HARDING PUTS CARE AWAY AS 'REST' BEGINS

Tells Correspondents That He Intends to Forget "Everything" for the Next Two weeks.

Will Arrive at San Augustine Saturday and Go to Houseboat From Which He Will Fish.

ON BOARD PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING'S TRAIN, Jan. 21.—President-elect Harding put his cares out of mind tonight as he neared Florida and told companions on his vacation jaunt he proposed to forget entirely for two weeks the important decisions ahead of him.

Except for a short time during the afternoon, when he worked on correspondence that had been crowded out in the final preparations for leaving Marion, he rested and deported himself as an ordinary tourist during his days trip southward across Kentucky and Tennessee. His private car, attached to a regular passenger train, attracted unusual attention at only one or two stations.

Arriving at St. Augustine about noon tomorrow, Mr. Harding expects to get into his vacation clothes, and after a game of golf go aboard the houseboat selected as his home during the fishing expedition that will occupy his first two weeks in the south. In his talks with newspaper correspondents and other members of his party today, he re-emphasized his desire to cut himself off from all thought of the subjects he has had under consideration in his Marion conferences.

Spirits Brighter

His spirits appreciably brightened at the prospect of his respite, and although he looked more careworn than when he passed through Kentucky and Tennessee in October on a campaigning trip, he greeted with a smile the groups that gathered around his car at various stops to shake hands.

At Oakdale, Tenn., Where there was a delay of 15 minutes to change engines, he got out and entertained a grinning audience of railway switchmen by walking a rail with the spryness of a fifteen-year-old. The latest suggestion concerning cabinet apointments heard among those close to Mr. Harding on the trip, is that Charles Evans Hughes, generally regarded as a leading possibility for secretary of state, might be offered the attorney generalship instead, and that the state portfolio might be given to Elihu Root, whose friends are understood to be bringing strong pressure to bear in his behalf.

In the same quarters it has been proposed that Charles C. Dawes of Chicago, urged prominently for secretary of the treasury, be given the position of governor of the federal reserve board, leaving the treasury post for A. W. Mellon of Pittsburgh. So far as Mr. Harding himself is concerned, however, he is putting the whole question over for decision after he returns to St. Augustine from his fishing trip.

INDICT 43 FOR BUILDING FRAUD IN WINDY CITY

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—The Federal grand jury late this afternoon returned forty-three indictments under the Sherman anti-trust act, charging violation by the building trades, contractors and union labor bosses.

It was alleged that they conspired to keep up the price of building materials in the Chicago district.

Charges were made some time ago that Chicago union members of the building trades refused to handle non-union building materials or any mill product manufactured outside of Chicago. It was also charged that union bosses were paid large sums by contractors to guard them against strikes while engaged on their jobs.

The grand jury has been hearing evidence for several weeks.

WHITE ASSERTS TIME RIPE FOR DISARMAMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Another of the American commissioners who helped draft the treaty of Versailles, Henry White, ambassador to France under President Roosevelt, told the house naval committee today that the time was ripe for world disarmament and that the United States should initiate the movement. General Pershing's views will be sought Tuesday.

Mr. White gave it as his opinion that the great burden of taxation resulting from the world war made the people of all nations anxious to cut down on expenditures for armaments. He said the world was "crying for some agreement" to limit armaments as a means of reducing taxes.

The former ambassador said he did not think the United States should stop naval construction it now has under way. He said he would like to see the United States at the top when the disarmament discussion begins and suggested the relative sizes of navies could be fixed by agreement at the proposed disarmament conference of nations.

As to the time of calling a conference, Mr. White said that should be left to President-elect Harding.

PALACE TO RUN SEVEN ACTS OF ORPHEUM TIME

Largest Theater Here Swings Full Interstate — Keith Bill First Time; to Be Used for [illegible] Shows.

Matinees Booked for Every Day and at Reduced Prices; Will T. Page to Manage New House.

Dye, Ford & Rogers enterprises will open a four-day vaudeville run Wednesday, February 2, at the new Palace theater, Scott avenue, between Seventh and Eighth, it was announced Friday by R. S. Ford. The Wichita theater Interstate-Keith-Orpheum circuit will be switched to the new amusement house, which is the largest here.

Matinees will be given every one of the four days, instead of only twice a week, and at considerably reduced rates. Wichita theater vaudeville bills will be discontinued. Road shows and special entertainments will be substituted at the Indiana street house, at least for the present.

The Palace will be under the general management of Mr. Ford. The house manager will be Will T. Page. Verne T. Baker will handle the advertising for the new theater.

The same days of the week now being used for vaudeville will be retained when the circuit is shifted. These days are Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Palace will be kept "dark" on Monday and Tuesday.

An overture will open the Palace bills. This will be followed by a news reel and then by "Topics of the Day." Francis Edler will direct a seven-piece orchestra at the Palace theater.

The strictest rules employed in metropolitan vaudeville houses will be employed at the new theater. The second that the curtain rises for the first act of vaudeville, seating of persons on the first floor will start. No interruption of the acts and inconvenience to patrons who are otherwise forced to stand up while latecomers crawl over their feet will be allowed.

Rates for matinees are considerably cheaper than the night rates. Night rates will be 50 and 75 cents and $1. Matinee rates will be 20, 30 and 40 cents.

Matinee prices now are from 30 to 50 cents. The new rates represent about 20 per cent reduction. Only one show will be given at night. All seats at night will be reserved.

The same show will be played here as is played at Dallas and at the same price. Objection has been raised by theatergoers here that they were paying the same price to see a bill which Dallas amusement lovers get with two additional acts. This will be the first time that a full seven-act bill of vaudeville has been seen in Wichita Falls.

Incidentally Wichita Falls always will be two weeks ahead of Dallas with the programs. The bills will begin here and then jump to Fort Worth and finally to Dallas.

The Palace will seat 1,400 persons, which is about 40 per cent more than the comfortable seating capacity of the Wichita theater. Uniformed ushers and doormen will meet the patrons.

This, statue, one of four of Giorgi's famous replicas of the "Crouching Venus" a wonderful work of statutory now in the vatican gallery, Rome, has been discovered in the home of Anthony R. Sanna, a Washington business man. Giorgi, who lived in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, made four replicas of the famous statue, each being known as the "Venus with veins," owing to the fact that they were carved from Carrara marble, which has a vein running through it. They have been lost for centuries. A plaster cast of the statue in the Corcoran galleries in Washington was the clue to the identity of Giorgi's work. It was shipped from Sicily years ago by Mr. Sanna's father to New York. He believed he was sending a crate of furniture.

Unemployed in Montreal 'Strike' For Higher Pay

By Associated Press.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—Montreal today is confronted with a strike of the unemployed. Refusal of many former service men, out of work, to accept employment offered by the city, has produced the paradoxical situation.

The unemployed early today marched on restaurants demanding food and later announcement was made by Chairman Decary of the administrative commission, that the city would find work for all of the members of the ex-service men's unemployed association and would pay them nightly for their labor.

The unemployed, however, objected to the work provided, declaring it was only temporary and the pay, 32½ cents an hour, would not enable them to support their families.

PANHANDLE SOUTH BEND TEST REPORTED FLOWING 3,000 PER DAY FROM 3,100-FOOT STRIKE

Well South of Townsite to Be Biggest in County if the Production Estimates Prove Correct.

The Panhandle Refining Company's No. 1 Scott, on a lease joining the townsite of South Bend on the south went "over the top" Friday afternoon at 5:30 and is now flowing at an estimated rate of three thousand barrels barrels a day, from the sand at 3,100 feet, according to Friday night's telephone reports from Graham. If this estimate proves correct, it is the biggest well in Young county. The reports had not received confirmation at the local offices of the Panhandle, according to B. J. Shaw, general manager. The last drilling reports showed the well close to the 3,100-foot depth, he said, and the hole was in splendid condition, after some salt water trouble.

In the 2100-foot depth, there was a salt water sand with such gas as to flow at the rate of seven or eight hundred barrels, and there were also sands at various depths that showed considerable gas.

The Scott well has been long in the drilling, it having been six months since it spudded in. Showings below 3,000-foot depth have been such as to make the test of much interest.

The Friday night reports showed the North American test on the Ruidosa, a short distance to the south of the Panhandle, reported on the 3,100-foot sand, not yet completed. Casing trouble has held up this completion. The well has made several flows, of considerable size while work on the casing was in progress.

The town of South Bend is about two miles from the Panhandle, Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company, Shamrock and Godley Producers on the McCluskey and Graham farms. All this section is called the South Bend, after the town.

Y., one of the most popular society girls of that city, to George W. Oyster, Jr., millionaire horse fancier, aged seventy-two. The wedding took place at Washington and a special honeymoon train will take them to Florida, where they will have a honeymoon apartment consisting of an entire floor of a hotel. It has been stated that Oyster has promised his mother, $1,000 a month "pin money." Recognition Now Is Up to Gen. Obregon

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The next move in the matter of American recognition of Mexico is up to the new government at Mexico City, state department officials said today after reading press dispatches quoting President Obregon with regard to Mexican policies, and especially that dealing with recognition by foreign governments.

Officials withheld comment on the president's statement that he did not think commissions should be appointed to study conditions in Mexico. Secretary Colby has suggested to the Mexican government that, as a preliminary to recognition, a joint commission be named to settle the controversies between the two countries. This communication is now in the hands of the Mexican government.

In diplomatic circles here, the opinion still is held that the Obregon government will not seek recognition from the Wilson administraton.

NEGROES FIRE INTO MUSKOGEE TROLLEY CARS

City Is Combed by Armed Guards for Men Thought to Have Shot at a White Woman.

By Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Jan. 21.—Every available member of the city police force was on duty here tonight and armed detectives and deputy sheriffs rode all street cars that ran into remote sections of the town, in anticipation of further trouble arising from the killing last night of a negro bandit by W. M. Linn, a motorman of a Hyde Park street car.

Five shots were fired at Linn's car just after dark tonight. The shots came from a thicket that skirts the right of way at the identical spot where the hold-up was attempted last night. One of the shots penetrated the car, passing between Linn's legs. The motorman returned the fire, shooting at the flash of fire he saw coming from the underbrush.

Rumors filled the night. The report that a negro had fired upon a white woman in a residential section of the city brought a patrol load of detectives to the spot. A negro highwayman had attempted a hold-up of a white woman, and another negro, attracted by her screams, had fired at the bandit.

The police early in the night received what they considered a well-authenticated report that negroes living in the extreme northern portion of the city had held a secret meeting and decided to dynamite Linn's car.

The negro section of the downtown district appeared quiet, but policemen patrolled all beats in pairs.

Motorman Linn today was given a policeman's commission.

Several tests have been on the sand for a week, but have been forced to delay completion on account of the lack of storage and pipeline facilities.

PROMISES BURK RESIDENTS USE OF GAS FEB. 1

Assurance that many residents of Burkburnett would have natural gas available for use by the first of February was given here Friday by an official of the Burkburnett Gas company. The announcement followed a meeting of stockholders here in which the organization of the company was perfected and officers for the coming year elected. The company was recently granted a ten-year franchise by the city council of Burkburnett.

The officers of the company include several men well known in local oil circles. Clifford Mooers was elected president, J. M. Duncan, first vice president, L. B. Walker second vice president, W. A. Robins, secretary, H. L. Davis treasurers. The company is capitalized at $100,000 all of which is fully subscribed and held by officers of the organization. Offices in Burkburnett have been opened in the Pershing theater building.

Organized less than two weeks ago the company is now prepared to make connection with residences, business houses and industries in Burkburnett as soon as a shipment of meters arrive, according to officials of the company. The company has contracted with the Texanna Production company for gas from the Texhoma field. The Texanna company has two gas wells in that field producing several million feet of gas.

The lines of the same company in the city of Burkburnett have also been leased by the Texanna to be used as mains. These lines practically cover the entire city. They were formerly used to carry the residue gas after the casinghead gas had been taken to the Noble casinghead plant and the gasoline extracted.

CONFIRMATIONS GIVING WORRY TO REPUBLICANS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Dipping their brushes into the probability that the republican majority in the senate would refuse to confirm most of the 20,000 nominations made by President Wilson, some administration officials painted today a picture of a creaking government machine floundering along for a time after March 4 with a lot of important cogs missing.

Failure of the republican senators at a secret conference today to reach any decision as to the nominations set the canvas. Republican leaders were not inclined to take the picture seriously, however.

The official announcement said no decision was reached at the conference, but some of those attending the meeting said privately there had been a "tacit" agreement for republican members of committees to take the nominations coming under their jurisdiction, study conditions in the executive departments and then determine whether failure to keep the democratic appointees in office after March 4 would result in any embarrassment of these departments.

A young regiment of officials now in Washington are holding office by virtue of recess appointments. Should the senate fail to act on their nominations before the congress quits March 3, it is explained that they will automatically be out of jobs under the law.

Confirmation of President Wilson's appointments by the senate would carry some of these officials over into the republican administration for terms ranging from one year to years in excess of the four for which Mr. Harding has been elected.

HOPE TO MEND BREAK IN CAR HAULS SUNDAY

The street railway track on Tenth street between Indiana and Scott avenues will be ready for use either Sunday or Monday, according to information from L. E. Whitham of L. E. Whitham and Company, local contractors, who are resurfacing Tenth street between the avenues named.

This will end the break in street car service which has prevailed for several days, due to the paving between the rails. Every street car passenger going home from the business district is forced to walk from Indiana and Tenth to Tenth and Scott and then transfer.

One side of Tenth street between Scott and Indiana avenues will be opened for traffic the first of February, Mr. Whitham stated. It is expected that the resurfacing of the other side of the street will be completed today. It will not be opened for traffic for thirty days. No decision has as yet been made as to the resurfacing of Tenth street between Indiana and Ohio.

Future Merchant Marine Policies Are Formulated

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Formulation of a policy for the development and maintenance of an American merchant marine, "in spite of all difficulties," brought to a close today the second annual convention of the national merchant marine association. The delegates also voted to send to congress and the nation a message expressing optimism over the future of American shipping.

An evident desire prevailed in the closing hours to discourage any shipping war with Great Britain or other foreign nations. Three speakers declared in favor of "friendly co-operation" between the United States and foreign shipping interests.

Several resolutions embodying the association's policy were unanimously adopted. These proposed immediate and faithful enforcement of the merchant marine act of 1920, placing of the shipping board personnel on a permanent basis, to promote a constructive administrative policy; extension of government aid to American shippers to the end that their vessels may operate in competition with foreign ships in the same trades; establishment of new mail, passenger and cargo routes so that private capital may eventually gain control; displacing government ownership and cessation by the shipping board of the practice of all locating vessels to services already established so that private companies may have a chance to develop.

Senator Joseph Ransdell of Louisiana, was unanimously re-elected president of the association. Vice presidents elected were J. Parker Kirlin, New York; William Butler Worth, Moline, Ills.; William E. Humphreys, Seatte, Wash.; Charles Piers, Chicago and T. F. Cunningham New Orleans.

SCHWAB DENIES EXPENSES PAID BY SHIP BOARD

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The Walsh committee investigating shipping board affairs was informed late today that the $260,000 item alleged to have been charged up as personal expenses of Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, was not charged to the shipping board or navy.

This testimony was given by Martin J. Gillen, former special assistant to Judge Payne, chairman of the shipping board. He declared that the item, mentioned in testimony yesterday by Colonel E. H. Abadie, former general comptroller of the board, was "charged to profit and loss by the Bethlehem Ship Building corporation."

Mr. Gillen said a representative of Perley Morse and company, the accounting firm which Colonel Abadie said had discovered the voucher, had declared in his presence that there was nothing wrong with that item.

CLAIM CALDER BILL TO KILL COAL BUSINESS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Destruction of the export coal trade of the United States, absolute and complete, would result from enactment of the Calder coal regulation bill, Ralph Crews, counsel for the Consolidated Coal company, one of the larger proucers of bituminous coal, asserted today at hearings on the measure before the senate manufacturers' committee.

American producers, Mr. Crews said, could not guarantee deliveries in competition with British mines, if, as the bill proposes, authority was given the president and the federal trade commission to declare an emergency in the industry in times of peace, and divert coal shipments to meet it. He cited a contract for 750,000 tons of coal to be delivered abroad which his company he said, had held up pending decision of the bill.

PACKERS' BILL DRAWS ATTACKS FROM SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Proposed government regulation of the meat packers and allied industries drew fire in the senate today from two senators, Sherman of Illinois, and Fernald of Maine, both republicans. The two senators opposed the pending Gronna regulatory bill as an unwarranted interference with a particular private industry, a principle, which they said, might be extended injuriously to other lines of business.

Opposition of both senators to the measure, which will be voted on next Monday, also included attacks upon the federal trade commission which has supported the legislation. Senator Sherman, charging the commissions criticism of the "big five" packers had injured their export trade, declared a copy of one of the commission's reports got into the hands of the British board of trade months before it was nade public in this country.

A substitute for the Gronna bill was introduced by Senator Sterling republican of South Dakota, proposing transfer of government regulation of the meat industry to the federal trade commission instead of the new livestock commission provided in the Gronna bill.

A sheaf of amendments designed to modify the Gronna measure also was introduced by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah.

Fashion Experts Decree Trousers Will Be Longer

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Longer trousers for men will offset short skirts for women next spring, according to the edict of the Merchant Tailors' Designers' Association today. Men's coats will also be longer and of the "athletic, or wedge shape type" and trousers will be "moderately belled" says the announcement of L. D. Tyler, Columbus, Ohio, fashion chairman of the association.

"Center vents, known to the layman as coat tails, will be eliminated to a great extent" Mr. Tyler said. "From the shoulder to the coat bottom, the lines will be as straight as possible, as will the front of the coat.

"Vests will be long and trousers long and cuffless, moderated belted at the bottom, but with straight lines typical of the coats.

"Plain colors will be most numerous as textile mills are not manufacturing novelties. Browns have lost favor and blues, grays and checks will be most fashionable for spring and summer wear."

able minority report, which will bring it back on the floor of the house.

Several bills of minor importance passed by the senate reached the house today for first reading and assignment to committees.

A proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution was introduced in the senate by Senator Charles Murphy. Following signed charges of alleged cruelty to convicts in state penal institutions, recently printed in a state newspaper, the senate today referred the matter to the committee on penitentiaries to make an investigation of the matter. The charges were branded as "a slander, not only to the past administration, but also to the senate" by members of the senate.

Will Visit School.

Both branches today adopted resolutions accepting an invitation to visit the state educational institutions at Denton, Texas. The invitation was issued by the Chamber of Commerce of that place.

Special trains will carry the legislators to and from Denton on January 29, the date set for the visit.

Copies of an anonymous letter attacking Robert E. Vinson, president of Texas university, were found distributed about the house at the opening session this morning. The letter claimed that President Vinson was evading the real issues before the university and referred to him as a "real issue evader." Representative John T. Smith of Austin, in a short address to the house, said that President Vinson was respected and esteemed by the citizens of Austin and Texas, and urged the members to completely ignore the letters.

Will Investigate Neinast.

The reply to charges brought against H. J. Neinast, representative from Washington county, by Robert B. Thrasher of Travis county, contesting his seat in the house because he had been convicted on his own plea of guilty to conspiring against the United States during the world war, was introduced in the house. It was signed by John Matthews of Houston, attorney for Representative Neinast, and set forth the reasons Mr. Neinast pleaded guilty to the charges. A committee appointed by Speaker Thomas to investigate the charges will begin hearings on the case Monday.

The bill introduced in the house by John H. Veatch of Johnson county, providing for repeal of an act by the Thirty-fifth legislature establishing normal schools at Kingsville and Nacogdoches, was reported faverably by the committee of appropriations.

No sessions will be held tomorrow, adjournment in both branches being until Monday morning.

COURT TO RUSH DELAYED CASES TO DISPOSITION

In connection with an announcement of settings for trial of criminal cases in county court at law for the week of January 31, Judge Guy Rogers Friday stated that he expects the state and defendant in each case to be ready to answer at the opening of court on the respective mornings upon which the cases are set for trial.

In his instructions to the county attorney and counsel for various defendants Judge Rogers said:

"All cases will be ready for one of the following dispositions at 9 a. m. on the date of setting: First, trial; second, dismissal; third, forfeiture of bond, and, fourth, continuance under valid motion verified. This means that all witnesses must be subpoenaed, which, unless obeyed, will permit the court to issue a writ of attachment for their presence and assess penalties accordingly."

This action was taken as the result of inconvenience and delays experienced by the court in securing trials of cases which were set for this week. According to the records, numbers of cases were put off this week without any valid reason for so doing, and Judge Rogers declared that he will not submit to similar practices during the week of January 31.

Aged Woman Forgets Where She Is Going; Travelers Aid Society Finds Out at Home

Score again for the Travelers' Aid at the Union station. This time its helpful influence put an aged woman traveler on the right track after she had forgotten the name of her destination.

This old women, said to be over 90 years of age, came up to the desk at the station Thursday noon and told the matron she had forgotten where she was going but that she wanted to go where her son lived. A thorough search of her numerous bundles and parcels failed to bring forth any inkling of her destination. The only tangible bit of information was obtained from a baggage check, showing she had started from Anson.

Calling upon the conductor of the train for help, it was learned he had noticed this old lady talking to a newspaper man at the depot in Anson just before the train pulled out. A wire to this party brought the news that her son lived in Wellington, Texas. Mrs. C. E. Ousley, of the Welfare Council, took charge of her, provided her with lodging for the night, as her train did not leave until the next morning, and saw to it that she got on the right train Friday morning.

BURK SEEKS TO ENJOIN PAYING OF ROAD FUNDS

Action to prevent the county commissioners court from paying out money now in the treasury for road work and improvements, was begun Friday by the City of Burkburnett with the filing of a suit for injunction in Seventy-eighth district court against Wichita county and the county commissioners court.

The petition claims that the county has paid only $6,000, out of their prorated share of $56,000 for their expenses in paving the route of the Meridian highway through the business section of Burkburnett and that they are now paying out money for road improvement on other projects out of the original special bond issue which was said to have been voted when the Burkburnett project was put before them.

The city further claims that the county now has only $70,000 in the treasury for road work and that unless they are restrained from paying $50,000 out of this amount for other road work, the city will suffer irreparable injury and be unable to complete the paving.

It is said that the county commissioners court entered into an agreement with the city to pay one-half of the cost of improving streets and laying paving in Burkburnett and that in conformance with the contract, the city has proceeded to employ contractors who already have the material on the property necessary for constructing the roads.

The suit is said to be the outgrowth of a heated meeting two weeks ago between delegations from Burkburnett, Iowa Park and the county commissioners court, in which several lively discussions were entered into relative to the amount of money expended on road project to the respective cities.

The county's position is that it never entered into an agreement with Burkburnett to pay the $50,000 claimed. The commissioners court agreed to pay it if they had the money when the job was completed. Delays in completing the Burkburnett roads led to the present shortage. The county commissioners also are confident that they will have $50,000 of federal road money in the county treasury long before Burkburnett contractors will complete the jobs and demand will be made for county's pro rata.

SOUND CALL AGAINST BLUE LAWS.

"Knowing the power of a determined minority and the feeble knees of too many members of congress and state legislatures, all Americans who believe in a sane and human Sunday must fight from the start all of this blue law program and propaganda."

That is the battle cry which The New York Times sounds against the proposed national blue Sunday, sponsored by the Lord's Day Alliance, and the avalanche of puritanical regulations which proposed bills impose on the Sabbath day in many states. It well could be heeded here.

Bills to lay down still stricter blue laws and measures to lift some of the present burdens will be introduced in the state legislature. There can be no doubt that the extremists of blue law advocacy will raise a long howl at Austin. They will accuse legislators who stand up for popular rights of being opposed to the church and of being various kinds of outlaws.

And just there is where the business man of Wichita Falls who want Sunday amusements of a clean, wholesome nature should step to the aid of their legislators and let them know how they stand. Many so-called reform movements gain great headway, not because of their own strength, but because of the indifference of the great majority of the people to the measure or their fear that they will be classed "as opposed to the best elements."

It is no attack upon the church to attack blue laws. A great many churches in the United States make it clear that they not only have no objection to good Sunday amusements, but endorse them.

Church calls for a closed-tight Sunday are usually from a militant minority.

The business men of Wichita Falls cheered the statement generously at a recent public meeting here that clean Sunday amusements would help this city. A straw ballot conducted under the auspices of the newspapers of Wichita Falls showed an overwhelming majority in favor of Sunday amusements. Labor circles generally demanded them.

A poll of the press of the country on the blue law question shows scarcely one editorial voice raised in defense of the gloom ghosts. The trouble with comparison, however, is that most of the papers rebel at the idea of the very things which have already been largely imposed upon Texas.

The Boston Globe draws this "rosey" picture of a national blue law:

"A trainless, motorless Sunday, with nowhere to go except to church, nothing to read but stale Saturday newspapers. Movies might be allowed to carry snappy scenes from the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. Bowling and billiard rooms would be made over into dispensaries for tracts. Lurking in the doorways, countless minions of the law would prick up their ears for bad words."

The New York Mail:

"To impose the outlived inhibition of the Puritan Sabbath on a modern industrial population would be to deprive our workers—and what American is not a worker—of the one day in the week that offers an opportunity for a breath of fresh air, for a few hours of relaxation by daylight, for a change of scene, surroundings and occupation. Such a deprivation would gravely impair their efficiency and rob them of their birthright."

The Albany Argus:

"The purpose of the Lord's Day Alliance movement is to make Sunday so dreary, so dull, so exasperating and so unpleasant that there will be nothing for people to do but go to church. If this be its purpose the power of religious appeal is indeed at a low ebb."

The New Bedford Republican is "sure that the return to spiritual things cannot be under the leadership of the policeman." The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle doubts "if the spectacle of a man going to church with an officer at his elbow to make sure that he does not slip up an alley would improve the moral tone of the community."

The New York World declares that the "fact that public sentiment is against the measure need not be considered at all "because, as the Akron Beacon-Journal puts it, "public sentiment in many places has been against 'reforms' that have slipped by."

The press denunciation of the proposed Lord's Day Alliance plan for a national blue law is merely a denunciation of something already inflicted upon Texas. It should be an added warning against further onslaughts. It should call business men and civic organizations here who believe in clean Sunday amusements to come out boldly and state their positions.

Editorial Digest

THE BELGIUM-HOLLAND CONTROVERSY.

The Algemeen Handelsblat, a liberal Amsterdam paper, devotes an editorial to the Dutch-Belgian question. It begins by recalling the circumstances under which the Belgian government broke off negotiations, circumstances which obliged the Dutch government to take up an attitude of expectancy.

Meanwhile, it says, the Franco-Belgian convention has been formed, and it is seen clearly that the real motive of the rupture of negotiations must be looked for there. On the one side the Belgian government hoped to be supported firmly by France in obliging Holland to make more extensive concessions; on the other hand it might have been supposed that the French government would have direct interest in causing Holland to make concessions relative to Limbourg, and for the defense of this province.

The paper shows that as these hopes were not being realized, it might be supposed that the Belgian government would become wiser. But this does not seem to be the case, judging from the recent speech of the Belgian Foreign minister, who declared that the Dutch government must give up its "pretentions" if it wished the Belgian government to continue discussions.

The minister, continues the paper, did not say about what the discussions were to be, but M. Segers, one of the Belgian delegates, was more loquacious. After the questions of Wielingen, there are two others to discuss; first, Belgium wants to have the right to let her men-of-war pass on the Dutch Scheldt; then Holland must make an agreement with Belgium concerning the defense of Limbourg, and the honorable Belgian statesman already had the amiability to speak of Limbourg as "handed over." M. Woeste also insisted on the fact that the Franco-Belgian alliance would depend on an agreement with the Netherlands.

These Belgian gentlemen appear not yet to know that Holland would never agree to any arrangement about the Scheldt which would draw us inevitably into a new war in which Belgium might possibly be taking part; also Holland would never let herself be taken in tow by the foreign policy of France by joining the French-Belgian military convention, the contents of which have not even been published, although the League of Nations makes this compulsory.

The paper concludes that it is time to put Belgium before the alternative of accepting the convention as it is drawn up, or of considering the affair as settled. "Let the treaties of 1839 remain as they are! That does not interest us in the very least."

MILDER FRENCH TONE TOWARD GERMANY.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, semi-official, sees signs that France is adopting a less uncompromising attitude in foreign relations, because of the precarious financial and industrial situation. This comment is particularly interesting because of its possible bearing on the solution of the reparations problem. The Allgemeine Zeitung says:

"The French Press, is without exception, disillusioned by the turn that the negotiations with London have taken. The former Premier Legues felt the necessity of a discussion with the president of the republic and with his friends in parliament before listening to the very clever arguments of Mr. Lloyd George. In drawing up the counter-proposals opposed to the French pretension, the English diplomatists have developed their point of view very clearly.

"Public opinion in France is not very edified by the British projects concerning Greece and the Orient. Mr. Lloyd George's pro-Greek policy is opposed to the French pro-Turk policy, which is traditional, and supported by all parties from the extreme left. Paul Boncour and the loyalist Leon Daudet agree on this point.

"I am able to affirm that for some weeks past representatives of the French press are being received at the Elysee, the presidential palace, and advised to show moderation in discussing Germany, not to write provocative articles, and not to make difficulties. Indeed everyone who follows attentively the French press will have noticed that the tone has changed. The last few days relations have improved between France and Germany. I am able to affirm, according to conversations which I had in parliament that the majority of the French chamber would look favorably on direct negotiations between the two countries. They also wish to take up again normal commercial relations with Germany. I should be surprised if the German ambassador, Dr. Mayer, does not have the impression in the coming negotiations that many official personalities are moved with a spirit of reconciliation."

SHOULD A WIFE KNOW WHAT HER HUSBAND EARNS?

Should a wife know the amount of her husband's income? The London Sketch asks its readers. In a Lancashire County court several women learned that their husbands were earning more than they suspected.

"It is very unfair," said Mmes. Wynne Nevinson, J. P., "that women should be kept in the dark. It often happens that a husband keeps an unfair proportion for himself and leaves the wife an insufficient amount with which she has to struggle to provide for the family.

"Such cases are not confined to the working classes. They exist in the upper classes as well. Many difficulties in after life are caused by the fact that no definite arrangement is made before marriage.

"The law, too, is unfair to the wife, and particularly the poor wife. In the case of well-to-do people the wife can pledge her husband's credit, but the shops will not give a poor woman credit.

"In some countries, Germany among them, if a wife is not getting sufficient money from her husband, she can lawfully complain, and get one-third of his income from his employer."

THE UBIQUITOUS VERA

"Vera Gordon, the beloved mother of 'Humoresque,' returned to vaudeville last week, after an absence from the American-speaking stage of three years. She registered a sensational hit appearing SIMULTANEOUSLY IN TWO THEATERS."—Cincinnati Post.

We are very fond of balloons and have admired their shape immensely because they remind us so strongly of our friend, Irvin S. Cobb. We have read for years everything we get hold of concerning balloons and ballooners, but for the first time in our life we must admit that we are fed up on balloon news.

According to newspaper headlines recently, there have been only two important events in the history of this country—the landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock and the landing of the three naval balloonists at Moose Factory. We are glad the boys are safe and are no worse for their heroic experience, but we serve warning on newspapers from the Atlantic to the Pacific that if they pump any more hot air balloon news into us we will inflate to a point where, if we don't bust outright, we will overcome the law or gravity and float gently away to some other sphere. Enough is plenty.

INDEED, NO!

Fire was discovered about 11 o'clock today where 500 girls were employed, but there was no panic.—New York World.

Arrangements are being made to send an airplane with 300 passengers across the Atlantic ocean. Well, as one vaudeville actor always says: "Let'er go."

Roy Wilson, of Olathe, Kan., settles the distinction this way: If he gets home in time to shave before the evening meal, it's dinner. If he does not, it's supper.

One thing we don't understand is how the women hear so much with their ears all covered up.

A Philadelphia bandit was about to get away with the contents of a grocer's cash register, when a clerk who is evidently an ex-doughboy knocked him out with a can of beans. Did he throw the can of beans at the bandit or make him eat them?

DINNER STORIES

"I t'anks yer kindly, sir, for yer generosity."

"But I haven't given you anything."

"Well, yer ain't goin' ter let me gratitood go ter waste, are yer?"

A New Yorker, one of the native-born type, who rarely leaves the confines of the greater city, took a vacation last summer and went with one of the New York ball clubs on its trip west. He saw many strange sights.

On the return trip the club stopped off at Buffalo and, never having seen Niagara Falls, as is the case with most New Yorkers, the players persuaded their fellow-traveler not to miss the opportunity.

He looked the falls over very carefully and returned to his hotel.

"Well, what do you think of it for a wonderful sight?" asked one of the ball players.

"I'll say," said the New Yorker, without undue enthusiasm, "that she certainly throws a mean leap."

"Don't you think Mrs. Gaussip has a liquid voice?"

"Yes; the trouble is she neglects to turn off the tap."

Mother—Now, Bobby, was it you who ate all the white meat off this chicken?

Bobby—Well, mother, to make a clean breast of it, I did.

Wife—The doctor was very particular about knowing what we have to eat.

Husband—Wonder why? Does he expect us to invite him to dinner?

Vice Admiral Honored With "Stirrup Cup"

LONDON, Jan. 21. — The Pilgrims today gave a farewell luncheon in honor of Vice Admiral Albert P. Niblack, commander of the American naval forces in European waters, prior to his departure for the Mediterranean sea, on board his flagship, the cuiser Pittsburgh. In addition to Admiral Niblack, Lord Desbrough, Vice Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant and the Earl of Onslow made addresses.

Admiral Grant discussed the question of naval competition. Incidentally, he said, he believed he knew the feeling of the United States regarding armaments, because, among others, he had talked with Senator (now president-elect) Harding at Washington.

"I am opposed," said Admiral Grant, "to a great program of capital ships, because I am opposed to anything that will bring about shipbuilding competition between our two countries. I believe it is our business to oppose such competition."

"It is inevitable," said Admiral Niblack, "that Great Britain and America should be rivals in foreign markets. The future of Anglo-American relations must depend upon the spirit in which both sides face this competition and the sporting proposition."

Admiral Niblack emphasized that the present mission of the American navy in European waters was purely humanitarian.

HOPE TO SHIFT ASYLUM PLANT TO SCHOOL USE

They are a sub-committee from the legislative committee having jurisdiction in this matter.

TO COOK SWEETS.

Stuffed Baked Sweet Potatoes—Bake sweet potatoes, remove from oven, cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out the inside. Mash, season, add butter and cream to moisten. Add finely chopped nut meats. Refill the skins and bake five minutes in a hot oven.

Sweet Potatoes au Gratin—Cut five medium sized cold boiled sweet potatoes into one-third inch slices. Put a layer in a butter baking dish, sprinkle with salt, pepper. Dot over with one tablespoon butter. Repeat, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until the crumbs are brown.

Sweet Potatoes (Georgia Style)—Season mashed boiled sweet potatoes with butter, salt and pepper. Moisten with cream and beat well. Put in a buttered baking dish, leaving a rough surface. Pour over them a surup made by boiling two tablespoons molasses and one teaspoon butter five minutes. Bake until delicately browned.

It is often a problem how to use cold sweet potatoes from a previous meal. One way is to peel them, cut in slices lengthwise, roll in sugar and saute until a golden brown. Another way is to prepare them au gratin.

Sweet Potatoes Croquets—To two cups hot riced potatoes add three tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, pepper and one beaten egg. Shape into croquets, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs again, fry in deep fat and drain.

Sweet Potatoes a la Pennsylvania—Boil four large sweet potatoes. With a vegetable scoop cut balls out of the potatoes. Melt one-quarter of a cup of butter in a saucepan and add three tablespoons of brown sugar to it. Put in the potato balls and brown on top of the stove on a slow fire.

The remainder of the potatoes which are in irregular pieces may be mashed and served at another time as sweet potatoes—Georgia style—or made into croquets.

Sweet Potatoes Potato Pone—Four cups hot, mashed sweet potatoes; one cup hot milk, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, two tablespoons ginger, one-half teaspoon of salt and one orange.

Boil sweet potatoes in their skins and while still hot remove the skins and mash. Cream the butter and sugar together, add potato, milk and seasonings and the juice and grated rind of orange. Beat thoroughly. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Tar Heel Farmer Says It's Nothing Less Than Wonderful Way Tanlac Has Helped Him

"It's a fact two bottles of Tanlac have done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken in fifteen years," said A. B. Joyner, a well-known farmer of Walnut Cove, N. C., R. F. D. No. 4.

"Up to the time I began taking Tanlac I had not been able to eat a square meal in fifteen years without suffering, bloated feeling, and at times my breath seemed to be almost cut off. Sometimes I had such severe pains in the pit of my stomach that I would nearly double up, and I was so restless I could never get a night's sound sleep.

"I just tried nearly everything but kept going from bad to worse until my farm work got to be an awful drag to me. I finally got to reading about Tanlac and decided to try it.

"What two bottles of this medicine have done for me is nothing less than wonderful. My appetite is splendid already and I never feel a touch of indigestion. I sleep like a log every night and am feeling just fine."

THE SAME OLD BUNK.

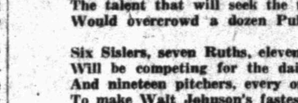

The Magnate tells us that next season's team
Will realize the fans' most glorious dream—
The Scribes set down the wondrous things he tells,
Until the gabble covers many a ream.

The players he will get will be the stars
Of every league that plays 'twixt here and Mars—
The talent that will seek the training camp
Would overcrowd a dozen Pullman cars.

Six Sislers, seven Ruths, eleven Cobbs,
Will be competing for the daily jobs,
And nineteen pitchers, every one with speed
To make Walt Johnson's fastest look like lobs!

And we believe it. Yes—we eat that stuff,
We eagerly accept that awful guff,
And dance with rapture—when we ought to go
And, in a furious concourse, treat him rough!

For, when March comes, and each man packs his trunk,
The club will carry just the same old junk,
The same old crowd of spavined, wheezy goats,
Despite the output of the same old bunk.

When you stop to figure it out, champions don't get any more for their work than the fellows they wallop. Study it and see: In their recent bout Jack Dempsey received $100,000, while Bill Brennan drew only $35,000. But Dempsey landed 299 punches, while Brennan hit Dempsey only 74 times. Therefore Dempsey was paid only $334.46 for every wallop he put over, and Brennan drew down $478.38 for every biff he sent home.

NONESENSE RHYMES.

In bygone days, days that are dim,
We filled no booze-glass to the rim—
Two fingers, so we'd often say,
Were plenty—in that far-off day!
And now we mourn that dire mistake—
The good old drinks we didn't take!

There was a young man named McDurkie,
Who went out to purchase a turkey—
When they told him the price,
He just gasped once or twice,
Then his features grew gloomy and murky!

THE COW.

The cow is a kind hearted animal that gives us milk, butter, cheese, steaks and shoes. In return, she is allowed to manicure the meadows, eating the tall grasses and the sweet little butter cups. Being a cow is a very pleasant occupation, and, while you and I might find it difficult, it is very easy for a cow. But the cow hasn't got it as nice now as in former times. Today she is milked by bearded men and automatic machinery, where in former times she could loaf under the shady trees and be deprived of her milk by pretty maids whose presence was a benediction and whose touch was a balm.

Cows are very useful, very. They grow a calloused cuticle to protect our bunions from the atmosphere and in the fall they eat the old straw hats which we would have to wear otherwise. They are also indirectly responsible for cheese. In this, the cow shows her wisdom and discretion No sensible animal would be directly responsible for the dratted stuff.

Cows' children are called calves when alive and veals when deceased. Calves are noted for the veal chops they develop. It is a peculiar fact that the calf is the only animal that can grow veal chops. Calves resemble their mothers in that they have a leg on each corner and the usual number of eyes, ears, noses, etc., but otherwise, they're plumb crazy. Their idea of a wonderful time is running all over the place until they're exhausted. In that, they remind one quite forcibly of the young of the human race.

Cows have only one set of teeth and instead of schewing up and down, they chew sideways. They are not satisfied to chew their food only once, but they are continually harking back to the same subject. In fact the cow seems to take a peculiar pleasure in nagging her food.

Painters who think cows give condensed milk usually paint her with a tail that sweeps the ground. But first, last and almost always, standing as I do for artistic verisimilitude, I wish to set these artists to rights. A cow's tail is never long enough to reach the ground when she is standing erect. Any cow—any tail. I don't care either.

NELSON POTTS.

The desire of every young and ambitious ball player is to be given a chance with a big league team. And an opportunity to show one's wares to the manager of the world's champions furnishes a still greater thrill.

Nelson Potts, young hirler dug up by Scout Pat Flaherty of the Indians, is to be given that maximum thrill. He is to receive a try-out with Speaker's boys at Dallas in March.

Potts' home is in Cincinnati. He first gained notice pitching for the Pleasant Ridge team in 1918. He won 14 and lost two games and in between times played five games in the outfield and batted .400. He pitched semi-pro ball in 1919, and was hurling for a Cincinnati team last year when a 13-innning shutout victory drew Pat Moran's attention and Potts was given a brief trial. Then Pat shipped him to the Delta league and he won eight out of 11 games. After the league closed he won five and tied one game for the Milan, Tenn., club. The tie game was a 16-inning scoreless battle.

BY JACK KEENE

When the world's champions line up for the opening game of the 1921 season there probably won't be a new face to grace the local players' bench, for Jim Dunn, president of the Cleveland Indian baseball club, says that he is not after any new players.

Dunn says that he's perfectly satisfied with the old crew, the one which won not only the American league pennant last season but also the highest title of baseball—world's championship.

"Why should I be looking for any new material to build up a combination that was strong enough to win a world's championship, and that looked good enough to me to be able to repeat?" asked Dunn recently.

"I can't see a weak spot in the Indians' lineup in any department, so I'm not expecting to make any offers or deals.

"The Indian pitchers showed themselves to be the best combination of slabmen possessed by any team today. We have plenty of strength there.

"Our catchers are the best in the business, and where will you find a better collection of outfielders—both on the defense and attack—than are gathered around Tris Speaker?

"Joey Sewell has all the grit and ability needed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chapman, so there's no hole in our infield. He's as promising a young infielder as any big league team can show, hitting well over the .300 for his first season in baseball.

"He stands up there at the plate and doesn't make any unnecessary motions in ducking bad ones. Nor does he hit at any bad ones. And when he makes fielding errors, he doesn't let them upset him."

Officials of the New York Yankees say they know nothing of the report that "Home Run" Baker, who ran a farm last season, is to return to the game next season.

It is intimated, however, that the Yanks have no room for him, and if he should come back he would be traded to some other club.

When all the changes about to take place in the ranks of the Yankees are discussed one naturally turns to look over the possible line-up and the fate of Bodie is asked. It is said in various quarters that Huggins intends to trade Bodie if the opportunity presents itself, but before he makes any such move he will have to get a man of Ping's ablity. The rotund Italian is a mighty capable performer to have around the house and Yankee fans realize his worth to the team. Moreover, Ping's ready wit puts dull care to rout. The train trips would be dull inded were it not for Bodie.

Blockie Richards, who is making a name for himself as a K. O. feather, has been matched for a twelve-round decison bout with Freddy Jacks English featherweight champion, at Dayton Jan. 24.

Most any discussion of ring tricks recalls days gone by in the sport. Using plaster of paris bandages was a trick that was not uncommon in ring circles in the old days, according to the veteran Tom O'Rouke, who has seen them all come and go since boxers first began to wear gloves on their hands. O'Rouke tells how Joe Walcott once had a narrow escape from being made a victim of the trick. When the Barbados demon and George Gardiner entered the ring for their twenty-round battle in San Francisco Gardiner appeared with the gloves on his hands. In feeling them over O'Rouke noticed a suspicious hardness and was on at once. He held the fight up until Gardner consented to remove the cement. It took Gardiner's seconds nearly half an hour to chip away without injuring the fighter's knuckles. When the battle finally started the first thing Gardiner did was to cross his right to the jaw and Walcott went down for the count of nine. He got up, and eventually won the decision, but if the cement had not been removed he probably would have been killed.

When the catching staff of the New York Yankees is discussed these days Fred Hofmann, the young backstop, is generally overlooked. Of course it is quite possible, and indeed probable, that Wallie Schang will do the major portion of the receiving during the coming season, but Hofmann is going to make a determined bid for the place, and it would not be surprising if he walked in and did a fair share of catching. The St. Louis sandlotter is a big, strong kid with all kinds of nerve and he packs a mean wallop in that hickory of his. Last season he hit .292 and should improve upon that with an even break in the luck.

C. B. Cochran, English promoter, who is in on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, says he expects details for the affair will be completed in two months. He expects the fight will take place in or near New York.

Jess Willard has written Secretary Walter Truby of the New Jersey boxing commission asking for information regarding training quarters and a "good, quiet place" for living quarters while he prepares for his bout with Jack Dempsey at New York, March 17.

L. L. Donnell Gets Lease Rights on Joyce Oil Lands

Announcement was made here Friday that L. L. Donnell, with offices in this city and Fort Worth, has been given exclusive rights for the sale of leases on the Joyce ranch surrounding the wildcat test of Allen et al., a short distance north of Petrolia. The test was recently reported to have struck a sand around 1,450 feet and to have flowed by heads since that time. Considerable interest has been manifested in local circles as to the possibilities of a new shallow field in that section.

According to the information Friday, it is not the intention of Mr. Allen and his associates to sell any of their leases, but a contract has been made with Mr. Donnell to subdivide and sell the remaining part of this tract, which comprises about 3,000 acres.

Mr. Donnell is having the survey checked by the county surveyor of Clay county and as soon as completed will have maps and blue prints made. The leases then will be offered for sale.

Will local contractors and the dear (?) public take a chance on the "Board of Arbitration" and "the Grievance Committee" and the "Respective International"?—Adv.

MARTENS WILL BE DEPORTED FROM AMERICA

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Unrecognized by the United States government, but not unsung by some residents of this country, soviet Russia's official representatives in America are going back home tomorrow with their deported leader, Ludwig C. A. K. Martens.

Only the members of "ambassador" Martens's staff and their families—32 in all, including Gregory Weinstein, "chief of staff," are to accompany him. Scores of sympathizers have expressed regret at not being able to go along.

Hundreds of Martens' supporters packed four halls last night to bid him farewell, but he did not appear, nor was he available today at the Russian soviet bureau.

His aides scoffed at reports that he was missing and expressed belief that a huge crowd would gather around the pier and see him aboard the steamer Stockholm.

From New York Martens will sail to Gothenberg, Sweden, going to Libau, Letvia, from there, and then to Moscow.

Martens came here in 1916 to represent a steel works at Perm, Russia. In March 1919, he announced himself as the appointed representative to this country of the Russian socialist federal soviet republic, but his credentials were unrecognised by the government.

Old Persian Design Used in Decoration "Sold" for Charity

The illumination of one of the quartrains of the Rubyiat by Omar Khayam, which is to be "sold" at one dollar a "share" and is on display at the Gifte Shoppe, Kemp Hotel, is one of the designs that the old Persians employed in the marking of tiles with which they faced their houses and buildings. Mrs. F. T. Newell, the artist donating the illumination, has so carefully represented the ancient Persian design that even the colors used are the same. The correctness of the pattern, as well as the colors, has been proven by critics by reference to the specimens now on exhibit at the Chicago Art Institute.

Mrs. Newell's original intention was to illuminate the entire 101 quartrians of the Rubyiat and have them bound in book form. She has not abandoned her original intention and other pages are now under way, but her sincere interest in the work of the European Relief Council in caring for the destitute children has caused her to take this sample of her work aond give it to the cause.

The art of illumination, as used in this connection, is an old one, and one which to a great extent, has been responsible for the high valuation placed upon those old hand written documents and volumes so sought after by collectors. This particular example of the artists' work has been exhibited and received honorable mention at the Chicago Art Institute. It was the subject of much study on the part of the artist, requiring research ino the old Persian history and the Persian art. The design which Mrs. Newell selected as a background for the lettering is true to the old original Persian Tile.

Pastor Willing for Theaters To Run on Sunday if They Just Omitted to Charge for Service

"I wouldn't care if every moving picture show in Wichita Falls ran seventeen hours a day every Sunday, if they just didn't charge anything for it and didn't make any money out of it—it is the commercialization of the Sabbath that I am objecting to," says Dr. Hubert D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, in explaining his attitude on the Sunday law question.

Incidentally Dr. Knickerbocker appeared at the Record News editorial rooms for the purpose of entering a protest against a headline which characterized him as "Little Father of the Blue Laws."

"Of course that is nonsense," he said, "but just to illustrate, let us take the Texas Sunday law alone—and you will find that it was written onto the statute books in 1872. Now, I was born in 1871, and if I am the daddy of that law, I am about the youngest daddy on record."

An answer to "prejudicial and misleading" statements in the news story over which this headline appeared will be made by Dr. Knickerbocker at his Sunday night services, he said.

In connection with this, he promises "a dandy story of what is really on the program in the way of Sunday legislation at the present time."

Returning to the story of his activity in connection with the present legislature and the proposed legislation on the Sunday law, Dr. Knickerbocker explained that he was exercising his privilege as a citizen to lay his views before the legislators on this matter.

"There is a great difference between my views and actions as a preacher and what I may do and think as an individual," he said.

"As a citizen I think it was my right and duty to talk to the members of the legislature against any attempt at commercialization of the Sabbath."

He also promised to surprise some of his hearers Sunday night by praise of the moving picture proprietors of Wichita Falls for some really worthwhile and constructive things they have done here.

"As to the 'Little Father of the Blue Laws,'" he said pleasantly, in leaving, you might put a head on your Saturday story saying that the 'Little Father of the Blue Laws Resents the Appellation'."

LIQUIDATING SENDS COTTON PRICE FALLING

By Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21.—Cotton was lower today from the opening to the close, reaching its level in the last few minutes of the day, when the more active months showed losses of 72 to 79 points. The market closed at losses of 72 to 79 points. Selling appeared to be about equally divided between the two accounts, heavy liquidation being induced by rumors of the settlement of the January deal, which were strenuously denied, while offerings for short account were stimulated by continued unfavorable reports from Liverpool and Manchester and by claims that the edge had been taken off the demand for cotton goods in this country.

In the late trading the heaviest liquidation Friday came on the market, tired holders of long contracts letting go in volume. Mill takings for the week of 255,000 bales against 358,000 this week last year made an unfavorable impression. At no time during the day did any wide reactions from the decline occur.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Reports of continued foreign trade depression and apprehensions that the cotton market here for January might be re-tendered on March contracts, seemed responsible for a very severe break in the cotton market today. The general market closed barely steady at a net decline of 65 to 85 points.

After showing net losses at the opening of about 30 to 40 points prices recovered about half their losses on reports of a firmer basis for spot cotton in the south, and of continued activity in the domestic goods trade with Fall River sales for the week estimated at 300,000 pieces. Offerings increased on the advance, however, and liquidation became very active during the afternoon with January selling off from 17.10 to 16.40 and May from 15.40 to 14.74.

Closing prices were at approximately the lowest of the day. The trading feature was the heavy liquidation of March by both trade and commission house brokers. Export today, 20,654, making 2,759,038 so far this season. Port receipts 2[illegible]9; United States port stocks, 1,439,966.

LIVERPOOL COTTON.

By Associated Press

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 31.—Cotton spot, dull; prices easier. Good middling, 11.10; fully middling, 10.25; middling, 9.35; low middling, 8.10; good ordinary, 6.60; ordinary, 5.85. Sales, 2,000 bales, including 1,600 American. Receipts, 20,000 bales, including 17,300 American. Futures closed easy. WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Conflicting influences have been reacted in the unsettled ruling of the cotton market here during the past week. Local bulls have found no fault with reports from the goods trade or from the South. Sales of cloths have continued larger, with the business at Fall River for the week again estimated at 300,000 pieces, while almost every day has brought reports of increasing mill activity. With reference to the spot situation, Southern hedge selling has been reported here from day to day, but it has been in no great volume.

These features, however, have been modified in their effect on the market by reports of depressed trade conditions abroad. Liverpool has been weak, owing to the failure of Manchester business to show any improvement and because of the large supply of cotton still available in the South.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Improvement is still the key-word in the trade situation, but there is still a great deal of irregularity in the reports, different industries and sections of the country sending in varying advices. For one thing, wholesale distributive trade seems to have held all the ground gained in recent weeks, whereas, on the other hand, retail trade is rather quieter; mild weather in parts of the West being charged with affecting sales of winter apparel. Perhaps the most marked improvement is noted in advices as to gains in manufacture and industry, but these gains are not uniform. Nor are the reports from the country as a whole uniform. Best reports as to wholesale trade come from the big primary markets, next to these being the West generally and a few Pacific coast markets, while the South, possibly owing to reaction in cotton prices, showed little ground gained.

"Weekly bank clearings, $7,633,095,000."

NEW YORK SUGAR.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—There was nothing new in the local raw sugar market, and prices were unchanged at 4⅝ for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.39 for centrifugal. There were sales to local refiners of 18,000 bags of Cubas, prompt shipment; 6,500 bags of Porto Ricos for February shipment, and 16,000 bags of San Domingos afloat and prompt shipment, all at the equivalent of 5.39 for centrifugal.

In refined, prices were unchanged at 7.75 for graulated, with a moderate inquiry reported. Sufar garate inquiry reported. Sugar futures were more active and prices were firmer on covering and buying by Wall street, which was accredited to Western account, with prices at one time 9 to 12 points above the close of the previous night. January closed at 4.50; March, 4.63; May, 4.75; July, 4.88, all bid.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The market for coffee futures opened at a nadvance of 5 to 7 points and sold about 10 to 12 points net higher right after the call on covering and reports of a better tone in Santos. There was selling on the advance, supposed to be against lower firm offers from Victoria, however, and the market eased off later in the day. The general market closed at a net advance of 5 points on January. Closing bids: January, 6.10; March, 6.35; May, 6.77; July, 7.16; September, 7.75; October, 7.62; December, 7.85.

Spot coffee, dull; Rio 7s, 6½@6⅝c; Santos 4s, 9½@10c.

HOLD MCQUERY AS ACCESSORY IN RAPE CASE

J. C. McQuery was placed under $5,000 bond following his arrest Friday by deputy sheriffs on an indictment charging him with having been an accessory to rape. The bill was returned against him during the present session of the grand jury as the result of investigations of alleged attacks by R. W. Briscoe upon his young daughter.

It is charged that McQuery assisted the young girl, a material witness for the state, in escaping to Oklahoma. He is said to have admitted to District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones that he took the girl to Oklahoma but declared that he was not aware that he was violating the law.

Briscoe was indicted in separate bills on charges of rape and incest and rape. His bond was set at $10,000 by Judge H. F. Weldon of the Thirtieth district court Friday and efforts to perfect the bond were being made by his attorneys.

WHEAT PRICE COLLAPSES ON SEABOARD NEWS

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Announcement that seaboard exporters were offering to re-sell brought about a collapse of wheat prices today after a bulge due largely to inquiries from Portugal. The market closed heavy, 3¾c to 5¾c net lower, with March $1.64½ to $1.65 and May $1.54¾ to $1.55. Corn lost 1c to 1¼c, and oats 1@1⅛c to 1¼c. Provisions varied from unchanged to 12c higher.

As much as 9,000,000 bushels of wheat was said to be wanted for Portugal, and during the first half of the day there was a good demand from the seaboard. Later, however, it was said that six months' credit was asked and that such credits had not been obtainable. Under word of exporters trying to re-sell, the market gave way. On the break Belgium and other European countries did considerable buying, but prices failed to rally much.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "There has been a larger movement of woolen, especially of the fine to fine medium order, during the past fortnight, and the market is showing a tendency tostrengthen somewhat. The mills are getting a moderate volume of business on certain staple lines and are employing more help.

"The wool growers this week have discussed in detail the questions of marketing the new clip and the tariff situation, favoring the enactment of the emergency tariff bill very strongly and seeking for lower marketing costs all along the line."

BULLS ABSENT FROM MARKET; PRICES LOWER

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Business on the stock exchange today was marked by an absence of the recent operations of bull pools and popular issues, together with numerous inconspicuous specialties, registered declines of 2 to 5½ points.

Sales, 735,000 shares.

In the money market trades for demand and time accommodations were again inclined to stiffen.

French remittances rose to 6.77 with a concurrent advance in the Belgian rate and more substantial gains to northern Europe points, as well as Italy and Spain.

Collection of the $30,000,000 Belgian loan on a 20-year 8 per cent basis was made the basis of much conjecture respecting other foreign underwritings.

The bond market was firm in the main on the smallest turnover of any recent period. Liberty issues closed at variable advances after moderate reactions, and other domestic and foreign flotations were disposed to improve.

Total sales, par value, $9,900,000.

On call bid prices of old United States 2 and 4s were 1 to 2 points lower, respectively.

OLYMPIC

In order that she may have plenty of vitality for her work and that she may be comfortable and secure rest in odd moments, Mary Pickford, the world's sweetheart, who is being seen in "The Love Light," at the Olympic theater, has had built a portable home. A small truck was remodeled and so arranged that one side can be let down into a comfortable bed, and the front end right back of the driver's seat opened and turned into a small kitchenette with an oil stove and everything complete. Further down is a dressing table with full make-up equipment and wash basin. On a shelf are books so that while scenes in which Miss Pickford is not appearing are taken she can retire to the car and take a reviving nap or recline at ease and read. Frequently on location when the company has worked more than 16 to 18 hours, Miss Pickford spends the night safely slumbering in her car.

Frances Marion, Miss Pickford's director, has also had her big runabout fixed so that by adjusting the back of the front seats a very comfortable bed can be made. So many times instead of returning home the two girls have the two cars placed side by side and star and director secure a bit of sleep during the late hours of the night.

DISCHARGED AGENT OF INSURANCE FIRM SUES FOR $150,000

Damages of $150,000 are sought in a suit alleging breach of contract which was filed Friday in Seventy-Eighth district court by Edgar Bird against Wichita Great Western Underwriters Association and the partnership of R. E. Huff and John S. Mabry.

The petition sets forth that on September 25, 1920, the plaintiff entered into a contract with the defendant association, through its managing attorneys, Huff & Mabry, whereby he was employed as an agent of the association and district manager of what they designated as the Memphis division with offices at Memphis, Tenn. It was specified in the contract that he was to take charge of this territory not later than December 1.

A salary was named in the contract, so the petition avers, which guaranteed the plaintiff at least $7,500 per year, and that the contract set out that the plaintiff was to be employed in this capacity for 50 years.

The plaintiff claims that he resigned the position which he was then holding and went to work for the association, selling fire insurance in Denver and St. Louis for a period of more than two months.

He alleges that on December 24, without provocation and in violation of the contract, the defendant association discharged him and refused to carry out the contract.

He asserts that he was willing and able to take charge of the office at Memphis and that he was also capable of performing the services demanded of him. By reason of the breach of contract on the part of the association, the plaintiff claims that he has been damaged to the extent of $75,000 which could have been earned under the contract had he not been unlawfully discharged.

He therefore asks damages of this amount and in the additional sum of $75,000 against the partnership of Huff and Mabry, who were instrumental, as managing attorneys for the association, in making the contract with him, he claims.

Mrs. J. L. Art and two daughters who have been ill with scarlet fever, are now fully recovered.

Walter Salm, president-manager of the local baseball aggregation, is in Galveston to attend the Texas league meeting.

E. P. Greenwood, active vice president of the Great Southern Life company, was a Wichita Falls visitor Friday.

Guy C. Roberts, president of the First National bank of Lawton, Okla., has returned to that place after a short business visit to Wichita Falls.

MRS. C. OUSLEY NAMED COUNTY PEACE OFFICER

Mrs. C. E. Ousley, executive secretary of the Welfare Council, will continue her work with that organization in addition to her duties as assistant to Juvenile Officer R. W. Morgan. Mrs. Ousley received this second appointment from County Judge J. P. Jones, getting the distinction of being the first woman peace officer commissioned by the county.

Since her work with the council began, Mrs. Ousley has been working with the juvenile court, particularly with the delinquent girls and the girls who are just on the border line. So her new appointment is in a measure only an aid in her work for the council, giving her a legal status and legal authority.

This appointment of a woman to assist in the important work with the juveniles was hailed with applause by the Public Affairs committee of the Civic League, which in outlining its special desires for the new year in a recent issue of the Record News, put the appointment of a woman in the juvenile court as one of the most important. Mrs. Flora W. Perham, chairman, and her committee received the assurance of sympathy and support from Judge Jones and Juvenile Officer Morgan.

Judge Jones said that Mrs. Ousley's work with the Welfare Council has been satisfactory. He complimented her highly as to her ability and said that her services to the county in handling young girl offenders will be invaluable.

Mrs. Ousley will assume her new duties at once.

Cureton Holds University Can Not Be Moved

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, Jan. 21.—The university of Texas can be moved from its present site only when the Texas legislature gives the board of regents power to do so, according to an opinion given out by the attorney general's department this afternoon.

The opinion was given upon a direct question by Robert E. Vinson, president of the university, asking the attorney general just what action would have to be taken should the board of regents decide to remove the university to the site bordering the Colorado river, donated by the late George W. Brackenridge of San Antonio. He asked if the board had the power or would such change require the approval of the legislature or a vote of the people of Texas.

The opinion held that an investigation of constructional and statutory provisions of Texas that deal with the board of regents of the university failed to disclose the fact that they have any authority to remove, re-locate or re-establish the university of Tex

EGGS DROP ONE DOLLAR CRATE ORANGES RISING

The warm weather that has lingered in this section lately has put the hens in a pleasant frame of mind, to judge from the reports of local poultry dealers that price of eggs has dropped $1 a crate, making the present quotation $17.00 a case wholesale.

The interior shippers have been bringing in an increased amount of eggs and poultry, lessening the shortage of these items.

In the fresh fruit markets an advance in oranges is expected; due to a daily strengthening of demand and a natural movement toward adjustment. At the present time local jobbers are selling California navels at a figure slightly below the cost of production. Graham Sent to Fort Worth Jail Account Wounds

Federal authorities Friday transferred Lloyd Graham to the jail at Fort Worth in response to a request from his parents, who reside there, setting forth that greater conveniences and better facilities are at hand for the treatment of his injuries.

Graham was wounded here several weeks ago in a gun battle with four policemen in which John Hamilton, his companion, was killed.

Both men were found in an automobile on the road near the lake which was reported to have been stolen from Oklahoma. Graham was being held here under federal complaint of transportaing a stolen automobile from one state to another.

Fair Co-Eds Must Attend Games Alone

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Northwestern co-eds who attend basketball games henceforth will go dateless, if the edict of the inter-fraternity council is carried out. The edict, issued today, says that the men are too engrossed in taking care of their guests to cheer the team. Consequently, the young ladies must be left to attend alone and the men must concentrate their efforts in supporting the team.

Ostracism by the student body is threatened by the council for violators of the ruling.

WHEN HENS DON'T LAY
it is because they are not getting the proper kind of feed. PURINA POULTRY CHOWS, fed according to directions, produce practically an equal number of whites and yolks, above body maintenance as is shown below:
100 lbs. Purina Hen Chow (Scratch) produces 247 Yolks, 142 Whites
100 lbs. Purina Chicken Chowder produces 182 Yolks, 282 Whites.
50 lbs. each is capable of producing 214 Yolks, 212 Whites.
Note how great the number and how almost exact the balance. These figures are based on average hens. Heavy layers will produce more eggs from the same amount of Chows. Both Chows are necessary to produce the maximum number of complete eggs. Purina Chicken Chowder makes an excess of whites which balances the excess of yolks made by any grain feed.
