The acreage of cotton in cultivation on July 1 was estimated today by the department of agriculture at 60,685,000 acres, which is 11.4 per cent more than in cultivation a year ago.

Going to land planting, the department announced, the need for preparing replanting in many sections, and owing to the impossibility of working the crop out at the proper time, the reported stand of cotton is 6 per cent below the stand reported by correspondents on July 1 last year.

All Under Cultivation

The estimates of acreage, like those of previous years, does not refer to the total acreage planted but only to that portion remaining in actual cultivation on July 1. Allowance has been made in the 1928 estimate, the department explained, for about 1,500,000 acres of cotton flooded out in Arkansas during the last week of June and for a small acreage similarly flooded in Missouri.

The increase in acreage this season is most marked in the less important cotton states, in the extensive area flooded last year and in some other areas where the acreage was sharply reduced last season.

California and Arizona are the only states where the acreage this season is greater than in 1927.

Last year's acre in cultivation on July 1 was 54,100,000 acres and the quantity of cotton ginned from the harvested area was 12,980,473 equivalent 500 pound bales.

This year's acreage in cultivation on July 1 and its percentage of last year's average, by state follows:

Alabama	34,000 and 130 per cent
last year's acreage
North Carolina	1,831,000 and 107 per cent
last year's acreage
Mississippi	2,783,000 and 111 per cent
last year's acreage
Georgia	3,256,000 and 103 per cent
last year's acreage
Florida	1,000,000 and 149 per cent
last year's acreage
Missouri	390,000 and 128 per cent
last year's acreage
Tennessee	1,132,000 and 115 per cent
last year's acreage
Alabama	2,471,000 and 108 per cent
last year's acreage
Mississippi	2,783,000 and 111 per cent
last year's acreage
Louisiana	1,866,000 and 119 per cent
last year's acreage
Texas	13,398,000 and 109 per cent
last year's acreage
Oklahoma	4,899,000 and 117 per cent
last year's acreage
Arkansas	3,613,000 and 115 per cent
last year's acreage
New Mexico	380,000 and 143 per cent
last year's acreage
California	2,230,000 and 171.5 per cent
last year's acreage
Other states	29,000 and 126 per cent
last year's acreage

The acreage not included in California figure nor in United States total is 1,000,000 and the acreage of all other states is made up of 4,000 acres in Illinois, 100,000 in Kansas, and 23,000 in Kentucky.

FIRST TERM FINAL EXAMS TO START TUESDAY AT TECH ENDING SATURDAY

Students of Texas Technological college will be occupied this week with the final examinations of the first term of summer school. The examinations will start tomorrow and run through until Saturday.

Monday, July 16, the second term of the summer session opens and classes start on July 17.

Officials of the college stated today that they expected the enrollment of the summer session to exceed the 1,000 mark during the second term. More than 850 are now registered.

A notice from the office of Registrar E. L. Dohoney stated today that all students now in the college should complete their registration before the close of this week. A representative of each department will be on duty in the department office from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m., each day during the week from Tuesday, July 10 to Thursday, July 12, inclusive, to make schedules for students.

New Businesses

AUSTIN.—Two hundred and fifty corporations capitalized at $100,000 were chartered by the secretary of state during June the Texas University business research bureau reported today in its Texas business review. Forty-two organizations increased their capitalization by more than $2,000,000 and permits were granted to 44 outside companies.

Audit Nears End

AUSTIN.—Investigators some time today will complete an audit of the books of a contracting company which the highway department suspected had cheated the state in road work. R. V. Nichols, chief of the attorney general's law enforcement division said, Nichols will determine what action, if any, will be taken after he receives the report.

Hawkins Answers

AUSTIN.—William E. Hawkins, Breckenridge gubernatorial candidate, one of the democratic office seekers who will be barred from the party tickets of at least two counties because they have announced intention not to vote for Governor Smith, said today that his attitude in the matter will be one merely of "watchful waiting."

MRS. CUNNINGHAM, HERE FOR SPEECH

PAYS DUES TO MAYFIELD OVER COURT BUT CLAIMS CREDIT FOR LIGHT RAIN

"Well, Senator Mayfield may have brought you a federal court, but you can give me credit for this marvelous rain!" said Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, laughingly, at noon today, to an Avalanche-Journal representative.

When questioned about her stand on the presidential race, Mrs. Cunningham, candidate for election to the United States senate from Texas, declared, "Although I was actively opposed to the nomination of Al Smith for president of the United States, I intend to stick by my party, and vote for him. I have no confidence, whatever, in the methods of the Republican party. It is the Republican party which, through lack of strict enforcement, has undermined prohibition legislation."

APPEAL FILED IN CHURCH ROW IS WITHDRAWN

TABERNACLE CASE IS TAKEN TO AUSTIN FROM DALLAS

AUSTIN, July 9.—After a short informal conference with the supreme court here today, Henry G. Willis, attorney, withdrew a motion he had presented for the habeas corpus release of the Rev. Earl Anderson, fundamentalist Baptist preacher, sent to Dallas jail for court contempt for violating an injunction restraining erection of a tabernacle for his church in Dallas.

Whether Willis contemplated going to the court of criminal appeals could not be learned.

No effort to take the case before the court of criminal appeals had been made early Monday afternoon.

Signifies Refusal

Withdrawal of the habeas corpus motion from the supreme court definitely signified that the tribunal had refused to entertain it. The lawyer was uncommunicative and word from the court was that he had filed nothing and that that the court had nothing before it to act upon. Official court records show nothing of the case, since Willis merely went before the court with an informal oral request for permission to institute habeas corpus proceedings. Both the supreme court and court of criminal appeals are not in session. Their vacations began the first of July.

Construction Work On Church Halted

DALLAS, July 9.—Pending outcome of Wednesday's hearing in Judge Towne Young's court to determine if the injunction halting construction of the fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle here shall be made permanent, volunteer workers of the congregation had decided today to suspend operations for the present.

Three deputy sheriffs assigned to the site reported they had things all to themselves today. Members of the church informed the deputies they would get no opportunity to serve a blanket warrant issued Friday by Judge Young's order to halt work on the tabernacle. The bail minister declined to post $1,000 assurance bond that the court's order would be observed.

Still Captured But Owner Not Located

Members of the sheriff's department are wondering about the whereabouts of a certain man who owned a certain whiskey still.

His still, a ten gallon affair manufactured especially for the purpose of distilling whiskey has been added to the collection of curios in the sheriff's office along with two gallons of "corn" which were obtained when a raid was made at a farmhouse several miles north of Lubbock, yesterday.

The owner, probably getting wind of the raid on his still, had fled, failed to make his appearance at the house and the officers were forced to return to Lubbock without him.

Americans Poorer Than One Year Ago

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Americans are 96 cents poorer per capita this year than they were last year but they are $3.80 richer than they were in 1914. Treasury records made public today show that the per capita wealth of the United States based on an estimated population of 118,364,000 on June 30, the end of the 1928 fiscal year, was $40.32 compared with $41.45 for 1927 and $36.52 for 1914.

STORY OF DEATH FOUND UNTRUE

COBALT, Ont., July 9.—(AP)—A woman's intuition, which caused her to refuse to believe a report of her husband's death although she had no proof that he was still alive, was justified today when it was established that the dead man was not her husband but another man of the same name.

When a prospective named Jack Monroe was found dead in a cabin near Rouyn several days ago the word went out that it was the Jack Monroe famed for having stood up to Jim Jeffries when the latter was champion of the world. His wife, however, would not believe her husband was dead, although he was out prospecting and she had not recently heard from him.

Today it was definitely determined that the dead man was "Little Jack" Monroe, the co-educator of identical names and the same occupation accounting for the first mistaken report that "Big Jack" had died. The two Jack Monroes were not related.

SIX YOUTHS IN CITY ARRESTED IN THEFT RAID

MUCH STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED DURING WEEK-END HERE

Breaking into what is believed to be the "thief ring" which has been responsible for a large number of recent petty thefts and robberies, six boys between the ages of 12 and 16 years are in the custody of county officers today as the result of a series of raids and arrests made yesterday and last night by Constable J. C. Roberts and Deputy Joe Birdsong, Chief of Police John Lemond and Officers Brown, Davidson and Honey, of the city police department.

Not only do officers believe that the petty theft ring is broken into but that the "beer ring" has also been broken. Yesterday about 100 gallons of beer were taken from the various houses searched in the raids for the contraband goods thought to have been stolen by the boys. In practically every house raided, a quantity of beer was found, officers said today. In two residences, it was being kept on ice, a full tub full being found in one house. The beer is being kept at the city hall until county authorities take charge of the situation this afternoon.

Miss Earhart Arrives Home

WOMAN FLIER IS GIVEN WARM GREETING BY FELLOW TOWNSMEN

BOSTON, July 9.—Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, came home today to a warm greeting from her fellow townsmen. With her were her mother and sister Louise, who made the notable flight with her last month.

As Miss Earhart stepped out of the plane which had brought her from New York to the East Boston airport, Lieutenant Governor Frank G. Allen and a reception committee presented her with a large bouquet of flowers.

After being greeted by her mother and sister Miss Earhart and her companions entered an automobile for a parade through Chelsea and Charlestown to Boston, where they were to be taken to the chamber of Commerce for luncheon.

Material Is Here For Dancer's Depot

Material for the new depot of the Port Worth and Denver railroad has arrived in Lubbock and is standing in box cars on the depot site at 18th street and Avenue B. Although no official word has been received here except a visit by P. H. Irons recently, it is thought that construction will start on the projects within the next few days. The construction is supposed to start on July 20.

Three Pay Off For Fighting In City

Three times for fighting, one for drunkenness and one for carrying over a stop signal totaling $87 were paid in city corporation court this morning. The fighters were engaged in a real three-cornered battle late Saturday, officers said.

BODY LOCATED AFTER SEARCH OF THREE DAYS

ACID BOTTLES FOUND NEARBY LEADING TO SUICIDE THEORY

Clearing up the mystery which for three days surrounded his disappearance, the body of John B. Reed, proprietor of the Elk Cafe, was found lying in a ravine in the Yellowhouse Canyon northeast of the city shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Two 2-ounce carbolic acid bottles lay near him, leading to the belief that his death came from his own hands.

The body was discovered by W. O. Barber and G. W. Chambers of Baileyboro, who were taking a walk near the edge of the canyon. They were camped in a tourist camp near the fair grounds. Upon discovering the body, the two men went to the municipal golf course where they noticed Sam Weaver and R. L. Wilson, who were playing golf there, who in turn notified county authorities who came and render a verdict of suicide upon the facts presented. Justice of the Peace G. R. Stutz rendered the verdict.

National Air Tour Leaves For Marfa

SAN ANTONIO, July 9.—All planes in the national air tour hopped off for Marfa, Texas, today. Four of the slower planes, with the Pathfinder, left at six this morning and the main body of the fliers got away at eight o'clock, taking off at one minute intervals.

Charles W. Meyers, who was forced down Saturday about ten miles from the control field by a broken cam shaft, succeeded in putting a borrowed motor in his plane in time to lead the field which started at eight o'clock.

Local People Attend Wedding Of Sister

Word has been received of the wedding of Miss Oryssa Estelle Teague and Roy J. McCaslin, both of Clarendon, which occurred at the first Methodist church of that city Thursday, June 28th, at six o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. Doak, of this city, and Rev. E. C. Roney, of Perryton, brothers-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Charles Dean, Jr., played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the wedding march and Mendelssohn for the recessional.

The bride's attendant, her niece, Miss Mary Alice Kiser, was gown-d in a period dress of green georgette and lace. She carried a bouquet of sweetest roses.

The bride's dress was a creation of shell pink chiffon, and she wore a hat of pink hair braid, a Joseph model.

The best man was a brother of the groom, Carl McCaslin.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McCaslin left for points in Colorado, Kansas and Utah. They will be at home in Boise, Idaho.

Mrs. McCaslin is a sister of J. M. Teague, 2222 14th street and Mrs. D. B. Doak, 1718 Broadway. They together with their families and Miss Anna Belle Guffin were attendants at the wedding.

Four To Be At Home To Friends

Mrs. M. L. Leach of Dallas, Mrs. G. W. Scott, Mrs. Tom Jackson, and Miss Mary Scott are to be at home to their friends tomorrow afternoon between the hours of four and six o'clock at the home of Mrs. Jackson, 2308 17th street.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Dear Marye:
You are indeed a merciful person—in one letter you extol the joys of having a job, and in the next you say give it up to have a pleasant summer at the seashore.

Alas, I think, managed the whole matter very successfully. There is a certain perversity in all of us which makes us want to act on our own initiative, rather than accept the same suggestion from another.

When you were little I learned that you quite often would take a sensible course of your own accord, but that when I thought you would want to do just the opposite thing.

It is a great relief to me to have you out of Madame Elise's shop. I much prefer to think of you swimming, playing tennis, and leading the active outdoor life you always liked. I never fancied you in the artificial atmosphere of a smart shop.

I just can't explain why, except that I know so many young women who have no interest in life but clothes and who can talk nothing else or think of nothing else. And they seem to me a most discontented and uninteresting lot, and seem so to defeat their own aims.

To me the reason you always looked well in your clothes was because you never seemed to be thinking about them. They never seemed so noticeable as your clean-cut features and your bright eyes and smooth skin.

Bits Of News And Personal Mention

COURTNEY AGAIN BALKED ON JUMP BY BAD WEATHER

HORTA Island of Fayal, Azores, July 9.—Captain Frank T. Courtney, who attempted a trans-Atlantic flight last year and got no further than the coast of Spain, has failed in his first attempt this year.

Hopping off at 9:25 a. m. Greenwich meridian time (1:25 a. m. eastern standard time), Sunday for Halifax, he returned ten hours later. Fog and strong winds forced him to put back.

Before he turned his progress westward had twice been reported. Captain Courtney arrived at Horta on June 28 from Lisbon, Portugal. With him were E. B. Hooper of Montreal, baker of the flight; Fred Pierce, mechanic, and E. W. Gilmour, radio operator. His radio was damaged and he was held at Horta until it was repaired. The fliers did not wish to venture upon the long flight across the Atlantic without the wireless as it had proved of great value in direction finding on the Lisbon-Horta flight.

Last year Captain Courtney took off from Plymouth, England, on a trans-Atlantic flight and landed near Corunna, Spain. He was delayed there a long time by bad weather and finally gave up the attempt.

Indicative of the blame of the youngsters' deeds, in practically every one of the houses raided by officers, quantities of beer were found and in two places, it was being kept cold, officers said, and presumably ready for sale as the customers called. Officers estimated today that more than 100 gallons of beer were confiscated in the raids.

There's at least 10 houses in that portion of the city which have beer for sale," Chief Leonard said today. "How can the youths be blamed for their deeds when their parents carry on such practices?" he said.

The men in whose possession the beer was found are being turned over to county officials. The boys are being held and questioned further concerning thefts, officers having hopes of making additional arrests and raids in the city today.

Charges are to be filed on the men and boys today, officers said.

wave raised me thirty feet into the air and dashed me against a rock. I do not recall what took place afterward. When I recovered consciousness, I found myself, stark, naked, sprawled upon the beach.

Another Also Mystery

Another survivor, Andreas Carrillo, a sailor, said he could not explain how he was saved. After being cast on the beach naked, he looked for the ship but could see nothing.

Carrillo made his way to the nearest house.

He was refused admittance, the inhabitants thinking him a tramp. After an hour of argument he convinced the housewife that he really needed assistance. After a brief rest they set out in search of other survivors. They found three army conscripts, Aguilera, Humberto de Sepulveda and Humberto Diaz, all naked.

Public funeral services will be held at Concepcion non Tuesday. Flags of the provincial government buildings and the consulate were flying at half mast today.

Municipal Park Is Opened To Picnics

Lubbock citizens wishing picnic grounds for spreading evening lunches may find ample provisions in the city park northeast of the city. City manager Gus W. McCleary said today following the installation of additional picnic and playground facilities at the park.

Two different places are now available at the park for picnics and lunch parties. Mr. McCleary said. Playground equipment, lights, water and other facilities are at each place. The sites are in the city park formerly known as Tumble-N park.

TO HOLDERS OF Third Liberty Loan Bonds

The Treasury offers a new 3 1/2 per cent. 12-15 year Treasury bond in exchange for Third Liberty Loan Bonds.

The new bonds will bear interest from July 15, 1928. Interest on Third Liberty Loan Bonds surrendered for exchange will be paid in full to September 15, 1928.

Holders should consult their banks at once for further details of this offering.

Third Liberty Loan Bonds mature on September 15, 1928, and will cease to bear interest on that date.

Montgomery Ward's Changes Its Policy

A change in business policy governing the sale of automobile tires and tubes was announced today by Montgomery Ward and company, through its local manager, C. J. Meyers and will go into effect on July 15. The changed policy of selling tires and tubes on the deferred payment plan, Mr. Meyers stated.

According to the announcement the company is the first of the large concerns to adopt the "pay as you ride" plan. An increase in the mileage guarantee and the offering of a new puncture proof tire and tube was also announced.

to the warehouse of the store by climbing on the roof and going down the ventilator, bringing the merchandise back out on the roof and dumping it into a car to the rear of the building.

Eighteen cartons of chewing gum, 40 packages of crackerjacks, a 15 pound sack of roasted peanuts, a carton of marshmallows, a carton of candy, cigars and other small pieces of confections were confiscated by Constable Roberts after arresting the boys.

Following the arrest of the youths, Constable Roberts, together with the members of the city police department began their raids on residences in the north part of the city. Homes of other boys who were said to be implicated in other robberies were raided and quantities of other stuff confiscated. In one place one of the cartons of cigarettes stolen from the Texas M. & M. company's week was found while at another house a quantity of meat believed to have also been taken from this place was discovered.

Bathing Suits Found

Bathing suits stolen from the city's new swimming pool and carried to other articles were taken by the officers. The boys also gave names of other youngsters who had stolen bathing suits from the city pool, officers said.

Indicative of the blame of the youngsters' deeds, in practically every one of the houses raided by officers, quantities of beer were found and in two places, it was being kept cold, officers said, and presumably ready for sale as the customers called. Officers estimated today that more than 100 gallons of beer were confiscated in the raids.

There's at least 10 houses in that portion of the city which have beer for sale," Chief Leonard said today. "How can the youths be blamed for their deeds when their parents carry on such practices?" he said.

The men in whose possession the beer was found are being turned over to county officials. The boys are being held and questioned further concerning thefts, officers having hopes of making additional arrests and raids in the city today.

Charges are to be filed on the men and boys today, officers said.

Many Tourists Are Coming Thru City

Between four hundred and five hundred cars of tourists are passing through Lubbock every day, according to an estimate made today by a Journal reporter after questioning various service station owners over the city. Several stations reported as high as 75 tourist cars visiting their places daily, while on some days the number is even greater.

A majority of the cars are westward bound, New Mexico and Colorado being their destinations. A large number of cars pass through here enroute to the Carlsbad Cavern, the oil men reported.

Thought For Today

Every man's work shall be made manifest.—1 Cor. 3:13.
We live not to ourselves; our work is life.—Bailey.

"Feverish" Nation

Frederic Chaplain, famous Russian singer, believes that in two decades America will be having a development of the fine arts equal to her industrial development of today.

"America is fever, while Europe is repose," says Chaplain to an audience in Paris. "In my opinion the United States will in another 20 years accomplish a gesture in art similar to that which it has accomplished in industry."

The interesting thing about Chaplain's remark is not so much his prediction of a great artistic development as his comparison of America with Europe. "America is fever, while Europe is repose," that one sentence explains much. It is a very apt comparison, and you might bear it in mind if you're going in for prophecy on a large scale.

For some time after the World War there were many publicists who assured us that Europe was "bleeding white." European civilization, they said, had crashed; never again would it rise to anything like its former heights. It was done. Europe was no use looking for a revival.

It has become obvious since then that the calamity howlers were talking a bit out of turn. The British empire, for instance, has managed to survive very neatly.
France, for all her financial troubles, is stable and active; Italy has experienced a new rush of vitality; Germany has got her great industrial and commercial machine in order again. Europe is not to be given over to decay and dissolution just yet.

But the doleful predictions had a grain of truth, and Chaplain's epigrammatic remark illustrates it.
The world is beginning to wag to new forces and new ideas. And these new ideas and forces are emanating from the western side of the Atlantic now. The strange, feverish fire of vital youth which moves nations to shape the course of the world's history is ablaze in America, burning at white heat. It makes our country a phenomenon on which foreigners look with puzzled wonder. It is not in all its aspects a pleasant thing. Many European observers, visiting us, go home to thank God that their lands are not as ours is. But it is forceful, energetic, compelling.

It is nonsense to say that Europe is dying. But it is not nonsense at all to say that the center of dominion over the world's future is leaving Europe's hands and passing to America. The factories of North America will influence the next century more than the universities of Paris and Berlin or the cathedral rooms of London.

Honkers in Berlin

The city of Berlin is conducting investigations to see if its automobile traffic cannot move with less honking of horns.

Investigations conducted by the police show that the average driver sounds his horn on a trip through the city about ten times as often as he really needs to. As a result, new police regulations are being prepared and the persistent horn-honker is going to be set upon separately.

Would that a few American cities could follow the lead. The driver who honks his horn unnecessarily isn't exactly a menace, but he is one of the greatest nuisances our civilization has developed. Probably exterminating him would be too severe, but if it is possible to civilize him the job surely ought to be attempted. The horn on an auto is for emergency use only.

Now that the actors are taking in the movies, it will be just too bad when we hear the "well educated" actors who "love to curl up before the fire with a good book" missing the noble indolence right down the middle.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says when a mine owner retires he is literally resting on his oars.

The Plainsman wants to expressly understood that he will not vouch for the truth of this story but that they're telling it on one of the local store keepers. It seems that he was waiting on the trade during a rush hour when a young girl of the flapper species came tripping in.

"Something for you?" the store keeper asked lissily.
"Yes," answered the lassie after a preliminary glance around the store. "I want some stoppers like that girl over there is wearing!"

And the story above leads The Plainsman to comment that window displays are not the only ones we see on the downtown streets.

"I learned to dance the shimmy in five minutes," said McQuirk.
"For Heaven's sake," his friend replied.
"That surely was QUAKE work."

(EDITOR'S NOTE—In case you haven't already noticed it, writing this column on Monday certainly is a tough racket.)

That Man on Avenue Q says a man doesn't have to be in the contracting business to contract a bunch of debts.

The Plainsman happened to drop in on three fellows here the other day who were seriously discussing a subject important to them. They were talking over the problem of sending their wives and kids off for a short summer
trip—they were trying to figure out how they could afford to provide members of their families with a change in every day atmosphere. And they were serious about the matter.

Before going any further The Plainsman wishes to assure you that this is no slap-stick dissertation. We hear about men and their wives and kids and their unhappiness in the side of the situation—give it
as much publicity as we do
the other—and we'll all get
along in a better way.

As long as there are husbands taking the stand that these three fellows are taking we needn't worry much about civilization going onto rocks of unhappy married life.
What we need to do is pay more attention to the happy
side of the situation—give it
as much publicity as we do
the other—and we'll all get
along in a better way.

Business men who would like to increase business via the free publicity route will do well to mark the success of a preacher who, through his ability to put his public spotlight upon himself by one method or another, has made of himself more or less of a figure in Texas.

The Plainsman, of course, is referring to Dr. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth, who bounded to the front pages again last week, this time involved in another man's woes.

Mr. Norris has that knack of dividing people into two separate distinct classes, namely, those who are "for" him and those who are "agin' him. There's no middle ground the way he operates and as a result he's what newspaper men call "good copy"—somebody that people like to read about either because they think he's great or because they dislike his tactics cordially.

And Mr. Norris has profited by his ability to attract attention. He has a big church, a large and enthusiastic following, and whether he is best, trying to a new work that is his chosen profession or not,
he has made of it a decided success as success is judged by men.

Personally The Plainsman doesn't care for ministers of the type of J. Frank Norris. This writer is best fashioned enough to believe that men can be led to Jesus better that they can be driven. He can't imagine the Man of Galilee telling a District Judge that he "can go where the fires don't stop burning," as Mr. Norris was quoted in press dispatches as saying a few days ago.

However, others look at the mat-

Democrats May Not Win So Many Elections But Just The Same They Manage To Have Plenty Of Fun, Dutcher Says

In New York

By Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, July 9.—Scattered notes from a day's ramble in Manhattan. Broadway girdles giving the sidewalks a rest.

By which we mean they're going around with bare legs this summer.
And these girls with beach towels over their heads, and still, and more or less accustomed to legs of all varieties, they attract attention.

Now there's Lottie Schoen-feldt, for instance, going along the "big street," brown as a couple of Indians.

A crowd gathered in front of a bird store. All starting into a coop filled with pigeons.

Birds and humans with that encaged look. And a beam on the outskirts of the crowd, whinning out his panhandling spiel.

"Mister can you give a buddy a dime for a cup of coffee?" And, just down the street, another crowd gathered around the pignons of the public library driveway.

And another beam whinning. Can't you help a fella get sompin to eat?
Oh, well!

And the pet store on Seventh avenue with a big window sign telling you that you can board your pet while you go away for the summer. You can leave the cat for $1 and the dogs and cats for some other sum.

After a while a couple of people with big cages walk up and doing. And, still, and still, and other pet store which will let you rent our ritz-looking pup for the evening, so that you can look like "cops" when you take a stroll on Fifth avenue. What next?

Trene, Fenwick. Who's Lionel Barrymore's wife and has been away from the stage for a long time. They tell me she'll have a play next year.

And T. M. Cushing, who used to be a newspaperman once himself.
Was editor of the Baltimore Sun.

When I saw him he was directing a Gilbert and Sullivan revival.

The headwaiter at Kelly's who tells you about his de luxe studio department. He's an "artist," if you please.

By the way, have you heard the story about the Scotchman who found a box of corn-plasters in the street. And he went right over and got himself in an entirely different light-which is his right. They believe, and they may be correct in their belief, that the militant pastor does the most good. This is a nutshell of the situation which makes Frank Norris great in the eyes of some and a false alarm in the eyes of others. He provides wonderful material for a study in human nature —and, incidentally, is a past master of the subject himself. And, in closing, it might be well to note that his ability to attract attention hasn't hurt his financial condition.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

HOUSTON, July 9.—The Democrats seldom get the gray in politics, but they have lots of fun.

The Republicans, who all wear either starched collars or corsets, wouldn't have enjoyed it down here at all.

It was too hot for any ordinary person to enjoy himself, but these little Peter Pans of politics gambled about like so many corpusules in a left ventricle.

There was none of that tense seriousness which characterized the Kansas City show. No deep stuff such as went on in Andy Mellon's suite the night before that convention opened.

These boys and girls knew who was going to carry the ball for them in the campaign. They had a pretty good idea who the second man on the ticket would be and also what the platform would read.

One doesn't suggest that the extreme dries in the party were running to and fro, slapping each other on the back and cheering as often as the band played "The Sidewalks of New York."

Such dries were rather grim. But they weren't allowed to spoil the fun. There were few of them here.

Most Democratic dries were willing to accept Al Smith and most of the rest were resigned to it. The minority came hoping that some way would turn up to stop the rout in the brown derby. But it had to do with them. Even with an eye on the two-thirds rule they spoke less confidently than did the anti-Hoover folks as they arrived in Kansas City.

The vast majority of these Democrats enthusiastically convinced that they have a grand chance to make Hoover eat worms in November. They're the optimists of politics. The glorious heights to which some of them can dream themselves.

But there's the yarn that's going around Broadway of the missionary kid who was ousted from Yale because he couldn't get from Tex Quinlan's back to his college town in time for his first classes.

There's another college yarn going the rounds, too. But that has a more wistful, romantic mood.

It's about a rich kid from out Kansas way. His father is an official of a mid-western railroad line. The kid tumbled hard for a cute blond in a night club. And he started coming month in and month out.

But the little chorine was the right sort of a youngster. She'd been telling him that he must make good at Yale. He must tell the night life get him.

After a time, the scribbler noticed that the youth would ride home for a while each night in a little off-corner of the joy palace.
They say the cute blond slid down beside him and look over his shoulder.

And, upon investigation, they found he had brought his books to the night club, and was doing his class work in the midst of blaring jazz bands, rough-house and flask drinking. And the blond kid was keeping his nose to the grindstone.

They tell me he was graduated this summer, and with honors.
And that's that. But it goes to show that you can't tell what you'll find on the Main Stem.
Sometimes a good and romantic and thrilling. . . .
And again sometimes it isn't so good.

GILBERT SWAN.

It must be very costly to drink in New York. We saw a dispatch the other day saying a seat on the curb had cost a man $85.00.

One might expect to observe many lean and hungry persons, possessed of a certain savage fervor as they plotted their way back. But one finds nothing of the sort. They take their politics seriously and they still get excited over moral issues, but the effect of adversity, if any, apparently has merely brought them together in a closer bond of sympathy until they're almost a happy family.

Some of them, of course, felt it was too bad the Republicans were not made to have their convention in Houston, there to suffer for their sins. Only the fact that their own party has a clear conscience, they admit, enables them to be comfortable and contented in these torrid parts.

Occasionally one heard a muffled curse upon J. Frank Hague, the mayor and national committeeman from Jersey City, N. J. When the committee met at Washington last winter to choose a convention city some of the more influential members met and decided to send it to San Francisco. Then they went to bed. But Hague woke up in the middle of the night with the brilliant idea of nominating Smith somewhere in the South. By dawn he had sold the idea and here we are.

The weather had a direct effect on the prohibition situation. The supreme test for a genuine dry was to offer him a long cold drink such as the convention had. If he didn't fall then he never will. The bootleggers here, obviously knew that a voter could give anything for success at a time like this—and charged accordingly. Thus one was asked eight dollars for a bottle of gin that cost him three dollars in Kansas City. Apparently the law of supply and demand didn't figure, though both were enormous.

EDUCATION AND VOTING

One of the large Texas newspapers recently carried a lengthy editorial devoted to the subject of the failure of the American people to vote in national elections.

It pointed out that the best record of recent times was a bare 59 per cent of the qualified voters of the country actually casting votes. Various reasons were given, other than education, for the apparent fact that people are becoming more reluctant to exercise their privileges and duties as the general masses of them become better educated.

The American educational system was begun with the idea that free public schools were the foundation upon which a democracy must rest.

The idea, at the time it was formulated, was sound, for at that time an education was the only way to read simple language, figure simple mathematics, and scribble a legible hand.

At this time education means a far different thing, and probably has a far different relation to democracy than it had at the time it was first introduced. It is no longer the "civilized" side of common school education and the patriotism taught in schools, little in the way of practical results can be seen along these lines.

Education now is a vast field, ruled largely by the vocational and very "practical" ideas. It fits men and women better to earn a living, to succeed in life. While much is said about the "civic" side of common school education and the patriotism taught in schools, little in
the way of practical results can be
seen along these lines.

It may be that too much education for the great number is not a wholesome thing for democracy, or it may be that our educational system is losing sight of the original purpose for which it was founded.—Crosbyton Review.

The main trouble with the voting in this day and time is not that the people do not know how to mark their ticket—so that it will be a legal vote, but the voting that actually takes place is so small that so many people to refrain from exercising their rightful franchise.
People will not go to the polls and be forced to hold their nose to support a candidate that is in life and principle shaft to a certain extent, just because he is branded democrat, they must take him and accept him as the man for the place.

This is the trouble with the voters of this southland and still another reason is that the common people have to a certain extent given up. They feel that their vote amounts to little, and the manipulators of the election machines do as they please with them, and they have little chance to overcome the money powers. This is of course the wrong attitude, but nevertheless it is largely true, and many people do not feel that it is worth while to go to the polls and vote.

There are too many people who support the democratic ticket that they will not vote against the ticket for anything and the undesirable man is often placed in office by people who vote for the party and not the man. The education that is needed now is an education that will make the people think, that they may know more about the government, and help them to select a man that has the right principle, and vote for the man and not the party.

FARM MEETING IS PRAISED BY VISITOR HERE

MISS FAIRD IS GIVEN MUCH CREDIT FOR BANQUET SUCCESS

"These South Plains people just do things in a big way out here," declared a visitor from Lubbock yesterday after he watched the workings of co-operative efforts as members of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau under the direction of Miss Louise Baird, county home demonstration agent of Lubbock county, served a chicken dinner to more than 100 farmers of the section. Miss Baird was in charge of the serving and direction of a score or more of club women and girls. N. H. Payne, Lubbock field representative of the Texas Farm Bureau and S. A. Dehman, Lubbock county agent, were other important men in the serving and preparation of the meal.

"And this chicken, too," he added, "why would have ever thought that you could serve a fried chicken dinner to more than 1,000 people. It would be impossible to even think of doing such a thing where I live," he said.

Miss Baird Given Credit

Much credit is due Miss Baird for her work in putting over the dinner as well as to the Lubbock people. Mr. Payne, who was in charge of the entire meeting, said today. Her demonstration of club work put on with Lubbock county girls during the afternoon session of the meeting was an outstanding feature and drew much comment.

Payne's Remarks

Payne's remarks during the home demonstration agent told how Lubbock county could obtain the same club work opportunities by securing a county home demonstration agent.

The endorsement of several new home demonstration agents through out the South Plains during the coming three months is almost certain to result from the meeting as Lubbock county leaders in counties not having agents stated that their commissioners would be petitioned forthwith for the work.

DAILY MARKETS

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Price movements lacked uniformity at the opening of today's stock market. A brisk demand developed for the small order issues. Sears Roebuck advanced to a new high record while Montgomery-Ward improved fractionally. General Motors advanced 11-16 points and Anaconda, General Electric and U. S. Steel common, showed fractional gains on initial transactions. Wright Aeronautical dropped 2-34 points on the first sale and radio 13-4.

Buying orders quickly reached sufficient proportions to turn the general course of prices upward with the motor, food, mail order and rubber shares in the forefront of the advance. Pools resumed activities in a number of specialties, and there was a marked absence of any extensive "bear" operations.

Wright and Radio quickly recovered their losses and climbed above last week's final quotations. Montgomery-Ward advanced to a new 1928 high at 161. Midland Steel Products preferred, which soared about 30 points last week, jumped 7 points in the first half hour of trading.

Kelly Springfield 6 per cent, underwritten with a nearly gain of 4-1/2 points, which responded to reports of steadily expanding sales. Chrysler and Packard were among the early favorites in the motor group and Louisville and Nashville, with an initial gain of 4 points, led the upward movement in the rail. Foreign exchange and firm sterling cables were quoted at 84 1/2-1/2 and 1-1/2-1/2.

The closing was firm. Certain shares managed to hold upward in face of a late afternoon slump in the money market. International Match gained 4 points, and McGraw-Hill 1-1/2. The list in general was disposed to mark time for a while especially as some of the leaders appeared to profit about as offerings at their high ranges. Activity in the West was in International Harvester and the airplane issues also contributed to a mixed movement in final dealings. Total sales approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Two Passengers Die When Plane Crashes

SPRING LAKE HEIGHTS, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Two passengers, killed when the plane in which they were riding crashed near here yesterday. The crash occurred on a field near the town of Spring Lake Heights, N. J., where the plane was on a test flight. The pilot, Archer H. Saki of Lakewood was seriously injured. Saki had made several flights with passengers. Spectators said he seemed to lose control of the plane when it was about 1,000 feet up. It went into a tail spin, struck a tree, and crashed into a polo field.

PADDOCK MAY LOSE PLACE ON OLYMPIC TEAM

RACER CHARGED WITH PROFESSIONALISM IN TOUR WITH FILM

BY ALAN J. GOULD

NEW YORK, July 8.—Charged with professionalizing himself in a "personal appearance" motion picture tour, Charley Paddock today faced the prospect of losing his place on the 1928 American Olympic track and field team and the chance to seek world sprint honors for the third time in eight years.

The sudden and eleventh-hour demand by the Olympic authorities for a show-down on Paddock's status came as a climax to selection of the American team and furnished a sensational prelude to its departure Wednesday for Amsterdam.

Met Severest Test

Paddock met one of the severest tests of his career Saturday when he staged a sensational comeback to qualify for the team in the 200-meter dash, finishing second to Charley Borah, after being shut out the day before in the 100 meters. But the blood California veteran, long a storm-center of athletics, faces an even more exacting test of eligibility before he can earn the unquestioned right to represent Uncle Sam at Amsterdam.

The court which held Charley's fate in its hands today was the registration committee of the ama-

BIBLE CLASS IS HOLDING WIDE INTEREST HERE

MANY PRESENT FROM OTHER CITIES TO HEAR LESSON

The Down Town Sunday school class of which Dr. W. R. White, of the First Baptist church, is teacher, continues to grow in interest among Lubbock men and men who are visitors in the city. Inquiry Sunday morning revealed men present from a dozen different towns and one man from another state. The class is held every Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Palace theatre. In addition to a discussion of the lesson there is special music every Sunday morning by Miss Mary Hope Westbrook.

The discussion Sunday morning showed how Paul was influenced by the stoning to death of Stephen, their meeting resulting in an epoch in religious and world history. Dr. White brought out the fact that touching another personality may change the current of our life, as it did in Paul's case. And while the ostentatious meeting of personalities has more to do with kings and potentates, it is usually heralded as great events in the affairs of the world, yet often the meeting of humble and unknown men changes the current of the world's life.

The Story Is Told
Stephen was preaching the gospel everywhere and finally found himself in a debate with members of the Sanhedrin. These learned men could not withstand the wisdom and spirit with which he spoke, and so, as is often the case, they got angry and began to belittle and slander their opponent. They accused him of blasphemy, and without even the equity of a kangaroo court, they stoned him to death.

Paul held Stephen's garments while the cruel task was being finished. He saw Stephen die not with hatred but with love and forgiveness in his heart and a prayer for his enemies on his lips. No one had ever died thus except Christ. An arrow went to the heart of Paul, and led to the ultimate reaction in his life.

and two prostrations were attributed to the heat and one person was fatally injured in an auto accident resulting from the unusually heavy traffic. It was estimated that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 Texans left the city during the day and of those 1,000,000 went swimming.

Drawings Reported
Drawings were reported from Westfield, N. J., Milford, Del., Philadelphia, Rochester, N. Y., Freehold, N. J., Oakland Beach, R. I., Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Watkins Glen, N. Y., Syracuse, N. Y., Milford, Conn., and New York.

bliss-blah which has caused the nation as a whole to look upon politics with so much suspicion and distrust.

"And, after all," she smiled, "Courage is what we Texas people have been taught to admire, isn't it?"

Makes Her Guess

"But, let me tell you," she continued, "If the people don't open their eyes pretty quickly, Alvin Owsley is going to be with Senator Mayfield in the run-off, and then you're going to have the same situation which we faced in the governor's race four years ago—you're going to have to choose between Fergusonism and the Ku Klux Klan, because Ferguson is backing Owsley in every way possible. Tom Connally has not kept his platform consistent and definite, therefore he is losing ground rapidly, and Owsley is coming to the front."

"It is my hope to wedge in and be the deciding factor between the two factions, and I have received enthusiastic encouragement from the voters who have heard me speak. I am not asking people to vote for me because I am a woman, or not to vote for me because I am a woman, but to vote for me because of my platform and the record of my years' voluntary service for my state in national governmental affairs, which have to my credit. I want people to have a real reason in voting either for or against me."

found is said to be one of the most secluded ones in the canyon and members of the searching party said today that "he could have laid there for weeks and weeks before anyone would have found him. It was only through the desire of the two men to see the canyon that he was discovered yesterday, they said."

No reason could be assigned for Mr. Reed's action today by members of his family. The affairs of his business at intervals. Members of his family also said that at times he seemed worried over his business.

Mr. Reed had been in Lubbock for about two years. Prior to that time, he lived at Mesquite and near Ralls. He had been on the Plains for 20 years.

BAPTISTS OPEN REVIVAL HERE IN NEW TABERNACLE

Revival services are being held at the First Baptist church every night this week at 8:15 with the pastor, Dr. W. R. White, doing the preaching. The new tabernacle on the church lawn is being used, making it possible for a larger attendance and more comfort. The services are being announced as an old-fashioned revival with gospel preaching and gospel singing. Next week services will be held both at 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m.

Dr. J. D. Carroll, the pastor's assistant and choir leader, has recently arrived to take up his duties here. He will be in charge of the singing. It is stated that the services will be short, spiritual and inspiring.

The preaching of Dr. White has attracted much attention in the city since he has come here as pastor of the First Baptist church, and this series of services will give an opportunity to the public to hear him.

west. Very fine co-operation in posting these placards and in advising the salesmen of the public has been received from these organizations in previous years and the same co-operation is expected this year.

Windshield stickers will be distributed to traveling men who will place them on their cars to advertise the jubilee.

Letters will go out from the Chamber of Commerce in the next few weeks to salesmen, and wholesale houses, giving invitations to the jubilee.

The R. O. D. E. will convene again this year and leaders of the organization are planning some new tricks that will be worked out for both the new and old members of the society.

Last year, R. O. D. E. emblems were passed out to all the peddlers. These emblems are about the size of a half dollar and could, no doubt, be found in the pockets of hundreds of peddlers scattered over the nation today. On one side of the emblem is the initials R. O. D. E. Lubbock, Texas, with a goat the mascot of the organization, pictured thereon.

On the back side is the following inscription: "This emblem presented to all traveling men attending the annual Peddlers' Jubilee sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Lubbock, Tex." The emblems will be issued again this year.

CHRYSLER Presents entirely new style creations in the fine car field

New Chrysler "75" Roadster (with rumble seat), $1555

New Chrysler "65" 4-Door Sedan, $1145

THESE two entirely new Chrysler Sixes—the "75" and the "65"—are deliberately designed and executed to inspire public admiration to such a pitch that they will immediately supersede all that has gone before and usher into existence an entirely new motoring vogue. Striking new standards of beauty have been created in these new Chrysler Sixes, even when the artistry of a great industry has seemed to be at its height.

The wholly new Chrysler style creations, now shown for the first time, represent unusual advances over even Chrysler power, speed and efficiency.

We believe that, at their new low prices, they demonstrate that Chrysler engineering, research and manufacturing again have greatly increased the buying power of the dollar when invested in motor cars.

We are confident that all who are even remotely interested in the progress of motor car artistry will find themselves amply repaid by their immediate inspection of these two new Chrysler style achievements.

New Chrysler "75" Price—Royal Sedan, $1535; 2-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1535; Roadster (with rumble seat), $1555; Town Sedan, $1655 (wire wheels extra). All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

men had been searching for him throughout Saturday and yesterday. The canyon east of the city, the wholesale district and various points in the north and east part of the city were included in the search.

His widow has been ill since his disappearance and expressed fear for his safety when he did not return home Friday morning after his work hours at the cafe.

No note or evidence of one was found near or upon the body. Indications were that he had been dead about 60 hours when found.

members of the Bynum Brothers staff said today. According to this statement his death came at about 7 o'clock Friday morning, nearly an hour after he was last seen by W. C. Powell, of the Tourist Inn.

Buried This Morning
Burial was made by the Bynum Brothers funeral directors this morning in the Lubbock cemetery.

Rev. Marvin Norman, local Primitive Baptist minister, had charge of the short burial ceremony. Besides his widow, Mr. Reed is survived by six children, Burdett, of McLean, and Lorraine, Hani, Marie, Jack and Rosebelle, of this city, his father, F. B. Reed, of Rogers, two brothers, W. T. Reed, of Ralls, and M. F. Reed, of Rogers, and six sisters, Mrs. T. J. Holmes, of Ralls, Mrs. H. Radtke, Mrs. J. W. Morgan, Miss Thelma Reed and Miss Maggie Reed, of Rogers, and Mrs. Lawton Jeffcoat, of Temple.

Mr. Reed had been in Lubbock for about two years. Prior to that time, he lived at Mesquite and near Ralls. He had been on the Plains for 20 years.
